

Plymouthites Honor Nation's Birth

by Cheryl Nicholas

Over 5,000 persons gathered along Main Street and Hartsough last Thursday as dignitaries, majorettes and marching bands commemorated the nation's 198th anniversary in the Plymouth Fourth of July parade.

Leading off the Jaycee-sponsored parade was former Plymouth mayor, James McKeon, followed by the present mayor, Beverly McAninch with British Counsel General James T. Hyslop, his wife and daughter.

Governor William Milliken, whose delay in the Ypsilanti parade caused a late start for the Plymouth celebration, also appeared along with other dignitaries including Congressman Marvin Esch, 52nd District Representative Ray Smit, Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas, 35th District Court Judge Dunbar Davis, and Wayne County Commissioner Brian Arrowsmith.

Jaycee announcer, Douglas Hinckner, introduced marching units, floats, bands, and majorettes as they made their way along the traditional Main Street route past the Kellogg Park judges' stand.

Judging in this year's celebration were Plymouth area residents Marda Benson, Robert Greenstein, Joe Krochmalny and Daisy Proctor.

They reviewed 33 entries, including three bands from Windsor, Ontario. The Amherstburg Community Band from Amherstburg, the Chemical Valley Fife and Drum Corps of Sarnia and the Lions' Club Tri Club Youth Band of Windsor joined in the international observance, playing both U.S. and Canadian tunes.

Of the seven contestants in the band competition, Milford High School Band placed first, the local Plymouth Community Band second, and the tartan-clad Clan MacRae Pipe Band of Detroit took third.

In the majorettes division, the Salem Rockettes took first, the Canton Chiefettes second, with the Redford Township Prancers placing third.

Boy Scouts from Troop 743 were first among marching units, followed by the Farmington Elks motorized drill team, and the VFW color guard in third place.

Number one in the adult float division was St. Peter's Lutheran Church, for the fifth year in a row. Riding inside a large flower-decorated plane, Snoopy pulled a banner bearing the slogan, "UNIFY with Plymouth." The Calvary Baptist Church and the Business and Professional Women's Club took second and third place, respectively.

The Plymouth Town and Country 4-H float was the first place winner in the youth floats division. The Plymouth Y-Indian Guides were second and the New Morning School, third.

Moore's A&W was awarded first place in the commercial floats category. The predominately orange and brown float featured large root beer mugs and bore the theme, "Home of the Burger Family." John Smith's of Plymouth received second place honors and Karate Health Spa's Inc. was third.

The last entry to arrive at the parade's ending point at Junior High East were the John Smith's elephants. Following closely behind the elephants were the Plymouth DPW street cleaners.

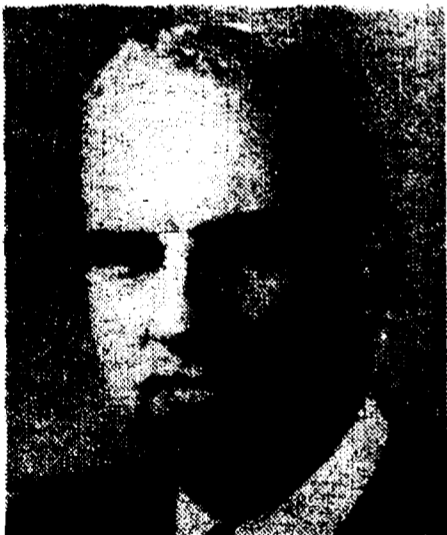

To cap off the Independence Day festivities in Plymouth a groundworks display was held Thursday night, at Junior High East where a five-day carnival was in progress.

Turner to Write Education Column

By J. F. Foley, III

The Plymouth Community Crier is honored to announce that Tom A. Turner will begin writing an education column for this publication. The column, dealing with happenings throughout the school district, and topics that people should be familiarized with, will be titled "EDUCATIONAL INSIGHTS."

T. A. Turner

The column will appear this week, and will run periodically, as the issues happen.

We are pleased to make this announcement because we feel it will offer the citizens of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, and Canton an opportunity to become better acquainted with the total educational system within the community, and fill a gap which has existed between the citizens, and those persons making decisions within the district.

Educational Insights can be found on Page 6. This week's topic deals with the various aspects of the District's relationship with its teachers, and the status of Plymouth teachers with regards to the surrounding districts.

Your Crier carrier is now collecting for July. For 50¢ the Plymouth Community Crier will be delivered to your door, plus you receive a 50¢ worth of discounts.

"Dearie Day" Highlights Old Village

"Dearie, Do You Remember When?" will be the theme for the third annual "good ole days" celebration in Old Village. The date is set for Saturday, July 20. The day's activities will begin with a parade at 9:30 a.m. featuring Keystone cops, clowns, band, and a Greek sweets booth. The parade will start at Plymouth Pointe Park and proceed south along Starkweather to the cannon at Farmer Street.

Called "Dearie Day" for short, the festivities commemorate the life styles of yesteryear. The idea originated in June of '72 and became a reality three short weeks later. Old Village anticipates a large crowd this year since festival attendance has increased dramatically each year.

The event will include old-time movies, barbershop quartets, square dancers, farm animals, kiddie games, and a puppet show. Old Village merchants each sell one item at 'old time prices.' Last year, haircuts went for $1.50, geraniums for 10 cents, bloomers for 50 cents, coney dogs for 10 cents, one dozen

Parade Celebrants Honor American Independence

by Cheryl Nicholas

One hundred and ninety-eight years after Independence, Plymouthites gathered under the scorching sun to celebrate the annual Fourth of July Parade.

Bands played, majorettes marched, and fire bells clanged their way down the traditional parade route - from Kroger's down Main Street turning left on Hartsough to the final destination point at Junior High East.

As local dignitaries walked along sizzling Main Street greeting Plymouthites, they drew an enthusiastic reception from the sunburned faces.

Children and adults alike commemorated the event in the traditional American style, with flapping flags, ice cream cones and plenty of music.

As the John Smith's elephants brought up the tail end of the parade (followed closely by the DPW street cleaners) the large crowd began to disperse and move homeward for their own Independence Day festivities.

Educational Insights

by T.A. Turner

During the past year I was privileged to serve our community as a member of the Board of Education. I found the problems confronting our school district to be both complex and wide-ranging in scope. Although I had considered myself to be a reasonably well-informed citizen, I discovered that I had many misconceptions regarding the operations of our schools. When approached recently by the Plymouth Community Crier to do a series of articles about our schools, I saw this as an opportunity to share with my fellow taxpayers some of the insights that I gained during my term of office. I will, over the coming months, be addressing the entire spectrum of education in general and the Plymouth Community School District in specific in an attempt to answer some of the concerns that I have heard voiced and to clear up some of the more common misconceptions. If you have any specific topics that you would care to have addressed, simply drop me a line in care of the Crier.

Although I do not intend my column to be concerned with reporting of the day-to-day happenings in the District, I will attempt whenever possible to make the subject matter topical. It seems appropriate, therefore, in view of the present state of teacher contract negotiations, to utilize this first column to discuss some of the more "mysterious" aspects of the District's relationship to its teachers and to review the status of Plymouth's teachers vis a vis other surrounding districts.

The presence of labor unions among Michigan's public service employees - including such groups as teachers, policemen and firemen - is still a relatively new concept, having been permitted only since the passage of Public Act 379 in 1965. All teachers in Michigan are represented by local unions affiliated with either the Michigan Education Association (MEA) or the Michigan Federation of Teachers (MFT); the Plymouth Education Association (PEA), the bargaining unit for Plymouth's 535 teachers, is affiliated with the MEA. Although strikes by public service employees are technically illegal, there have been many incidences where "services have been withheld," including a four-week "withholding" by Plymouth teachers at the beginning of the 1969-70 school year. Public resentment of "strikes" by public employees, including teachers, appears to be building and becomes especially intense as taxpayers begin to suffer personal inconveniences such as those being caused by the extension of the Detroit District's school year through mid-July.

The basic issue in most contract negotiations is the salary schedule, and this year's negotiations between the PEA and the Board of Education's negotiating team are no exception. Because of an inability to resolve the economic issues, a mediator appointed by the State Labor Mediation Board has been sitting in on our local negotiations since Monday of this week. The mediator will attempt to assist in finding a means of reaching agreement, and if he is unsuccessful the next phase would be "fact finding" and ultimately arbitration could be utilized.

How much is a teacher worth? - a very simple question with no easy answer. I personally know some teachers in our system who would be underpaid at $50,000 and others who would be overpaid at $5,000. Unfortunately, under a union contract, there is no latitude to recognize - and monetarily reward - varying degrees of competency or performance. All teachers with the same seniority and educational level are paid the same salary. Outstanding teachers, therefore, are, in effect, subsidizing the poorer teachers who, incidentally, are also the primary beneficiaries of the State tenure law, which makes it extremely difficult if not impossible to dismiss a teacher after two years of service. The question then becomes one of determining the proper salary structure that will: (1) on the average - provide equity to the District's employees; (2) permit the District to attract and retain well-qualified teachers; and (3) be containable within budgetary constraints without seriously jeopardizing our educational program.

Taking the third point first, teachers' salaries constitute about 60 per cent of our total budget and, therefore, the increases granted to teachers are far and away the most important ingredient of the budgeting process. The impact is even larger when it is recognized that the increases granted to the teachers form the basis for settlements with other District employees including transportation, custodial, secretarial and administrative personnel. Since the revenues available to a school district are fixed in nature - being determined essentially by the millage levy approved by the taxpayers and the total Equalized Valuation within the district - any increase in salaries will result in less funds being available for other purposes. As a frame of reference, a one percent increase in salaries costs the Plymouth School District more than $100,000. As long as our SEV continues to grow faster than our student population, some salary increases can be granted without compromising our educational program. If, however, settlements are excessive, it will be necessary to cut programs or increase class size to achieve a balanced budget, which is required by law.

The second point - a district's ability to attract and retain qualified teachers - can be assessed by looking at such factors as numbers of applicants and turnover rates. In the case of the Plymouth School District, approximately 70 new teachers were hired during the 1973-74 school year and a total of approximately 5,000 applications were received. From a turnover standpoint, only 40 of Plymouth's more than 500 teachers left during the year and most of these were for such reasons as pregnancy, retirement, or husbands being relocated to other geographical areas. On the basis of this evidence, there is no reason to think that the District is non-competitive in attracting and retaining teachers.

The question of equity, of course, is the most difficult to determine. Someone inevitably will raise the question of teachers working only nine months of the year while others will point out the educational training required to become a teacher. There is no question that teachers as a group were grossly underpaid 15-20 years ago; it is, however, difficult to reach that same conclusion today. Going back 10 years to the 1963-64 school year, a beginning teacher with a bachelor's degree would have been hired in at $4,900. On the basis of the automatic salary increases (increments) granted to teachers for each year of service accumulated (for the first 11 years on the "bachelor's schedule" and 12 years on the "master's"), the teacher hiring in at $3,900 in the fall of 1963 would be receiving $12,457, an increase of 195 per cent. If the teacher had in the intervening years obtained a Master's degree, his or her salary would now be $16,235 (an increase of 231 per cent), and for a master's plus 30 additional credit hours, $16,834. For purposes of comparison, the compensation (per man hour) paid to all persons employed in the U.S. private economy has increased by 84 per cent during the last 10 years and the Consumers Price Index (cost of living) has increased by 45 per cent. The top pay for a teacher in our system is now $18,297, more than double the 1963-64 level and equivalent to approximately $24,000 on a 12-month basis.

In looking at the current situation, this past year has, of course, been one of rapidly escalating prices and, therefore, salary demands in all areas of the economy are high. In negotiating teachers' salaries, however, two factors cannot be ignored: (1) the tremendous degree of improvement that has been made in salaries in the past several years, and (2) the automatic "increments" that are built into the salary schedule. Although there have been discussions of increases in the five to six per cent range (demands are much higher), it must be recognized that these increases would be in addition to the automatic increments ranging from 4.2 percent to 7.0 per cent.

Historically, Plymouth salaries have been among the upper one-fourth of all those within Wayne County, and on the basis of the 1973-74 schedules, Plymouth salaries rank well above the median of all districts included in the MAISL (Metropolitan Association for Improved School Legislation) group of neighboring districts, including Livonia, Wayne, Westland and Garden City. Settlements reached by other districts for the 1974-75 school year are generally in the six per cent range, with Belleville being a notable exception at an estimated eight to nine per cent. It should be noted, however, that Belleville has indicated that it will be necessary for them to seek a three mill increase in taxes in order to pay for the negotiated salary increases, or alternatively to sharply increase class size.

I, for one, believe that an equitable settlement can be made with the PEA without jeopardizing our fine educational program. It is regrettable that such a settlement has not been forthcoming prior to calling in a mediator and that the launching of the much-needed year-round 45-15 pilot program at Miller School is now in jeopardy because of the teachers' refusal to begin teaching without a contract. On behalf of the taxpayers of this community, I urge the negotiating teams of the PEA and the Board to continue to put forth a dedicated and responsible effort to resolve the apparent impasse at the earliest possible date.

Letters to the Editor

It's Not Hard to Register

Dear Editor:

I have frequently taken exception with articles or letters to the Editor in all newspapers, but rarely do I feel what they have said is so erroneously written or slanted that I feel the need to respond. This is one of those times and the letter I am referring to is the one written by Thomas Sullivan in the July 3, 1974 issue of the Plymouth Community Crier.

I am referring to only one paragraph of that letter, in which he states that although current conditions perhaps make registration less than convenient, I as Clerk of the Township of Plymouth take exception to that statement that it is difficult to get registered. In all elections, we stay open the designated hours established by the State of Michigan and in addition, I establish additional evening hours when the need arises, as well as allowing the League of Women Voters to register voters at rush times and when registration drives are on.

In addition to that, we have gone to individual areas when requested, such as the St. John's Seminary and the High Schools. The Grade Schools have had registration drives on Kindergarten enrollment day. One of the girls who worked in my offices at one time and is presently living in the Bradbury Condominiums has been kind enough to register voters in that area, as well as my Deputy Clerk and myself have registration forms at our homes and when people advise us that they can't possibly get registered at the Township Hall, we advise that they may come to our homes.

I think that the Clerk's office of the Township of Plymouth gives the voters every opportunity to get registered and we do make it easy to become a registered voter in the Township. A case in point, we were open for nine (9) hours on Saturday, and we registered twelve (12) people. I can only say, where were they? Case closed.

Helen Richardson,
Plymouth Township Clerk

Cooperation Requested

To the Residents of Plymouth Hills Subdivision, Residents of Beacon Hill Subdivision, Residents of Glenview Subdivision, Re: Mini Bikes, Motorcycles and dune buggys, etc.

Dear Township Resident:

Your Township offices and officials are receiving in ever increasing numbers complaints relating to the excessive noise and property damage being caused by the captioned reference. We recognize these conditions and share your concern.

Your Township recreation area has been a favorite target for the few creating the condition. We are presently in the process of seeding the ball diamonds and making other needed improvements on this site. The prudent expenditures (your tax dollars plus allocated revenue sharing funds) is of great concern to your Township government.

In order for us to follow through in our efforts to control the annoying conditions we need your help and full cooperation in reporting to us either the names or license numbers of those few who constantly and consistently violate the peace and quiet of so many.

I am sincerely hopeful that you will accept this letter in the spirit in which it is written and that is to maintain Plymouth Township as The Township in which to live and enjoy a full and delightful life. I look forward to working with you in an effort to make this request become a reality.

Sincerely,
J.D. McLaren,
Supervisor

School Board Elects New Officers

by Dan Herriman

The organizational meeting of the Plymouth School Board was held Monday, July 8, at Canton High School.

Board of Education officers were elected at that meeting for the 1974-75 school year. Dr. E.J. McClendon will reside as president of the board again this year, Marda Benson as vice-president, Marcia Borowski as secretary, and Thomas Yaek as treasurer.

Gary Mirto was nominated by Carl Berry to retain his position as secretary, but denied it because of personal involvements. Mirto then submitted the name of Marcia Borowski for Board Secretary.

George Lawton also denied his office as treasurer and nominated Thomas Yaek for the position.

The Board also established the date, time, and place for their regular meetings, which are to be held at 7:00 p.m. on the second and fourth Mondays of each month. Plymouth Canton High School was designated as the place for the meetings as opposed to the Board of Education office on Harvey St.

It was the feeling of the Board that although the high school has difficulties with its audio equipment, it is a better location and can accommodate a larger audience.

Children at the Farrand School Kiddie Campus sit atop bicycles freshly decorated for their summer Bike-A-Thon.

Board Looks at 45-15 Alternatives

With the July 22 deadline for P.E.A. contractual agreements drawing near, the Plymouth Board of Education has considered alternatives to the Miller 45-15 program.

"The Plymouth Education Association (P.E.A.), through one of its executive officers stated to the board at an open meeting in early June compliance with the plans for 45-15 as presented," said Supt. of Schools John M. Hoben.

"As late as June 16, the building representative of Miller Elementary petitioned the Board of Education for a change in starting time of the Miller 45-15 program. On June 14, the Board was presented with a petition signed by 22 staff members, indicating a "withholding of services" if contract settlement is not reached," stated Hoben.

The following alternatives are under board consideration:

1) starting the 45-15 plan anytime between July 22 and September 3 when a contract settlement is reached.

2) accomplishing 45-15 by starting with three tracks in September, although this provides some peculiar splits for some of the tracks;

3) combining three middle schools, establishing either East or West Middle Schools as an elementary school. This plan would create problems and an expense to the district relative to time schedules for moving,

4) establishing a small elementary school at East Middle School whose attendance area would include all the Miller area east of Silley Road, which numbers approximately 130 students, or

5) opening Miller School on July 22 on schedule with willing teachers, new hires and administrators available at that date.

On hand for the signing of the School Zone Limit Bill were, from left: Representative Smit; Mrs. John M. Sullivan, chairman of the Plymouth Schools Safety Committee; State Representative Thomas Brown (D-Westland); Dr. E.J. McClendon, President of the Plymouth School Board; Senator Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth); Mrs. Tony Tonda and Jerry Dunn, legislative representative for Plymouth Schools.

School Zone Speed Limit Bill Signed

A bill that requires local school superintendents to participate in the decision of setting speed limits near schools when the school is located outside the incorporated limits of a city, was signed into law Thursday, June 27 by Governor Milliken. On hand for the occasion was the bill's sponsor, State Representative Raymond J. Smit (R-Ann Arbor). In urbanizing townships there has been a lot of concern about the speed limits near schools. Many times under the present system superintendents would plead for lower speed limits and find their pleas falling on deaf ears, Smith points out.

Present speed limits outside of incorporated cities are determined by the State Police and either the County Road Commission or State Highway Commission, depending on whether the road is a state trunkline or county highway.

These bodies are now required to include the school superintendents in their speed limit decision making process.

Dearie Days

eggs at 20 cents, and coffee and pop for five cents each.

"If they didn't have it in the good ole days, we won't have it," said Pat Hann, past president of Old Village Association, which organizes the festivity. "We're not down here to make a lot of money, just a lot of friends," added Mrs. Hann.

Any profits made from the celebration go back into Old Village toward the erection of a gazebo. The gazebo would be built as a center for Old Village and used as a bandstand.

"Dearie Day" will conclude with "The Canopy Dance" at the Cultural Center. The dance, featuring 10-cent beer and The 3M Band, will begin at 8:00 p.m. Saturday, July 20. Admission is $1.50 per person. One dollar raffle tickets for a trip for two to Montreal will also be sold. Dance and raffle tickets are available from Old Village merchants.

Ed Tax Faces Voters

At the request of concerned parents and their friends, the Board of Education of the Wayne County Intermediate School District has approved a proposal for one mill ($1 per $1,000 of assessed valuation) tax for special education to be placed before Wayne County electors at the primary election August 6, 1974.

Wayne County Intermediate

School District is one of two intermediate school districts which do not have a special education levy. Midland Intermediate District is the other intermediate district without a special education levy.

In Michigan's 58 intermediate school districts, special education levies will range from .2 of a mill to as much as 2 mills.

Potpurri

By Ginet

The frosting on our cake of life came last weekend when we all were able to enjoy the thrill of our own parade. I watched one little girl with her pony tailed with a large pink bow. The squealing she did when the band went past reflected my own feeling. What a lucky community we are to be able to enjoy such great music. I realize the band members play for their own enjoyment but for the children and adults of this community the experience was infinitely pleasurable. The families were all out enjoying the day, relaxing from their busy work weeks. How lucky we are to live in a community which offers such fine entertainment for our leisure hours.

But notable activity in Plymouth is not limited to holidays. As I strolled around town last Thursday evening window shopping before heading off for the band concert, I realized how alive our community is on Thursday nights. One man was walking along singing. I am sure in anticipation of the music he would soon be hearing. He was carrying a chair, blanket, and ice cream cone all at once. Meanwhile his date went by with him just enjoying a double-dip cone.

It's a pleasure to see people enjoy the simplicity of park concerts within the verdant, picturesque setting of our Kellogg Park. Do be sure to catch the next concert and the next. Perhaps more stores will open soon so we can get a bit of shopping done before the music starts.

Old Village Merchants Hold Annual Officer's Election

The Old Village Merchant's Association of Plymouth held its annual election of officers on Monday, June 10, 1974. Elected and assuming office immediately were: Chris Kontos, President; William Ruhr, Vice President; Georgeann James and Nancy O'Brien, Secretaries, and William Hann, Treasurer.

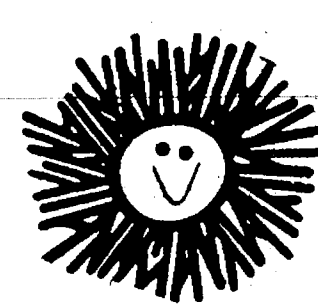

Mr. Kontos announced that the Old Village Merchant's Association will continue to work with the administration of the City of Plymouth for the continuing development and beautification of the "Village" and the City.

Mr. Ruhr, Chairman of the Third Annual Dearie Days reported that plans for this year's activities to be held July 20, were progressing very well. In addition to special sales offered by the "Village" merchants; games, food and a street dance are planned. Of special interest this year will be craft booths, a Greek Sweets booth, and music and dance groups.

The Schoolcraft Board of Trustees has accepted, with thanks, gifts of $150 from the Plymouth Branch of the American Association of University Women for the Jane K. Moehle Scholarship Fund.

Summer Gardening Tips for Hearty Vegetables

The National Garden Bureau service presents their ideas on growing ever popular and hearty vegetables.

Peppers and Eggplant

Golden yellow peppers (top) make a welcome change from the usual red kind, and they taste just as good.

Peppers and eggplant are both good vegetables for most home gardeners to include in their gardens since they are closely related, require identical growing conditions, and give worthwhile yields for the kitchen table.

The most widely grown peppers are the sweet-bell peppers which develop large green fruits that turn red when fully ripe. It's possible to pick the fruit at the green or red stage, but don't let them stay red too long as they soon deteriorate after ripening. Golden yellow bell peppers are also available.

Chili peppers are the hot kinds, and Red Cayenne is one of the popular varieties. They are smaller than the bell peppers, turning from green to red, and forming long slender fruits.

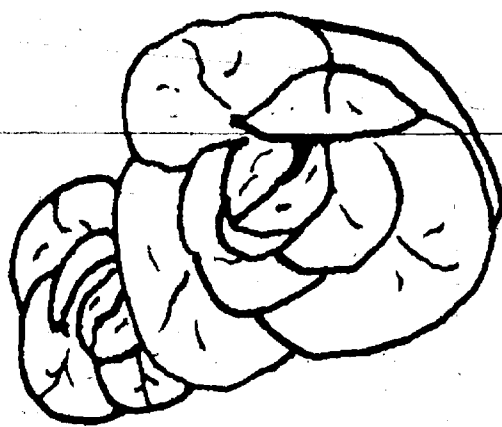

Both peppers and eggplant grow bushy and compact, occupying very little space for the yields they give. For this reason they are ideal subjects for growing in containers, or mini-gardens. A sunny location is necessary, and a light, rich soil. They need 65 to 80 days from transplanting to form fruit and they thrive during the hot humid conditions of American summers.

When harvesting, use scissors or pruning shears to separate the fruit from the plant, since the branches are brittle and may break if pulled. Pods of the hot peppers dry easily, and can be strung together to make decorations for fall and Christmas.

Eggplants mature into large pear-shaped purplish black fruits, creamy white on the inside. One fruit is often enough to serve four people, and there are several interesting ways to serve it. One is to chop into "sticks," then fry in a breadcrumb batter until golden. Another is to slice into circles and cook in a casserole with chopped nuts, cheese and tomatoes.

Both peppers and eggplants are easily grown in containers, and they require no staking, since they form sturdy bushy plants that are highly ornamental. Plant outdoors after all danger of frost in a sunny location at least 1 1/2 ft. apart in rows 2 ft. apart. Foot-high plants make the best transplants.

Young cabbage plants are frost hardy and can be set out into the garden about three weeks before the last frost is due to get earliest harvests.

providing good-size transplants are set out early in spring, a worthwhile crop can be expected. Another planting in mid-summer will produce an even better crop in fall.

Brussels sprouts are an extremely valuable fall and winter vegetable, producing greens until December over most of the U.S. at a time when store prices for fresh vegetables are highest.

The Cabbage Family

There are four popular vegetables which are all members of the cabbage family. Cabbages themselves are available in three different types - green cabbage, red cabbage and savoy cabbage. Next in popularity is broccoli, then cauliflower and finally brussels sprouts.

They all enjoy cool weather of early summer or fall, and in fact over most of the U.S. both cauliflowers and brussels sprouts are best grown as a fall crop, setting out transplants in mid-summer so that final maturity occurs during September and October.

Cabbage is the most heat tolerant of all these valuable leaf crops, and it can be grown all season by succession plantings.

Broccoli is more tolerant of heat than cauliflower, and

Early Tomatoes

Tomatoes transplanted to the garden should be set deep in the soil to encourage additional root development from the stems.

Breeding and hybridizing continue to benefit the tomato more than any other vegetable, since it is by far the most important crop grown commercially and in home gardens. Of course, breeding objectives for commercial types are different from those demanded by home gardens. Gardeners want good flavor, earliness and disease resistance, while commercial growers want a product that can be mechanically harvested and withstand rigors of shipping.

When choosing tomatoes for your garden ask for disease-resistant types. They can be identified by the letters VFN or any combination of these - meaning resistance to verticillium and fusarium wilts, and nematode pests.

To get the earliest fruit in your neighborhood you must choose early varieties, and it's possible to have flowers or tiny fruit already formed at time of transplanting.

Tomato transplants should be leafy, with deep green coloring, and not spindly. Also, half the stem should be buried in the soil since this will produce extra roots.

A mulch will help earlier fruit formation, especially a black plastic mulch, which will absorb heat into the soil and encourage growth.

City Enters Land Contract for Senior Citizen Housing

The City Commission recently approved a proposal by the Pilgrim Towers Senior Citizen Housing group which authorized the city to enter into a land contract with the corporation and purchase two parcels of property.

The renewed parcels are in the center of the site where the group plans to construct a housing facility for the elderly. Thus described by the executive director of the Pilgrim Towers non-profit corporation, James Houk, as "the heart of the project."

Supporting the resolution to pick up the options on the property were Commissioners Norm Batterman, Joe Bider, John Cummings and Harold Guenther.

Commissioner John Moeble and Mayor Beverly McAninch voted against the resolution.

Presently the housing group is seeking state funding for the project.

But for the group to qualify for the aid a series of criteria must be met. Listed by the authority they are as follows:

1) The nonprofit sponsor must pass a resolution agreeing to the conversion of their ownership interests to a limited housing association.

2) The availability of Federal subsidies necessary for the economic feasibility of the development; uncertain at this time.

3) The authority must be assured that the site has been expanded sufficiently to allow for proper design of the development and compatible land use within the context of the adjoining community.

4) Satisfactory information for the authority as to the group's non-profit qualifications.

5) The City Commission must be willing to pass a state housing tax abatement resolution at the proper time.

Houk told commissioners that if the group's bid for state funding failed the city would not lose any money on the project.

The final date for payment on the contract principal of $65,698.05 is December 23, 1974 on the contract will be defaulted.

Houk told commissioners that if the housing project failed to receive the state funding and was not successful, that the property could be sold and the city would be reimbursed for their expenses. Any returned monies, he said, could be used by the city at their discretion for the senior citizens of the community.

In the lengthy discussion which preceded the passing of the resolution, Commissioners voiced questions and concerns about the project.

Prior to the meeting in a letter to the City Commission by Fred Hockey dated June 28, the city

The Candidates

Marjorie Lansing

Speaking at a meeting of supporters in Livonia Friday (July 5), Democratic Congressional Candidate Marjorie Lansing supported major increases in federal funding of education and criticized Rep. Marvin Esch as a "fairweather friend" of education.

"Education at all levels is in financial crisis. Local taxpayers are overburdened in Michigan where only three percent of public school budgets come from federal sources. I oppose raising taxes, but Congress can spend much less on military hardware and provide up to one third of school budgets from federal taxes," Mrs. Lansing said.

"I strongly support local control of schools and believe most federal aid should be in the form of general grants. Specific aid should be increased for special education and vocational programs," she continued.

John Reuther

Democratic Congressional candidate John Reuther sharply criticized the Nixon Administration for following a policy which "could lead to serious shortages of doctors over the next ten years."

Reuther, speaking to a group of supporters at a house party in Ann Arbor, was referring to confidential documents drafted by health manpower specialists in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The documents said Administration policy was to freeze the nation's capacity for training more health specialists at the present levels on the assumption that present training capacity would produce enough professionals for the immediate future.

"As I have traveled throughout this district, the problem of simply getting a doctor to look at their children has been expressed to me again and again by many concerned parents. To say now, that we have enough doctors is simply intolerable."

Dr. Ed Pierce

Dr. Ed Pierce, Democratic candidate for Congress in the Second District, made another updating report on finances in his primary campaign Thursday, and also chided one of his Democratic opponents for what he called "financing his campaign from outside the district."

Pierce, an Ann Arbor physician who operates the low-cost Summit Street Medical Center, reported that he had received "in small contributions" $7,800 thus far in his election drive, and had spent $7,600.

Dr. Pierce also released a complete list of his contributors giving $5 or more. None of the contributions exceeded $200, as the Pierce campaign has limited itself to accepting no more than $200 from any individual.

Ronald W. Egnor

Democratic Congressional Candidate Ronald W. Egnor said Thursday that John Reuther's brief residency in the Second Congressional District and questionable reporting of campaign contributions could cost the Democratic party a win in November if Reuther receives the Democratic nomination.

Egnor and Reuther are both Democrats seeking the congressional seat that covers Livonia, Plymouth, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Monroe and Bedford Township.

Egnor charged that a Republican incumbent could seriously question "John Reuther's ability to know the needs of the people of the

Plymouth Slams Redford

by Dennis O'Connor

The Plymouth Elks' hitting attack broke loose last Saturday, July 6, as they banged out 14 hits enroute to a 7-4 victory over Redford Adray.

Tom Willette picked up his fourth win of the year as he went the first four innings. The Plymouth southpaw gave up all four runs, striking out five and walking two. Bill Denhouser finished up for the Rocks as he relieved Willette who had developed a blister on his left index finger.

Denhouser did a great job in relief, as he faced only 11 batters in three innings. He did not allow a hit while he was on the mound and picked up the save.

Redford touched up Willette in the bottom of the second inning as they picked up two runs.

But Plymouth came back in the top of the third when they tallied three runs to take the lead.

Dave Pierce singled and scored on Tom Willette's RBI triple to left field.

Doug Tripp promptly followed by straightening out a curve ball that resulted in a single to centerfield that scored Willette.

Tripp stole second (the first of three that day) and scored on John Major's RBI single.

The Rocks added two more runs in the fourth when Mark Stephens singled and stole second and third (two of four stolen bases he had). Dave Pierce followed with a walk to put runners on first and third.

Then coach Wayne Sparkman called for a double steal which worked to perfection. Stephens scored and Pierce advanced to second. Pierce eventually scored on an error.

Redford came back in their half of the fourth as they scored their final two runs on two singles and two walks.

Plymouth scored their last two runs in the sixth stanza as Doug Tripp was hit by a pitch after one was out.

Brian Wolcott walked and Sparkman proceeded to pull off another double steal that moved Tripp and Wolcott to second and third. (Plymouth stole a total of nine bases in the game.)

Bidwell Tops Dale Yee

Bidwell Masonry won an important game over Livonia Dale Yee in a men's modified softball game.

Both teams went into the contest with identical first place records of 9-1.

But Larry Duty's Bidwell squad put together a solid 13 hit attack to beat Dale Yee 10-4.

Bidwell struck early as they knocked Dale Yee's pitcher, Tom Lache, out of the box in the very first inning.

Steve Williams, led Bidwell's offensive attack by hitting two home runs. A.J. Vaughn also banged a roundtripper. Everyone on Bidwell's team chipped in with at least one hit.

Don Leighweis went all the way on the mound and picked up the win.

Hanover Basketball Camp Successful

The fourth week of Hanover College Basketball Camp (Indiana) was one of the most exciting weeks in eight years.

First, the Indiana High School All-Stars came to Hanover and scrimmaged the camp counselors. Before a full house in Lynn Gym, the counselors ousted the Stars 92-78.

Secondly, two guest speakers from the Indiana-Kentucky area came to speak to the campers on the techniques of basketball. The men were Ronnie Lyons and Steve Collier.

Respected persons in the field of college basketball.

The camp was run by Jim Mitchell, assistant basketball coach at the University of Cincinnati, and head basketball coach at Hanover, Jim Collier.

Five of our areas youngsters participated in this great week of camp which included basketball training and autographs for all.

I recently transferred to Michigan from another Sate and am not sure how no-fault affects me and how to proceed. Can you advise me?

Under Michigan's No-Fault Law, you are required to purchase automobile insurance with limits of at least 20/40 and 10,000 bodily injury and property damage liability and personal injury protection and property protection insurance. Collision and comprehensive coverages are still optional coverages, but recommended since your insurance company now pays all costs to repair your vehicle, regardless of fault.

Selection of the right insurance agent and insurance company is the first step. It may be possible to transfer your existing coverage without lapse or issue a new policy with a company licensed in Michigan.

If you have questions regarding insurance, send your inquiries or phone them in. We will attempt to answer your questions in this column each week.

Plymouth Merchants Blank Franklin

by Dennis O'Connor

The first place Plymouth Merchants of the Connie Mack National League upped their record to 6-1 for the season with a 3-0 blanking of Franklin (Brother Rice and Birmingham Groves).

The game featured a pitching duel between the Chief's Bill Parson and Franklin's Tim Seagraves with Parson coming out on the upper end for his fourth victory of the year against no defeats.

Parson "put it all together" in last Saturday's game (July 6) as he hurled his strongest performance of the year. The junior-to-be struck out 14 batters and didn't allow a walk in going all the way.

Seagraves also went the distance giving up only two hits. Parson allowed a mere four.

Despite the weak offensive attack on the part of the Chiefs, they did get the key hit at the right time.

The key hit was Brian Steinberger's two run triple which scored Parson and Chris Martucci who had previously walked.

Steinberger's shot was to deep right-center field up the power alley almost 400 feet away.

The Chiefs scored its other run in the opening inning when Keith Randazoo crossed the plate on an error. Randazoo was the only other Chief player to pick up a hit.

Coach Fred Crissey's squad now starts its second round of action tomorrow (July 11) against Livonia Franklin at Henry Ford Field. Game time is 8:30 p.m.

Saturday (July 13), they will try to avenge their only loss of the year as they face Churchill at Rotary Park at 5:00 p.m.

Trading Post Wins Two

The Trading Post Braves (Plymouth-Canton) won two games last Tuesday (July 2) over Southfield Woods by the scores of 9-6 and 1-0.

The first of the two games was a contest which had to be completed from a previous date. The second game was the regular scheduled one.

John Young was the hero in both games as he hit run producing doubles that accounted for the winning runs in each contest.

In the second game 14 year old Ray Smoek scored the only run of the game when he singled and came home on Young's two bagger.

Scott Collins did an excellent job on the mound for the Braves as he hurled three relief innings of hitless baseball.

Trading Post's record was evened at 4-4 last Saturday (July 6) when they came up on the short end of a 5-4 decision to league leaders, Dearborn Heights.

Coach Fred Crissey remarked that the Braves did play their finest game of the year against the first place team as they held a 4-1 lead through the first five innings of play.

They scored two runs in the fourth and two more in the fifth on Ed Pariseau's two run single.

But the long ball did the Braves in as a sixth inning three run homer knotted things up and three singles in the final inning (the third taking a bad hop over second baseman Kevin Randazoo's head) put the game away for Dearborn.

Steve Morman (2-2) took the tough loss.

Bunnies Beat Foxes

The first place Bunnies (of the 'G' League) won an inspired 6-5 victory over the Foxes for the coach Barb Carpenter, who had been hospitalized earlier that week.

In this extra inning game, played last Tuesday, July 2, a bases loaded walk in the first additional stanza did the trick for the Bunnies.

All-Stars

The final score of the game was the Northwest squad eight and the Metro Crew two.

Mike Jolly of Melvindale took the loss for Metro as he gave up six runs in the first inning.

Tony Hutton of Southfield Woods got credit for the win.

The Plymouth representatives, Brian Wolcott and John DenHouter, of the Metro team, sparkled in their performances.

DenHouter smacked two doubles and scored a run. Wolcott faced nine batters on the mound (in the third, fourth and fifth innings) and sent them all down in order. His third inning work featured Wolcott coming to the mound in a bases loaded no out situation. Wolcott struck out six.

Ed Pariseau, the Plymouth representative from the Northwest, played errorless ball at first base and contributed a walk at the plate.

Despite that little bit of that seventh inning wildness, Judy Perch of the Foxes did a great job on the mound.

The Bunnies struck first in the opening inning by scoring three runs on three hits.

The Foxes came back quickly in the second by tallying three runs of their own.

In the fifth, the Bunnies took a 5-3 lead on back-to-back doubles and a fielding error.

But the Foxes caught up again with two tying runs in the sixth, before the Bunnies pulled it out in the next inning.

Coach Peg Muller of the Foxes still has her team in a first place tie in their respected division despite the loss.

The game was played with the help of only one umpire.

Vettese Romps

Vettese Builders, the second place team in the Women's Slow-Pitch league, scored a 19-0 demolishing over Sun Plastics last Tuesday, July 2.

Shirley Burger went all the way for the shut-out win, giving up only five hits.

A 15 run third inning, broke the game wide open, as Vettese put together 14 hits.

The big blow of that inning was Barb Smith's bases loaded triple which accounted for three runs.

Vettese collected 21 hits in all with Linda Galoia, Jean Pyle, and Shirley Burger picking up three apiece.

Children Enjoy Slice of Farm Life

A slice of farm life was brought to institutionalized city children last Monday when a mobile display of farm animals paid a visit to the Wayne County Child Development Center and the adjacent Center for Human Development (formerly Plymouth State Home and Training School).

Some 45 center students toured the 24-foot trailer display which housed a typical array of farm animals, ranging from chicks to a calf.

After the center students completed their tour, the display was moved to the adjacent state facility which houses some 1,000 retarded children.

Commissioner Tom F. Taylor, of Westland, who arranged the display's visit, said that most children at both institutions are from an urban environment and have never had an opportunity to visit a farm or see farm animals "close up."

Nurses to Meet

Schoolcraft College will host a meeting for registered nurses in the area who are interested in advanced education through Wayne State University.

The dean of WSU's College of Nursing and members of its faculty have extended a cordial invitation to meet with them at 7 p.m. Monday, July 15. The meeting will be held in the Waterman Center on the Schoolcraft Campus, Haggerty Road south of Seven Mile, in Livonia.

The evening will be devoted to exploring ways WSU can serve registered nurses. It may be through non-credit continuing education courses, credit courses at the bachelor or master degree levels, or other educational needs individual nurses may express.

Persons planning to attend the meeting are requested to assist preparations by calling Schoolcraft's Health Careers Office, 591-6400 ext. 324, by July 9 if possible.

School Reps Attend Conference

Plymouth Community schools sent three representatives recently to a conference on educational opportunity. Over 20 fifteenth district educators attended the conference to learn of federal funding opportunities for school operations and to voice their concerns as educators to district legislators. The conference was co-sponsored by Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) and John D. Dingell (D-16th District). Plymouth representatives were: Assistant Supt. Earl E. Hogan, Board of Education president Dr. E. J. McClendon and Board trustee Marda Benson.

Fiesta Motors to Expand

Fiesta Motors, Inc. is located on Ann Arbor Road near Sheldon Road. Clarence DuCharme, President, an American Motors dealer for more than 16 years, indicated they are approximately doubling the size of their facility, including the addition of eight service stalls and a completely new exterior on the facility.

Mr. DuCharme indicated this was necessary because of the tremendous sales increase he has realized over the last few years and due to his belief that he should provide the most modern and up-to-date facility possible in order to better serve the Plymouth community.

Mr. DuCharme also said that the additional service stalls are needed to handle customer needs and to fulfill his commitment to repair cars and provide customer services in accordance with the Buyer Protection Plan to which many auto analysts have attributed American Motors' recent success.

Mr. Dave Zemke, Detroit Zone

Manager for American Motors, said, "this is a tremendous commitment on the part of Messrs. DuCharme and Bob Cann of Fiesta Motors, Inc., not only in the future of American Motors, but in the present and future potential of the fine Plymouth community, which is a major source of sales for our zone. We are proud of the reputation that Fiesta Motors, Inc. has provided and look for a longterm growth and continuing quality sales and service organization."

The facility will be identified in accordance with the American Motors' Corporate Program and will have a gray exterior, a completely modernized showroom and office area. The parts department will be more than double its present size in order to better serve customer and independent repair shop needs. The targeted completion date is October 1, 1974 and until that time, it is business as usual at Fiesta.

Mayor Beverly McAninch questioned whether the city had the right to use taxpayers' money to speculate on the property and then sell the land for something other than senior citizens' use.
