April 27 vote set for school millages

Plymouth-Canton School District voters will go to the polls at a special election April 27, to decide on:

*Increasing the schools' operating millage by 4.5 mills (3.0 mills of which is a renewal of existing millage and 1.5 mills of which is an increase request) for five years.

*Adding a .5 mill levy for 10 years to be spent only on building maintenance and improvement.

By a unanimous vote, the school board decided Monday night to call a special election for the issues rather than wait for the regularly scheduled June election.

In the past, the district has usually separated millage renewals and millage increase proposals. "We talked about the strengths and weaknesses of going for one package," said Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business.

"It's a judgment really as to what the community will buy," he said.

The 3.0 operating mills which expire in June were approved in two parts - 1.5 mills each - on June 11 and Aug. 20 in 1973. School officials say the 4.5 mills is needed to maintain existing programs.

Voter registration deadline for the election is March 23.

By 4-3 vote, CEP to get traditional schedule next fall

BY CHAS CHILD

Modular scheduling at CEP was dropped by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education Monday night in favor of a six-hour per day traditional schedule to start next fall.

The vote was 4-3, with Tom Yack, Richard Arlen, Joe Gray and Flossie Tonda casting "yes" votes and Steve Harper, Elaine Kirchgatter and Carol Davis saying "no."

The administration of Canton and Salem high schools recommended that mod scheduling be dropped because it was becoming impossible to accommodate both traditional and modular schedules at the same time.

Also, the scheduling problem is compounded by the increasing overcrowding of CEP. More than 4,600 students are expected next fall at the campus which has a capacity of about 4,200.

Discipline, as well as overcrowding, was also cited by the administration as a flaw of modular.

"Up to 1,500 students are in the halls on unscheduled time," said Canton Principal Kent Buikema at a workshop last Monday.

Under mod scheduling, students are given considerable leeway to plan their time, and arrange their schedules on a daily basis - a privilege the administration said many students are abusing or not using it to the fullest advantage.

The resolution adopted by the board also directs the administration to create variations in the six-hour schedule to "incorporate as many of the positive educational features of the current program as possible."

Stating his opposition to discarding modular scheduling, Member Harper said, "Some subjects just can't be taught in 50 minutes."

He said the administration's proposal for next year was too vague, and it should come back to the board with specific proposals showing how the positive features of modular would be retained next year.

Tonda on the other hand, said, "There's no value in hiring excellent teachers and then having 1,200 students wandering the halls. The administration has tried to make it work, but there are too many students opting to do nothing in non-class time."

Township officials' terms changed starting in 1980

In two years, Canton and Plymouth Township voters will be electing their supervisors, clerks and treasurers to four year terms in office.

A new state law that went into effect a few weeks ago eliminate staggered terms of the trustees in the township and instead will elect, beginning in 1980, all four trustees to terms that begin simultaneously.

"There was a certain advantage to the staggered terms," said Canton clerk John Flodin. "The newly elected trustees could be guided a little by those trustees who knew a little more about the township."

All trustees now served staggered four-year terms. Supervisors, clerks and treasurers serve two-year terms.

Hotel fight injures man

AN ARGUMENT OVER A SIX-PACK of beer outside the Hotel Nelson, 300 N. Mill in Plymouth Monday night resulted in 30-year old Daniel Diegle, a resident of the hotel, being sent to the hospital, Plymouth Police report. Officers found Diegle in his apartment in the hotel holding his shoulder and bleeding, saying he had been hit with a shovel. Plymouth Police say that apparently a friend of Diegle's, John Tomchuck, was walking along and saw the six pack on the hood of a parked truck and removed it. Two men who were driving the truck stopped him and Diegle came outside to investigate. One of the men went to the back of the truck and picked up a shovel, struck Diegle on the head, then the other man hit Diegle, according to police. Tomchuck told police he was unable to assist his friend because one of the men held him at bay with the shovel. The two men fled in the truck and police are investigating the identity of the pair. Diegle, who was transported to St. Mary Hospital by the Plymouth Fire Department, was later arrested in the hospital by Livonia police for warrants outstanding. (Crier photo by Bob Cameron.)

Local SEVs hiked

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

If you're a Plymouth-Canton property owner, you'll be paying more in property taxes for 1978 than you did last year.

That word of bad news comes from Wayne County's recently released 1978 figures for local equalization factors.

The factor is multiplied by the property's assessment (which is supposed to be one half its market value) to produce the property's state equalized valuation (SEV). It is upon this figure that property tax millage is based.

Thus, if a $50,000 home is assessed at $25,000 and is located in a community with an SEV factor of 1.20, taxes are applied against a valuation of $30,000.

That SEV factor has gone up in Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township for 1978. Thus, local property owners will pay higher local taxes, school taxes and county taxes (based on the same assessments)

Seventh graders to use random selection

BY CHAS CHILD

As a result of an altered random selection process, all seventh graders in the Plymouth-Canton schools will get their high school assignments before the end of this year.

Modeled after the random selection policy of West Bend, Wisc., all students will first receive their assignments from the computer.

Appeals will then be granted if the seventh grader has a sibling at either Canton or Salem High School. Appeals for "educational need" will also be considered.

Under the old policy, students received their assignments in the eighth grade.

The board said the change in the process, adopted Monday night will eventually send the same number of students in a neighborhood to each school.

The old policy assigned single or small numbers of students to Salem, say, in a predominantly Canton neighborhood, and vice versa.

The school board had received before Monday's meeting 58 appeals to the old policy, mostly from students split from their neighborhood.

The board set March 13 as the cut-off date for further appeals of assignments for next year.

By that time, the board directed the administration to write specific criteria for accepting or denying appeals.

Before the meeting, the board's attorney, Edward Draugelis, warned the board not to act in an arbitrary manner the appeals.

"It's clear you have the power to decide the appeals, but you must have a rational basis," Draugelis said.

Many parents said before the meeting that the basis for an appeal was vague and that there was no cut-off date.

Member Joe Gray, restating his opposition to random selection, was the only "no" vote to adopting the changes in the policy. The resolution setting the cut-off date for appeals passed unanimously, however.

Canton chews fast food complex

The Canton Planning Commission told a developer Monday to meet with Township Planner George Peek to improve on their concept of a fast-foods complex they propose to locate at the southwest corner of Ford and Sheldon Roads.

Developers for Hyatt Construction presented a plan to the commission that called for two large fast-foods operations towards the front of the parcel, and two smaller operations near the back.

The developers said there would be five entrances and exits off Ford Road and one off Sheldon Road.

Their plan revealed a restaurant in each of the four corners with parking in between each restaurant and no access by car between the four.

Planning Commission Chairman Robert Padget said that the commission had asked the developers to come up with a "carousel" type site plan - once with parking on the perimeter, the restaurants in an inner circle and a park in the middle.

The Hyatt developer said they discovered that not enough parking could be installed in the six acre parcel if the "carousel" idea was planned. "It can't be done," he said. "Not with limited parking space."

"You should be able to travel on foot from one restaurant to the other," Padget said. "These restaurants may as well be on separate tracts."

Commissioner Brian Schwall agreed, saying, "It looks like a fast food parking lot, not a park. It's just four big buildings and a couple of trees."

The commission directed Township Planner George Peek to sit down with the Hyatt developers and draw up a new or revised site plan.

Gallimore 72 won't move

The 72 Gallimore Elementary School students who had been originally slated to attend Isbister next year will be allowed to stay at Gallimore.

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education voted unanimously Monday night to let the students stay at Gallimore because the school's attendance had not grown as much as projected.

The school's administration said, however, that future growth may force the 72 to move in the 1979-'80 school year.

Sharland reimbursed

A CHECK FOR $151.50 was delivered to Loyd Sharland of Plymouth Township to replace the turkeys killed by dogs last year. The interesting note about it, is that the check is from Wayne County - not from Plymouth Township which has an ordinance to use money collected from dog licenses for paying damages caused by dogs. Sharland had first asked for damages to be paid by the township, but the township board passed the buck to the county although it has paid for similar damages in the past. (Crier photo)

Alternative High approved

BY CHAS CHILD

An alternative high school was established by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education Monday night, but the major problem of where to put it remains unsolved.

Reaffirming the basic philosophic commitment to an alternative high school, the board directed the school's administration to start selecting teachers and a program for the school immediately, so the school can start next September.

The administration was also directed to search for a site for the school away from CEP and not in a middle or elementary school simultaneously attended by younger children.

Central Middle School had originally been proposed to house the alternative high school, but a storm of protest from Central parents and teachers killed the plan.

Slated to start in September, it will run for three years as a pilot program.

The program of the new school will also be scrutinized and evaluated by persons outside the school district. This provision in the resolution was included in response to criticism by members Joe Gray and Richard Arlen that the school's program and teaching would be too vague and unstructured.

An amendment by Gray and supported by Arlen for the administration to select the teachers and write a specific teaching program for the school before the board approves it was defeated 5-2. Gray and Arlen, naturally, were the only "yes" votes.

"We are not qualified to pass judgment on the proposal and staff," said President Tom Yack, referring to Gray's amendment. "It smacks of administrative involvement."

Member Flossie Tonda said the proposal was too inflexible and would "cement us in."

Voting "no" on the resolution establishing the school were Gray, Arlen and Tonda. Yack, member Elaine Kirchgatter, and Carol Davis, and Treasurer Steve Harper voted "yes."

Berg loses ewe

Canton officials were expected to discuss last night reimbursing Canton farmer Bart Berg for the loss of one Shropshire ewe to a pack of dogs two months ago.

The sheep was valued between $65 to $75, Berg said and was due to lamb in March.

Canton usually reimburses such claims from the township dog fund, Clerk John Flodin said.

N'ville Rd. shut down

Michigan State Highway Department has closed Northville Road between Five Mile and Edward Hines Drive during the construction of an overpass at Northville and Five Mile roads for the M-14 expressway.

State Highway officials say the road will be closed for one-month to six-weeks. Detours are being routed through Edward Hines on the west.

Growth report presented

The Canton Board of Trustees were expected to hear a progress report last night on development rights and growth management studies in Canton from Township Planner George Peek.

Peek would not comment specifically on what was contained in the reports before the meeting.

A growth management meeting related to the reports will be held tomorrow evening at 5 p.m. at the Canton Township Hall. Canton, Plymouth Township, Northville and Van Buren Township supervisors will attend. The public is welcome.

Hoben gets raise

John M. Hoben, superintendent of schools for the Plymouth-Canton School District, was given an eight per cent raise by the school board Monday night.

The raise, which is retroactive to July 1, 1977, brings Hoben's salary to $45,555 plus the lease of a car. He was earning $42,000 plus the car annually and is in the second year of a two-year contract.

School Board President Tom Yack said the action taken Monday "probably should have taken place July 1, 1977."

The eight per cent raise was the same given to other top administrators for the school year.

Canton planners approve hospital rezoning

The Canton Planning Commission Monday night approved the rezoning of a 10-acre parcel of land that has been earmarked by developer Mel Stein as the site for a future hospital.

The Planning Commission unanimously recommended that the parcel be rezoned from residential (R-1BC) to restricted office (RO-1) use.

Developer Stein (no relation to Supervisor Harold Stein) had previously requested a commercial zoning for the site, but commissioners balked at that, some saying if the hospital was not built, it could open the door to commercial strip zoning.

In a related move, the Commission also approved a text amendment in the zoning ordinance to allow hospitals in the restricted office district.

One Canton resident in the audience said "it looked as if the Commission was amending the text for the purpose of approving the hospital."

Planning Chairman Robert Padgett replied that the amendment was to provide for all medical or dental centers and all hospital and extended care medical facilities, which the present ordinance did not provide for.

Had the Planning Commission not approved the text amendment and approved the rezoning of the 10-acre parcel, Stein would not be able to build a hospital there, Township Planner George Peek said.

Stein says he plans to build a hospital, professional office center and a long-term care facility on the site.

The Commission had approved the restricted office rezoning Jan. 18, but declared it null and void after it was discovered that legal notices had not been published in The Crier.

The rezoning and Stein's plans for the hospital must now be approved by the Wayne County Planning Commission and the Canton Board of Trustees.

No crosswalk for Robinwood

Efforts to persuade the State Transportation Department to build a crosswalk on Robinwood Drive over M-14 for school children have failed, according to Charlotte Petro, chairperson of the safety committee of the Plymouth-Canton schools.

Petro said the committee had asked for a barrier between the sidewalk and the cars on Robinwood's bridge over M-14. Both the bridge and M-14 are now under construction.

The committee also wanted a screen on the outside of the sidewalk to keep the children walking to Farrand School from falling off the bridge, said Petro.

The legislative lobbyist for the district, Gerald Dunn, was told last week by the State Transportation department that it was "not practical" to construct the barrier and screen at this time, Petro said.

"We will try again when the highway and bridge is closer to completion," she said.

Canton cops delay startup

Canton Police Chief Walter MacGregor has said the expected March 1 full-time start up date for the Canton Police is "out the window" because of testing procedures that are taking longer than first expected.

"How soon we begin depends on the testing," he said. "No way you can determine a date till then. I'd like to speed things up, but sometimes you don't have much control in the court case or that type of thing."

MacGregor was referring to a threatened lawsuit against the township by the Canton Police Officer's Association (CPOA) that, now, after months of discussion between the CPOA and township attorneys, has reached an agreement of sorts, according to the attorneys.

The Canton police chief said applicants who applied for the four full-time sergeant positions on the Canton force, are currently in the next to last phase of testing. Following the completion of testing of all applicants, four sergeants are chosen.

Nine previously uncertified Canton officers are expected to graduate from a certification course sponsored by the Criminal Justice Institute at a local college tomorrow.

Canton trustees were expected to approve police rules and regulations at its regular board meeting last night. The rules and regulations had been on three previous agendas, but were tabled.

Included in the rules is a residency requirement that specifies each police officer will move into Canton or within three miles of the township following a three month probationary period with the force.

Another rule says permission must be obtained (although it does not specify from whom) before accepting another job. The rule states secondary employment will only be permitted when it does not conflict with "the interests and emergency operations of the department."

Crash kills woman

Linda J. Harper, 28, of Northville was killed last Wednesday when her car was struck by a gravel-hauling semi-truck in the intersection of Five Mile and Sheldon Rds, State Police report.

According to the police, she apparently did not stop for a red light while driving her late model Chevrolet north on Sheldon.

The driver of the semi-truck, Delmar Vittitoe of South Lyon, told police Harper did not appear to see his vehicle as she entered the intersection. He was unhurt.

You can't fight the newspaper

EDITOR:

We've all heard the expression you can't fight city hall . . . there's another, you can't win an argument with a newspaper, they always get the last word . . . right or wrong.

With that understood I'd like to respond to the "With Malice Toward None" column which appeared in the Feb. 22nd Crier.

The basis for the column by Ed Wendover was one line which appeared in a Birthday greeting sent by myself in honor of The Crier's fourth anniversary. That line criticized The Crier for its "quest for the controversial." The Crier defended its journalistic practices in first amendment tradition (minus "The Battle Hymn of the Republic") by citing chapter and verse of the constitution.

Not for one minute did I mean to suggest that The Crier shouldn't report on issues of public importance. In fact, I personally have done everything within my power to see that the local press has had access to all the information necessary to write factual articles.

The point of my one liner is found in the definition of the word controversial (the word I used). CONTROVERSIAL - subject to, relating to, or arousing controversy. My criticism of The Crier is based upon the habit The Crier has for arousing controversy - where no dispute exists. Put another way The Crier attempts to create or foster controversy. Who benefits from such stimulation or manipulation? the community? No - then why do it? To sell newspapers, of course! The Detroit Times made a regular business out of it.

It might come as a surprise to some that this view of The Crier is not just limited to public servants (politicians) it is also shared by individuals throughout the community.

Operating a local newspaper is a tremendous responsibility. The people in the Plymouth-Canton community receive almost all of their information about people, and events, from the local newspapers. When the information is presented in a responsible way - we all benefit. However, when the presentation is of a self-serving nature - we all lose a little.

In this day and age of accountability its interesting that a newspaper isn't accountable to anyone, not even its readers! After all look at what one line of criticism got me!

Oh, by the way I think its interesting that The Crier failed to point out to its readers, that my "kind letter" wasn't a letter but a greeting card, not written as a letter to the editor. Instead it was sent as any greeting card to express a personal message of greeting. You saw fit to print it in your paper as a letter to the editor without so much as a courtesy call. The message then was used as a basis for an editorial. It seems to me that very action proves my point - your consuming interest in creating controversy.

Power to WSDP!

The Plymouth-Canton Community's only electronic medium - radio station WSDP (88.1 fm), which is owned and operated by the school district - is seeking to expand.

During its past six years of broadcasting, the station has broadcast at 10 watts - enough power to carry the programs three to five miles if the wind is in the right direction.

To beef up its service to the community, WSDP is asking the Federal Communications Commission for an increase in power to 200 watts. This power increase would allow the station to broadcast in stereo and to add features like more remote broadcasting (for sports events and governmental meetings).

We support WSDP's hopes because we realize the service the student-run, non-profit radio station provides for the community. Not even looking at the tremendous experience the station provides for the students who work there, WSDP is only beginning to develop its impact on the community.

The FCC should grant the power increase to WSDP for the benefit of the entire Plymouth-Canton Community.

If you want to be a Wayne County Commissioner, you'd better have the right friends in the right union. Not just any friends, as long-time UAW member and Canton Trustee Bob Myers found out two weeks ago, but the right ones.

Our new 27th District commissioner, appointed to succeed Royce Smith, appreciates that difference. He's Bill Joyner, a newcomer to Plymouth Township who is capable of providing the Plymouth-Canton Community with representation that's close to home.

Never heard of him? Don't hold that against him. It certainly didn't matter to the county commissioners who picked him over Myers and a third candidate.

Apparently what really mattered was that Joyner had the backing of Bart Young, head of the UAW's Region 1-E in Wayne County.

Myers was a pal of Buddy Battle, who runs Region 1-A, but that wasn't enough, because 1-E had the votes. (The third candidate, backed by the AFL-CIO, could muster only three votes.)

If the best man got the job, it's almost beside the point. Maybe you never expected anyone to ask you who you should pay $15,000 a year to represent you in the high-spending halls of county government. At very least, however, you might have expected the decision to come out of a local smoke-filled room, where public officials you elect would be consulted.

It didn't work that way. The decision was out of their hands as well as yours. Once an election rolls around, you'll get a chance to put your two cents in. Until then, you'll have to rely on the judgment of the boys at 1-E.

Canton, police should settle

The long-awaited agreement between Canton Township and the Canton Police Officers Association is reportedly ready to sign.

It's about time.

The citizens of Canton have been waiting since January for the full-time force created by the millage they approved, and the agreement is one big stumbling block to getting 24-hour, seven-day protection for the township.

The negotiations between attorneys for the township and the Canton Police Officers Association (CPOA) have been going on since last November over who will get the 10 full-time patrolman jobs in the department. That's more than enough time to settle the issue.

We urge the two sides to settle as soon as possible. Police protection is something that can't wait.

Lunch box indigestible

EDITOR:

The "Lunch Box" column (Feb. 22) sure is doing its share of carving these days. Unfortunately, the slicing efforts were indigestible.

I'm not sure whether the reporter was putting the yolk on the community - thinking that no one would notice the rhetorical roasting - or on the cooks in the school district by letting them think that their local newspaper was supporting the school lunch program by advertising or publishing the menus.

On the contrary, your reporter skewers the cooks when she says:

"I have scanned this menu many times this week in search of a new and different dish worth mentioning. Alas, my thoughts on the lunch menu (just as the cooks) have become uncreative." (In defense of the variety and creativity of the lunches, just look at how often restaurants change their menu!)

The final grind is in the last sentence, however: "The sandwich was named after him (John Montagu) because he . . . refused to eat a full meal." The final suggestion (eat a sandwich for lunch) makes me think that perhaps the lunch study by last year's Canton High School students had a lot more meat in it, than it was credited for.

Perhaps the new Food Services Coordinator, Kathy Steif, will rehear the idea that the school hot lunches are still better than John Montagu's old snack.

A. Read the advertisements in your local newspaper.

Advertising is the means for merchants to let you, the consumer, know that their products and services are of better quality and price. As a smart shopper you should turn first to businesses which advertise because they're the ones who are going out of their way to attract your business. A Plymouth Township man was fatally shot by two Wayne County Sheriff's deputies a week ago Sunday after he pointed a shotgun at one of the officers "as if to shoot him," the Wayne County Sheriff Department reports.

Vester Holland, 54, of Elmhurst Street in Plymouth Township died at 5:51 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 19 following the incident.

Sheriff's officers received a call at 12:28 a.m. Feb. 19 on "family trouble involving a gun" at the Elmhurst address, Det. Alex Robertson of the Wayne County Detectives Bureau said.

Det. Robertson reported that three Wayne County Sheriff deputies responded to the call and when they arrived were told Holland's wife was staying with a neighbor. She had called a wrecker earlier, Sheriff's report to move her car from her driveway, where it was snowbound. Holland chased the truck away when it arrived, Det. Robertson said.

"He didn't shoot at her," Det. Robertson said. "He told her that if she called the cops one more time, he was going to shoot one of them."

Two officers went to the side door and one stationed himself at the front living room window. Det. Robertson said the deputy stationed at the window saw Holland sitting in a chair. When the officers at the side door knocked on the door and announced they were police officers, Holland got up and went into the bedroom and returned with a shotgun, Det. Robertson reported. He then answered the door with the gun.

Det. Robertson said after Holland had stepped out from the door, the deputies said three times to "please put down the gun."

Instead, Det. Robertson reports, Holland turned and put the gun to his shoulder "as if to shoot the officer."

"The officer thought he was going to be shot," Det. Robertson said. "He fired his gun several times at Holland. The other officer, said he thought Holland shot his partner and he shot also." Det. Robertson would not say how many times Holland was shot.

The Wayne County Prosecutor's office is now investigating the shooting incident as a matter of routine procedure in such cases, Det. Robertson said.

City Hall is dimmer

City of Plymouth commissioners unofficially decided last week to turn down the lights at City Hall until the threat of an energy shortage is over.

According to Assistant City Manager Mark Wollenweber, the city had planned to cooperate with Detroit Edison on a planned program of conserving energy, but plans were shelved with the announcement of a tentative settlement to the national coal strike.

However, City Commissioners Mary Childs, Scott Dodge, Mark Wehmeyer and David Pugh agreed that "for appearances sake" lights at City Hall would be dimmed temporarily.

ESY set

The policy for opting out of the Extended School Year (ESY) will remain the same next year, the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education decided Monday night.

If a parent wants his child to a traditional school from an ESY district, he must provide transportation and there must be space available in the traditional school. Also, the switch is subject to a yearly review.

Opt plan OKd

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education adopted a new Extended School Year (ESY) calendar Monday night.

Printed in last week's Crier, the calendar attempts to equalize summer vacation time.

More power would expand program WSDP seeks boost

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools' radio station, WSDP-FM, at 88.1 is seeking a federal grant for updating the present facilities and increasing its power from 10 to 200 watts.

During the past six years, WSDP has been broadcasting at 10 watts and can only be heard within a three to five mile radius in the community. They broadcast five days a week, eight hours per day.

If approved, the grant would increase the power, change the station from monoral to stereo, provide a mobile unit for extended community involvement, and upgrade the entire facility, said John Hoben, school's superintendent.

Some people never get tired of playing in the snow and ice, including kids who are more than eight years old. While many people think of moving south to get away from the cold Michigan winters, Jim and Rose Scharmen decided to move north.

Jim and his brother Don formerly of Plymouth own a gas station in Traverse City. When all the snow started piling up this year, they decided to make a huge snow pile at one corner of their lot. Then Jim with his artistic talents turned it into a snow sculpture of Jimmy Carter, promoting brother Billy. According to Jim, "you might as well have a little fun with the snow and ice."

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Matthews Jr. on the birth of their son, Steven Edward. Steven was born Sunday, Feb. 19. He was welcomed into the family by sister Jennifer, who is looking forward to playing with her new brother. The proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wesley of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Matthews, Sr. of Garden City.

Local SEV factors hiked and those governmental units will realize greater tax revenues without changing their tax rates.

According to the preliminary figures from Wayne County, the following SEV factors will take effect for 1978:

PLYMOUTH - 1.03 (up three per cent from last year's 1.00 factor)

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP - 1.27 (up four per cent from last year's 1.22 factor)

CANTON - 1.23 (up four per cent from last year's 1.16 factor)

In addition to the increased revenues resulting from those SEV hikes, each of the three local governmental units anticipates higher tax monies to be generated for other reasons.

Both Canton and Plymouth Township are experiencing rapid growth and new development, which adds to the property tax rolls.

Plymouth Township expects its property valuation to hit $149,511,950 for 1978, up from the 1977 figure of $140,430,450.

Canton did not grow as rapidly in 1977. Its anticipated tax roll for 1978 is $216,233,980 - up from the 1977 figure of $212,907,790.

A reassessment of industrial property in the City of Plymouth is responsible for an expected overall tax roll increase there. Last year in the city, residential property assessments were increased by an average of 17 per cent, while commercial and industrial valuations were reduced, because a disparity was found between the assessment levels of those types of property.

This year, it was found that the industrial property in the city was underassessed, so it was hiked an average of four per cent.

The preliminary tax roll of 1978 for the city therefore, will be $81,092,700 - up from last year's city property tax roll of $80,497,030. The net effect of that is that with the 1.03 SEV factor, Plymouth's industrial property owners will see about a seven per cent hike in taxes for 1978.

'Charges overblown,' says ex-Plymouth Center staffer

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

Tales of abuse of residents at the Plymouth Center for Human Development by staff members there, are greatly exaggerated, says one former staffer and Plymouth-Canton resident.

"There is a difference between abuse and having to resort to the only thing a kid understands in that situation," said the staff member who worked at the Plymouth Center for four and a half years.

"To prevent his hurting other kids or the staff, you have to selectively use corporal punishment," the staffer said.

He acknowledged that sometimes physical treatment of the residents was stronger than necessary, however. "There were things I actually wish I hadn't done, but at the time you have no choice."

The staff member said this situation was caused by the scheduling of too few staff members on many wards - particularly in those where the residents are the most physical.

"You're lucky if there are 10 residents (per staff member), usually it's 15 and sometimes it's 35. There's no way to keep order:

"With the most aggressive kids, usually we had three staff with 16 to 20 kids," he said. "There are about four, or five of those kids whom three people couldn't hold down.

"And we hardly got any training on how to deal with a six-foot, four-inch, 240-pound resident who comes at you with a chair.

"I was taken to St. Mary Hospital once (from work) when a 240-pound resident jumped me and I banged my head on the wall," the former staffer said, adding that he had three pairs of glasses broken while on the job.

The problem, says the former staffer, is that the staff is inadequate, poorly trained and frustrated by management at the center.

"If you are conscientious, it's impossible to get anything done. You get total resistance," he said, adding that he made several attempts to get field trips and additional supplies for the residents but was rejected by middle management at the center.

"Mismanagement at the middle level causes this frustration," said the staffer, who worked in both Binet and Malloy Halls at the center where most of the alleged abuses were said to take place.

Many of the abuse complaints reported in the past are questionable, said the former staffer. "At least in a couple cases (of alleged abuses which were reported), I know the abuse didn't happen."

But he acknowledged there have been some abuses of residents although not on a large scale. "You can go to about any other institution and see the same thing," he said.

"With the new mental health codes, they're listening to the kids more. But if a kid's psychotic and lies all the time and he says there's an abuse . . . you're guilty until proven innocent."

The former staffer said the current controversy won't produce much in a concrete manner.

"I'm sick about this. Some people get reassigned; Milliken comes out with new directives - that's one thing you can count on, new directives from him each year; but the kids are still stuck there," he said.

Canton union vote challenged

Three votes taken at Thursday's union election among 25 clericals in Canton are being challenged by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFCSME) Local No. 236 because those votes were cast by Canton employees not considered part of the clerical staff.

"It may take up to 20 days to hear of the decision on the challenge," said Joe McManus a spokesperson for Local 236. "We challenged those votes because they were cast by confidential and supervisory employees. We think it's a reasonable challenge."

A confidential employee is one who would have access to union negotiations, files, be present at union negotiation meetings, transcribe minutes of type union negotiation minutes, according to Bruce Phillips, secretary for the township's Public Works and DPW union. Phillips said there had originally been 16 challenges following the voting Thursday.

McManus said should the three challenged votes be discounted, the union will be approved for the Canton clerical staff.

Besides the three challenged votes, 10 clericals voted for the union and nine voted against the union, according to Canton Finance Director Mike Gorman.

Gorman said if the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC) cannot decide on the votes, the challenges will be brought before a judge for a hearing and that "could possibly take up to six to eight months."

Schools, principals resume pact talks

The stalled contract negotiations between the Plymouth-Canton school district and its school principals will resume today, according to Norm Kee, Assistant Superintendent for Employee Relations.

The Plymouth Congress of Administrators (PCA) which represents 35 principals, assistant principals, directors and assistant directors in the district has been negotiating with the superintendent's office since April of last year for a contract.

Bus drivers discover special ed students world

BY PHYLLIS REDFERN

Bus drivers in the Plymouth Canton School District drive hundreds of happy, talkative kids to and from school each day.

However, some buses are smaller and more special. The students in those buses are not headed for regular classes but are on their way to special education classes.

Bus drivers do not usually get any special training in learning to deal with special education children who have learning disabilities.

Last Friday, though, many of the Plymouth-Canton bus drivers learned more about special ed students and some of the frustrations they feel when trying to cope with a world most of us easily handle.

Gary Quitiquit explained to

Maas, Vaughn engaged

Ruth Ann Maas of Morgan Street, Plymouth and Douglas Steven Vaughn of Briarwood Drive in Plymouth have announced plans to marry May 27.

Ruth is the daughter of Carlos and Jean Maas of Plymouth. Her fiance, Douglas, is the son of Jack and Mary drivers about the different kinds of special education programs.

He described a mandatory law which defines handicapped conditions that would qualify a student for special education programs. Quitiquit said some handicapped conditions include: severely mentally impaired; trainable mentally impaired; educable mentally impaired; emotionally impaired; hearing impaired; visually impaired; physically and otherwise health impaired; speech and language impaired; hospitalized or homebound; learning disabilities; and severely multiply impaired.

Mary Nutter, a special ed teacher for schools, described some problems that a child with learning disabilities has. She gave the drivers a few tests and they soon learned just how hard a Vaughn, also of Plymouth.

The couple plan to be married by Judge Dunbar Davis in Edward Hines Park in an afternoon ceremony.

Both are graduates of Canton High School. Vaughn works at General Motors and Ruth is employed by The Community Crier.

I-275 renamed

In honor of the late Senator Philip A. Hart, the Michigan Senate and House of Representatives have passed a resolution re-naming the I-275 freeway after him.

Saying the late senator served the people of America in a "truly inspirational manner", the resolution said it was a proper and fitting tribute to re-name the freeway after Hart, often described as "the conscience of the Senate."

The highway, which runs north from I-75 in Monroe and passes through Plymouth and Canton before ending in Livonia, will be formally known as the Philip A. Hart Memorial Highway.

simple thing could become.

For the first, they were asked to hold a piece of paper up to their forehead and write their name on it. It wasn't as easy as it sounds, the bus drivers said.

Then using a record, they wrote the words they thought they heard in three columns on a piece of paper. The first time words were said without high and low frequency sounds, the second time were spoken softly and in the third words were repeated with extra emphasis on high and low frequencies. The letters s, f, c and h were the hardest to hear, drivers said. There are two million children with hearing impairments in classrooms and many have not been identified, according to Nutter.

A reading test was given by memorizing symbols. To a learning disabled child many words look like foreign symbols, Nutter said.

A muscle control test which showed some of the problems of physically impaired students was given next. When the drivers used the hand they were used to, they had control, but when they were told to switch hands, they discovered what it was like to have very little muscle control.

The bus drivers learned a little more about special education students and now understand more about the children they drive to school everyday.

PCAP will list private instructors

The Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC) will begin offering a new service to the community within the next few weeks.

Plans are now underway to compile a master list of "Teachers of the Arts" as a resource for residents of the Plymouth-Canton community.

"New residents often call our office asking for names of private instructors," PCAC President Elaine Kirchgatter said. "Since there seems to be a need for this kind of service we'd like to try to provide it."

Teachers offering private instruction in music, art or dance who would like to be included on the list may call the PCAC office, 455-5260, Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. until noon. The list will be limited to Plymouth-Canton residents.

In addition to name, address, phone number, type of instruction and fee, the list will include a brief synopsis of each teacher's background and experience. Nancy Sharp and Kathy Wood are in charge of compiling and updating the listings.

"The PCAC will not be endorsing the teachers on the list," Mrs. Kirchgatter stressed. "We are only saying that these people are available. Residents must make their own choices."

What will happen here if the lights go out?

BY PHYLLIS REDFERN

Modern science has taken many hardships out of everyday living, but it has yet to come up with unlimited power to keep those modern facilities working.

With the possibility of a power blackout in Plymouth and Canton being a real threat, many industries and government agencies are looking into the question - "What happens when and if the power is shut off?"

According to John Lobbia, Assistant Manager of Detroit Division at Detroit Edison they are trying to manage the fuel supply on a day-to-day basis. "I see optimistic things happening," said Lobbia. "The effect from the conservation effort has shown about a three per cent reduction in electric usage."

Once the coal miners agree to a contract, it will still take a while for the coal to reach Detroit. Lobbia said they have pushed back the mid-March date but couldn't give a new date when they might run out of coal.

"Many things depend on energy usage and there's always a possibility that we will have to send power out of Detroit," Lobbia noted.

If we are faced with a blackout situation, Lobbia said there is no way of telling if power would be out once or twice a week or day. "We can't make that decision until we are faced with the problem."

Lobbia said that Edison plans to give a two or three day notice before shutting off power. Lobbia also noted that Edison representatives were meeting with community officials within the 7,800 miles Edison power areas.

"We want to check with police and see what kind of problems they might have and prevent some," Lobbia said.

In an effort to prevent more problems, Edison said they don't want to cut power from one large area all at once.

Lobbia said "hopefully", only half of Plymouth would be without power at one time.

The Edison manager listed things that people might do to prepare for a blackout.

First, he said there will be a 90 second interruption of power followed by electricity being on for 10 minutes before going off for two hours.

Remember to leave a light on in a noticeable place so you will know when service is restored, Lobbia advised. Turn off all major appliances, turn down the thermostat, turn the refrigerator down or off, make sure everything electrical is off.

To keep warm, Lobbia suggested the family gather in a few rooms, and close all doors. It is important to keep the refrigerator closed and separate the food as much as possible, (air circulated around the food keeps it colder), Lobbia noted. Food in the freezer will be unharmed throughout the two hours.

An important thing to remember in preparing for a two-hour blackout is to move your car from the garage before the power goes off if you have an electrical garage door opener.

A list of items to have on hand include safe candleholders (not decorated ones that can easily tip over), matches, fresh batteries for flashlights and radios, a manual can opener, possibly a chafing dish with sterno to warm up food and games or toys to keep young children occupied.

When the power is turned on again, Lobbia said, most furnaces will start automatically, but it is a good idea to check it. He said that all pilot lights should be on within 30 minutes.

Temperature loss for each house will be different, said Lobbia, "A lot depends on the size of the house and how well

Glimpse at Yesterday

AN AERIAL VIEW OF Plymouth in 1942 was taken from a Piper J-3 plane that took off from the former Triangle Airport. The dark intersection in the lower right hand corner of the photo is Wing and Harvey streets. Forest Avenue (parallel to Harvey) was unpaved then and bordered by cornfields. The Mayflower Hotel can be seen and directly south of it, Wiedman's Garage and Auto Sales and Service. Herb Swanson's gas station is also next to the hotel, where shops and the Round Table Club now exist. The empty field across from the Swanson gas station, on Ann Arbor Trail is now Central Parking Lot.

The Crier welcomes any Plymouth-Canton resident's snapshots of the community for the Glimpse at Yesterday feature. Simply send in your photos and a short description of each to The Crier at 572 S. Harvey Street, Plymouth, 48170. We will return pictures at your request.

insulated it is."

Some reports of frantic black-out buying have been reported in the Plymouth-Canton area. Several fireplace and accessories shops thought they had ordered enough oil lamps for the next six months, but have already sold out. Much of the buying is being done by senior citizens, one shopowner noted.

Plymouth Fire Chief, George Schoenneman said that the fire department would not be directly affected because of an auxiliary generator. He cautioned residents using Coleman or kerosene lanterns to fill them outside - never fill them in the basement, he said. "Gas is heavier than air and can run along the floor to the water heater where it explodes," he warned.

Mel Paulun, Canton Fire Chief said their department also has a portable generator so Canton's operation also would not be affected.

Paulun said Cantonites living west of Canton Center Road would suffer the most during a power blackout.

"Many of those people have wells and sump pumps," Paulun noted. "Without power they will have no drinking water and possibly flooded basements - and think of the farmer who was getting ready to milk 500 cows!"

Paulun reminded people to keep protective screens in front of their fireplaces and to always watch candles and lanterns when in use. He said to remember that smoke alarms which run on AC-DC power would be useless during the blackout.

Chief Timothy Ford of the Plymouth Police Department said it would "be business as usual." His advice was to say the only things residents need are "a good quality sleeping bag, flash light and a fresh battery and a radio."

The Chief said if he was home during a blackout, he planned to "climb in a sleeping bag, turn on the radio and sit back and enjoy good music for a couple of hours." He said if residents needed police, fire or medical aid to call the 911 emergency number, but only during an emergency.

Ray Hoedel, Asst. Superintendent to the Plymouth-Canton Schools, said if the schools knew ahead of time it would ask students to dress warmly. He said there would be enough light for normal learning activity and that they just wouldn't do any "heavy reading" during lights out.

According to Hoedel, the schools are working on energy management and are considering installing a system where heat would be controlled in all buildings from a central office.

Richard Judy from Ford Motor Co. said the Sheldon Road Plant, like many car plants could be "greatly affected."

He said it would depend on how much electricity was reduced.

"We could continue to operate with a 10 per cent reduction in power," he said. He added that if a supply plant was shut down for long, it could affect assembly line production.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has ordered emergency plans for keeping county facilities functioning in case there is a blackout.

"In addition, we're asking public officials to develop comprehensive plans for the daily conservation of fuel in publicly operated facilities," said one commissioner.

"Even when the current coal crisis is over, we must continue to use all energy wisely."

Midnight Madness TONIGHT!

Beat winter blahs, pick up bargains

What is like Halloween, is dressed like Mardi Gras, as much fun as the Fourth of July and sells for almost next to nothing?

Plymouth Midnight Madness. Scientists and doctors alike have theorized the madness has no method, but that its reason is much like the cabin fever syndrome: too much winter has driven the community crazy.

Merchants are the first to succumb to the insanity: they are reported to be slashing prices in several stores in the downtown, Old Village and Ann Arbor Road areas to unbelievable lows. Of course, the shoppers benefit. While the merchants are out howling at the moon at midnight, they'll be picking up bargains galore. But it's mad, it's crazy - and watch out - Midnight Madness is catching. Local officials are on the alert for any signs of an epidemic.

It's the closest encounter with strange kinds you'll have until next Halloween. It's like Cinderella's story dreamt by Fellini: hundreds of people throng to the shopping areas beginning at 8 p.m. tonight to be met by Alice in Wonderland creatures, Swiss mountain climbers, clowns, the Easter bunny maybe, Annie Oakley, people who didn't make it to New Orleans Mardi Gras last month, and leftovers from

The initial shock of a new "your choice" lunch program in Salem and Canton high schools is beginning to wear off. Now, since the program is in full swing and definitely working, I offer my congratulations and seal of approval to those cooks taking part. The new selective cycle menus, started in late January, offer lunches that the teens really enjoy and they still qualify for federal support. For the bargain price of 70 cents, students can have a light or heavy lunch depending on how hungry they are that day. The waste associated with the traditional lunch menu is eliminated.

A protest by grade and middle school students may also get the ball rolling for them. So you're smaller, but don't be intimidated - you too should have it your way!

Park patrols

A plan proposed by the Hines Park Task Force to increase public safety in the park will be presented in March to a committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

A Wayne County Sheriff's substation established in the park and 'park security officers,' hired with CETA money, who could patrol the grounds and set up a CB-oriented communications network are part of the proposal.

A task force was created last summer "because of serious problems at the park with drugs, rapes, assaults and harassment of families," according to one commissioner.

The task force is composed of representatives from the Wayne County Sheriff's Department (currently charged with park security), the County Road Commission, and the Parks and Recreation Department; Plymouth Mayor Tom Turner, Plymouth Township Supervisor Tom Notebaert and 35th District Court Judge Dunbar Davis.

Kresge's not leaving

A rumor that the Kresge's store on Main Street will leave downtown Plymouth apparently has no basis, sources said Monday.

Part owner of the Kresge building, Jim McKeon said the Kresge corporation would review its lease in April and would decide then whether or not to renew the lease, which runs until next January.

"If and when it is leased again," said McKeon, "we want to lease it to one owner, instead of several shops."

Curtis Bitterling, manager for the Plymouth Kresge's said "no one has contacted him on any plans to move."

Bitterling has been transferred to Oregon, Ohio following a two-year stint here to manage a K-Mart store.

The new Plymouth Kresge manager is from Indiana. Bitterling said his replacement couldn't have picked a better time - the first day because of the area's Midnight Madness.

Rocks share Sub-8 crown

BY CHAS CHILD

The Salem basketball team won its fifth straight Suburban Eight League basketball championship Friday, but in a way it was a first.

In the previous years, the Rocks led the league early and held off the challengers in the title drive. This year, Salem was the challenger, and the Rocks came from behind to catch Livonia Bentley on the final day of the season to share the league crown.

After Bentley lost its final game last Tuesday to Redford Union, the Rocks knew it was do or die against Belleville Friday to share the title.

It proved no contest, as Salem overwhelmed the Tigers, 92-62. Twelve Rocks got in the scoring column and the team came within two points of the all-time school single game high - 94 - scored against Livonia Franklin two years ago.

The rout was due in part to the conspicuous absence of the Tigers' two best players, high-scoring Kelvin Patterson and Herbert Burrus. The pair was suspended from the team for fighting.

The Rocks were unaware that the two had been suspended until just before game time and played as if the whole Belleville squad was composed of Pattersons.

"We came ready to play," said Salem Coach Fred Thomann. "When we heard Burrus and Patterson were out, we couldn't just turn off the emotion."

An avalanche of 49 points in the first half by the Rocks decided the game. The Tigers hadn't a clue on how to stop the inside game of Tom Ellinghausen, the outside shooting of Mike Christie and Rich Hewlett, and the snappy passing of the whole Salem squad.

The Rocks played superbly as a team, a style which took them to the co-championship. "We've finally established our rhythm," Thomann said, "and we've figured out what each player can do."

In the second quarter the Rocks scored 13 unanswered points to boost their lead to 39-14. A sticky man-to-man defense forced the Tigers into numerous lousy shots and the Rocks dominated the boards.

The Tigers also make the mistake of trying to run with the Rocks and were thoroughly dominated.

Without Burrus or Patterson, the Tigers just weren't the same team that beat Salem earlier in the year.

A lead of 45-17 with about two minutes in the second quarter to go prompted Thomann to pull regulars Matt Etienne, Dave Monk, John Broderick, Tom Ellinghausen and Mike Christie, and replace them with Barry Owens, Bill Thimm, John Van Wagoner, Kevin Kelliher and Paul Dillon.

The Rocks kept up the pressure in the second half and these substitutes and others fought hard to tie or best the all-time school high game of 94, but it was not to be.

Salem finished the regular season with a 18-2 season mark and 11-2 in the Suburban Eight.

the Crier SPORTS

Rocks triumph!

Holding Canton to only two points in the third quarter, Salem smothered its cross-CEP rivals last night, 62-47, in the first round of district action at Southfield High School.

The Rocks' punishing defense was the dominating force in the game, as they had the Chiefs off balance all night.

"We've been a good offensive team, but our defense is stronger," said Salem Coach Fred Thomann.

Good outside shooting in the first quarter kept Canton close, but with the score 28-19 with about four minutes to go, the dam burst.

In quick succession, Rocks Rich Hewlett and Mike Christie stole the ball and raced down court for lay-ups, Bob Hissom blocked a Chief shot, and Christie sank a 20-foot jumper.

The spurt led to a 40-25 halftime lead for Salem and Canton never threatened. Rock John Broderick sealed Canton's fate by scoring the first 10 points in the second half all unanswered.

Chief Butch King was high scorer with 19 points while Hewlett had 15. Tom Ellinghausen grabbed 16 rebounds.

The Rocks play Friday the winner of the Southfield versus Detroit Chadsey game to be played tonight.

SALEM'S Dave Monk (14) and Bob Hissom stretch for a rebound against Belleville Friday.

Canton 2nd in Western 6

BY JEFF REY

With no chance for first in the Western Six, it was nothing more than another league victory on Friday for the Canton basketball team who secured a second place Western Six finish, defeating Walled Lake Western, 78-61.

The Chiefs closed the regular season with a 8-3 league record, taking a back seat to only Waterford Mott in their league.

The Chiefs had a bit of a slow start against the Warriors, holding onto a one point lead after the opening quarter 17-16.

Their slow start was comparable to that of a train, gaining momentum midway through the second quarter and increasing their lead by 11 at the half. Butch King and Brent Eckles scored six apiece during the quarter.

"We were passing well, and working a good fast break," said coach Casey Cavell.

Canton's offense continued to roll demonstrating some superb shooting during the third stanza. King added 12 more points, and the Chiefs held onto a comfortable 59-45 lead.

Cavell took advantage of his lead during the final quarter playing some of his bench. Juniors Frank Lasota, Mike Morin, and Dale Albright saw some action throughout the quarter, and Rusty Mandle scored four points to give the Chiefs their final league victory.

King was once again high scorer for Canton with 20 followed by Eckles with 17 and Mandle with 14.

Canton displayed some outstanding shooting sporting an overall 57% from the field and 63% shooting from the line.

Mandle exhibited one of his best performances, shooting 86 per cent from the field.

Now that the regular season has come to an end Cavell has only one thing on his mind: "Our goal is to win the district championship," said the Canton mentor. "We're just going to stay with what we do best."

Salem wrestlers: Once in decade

Salem Coach Ron Krueger probably won't see a wrestling team like this year's for a long time.

The Suburban Eight co-champs virtually rewrote the record book, from most pins in a season to the fastest pin to highest career winning percentage.

Starting off the list of new records are Wally Brown and Jimmy Ross who broke by five the most wins in a season, with 40.

Brown also scored the most team points ever this year - 231 - smashing the old record of 217½. Brown and Ross's 40 wins puts them in the record book for most wins as a senior, too.

Brown's little brother, Jeff, broke the record for most wins as a sophomore this year with 37, and Randy Viperman did the same in the junior category with 30.

Bob Dasher, who placed third in the state meet two weeks ago, shattered two records this season. He rolled up the most pins - 21 - and had the best winning percentage for a season - 88 per cent.

The rest of the records were broken by Rene Leist. The grappler set the mark for pins in a career, 38; consecutive pins, 10; fastest pin, 15 seconds; and best winning percentage for a career, 74 per cent.

The Rocks also smashed two team records: Most pins by a team, 182 (the old record was 150); and best dual meet mark, 15-2.

The team's other accomplishments include a second place finish in the district competition, a fifth in the regionals, and 15th in the state meet.

"It was an excellent season," Krueger said. "The kids did an outstanding job."

Eli first team all star

Senior standout Tom Ellinghausen of Salem High has been named to the first all-star basketball team of the Suburban Eight League.

Teammate Rich Hewlett, a junior, earned a spot on the second team, while Mike Christie was one of six honorable mentions handed out by the league coaches.

Ellinghausen, a powerful forward with an agile inside game, was the Rocks leading scorer this year, leading his team to a share of the league championship.

Hewlett led the team on defense, putting a lot of pressure on the ball and creating many turnovers and steals.

As league co-champ, Salem probably should have had more players on the first and second team and honorable mention, but the squad's excellent team play prevented individuals from standing out.

"It's part of the price you pay for playing together so well," Coach Fred Thomann said.

The rest of the first team were: Mike Petsch of Redford Union, Kelvin Patterson of Belleville, and Eric Thorderson and David Stone of Livonia Bentley.

Rock spikers lose

The Salem volleyball team dropped into a tie for first in Suburban eight competition last week with a shattering loss to the Bentley Bulldogs last Wednesday 17-15, 13-15, 8-15.

The Rocks defeated Trenton twice earlier in the week, one of the matches being a make-up due to the blizzard.

Wednesday's loss to Bentley had to be one of the most depressing defeats the Rocks have suffered.

Salem played an excellent first game and most of the second game. At one point Salem held a 13-5 lead during the second game, but Bentley grabbed the next 10 points to win.

"Bentley was real good at placing the ball," said coach Cathy Himes, "but the referee warned our team about making too much noise, during the second game, and I think that's what caused the momentum to change so abruptly."

The Rocks were unable to comeback the final game and now are tied with Bentley and Dearborn for first in the Suburban Eight.

"I've never heard of a ref warning a team about yelling," said Himes, "as long as it's not negative toward their opponent. Our team was just fired up and after the warning we lost all of our momentum."

Chiefs edge Ypsilanti

Despite some serving trouble in the second game, the Canton volleyball team beat Ypsilanti Thursday, 15-12, 8-15, 15-11.

The victory boosted the Chiefs' overall record to 12-2, the best mark ever by the team with two regular season contests to go.

With the victory last Monday over Waterford Mott, Canton kept pace with Livonia Churchill in the race for first. Both teams are tied for the lead with 7-1 marks.

In the first game against Ypsilanti, the Chiefs spotted the Braves a 9-1 lead, but stormed back to win.

"We might have been overconfident because we had easily beaten Ypsilanti earlier in the season," Coach Cindy Burnstein said.

It was senior day at Ypsilanti and the Braves coach played a number of seniors in the first game who don't normally start. In the second game, however, the regulars came in to even up the score, 1-1.

Tina Decker's two ace serves in the final game and some good spikes by Kelly Heaton, proved the difference in the final game for Canton.

OLGC splits

Our Lady of Good Council varsity basketball team ended their season on the weekend with a victory and a defeat. The squad beat St. Theresa, 33-32, but fell to Our Lady of Sorrows, 42-38.

Salem gymnasts fall

Still looking for its first victory, the Salem gymnastics team lost to Walled Lake Western last Wednesday, 79.0 to 43.88.

The loss dropped the Rocks' record to 0-6 on the season, not including last night's contest with Farmington and Canton.

Although no Plymouthite placed, Jackie Melnick had Salem's highest score, a 5.8, in vaulting. Rock Paula Farmer had her high score of the season in vaulting, earning a 4.25. Also in the event, Linda L'heureux scored a 3.65.

On the uneven bars, L'heureux and Natalie McClumpha led the Rocks with identical 3.25 tallies.

Nicole Rollins scored her best of the year on the bars with a 3.15.

On the balance beam, Melnick with a 3.85 and Tina Melone, 2.8, paced Salem.

"The bars and beam continue to be our weaker events," Coach Gretchen Parcells said. "They need some work."

Natalie McClumpha earned the Rocks' highest score in floor exercise with a 4.1.

2 play for CC

Two Plymouth youths, Sean Houle and Jeff Loranger, played on Detroit Catholic Central's league-winning freshman basketball team this winter.

They both graduated from Our Lady of Good Council.

Canton hustling for pool title at league meet

SALEM SWIMMER MIKE ETIENNE

Finale sinks Rocks

The Salem swim team lost its last meet of the season Thursday, 98-74, to Belleville.

The loss drops the Rocks' record to 2-4-1, good for a fifth-place tie in the Suburban Eight League. Salem could move up in the league standings, however, after the league meet tomorrow and Friday at the Rocks' pool. Against Belleville, the team of Craig Finley, Bob Simone, Rob Kuebler and Tom Rubadue won the 200-yard medley relay with a time of 1:45.7.

Finley also swam to a first in the 500-yard freestyle (5:02.6), and a second in the 200 freestyle (1:53.2).

Rubadue kept pace with Finley, placing in two other events, too. He won the 50-yard freestyle in a time of :23.2, and touched second in the 100-yard freestyle in :51.1. Mike Etienne was right behind Rubadue in the 100 freestyle - third - with a time of 52.2.

In other events, Jeff Stella swam his best time of the year - 2:14.3 - to win the 200-yard individual medley.

In the 100-yard butterfly, Rob Kuebler copped a first in :58.2, and Kirk Albert was third in :59.5.

The Rocks' only other first came in the 100-yard breaststroke, as Simeone won in a time of 1:07.0. Stella was awarded second place in the identical time.

In diving, Jim LaRiche, with 178.7 points and Dale Hartford took fifth with 131.4 points.

Finally, the 400-yard freestyle relay squad of Mike Etienne, Barry Lee, Scott Plagens and Jeff Harris touched second in a time of 3:14.7.

BY JEFF REY

With one eye on the league meet, Bill Faunce and the Canton swim team concluded their final week of regular season action picking up two league victories.

The first coming on Tuesday against Harrison, 95-76, and the second against the Churchill Chargers on Thursday, 95-75.

On Tuesday senior Steve Wood turned in a terrific performance winning both the 50-yard freestyle and the 100 butterfly.

"Steve and Dave Tanner have both been fighting off the flu and their times have not been up to par," said Faunce.

On Thursday Canton won seven of 11 events to breeze past the Chargers with little problem.

The medley relay of Bob Cline, Rick Flynn, Wood, and Rod Toor finished first with a 1:55.0.

Mike Gaab finished on top in the 200 free with a 2:01.0. In the 200 I.M. Dave Smith copped first place honors with a 2:22.8 finish and Paul Ardonowski finished third.

Doug Hetu took a first in the 50 and 100 freestyles with times of :25.0 and :56.1.

In diving freshman John Gray finished second with a 132.45 point total, and Paul Pederson grabbed a first in the 100 butterfly with a 54.8 effort.

In the 500 freestyle Troy Harala took a second turning in a 5:41.2 effort and Jeff Seippel finished second in the 100 backstroke with a 1:05.0 finish.

Pat Gilligan took a third in the 100 breaststroke and the freestyle relay team snatched winning honors with a 3:29.9 finish. Cline, Pederson, Wood, and Tanner swam the event for the Chiefs.

"We were hoping to qualify that relay for state," said Faunce, "but they fell short of qualifying time."

On Saturday Canton competed in the Belleville Invitational grabbing a total of 14 medals.

The medley relay of Pederson, Wood, Cline, and Tanner took first with a winning time of 1:45.5. Pederson took two firsts in the 100 fly and 100 breaststroke.

Canton's other top finishers were Cline with a third in the 200 I.M. and second in the 100 back, Wood with a fifth in the 100 fly, and Tanner finishing fourth in the 100 freestyle.

The Chiefs finished the season with an impressive 7-1 league record and 11-1 overall, but must once again defeat Northville at the league meet to win the Western Six crown.

The Mustangs who handed the Chiefs their only dual meet loss of the season are now tied for the lead with Canton.

"Northville is a very tough team and they have the depth on us," said Faunce, "we just have to get our share of consolation wins."

The preliminaries begin on Thursday and the finals are on Friday at 7 p.m. The meet will be held at the Farmington
