School board discusses alternative H.S.

BY CHAS. CHILD

High School students who have a discipline problem, who are not achieving or who are just plain bored with school may have a new school next year.

A proposal for an alternative high school was discussed at a workshop session of the Plymouth-Canton School Board Monday night.

As initially planned, the new school would be housed separately from the present two high schools, and would serve not only "problem" students with discipline and attendance records, but gifted students who aren't challenged by the traditional school atmosphere. Average students who don't thrive in school may also attend the new school.

Kent Buikema, principal of Canton High School, said the planners wanted a separate building so the "turned-off" students could be exposed to different experiences in the community. Vocational apprenticeships would be one part of the new school's curriculum.

Questions on the proposal centered on whether existing school program to help problem students were enough. Also, Joe Gray, president of the school board, said he would like to see more remedial programs at the middle school level to help students who were having trouble before they fell too far behind.

Flossie Tonda, school board member, said the new school might be too selective and wouldn't help the average student in the district. Jerry Morris, an area co-ordinator at Canton High School, said it was true that the school's curriculum would be directed at problem students, but the average student would be benefited by the removal of bad peer group influences.

Tonda also believed the students at the alternative school would be labelled with a stigma. Pat Gibbons, assistant principal at Pioneer Middle School, answered, "If the school meets the needs of the students, they won't care what it's called."

No formal action was taken on the plan and the board asked the superintendent's office to develop it further.

One site previously discussed as a possibility for an alternative school is Central Middle School - the former Plymouth High School.

Congress eyes Pursell recount

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

A U.S. Congress sub-panel will decide within the week whether to ask for a recount of the 2nd District race which Plymouth's Carl Pursell apparently won by 344 votes in November.

A three-member group, headed by California Congressman John Burton heard 30-minute arguments from Pursell and his opponent, Dr. Edward Pierce of Ann Arbor, on Monday.

Pursell is asking the panel to dismiss Pierce's request for a recount of the election.

Burton said a decision would be made within a week and the panel's recommendation will then go to the House Administration Committee.

Pursell was represented at the hearing by Ann Arbor Attorney Robert L. Henry and Pierce was represented by James Edwards, a Lansing attorney.

The three-member panel deciding the issue has two Democrats and one Republican. Pursell is a Republican and has already taken office, resigning his seat in the Michigan State Senate to do so.

On the morning following the election, both Pierce and Pursell were claiming defeat in the race which saw 190,439 voters cast ballots. Later, after much seesawing of vote tallies, Pursell emerged as the apparent victor by 344 votes.

City passes new parking policy

BY SUSAN NICHOLAS

The City Commission passed a new parking ordinance Monday following a lengthy debate between the commissioners and citizens.

George Lawton, treasurer of the Plymouth Community Credit union complained that the present situation is unfair to the owners of private parking space.

"We (the Credit Union) have a little concern," said Lawton. "Presently, we're assessed as if parking were $5,000, but we pay about $3,000. We've run into a situation where we pay a great deal of taxes whereas people downtown pay a minimal amount and we noticed that around Christmas people from downtown are using almost all our space up. So, what I'd like is a piece of the action in terms of parking credits." One member of the audience asked what the commission would do with the monies collected from the parking credit fees.

"I'd be interested to know what you intend to do beyond this ordinance," he said. "I'd like some indication of what you intend to do with this money."

"I think all we can do is indicate our intent and set the funds aside," replied City Commissioner Tom Turner.

Roger Wright asked about what the commission intended to do about an operating deficit.

"I'd like to ask what mechanisms you foresee being set up to handle the operating deficit?" asked Wright.

"I don't see that as being germane to the issue," replied Turner. "I don't see how it applies. However, I'd be happy if you'd show me how."

Commissioner John Moehle praised the new parking ordinance.

"I think this is a good step

The Plymouth Township Charter Study Committee is meeting Friday to draft its report to the township board and to prepare for a public hearing on the topic for March 26.

Questions and answers on becoming a charter township

74% of voters favor 45-15 extended school year

THE COMMUNITY CRIER: March 9, 1977

A telephone survey of 403 registered voters in the Plymouth-Canton School District showed that 74 per cent favor the use of extended school year (45-15) as a solution for overcrowding of schools.

The survey, conducted by volunteers under the supervision of school officials, asked about six alternatives to overcrowding.

It also asked, "If acceptable alternatives cannot accommodate all the students, would you vote for a bond issue for new schools?"

To that question, 36.7 per cent of those polled responded "yes," 47.1 per cent responded "no," and 15.9 per cent said they were undecided. A $30 million bond issue to build new schools and renovate old ones will be decided by the Plymouth - Canton School District voters in a special election on April 23.

Sam Ulsaker, administrative assistant for the schools, said the poll is believed to be accurate of the 32,000 registered district voters within five per cent.

Other questions asked showed:

*On use of portable classrooms: 85.1 per cent were familiar with that, 14.4 per cent were unfamiliar and .2 per cent did not know. Also, 57.6 per cent favored that alternative, 26.1 per cent opposed it, and 14.6 per cent were undecided.

*On extended school year: 90.6 per cent were familiar, 8.9 per cent were unfamiliar, and .5 did not know. Also, 73.7 per cent were in favor of it, 15.

4 were unfavorable, and 10.2 per cent were undecided.

*On split sessions (kindergarten through eighth grade): 57.6 per cent were familiar, 39.7 per cent were unfamiliar, and 2 per cent did not know. In addition, 24.1 per cent were in favor of it; 48.9 per cent were opposed, and 25.6 per cent did not know.

*On busing within the district to available space: 83.4 per cent were familiar, 15.1 per cent were unfamiliar, and .7 did not know about it. Further 66.7 per cent were favorable, 26.3 were opposed, and 6.0 per cent were undecided.

*On busing to rented space outside the district (such as to Garden City schools): 74.4 per cent were familiar, 23.6 per cent were unfamiliar, and 1.2 per cent did not know. Also, 27.5 per cent were in favor, 63.0 were opposed, and 8.4 per cent were undecided.

The survey also found that 62 per cent of those polled were the parents of pre-school or school age children.

School deadlines near

Two important deadlines for Plymouth Canton Community Schools residents are fast approaching.

March 24 is the last day to register to vote in the April 23 millage renewal and bond issue election.

April 11 is the last day for filing nominating petitions to be a candidate for the School Board in the annual June 13 school election. The procedure for a school board candidate has been changed by the new school code (Act No. 451) which went into effect in January. The deadline for filing petitions is earlier than in previous years.

A new petition form is required for candidates. A separate petition must be circulated in each governmental unit. For example a voter from Canton Township and a voter from Plymouth Township could not sign the same petition.

A candidate for school board must have signatures totalling from one to four per cent of the total number of votes received by the candidate who received the greatest number of votes for member of the board of education at the 1976 election. Since that was 3,129 votes, the range is from 32 to 125 names for petitions.

Canton trustees compromise on civic site

BY KATHY KUENZER

The final vote last week for the site on which to place the new Canton civic building was 5-2, but the vote tally contained compromise votes cast by two board of trustees members who said they were actually in favor of another site.

Trustee Brian Schwall early in the discussion moved that the $2.7 million structure be placed on Site A—the 12-acre parcel of land the township could have purchased north of the Canton Fire Station and the Detroit Edison power lines. But Schwall's motion, seconded by Trustee Lynne Goldsmith, was defeated 4-3, with Treasurer Anne Bradley, Trustees Gene Daley and Bob Myers and Supervisor Harold Stein voting against it.

Saying the agenda item was the "selection of a site for the township administration building," Schwall then moved for Site B, the 68-acre Folker's Nursery property being purchased by Canton at Canton Center and Proctor Roads.

"I don't intend to vote for this motion," said Schwall, "but I think it should be on the floor."

Audience members' comments were accepted, but when the vote on Site B was taken, it too was defeated 4-3 with Clerk John Flodin, Goldsmith, Schwall and again Myers voting "no."

Immediately preceding the vote, Myers had said he intended to vote "no" on Site B also because "I can't support this hall. It would cost us some $63,000 for the first year of operation alone."

After the vote Myers did not comment further on the expense of the operation and maintenance of the complex or to move a decision be made on whether the township should even accept the federal grant.

Myers later told The Crier he was "under medication" at the meeting for a bout with the flu and that he was not thinking clearly when he had the opportunity to discuss his reservations to accepting the $2.7 million federal grant.

After site B's failure to pass, Schwall again moved consideration of Site B, saying "in view of the fact we cannot pick a site and because I personally believe acceptance of this grant is very important, the action of a township cannot be stymied by the inability to make a decision."

His motion was seconded by Flodin, who said his preference was site A but that Schwall was right about accepting the money.

"Myers, you say it will cost $63,000 a year. I think maybe $100,000 a year might be closer, but at least we'll be getting our money's worth. The interest alone on loans we would need to build it ourselves would be more than that.

"I must compromise," said Flodin. "The overall interest of Canton is best served by accepting the money."

The final vote to accept Site B counted 5-2, with Goldsmith and Myers casting the only "no" votes.

COMMERCIAL DEVELOPEMENT on this 19-acre site at Ann Arbor and Ridge Rds was squelched by the Plymouth Township Planning Commission at a public hearing last Wednesday. A request to rezone the adjacent 177 acres of unused farmland to residential status was tabled for more study until its April 20 meeting.

Residents denounce Township rezoning

BY CHAS. CHILD

An emotional crowd of homeowners and residents applauded almost every anti-development speech last Wednesday at a public hearing to rezone 177 acres of woods and fields in Plymouth Township.

The township planning commission responding to the public feeling in the packed West Middle School Cafeteria, voted unanimously to deny a request by the developers, Dover Homes Company and Biltmore Homes Company, to create a 19-acre shopping center on the northeast corner of Ann Arbor and Ridge Rds.

A request to rezone the adjacent 177 acres to residential status was tabled for more study.

Norman Hyman, the attorney for the owners of the property, said the issue was not whether the land would someday be developed, but how it was to be developed. But the residents, however, said they did not accept growth in that area as inevitable, or the developer's claim that 2.09 houses per acre was "in relation to the land."

Mrs. Bernard Luther, representing 70 residents of the Ann Arbor and Ridge roads area, said the homeowners of the area invested in land there to avoid commercial development. More growth, she said, would mean a tax increase, and "we're still feeling from the last one."

The developer's claim that the new houses would bring money into the school district was disputed by Steve Harper, chairman of the school millage election committee. He said the type of houses proposed would bring in more students than tax money.

Many residents complained that Ann Arbor Road would not be capable of handling the extra traffic brought by the proposed shopping center. "The sirens in the night now" along Ann Arbor Road should convince anyone, one woman said.

Norman Dietrich, Plymouth Township planner, said that sanitary, water, and storm services were feasible for the development. But its house-per-acre density did not fit the over-all master planning agreement voted by the township two years ago.

Many residents agreed with Dietrich on this point. One man said, "No one asked the developers to buy the land. They are speculators and should abide by the laws. They are no better than the rest of us."

Greg Dean said, "The townships master plan wasn't worth the powder to blow it up with." He also said he would push for an environmental impact study on the area and try to make it so expensive for the developers that they will give up.

Hyman argued that the people at the meeting had to realize that they were part of an expanding metropolitan area.

The proposed residential rezoning will be discussed again at the planning commission's April 20 meeting at 7:30 at Plymouth Township Hall.

City hikes water rates

Starting April 1st Plymouth residents will see an increase in their water bill.

Insufficient sewer rates and a rising city deficit are the reasons cited for the six cents per 1,000 gallon increase.

"What we have now is a 20 per cent increase," said City Manager Fred Yockey. "What we're talking about is a six cent increase per 1,000 gallons. Come April we'll be talking about $1.20 increase for each quarter."

Presently, the City Sewer Fund is operating with about a $30,000 loss.

City Clerk Paul Brumfield blames an unusually dry summer, increased county rates, and increased sewer cleaning costs for the deficit.

Strike continues

The strike of the Plymouth Burroughs plant by workers of the Local 1313 United Auto workers was continuing at press time.

Woman held at knife point

BY SUSAN NICHOLAS

A Plymouth woman was held at knife-point during an attempted abduction and armed robbery in the Weidman Parking Lot outside the Mayflower Hotel last Friday.

Plymouth Police report that the woman was leaving the hotel when she noticed a man leaning against a building near the alley. She went to her car and as she was opening the door she felt a piece of metal at her neck, she told police, and a male voice told her to get into the car, which she did.

Police say the suspect then showed her a knife and told her to get the car key, the woman gave him a key, but it was the wrong one. She then asked if he wanted money and he replied, "That would be good, but first how do you start this car?"

Police say the woman then tried to escape, but the suspect told her, "Don't try to get out." However, the woman got out of her car and ran to another car with people in it. As those people got out of their car, the suspect fled the woman's car and ran through the alley towards Ann Arbor Trail. The woman then went back to the Mayflower Hotel and told Manager Kirk Lorenz of the incident and called police.

Police describe the suspect as a white male 16-to-18-years old, about five-foot-five to six-inches tall and weighing about 130 lbs. with shoulder-length reddish-brown hair. When last seen he was wearing levis, a dark jacket, and a red, white, and blue headband.

Police found a steak knife with about a four-and-a-half inch blade in the alley near a trash dumpster.

Will McClendon run again?

S'craft June vote set

In addition to filling the Plymouth-Canton School Board seat of E.J. McClendon, local voters will be deciding a Schoolcraft College millage increase and electing three trustees to the college on June 13.

McClendon told The Crier he has not decided whether he will run again. "I've weighed it and I've weighed it. I just can't say yet."

The Schoolcraft Board voted to put a .8 mill increase on the regular school election ballot after originally planning to hold a special election in April.

If the Plymouth-Canton Schools' operating millage renewal and the $30 million bond issue fail at the April 23 special election, it is likely the board would also put them on the regularly-scheduled June vote.

Tie truck tips

NO ONE WAS INJURED when a stake truck, loaded with railroad ties, tipped over into the ditch in front of Pioneer Middle School on Ann Arbor Road Friday morning. According to the Wayne County Sheriff's Dept., the truck had backed onto the shoulder and was not moving when the shoulder gave way. Rick Bielewski, of Warren, the truck driver was red faced but unhurt. Residents near the school told The Crier the road shoulders near the school were unsafe and that there had been many accidents near the school as a result of the road narrowing. (Crier photo by W. Edward Wendover)

County to aid townships with patrol phase out

With a June 30 funding cut-off approaching, the Public Safety and Judiciary Committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has agreed to help townships make a smooth transition to other arrangements to replace the free protection now provided by the Sheriff.

After receiving reports requested from the County Fiscal Advisor, Corporation Counsel and Sheriff's offices, and Labor Relations Board, the Committee will send letters to townships offering to help them in any way possible.

Commissioner Richard E. Manning from Redford, a member of the Committee, said that it is important to contact the townships as soon as possible in order to have sufficient lead time for necessary changes.

He said, "Both the townships and Sheriff need as much time as they can get to negotiate for other means of protection, and for job transfer. "We have an obligation to give as much time and help as we can, so the people involved can gear-up and prevent chaos," he continued. Manning noted that only four months remain until June 30, and suggested that the townships try to borrow money from the State if they need to develop "immediate police departments."

In the reports expected, the Sheriff is being asked to advise on how the townships can best ease the impact when the present form of services is terminated.

The committee decided to offer assistance following a review of the State Supreme Court ruling last month that upheld the right of the Board of Commissioners to require townships to pay for Sheriff's patrol services.

for a prison site. Last week, by unanimous vote, a committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners took a stand against allowing the State to use the County's property in Northville Township as a prison facility. More than 200 residents of the area around the property applauded as the Public Works Committee adopted a strong resolution of opposition that was introduced by County Commissioners Mary E. Dumas (R-Livonia) and Royce E. Smith (D-Belleville) — whose district includes the Plymouth-Canton Community.

in the right direction," said Moehle. "I think that now the businessmen have a way of planning along these lines."

However, Kirk Lorenz, manager of the Mayflower Hotel, objected that the city was selling something it didn't have.

"If you're going to have a parking credit and sell something you can't tangibly use why not reverse the situation and sell something you have," said Lorenz.

"Typically, there's just no ability to sell parking," said Turner.

But, Lorenz suggested improving the parking code before making changes.

"Why not maintain our code?" asked Lorenz. "We should bring our code up to snuff and then bring some changes."

The, Jack Wilcox, a downtown residential property owner, accused Lorenz of calling for parking just for businesses.

"I am gratified that all the other members of the public works committee feel as I do. Converting the development center into a penal institution would place a terrible burden on this fine Western Wayne County community," stated Smith — one of the seven commissioners who serve on public works committee.

The committee's recommendation that the resolution be approved is scheduled to be considered by the full Board of Commissioners at their March 17 meeting.

Area residents, who rode chartered buses to the committee meeting at the City-County Building, applauded as Mrs. Dumas, as well as attorneys, civic leaders and irate residents, strongly attacked the idea of using the Child Development Center as a prison facility.

have businesses and nobody else," said Wilcox.

"No, right now we're just providing spaces we don't always have," replied Lorenz. "I'm covering my ground. I'm paying my taxes and paying for my space."

Then, attorney and commercial property owner John Thomas asked if the commission would decide on every bid for parking credits.

"Right here, you have a plan for expanding the rules without providing the space," said Thomas. "My question is this: does the commission have the discretion in every one of these instances?"

"As I read it, the commission does not have the authority to refuse credits," replied Commissioner Norbert Battermann.

"Does that mean that anyone can come in and ask for parking and we give them the space?" asked City Attorney Charles Lowe.

The commission voted unanimously to approve the motion. (Mayor Joe Bida and Commissioner Scott Dodge were absent.)

Afterwards, Lorenz spoke of the difficulties he claimed the City of Dearborn was having with its parking ordinance.

"Are you aware that the City of Dearborn has an ordinance similar to this that is being tested in the courts?" asked Lorenz.

"We checked that and they don't have it," replied City Manager Fred Yockey.

All aboard the great railroad runaround

This will probably not be the first nor the last time you see us chastise the City Fathers and Mothers for sitting on their derrieres when it comes to the railroad problem.

It seems the train delays - many of which are illegal - go through cycles ranging from a low nuisance level to a high peak of mortification. Lately it's been the latter.

What has the city done about it?

Talk.

Nothing more.

Although this situation is nothing new - this editorial could have appeared years ago and similar ones have - the present administration is doing NOTHING to solve the train situation.

The city commission and City Manager Fred Yockey would rather build a half million dollar racquetball-handball facility or a loop road than look at the major reason out-of-towners avoid driving through the city.

The answer is simple, although implementing is not, we admit.

A railroad underpass at Main Street is the answer to the problem and it's possible that federal and state funding can bear the largest share of the cost. The city may have to come up with a few additional dollars - but it'd probably be less than either a loop road or racquetball courts would cost. Has anything been done?

Oh, the city administration says it's made inquiries and the officials have had a lunch or two with the railroad. But nobody at city hall has really tackled it.

There is no greater monument the city bigwigs could build for themselves than a railroad underpass at Main Street. Instead, though, they seem intent to build buildings.

It's long past time to get the ball rolling.

We need a solution to the railroad problem.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Schools must inform us more on bond issue

Editor:

Per the Crier, the vote is set for April 23rd. NOTE - Tonda and Yack voted "no" on this date stating they could not be sure of getting enough input to enable them to vote intelligently on $30 million.

If Board members like Tonda and Yack can not be ready to vote, how can we residents be better informed? My hat is off to Tonda and Yack for their openness on the subject.

Rumor has it that this will allow a second try in June if the first try fails. Result, double election costs.

There is no doubt in my mind that we must provide room for more students. Plymouth Township building is not far behind Canton.

I trust that board members are doing their own homework and not letting the administration do it all for them.

It is very easy to lapse into this frame of mind. In fact it is, too easy.

This letter is intended to be constructive and not all critical. May I offer the following thought starters to be sure we know the alternatives:

*Consider employing an independent consultant in order to get confirmation of what the administration tells us we must have.

*Ask each principal to submit their ideas or views in writing direct to the elected school board

*Consider whether one school district can be reduced in size. 52 sq. miles is too big. We go as far west as Tower Road. Visualize the area for new home construction.

*How about portables. We have used them in the past. Very inexpensive and are MOVABLE.

*How about all those well constructed buildings owned by the county between five and six mile Roads east of Sheldon. Has any real try been made to occupy these? They are of brick construction, have tile roofs and are set in a park atmosphere. Let us get a real study on this approach. Remember that our colleges have facilities referred to as satellites.

*What is the factual story on empty schools in Livonia? Are they available?

*What are the facts on Starkweather? Is it fully utilized?

*The news media recently quoted the school administration or the board as stating the cost of renovating Central High in the Center of the city as being prohibitive compared with building a new one. Give the public your intentions on this school including use, capacity, repairs needed, all costs etc. Do not write this building off.

*What are the actual plans for use of $30 million. Are we asked to vote for a mirage?

The interest on these bonds could equal $2,800,000 the first year. The program surely will take several years. Should we have two smaller issues spaced apart?

*Could it be that administration tendencies for surroundings of a plush nature overshadow the alternatives?

*Should new buildings be designed so that when no longer needed they can easily be converted to other uses?

*Should the school board

*In conclusion, I might state that this letter represents exactly eight hours of homework trying to visualize the correct answers.

May I assume each board member plans on doing at least that much. In so doing ask oneself, "Do I fully comprehend what I am voting on?"

Random selection hurts kids, neighborhoods

Editor:

Beneath the furor of the "45-15" issue, there was little attention given to the agenda item, 77-2-36 Random Selection at the board meeting of Feb. 28. Random selection simply is distributing present eighth grade students in Salem and Canton by computer selection not be locale.

We have been given a questionnaire dated March 1, distributed by the Attendance Boundaries Committee seeking input of our feelings on extended school year, increasing student enrollment and Item 6: "Are you familiar with the random assignment?"

Obviously the board did not particularly care about our feelings toward this procedure as this questionnaire was to be returned to the Boundaries Committee by March 15. The board has already adopted random selection at the board meeting on Feb. 28, to be implemented in the fall of 1977.

Parents have you considered all of the ramifications to the questions which we are about to ask. How do you and your child feel about the following?

1. Why was random selection "adoption" rather than boundary changes?

2. Have statistics proven random selection to be successful and if so what are they?

3. Have the board members considered the social and emotional adjustments that the young adults must make within their new peer groups?

4. Are you not separating the friendships of many young students which have developed through their elementary, middle school years, and subsequently straining neighborhood relationships?

Community Opinions

5. When does the young adult begin to develop his loyalties? Haven't allegiances been developed long before entering high school?

6. Why does the eighth grade students having brothers and/or sisters presently in high school have the "choice" of which school they may attend.

7. What is the justification to the community school concept?

8. Are you destroying each

Openness, facts needed

Editor:

This is an open letter to Mr. Concerned Canton Taxpayer, who ever he is, who recently wrote a letter to this newspaper.

It is not usual for one criticized for their activities in Canton's political arena to openly respond to his critics. However, as I do not adhere to traditional positions, I will sign this letter in my own name. It would be easy for me to resort to the common practice of writing a letter and having another citizen sign it so as to feign support. But my commitment, to the ideals I believe in, does not allow me this ego support.

First, Mr. Concerned Canton Taxpayer, you should get your facts straight before writing. The now famous letter to the local newspapers in which I strongly criticized Mr. Stein and the new administration on their growth control policies was not premature. It was written after Mr. Stein convinces me by his statements to the Plymouth-Canton School Board and to the local newspapers that he did not consider Canton's burgeoning growth rate to be a problem and that he would not act on this issue. Since the uproar caused by this letter, Mr. Stein has partially reversed his position and has seen fit to appoint a commission to study this issue.

Next, I do not call speaking out at townships meetings for greater subdivision representation on the planning commission sniping. Neither do I consider questioning the motives of the township board in dismissing Carl Silvers from the acting Police Chiefs position, while a study commission is reviewing the whole department, unjust criticism. Nor, are pointed questions regarding the spending of thousands of taxpayers dollars for an audit of the township books, motivated by a witch hunt or vendetta to get Robert Greenstein and Carl Parsell, undeserving.

Third, the only expense to anyone caused by my request for a recount was to myself. Jim Poole and Robert Greenstein had already made their decisions to seek a recount. My $50 bought me a front row ticket and the right to participate. It does not cost anymore to recount for one candidate or a dozen candidates.

Finally, both you and the Canton Chamber of Commerce should take a reading comprehension course or stop distorting the truth. I have never spoken out against commercial and industrial development in Canton. In fact, one of my main campaign proposals was

Bundarin brings out kooks in Canton

Editor:

Keep up the good work Peter Bundarin, you must be hitting home because you are bringing out all the kooks in Canton Township.

However, there is no question that a vast majority of the citizens of Canton support your views and understand what you are trying to achieve.

Only an administration and people who have something to hide try to squealch there critics by ridiculing them. Please note Mr. Bundarin, no one has yet blasted you because what you have said is untrue, they are only commenting on the fact that you have the guts to call "a spade a spade".

Mr. Bundarin's critics should get the facts straight on what he has said. He has never spoken out against commercial or industrial development in Canton. He has only told the truth in saying that this community. If there were any more competition for them they would be in deeper trouble then they already are.

Mr. Bundarin has lived in Canton longer than probably 80 per cent of the residents of Canton. Plus he has given a great deal of his personal time to be active in this community's affairs in order to develop a background and understanding of its problems.

What has Harold Stein ever done for Canton other than run for Supervisor? Stein never attended a township meeting before his fluke election.

Actually, it was because of Mr. Stein's lack of concern about Canton's growth problems and tax situation that caused the blast Mr. Bundarin erupted against the new administration. Does anyone really think that Stein would have appointed a committee to study growth without Mr. Bundarin's prodding?

It is too bad Mr. Bundarin that you did not speak out before the election like you are now. If you had there is no question you would be Canton's present Supervisor. A position that you are head and shoulders more qualified to hold than the present man.

young adult's attitudes towards school?

9. What about the counselors and class assignments already made for the student?

10. How is this going to effect our young students' attitudes towards school?

11. How does this effect our athletic program?

Now that we have raised these questions how does the board justify their decision of adopting random selection?

Swimmers courteous

Editor:

Thanks Swimmers

My junior high age son has recently expressed an interest in swimming. I decided to take him to a high school swim meet. Checking the paper - I found that the Canton Swim Team was having a meet that night. (Feb. 17th).

My son and I went, and found that we were also partaking in the team's Parent Night. I must say that the manner in which these young men conducted themselves for the ceremony was very impressive. How nice to watch them walk to the bleachers and bring their parents to the deck, arm in arm, to be introduced.

We then enjoyed a very exciting swim meet, which Canton won. During the meet I was most impressed with the quality of the behavior with which the Canton swimmers conducted themselves, winning with pride, and shaking hands with the winner from the other team, if they lost.

I, as a mother, was very impressed with the conduct of these swimmers, but more importantly, so was my son.

Thanks guys,
A PLYMOUTH MOM

SEV increases won't aid schools says Hoben

In reaction to the recently announced increases in assessments for the City of Plymouth and State Equalized Valuation (SEV) factors for Plymouth and Canton townships, School Supt. John M. Hoben has warned this does not mean a tax bonanza for the schools.

Hoben said, "Anything we increase our SEV comes off our state aid."

The state school aid formula is based on the amount of the local state equalized valuation -- which will now be increasing with the new assessment and SEV factors -- as well as the local millage rates. As the school district's SEV goes up, its state aid declines.

Thus, Hoben said, the increases won't mean more overall income for the schools. "All we get is the misery that goes with it."

'Big kids' give assist in tutoring program

BY KATHY KUENZER
Kids in Helen Kelly's first grade room at Starkweather School have had personal "tutors" for years and it's no expensive luxury Mrs. Kelly has provided her boys and girls. Who are these tutors who have made the difference in learning how to read smoothly or spell the difficult word or write in readable penmanship? This year they're the fifth graders in Dick Johnson's class upstairs. And the "oldsters" are probably learning as much as their charges, says Mrs. Kelly.

"I've done this for years with my students," she reports. "I've never had problems with any of my gifted students, either, because with all of these kids if you reach high you get higher and you never expect less."

Mrs. Kelly says kids today are more responsible, "better equipped" because of nursery school, television and extra-school activities. So when they come to her classroom, they already have many skills to share with her and their classrooms. By the time they are fifth the Crier's friends & neighbors graders, they are also able to share their strengths in reading, writing and arithmetic with younger students who need a good listener to take the time for practice sessions in those subjects.

A walk through either the art room or library or down the hall during one of the 20-minute tutoring sessions offered three days a week reveals that one-to-one contacts between first graders and fifth graders is serious business.

Here one young man is writing a letter with proper punctuation and form to a recently-departed student teacher, all under the watchful eye of a fifth-grade boy. There another fifth-grade boy assists a first-grade girl in building a "word bank" in a file box.

The first graders improve by the extra practice. The fifth graders' knowledge is tested and they in turn gain while they earn a sense of achievement in helping someone else.

"I must stress that our small class size, now 23, has a lot to do with our success," says Mrs. Kelly. But one doubts that she would not attempt it with even a large group. Her pleasure at the success of the project is apparent.

But tutors or no, Mrs. Kelly is still busy with each child, keeping tabs on each one. Why has she stayed on so long with first graders?

"I refuse to leave!" she laughs.

Scouts lauded

Boy Scout Troop 885 of the Plymouth Center for Human Development last week held its annual awards dinner Feb. 21 at the Plymouth United Methodist Church.

Ten boys received awards including service awards of seven years for Philip Bechard, five years for Robert Romeo and four years for Billy Grahl.

The troop itself received a Super Troop Award at the Jaycees Jamboree for handicapped children and three of the scouts won gold medals at the Special Olympics last spring.

The Plymouth Optimists Club sponsors Troop 885, under the leadership of scoutmasters Bill Baumgartner and Larry Holcomb and Eagle project helpers Jeff Hill, Dan Smith and Dan Englehardt.

Hamill honored

Herald Hamill, of Brender-Hamill Associates, was honored at the Engineering and Surveying Excellence Awards Banquet for his 55 years of service as an engineer.

The Consulting Engineer Council of Michigan presented Hamill with a citation for his service - much of which was spent as engineer for Plymouth Township.

Schmizze named to dean's list

Richard Robert Schmizze, a 1976 graduate of the Plymouth Canton High Schools, is on the Distinguished Student list for Purdue University, Lafayette Ind.

Schmizze, a freshman, is an engineering student at Purdue.

News from Salem and Canton High Schools
BY SANDY HAWLEY

On Monday, March 7, Canton Principal Kent Buikema, Dr. Morris, and other administrators presented the idea of alternative high school to the Board of Education.

They hope to start an alternative high school in the fall, but it wouldn't be at Centennial Park.

The type of alternative school the group hopes to get passed is one where a team of four or five teachers teach 60 to 100 students. These teachers would represent language arts, English, math, science, and possibly, a special area such as auto shop.

"This team would plan how they're going to use the time with the students," says Principal Buikema.

The school would be run in a way that would have half of the students, for example, with the english and social studies teachers for two hours. After two hours, the students would learn from the math and science teachers.

Says Buikema, "They could be mainstreamed back into our curriculum for some special courses that maybe those teachers couldn't teach."

"Alternative schools, in most cases, have dealt with values clarification, what is the system that we live in, how can I get along in the system, etc.

"In many cases they have a very flexible system. Maybe today they spent two hours in social studies because it's important to them, because they had a good topic."

Livonia has two alternative high schools. One is Alpha, which serves Bentley and Stevenson students, and Beta, which serves Churchill. Northville had one, but it didn't work because of funding.

Says Buikema, "It takes a very talented teacher because you're not just teaching subject matter. When you get into alternative high schools you have so many different kinds of kids, with so many different kinds of needs. You'd really have to be trying to help the individual to learn."

The spring thaw has finally arrived and those ugly, gray snowbanks are beginning to disappear. With the coming of spring also comes that urgent need to shed a few more pounds before we squeeze into the new spring fashions.

The Plymouth Newcomers held a fashion show, luncheon at Napoleon's last Wednesday. Spring has never looked as beautiful as it does this year with the bright colors they are showing. Red, lime green, and yellow seem to be the most popular as Nancy Grawe, Debby Johnson, Bernie Kidwell, Beth Lurty, Sharon Pettit and Bernadine Witkowski modeled fashions from me and Mr. Jones. The vest is appearing more often in women's pant suits, and while the long dress is in for formal wear, the cocktail dress is coming back.

Tom Madson and Vic Victorson modeled men's clothing from John Smith. One of the highlights of the show were the O M G print pants worn by Tom.

Richard's Children's Shop provided fashions modeled by Scott Jackson, Cheri Mallard, Marla Pawluszka, and Joseph Shevlin. Jumpsuits are popular for the kids this spring, along with terry-cloth sweaters.

Hairstyles for the show were done by House of Glamour, and Mels Golden Razor, and accessories were provided by The Final Touch. The greenery to add to the springtime setting was furnished by the Green Thumb.

One of the interesting things with fashions this year is the little tag that says 100 per cent cotton. Do designers really believe that after getting used to permanent press, that today's woman is going to haul the old iron and ironing board out of retirement?

The Jongleurs, performers of Medieval and Renaissance music, from Ann Arbor, presented a demonstration in the Salem auditorium last Friday. The six musicians are experts in music of the period from 1,100 to 1,500 a.d. The authentic instruments they play are recorders, flute, krummhorn, vielle, rebec, and viol. While the program was open to the public, it was of special interest to the students in the humanities course who have been studying this period. The appearance was made possible by grants from the Michigan Council for the Arts and the Plymouth Community Arts Council.

Michael Endres, a teacher at Plymouth Centennial Park has been selected as the conductor of the Symphonic Orchestra at Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp for the first session June 21 to July 3. The camp is located in the Manistee National Forest, north of Muskegon. Endres has conducted at Blue Lake during the past two summers.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Wessman of Gregory Lane in Plymouth have just returned from a week of skiing at Vail, Colo. The timing was great weather wise as they had 10 inches of snow the day they arrived and got another nine inches of snow their first night there. Their son, Gary, a freshman at Colorado Mountain College in Leadville joined them on the week-end. Gary is a '76 graduate of CEP.

Vern Porter of Birchwood in Plymouth defeated three other area contestants in the Annual Toastmasters Speech Contest to win the best speaker award. A member of the Plymouth Motor Speakeasy Club, Porter will compete in the district-wide contest on March 19.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Drotar on the birth of their daughter Cassandra Leigh on Feb. 11. The Drotars are living in Saratoga Springs, N.Y. The proud grandparents are Mrs. Pat Geary of Ann Arbor R. in Plymouth, and Mrs. and Mrs. George Drotar of Livonia.

Stacie Bosche of Canton Center Rd. in Plymouth has joined the new Junior Company of the Livonia Regional Ballet Company. Auditions were held Feb. 14 for candidates between 12 and 14 years of age with two years of pointe work.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess West of Union Street in Plymouth celebrated their 64th wedding anniversary Saturday March 5. They were married in Albion, on March 5, 1913. They moved to Plymouth 36 years ago when West was transferred from Detroit. He worked for Kelsey-Hayes for 43 years, retiring 18 years ago. They have lived in the same house for 26 years and in the same block since coming to Plymouth.

WRC credit forum set

The Women's Resource Center of Schoolcraft College will present the second in a series of morning Open Forum programs Wednesday, March 16, 1977.

"How Women Can Establish Credit" will be discussed at 9 a.m. by Dorothy Chandler of the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union and Mary Perna of Security Bank & Trust and a member of the Community Crier's Advisory Board. Persons interested in establishing an individual credit identity will learn some ways to build and maintain a good credit record and how to cope with credit discrimination.

The Open Forum is Free, open to the public and will be held in Room B200 of the Liberal Arts Building.

Holy shamrocks and begorra!
If you kiss the Blarney Stone, you'll be ready for lunches like the following next week. It's all part of the St. Patrick's Day celebration. Anything that's green on that day is certified Irish. Bird is serving St. Pat's cake on Thursday, and so is Eriksson, Fiegel and West. Field goes one better with shamrock jello but O'Toole (he was Lawrence of Arabia once) does them all in with his upside down pineapple cake at Tanger. Miller and Pioneer are being sensible and are serving green beans with their lime sherbert and spaghetti dishes. It's all blarney to me - not once did I see a St. Pat's taco. Hulsing has turned their 'devil dogs' into 'Gleason dogs' for the occasion and I suppose that is only fitting for a saint. After lunch, may the road rise slowly to meet you (and keep the wind at your back)!

Canton forms police commission

Three Canton officials have been approved by the Canton Board of Trustees as appointments by Supervisor Harold Stein to serve on the new three-member police commission recently recommended by the police advisory group.

Eugene Daley, himself a Wayne County Sheriff's deputy; Brian Schwall and John Flodin will serve as policy makers for the Canton Police Department which the advisory panel recommended be reorganized to fill the needs of police protection in Canton.

The committee recommendation on the formation of the commission says, however, that the three elected officials should be "trustees." While Flodin serves on the board of trustees, he is the clerk of the township and not a trustee.

Trustee Lynne Goldsmith moved that the appointments be tabled until the trustees could hold study meetings to determine the level of service desirable, to establish rules and regulations and to "re-evaluate the police budget.

"If the board chooses, an administrator or chief should be hired, with outside police expertise doing the screening of applicants," said Ms. Goldsmith. "A police committee or safety committee (to include over seeing the fire department as well) could be appointed, after the chief is hired, to act as liaison between the board and the police department."

Ms. Goldsmith said she also thought the board had agreed to save a public meeting on the police report so that citizens could respond before the board began to hold study meetings.

Stein said, "Time is of the essence. The commission should be appointed to work before the things are done."

Ms. Goldsmith's motion failed by a vote of 5-2 with she and Trustee Bob Myers voting casting the only "Yes" votes.

In response to a charge of a "possible conflict of interest" because of Daley's sheriff's job, Daley said "I stated when I ran that I want the best police protection possible, and I want the people to decide on it, not me."

"Besides," said Trustee Brian Schwall, "the option of hiring the sheriff's for protection was rejected in the advisory report. I doubt if it would be chosen."

The motion to appoint the three trustees then passed by a 5-2 vote, with Goldsmith and Myers voting "no."

Canton picks construction manager

The R. E. Dailey Company of Southfield has been selected to serve as construction managers for the new $2.7 million Canton administration building to be located at Canton Center and Proctor Roads.

R. E. Dailey was selected by the Canton Board of Trustees on the recommendation of the structure's architect and on the basis of bids for the work involved.

The Dailey bid of $88,800 was lowest among six, with other bids ranging from $137,586 to a second low of $94,000.

Other building construction which the Dailey Co. has managed include the Kresge Warehouse in Canton.

Large print books bought

Starting today, Canton residents will be able to ease their eyes and feed their minds with the opening of a new Large Print Library at the Canton Recreation Center, 44237 Michigan Ave.

The library will feature books of romance, religion, fiction, non-fiction, and hobbies as well as large-print magazines.

The township purchased the books for senior citizens and other residents with money from the Community Block Grant.

Fool's frocks

WITH SEWING MACHINES HUMMING, two students in Judy Fensch's commercial sewing class at Salem High School work intently at completing a project that will aid both themselves and the Plymouth Community Art Council (PCAC) Follies production of "Jest Foolin'." As an advertising scheme for the follies, to be presented April 1 and 2 in Salem High auditorium, the PCAC purchased material for the class to design and sew into pointed yellow and purple harlequin collars which will be worn by PCAC members and local merchants as advertisement for the production. A "secret jester," whose identity will remain a mystery until the follies are over, will also be donned in a jester's costume to be sewn by the class. Shown are (foreground) Penny Walsh, a 10 grader, and Julia Fosdick, a 12th grader. (Crier photo by Kathy Kuenzer)

Governments to meet

Plymouth Canton School Board member Flossie Tonda will host an Intergovernmental Committee Meeting on Thursday, March 17, at 8 p.m. in the School Board office.

The Intergovernmental Committee is comprised of members from the various governments within the Plymouth-Canton School District.

City plans new signals

The Plymouth City Commission approved a plan to improve the city's traffic signal system Monday night.

Once in effect, the plan will create a new traffic signal at the intersection of Ann Arbor Trail and Deer-Union St. It will also provide dual signaling at the intersection of Main and Wing and update existing signals at Main and Church, Main and Penniman, Main and Ann Arbor Trail, and Main and Wing.

The cost for the project will be born by both the city and federal government under the federal revenue sharing program. The city will pay about $24,5000 while the federal government will pay about $45,000.

Rocks bow to Southfield Jays in districts

BY DONNA LOMAS

The Salem boys basketball team had a short-lived triumph in district play last week, as they were cut short Saturday with a blistering loss from the Southfield Bluejays, 71-55, after defeating the Canton Chiefs on Thursday.

Southfield kept a slight lead in the second half, but out-scored Salem in the fourth quarter by 16 points (six of those points were gained in last second freethrows by Southfield, after a technical foul was called on the Salem team). The final score was 71-55, and with that loss, went Salem's hopes of competing in regional competition.

"We handled their quickness extremely well up to the last two minutes," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "But the players had no control over what happened in the last two minutes." (after the technical foul).

Playing before a standing room only crowd, Southfield's packed gym reverberated with cheers from Salem and Southfield fans alike.

The first quarter of play was low scoring but Southfield had a one point advantage over Salem at the buzzer, 11-10. Junior John Broderick had his most successful night on the court this season when he came in off the bench and shot the first two of his game 12 points.

Chris deBear, Tom Ellinghausen, and Rich Hewlett all scored to keep Salem in the game.

The score at the half was a different story, as the Rocks placed themselves one point ahead, 25-24. Throughout the second period, both teams put up a strong defensive position, and neither were very successful in penetrating from offense.

While Southfield controlled the ball more, Salem shot from the outside (the work of Mike Christie) and then, with a free throw point, went into the guest locker-rooms ahead by one.

Salem cagers nip Chiefs in wild battle

BY DONNA LOMAS

It was a bitter disappointment to the Canton Chiefs basketball squad and their fans last Thursday at the Southfield gym, as they lost for the second time in district play to their cross-park arch-rivals, the Salem Rocks, 55-52. The Salem Rocks, however, were anything but disappointed after the wildly emotional game.

"Yes, it hurt us," said a despondent Canton coach Casey Cavell after the game. "We had everything going for us, then the free throws (in the last minute of the game) killed us."

"Under the situation, we played good defense. We played patiently, we tried to get Salem to make mistakes. We had a good defensive ball game, as did Salem. It's terrible, very disappointing."

"The Canton Chiefs almost did it," said Salem coach Fred Thomann after his young team's second district win. "They're a fine ball club. We didn't play smart in the first half, we'll have to play better Saturday. We tried to get them to make an aggressive defense. We never got them to play man-to-man."

"The game was too emotional to play really good basketball."

Salem took the tip-off in the opening round, and scored the first basket. Canton shot three outside baskets, missing all three, but scored on a free throw. During the latter part of the first period, Salem had a hard time penetrating Canton's defense under the boards, none the less ending up with 16 points at the buzzer to Canton's eight.

Three key people for the Rocks scored two field goals each to keep the Rocks ahead in the first quarter. Guard Rich Hewlett, captain Chris deBear and forward Tom Ellinghausen sank two baskets each, and Ellinghausen contributed five free-throw points as well.

Salem cagers honored in Sub 8

Three members of the Salem boys basketball team were nominated to the Suburban Eight All League team.

Junior forward Tom Ellinghausen, sophomore guard Rich Hewlett and senior captain and forward Chris deBear were the teammates nominated from the 11-2 Salem squad.

Ellinghausen made the first All League team, and Hewlett is on the second team. Honorable mention went to deBear.

Canton tankers finish third in West

BY MATT NORRIS

Canton swimming team finished third in the Western Six league meet held Thursday and Saturday at Farmington Harrison. The Chiefs tallied 237 points, second-place Harrison had 266 points, and Northville won the conference with 341 points.

Canton claimed its first three league records in the history of the school with two individual first places and one by a relay team. Senior co-captain Kevin Harris won the 100 and 200 yard freestyle races, and the team of Dave Tanner, Jamie Greenwood, Steve Wood, and Harris took first in the freestyle relay. All four swimmers also qualified for the state meet next weekend.

The only other first place for Canton was in diving, where Scott Wales won with 370.75 points for 11 dives. Walt was undefeated in the regular season, and competed in Regional competition last night. Teammate Scott Gray missed qualifying for the Regionals by one place, finishing seventh.

The Chiefs might have taken second place overall, except the squad had a poor performance in the 500 freestyle and breaststroke races. The best finish Canton could muster in either race was a seventh by Terry Sullivan in the breaststroke.

Despite the narrow loss for second place, Canton coach William Faunce wasn't disappointed. "Our kids swam real well--there's no doubt about it", said Faunce, adding, "If other schools (beside second-place Harrison) had won more, we would have had a better chance at second."

The four swimmers will travel to Michigan State University this week, competing in preliminary heats Friday afternoon, with the finals to be held Saturday afternoon.

Salem tankers place fourth in Sub-8

The Salem boys swim team placed fourth in the Suburban Eight League swim meet at Redford Union Friday with 124 points.

The only first place finished for the Rocks was Ron Finley's first place in the 100-yard backstroke. Finley nudged a Dearborn foe to take first in 55.4. Finley also placed second in the 100-yard butterfly event.

Dearborn took first place with 242 points, Belleville placed second with 236 and Edsel Ford was third with 235 points.

In the 400 freestyle relay, the quartet of Craig Finley, Mike Etienne, Tom Rubadue and Ron Finley placed fourth.

Scott Wales dives for Canton...

Scott Wales was the only Canton diver to qualify for diving regionals yesterday at Michigan State. He qualified in 11 dives W/370.75 points and was undefeated in the regular season.

Ron Finley swims for Salem at State

Salem will send swimmer Ron Finley to the State Meet in Lansing this Saturday. Finley holds many Salem swim and team records. Last year, he missed an All-American ranking at MSU by 2/10 of a second.

Another CEP duel--Salem spikers win

BY MATT NORRIS

Good serving by the Salem spikers helped them defeat cross-park rival Canton in two games, 15-2, 15-12. The district contest was played in the Salem gym Monday night.

The Rocks now advance to Regional competition at John Glenn High School, where they will face Northville Saturday morning.

Salem jumped to a quick lead in the first game Monday, on serves by Sandy Ezzo and Karen Prikosivits. The score was 5-0 with only one minute elapsed when Canton called time-out. The Chiefs regained the serve, and Laurie Beck scored on two serves before turning the ball over.

Coach Brian Gilles used several substitutions in the Salem lineup, while Peggy-Moore scored two points and Kathy Dillon hammered in six serves to make the score 13-2. Salem won the first game seconds later, but had a harder time with the Chiefs in the second game of the match.

The Rocks jumped to an 8-1 advantage in the second game, but Canton player Judy Frieman scored on four serves to cut the lead to three points. The Chiefs scored on short dunks by Kathy Sochacki and Kelly Heaton, and lost the serve with Salem still in the lead, 8-7.

Dillon hit three good serves for the Rocks to go ahead 11-7 with 4:27 left to play. But Salem committed several fouls, and fell behind Canton, 12-11. Karen Prikosivits came back to score three points for the Rocks (two by aces), as her teammates held a 14-12 margin. Both teams missed chances to score in the next minute, but Clarisse Hartnett finally drove the ball through the Chief defense to score the winning point, 15-12.

The Rock squad beat Churchill in district playoffs last week, enabling them to play Canton. The Chiefs finished the season with an 8-7 record and a third place finish in the Western Six.

Canton volleyball placed first in the Western Six League play recently, but the win was not official, since the Chiefs are with the league on a trial basis.

What a game!

BY SUSAN SHEINER AND DONNA LOMAS

It was more than your average everyday rival-meets-rival kind of basketball game last Thursday as the Canton Chiefs met the Salem Rocks in district action at Southfield High School.

It was a competitive match between the crowds from the Plymouth - Canton community too.

Both Canton and Salem fans descended onto the court before the game to welcome their fired-up teams, and as the roar of the fans in the gym rose to a crescendo, cheerleaders led the cheering: "We are the Rocks!" and "Go Chiefs!"

Each side of the court, packed to the brim, proudly - and sometimes hysterically - defended, commended and edged on their team and their school.

"Are they drunk or something?" inquired a non-resident of the Plymouth-Canton area. They weren't, but one might have said the crowd was high on a different kind of spirit - school, that is.

When it was over, no one knew who had the better team. Salem barely edged the Chiefs, and escaped with a 55-52 win in the last minute of the game.

As Salem celebrated their third victory in as many years, Canton fans groaned. One was overheard saying, "Once! Just once I wish Canton would win!"

Both Canton and Salem can always look forward to another possible match-up next year however. There's always that chance.

Would-be fireman escapes blaze

A canton man who had just applied for a job as a Canton fireman was burned out of this mobile home Thursday afternoon.

According to the Canton Fire Dept., Alan Day, who had submitted an application to fill one of nine new firefighter positions with the township, turned on a light timer in the back bedroom of his trailer, Lot 96, 51000 Mott Rd.

A few minutes later his wife saw the bedroom was on fire and attempts to put out the blaze with an extinguisher proved unsuccessful.

Firemen estimated damage to the trailer, at $18,000. There's no word yet on whether Day will get the job.

Firehouse nears completion

Canton's new fire station is nearing completion and should be put into use as soon as the fire department sifts through some 2,000 applications it received for nine new firemen positions.

Fire Chief Mel Paulun said the applications of Canton residents are being given first preference and that tests are being administered later this week.

Recreational Vehicle Life

by Earl Rafferty

Myrtle Beach, South Carolina: Fishing and golf are the main activities for those who can work up the energy, but in the main, just strolling somewhere along a fifty mile stretch of wide, sandy beach is the main attraction. Ten thousand campsites face directly on the Atlantic Ocean. These range from state-park simplicity to resort facilities directed recreation programs. Twenty eight separate golf courses, fishing, and annual temperature averaging 66 degrees, plus warm water from the Gulf Stream make this a perfect vacation spot for the owner of an RV.

Wherever you want to vacation it's easier in a RV and you'll find some of the best when you come to us at WALKER-RAFFERTY CO., 25341 Michigan Ave., 562-7661. "Hitch on to us, we're pulling for you." Starcraft Campers make Galaxy the most luxurious camper in America! For years out Galaxy has offered more room and standard equipment than any other camper at any other and it still does. Improvements are constantly being made too, like curving the roof to shed the water faster, making end bunks larger and their roofs higher. Stop by this week and see our many models.

Chiefs fight defensive CEP battle

But eight points were too much for the Chiefs to give the Rocks, and they persistently caught up during the second period, tying the score three times before lagging by three points at the buzzer, 29-25.

Guard Rob Mandle and forward Keith Fuelling kept the fast momentum going for the Chiefs. Salem outscored Canton by only two points in the second quarter.

The Chiefs went on a scoring spree in the third, with hot shooting Rob Mandle sinking six points and guard Butch King scoring four; Mike Albright and Kevin Randazzo scored two.

Again, the Chiefs tied the score twice in the third quarter, but their momentum had been lost because of a long, involved mix-up at the scoring table which delayed the game for several minutes.

Salem was at the free throw line and scored two more points there, leaving the Chiefs behind again by four points, 44-40 at the end of the third quarter.

During the tense third quarter, both teams had three or four personal fouls on their starter. Randy Rienas had four fouls, Ellinghausen and deBear had three each. Before the game was over, the Rock's Hewlett, Ellinghausen and Mike Christie would have four fouls each and the Chief's Rienas, Butch

King and Russ Mandle also had four apiece.

The Rocks applied the pressure in the fourth quarter, stalling their offense with two minutes left in the game. Canton's Rob Mandle stole the ball and went down the court and scored for Canton., With 35 seconds left, the score was 54-52, Salem leading. Canton fouled, allowing Salem to score one more point on a free throw. The final score was 55-52.

Top scorers for Salem were Rich Hewlett, 17; Tom Ellinghausen 13, deBear and Briderick with seven.

The Chief's leading scorers were Rob Mandle with 19, Keith Fuelling with ten and Butch King with eight.

Ed and Rec offers Phase III sports

The Plymouth Canton Community School's Continuing Education and Recreation Department will sponsor a program for community residents on Saturdays and Sundays in handball, paddleball and racquetball at the new Canton Phase III gymnasium.

The program will begin this weekend, Saturday March 12, and continue for the remainder of the school year. The program is open to all community residents.

There are four full-sized courts available. The scheduled hours will be Saturdays, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sundays, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Reservations can be made the preseding Thursday or Friday by calling 459-1123 between 9 a.m. and 10:30 a.m.

B'Jays clip Rocks' goals

At the start of the third, Salem seemed to have lost some of their momentum - and paid for it, as the Bluejays got as much as four points ahead. Ellinghausen scored for the Rocks in the third, to come up one point behind the Jays 39-38 - then sank a free throw to put them ahead - but for just one second. Later, Hewlett stole the ball and made a fast brake down the court, scoring two for the Rocks - but they were still lagging, 44-40. Ellinghausen took another fast break a few later and tied the score 46-46 going into the fourth quarter.

But Salem was only able to score nine points in baskets in the fourth quarter, and a hotly-contested series of fouls on the Salem team led to a technical penalty for the Rocks - giving the Bluejays six extra free points - and a ten point lead with less than 43 seconds to go in the game.

With 40 seconds to go, fans started to file out of the bleachers, knowing, as both teams did, that with a ten point lead for the Bluejays, the Rocks couldn't catch up in so few seconds. Coach Thomann sent in the rest of the team off the bench with less than 30 seconds left. The final score was 71-55, Salem's loss.

Top scorers for Salem Saturday were Ellinghausen with 15, Hewlett with 12, Christie with seven and deBear with six. Broderick, scoring 11 points, fouled out of the game.

Salem finished the roundball season with a 17-5 record overall. Southfield enters regional competition with a 19-4 record.
