

Twp. eyes 2 suits to block city takeover of lot

Old Village blaze guts shops

AN EXPLOSION, FLAMES and the water of fire hoses turned Keys King Submarine Shop, Rosedale Kitchens and Westside Electronics on Starkweather St. in Old Village into a shambles Sunday morning. City of Plymouth firefighters found the buildings filled with smoke when they arrived and fought the blaze for several hours. Flames roared above a false metal ceiling which ran through all three establishments. For more on the blaze, see page 18. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees is considering a two-pronged legal fight to stop the City of Plymouth's planned April takeover of the 40-acre Burroughs Corp. parking lot at Plymouth and Haggerty Rds.,

The State Boundary Commission last month approved the city's annexation of the parcel, which is considered a prime site for high rise commercial or residential development, and set April 10 as the date when the city would take possession of the property.

After the annexation received the boundary commission's tentative approval last fall, the township board vowed unanimously to take court action to prevent the move. Burroughs Corp. offered to share with the township in the cost of a lawsuit.

According to Township Clerk Helen Richardson and Township Attorney Donald Morgan, the township's legal response will likely be double-edged, with lawsuits planned for Ingham County Circuit Court on behalf of Plymouth Township, and in Wayne County Circuit Court, on behalf of the proposed City of Plymouth Heights.

In the Ingham suit, filed there because Ingham is the county in which the boundary commission sits, the township plans to question the boundary panel's constitutional authority to approve such an annexation, while the proposed Wayne County suit would contend that the boundaries of the proposed City of Plymouth Heights — all of the township east of McClumpha Rd. — should remain intact until township residents vote on their incorporation as a city.

The suit would require that the integrity of the boundaries of the proposed city be maintained pending an election. Scheduling of an election date, which township officials say could be in August, awaits only approval of the planned city's charter by the governor.

Morgan said a final decision has not yet been made on filing the Plymouth Heights suit. Plymouth Heights completed charter was sent to the governor last year.

Because the boundary commission set April 10 as the transfer date for the Burroughs property, either or both lawsuits would have to be filed by then.

"It will be done by April 10," Ms. Richardson vowed, noting that Burroughs would likely join in the Ingham County action.

Secret tips sought to solve robbery

A $500 reward has been offered for anonymous clues leading to the arrest and conviction of the assailants who struck down a pizza delivery man in Plymouth last week.

The reward, offered by John Innés of Bee Jays Kitchens which employed the driver who was robbed, may be claimed anonymously from The Community Crier if information supplied leads to the assailant's conviction in court.

Under The Crier's "Hidden Tipster" plan, anyone having information on the armed robbery of 18-year old Mark Davis on March 8 may submit the tip on a typewritten page with a random six-digit figure attached.

For example, attached to a tip on the case, a person

Master plan splits Canton, bewilders farmers

BY KATHY KUENZER

Canton's recently released Master Land Use Plan, the result of some three year's efforts by the township planning commission — with assistance from the township Board of Trustees — has shown, better than anything else, that all people living within the confines of a 36-square mile piece of land do not necessarily agree on what that land's future should be.

What was expressed at the plan's public hearing has turned out to be somewhat of an irony — the farmers don't want to preserve farm land and the homeowners don't want more homes.

What caused the great split between farmers and "squatters" as they have been referred to? Why has the tide of feeling against the overall plan reversed itself from what was expressed at a public hearing for the 1974 proposed Master Land Use Plan only slightly more than a year and a half ago?

The greatest change between that plan and today's has been that which has divided the East from the West in Canton in more ways than geographical — the change in proposed use of the farm lands to the west of Canton Center Rd.

At the time the proposed 1974 plan was introduced, state legislation for setting aside farm lands in return for a tax break was only being considered in Lansing. Said the Master Plan, "If the State and the County make such a commitment and provide the legal means to save agriculture, then at that time a review of present policies may be in order. Until that time, the official Township policy is that CANTON SHALL BE DEVELOPED EXCLUSIVELY FOR URBAN LAND USES." (Capitals ours.)

The new Master Plan throws that whole idea of thinking out and instead cites the recent trend of decreasing farmland in Michigan as the basis for the reversal. Demands are now made that "conversions of agricultural land stop immediately" lest Michigan find itself in the year 2000 without enough food for its citizens.

The question dangling in everyone's mind, apparently with the exception of Supervisor Bob Greenstein, a few planning commission members and township planner Mike Manore is: How can Canton preserve these farm lands without hurting someone along the way?

Will the farmers pay or will the homeowners?

Indeed the answer has come in the form of a Chinese (or shall we say Cantonese) puzzle. Each

Mock run gauges response Fire survey due, CAC studies levy

BY KATHY KUENZER

Results of a survey of Canton's fire defenses by the Michigan Fire Chiefs Association (MFCA) are expected to be forwarded to Canton later this week, according to Canton Fire Chief Mel Paulun.

An MFCA team was in Canton last Thursday to canvass the current facilities and capabilities of the Canton Fire Department.

Included in the survey was an equipment inspection, examination of random firemen on their knowledge of equipment operation and a "mock fire" in Royal Holiday Mobile Home Park in northeaster Canton.

"We made two mock runs to the mobile home park," said Paulun, "one from our station here (at Canton Center and Cherry Hill) and the other from the site of our new station (Haggerty and Warren). It took us 7½ minutes to get there from this station and only two minutes from the new site. If we could make it there that fast, we could make it in good time to the new subdivisions in that area."

Paulun said the report would advise the township whether the present fire protection is adequate or inadequate and list reasons for its judgment.

"If it proves to be inadequate," said Paulun, "they will probably make recommendations for where new stations should be built, manned and operated."

Paulun said the MFCA team also requested maps of the water system lay-out, "to see if that is adequate."

The Canton Citizens Advisory Council is currently studying whether or not Canton needs to ask for a one-mill levy for fire protection in the township. The CAC's findings are expected to be based in part on the MCFA report and on a study to be done by the Insurance Services Office of Michigan sometime this month.

The Canton Board of Trustees must take action by March 31 if the millage election is to be placed on the May ballot.

FOUR PERSONS WERE INJURED early Sunday morning when a car traveling east on Cherry Hill Rd. collided with a pick-up truck traveling south on Canton Center Rd. adjacent to the Canton fire station. Driver of the car, Henry Dryovage, 18, of Garden City, was listed in guarded condition Tuesday at Wayne County Hospital. A passenger in the car Karen Lambert, 17, of Garden City, is listed in fair condition. Another passenger Richard Jacobs, 17, of Livonia, was treated at the hospital and released. Driver of the truck, Burtis Cook, 39, Ypsilanti, is also listed in fair condition at the hospital. Wayne County Sheriffs said Dryovage failed to yield the right-of-way at the flashing red lights at the intersection. No tickets were issued.

Myers resurrects licensing for Canton businesses

Nearly a year after a similar ordinance was proposed, Canton trustees are once again considering enactment of a commercial licensing code to license township businesses.

The township board last week appointed a three-man committee to reassess the proposed ordinance and discuss its aims with township businesspeople.

Only Supervisor Bob Greenstein opposed appointment of Trustee Bob Myers' proposed committee of himself and fellow Trustees Brian Schwall and Jerry Cheske.

Greenstein said Myers' committee was "loaded", and not as neutral as it might have been had Clerk John Flodin or other township officials had been named.

Last year's version of the licensing ordinance was proposed by Treasurer Carl Parsell, but the proposal never received formal consideration by the township board.

According to Myers' proposed ordinance, "No person shall engage in the operation ...of any business in...Canton without first obtaining a license from the township clerk in the manner provided under this code, ...specifically exempt from coverage."

To apply for a license, businesspeople would be required to provide full names, business addresses and residence, addresses of all owners...officers and local managers; the place and length of time the business to be conducted; the nature of goods or services offered; a list of all

Tax abatement opinion due on senior housing

Plymouth City Attorney Charles Lowe is expected to present his legal opinion April 5 on the city's position in a request for property tax abatement for a senior citizens high-rise housing facility proposed for downtown Plymouth.

Lowe told the commission Monday other communities have granted tax abatements for such developments, and the city could put the question to a vote of its residents. He did, however, add that preliminary talks with state officials indicated such abatement, if challenged in court, could be found illegal.

Poole rips payments

Canton last year paid more than $7,400 in property taxes on property its is either buying or leasing in the township, and Canton Trustee Jim Poole says "it isn't right."

Poole called attention to item 53 of "bills for payment" approved at the last Canton Board of Trustees meeting which called for payment of taxes on the recently acquired Folkers Nursery Property, the Canton Recreation Hall and Detroit Edison property the township is purchasing.

Although Deputy Treasurer Michael Groman explained that

Wayne County requires the township pay taxes on a prorated basis. On Canton's leased of purchased properties that appeared in the tax rolls on Dec. 31 of the previous year, Poole said, "that still doesn't make it right. Churches and hospitals don't have to pay and I don't think it's fair that the township does."

The total of the Canton property bill was $7,444.75, but Gorman said the properties have now been taken off the rolls and will not require tax payment by Canton again.

Bumper crop of talent

FOUR TALENTED DANCERS helped to make the Fourth Annual Plymouth Rockettes Talent Show in Salem Auditorium a success. Some 600 persons attended the Friday and Saturday night performances last weekend to be entertained for the benefit of the Rockettes treasury. Performances were given by dancers, singers, magicians and musicians from both Salem and Canton high schools. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

Air crash kills man

A memorial mass will be held Saturday, March 20 at 2:30 p.m. in Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church for a Plymouth Township man killed Wednesday night when his twin-engine plane crashed near Woodstock, Ontario.

Dead is James M. Gallagher, 34, of Anne Ct.

The father of two stored his Cessna at Canton's Mettetal Airport. He was moving his Toronto based laundry chemical business to this area, and flew frequently between here and the Canadian city.

He was en route to Toronto when the crash occurred.

He is survived by his wife, Nancy; children Kelly, 6, and James Jr., 4. Funeral services and burial were held in Chicago.

A memorial fund for the Gallagher children has been established in lieu of flowers. Contributions may be made to Mrs. Nancy Gallagher.

TCP forum will push for open government

In an attempt to "open up the closed door sessions to the public" Total Citizens Power (TCP) of Canton Township will sponsor an open forum on Wednesday March 24 for the discussion of closed governmental meetings "wherein public business is discussed."

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in Canton High School cafeteria.

TCP's Scheduling of the forum follows a request by the organization for Canton to send the group packets contain all materials pertinent to Canton Board of Trustees meetings.

Upon receipt of the letter from TCP dated Dec. 12, Canton Supervisor Bob Greenstein replied that agendas may be obtained in advance of the meetings but that "no other date or packets are furnished to any organization or person other than immediate board members within the township under the Board Rule."

(The press regularly is given some background material in Canton agenda packets but items such as the list of bills to be paid, information on rezoning and site plans is usually not included as in press packets from the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township.)

TCP in return replied they were "greatly shocked" by Greenstein's refusal to reveal any and or all data relevant to a public agenda issue item.

"We were under the impression that any concerned citizen of Canton Township has the right to know, and or inspect any such material (s) related to a public issue," said the return memo.

TCP then requested copies of all Township Board rules, regarding the disposition of public information, their amendments to date, the dates of public posting and publishing and the authors of each rule.

"Under present conditions of such Township Board Rules (s), or lack of such... the citizens have no way to monitor or gauge the board actions as to the legality of acts during 'closed' door meetings that citizens are barred from attending," the TCP memo continued.

TCP's request for meeting packets was brought before the Canton Board of Trustees again last week spurring heated discussion among members of the board.

Trustee Bob Myers, said he didn't feel "Just any group in Canton should get the packets."

"I do think, however, the residents have a right to know what's transpiring."

Myers then moved that packets be placed at the township hall and the fire station for the public's use.

A motion was made by Trustee Gerry Cheske to table the item after Flodin said he felt some time should be taken to decide what the packets should contain. The motion failed for lack of support, however, with Trustee Jim Poole, Brian Schwall and Myers voting for denial.

Myers motion was then withdrawn and Schwall moved to put the packets at both locations and decide at the March 23 meeting on their contents.

Greenstein objected, saying TCP had "never asked me to see my packet at Township Hall."

Myers replied, "Doesn't the chair feel people have the right to know what's going on in the township?"

Greenstein called the affair a "political maneuver - a lot of baloney."

"You always talk about innovative ideas in Canton," Myers told Greenstein "I can't think of a more innovative idea than making these packets available."

Schwall's motion to make the packets available and decide upon their contents at the next meeting was passed by a vote of 4-2 with Flodin and Greenstein voting against the motion and Treasurer Carl Parsell absent.

Trail will become newest city street

The Plymouth City Commission Monday approved an agreement with the Wayne County Road Commission under which Ann Arbor Trail between Main and Sheldon will soon become a city street.

The potholed stretch of roadway is currently a county thoroughfare. Under the agreement, the county and the city will share the $90,000 cost of resurfacing the street. After the improvements - which could be completed this summer - the city will take possession.

Control will mean added revenues of about $2,000 annually, for the city from state gas and weight taxes, but city crews will now be responsible for maintaining the street and the tree-line parkways on both sides.

Kelley to speak

Frank J. Kelley, Attorney General of the State of Michigan, will be the guest speaker at the Canton Chamber of Commerce Annual Dinner meeting to be held Thursday March 25.

Kelley will speak on the topic "Land Use in the Community."

"We expect that Mr. Kelley will speak generally about the needs of all communities, including ecology, land use and economics," said acting Chamber Office Manager Bart Berg.

Reservations for the meeting, which will begin with a cocktail hour at 6:30 p.m. followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m. may be obtained by contacting the Chamber office at 5834 Sheldon Rd. in Harvard Square. Shopping Center or by calling the office at 453 - 4040 on or before March 20. Tickets are $8.50 per person. The dinner will be held at Vittorio's Restaurant, 33201 Plymouth Rd. at Farmington Rd.

(Aunt Polly), eighth grader Jane West (Becky Thatcher and sixth grader Steve Johnson (Injun Joe). The students, under the direction of Laura Wallace, will perform Thursday, March 18 at 7:30 p.m. and Friday morning and afternoon, March 19, at Central. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

Becky, Huck, Tom coming

More than 100 Central Middle School students have spent the past month and a half preparing for this week's performances of the musical, "Tom Sawyer" at their school.

The musical version of the many adventures of young Tom Sawyer and his pal, Huckleberry Finn, was chosen by Laura Wallace, music teacher and director, as part of the school Bicentennial celebration.

Aided by their art, drama and home economics teachers, Central students in all grades have been building and painting scenery, making props and posters, sewing costumes and learning lines and music.

Performances will be this week for many area schools. The evening performance for the public will be tomorrow evening, March 18, at 7:30 p.m. in Central's auditorium.

Tickets are available at the door for .25 cents and .50 cents, proceeds to go toward buying choir music for the remainder of the school year.

West band readies for marathon music 24 hour fundraiser

West Middle School Band and Orchestra Students and teachers this weekend will turn their rehearsal and performance sessions into a musical marathon when they undertake to play a continuous 24 hour stretch of music to raise money for music scholarships and equipment.

Called a "Playathon" the 24 hour session will feature the training band, concert band, string groups, symphony band, stage band and assorted solos and ensemble playing on a rotating schedule from 4 p.m. Friday March 19 until 4 p.m. Saturday March 20 in the West gymnasium.

Each student playing has been obtaining sponsors to pledge 10 cents per hour for each hour the music continues. Sponsors are required to attend the Playathon some time during the 24 hour period, at which time they will sign up for their pledge and help provide an audience for the "long winded" musicians.

It is hoped all sponsors will pay pledges on or before March 26.

West Middle School bands and orchestras hope to earn some $2,000 with the project. Three $100 music scholarships to attend All-State Music Competition at Interlochen or Blue Lake Pine Arts Camp, music stands, rent on several instruments and additional band equipment are among the items the Playathon proceeds will help provide.

Schedule for the 24 hour period will be as follows:

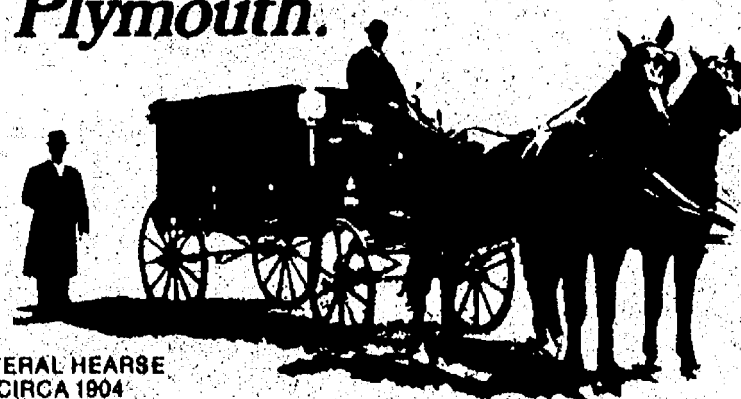

4 p.m. - 6 p.m.	Training Band
6 - 8 p.m.	Concert Band
8 - 9 p.m.	String groups
9 - 11 p.m.	Symphony Band

I had reservation but-- Kids, parents agree, '45-15 where it's at'

Editor:
I guess I am writing this letter simply because I am tired of reading all the editorials about "45-15" and open classrooms from people who have not had personal experience with it. My daughter has had the opportunity of going to both a straight traditional school and a school with open classrooms. She has also had the opportunity to attend a school for a normal school year and a "45-15" school year. I personally think that the "45-15" classroom concept is the best thing that ever came about.

I did have some reservation about both the programs coming from a very straight and traditional school but I feel you must give some things a chance before you condemn them. When we moved here, her days of not wanting to go to school were over, she was willing to go the day we were moving. Seeing Miller and the way it was set up must have appealed to her because she was very anxious to start school. Seeing a school that was different from the other schools she has seen was good for her.

It is the same thing with the "45-15" when there was talk that it may not go this year she was concerned and told us she liked the way she was going to school now and didn't want to go back to the old way.

To me when a child shows

Teachers' math doesn't add

Editor:
The Gallimore teachers' response to payless paydays was certainly enlightening. According to 16 of the 18 teachers at Gallimore, it is "common" for our elementary teachers to spend from $100 to $200 and more each per year for their students.

We have about 13 elementary schools in our district -- this could mean that it is common for our elementary teachers to donate something between $23,400 and $46,800 per year! Assuming other of our teachers are as generous, this could mean it is "common" for them, as a whole, to donate some $56,000 to $11,200 per year to our district. Fantastic!

This certainly shows a wonderful altruistic spirit of our teachers. These figures boggle one's mind.

However, for those skeptics who might overlook this altruism at "strike" time (and tax time) it might be interesting to see some documentation of these needed expenditures.

Would any of our teachers care to elaborate?

enough interest in a program to express herself that a program must be doing something for her.

I know the open classroom and 45-15 isn't suited for everyone but for my child and also a lot of other children it is working out very well. To these children Miller School is where it's at. I myself do not see her learning any less than any other child or any less than she did before.

I also know that at the end of her three week intersession she is more than ready to go back to school. Sometimes I sit here and wonder how both of us ever survived the entire summer.

This type of schooling did take a little while to adjust to but I feel that the period of adjustment was well worth it. I also feel that 45-15 is utilizing the Miller building to its fullest extent. It does not sit barren all summer long.

As far as the Miller teachers being dedicated to a program only, the person who wrote that is totally wrong. I have never seen a more dedicated group of teachers in my life. They are dedicated to their program but much more than that they are totally dedicated to their children.

At Miller when it is time to go home, there is not a race between the teachers and the children to see who will get out first as I have seen in a few other schools.

I personally feel that any of the teachers my child has had have been great and I know both her and I feel that the teacher she presently has is one of the greatest teachers a child could ever want.

He is a Miller teacher, open classroom teacher, and he is super.

Canton land plan confusing

Questions, confusion, misunderstandings, apparent "up-dates".

All of these describe the general feeling of the many Cantonites on the proposed Canton Master Use Plan.

The farmers are unsure of what rezoning to agricultural industrial will mean to their economic future.

Homeowners wonder if somewhere down the line, if the plan is passed, they might not be asked to "foot the bill" for the reduced farm taxes, no one has promised them other wise.

The schools wonder if increased state aid to make up for reduced farm assessments is actually a possibility, especially in light of the budget crisis now facing the State.

Even Canton Trustees have said they don't know "which plan" is being discussed, in view of the apparent "up-dates" by Canton Supervisor Bob Greenstein with regard to just what will make the plan feasible.

What will make the plan work?

Is it the reduced farm assessments and taxes or the purchase of developmental rights by the township that "may" happen? Is it the fact that utilities are not being extended west for development in the near future that will curtail development for the time being?

Each time Greenstein talks about the plan, he mentions something else. What does the plan REALLY say?

What the farmers think it says and what Greenstein says it says do not appear to be the same thing. If what the farmers think it says is correct, that they will "lose their shirts" when it comes time to sell, I have all sympathy for them. If what Greenstein says is correct, then I think he'd be wise to start being a little more clear and concise in his reasons for its anticipated success.

Election year is upon us. It will be interesting to see if all deliberate speed is used to see that the plan, if passed, does not become part of the need for the Democratic slate to ask that they be re-elected so that they might "see this plan through."

Actually with the confusion that exists now, the plan may never get that far.

I'm tired of fast-talking lawyers and sob sisters running courts

Editor:

Let's call it what it is, accosting and soliciting!

I congratulate Sheriff Lucas taking the action he did. Sheriff Lucas has to be the most dynamic sheriff Wayne County has ever had, at least as long as I can remember.

As for those who criticize Judge Dunbar Davis, like Rev. Heather Anderson, I have news for you. There is no such thing as a victimless crime, society is always the victim.

If homosexuals want to be anonymous, fine, let them practice their homosexual activities in the privacy of their own homes. Not in public places!

Why should we allow these people to prey on the rest of society, who do not accept their way of life?

There were 63 arrested in one month. If there are that many they could start their own private club and stay out of our parks where we would like to be able to take our children.

If these people were so worried about their careers, why didn't they think of that before they got caught.

There seems to be enough of them that they could have gotten together without accosting others.

I hope other judges take Judge Dunbar Davis' fine example.

I am tired of the fast talking lawyers and sob sisters who try and run our courts.

Let's get back to the books and call it like it is! Accosting and soliciting.

Background essential to open government

Conducting the business of government in public is at last becoming important to the people of this country.

Abuse of power given to elected officials leads the people to believe, rightfully so that the power of government should be exercised only out in the open.

Open meetings and decision making are certainly foremost in controlling government.

When decisions are hammered out behind closed doors the will of the people can be too easily "forgotten".

Admittedly there are some things which should be discussed in private even though the final decision should be made by public vote. Those things best handled in that manner are: negotiations and other personnel decisions, and the acquisition of public property.

But there is more to open government than just open meetings.

The people have a right to know the background behind the decisions which will affect them.

Newspapers provide some background in items of general note, but rarely on smaller matters. And in some cases, like Canton Township, even the press is not given supporting information on many agenda items.

That is the issue now confronting Canton, where a citizens' group has asked that background information on agenda items be made public.

A similar request by a citizens' group in the City of Plymouth was turned down several months ago.

The argument against it, said the city, was the cost of duplicating materials which may or may not be pertinent.

But it would certainly be money well spent to make at least one complete copy of the agenda packet available for public inspections before a meeting in the clerk's office.

Input by the public is the last guarantee that governmental officials won't "overlook" something as was the case in the city's haste to grant tax abatement for the proposed senior citizen high rise. (In that case the very group which had previously been denied agenda background information pointed out that the city was not acting in accordance to the law on tax abatement.)

Had the Canton citizenry had an opportunity to look over the bills at the last meeting no doubt someone would have raised an eyebrow about the apparent oversight on Canton officials' part to have some township property removed from the tax rolls. (That meant the township had to pay unnecessary taxes on its property.)

The people have a right to access of ALL information pertaining to decisions affecting them. (Only in matters pertaining to personnel and land acquisition should information be withheld until after a decision is made.)

Blocking the citizens' right to know only leads us to ask, "What're you hiding?"

Jury duty — insights on American justice

BY KATHY KUENZER

One of the privileges we registered voters are given besides the obvious one of voting, is serving jury duty - a dubious honor to some, a headache to others, and what I finally found to be (along with a combination of the first two) a real opportunity to learn something about the system of justice in our county and country.

Yes, I felt put upon when I first received my summons to jury duty last October. Because of personal conflict, I had my service postponed until a couple of weeks ago, when the old summons turned up once again in my mailbox.

Hearing so much about the advantages of the "one-day, one-trial" system of jury duty now in effect in Wayne County, I decided to go ahead and take my chances - that I would either not be picked at all on my first day as a prospective juror, or that I would be lucky enough to get a short trial.

Probably the most harrowing part of my experience - - having lived in Michigan for slightly less than three years - - was the drive to Detroit, finding a suitable parking lot, and making my way safely to the City-County Building, where I was to report at 8:45 on a Wednesday morning.

Each person's name was checked off as he or she arrived and a jury commission clerk handed each of us a slip - mine said "Jury Panel 19." After a brief slide presentation on the procedures of a jury trial and our restrictions while waiting to be picked for a trial, we began what most of the 100 or so gathered in the assembly room believed to be a long day's wait.

No such luck - within 10 minutes I realized that Jury Panel 19 didn't mean we were 19th to be picked - today we were third.

A clerk escorted us upstairs to Judge Frederick Byrd's courtroom in Common Pleas Court, where six of the 15 of us were about to begin a two and one-half day trial which included all of three witnesses and practically no spectators.

Two of the original six were excused because the lawyers in the trial felt their judgment might be prejudiced because of previous similar experiences to the case we were about to hear, or because of previous dealings with one of their law firms.

As a newspaper reporter, I was asked about my experiences in reporting trials, but neither attorney found my background a source of concern.

The trial concerned a collision that occurred in 1970 and was just now coming to trial

the Crier's friends & neighbors

- - which most of us felt was a crime in itself.

In the course of our first day we listened to versions of how one man's truck had been hit by the other's car while the truck was swinging left to make a right hand turn into a driveway. The car driver, who said he saw the truck signal a left turn, attempted to pass on the right. The upshot of it all was that the truck driver said he had sustained back injuries and that he was suing the car driver for some $6,000 for "pain, suffering and doctor's bills."

out over two and one half days is nothing short of torture. Each detail was repeated at least five times. Even the trucker's doctor was asked for every minute detail in the diagnosis and treatment of the "injured" man.

After the testimony, we listened to another hour of the attorney's closing remarks and then to the judge's instructions, which were intended to be helpful, but which were so exact as to be confusing.

But we, the jury, knew what our duties were and our deliberations showed that we had heard and understood the same things in the same way. Our verdict: "We find the defendant not guilty and see no cause for action."

Lined up before the judge's bench with our backs to the defendant, plaintiff and their lawyers made it a little less difficult to render the verdict, but we all wondered what it would have been like if the case had involved a jail sentence or the releasing of an accused felon instead of a civil suit.

My greatest impression of the whole affair is the respect and trust which Judge Byrd showed for us. He always excused us with a smile and a parting word at the end of the day to drive carefully and he always asked if we would like a recess before the next trial event began.

Both attorneys thanked us more than once for our attentiveness, but who would have been other than attentive, I wonder.

I learned a lot about the courtroom in the brief time I sat in the jury box last week. One thing I learned that gives me faith in our system is that whether its a small civil case such as we heard or an important criminal trial, every man is entitled to his "day in court". And we the jurors were there to see that one man received his.

Lunch with LOMAS

There is nothing funny about lunch. There is nothing slightly humorous about any meal of the day, since each enables us to survive and live to a rotten old age. If your lunch consists of a butter and baloney sandwich and warm milk, that's not funny at all, especially to you. Humor is in the eye of the beholder. Anything I write here about lunch is not intended to cause anyone consternation (or indigestion), especially the cooks who work hard to prepare the lunches. I realize that the effort they put forth week after week is tremendous. How would you like to have 400 kids (at least) over to lunch 180 days a year? And none of them like the same thing -- ever. You've got to have a sense of humor to survive that and come out looking peaches. We may kid the schools about their cuisine, but we salute the chefs who serve our kids.

Twp. rejects hunting changes

BY DONNA LOMAS

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees voted to keep the township's present hunting area boundaries the same by rejecting a recommendation from its Hunting Area Control Committee.

The committee's recommendation, which would have closed lands between Beck and Ridge to hunting while opening a section of the township east of Beck north of North Territorial, was rejected by a 5-2 vote, with Treasurer Joe West, who served on the hunting committee, and Trustee Frank Millington dissenting.

Under current restriction, hunting is permitted west of Beck Rd.

Clerk Helen Richardson read two letters signed by 49 families in the affected area which opposed the recommended hunting control changes.

Although the hunting issue has stirred strong emotions in the past, there were no comments from the audience. Ms. Richardson said, "perhaps the time is coming for the board to consider putting it (hunting) as a referendum on the ballot for the people to decide."

Trustee Richard Gornick said he was "strongly opposed to the recommendation."

"I am extremely upset that we (as a governing body) cannot make this recommendation," he said. "This indicates a lack of local control -- a committee made up of 'strangers'."

Dodge, Bida neglect SEMCOG, Bev says

In a written statement Monday to the Plymouth City Commission, Commissioner Bev McAninch questioned the commitment to their duties of the city's representatives to the Southeast Michigan Council of Government (SEMCOG).

Ms. McAninch, the city's former SEMCOG delegate, said neither Commissioner Scott Dodge, the city's new representative, nor Mayor Joe Bida, Dodge's alternate were on hand at a SEMCOG meeting last Friday when what she described as a "very important" vote to choose the regional government body's delegates to SEMTA, the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority.

"Prior to this," she said in her statement, "neither our delegate nor our alternate have attended committee meetings of the Council on Environmental Strategy, for which they had volunteered."

"Perhaps this demonstrates that a desire to be appointed is just not enough, there must be a commitment to serve."

Dodge, who was appointed by Bida to replace Ms. McAninch, had no comment.

Ms. McAninch said the Plymouth area also lost both its city and its at-large seats on SEMCOG's executive committee.

The seat held by at large delegate Arch Vallier of Plymouth Township, who was absent, and the seat formerly held by her were both taken by representatives of other communities, she said.

Canton goes without water budget

The Canton Board of Trustees has yet to approve its 1976-77 Water and Sewer Budget. Upon the advice of Treasurer Carl Parsell, approval was delayed beyond the statutory March 1 deadline "until a water rates study has been completed."

The board, by a vote of 5-1 voted to 'receive and table' the budget at its Feb. 24 meeting. Voting against the motion was Trustee Brian Schwall. Parsell was absent at the Feb. 24 meeting and was again absent at the March 9 meeting.

The water rates study is expected to be complete before the next township board meeting.

PCAC plans sale

The Plymouth Community Arts Council will celebrate its first full year of operation with a special birthday sale of 26 selected pieces Wednesday, March 24 at the Dunning Hough Library. Sale hours will be from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

The Council also announced a change in policy whereby all reproductions will be available for purchase with past rental fees credited to the selling price.

More guards due for jail transfers

The Public Safety and Judiciary Committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners accepted a report yesterday from county auditors recommending the hiring of 21 additional police officers to guard an expended contingent of county jail prisoners at the Detroit House of Corrections in Plymouth Township.

According to a board of commissioners spokesman, some 60 to 80 new inmates are expected to be transferred from the overcrowded county jail to DeHoCo next week, when a second barracks is scheduled to open. The transfers would about double the county jail population at the city-run facility here.

Salaries for the additional guards are part of $646,000 allocation approved by the board of commissioners earlier this year to provide personnel for DeHoCo guard duties.

Story hours start

Story hours will begin March 24 and continue through April 28 with two half hour sessions each Wednesday beginning at 10 and 11 a.m.

Children's librarian Kaye Grabbe will present stories, songs, and films in the programs which also give young children the opportunity to meet other and to learn to get along in a group.

Republicans - Independents in Canton last week held an organizational meeting for the purpose of discussing the future role of their group in the coming election year.

According to James Poole, Canton Trustee and acting chairman of the first session, the meeting was a "successful venture."

"We're at a point where it is imperative to not only identify and locate civic minded residents and the qualified potential candidates, but to get them to help and be involved in the conduct of their government."

"Hopefully we can attract Democrats, Republicans and Independents alike who can participate in our meetings. We want to see those who are interested in good government and don't care about the politics," Poole said.

Attending the meeting March 8 was 15th District and Wayne County Republican Chairman

Ernest C. Fackler who said, "With Canton's recent tremendous growth, the potential is extremely high for successful participating by individual residents in this fertile area."

"I agree that the potential here is tremendous," said Poole. "But none of us are interested in running anyone for every vacant office in the township. Only the qualified people will be put up."

Others in the organizational committee for the Republican Independents include former Canton Supervisor Lou Stein, William Mast and Diane Hamernick who all serve as precinct delegates in the township.

Other guest speakers during the evening included Harry Greenleaf, Chairman of County's second District Republicans, and Robert Law, State Chairman of the Young Republicans.

Poole said one of the most important items for Republicans at this time is the election of precinct delegates. petitions for Republican delegates must be filed with the County Clerk no later than 4 p.m. on March 26 for the May presidential primary.

Poole said questions on future meetings of the Republicans - Independents be directed to him at 455 - 5660.

Salem parents await official death report

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taylor of Salem Township, parents of 13-year old Stephanie Taylor who died March 7 while on a trip to Washington, D.C., are still awaiting official notification of their daughter's cause of death.

Mrs. Taylor said the medical examiner for Arlington County, Va. had not released his report as of last week and the cause of Stephanie's death is not officially known.

An official from the Chicago area tour agency which organized the trip and who had relayed the official police and hospital reports to Plymouth School officials, had indicated the death was related to previous heart problems.

While school records show Stephanie had had at least one fainting spell in school, no history of heart problems had ever been diagnosed, Mrs. Taylor said.

Master plan divides Canton

piece apparently must fit or the entire scheme is likely to fail.

Greenstein, who thus far has served as spokesman for the proposed plan despite his non-planning commission status, offers the following proposal:

First, he says, the western half of the township can legally be assessed and taxed upon its actual use and not its potential development use, as long as Canton provides zoning which insures that land will be used only for agricultural purposes.

Further, the loss in state equalized valuation would mean the homeowner would not have to make up for the reduction in farm taxes.

Then, says Greenstein, when the time comes maybe 10 years from now, Canton may, through some means purchase the developmental rights from the farmers, allowing them to maintain the land in an agricultural use.

"The Master Plan is a 'holding plan'," says Greenstein. "Right now we have no sewer capacity to develop that land so developers can't develop it anyway."

Greenstein says if the plan succeeds and there are 10 years to try it, the people won't lose, and that includes the farmers.

The farmers at the public hearing didn't seem to agree with this idea of "holding" the land for 10 years. Their only question was "We don't understand — how can we have paid high taxes all these years in hopes of one day selling at a profit for our retirement, and now you newcomers tell us you want us to forget that idea?"

The farmers are confused, bewildered. Homeowners, by their obvious lack of participation at the public hearing for the most part appear to be either satisfied, uninformed or non-committal. But according to the 1975 census, many moved to Canton because of the "open land."

Until other hearings of the plans are held, it appears certain that confusion may continue to exist and that a lack of trust of the farmers for the "squatters" will continue to grow.

Canton merchants face licensing

assumed, trade or firm names under which the applicant intends to do business; the nature and character of proposed advertising; and whether or not persons conducting the business have been convicted of a crime, misdemeanor or the violation of any municipal ordinances... and full particulars therewith."

License will not be granted, the proposed ordinance says, until the clerk has determined that the applicant is in compliance with all township ordinances and the provisions of the code.

Size of the proposed license fees is not included in the ordinance, although Parsell said last year the township might consider a $25 fee. A license could be revoked, according to the ordinance, in case of fraud — in either the application or operation of the business; any violation of the code; or in operating a business in an unlawful manner or in such a manner as to pose a hazard to the health, morals, manner safety or welfare of the community.

An applicant notified of an infraction could appeal to the township board for a hearing, and the board could reverse, affirm or modify the township clerk's initial ruling on the license.

Licenses would be issued for one year only. They would not be transfereable, and business people would be required to display their licenses prominently.

The proposals adds that "Licenses issued to persons who do business afoot shall be carried on the person...at all times." Merchant could no cite state licenses as exemptions from the local code.

Finally, the proposals says, "The township clerk shall adopt and promulgate such regulations as are deemed necessary and reasonable for the effective implementation of the code."

Violators could be punished with fines and even brief jail terms.

might put the number 123456. But any six numbers may be combined in any order. The envelope should be marked "Hidden Tipster" and sent to The Community Crier, 572 S. Harvey, Plymouth.

The information will be turned over to Plymouth Police and if it leads to a conviction in the case, The Crier will deliver $500 from Bee Jays in a manner specified by the person holding the six-digit number.

Identity of the person supplying the information will be kept strictly confidential by The Community Crier even to the police.

Davis received 10 stitches to his head a week ago Monday night after he was struck over the head with a .45 caliber automatic and robbed of $34 by at least two assailants.

The incident occurred at 11:20 p.m. behind a plant at Farmer and Amelia Streets.

Innes told The Crier he hopes the reward may move anyone with information on the assailants to supply information.

"My drivers are scared to go out at night now," he explained.

Plymouth detectives are still investigating the case, said Sgt. Carl Berry. He added that he hopes the "Hidden Tipster" program may produce more leads.

FIREFIGHTER AL MATTHEWS (above) was helped from a burning store by other firefighters and treated for smoke inhalation Sunday as he and 18 other city firefighters and Plymouth Township pumper and aerial crews fought a fire which destroyed three Old Village shops. Fireman John Buzuvis was treated for a cut knee at St. Mary Hospital. Both men were back on the job that afternoon. Fire Chief George Schoenneman, who toured the gutted buildings Monday with a state fire marshal and a gas company representative, said the cause of the blaze has not yet been determined. Whatever the cause, the cost was evident on the faces of Jim and Phyllis Key (left) owners of Keys King Subs, one of three shops destroyed.

Stars in state meet

Finley 2nd in back stroke

Salem's Ron Finley and Canton's Kevin Harris, both juniors, emerged in great fashion, representing the community at the state swim meet held last weekend at Ann Arbor's Matt Mann pool.

Finley came six hundredth of a second from a state crown in the 100 back stroke, finishing second to an old Suburban Eight League foe, Dru Dunworth, from the state champion, the Dearborn Pioneers.

Nevertheless, Finley swam an amazing 54.69 seconds in the event, which not only breaks his own school record, but also give him All American consideration for that event.

"I don't think there are more than 20 kids in the nation that swam the back that fast," said coach Byron Williams.

Finley also qualified in the 200 free style, swimming his best time ever in the preliminaries 1:49.8. but it wasn't good enough to gain a spot in Saturday's finals.

The race for the 100 back title

the Crier Sports

was so close that the announcer on the television, broadcasting the meet finals taped the following day, kept yelling, "It's Finley all the way, Finley all the way."

The Chiefs Harris, swimming in the first heat of the 100 yard freestyle preliminaries, went his best time ever, setting a new Canton school record with a 50.1 seconds clocking.

The 100 free proved to be the tightest qualifying event of the preliminaries, as the 12 finalists were bunched with times of 48.3 to 49.4. Harris finished a respectables 16th of the 36 swimmers.

"He swam well and that's the important thing," said coach Bill Faunce.

As a team, Salem finished as one of the top 20 in the state. The Rocks's 200 medley relay of Finley, Steve Johler, Steve Lazarus and Tom Griffin set a new school record with a 1:42.4 timing that was good enough for eighth place, qualifying them for the finals. But a disqualification in that preliminary race cost the Rock foursome a spot in the finals and a possible 10 extra points and a better than 12th place finish in the state.

THE LITTLE GUYS and girls steal the community cage scene this Saturday as the Plymouth-Canton Junior Basketball League tournament championships will be played at Pioneer and Central Middle Schools.

Spikers lose in tourney

Rocks, Chiefs bow out early

That old nemesis - the inability to win the big game, finally caught up with the Salem girls volleyball team, as the do-or-die situation of the state tournament ended in the worst way, as the Rocks bowed out after their first bit of action.

The Canton Chiefs had much of the same problems in their only tourney appearance, as they likewise lasted two games before departing with only a hope for next year.

Both squads are extremely young, graduating only one regular playing senior each.

It was a fellow Suburban Eight League team, the Redford Union Panthers, that pulled the trick against the Rocks in straight 15-9 and 15-12 games last Tuesday.

The only advantage Salem had in the match was early in the first game, holding a 5-2 lead. But two quick Panther points changed the momentum of the game around for good.

"We played pretty well but had trouble handling their serves," said Coach Brian Gilles.

"RU is a senior ballclub with experience. They played well, unfortunately against us.

"We converted on 88% of our serves but missed on the important ones," Gilles said in referring to his youth compared to the more experienced Panther team.

Eli to be named to all-state team

The Crier has learned from an informed source that Salem's Jim Ellinghausen will be named to the All-State basketball team Sunday by one of the selection committees.

The poll that Ellinghausen received the All-State honor from is the only poll recognized by the Michigan High School Basketball Coaches Association.

More details on the story will appear in next week's Crier.

Salem finishes its season with a 6-1 record in the conference, good enough for second place, and a 10-5 overall mark. In total games, the Rocks won 45 while dropping only 25 in the season's play.

"We had enough chances but couldn't win it," said Coach Cindy Burnstein after her Chiefs lost last Monday to the Thurston Eagles 16-14, 15-13.

The flow of the game saw the Thurston offense and the Canton defense making the best plays of the night, with the offense winning at the outset.

The Chiefs defensive charge was led by Karen Decker and Jan Haarer with point saving returns of Thurston spikes.

Canton held a 7-0 lead in the first game behind the serving

Eli takes honors

A giant step toward that possible coveted spot on the all state basketball team was taken by Salem's 6-8 Jim Ellinghausen last week, as he was named to the all-Suburban and All-Metro teams by both of the selection committees from two polls.

Recognized as the heart and backbone of the Rocks' cage successes this season, Ellinghausen was honored with these two first team selections.

Ellinghausen led the Rocks to their third straight Suburban Eight League title and a 20-2 state-ranked position. He averaged 28.9 points in this 22 game season, breaking numerous Salem season and career marks.

Jr. roundball league

finales coming Saturday

The playoffs of the Plymouth-Canton Junior Basketball League continues this week with the final games scheduled for this Saturday, March 20, in each division.

The Girls B League gets things started at Pioneer Middle School with its championship game slated to start at 8:15 a.m.

The Boys B championship game follows at 10 a.m., with the Girls A finale scheduled to begin at 11:45 a.m.

The last game of the day at Pioneer is the Boys A championship, slated for 1:30 p.m. The Boys AA League final contest is also at 1:30 p.m. at Central Middle School.

All games are free to the public.

Prikosivits, Moore earn all-Sub-8

Junior Peggy Moore and Sophomore Karen Prikosivits were two of the six members selected to the All Suburban Eight league girls volleyball team last week.

These two members of the second place Salem squad led the Rocks in spiking and serving over the past season.

Banquet honors Rock matmen

The end of the most successful season ever for the Salem wrestling team was marked by its banquet two weeks ago.

As expected, the Rocks named senior captain Carl Schultz as their Most Valuable Wrestler of the season. Schultz was the only Rock to qualify for the state meet in East Lansing.

He also broke three-team records this season - most victories (31), most pins (18) tied with Les Hassen, and most team points (159)

Hassen also hold five season and career marks after his 28-5 year. Hassen is only a junior.

Other awards given at the banquet saw the Most Improved Wrestler honors go to Sophomore Bob Dasher and Rene Leist. The Most Outstanding junior varsity wrestler was Mike Hassen.

The Dave Edminsten Memorial Award, given to the wrestler who had done the most to improve himself as a grappler, went to Jeff Fidge.

The Rocks season, which saw all but one record broken this year, ended with an 11-4 overall record and a 5-2 mark in the Suburban Eight League, good enough for second place.

Salem which has all but three starters coming back next season, was also tournament victors at Allen Park and North Farmington, along with an 11th place finish at the 33 team Schoolcraft Invitational.

The junior varsity squad ended its season with a 7-2 record.

A summer wrestling session for youngsters from sixth through 12th grade will be run through the continuing education program, in conjunction with the high school off-season activities.

Two groups will be formed, sixth through eighth graders and ninth graders through 12th graders. There will be four weeks of instruction and one week of tournament play.

Registration for this program will be in May. For further information, call Ron Krueger or Larry Masteller and the Centennial Park, 453 - 3100.

Ladenberger nets 8 goals

Bobby Ladenberger made Plymouth Hockey Association history during the Pee Wee House League playoff held last week.

The 11 year old icer scored three consecutive goals one night in a playoff game and returned the following night to score five more straight goals. The eight consecutive goals accounted for all but one goal that his team scored in the two nights of action.

Ladenberger is in his fourth year in the association.

"Bobby is a super kid who has been an unsung hero for his team all season," said Pee Wee coordinator Dick Farwell.

Doc's corner

BY DENNIS O'CONNOR

Special recognition to 10 athletes, nine swimmers and one wrestler, should be given for their individual achievements that are largely overshadowed during the season because of the two basketball teams that are largely in the news.

I'm speaking of the 10 Plymouth athletes that worked hard to gain a place in the state meets for wrestling and swimming.

The only community wrestler, one of eight in the Western Suburbs, to make the trip to East Lansing this season was Carl Schultz, captain of the Salem squad. He finished as one of the top eight grapplers in his weight class and just recently was named the Most Valuable Wrestler for the Rock crew this season.

In the swimming lanes, the lone Canton Chief state qualifier was Junior Kevin Harris in the 100 free yard styles. It took Harris until his last attempts of the season, the first split of the 400 free relay, before he qualified for the state meet.

Finley performed in two individual events, the 100 back and the 200 free style, and was part of the 200 medley relay along with Steve Johler, Steve Lazarus, and Tom Griffin.

The other relay, the 300 free, saw the Rocks also qualify Craig Richter, Tom Rubadue, Tom Smith and Griffin.

Salem also sent a diver Mike Stocker to the competition held in Ann Arbor over the past weekend.

For these athletes, whose individual efforts are often overlooked, I give congratulations for a great job this season.

Gymnastic squads score tri-meet win

The Plymouth Gymnastics Club continues its success as one of the top squad in the state, with tri-meet victories for its A and B teams over Saginaw and St. Joseph.

Plymouth A totaled 145.54 points in beating second place Saginaw by 10 points at the opponent's floor.

Plymouth B pulled a surprise on everyone with an unexpected victory, edging Saginaw by less than a point, 107.59, to 106.83 St. Joseph finished third in both competitions.

Plymouth A showed dominance in all areas as Jill Moorehead headed the team with a first in vaulting and uneven parallel bars, a fourth in the floor exercise and first all-around.

Wendy Gray was second in the floor, and bars and third all-around.

Dana Worsnop was third in vaulting, fourth on the bars and fourth all around. Annette Kubksk placed fourth in the vaulting and floor and fifth on the bars. Jane La Butte was third in the floor.

Plymouth A grabbed the first four places in the beam, headed by Gray, LaButte, Lori Agnew and Worsnop.

Rockettes make final appearance

The 1975 - 76 version of the Salem Rockettes made their final appearance of the season last weekend with their annual show, performed before an estimated total of 600 people at the Salem auditorium.

The Friday and Saturday night performances marked the fourth annual show the Rockettes have put on in the six year history of the pom-pom group.

One of the main features of the show of 20 girls was the traditional number by the five seniors who will be graduating from the squad this year. The five seniors include Mary Mullen (captain), Lori DiVeto (Co-captain), Val Dennison, Linda Secord, and Karen Fowler.

The Rockettes is an organization whose activities include dancing performances and halftime of the football and basketball games, along with its annual show.

The group receives no school funds but gets its money through the show and different fund raising projects throughout year for new uniforms and pom-poms.

West wins with 80 points

Marks fall at Middle meet

West Middle School won the annual Plymouth middle school swim meet with 80 points.

Central finished a close second in the meet with 72 points. The Chargers had beaten each school twice without a loss in dual meet action going into the league meet.

The Pioneer Panthers ended third with 64 points and East was fourth with 36.

Craig Finley, following in the footsteps of his successful brother Ron from Salem, was a meet double winner with victories in the 200 free style and 100 back. Oddly enough, these are the same two events Ron qualified in for the state meet held last weekend.

Finley broke both records for middle school competition, one in the 100 back with a 1:07.0 timing. He also broke the 200 free mark with a 2:03.4

Other records were broken in the meet as well. The 200 medley relay from West, featuring Sue Dobel, Sarah Stanwood, Kirk Albert and Jeff Van Buhler swam a 2:09.9 for a first place finish.

Teddy Briggs from Central was a record holder in the diving competition with 143.95 points. Kirk Albert from West was the new claim for fame in the 50 yard butterfly at 29.6 second. He also won the 100 individual medley competition. Sarah Standwood was the lone individual girl record holder, winning the 100 breast stroke with a 1:19.6 clocking.

Linda Wocha of Pioneer placed first in the 50 free style with a 28.7 timing while Sue Dobel won the 100 free at 1:05.6.

Pioneer won the final event, the 200 free relay with a 1:58.4 clocking. That combination was Finley, Wochna, Sharon Ross and Steve McKenna.

West won five of the 10 events, Pioneer four and Central one. East was shutout without a victor in any race.

What to eat on Thursday? Fall Fest Board seeks new dinner

Applications are now being accepted from Plymouth service organizations interested in serving the Fall Festival Thursday night dinner.

Applications are available at the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, 878 Wing St. They should be submitted to the Chamber office by Thursday April 1, for consideration at the regular Fall Festival Board meeting on Wednesday, April 7.

All those interested are encouraged to attend the Board meeting in the library of Central Middle School at 8 p.m.

Questions should be directed to Board president Doug Blunk.

The Thursday night "German" dinner has been provided by the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's Club for the past 10 years, but the group decided not to continue its dinner.

Spikers out of tourney

of Haarer and Decker before Thurston rallied to tie the score with seven points itself. The Chiefs regained the lead for the last time 14-12, but couldn't get that winning point, as Thurston scored four unanswered tallies for the victory.

The Eagle jumped into the early lead in the second contest 9-3 and it was the Chiefs' turn to play catch up, tying things at 10-10 before Thurston went on to the victory.

Canton ended its season with a 6-8 overall record and a second place Western Six League finish behind Churchill.
