Schools mull new boundaries

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Which Plymouth-Canton students will attend Livonia's Lowell Junior High School next fall? How much will school attendance areas change when boundaries are remapped? At which schools will portable classrooms be placed?

These issues were tackled by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education at a weekend workshop. And, although no firm decisions were reached, school officials have mapped out preliminary plans for ways to resolve the school district's housing crunch.

Relieving overcrowded high schools is the main thrust of these plans, which are to begin in the fall of 1981. Designed for about 4,300 students, Canton and Salem high schools currently house more than 4,700 students.

To relieve congestion at the high schools, the school board informally adopted a four-pronged plan last spring. It relies on: realigning grades to a K-6, 7-9, and 10-12 configuration, expanding the year-round school program to all elementary schools except Geer, Tanger, Starkweather, and Smith; renting Lowell Junior High School; and putting up portable classrooms at some schools.

Months of planning are required before this plan goes into effect. School officials began laying preliminary groundwork over the weekend.

Donahue's payments are late

BY CHAS CHILD

When Canton Treasurer Jim Donahue relinquished his administrative duties at Township Hall five months ago, he promised to return his salary.

So far, however, only a small portion of this money has been paid back.

Donahue said he also is keeping his medical coverage and pension funds, although these are only regularly available to township administrators.

To tackle the job of drawing up new boundary lines for schools, Ecosystems Corp., an Ohio-based company, has been negotiating with Plymouth-Canton officials for drawing up a transportation plan based on information compiled in the district.

First, Ecosystems will do a "walk" Cont. on pg. 6

Part of the problem arises from his current hybrid status at Township Hall.

He is in name only the township treasurer, one of the three elected township administrators, with the supervisor and clerk, elected two years ago. The treasurer's salary is $7,500 per year -- designed to be part-time.

Donahue doesn't manage the treasurer's office, however; he only attends meetings of the Board of Trustees. On April 8, the board turned the treasurer's operations over to Deputy Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz. At that time, Donahue said poor health prevented him from administering the treasurer's office.

Rather than resign altogether after the April job switch, Donahue stayed on the board; and he agreed to accept only $75 per meeting, the money received by board trustees.

He said he'd return the difference between this and his treasurer's salary to the township.

Under this agreement, Donahue owes Canton $2,075, through last Tuesday's meetings. But he said, he has only returned about $450.

"I'll pay back the difference," he said. "All my checks now are being signed right back to the township." He said he has turned the $450 over to Canton's library fund, so he can deduct the amount from his income taxes. Falkiewicz confirmed this Monday.

Trustee Stephen Larson said, though, that he would prefer that the money go into Canton's general fund to help cover Falkiewicz's salary, which was increased to $18,000 per year when she took over the treasurer's office from Donahue in April.

This was discussed by board members

City reports third arson

Plymouth's third case of arson this year occurred sometime between 6 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. Saturday.

According to Plymouth Police, a flammable liquid was spread near the front and back doors of the Slak Shak, 853 W. Ann Arbor Trail. Apparently, only by the front door was an attempt made to ignite the liquid, said police. According to the report, a small pile of burnt paper was found about a foot from the door. Police also said no entry was gained to the building.

The attempted arson is the third instance of deliberately set fires in Plymouth since February. In that month, the Penniman Avenue shops were completely destroyed by fire. In July the Mayflower Beauty Salon was the target of another arson and was damaged. However, Carl Berry stated that, "They appear not to be related."

1981 Fund kicks off

The Plymouth Community Fund is starting its annual money-raising drive.

Early this morning, fund organizers attended a breakfast meeting to set the 1981 goal. Last year, about $315,000 was given to the fund for various organizations in the Plymouth Community.

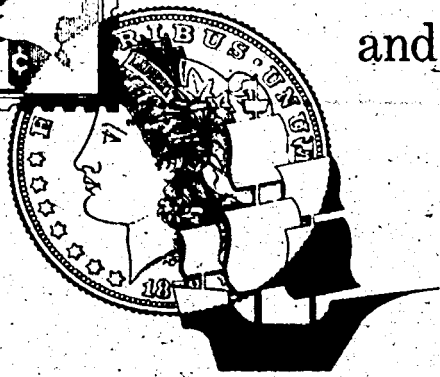

On Tuesday, Sept. 23, the annual kick-off dinner will be held at 6:45 p.m. at the Mayflower Hotel. Gerald Triplett is the 1980 general chairman with Roger Haslick as the co-chairman.

Various committee leaders are: Claude Cornwall, business/residential chairperson with Daisy Procter, co-chairperson; John Behman, Tom Fidge, Mary Brooks, government chairpersons; Paul D. Pietila, chairman of industrial and commuters with Chris Peterson, co-chairperson; Lolly Buikema, educational chairperson with Carroll Nichols, co-chairperson; Henry Salla, professional chairperson; and Daisy Procter, special gifts chairperson.

"We're fully staffed and ready to go," said Haslick while describing the fund drive. Money donated to the Community Fund supports organizations such as the Girl and Boy Scouts, Plymouth Family Service, American Red Cross, Big Brothers and Sisters, Growth Works, Michigan Cancer Foundation, Plymouth Opportunity House, Salvation Army, Plymouth Senior Citizens, Visiting Nurses Association, YMCA, YWCA, United Way of Michigan, Plymouth Dental Fund, Camp Fire Girls, and the Plymouth-Canton Junior Athletic Association.

New complex to be built on Penniman Ave. site

On the site of the now-demolished Penniman Avenue Shops mall, a sign has been erected stating a new structure will be built. According to mall owner David Pugh, a Plymouth City commissioner, a three-story structure will be built on the site, to open in 1981, featuring both retail and office space. Preliminary details of the new building are being considered by an architect.

According to Pugh, no further details are available.

Hink, Wendover, Berg list donors to campaign

BY CHAS CHILD

Only three candidates for the Wayne County Charter Commission's 27th District, which includes the Plymouth-Canton Community, spent or received more than $500 in the August primary.

Democratic winner Walter Hink spent a total of $1,644, Democrat W. Edward Wendover spent $1,633, while Republican Bart Berg spent about $200 in an uncontested race.

These figures were taken from the campaign financial statements filed under state law with the Wayne County clerk.

Hink, endorsed by the powerful UAW, listed 27 individual contributions from individuals. The largest of these include $100 from himself, $100 from Wayne County Drain Commissioner Charles N. Youngblood, $100 from State Rep. Gary Owen, of Ypsilanti, and $125 from Robert Slifco, of Belleville.

Wendover's largest contributor was himself, at $903. Other donors include 35th District Court Judge Dunbar Davis, $50; Ralph Lorenz, owner of Plymouth's Mayflower Hotel, $50; Nancy Hayes, of Plymouth Township, $103; Plymouth Township Clerk Esther Hulsing, $25; and former Canton Township Supervisor Harold Stein, $25. Jessica B. Wendover, his daughter, also loaned him $150, which he paid back.

Berg, who ran unopposed in the Republican primary, listed one contributor: himself, at $500. He will face Hink in the November general election.

The other primary candidates filed a report which said they spent less than $500, which does not require them to list individual contributors.

Canton candidates' night set

Candidates from five local races will appear for a question-and-answer session, sponsored by the local League of Women Voters, on Thursday, Oct. 23 at 7:30 p.m. at Canton Township Hall.

The league has invited candidates for Canton Township, Wayne County Board of Commissioners, Wayne County Charter Commission, the 15th District U.S. House of Representatives, and 37th District State House of Representatives to attend the session.

Canton Township Hall is located at 1150 S. Canton Center Rd.

Candidates for Plymouth Township offices will be invited to a similar session, said a LWV spokesperson. The league will set the time, date, and place of the Plymouth Township candidates' night later this week, she added.

Watch upcoming issues of The Crier for more details on candidates' nights. They are open to the public.

Canton stalls proposal for indoor rec complex

BY DAN BODENE

Plans for a privately-owned recreational complex in Canton were temporarily stalled last Tuesday because it didn't meet the township's movie seating capacity ordinance, trustees said.

Ned Apigian, architect of the proposed complex, had sought an amendment to the township movie seating ordinance in order to win approval for a multi-screen theater as part of the recreational facilities in the project.

Township trustees voted against the amendment, however. The existing ordinance specifies a single-screen theater must have a minimum seating capacity of 400. Apigian's proposed theater would have several screens which average 400 seats per screen, but fall below the minimum capacity in specific screen areas.

The proposed amendment to the seating ordinance was first approved by the township Planning Commission prior to board action.

In the minutes of the July 28 Commission meeting, it was stated "The Planning Commission had previously looked at single-screen theaters only, and theater complexes were not given full consideration when the present seating capacity was established."

During the debate on the proposed amendment, Trustee Robert Greenstein said, "Every X-rated theater in the area has a seating capacity of 200 or 300. A survey shows the 400 seat capacity to be reasonable."

Supervisor Noel Culbert added, "I agree with Bob. Our ordinance was adopted from Livonia's. I don't want to lower the present standards."

Apparently, fears of encroachment of X-rated movies in the township were the board's primary motive in rejecting the amendment. Trustee Stephen Larson observed, "In Canton, we will soon bring in Omnicom. With cable TV, the only thing

Twp. now accepts funds

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees has decided to accept Community Block Grant funds from the federal government. The decision, reached last Tuesday night, is a reversal of the board position taken in August.

Then board members had decided to reject the funds, which add up to about $120,000 annually, on the basis that the township would have to accept low-income housing. Last Tuesday night, Trustee Gerald Law was the lone dissenter on the motion to accept the monies.

Last Tuesday night two representatives of the Wayne County Community Development Block Grant Program spoke to trustees. They said that even if the township chose not to participate in the block grant program, it could still be eligible for low-income housing.

By participating in the block grant program, the township could still get low-income housing, said James P. Curran, Jr., director of the program. Furthermore, he said, when a township participates in the block grant program, it participates in the Housing Assistance Plan (HAP) which maps out areas in which low-income housing could be built.

A developer does not always use HAP in choosing a site for HUD-financed low-income housing, said Curran.

"That's not being realistic," countered Law. "Developers do follow HAP"

"No, many developments have built using plans that weren't created under HAP," he responded.

Proposed by Trustee Maurice Breen and seconded by Trustee Lee Fidge, the motion to accept the money passed 6-1. In August, the motion to reject the funds was passed by

Oakwood to break ground for satellite hospital in Canton

Oakwood Hospital will break ground in Canton Township Sept. 23 for a $1.5 million primary and 24-hour emergency medical care facility.

Opening of the Oakwood Hospital Medical Center at the intersection of Canton Center and Warren roads is expected by the fall of 1981.

Officials from the Canton-Plymouth area, Oakwood Hospital, local and state health agencies, and local and state lawmakers will be participating in the groundbreaking at 1:45 p.m.

Members of the medical center's Community Advisory Committee will be among the participants. They include: Rev. Edward J. Baldwin, John Flodin, Lynn Labell, Frank McMurray, Larry Oldford, Catherine Prince, John Schwartz, and Flossie Tonda. All are Canton residents.

According to Gerald D. Fitzgerald, president of Oakwood, the Canton satellite will help realize two major goals:

"It will complement the existing health care resources in the Plymouth-Canton area and provide an organizational focal point toward the development of a comprehensive and coordinated local health delivery system."

Basic components include 16 examination rooms, physicians' offices, pharmacy, radiology, laboratory, community health education office, and emergency unit.

The emergency facilities include two trauma treatment areas, an isolation room, three suture rooms, and specialized units for orthopedics, pediatrics, and obstetrics and gynecology.

The 24-hour-a-day emergency unit will have no inpatient beds, so that individuals requiring hospitalization will be stabilized and transported to Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn or to other full-service hospitals.

An integral part of the center's outpatient services will be the Maternal and Child Health Care Clinic. It will emphasize early identification and care of high risk mothers and infants from the beginning of pregnancy through labor, delivery, and post-natal care.

Oakwood, which ranks third among Michigan's hospitals with more than 4,200 births a year, is the regional referral center in western Wayne County for the care and treatment of critically ill infants and mothers.

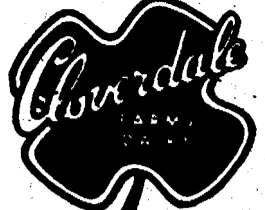

OAKWOOD HOSPITAL'S primary and 24-hour emergency medical care facility is expected to open by fall, 1981. Ground breaking ceremonies will be held Tuesday, Sept. 23 for the center, to be located

Trustees table Howmet's expansion Residents petition against Howmet

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Residents living adjacent to Howmet Corp. in Plymouth Township have charged that company with making excessive noise, producing unpleasant odors, and generally disrupting the neighborhood's atmosphere.

They complained to the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees at the same time the company was seeking the township's approval in order to borrow funds from the Wayne County Economic Development Corp. for expanding its operation.

In response to the residents' charges, a company spokesperson said efforts to find solutions to the problems have been made.

At attorney for the homeowners, Marvin Skupski, acknowledged the company's efforts, but added: "Efforts have only lasted a few months. When the residents stopped complaining, these solutions fall by the wayside."

A petition with 71 signatures from residents was given to the board.

After some discussion, the board decided to delay consideration of Howmet's loan application from EDC. There should be a "more definite commitment from the company and the residents to deal with these problems," said Trustee Maurice Breen, while recommending the board delay action on the expansion project.

"The township has the opportunity to take action (on this matter)," he said.

A committee of both residents and company representatives was formed to find solutions to the problems cited by homeowners. The EDC loan application from Howmet will be considered by the board on Sept. 23.

V.L. Wilkinson, Howmet plant manager, urged the board not to delay action. He said additional problems will not be created if the board considers the expansion plans. "We've displayed very good cooperation with neighbors," he said, adding that he was not "prepared to respond to all their allegations."

Expansion plans for Howmet call for 19,500 square feet to be added to the present plant at 41605 Ann Arbor Rd. The addition will create jobs for 41 persons. If the board OKs its project plan, Howmet would be able to finance the $4.3 million expansion through EDC. As part of its requirements, EDC says that a company must get approval of the project plan from the township before EDC will finance the improvements.

In their petition, Arbor Village residents included the following "demands": That all existing and future air handling and dust collecting systems be located inside the plant; That sand truck delivery be relocated from the east side of the building to the west side; That outside plant doors be closed 24 hours unless plant temperature reaches 90 degrees; and, that the ridges across the driveway bordering the residential area, placed there for the purpose of reducing the speed at which trucks travel the driveway, be reduced in order to reduce vibration.

addenda & errata

- Two Fall Festival edition corrections:
1. In a story on storeowners in the burned-out Penniman Avenue Shops minimall, it was reported that two stores had reopened. There are actually three. The Collectors Shop is open for business in downtown Plymouth's Forest Place Mall.
  2. Cash prizes were not awarded in the Fall Festival Produce Tent competition as originally reported. Ribbons were given to category winners.

Plant a tree

Now in its fourth year, Plymouth's five-year tree planting program is nearing its seasonal deadline.

Kenneth Vogras, director of the city Department of Public Works, announced that residents who have received letters offering a tree to be planted between the sidewalk and curb in front of their homes for $25 should respond before Oct. 1.

Any residents who have received letters over the past three years and who have not yet responded may still do so by Oct. 1. Residents who have not received a form may call the DPW at 453-7737, and a review of the home will be made. If planting a tree is possible, a form will be sent.

Vogras also said commercial businesses can also request a feasibility review. Tree planting for commercial interests will cost $100, and $310 if a sidewalk needs to be removed.

Due to filing backlog at the Wayne County Clerk's election office, one Canton candidate's campaign financial statement was not included in last week's review of contributions and expenditures of the township's primary candidates.

Maria Falkiewicz, who won the Democratic primary for treasurer, reported she received $1,165 and spent $1,164 during her campaign.

Her contributors include two members of the township's legal firm, Gerald Hemming and Chris Polaczyk. Hemming gave $75, while Polaczyk donated $25.

The township's engineering consultant, Ken Mosher, contributed $25. And a number of Canton businesses gave direct or in-kind contributions, all under $100: The Rusty Nail, Roman Forum, Super Bowl, Domino's Pizza, and Maria's Pizza.

Realtor Harold Fischer, of Plymouth, gave $25.

Falkiewicz said she returned $570 of contributed funds via a raffle to her campaign-fund ticket-holders.

Merchant mulls lawsuit against City

Confusion over the City of Plymouth's Fall Festival ordinance has left one businessperson and her son considering a suit against City Hall.

According to accounts of Plymouth Police, Fall Festival officials and from Karen and Tom LeGault, the confusion arose Saturday and Sunday of Fall Festival when festival officials and then police asked Tom LeGault not to display and sell his artwork in the Festival area.

LeGault was first asked not to exhibit on the lawn of Jack Wilcox along Union Street -- where he has displayed and sold his works in previous years -- and then, after moving to Penniman Avenue near his mother's store on Sunday was told by police to take down his outside exhibit and to close his mother's store.

Lt. Henry Berghoff, who said he was acting in accordance with the city ordinance (7.60 of Chapter 73, "Peddlars and Canvassers"), asked LeGault to close the store Sunday. He later told The Crier that he was unsure how the ordinance applied to stores in the Festival area.

City Manager Henry Graper also said there was confusion over the ordinance's applicability to stores, since many downtown stores were open during the Festival even on Sunday. He said the Festival board, the Chamber of Commerce and the city should work together to avoid confusion next year.

LeGault said that did not eliminate the problem of having had the store closed down "Gestapo style" on Sunday nor the humiliation of having the public scene about closing him down. He said Festival Manager Carl Glass told him "you have the brains of a dead chicken."

Mrs. LeGault said Monday that she and her son were consulting a Detroit attorney on the matter.

LeGault was one of two artists who police asked to cease operations along the Festival area under the ordinance which gives authority to the Festival Board for licensing during the four days.

Fear of X-rated movies blocks rec complex

you can't get is X-rated movies."

The board then voted against the amendment, with Eugene Daley and John Flodin dissenting.

Next on the agenda was Apigian's special use consideration for the theater as part of the recreational complex to be located on Haggerty Road near Ford. However, since the seating amendment was rejected, so, in effect, were plans for the entire theater.

Apigian has for years sought to finalize plans for the complex, which has been modified several times due to zoning requirements. Township Planner James Kosteva admitted that several zoning variances have been needed for the project throughout its history. He added, however, that backers for the project contributed $69,000 toward paving Haggerty Road between Ford and Cherry Hill. "They were responsible for the road being five lanes wide up to where they want to build," said Kosteva.

Speaking at the board meeting after the seating amendment had been defeated, Apigian said, "It's not an architectural, but an economic problem. Today, exhibitors like to show in theaters with 200 to 250 seats." Apigian added that X-rated movies are shown in theaters in run-down locations, and had nothing to do with theater seating capacity.

According to Apigian, a common strategy for theater exhibitors in a multi-screen complex is to show a film in a large capacity theater, and then move it into successively smaller theaters as time goes on. Under the present seating ordinance, Apigian charges, no exhibitor will build a multi-screen complex in Canton.

a 5-1 vote with Clerk Esther Hulsing dissenting. Fidge was absent from the meeting.

Furthermore, Breen proposed that the board ask Congressman Carl Pursell to inroduce legislation giving township residents preference to live in low-income housing, if it was built in Plymouth Township.

He also called for "more realistic income qualifications" in setting up guidelines for families who qualify. Under the program, a family of four would qualify if its income was $15,000 or less.

According to Curran, Community Block Grant funds can be used for projects in various parts of the township in which 29 per cent or more of the residents are under low income requirements. Green Meadows subdivision, located east of Sheldon Road, north of Joy Road, south of Ann Arbor Road, and west of Main Street, qualifies now for projects funded under the Community Block Grant program.

Projects which can be funded with the monies include street paving or water main replacements, for example.

4 local actors to play in Dearborn

Several Plymouth area thespians will appear in the upcoming Dearborn Civic Theater production of "The Sound of Music."

The Rodgers and Hammerstein musical will open the new Dearborn Civic Theater season, and will feature Janen Lisa Booth of Plymouth in the role of Maria Ranier, the postulant from Nonnberg Abbey in Austria who wins the hearts of the Von Trapp family in the days shortly before W.W.II.

Other Plymouthites involved in the production are Lisa Andres and Kent Dalian, both of whom play members of the Von Trapp children.

Requiring a cast of 50 in addition to an orchestra, the play will be performed at Edsel Ford High School on Sept. 19, 20, 26 and 27 at 8 p.m. A final performance on Sept. 28 will be held at 7 p.m. General admission is $4.50, with students and seniors admission to cost $3.50. # Canton levies hold steady

Police and fire millages for the coming year in Canton remain unchanged at 3.25 mills apiece, and general fund millage has been adjusted due to the Headlee rollback.

Canton Township trustees voted to set the millages at last Tuesday's Board of Trustees meeting based on information from proposed departmental and general fund budgets.

Township Finance Director Mike Gorman advised the board on the proposed general fund budget, noting that he had lowered his projection of 1980 estimated revenues and raised 1981 revenue estimates. He also noted a drop in revenues from the 35th District Court due to a decrease in traffic fines, an expansion of court revenues and an increase in court use during the past year.

Two weeks ago, trustees heard presentation by Police Chief Jerry Cox and Fire Chief Mel Paulun, who both petitioned for millage increases to fund expanding duties of their respective departments.

analysis" to map out neighborhoods from which kids can walk to school. "We want to minimize the number of students transported by bus to school," said Dave Rodwell, administrative assistant.

Following the "walk analysis," Ecosystems will gather information from a redistricting questionnaire to be completed by school officials.

The questionnaire focuses on getting information that may be considered when redistricting lines are mapped out. For example, the questionnaire asks: "Are there any geographic areas such as subdivisions that should not be considered for redistricting?" And, "Are there any neighborhoods that should be considered as single entities for reassignment?"

Ecosystems will feed the information, based on the "walk analysis" and the redistricting questionnaire, into a computer to run the first program on boundary changes.

This program will be reviewed by the school board; following that, a public forum will be held.

According to School Board President Carol Davis, the forum will probably be held sometime in late December or early January. Revisions on the program for redistricting will be made by Ecosystems after the public and school board have discussed it, said Davis.

"Sure, we expect these changes to be controversial," she said. "Anytime that students change schools, it is . . . I understand that concern; but we (school officials) have to house students."

Plymouth-Canton school officials aim to have the plans for housing students in 1981-82 finished by Feb. 1.

Couched within these plans are hopes that the school district will be able to survive the economic strains of putting these plans in action. It is estimated that it will cost at least $110,000 to open the doors at Lowell. That price includes rental costs, which are still being negotiated, and buying (desks, books, tables, etc.) from the Livonia district. It does not include staffing the building with teachers and administrators.

Also, as more elementary schools go on the year-round program, air conditioning units will be installed in those schools. These costs will strain the district's budget, which is already being pinched by declining state aid.

School board members have discussed the possibility of placing a bond or millage bid on the ballot, but they are hesitant. Last March, Plymouth-Canton voters defeated a bond issue; in June, a scaled-down version also met defeat.

"We can't operate the type of program that we're used to with the revenues we've got coming in," said Supt. John M. Hoben. He forecasted "serious reductions in program and staff (unless more funds are generated) . . . And the staff is not immune."

Meanwhile, school officials are planning on a January election for a 10.6 mills renewal. The school board is considering asking for additional millage or a bond issue, however those plans are uncertain. "These plans must be addressed very quickly," said Hoben. Portable classrooms, air conditioners, and renting a school all cost money, he said.

Donahue delays repayment of salary

when the job switches were made in April, but no formal agreement was made. In fact, said Larson, state law says it's illegal for a township board to lower the salaries of the administrators while they're in office.

"There's no way to force him to give back a dime," he said. "I was surprised when he said he'd put it in the library fund. I assumed (then) it would offset Maria's salary."

"I recall that it was supposed to help defray Maria's salary," said Trustee Carol Bodenmiller. "But it was not stipulated which specific fund it would go into. These questions should be looked into."

Replied Donahue: "If I give it to the general fund, I'd be paying taxes on money I never earned. The board is aware that I gave it to the library and nobody's objected to it."

Moreover, he added that he has saved the general fund a substantial amount of money with regard to the library. He stopped, he said, a check for $49,000 from the general fund heading to Plymouth's Dunning-Hough Library.

Before Canton voters funded their own library, scheduled to open soon, Canton paid Dunning-Hough for its residents' use of the library, he said. "I learned we were not required to pay that money anymore, and so I stopped the check that was cut and about to be sent to them," he said.

Trustee Eugene Daley also questioned whether Donahue, now that he has dropped his administrative duties, should be entitled to keep the treasurer's pension funds and medical insurance.

"I plan to keep that (pension) money," said Donahue. "I feel I've earned it. Under the agreement with the pension firm, it can't be stopped anyway." According to the township's pension agreement, an employee must work at least 20 months before he receives money back after his employment ends. If Donahue's pension-fund contributions had been cut off in April when the job switch was made, he would only have had 17 months under his belt. As it stands now, Donahue will receive about $2373 in pension money when his term ends in November.

The township contributes 10 per cent of an employee's salary, while the employee contributes five per cent of his salary to the pension fund.

In any case, Donahue said, if he hasn't paid back all the money he has pledged to return by November, he will take the difference out of the pension funds.

The treasurer added that he plans to keep his Blue Cross and Blue Shield medical insurance. "I haven't used it much and it's not of major consequence," he said.

Falkiewicz, who won the Democratic nomination for treasurer, will face Republican James Kearney in the November general election. Donahue did not seek re-election.

Want pull at Canton Hall? Get out checkbook

Canton homebuilders and developers are trying to buy influence at Township Hall. With substantial campaign contributions to candidates for the Board of Trustees, particularly Supervisor Noel Culbert and Trustee Carol Bodenmiller, they hope to make sure their projects are approved with the minimum of delays and hassles.

There's no other explanation for the contributions from such people as a secretary for Beachum & Roeser, Gabriele Paciocco, Micki Dembs, Richard Roeser, Howard Binko, and Abe Green, all of development companies. (For complete details of the contributions, see the front page story in last week's Crier.)

Citizens can't expect an objective judgment from our local officials when they know that the developer standing in front of them helped put them in office.

It's not hard to understand why the developers give money to candidates. To them it's part of the cost of doing business -- it's an investment. What's a lousy $100 if it'll help slide through a $1 million project?

It is hard to understand why the candidates take the cash in the first place. The contributions aren't exactly bribes. But morally they're close to it.

Almost worse is the cozy relationship between township elected officials and persons who hold township contracts, like attorney Bert Burgoyne. He gave $700 to Culbert. You can bet he gave so much not because he believes the supervisor is doing such a fine job for Canton citizens. Rather, because Burgoyne's law firm received $37,507 for handling township law suits in 1979.

Burgoyne is not the only one holding lucrative contracts to contribute to Culbert's war chest. Stan Denski, for example, who has the township's rubbish-hauling contract, gave $500.

And three members of Wade, Trim & Associates, the township's planning consultants, each gave Culbert $100 -- Donald Trim, Robert Wade, and Michael Manore.

Culbert and other members of the board have jumped betwixt the proverbial political sheets with the wrong folks. Contributions from Canton citizens are few and far between on the supervisor's campaign financial statement filed with the Wayne County Clerk.

Canton voters, please take note.

Child's play

by Chas Child

Donahue's finances are a mess

Canton Treasurer Jim Donahue owes the citizens of Canton an explanation.

He promised to return most of salary after relinquishing his administrative duties at Township Hall. So far, he's only returned a small portion of the total promised.

He still has time before his term expires to pay back the money. And we fully expect he will. But now he's about $1,600 behind.

What bothers us more is his method of paying the money back. First, a little background: Citing poor health, Donahue told the Board of Trustees back in March that he couldn't continue administrating the treasurer's office, duties he was elected to perform in 1978.

He wanted to stay on the board, however, and declined to resign. But since Donahue had virtually abandoned his duties in the treasurer's department, the treasurer's role was turned over to Deputy Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz, whose salary was thus boosted to $18,000.

In turn, Donahue said he would pay back the township the difference between his regular salary and a trustee's salary. It's this money that Donahue is now way behind in returning.

During the debate on the job switch, it was mentioned by some board members that the money he was returning would help cover Falkiewicz's increased pay. No formal agreement was made, though, since by law, the township can't force Donahue to return any of the money.

But Donahue is not returning the money to the township's general fund, from which Falkiewicz's salary is drawn. He is donating it to the township's library fund so he can write it off his taxes.

We don't understand why Canton tax money, which Donahue has admitted he isn't earning, is going to help him reduce his taxes.

Furthermore, we believe the board agreed to the job switch partly because Falkiewicz's pay increase would be covered somewhat by Donahue's returns. But this isn't happening.

Donahue is also planning to keep more than $2,300 worth of pension funds when he leaves office in November. If he were still fulfilling his complete duties at Township Hall, he would certainly be entitled to this money.

But since April he has only worked, in effect, as a trustee. Trustees aren't included in the township's pension plan. He did work as the complete treasurer for 17 months, but township employees must work 20 months before their pension funds are vested.

If he doesn't deserve the salary of the treasurer, as he has admitted, we don't believe he deserves the pension contributions from the township, either. (The township contributes 10 per cent of his salary to the fund, while he adds five per cent.)

Unfortunately, this isn't all. Donahue still receives the medical insurance offered to the township's three administrators, the supervisor, clerk, and treasurer. Again, like the pension issue, if he is not performing the treasurer's full duties, does he deserve the full benefits? We think not.

Donahue and the whole Board of Trustees was elected to responsibly manage township funds. This obviously isn't being done.

Hoben says Special Ed aides funded adequately

EDITOR:

In response to the letter signed "Name Withheld By Request" and your concern relative to Special Education aides, I would like to state that the Plymouth-Canton Community School District made proportional cuts of $1.2 million dollars from some 40-odd line items to balance the district's budget for the ensuing school year.

The decision to cut aides was a departmental decision made by the Special Education administration, as opposed to cutting teaching services. Indeed, the Special Education department has been enriched by six additional teachers with two less students than last year.

The statement that general education aides were not cut is erroneous. This line item was funded at only 80% of the previous year's amount, or a reduction of $45,000, which is reflected in reduced hours.

The Plymouth-Canton Community School District does put Special Education in its proper perspective with total program and is striving to meet the needs in all areas of our educational family.

Sheriff's Dept. lags on reporting crime stats

The Wayne County Sheriff's Department provides police protection for Plymouth Township residents and, though their police cars are visible, their monthly crime statistics are not to be found.

Their contract with the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees stipulates that sheriffs are to report monthly on their law enforcement activities. The first -- and only -- 10-page report, submitted in May, outlined crimes, offenses, casualties and injuries, police services, traffic accidents, and traffic citations. It also included graphs.

Since May -- the month that the contract started -- the sheriffs haven't submitted a report to the Board of Trustees. "I haven't seen one," said Supervisor Tom Notebaert.

The reports are designed to give trustees a broad perspective on the number and types of crimes committed in the township. Since May, sheriffs have been lax in completing their paperwork.

Getting caught up on paperwork is no easy chore when too many months slip by. Get on the stick, sheriffs, and report those crime statistics. Your contract with Plymouth Township requires it.

With Malice Toward None

Arson is tough nut to crack

Arson is one of the toughest crimes to track down and one of the most frightening to be involved with.

With last weekend's attempted arson of a downtown store, Plymouth has seen an unusually high incidence of this crime in the past six months -- and it has police, firemen and the business community on edge.

It began in mid-February with the infamous Penniman Avenue Shops blaze, which destroyed 11 shops. Although police have their theories on what was behind that arson, there have been no warrants issued in the case.

Originally police said the Penniman fire was POSSIBLY an inside job, meaning that they weren't ruling out at least some connection to the shops involved. Later, in a report to the city commission, police changed that to PROBABLY.

While that case was still fresh on everyone's minds, a fire set in the Forest Place mall was discovered and extinguished before it got out of control. No arrests have been made in that case either, although, again, police have their suspicions.

Then comes last Saturday's attempted arson of an Ann Arbor Trail shop. Although no real damage was caused and it's too early to expect a solution from police, it's a grim reminder that we have a real problem in town.

Without solving these crimes, suspicion hangs unfairly over all the shopkeepers, employees, landlords and others connected to the businesses hit by arson.

Plymouth Police Inspector Carl Berry is frustrated by the situation.

Police speculate that the arsons are not related. But this means there likely are three arsonists on the loose, rather than one.

Has the notoriety of the first arson encouraged the others?

Whatever the case, the problem is certainly mushrooming in its scope and seriousness. Police and fire officials, tightlipped as the methods of justice dictate, can only plod along. The recently announced arson cooperation squad between neighboring communities may help, but until there's a way to prosecute and convict the perpetrators, a cloud of shame and fear remains.

While there is little we can do as citizens -- other than to be vigilant -- we can at least be understanding of the hurdles faced in trying to quell his wave of crime.

Knights thank MD contributors

EDITOR:

The Knights of Columbus, Father Victor J. Renaud Council 3292, had a successful program to raise funds for the muscular dystrophy, "Jerry's Kids." The charitable people of the Canton-Plymouth area showed that even in tough times they dig a little deeper to help those less fortunate than themselves. The local businesses were cooperative to allow the Knights to place canisters at their businesses for public donations. ## New conductor

Johan van der Merwe leads Symphony into diverse new season

BY REEF MORSE

"The orchestra is a wonderful group to work with. There is a wonderful atmosphere in the orchestra; they are very, very nice people" says Johan van der Merwe, the new conductor of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

Van der Merwe expects to do a lot of different things with the orchestra. He says the orchestra members want to play from as broad a field of music as possible. "I would bring to the community, first of all, whatever I sense that they may like to hear and a few things that they may not have heard before, but that they may enjoy. Opera and ballet are possibilities."

But van der Merwe would not want this as a steady diet and considers these productions as something that would be done only once or twice a year. Such performances are very expensive and in a sense they draw attention away from the orchestra. "Basically," he adds, "the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra is just that, an orchestra, and one should treat it as such."

He feels that the Plymouth-Canton Community likes good music and he will bring that to the community. "The community orchestra is there for the enjoyment of everyone," he exclaims. "The orchestra is talented and he is strongly aware of the relationship between the orchestra and the community. "It is not easy to get an orchestra of this quality together," he says. "This is an orchestra we can be proud of."

Van der Merwe nearly missed his chance to conduct the orchestra. "I heard about the position from a colleague at University of Michigan. I called Fran Lag, who asked for my credentials, but she said that unfortunately they had filled the year's bill." "They called me and said, 'Our conductor for January can't make it. Can you?'" Based on this audition, he won the position over three other candidates.

Van der Merwe comes from a musical family and he developed his desire to conduct at an early age. His mother, a professional musician, directed a choir and played piano and organ. He learned piano from his mother and later took up first the violin and then the viola. He considers his string background important "Because half the orchestra are strings, you know. They are the nucleus of the orchestra."

To learn conducting, van der Merwe studied as many aspects of music as he could including instrumentals, voice, and the choir.

PLYMOUTH SYMPHONY CONDUCTOR
 Johan van der Merwe will shortly take over the baton for the Symphony's new season. Van der Merwe says orchestra members want to play a broad range of music, and some of the things concert-goers might hear

He has always been interested in the dramatic aspect of music and voice. This culminates in his love of the opera. "I like the opera so much," he says. "It is the most challenging because it incorporates so many of the arts. It has so many facets. It is also the most difficult."

He believes a symphony orchestra should be tied closely with an auditorial program and has programmed the "Messiah" for this year. Presenting the "Messiah" gives him an opportunity to audition singers in the Plymouth area. "I never dreamt that there was so much local talent in the voice area. I was, so to say, tickled pink," he says. "It was so hard to choose the soloists; there were so many good singers."

Van der Merwe and his wife, a singer, live in Toledo. He commutes to Ann Arbor where he teaches at the University of Michigan. Taking on the job of conductor of the and see this year might include opera and ballet in addition to the traditional orchestra pieces. Van der Merwe, who comes from a musical family, commutes to Plymouth from his home in Toledo. (Crier photo by Rick Smith)

Plymouth Symphony Orchestra puts considerable demands on his time. He has chosen all the music for this year's program. He must master the music in order to know not only who plays what when, but how he wants the orchestra to play it. He arranges for soloists, asks them what they would like to play, and arranges the rest of the program around that.

Then he must get his ideas across to the orchestra. "There is a lot of hard work in rehearsals," he says. "You must communicate with the orchestra in a very positive fashion when you rehearse and especially when you perform."

(Editor's note: Reef Morse, the author of this story, is planning a second story on van der Merwe and the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra. It will focus on developing critical listening skills while attending concerts.)

Parents, school board members, and teachers have been kicking around the idea of grade realignment for months. There are strong feelings on both sides of the issue. Some people feel that losing the middle school concept of teaching (grades sixth through eighth) would be a disaster. Then there are those people who feel that sixth graders belong in elementary school and 10th grade is young enough to start high school, leaving junior high for the seventh through ninth grades.

Nobody has taken the time to ask the kids what they think of the idea of realigning the grades. Besides they're just kids, what do they know about what's good for them? Actually kids' reactions are very interesting.

A certain sixth grader I know is strongly against realignment. "That means I'll be on the bottom again next year, and everyone will pick on me all over again." However, he did agree that sixth grade would be OK in elementary. "They just should have done it last year or wait another year so someone else can be in the bottom grade for two years in a row."

The view of an eighth grader is slightly different. The idea of being in the top grade in school for two years sounds great. Since they're already talking about the eighth grade trip and making plans for it, she's convinced they'll have all these special things two years in a row.

Once past initial reactions, these kids and many of their friends said they favor realigning grades. Their reasons are simple. There are too many kids in the high school, and while the eighth graders are "sort of excited about going to high school," they would just as soon wait until 10th grade.

The kids also said they thought sixth graders would be "more comfortable" in elementary school. The current sixth graders were quick to point out that they could handle middle school, but they were a little concerned about younger kids who would follow in their footsteps.

If grade realignment goes into effect next fall, all students currently in a middle school will attend that school a total of four years. As a parent, I couldn't be happier.

Chiefs fall to Franklin cagers

Rebounding and too many fouls worked against the Canton girls basketball squad last week as the Chiefs fell to Livonia Franklin, 56-49, in their second game of the season.

"I thought the rebounding definitely hurt us. They had three big girls up front," said Canton Coach Mike McCauley. "We also fouled them a great deal and they must have shot 80 per cent from the foul line. We only shot about 35 per cent from the foul line. That's very decisive right there."

Jean Timlin was Canton's only bright spot in the game as she tossed in 11 points.

The Chiefs next contest will be tomorrow against Westland John Glenn at Glenn's home court. Game time is 6 p.m. for junior varsity and 7:30 p.m. for varsity.

Memorial golf tourney this weekend

Close to 100 local golf enthusiasts will be on the course at Rolling Meadows Country Club for the Third Annual Randy Williams Memorial Golf Tourney this weekend.

The Sunday event will start at 8:30 a.m. with a pre-registration from 7:30 to 8:30 a.m.

For those interested, the fee is $60 and includes trophies, prizes, 18 holes of golf, beer, and a buffet dinner.

The tournament's namesake, Randy Williams, discovered he had cancer some two years ago and a group of his local friends got together that fall to hold a tournament to help him pay hospital bills.

Before the second tournament got started, Williams was killed by the cancer leaving behind a wife and one daughter.

The tournament proceeds that year went to the family. Williams was 31 years old.

This year's proceeds will be donated to any needy organization in the community.

For more information about playing in the event, contact Larry Olson at 453-0332 during the day or 455-0451 after 5 p.m. Or contact Steve Williams, 453-8900 or 459-6836 after 5 p.m.

Canton gridiron squad dumped by Annapolis

BY JAY KEENAN

After enjoying a short lived one-point lead over Dearborn Annapolis Friday, the Canton football squad suffered its first loss of the season, 25-21.

Canton penalties accounting for 125 yards were the difference in the game, according to Canton Coach Richard Barr.

"We beat ourselves on penalties. If you look at the statistics, you'll see how many yards in penalties we had.

"We don't have to improve anything. We just have to eliminate the penalties." Canton was charged 11 times.

The Chiefs struck first, when junior Dave Simms took the opening kickoff and ran it back for a 78-yard touchdown sprint. Dennis O'Flynn added the extra point and Canton was off to a quick 7-0 lead.

The teams then exchanged punts and Annapolis took over at their own 21-yard line.

Three plays later, on a third and three-yard situation, an incomplete pass from Cougar quarterback Rich Chisaldi was overlooked when the Canton defense was charged with pass interference at the Annapolis 44-yard line.

As the second quarter got underway, the Cougar offense began to take advantage of the break by powering to the Chief 24-yard mark.

On a second and 10-yard situation, Leo Lonigan took a pitchout from Chisaldi, and on the broken play, lofted a 24-yard touchdown pass to Mike Brevoort.

Annapolis pulled ahead 8-7 on a two-point conversion play. Chisaldi, who was holding for his kicker, fumbled the snap, but alertly picked the ball up, and ran it in the endzone.

Canton was hurt again by a penalty midway through the second quarter.

With Annapolis at the Canton 42-yard line, Chiefs' junior Jamie Chilcoff picked off a Chisaldi pass at the Canton 34 and scampered to the Chief 38.

The interception, however, was taken back when the Chiefs were charged with roughing the passer, giving the Cougars the ball at the Canton 26-yard line.

Five plays later, with Annapolis at the Chiefs' one-yard, Chisaldi rolled in for a touchdown at the 4:34 mark of the second quarter. The extra point was missed and Annapolis led, 14-7.

In the closing minutes of the first half, Canton threatened to score, as they fought their way down field from their own 21-yard line to the Cougar 18.

With eight seconds remaining in the half, a 35-yard field goal attempt by O'Flynn was missed, and the score stayed 14-7 at the half.

Annapolis took the second half kickoff, but surrendered the ball back to the Chiefs as it failed to execute on a fourth-down conversion at the Canton 16-yard line.

After a holding penalty put the Chiefs back to their own 10, Canton attempted an option.

The play, however, resulted with a mix up in the Chiefs backfield. Childs, who was carrying the ball, collided with one of his players causing him to fumble to Annapolis.

Several plays later, Lonigan connected on a 30-yard field goal, giving Annapolis a 17-7 margin.

Canton ran into more problems following the kickoff. With the Chiefs at the Annapolis 49-yard line, Cougar Mike Barr tore a hand-off out of the arms of junior halfback Mike Clayton on an off-tackle option.

Annapolis then moved the ball to the Canton one and Chisaldi, barreled through the middle for a touchdown with 1:24 remaining in the third quarter.

The Cougars made a two-point conversion on the extra point attempt, when Chisaldi took the snap from his center and passed to Al Maliszowski in the endzone. Annapolis led 25-7.

Canton made a bid for a comeback late in the third quarter after returning an Annapolis kickoff to their own 42-yard line.

On the next play, junior quarterback Chris Susock tossed a 35-yard pass to Todd Abram, moving the ball to the Cougar 23-yard line.

Several plays later, the Chiefs scored when Susock carried the ball in the endzone on a one-yard run with 11:21 remaining in the game.

Canton then made a two-point conversion when Childs, who was holding on the attempt, picked the ball up and threw to Craig Kearns in the far corner of the endzone. The score was 25-15.

The Chiefs added one more scoring drive in the game following a Cougar punt.

With Canton at its own 39-yard line, senior fullback Scott Brookhouse took a short pass from Childs, and ran to the Annapolis 38-yard mark.

Two plays later, Childs threw a 22-yard touchdown pass to Chilcoff. The extra point was missed and the Chiefs trailed 25-21.

The Chiefs attempted an onside kick with 18 seconds remaining, but were penalized five yards for delay of game.

Rock netters start duals with 2 wins

Salem girls tennis is 2-0 as of the end of one week of competition. Last week, the Rocks nailed Livonia Stevenson and Livonia Churchill by 7-0 scores in two non-league matches.

"We had an idea that Churchill didn't have anything, but we thought Stevenson would have a strong team," said Salem Coach Judy Braun. "When it became apparent that the score was going to be what it was I felt quite pleased with the match. We broke their 50-game streak."

Against the Spartans, Chris Gilles, No. 1 singles, defeated Peggy Phiffer 6-1 and 6-1.

Carol Gillespie won No. 2 singles with a 6-2, 2-6 and 7-5 victory over Stevenson's Lisa Parket.

Carol Hathaway defeated Beth Tatigian at No. 3 singles 6-0 and 6-1, while Sue Dobel won No. 4 singles, 7-5 and 6-2 over Sandy Schultz.

Renee Braun and Betsy Moon teamed to win first doubles for Salem. The pair knocked off Stacy Allerton and Marlene Egle 6-3 and 6-0.

Liza Maggio and Vicki Sterling won the No. 2 doubles match by a 6-0 and 6-1 score over Marilyn Dolmat and Laura Helman.

Beth Baker and Lynn Hathaway teamed to beat Chris Obergon and Quertermous 6-2 and 6-0 at No. 3 doubles.

Against Churchill earlier in the week, Salem also won 7-0. The Rocks used the same lineup as against the Spartans.

"This is a good lineup of girls. Whether it stays this way I can't say for sure," said Braun.

Salem faces Allen Park in a Suburban Eight League match today at Allen Park. Match time is 4 p.m.

Hewlett passes test in Michigan's home opener

Basically by Ken Voyles

Salem High School graduate Rich Hewlett started at quarterback last weekend for the Wolverines of the University of Michigan and will probably start this weekend when the Wolves tackle Notre Dame.

Hewlett's performance must be looked at with two things in mind. Taken in the context of the final 17-10 score over a Northwestern team that were considered 30-point underdogs, it was not a spectacular performance.

But two things contributed to the evening of the odds. First, was a steady downpour through the entire first half and into the third quarter.

That rain hurt the Michigan offense considerably. It was dangerous to pass the football and even dangerous to run the fabled option. So Michigan's offense was hampered in what it could do on the field.

The second factor was a fired up Northwestern team. The Wildcats failed to move the football in the first half, but in the latter stages of the game they dominated the offensive side of the football game.

So what about Hewlett? His performance was reflected by the weather, the Wildcats and Michigan's performance as a whole. In the end it was enough to win, but not enough to impress the masses that the young Hewlett can lead the Wolverines.

So let's look at Hewlett as the main weapon and ground leader of the U-M offense.

Michigan's first drive: Hewlett repeatedly gives the ball to his backs Stan Edwards and Butch Woolfolk. No sign of the Michigan option, but the rain could be the main deterrent.

Michigan started the drive after a fumble by Northwestern on the 34-yard line, which Michigan picked up.

On a third down and four yards at Northwestern's 15, Hewlett passes to Woolfolk. The pass is incomplete.

Michigan kicks a field goal with Hewlett holding. Michigan leads 3-0.

After the game, Hewlett said that his allowance of control on calling plays was small. At the same time, he said that Michigan audibled at least 80 per cent in the first half.

Michigan takes over again after a Northwestern punt. The ball is at the Michigan 16-yard line. Again Edwards and Woolfolk lead the attack as Coach Schembechler continues his cautious offense.

Michigan's drive ends at Northwestern 47-yard line and they punt.

Again after Northwestern was unable to get out of its end of the field, Michigan takes over. Michigan starts at its own 34-yard line.

Edwards runs for five yards to the 39-yard line. Hewlett then pitches to Lawrence Ricks who scampers around the right end for 16 yards to Northwestern's 45-yard line.

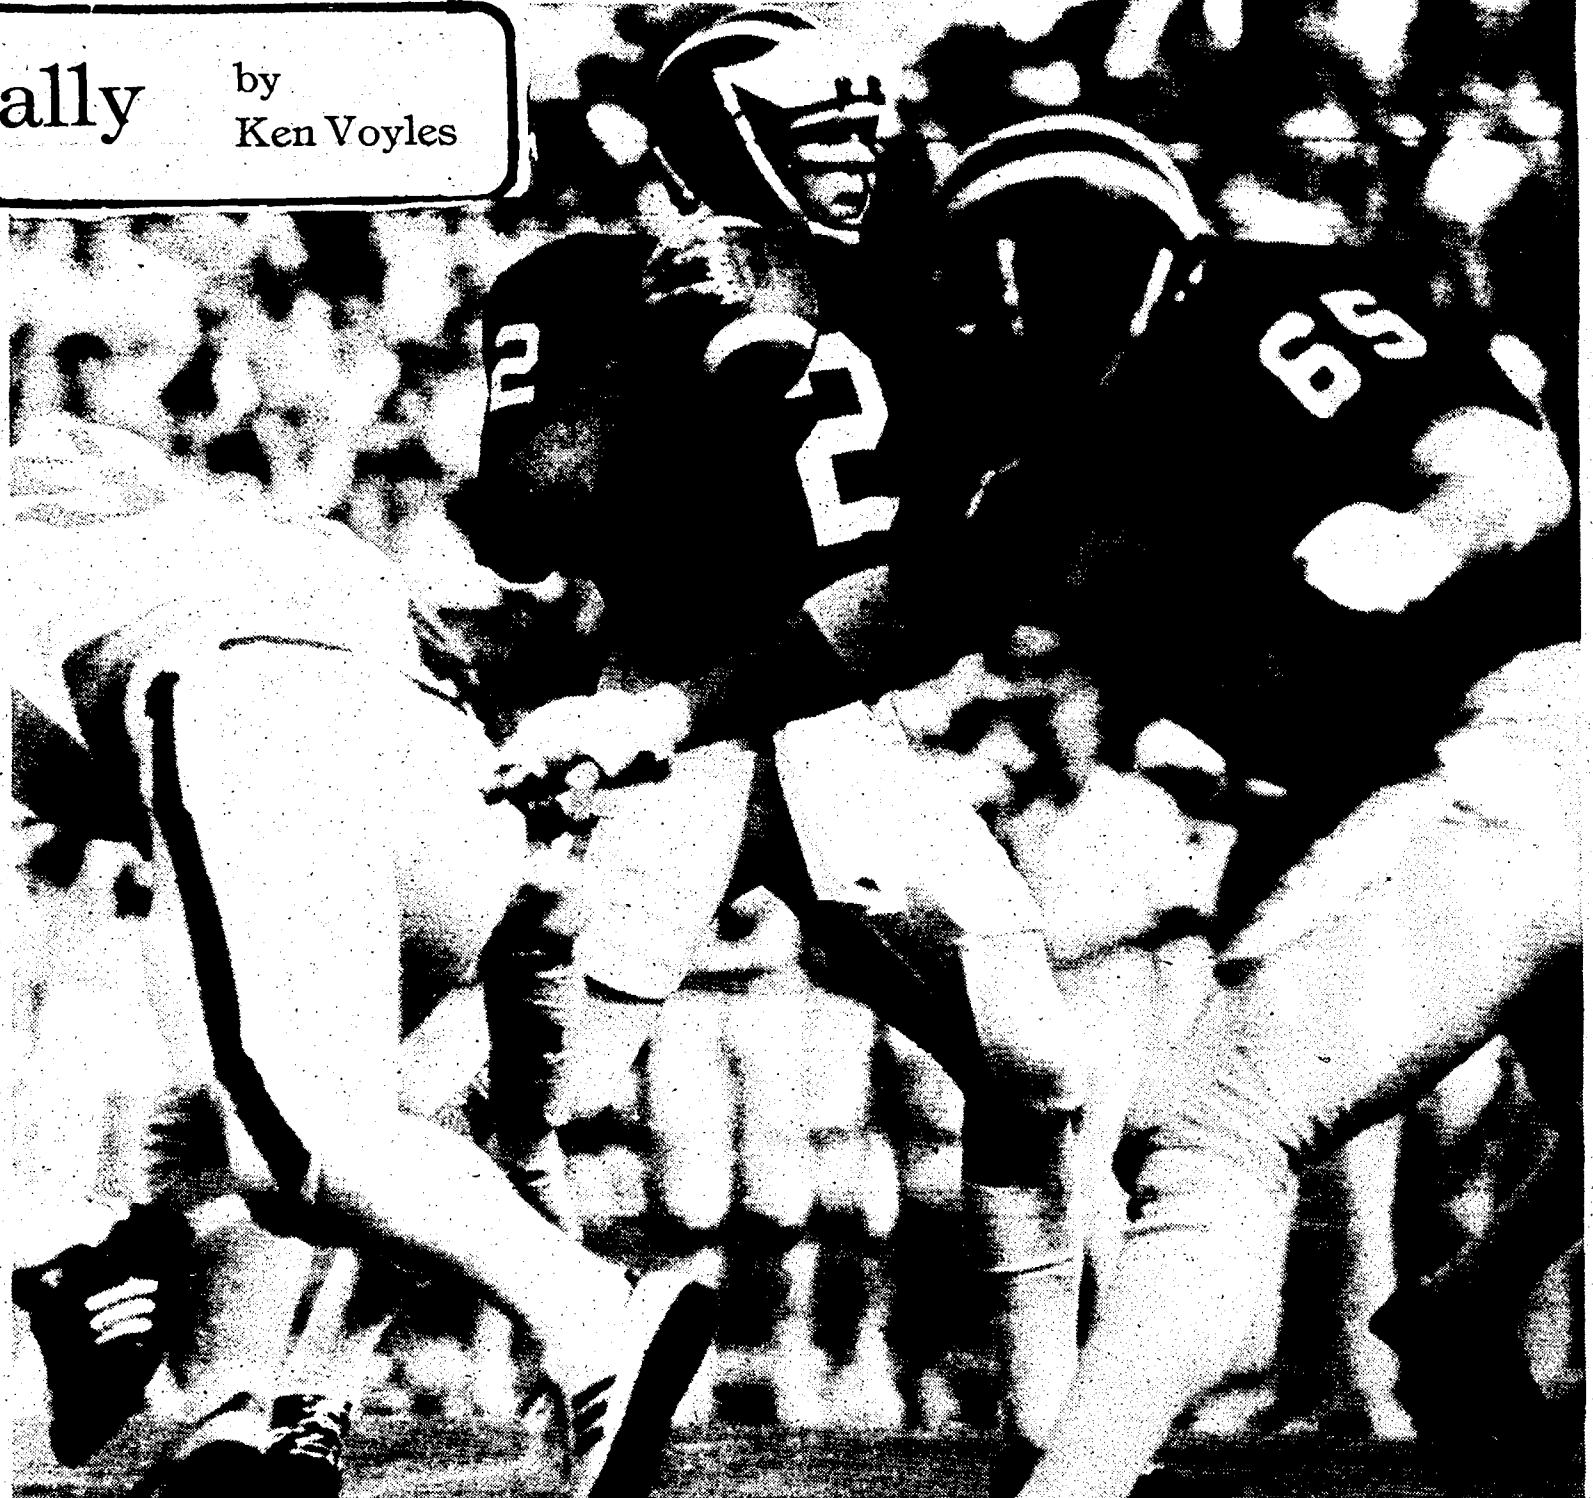

Hewlett passes to Anthony Carter for 22 yards and a first down at the Northwestern 23-yard line.

On the first play of the second quarter, Edwards fumbles the ball to Northwestern ending the drive.

This time Northwestern gets the ball at its own 49-yard line and drives to the Michigan 19-yard line before kicking a field goal to tie the game.

On the ensuing kick, Michigan gets the ball at its 30-yard line. On the first play, Hewlett scrambles around right end on a keeper for 17 yards. Jerald Ingram then runs for nine yards and Michigan has the ball at the Northwestern 44-yard mark.

Hewlett then takes the snap on the next play and promptly drops the football. He recovers for a one yard loss. Like magic, Hewlett does the exact same thing on the very next snap from center. The drive is

THIS IS Rich Hewlett's position after he had dropped back to pass during Michigan's second scoring drive against Northwestern. Hewlett looked for one receiver, saw that he was covered and then hit stopped and Michigan punts.

On Michigan's punt, Northwestern is charged with 12 men on the field and the Wolverines regain the ball at the Northwestern 31-yard mark.

About the fumbles: Schembechler called them inexcusable after the ball game.

"On both those fumbles my hands were dripping wet and there was no chance to dry them on the other guys shirts or my shirt, so I went to the center that way," said Hewlett. "I guess I should have called timeout after the first fumble and dried my hands."

Hewlett takes over again after the penalty with Michigan at the 31-yard line. He gives to Ingram for no gain, throws an incomplete pass to Norm Betts and gives to Ricks on a delay over the right end. Ricks gains 14 yards and a first down.

Hewlett silences the boos and calls for Michigan's No. 2 quarterback John Wangler with a letter perfect pass to Carter breaking to the left corner of the endzone. The pass covers 17 yards. Michigan leads 10-3.

Northwestern controls the ball most of the third quarter. Northwestern gets the ball at its own 15-yard line and drives to the Michigan 37-yard line before Brian Carpenter intercepts a pass for the Wolverines.

Michigan takes over at its own five-yard line where Carpenter picked off the pass. Edwards runs for four yards, Woolfolk runs for three yards and then Hewlett is crunched for a three-yard loss. Michigan punts. Northwestern finishes the quarter driving to the Michigan six-yard line.

In the fourth quarter, Northwestern finishes its drive with a two-yard touchdown. Score is tied 10-10.

Michigan takes the kick and Carter runs the ball to the 34-yard line. Two plays later, Hewlett runs around right end some 10 yards, but then he tries to pitch to Ricks as he is tackled. The pitch is called a forward lateral and Michigan is penalized.

Two plays later, and after a first down, Hewlett passes to Carter but Carter drops the pass. Hewlett again throws, this time to Alan Mitchel. The pass is long and incomplete. Michigan punts.

Northwestern gives Michigan a lucky break when it fumbles on its own 21-yard line after having the ball for just two plays.

On the next play, Michigan is penalized and moved back to Northwestern's 28-yard line. From there, Hewlett throws one incomplete pass, which raises the noise of the crowd's boos and hisses to its highest point.

Undaunted, Hewlett hits Carter with another endzone pass. The play is a repeat of the first touchdown except that Carter is not running to the left corner of the endzone. Carter's pass pattern is broken up and he runs straight along the sideline for the left corner of the endzone. Hewlett's pass is placed with precision.

"I just tried to get the job done that's the most important thing," said Hewlett. "We had a hard time doing the things we wanted to. I know that I'll have to throw the ball consistently every week."

"I know I have to prove myself and no, I don't feel the pressure of competing quarterbacks. John and I are good friends," Hewlett continued.

Crowd noise doesn't bother the Salem graduate, but he knows there is much pressure on him to fill the quarterback position.

"The pressure makes me want to prove myself even more," he said. "I'll just have to get the job done."

Canton golfers drop 2 matches

Canton's golf squad dropped two dual matches this past week, losing to Livonia Churchill and Livonia Bentley.

Against Churchill, the Chiefs tallied a score of 232 for five golfers, while the Chargers tallied a 206.

Doug Moffatt, Sean McManaman and Paul Phillips each shot 44s for Canton. Ken Morton and Tim Crowder had 50s. Mark Libake was the meet medalist for Churchill with a 38.

Bentley carded a total of 212 in its match with Canton. The Chiefs however could do little better than a 230.

Kevin Norton paced Canton with a 41. McManaman posted a 42, Moffatt a 44, Morton a 50 and Paul Norton a 52.

"The fact that we are not shooting consistently seems to be the point of both those matches. We just are not there yet," said Canton Coach Cassey Cavell. "We are working on the experience aspect early in the season and hoping for something later in the season."

Canton's next match is home Thursday against Waterford Mott. The Chiefs will play at Brae-Burn Golf Course. Match time is 3 p.m.

Rocks beaten by Edsel Ford, offense falters in rain

PG. 17
THE COMMUNITY CRIB: September 17, 1980

BY KEN VOYLES

The question of Salem football proved that it was far from being answered last week.

The Rocks who had pounded Livonia Franklin the week before were victims of an embarrassing defeat as Dearborn Edsel Ford left Salem in the mud, 31-7.

Between the heavy rain that dominated the skies, the lackluster Salem offense and the weak Salem defense, it was hard to find a bright spot in the Salem effort.

No doubt, the incapability of Salem's offense to move the football was the biggest surprise after the 27-7 bombing of Franklin.

And yet Salem coach Tom Moshimer had another idea. "It really wasn't the offense's fault. The defense could not stop them from driving over and over," said Moshimer. "Of course, the offense made some mistakes. We only had the football a dozen plays in the whole second half."

Salem started the contest with spirit as it scored on the first drive of the game. The Rocks took the football deep in their end and moved the ball behind the running of quarterback Joe Garcia and Brian Lewandowski.

Garcia eventually scampered into the endzone on a keeper around the left side of the line and scored with 7:26 left in the first quarter. Garcia ran in from 11 yards out.

Lewandowski then kicked the extra point and Salem had its only points.

Edsel Ford came back with a touchdown of its own on their first possession.

The ball went from team to team through the rest of the quarter and most of the second period.

With 5:10 left in the half, Edsel Ford scored for the second time. Rami Fakhoury scored his second touchdown on a run.

Early in the fourth quarter Edsel Ford picked up a field goal by Bill Brennan. Just some two minutes later, Fakhoury scored again after Edsel Ford had regained the football on an interception.

To add insult to injury, Edsel Ford again scored. With 4:06 left to play, Salem threw another intercepted pass and Edsel Ford drove the ball in for the touchdown and a 31-7 score.

"Obviously they came to play and we didn't and they kicked our fannies," said Moshimer. "We didn't execute, we didn't hit and we're embarrassed."

"We are nowhere near that bad a football team," he continued.

Salem will have to rebound this Saturday as the Rocks battle with Livonia Bentley at home. Game time for the Parent's Night is 7:30 p.m.

Chief cross country opens year with meet triumph

BY JAY KEENAN

The Canton cross country team won its season opener in a three team meet against Livonia Stevenson and Salem last week. The Chiefs totaled 24 points, followed by Stevenson with 33, and Salem at 70.

"I think we're a little better than last year as far as the number of runners at the same ability level," said Canton coach Jim Hayes, whose team finished last season with a 5-3 record. "Hopefully, they will continue to improve throughout the season."

Stevenson's Larry Gjernes finished in first place, clocking 16:50. Brian Jones was Canton's top runner, finishing second with a time of 16:52.

Canton's four other scorers were Scott Hand (3), Dan Inloes (4), Jack Pacenter (5), Mike Talaga (10), Barron Smith (13), and Chris Albaugh (20).

The Rocks top finisher was Chris Kipach, who crossed the line a 17:48 for ninth place. Chris Whittaker and Frank Brosnan followed for Salem with 12th and 14th place finishes, respectively.

The Chiefs girls' team, also competing in the tri-meet, lost to the Spartans 20-57. Kathy Brophy was Canton's top runner finishing sixth at 22:41.

Other Chief runners scoring in the race were Charlotte Thomas (10), Patty Rising (12), Mary Bardelli (14), and Julie Fullerton

Hamblin leads Canton's running attack

Halfback Steve Hamblin was Canton's lead rusher in the game, picking up 77 yards on 13 carries. The Chiefs totaled 131 yards rushing as a team.

Gearns and Abram were the top receivers in the game, Gearns with four receptions (16). Salem's lone runner, Ruth Sample, took a second place in the meet at 20:26.

Canton's next meet is against Waterford Mott at home tomorrow at 4 p.m., Salem also runs at home tomorrow. Both teams will be at Cass Benton.

totaling 61 yards, while Abram caught two for 73 yards.

Childs completed seven of nine passes for 129 yards, while Susock hit two of four totaling 73 yards.

The Chiefs begin league competition against Farmington Harrison on Friday at home starting at 7:30 p.m.

Salem golfers take 2 wins

The Salem golf squad upped its season record to 5-0 last week with two non-league victories over Redford Union and North Farmington.

Jeff Trim lead the way for the Rocks against RU as Salem posted a score of 156 compared to RU's 170. Trim carded a 36 and was the match low score.

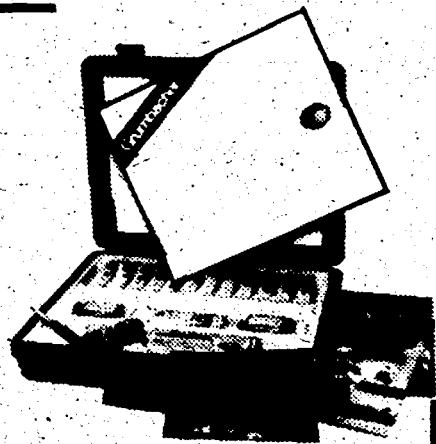

Jon Vives was next for Salem with a 39, while newcomer John Uekert had a 40 and Nunzio Marino a 41.

Against North Farmington, the Rocks scored 211 compared to North's 222.

Vives led the Rocks in that match with a 39, while trim shot a 41. Marino was next with a 44, Pete Metroff a 43 and Uekert a 44.

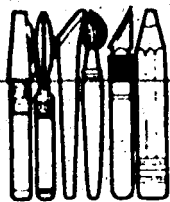

"We had a super week. I think it's exactly what this team needed. We're young and we needed a good start," said Salem Coach Bob Waters. "I think we surprised some people this week. It was a good total effort on our part."

Brighton was third at the competition with 235 points, while Canton was next with 167, Westland John Glenn, 125, and Livonia Franklin, 90.

Salem won only one event, the 100-yard breaststroke, but it also had a slue of top five finishes.

"Our relays proved the difference that kept us ahead of Brighton," said Olson. "We were a little quicker than I had thought. Everybody swam very well."

Salem's second dual meet of the season happens Thursday at home. The Rocks will face Ypsilanti at 7 p.m.
