Proposed spending revenues up 9.2%

Canton sets hearing on biggest budget

BY CHAS CHILD

Canton's proposed 1978 budget is $240,000 larger than this year's, with a large chunk of the increase going to new employees and pay raises for present township workers.

A hearing on the proposed budget will be held Tuesday, Oct. 4 at 7 p.m. at the Canton Meeting Hall, 128 Canton Center Rd.

The jump in revenues is due to an increase in property assessments and a rise in the State Equalized Valuation (SEV) from 1.12 per cent to 1.16 per cent.

The largest single item increase is planned in capital outlays, from $298,885 to $466,554. Canton Deputy Treasurer Mike Gorman said the extra money is needed to remodel the present township business offices on Geddes Road into police offices when the administration moves into the new township hall now under construction.

Capital Outlay funds are also planned for buying more recreation land, Gorman said.

Not included in the budget are the probable two mills to be assessed for the police department and the already approved one and one-quarter mills for the fire department.

The Board of Trustees was due to set the millage to be assessed for the police at last night's (Tuesday) meeting. Gorman said he thought the board would ask for two mills.

The police department's budget will be funded by the millage and $113,000 in the 1977 budget was released into the general fund.

Two mills will bring in about $420,000 for the police who will be full-time next year.

Among the new positions township officials are asking for are a Superintendent of Recreation, a person to help procure grant money, a full-time recreation maintenance person, a bookkeeper for the treasurer's office, and five member office staff, Gorman said.

The election department's budget is slated to double next year with two elections planned and the extra precincts needed to handle Canton's growing population.

The entire 1978 budget totals $2.4 million versus $2.2 million planned for this year.

2nd Fowl Festival has town squawking

Downtown Plymouth will be filled with squawking chickens Sunday afternoon - and assorted other characters to which this quiet community is unaccustomed.

Sunday is the date of the second annual Fowl Festival, the outlandish, one-of-a-kind event which last year gained local residents national recognition.

It begins Sunday noon with a parade which originates in the Central Parking Lot, winding down Penniman Avenue to Main and around Kellogg Park to the starting point of the chicken race, on Main near the corner of Ann Arbor Trail.

According to festival organizers, the parade's fowl and often bizarrely costumed participants provide as much entertainment as the contest itself.

The chicken flying contest, in which local residents and business people face challengers from such out-of-town entries as television stations and hotels, begins immediately after the parade.

Bleachers will be set up along Main. Some 150 chickens are expected to aim skyward from their upturned bushel basket launching pads.

The Event drew more than 5,000 spectators last year, and with the interest visible in this year's affair, that number should soar.

Chicken race entries are still available. An entry fee of $35 includes registration and rental of a chicken.

The field is limited to 150, and chickens are "going like hot cakes," according to one organizer. To register your entry - you may also race a chicken of your own - or buy your $4.95 Chicken Flying Contest t-shirts, visit the office of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce at Wing and Forest streets in the Colonial Office Plaza.

Female impersonator nabbed in burglary

A preliminary examination is scheduled for tomorrow (Thursday) in 35th District Court in Northville for two men - one of whom was dressed as a woman - charged with breaking and entering the Cricket Box gift shop Saturday night at Sheldon and Ann Arbor Road.

Arraigned Monday in Plymouth before Judge Dunbar Davis were Danielle Bishop, 21, of Detroit, and David Dickes, 26. A third suspect, 19, was released without charges.

Wayne County Sheriff's Deputies Robert Wallace and Donald Goodinsh were patrolling just down the street from the store Saturday shortly after 9 p.m. when a silent alarm was reported. They apprehended Bishop, who was wearing a skirt, nylons and facial make-up, inside the store, and arrested Dickes shortly after outside. No merchandise was reported missing. Plymouth Police assisted Sheriff's deputies in the arrest.

Schools air budget plans

A public hearing on the proposed 1977-78 school budget will be held Wednesday, Oct. 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the board offices at 454 S. Harvey Street.

It will be the final public hearing before the board adopts the budget at the regular Oct. 10 meeting.

Torch ceremony kicks off PCF drive

Press panel cites Crier for advertising achievement

IN A MICHIGAN PRESS ASSN. advertising workshop last weekend in Traverse City, The Community Crier won its first state-level award for advertising excellence -- best use of spot color in offset printing -- for a full-page advertisement for the First National Bank of Plymouth which appeared April 13, 1977. The contest, in which dailies and weeklies from throughout the state vied, was the first state level event The Crier had entered. The ad was created by the advertising agency of Stone and Simons, working with bank vice-president J. Paul Perrot (right). Joining Perrot for a look at the award plaque were Crier staffers (from left) Hank Meijer, publisher; Fran Henning, advertising consultant; and Mark Ferraiuolo, advertising director. You can find out what the Plymouth Community Fund does with its yearly contributions by attending a meeting tomorrow (Thursday).

The meeting will be held at the Plymouth Hilton Inn at 8 a.m. A 60-minute presentation about the 15 agencies in Plymouth the fund serves will be presented.

"This year's record making PCF volunteers have a historical goal of $250,000 to reach," said Bill Carlson, spokesperson for the PCF. "Why not see what PCF has done that contributes to making our community a better place to live?"

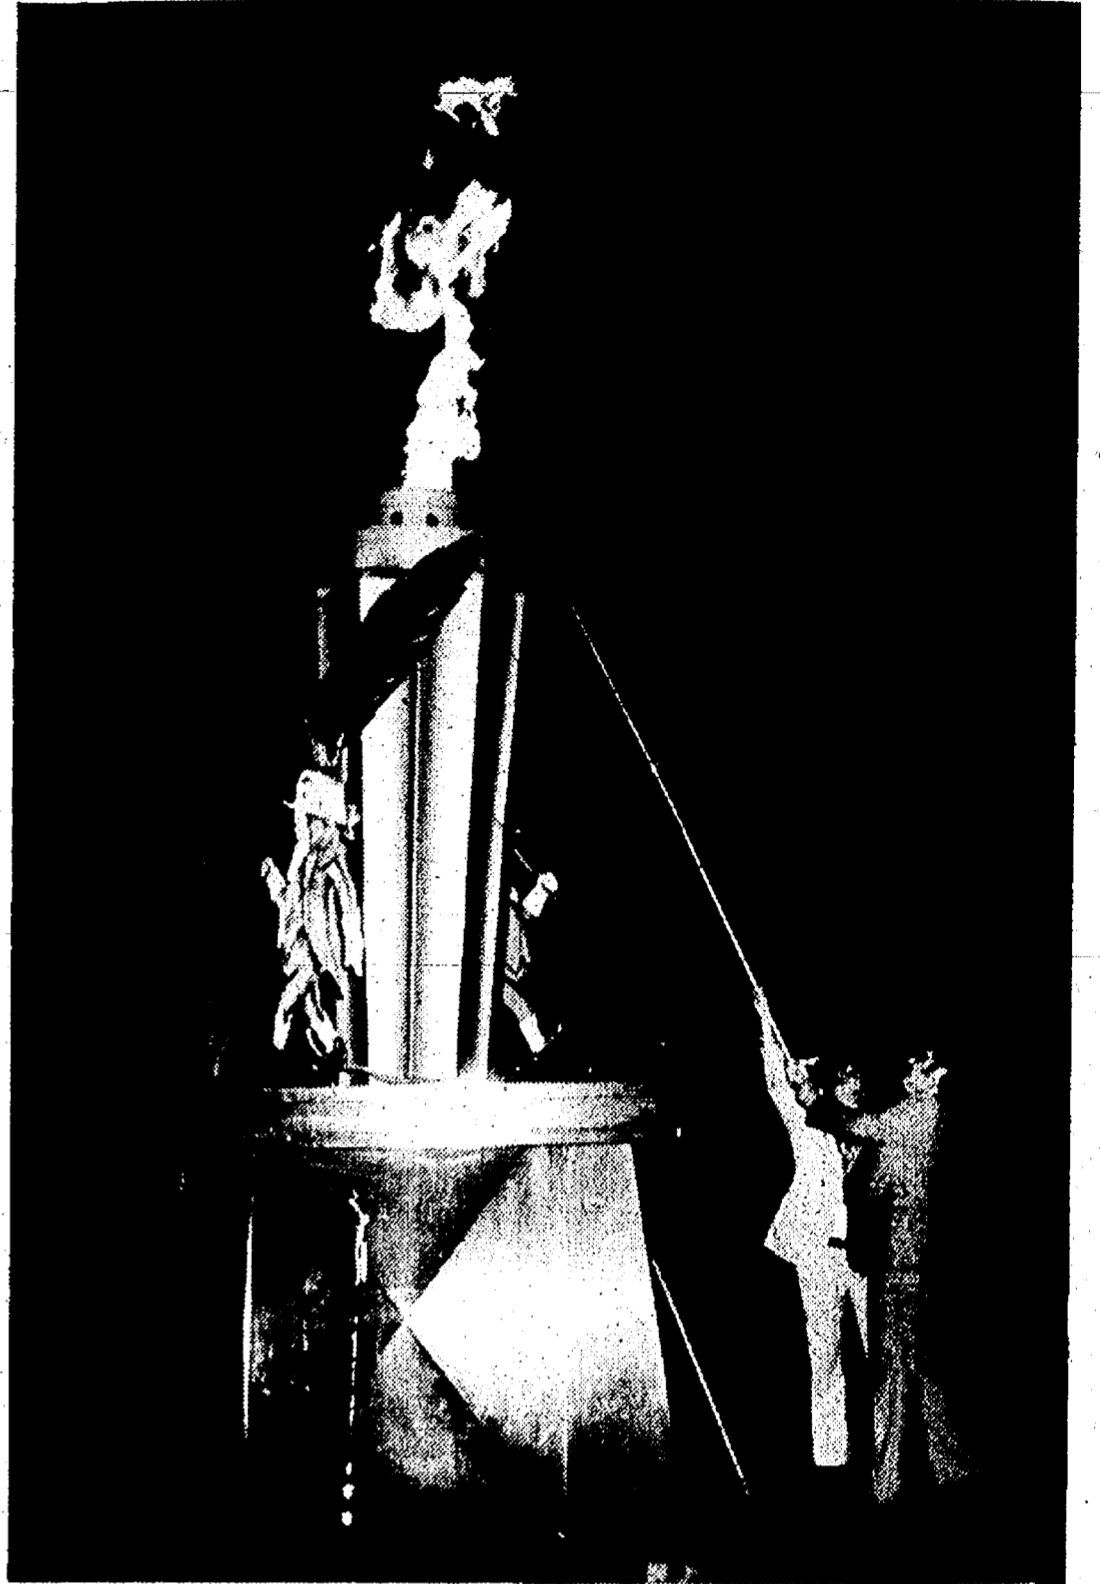

The annual residential fund raising campaign is drawing near, for the Plymouth Community Fund.

Volunteers are needed to aid in The Community Funds' 1977 residential fund raising drive. The door-to-door canvas will begin Oct. 1.

This year the goal for the campaign is $8,000. An increased coverage of the community is planned this year as a second goal of the drive.

This year the "Bellringers" (the traditional name for Community Fund residential canvassers) will be visiting newly built areas in Plymouth Township and apartment complexes. This, along with a re-distribution of some older traditional areas will mean the people will be covering a slightly larger area than in years past.

'Until issue is resolved'

Judge halts Canton ZBA hearings

BY CHAS CHILD

A hot political issue — the Zoning Board of Appeals — which appeared settled has flared up again in Canton. Wayne County Circuit Judge Neal Fitzgerald halted last Tuesday any further hearings by the ZBA until his court "resolves the issue of the proper membership" of the ZBA.

The temporary injunction came just weeks after the ZBA held a marathon meeting to clear up old business that had been backing up since February.

No ZBA has met since then. At that time Supervisor Harold Stein appointed a new five-member ZBA when the original five, appointed by former Supervisor Robert Greenstein, was said to be improperly appointed by the township attorney, William Sempliner.

The original ZBA refused to step aside and consequently neither board met.

The issue went to court and Fitzgerald ruled that neither ZBA had been appointed properly. This gave Stein's slate the option of re-nominating his appointees. His ZBA finally met Sept. 7 to clear up the backlog.

The attorney for the original ZBA, Dan Burress, continued his efforts, however, and last Tuesday Judge Fitzgerald issued his injunction.

Burress said that he argued that State law says the original members could not be relieved of their duties unless they were guilty of misconduct.

Removal can only come "upon written charges, and after a public hearing," said Robert Miller, a member of the original ZBA.

A clerk for Fitzgerald said that the judge would be deciding which is the proper ZBA soon, "probably in October sometime."

ZBA decision on 'The Center' now questionable

With the legality of Canton's Zoning Board of Appeals in doubt, some people are questioning the viability of the decisions it made at its only meeting held Sept. 7.

The most controversial of the ZBA's rulings was the variances of local ordinances it granted to "The Center" a 4.3 acre indoor sports complex planned for Haggerty Road south of Ford Road.

"If the ZBA isn't valid, I don't see how the decisions can be valid," said Dan Burress, the attorney for Robert Miller, a member of the original ZBA, now out of power.

Shari McCann, an opponent of "The Center," said she has talked to an attorney about legal opposition to the sports complex.

"I think they (The Center's opponents) would be in a position to look into it," Burress said.

The ZBA allowed The Center to be 45 feet tall. Township ordinances restrict buildings to 30 feet.

Local zoning ordinances also say buildings with bowling alleys can sit no closer than 150 feet away from residential property. The ZBA cut that distance in half, allowing it 75 feet.

The City of Plymouth official colors contest is still on — and if you know what they are or would like to guess — now is your chance.

You can win dinner for two at the Mayflower Hotel compliments of Kirk Lorenz who thinks nobody remembers an historic governmental decision which gave Plymouth its official colors.

In the event of a duplicate correct entries, a winner will be drawn from among them.

School board passes $30 raise

The first posting on whether or not to compensate themselves up to $30 per meeting was passed unanimously by the Plymouth Canton School Board Monday night.

Board member George Lawton was not present.

School board members decided to pay themselves the $30 per meeting up to 52 meetings per year allowed by a recent school code change. Two public hearings were held prior to the board's action.

Board member Dick Arlen moved to approve the resolution on its first posting with member Flossie Tonda supporting.

"There is some need for this," Arlen said. "Everyone on this board is not serving for financial gain and the expense and time incurred are not met. The expenses can get high — and perhaps large segments of the community can't serve or wouldn't run for that reason. Board members can refuse the pay if they choose."

Frank Millington, a trustee for Plymouth Township, sent the board a letter saying he "fully approved" of the increase for board members. Board members currently split $2000 between themselves each year.

"Monies do exist in the budget to cover this item," said Supt. John Hoben in a memo to the board. "It is a resolution that is not out of context with what is being paid to similar governmental units, with less demanding participation upon its constituents."

Board member Joe Gray said he still had "mixed feelings" about the increase.

"When it comes down to cutting programs I don't want to be doing this," he said.

Plymouth man killed

A Plymouth man was killed early Monday morning in a three car accident in Livonia, Livonia police report.

John O'Connor, 52, of Plymouth, died from injuries from the accident that occurred at 6:41 a.m. at Ann Arbor Road and Houghton. The accident is still under investigation by Livonia police.

"It completely wiped the place out," Paulun said.

Faulty signal leads to accident

TWO CARS COLLIDED at the intersection of Canton Center and Geddes Road early Monday afternoon, slightly injuring five persons, Wayne County Sheriff's deputies report. A car driven by Betty J. Beaumarchais, 38, of Wayne was westbound on Geddes when it was struck by a car southbound on Canton Center Road, driven by Daniel S. Mihalyfi, 18, of Dearborn. Beaumarchais was alone in her car at the time of the accident. She, along with Mihalyfi and three passengers from Mihalyfi's car were transported by the Canton Rescue Squad to Wayne County General Hospital. The traffic signal was out at the intersection as a result of storm damage Sunday night. Canton Fire Chief Mel Paulun said the signal was operating again late Monday afternoon. People like Richard Gamalski, and all you 7,499 others out there. Your contributions and Mr. Gamalski's may not match Mr. Ford's, but with

Plan to buy land awaits cost

Canton should know in about two months the cost of preserving open and farm land in the township, George Peek, township planner said.

He was scheduled to give a progress report to the Board of Trustees last night on a study to determine the cost of buying "development rights" of the open land in the western half of Canton.

The purchase of development rights by the township has been proposed to keep the land out of the hands of the developers.

The landowner would still own the title to his land, he just couldn't sell to a developer, if the township owned his development rights.

Many persons in the township have said it would be cheaper to buy the development rights of open land than to provide services — sewers, roads, water lines, etc. — if it was allowed to urbanize.

Peek said his firm, Wade & Trim, was trying to project these two costs, the purchase of development rights, and the cost of providing services, so the board can plan a course of action.

The legality of buying development rights has been questioned, but Peek said his study was not concerned with those questions.

Potted plants really pot

Responding to a report of domestic trouble at an address in an apartment building at Mill and Amelia streets Sunday night, Plymouth Police Lt. Carl Berry spotted a trio of suspicious-looking plants on the landing outside an adjacent apartment.

On further inspection, he discovered the two four-foot and one three-foot plants, all in clay pots, to be marijuana.

The plants were confiscated by police.

For abduction of local girl

Police seek rape suspect

Police are looking for a suspect wanted in the rape Aug. 29 of a 16-year old Plymouth woman on Joy Road between Beck and Ridge in Plymouth Township.

According to State Police Sgt. James Collins, the suspect, described as a white male between 40 and 50 years old, abducted the woman as she was walking along Ann Arbor Trail near Harvey Street in downtown Plymouth.

The woman told police the man grabbed her and pulled her into his truck, identified as a dark brown late model Chevrolet pick-up with an off-white cap on its bed. She said the pick-up had a tan interior, a manual transmission and an AM radio.

Police said the suspect struck the victim in the head with a coffee cup before driving to the rural township area. After committing the rape he released her at Sheldon and Ann Arbor roads and fled east on Ann Arbor Road, she said.

The suspect was further identified by police as between five-foot seven and five-nine, about 140 to 150 pounds, with dark hair.

Information regarding the suspect should be reported to the State Police at the Northville Post.

Feds arrest woman here for tax fraud

Valerie Bludders of Plymouth was arrested Thursday on charges of taking part in a scheme to file false income tax returns that defrauded the government of more than $250,000.

The U.S. Attorney's office reported that the person named in the indictment had obtained and cashed at least 521 income tax rebate checks worth about $500 each.

Bludders was part of a group of persons indicted last Tuesday who took part in the scheme by applying for Social Security numbers under false names, filing for returns under their own and fictitious names and cashing the refund checks.

Bludders along with 10 other persons was arraigned last Thursday before U.S. Magistrate Paul J. Komives.

Legal notice omission stalls hospital decision

BY HANK MEIJER

The Canton Planning Commission Monday voted to delay for four weeks its decision on rezoning to permit construction of a hospital and medical complex because of an error by The Community Crier.

The Crier, the township's legal newspaper, inadvertently failed to repeat publication in its Sept. 21 edition of a notice of the public hearing on the rezoning which had been scheduled for Monday night.

Although the notice had appeared in the newspaper's Aug. 31 edition, state law required that it appear twice within 30 days prior to the date of the hearing.

To satisfy that requirement, planning commissioners rescheduled the hearing for Monday, Oct. 24.

At issue is a request by developer Mel Stein of the Great American Building Corp. of Farmington to rezone from single-family residential to C-2 general business a 10-acre parcel on Canton Center Road south of Ford adjacent to the Thrifty Acres department store.

The request was denied by the commission earlier this year. Stein made a new presentation Monday night, once again out-

Traffic snarled

Railroad crossings on Ann Arbor Trail and Mill Street were blocked off and on for several hours Monday, disrupting traffic through much of the day as repair crews worked nearby, Plymouth Police report ed.

According to Chief Tim Ford, gates at the Ann Arbor Trail crossing were down for as much as an hour at a time between 4:30 a.m. and 10 a.m., forcing even school buses to go around them.

Slow-moving trains were also a problem, Ford said.

lining his plans for a 15,300-square foot medical office complex, a 200-bed hospital and a 200-bed nursing home.

Joining Stein was Dr. Leonard Asnar D.O., president of the College of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery of Des Moines, Iowa, who Stein said would oversee administration of the hospital. Asnar told the planning commissioners the facility would be a teaching hospital, providing undergraduate and internship experience for perhaps six students of osteopathic medicine.

He said the facility, which Stein estimated could be completed entirely in less than five years, would be an asset to Canton. "A community with total health care becomes a comfortable place to live," he said.

The hospital phase of the project requires not only rezoning, but also a certificate of need from the State Department of Health.

The project's developers said the state would not become involved in the fate of the hospital until it won rezoning at the local level. To questions from the audience, Stein admitted he had no guarantee that the state would permit the hospital's construction, but said he was committed to the complete project.

David Miller, a clinic administrator working with Stein on the office phase of the complex, told the commission tentative lease agreements have already assured full occupancy of that structure.

Residents also questioned Stein on the height of the proposed facility. The four-story hospital would be the highest building of the complex at 40 feet.

Cost of the privately-financed project is estimated at nearly $30 million, with a tax boon to the township of some $100,000 annually.

Zoning footnote sticks in craw

EDITOR:

I was invited by letter and did attend the City Planning Commission Meeting because of the condominium being built on Wing Street. That is the second Planning Meeting I was invited to and did attend. I don't know why I bothered either time.

The Planning Commission sits up front and opens the floor for comments from interested citizens and, after, they proceed to vote just as though nothing had been said. Legalities were brought up at this meeting with questions still standing, and the Commissioners still passes on the issue anyway.

I really don't know what writing to you can do, but I can't help but feel there are other interested residents that feel the same as I. I still find it so unbelievable how the residents of this city, who support 60 per cent of the tax money, are so poorly represented on the Planning Commission. When we bought our home 15 years ago, we were two blocks from town. Town now is on our backyard lot line in the form of a cement wall.

Why do we complacently sit back and allow a handful of people run our City government to their advantage? You better believe that I for one will be taking an active part in this November City election. We have got to get more Commissioners on the bench that represent the residents of this lovely city. We have too much big business up there right now!

This business of words and footnotes not being included, but were intended to be included some years ago, does not set well with me. I can't tell a policeman that has stopped me for speeding that I really intended to be going 35 mph. The package should have been proofread and then signed, for something so very important. In court I'm sure they would be held by what's written in the Ordinance, not by what they "intended" to put in it.

I really cannot believe this whole thing.

EDITOR:

At this time I would like to thank you for such a fine job during the Fall Festival. I feel you did everything in your power to make it known we were going to have the best Fall Festival ever.

The produce tent especially was a great success, with so many fine displays.

If there is anything I can do for The Crier, please don't ever hesitate to call. I still feel that if people work together, we will have a much better place in which to live.

Once again, thank you.

Skylines, like fashions, must change

Think of high-rise benefits

EDITOR:

In our last Crier we read the article written by E. W. Martin, City Planning Commission, as follows. "Critics must face changes."

I agree, why? It's a tax benefit to the City, the Edison would benefit, the Water Department would benefit, and the City merchants would benefit because of the convenience of shopping.

I've observed on TV views of cities with hi-rise, hi-rise all mixed together. I feel we could adjust to the change as we do the drastic fashion changes about each year. We have to accept them whether pleased or not.

As Mr. Martin said on ending his article, "The City is on the move - let's keep it moving and not let a few mislead us by unfounded opinions or quickly thought-up technical road blocks."

It's about a year since a committee for Senior Citizen site was formed. All we have heard so far is they can't get a quorum together to find a site.

There is none as convenient as the Wilcox area. As rumored, the elderly wouldn't be cluttering the park as each apartment was to have a balcony. Who clutters the park now? Pass it and you'll find out.

Let's think of the benefits derived from a high-rise and all say "guess it is a good idea after all."

Canton, Plymouth funds go together

EDITOR:

I am truly pleased that both the Canton Chamber of Commerce and the Canton Township Board have seen fit to question the feasibility of continued affiliation with the Wayne County UGF. I have long felt that Western Wayne County communities - Canton, Plymouth and Northville - have been overlooked by social program funding agencies.

Our own splendid record of charity fund raising apparently doesn't excite much enthusiasm at the County level, either with UGF or with Wayne County governmental agencies for that matter. Since we seem so good at handling our own social problems, we don't get much attention in downtown Detroit. So funding continues highest for government units and organizations with the worst records for efficiency and quality of services delivered on the theory that the need is greatest there.

Well, if that's a fact, what is the incentive for improving efficiency and social program quality? It's a real Catch-22 situation. Because we provide high quality and needed social services at reasonable costs, we can attend to our needs without their help. If we ever get poor or marginal we can have more funding. WOW! That's a mind-blowing theory.

Donna Lomas

Where were you?

The first and second public hearing for compensation to school board members drew scant attention from the general public although it was - as public hearings usually are - open to anyone.

The hearing was announced during the board candidate interviews, board workshops and regular meetings since June.

School board members wanted to know if you thought they were worth being paid up to $30 per meeting, up to 52 meetings per year. If you thought they weren't, board members wanted to know that too.

They can vote themselves the raise still. They could have before without the benefit of the hearings.

The schools need to know what you think. You can't complain later if the board votes for compensation - if you didn't want it why didn't you say so?

So what was your excuse? The new TV season won't do.

Service clubs co-op on sale

The first rummage sale ever to be sponsored by co-operative service clubs, the Kiwanis-Growth Works Rummage Sale this weekend promises to be a bonanza of bargains.

After seeing feathers fly down Main Street at Sunday's Fowl Festival, drop by the Growth Works building and see the first co-operative rummage sale ever held by two service clubs here.

The Kiwanis Club of Plymouth wanted to be involved in a project that would "involve their entire membership," said Kiwanis member Dick Raison.

The Kiwanis decided to sponsor a rummage sale -- and then went a step further and are co-sponsoring the sale with Growth Works.

The reason for the equal partnership said Raison, was a chance for interaction between youth and adults would benefit both sides -- and also to earn money for both service clubs.

Any person who wishes to donate resellable items, is asked to call 455-4095 between 1:30 and 9:30 p.m. for free pick-up or drop the donations off at the Growth Works Building at 271-S. Main.

Long time resident Rotnour delivered early mail

BY HANK MEIJER

When your mail carrier stops Saturday, consider yourself lucky - even if all you get are bills, you're still a part of an anniversary.

Home delivery of mail began in Plymouth 60 years ago Saturday - Oct. 1, 1917. Although the town was still relatively small to qualify for the service - Farmington and Northville, for example, didn't get home delivery until years later - the presence of the Daisy Air Rifle Co. generated enough postal traffic to earn the local post office the second-class status needed for such service.

The changes came almost overnight. In September, as they had for years, everybody had to come into the post office to get their mail. Then, Oct. 1, it came to their doorstep - twice a day.

Long-time resident Ezra Rotnour (pictured above) delivered one of the original two city routes, with Forest Gorton assigned to the other. The local post office also served Canton

the Crier's friends & neighbors and Plymouth township farmers with five rural carriers.

Supporting the mail carriers were then - Postmaster Harold Brown and two clerks. Rotnour wore the local office's Number One badge on his cap. And in those days, everyone wore a cap. As Rotnour recalls, "You weren't in uniform if you didn't have your cap on."

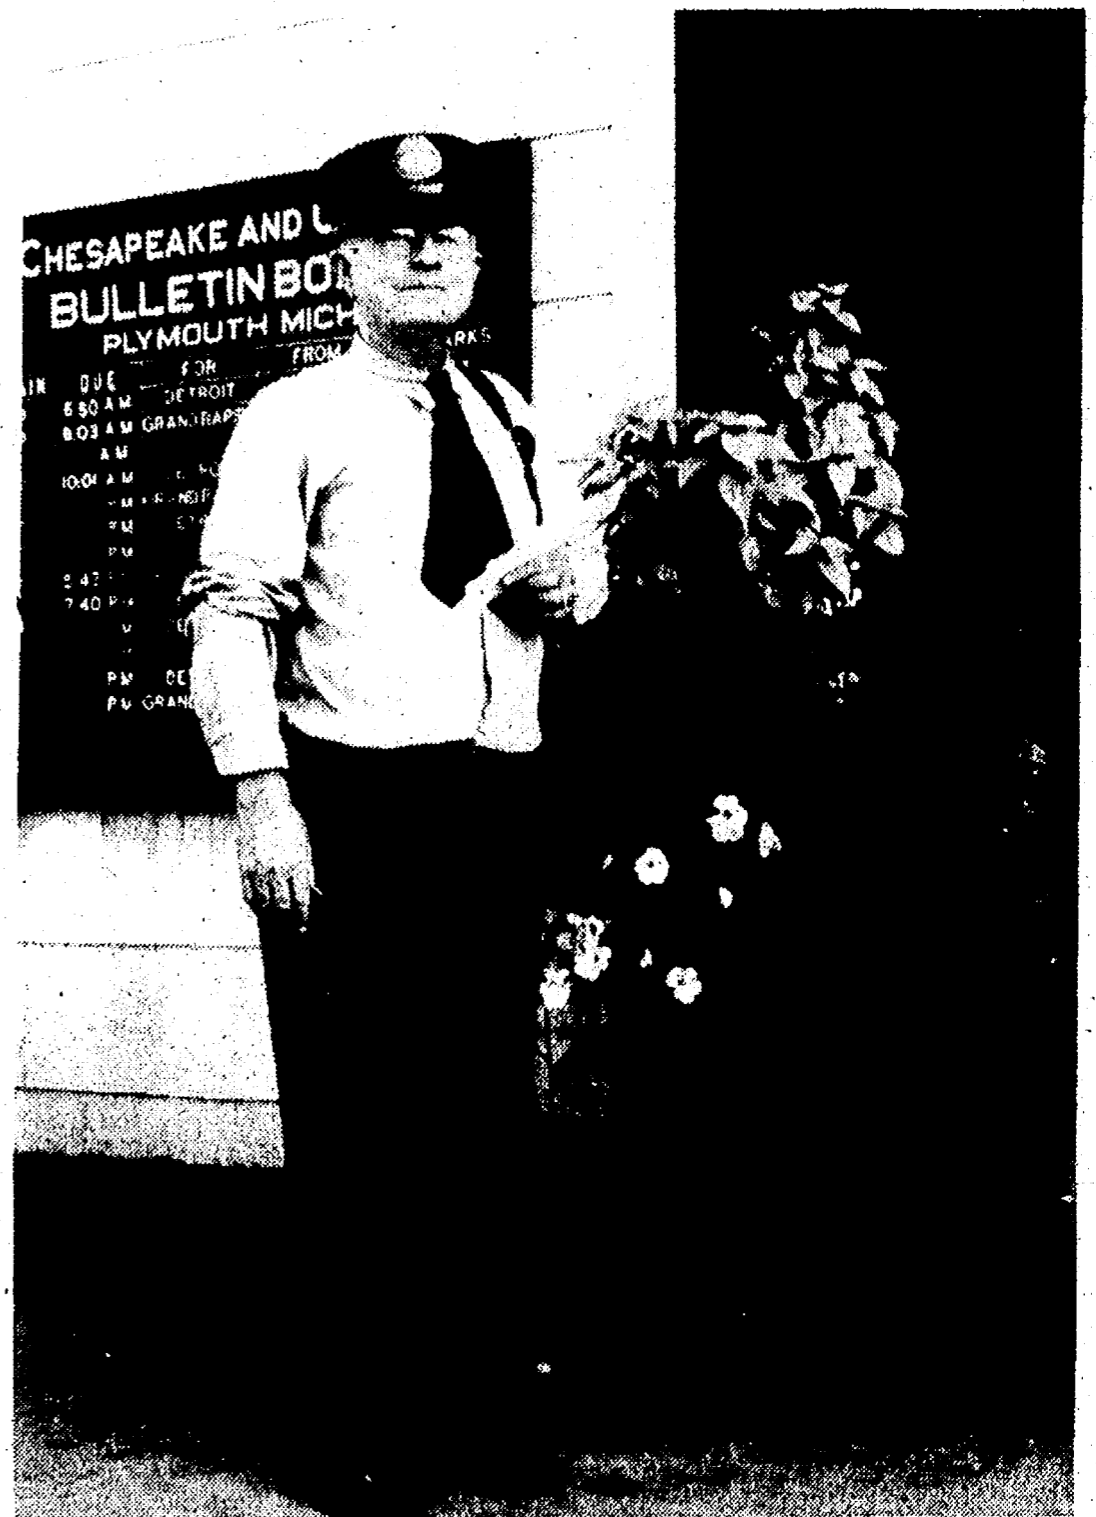

Most out-of-town mail arrived by train. Harry Robinson, who owned a livery stable on Penniman Avenue across from where the post office is located today, met arriving trains at the depot in what is today Old Village to pick up incoming mail and drop off outgoing loads.

He delivered the mail by horse and wagon to the post office, which was then located in the building now occupied by Schrader Funeral Home. The post office was moved three years later to the bank building at Penniman and Main, then to the Penniman Avenue Building about where Robinson's livery had been, and finally, in 1936, to the present facility on Penniman.

Rotnour, who was 22 when the post office hired him for one of the new routes, retired in 1953.

Today we take home delivery for granted - even if the mail only comes once a day. But when Ezra made the rounds in his new uniform for the first time that fall day in 1917, it was a day for local residents to remember.

PCAC sets workshop for 'picture ladies'

The Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC) has scheduled a workshop for "picture ladies" on Tuesday, Oct. 4, at 1:30 p.m. at Miller Elementary School, 43721 Hanford Rd. Anyone interested in helping with this elementary visual art program is invited to attend. "Picture lady" volunteers take reproductions of fine works of art into all Plymouth-Canton public and parochial elementary school classrooms to show and discuss with the children.

Once a month each volunteer visits five classrooms and spends about 20 minutes discussing five different pictures with students. A background in art is not necessary as biographical information and notes concerning the pictures are included in each portfolio of prints a classroom volunteer uses.

The only qualification needed to be a PCAC picture lady is an interest in children. For further information call Nancy Hayes at 459-0108.

Town's premiere host turns honored guest as friends say, 'This is your life'

Ralph Lorenz got the surprise of his life Saturday night. More than 250 relatives, friends and local officials collaborated on a surprise "This is Your Life" presentation for Lorenz, long-time resident and owner of the Mayflower Hotel in downtown Plymouth.

Lorenz and his wife, Mabel, entered the Mayflower Meeting-house ballroom that evening with a friend, retired Judge George Bowles, whom Lorenz had kept away from town all day thinking the surprise party was for Bowles.

Only after the emcee announced that the gala fete was for Lorenz himself and the guests gave him a standing ovation did the stunned host realize he was the honored guest.

"I am overwhelmed by all this," he said. "I can't believe it!"

"A Tribute To This Fellow Lorenz" was an idea that began in May under the direction of Lorenz' wife, Mabel, the Mayflower Hotel crew and friends. Keeping a secret from Lorenz for weeks was no easy task, they said.

"But we planned a little here, a little there," said Creon Smith, assistant manager of the Mayflower. "Kirk, his son and the manager, and I know him pretty well. Oh, he was surprised."

The tribute to Lorenz coincided with the upcoming 50th anniversary of the Mayflower Hotel, as well as Queen Elizabeth's Silver Jubilee in England.

Friends from far away places, including dignitaries from Plymouth's sister city of Plymouth, England, New York and California came to salute Lorenz.

Old college chums -- from Eastern Michigan University, which Lorenz attended and where he managed the Charles McKinney Union Hall -- and his EMU golf coach -- gave him a friendly roasting and recounted memorable (and not so memorable) golf games.

Lorenz met his wife while they were students at Eastern. A gourmet magazine writer and a foods editor of a Detroit daily newspaper praised Lorenz for accomplishments in the hotel culinary field.

Lorenz took over as manager of the Mayflower shortly before World War II, and returned as manager following wartime service in the Navy. After years of trying to turn the faltering hotel around, he purchased it from stockholders in 1964, realizing a lifelong dream, his family said.

Charlie Buscher, a representative from the New York-

based liquor company, IW Harper, presented Lorenz with the International Mr. Hospitality Award -- only the second time the glass-encased figure has been awarded.

A sumptuous dinner was served to the guests, with Lorenz' oldest son, Staton, providing bits of Mayflower history to accompany each dish. Spiced carrots, the Mayflower nutbread, the house dressing and salad were featured. Turkey and all the trimmings (could be had for two-bits at the Mayflower years ago, said Staton) and a piece de resistance for dessert: Royal Rum Sundae Jubilee, were part of a special menu that traced Lorenz's culinary inventiveness to now-established classics at his hotel.

Guests listened to swing music from the 40's era between courses. Towards midnight, with plaques awarded, speeches given and dishes cleared away, emcee Nat Sibbold asked Lorenz to step out on the balcony for a minute, and motioned for the guests to follow.

Below, in front of Mayflower Square facing Main Street the final surprise awaited the guest of honor. Four city officials had planted a 25-foot Norway maple tree and the Plymouth Fire and Drum Corps (waiting patiently since 9 p.m.) gave a one-cannon salute and performed in the cool night air for the group on the balcony.

Through it all, Lorenz said little. But when he stood up to say "a few words," he seemed a little puzzled by all the attention he was getting.

"It was fun," he said. "But it was a lot of hard work. I can't thank you enough for all this -- I'm overwhelmed. It was fun, it was hard work. I thank you -- although I'm not sure I deserve it."

But the relatives and friends who paid tribute to "This Fellow Lorenz" Saturday night thought otherwise and proudly said so.

MABEL AND RALPH LORENZ share a quiet moment during last Saturday's surprise "This is Your Life" presentation to Lorenz. More than 200 relatives, friends and business associates gathered to salute Lorenz for his community activities in Plymouth over the years. (Crier photo by Bill Bresler.)

Free lunch if you qualify

Plymouth-Canton school children may be eligible for free and reduced school lunches under "new, more liberal guidelines" announced by Wayne County Intermediate Schools (WCIS) this week.

The new rules apply to all students in public and non-public schools and children in schools operated by a residential child care institution.

Eligibility for free lunches, free milk or reduced price meals is determined by family size and income. For example, a family of four with an income of $7,610 annually qualifies for free lunches. If the same family has income of $7,611 to $11,880, the children can receive reduced price meals costing not more than 20 cents, said a WCIS spokesperson.

Some families whose income is higher than specified may still qualify for free meals if they have high medical bills, disaster or casualty losses or shelter costs in excess of 30 percent of their income. In certain cases, foster children are also eligible for these benefits, as well as some children of unemployed parents.

Application forms are being sent to all homes in letters to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility, the spokesperson noted. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year and guidelines for these programs specify that no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, creed, color or national origin.

State authorities note that: "To discourage the possibility of misrepresentation, the application forms contain a statement above the space for signature certifying that all information furnished in the application is true and correct. An additional statement is added to warn that the application is being made in connection with the receipt of Federal funds, that school officials may, for cause, verify the information in the application, and that deliberate misrepresentation of information may subject the applicant to prosecution under applicable State and criminal statutes."

The guidelines are as follow:

Total Family Size	Scale for Free Meals and Milk	Scale for Reduced Price Meals
1	$3,930	$3,931 - $6,120
2	5,160	5,161 - 8,050

Goal base curriculum discussed at workshop

A goal based curriculum workshop last week drew teachers, principals, parents, school board members and school administrators together for two days to discuss program and course goals in the Plymouth Canton community school district.

"Goal based curriculum" clarifies the purposes of education in the local district, according to Assistant Superintendent for Instruction Dr. Michael Homes. "It can provide a yardstick of program adequacy," he said. "On the other hand, it does not limit teacher freedom or learning opportunities."

Goal based curriculum is a concept that was developed by the Portland Oregon school district. Homes, who has had experience starting a goal-based curriculum in another district, said it was presented as a possible model for the Plymouth Canton schools.

Participants examined the collections of program goals and course goals during the two day workshop. The purpose of the two day workshop was to learn methods of organizing instruction to spend time on the most significant for students and community, a school spokesperson said.

With career education a 'common thread' throughout 12 instructional areas, course goals are identified. The 12 areas are:

Art, biology and physical sciences, business education, health education, home economics, industrial education, language arts, math, music, physical education, second language and social science.

"Through a detailed system of cross-reference numbering, teachers can find goals for teaching which fit best the program goals for their district," the spokesperson said.

The three major types of goals are: knowledge, process and value.

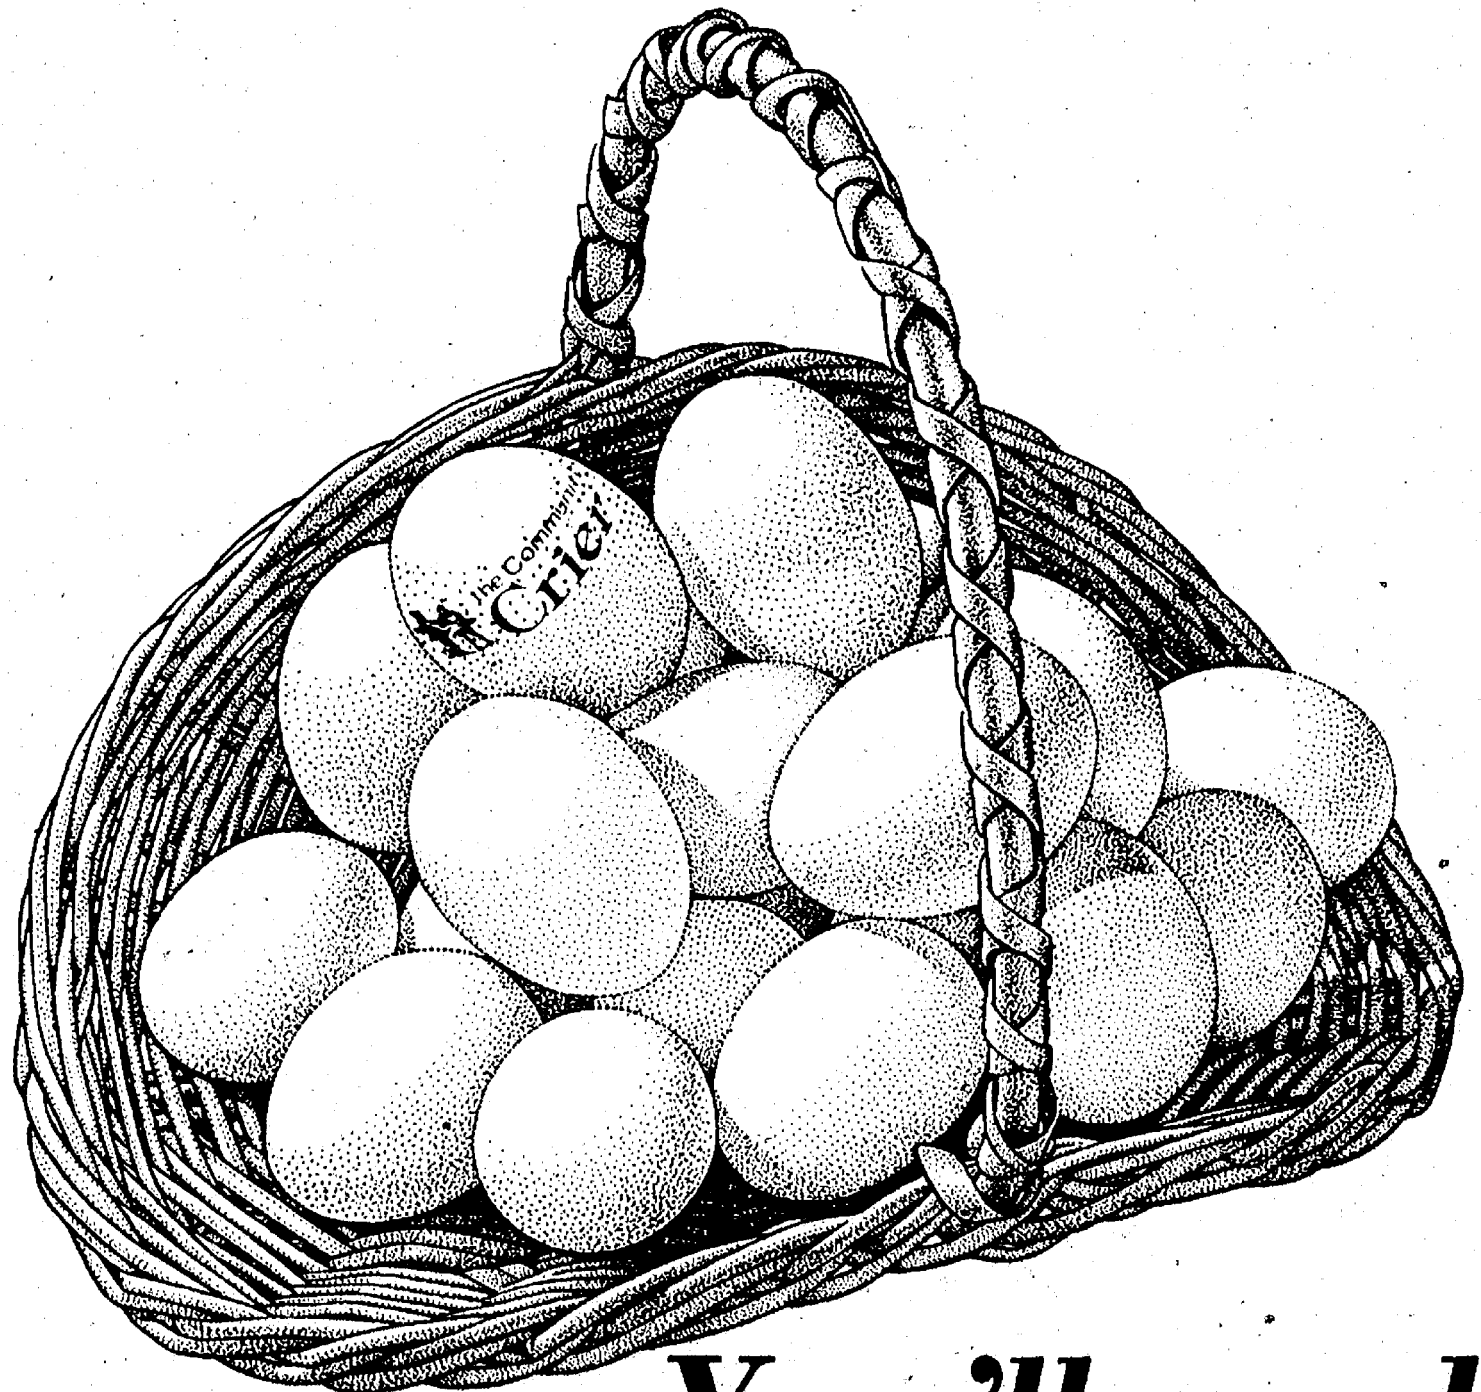

A 'core committee' is involved in planning workshops on the goal based curriculum. Its members include Dr. Homes, Barbara Bowman, John Telford, Kent Buikema, Pat Gibbons, Shirley Spaniel; teachers and administrators Sam Daas, Ray Dumont, Caroline Keller, Dolly McMaster, Terry Secord, Camille Wimsatt and Bill Bartlett. Janet Campbell, Betty Sonnega and Kari Miller are parent members.

"Look for a sense of simplicity as you develop your curriculum," Curriculum Consultant Charles Blondino told workshop participants. "Not everything we do has to be documented, just what is most significant for students. The community wants to know that there is a commitment to what it considers significant."

A workshop will be held Monday Oct. 3 at the Board of Education offices on Harvey Street on the goal based curriculum.

Schools present library slide show

"School libraries, then and now" is the focus of a slide-tape show prepared by the media specialists of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

The 15-minute presentation has been selected to open combined Michigan Association for Media in Education and Michigan Library Association conference Sept. 30 - Oct. 2. Salem High School librarians Carita Bergelin and Marian West are the creators of the show. It illustrates, through color slides of both early days and the present, the importance of people as well as books in school libraries.

In addition to presenting the slide show to media specialists at the state meeting in Dearborn, the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools' media staff plans to show it as part of a program for the Board of Education and public here soon.

Residents act in Guild play

Seven Plymouth-Canton residents will be featured in the first production of the Plymouth Theatre Guild's new season, "6RMS: RIV VU," a play by Bob Randall.

Christina Opaleski of Canton will play the character of Anne; from Plymouth, Norma Russell will play "the woman in 4A," Brian Russell plays Eddie and Bob Fitzgerald plays Larry.

Assistant director is Kathy Wycoff, producer is Clemie Cyburt, and assistant producer is Patricia Troth. All are Plymouth residents.

Home issued need certificate

Hanlon Convalescent Home, 49650 Warren Road in Canton, has been issued a certificate of need by the Michigan Department of Health.

The certificate allows Hanlon to proceed immediately with remodeling to correct existing deficiencies in the convalescent center. Some $75,000 will be spent on the improvements, which will result in a reduction in beds from 44 to 39.

Committee to meet

The next meeting of the Blue Ribbon Study Committee, a committee selected to study needs of Plymouth senior citizens, will be held tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. at the Cultural Center on Farmer Street.

On the agenda will be nutrition, health and transportation of senior citizens.

Winner at Fest

Patti Teasdale of Westland was the winner of Schoolcraft College Fall Festival drawing.

A pair of tickets to Schoolcraft fall cultural and public affairs series was the prize during the Fall Festival activities. Three other Livonia residents and one from Northville also won tickets.

Phyllis goes to the birds!

Cluck cluck GONG cluck cluck - yes - Phyllis has gong to the birds. If you think that sounds corny you should have attended The Plymouth Jaycettes' first annual Gong show. Mixed in with the lettuce, carrots, and chickens there was some real talent.

A big gong for the shows emcee, Jim Osebold! Jim really didn't do a bad job as emcee -- (but if you want me to say anything nice about you, Jim, please introduce me from the right paper next time).

Mary Decker was chairwoman of the show, and Barb Lane, President of the Plymouth Jaycettes welcomed everyone and presented the awards. Kevin Gale, Miss Michigan, 1976 was hostess of the event, and judges were Ron Sanders, Judge Dunbar Davis, Emory Daniels and myself.

The Gong Show proved to be a fun and crazy way to spend an afternoon with the proceeds going toward a very worthwhile cause - Reyes Syndrome Research. We salute the Jaycettes for their hard work.

With the Fowl Festival only a few days away, many Plymouth chicken trainees are putting in long hours out at the training camps, with their prize chickens. After promising not to reveal the location, I was allowed into one of the training sessions to observe and interview two chickens.

Toulouse La Chick, sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council recently arrived in Plymouth from France. Due to his strong French accent, we had a small communication problem, but I was able to learn a few things about him. This will be the first time that Toulouse has ever flown in a race, he, er, said although he has had a few lessons from an Air France pilot.

While I was taking to Toulouse, Chickowsky, who is being sponsored by The Plymouth Symphony League flew over to check out the competition.

Since the Symphony prefers to use as much local talent as possible, Chickowsky is from Plymouth. Like Toulouse, Chickowsky has never entered a race before, but her great, great grandmother, Chirp La Chick was a famous racer.

When asked about their diet and size, Toulouse, who is, well, short, ruffled his feathers.

"Of course I eat only the best French cuisine and being small enables me to stay up in the air much longer than my competition, who, by the way," Toulouse snipped, "seems a bit overweight."

His comment didn't seem to bother Chickowsky, a cool chick, she just cocked her head and replied:

"A 747 can fly just as far or farther than one of those petit broomsticks."

And that ended the interview with Toulouse La Chick and Chickowsky -- may the most talented bird win.

Congratulations to Jack and Sue Witucki of Plymouth on the birth of their son John Stanley III, who was born Sept. 22. Helping mom and dad take good care of their new brother are Marc and Meridith Lynne.

Gitny and Mike Koon of Canton are the proud parents of their first child, Jeffrey Michael. Jeff was born last Friday, Sept. 23, weighing six pounds, 11 ounces.

Plymouth Grange No. 389 recently held their annual installation of officers. Installing the officers were Past Master of Pittsfield Grange, Herman Koenn and his wife Louise. Vera Gunsullus, the new master extends an invitation to all Grangers to join them at their regular meetings, the first and third Thursdays of the month.

Remember, this Saturday, Oct. 1 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. is the day to pick up those pies and cookies that you ordered from the Grange. They also plan to sell donuts that day - the donuts do not have to be ordered ahead of time.

Mark Bjornbak of Plymouth has been named to the 1977-78 cheerleading squad at Judson College in Elgin, Ill. Mark is a freshman at the college.

The squad, consisting of seven women and two men, will cheer at Judson's soccer and basketball games.

"Feeling good about ourselves" is the theme of the Canton township Newcomers next meeting which will be held Wednesday, Oct. 5 at Pioneer Middle School at 7:30 p.m. The speaker will be Jean Compeau from the YMCA.

The first couples social of the season for the Canton Newcomers will be a Wine and Cheese Party on Oct. 7. The party will be held at the Canton Parks and Recreation Building on Michigan Ave., at 7:30. Admission is $10 per couple, and reservations can be made by contacting Mrs. Wesner, 6586 Carriage Hills. All reservations and cancellations must be made by 9 p.m. Oct. 4. Only paid reservations will be held.

Parade, chicken race set for Sunday

It's that time of year again: there is a nip in the morning air, children begin wearing jackets to school, leaves are turning brilliant colors and chickens start flying.

Chickens start flying! What? Er, squawk? In full wing this week, the second annual Fowl Festival will culminate in a chicken flying contest on Main Street this Sunday immediately following a Fowl Festival parade.

The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring this dubious sports event (can chickens really fly?) and the limit of 150 fowl entrants is filling fast said a Chamber spokesperson.

If you hurry, you can still enter your trained chicken for a poultry fee of $35. You can also rent one from the chamber for the same price.

That doesn't leave you much time to train your flyer. Chickens from last year are already in top-flight shape (or so their trainers say). One bantam-weight chicken is being secretly trained in Fowlerville, another is doing laps around a race track in the township. 'Dumb Cluck', last year's first place winner is going to have some tough competition this year.

A $300 first prize will be awarded, with $50 going to the second and third place entries each.

A parade will kick off the festivities at noon in Central parking lot, where all the chickens and their owners will flock.

The parade will wind its way down Penniman Avenue to Main around Kellogg Park to the starting point, on Main just north of Ann Arbor Trail.

More than 5,000 people are expected to watch the race from bleachers set up on Main Street. Official judges will certify the winning chicken flight. Like last year, national press and TV coverage is expected.

The challenges are flying like the chickens should: almost every merchant and many residents are promising each other a race to the finish.

If you can endure just a few more days of chicken jokes - and your fowl entry looks like it may fly - (and we don't mean the coop) - and your entry doesn't meet with untimely foul play - you can be sure the second annual Fowl Festival won't be one big yolk.

'Royal' Charlie wins red carpet welcome

BY HANK MEIJER

When Joan Gerigk says she'll roll out the red carpet for you, she isn't kidding.

Just ask Charlie Mannino. He met Joan and some other local residents earlier this month on a buying trip to Chicago. He'd never been to Plymouth, he told them. So they invited him to come over some time. He could visit Joan's shop and she would show him Plymouth.

A few days ago he called and said he'd be in the neighborhood and would like to visit. Sure, Joan said, we'll give you the red carpet treatment.

Joan told Charlie to meet her in Kellogg Park -- an easy place for out-of-towners to find.

Between his call and his arrival, however, his hosts decided Charlie, a Royal Oak merchant, deserved a "royal" welcome.

He was a little late, but he found Kellogg Park. It was just like he'd expected. But what he hadn't expected was to find Joan behind the wheel of a dirty white convertible, circling the park behind the motorcycle escort of a member of the Vagrants who just happened to be cruising through Plymouth when he was accosted by Mrs. Gerigk.

And perched on the back seat of the convertible was Miss Plymouth herself (Sharon Pugh), posed alluringly in a sleazy red taffeta dress with one elbow-length white knee sock.

The event had already become a media happening when the Crier arrived. Reporter Larry Janes of the "Observing Crier" was on the scene with his new mini-cam and an authentic-looking press hat.

With Charlie in tow, the motorcade wound its way through downtown Plymouth, turning off Ann Arbor Trail into the Central Parking Lot. The motorcyclist was first, but his bike stalled just as the gate went up to let him through. He got it started again within moments, however, as the motorcade waited, and proceeded forward -- just as the gate came down.

WITH A BEAUTY QUEEN and an American flag for company, Royal Oak businessman, Charlie Mannino got the welcome of his life on his first visit to Plymouth. (Crier photo)

The hapless escort was bumped from his bike, but he climbed back on to keep the parade moving. An impatient crowd awaited the royal visitor behind the Penniman Avenue Shops, waving American flags and tooting kazoos.

Security chief Bev Goss, who kept the crowd from becoming unruly, lined the last stretch of driveway with patches of red carpet just as the Mannino caravan made its entrance.

Behind the shops, Charlie was presented with a key to the Central Lot by its ex-officio Mayor, George Cooper, to the ceremonial notes of drums and kazoos.

Charlie, who left Plymouth quietly that night to return to Royal Oak, has not been the same since.

There's total confusion in my mind as why the majority of Monday menus offer sandwiches as their main dish. It's obvious to anyone involved in lunch that a little creativity after a weekend off is in store. Mr. Farquharson's Class Turn-Out Meal appears to be a winner at Field on Wednesday. Eat hearty -- Thursday is tuna casserole day. Would the real cooks stand up and take a bow?

As for nutrition, Fields' Monday menu contains a variety from all the basic food groups -- congratulations! However, a question for the Monday menu at Gallimore: "Is the chicken in the noodle soup part of the meat group?"

Rental art collection honors Isbister

PG. 21

THE COMMUNITY CRIER: September 28, 1977

An art memorial collection by former Plymouth school superintendent Russell Isbister has joined the Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC) Rental Gallery.

Six works from the Russell Isbister Memorial Collection will be on display for a month. They will be available for rent, at $2 per month, along with the gallery's other selections after being on display.

The Isbister Memorial Collection features outstanding works of Plymouth-Canton community school students. Names for former school superintendent Russell Isbister, the collection was an outgrowth of the Michigan Artrain visit to Plymouth in May of 1972.

The Artrain visit, sponsored by the PCAC, resulted in a community wide celebration called "Kaleidoscope Plymouth". The Plymouth Rotary presented its Isbister Memorial Fund monies to Kaleidoscope Plymouth to fund the educational needs for children visiting the train. The PCAC was asked to use a portion of the donation to establish an on-going program to carry the Isbister name.

Art teachers selected outstanding work of their students and it was exhibited in the Freight House during the Artrain visit. From this display, a number of pieces were selected to become part of a permanent collection. In 1974 several other pieces were added to bring the Isbister Memorial Collection to its current total of 27 items representing a variety of media.

Following the Artrain visit, the Isbister Collection was exhibited in many public buildings and rotated throughout the schools. For the past two years, however, the Collection has been relatively inactive.

The addition of some of the pieces to the PCAC Art Rental Gallery is a first step in renewing public interest in this outstanding collection of student art work. Available for rent soon will be works by Debbie Anwill, Sally Schlotz, David Wetzel, Cheryl Brown, Danette Crowley and Michael McCourt.

The remainder of the Isbister Collection will be rotated among the schools as a prelude to the selection of new items next spring. According to Jeanne Gillespie, chairwoman of the Isbister Memorial Collection, details of the proposed competition are still incomplete but she will be contacting all art teachers in grades K-8 withing the next few months.

The PCAC Rental Gallery is open Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Schools help kids to jobs

The Job Placement Office of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools receives calls from area employers seeking full time, permanent employees for their business establishments according to Joyce Willis, Job Placement Specialist.

Graduates of the district seeking full time employment are encouraged to contact the placement office, located at Canton

The following column is provided by Plymouth-Canton School's Administrative Assistant for Community Relations, Florence Beier.

Pre-schoolers in the Plymouth-Canton Community School's seem to far out-number the available openings for pre-school education programs. State law forbids accepting any child who is not five years old by Dec. 1 into the public school kindergarten classes, and school programs for youngsters under five are limited.

The PLUS program serves children who live in the Field, Eriksen, and Starkweather attendance areas. PLUS is fully funded by the federal government and must restrict its membership to those areas. Mary Fritz is director of PLUS, which is located at Central Middle School.

Another pre-school program operated by the Plymouth-Canton Schools is IPSEPS (Infant and Preschool Special Education Program).

Here we service children from Plymouth-Canton district.

Participation in the IPSEPS is open to any child from birth through age five who is eligible for special education because of physical, mental, or emotional handicaps.

IPSEPS is also fully supported by funds from outside the school district, both state and federal. It is located at Farrand School and the director is Mary Nutter.

At Canton High School two pre-school programs involve high school students learning to work with small children. Both of these programs are at top enrollment for this year. No space for pre-schoolers is available until fall of 1978.

Canton Children's Corner is part of our vocational program. Here high school students gain practical experience related to their class work in child care. The youngsters learn art, music, language arts, science, crafts, and go on field trips.

Canton Children's Corner is open to any pre-school child. Those interested in enrollment in 1978 may call Skills for Living office at Canton High School, 453-3100, February.

Kiddie Kampus, also conducted at Canton High School, is part of our Continuing Education Department. It is filled for this year and will take applications for 1978 next May. Openings are filled on a first-come first-served basis. Information is published in the spring Continuing Education bulletin.

Director of both Canton High School programs is Sue Visser.

Offense sparkles

Salem massacres Belleville, 35-0

BY CHAS CHILD

Salem kept Belleville's streak intact Friday, although the Tigers didn't appreciate the favor.

For two games the Tigers hadn't scored a point, and the Rocks made it three in a row, whipping them 35-0 on their homefield.

It was hard to decide who played better -- no, not Salem or Belleville -- but Salem's defense or offense.

Rock quarterback Rich Hewlett again moved the offense at will, rolling up a 21-0 half-time lead to pretty much decide the game.

Salem's defense shut off the Tigers' major running threat, Kelvin Patterson, and Rock defensive back Scott Kapler intercepted two passes.

The Rocks had trouble moving the ball against Belleville's five man line in the first quarter, but quickly adjusted.

After a short Belleville punt early in the second quarter the Rocks took over on the Tigers' own 35-yard line. Hewlett broke a 21-yard run to bring the ball down to the 11 on the second play of the possession.

Chris Ritchey ended the drive when he cracked over from the five at 10:39 for Salem's first points.

on the momentum when the defense recovered a fumble on Belleville's 21 yard line. Six plays later the Rocks hit paydirt on a diving catch by end Curt Lewis in the end zone on a five-yard pass from Hewlett.

Salem scored again on its next possession, needing only three plays to drive 66 yards. Hewlett took care of all but 12 of those when he sprinted 54 yards on an option play around left end to the Belleville nine.

Halfback David Booker took it in from there, Ritchey ran in the two-point conversion; and the Rocks were ahead 21-0.

Belleville mounted a solid drive in the last minutes of the first half, but the first of Kapler's two interceptions on Salem's nine yard line ended the Tigers' best chance of getting on the scoreboard.

The second half was highlighted by a 30-yard scoring drive engineered by Hewlett's back-up, Paul Dillon.

Kapler set up the drive with his second interception and Dillon took it over the goal line with a quarterback sneak.

Earlier, the Rocks scored when the Belleville punt receiver, Kelvin Patterson, dropped a punt and Curt Lewis pounced on the loose ball on the Belleville 14 yard line.

Two plays later the ball was in the end zone. Ritchey cracked four yards into the line and Hewlett tossed a touchdown pass to John Broderick.

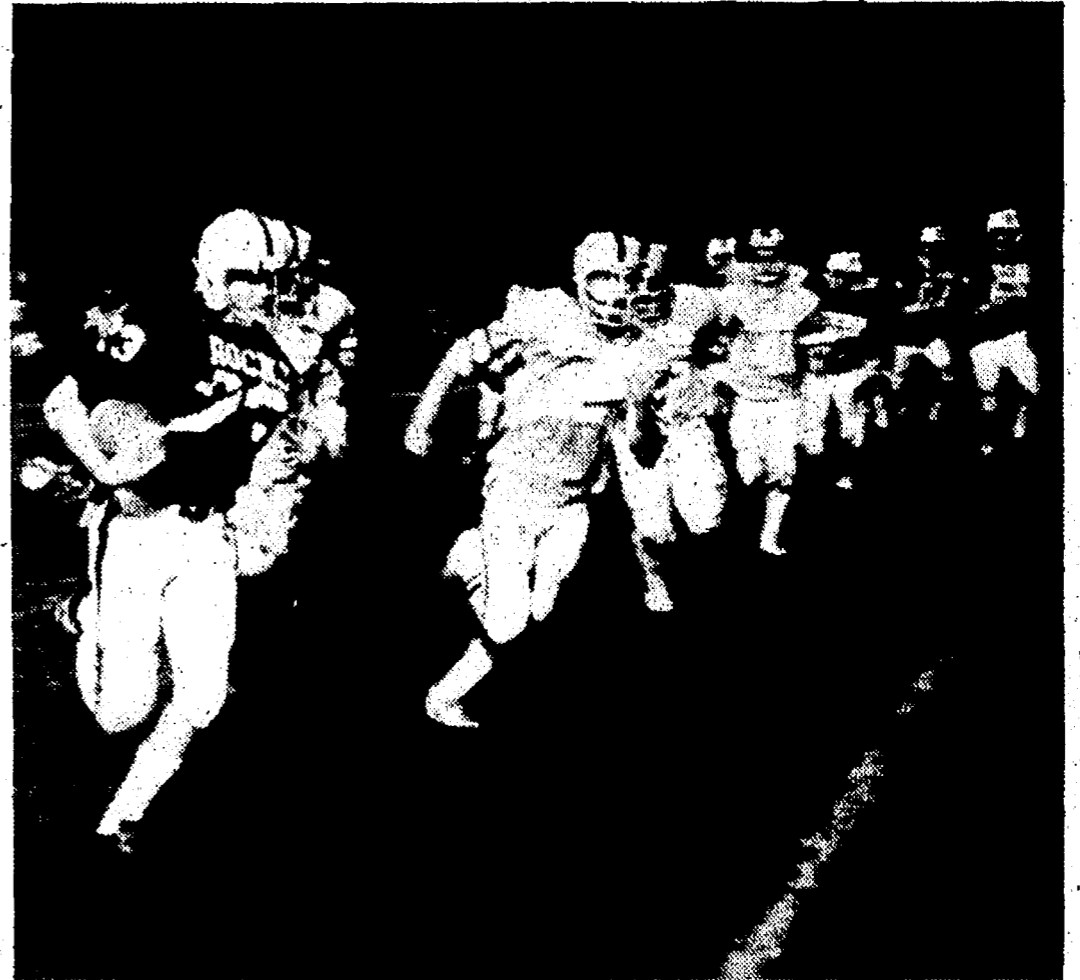

"I expected a tougher game," Coach Tom Moshimer said, "but the breaks did go our way."

He also said the interceptions vindicated his secondary, which was under pressure last week against Allen Park.

Salem stays undefeated in the Suburban Eight with the victory, 2-0, with a 3-0 overall record.

Redford Union travel to CEP Friday for Salem's homecoming. The game starts at 8 p.m.

Salem, Canton golfers trail in own tourney

In the Plymouth Best Ball golf tournament yesterday, both Canton and Salem improved their scores from last year, but still finished down in the pack.

Salem shot a 155 to tie for 13th in a field of 28 teams and Canton carded 178 to finish 17th.

Last year Canton's score was 160 and Salem's was 162.

Thurston won the event for the second year in a row, shooting a 140.

In the best ball tourney at Brae Burn golf course, four players from each team play in pairs. The best score of the pair is carded and the two totals are added for the school's score.

The Salem team of Doug

Holloway and Jim Ross shot a 77 and their teammates, Ted Kuhns and Craig Stevens carded a 78.

For Canton, John Matthews and Dave Visser finished with a 79 and Rich Ling and Scott McClone scored a 78.

Medalists for the tourney were teams from Thurston and Cherry Hill who fired 66s.

Canton Coach John Crosson said, "Our scores were the best we could hope for a young team like ours. I'm reasonably pleased. Our prospects are good for next year."

On Monday, the Chiefs lost to Churchill, 210 to 215. They came back yesterday, however, to beat the Chargers by two strokes in the best ball tourney.

Canton cagers romp, 65-11

BY JEFF REY

You may not have noticed yet, but Canton still has a team yet to lose a ballgame. Unde- feated and going strong the Canton women's basketball team defeated Livonia Churchill Thursday 65-11 boosting their record to a perfect 4-0.

On Tuesday the Chiefs beat Thurston 43-21.

Sue Rekuc led the Canton offense against Churchill with 12 points followed by Kathy Peck with 11 points and Kelly Heaton scored ten points.

Churchill was virtually smothered by the Canton defense. The Chargers managed two points in the first quarter and only two more in the second to give Canton an unsurpassable 29-4 lead at the half. Churchill was unable to come back, scoring just seven more points to Canton's 36 in the final half.

Rounding out the Canton offense, Kathy Sochacki and Pam Schippani scored six points each followed by Jill Pederson and Vickie Cavallero scored four points apiece.

Thurston gave Canton a first quarter threat on Tuesday. They were behind by only one point, 8-7, after eight minutes of play, but the Chief defense held tough, allowing Thurston no more than six points a quarter for the remainder of the game.

Offensively, Kelly Heaton led Canton with 13 points followed by Sue Rekuc with ten.

Rocks shrug off Bentley's height

BY CHAS CHILD

Easily overcoming a huge height disparity, Salem's Girls basketball team whipped Livonia Bentley Thursday, 58-44.

The win boosts the Rocks' record to 2-1 in the Suburban Eight league.

Bentley started two giants, Debbie Mayes, 5' 11½", and Krista Pray, who is 6' 1". But the Rocks' defense fouled both of them out in the second half and Debbie Piera held Mayes to only three points for the game.

Kathy Dillon did an equally fine job on the Bulldogs' usually high-scoring Karla Hally, holding her to only two points.

The Rocks also improved immensely at the foul line from previous games, sinking 23 of 43.

Salem came out cold in the contest and Bentley jumped to an early 5-0 lead. But the Rocks came on strong and at halftime built a 32-18 lead.

The Bulldogs came out in a zone in the second half hoping to force outside shots and to clean up the rebounds with their height advantage.

With their lead, however, the Rocks were content to slow the pace down and swept to the victory behind Pitera and Dillon's 15 points a piece.

Doris Hoelscher scored 13 points and Nan Horwood added 10.

Last Tuesday Salem beat Edsel Ford in a close contest, 61-55. Ditera poured in 25 points and grabbed 13 rebounds to lead the Rocks. Kathy Dillon contributed 8 assists, 12 rebounds and 15 points.

Pending last night's action, Redford Union leads the Sub. Eight race with a 3-0 mark, followed by Salem, Bentley and Trenton at 2-1.

Wrestlers to wash cars

The Salem wrestling squad will be washing cars Saturday to raise money for a memorial to two of their teammates who died this year.

Jeff Mangan and Brian Stout, who died this year, will be honored by a trophy case in their name if enough money is raised, Coach Ron Krueger said.

The car wash will be held at Massey Cadillac, Main St. and Ann Arbor Rd. in Plymouth.

Churchill wins, 7-0

Blocked punt spells doom for Chiefs

BY JEFF REY

There are many ways to lose a football game, and unfortunately, the Canton Chiefs found another unusual way last Friday.

Churchill's offense couldn't score, but their defense blocked a Canton punt with only 45 seconds remaining in the first half, picked up the loose ball and took it into the end zone for the Chargers only points, enough to win the game, 7-0.

"This is a true indication of our last two games," said disgusted Canton Head Coach Dave Schuele. The Chiefs lost two games before Friday's game, under what might be called odd circumstances.

Canton fumbled and lost the ball only once throughout the entire game, but the stale Canton offense was unable to produce any points.

"Churchill gave us a different defensive set than we had anticipated," said Schuele, "we just didn't do a good job in adjustment."

On offense the Chiefs made five first downs and gained 121 yards. Quarterback Doug Smith completed four of 15 passes for 47 yards. "We didn't execute the bone (wishbone) as good as we could have, but we are starting to show signs of improvement," said Schuele.

After the kick-off the Chiefs got an early break when Churchill fumbled on their first play from center. The Chief's picked up one first down, but a holding penalty on fourth down and eight turned the ball right back to the Chargers.

For the remainder of the first quarter and throughout most of the second little progress was made by both teams. Besides Churchill's second fumble and Canton fumbles at 6:33 and 2:27 in the second quarter most of the excitement was limited to both teams' defense.

Churchill's points came when Canton was forced to punt after an offensive pass interference call set up a fourth and 38 situation on their own 32-yard line with only 45 seconds remaining in the half.

Junior Frank Kellogg, after fumbling the snap from center, was forced to kick on the run allowing the Chargers enough time to block the punt.

Churchill's Mike Devlin found the ball in his hands and scampered untouched into the end zone to score Churchill's only touchdown.

The Chiefs offense fought a futile second half, picking up only three first downs and throwing a number of incomplete passes.

"Churchill has a lot of good kids," said Schuele after the game, "Our defense played really well against such a good running team."

Churchill rushed for 142 yards and gained 31 yards in the air.

Canton was forced to play the game with some key players sustaining injuries earlier in the week. Senior fullback Jerry Simon suffered a sprained ankle a week ago at Annapolis, and halfback Rusty Mandle was forced to play with a pulled groin muscle.

The Chiefs play at Waterford Mott Friday at 8 p.m. where they are hoping to even their Western Six record at 1-1.

Salem netters whip Edsel, 7-0

Bouncing back from a tough loss to Trenton, the Salem girls tennis team trounced Edsel Ford, 7-0, Monday.

Defending Suburban Eight champs Trenton beat the Rocks, 5-2, in a match many people thought was a showdown for the league title this year.

Only sophomore Kathy Horton at no. 3 singles and no. 4 singles Betsy Moon recorded victories.

It was a different story Monday, however, as no Rock tasted defeat. Becky Crespo, no. 1 singles won, 6-1, 6-3. No. 2 singles Courtney Warrick won, 7-6, 6-0, and Horton and Moon straight-setted their opponents, 6-3, 6-2, and 6-2, 7-5, respectively.

In doubles, the Hathaway sisters, Lynne and Sandra won at the no. 1 spot, 6-4, 7-5. Wendy Webb and Sandy Bozowski won 6-4, 6-2 and Clarisse Hartnett and Renee Braun rounded out the victories, winning, 6-1, 6-7, 6-2.

The two-match split leaves Salem 2-1 in the Suburban Eight and 4-1 overall.

Chief netters drop 3

The Canton tennis squad endured a tough week, losing three matches by the same score, 0-7.

Against Walled Lake Western Friday no. 1 singles Mary Rice made a good comeback in the second but still lost, 1-6, 4-6.

No. 3 singles Mindy Starkey took her opponent to three sets, but still lost, 4-6, 6-4, 3-6. At the remaining singles positions, no. 2 Kathy Kidston fell 0-6, 1-6 and Julie Kraus at the fourth spot lost 1-6, 1-6.

In doubles, Chris Stylianou and Sue Kidston were beaten at the no. 1 spot, 3-6, 2-6. Valerie Merchand and Sheri Crochmalny lost 2-6, 2-6, and the no. 3 duo of Gail Grieves and Nancy Regal lost 4-6, 1-6.

Monday afternoon the Chiefs lost to Harrison and last Wednesday they were blanked again by Northville.

Rock harriers run 5 personal bests

Salem's cross country team recorded five personal bests, but still lost twice in a double dual meet to Northville and Livonia Stephenson last Tuesday.

The Rocks lost to Northville 19-40 and to Stephenson, 21-38. Northville beat Stephenson, 21-34.

Tom Rubadue and Paul Hess, who finished sixth and seventh, both ran for the first time under 17 minutes. Rubadue's time was 16:49 and Hess's, 16:53.

Bob Stiffler ran the Cass Benton course in 17:42, his personal best, to finish 14th. Dave Truesdell was 17th, freshman Chris Whittaker placed 19th and Todd Curtis came in 20th.

"Northville and Stephenson finished second and fourth in the Schoolcraft Invitational, so they were two extremely strong teams," Coach Fred Thomann said. "We're pleased with the progress we're making."

The Rocks run tomorrow in another double dual meet with Redford Union and Bentley at Bentley at 4 p.m.

Chief tankers nip Churchill, 87-85

The Canton women's swim team won its first meet of the season Thursday defeating Western Six foe Livonia Churchill, 87-85.

The Chiefs took first in six events including two first place finishes by Junior Cindy Schelansky and Freshman Kim Massey.

Massey took a first in the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 2:09.4, setting a new varsity record. Then in her second event, the 500-yard freestyle, she broke her second varsity record with a time of 5:45.3, qualifying her for state competition.

Schelansky placed first in 200 individual medley and also in the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 2:35.5 and 1:07.8 respectively.

Other first place performances included the 200 yard relay team swam by Schelansky, Lisa Toor, Annette Piethe and Peggy McElmeel with a time of 2:07.5.

In diving Sophomore Jamie Zupherenk placed first accumulating 142.9 points.

Earlier in the week the Chiefs lost to Wayne Memorial 103-69. Massey placed first in the 200 and 500-yard freestyle with a time of 2:10.5 and 5:52.4 respectively.

Schelansky took a first in the 100-yard backstroke turning in 1:08 and the 200 yard medley team of Schelansky, Sue Knight Piethe, and McElmeel took a first with a time of 2:11.9.

The Chiefs next meet is at Thurston on Thursday, Sept. 29th at 7:30 p.m.

Rocks swamp Ypsi rivals

Revengeing its only loss last year, the Salem girls swimming team whipped Ypsilanti Thursday, 100-72.

The highlight of the meet was the 100-yard freestyle duel between Salem's Marion Stanwood and Karen Siebert, an exchange student from Germany swimming for the Ypsi Braves. Stanwood set a team record of: 55.0, nosing out Siebert by two tenths of a second. Coach Chuck Olson said a judge told him that it was one of the best high school races he's ever seen.

Rock Diver Amy McClumpha rolled up 204.2 points to set another team record in the meet.

Lisa Lukens piled up her personal best from the diving board, 183.6 points.

Salem swept the 500 yard freestyle. "We always try to sweep at least one meet," Olson said. Sharon Ross won with a time of 5:50.2. Madeleine Lakatos was second, 6:16.8; and Kim Coates was third, 6:18.1.

Sue Stanwood won two events, the 200-yard individual medley and the 100 flystroke. Her sister, Sarah took the 50-yard freestyle.

In the 400-yard freestyle relay, Sue and Marion Stanwood teamed up with Lakatos and Sharon Ross to win.

Jill McCann won the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 1:08.4.

The Rocks swim tomorrow at home against Trenton at 6:30 p.m.

Golfers keep mark perfect

Salem's golf team beat Edsel Ford and Redford Union this week to post a perfect 2-0 Suburban Eight record.

In the 161-167 victory over Edsel Ford Monday, Ted Kuhns and Jim Van Boven lead the way with 39s. Jim Ross shot a 41 and Brian Briggs followed close behind with a 42.

At Salem Hills Thursday, the Rocks shaved Redford Union 163-166. Kuhns again was low man with a 39. Ross and Craig Stevens carded 41s, and Van Boven followed with 42.

Last Wednesday, Salem fell to an extremely hot Farmington Harrison team. Harrison broke their school record for low score in the contest.

"Our team this year has the best scoring average any Plymouth team has had since 1969," Coach Bob Waters said, "but we still have close matches. The teams around are getting a lot more competitive." The Rocks are 6-2 overall in dual meets.

Chiefs win, lose, tie

The Canton golf team was defeated by Farmington Harrison 203-215, Thursday.

The Chiefs beat Walled Lake Western earlier in the week by a score of 217-220 and tied Westland, John Glenn at 200 apiece.

Dave Visser shot a 41 against Farmington, Harrison followed by Rich Ling with a 42, John Mathews with a 43, Scott Adler with a 44 and Scott McLone shooting a 45.

Head coach John Crossen praised the Chiefs on their scores, but also said, "we are going to have a tough time against alot of teams because everyone seems to improve right along with us."

Visser was low man for the Chiefs during the entire week turning in a 36 against John Glenn and a 42 against Walled Lake.

In real estate, oral promises or conditions have little standing. If they are not contained in writing within the agreement of sale, or on other papers relating to the transaction, they are not binding. In fact, the

Parents challenge coach after Pioneer rips Central

BY CHAS CHILD

A 48-0 trouncing of Central Middle School's seventh grade football team by Pioneer last Wednesday has many parents and members of the Plymouth-Canton Junior Athletic Association (PCJAA) throwing penalty flags for unsportsmanlike conduct.

Witnesses of the game said the Pioneer coach rolled up the score, failed to substitute enough when his team was ahead and called time out in the last minute of the game to score still more points.

The lopsided victory, in which Pioneer scored its final touchdown in the last minutes of the game, is evidence, the PCJAA said, that the Plymouth-Canton School District is not living up to its promise to "insure greater participation" by players on the Middle school athletic teams. The PCJAA asked to take over the seventh grade football and basketball programs from the schools in May.

The school board declined but did pass a resolution that the "administration be directed to alter the seventh and eighth grade athletic program to insure greater participation in such a manner similar to that provided by the PCJAA."

Jim Sinclair, an official of PCJAA who watched the Pioneer-Central game, said, "I've never seen a coach humiliate another team like he did. After it became obvious who was going to win, many fans started screaming at the (Pioneer) coach. He knew what he was doing."

The coach of the Pioneer team, Ron Cicciarelli, denied that he failed to substitute enough and said the time out at the end of the game was called by a team member on the field.

"The time out was not to reorganize and score more points. There was confusion on the field and the player thought we might have had too many men on the field," Cicciarelli said.

The Pioneer coach also said he only has about 27 players, which doesn't leave too many players for substitution. Four players went both ways (played both offense and defense) he said.

Responding to the charge that his backfield played virtually the whole game, Cicciarelli said it takes time to train the boys to play the positions and the team started practicing on Sept. 8, less than two weeks before the Pioneer-Central game, the season opener.

"Everyone on my team played and I exceeded the substitution requirements," Cicciarelli said.

These rules stipulate that a player must play a minimum of four plays per half or sit out at least four plays per half. This rule was one of many worked out for each sport to guarantee participation, on the middle school teams, Athletic Director John Sandmann said.

The guidelines were worked out June 2, after the school board voted to adopt the PCJAA's philosophy in May. "After seeing that game, I wonder if they're trying to follow these rules," Sinclair said.

Parents: Back off

Middle school students are under heavy pressure - from friends, parents and teachers - to shuck their childish habits and to learn how to fit into the adult world.

The students' attitudes towards sports is in the same state of flux. The grade school emphasis on participation is phased out in favor of learning the habit of winning.

This tension between winning and the fun of just playing surfaced last week when the Pioneer seventh grade football team trounced Central, 48-0.

Many parents watching thought the Pioneer team rolled up the score and in general, humiliated the Central squad.

Receiving only second hand accounts of the game from emotionally-involved parents, it's hard to reconstruct what happened. Was the Pioneer coach, Ron Cicciarelli, guilty of poor sportsmanship?

He said he had less than 30 players which means he had few substitutes. He couldn't tell his players to go halfway because that could cause injuries. The time-out at the end of the game was called by a player on the field, Cicciarelli said, not by him to get more points on the board.

He did have four players going both ways, which I think is wrong at the seventh grade level, since he had enough players to fill the offensive and defensive units. This not necessarily poor sportsmanship, however.

I was also told the Central team gave up after a while because they were losing badly, although I have no way of knowing.

While I got the game second hand, I got the parents' reaction first hand. The humiliation of losing struck tender parental nerves. One secretary at Central even told me I shouldn't write anything about the game because the boys had been humiliated.

Come now, isn't that carrying things a bit too far? Maybe Pioneer ran up the score, but the Central squad will survive. Kids at that age are not that impressionable.

Don't get me wrong - I'm not trying to excuse any possible Pioneer poor sportsmanship - but perhaps the parents are too emotionally involved with their children's sporting careers.

The kids are under enough pressure in middle schools without heavy doses of parental over-protection.

In many parts of Canada, kids play hockey into their teens totally unsupervised by adults. They go out and have fun, but they also organize and supervise themselves - a damn good way to build character.

So, coaches: play everybody as much as possible, even if it may risk losing. And parents: back off. Your kids are tougher than you think.

Racquet plans change

Beginning Monday, Oct. 3 the format for reserving racquetball courts at Canton High School will be changed, Larry Masteller, director of the continuing education program for Plymouth Canton schools announced.

Citizens will be able to reserve court time on permanent basis on Saturdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sundays from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. for 12 weeks for a fee of $36.

Registration will begin Monday at 8:45 a.m. at Canton High School at the Continuing Education Office in Room 117. Those registering may reserve only one hour and represent one family.

Sign-up starts Saturday for junior cage league

Boys and girls from the third through 12th grades interested in playing basketball this year are invited to sign up for a team in the Plymouth/Canton Junior Basketball Association (PCJBA).

Registration will be held Oct. 1, 8 and 15 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at West Middle School, Sheldon and Ann Arbor Trail.

This year, PCJBA is adding two new leagues: Girls "AAA" and Boys "AAA" for grades 11 and 12. Tryouts for all the leagues will only be used to distribute and balance the playing abilities.

Each boy or girls that registers will be placed on a team and play a minimum of one quarter and not more than three quarters of a game.

Complete details of the program will be provided in the information handbook at registration. Coaches for teams are still needed and any adult interested can sign up at the registration dates.

CITY OF PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN
At a meeting of the Zoning Board of Appeals to be held in the Commission Chamber of the City Hall on Thursday, October 6, 1977, at 7:30 P.M., a public hearing will be held to consider the following:
APPEAL CASE NO. 77-12 - DANIEL GUGLIELMO, 305 Pacific Avenue, Plymouth, Michigan 48170, requesting permission to construct a 22 ft. x 26 ft. garage at above address, one (1) foot from rear lot line, located in a R-1 (Single-Family Residential District) zoning, which is in conflict with Section 5.194(3) and (4) of Article XV, Chapter 52, Zoning, of the Plymouth City Code.
Section 5.194(3) provides that an accessory building may occupy not more than twenty-five (25) percent of a required yard, plus twenty percent (20%) of any nonrequired rear yard, provided that in no instance shall the accessory building exceed one-half (1/2) the ground floor area of the main building, except an accessory building can be constructed which exceeds these standards where it is intended to serve as a two car garage or carport. However, where the area of such a structure would exceed the above standards, its floor area shall not exceed 528 square feet and, provided further, that it shall not occupy more than forty (40) percent of the combined required and non-required rear yard of the residential lot.
Section 5.194(4) provides that no detached accessory building shall be located closer than three (3) feet to any side or rear lot line. In those instances where the rear lot line is coterminous with an alley right-of-way, the accessory building shall be no closer than one (1) foot to such rear lot line. In no instance shall an accessory structure be located within a dedicated easement right-of-way.
All interested parties will be given an ample opportunity to participate in the hearing and, at the close of said hearing, all comments and suggestions of those citizens participating will be considered by the Zoning Board of Appeals prior to rendering its decision.
