City drops annexation drive

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

A cease fire has been announced in the six-year annexation war between the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

By a unanimous vote, the Plymouth City Commission Monday night asked the State Boundary Commission to overturn the remaining city-filed annexation actions against the township.

Although the state cannot cancel the actions already started, such a request is given primary consideration by the boundary commission during its deliberations.

Monday night's move by the city is the latest development in the skirmish which began on May 6, 1974 when the city commission voted unanimously to file three annexation petitions seeking the Burroughs Corp. parking lot, the Hillside Inn, and the entire township. The petitions were filed in Lansing the next morning as the polls opened in the city and township for a consolidation election in which city voters approved unification but township voters turned it down.

One of the petitions, that seeking to annex the Hillside, was found legally insufficient in its property description and it was thrown out by the boundary commission. The city refiled the action but it was then placed behind the petition seeking to annex the entire township.

The boundary commission acted first on the Burroughs lot petition, approving its annexation to the township. But the township and Burroughs filed a suit against the state seeking to overturn the boundary commission decision.

After winding its way through the courts, an Ingham County Circuit judge ruled on Jan. 3 that the boundary commission's approval of the annexation should be overturned since annexing the parking lot to the city would leave the Hillside Inn as a piece of the township completely surrounded by the city.

Last Thursday the boundary commission decided not to appeal the court decision and Monday night, City Attorney Charles Lowe advised the city commission there was "little likelihood, if any, the city could win a favorable decision from the boundary commission" for annexing the entire township.

City Manager Henry Graper advised the commission, "It probably would be in the best interest of relations between the city and the township to withdraw (the remaining petitions)."

Mayor Mary Childs said, "We have an opportunity to extend a hand of friendship and feeling to the township." The motion to ask the boundary commission to halt annexation proceedings was made by

Schools plan $22 million vote for March 27

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education is expected to formally approve a $21.9 million bond package at its next meeting Monday, Jan. 28.

School board members have tentatively set an election on Thursday, March 27. The board is expected to discuss and set the election date at its Monday night meeting which begins at 7:30 p.m. at school board offices.

In addition to the $21.9 million bond package over a 29-year span, a second proposal for a one-half mill increase in school taxes will also be brought to the voters. The one-half mill increase will be earmarked for maintenance programs throughout the school district.

A breakdown of the bond package shows: approximately $8 million will be used to renovate Central Middle School; about $8 million is for energy-conservation renovations in schools throughout the district; about $5 million is for additional classroom space at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP); about $500,000 is for bus purchases; and $500,000 is for buying portable classrooms.

School board members have been wrestling for months with ways to house the additional students in the district. One proposal under recent consideration called for realigning the grades to relieve congestion at the high schools so that the high schools would house 10-12 graders instead of 9-12 graders as they do now.

One proponent of the plan to realign grades, Supt. John Hoben, said the difference between realigning grades and not realigning grades represents a $9 million increase in the bond package. However, Hoben's bond proposal package did not include an approximately $5 million classroom addition at the CEP. In addition, Hoben's plan, which was favored by other school administrators as well, called for spending about $5 million for renovating Central Middle School as compared to the

Garber gives life sentence

A Florida man has been sentenced to life by 35th District Court Judge James Garber. After being fined $100 on Jan. 11 for possession of marijuana, the man began to leave Garber's courtroom. But he turned around and asked the judge, "Can you marry people?"

Garber responded: "If you have a woman and a license."

"I've got them here," the man responded and asked, "Will you do it?"

The judge said he would, pressed his court officer into service as the best man, persuaded the court stenographer to be maid of honor, and married the man and his fiancee.

"First I fined you $100 and now I sentence you to life," the judge concluded.

PLYMOUTH'S DPW workers dug this hole off Sutherland Street Thursday night to repair a break in a city water main. The rupture was the fourth this season, said DPW Director Ken Vogras. In the pit is Charles Abner, and manning the back hoe is Erik Schultz. Water-main breaks are down this season, said Vogras, because of the relatively mild winter. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

Park owner signs pact

The owner of two Canton Township mobile home parks has agreed to make numerous changes and improvements in his parks, according to the mobile home division of the Corporation and Securities Bureau/Michigan Department of Commerce.

The park owner, Sheldon Furternick, this week signed a settlement agreement with the bureau promising to repair roads, improve lighting, give tenants written leases, post rent schedules, train park managers, complete construction of a clubhouse and swimming pool and fulfill certain warranty obligations.

Residents from five parks owned by Furternick had filed more than 60 complaints with the bureau alleging harassment by park management and sub-standard conditions in parks.

The parks are: Holiday Hills of Highland; Holiday Estates of Canton Township; Holiday West of Belleville; Royal Holiday of Canton Township, and Nationwide Mobile Home Park, Inc. of Westland.

Canton chief proposes regional police force

BY CHAS CHILD

To save money and increase police protection, Canton police chief Jerry Cox has proposed that the police forces in the 35th court district share some services.

The four forces in the 35th district duplicate many services now, said Cox, including dispatching, record-keeping, and jailing. "We could save perhaps $250,000 to $500,000 by eliminating this duplication," said Cox.

Four of the five municipalities in the 35th district have their own police forces: the cities of Northville and Plymouth, and Northville and Canton townships. The fifth, Plymouth Township, is currently negotiating with the Wayne County Sheriff's Department for police service.

In a letter to the Canton Board of Trustees, Cox asked the board to support the creation of a committee, with representatives from all four local police forces, to study sharing services.

Cox said that the committee could investigate not only sharing services but merging the local forces into a single regional department.

Such a regional department might be a prime candidate for federal law-enforcement grants, said Cox, since cross-community cooperation is encouraged

35th court district committee would study shared police services by federal officials.

Along with a regional force, Cox added that the committee should also investigate building a regional courthouse for the 35th district to replace the three current ones in Canton Township Hall, Plymouth City Hall, and Northville City Hall.

"The single court could also save a lot of money by eliminating duplication of things like record-keeping," said Cox. "It would also save the police time and money."

"For example, one of our policemen might spend two to three hours transporting prisoners from one jail to another," he said. "If there was one central jail, that would take 15 minutes. And the time saved could be spent patrolling the streets."

Earlier this month, Judge James Garber, of the 35th district, recommended that the district's municipalities study building a central courthouse.

Cox said that he has discussed both shared services, a regional force and courthouse with City of Plymouth Police Chief Timothy Ford. "We tend to agree that the possibilities seem practical and realistic. What we need to do is determine the problem areas and to get the political boards (in each community) to look at them."

Canton Supervisor Noel Culbert said he supports looking into sharing police services. Canton alone could not afford to provide many services, such as a juvenile department or a women's division, "but if we joined with other communities it may be cost efficient to do so," he said.

"My intent, then is to have a representative from each of our surrounding communities (the 35th district area) sit down and discuss how it may be cheaper and more efficient to combine certain police functions," Culbert wrote the board.

"My intent is not to offer police services to anyone else or that someone should get something for nothing," he added.

No shots, no school

Plymouth-Canton school officials have announced that 1,017 students at the Centennial Educational Park will be expelled unless they turn in immunization forms to the school nurses before Feb. 15.

Last week school officials said that 886 students faced expulsion; however, an additional 131 student forms were inadequately completed when they were given to the Wayne County Health Department, said one school official. Disqualified forms had no parent signature or were improperly filled out. In addition, some new students enrolled since Nov. 1, 1979 have not turned in their immunization forms.

To comply with State Board of Education and Wayne County Health Department rules, students in grades 9-12 must be im-

Canton appoints "watered-down" farm board

BY CHAS CHILD

A new committee to advise Canton's Board of Trustees on its farmland preservation program was approved by the board last Tuesday. The new group, however, apparently was not given broad powers to direct the program, as recommended by the township's Planning Commission.

The program's director, Trustee Robert Greenstein, argued against the formation of a formal committee, as recommended by the planning commission, saying it would be premature.

He proposed an "advisory" committee instead, which was approved by the board on a 4-3 vote.

Bob Padgett, chairman of the planning commission, said the advisory committee would not be strong enough to push the preservation program forward. "Loose liaisons (the advisory group) come up with loose actions," he said.

A formal committee, with specific charges and responsibilities, is needed to bring the various factions of the township together, he added. Farmers, subdivision dwellers, planning commissions, and others should be on the committee Padgett said.

"A lack of unification has hurt the program," said Padgett. "Unless something is done to unify the factions, we'll be sitting here (just) talking in three years as we are now. As time goes on, the chances for success get slimmer and slimmer."

A supporter of the program, Padgett chaired a committee which educated voters on the program before the 1978 farmland preservation vote. On the ballot in the general election was a four-mill request to pay for the program. It was narrowly defeated.

Other persons spoke against Greenstein's proposal for merely an advisory committee, including Bart Berg, a former planning commissioner. "We've let too much time lapse since the last election," he said. "We should go back to the voters soon, like the schools, who come back time and time again until they get what they want."

The planning commission had proposed the new board because it believed Greenstein, the program's director, has not pursued the program as vigorously as possible, especially on the local level.

Greenstein admitted last Tuesday that he had spent most of his efforts on obtaining state or federal funds for the preservation program. "It may be true that not enough has been done on the local level, but we needed to try hard to seek alternatives. I don't think the voters will give you a dime until we've exhausted other sources."

In 1978, at the time of the four-mill vote, the cost of the program was estimated at $16 million. Today it would presumably cost more because of inflation, higher loan interest rates, and rising land prices.

"Until we have funding, I don't think there should be a (formal) board," Greenstein said. "But I have no objection to an advisory board."

He added that the township might know in three or four months whether a bill in the U.S. Congress will pass and provide funds for Canton's program.

Treasurer Jim Donahue supported Greenstein's motion to create the advisory committee. And Trustee Stephen Larson and Carol Bodenmiller added their votes to pass the motion. Supervisor Noel Culbert, Clerk John Flodin, and Trustee Eugene Daley voted against the proposal.

The motion gave Greenstein the authority to submit candidates and possible functions of the committee to the board for its approval.

Farmland bill endorsed by board

State legislation that would permit charter townships to purchase farmland "development rights" was endorsed by Canton's Board of Trustees last Tuesday.

A proposed amendment to the state's charter-township act, the legislation will be introduced by State Sen. William Faust, whose district includes Canton.

If approved by the Legislature, charter townships, like Canton, could purchase from land owners the right to develop their land.

Canton's attorney, Bert Burgoyne, said the amendment is necessary to shelter the township from possible lawsuits over its proposed program to preserve about 5,000 acres of farmland west of Canton Center Road.

Under the program, some township officials hope to save agriculture in Canton by obtaining the development rights of the land.

Trustee Robert Greenstein, the township's farmland preservation director, worked with Faust and his aides on writing the amendment. "This bill is exactly what we want," said Greenstein.

The board endorsed the bill 6-1, with Trustee Eugene Daley voting "no."

ROY HALL
Plymouth Fire Chief

The City of Plymouth has a new fire chief. Roy A. Hall, 47, and a 28-year veteran of the Redford Township fire department, has been appointed to the post by City Manager Henry Graper. He will officially take office March 1.

Hall was introduced to the City Commission Monday night as were his wife, four daughters and four grandsons.

"During the screening and interview process, it was apparent to the Committee that he was an excellent candidate for the position of Fire Chief of the City of Plymouth.

"He will bring to us a distinction of a long tenure of service in a department which has functioned as both a volunteer and full-time. He has served in literally every capacity in that department with a great degree of emphasis on training," Graper said.

CITY HALL VETERANS Charles Groth and Carol Groth are leaving the city. The husband-wife team was the first to serve as department heads, he as acting fire chief, she as acting treasurer. Groth had applied for the permanent chief's job and said, "I would have stayed longer if I would have gotten the chief's job," adding that he was "disappointed" the city hired an outsider for the post. "When they go outside, they're doing something to bust morale in the department because these people here see they've nothing to work towards," said the 30-year veteran of the city's fire squad. Carol has worked for the city nearly 24 years.

Red-faced Twp. officials return dog-catcher to budget

Plymouth Township officials were a bit red-faced last week after they discovered that they had forgotten to include the allocation to pay the township dog warden in the 1980 budget.

"Oh, it was just an oversight," said Supervisor Tom Notebaert, adding that "the money's there in our contingency fund. We just forgot to allocate it."

The problem arose when the dog warden's $9,400 salary was transferred from the treasurer's account to the building department's ordinance enforcement account, said Notebaert. "We'll just have to transfer the money from one account to the other," he said.

As an added note, township officials didn't forget to count the sale of dog licenses as part of the township's income, even though they forgot to include the warden's salary.

Culbert proposes state farm board

To help local communities in Michigan preserve farmland, Canton Supervisor Noel Culbert has proposed a state-wide committee to coordinate their efforts.

Culbert said he realized the need for such a committee after talking last week with State Rep. Alice Tomboulia, who is working on farm-preservation legislation in Lansing.

"We started talking and I found out I had no idea she had introduced some preservation legislation in the state legislation," said Culbert. "So I believe we should have some sort of state-wide committee to coordinate and unify our efforts."

"We (local communities in Michigan) could move together and learn from our mistakes and progress," he added.

Tomboulia said she thought such a state-wide committee would be helpful. "I will be talking with a number of people soon to try to organize it," she added.

Her bills in the legislature would create agricultural districts in local communities that would protect farmers from development pressures, she said.

Also, her legislation would exempt farmland from non-farm special assessments, like millages for sewers, street lights, etc.

Tomboulia represents the 61st district, which includes northern Pontiac and townships in northeastern Oakland County.

Man arraigned for molesting child

A Plymouth resident was arraigned Saturday on charges of sexually molesting a four-year-old girl.

James Stuart Sartwell, 25, of 886 N. Mill, was released on $2,500 bond by 35th District Court Judge Dunbar Davis.

According to police, on Jan. 12 the mother of the four-year-old heard her speaking in a rented room in Plymouth's Old Village.

After knocking on the door, the mother heard a man within say he'd be to the door shortly, said police.

The mother then left to get a girl friend of hers, said the report. They returned and found the girl in the hall, said police.

The four-year-old told police she had been molested. The man appeared, the report said, and, after an argument with the mother, left the building.

Sartwell was arrested and arraigned on Saturday after he was brought into the Plymouth police station on an unrelated charge, said police.

The pre-trial hearing is scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 24, before Judge Davis.

FUTURE HOME OF:
CANTON'S
 FARMLAND PRESERVATION

YERKED the Community Crier

After nearly six years of festering, a large wound in the Plymouth Community is on its way towards healing.

The Plymouth City Commission's unanimous vote to withdraw the pending annexation petitions against Plymouth Township Monday night was a long-awaited step towards governmental cooperation.

Not only did the Plymouth City Commission err originally by filing the three annexation petitions on the eve of a consolidation election between the two communities, but the city administration botched the job as well.

With the recent decision of the Ingham County Circuit Court overturning the Michigan boundary commission, it became apparent that the city had little if any hope in continuing annexation attempts against the township.

Sensing that, Plymouth City Attorney Charles Lowe wisely advised the commission that little legal recourse remained, considering the negative reactions annexation has caused.

The commission wisely took Lowe's nudging and since there's a whole new commission from 1974 and a new city manager as well, the action taken Monday night may now restore the two communities -- united in spirit if not in legalities -- to a friendly status.

Next on the agenda of Plymouth and Plymouth Township should be to work out a common police-protection system. That would not only fill needs on both sides, but also demonstrate that city and township folks can sit down together at the same table.

We've editorialized for withdrawing the petitions before and after waiting these many years, applaud this city commission for taking the necessary step.

At long last, the onerous annexation petitions are gone and unification between the city and the township can begin again in earnest. We could see the resulting cooperation developing into a landmark for the state.

Land program needs umph

An opportunity to move ahead quickly on Canton's farmland preservation efforts was fumbled by the Board of Trustees last Tuesday.

The board failed to establish a strong farmland preservation board that would get the program off dead center. Instead, the board bought an alternative proposed by Trustee Robert Greenstein to establish a watered-down version of a formal board -- a so-called advisory board.

It's been more than a year since Canton voters narrowly defeated a four-mill request to fund the program. Although the measure lost, the public was at that time well aware of the program and its accompanying issues. But township officials, primarily Greenstein, the farmland preservation director, frittered this momentum away.

Greenstein has done little to build support among the farmers and other landholders in the proposed preservation district. And he has neglected to keep the program alive among the subdivision dwellers.

This is why the Planning Commission proposed the formal farmland preservation board -- to get the program moving, with the help of all factions in the township.

Apparently the advisory panel approved by the board won't do this job. Greenstein will recommend the members and the board's functions to the board for its approval.

In fact, Planning Commission Chairman Bob Padget said the advisory committee would simply mean more delays, adding that he wouldn't serve on it.

The township board lost excellent chance to put some life back in the preservation efforts. It can still recoup some of what's gone by taking a close look at the committee's functions, which will be proposed by Greenstein. Let's hope the board doesn't lose this chance, too.

Vote 'no' on school bond

EDITOR:

It was very interesting reading the letter from the Central Middle School staff and the staff at West Middle School regarding the keeping of the middle-school philosophy and how the Board (of Education) should consider the educational soundness before financial soundness.

I hope our readers remember this when we have negotiations and when West and East go on ESY and their teachers bump Central teachers.

Why did some of you state to your students in the last few months that you didn't want the 9th graders as you have enough problems with the 8th graders? It is not education of our children that you are concerned with, it's the expected discipline problems -- you know it and so do your students and parents.

What happens with the high school students at the Park when you add another high school? There is no space for them to eat now. Go out there and see the crowded conditions. Don't you care about them?

I urge all the taxpayers and voters to get out and vote "no" on this waste of money -- don't stay home and think it will not pass -- go vote "no."

The secretaries should receive the same increases as the teachers' or more. We know they care about our children, all of them.

By W. EDWARD WENDOVER

Although the practice of investing tax money to earn interest before it is needed is a sensible idea for government, it is not so smart when it flaunts the law or the official way a city says it is conducting business.

According to the 1978-1979 City of Plymouth audit, the city was some nine months overdue in paying its $133,840 rent to the Municipal Building Authority for the Cultural Center.

The city had the money on its books, but simply chose to invest it in places where it earns more money than the interest the Municipal Building Authority pays on its bonds. This is not an unusual practice.

But it does violate the city's agreement to lease the building from its financing arm. The city's auditors pointed this up, but also noted that the bonds were not in jeopardy of default since the city had the money and would cough it up whenever a bond payment is due.

While it isn't desirable to make a mountain out of a molehill here, the city should alter its agreements and ordinances to allow for such reinvestment when, in the long run, it is benefitting the taxpayers without hurting the bondholders. A similar streamlining charge was made in the Cultural Center agreement in 1973.

Certainly, prospective bondholders would be interested in seeing the city's repayments run according to Hoyle. And so should city taxpayers and officials.

Schools can save $8 million by grade realignment

EDITOR:

After reading the article in The Crier I cannot understand why you did not inform your readers that our students can be housed without the $8 million for changing Central Middle School to a high school. And you failed to mention that a new high school must be constructed at the Park in keeping with K-5, 6-8, 9-12.

Why didn't you tell the readers that school board members Arlen, Kirchgatter, Stetz and Harper could have saved the taxpayers money by re-aligning the grades K-6, 7-9, 10-12.

No way will we vote for this as other school district administrators and teachers laugh and say "there is no difference, they have brain washed you in the middle school philosophy." Call them -- learning goes on in the classroom.

Secretaries are responsible

EDITOR:

Who holds the key as to why the secretarial association of our district is not moving to a fair and just contract? The secretarial group holds the second most important part in the district (teachers first) and you had better believe this:

Just think for a minute of the various facets and departments in which these people are employed. More responsibility is carried than you could ever imagine. This district is kept running smoothly through the competent secretarial association at the helm. How do you think all the material is prepared for a Board Meeting (not by the administrator)?

Perhaps, there are areas in the district that the secretarial association knows too much about such as their constant working with budget figures not only at the central office but in the schools and other departments. This is just one example!

People of the community, you had better become active and aware of situations in the school district. A bond issue will be coming up and board members will be again running for office -- don't be fooled into something without full investigation. All we ask is you think and think hard!!

Board members unconcerned

EDITOR:

It is hard for me to believe how Plymouth-Canton School Board members Steve Harper, Dick Arlen, Elaine Kirchgatter and Sylvia Stetz can be so unconcerned for the taxpayers and the children of this school district.

Due to their vote they have told us that we are going to have another high school at the Park and convert Central Middle School into still another high school to handle the crowded conditions of the 9-12 grade students that is expected.

West and East Middle school will go on ESY -- are you, the taxpayer willing to pay for air conditioners and for additional teachers (6 for each school) along with all the other added cost such as staff (office and administration.)

I am sure and all of you remember, "Will Kirchgatter and Stetz send their students to the high school at Central?" Harper and Arlen do not have children in the school system so would not be affected.

I called the state Department of Education and was told that more school districts in Michigan have K-6, 7-9, and 10-12 alignment than what we have. They also said there is no evidence that either alignment is better for kids.

Please realign the grades K-6, 7-9 and 10-12 -- no cost to the taxpayers for new buildings and no renovating of Central Middle School to another high school, no ESY costs. Yes there will be a major boundary change but there will be major boundary changes if all middle schools go on ESY.

It will be interesting to see how much your folly is going to cost the taxpayers, board members Harper, Arlen, Kirchgatter and Stetz. I'm sure decisions such as these are why the Taylor School District is broke. Their community lost faith in their government.

ROBERT HANIS

Isn't sad we elected these people?

EDITOR:

I (a taxpayer of the community for several years) attended the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board Meeting last night (Jan. 14) and came away very sorry for such an incompetent, naive group of people who sit and listen to concerns of the citizens, etc., and answer as though pulled by puppet strings. Isn't it sad that we voted these people into office.

When an educated, professional group (secretarial association), whose president and chief negotiator spoke about their contract last night -- all Mr. Yack could say was go to mediation -- he believed a date had been set. Something is very, very wrong!

If the group does go to mediation, it will be the second time this year that a group has had to do this for a contract. That doesn't make our district look good at all. They would rather pay the cost of this than settle a contract.

On the other hand -- at another meeting earlier in December that I attended, the top administrators such as Mr. Ray Hoedel and Mr. Norm Kee etc. received a very good raise plus double their salary in life insurance -- there you are speaking of around $40,000 a year each for insurance alone plus a raise in traveling expense.

Other administrators at the central office such as Dr. Bowman, Dr. Telford and Mr. Bartnick (only to mention several of them) all received 1% on their base pay increase plus around 9% raise. The Executive Secretaries also received the same pay increase.

Now you are really talking money again! There was no talk about mediation about those raises.

It is time our board members find out the true facts and stand up to be counted -- let go of the strings!!

IPSEP story

EDITOR:

Thank you for publishing the informative article concerning the IPSEP program in your Dec. 26, 1979 issue.

Greater strides have been made in recent years for care and education of special children. The potential for these people is much greater than ever imagined.

With support of family, friends, and neighbors the community, and especially programs and people like IPSEP, Lauren Gusfa and Michelle Cofin, and others like them, will be as normal and self sufficient as possible.

Articles such as this will further educate the public and create an awareness for people who might be in need of this program. It should also increase the sensitivity of people who have traditionally regarded retardation in the lowest terms.

Lauren Gusfa, I am proud to report, is my niece.

SHOULD YOU REFINANCE?

There are two good reasons for refinancing a mortgage -- to replace a high cost loan with a cheaper one or to convert accumulated equity into usable cash.

In an inflationary setting, your chances of reducing costs by rewriting a loan taken out years ago are zilch. You will pay more for today's money.

Still, there could be circumstances where an old loan had become burdensome and a new loan for a smaller amount or a longer term or both might reduce monthly carrying charges despite interest. Figure the effect before you go this route, though.

Also, there may be other good reasons for refinancing to raise cash. Even though interest rates are sky-high, mortgaging a home still ranks among the cheapest way the ordinary person has to borrow sizable chunks of cash.

Whether such a move is wise depends on why you want to do it. It would be imprudent to tap this basic asset for frivolous purpose. But putting kids through college or a once-in-a-lifetime business opportunity might be worthy reasons.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at REALTY WORLD, Wm. Decker, Inc. Realtors, 670 S. Main St. Plymouth. Phone: 455-8400. We're here to help!

County PR official 'amazed at off-the-cuff pot shots at commissioners'

EDITOR:

As a long-time resident of Plymouth Township and Asst. Public Information Coordinator for Wayne County's Board of Commissioners, I am somewhat amazed at your editorial condemning a county lottery.

I am more amazed at your off-the-cuff pot shots at the commissioners. In fact, to my knowledge, you have studiously avoided county government coverage, have never had a representative at county meetings, and are considerably lax in the use of facts to support your theories.

For a county newspaper to overlook the daily operations of county government is nothing less than withholding pertinent information from taxpayers who have a right to know where their dollars are going.

The educated editor, rather than make such outlandish assertions as "it would be difficult to trust the county commissioners" and "it will take honesty on the part of the Wayne County Commissioners" would have taken the trouble to learn what county government is all about and realize county commissioners do not run around with taxpayers' money stuffed in their pockets.

Commissioners do not spend money, they allocate funds to various departments, most of which are state mandated. The Board of Auditors make recommendations that will hopefully result in a balanced budget and the Board of Commissioners try to stretch the tax dollars to cover the operations.

The commissioners must appropriate funds to operate the court system, the sheriff's dept., the prosecutor, etc., and have a moral mandate to provide help for the seniors and indigents.

Much was made of last year's $18.2 million deficit, but little was revealed of the reasons why. When the 1978-79 budget was prepared the courts were asked to present their requirements to last for the whole year. When they came back for a healthy subsidy mid-year the commissioners pointed out they had been given their yearly funds and would not be given additional appropriations. To do so would throw the budget out of balance.

The courts simply brought suit against the county to provide the funds and then threatened the commissioners with contempt of court if they didn't. This is a prime example of the judiciary usurping the powers of the legislative branch of government. A suit to halt this action is pending.

No government is perfect and it is true the Wayne County government needs to be touched-up through reorganization. It is also true the Board of Commissioners is cognizant of this fact and passed a resolution June 12, 1979 agreeing to reorganization. But Governor Milliken's legislators must first provide statutes and guidelines allowing the reorganization.

To the naive editor, there is much politicking behind the scenes. County and state government is a far cry from the small village council and it behooves the editor to investigate such animals -- explore the world, look around -- find out what power politics is all about.

Why do you think Milliken refused to help Wayne County? Simply to reorganize the county? Do you think Milliken will fill his term of office? Why was Brickley brought back? Why is the coming Republican Convention important to Milliken, Why is he trying to pry out of Lansing a $250,000 special appropriation to fund the convention? All of these apparent side issues have a direct bearing on "bailing out" Wayne County.

In addition to the proposed county lottery, another lottery plan is already in Lansing awaiting action. It asks that 10 per cent of the current State Lottery game revenues be returned to the individual counties (83) where the ticket sales originate. Wayne County players contribute 45 per cent of the total sales amounting to $164 million annually.

The state, in the meantime, directs all revenues into the State General Fund from which legislators allocate funds for various and sundry items. The public was flim-flammed into believing the money went to support state education and that's why the lottery bill passed.

Your assertion that lottery players come from low-income groups will greatly surprise those who make such surveys. Your reference to the affluent of Plymouth Township and Canton is another misnomer. Most of the new homeowners are carrying huge mortgage, insurance, and tax payments necessitating an income from all members of the family in order to "get by."

If you doubt this, talk to any real estate salesman engaged in local home sales. If you'll talk to George McEachran, County Director of Taxation, you'll discover local taxes in Plymouth are going up -- rather have already gone up -- 9 per cent this year and will go up 15 per cent in Canton next year.

Couple this with unemployment for at least one member of a two-job family and you might choke over the affluent impression. Those of us who managed to buy homes several years ago at much lower interest rates are -- thankfully -- far better off.

In any event, there are two lottery proposals pending. Both will benefit local taxpayers, both will mean expanded services for those unfortunate souls less "affluent," and both are utilizing the gambling desires of persons already afflicted with the cursed disease -- be they rich or poor. Better the money trickle into public service coffers than the pockets of the unclean.

If we can be of service to you in providing your readers with facts concerning Wayne County Government please feel free to utilize the Wayne County Public Information Dept., 224-5025.

Abortion is heart of women's rights

EDITOR:

I just finished reading your newspaper's article on Gloria Steinem's recent visit. Some of what she said gets my whole-hearted approval; some issues leave me stone cold, such as hyper-ventilating over the use of the word "crafts" as something that natives do rather than women. One of her statements left me angry.

It is against my better judgement to take pen in hand because the issue is so volatile, but if I remain quiet, the Gloria Steinems of the world will seem a majority voice. The dissenters, like myself, may find ourselves maneuvered into an untenable position simply because we failed to "speak up" or write. So here goes.

One of the goals for the women's movement during the 1980's, according to Steinem, includes "making reproductive freedom a reality." I believe the issue, stripped of its fancy dress is, in stark-naked reality, the issue of abortion. I make that fantastic conclusion based on the overwhelming availability of contraceptives that can ensure "reproductive freedom" for those wise enough to use them before indulging in intercourse.

Abortion is an emotionally charged issue; those who are in favor of it are no less easily persuaded against it than those who are opposed to it can be easily persuaded to see the issue from the other point of view.

Still, knowing the wrath that will fall around my ears, I persist. There is a difference between prevention and termination. The message ought to be simple: If you don't want children, don't have them. There are all kinds of preventatives available. If a woman becomes pregnant she has, willing-community opinions

ly or not, begun another life and, I feel, has no right to terminate it.

It is no secret that the weakest and most vulnerable segments of our society are the ones which receive the most abuse; their powerlessness invites abuse. Women, who have long been part of the vulnerable segment, are now beginning to secure their relative safety through changes within the power structure.

The ultimate irony is that women, through their emergence from vulnerability into power, should then exercise their newfound power over the completely vulnerable fetus. Who is there to protect the rights of the child?

Yes, I know that even the courts have difficulty defining the beginning of life: that "viability" is the present measure -- meaning that an infant is able to survive outside and apart from its mother. I also know that at 10 weeks (2½ months) a fetus has feet, arms, legs, a head and a body. It certainly looks human!

I also know that from the moment of conception everything that makes an absolutely unique human being is present. All it needs is nourishment and time to grow viable.

I'm certain that there will be feminists who are enraged at my position. I'm also certain that there is a large body of women who, while sympathetic to the feminist movement in general, are turned off by some of the movement's goals. I'm one of them.

MARILYN RICKARD

Crier columnist doesn't serve women's rights

EDITOR:

It would seem to me Ms. Bartold's access to newspaper print would have been more profitable for all readers, especially women, had she used Gloria Steinem's visit as a chance to quote the real statistics regarding ERA, women in decision-making roles and the pitiful gains in equal pay for equal work. "We're off on the right step, Ladies," sounds like the end of a slim and trim class.

Plymouth-Canton will remain "the last outpost" if women like Ms. Bartold can also write a column based solely on a Ma Bell brochure without checking the facts.

Obviously she never cared about or requested her name be listed in the phone book or she would have called to do so. Now she "urges all women to use this service." I suggest we get the facts and then mention their availability as options and choices.

Back from San Jose, band stages 'Variety Is...'

Seventy-five strong, the Centennial Educational Park's Symphony Band took off from Detroit-Metropolitan Airport Friday morning heading for San Francisco, Cal.

Band members returned home to Plymouth-Canton Tuesday morning, just in time to join their fellow musicians in last-minute preparations for the band show "Variety Is . . ." The 15th annual band show will take the stage at Salem Auditorium on Friday, Jan. 25 and Saturday, Jan. 26. Curtain time for both performances is 8 p.m.

"Variety Is . . ." features the high school concert and varsity bands as well as the jazz and symphony bands.

The emcees for the show are Pat Collins and Drew Hosey. Also included in the show are a pantomime act, presented by CEP drama students, and several skits, including "The Return of Hans and Fritz," "Tuna Fish," "Flight of the Bumblebee," "Chariot of the Gods," and "The Fourmer Freshman." The show will conclude with a musical number by the CEP Marching Band.

Tickets for the show are available at the door or can be purchased from band students. They cost $6 for a family of six, $2 for adults, $1.50 for students and $1 for senior citizens.

Band director is James R. Griffith and the associate director is Carl Battishill. Both accompanied the band to California.

On Friday morning, the band landed in San Francisco at 10:54 California time (1:54 Detroit time) and started rehearsals and setting up for its performance at 2 p.m. Saturday. They performed in the finale concert of the Western International Band Clinic at the San Jose Convention Center Auditorium in San Jose. On Friday and Saturday nights, band members stayed with members of the Piedmont High School band and their families.

Saturday afternoon's concert included selections featuring everything from ragtime to Bach.

Griffith led the band in its opening number, "Apocalypse" by Robert Jager followed by "Parade" and "Pacific Celebration Suite" by Roger Nixon. "Apocalypse" is a musical represented of the mythical "four horsemen of the apocalypse -- disease, death, pestilence, and war."

Third on the concert program was "Concertino for Marimba and Band" by Paul Creston, featuring Martin Jabara on marimba. Jabara is a former percussionist with the Plymouth High School Band and is now a resident of San Jose.

"Dreams of a Psychopath" by Mike Francis followed along with "Come Sweet Death" by J. S. Bach. Battishill was the guest conductor of the piece in San Jose.

"Tribute to Rudy Wiedoeft," featuring Salem senior Mark Thrasher on alto saxophone, was next on the program, followed by a ragtime medley of three saxophone solos popular in the early 1920s.

Also included in the concert program was "Zebulin" by John Oneschak, "We are Coming March," written to signify the United State's entrance into World War I, and the "Children's March" by Percy Grainger.

The concert concluded with "Wedding Dance" from the pictorial suite by Jacques Press, "Hasseneh."

During their four-day stay in California, band members visited Fisherman's Wharf, China Town, Alcatraz, and Pier 39.

The band headed homeward Monday night with a stop-over at Chicago's O'Hare Airport and landed in Detroit Tuesday morning at 9 a.m.

Band members were responsible for paying the trip themselves. It cost a total of $433 per student, which included lodging and meals; however, each student paid $371 because $62 was deducted from the initial price after the students sold band decals last fall.

To kick-off the California trip, the band also performed at Ann Arbor's Hill Auditorium on Thursday night at the 35th Annual Midwestern Conference on School Vocal and Instrumental Music.

Chaperones for the California trip were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Thrasher, Mr. and Mrs. W. Upton, Mrs. Kitchen, Mrs. Lattin, Mrs. McGrath and CEP band director James Griffith and his wife along with Carl Battishill.

THE EMCEES for "Variety Is . . .", the 15th annual band show, are Drew Hosey and Pat Collins. The show features the concert, varsity, jazz, and symphony bands in concert as well as an assortment of other dramatic and musical skits. (Photo by Steve Stetu)

Have you ever tried playing one of those electronic games? You know the things I mean -- those little pieces of plastic that go beep every 10 seconds, need a new battery every five days, and cost a fortune.

They were the hottest-selling item this year for Christmas. I think every kid (including some older kids) got one, except for mine. You can't imagine how tragic it is to be the only two kids in the whole world who didn't get an electronic game for Christmas.

After the holidays, my little darlings counted up their money, and went out and bought their own electronic games. Now shopping for an electronic game is much different than shopping for just any old game. There are many different kinds, made by different companies, and they all do different things. It's very important to pick out just the right game, however I'm not sure anyone knows just what that "right game" is.

My theory of them being a rip-off was proven when I saw long lines of people waiting to exchange broken electronic games after Christmas. However, that's just one of my theories that the rest of the family disagrees with. If I had any smarts, I'd invest in a company that makes batteries. They must be making a million off these silly games.

I must admit, my curiosity got the best of me and I learned how to play the games. They're really not as big a waste as I thought they were. In fact, they're kind of fun to play.

I guess my biggest dislike for the game is seeing myself as an uncoordinated fool, who finally after weeks of trying, made a touchdown, only to discover I was running the ball in the wrong direction.

Mike Jabara, son of Jim and Jean Jabara of Plymouth, received a masters degree in Business Administration from Pepperdine University. The school is a private university devoted to business and management, located in Malibu, Calif. Jim and Jean were in California for the commencement in December.

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra recently received a $1,475 grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts. The grant was used to support the Childrens concert held in December. It was the first time the symphony performed a concert for children.

Feeling lonely? Newcomers meet in self-help group

Are you a woman who's just moved to the Plymouth-Canton Community? Are you feeling depressed, isolated, or overwhelmed by the move and all the changes accompanying it?

If you've answered "yes" to these questions, then perhaps a self-help group called the New Residents Relocation Group is for you. Designed to aid both homemakers and career women, the six-week program begins Thursday, Feb. 7 from 3 to 4:30 p.m.

The program is offered by the Plymouth Family Services and is led by social worker Tish Neidhardt from the Child and Family Service of Washtenaw County. Suggested fee is $30 and adjustments can be made according to the person's ability to pay. The group will meet at the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce office, corner of Wing and Forest Streets, Plymouth.

To reserve a spot, call her at 971-6520 or call Plymouth Family Service at 453-0890.

Plymouth Family Services is also offering other sessions. A Marital Separation Group for both men and women separated or divorced less than one year will meet Wednesdays beginning Feb. 6 from 7 to 9 p.m. at Plymouth Family Services.

Led by social worker Susan Pierson, the eight-week program will provide information and an opportunity to share experiences and support. The fee is $40 which includes eight sessions and a preliminary interview.

Issues in Living and Single Life, a discussion to be held Feb. 28 and March 6, will highlight the challenge of developing a quality single life. Diane Farber will lead the group which will meet at the Ann Arbor Y from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. There's a $15 fee.

A program for senior citizens, Well-Being for Older Adults, focuses on the needs of the group members, which may include loss of health, loneliness, dealing with adult children, and coping with aging. A group began meeting Jan. 22 and there's no fee for participants.

For adult children of older parents, a seven-week course will focus on role shifts as parents grow older. Called The Third Generation: As Parents Grow Older, the course will begin Feb. 20.

Also being offered, starting March 3, is Stepfamilies, a six-week group for step-parents and their needs. Other courses include Adoption Revisited, a six-week group for adoptive parents of school-age children and Parenthood After 30, a one-evening discussion group to talk about becoming a parent after age 30.

Since each of these groups meets in various locations and the fees vary, you can call the Plymouth Family Service for more information at 453-0890.

Check out art

Several new paintings and other works of art are now available to rent from the Plymouth Community Arts Council Rental Gallery in Plymouth.

They include "Front Porch" by Rick Burger, "Child in Blue" by Sharon Richwine, and "Misty Waters" by H. Scott Hartley.

Burger, an award-winning artist from Rochester, painted "Front Porch" which is a warm rustic scene from the past, while Richwine's "Child in Blue" is a detailed batik. Also an award-winning artist, Richwine has displays in galleries in Ohio and Mackinac Island. She is from Columbus, Ohio.

Hartley's paintings may be familiar to fall-festival patrons. His works have been on display at the arts and crafts show of the festival.

The rental gallery is located upstairs in the Dunning-Hough Library and is open on Tuesdays and Wednesdays during library hours from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Pioneer kids step lively

They sang and danced and paraded on stage Thursday evening at Pioneer Middle School during the annual variety show "Steppin' Out."

"Steppin' out" was a blend of old and new and featured a range of numbers from the classical "Brandenburg Concerto No. 6" by violinists Jin Soo Kim and Larry Janiga to "Shake Your Groove Thing" by hula-hoop-dancer Debbie Bähna.

The show was directed by teachers Sally Yentz and Cathy McLogan.

$8 million allocated by the board members. The board considered spending from $5 to $12 million on renovating Central.

Hoben recommended taking a "wait-and-see approach" in determining if additional space is needed at the CEP. School board members countered that, however, by saying that additional space at the CEP will be needed.

"The students are already here if you look at the 'bulge' fourth grade now. We will need additional space at the CEP to house those students who are already enrolled in classes (at elementary and middle schools) now," said Board Member Flossie Tonda.

School Board President Tom Yack said the difference between the two proposals (to realign grades or not) is small. "The two issues are very close. The idea of realigning grades did not include putting additional classrooms on at the CEP," he said.

Furthermore, he said the difference between the administration's proposal and the proposal tentatively adopted by the school board is basically the difference between renovating Central Middle School for about $5 million and renovating Central for about $8 million. The other difference is the $5 million for putting in additional space at the CEP included in the board's final package, but not the administration's proposal.

Yack called the bond proposal "a conservative one compared to what we could have done if we'd had a blank check."

On Monday morning (Jan. 21), Ray hoedel, the assistant superintendent of business for the school district, met with state officials from the State Board of Education and the municipal bond authority. Before an election date can be set, state officials review the proposal and give their approval.

One question which still must be settled by the school board is identifying which students will attend Central Middle when it become a high school. The school will be renovated to house 1,200 students who will probably start attending classes there in the fall of 1981.

Some board members have suggested that students in particular programs, such as students following a college-bound curricula, go to Central. The school board has not made any decisions on who will attend classes and which programs will be offered there.

Commissioner Eldon Martin and seconded by Commissioner Dave Pugh.

If no appeals of the Jan. 3 decision are received by today, the boundary commission will begin the process of determination for the next petition -- that of seeking to annex the entire township to the city. "We're obliged by law to bring that petition along," said James Hyde, executive secretary for the boundary commission.

"There are no provisions either within the law or within our administrative rules to allow for not bringing a conclusion once the petitions are on file," Hyde said Tuesday after learning of the city commission's action.

Under the law, the boundary commission must now hold a public hearing on the petition within 220 days from Jan. 3 -- the date when the last annexation petition was officially completed by the court decision.

Hyde said the boundary commission would take the city's change of heart into account at that hearing.

Following disposition of the petition seeking annexation of the entire township, the boundary commission must then go through the entire process with the Hillside petition as well.

Symphony to feature violist Margret Lang

Tired of the dreary weather? On Sunday, Jan. 27, the Plymouth Symphony will present three dances from "The Bartered Bride" by Bedrich Smetana, a concerto for viola and orchestra by William Walton, and Symphony No. 1 in D Major by Gustav Mahler. The program begins at 4 p.m. at the Salem High School auditorium.

MARGARET LANG

Mahler wrote his First Symphony as an evocation of Spring. Filled with cuckoo calls and other alpine spring sounds, the first movement was described by Mahler as "the awakening of nature from its long winter's sleep."

Also featured on the program will be Plymouthite Margaret Lang, who will be the soloist in William Walton's "Concerto for Viola."

Lang has been very active in area competitions and music groups. She played with the Plymouth Symphony for three years, as well as being featured soloist with the Plymouth High School and Youth orchestras. She was a frequent winner of PSO scholarships and in 1973 won the Isbister Award as an outstanding musician.

For six summers Lang attended the Interlochen Music Camp in northern Michigan. In 1976 she won a scholarship from the Detroit Musicians Union to attend a summer music workshop for strings, held in Cincinnati, Ohio. Only 30 students were chosen from the nation for the workshop.

Lang served as principal violist for this group as well as performing as soloist in a major work by Paul Hindemith that summer.

She is presently a member of the Vuillaume Quartet, a resident string quartet of the Ann Arbor Chamber Orchestra. This group hopes to stay together and to perform more widely in Michigan and Ohio during the next season. Following this performance, Lang's next appearance as soloist will be with Jill Rowley and the Ann Arbor Chamber Orchestra performing Mozart's Symphonie Concertante on March 23.

Mark Flint, music director for the Michigan Opera Theatre, will be back as guest conductor. Since he was with the symphony last October, Flint has joined the faculty of Oakland University as the Director of Opera Workshops and is looking forward to directing "Il Trovatore" with the Seoul National Opera in Korea later this year.

Tickets for the concert will be available at the door. Advance sale tickets may be purchased at Beitner Jewelry on Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth Book World on Forest St., and Heide's Flowers, Ann Arbor Trail at Harvey. Cost of tickets is $4 for adults and $2 for senior citizens. Students, kindergarten through 12th grade, are admitted free. A Girl Scout troop will provide baby-sitting for pre-schoolers during the concert.

Free transportation for senior citizens is provided from Tonquish Creek Manor at 3:15 p.m. on the afternoon of the concert. This concert is made possible with the support of the State of Michigan through a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts and a gift from the Ford Motor Co.

Law applied for city job

BOB LAW, the state representative from Livonia who recently abruptly resigned his post and has since been appointed legislative liaison for Gov. William Milliken, had applied for the Plymouth City Manager's job while still a representative. Law said a city commissioner has asked him to apply and while he is "keeping his options open" by throwing his name in the ring, withdrew early on. The governor's new lobbyist is the brother of Plymouth Township Trustee Gerald Law.

I'M PROUD OF PLYMOUTH

THE PLYMOUTH Jaycees and Jaycettes have kicked off its Pride in Plymouth campaign to celebrate the 60th anniversary of the founding of the Jaycees. The bumper sticker, above, are distributed in the community, along with posters for store windows, tours of Plymouth, post cards and buttons, as part of the campaign. A "I am proud of Plymouth" breakfast at Emma's Restaurant in Plymouth yesterday kicked off the campaign.

Jaycees stress community involvement

A person could spend a countless amount of dollars and time enrolled in programs providing basic skills like personal dynamics, speech and time management -- or he could join the Plymouth Jaycees and receive this training in one comprehensive program.

Founded 60 years ago, the Jaycees claim a national membership of over 400,000 and a statewide membership of 17,000. For $22 per year, members may participate in courses in leadership dynamics, parliamentary procedure, speech, time management and personal finances.

The programs are taught by people with professional experience in different areas. For example, a General Motors or Ford executive might teach a course in time management, and a state representative or county commissioner would head the program dealing with parliamentary procedure.

Plymouth Jaycee President Randy Shoemaker said individual development is the basis of a successful Jaycee chapter.

"We try to do a lot of good in our community, but we also want to develop future leaders for the community," he said. "A part of that development is taking some of the many courses and programs offered through the U.S. and Michigan Jaycees."

The Jaycees are open to men between the ages of 18 and 35. For more information, contact Randy Shoemaker, 455-2248, or Jim Owens, 459-1597.

New officers elected

The Canton Jaycees recently elected new officers and directors for the year. Rick Haller was elected secretary; Chuck Eaton was chosen as the vice president for community action; and Richard Forbes is the new vice president of chapter management.

Jim Hayes was appointed as the district K-1 director. Walt Chapotan, Steve Foley, John Mudrio, and Don Meigal were elected to serve as directors.

Flora wins backgammon

Plymouthite Scottie Flora won a second-place during eliminations for the grand championship playoffs in backgammon Jan. 12. The tournament, which was sponsored by the American Backgammon Club, drew more than 60 contestants at the Plymouth Hilton

Other winners were Ralph Webb of Westland, the 1979 grand champion, who took first place and Tom Szpond of Redford who took third place. Webb also won a folding backgammon board and Szpond took a tabletop backgammon board home.

Rotary raises money for library

A BENEFIT DINNER sponsored by the Rotary Club of Canton raised $1,200 for the Canton Public Library. The dinner was held Dec. 3 at the Roman Forum Restaurant in Canton. Rotary Club members volunteered their time publicizing the dinner, selling tickets, clearing tables, and washing dishes while the Roman Forum staff prepared the dinners and waited on customers. The proceeds from the dinner will be used to purchase audio-visual equipment, including projectors and filmstrips, for the library which will open in late spring. A similar dinner sponsored by the Canton Rotary in 1978 resulted in a cash donation to the library which has aided in establishment costs. Above, Douglas Ritter, library board chairman and Deborah O'Connor, head librarian, accept the check from Greg Gatto of the Roman Forum, and William Tesen, Rotary President. Library Board members in back row are Mary Felts, secretary; James Gillig, treasurer; Norma West; Kay Baldrice; and John Schwartz, vice-chairman.

Rep. Ford called big spender

U.S. Rep. William D. Ford, whose district includes Canton Township, was given a "high-spender" label by TRIM, an organization working for lower taxes.

U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, the City of Plymouth's and Plymouth Township's congressman, on the other hand, was given average marks by TRIM for his voting record on appropriation bills.

In a survey of eight recent appropriation votes, TRIM said Ford voted for higher taxes six times. He did not vote on the other two.

Pursell, meanwhile cast four votes for lower taxes and four for higher taxes, said TRIM. The appropriation votes covered matters as a congressional pay raise, debt limit increase, foreign economic aid, and the Panama Canal treaties implementation.

TRIM, a nationwide organization, has a local chapter in Livonia.

Canton buys industrial land

Aiming to boost the industrial tax base in Canton Township, the Board of Trustees allocated $120,000 for the purchase of land in a planned industrial park.

Located in the Dye Bros. subdivision, south of Michigan Avenue off Sheldon, the land has been targeted for industrial development by the township for three years.

The funds were made available through the federal Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program. The board spent all of the township's 1980 CDBG allocation on the land acquisition in Dye Bros.

McAninch to teach course

A new course, called "Women Business Owners," will be taught at Schoolcraft College on Wednesdays, Feb. 6-April 9, from 7-10:15 p.m.

Former Plymouth Mayor and City Commissioner Bev. McAninch will help teach the course.

"I am so excited about creating this course, that I gave up teaching two others," said McAninch. "There is a nationwide resurgence of small business growth and a continuing increase in the number of women entering the work force. Certainly the two can complement each other. However, women have traditionally lacked the training and encouragement to prepare them for business management. This course offers that kind of preparation."

Chief gymnasts triumph

BY MIKE HENSHAW

Something very strange happened last week in the Canton gymnastics team's opening week of competition.

The Chiefs lost their first meet of the season last Monday to Taylor Kennedy, 85.1-82.3, and then proceeded to knock off defending state champion North Farmington 89.05-87.3 two days later, Wed. January 16.

"You just don't improve seven points after one practice in gymnastics," said first-year Canton coach John Cunningham. "The judges at the Taylor Kennedy meet were the worst I have ever seen."

Cunningham, who competed in gymnastics at the University of Michigan and runs a private gymnastics club in Garden City, feels that the triumph over North Farmington was the true indication of his team's ability, as he considers his Chief squad to be one of the top five in the state.

"The Taylor Kennedy loss really was a joke," he said. "I know that there isn't a team in the Western Six that can compete with us, because of the fact that we are three-deep in quality gymnasts where as most schools have only one good all-round gymnast."

The three girls Cunningham feels will carry the Chiefs to the Western Six title and into state competition are Katy Heaton, Laura Michalik, and Laurie Beale. All three compete in each of the four events: the uneven parallel bars, vaulting, floor exercises, and the balance beam.

Heaton, a senior, recorded a composite score of 28.55 in the Chief's win over North Farmington. Cunningham feels she will eventually score in the 29 range.

"Katy, unlike Laurie and Laura, just started working with me in November and she is still getting into shape. She is a fine gymnast."

Beale and Michalik, both only sophomores, are the Chiefs' strongest gymnasts. They are previous AAU-state champions and work year round with Cunningham in his gymnastics club.

Michalik scored 30.45 against North Farmington and Beale 30.05. Cunningham feels that both will eventually score in the 31 range and will be in contention for the individual state champion honor.

"Both are equally exceptional gymnasts," said Cunningham. "Most high school gymnastics teams only begin to work with the girls when the season starts. In order to be a good gymnast you have to work year round, and we have girls that have done just that. In high school competition, if a team has three good all-round gymnasts, like we do, it will be very tough to beat. This should be a very exciting sport for Canton the next few years."

Senior Maureen Morahan will be the team's fourth gymnast in the floor exercises and the vault event along with freshman Kim Brown.

Freshman Sheryl Korsnes will be Cunningham's fourth gymnast on the bars and the beam. The team's third senior, Laurie Wasiak, will compete in vaulting and floor exercising.

Juniors on the team include Lisa McIntosh (floor), Dana Wasiak (bars, vault), and Heather Hawkins (beam).

Sophomore members are Pam Randolph (floor, vault), Kelly Harvey (all round), and Jackie Smock (floor, vault).

The Chiefs resume competition tomorrow when they travel to Farmington.

Rocks bombard Trenton

BY KEN VOYLES

It was a Suburban Eight League basketball game that Salem did not want to lose. Trenton, although they have only won one this season, could have just as easily won the game, but they didn't.

Salem blitzed the squad, 71-50, for its ninth win of the year against one defeat, and will now have to face the challenge of Livonia Bentley.

"When you are playing against a team that has only won one game, it's not how you do offensively or defensively but that the players come into the game ready to play," said Salem coach Fred Thomann.

The Rocks did just that dominating, three of the four quarters in the Friday night struggle.

"Our players didn't look past this game to our next game and because of that we were able to play well at both ends of the court," Thomann said.

The Rocks will battle Bentley at home this Friday in a clash that could help decide the Suburban Eight League title. The Bulldogs are also 9-1 overall and have an identical 4-0 mark in the league. Game time is 6:30 p.m. for junior varsity and 8 p.m. for varsity.

As for Trenton, the Rocks jumped out to an 18-6 lead by the end of the first quarter behind Howard Monk's 12-point period. Trenton came on stronger in the second quarter and dumped in 15 points while holding the Rocks to 11 points.

"We didn't play real well in the second quarter. We didn't shoot very well. The quarter was more of one of just getting through it than anything else," said Thomann.

The score at the halftime was 29-21.

Salem turned on its strength in the third quarter and iced the game. The Rocks scored 23 points in that eight minute period while Trenton tallied 12.

"We really came out good in the second half and got going the way we like to," said Thomann.

The final quarter was also Salem's as it added 19 points and Trenton had 17 to complete the contest.

Monk led Salem in scoring with 29 points. He also had 12 rebounds and four blocked shots. Mike Sharp and Leigh Langtabel added nine points each, while Rob Neu had eight points, seven rebounds and four steals.

Jim Anderson and Scott Bublin each had two points with seven and nine rebounds respectively. Mike McBride and Paul Horton added six and four points for Salem.

As for Bentley -- "We know it will be us and them for the league championship and we always have great games," Thomann said. "Our guys know that and are ready to go."

Visser, Adler, Malek pace Chiefs

BY MIKE HENSHAW

Dave Visser lead a balanced Canton scoring attack with 23 points as the Chiefs whipped Walled Lake Western 82-67 in a Western Six league game Friday night.

Scott Adler and Dave Malek each scored 14 points for the Chiefs, and Dave Ursa added 12 points and Sean Houle 11 as Canton raised its record to 4-5 on the season going into last night's game against Livonia Bentley. The Chiefs are now 3-1 in the Western Six.

Canton jumped to a 20-8 lead and held a 22-14 advantage at the end of the first quarter. The Chiefs were able to work the ball inside to Houle and Visser, who each had eight points in the quarter.

"We knew they were a smaller team," said Canton coach Craig Bell. "Our offensive concept going into the game was to work the ball inside to Visser."

The strategy continued to work well in the second quarter as Visser scored seven more of his game high total and the Chiefs built up a 49-32 halftime lead and threatened to blow the Warriors out of the gym.

The Chiefs came out flat in the third quarter, however, and Western outscored them 19-12 to close to within 10 points, at 61-51, going into the final stanza.

"We didn't maintain the offensive intensity we had in the first half," said Bell. "Sean (Houle) picked up his fourth foul early in the quarter, which hurt our offensive flow."

Six points from Visser early in the final quarter helped Canton build its lead back up to 15 points, at 70-55, but again the Chiefs let the Warriors get back into the game. Three straight baskets by Western narrowed the lead to 70-61 before the Chiefs, lead by six points, from Ursa, outscored the Warriors 12-6 down the stretch for the win.

"Visser played really well," said Bell. "He did a nice job shooting the ball and had a lot of fine assists. Ursa also did a good job for us and Malek played his finest game of the year."

The Chiefs connected on 14 of 19 free-throws on the night compared to 13 of 18 for the Warriors.

Paul Burke lead Western in scoring with 16 points. Scott Parrish added 12 points and Tim Baglow 11.

"It is an important win for us," said Bell. "We still feel we are the team to beat in the Western Six. Our attitude is good and everyone is working hard."

The Canton junior varsity team also raised its record to 4-5 on the year with an easy 72-48 win over the Warriors.

Canton travels to Livonia Churchill for another important Western Six league game Friday night. The j.v. game begins at 6:15 followed immediately by the varsity contest.

Salem opens volleyball season

MARY VAN DUSEN prepared to set up Salem's attack during the Rocks home battle with Suburban Eight League opponent Belleville. Salem won the match in two games.

Bantam A wins tourney

The Plymouth S&H Fabricating Bantam A Hockey team turned in two strong performances in the past two weeks, winning both the Flint and Wayne Christmas Tournaments.

The Plymouth squad won the Flint tourney by reeling off three straight victories, 8-1 over Lakeland, 3-2 over Saginaw, and 4-3 over Flint.

In the first game against Lakeland Steve Erps started the Plymouth scoring 28 seconds into the first period and the team never looked back. Rodney Williams tallied two goals, while John Smith, Chuck Norton, Rod Wells, Chuck Papenfus and Tom Bryans scored one goal each for Plymouth.

Williams picked up two more goals against Saginaw while defenseman Norton scored the winning goal with a hard slapshot in the final period.

In the championship game with Flint, the Plymouth squad came back from a 2-0 deficit in the first period to defeat Flint in overtime. Gary Ruskin, Steve Geelhood, and Williams scored goals to bring Plymouth back into the game. Geelhood then tallied his second goal of the game in the overtime to give Plymouth the tournament.

Plymouth also won the Wayne Tournament by defeating the Farmington Flyers 5-2 in the championship game. Norton, Williams, Rich Bahlow, Mike Ventola and Geelhood scored for the Plymouth team.

Plymouth opened the tournament with an 8-0 victory over Wayne and then went on to blank Fraser 3-0 in the second game of the tourney.

After a 4-3 defeat by Farmington in the semi-final contest, Plymouth came back and won the whole show with a revengeful 5-2 win over the same Farmington team.

The Salem girls volleyball squad opened its season last week with two dual match victories and a ninth place finish at the Schoolcraft Volleyball Invitational.

The Rocks were second in their pool behind Livonia Stevenson at the Schoolcraft competition and finished ninth out of 30 teams.

"I think we did awfully well," said Salem coach Cathy Himes. "Cheryl Sobkow did real, real well at the competition. She had started slow for us this year but at Schoolcraft her spiking and serving was just solid."

The Rocks were 5-3 in their pool competition and missed the quarter-finals. The way Schoolcraft worked is there were five pools of six teams with the top teams in each pool continuing into the semi-finals and finals.

On Thursday the Rocks battled non-league foe Northville through three games before taking the win. Salem won the first game contest. The Rocks finally took charge in game three and breezed to a 15-5 win.

"Northville served real well in the second game and we fought back and forth, but we took control of the match in the third game and the girls started playing like a team," said Himes.

Earlier in the week, the Rocks knocked off Suburban Eight League opponent Belleville in two games, 15-5 and 15-9.

"I don't think we did that well against Belleville. Their competition really wasn't that hard so it slowed us down but we did have good team effort," said Himes.

Chief wrestlers beat Harrison

BY MIKE HENSHAW

The Canton wrestling team recorded an important Western Six league dual meet win Thursday night with a 42-21 triumph over defending champion Farmington Harrison.

"The kids did a great job, they wrestled very aggressively," said Canton coach Dan Chrenko. "It was great to beat the league champions of the last two years."

The Chiefs won seven of the 13 weight classes, including five pins, and tied in another for the victory.

Canton wrestlers dominated the lighter weight classes, pinning their first four Harrison opponents in the 100, 107, 114, and 121 pound divisions.

Todd Bartlett pinned Harrison's Ron Sanders at 1:54 of the first period at 100 pounds and Tom Holloway pinned John Hanlos with :51 remaining in the 107-pound match.

At 114 pounds, the Chief's Tom Harreld pinned Matt Alcontara at the 3:54 mark and Brett Haarala recorded a 1:58 pin of Harrison's Bob Sinclair in the 121 pound contest.

Canton's Kevin Santilli fought from back late in the final period for a 6-6 tie against Tom Burke in the 128-pound match before the Chief's Tim Racer suffered a 17-0 loss to Harrison's Phil Polajac at 134 pounds.

In the 140-pound division, the Chief's Dave Bennett pinned Don Bowen 1:32 into their match and at 147 pounds Canton's Steve Hamblin lost to Bob Cushing, 6-4.

Farmington's Mark Druzeja beat Canton's Bob Mullen 6-2 in the 157 pound class before the Chief's Dave Vaughan defeated Eric Wemyss 11-3 in the 169 division.

Saturday the Chiefs placed fifth out of 16 teams in the Clarkston Wrestling tournament. Canton totaled 108.5 points compared to first place Davison, ranked second in the state, with 227 points. Fenton was third and Clarkston fourth.

Harreld, Hamblin, and Vaughan each placed third for Canton in their weight classes. The three tournament wins by Harreld, a senior, raised his varsity career record to 70-35, breaking the previous career win record of 68 held by Scott Collins.

Bennett and Page came in fourth in the tournament and Haarala fifth for Canton. Mullen, Santilli, and Bartlett finished in sixth place.

The Pinot Noir grape is what makes the red wines of the Burgundy region in France great. The Pinot Blanc is the secondary grape of the region producing white Burgundies. In California, though, the Pinot Blanc is not considered a secondary grape and flourishes to produce an excellent wine to enhance the taste of a simple fish meal. It is good with cold cuts, or for those times when you are not sure what wine to drink when having spaghetti with clam sauce or even a tuna salad sandwich.

Canton volleyball scores

Canton volleyball coach Cyndi Burnstein went into Saturday's Schoolcraft Tournament with a different objective than the coaches of most of the other 29 teams, that being to win.

The Chief coach elected to play each of her team members equally throughout the eight games, not to play her strongest six girls.

Although the Chiefs only came away with one win, 15-3 over Redford Union, Burnstein feels that overall the tournament will help her team.

"We were playing for the valuable experience," she said. "I am very pleased with the efforts we got from our girls who hadn't played very much in our dual meets. I think it will definitely be of benefit to our team, because now everyone is really motivated to work hard the rest of the year."

Last Wednesday the Chiefs upped their second-place Western Six league record to 2-1 with a 8-15, 15-10, 16-14 win over Farmington Harrison.

"I was really impressed with the way the Harrison girls hustled throughout the games," said Burnstein. "We didn't play as well as we can, but I am pleased with the win."

Adult basketball results

In the City of Plymouth Adult Basketball action, Three Kegs Round soundly defeated Rusty Nail #1 by a score of 81 to 53. Keith DesJarlais was the high scorer for Three Kegs Round, shooting 16 points from the floor. Galen David of Rusty Nail #1 countered with 16 points in a losing effort.

In another game, Sonny's Metro Sports was defeated by the always tough McAllister squad. Pete Cunningham shot for 19 points for the night, but still came up on the losing end of the score. Brent Eckles also chipped in 12 points for Sonny's Metro Sports. The experienced McAllister squad, led by the hot shooting hand of Dave Harding, proved to be too much for Sonny's Metro Sports, as McAllister's won by a score of 87 to 77.

The Arsenal defeated Team #6 by a score of 67 to 55. The Arsenal, without the services of their two big men -- the Kaseta Brothers -- for most of the game had to rely on the sharp shooting of Ron Bawulski. Bawulski led all scorers with 22 points. For Team #6 Dan Moore and Brent Boegler had the hot hands, each scoring 14 points.

Also in recent Men's League action,

Speedy Printing defeated Rusty Nail #2 by a score of 72 to 67.

The Plymouth 76ers soundly defeated the unbeaten Three Kegs Round team by a score of 66 to 59. The Plymouth 76ers jumped out to a 6-point lead by the end of the first quarter, and kept the lead throughout the game. Once again the super shooting of Ernie Thornberry, who scored 29 points, and the tough rebounding of Ray Mandle and Howard Inch proved too much to handle for Three Kegs Round.

In the second game Wednesday night Sonny's Metro Sports defeated Rusty Nail #1 by a score of 62 to 45. The balanced shooting attack of Sonny's Metro Sports was once again a key factor in the victory. Brent Eckles and Kurt Herbert scored 12 points each, and Paul McKendry chipped in 8 points for the victors. Rusty Nail #1 had to rely on Jim Costa for 16 of their 45 points.

Action will continue next Monday night (1/21) with the Plymouth 76ers taking on Sonny's Metro Sports in the key battle of the evening.

DANA HARTER sends the ball back across the net during Salem's volleyball victory over Belleville last week. Salem won the match, 15-5 and 15-9. Salem also placed ninth at the Schoolcraft Invitational.

Basically by Ken Voyles

After receiving no less than four releases on the up coming "Groundhog's Day Classic" slo-pitch softball tournament sponsored by the Canton Parks and Recreation I have become determined not to let it slip by unnoticed without some closer study. So here it is.

A softball tournament in the middle of winter, Feb. 2-3 to be exact, has the ring of insanity to it. Not that a diamond sport in winter is such a strange idea. It's just that as a community affair I wonder about the why and how of the tourney.

Being a winter sports fan or a softball fan makes a lot of difference for those who wish to try this winter tournament. In fact, I find the idea to be rather inventive on the part of the guys down at the Parks and Recreation office.

There is only one problem and that's weather. The tourney is open to all teams be they from normal softball leagues or just organized teams. Of course one must be prepared for the games with warm clothes and also be ready to play with a 16" bright orange softball. But the weather will make or break the event and that is unusual in a community sponsored event such as this.

The idea obviously behind the tournament is to get out and play softball in the snow. Now you just can't do that with no snow. So unless Griffin Park has snow on the days of the competition the whole thing will be shelved.

Two weeks to go and still no snow. Unless that outlook changes for the better (or worse) the groundhog will have to come out or stay by himself.

The 1980 Winter Olympics are also in trouble for a lack of snow. But Plymouth is not upper state New York and the softball tournament is not the Olympics.

But for the sake of fun and a good time for all lets hope it snows.

Rock wrestlers win

Winning tournaments is getting to be a commonplace thing for the wrestlers of Salem. The squad won yet another invitational this past weekend.

This time the place was North Farmington for the North Farmington Wrestling Invitational. There were eight teams at the competition.

The Rocks scored 202½ points to take the tournament. North Farmington was second with 168 points. Salem put 10 wrestlers into the finals and out of 14 wrestlers, 12 placed.

"It was just another good tournament for us. We were resting a bit going into the competition but the team came through once again," said Salem coach Ron Krueger.

At 98 pounds, for Salem, Jeff Vojcek was defeated by Brad Fisher 10-4 in the championship match for second-place. Fisher is from North Farmington.

Jim Schultz won the 105-pound division for Salem with a 2-0 shutout of Dave Denney. Denney is from Farmington.

Jeff Brown also finished second for the Rocks in his 112-pound weight class. Brown was knocked off by John Donovan 12-11 in the championship match.

Mark Ross added another first for the Rocks with a 15-5 victory over Dana Swaney for the 126 pound title.

At 132 pounds Bruce Bachman reached the finals for the Rocks and was then defeated by Mark Cornmesser from Detroit Country Day. Bachman was defeated 9-4.

Jerry Valchine romped through the 138-pound division and won the championship with a 5-2 victory over Dave Hall from Farmington.

Rob Price lost to North Farmington's Jim Scully in the championship match and settled for second for the Rocks. The score in the match was 3-1.

Jim Bielak was fourth at 155 pounds and Steve Szilagyi was third at 167 pounds for the Rocks.

At 185 pounds Jeff Powers was defeated by Greg Lemanski from Farmington for second-place. Lemanski won 11-0.

Stan Snider was Salem's other first at the invitational. Snider defeated Dave Schultz from Farmington for the 198-pound weight class title.

In the heavyweight competition, Marty Piper finished second for the Rocks. George Houtier of North Farmington pinned Piper in the championship match.

Earlier in the week, the Rocks won a close, tough Suburban Eight League dual meet with Belleville. The competition went right down to the wire as Salem won 29-27.

The Rock's had seven victories in the competition. Schultz, Brown, Ross, Valchine, Szilagyi, Powers and Snider won their weight class for Salem.

"It was a very exciting match. I said afterwards that if you didn't see excitement at that meet you never would," said Krueger.

Canton swimmers dominate league

BY MIKE HENSHAW

The Canton boys swim team continued its total dominance over Western Six league opponents with an easy 113-52 thrashing of Farmington Harrison Thursday night.

The Chiefs, now 3-0 in the Western Six and 4-1 overall in dual meets, won eight of the 11 events, including both first and second placings in the two relay events.

The Canton team of Jeff Seipple, Ryan Smith, Ron Hurley, and Mike Sherwood won the 200-yard medley relay with a time of 1:53.8 and Joe Gibbons, Greg Schnurstein, Vince Tobin, and Bill Sayre placed second in the event for the Chiefs with a 1:57.8 clocking.

In the 400-yard freestyle relay, Hurley, Tobin, Pete Stern, and Troy Haarala combined for the first place time of 3:42.0 and Sherwood, Sayre, Dave Smith, and Keith Greenleaf took second place at 3:45.6.

The Chiefs also had six individual first place finishers.

Paul Petersen won the 100-yard butterfly event with a :54.6 clocking and Schnurstein was victorious in the 100-yard breaststroke event (1:42.8).

Haarala took medalist honors in the 200-yard individual medley (2:19.1) and Sherwood won the 50-yard freestyle with a time of :23.8.

Steve Gaggi won the diving competition with a 166 score and Stern was first in the 100-yard freestyle with a :54.0 clocking.

The Chiefs settled for second place in the 200-yard freestyle, 100-yard backstroke, and 500-yard freestyle events.

Petersen was second in the 100-yard freestyle at 1:53.0, Haarala in the 500-yard freestyle (5:31.9), and Seipple in the 100-yard backstroke (1:04.4).

"We swam pretty well," said Canton coach Bill Hahn. "Unfortunately the Western Six hasn't given us much of a challenge this year, which could hurt us against tougher competition later."

Canton hosts Walled Lake Western Thursday night.
