In school millage vote Renewal wins; hikes defeated

BY DONNA LOMAS

Plymouth-Canton school District voters Monday easily approved a 3 mill school millage renewal but defeated a 1.5 mill increase and a 0.5 building maintenance levy.

Proposition One (the 3-mill renewal) passed by 1,982 votes, while the request for an additional 1.5 mills (Proposition Two) for operating expenses went down by 1,736 votes. Proposition Three, a 0.5 mill tax for maintaining school buildings, was defeated by 1,351 votes.

School officials said 9,555 of the district's 38,000 registered voters went to the polls.

The unofficial totals look like this: Renewal, 5,785 - yes, 3,692 - no; additional millage, 3,785 - yes, 5,613 - no; maintenance, 3,961 - yes, 5,385 - no.

For the 3 mill renewal, 61 per cent of the voters approved it, 39 per cent said no. On the additional millage question, 40.3 per cent said yes, while almost 60 per cent said no. On building maintenance, 42.4 per cent said yes, but 57.6 per cent said no to the 1/2 mill increase.

The 25.1 per cent turnout for the Monday election was higher, despite the day's intermittent downpours, than in the April election, when only 20 per cent of the district's registered voters turned out to defeat the renewal and both increase proposals.

"We're guardedly disappointed," said Supt. John M. Hoben after Monday's election results were tallied. "But it's the mandate of the people, we'll try to live with it. Some of these cuts will be severe."

Cuts in several programs will begin immediately, according to school officials. Instead of hiring 36 new teachers next year to handle and anticipated enrollment jump of 850 students, only 20 to 22 will be added.

Middle school athletics will be the most severely cut of all programs, officials have said. All seventh and ninth grade athletics will now be pared down with the defeat of the additional mills.

At the high schools, drama, forensics, and debate, along with the two high school newspapers, will be

Davis, Kirchgatter keep school board seats

BY CHAS CHILD

Elaine Kirchgatter and Carol Davis easily outdistanced their lone opponent Monday to win four-year seats on the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

Kirchgatter was the leading vote-getter with 5,496. Davis received 5,368 votes, and William Johnson totaled 2,906.

Monday's election marked the end of a quiet campaign, as all three candidates differed only slightly on the issues.

Both winners held seats on the board, which may have been the difference on election day.

Since both had been appointed to the board this was the first election victory for both. Davis was appointed to her seat in August, 1977, and Kirchgatter similarly received her seat in January.

Although Johnson failed to carry even one of the 15 precincts (including absentee ballots) he still managed to accumulate 21 per cent of the total. A newcomer to school affairs, Johnson got interested in running for a board seat through his appeal of the random selection policy.

Kirchgatter garnered 40 per cent of the total, and Davis was right behind with 39 per cent.

Don't miss Chessie steam train

Plymouth and Canton residents who missed the Chessie Steam Train special last summer will have a chance to take a ride on the train again this July.

Tours will begin July 15 and run throughout the month. On Sunday, June 25, and Saturday, July 8, the Chessie Steam Special will make pre tour appearances at Plymouth's Depot in Old Village.

The steam train will arrive about 11 a.m. June 25 and area residents will have a chance to see how the engine works. One fact sheet says the train weighs 900,000 pounds and produces more power than a 707 airplane at take off.

The train tours are a sort of continuing celebration of last year's sesquicentennial salute to the C&O railroad, said

Fred Beitner, Plymouth railroad buff. Beitner said one of the reasons the steam train special is returning to Plymouth was the popularity of the tours here last summer.

Dates when the 1945 steam locomotive will leave from Plymouth's C&O railroad station in Old Village are: July 15, 16, 22, 23, 25, 26 and July 31.

Round trip fares are $23 for adults in coach, $20 for children under 12; $35 for parlor car and $50 for the observation lounge.

"Ticket sales have been brisk," said Beitner. Tickets are available at Beitner Jewelry 904 W. Ann Arbor Trail.

During the July tours, Old Village will feature sandwiches and drinks from several merchants, an ice cream social, balloons and clowns. Art will be for sale in the Old Village area as well as amusement car rides.

Union fights three Canton sec'y votes

BY DONNA LOMAS

Which Canton Township secretaries should or shouldn't be members of a group eligible for union membership was the subject of a hearing last Friday before Judge Nora Lynch of the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC).

Subpoenaed to appear before MERC were Canton employees Rose Bretzlaff, Nancy Fogarty and Doris Kelly. All three work for the Supervisor, Clerk and Finance Director of Canton.

No official decision was announced, but according to Canton Finance Director Mike Gorman, it may be more than two weeks before the judge will decide whether or not the three votes will be counted.

The votes were challenged after the election in March, which (not counting the three votes) was 10 clericals for and nine against the forming of a union among Canton clerical workers.

The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) Local 236 challenged the three votes because they said the three were "confidential and supervisory employees" not considered part of the clerical staff, said McManus.

In March, Joe McManus, a spokesperson for Local 236 said if the three votes were discounted, the union would be approved for the Canton clericals.

A confidential employee is one who would have access to union negotiations, files, be present at union negotiation meetings, and transcribe and type minutes.

AFSCME Local 236 union represents Canton employees in the DPW and Building Departments. Union officials have said if the clericals organized, they would become part of Local 236, yet were not sure how the clericals would be affiliated.

Candidates for five seats on the Plymouth Township board won't be the only thing on the primary ballot in August.

The Board of Trustees was expected last night to place on the primary ballot two major purchases and an advisory question on whether hunting should be banned.

The first proposed purchase is the 34-acre Arnheim property north of Hilltop Golf Course. The land will be used to enlarge Hilltop to a full sized 18-hole course.

The township is also asking voters' permission to buy an office building just east of the present township offices on Ann Arbor Road.

The question, "Shall hunting be prohibited in the total area of the Township of Plymouth?" will also appear on the ballot. It is an advisory poll, however, and the final decision will be made by the State of Michigan.

An option on the Teledyne building has already been acquired by the township for $117,500. It totals 4,100 square feet on one acre. Money for purchase would come out of the Capital Improvement fund, said Supervisor Tom Notebaert.

To buy the Arnheim property, the State of Michigan's Bureau of Outdoor Recreation has said it will pay half. The township's half will again come from the capital improvement fund, said Notebaert.

An option on the property has not been acquired because the bureau prohibits prior negotiations before it gets involved.

City, Twp. unification has complex history

(Editor's note: This is the first in a two-part series examining the unification issue in Plymouth and Plymouth Township. Part I relates the history of the annexation movement and the present status of the issue.)

BY TOM SCHRAM

Like oppositely charged particles in an atomic nucleus, the City of Plymouth and the Township of Plymouth have lived a stormy existence of repelling each other. With each passing year, however, it becomes more obvious that a process of fusion is inevitable. Just as the two municipalities in the past could not live together, in the future they cannot live apart.

"There is no doubt in my mind that eventually the city and the township will be unified. None. But I don't know when," said Norb Battermann, recently appointed chairman of the joint city-township Unification Study Committee.

If and when the two municipalities are joined, it will put an end to an ongoing struggle which was begun more than 30 years ago. In 1955 then city Mayor Russell M. Daane first succeeded in annexing part of the township when he received approval to annex 85 acres for what is now the site of the Western Electric Plant on Sheldon Road.

This move followed the first unsuccessful attempt by the city to annex the township. The proposal was resoundingly defeated by township voters.

That same year Daane met annexation defeat again when his attempt to take over the Burroughs Corporation property on Plymouth Road and Haggerty was successfully opposed by the combined efforts of the township and Burroughs.

The city's next move to acquire township property was of a less controversial nature. In 1957, the city purchased property from the township at the corner of Dodge (now Church) and Main. Construction of what is now the city hall was begun at the site in 1964.

The recent history of annexation began in 1974, when the city filed three petitions with the State Boundary Commission. The first asked to annex the property of the Hillside Inn, the second asked to annex a 30-acre parcel of land currently used as a parking lot by the Burroughs Corporation. The third asked

Will Center get liquor?

Canton trustees were expected to discuss last night extending a liquor license to the developers of "The Center", a large sports-recreational facility due to be built at Ford and Haggerty roads.

Citing "municipal delays that caused other decisions to be postponed," said Ned Apigian, representative for the complex' developers in a letter to trustees, "made it difficult for us to start construction by June."

The license was issued last June. According to Canton Clerk John Flodin, the township also has a receipt showing the developers have paid their $69,000 to pave Haggerty from Cherry Hill to Ford Road. Wayne County Road Commission will foot the rest of the bill.

Apigian said; they expect to begin construction this summer that would include relocating a drain and underground utilities.

Staff buys more stock in Crier's corporation

The Community Crier has announced the sale of 240 shares of stock of its corporation, The Plymouth-Canton Community Crier Inc., to five of the newspaper's staff members.

Included in the sale are 200 shares of Crier stock formerly owned by Julie and Tex Thoman, who sold their interest back to the corporation last month when they moved to California.

Joining the ranks of Crier stockholders are Melanie Robinson, business manager; William Bresler, photo editor; and Chas Child, assistant editor. Child purchased 80 shares of Crier stock, while

Two other Crier staff members, Circulation Manager Phyllis Redfern and Advertising Consultant Fran Hennings, each purchased an additional 30 shares to bring their total ownership to 80 shares each.

"We're pleased to increase the extent of staff participation in the ownership of The Crier," said Publisher Hank Meijer. "We believe this change strengthens The Crier's role as our community's only independent newspaper."

Canton hires own planner

A 26-year old Westland man has been hired by Canton as the township's first full-time community planner.

James Kosteva, a former assistant planner and project specialist for the city of Westland for three years, will begin working for Canton soon, according to Finance Director Mike Gorman. The Canton Board of Trustees approved his hiring last Tuesday.

Some of Kosteva's responsibilities will include reviewing site plans and zoning issues and work on bringing industrial development into the township.

The planning firm of Wade, Trim and Associates will still be used by the township, however. Township officials said the planning firm will do detailed studies.

The new planning department will operate on a budget of $112,000 per year. Kosteva will be paid between $15,000 to $21,000 per year; township officials have not yet determined the salary.

The hiring of Kosteva as Canton's first full-time planner is the beginning of a department that will one day include a grant coordinator (who will research ways the township can receive federal money for projects) secretary, and a clerk. Township officials approved advertising for the positions of the clerk and secretary at last Tuesday's meeting.

Kosteva has said he plans to move to Canton soon.

Godre withdraws from clerk's race

BY HANK MEIJER

Barbara Godre, one of our candidates who filed last week to seek the Republican nomination for Plymouth Township clerk, withdrew from that race hours before the deadline Friday and announced that she will campaign for one of the three remaining candidates, Esther Hulsing.

Mrs. Godre, of 12432 Woodgate Dr., told The Crier Monday she might seek political office again, but that the race shaping up for clerk would have posed a dilemma for her supporters.

In endorsing Mrs. Hulsing, she said, "Esther and I have basically the same philosophies, we're interested in the way the clerk's office is going to be run."

Mrs. Hulsing, Township Trustee Lee Fidge and Frances Ardanowski of Robinwood Drive are fighting a three-way battle in the Aug. 8 primary to succeed Clerk Helen Richardson, who has announced that she will retire at the end of her term.

The winner of the Republican primary in August faces no Democratic opposition on the November ballot.

Donahue a Republican

James Donahue, candidate for the Canton treasurer's seat, decided Friday to file as a Republican in the township race.

That move means he will face the winner of the Aug. 8 primary in the November election. Also running for Canton treasurer are incumbent treasurer Anne Bradley, a Democrat, who has said she will run on a slate with Supervisor Harold Stein; and Democrat Maria Falkiewicz, a Canton homeowner and business worker.

City to hold street hearings

At next Monday's regular City Commission meeting, public hearings on resurfacing city streets and allowing senior housing, will be held and new City Commissioner Eldon Martin will be sworn in by Plymouth Mayor Tom Turner.

One public hearing will be to set the special assessment rolls for resurfacing city streets included in this year's street improvement program.

Included are the following streets: Fralick from Harvey to Main, Penniman from Main to Union, Harvey from Penniman to Junction, Main from Ann Arbor Trail to Amelia, Starkweather from Main to Mill, Adams from Church to Farmer, Burroughs from Main to Harding, Hartsough from Main to Roosevelt, and Church from Harvey to Main.

The second public hearing will be held to determine if land owned by the Pilgrim Housing Non Profit Corporation north of Ann Arbor Trail will be rezoned to allow for a senior citizen housing project. The land, between Hamilton Street and the C&O tracks, is now zoned residential single family. The request is to change it to multiple zoning to allow the senior housing.

Mrs. Godre, of 12432 Woodgate Dr., told The Crier Monday she might seek political office again, but that the race shaping up for clerk would have posed a dilemma for her supporters.

Selective millage rejection shows voters' discernment

Just when tax revolts are becoming the rage, Plymouth-Canton School District voters have shown they know the difference between restraint and recklessness.

After April's defeat of a big combination millage renewal and increase, the Board of Education wisely split the ballot into three separate questions for last Monday's ballot. That the renewal should win handily this time, while the increases lost almost as decisively, seems a hopeful sign, even to those of us who endorsed the modest increases in millage.

Talk of tax revolt and the galvanizing effect of California's controversial new property tax cut probably had less effect on the millage vote outcome than the damp weather on election day.

Neither apathy nor anger prevailed. Instead, the schools got their renewal by a wide margin in a heavy turnout. Budget cuts are still ahead, but most programs will remain intact.

With thoughtful discrimination between which lever in the voting booth would mean irrevocable damage to our schools and which would require some painful belt-tightening, our community spoke calmly and clearly.

While we can't afford more taxes, voters seemed to say, our schools are too important to forsake for a quick tax cut.

Spotlight turns to primary races

The school elections are over, and now the spotlight focuses on the primary and general elections.

And what a strange year for the elections!

Locally, the biggest horse-race by far is the scramble for the last-minute opening of a new judgeship on the 35th District Court bench.

Because there are a lot of hungry attorneys out there since no-fault auto insurance and because the state bumbled through the new judgeship as an afterthought, eight attorneys piled on (one has since withdrawn).

It is certainly noteworthy, though, that with that many folks wanting to be judge, Hizzonor Dunbar Davis is running unopposed for the second time in his reelection bid. That certainly says something about the way he handles the bench and about his political savvy.

Plymouth Township is seeing its biggest battle in years with three candidates in the running to replace the irreplaceable Clerk Helen Richardson. Barb Godre withdrew Friday.

The two two-year trustee terms in both Plymouth and Canton townships have attracted big fields too — eight in Plymouth Township (including one of two incumbents) and six in Canton Township (where neither of the incumbent, Brian Schwall and Bob Myers, are seeking reelection.)

While Canton Supervisor Harold Stein faces both primary and general election challenges, and Treasurer Anne Bradley must ward off two contenders, it's not like it was two or four years ago. Does this mean Canton politics are cooling? You can bet that with former supervisor Bob Greenstein running for trustee, it will be anything but cool during the campaigning.

Where have all the Plymouth Township Democrats gone? To the GOP? Some years back, when Joe Krochmalny made J. D. McLaren work to capture the supervisor's seat, it seemed the Democrats were finally going to be able to win positions without having to run as Republicans. But since then there's been hardly a peep out of them.

The county commissioner race should be a brouhaha (although with the shape the county budget is in, it's hard to see why anybody wants the job).

And it seems that when it comes to state offices and U. S. Congress, there's little interest in challenging the incumbents.

Even Republican Carl Pursell, who two years ago squeaked in with the narrowest of vote margins, faces only one challenge in the 2nd Congressional District believed to be Democratic.

But the big races aside, there'll be plenty of politicking for the local seats. Settle back — it's free entertainment.

Go Chiefs, go

School may be out for most students, but a small group of Canton High Chiefs are preparing for their finals exam.

The Canton baseball team, by virtue of its regional tournament victory on Saturday, is now among the final four who will be battling for the coveted state championship at Wyandotte Memorial Field this Saturday.

Anyone who has watched the team play or practice this year knows how hard the players have been working towards this weekend. Shortstop Scott Collins even passed up a baseball tour of the Philippines before the season started so he could stay with Canton for the playoffs.

Behind the intense coaching of Fred Crissey, Canton has only lost three games all year and are ranked No. 1 in the state in one poll. Canton's opponent in the semifinals at 10 a.m. is perennial power Flint Southwestern, is the other No. 1-ranked team.

No doubt the team will be at its best, but there's nothing like a little hometown support. See you there.

James McCarthy, also a Plymouth attorney, withdrew from the judgeship race Friday, choosing to stay in the running for Wayne County Circuit Court judge.

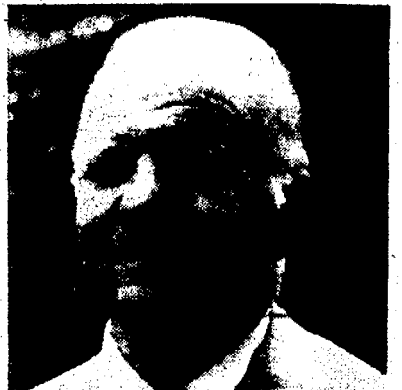

The second judgeship seat was created recently by the State Legislature. The 35th District Court currently has one judge, Dunbar Davis. No one filed to oppose Davis last week, so he is assured of another six-year term. The second judgeship's seat is for a four-year term.

The field of seven judge hopefuls will be narrowed to two following the Aug. 8 primary.

Those running include, Guth, James Garber, Philip Ogilvie, Aloysius Suchy, Craig L. John, Maurice Breen and Allen Ingle.

Canton OKs entertainment center

Canton trustees last Tuesday gave the go-ahead to the Walnut Creek Entertainment Center, to be located at Ford Road and Sandhurst.

Voting against the project was Trustee Bob Myers. Trustee Brian Schwall voted against issuing a liquor license to the complex. Trustee Lynne Goldsmith was absent.

The project, billed as a recreation-entertainment complex by its developers, will feature a concert hall atmosphere with capacity for 1,000 guests sitting at tables. Drinks will be served by waiters and waitresses and a 1,000 square foot dance floor as well as a 300 person banquet room are planned.

Although dinners will not be served, the developers said kitchen facilities are in future plans for the entertainment center.

Co-owner of the entertainment site, Joseph Hoffman, said the complex will "expect to book every kind of entertainment from Tony Bennett to the Eagles to Martin Mull."

The entire building will be 19,000 square feet. The developers, one of whom is Plymouth resident Donald Soenen, hope to open the concert hall by this Christmas.

The developers will next appear before the Zoning Board of Appeals to request a variance from the township's berm requirement.

Speeding fought

With the opening of the I-275 Expressway, residents of Tavistock Drive in eastern Plymouth Township have seen their street turned from a quiet residential drive into a sometimes hazardous shortcut to and from the expressway's Ann Arbor Road exit.

That's the contention of 31 Tavistock residents, who petitioned the township Board of Trustees to have their 25 mile per hour speed limit enforced and through traffic discouraged.

Correction

Craig John, candidate for the new judgeship in the 35th District Court, lives on Runnymede street in Canton, not Plymouth Township as printed in The Crier last week.

Durkin close to denial of tenure

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education has apparently decided not to grant tenure to a probationary teacher who had asked the board to reverse the school administration's decision not to renew his contract.

James Durkin, a first-year special education teacher at Salem High School, was given a closed hearing on June 5 to air his case, although the board last month had upheld the administration's decision to let him go.

He was told that the board would give him an answer within seven to 10 days of June 5, but since no action was taken on his case at the regular school board meeting Monday, it appears the board will let stand its earlier decision to deny tenure.

Yesterday morning, Durkin said he had not heard from the board, and added that he had not decided what, if any, future action he might take on the case.

Raos, Szylagyi win sorority scholarships

Plymouth Panhellenic has awarded its annual scholarships to two Plymouth students. The winners are: Beverly Ann Raos, daughter of Vernon and Vicki Raos, 45057 Governor Bradford, Plymouth; and Teri Szylagyi, daughter of Robert and Elizabeth Szylagyi, 1482 Sheridan, Plymouth. To be eligible, the candidates have to be graduates of Plymouth Canton Community School District, and be a pledge or active member of a national social sorority. The recipients were selected from their own written essays, expressing their insight into the meaning of sorority sisterhood. Beverly, a junior at Michigan State University is majoring in accounting, and is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. Teri, a senior at Central Michigan University, is majoring in business, and is a member of Sigma Kappa sorority.

LWV sponsors sale

The Plymouth-Canton-Northville League of Women Voters will sponsor a garage sale today, June 15, and tomorrow, June 16 for the benefit of the Equal Rights Amendment Ratification Fund. The garage sale will be held at the home of Barbara Toor, 42411 Roberta, the corner of Bradner Road, just north of Five Mile Road. The sale will be held each day from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Jaycees applaud firework fund supporters

The first contributors to the Plymouth Jaycees drive to raise $5,000 for the Fourth of July parade and fireworks are: Bluford Jewelers, Daly Restaurant, Dunbar Davis, Gould Cleaners, Perry W. Richwine, P.C., Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union and Joseph West.

Parade expenses for this year are estimated at $1,650, while the fireworks will cost $3,000 or more, according to Larry Kennedy, co-chairman of the group's finance committee.

Fundraising efforts will also include the levying of parade entrance fees and, if necessary an admission charge to the fireworks.

Contributors of $200 or more will receive an engraved plaque. All contributors will be acknowledged weekly in alphabetical order in The Crier.

The Jaycees ask residents to send their contributions to Plymouth Jaycees, P.O. Box 279, Plymouth, Mi., 48170.

Fall Fest strong enough not to solicit businesses

The 1978 Plymouth Fall Festival Board, at its June meeting, decided not to seek financial help from local businesses because it wasn't necessary, according to Dick Raison, board president.

"The business community was most generous in providing needed operating funds to get the 1977 Fall Festival underway," said Raison. "Without their support, we could not have carried off the successful year we had. Because of that, we'll be able to operate on our own budget. Hopefully," he added, "1978 will prove to be as successful and will continue to pay its way."

Sandra Davis was re-appointed as this year's Chairperson of Entertainment Committee. Groups or individuals who want to provide entertainment at the 1978 Fall Festival can call 453-9292 to arrange for a performance time and date.

Applications for participation in the Fall Fest have been mailed, according to Fest Manager Carl Glass. The registration fee is again $100 per group and all applications must be returned to the Fall Festival Board not later than July 26 for consideration, Glass noted. To get an application, call 453-9292 during usual business hours.

White House taps Plymouthite

James Padilla, 30, of 10631 Trailwood, Plymouth Township, was awarded a White House fellowship recently.

He was one of 14 winners chosen from among 2,026 applicants.

In addition to their job assignments with the Vice President, members of the Cabinet, and with the White House staff, the fellows participate in an education program that includes off-the-record discussions with top-level government officials, journalists, and leaders from various other segments of private life.

Padilla will begin his year of service with the government on Sept. 1.

Zinc-plate pioneer exhibits etchings

BY CHAS CHILD

Two art forms - photography and lithography - have been combined with striking results by Brian Watkins in his recently opened exhibit in Ann Arbor.

The Plymouth artist is among a dozen persons in the country who are using a process called photoetching to alter basic photos into entirely new images.

With zinc plates, Watkins etches photo images onto heavy-bond paper, creating a new vocabulary of tones and textures. The results combine the precise lines of a photograph with the rich inked tones of an etching.

And his first show using the pioneering technique opened Saturday at the Arcade Gallery in Nickels Arcade in Ann Arbor.

For the exhibit, Brian started with photos of a broad range of subjects - from a postcard-like picture of a European castle to a mundane shot of a man eating a quick lunch in a diner. But the subsequent etchings reveal his subtle eye for light and a bold grasp for new textures.

Asked what artistically separates his photoetchings from plain photographs, Watkins responded with a single word: "Ink."

Regular photographs are created with microscopic silver-halide crystals imbedded in paper. Photoetchings, on the hand, are done with ink pressed into heavy paper.

The difference between the two media is analogous to the difference between tightly woven cloth and tapestries. Fine detail - the forte of photographs - becomes secondary in photoetchings. Heavy, almost tactile tones arrest the eye in Brian's art.

His best efforts in the show start with photographs that do not rely on detail for impact. A print of a swan on a small lake, for example, assumes a fairy-tale atmosphere in Watkin's etching.

The portraits are especially fine. The overall images are impressionistic, yet a precise personality comes through in each.

Perhaps the best etchings in the group are Brian's composite efforts. Two faces cut into a basement window in one print, produces a disjunct, disoriented feeling in the viewer.

Real Estate

BY WILLIAM DECKER

REALTOR

WHERE'S THE "SCRIVENER"?

Much of the tradition and ceremony has disappeared from the business of transferring real estate. You might enjoy learning how it used to be done in the old days.

The law has always regarded the transfer to real estate as one of the most solemn acts and thus a great deal of formality attended the transfer. In the early days of land tenure, transfer was accomplished by "livery of seizen" which literally, means transfer of possession.

The buyer and seller would go upon the land in question and there, in the presence of witnesses, the seller would take a clod of turf and a twig from a tree and hand it over to the buyer as a symbol or token of the transfer.

The transfer was then made a matter of record by having the "scrivener" (the person in the community who could write) do his thing and write out the transfer on a parchment and affix his seal.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at REALTY WORLD, Wm. Decker, Inc. Realtors, 670 S. Main St. Plymouth. Phone: 455-8400. We're here to help!

In another print Brian overlaid a swirled, whirlpool-like pattern around a man with his pregnant wife etched in soft tones. The effect creates excellent tension.

The weaker prints in the show are ones in which the eye looks for the detail which was present in the original photo but lost in the etching.

A panorama of the city of Luxembourg, for example, would have been better as a conventional photograph. Cityscapes seem to need every brick and window clearly visible.

Watkins, who grew up in Plymouth, believes the future of the medium is in full-color prints. The process is very expensive, however, and to fund it, he is waiting to hear from the National Endowment of the Arts on a grant application.

To create a photoetching, Watkins enlarges a regular photograph onto lithographers film. This is then placed on a zinc plate which has been coated with a light-sensitive gel. The plate with the positive overlay is then exposed to light and the plate is washed. The gel that has been exposed adheres to the plate, while the unexposed gel washes off.

This process creates relief image on the plate, which is then inked and pressed into paper.

Lasting until June 29, the show is open from 9:30 a.m. through 5 p.m. Monday through Friday at the gallery and from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Saturdays at Nickels Arcade.

Today is the last day of school (for students on the traditional calendar). Yippie!!! Just think, no lunches to pack, no arguments on what to wear to school, and with a little luck, maybe I can have a bathroom to myself for five minutes in the morning.

Every June, as the school year ends, is graduation for hundreds of students. One of the first graduations a child faces is from elementary to middle school. That big step is from a freckle-faced, toothless little kid to an awkward, independent adolescent.

The next graduation is from middle school to high school. That's the step in growing up where students go from thinking they know everything to knowing they know everything.

But the best and the biggest is graduation from high school. That special moment is as a senior in your cap and gown when you step forward to receive your diploma.

With high school graduation comes many feelings. A sigh of relief, perhaps, realizing that you have finally reached a goal following 13 years of education. There is a sadness in knowing that you will be separated from many of your friends as you each go your own way. The feeling of uncertainty mixed with confidence as you go on to college or out into the working world is exhilarating.

Graduation from college, for many students means they have reached another goal in education and are now ready to begin a career, but there really is nothing like the carefree graduation from high school.

Michigan State University presented degrees to several local students Saturday, June 10 at its spring commencement ceremonies. Students from Canton receiving degrees were: Debbie Beasley, of Holly Dr.; Cynthia Gumley, of Avon; James Lesmeister, of Lynn; Glenda Maples, of Saltz Rd; and Catherine Matthews of Heney Lane.

Plymouth students included: C. L. Andres, of Sheridan; Donita Baker, of Canton Center; Susan Bares, Cedar Lane; William Brown, Albert Drive; Daniel Hilbert, Dogwood; Jill Hochowski, Amelia; Betty Lacross, Haggerty; James Mason, Harvey Street; Pamela Mason, Harvey Street; Mary Mast, Dewey; Janice Mlinaz, Leighwood Court; Brian Murphy, Brook Park; Thomas Owens, Sunset; Glen Parkinson, Dogwood Drive; John Vermeulen, Turtlehead Drive; Catherine Voytas, Ann Street; and George Zambcras, Dunn Court.

George K. Serkian of Spinning Wheel in Canton recently graduated from the University of Detroit, School of Law. Alma College students from Plymouth who were named to the college's Term Honors List are:

Laurene Kirchoff, freshman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kirchoff of Brookside Drive; and Rita Walker, junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Walker of Crabtree Court.

Dancers from the Plymouth-Canton area recently presented a recital at Salem High School. Some of the local talent appearing included: Florence and Kathy Wright, Martha and Kristine Galek (mother and daughter) Doug Campell, April Raschke and Kathy McKeown. The dancers ranged in age from three to 50.

Audition tonight

Auditions are continuing today at the Mayflower meetinghouse for the Plymouth Theatre Guild's production of "The Owl and the Pussycat", scheduled for performance beginning July 23.

The auditions will be held at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the Meetinghouse, located on Main just south of Ann Arbor Trail.

Roles are available for one man and one woman.

Blood sought

Parking plan progressing

BY CHAS CHILD

Plans for a parking structure in downtown Plymouth are moving ahead, as initial drawings for the building were scheduled to be ready yesterday.

A Southfield architectural firm, Harley Ellington Pierce and Yee, drew up the proposals for a multi-story structure on the Weidman lot on Main Street behind the Mayflower Hotel.

Designing the structure, however, is the easy part of building it, said Harold Guenther, chairman of the City's Parking Commission. The hard part will be funding it, he said.

The funding plan currently proposed calls for the merchants in the downtown area to pay one-half of the costs to build it, and for revenues from the entire city's parking system to pay for the other half, said Guenther.

The merchants' share would be determined by a combination of factors: Their store's distance from the Weidman lot, and their square footage.

Ten zones 50 feet wide have been drawn in concentric circles around the lot. The closer zones would have higher assessments.

From the initial drawings prepared by Harley Ellington, one will be chosen, and a complete proposal, including a funding plan, might be before the City Commission in the last week of June or early July, said Guenther.

The initial drawings were funded by the City Commission last month for $2,500.

Names changes OK'd

The Wayne County Road Commission has notified the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees that name change requests have been approved for a pair of township streets.

The road commission decided to go along with a petition by residents of Tinkerbelle Drive in Beacon Estates which asked for the name of the street to be changed to Hillside Drive. The commission also permitted the name change of a section of McClumpha Road in the Glenview Subdivision to Glenview Drive.

While the changes may please the residents of those streets, who, having once bought property on them, decide a name is more suitable, at least one township official is not happy.

"These name changes are the silliest things," said Clerk Helen Richardson. "We have to change all fire department records; building department records have to be changed; the plat has to be changed; and so do water and sewer records and voting records here and at school."

"All the county (road commission) has to do is make a motion - we have to change all the records."

The clerk said the township had to pay a part-time clerk to come in specifically to change the election records on those streets and others where names had been changed.

County beefs up

Hines manpower

The Haggerty and Wilcox areas of Hines Park that runs through the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township will be staffed by attendants wearing bright orange coveralls and hard hats as part of Wayne County's plan to upgrade services for park users, said county officials.

About 30 attendants will be hired for the entire Hines Parkway for 12 weeks this summer. The jobs are being funded with $81,185 in CETA money. According to Wayne County, duties of the attendants will be maintaining buildings and grounds, protecting park property and enforcing park rules and regulations, patrolling buildings and grounds to watch for trespassers, fires, and reporting them to the police; picking up litter and assisting medical or other emergency situations.

Parents take random process to court

BY CHAS CHILD

Arguments were given yesterday in Wayne County Circuit Court in a show-cause hearing on a suit challenging the validity of the Plymouth-Canton schools' random selection policy.

Seven parents whose children were denied an appeal filed the suit.

The leader of the seven, George Lovich of 44142 Parkside in Canton, said that the citizens were not properly notified of the schools' random selection appeals process.

"We were never told what the deadline (March 13) was," he said. "The only people who knew were the ones who were at the board meetings during that time."

All seven of the persons who filed the suit were denied an appeal because they missed the deadline, Lovich said.

The random selection process is the method by which middle school students are sent to either Canton or Salem High School.

Originally, a child could go to the high school his older sibling attended. Under that policy, only and eldest children in a family, were the only ones assigned by a computer.

The only basis for appeal was for sound educational reasons.

However, at its March 13 meeting, the board broadened the basis of appeal for eighth graders allow students to change if they would be switched from their neighborhood friends.

The deadline appeals under this policy was the same date as the meeting - March 13.

To add confusion to the whole random selection process, the board before the March 13 meeting set a new policy for seventh graders this year. Under this process, all students are thrown into the computer. Then, if they want to switch they can be based on sibling affiliation.

746 Starkweather 459-5444

Random appeals nixed

Four requests to changes in high school assignments made under random selection were denied by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education Monday night.

Made by parents who said their children would be separated from their friends, the appeals were all denied by 6-1 votes. Only Member Joe Gray voted to grant the changes.

"I feel terrible to vote 'no' on these appeals," said Member Flossie Tonda. "But we had to choose between random selection and changing the boundaries. For the district we must do it (turn down the appeals.)"

Two of the parents - Allen Stuart and Michael Scarpello - has seventh-grade students who wanted to switch and they were told by the board that under board policy no appeals would be considered.

James Valentine, father of an eighth grader who wanted to switch, was told he missed the March 13 deadline for filing appeals for that grade.

The fourth - Helen Temple - disagreed with the policy applied to students - like her son - who move back into the district. These students pick a red or blue poker chip to receive their assignments.

In a related development, Judge Horace Gilmore of the Wayne County Circuit Court conducted a show-cause hearing yesterday of a suit filed by seven parents angered by the random selection policy.

Chiefs run past foes; grab title

BY ERIC OLSON

Canton won its first regional title in any sport as the Chief nine defeated John Glenn Wayne Westland 3-0 in the regional final behind the three-hit pitching of Scott Dawson. Canton will return to Wyandotte Saturday to participate in the class A state finals.

Dawson went the distance in recording the shutout and the win pushed the Chief's season mark to 25-3 for the state's No. 1 ranked team (in one poll).

Canton reached the final by beating Truman-Taylor in the semifinal game 5-2 in nine innings.

The final game was scoreless until the fifth inning when the Chiefs tallied three times in the bottom of the inning. Craig Lee started the rally by stroking a double down the leftfield line that was just fair. Then Ray Smock bunted and both runners were safe as the throw to third was not in time to get Lee. Tom Norton also bunted, which the John Glenn pitcher held after fielding, loaded the bases.

Scott Collins knocked in the first run with a long sacrifice fly that drove the leftfielder all the way to the fence. The throw from the outfielder was wild and it allowed Smock to score and Steve Gray, pinch runner for Norton, to take third. After an infield single by Dawson, Gray scored on a passed ball for the third Canton run.

Dawson retired the John Glenn hitters in order in the sixth and seventh innings.

The Cinderella team of the tournament had been John Glenn who started the day with a 11-13 record. They reached the finals by upending Dearborn Heights Annapolis 6-2 behind the five hit hurling of Ralph McKenzie.

"If we had just been a little more decisive on a couple of the balls and kept our intensity," said John Glenn Coach Norm Hoemes after the loss to Canton.

John Glenn never got a runner past second as they were checked on three singles in three separate innings. Their best scoring chance came in the top of the third as Mark Cesarez singled and stole second with one out. The next hitter, Craig Walker, was robbed of an extra base by rightfielder Doug Smith. Smith raced back on a ball that was hit over his head and juggled it two times - almost dropping it - before making the put out.

"The wind held it up for Doug to make the catch, but the wind also held up some of our balls. So I guess it goes both ways," said Fred Crissey coach of the Chiefs. "But it was a super effort by Smith that you won't see very often.

For the game Canton had three hits and one error and John Glenn made three errors. Dawson struckout three and walked none. Shortstop Collings totaled eight assists and one putout in the field and he didn't make an error.

"Collins was as steady as a rock for us. He had around

14 assists and seven put outs for the two games without an error and many were hard chances," commented Crissey.

In the semifinal game Canton exploded for four runs in the top of the ninth to win 5-2. The Chiefs almost lost the game in the bottom of the seventh, but a great throw and relay saved them.

With the score knotted 1-1 pinch hitter Tom Moran reached second base after a walk and a steal and he tried to score on a single to left by Jeff Gendron. Canton leftfielder Dave Weise played the ball cleanly and threw to the cutoff man Lee who fired a strike to catcher Jeff Campbell whose tag was in time.

"We were just hoping for an error on the play, but we didn't get it," said Truman Coach Roger Bechtel who waved the runner home.

"I was just hoping to get a good throw and relay," said Crissey, "and we did. This is the time you see if you have practiced the fundamentals enough, which is something we do all the time."

To start the ninth for Canton, Norton and Weise worked Truman pitcher Jeff Hall for walks and Collins was intentionally walked to jam the bases. At this time Truman went to a five man infield and a two man outfield in order to have a better chance at fielding a bunt or to make the Canton hitters swing away. However, the plan back fired.

Jeff Campbell laid down a bunt right in front of the catcher who threw the ball into centerfield when he tried for a double play. The error allowed two runs to score. Mandie and Smith were safe on back-to-back infield hits to load the bases again. Brian James then delivered a single

Crossing the plate

RBI. Cindy Stevens (No. 6) grounds out to first against Roosevelt, but her effort brought in Kathie Peck from third base. (Crier photo by Bill Bresler.)

BY CHAS CHILD
It wasn't anywhere near midnight, but the magic coach turned into a pumpkin for the Cinderella Canton softball team Saturday afternoon.

The Chiefs - picked by no one to go far in the playoffs - lost in the regional finals to Waterford, 7-4.

The never-say-die Plymouthites squeaked past Wyandotte Roosevelt, 14-13, in the first game of the regionals to get into the finals.

"I am proud and pleased the way we played," said Coach Joan Ryan. "We really played well together."

The regional semifinal victory put the Chiefs among the final eight in the state tourney, a surprising achievement for a team that finished in a tie for last in its league.

Waterford's pitcher, Anne Verwey, though, broke Canton's bubble with her speed and control. The game still could have gone either way as the Chiefs banged out seven hits.

Led by Kathie Peck's triple in the first inning and single in the third inning, Canton scored a run apiece in those innings to almost match Waterford's three-run second inning.

The Skippers pushed in one in the fourth and fifth innings, however, and two in the sixth to put the game out of reach.

In the Chiefs' sixth, Cindy Stevens on a single by Cheryl Pijanowski and Pijanowski raced home on a wild pitch, but the two runs proved too little, too late.

In the seventh after two cuts, Peck walked and Stevens singled to put the tying run at the plate, but Judy Freiman's long fly to rightfield ended the game.

In the first game, the Chiefs overcame 4-0 and 11-10 deficits to prevail over Wyandotte Roosevelt.

The Canton cause was helped along by 13 Roosevelt errors in the game including five in a row at one point. Peck scored the winning run in the sixth inning when she came in Freiman's grounder.

Vicky Cavallaro rapped three hits in the game: singles in the third and fourth and a double in the fifth inning. Peck added a triple in the fourth inning.

Lucy Howe, the Chiefs' anchor on the mound all season, pitched all of both games.

The loss in the finals, snapped a seven-game winning streak for Canton. The streak got under way when the Chiefs steamrolled Willow Run on May 18, 16-0. "That game turned our season around for us," said Ryan. Before the Willow contest, Canton was languishing with a 2-7 record.

"We got a lot of confidence when we started winning," Ryan said. "We started getting emotional and playing together."

The Chiefs' outstanding show in the playoffs should boost their confidence for next year as they will be losing only two players: Freiman, a senior, and Chris Housden, a sophomore who is moving.

Salem softballers win title

The Salem girls softball team bounced back from the upset loss to Canton in the districts to grab the Sub-8 crown outright last week behind the one-hit pitching of senior Debbie Pitera.

The Rocks were scheduled to play Allen Park, a game previously rained out, when Dearborn Edsel Ford won two games earlier in the week. Those two victories upped Edsel Ford's record to 10-3, forcing a potential tie with Salem if the Rocks lost to Allen Park.

But the Rocks won the title outright when they defeated Allen Park 9-3. The win gave the Rocks a 12-2 league mark and a 16-3 overall record.

Salem scored single runs in the first, second, third and fourth innings to take the lead 4-3. The Rocks sealed the victory by exploding for five runs in the sixth inning.

Doris Hoelscher and Cindy Cindrech both walked to start the sixth and an infield single by Pitera loaded the bases. Donna Goodrich brought in one run with a sacrifice fly and Kathy Gardner followed with an RBI single. Kathy Dillon walked and after Pitera scored via two passed balls Dillon scored on Wendy Webb's bunt single.

Pitera fanned 14 to bring her season total to 154, breaking her record of 141 she set two years ago. Her 14-3 log also set a new record.

Pitera, Goodrich, Gardner and Webb led the Rock attack with two hits apiece. Gardner also swiped three bases.

Ex-Rock eyes U. S. Open

BY CRAIG BRASS

The difference between the U.S. Open and other golf tournaments is simple: Touring pros compete alongside amateurs and unknowns for the money and fame of a major title.

And one of these relatively unknowns, Gary Robinson of Plymouth, earned the right to compete against the best golfers in the world when he fired a one under par 143 to lead all qualifiers in the Chicago sectional last week.

He was the only golfer from Michigan to qualify for the event starting tomorrow.

The excellent performance in Chicago propelled Robinson into his second Open. In 1975 he finished 49th in the sweltering heat of Medina.

Naturally, Robinson hopes to improve on his '75 finish this year. "I don't think the top 15 is unreasonable," he said. "I have been putting real well and my game is at a high point, I think I'm capable of finishing that high.

"I have been playing a lot more this year and I have my confidence back up. I think I'll fare pretty well."

Robinson, who graduated from Plymouth High in 1968, was originally a baseball player. "I think he made a wise decision to switch to golf," said John Sandmann, who was his golf coach in high school. "I think it's worked out well for him."

At the time, Robinson lived across the street from Sandmann, now CEP's athletic director.

After his appearance in the 1975 Open, Robinson tried to qualify for the pro tour. He shot well to qualify in an ordinary year, but failed because numerous outstanding young players attended the try-out camp.

He has tried to qualify since, but had less luck, and intends to try again this fall.

"I feel as though I'll have a good chance for the tour. If I continue to play well and have a good week-I should receive my card," Robinson said.

Even with a good effort, it won't be easy, however. The qualifying school is a tough two weeks in which the players attend classes on the rules and play golf almost everyday.

A card will enable him to qualify for tournaments all year and to compete with the pros for the big prize money. "In golf, the main goal for a professional is to get his card. Once I've reached that level I feel I can compete with the rest of the pros," he said.

After Plymouth High, Robinson attended Eastern Michigan University for two years where he was an NAIA All-American. He then turned pro and worked at Oasis Driving Range in Northville Township as an instructor.

Two years ago he worked at nearby Brae Burn Golf Course and last year went to Tam O'Shanter course as assistant pro under Warren Orlick. Robinson is now assistant pro at Green Ridge Country Club in Grand Rapids.

During the winter Robinson competes on the mini-tour circuit in Florida. "This past winter I started to play really well down South and it carried over into the spring," he said.

He said the key to his game in the upcoming Open is being relaxed - often the crucial difference in the nerve-racking major tournaments.

Hank Rupert honored by Rocks

The fourth annual Hank Rupert Golf Classic was held at Hilltop Glenn Golf Club on Saturday. According to Tournament Director Paul Sincok over 40 people attended this year's golf classic. Tournament Host Hank Rupert said he was glad to see such a large turnout.

Along with the Salem alumni from the classes of 1975-78 Salem instructor Craig Bell came out, and the guests in this year's Golf Classic included Ohio State University Basketball player Mike Cline, and Mt. Pleasant, Michigan, radio personality Ron "The Count" Grubbs.

The tournament winner was Mike Wickham with a score of 71. Trophy winners in the four scoring groups were; Doug Holloway - 78 (class of '78), Pat McKendry - 79 (class of '77) Craig Bell - 99 (Northville class of ?), Mark Klucka - 112 (class of '75).

The high scorer for the classic was Bob Dasher with a score of 121. However as participant Chris DeBear said "this is great because everyone goes home a winner."

"This is the best turnout we've had for this yet" says Hank Rupert the tournament host.

Local hitters drafted

BY CRAIG BRASS

One present and two former All-State baseball players from Plymouth were selected in the professional baseball draft last week.

Scott Collins, who is now leading the Canton Chiefs in their quest for a state championship, was drafted in the eighth round by the Baltimore Orioles.

Former Chief Brian Stemberger was picked by the Chicago White Sox in the 10th round. Tom Willette, former star pitcher for the Salem Rocks when they won the state championship in 1975, was selected in the 20th round by the Kansas City Royals.

Collins has signed a letter of intent to play at Missouri next year, but still has the option to sign. "Right now I'm going to play for Missouri, but if they give me a good offer you never can tell," Collins said.

Stemberger just finished his second year at Eastern Michigan University. He played for Mott Junior College his first year out of Canton.

Willette is playing for North Carolina State on a four year scholarship, and has one year left.

The selections of Collins and Stemberger make them the second and third Chiefs to be drafted in the last three years. Tom Close was drafted by the Kansas City Royals in 1976 after an outstanding career at Canton.

Register for Jaycee marathon

Just as the pains and strains of the first annual 4th of July five-mile marathon, sponsored by the Plymouth Jaycees, have worn off it's time for the second annual race.

This year's race will be run from Northville Downs to Plymouth Point Park, located at the intersection of Starkweather and Northville road. Runners should register at 8:45 on the morning of the race in the preferred parking lot of Northville Downs, located at the corner of Seven Mile and Sheldon roads.

For those diehard runners who want to go out and practice on the course a few times, the race will be run along side the bike path in Hines Drive.

Trophies will be awarded to the first man and woman to finish.

To enter, complete the accompanying form and mail with one dollar per entry to:

Plymouth Jaycee Marathon
233 Blunk

Plymouth, Michigan 48170
Make checks payable to Plymouth Jaycees.

Mail entries must be received by June 30th. Late entries will be taken between 8:30 and 9:00 the day of the race.

Pair lead women

Silvia Dickinson and Lou Skotske shot their best rounds of the year and are tied for the league lead in the Canton Women's Golf League.

Silvia shot a 53 and Lou turned in a 64. Pauline Pryor continued her steady improvement as she also turned in her best round of the year as she had a 61. Mary Kay Frey posted the best round of the day with a 50.

Flint S'western next for Chiefs

With the regional crown now tucked away, the Chiefs travel to Wyandotte Memorial Field to play Flint Southwestern at 10 p.m. on Saturday for the state semifinals.

The other semifinal pits Hazel Park and Allen Park St. Francis Cabrini at 12:30.

The winners of the two games square off at 3:30 for the state championship.

The best way to get to the field is to take I-275 and go east on I-94. Go south on the Southfield Freeway (M-39) and then turn south on Fort Street (M-85). From Fort turn left on Pennsylvania. Proceed on Pennsylvania for about one mile and a parking lot beyond the leftfield fence will be on your left.

Bunts propel Chiefs to state

that drove in two runs with the aid of an error.

"It was a tactic (the five man infield) to get us to do something we didn't want to do -- swing away," explained Crissey. "But by bunting we still make them field the ball, make the play, and execute."

Smith relieved James to start the bottom of the ninth, but he gave way to Dawson after he failed to retire any of the batters that he faced. A walk, a single, and two wild pitches produced one run for Truman. Dawson walked the first hitter he faced to load the bases, but he got the next hitter to ground into a doubleplay to end the game.

Truman outhit Canton eight to seven, but made three errors in the ninth inning. The loss dropped Truman's season mark to 15-9.

Canton played Truman in the ten o'clock game and had to wait for four hours to play their second game.

"I think its a disadvantage to play in the first game because you have to wait so long to play again," said Crissey. "You get used to waiting twenty minutes between games which is the time you have in regular doubleheaders."

This Saturday the Chiefs will play the 10 a.m. game again against Flint Southwestern (30-3) the other No. 1 team in the state. Southwestern advanced to the final four by beating St. Clair Shores 5-4 and Rochester Adams 2-1. Hazel Park, runner-up in four of the last five state tournaments, and Allen Park St. Frances Cabrini will play in the second game.

Southwestern is anchored by pitcher Ruban Luna who Crissey calls "the best right-hand pitcher in the state".

"As of right now, I'm going with him (Luna) in the first game because there might not be a second game," said Marv Rettenmund coach of Southwestern and brother of major league player Merv Rettenmund.

City, Twp. long at odds over annexation to annex the entire township. The Hillside Inn annexation petition was soon set aside because proper legal languages was not employed. The attempt to annex the Burroughs parking lot has become involved in a long court battle which is having a direct effect on the attempt to annex the entire township.

PG.

These petitions were filed just prior to the city's second attempt to annex the township. Voting on the 1974 referendum provided landslide results in both the city and the township. The city voted overwhelmingly for annexation, and the township voted in a similar manner against the referendum.

The current status of the city's third legal attempt to annex the township is bogged down because of the complicated status of the attempt to annex the Burroughs parking lot.

According to Bob Terry, a criteria analyst for the State Boundary Commission, the Burroughs petition is log-jammed on the docket of the Ingham County Circuit Court, and the Boundary Commission cannot consider the petition to annex the entire township until the Burroughs case is cleared up.

"It won't even become an issue until the court rules on the Burroughs case," Terry said.

The Burroughs case became embroiled in a legal controversy when the Michigan Court of Appeals ruled in 1975 that a section of the law giving the Boundary Commission control over annexation is unconstitutional.

The section of the law in question is a 1970 amendment to the Home Rule City Act of 1909. That amendment gave power to the Boundary Commission to decide annexation petitions without support of a public vote among residents affected when the target area has less than 100 residents.

While the legal battle over the Burroughs parking lot ensues, the petition to annex the township remains in limbo. Significantly, should the court ultimately rule in favor of the Boundary Commission and annex the Burroughs lot to the city, the petition to annex the entire township might become a victim because the legal language describing the township would change.

"If the court agrees with the commission (on the Burroughs annexation) problems might ensue. I don't know for sure whether this would violate the legal description. It might," Terry said.

Terry indicated that even if the court were to move expediently on the Burroughs matter, there would be a lengthy delay before the Boundary Commission made the next move.

"If we got it today it would probably be a year before we were able to make any kind of a ruling on it," Terry said.

Terry said that should the Boundary Commission eventually rule in favor of the city annexing the township, within 30 days after the publication of the ruling, township organizers could file petitions with the names of 25 per cent of the registered voters which would subject the ruling to a referendum of township voters. Most political observers have indicated that township voters would have little difficulty achieving this, and that the referendum would be voted down as it was in 1955 and 1974.

The primary reason township voters have resisted the proposed annexation so vehemently has been economic. The township property tax is currently 3.35 mills, while the city rate stands at 19.55 mills.

MTA employes OK union membership

By a vote of 179-171, employes of the Meijer Thrifty Acres store at Ford and Canton Center roads elected Friday to join Local 951 of the Consolidated Independent Union, which represents Meijer employes in most of the retail firm's other units.

The voting which was supervised by the National Labor Relations Board, also included 16 challenged ballots which may yet affect the total.

When the store opened in 1974, the employes were members of the union. But the rival Retail Clerks International Union filed suit at that time to stop automatic inclusion of the new employes in the existing independent union, as traditionally occurred when the company opened a new store. The suit claimed among other things that because the Detroit area was a different market from those served by other stores in the chain, an election should be held before new employes here became members of the union. The National Labor Relations Board agreed and the election was held last week.

The Washington D.C.-based Retail Clerks have since campaigned to absorb the independent union into their organization.

In an unsupervised election last month which affected most of the company's more than 8,000 employes, results showed that a majority of those who voted favored affiliation of their independent union with the national Retail Clerks organization.

Independent union members who opposed the absorption of their union by the Retail Clerks charged that pro-Retail Clerks officials of the union presented only the Retail Clerks' side to their membership before the election, and failed to provide safeguards to prevent voting irregularities.

A federal judge in Grand Rapids, where both the independent union and the company are based, is expected to rule soon on whether the information and voting improprieties charged by the independent union group warrant a hearing and trial to determine if a new election should be held.

In the meantime, union officials have been ordered to keep all election records intact.

Because of the earlier dispute which led to the vote at the Canton store last week, employes there were not eligible to participate in the affiliation vote.

County levy

Wayne County will ask voters to approve renewal of an expiring one-mill property levy in the Aug. 8 primary election.

After weeks of consideration, the County Board of Commissioners June 8 voted unanimously at a special meeting to ask the voters to continue the levy for another five years.

Haze Wilson, Community Relations Manager, Livonia, reminds you:

There are things you can do to control the cost of your phone bill.

We are constantly searching for ways to help you economize on your phone service, but here are just a few ideas on how you can help yourself:

Call when it's least expensive. For example, when you're calling long distance, dial direct and plan your calls for times when the rates are lowest.

Budget Service that's really low budget! Look into the availability of Budget Service if you don't make a lot of phone calls every month. It's the least expensive one-or-two party phone service we offer.

Plan to have all your service installed in one visit. For instance, if you move, plan carefully so the installer doesn't have to make extra trips, for which you may have to pay additional charges. And while you're planning for new service, make sure it's going to be the kind most suited to your needs.

Sometimes, little tips can save you a surprising amount over the long haul. We'll keep trying to help you save.
