

With more cutbacks expected

Plymouth-Canton loses $419,992 in aid

BY DAN BODENE

The Plymouth-Canton Community will feel the effects of state budgetary cutbacks for the fiscal year ending July 1 to the tune of $419,992, with more cutbacks expected for the new fiscal year.

For the 1979-80 fiscal year, reductions in state revenue-sharing funds of $22,610 for Canton, $23,063 for the City of Plymouth, $36,345 for Plymouth Township, and $337,974 for Plymouth-Canton schools were reported.

Although the specific areas to be included in Governor Milliken's upcoming cutbacks are not yet known, many local governments depending on state money are preparing for harder times.

Joseph West, treasurer of Plymouth Township, said, "We still don't know the percentage of what the new cutbacks will be -- and I don't know if they know in Lansing." West said there was little the township could do without knowing the specifics of state fund decreases "except watch the bills more closely."

West added that in the event of drastic cuts, the township budget would be scrutinized item by item. He said that when working on the 1981 budget, a review of the 1980 budget will be helpful. "If things don't look up in the last quarter, we'll have to take drastic action in the first quarter (of the new year) -- that's just my personal opinion."

The township operates on a calendar year budget, rather than on a fiscal year timetable from July 1 through June 30 used by the City of Plymouth and Canton Township.

Daniel White, executive director of finance for the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, is also in the process of completing a school budget for presentation.

White is also concerned about future cutbacks as well as the present one of $337,974 to be deducted from the August state school aid payment. "We had estimated anywhere from $350,000 to $750,000. Now we're scared a similar cut will be made again later this year."

Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper, Jr. said that he had anticipated a 30 per cent decrease in state-shared revenues of all types.

"We're living with our foresight, but it's not very comfortable," said Graper. Although the city adopted a balanced budget last month, Graper said that upcoming government cutbacks would be analyzed "dollar by dollar."

After watching budgetary progress for the first quarter of the new fiscal year beginning July 1, "we figure we will have to make decisions in September or October," said Graper. "Then we will be able to look at revenues and see how they will affect us."

Mike Gorman, director of Canton Township's Finance Department, is also unsure of just what the exact state fund cutbacks will be or how they will affect Canton.

"As I understand the major cutbacks, we will not be greatly affected," he said, adding, "It appears they will hurt the larger cities rather than smaller ones."

Gorman said he could only generalize on where state fund losses will be. "For us, we're talking about (a reduction) of $12,000 to $15,000 in income tax dollars. There will also be cuts in intangible payments -- we're talking in terms of small thousands."

Although the budget picture in the township is still unclear, Gorman was optimistic. "At least the initial cut hasn't hurt us too badly."

To offset deficit, schools OK across-the-board cuts

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

The Plymouth-Canton school district faces a deficit in a range from $746,000 to $447,000 for the 1980-81 school year.

This budget outlook was presented to the Board of Education Monday night by school administrators.

Even with the estimated deficit, the school board plans to operate in the black next year. By June 30, the district will have a projected fund balance of $2,124,000 and this fund can be used to offset the deficit.

Meanwhile, in an effort to conserve money, the school board informally gave the go-ahead for a series of across-the-board cuts in all departments. "Through the use of budget control and management, we've been able to come out with a fund balance (in previous years)," said Supt. John M. Hoben.

"We're just dealing with the tip of the iceberg," he continued. "Let's try to hold it (spending) back so that we'll be able to save for 1981-82."

School officials have estimated that the district will face its most serious budget crunch in 1981-82.

Cuts included sums taken from each of 41 areas in the school district such as management development seminars (a $2,000 cut out of a $5,000 budget in 1979-80), negotiation expenses (a $5,000 cut out of a $40,000 budget in 1979-80), athletic programs (a $20,000 cut out of a $248,000 budget in 1979-80), sixth grade camp (a $3,500 cut out of a $50,125 budget in 1979-80, and money for additional teachers (a $150,000 cut out of a budget of $350,000 in 1979-80).

"We're still talking about the same ratio (as this year) of students-to-staff," said Hoben. However, the district can make some "readjustments in those ratios" and the district will probably not grow as quickly as it has next year compared to past years. Next year's growth is estimated to be about 300 students.

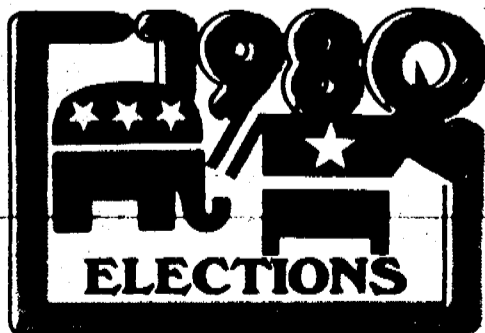

"We want to maintain all programs and we don't want to pink slip the staff," said Hoben.

"I have no problems accepting these recommendations because of the track record

Reward offered for Twp. arsons info

Residents of the Mayflower subdivision in Plymouth Township are offering a $200 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of suspects involved in five fires early Thursday morning.

Two garage fires and three mailbox fires broke out within minutes of each other, causing thousands of dollars worth of damage.

Arson is suspected as the cause of all the fires, said Fire Chief Larry Groth.

At 1:03 a.m. Thursday, a fire was reported at a garage attached to a home owned by James Marchio, at 44961 Albert Dr. Damage was estimated at $2,000.

A second garage fire was reported at 1:15 a.m. at 8994 Mayflower, the home of Jeff Code. Damage was estimated at $2,000, said Groth. Both homes had persons sleeping in rooms near the attached garages, said Groth. "That's a very dangerous situation."

At 1:21 a.m., fire fighters extinguished three fires in mailboxes attached to posts near the street, said Groth. They were also located in the Mayflower sub, at 9000 Baywood, 9001 Baywood, and 9007 Baywood. The boxes were stuffed with paper and wood, said Groth.

To report any information about the fires, call Detective Sue Murray at 453-3840 or 721-2222.

The Crier has been selected to receive the "Media Award for Educational Reporting" for 1980, the Michigan Association of Secondary Principals announced recently.

"The Crier provides excellent school news which is both accurate and complete . . . The most impressive part of all of this is that the articles are well done, whether pro or con," said Robert E. Hall, executive director of the association.

The award is given each year, upon recommendation, for exceptional reporting, combining factual information and fair assessment of the situation, said Hall.

Canton OKs new park

BY DAN BODENE

Canton Supervisor Noel Culbert broke a tie vote on a resolution supporting advertising bids for construction of Flodin Park at last Tuesday's township board meeting.

Leading the opposition to advertising for construction bids was Trustee Robert Greenstein, who said, "I don't think in good conscience we can spend $91,000 or $157,000 on this kind of project."

He stated, "None of us want to tell kids, 'You can't have a park or a baseball diamond,'" adding that, "If the economy worsens, there is a possibility of police and fire department layoffs, and we can't have that."

Culbert disagreed, saying, "The economy does not mean we cannot meet our obligations . . . we've got the money." Former township supervisor Harold Stein, in the audience, also supported the park appropriation and said, "We need recreation close to home -- there is a lot of support in the community for this type of project."

Trustee Stephen Larson disagreed with the proposal, citing current rates of unemployment. "If we don't spend the money tonight, we'll be accused of not providing recreation. I can live with that accusation."

Support for the park came from various community residents, including Bob Fortune, who said, "If I had a field where I could take my kids, I couldn't complain about the board." Cathy Sibert, a teacher at Miller School, commented, "It's time we realize the importance of parks and recreation. People need an outlet for their aggressions."

Problems stemming from a lack of playing fields were also discussed. Ken Johnson, president of the Canton Soccer Club, told the board that enough applicants for soccer leagues were turned away to fill ten more teams.

When the vote for appropriation of funds for Phase I of the park came up, the board was solidly divided on the issue with Daley, Bodenmiller and Flodin supporting the project and Donahue, Greenstein and Larson dissenting. Supervisor Culbert provided the tie-breaking vote to carry the proposal.

Band starts concerts June 26

The Plymouth Community Band announces its 1980 summer concert series beginning Thursday, June 26. All concerts are held at 8 p.m. in Kellogg Park in downtown Plymouth. It is suggested that the audience bring lawnchairs or blankets to set on the grass. As usual, all concerts are free and open to the public.

Each concert carries a different musical theme. This year's schedule is: June 26 -- Great Outdoors; July 3 -- With Liberty and Justice; George Cavender, guest conductor; July 10 -- Hit or Ms.; July 17 -- Hands Across the Sea; July 24 -- Two on the Aisle; and, July 31 -- March King.

The Plymouth Community Band is composed of amateur adult musicians who entertain audiences throughout the year "just for the fun of it." Carl Battishill, associate band director at the Centennial Educational Park, also serves as conductor of the Plymouth-Community Band.

The selling of government

THESE FLIERS are just a sampling of the governmental literature, some of which touts elected officials, received by Plymouth-Canton residents.

Tax money buys free publicity for elected officials

BY CHAS CHILD

City of Plymouth residents recently received in the mail a new publication: "The Courier." Prepared by the office of City Manager Henry Graper, The Courier contains City Hall news and includes a message from the mayor, Mary Childs.

The cost to the taxpayers? The first issue's bill was $875, not including the many hours of preparation logged by City Hall employees.

In Canton Township, residents recently got in the mail the township Recreation Department's annual flier. Included with a run-down of the recreation offerings is a letter from Supervisor Noel Culbert, praising the rec department. Culbert, incidentally, is running for re-election, as is the rest of the seven-member board of trustees, who are listed on the flier.

And in the Plymouth-Canton School District, leaflets urging citizens to vote "yes" to increase school taxes were distributed in all school offices. Although the leaflets said no public funds were used to publish them, the school district happily distributed the "Vote Yes" literature.

Call it what you want: governmental propaganda, public information, or community information service, it all has one thing in common -- your tax dollars pay for it.

But this "selling of government" doesn't stop with just fliers and leaflets. The four governmental units in the Plymouth-Canton community spend tens of thousands of dollars of tax money on putting its best foot forward to the public.

With everything from free lunches, gasoline, and expense accounts to the school district's full-time $33,000-per-year community relations director, local government "sells" itself to the public.

Many times, there's a fine line between simple dissemination of information and political propaganda. For example, the City of Plymouth's calendar, published annually, contains useful information on many city activities, offerings, and services.

With everything from free lunches, gasoline, and expense accounts, to the school district's $33,000-per-year community relations director, local government 'sells' itself to the public

Yet a prominent place in the calendar is reserved for a picture of each city commissioner and the mayor. The calendar's yearly cost: about $2,200.

In Plymouth Township, each member of the Board of Trustees receives an expense account. Supervisor Thomas Notebaert gets a check for $125 per month, while Clerk Esther Hulsing and Treasurer Joe West each receives $100 per month. The four trustees receive $400 per year.

This money is relegated for township-connected expenses, such as gasoline for township errands, lunches, conferences, etc.

But no receipts or records of their expenditures are required for public review at Township Hall.

There would be no benefit to the township to keep track of the expenses, said Notebaert. "I keep track of it for IRS purposes," he said. "If it's not spent properly, I'd have to pay taxes on it. The extra money could throw you into a high tax bracket, so it's important to keep track of it."

In any case, Notebaert said that he has always spent more on such township expenses than the $125 check covers. For example, he spent $1,100 on gasoline last year alone for township errands, he said.

Both Hulsing and West added that they didn't keep a record of their expenses at Township Hall, either. "I don't know whether it's quite right or not (to keep receipts)," said Hulsing. "It probably would be better to turn in receipts."

Florence Beier, who recently resigned, headed up the Plymouth-Canton school district's public relations. Her salary, $33,298, plus the pay of her full-time secretary (paid this year by the federal CETA program), plus the other expenses of her office, point to the importance school officials place on public relations.

The department publishes a newsletter after most Board of Education workshops and mails it to about 600 persons interested in school news. Twice a year it mails out a district-wide newsletter which cover various school topics. And Beier has spent time advising pro-millage citizen campaign committees.

Her department also fields phone calls, answers citizens' and the press's questions, writes press releases, as well as performs many other public relations functions.

"The Courier," the city's new quarterly newsletter, will be full of general City Hall news, said Dana Szanti, a staffer in City Manager Henry Graper's office.

"The information in it will save us a lot of time answering phone calls," she said. "And we want to avoid printing things the press is also covering." Although the first issue cost $875, due to start-up costs, future editions will run about $370 each, she said.

On the national level, the two congressmen in the Plymouth-Canton Community recently mailed out newsletters to their constituents.

Both Carl Pursell, who represents the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township, and William Ford, who represents Canton, are running for re-election.

All members of Congress are entitled to considerable free mailing called the franking privilege. Critics of this privilege say it gives the incumbent a substantial advantage over challengers.

U.S. Congressmen and Senators are permitted six major mailings per year to their constituents, said a spokesman for the Congressional Mailing Standards department in Washington, D.C. None of these mailings, however, can be sent during a 60-day period before a primary or general election, he said.

Besides the day-to-day "selling" programs, local governments also prepare special projects.

After the spectacular fire which gutted the Penniman Avenue Shops, many firemen and police who helped fight the blaze received special plaques, paid for by the taxpayers.

The City of Plymouth held, in addition, a banquet two years ago honoring all the volunteers who served on various boards and committees. Each received a plaque, purchased from tax funds.

Recently, both the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township donated $750 to the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce committee preparing welcoming activities for the Massachusetts GOP delegates who will attend the National Convention in Detroit. The Massachusetts delegates will stay at the Plymouth Hilton Hotel.

This figure doesn't include the time spent by staffers in City Manager Henry Graper's office performing convention-public relations tasks such as addressing envelopes, writing letters, etc.

Plymouth Township's Board of Trustees even paid for an attorney's opinion on whether they could donate to the Chamber's convention committee.

Will Canton abolish Merit Ordinance?

BY DAN BODENE

Trustee Robert Greenstein proposed abolition of the three-man Merit Commission during last Tuesday's Canton Township Board meeting, saying the commission "shackles the Merit Ordinance."

On the heels of a controversy involving a Fire Department mechanic hired under Merit Commission procedures, Greenstein stated he was in favor of the merit concept, but as administered solely by the personnel director.

Procedures for hiring and firing township employes are covered in the Merit Commission Ordinance.

"The merit idea is a good one," Greenstein said, "but the personnel director is capable of much quicker action." Greenstein also said he felt the commission added to the confusion of hiring and firing of township employees under the Merit Ordinance. "It's about time we streamline this thing if we can," he said.

When asked if the abolition of the commission would expedite hiring and firing procedures, Township Personnel Director Daniel Durack said, "The Merit Commission is more or less of an overseeing body -- the day-to-day work is done by me, with Merit Commission approval." Durack said he did not believe that getting rid of the Commission would streamline the operation.

Trustee Eugene Daly registered his displeasure to the proposal, saying, "The power should not be in one person's hands. The Merit Commission is part of a system of checks and balances." Trustee Stephen Larson disagreed, adding, "A big criticism of government is its inability to act. A group decision is not always the best."

During the debate, copies of a resolution from the township's clerical union condemning the proposal were distributed to board members.

Greenstein summed up his stand on the proposal by saying, "So overprotected is the government, that it begins to forget the taxpayers. It's about time we streamline government so it is more responsive to the taxpayers."

Treasurer James Donahue then suggested a resolution for a study session to examine possible ways of revising or improving the ordinance, and by a board vote it passed.

To control dust, Twp. mulls paving dirt roads

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Will Plymouth Township roads be paved?

That question was addressed to Plymouth Township trustees last Tuesday night by Thomas Hollis, water and sewer superintendent.

Hollis was responding to residents' complaints about applying chloride to dirt roads. "In my opinion, the benefit of chloriding unpaved streets no longer justifies the cost," he said.

"The township should investigate approaching an aggressive paving program . . . we simply can't satisfy their needs," he said.

To control dust, currently Wayne County applies chloride to a "number of roads designated as township roads, but maintained by Wayne County," said Hollis. These roads get a chloride treatment about three times each year, at a cost of about $28,000.

"The first application we just went through was other than perfect," said Hollis. "It took us a week to spread. It also has been unseasonably dry. Therefore, the roads literally drank the liquid," he said.

Because of scheduling problems for Wayne County and equipment problems, Hollis suggested considering a paving program.

In addition to Hollis' suggestion, the board also received a petition from 12 residents objecting to the chloride job on the roads this year. "Dust was rising within four days after the roads were done," said the petition.

"If the township paid the county the full price for the job performed, it would appear we were grossly overcharged," said the petition.

Hollis said that the "township is really taking the brunt of the criticism because of county inefficiencies and distributor failures."

After a road is graded by the county, the county then guides the chloride distributor on the streets. The first treatment usually takes about two days to apply.

Furthermore, Hollis added that citizens' complaints were more frequent and abusive this year. "Never in my 10 years of being associated with this program has it been such a failure," he said.

The township can investigate the cost of road paving through special assessment districts. The report from Hollis was received by trustees.

Charter Comish race on ballot

It appears like the Wayne County Charter Commission race will be on Aug. 5's ballot.

The suit charging that out-county districts were not equally represented compared to the City of Detroit in the upcoming Wayne County Charter Commission race has been turned over to the Court of Appeals.

Originally filed in Circuit Court, the suit was ruled on by Judge Susan Borman. In essence, she said the suit belonged in the Court of Appeals and told the Apportionment Commission to file its 1972 districting plan with the Wayne County Clerk.

The plan was filed yesterday (Tuesday) morning and the out-county districts were expected to appeal the plan in the Court of Appeals this week. The City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, and Canton Township have joined in the suit.

Health club wants to build in Twp.

Final site plan approval for a Vic Tanny club in Plymouth Township was expected to be considered by the Plymouth Township Planning Commission tonight (Wednesday, June 18).

To be located on Ann Arbor Road, east of Haggerty, the 21,000 square foot club will include a pool, sauna, and gym floors, according to Jerry Laperriere, chief architect. He said construction will begin in July,

Last year, she raised more than $1,500 for the campaign to fight muscular disease.

The Skate-a-thon will be held this year at Riverside Arena, 36635 Plymouth Rd. in Livonia. Beginning Wednesday, June 25 at 3 p.m., the fundraiser will last until 7 a.m. on Thursday. Pledges are currently being collected by Climie and other skaters, in addition to a $1 skate rental fee.

if the site plan is OKd, and the club will be finished in early spring.

The operation of the club shouldn't bother nearby residents, according to a Wayne County Circuit Court judgment adopted recently.

The judgement, reached between Plymouth Township's Board of Trustees and Vic Tanny, Inc., orders the planned health club to:

- *close between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. of each day;
- *extinguish all exterior lighting between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m. each day, except for lights for security and sign illuminations, and
- *keep outside lighting from shining into neighbor's property.

The judgment also prohibits Vic Tanny from retail sales, except of goods related to health club activities. The parcel is located east of the Bank of the Commonwealth branch on Ann Arbor Road.

City to repair sidewalks

The City of Plymouth may save as much as $12,000 by acting as its own contractor for 1980 street and sidewalk repairs.

Plymouth's Engineering Department will act as the contractor for the work, which includes street and sidewalk repair on Ann Arbor Trail, Beech, Forest, Main, Pacific, Penniman, Provincetown, Sheldon, Starkweather and Ann Arbor Road.

City Manager Henry Graper, Jr. said "It is becoming more and more prevalent for municipalities to reject all bids and negotiate with the lowest bidders, usually at a great savings."

The lowest bidder for the project was Westside Concrete Company of Madison Heights, who turned in a bid of $53,604. Graper and City Engineer Ken West said if the city contracted the work to several companies, the project could be accomplished for approximately $41,000.

At the City Commission meeting Monday night, all three bids presented by private contractors were rejected, and the new proposal approved.

Graper said, "Certainly this $12,000 savings will go a long way towards offsetting the cost of the Engineering Department."

Divorce schools, 'yes'-group

The Citizens Election Committee, which was formed to provide information and take political stances on school propositions, should stop using the school district's address as its headquarters while campaigning.

The group endorsed both the bond and millage proposals on the school district's June 9 ballot. An information sheet outlining the proposals was printed, paid for, and distributed by the committee. At the bottom of the sheet, it says: "Published by the Citizens Election Committee, 454 S. Harvey St., Plymouth, 48170. No public funds used for printing this publication."

Across the top of the brochure, in large, bold type, it reads "Vote Yes -- Yes on June 9."

If the committee's stance on the election issues is separate from the stance taken by administrators or school board members, then why does the committee use the school district's address as its headquarters?

Would the district allow the committee to use its address if the committee hadn't endorsed the millage and bond proposals? "Probably not," said Florence Beier, the district's spokesperson, before her departure to a new job in California. She said the committee used the address because "it is convenient."

Yes, it is convenient. But, if the committee wants to be respected as a separate group which weighs both the pros and cons of a ballot proposals, then it should strive to maintain a separate identity from the district.

Obviously, a separate identity would not include using the school district's Harvey Street address.

The committee would be wise to rethink its position on this question. The committee's clout as well as its political identity are at stake.

Public officials must be held accountable for their handling of public money.

With this thought in mind, we can't find any plausible excuses for the $1 million discrepancies that were revealed in a close examination of Plymouth-Township's accounting reports last week.

Neither Joseph West, township treasurer, nor Esther Hulsing, township clerk, can explain why such discrepancies exist. As public officials, both should be able to answer questions about how money is handled at Township Hall since both deal directly with the preparation of monthly finance reports to the township board of trustees.

Undoubtedly, the money hasn't been lost nor is it being pilfered. However, simple questions -- such as why the end-of-month and the beginning-of-next-month balances don't match -- need to be answered.

Those figures should be the same. Township officials, primarily Hulsing and West, need to make those balances match. As public officials, their jobs require it. And, the board of trustees needs to oversee that task and be held responsible for its completion.

Proper accounting procedures in compiling Plymouth Township's financial reports must be followed. The voting public has elected officials to oversee that task and these officials must be held accountable and responsible for it.

Canton trustee defends acts on fire-truck repairs

EDITOR:

Recently, as an elected trustee of Canton Township, I received in my official board packet through the township, an unsigned letter accusing the administration of the Fire Department of a complete failure to maintain their emergency ambulance units so that each of them had deteriorated to being in serious mechanical disorder.

One unit had lost its motor because the oil allegedly had not been changed in three years, and a second unit had a bent frame and the fire fighters were refusing to drive it because they considered it to be unsafe. This was a terribly serious accusation, especially because Canton Township only has three emergency ambulance units to respond for the entire 36 square mile area and almost 50,000 person population.

As soon as I received the letter, I went to the fire station and examined personally all of the maintenance records available for the three medical units.

I then called the Chief of the Fire Department, whom I have known for many, many years and whom I consider a friend. The chief was in a meeting and said that he would get back to me either personally or by phone before the township board meeting that evening. I requested and received permission from the fire chief to take the emergency vehicle maintenance records to the township board meeting.

Evidently the Chief was busy all day and was unable to get back to me prior to the township board meeting. I was able, however, to find the chief about 30 minutes before the board meeting was to start and give him a photocopy of the unsigned letter and discuss its contents with him. He admitted that his records for mechanical maintenance of the emergency ambulance vehicles were poorly kept and again made the same admission during the public meeting later.

The choice that I was forced to make was whether or not this possible life threatening situation concerning our medical ambulances should be dealt with in public at an open meeting, or behind closed doors. I also had to decide whether or not I was elected to represent the people of Canton Township or employees of Canton Township.

I have always felt that critical township business vitally concerning any segment of our population should be dealt with in open public meetings. It must also be understood that a Trustee's job is not a 9 to 5 employment and that a trustee only has township board meetings as an opportunity to effect substantial change within the community. I read the letter at an open meeting, encouraged discussion and requested a committee be formed to investigate the matter.

The result was the convening of a committee to investigate the situation at the fire department as to the mechanical readiness of not only the emergency ambulances, but also all of the approximately $700,000.00 worth of equipment belonging to the fire department.

The committee, has decided that the equipment is in generally poor condition and needs instant and continuous attention in order to be properly servicable. It should also be remembered that after the Canton Township Firefighters organized and requested and later justified the need for a full time apparatus mechanic. That mechanic was unfortunately only hired one month ago and lasted only two weeks.

The township board has directed the fire chief to immediately order two more emergency medical ambulances to replace the two vehicles that are definitely not servicable.

As a result of my actions, there has been substantial response of an unpleasant nature suggesting that the fire chief is a very nice man and that this information should not have been dealt with on a public basis, even though it turned out to be true. I strongly disagree. When I was elected to be a public official, I assumed the sometimes unpleasant duty of speaking out publicly and strongly to protect the people I represent. I believe that I have done this in the case of the fire department emergency equipment and will continue to bring to the public any serious situation which may exist within the township government as long as the public health, safety or welfare is concerned.

Plymouth enjoys GOP influence

Even though Plymouth will have only two delegates to the upcoming Republican National Convention, that's actually a lot. Considering the Plymouth community's population, about 36,000, having two of the convention's 1,400 delegates is impressive.

Moreover, one of the delegates, U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, will be the unofficial convention "host," since he represents the district closest to the convention held by a Republican.

The other Plymouth delegate is Carolyn

Sellman, a veteran GOP soldier, who also is the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education's stenographer.

Both are pledged to former Ambassador George Bush, which speaks well for their political judgment, not to mention their sanity. (The alternative is Ronald Reagan, don't forget.)

So while Plymouth's voice will go to a losing cause, it will be a solid voice, nonetheless.

Mailings tout elected officials

The next time you receive a newsletter from your Congressman, take a close look at it. On the surface it seems full of public-service announcements, news, and constituent concerns. Looking close, though, the articles and stories are virtually all designed to subtly and not-so subtly blow the Congressman's horn.

News about the energy crisis, say, always backs up your Congressman's views, or the legislation he's just introduced, etc. And the mailings are all paid for out of the taxpayer's pockets.

But our Congressman, Carl Pursell in Plymouth and William D. Ford in Canton, aren't the only ones guilty of this. Noel Culbert recently scooped his opponents in the Canton supervisor primary race by including a letter to the citizens in the township recreation department's annual flier.

And in the City of Plymouth, the city manager's office recently started publishing "The Courier," a newsletter sent to all residents in the city. A regular feature of The Courier will be a message from the mayor, Mary Childs. She's not running for re-election now, but it's a fair bet that when city elections roll around, we'll still be getting our message from the mayor -- all at taxpayers' expense.

Using what is apparently public-service announcements for re-election purposes is something many politicians just can't resist.

And it's interesting to see elected officials who preach the virtues of a balanced budget and thrift in government take full advantage of these free publicity rides.

The Crier

We are very pleased to inform you that the Executive Board of the Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals selected The Crier to receive the Association's "Media Award for Educational Reporting" for 1980.

This award is given each year, upon recommendation, for exceptional educational reporting combining factual information and fair assessment of the situation, either locally or nationally.

On the recommendation presented to our Executive Board on May 21, 1980, it was pointed out that The Crier provides excellent school news which are both accurate and complete. In a single issue (May 14, 1980), there appeared 27 articles concerning the public schools in Plymouth-Canton.

The most impressive part of all of this is that the articles are well done, whether pro or con.

We wish to thank you on behalf of the Association and sincerely hope you will be able to attend the MASSP Fellowship Banquet to be held during our State Convention at the Dearborn Hyatt Regency Hotel, December 2-4, 1980. The Banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday, December 3rd, at which time we would like to honor your paper through you.

My personal congratulations and thanks for your efforts and certainly hope you will be able to be present at our State Convention.

Sincerely yours,

Turn-of-the-century Plymouth remembered

(Editor's note: Called "The Village of Plymouth in the 1900s," this article was written by Howard K. Walker, a longtime Plymouth resident and former teacher at Plymouth High School.)

All roads leading into the village were just ordinary dirt roads. Gravel and concrete were used very little at this time. There was a plank road leading from Plymouth to the City of Detroit and it could be used most of the year but in the early spring the dirt roads were almost impassable as the frost was disappearing.

In the winter, many snow drifts stopped traffic as much as week at a time. Clearing of the roads had to be done by hand in many instances as modern-day methods and machines were not to be had. Sleighs and cutters were drawn by horses as the only means of transportation during the winter months.

During the summer months, band concerts were held in Kellogg Park and sometimes German bands would furnish the most stirring music which was enjoyed by all.

Wooden sidewalks were built at this time consisting of long pieces laid lengthwise which were usually two by fours and then boards were nailed crosswise. This was done so that the ladies would not have to walk in the mud or water.

Long skirts were worn at this time as it was very improper for a lady to show her ankles. These wooden walks lasted for a long time until the ladies tore their dresses on the nails that had protruded and men tripped over them.

One of the most frequented places was the saloon which was somewhere in the middle of the main block of stores. Here is where men were men and ladies were not allowed.

Some of the men shoppers went there for a noon snack which consisted of a large bowl of bean soup, crackers and a healthy sandwich which was a large piece of ham placed neatly between two slices of bread with the choice of a large glass of beer, coffee or pop all for the unbelievable price of just five cents which went to pay for the beer. One sat on a bar stool at the bar with his feet resting on the brass rail. Polished brass spittoons decorated the floor for the benefit of a few.

One particular store that was on the corner of Main and Penniman was operated by a John Gale. He sold everything from patent medicine to groceries and yard goods. Oh, yes, even high button shoes for the ladies.

The farmers would come to town bringing containers that held 12 dozen eggs which were traded for flour, sugar, yard goods or other necessary items that the housewife needed. The boys always liked to tease John just to hear him stutter.

A short story was related to me in which John was the main character. It seems that he was trying to lift a barrel of sugar which he wanted to put in the dray or wagon. He managed to lift one end but the other end refused to leave the ground. He rolled the barrel around and around and tried and tried again and again to lift it but to no avail.

George Scherer happened to be passing by when he noticed John's predicament and asked him what was the trouble and this was the reply he gave, "B-B-b-by Ga-Ga-Ga-God it is Ha-Ha-Heavy. John then told Mr. Scherer that if he could lift the barrel and put it in the wagon he would give him the sugar. Without waiting Mr. Scherer picked up the barrel, put it in the wagon and drove away while John stood there in amazement.

There were hitching posts in front of the stores on Main Street so that people coming to town could tie their horse while they were doing the shopping. Across the street was a tank where the horses could get a drink.

It was just after my sixth birthday, while playing outside, a loud noise was heard which sounded like an explosion. We learned later that there had been a very severe train wreck just east of Salem. After our lunch, my father took us to the scene of the wreck. The coaches were off the track laying on their side. Plush seats were torn from the coaches and the engines were also laying on their sides and facing east and steam was still hissing from their boilers.

There was twisted metal and wooden splinters all about. The passenger train and the freight had come together at full speed. The train orders had been misread. The passenger train was filled with people going to Belle Isle for a picnic and a day of fun but they never arrived there.

Thirty three were killed and a 100 were injured. A train was sent from Ionia to get the injured and the dead. Doctors and nurses from Plymouth and Detroit were called to aid the injured. The dead and the injured were all taken away before we arrived there. There was a pile of hats near the fence and another pile of shoes that had been pulled from the victims and the shoe laces were never broken nor had they been untied.

It was always a happy day when the circus came to town as this was a great event for us young lads. It was fun to watch the animals perform and to watch the clowns as they were usually doing some of their funny

Bowling skills are tough to pin down

Doing something for the first time brings out feelings of anxiety. Whether it's something as easy as driving on a freeway, or something as stupid as down hill skiing, there's always some amount of uncertainty when faced with it for the first time. Just when you've convinced yourself that (whatever this thing is you're trying to do) it's no big deal, there's a voice inside you saying, "oh no, here she goes making a fool of herself again."

Bowling is a fairly easy sport. It requires lots of coordination and skill, and in my case a tremendous amount of luck. Bowling for the first time can be embarrassing, but with a large group of friends it's intimidating as well as suicidal for self-confidence.

There I was, my first time up and I couldn't decide which ball was mine -- they all look pretty much alike to me. Finally after figuring out which finger went in which hole, the ball was off and rolling. Now it's one thing to get a gutter ball, but in the gutter three lanes over?

Actually I didn't throw the ball that far -- I just rotated from the right to the left side and every once in awhile a few pins fell down. There must have been a breeze that blew them over.

Everyone was very nice. They tried not to laugh as they gave little tips on how to aim the ball. If they only knew how hard I was concentrating on the ball going in front of me and not behind me.

It's one thing to go out and have a good time with a group of friends, but it's another thing to have your name announced over the loud speaker as having the lowest score of the evening. I wonder if those people really think five free games are going to help someone like me. At least I don't have to worry about being put on the bottom of a sub list. I don't even qualify for the desperate list, unless people are looking for a good laugh.

Armistice Day memory recalled

stunts: There was usually a balloon ascension later in the program.

It was exciting to watch the man come out of the basket and come to earth in a parachute.

Lapham's store was located in lower town and a place where one could purchase nearly everything from tooth picks to a horse collar and building materials.

Wilcox Mill was located at the foot of the hill on Wilcox Road and Hines Drive. The mill was powered by water and farmers brought their wheat to have ground into flour. Other grains were brought here to be ground for feed for the animals on the farm. I didn't appreciate the noise and the moving belts that turned the wheels that ground the grain.

During the spring and fall seasons I rode a bicycle to Plymouth High School, riding a total of 12 miles each day. One particular morning in 1918 as I was on my way to school the sky seemed to become a beautiful crimson color and as the sun ascended from the horizon it seemed so much more brilliant. A scene that I had never witnessed before.

There was a feeling of mystery that came over me. Was this something that God wanted to tell me? As I entered Plymouth, bells were ringing, horns were blowing and guns were being fired which all seemed very strange until I learned that World War I had come to a close and school was out for the day.

Our boys would now soon be coming home to their family and friends, wives, and sweethearts. We were told that this was the war that would end all future wars but how wrong we were.

There were those who would never return as they have been laid at rest in the field of Flanders.

These are my memories of a small part of Plymouth in the early 1900s as seen through the eyes of a young lad.

Andy Pruner's job as a Wayne County Sheriff's deputy does not interfere with his candidacy for a trustee post on the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees, he says.

Pruner is an officer on the Secondary Road Patrol which covers areas including Hines Park, Northville, Canton, and Plymouth. Wayne County Sheriffs currently have a contract with Plymouth Township for police services.

On a similar case, a recent opinion from Frank Kelley, state attorney general, says that "it would be a violation . . . for a councilmember (in the City of Romulus) to directly serve on the police department of the city with pay.

"It is my opinion that a council member of the City of Romulus may not simultaneously serve as a deputy county sheriff charged with enforcing city ordinances," says Kelley.

"I am not a contracted officer for Plymouth Township," says Pruner in response. Although his patrol includes Plymouth Township, he is not an officer with the nine-member team that contracted in the township, he says.

Pruner added that he has no plans to withdraw his candidacy or resign from his job as deputy.

Canton plans Country Fest

The upcoming Canton Country Festival, formerly the Canton Sweet Corn Festival has announced some new plans for the three-day event.

Scheduled for Aug. 8, 9, and 10, the festival at Griffin Park will coincide with a Midnight Madness Sale on Friday, Aug. 8; and a two-day Sidwalk Sale, Aug. 8 and 9, sponsored by Canton merchants.

Merchants will be allowed to display banners, flags, and temporary signs on their premises two weeks prior to the event. Other promotions include a banner sign on the Griffin Park fence, 12 four-by-eight foot signs at various locations in Canton, as well as posters throughout the community.

The Canton Chamber of Commerce, the festival's sponsor, is urging all merchants to participate.

of administration," said Board President Tom Yack.

In the 1977-78 school year, the board also dipped into the fund balance in order to offset a deficit. According to Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business, the district spent about $317,000 more than its revenues in that year. It reduced its fund balance from about $1.8 million to $1.5 million, said Hoedel.

Glenn Schroeder, who was elected to the school board last week and will begin his post July 1, criticized administrators about the format followed in the report. "We need actual costs here so that we can compare the projected budget with actual figures-to-date," he said. "We can't make a budget without these figures."

School board secretary Elaine Kirchgatter agreed, however Hoben urged the board not to delay the budget. "We've got about one month left before administrators leave (for summer vacation). We've got to get this planning done for next year."

THE COMMUNITY CRIER: June 18, 1980

Canton summer teams' seasons are under way

The Canton Little Ceasars opened Redford Adray League competition in admirable fashion Thursday night.

Canton, lead by the fine pitching of Dan Funkhouser and Al Lipinski and a clutch hit by second baseman Steve Schumacher, defeated Southfield 3-1.

Funkhouser and Lipinski scattered five Southfield hits over seven innings while Schumacher's two-out double in the fifth inning, scored Canton's final two runs in breaking up a 1-1 tie.

Canton's Mickey Mantle squad also was victorious Thursday night, bombing Windsor Mic Mac 17-5.

Dave Malek pitched the first five innings to pick up the win, and he helped his own cause with three RBIs.

Canton's Sandy Koufax squad was not so lucky, as South Lyon handed Canton a 5-2 loss.

Rupert golf tourney a success

The Sixth Annual Hank Rupert Golf Classic for graduating Salem senior athletes and alumni was almost rained out last weekend as storm clouds threatened the proceedings which involved some 45 athletes of this and past years.

"We thought it would be strictly a one shot deal when we decided to first do the tournament, but it gets bigger every year and the athletes have been great to respond as they have," said the tournament's namesake Hank Rupert. "It looked like we were in for bad weather but after the first hole the rain stopped and it was a fine golf day."

Eleven seniors from this year plus some 35 former Salem athletes still in college took their turns on the course at Fellows Creek.

Jim Ross carded a 76 for the 18 holes to win the competition, while Blake Lundberg was second with a 77. Ross graduated from Salem in 1978, while Lundberg graduates this week.

Mike Wickham was third with an 80, while John Maloney was next with an 82 and Joe Hoibler had an 85.

Wickham won the tournament last year and Maloney won the very first golf classic.

Elks snatch 2 victories as Connie Mack starts

The Salem Elks of the Connie Mack summer baseball program opened its season last week and after three games has a 2-1 record.

The Elks split a doubleheader with Redford Union and defeated Redford Bishop Borgess in its first three contests of the season.

Last weekend against RU, the Elks won the first game 8-2, but fell 4-0 in the second contest.

In that first game, John Penders was the winning pitcher, as he lasted all seven innings, struck out six and walked four.

Salem scored three runs in the first inning, one in the second and two in the fifth, while RU tallied two runs in the second frame.

Greg Etienne had a triple and a single with two RBIs to pace the team, while Joe Garica and Dave Slavin had two singles apiece.

"We did some nice hitting and good base running," said coach Ben Wilcox. "We played well behind a well pitched game."

The second game was called after four innings due to a time limit with Salem losing 4-0.

Ken McDonald was the losing hurler in that contest but, according to Wilcox, he still pitched very well under the circumstances.

RU scored four big runs in the fourth inning after scoring one in the second inning.

Slavin went 2-2 at the plate for the Elks to provide the team's only bright spot in that game.

Earlier, the Elks defeated Borgess in a nine-inning tussle 5-4. Salem had 13 hits in the game for its opening victory of the summer season.

Paul Stevenson was the winning hurler. He came on after starter Jim Jimmerson was knocked for four runs in the sixth inning.

Salem had scored three runs in the first inning on six singles and then added one run of its own in the sixth to send the game into extra innings.

Brian Lewanowski singled, Slavin singled and Hsiao Peng hit a sacrifice fly to score the tying run.

Then in the ninth frame, there was a walk, a hit batter and Garcia hit a single to score the winning run.

Slavin tallied three singles for the Elks, while John Hetkowsky had two hits and Garica had two hits.

"Both clubs played very well that day," said Wilcox. "We were both coming off good seasons at the varsity level. It was also a good defensive game since neither team committed an error."

The squad's next contest is Saturday at Salem High against Southfield at noon.

Plymouth Flying Pilgrims reach for blue skies

BY KEN VOYLES

With all types of organizations, clubs and athletic leagues, it's no wonder that the entry of a new organization on the local recreation scene could be overlooked.

The Plymouth Flying Pilgrims may not be true pilots of the romantic-adventure type, yet the group of 50 or so builds and flies their own planes, small-scale versions of the original models.

The club is a charter member of the Academy of Model Aeronautics and they tune their radio plane flying skills at a 15-acre patch of field on Proctor just west of Canton Center.

The Pilgrims sport of model radio plane flying is one without body contact or competition since the members believe in the gentlemanly attitude so ripe in recreation clubs.

The club flies on property owned by the Plymouth-Canton schools. Its members are from all over the area including Ypsilanti, Westland and Northville. The property used by the group in exchange for its upkeep; spectators are welcome to watch flying which goes on regularly when the weather is good.

Although the group uses school property, it has no connection with the schools, in fact most of the members are beyond their school years by many moons.

As for the planes -- the center of attention -- they are usually of balsa wood construction with a heat sealed plastic over the wood. They can cost from $200 to $1,200.

There are many classes in the radio controlled airplane world and there are many scales (sizes) to choose from when building a model, either from a kit or from scratch.

There are exact scales, stand-off scales, and racing scales plus many other classifications and strict rules that bind the club.

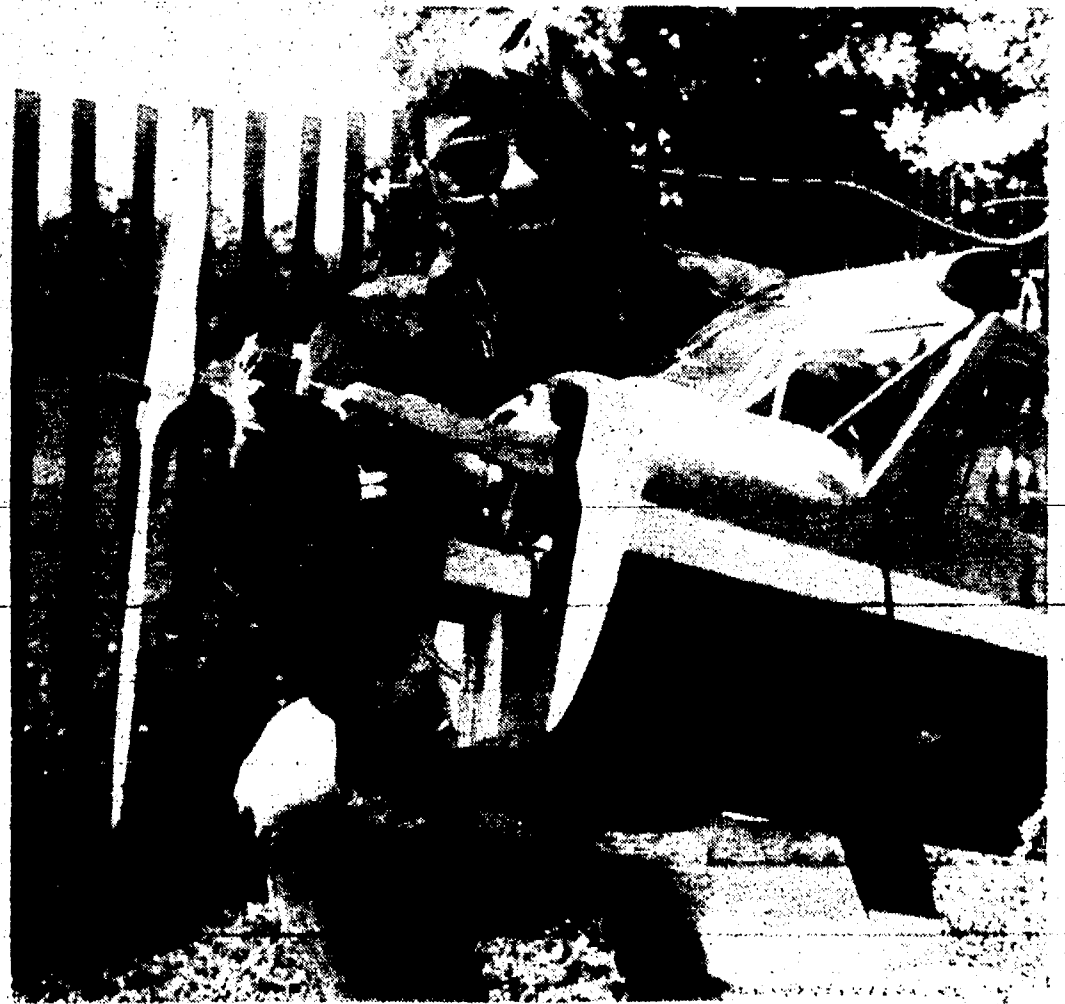

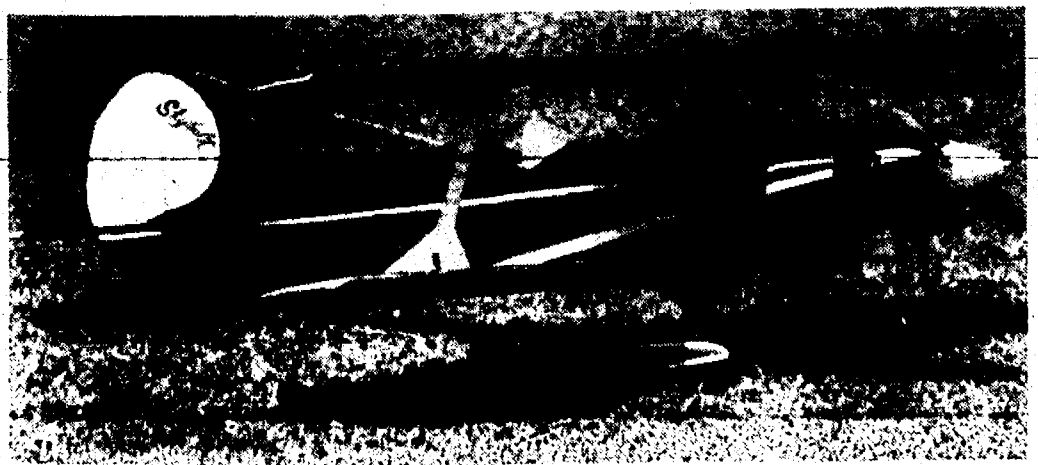

These scale planes can reach a six to eight foot wingspan and fly to a height of four miles, which is the United States record setting flight. The national club however restricts flying to roughly 400 feet and most flights last 10 minutes.

Several planes take to the sky at once during flight operations but the number is strictly controlled because there are only a limited number of frequencies available at one time.

The club is always looking for members and anyone interested in flight and construction of scale aircraft can contact Bud Carrow at 420-2510.

All-leaguers

Salem baseball seniors Jim Anderson, Pat McNamara and Mike Woodard were chosen for the first team of the all-Suburban Eight League baseball team last week by the conference coaches.

Anderson saw action at first base for the Rocks, while McNamara was one of Salem's main fireballers on the mound. Woodard held down third base.

FRANK McMURRAY HAD a little better luck in this effort, as he slides safely into second base beating the throw which is still to come. Canton won the Connie Mack League tussle over Redford Bishop Borgess. (Crier photo by James Keenan)

Basically by Ken Voyles

Well its been almost three weeks since most of the Canton and Salem varsity teams completed the 1979-80 sports season, some came to a grinding halt in pre-district or district action, while some never had the chance to get into state Class A competition.

The Salem girls' golfers went the farthest amongst the spring teams, and while several individual performers from both Salem and Canton track teams also reached the coveted finals.

The golfers finished seventh in the state finals after a league and regional showing. The golfers won their Central Six League and finished second in the regional and seventh at the state.

It was a surprising finish for the team and yet coach Jim Stevens saw it coming as each week went by during the regular season and the team steadily improved.

As for the tracksters, it was as much just to make the state finals at Grand Rapids as to place. Unfortunately none of the four individual tracksters or relay teams placed higher than seventh.

And yet the tracksters can still be happy with just reaching the finals for their respective schools.

Salem baseball and Canton softball were next in line in order of post season achievement but in each case the season ended abruptly.

In Salem's case, because of a bad day in all the areas that it takes to win a game, and in Canton's case because a last inning rally took the wind out of the Chiefs own 1st inning rally.

And so high school sports bid farewell until the last weeks of August when the teams again start preparing for another season with new names, new scores and all that other stuff that constitutes the experience of playing on a high school team.

Last weekend the Michigan International Speedway concluded its first weekend of racing of a scheduled four weekends. The Gabriel 400 for NASCAR stock cars fought off Sunday's rain and finally got started late in the evening.

Native Detroitier Benny Parsons won the event on what he considers his home track and provided a measure of excitement to the rain soaked crowds at the speedway (near the Irish Hills).

The sports desk of this paper was invited out to the course on Friday, the first day of practice for the incoming drivers and got a chance to view all parts of the track.

It is a dandy track to watch, not only stock cars, but Indy cars and road race cars in action and MIS has scheduled four weekends for just that.

The first was the Gabriel 400 to be followed by the Norton Twin 200s for both Indy cars and stock cars on the weekend of July 18-20 with two races on the final day.

In August, the loud roar of those stock cars will again fill the air as the Champion Spark Plug 400 comes to the track. The weekend of Aug. 15-17 is the scheduled date.

Finally in Sept., the Indy cars and the stock cars will run in the Gould Grand Prix set for the weekend of Sept. 19-20 and including two races on the final day.

The track is laid out in a D shape with the grandstands and bleachers on the curve of the D. The seating is excellent for viewing the race and the loud roar produced when the cars come by the grandstand is enough to grab ones total attention.

In fact the positions of the grandstand and bleachers were built on the fastest part of the course so that viewers may watch the race from the fastest point on the two mile course.

MIS can make for a fairly expensive outing but the advantages may out weigh the disadvantages.

The races are scheduled so that a family can make it a weekend affair at small cost. Prices range from $10 for infield, most bleacher seats and some grandstand seats to the outstanding view on the top portion of the grandstand at $35.

Ticket prices are much less for the qualifying and practice days, there is free parking for a day, and there is plenty of camping right around the speedway.

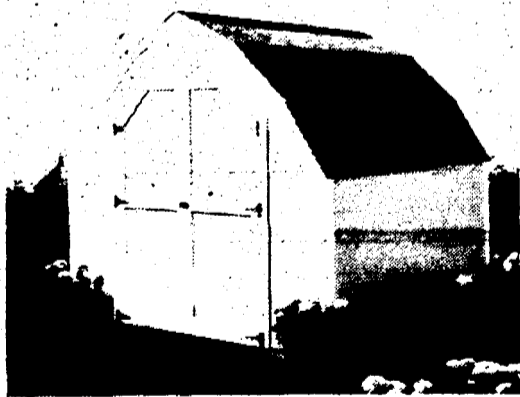

Auto racing is a growing sport in this state, there is little doubt about that, and yet the interest is mainly in smaller amateur racing and actually participating in the dangerous sport.

Professional racing, as seen only at MIS, is some what neglected from the viewing consumer and its a shame.

It was good to see those 22 degree banked turns and here that loud roar across the start/finish line that so punctuates the air when racing is in progress.

Soccer camp at Schoolcraft

A six-day soccer camp begins at one of the area's strongholds, Schoolcraft College, June 23 and runs for six days in what could be a very thorough program for both boys and girls seven to 16 years of age.

The camp is an opportunity to learn and improve the basic skills of soccer and to compete with members of an age and ability group. Emphasis is on individual skills as well as group tactics.

The program will be open to roughly 100 youths but, according to Dr. Marvin Gans, director of physical education and athletics, the school is prepared to handle more soccer players if need be.

"There will be 10 kids to an instructor and if we get more youths we will get more coaches," said Gans. "This is the sixth year that we have had a summer soccer camp for some kind and they have usually been very successful for both us and the boys and girls who participate in them."

Registration is scheduled on June 23 between 8 and 9 a.m. and the tuition is $55. The first day will then begin and the camp will run on successive days for three to five hours.

The schedule includes exercise and conditioning, basic skills, group tactics competitive games and open swimming at the end of each session.

Schoolcraft soccer coach Larry Christoff, former University of Michigan-Dearborn coach Van Dimitriou and six outstanding coaches and pro soccer players will conduct the program.

"We are very interested in soccer here and hope to bring that out for anyone who wishes to learn the sport," said Gans.

Applications or further information is available by calling the physical education office at 591-6400, ext. 480.

Saints start women's soccer season

The Plymouth-Canton Saints of the Great Lakes Women's Soccer League only half completed its third game of the season last weekend as foul weather and thunder forced the game to be called after only the first half.

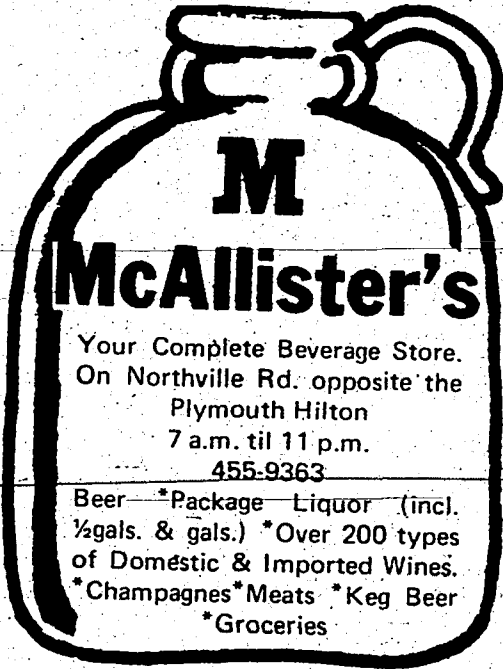

The Saints battled Flint America to a 2-2 tie before the weather set in and ended the game. The Saints are now 1-1-1 in the all women's league which includes 12 teams from southeastern Michigan.

Kay Stoupenburg, register of the league and one of the managers of the Plymouth-Canton squad said that the league is also still looking for interested women soccer players 18 years of age and older.

The program, according to Stoupenburg is not geared for younger players, but she also said that anyone under 18 can still contact the league. For information on playing with the Saints or any other squad in the league, contact Stoupenburg at 455-7047.
