Trick-or-treat Friday night

Plymouth-Canton parents should remember several steps to help make this Halloween a safe one, say local police.

- Children should be accompanied by an adult, older brother or sister.
- Costumes should be brightly colored, fire resistant and have reflector strips added if possible. Masks that obscure vision should not be used.
- Carry flashlights for added visibility to motorists.
- Only trick-or-treat in well-lighted and familiar neighborhoods.
- Cross the street only at intersections, and look both ways before stepping off the curb.
- Motorists are advised to drive extra-carefully and watch for children.
- Examine treats carefully.

Residents of the Plymouth-Canton Community can have treats examined by police at three locations. The Wayne County Sheriff's Department will inspect candy with a metal detector at the Hines Park mini-station on Edward Hines Drive at Newburg on Halloween night, Friday, Oct. 31.

In addition, Canton's Police Department will inspect candy, with a metal detector at the township's fire hall at Canton Center Road and Cherry Hill and at Hulsing School from 6 to 10 p.m.

KARLA GORMAN receives voting instructions from Dan McNew before casting her ballot at Canton High School's mock election yesterday. Ronald Reagan was victorious followed by Jimmy Carter, John Anderson, Ed Clark, Barry Commoner, and Gus Hall. They also chose incumbent William Ford over white supremacist Gerald Carlson in the 15th District Congressional race by 63 votes. Students supported Proposal B to lower the drinking age. ## Call Crier election night

Want to find out who will be elected in Canton? Or Plymouth Township? Or who is running ahead in the 2nd District Congressional race?

Call The Crier, 453-6900, election night, Tuesday, Nov. 4 for results. The Crier staff will be answering the phones with the most up-to-date information available on election results.

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Highlighting the Nov. 4 general election ballot for Plymouth Township voters will be the battle between Democrat Carol A. Levitte and Republican Maurice Breen for supervisor.

Four members of the township's Board of Trustees will also be elected. The board will be charged with shaping Plymouth Township's future and direction over the next four years.

Key issues in these races have been police service alternatives, whether more industrial growth should be encouraged, the effect of the sluggish economy on the township's budget, and the idea of combining services with other neighboring communities.

Another factor to be decided by voters Nov. 4 -- which will effect Plymouth Township's future -- is the outcome of the seven state proposals and the four Wayne County proposals on the ballot. (See last week's Crier for a complete review of the "ballot proposals.")

The township's 13 precincts will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 4. Judging by the more than 900 absentee ballots taken out by Monday, Clerk Esther Hulsing expects a fairly heavy voter turnout. There are about 14,500 voters in Plymouth Township.

A former Plymouth Township supervisor from 1970-72, Breen is currently a member of the Board of Trustees. He defeated in-

No local races or issues for City electorate

Although no local races are facing City of Plymouth voters Nov. 4, state-wide proposals, county, and national candidates will be listed on the ballot.

County Commission, Charter Commission, state and federal representation are among the races to be decided by voters at three polls in the city.

Voters in Precincts 1, 4 and 5 will vote at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer. Precinct 2 voters will cast their ballots at Starkweather School, 550 N. Holbrook, and the polling place for voters in Precinct 3 will be located at Central School at 650 Church St. All voting stations will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Beulah Hanchett of the city clerk's office says absentee voters have turned out in greater numbers than last year, and the Nov. 4 turnout "looks like a heavy one."

In county races, William Joyner, the incumbent Democrat, will face Republican Darrell F. Kress for a seat on the County Commission from the 27th District. The County Commissioner can provide the local community with an out-area voice in the largely Detroit-controlled county government.

Another race of local importance will be for a seat on the county Charter Commission, also from the 27th District. In this election, Democrat Walter T. Hink will face Republican Hagbard "Bart" Berg. The Charter Commission will investigate possible re-structuring of Wayne County government.

A state Representative seat from the 52nd District, which includes Plymouth, will be sought by Republican Roy Smith and Democrat Judy Thiel. Smith, a long-time local politician and incumbent, will defend his representative's chair against Thiel, who seeks to give a voice to women in the state legislature.

Carl Pursell, a Republican, will seek to retain his seat in the U.S. Congress from the 2nd District. His opponent in the race is Kathleen O'Reilly, who has stated her desire to champion consumer causes in Congress.

In addition, voters will also decide several ballot proposals ranging from tax cuts to construction of new prisons. For a more complete look at these proposals, see the Oct. 22 edition of The Crier.

Police kill Wayne man after high-speed chase

A high-speed chase with cars traveling at 100 miles per hour through Wayne, Canton, and into Washtenaw County left a 37-year old Wayne man dead.

Lawrence Gordon Adams, 3436 Elizabeth, Wayne died as a result of gun injuries at University Hospital Monday night following the 20-minute chase Monday afternoon.

According to Wayne County sheriffs, Adams was being pursued following a shooting in a Wayne motel, after an attempted break-in.

The officer who finally succeeded in stopping Adams was Andrew Pruner, a deputy with the Wayne County Sheriff's Secondary Road Patrol.

Pruner gave the following account of the chase: Following the shooting incident, Adams headed east on Michigan Avenue at a high rate of speed. Seeing a police roadblock, he made a U-turn, heading west on Michigan to southbound I-275.

While heading south, he cut across the median to the northbound expressway, then headed west on Ford Road to U.S. 23 northbound.

At the intersection of U.S. 23 and Warren, two shots were fired at the police units which included the Michigan State Police, Washtenaw County Police, and at the Wayne County Sheriffs. Adams fired his shotgun over his shoulder and out the window, striking a patrol car from the City of Wayne.

At U.S. 23 and Joy, he fired another shot, said Pruner.

At U.S. 23 and North Territorial, Pruner rammed Adams' white Toyota pick-up and fired six shots from his handgun. Then he placed it on the seat beside him.

When Pruner looked up Adams' shotgun was pointed at him, said Pruner. However, the police units "kept him so busy that he couldn't fire it," said Pruner.

After it was rammed, Adams' car crossed the median to the southbound lane and landed in a ditch.

"It was the first time I'd fired my gun at someone in the line of duty," said Pruner, an officer with 10 years' experience.

A FATAL ACCIDENT occurred at the intersection of Beck and North Territorial roads Monday at 9:30 p.m. While traveling southbound on Beck, a car, driven by Henry Peter Grabiec, 29, of Westland, failed to stop at the intersection, said Det. Walter Holowka of the Wayne County sheriffs. Passenger Joseph Shafer, 22, of Romulus, was killed in the collision, said Holowka. Their auto struck a car, eastbound on North Territorial, driven by Timothy Lates, 32, of Novi, said police. Omar Harrison, 43, of Plymouth, was a passenger in the Lates' car, said Holowka. They were transported to St. Mary Hospital. The Grabiec car, above, was struck in the passenger's side, said Holowka. Snow mixed with rain was falling and can be seen in the photo. According to Holowka, a warrant charging Grabiec with either negligent homicide or manslaughter will probably be sought. (Crier photo by Phyllis Redfern)

Prop. E OK: new prison at DeHoCo

BY CHAS CHILD

If Michigan voters approve Proposal E next Tuesday, a new state prison will be built next to the DeHoCo complex in Northville Township.

The proposal would fund the construction of four regional prisons in the state. And the DeHoCo site, next to the former women's division of DeHoCo, has been targeted for one of these prisons, said Sandra Johnson, an administrator at Phoenix Correctional Facility. Phoenix, a 311-bed state prison, was formerly the women's division of DeHoCo on Five Mile Road, west of Beck.

The new prison is scheduled to house 400 inmates in all levels of security, from maximum to minimum, said Johnson.

The state plans to build the other three prisons in Saginaw and Detroit (two), said a spokesman for the Department of Corrections in Lansing. Construction will be funded by a five-year increase in the state income tax of one-tenth of one per cent starting Jan. 1, 1981.

Proposal E also provides for the demolition of Michigan Reformatory, and increased correctional and preventive programs.

James Poole, Republican candidate for supervisor of Canton, said "not one dime" of township money should be spent on the township's farmland-preservation program.

His Democratic opponent, incumbent Noel Culbert, defended the Board of Trustees's tentative decision to set aside $250,000 of federal revenue-sharing money to get the program off the ground. "If the voters approve the program, we will have that as start-up money," he said.

The two clashed at the local League of Women Voters candidates night Thursday at Canton Township Hall, co-sponsored by the Canton Jaycees.

Culbert said township voters may face the farmland-preservation issue next year, perhaps on the same ballot with the proposed Wayne County charters.

In 1978, the electorate defeated by a 53-47 per cent margin a proposal to raise taxes four mills to buy the "development rights" of about 5,000 acres of agricultural land in western Canton.

Poole, however, opposed putting the matter back before the voters. "In 1978, the people voted against it," he said. "What is the board going to do, put it on the ballot again and again until the people vote the way they want? A lot of the farmers don't want it. And 30 per cent of the land is owned by speculators. The voters will be subsidizing their profit."

Instead of the development rights program, Poole said he would introduce a phased-growth plan like the one used in Boulder, Colo. The Boulder plan limits building permits according to the township's ability to absorb growth, he said.

Culbert, on the other hand, said growth control is now a "dead issue" because the economic slump has slowed home-building. "But we should be prepared for future growth," he said.

A more important issue than growth is industrial development in the township, said Culbert. "Canton has made the basic efforts to get industry," he said. "We're going to get Super Sewer and more water pressure."

Poole also supported luring industry to Canton. The firms that do come in, however, should not be given "big tax breaks," he said. "I want revenue- and job-producing industries. And they should be placed along the I-275 corridor."

In other issues, Poole criticized the current administration for its high spending on legal fees, the growth of township government in the last four years, and errors in the township's commercial tax rolls.

"I'm not sure we need all the court cases we have," said Poole. "We should look into hiring a full-time attorney to see if we can save money." All of Canton's legal work now is done by hired outside attorneys.

Culbert replied that to hire a full-time in-house attorney and staff would cost about what the City of Livonia pays for its legal department: $160,000. "That's about 50 per cent higher than what we're paying now," he said.

Poole said his taxes have gone up 100 per cent in the last eight years, while there has been an 80 per cent rise in personnel in Township Hall in the last four years.

Moreover, he said, there are omissions and underassessments on Canton's tax rolls.

Asked why there are so many fast-food restaurants along Canton's Ford Road, Culbert said many were OKd during prior administrations. "You can't prohibit them, but you can regulate them, which is what we are doing."

Culbert also defended his support of the Super Sewer system. "In the short run it will be more expensive," he said. "But by 1990, it will be vastly cheaper than staying in the Detroit system." Super Sewer, sponsored by the Wayne County Board of Public Works, is tentatively scheduled to serve communities in western Wayne County and the Huron River corridor from Belleville to Lake Erie.

Canton treasurer candidates argue finances

James Kearney, Republican candidate for Canton treasurer, said Thursday he supports increased funding of township police and a "broad-based" industrial tax base.

His opponent, Deputy Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz, replied that she has started a very successful program to invest township funds.

The pair squared off at the Plymouth-Canton League of Women Voters candidates night at Canton Township Hall.

Both candidates agreed that growth control was a "dead issue" in Canton because the economic slump had choked off new housing.

Regarding farmland preservation, Kearney said the township's new zoning ordinance will help lower taxes. He supported permitting farmers to improve their operations with the use of township Economic Development Corporation (EDC) loans.

Falkiewicz said she liked the concept of buying the development rights of agricultural land in western Canton, but added, "there are too many questions and legal problems."

Regarding a recent copyrighted story in The Crier which showed at least one commercial building in Canton was missing from the tax rolls, Falkiewicz said the treasurer's department is reviewing the rolls to make sure all property is listed. "We are double-checking with the county assessors," she said. Although the supervisor is the township's official assessor, the job has been farmed out to Wayne County.

"By law," replied Kearney, "the treasurer must make sure we're getting all tax receipts. I'm surprised that we didn't see to this."

Since April, Falkiewicz has managed the treasurer's department full-time. At that time the elected treasurer, James Donahue, gave up his management duties in Township Hall, but kept his seat on the Board of Trustees.

Kearney also said Canton should look into hiring a full-time attorney to cut legal expenses. "We should also review the court cases we have now," he said.

Even if the township hired a full-time attorney, said Falkiewicz, it would still need the specialized skills of some outside attorneys for such things as land-use cases.

Both candidates said they would vote against all three of the state tax-relief ballot issues next Tuesday, Proposal A, C, and D.

To lower township water bills, Kearney proposed reviewing the water and sewer department's finances with an eye to transferring some costs to the general fund. He added that the water and sewer bills are high because substantial depreciation costs of the system are included.

Falkiewicz said a large reserve is needed in the water and sewer fund to improve the system when needed.

Twp. supervisor hopefuls clash

BY PATRICIA BARTOLD

Plymouth Township needs to set a more positive tone for itself over the next four years, said Carol Levitte, Democratic candidate for Plymouth Township supervisor.

She spoke at Plymouth Township's candidates night last Tuesday, sponsored by the local League of Women Voters and the Lake Pointe Homeowners' Association.

Maurice Breen, the Republican candidate, also criticized the township's current administration. "I am dissatisfied with some administrative procedures, particularly the budgetary and financial controls," he said.

Breen defeated incumbent Supervisor Thomas Notebaert in the primary Aug. 5 by 170 votes.

Both Levitte and Breen favor unifying services with other communities to cut costs for the township. A township resident for more than nine years, Levitte said unification of services should be started.

The township can maintain a separate identity from the City of Plymouth even if some services are unified, said Levitte. She said the Downriver Community Conference would be a good model to follow for unification. It has set up cooperative agreements between various communities for shared services.

Breen called for the township to retain its current status as a charter township. "It's the best form of representative government."

The city (of Plymouth) is the most natural community with which the township can share some services, he added.

Asked if the contract with the Wayne County Sheriff's Department should be continued, Breen said, "yes, continue it for now."

However, he favors considering alternatives over the next four years. He has proposed starting a one-man police force and then gradually hiring more officers, combining both civilian and hired officers for police protection.

Plymouth Township residents approved a one-mill levy for police protection in September, 1979. The three-year contract with the Wayne County Sheriff's Department started in May, 1980.

Levitte said the one-mill levy does not cover the costs of police protection. "It costs more than one mill," she said. She favored considering alternatives, such as contracts with neighboring communities like Salem, South Lyon, Northville, or Novi for police protection. "All (of these small communities) are in the same circumstances," she said.

Levitte criticized the administration's handling of the township's Hilltop Golf Course. The township proceeded with "undue haste" and "an unbusinesslike manner" with its expansion plans last summer, she said. As a result, John Jawor, who leases the course from the township, filed a suit to stop expansion work, she said. "Until it's on the books, I won't see it as successful business venture."

Breen defended the township's actions. "I want to use tax dollars to the best advantage and we did it with the golf course," he said. "We spent months planning it. It wasn't done in haste."

"We'll return the investment to township residents over the years," he added.

Levitte and Breen also clashed over the township's conduct in regards to open meetings. Levitte has filed a suit, charging the township with violating the Open Meetings Act on at least three separate occasions. "People can't know what's going-on (if the act isn't followed)," she said.

"I'm going to be taken seriously on this matter," Levitte, who is an attorney, added.

A resident for about 20 years and an attorney, Breen said, "The suit has just been filed. And, until it's settled, it shouldn't be given any weight."

"I've always been for open meetings," he added.

Congress candidates don't show at forum

Citizens attending the League of Women Voters' candidates night Thursday at Canton Township Hall witnessed a "non-debate."

No candidates for U.S. Congress in Michigan's 15th District, which includes all of Canton, showed up.

Incumbent Democrat William D. Ford told the league his schedule was "too busy," while league officials said they received a telephone call from Republican Gerald Carlson saying he couldn't attend. There was no response from American Independent Aldi Fuhrmann, said the league.

Ford did write a letter to the league, in which he said he has strongly supported aid to unemployed autoworkers and the Chrysler Corp. loan guarantees.

Ford added that he worked to retain Saturday mail delivery, as well as aid to middle-income citizens for higher education.

The next session of Congress should restructure the tax system to encourage savings, Ford said.

Pursell, O'Reilly trade cuts

Charging her with "being inconsistent", incumbent Republican Carl Pursell lashed out at Democratic challenger Kathleen O'Reilly at Plymouth Township's candidates night.

O'Reilly and Pursell faced off last Tuesday in the quest for the 2nd District's Congressional seat. John Wagner, the American Independent Party candidate, also spoke. James Hudler, the Libertarian Party candidate, did not show up. The 2nd District includes the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

O'Reilly called for deregulation of the trucking and railroad industries to keep costs down. She does not support deregulation of the oil companies.

"It doesn't make good economic policy to regulate one field, but not another," charged Pursell. "It's inconsistent."

The two candidates also clashed on tax cuts. Pursell favors a major tax reduction to revive the economy. O'Reilly said "across-the-board cuts would hurt -- education particularly." She advocates a review of all budgets for waste. "There are too many large corporations and people who don't pay taxes," she said. "Energy costs are also highly inflationary." She proposes increasing conservation programs, rather than spending it on synthetic fuels and laser fusion.

Pursell calls for balancing the federal budget to control inflation. He cited his work in developing laser fusion at the University of Michigan, saying "it's abundant, safe, and clean."

O'Reilly, an attorney, is campaigning as a consumers' advocate. "I could do so much more for you if I could vote for you," she said. "You'd know that Congress is looking out for you."

A moderate Republican, Pursell wants to continue his work in Congress. He cited his work in developing alternative energy programs, legislating a program for Talented and Gifted Students, and promoting his "Women's Bill of Rights."

"There are 270 attorneys in Congress -- perhaps that's part of the problem," he said.

Wagner provided a sense of comedy in comparison to the intensity of the O'Reilly-Pursell charges.

He called for government spending reductions and favors passage of the Tisch Proposal. He also wants to build more nuclear power plants. "More people have died at rock concerts than nuclear plant breakdowns," he said.

As for equal rights for women, Wagner said: "They have it pretty good in this country. . . Look at Iran."

Incumbent Supervisor Thomas Notebaert by 170 votes in the Aug. 5 primary.

Levitte, a resident for nine years, is a frequent observer at township board meetings. She has criticized township administrators for their lack of direction.

In the trustee race, four Republicans and two Democrats are vying for four seats on the board. Weyona Lee Fidge, Gerald Law, and Barbara Lynch are incumbent Republicans. The fourth Republican, Andrew Pruner, who was defeated for a trustee post in 1976, is again seeking election for a board spot.

On the Democratic slate, Patrick Downes and Donald Skinner are hoping to win trustee seats.

Traditionally a Republican stronghold, Plymouth Township has seen a new political twist with the emergence of three Democrats on the Nov. 4 ballot.

Incumbents Clerk Esther Hulsing and Treasurer Joseph West are running unopposed. Both are Republicans.

Also on the ballot are Donald King and Francis Radwick. They are running unopposed on the Republican ticket for the township's two constable seats.

In the race for U.S. Congress, 2nd District, which includes the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township, Democrat Kathleen O'Reilly is trying to unseat Republican Carl Pursell. Both candidates are Plymouth Township residents.

Most township voters will vote in the 52nd District, state House of Representatives race in which Democrat Judith Thiel is challenging incumbent Republican Roy Smith for his seat.

However, the southeastern portion of Plymouth Township is included in the 37th District, which includes all of Canton Township. Democrat Thomas H. Brown is running unopposed for re-election.

Here's a list of the polls: Precincts 1, 2, 8,

Farrand School, 41400 Greenbriar; Precincts 3, 4, Allen School, 11100 Haggerty Rd.; Precincts 5, 12, Isbister School, 9300 N. ## Smith, Thiel square off

Voters in the 52nd state house district, which includes Plymouth and most of Plymouth Township as well as parts of Washtenaw County, have the choice next Tuesday between a woman's voice in Lansing or a tax expert.

That's how the two candidates, challenger Judy Thiel and incumbent Roy Smith describe what they offer in this election. Thiel is a Salem Township Democrat and Smith is a Pittsfield Township Republican who co-authored Proposal A on the statewide ballot.

At last week's candidate night, both candidates agreed that farmland should be taken off the property tax roles but disagreed on the Smith-Bullard Proposal.

Smith defended the proposal for shifting taxes for education from property tax to income tax and said, "I just don't know why" school officials have not endorsed the idea. "We put everything in it they asked for," he said.

Thiel said her opposition to the proposal was it was incomplete as it stands on the ballot. "It would take additional legislation," she said. "I support (Proposal) C." The third state-wide proposal would grant some property tax relief, raise the sales tax and earmark lottery money for education.

CONGRESSMAN CARL PURSELL MAKING A REAL DIFFERENCE

Leadership

SOME PEOPLE LEAD BY TALKING.
OTHERS LEAD BY DOING.

CONGRESSMAN CARL PURSELL IS A LEADER WHO GETS THINGS DONE.

● After only two years as our Congressman, Carl's legislative skill and bipartisan problem-solving approach resulted in his appointment to the House Appropriations Committee—one of the most influential positions in Congress.

● Congressman Pursell also won a seat on the key Appropriations Subcommittee which sets budgets for Education, Health and Human Services, and Labor Department programs—a vital position of influence for the people of the 2nd District.

● Congressman Pursell recently assumed a leadership position in the Northeast-Midwest Congressional Coalition. He has already led the coalition to two major victories in the House: a larger share of emergency fuel assistance funds (critical for senior citizens on fixed incomes), and directing more existing government contracts to high unemployment areas, such as Michigan, for new jobs.

● Carl continues to demonstrate leadership as an Executive Board member of both the Congressional Environmental Study Conference and the Suburban Caucus, and a charter member of the Steel caucus.

● Carl has been a leader for developing alternative energy sources, controlling inflation, balancing the budget, new jobs, and responsible tax reduction.

PCAC art for rent beats the high cost of culture

Have you ever wanted to make your house or room look more "art-ful" but can't afford Metropolitan Museum fees?

The Plymouth Community Arts Council has a solution for you.

With the support of a state grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts, the PCAC sponsors an art rental gallery located on the second floor of the Dunning-Hough Library on Main Street in Plymouth.

Established in March, 1978, the gallery now features 82 original works purchased from Michigan artists at area shows, and 55 reproductions from various art periods.

Judy Lewis of the PCAC says the goal of the rental gallery is to "get art into more homes and local businesses." Eventually, she says, the PCAC would like to have a gallery open more than one day a week.

Currently, the gallery is open every Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Three divisions of art works are available: original works rent for $3 per month; reproductions go for $2 per month, and consignment works rent for $5 monthly.

Consignment pieces are art works owned by the artist and selected for rental, and all are for sale. Many of the consignment works were done by local Three Cities Art Club members.

Up to three pieces can be rented, and renewed for one month. New acquisitions are displayed for a month before renting.

Art works include oils, watercolors and lithographs in contemporary and modern styles. Lewis explains the pieces are suitable for homes and businesses, and can be enjoyed by adults and children.

Some of the works are apparently enjoyed

ART produced by Michigan artists are among the many offerings at the Plymouth Community Arts Council rental gallery, located upstairs at the Dunning-Hough Library. Works can be rented for nominal fees for up to two months at a time, and include choices of consignment and reproduction works in addition to originals. (Crier photo by Dan Bodene) with more than a passing fancy. Lewis relates a story of a renter so attached to a particular work she took it with her out-of-town, returning it when she came back to town. Some people, Lewis says, become so attached to a painting that they employ neighbors to rent the work after the one-month renewal is up. Various works are so popular they are seldom seen in the gallery, she adds.

For prospective renters, photo books are available for viewing pictures available for rent.

Gallery organizers Joyce Foust, Bess Decker and Charlene Tobin have certainly come a long way since the days they did all of the framing for the art works -- now anyone can have good art in the home where it can be enjoyed at a nominal fee.

Great Pumpkin watchers unite!

The chilly north winds are whistling through the trees, as witches gather ingredients for their brew and tune up their brooms. Ghosts and goblins are busy practicing tricks and planning for their biggest night of the year -- Halloween.

Everyone, from big clowns to little monsters, enjoys the festivities of Halloween. The big decision of what to be takes weeks of thinking about and planning, and a couple of hours at the last minute throwing a costume together.

Halloween parties are always fun. It's fun to dress in a disguise so that nobody knows who you are, and once they guess your identity you can still play the part of another character. Then there's the fun and games of bobbing for apples.

The climax of Halloween is sitting up all night with a tummy ache because you had to sample one of each in the trick or treat collection. I can remember going from door to door as a little kid, with my bag of goodies in one hand and a bar of soap in the other. I wasn't quite sure what I was supposed to do with the soap, but I knew you couldn't go trick or treating without it. I remember the lady down the street who always handed out homemade orange popcorn balls. It was an insult to get an apple (unless it was a caramel apple). All an apple did was make the bag heavier and crush all the good stuff.

Halloween wouldn't be complete without pumpkins carved with toothless grins. It's a terrible feeling of panic to drive all over town the day before Halloween trying to find a store that hasn't sold out of pumpkins. This year I solved that problem by growing my own. To everyone who said we couldn't do it, I would like to report that we have harvested more than two dozen perfectly shaped pumpkins and that's not counting the big one someone walked off with.

Though the wind may blow and the rain (or snow) might fall, move over Charlie Brown I'll join you in the pumpkin patch waiting for the great pumpkin. This could be the year he decides to make an appearance.

Canton election

Supervisor Noel Culbert forsees "a record turnout" this year at the polls.

Campaigning for township supervisor are incumbent Democrat Noel Culbert and Republican James Poole. Culbert, who served during one of the township's greatest growth periods, will seek to retain his position against Poole, a former trustee and vocal critic of many township policies.

John Flodin, township clerk, runs unopposed this year.

The race for treasurer will pit Deputy Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz against challenger James Kearney, a Republican. Falkiewicz, a Democrat, has worked full-time in the treasurer's office since Treasurer James Donahue stepped down several months ago. Kearney cites an extensive background in finance as qualifications for his bid for office.

Trustee hopefuls include Democrats Carol Bodenmiller, an incumbent, Larry Bowerman, Mary Dingeldey, and Gary Roberts. Republican candidates include Loren Bennett, Duane Bordine, incumbent Stephen Larson and Robert Padget.

Possibly the best-qualified slate of trustee candidates in several years, the elected board will oversee township administration through an important period during the next four years.

Library Commission candidates include Democrats Mary Feltz, Douglas Ritter, John O. Schwartz, III, and Republicans Katherine Baldrice, James Gillig and Norma Jean West. Canton's library, located on the third floor of the township Administration Building, recently opened and is still in the process of "settling in."

Several county races are also of interest to Canton voters. County Commissioner incumbent William Joyner, a Democrat, will defend his seat on the commission from Republican Darrell F. Kress. The seat represents the 27th District.

Charter Commissioner, also from the 27th District, will be decided between Democrat Walter T. Hink and Republican Hagbard "Bart" Berg.

Other county offices on the ballot include the prosecuting attorney, sheriff, clerk, treasurer, register of deeds, drain commissioner and auditor. Of those, only the offices of sheriff and drain commissioner are contested.

In addition to races for executive boards of three state universities and federal office candidates, voters must also decide the fate of several ballot proposals. The proposals range from tax cuts to lowering the drinking age. For a more complete summation of the ballot proposals, see the Oct. 22 edition of The Crier.

Trustee candidates differ on farms

BY DAN BODENE

Canton trustee hopefuls responded to questions ranging from farmland preservation to industrial growth at a candidates night Thursday.

Sponsored by the League of Women Voters and Canton Jaycees, the event allowed candidates to address questions from township residents.

Asked how much money they would commit to help spur industrial development in Canton, all trustee candidates agreed the issue was important, but a specific dollar amount to commit was impossible to determine. Republicans Loren Bennett and Stephen Larson felt any funding should stay within Canton's budget, while Democrat Mary Dingledey and Republican Duané Bordine agreed township residents should decide how much and where funding would come from.

Trustee hopefuls were asked which of the three tax proposals on the ballot they would support, and how each would affect Canton.

Larson and Dingledey both agreed with the intent of Proposal D, the Tisch Amendment, while Bordine, Bennett and Republican Bob Padget agreed the results of all three would severely hurt the township.

Democrats Larry Bowerman and Gary Roberts both supported Proposal C, the legislative-gubernatorial plan which would provide property tax relief. Democratic incumbent Carol Bodenmiller gave her support for Proposal A, the Smith-Bullard proposal, which provides for equal funding for students.

Whether township ordinance officers should carry guns was asked of candidates, and only incumbents Larson and Bodenmiller supported the present township policy of arming the officers. They both stated the position that ordinance officers were adequately trained to warrant carrying firearms, and that life-threatening situations forced their issuance.

All other candidates opposed the policy, questioning whether life-threatening situations should be handled by ordinance officers.

Trustees also addressed the question of whether they would encourage or discourage low-income housing. Although possible legal ramifications of answering the question were mentioned, only Dingledey did not respond.

Bowerman, Padget and Bordine stated a better definition of low-income housing was needed, while Bodenmiller and Bennett said Canton already has its share of the housing and probably wouldn't be ordered to construct more in the near future. Most trustee candidates agreed the question dealt with a "touchy subject," and more study was needed before a fair response could be given.

Growth control and whether candidates felt it was a dead issue was also asked of the panel. Although Roberts and Dingledey said it was a dead issue, both added growth control would again be an important item in the future.

Bordine added the issue was closely tied to farmland preservation, and wondered whether residents in the western half of the township would be treated equitably in the face of more development.

The issue of farmland preservation efforts and how they could be financed was soon asked of the candidates, with varied responses.

Padget, chairman of the township's Planning Commission, supported the issue, saying the township should purchase development rights with local funds for "legal and moral" reasons. Additionally, he supported placing the question on a May ballot, a suggestion supported by Larson.

Bodenmiller and Bennett also supported farmland preservation, to help insure an adequate supply of tillable land for food production.

Bordine, a longtime Canton farmer, said, "Our property is our pension," supporting the Right to Farm law instead.

Mary Dingledey felt the farmland preservation act was unfair, saying farmers really did not like the idea and funding for it was unavailable.

Roberts urged that farmers should not have their land taken away, adding, "We should give farmers rights to individual benefits."

Bowerman stated Canton residents have not voted against the law, but have blocked funding from a millage increase. He advocated a hybrid plan for funding utilizing a tax relief system.

Joyner seeks reform

R. William Joyner, Democratic candidate for Wayne County Board of Commissioners, said he has worked hard to clean up county government.

Currently the incumbent representing the county's 27th District, which includes the Plymouth-Canton Community, Joyner spoke at the League of Women Voters' candidates night on Thursday at Canton Township Hall.

Darrell Kress, Joyner's Republican opponent, did not show up.

"Citizens have demanded reform, but it has been blocked by other (county) commissioners," said Joyner, who lives in Plymouth Township. "I proposed a county executive, but it was defeated by the board of commissioners 26-1."

Twp. trustee candidates differ on shared services

Sharing services with other local communities shouldn't be a dead issue, said Lee Fidge, a Republican incumbent for the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees.

She was speaking at candidates night last Tuesday, sponsored by the local League of Women Voters and the Lake Pointe Homeowners' Association. Six candidates are vying for four trustee seats Nov. 4.

Incumbent Gerald Law, also a Republican, said he supports shared services. "Costs are rising," he said. "However, if it's not advantageous to the township, then I wouldn't (support it)."

Plymouth Township should stay in its present form of government -- that of a charter township, responded Andrew Pruner, a Republican candidate.

Democrat F. Patrick Downes, however, did not favor shared services with the City of Plymouth. Until the city makes a movement toward sharing services, it would be a losing venture for the township, he said.

Incumbent Republican Barbara Lynch suggested the township start unified services on a small scale first, such as the building departments and recreation programs, before tackling the complicated job of combining unionized departments, such as the fire department.

If elected, Democrat Don Skinner said he would work toward "total unification."

"We have enough available talent to come to a workable conclusion for the benefit of all," he added.

In their opening remarks, candidates differed in style. Some gave personal life histories while other candidates introduced themselves and moved quickly into their views on some of the township's issues.

Lynch cited the economy as the township's "major problem over the next four years."

"We have to make services more productive and more cost efficient so that we have a township as good tomorrow as it is today."

Skinner said he was a long-time resident, familiar with the township, and serving his third term on the township's Planning Commission. His work experience at Michigan Bell will also prove valuable and help him as a trustee in deciding budgetary affairs, he said.

Fidge said her past performance as a trustee merited support in the election booth Nov. 4. She was worked on updating the land use plan, establishing bike paths, eliminating the one per cent tax collection fee, and establishing a water and sewer extension plan, she said.

Expanding the township's industrial growth base is the primary goal of Downes. He said the township growth should be encouraged "like Livonia has done."

Pruner urged voters not to split their tickets. His goal is to maintain the present township services for residents, he said.

Township government affects residents' day-to-day life, said Law. He told voters to look at the candidates carefully.

Asked their priority, if elected, candidates responded differently. Fidge said she would work toward unifying the Board of Trustees, which often casts 4-3 votes, trustees vs. administrators. She also said she would keep a close eye on the economy.

Skinner said board members should work together better, too. His second goal would be to represent the people.

The board should take care of "people problems" such as sewers, sidewalks, and traffic, said Downes. His primary goal would be to encourage industrial growth.

Pruner urged township leaders to provide more direction, "instead of taking such a lackadaisical approach."

With about 30 per cent of the township's budget coming from the state, careful planning in the budget should be encouraged, said Law.

Meanwhile, Lynch said she would continue to learn "everything I can" about the issues before voting. Furthermore, she said an in-depth study of the fire department should be made because the department needs "constant updating."

More than 70 persons attended the meeting which was held at St. Kenneth's Catholic Church.

Berg says county needs overhaul

Bart Berg, Republican candidate for Wayne County Charter Commission, said the county is "in sad need of reorganization."

He spoke at the Plymouth-Canton League of Women Voters' candidates night Thursday. His Democratic opponent, Walter Hink, did not show up. He told the league that he was busy making preparations for his brother's wedding.

Berg, of Canton, said he supports either an elected or an appointed county executive. And he would prefer to see some qualifications written for a county executive.

The charter commission should also change how Wayne County road commissioners are selected to make the road commission more accountable, Berg said. The road commissioners should be appointed to three-year terms by the county executive, with a maximum of two terms.

Other departments in county government need to be reorganized, he added.

Hink, in a letter to the league, said he favors an elected executive. And the number of county commissioners should be reduced from the present 27, he said.

A Department of Financial Operations should be created, Hink added, to oversee county spending.

View local races, then vote Tuesday

Don't forget to vote Tuesday, Nov. 4. The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

This year's presidential race is certain to draw voters to the polls, but don't forget to cast your ballot in local races, too.

As political observers have noted, local races often generate as much interest -- if not more -- than the national races. Why? Because local politicians directly influence our lives. They set our water rates, decide whether to seek extra tax dollars for special programs or services, and vote on where new subdivisions should be constructed.

So, view the local races in Plymouth Township and Canton with a keen eye on the candidates and their stances on the issues.

The posts in Wayne County, state House of Representatives, and U.S. Congress are equally important. As your representatives, these elected officials budget your tax dollars and decide the thrust of government spending.

The Crier urges you to consider the candidates, the ballot proposals and the issues in this election seriously. After all, if you choose not to vote Nov. 4, you're giving up your opportunity to speak out on the issues.

Vote Tuesday, Nov. 4.

Defeat Proposal D: it's much too drastic

EDITOR:

The local League of Women Voters urges a "no" vote on Proposal "D," the Tisch tax cut proposal on the Nov. 4 ballot. The proposal ties desired property tax relief to provisions which so drastically alter our system of government and so severely cut essential state and local services as to be irresponsible and indefensible.

The total loss of revenues to local units of government will be at least $2.6 billion.

No more than $2 billion will be reimbursed by the state, leaving a loss to local units of government of at least $600 million. The $2 billion reimbursement from state funds will require a 55 to 60 per cent cut in the unallocated general funds.

These funds are used to support such services as: all-state universities, mental health programs, medicaid and other programs of the Department of Social Services, state police, corrections, courts, public health programs, services to senior citizens, parks and recreation.

Millions of federal dollars would also be lost due to reductions in matching funds. The required cuts in services would be particularly detrimental to the poor, elderly, handicapped and unemployed.

The requirement for approval of all new taxes (including fees, licenses, etc.) by a 60 per cent vote of the people is a serious alteration in our form of government. This form of government rests on the philosophy of electing representatives to evaluate needs and design a fair taxation plan to meet those needs within broad constitutional limitations.

The voter is already faced with long and complicated ballots. Under this proposal, citizens would be required to educate themselves on the budgetary needs of every unit of government and to determine fair taxes to meet those needs. Taxes to be voted would include such things as university tuitions, dog license fees, fishing licenses and motor vehicle registrations.

An even more drastic alteration in our democratic form of government is the provision for minority rule. Requiring a 60 per cent approval of any new taxes means that 41 per cent of the voters could thwart the will of the majority on tax matters.

Under this proposal, neither the legislative bodies nor the voters themselves would be able to respond to emergencies by changing taxes before the next general election in 1982.

Tisch backers argue that their proposal would have the same effects as Proposition 13 has had in California.

This ignores the fact that California had a $6 billion surplus for reimbursement to local units and that many new fees were instituted which would not be allowed under Proposal "D." Proposition 13 does not require all new taxes to go to the voters, and it does not limit overall state spending. Thus, the cuts in services will differ from California.

While many citizens desire property tax relief and spending cuts, we feel this proposal would be much too drastic. Proposal "D" must be defeated on Nov. 4.

Pursell better than carpetbagging O'Reilly

The two major candidates in Michigan's 2nd U.S. Congressional district offer voters two contrasting styles.

Carl Pursell, the incumbent Republican from Plymouth, is a low-key moderate. He is an experienced legislator who prides himself in his ability to make compromises, build coalitions, and get things done.

His Democratic challenger, Kathleen O'Reilly, on the other hand, is a vocal champion of consumer concerns. Crusading against such things as Big Oil, short-sighted American automakers, and the special-interest dominated Congress, she has energetically challenged Pursell, whom she says stands for "mediocrity."

We appreciate O'Reilly's hustle and leadership on some issues, but believe Pursell would make the better congressman.

We question whether O'Reilly, if elected, would represent the 2nd District or a narrow group of consumer activists in Washington, D.C., where she has lived for years, before recently moving back to her parents home in Plymouth Township to run for Congress.

Not that consumer issues are unimportant. But congressmen should also be well-connected with the home folks -- and able to create practical solutions to problems. With his experience in Michigan's state legislature, his two terms in Congress so far, and his important seat on the House Appropriations Committee, Pursell is better equipped to solve the district's and the nation's ills.

O'Reilly's solutions to our problems occasionally strike us as glib and in other cases simple repackaging of the same Democratic Party programs which have been tried and retried for 30 years.

Pursell however, could take a cue from O'Reilly's ability to focus attention on issues and provide leadership. The 2nd District, with Plymouth, Ann Arbor, and Ypsilanti, has a highly educated constituency and deserves more of a leader in Congress.

For those voters who don't like either Pursell or O'Reilly we're sorry to say that the two minor party candidates impressed us very little. John Wagner, of the American Independent Party, and Libertarian James Hudler are not well-versed on the issues and don't offer reasonable alternatives, even as protest votes.

Pursell's experience and solid base in the district makes him the best choice.

'No' on tax issues A, C, D

Vote "NO" on Proposals, A, C, and D on the Nov. 4 ballot. As currently written, these plans do not provide the tax relief needed by Michigan residents.

Since all three tax proposals would affect Plymouth-Canton governments, The Crier is making an endorsement on these statewide proposals.

Certainly the most devastating proposal for both state and local governments is the Tisch Plan (Proposal D). It would reduce appraisal of all property to 25 per cent of 1978 assessments.

Proposal D is irresponsible. It's foolhardy. It's like cutting off your foot because there's a corn on it.

Government -- both state and local -- provides many services for its citizens. We'd hate to see essential services eliminated because funds dried up.

The City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton, and the Plymouth-Canton schools will all be forced to make drastic reductions in services if Tisch is adopted. Less revenue means fewer services for residents, both in Plymouth-Canton and throughout the state.

Also, the proposal requires that new taxes be approved by 60 per cent of voters. So, if 59 per cent OK'd a tax, it would still fail. Minority rule is not part of the democratic process. Other implications of the Tisch Plan are also questionable. Vote "NO" on Proposal D.

Likewise, The Crier also urges you to vote "NO" on Proposals A and C. These two tax plans require further legislation before they are brought to the voters, particularly the Smith-Bullard Plan (Proposal A).

Proposal A represents a new method for financing public schools. It would shift educational support from the property tax to the state income tax. State income taxes and state-wide property taxes would be increased to offset lost revenues. The purpose of the proposal is to equalize state-aid-per-pupil to all school districts in the state.

In the long run, The Crier believes Proposal A, if adopted, would hurt local school districts, such as Plymouth-Canton. Under the plan, revenues would not keep pace with expenditures, thus forcing Plymouth-Canton

And, even though local school districts would retain control over hiring and programs, The Crier believes the types of programs which can be offered directly relate to the amount of money available from local taxpayers.

The powerful MEA (Michigan Education Association) has strongly backed this proposal in order to more directly affect government spending in school districts. Vote "NO" on Proposal A.

Proposal C would relieve the burden of residential property taxes by increasing the state sales tax from four cents to five and one-half cents. It would exempt the first $7,100 of assessments on residential property. It was devised by the state legislature and Gov. William Milliken as an alternative to the Tisch Proposal.

Proposal C is a moderate effort at tax reform, but does not address the issue of government spending in general. Furthermore, the increase in state sales tax will probably not produce enough revenue to offset the decrease in property taxes. We recommend casting a "NO" vote on Proposal C.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

'No' on E

Plymouth-Canton voters have a special stake in a little-talked-about issue on next Tuesday's ballot, Proposal E.

If approved statewide, Proposal E will authorize the construction of our regional prisons, including one next to Plymouth Township's DeHoCo on Five Mile Road.

We urge Plymouth-Canton voters to pull the "no" levers on Proposal E. Our community already bears at least its share of the state's prison population. Besides DeHoCo, there's the Phoenix Correctional Facility, a state prison, which was formerly DeHoCo's women's division.

We believe more prisons are needed in Michigan. But we can't support a plan that would put another one here. Vote "no" on Proposal E.

Re-elect Ford in 15th, he's not the best, but.....

Incumbent Democrat William Ford represents a far superior choice over challenger Republican Gerald Carlson in the 15th District race for U.S. Congress.

Carlson, a self-proclaimed white supremacist, is a candidate from the lunatic fringe. He cannot be counted upon to fairly represent his constituents in the 15th District, which includes Canton Township. The fact that Carlson weathered the primary, beating moderate Republican James Caygill, should be an eternal embarrassment to voters in the 15th District.

Don't vote for Carlson.

Ford, on the other hand, is a disappointing Congressman. He is frequently inaccessible and seems more interested in the plight of labor unions than the rest of his constituents. However, Ford stands head and shoulders above Carlson in his ability to represent voters in the 15th District.

Ford represents an intelligent alternative to the bigotry and inhumanity Carlson represents. Third party candidate, Aldi Fuhrmann of the American Independent Party, has not launched serious campaign efforts in the race.

The Crier reluctantly gives the nod to Ford and hopes the 15th District voters will produce a better choice in 1982.

Please elect me!
I'm as good as can be,
And I'll never let you down.
I'll cure all your ills --
You know that I will,
Can't you see how sincere I sound?

Not a promise I've kept,
My opponent has wept --
But I've done no worse than he.
Let's hear your voice;
It's time for your choice --
The least of two evils is me.

Now when the deed's done
And I can say that I've won,
The tune will be mine to play.
I'll forget about you
And what you want me to do --
Your wishes are now in my way.

The majority I find
Can't change my mind --
They pester and bother me so.
If I do what they say,
There's no possible way
My power and fortune can grow.

Now to those pitiful few
Who say, "Just wait -- I'll get you."
Come vote time you will have none!"
I'll again sound sincere
And say what you want to hear,
Apathy's the gift I count on.

Retail is No. 1

EDITOR:

In response to your editorial saying "Canton Merchants should work together," I would like to express my interest.

My background in television management, congressman's aide, and then as executive director of a large Chamber of Commerce is what prompted me to write.

In television, small and large retail merchants, for the most part, kept us in business. A sale must be made in any business in order for that respective business to continue operating as well as employ persons. No sale -- no employment -- no nothing.

Originally, and previous to the Chamber of Commerce, retail merchants formed their own associations to stimulate, promote and organize sales of merchandise or products. City Christmas decorations in most areas, as well as street and window decorations used during sales promotions and other times of the year, were originally purchased by the retail merchants of the area. Fortunately, through the years, city and industrial funds began assisting retailers in these purchases.

Now the Chamber of Commerce. The retail merchants were the first and strongest division of the chamber.

Then the business and/or industrial divisions were included under the chamber umbrella. Also legislative, ecological, convention and other arms were added depending on size, locale, and individual problems of the community involved.

The chamber is designed with a Board of Directors representing all divisions -- an executive board to make important decisions when the full board was not in session -- and the executive director to govern day-to-day operations including membership.

In order for the chamber to function efficiently and to the benefit of all divisions and the community, there simply cannot be any disrupting areas such as the retail merchants forming their own area of operations. There just has to be complete unity.

It's my opinion from my experience that someone or something has placed the retail merchants in Canton as No. 2.

Canton Chamber Board of Directors -- take a peek at all areas of your own organizations. I suspect you will end up placing the retail merchants where they rightfully belong -- as the No. 1 division.

Vote 'No' on all 4 county tax proposals

community opinions

Few people disagree that Wayne County government is mismanaged. Which is why we don't believe voters should approve the four proposals to raise county taxes on next Tuesday's ballot.

Only when county officials can demonstrate that they are responsibly managing the money they've got should they come to taxpayers for more, no matter how valid the need.

The four proposals are: Proposal J, K, L, and M. Proposal K would raise taxes of the county, school districts, unchartered townships, intermediate school district and Wayne County Community College a total of three mills.

Proposal K, L, and M all ask for one-half mill apiece for Wayne County General Hospital, mental health services, and operation of the Sheriff and Prosecuting Attorney offices, respectively.

Some of these functions need more money. But again, approval of these taxes will only give the county more money to mismanage.

Chas Child is totally inaccurate

EDITOR:

Chas Child is totally inaccurate in his assumption that U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell is responsible for the shift of the Canton Township mail from Plymouth to Westland.

Since the inception of the Postal Reorganization Act of 1970, "politics" (intercession by individual Congressmen in the affairs of the local post office) is nil. The removal of Canton mail processing and delivery services from Plymouth to Westland is in concert with the transfer of the Wayne carriers back to their home base and is purely a matter of logistics.

To impute the credit for the move to Pursell is to impugn the ability of the U.S. Postal Service administrators.

Upper level management has been cognizant of the congestion problem for some time and did consider various alternatives to alleviate the situation.

Ultimately, the Postal Service took the most viable option at its disposal, short of opening a new facility in Canton Township.

It is my considered opinion that it was not Pursell but cogent factors such as service exigencies, cost considerations and prudent management that were responsible for solving the local post office's problem.

Breen in Twp.

Republican Maurice Breen, a politician with many years' experience, represents the best choice for Plymouth Township supervisor.

As a member of the Board of Trustees, he is very familiar with the issues facing Plymouth Township. He has lived in the township for more than 20 years and has served on the township's Planning Commission. He was also township supervisor from 1970-72.

Democratic challenger Carol A. Levitte needs more experience before tackling the rigors of the supervisor's job. She should have considered a bid for a trustee seat on the township's board rather than seeking the supervisor's post. This move is indicative of the lack of judgment she'd demonstrated during her campaign.

Although far more experienced, Breen, nonetheless, needs a watchdog, familiar with township politics, to help him view alternatives on issues. The emergence of a strong watchdog would challenge -- and, in the long run -- bolster Breen's capabilities as a leader.

If elected, Breen should establish goals in Plymouth Township. Issues such as police services, joint services with other communities, road improvement, and establishing budgetary controls need to be addressed. Under current Supervisor Tom Notebaert, the township has lacked a strong sense of direction.

Breen can provide such leadership. He has

Elect Lynch, Law, Fidge, Skinner in Twp.

Republican Barbara Lynch, Gerald Law, Weyona "Lee" Fidge and Democrat Donald Skinner deserve your support at the polls Nov. 4 for Plymouth Township's Board of Trustees.

The Crier is disappointed that Plymouth Township residents have not been given a wider field of candidates from which to choose. A total of four Republicans and two Democrats are seeking four trustee seats; two more Democrats could have filed to run.

Incumbents Law and Lynch have demonstrated a willingness to tackle some of the issues facing Plymouth Township. Through their past performances as trustees, they merit reelection.

Fidge is also an incumbent. Although she votes well and is a hard-working trustee, her style sometimes hinders her effectiveness as a politician. And, even though The Crier has disagreed with some of her actions as a trustee, she has, nonetheless, proven to be industrious and outspoken. We support her reelection Nov. 4.

A third-term member of the township's Planning Commission, Skinner also merits

Maria, Maria

Two well-qualified candidates are running for Canton treasurer -- Democrat Maria Falkiewicz and Republican James Kearney.

We give the edge to Falkiewicz. After Treasurer James Donahue virtually abdicated in office, she did a good job holding the department together, first as a part-time deputy treasurer and later as full time.

She initiated an excellent investment program and has made a good start in improving the treasurer department's policies and procedures.

Kearney has a solid background and we hope he maintains his interest in local government. But Falkiewicz's experience and dedication make her the best candidate.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

demonstrated his leadership abilities at recent township meetings. If elected, Breen should aim to serve the best interests of Plymouth Township and its residents.

Levitte is also well-versed on some of the issues facing Plymouth Township. Her ideas on studying joint services with other communities, considering police service alternatives, and establishing priorities deserve consideration.

However, her drawback as a candidate is her inability to work with the township board and administration rather than against them. Recently she filed a law suit against the board and six of its seven individual members, charging that the Open Meetings Act had been violated.

The Crier does not believe her charges will stand up in court. Furthermore, filing a law suit is not the only way to instigate changes in policies and procedures at Township Hall. In the long run, we believe Levitte hurt her image as a candidate by filing those charges.

The action is indicative of her lack of judgment.

Although Levitte has been an active observer at township board meetings and has a good voting record, she is not the more qualified candidate for the supervisor's post. She should be encouraged to remain active in township politics, but isn't ready to lead the township yet. Vote for Breen Nov. 4.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

your consideration Nov. 4. He would be a fine addition to the board of trustees and could contribute insight and common-sense. His only drawback as a candidate is his lack of familiarity with some issues. However, by doing his homework as a trustee, The Crier is certain he can quickly overcome that obstacle.

The Crier does not support the election of Republican Andrew Pruner or Democrat F. Patrick Downes.

Downes is a one-candidate issue -- he promotes the expansion of the township's industrial base. Downes should familiarize himself more with some of the other issues facing the township, such as police alternatives and joint services with other communities.

Downes needs to present a more well-rounded approach as a candidate. We hope his interest in township politics remains high; his goal of dealing fairly with all taxpayers is laudable and should be remembered by trustees.

Pruner, who was defeated in his 1976 bid for a trustee post, has waged one of the more visible and active campaigns. He has attended many meetings of the board of trustees. And, even though we admire his steadfast attitude and persistent approach, The Crier does not support his election.

He has tiptoed around questions on substantive issues at recent candidates' nights. He has not been able to translate his attendance at board meetings into an issues-based platform for his campaign.

Pruner, however, could be an effective member of one of the township's committees -- such as the Public Safety Committee. He should be considered for such posts because he has demonstrated a long-standing, sincere interest in Plymouth Township.

Vote for Lynch, Law, Skinner, and Fidge on Nov. 4.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Jim Poole is best for Canton's future

Despite his moderately successful record, The Crier is not supporting the re-election of Canton Supervisor Noel Culbert.

We believe Republican Jim Poole will provide better leadership, management of the township's various departments, and preparation for Canton's future.

Poole has long been active in township affairs. He served as a trustee from 1972 through 1976 and lost a bid for supervisor in 1974.

He has a strong background in land-use affairs and supports the Boulder, Colo. plan for growth management. The plan calls for limiting the number of building permits, sewer tap-ins, etc. according to the township's ability to absorb growth. This may well be a practical alternative to the township's farmland-preservation program, which, up until now at least, no one seems willing or able to pay for.

Poole also believes this plan should be prepared now, during the current growth slump, so the township can be ready and waiting for developers when the economy rebounds. This shows an ability to plan ahead, a quality lacking in Canton government.

Culbert's major weakness is his inability to manage township affairs. He doesn't plan ahead well. Although amiable, he doesn't work easily with people; he has trouble building coalitions. He tends to react to problems rather than prepare for them.

In short, he's a luke-warm leader. And Canton needs a leader to guide it through some tough issues in the next four years: farmland preservation; land use; sewer; vital services, such as roads, police, and fire; and recreation.

We believe Poole could tackle these problems more effectively than Culbert.

We do have some reservations about Poole, however. He can lose perspective on some issues and make mountains out of molehills. If he could become slightly less contentious, he would be a better candidate.

As it stands, though, Poole is better prepared and able to lead Canton for the next four years.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Vote Padget, Bowerman, Bodenmiller, Larson

Possibly the best field of candidates in many years is seeking election to Canton's Board of Trustees, which places the township in an enviable position for this year's election.

With such an obviously well-qualified and stable field, The Crier had a considerably harder time endorsing only four candidates than in previous elections. We support Republicans Bob Padget and Stephen Larson, and Democrats Carol Bodenmiller and Larry Bowerman.

The Crier strongly endorses Padget. He has shown an expertise in dealing with major and minor issues facing the township, after long service on the Planning Commission and many other organizations. In addition, he frequently expresses a need for the board to work toward unifying the township and to treat residents and merchants alike with respect and dignity -- a sentiment we wholeheartedly support.

Padget will provide a stabilizing influence on township politics, which is badly needed. He has the professional background and the foresight to do the job effectively. Padget is not only an exceptional trustee candidate -- we believe he would make a good township supervisor in the future.

Larry Bowerman is another strong choice. Long active in Canton politics, Bowerman was narrowly defeated in the 1978 trustee race.

He also has the ability to help open communications with residents and groups outside the township. He advocates an end to Canton's "badmouth" image and recognizes the importance of the next four years in Canton's overall future.

The Crier also recommends incumbent Carol Bodenmiller for trustee. A proven, hard worker, Bodenmiller has repeatedly shown the willingness to go far beyond the three-Tuesdays-a-month scope of board meetings. In return, she has the confidence and support of many diverse groups within the township.

Bodenmiller is one of the best prepared and most involved trustee in many years, and can lend her experience to good advantage.

Stephen Larson, currently the only

Republican on the board, also merits our support for his fiscally conservative influence on board matters. Although he has not served a complete term as trustee, Larson has proven himself with his attention to detail and foresight in long-range issues.

He also provides a "watchdog" influence on township expenditures, and, coupled with a management background he can also help stabilize the frequently inflammatory nature of Canton politics.

The Crier regrets restricting its endorsements to four candidates because Democrat Mary Dingeldey is also a good choice for trustee. As a long-standing township resident, she boasts one of the most complete voting records of any candidate.

She has also frequently shown a willingness to work above and beyond the call of duty, exemplified by her involvement on behalf of Canton businesses.

Loren Bennett and Duane Bordine also merit recognition for their contributions. Bennett, a longtime advocate of farmland preservation, displays a much-needed attitude of dealing more closely with the people of the township. His grass-roots approach can provide a welcome facet to township politics in the future.

Bordine also adds a refreshing influence on the campaign with his emphasis on common sense and good judgment. However, he needs more experience in dealing with the complexities of township issues facing trustees.

Gary Roberts, a staunch supporter of Canton businesses, is no stranger to Canton politics. His flamboyant style causes us to wonder, however, whether he could contribute to the overall unification of the board. In his defense, Roberts has worked hard on many of the important needs of the township's residents and merchants. We look forward to his continued input to the board of trustees.

The choices for trustee endorsements were difficult to agree on. Our dilemma, however, is the township's gain, for such an obviously well-qualified slate of candidates can only lead to a well-qualified board of trustees.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Smith best for 52nd

In the 52nd race for state representative, The Crier endorses Republican incumbent Roy Smith. The 52nd District includes the City of Plymouth and most of Plymouth Township.

Smith has shown an expertise in many areas of government, including taxes, assessments and budget. In tough economic times, that kind of expertise is needed.

Smith also has a keen interest in reshaping the political boundaries of the area. He supports re-districting to assure more accurate and fair representation.

His opponent, Democrat Judy Thiel, needs more experience in the political arena.

She is running to give women a greater voice in the legislature. Although we cannot disagree with her position, The Crier believes it carries more weight in Thiel's campaign than it deserves.

Her proposed economic policies also need more work. Many are simply not plausible in the state's complex economic system.

Smith, a long-time district resident, has the knowledge and experience to provide his constituents with a fair shake in the legislature. Although we look forward to seeing Thiel in later political races, we feel Smith is the best choice right now.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Child's play

by Chas Child

Citizens who've watched the development of Canton politics in the last years should be gratified that the quality of candidates in this year's election is very high.

From supervisor to trustee, there are excellent candidates. Most of this is due to the resurgence of Canton's Republican Party. The local GOP has put up strong opposition to the long-dominant Democrats, especially for trustee.

The Canton League of Women Voters candidates night Thursday produced some of the best discussion of local affairs the community has seen in years. In fact, Canton is developing a group of leaders who seem harder working and more thoughtful than in neighboring Plymouth or Plymouth Township.

Plymouth Township suffers the same ill from which Canton is now apparently recovering: a stagnant one-party system. Although Democrat Carol Levitte is running for supervisor, and two Democrats are seeking trustee jobs, it doesn't appear the township's Democrats are seriously organizing.

The City of Plymouth elects city commissioners on a non-partisan basis. But this system seems to be worse than the two-party set-up. In the last election, only four persons filed for four seats. One of these, Tom Turner, dropped out because he planned to move to Venezuela, and the fourth spot was filled with a write-in ballot.

In the broader picture, a moribund one-party system in Michigan's 15th U.S. Congressional District, which includes Canton, has produced very poor representation in Washington.

The district is overwhelmingly Democratic and tightly controlled by the UAW. The union bosses call the shots and the result is long-time Congressman William D. Ford, a labor robot. Worse, Ford is rarely seen in his district. (For example, he was too "busy" to appear at Canton's League of Women Voters candidates night and at a scheduled interview with The Crier staff.)

Ford runs against token opposition every two years. Nobody keeps him on his toes and he acts it.

This year Ford doesn't even have token opposition. He has demented opposition -- Gerald Carlson, an avowed white supremacist. Carlson edged the regular Republican candidate in the primary to win a spot on next Tuesday's ballot.

The two-party system is often criticized, but it sure beats the one-party system. The parties themselves shouldn't shoulder all the blame, though. Nothing will change the 15th District's Democratic party sitting back and being force-fed the UAW's fast-food politics.

And the district's Republicans can certainly don't believe that Gerald Carlson's foul racism represents their views. A simple higher turn-out at the polls could have kept Carlson's delusions safely within his two ears where they belong.

There's a common saying in politics: The people get the government they deserve. For the 15th District's sake, I keep hoping this isn't true.

Why was city so against us?

EDITOR:

I could comprehend and understand the City of Plymouth's dilemma in awarding the Class "C" liquor license Wednesday evening, Oct. 15. I believe I understand wanting it to go to Old Village. Pat Hann has worked diligently and contributed endlessly to Plymouth, and the decision in my own mind was exceedingly difficult.

Her application was most deserving, but when the facts of the matter evolved, the necessary requirements could not be met. Why in the City's wisdom did it deny Emma's (restaurant) which apparently could meet the desired qualifications, one of the opportunities she needs to prosper and grow, which in turn enhances Plymouth?

Garey Beglinger by definition has more than paid her dues to the City of Plymouth with the renovation of the Iron Gate Galleries. I, myself, have worked tirelessly as a Fall Festival Board member, participated in local school programs, and have earnestly tried to make the bookstores a worthwhile contribution to the retail climate of Plymouth.

So, please, please, tell me why the city was so adamantly against us?

Re-elect Bill Joyner

Democrat R. William Joyner, Plymouth-Canton's incumbent county commissioner, deserves re-election.

Not only has he done a good job speaking out against the inefficiencies, corruption, and patronage in Wayne County government, but his opponent, Darrell Kress, has run an invisible campaign.

Republican Kress has not brought his case for election to the voters.

As the county tries to struggle out of its current mess, Joyner's voice and ideas will be valuable. Although Joyner has worked hard on citizen problems, we believe he could work more effectively behind the scenes in county government, as his predecessor, Royce Smith, did.

While it's one thing to speak out forcefully, it's another to work with others, build coalitions, and fashion constructive change. Joyner can do more in these areas.

Despite this, Joyner is far and away the best choice and warrants your vote.

Canton hinders business

EDITOR:

I read where small businesses in Canton continue to go down the tubes and it is my community opinions

No choice

It's too bad.

There are a number of candidates who face no opposition in this year's election. In Plymouth Township, Clerk Esther Hulsing, Treasurer Joseph West, and the two candidates for constable have no opponents.

Running unopposed in Canton are Clerk John Flodin and the six members of the Canton Library Board.

State Representative Thomas Brown, whose 37th District includes Canton and a portion of Plymouth Township, is also assured of winning another term since no Republicans or minor party candidates have filed to challenge his seat.

Voters deserve a choice. Incumbent candidates should have to face the issues and reestablish their positions to win voter approval. It's disheartening when no one stands up to run against an incumbent. It weakens the democratic roots on which our country is based.

Even if these candidates garner no votes other than their own, they are assured of victory. We hope voters remember this before the 1984 primary.

feeling township officials still prefer to hassle instead of help.

Woodling Gallery is another example of a struggling new business in Canton which the township ordinance department has chosen to hassle over a sign -- while right next door is a factory

Across the street is a sign much bigger and much higher, badly in need of repair and an eyesore -- and just across the way, every so often the stench from the local dump is so bad it is nauseating. Instead of handling ordinance infractions that are detrimental to the health and welfare of all, and a danger to surrounding buildings, they choose to pick on two women who are struggling to nurture a new business -- one which is attractive, unique, and an asset to the community.

A new business cannot afford an extra $100, nor should they have to, to appeal an ordinance that obviously does not fit the case in point in the first place. A task force was formed a month or two ago to supposedly help this ordinance situation with small business. A letter on our behalf was sent to the supervisor, the ordinance department head, and to every member of the task force committee. As of this date (two weeks later), I have not heard from one of them.

We can't afford to pay citations, appeals board fees or lawyers, so I hope the township gets its act together soon and their priorities in perspective before more small businesses "hit the dust."

How Crier endorses

Endorsements by this newspaper are made by votes of Crier staff members who have followed the election campaigns.

Candidates' statements, interviews and observations of the campaigns are all taken into account as well as staffers' knowledge of the political climate in Plymouth-Canton and past coverage of local and other governmental issues.

These opinions are intended to offer another aspect in your considerations before you enter the voting booth next Tuesday.

Crier staff members who participated in this season's political coverage are: Patricia Bartold, Chas Child, Dan Bodene, Phyllis Redfern, Bob Cameron, Mary DeGrande, and W. Edward Wendover. (In interviews and endorsements sessions on the race for Wayne County Charter Commissioner, Wendover, who lost a bid for that spot in the August primary, did not participate.)

Berg best for charter

A long-time public servant, Republican Bart Berg, is the best choice for Wayne County Charter Commission in the 27th District, which includes the entire Plymouth-Canton Community.

Berg is well-versed on county problems, has stayed clear of special interests, which have smothered Wayne County's government, and is a fiscal conservative.

The Charter Commission will need these qualities to help straighten out the county mess.

His opponent, Democrat Walter Hink, has received the endorsements of such powerful labor unions as the UAW and the Teamsters. Ordinarily, endorsements aren't that important. But the UAW has pulled strings in county government too long to give it the benefit of the doubt in such a crucial body as the Charter Commission.

Berg is above all independent-minded and therefore just what the commission needs.

CEP voters prefer Anderson

A poll of Plymouth-Canton high school students showed these results in their presidential preference: John Anderson 42 per cent; Ronald Reagan 38 per cent; Jimmy Carter 18 per cent; and, others two per cent.

When choosing only between the two major party candidates, the results were as follows: Ronald Reagan 67 per cent and Jimmy Carter 33 per cent.

The poll, based on telephone interviews with more than 100 teens in every high school class, showed that virtually all youths would vote if eligible, although 83 per cent thought their parents would vote this year. Of those polled 79 per cent said they would be interested in watching the televised debate between President Carter and former Governor Reagan.

The poll was sponsored by Christeens, the Youth of the Lutheran Church of the Risen Christ, Plymouth.

High school students were also asked if they thought their parents would have the same choices. Forty-one per cent said they would. Other items on the November ballot important to the teens were the tax issues and the drinking age proposal.

Train hits car

A Livonia woman was injured late last Tuesday night when a C&O Railroad engine collided with her car at the Holbrook Street railroad crossing.

According to Plymouth police, Julie Diane Folgmann of 11415 Melrose in Livonia was southbound on Holbrook when she "slowed down but failed to stop for a stop sign" at the track, at 11:10 p.m. last Tuesday.

C&O engine no. 3911 manned by Robert A. Matuszak of Toledo, Ohio and John Newman of Dearborn Heights collided with Folgmann's 1978 Honda CVCC, causing extensive damage to the driver's side of the vehicle.

A rescue unit from the Plymouth Fire Department transported Folgmann to Botsford Hospital, where she was discharged later that night, according to a hospital spokesman.

Canton cross country team ready for state finals

BY JAY KEENAN

Consistent performances by the Canton cross country team Saturday proved its key to success as the Chiefs sprinted to a third place finish out of 25 teams in the Class A, section II of the Regionals.

Canton is now on its way to the Class A state finals. "We're very pleased," said Chiefs Coach Jim Hayes. "We were only a few points out of first place, but otherwise, we're all very pleased."

North Farmington took top honors in the race with 126 points, followed by Northville with 134 points, and Canton's total of 139.

"What it did for us once again was the fact that everybody finished in a pack all together," said Hayes.

Steve West led the Chiefs by legging out an 18th place finish in 17:15, including a last ditch, extra effort at the finish line.

Scott Hand was next taking 21st place with a time of 17:17, followed by Mike Talaga, 26th, 17:20; Jack Pacente, 29th, 17:41; Dan Inloes, 45th, 17:47, and Dan Henry 62nd, 17:52.

John Winterbottom paced Northville with a 12th place finish, while Detroit Catholic Central's Mike Nugent was the best overall runner of the afternoon.

"The consistency of our runners has been nice for us this year," said Hayes. "One of the best things that happened this year was when Talaga improved his time, along with Dave Bennett and Barren Smith to pick up the slack for Brian Jones after he injured his leg."

The Class A finals will take place next Saturday at Brookworld Golf Course in Flint. Boy's varsity will take off at 10:30 a.m.

"I'm very proud we're going to the finals," said Hayes. "It gives us another week to look forward to. This team is equipped with a dedicated bunch of kids."

Canton's girls' took a sixth place finish in the Class A section II race with 144 points. Redford Union was first with 43 points and Livonia Stevenson notched second position with 70 points.

Kathy Brophy sported the Chiefs best score of the day, finishing 19th with a time of 22:06. Brophy missed the opportunity to qualify in the state finals as an individual runner by only one place.

Other Canton scorers were Charlotte Thomas, 21st, 23:40; Patty Rising, 38th, 24:19; Kathy Seiler, 47th, 25:13; and Mary Bardelli, 51st, 26:17.

Salem netters 6th in state

Renee Braun and Betsy Moon finished in second place at No. 1 doubles to help lead the Salem tennis squad to a sixth place finish at the Class A state finals.

Last year, the Rocks had finished eighth. "We did the best we could and that was generally pretty good," said Salem coach Judy Braun. "Chris Gilles did a fantastic job and so did Renee and Betsy."

"To know we actually went that far and did better than last year's eighth has got to make you feel good," said Braun. "A lot of people were not sure how good we were and here we are getting the best finish ever from a Salem tennis team."

Braun and Moon teamed up to beat teams from Loynorrix, Lahser, Midland Dow and East Lansing before losing to Grosse Point South in the finals, 6-1 and 6-0 to Echliand and Murtach from Grosse Point South.

No. 1 singles player for Salem Chris Gilles reached the quarter finals before losing to Mis Bonder 6-1 and 6-4, while No. 2 singles Carol Gillespie won her first round over Flint Carmen then lost to Maggan McMan.

No. three singles player Carol Hathaway beat Jeannie Ottolini of Warren Cousino then lost to Becky Maravic in round two. Sue Dobel at No. 4 singles won her first round over Linda Vanbrocklin then lost to an East Lansing player.

Lisa Maggio and Vickie Sterling beat a pair from Northwestern lost to a twosome from Marion.

Beth Baker and Lisa Hathaway lost to a pair from Midland Dow in the first round of competition.

"I honestly believe that in Renee and Betsy's final match they were a little tight and probably could have played better," said Braun.

Sample qualifies for state in Salem region effort

Sample winds up qualifying effort

RUTH SAMPLE crosses the finish line in 14th place in the girls' Class A regional cross country race. Sample's effort allows her to run in the state finals this weekend in Flint. (Crier photo by Jay Keenan)

Salem's cross country squad competed in the Class A Regionals at Schoolcraft College last weekend and although the boys did not have a strong outing Ruth Sample qualified for the girls state finals to be held this weekend.

Sample reached the finals with a 14th place finish in the girls race that included some 75 runners. She will run in the individual girls finals this Saturday at Flint's IBM Golf Course at noon.

Lori Grissom was the other Salem girls runner. She finished the race in 42nd place.

As for the boys, Frank Brosnan had the best effort with a 43rd place. His time was 17:43. Chris Whittaker was next at 17:51 for 56th place and Chris Kopach was 80th with an effort of 18:01.

Skip Whittaler was 84th for the Rocks, Brad Hartell was 100th, Ken Legault was 117th and Brent Bocson was 129th.

There were two sections in the Class A race. Each section consisted of 254 teams. Salem ran in section two. There were close to 350 runners in Class A competition.

Salem finished its duel meet season with a 3-3 record in the Suburban Eight and a 3-6 mark overall.

Trenton overpowers Salem gridders in mud bath

BY KEN VOYLES

Trenton overpowered Salem in football Friday in a Suburban Eight League muscle match, 35-7. It was a rain soaked contest that was fought head-to-head for four full quarters.

"We had a good effort. Maybe it didn't look like it but our guys were giving their best effort," said Salem Coach Tom Moshimer. "Trenton was big and physically stronger than we were and in the poor field conditions their size was too much for us up front."

"We were close to mastering them up front. We used different interior linemen in different combinations to see what would work," continued the coach. "But they still were overpowering."

Moshimer also said that considering the field conditions his squad moved the ball halfway decent.

The Rocks also got themselves into a jam early in the football game when on their first play from scrimmage after the opening kickoff they fumbled the ball to Trenton.

Trenton took over inside Salem's 25-yard line and within six plays they were in the endzone. The clock had ticked off less than four minutes.

On their very next offensive series, the Rocks ran three plays then were halted and forced to punt. On that punt by Brian Lewandowski, the Rocks coverage was weak and Trenton was again in Salem territory.

With 3:17 left in the quarter, Trenton's quarterback plunged into the endzone. The extra point kick was good and Trenton led 14-0.

Salem's next drive, late in the quarter, was also stopped without a first down.

Trenton started another drive from its 45-yard line, after Salem's punt. The Tractors marched down the field (second quarter) and looked like they would score again.

This time, however, Trenton fumbled and Salem recovered on its 32-yard line.

Salem moved the football this time. The Rocks got their first first down to the 45-yard line then quarterback Jeff Hubert hit Mark Kitz on a 10-yard pass and Salem was into Trenton's end of the field. Hubert's next pass fell incomplete and Salem had to punt again.

In the third quarter, Trenton took the kick-off and ran to midfield before being halted. From there the Tractors advanced to the 11-yard line where Trenton's quarterback again scored. The extra point was good and with 7:14 remaining in the quarter Trenton led 21-0.

Salem's brightest moment in the blight stormy night came after Trenton kicked to the Rocks.

Pittaway gains Salem's 1 TD

On the first play from scrimmage, Rock back Bob Pittaway took a handoff on a counter of the left side of the field, and behind two key blocks scampered down the field to the endzone untouched.

The play covered 70 yards and with Lewandowski's extra point the Rocks scored their only points.

The blocks that made Pittaway's run perfect were thrown by guard Steve Szilagyi and end Mark Kitz.

Trenton, however, wasn't finished scoring. On their very next drive, the Tractors went 60 yards to make the score 28-7.

Then with 6:43 left in the fourth quarter, the Tractors added seven more points after driving from midfield.

"They scored those two quick touchdowns and we were out of it at that point," said Moshimer. "We still did a great job on defense and our kids gave us a solid effort."

"On Pittaway's run he got a key block right at the line from Szilagyi and then downfield Kitz threw another good block. Bob has great speed and nobody could have touched him."

Statistically, the Rocks gained a total of 185 yards on offense and had six first downs. Trenton had 352 yards total and 18 first downs.

Of these offensive yards, Salem gained 140 rushing and 45 passing. Trenton didn't throw one pass and got all its yards on the ground.

Salem evened its record, with the loss, to 4-4. The Rocks will try to break 500 this weekend when they face Farmington Harrison in their final grid clash of the year. The game is at Harrison at 2 p.m. this Saturday.

Canton netters make all-league

The Canton girls' tennis team had four players named to the Western Six All-League tennis squad at the close of the 1988 season.

Barb Rupprecht and Ann O'Connell were chosen to the team at No. 3 doubles, as both went undefeated with a 10-0 mark in their duel matches.

Marianne Pink, who elected to play tennis for her first time after working three seasons of basketball was also chosen at No. 3 singles.

Lori Smith was also awarded all league honors at No. 2 singles.

Canton coach Cyndi Burnstein announced her resignation as the Canton girls' tennis coach, after eight seasons in command of the team.

Burnstein, who was the Chiefs first tennis coach, will hand her job over to assistant coach Carol Michaels.

"This is my eighth year and I'd like to spend more time with my family," said Burnstein. "Michaels seems to be very competent to take over the job and I felt indebted to have someone who knows what they're doing take over before I left."

Burnstein will continue to head coach the Canton girls' volleyball team which starts this winter.

Canton football all-leaguers

Three players from the Canton football team were recently selected for the Western Six All-League team.

Senior tri-captain Craig Gerans, who has contributed on offense and defense for the Chiefs was picked at defensive tackle.

Senior defensive linebacker Ed Pieangelino was chosen for the 1988 team.

The other all-leaguer was senior offensive tackle Bruce King.

"It's pretty good to have three all leaguers from a team that's won only one game," said Canton coach Richard Barr. "We're proud to have them make it."

Chiefs lose on 2-point conversion

BY JAY KEENAN

Garden City East completed a two-point conversion following a third quarter touchdown to take a narrow 8-7 victory over the Canton football team Friday night, in a confrontation that was plagued by a steady, downpour.

The Chiefs defense let up only one time during the game, after Canton was charged with two costly penalties with the Panthers deep in Chief territory keeping East's scoring drive alive.

"Our defense did a great job," said Canton Coach Richard Barr. "They stopped them throughout most of the game. With the exception of that one good series Garden City had, we played real good football."

"The players are disappointed and frustrated, and I'm disappointed and frustrated, but I'm still proud of them. We gave it everything we had. The weather being what it was, we did extremely well."

The Chiefs struck first in the final minutes of the first quarter on a 53-yard scoring drive.

With East at its own 49-yard line, Panther halfback Tracy Bonner carried the ball across midfield, but the ball was batted loose by senior linebacker Ed Pierangelino and sputtered to the Canton 47, where it was scooped up by junior defensive back Jamie Chilcoff.

Several plays later with the Chiefs at the East 22, junior halfback Mike Clayton took a pitch from senior quarterback Bill Childs and lunged to the Panther eight-yard mark.

After an offside penalty put Canton back at the East 14, the Chiefs capitalized on their next chance when Childs dashed into the endzone untouched for the score. Junior placekicker Dennis O'Flynn drilled the extra point attempt through the uprights, and the Chiefs led 7-0 with 1:07 remaining in the first quarter.

The Chiefs powered as close as the East 33 and 34 on two separate drives prior to their touchdown, but a wet and slippery ball caused Canton to fumble both threats away.

Poor field conditions contributed to more problems for both offenses in the second quarter as neither teams were able to produce a scoring drive on the muddy turf. The half ended with the Chiefs out in front, 7-0.

In the third quarter, the Panthers began their game-winning 63-yard touchdown drive following the opening second-half kickoff.

East moved the ball to the Canton 21 on five straight running plays, but the Chiefs were penalized for unspottedmanlike conduct, putting the ball at the Canton nine-yard mark.

Two plays later, the Chiefs were charged with another penalty when one of their players cut through the endzone to leave the field moving the ball from the five to the Canton three-yard line.

Doug Tankersley then took the ensuing play and burst into the endzone from two yards out for the touchdown. The Panthers successfully completed a two-point conversion when Bonner took a pitch from quarterback Bob Nelson and stretched his way across the goal line for the score, giving East an 8-7 margin with 6:37 remaining in the third quarter.

"Our defensive players, substitutes, and offense all did a fine job, and you can't complain about that," said Barr. "All season it's just that we haven't been able to get enough points on the board to win."

Canton will make one more effort to add a victory to its 1-7 season on Friday in a home game against Belleville as its season closes. Kickoff time will be at 7:30 p.m.

Rock cagers win 2 Sub. 8 struggles

Salem's girls basketball team gained two more Suburban Eight League victories beating Dearborn and Allen Park last week to keep the Rocks hopes for a league title still alive.

Against Dearborn, last Thursday, Salem won 34-20 behind some consistent defensive play.

"They (Dearborn) tried to control the ball a lot. It was a ball control type of game, but we were pretty consistent throughout the whole game on defense," said Salem coach Bob Blohm.

Salem started the game with a 12-point burst in the first quarter compared to Dearborn's eight points. In the second quarter, however, things wouldn't go right for Salem and they added just two points to their tally while Dearborn had seven. Halftime score was 15-14, Dearborn.

"We had a good first quarter and I think our second quarter was exactly the same as the first but the ball wouldn't go in the net," said Blohm. "We had some tremendous shots in the quarter that wouldn't fall in."

In the third quarter, Salem scored 10 points and Dearborn had two. The Rocks then added 10 points in the final period compared to Dearborn's three for the win.

"Our third and fourth quarters were good, consistent quarters," said Blohm.

Salem was paced offensively by Carol Ross with 10 points. Elieen Moore and Cheryl Sobkow contributed eight points each for the Rocks.

Earlier in the week, Salem dumped Allen Park 48-18.

"We did dominate the game, but the first half was fairly close and Allen Park has actually improved a lot this year," said Blohm. "We had good pressure defense and took away from what they wanted to do."

"We weren't sensational but we were consistent and we got good play from our support players," continued the coach.

Salem opened the game with 13 points in the first quarter and 10 more in the second. Allen Park scored nine and seven in the first half.

The second half was all Salem's as the squad added 12 points in the third quarter and 13 in the fourth. Allen Park had two points in the third quarter and failed to score in the final period.

Moore paced Salem with 13 points, while

Chief cagers gain 2 league wins

"We made them turn the ball over a lot in both games," said Canton girls' basketball Coach Mike McCauley, after the Chiefs collected Western Six victories over Northville, 84-45, and Waterford Mott, 59-44.

Canton now posts a perfect 6-0 league record along with an impressive 12-2 overall showing.

On Thursday against Northville, Canton led 18-13 at the end of the first quarter and carried a 15 point, 43-28, margin into the locker room at halftime.

In the third quarter, the Chiefs padded their lead 58-36, and pulled further out in front by outscoring the Mustangs 26-9 in the final period.

Pearl Cunningham led Canton's charge by netting 26 points. Other Chief players scoring in double figures were Reggie Ruggiero and Cyndi Sovine collecting 13 points apiece followed by Jean Timlin with 11 points and Colleen Crissey with 10 points. Jackie Nixon led the Mustangs with 23 points.

Canton took advantage of 19 Northville fouls by connecting on 17 of 25 free throws, Sobkow had 10 and Jan Mackenzie had eight.

"From the league standpoint yeah the two wins were really good to have. It's good to have that," said Blohm. "We have two more league games before meeting Bentley again and we need wins."

On of those league struggles will be tomorrow when the Rocks face Belleville at home. Varsity game time is 7:30 p.m.

while the Mustangs hit 12 out of 19 foul shots, as the Chiefs were charged with 19 personals.

"Our shooting percentage from both the court and foul line was extremely tough," said McCauley. "Most of the players' individual field goal percentages this year are near 50 per cent and our free throw per cent is around 75 per cent, which has been one of the major factors for our success this season."

Earlier in the week, against Mott, another unbeaten team in the Western Six, Canton took off to a 14-8 first quarter lead and then led 27-20 at the intermission.

The Chiefs took command in the second half by outscoring the Corsairs 32-24, to help retain their unbeaten Western Six status.

Timlin sparked the attack for Canton with 15 points, and Ruggiero added 14 points. Cunningham and Crissey followed with eight points each.

The Chiefs next battle will be tomorrow night in a league clash against Walled Lake Western at the Walled Lake gymnasium. Game time will be at 7:30 p.m.

Salem swimmers beaten

Salem's girls' swim squad suffered its third loss of the season as Dearborn used its strength and a four-lane pool to win the Suburban Eight League match-up, 53-30.

"They have a four-lane pool so we were unable to use our depth and besides they are a tough swim team and they scored a lot of firsts against us," said Salem Coach Chuck Olson. "We swam pretty well. I can't complain about our times. They were consistent."

B. J. Bing scored Salem's only first place of the meet, winning the 100-yard butterfly with an effort of 1:12.7.

Chief swim team loses

The Canton girls' swim team suffered a tough defeat to Northville 50-30 Thursday night to lower its Western Six League record to 2-2 and 5-6 overall. The Mustangs, who are in first place in the league, have been responsible for both Chief setbacks this season.

The meet, however, didn't end without its bright spots for Canton as two school records were set in diving. Senior Chris Wennerberg broke her own record of 199.95 points by picking up 214.65 points against Northville, for Canton's lone first place finish.

Shaun Neville posted a new freshman diving record by collecting an impressive 150 points to shatter Wennerberg's old record of 142 points.

"Overall, it was a good meet even though we lost," said Canton Coach Mark Griffith. "It was a strong improvement over our last dual with Northville several weeks ago."

"A lot of our swimmers had their best times and we had two school records set in diving which is very promising. Our strong performances mean that we should do well in the league meets and state finals."

The Chiefs' best showings in the swimming events were second place finishes by Bronwyn Fitzgerald in the 100-yard breast stroke, 1:23.1; Kim Massey in the 100-yard backstroke, 1:09.3 and 200-yard individual medley, 2:25.9; Missey McMurray in the 100-yard freestyle, 1:00 and 50-yard freestyle, 27.3; Mary Reardon in the 500-yard freestyle, 6:23.1; Kathy Stern in the 100-yard butterfly, 1:35.5; and Ellie Wagner in diving with 181.7 points.

Canton also received seconds from Debbie Dickinson, Reardon, Janet Powell, and Massey in the 400-yard freestyle relay, 4:18.7; and Karen Mullen, Dawn Mullen, Lisa Dunbar, and Kelly Salyer in the 200-yard medley relay, 2:29.9.

Other showings were third-place finishes from Reardon in the 200-yard freestyle, 2:21; Powell in the 50-yard freestyle, 29.4; Lisa Godre in the 100-yard butterfly, 1:27.3; Dickinson in the 100-yard freestyle, 1:05.0; and Salyer in the 500-yard freestyle, 6:59.0.

The Chiefs are now ready to face league rival Farmington Harrison in a home meet tomorrow night starting at 7 p.m.

Punt, pass, kick this weekend

Canton's Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring the first annual Punt, Pass, and Kick competition on Nov. 1 at Griffin Park.

The competition is open to all age groups both boys and girls and will be conducted at Griffin Park from 10 a.m.

A registration period will be held at 9 a.m. on that day for those that wish to participate.

For further information, call the Recreation Department at 397-1000.

Other than that effort, the Rocks scored a lot of second and third places.

Linda Wochna, Corinne Cabadas, Amy Dunn and Terri Eudy teamed for a second in the medley relay with a time of 2:07.2, while Debbie Darlington, Linda Nelson, Bing and Julie Cabadas were third with a time of 2:12.

Eudy was also second in the 100-yard freestyle, 56.4 seconds and second in the 200-yard freestyle, 2:08.

Patti Larson was second in the diving competition with 184.6 points, while Ruth Ettinger was third second in the 100-yard butterfly with an effort of 1:19.3.

Kelly Brandt was second in the 500-yard freestyle, 6:11.3 and Weimer was third, 6:16.4.

Wochna was second in the 100-yard backstroke, 1:11, and Darlington was third just one-tenth of a second off Wochna, 1:11.1.

Corinne Cabadas was also second in the 100-yard breast stroke with a time of 1:17.2.

In the freestyle relay, Julie Cabadas, Brandt, Dunn and Nancy Lazarus teamed to finish second with a time of 4:16.2, while Bing, Ellen Wall, Wochna and Weimer were third with an effort of 4:24.9.

Salem is now 7-3 overall and according to Olson could be 7-4 after tomorrow's meet with Livonia Stevenson. "Stevenson has one of the top five teams in the state. It will be tough for us" said Olson. That home meet starts at 7:30 p.m.
