

Chief baseball squad bows out of state in loss to Gallagher

BY KEN VOYLES

It was an ironic but sad way for the Canton baseball squad to lose to Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher in state Class A semi-final action yesterday.

A pickoff attempt at third base by Chief hurler Danny Smith -- that had worked all season -- went wild allowing Gallagher to go ahead 4-3 and eventually win 4-3.

The other key play in the ball game, according to Canton coach Fred Crissey, was a failed attempt to turn a double play ball.

With a runner on first, second baseman Scott Bricker fielded a ground ball and threw to second. The ball skidded out of Steve Schumacher's glove when he tried to make the tag.

Tom Ostrowski was the next Gallagher batter and he smacked a home run over the rightfield fence to put Gallagher ahead 3-0.

The home run was Smith's only other mistake in the seven innings he pitched. The loss was his first of the year in 14 outings.

"Danny came back with two days rest and pitched with a lot of guts," said Crissey.

The Chiefs would have been in deeper trouble in the early going if it hadn't been for a pair of running catches by centerfielder Keith Stone.

Stone also started the Chiefs lone rally in the sixth inning. It was Canton's first hit of the game and came on a bunt back to the pitcher. Fred Rumberger then walked and Smith hit a two-strike single to load the bases.

Bricker then hit a grounder to second and was thrown out allowing Stone to score and the other runners to move to second and third base.

Schumacher got the tying runs for Canton when he followed Bricker's ground out with a two-run single just past the reach of Gallagher's second baseman.

"I'm proud of these kids. We were down by three runs and had nothing going for us and we came back," said Crissey.

Canton's last opportunity came in the seventh, but three ground outs told the story.

The Chiefs finish the season at 28-3 with a Western Six League title, district and regional titles to their name.

Car-train crash claims life

THIS IS ALL THAT WAS left of a Volkswagen driven by Robert Barnett, 22, of 9025 Northern, Plymouth Township, after it struck the side of a C&O train passing through the Sheldon Road crossing at 2 a.m. Saturday morning. According to Plymouth Police there is no evidence that Barnett even tried to stop for the train. After crashing through the gate at an undeterminable speed the Volkswagen rammed into the end of the sixth car of the five-mile-an-hour moving train, slipped in between two cars and was dragged along the track 150 feet before the train halted, said police. Barnett's wife Cynthia, 24, was killed, and Barnett received multiple cuts, a broken arm and nose and other injuries. He was transported to St. Mary Hospital by Township Rescue, where he was treated and released. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

Canton overcharged for rubbish collection

BY DAN BODENE

COPYRIGHT 1981 by Plymouth-Canton Community Crier, Inc.

Due to accounting errors in Canton's former administration, the township was overcharged for rubbish collection by as much as $100,000 over the past two to three years.

Until this year, rubbish collection was charged to the township based on a unit rate on approximately 12,500 units.

According to Finance Director Mike Gorman, that total number of units was found to be in error in December, 1980.

when a "house check" with Detroit Edison verified there was a difference of 1,376 units between what was charged to the township and what was actually serviced.

Rubbish collection in Canton by a single company was begun in 1975, according to Gorman, and was originally handled by Municipal Disposal Company.

When Municipal Disposal began their service, they were furnished the total number of housing units in Canton, and supplied with monthly lists of new oc-

Both millage issues fail, Decker is board winner

BY DAN BODENE

Plymouth-Canton voters rejected both millage proposals on Monday night's ballot and elected a new member to the school board -- William H. Decker.

By a margin of more than two to one, voters defeated millage proposals which sought to raise one mill for operating purposes and levy the authorized millage without regard to Headlee rollback.

The defeat of both proposals will mean the total school millage will remain unchanged from last year, at 35.26 mills.

However, the tax levy assessed on residential property will roll back to approximately 34.9 mills due to the Headlee legislation, according to assistant superintendent for business Raymond Hoedel. Exact rollback figures are unavailable.

It will also mean a schools' funding deficit of approximately $3.4 million, according to Hoedel.

Decker, a resident of Plymouth Township and the newest member of the Board of Education, carried six of the 14 voting precincts in the district with a total of 1,661 votes.

His strongest support came from the Central, Isbister, Allen, West, Miller and Bird precincts, coupled with the majority of absentee voters.

Decker's nearest competitor, incumbent Stephen Harper of Plymouth

WILLIAM H. DECKER

Township, came in second with a total of 1,320 votes but did not carry a single precinct. He shared the high vote in the Farrand precinct, however, with Charles Washburn.

Marilyn Rickard of Canton, a close third with a total of 1,286 votes, carried virtually every Canton precinct except Miller, which went to Decker.

Canton CETA snafu brings threat of funds payback

BY DICK BROWN

Canton Township faces the possibility that it may have to refund $14,000 to the federal government because of possible abuses in pay and jobs performed by township police cadets.

The township board has been wrestling with the problem in executive sessions for several months. CETA officials are still investigating the irregularities.

The problem stems from township practices which occasionally put police cadets out on patrol without an experienced patrolman in the car. Another problem is that police cadets received wages above those established in the federal CETA guidelines.

Last August eight police cadets were hired from a list of over 150 candidates. Some had previous patrol experience while others had received criminal justice training.

The Canton program calls for advancing cadets to police officer status after 18 to 24 months of cadet training. Chores performed during the training period were to include dispatching, typing reports and familiarizing themselves with police equipment and operations. They were not to be out on patrol unless accompanied by a regular police officer.

Two of the cadets were reportedly paid from federal CETA funds administered by Wayne County CETA officials. The township supplemented a portion of their salaries. CETA contribution limit was set at $12,000 and federal guidelines put a cap of $2,400 for the township's supplement.

Part of the township's problem comes from two of the cadets exceeding the pay cap through working overtime or working out of job classification by doing patrol work.

The Canton problem surfaced back in February. CETA has withheld payments of $6,100 to cover the last 3 months of cadet pay, pending the outcome of the investigation.

There is a possibility that Canton will have to come up with another $14,000 in refunds to cover earlier payments and fringe benefits.

Deadline is June 16 for commission race

There are four seats open on the Plymouth City Commission, and five candidates have filed petitions for them.

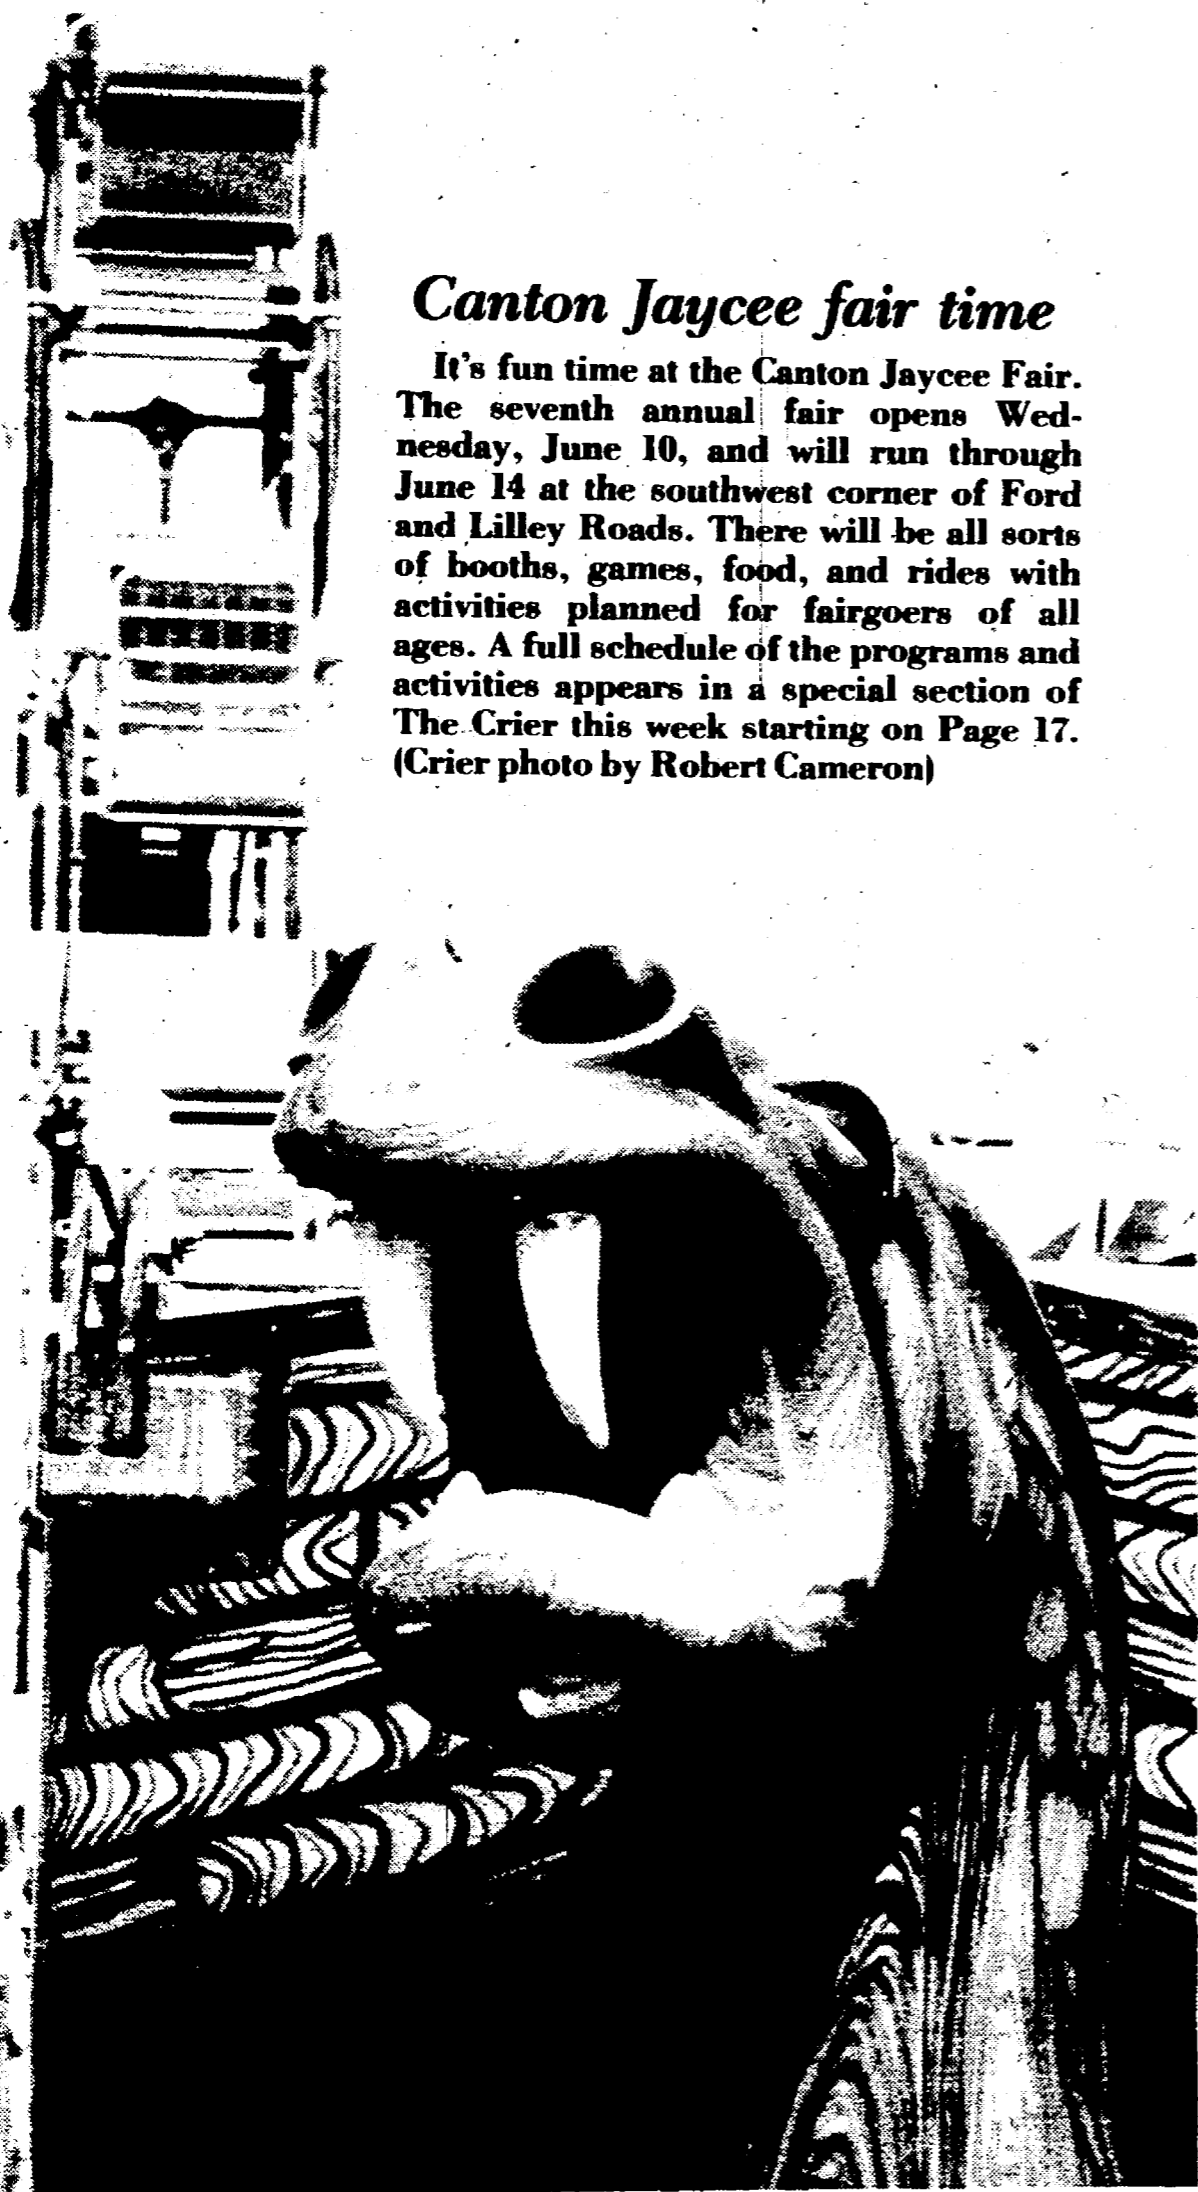

Commissioners David Pugh, Mark Wehmeyer and Jack Kenyon along with Planning Commissioner William Robinson and local artist-designer Gregory Green have filed thus far. The final filing date is June 16 at 4 p.m.

If no more than eight candidates file there will not be a primary in August, but if there are more than eight candidates for the posts a primary will be necessary.

Candidates must provide a petition with at least 25 signatures of registered voters and no more than 50 signatures.

Main Street crossing repair starts

RELIEF IS ON THE HORIZON finally for motorists driving N. Main St. Railroad crews are doing some repair work at the railroad crossing. The C&O Railroad was ordered by the Michigan Department of Transportation to replace deteriorated railroad ties at the crossing which have been shaking up motorists for some time. Main Street will be closed to traffic for the rest of this week and into next week. Northbound traffic is being routed north on Theodore to Farmer, east on Farmer to Amelia and south on Amelia back to Main. The same route is recommended for southbound traffic. ## Trash collection fees adjusted in Canton

 occupancy permits issued, to update billing. That's where the errors began, Gorman theorizes.

He says due to the housing boom and amount of paperwork handled by the Building Department, incorrect numbers of occupancy permits issued may have been supplied to Municipal Disposal.

When the current disposal company, Canton Recycling, took over rubbish disposal approximately two and one-half years ago, according to Supervisor Jim Poole, they billed the township using the incorrect figure.

Poole is not averse to the idea of picking up the cost of the good faith error, but he says the township would have to be reimbursed for the amount of the bill.

After the good housing and error was discovered, Poole contacted Stan Denski of Canton Recycling to notify the company of a billing reduction, also asking Denski to verify the unit count.

The township and Canton Recycling have now agreed on a unit total of 11,010.

However, Poole says township attorneys believe Canton has no chance to recover the overcharges.

Poole also said a previous administration, under former Supervisor Noel Culbert, investigated the overcharge but did not have the "house count" to verify it.

"I was very much surprised," said John Denski, also of Canton Recycling, about the difference between the original house count number provided to them and the total by the township.

"It was based on the number of units in the township and the number of units in the township," Denski said.

Denski said that when he took over the company, he found that the number of units in the township was lower than Municipal Disposal's figure.

Municipal Disposal Co. could not be reached for comment Tuesday afternoon.

Traffic routes are set for graduations

This is the week graduating seniors at Canton and Salem High Schools have been waiting for.

On Wednesday, June 17, Salem seniors will take over CEP football stadium for commencement exercises at 8 p.m. In case of poor weather conditions the commencement program will be moved inside to the Salem gymnasium.

On Thursday night it will be the turn of Canton seniors. They will take over the football stadium for commencement exercises with the program set to start at 8 p.m. In case of bad weather the ceremonies will move inside to the Salem auditorium.

To handle the traffic jams expected on both nights, special parking regulations have been set up. Parking lots at both Canton and Salem will be used both nights with access to the Canton lots off Canton Center Road and access to the Salem lots off Joy Road. As soon as the commencement begins, Joy Road at Canton Center will be blocked off.

To further confuse the traffic situation those driving to graduation will find Sheldon Road closed because of the widening project from Joy Road north.

It is requested that guests attending the commencement exercises make plans to arrive early in order to be in their seats by 7:45 p.m.

Plymouth fuel oil odor mystery finally solved

As the saying goes, "When it rains, it pours." But in one case, when it rains, it stinks.

Some time ago, staff in the Plymouth branch of the Observer and Eccentric Newspapers noticed a powerful odor of fuel oil in their offices, located in the Mayflower Meeting House.

A call to the management resulted in a search for the cause of the offending fumes. A likely suspect seemed to be Doug's Standard service station next door, although the station did not sell fuel oil commercially.

An investigation by the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR), however, eventually turned up the culprit.

According to Dan Schultz of the DNR's Oil and Hazardous Materials section, a small (500 gallon) underground fuel oil tank used to supply fuel oil to heat the service station had ruptured.

"Around the (Meeting House) building, which is a historical structure," said Schultz, "the surrounding tiles funneled the fuel oil to the sump pump."

After the tank was excavated and replaced, Schultz said, a monitoring well and intercept trench were installed to collect excess contaminants. The trench is now periodically pumped.

Scott Lorenz of the Mayflower also said new fans and cold air vents were installed, and Standard Oil has been sent a list of damages.

Although the problem has been fixed for the most part, when heavy rains bring up the underground water table a small amount of fuel oil apparently still seeps into the Meeting House's sump pumps.

Yes, sometimes when it rains, it stinks.

TRAFFIC PATTERNS for Wednesday and Thursday night commencement ceremonies for Canton and Salem high schools have been set up to make it easier for those driving to Central Education Park. Motorists are urged to leave early in order to be in their seats by 7:45 p.m. with the processional set to start at 8 p.m. Both main parking lots at Canton and Salem will be used. When the program starts Joy Road at Canton Center Road will be blocked off to make it easier for drivers to exit the individual parking lots.

community opinions

MANY GROUPS AND INDIVIDUALS are concerned about the shrinking productive farm land in Michigan and throughout the country. As residential, commercial and business development and highways eat up working farms, there is lots of talk but very little action. In Canton Township farms such as the one pictured above are threatened. Canton Township trustees are doing more than talking. They commissioned a farm preservation committee to come up with some alternate proposals and recommendations. Racing an August deadline set by the township board, Canton is aiming to have a plan ready to present to the voters with the price tag for saving the farms attached. (Crier photo by Dick Brown)

Vanishing farms pose real threat

Vanishing farm land in the face of increasing population, both at home and abroad, is of concern to many people.

During the last couple of decades highways, industrial parks, shopping malls and giant residential developments have been the mark of progress while at the same time this progress took thousands of acres of productive land.

City commissions, township boards and other government entities measured their success by how much growth they could generate.

There were a few cries in the wilderness about what was being done to future food supplies, but for the most part they went unheeded. That is, up until the last few years. Now more and more people and groups are concerned that farm land must be preserved.

Canton Township, a prime example over the last 15 to 20 years of a rapid residential, business and industrial

Coloring It Brown

By Dick Brown

growth area, has been studying ways to preserve farm land before it is too late.

Canton is making the right move. All other communities should follow that move.

It doesn't take too long a memory to recall when western Wayne county was filled with some of the most productive farming operations in the state. Where now stands vast blacktopped parking lots, super highways, industrial and business complexes and acre after acre of homes, there used to stand acres and acres of crops and pasture filled with cattle and hogs. It is too late to put the lost land back into farm production but it isn't too late to preserve the farm operations which are still with us.

It won't be easy and it won't come cheap. The pressure of the big bucks offered by the developers will have to be matched by some form of monetary inducement to farmers to keep tilling their land.

At least Canton township is showing concern. Maybe other townships and cities will follow the lead and at least explore ways to preserve farm land.

Board should be blamed for school millage defeats

The overwhelming defeat of the two millage proposals on Monday's Plymouth-Canton Schools ballot can be blamed on only one thing... the school district's poor effort at handling affairs.

The boundary change botch certainly cost the schools votes when the entire issue could have been avoided had the school board gotten its act together when it should have.

Couple the adverse effect of throwing such a volatile issue into the path of millage issues with the poor explanation of the needs for the millages and it's no wonder the issues lost.

Surely the schools will be back for another try at increasing the allowable millage. Let's hope they make a better effort at explaining things this time.

No doubt, the school officials will lay blame to the "anti-tax mood" of the voters, but remember that our district turned down the recent state-wide tax proposal. The fault lies clearly with the schools themselves.

With Malice Toward None

This is your chance to serve your city - if you're a City of Plymouth registered voter. You have until Tuesday at 4 p.m. to file your nominating petitions for the City Commission.

Maybe City Manager Henry Graper doesn't want a lot of candidates in the race, (he says he wants to avoid a $3,000 primary race which must be held if nine or more candidates throw their hats in), but you'd recall that two years ago there were so few candidates, a write-in candidate gained a seat.

Let's not let that happen again.

It's simple. You only need 25 certifiable signatures on a petition you can pick up at City Hall tomorrow. Just return it by 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Will you have any competition to worry about?

Just for the sake of trying to drum up interest, let's throw out some names:

Incumbents Dave Pugh, Mark Wehmeyer and Jack Kenyon are running again. Mayor Mary Childs can't seek another term and that means at least one new face up there as well as the virtual shoo-in of Bud Martin as mayor once the new commission is seated.

Planning Commissioner Bill Robinson (who tried and failed as a write-in last time) is in too.

Then how about Greg Green (who tried last time too), Penny or Roger Wright, Lorre Watt, former mayor Bev McAninch or her husband Bill? Some hope Scott Lorenz would throw his hat in to test the question, "Is a Lorenz electable in our town?"

Certainly one of the most knowledgeable about city affairs is Jack Wilcox, but Jack will probably remain content to fill his watchdog role from the back row of the commission chambers.

And how about one surprise just to make things interesting? Former City Manager Fred Yockey still lives in the city. Wouldn't that be hot?

All this race needs is your name in it.

Salvation Army issue has 2 sides

Lt. William Harfoot of the Salvation Army wanted to clear up a few misrepresentations Thursday afternoon about the Army's rezoning request of a piece of Plymouth Township property which the Army bought for the purpose of constructing a new church facility.

Harfoot, a long time chief of the Army, said that the addition to the existing building would seat 120 people, which, he added, adequately meets the requirements set by the township.

The Army is currently planning a parking lot to fit over 40 cars. Harfoot added that a few minor changes in the original designs would provide several more parking spaces and would give the church an excess of spaces.

The township's requirements call for one parking space per three people. "Right now on the average our parking space requirements are 10 to 15 a day," said Harfoot.

"The type of building we're putting in there is a church building. In conjunction with any church are outreach programs that benefit the community. Those include Boy Scouts, pre-nursery programs, crafts programs," said Harfoot. "Only with members of our organization do we allow wedding receptions in the facility and the army is a very conservative church."

For two years the Army has been organizing the fund drive to raise the $600,000 needed to construct the proposed addition and make the parking improvements and other improvements planned for.

Monies came from over 170 local businesses.

"I will wager the Salvation Army will be in our location long after our neighbors on Ball Street move out," said

Harfoot. "If we were going to sell, just if, then whoever bought the property would have to seek rezoning anyway."

"But we're not interested in selling. By the time we're done we will have worked five years on this project," he continued.

Harfoot added that the Army hopes to break ground on the addition in August. Before it could start the project, however, the Army needed the property to be rezoned from commercial to office. A church building cannot be zoned commercial. Formal approval of the rezoning will probably come at the June 23 Plymouth Township meeting.

"No matter what happens with the rezoning we still have to meet all the requirements of the township. That property was zoned commercial, the highest zoning possible. If we weren't going in there some developer would come in and do virtually what he wants. It could be a mess."

Harfoot added that the greatest fear of the local residents seems to be the rumor that the Army will stay in the building for a few years and then sell it to someone else.

"The Army has never done anything like that," he said. "One of the reasons that neighborhood was selected is that we felt we could reach some people of that neighborhood in our outreach programs," he said.

Student Artfest officials say thanks for support

EDITOR:

Student Artfest '81 is now history. This first, of what is planned to be an annual day-long event of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools showcasing student skill and talent in the visual and performing arts, was held Saturday, May 30, in Kellogg Park. More than 4,000 people came to view the displays and listen to, and watch the performing groups. We thank them for their interest and support.

Artfest '81 was a success because of the enthusiasm, dedication, commitment and outstanding contributions of many. We want to publicly thank the following:

The students whose artworks and musical, drama and dance performances were outstanding.

A talented and skilled teaching staff.

A supportive group of building principals.

The central maintenance staff of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools and Dan Mingshine, director of building and grounds.

The DPW crew of the city of Plymouth and Ken Vogras and Tom Wolfe.

Mrs. Margaret Wilson, Penn Theatre,
Mrs. Janet Woodring, secretary,
Plymouth-Canton Community Schools,
The Hammell Music Company,
Mayor Mary Childs,
City Manager Henry Graper,
Superintendent of Schools Dr. John Hoben.

Artfest patrons,
Plymouth Community Arts Council,
Plymouth Christian Academy.

And certainly, the Artfest Planning Committee whose tireless efforts made it possible to put everything together.

Finally, a special word of recognition to Michael O'Brien, fifth grade student, Eriksson Elementary School, whose logo was selected to represent the theme of Artfest '81.

In addition

by Dan Bodene

Last week I sat down in the Plymthrook Saloon and had a beer right about where I stood in line, years ago, to collect unemployment checks.

It sure was a pleasure to be able to sit where I once stood, and spend part of a paycheck where I once waited because I had no job to be paid from.

I won't exactly say it was a sobering experience (pardon the pun) because collecting unemployment benefits back then was no more a big deal for me than drinking that beer last week was.

But now things are different.

A friend of the family was just laid off after 35 years with GM. According to the story I heard, he is required to draw unemployment for a year before he is eligible for his pension.

I'm not sure he particularly wants to visit the MESC for a year, but apparently GM thinks he should.

There are quite a few people who also do not want to visit the MESC but have to, so they can eat or make house payments. A sad fact is that Michigan is becoming a regular clearinghouse for horror stories of lost jobs, hard times and public assistance.

Drawing "unenjoyment" benefits are no great pleasure, either. It wasn't bad for me, but back then I was looking at college in a matter of weeks, and an end to the bi-weekly ordeals. Most people now are just beginning their ordeal.

But if there was one thing I learned, it was that being unemployed was a lot worse than the lousiest job I ever had. I see that same lesson in the faces of friends who landed jobs at the auto plants right out of high school - and have all lost those jobs.

There's no one to point the finger at, and no one to step in and right all the wrongs. There's just another long, hot summer.

I ended up having two beers.

Dancers are appreciative

EDITOR:

The Centennial Dancers of Plymouth would like to thank the community for a near-capacity crowd at their first performance.

Under the choreography of Miss Susan Machowicz and Mr. Zachary Drewniak, the various ethnic dances brought an appeal to all who attended. The audience became part of the fun-filled evening with "handclapping and footstomping."

This new and exciting organization is under the fantastic leadership of Joanne Ygeal, who made this recital a huge success.

Canton to pick up tax delinquent lots for park

Tax billing error costs builder his lots

BY DICK BROWN

Thanks to a series of errors, Canton Township may end up with seven improved residential lots in Pickwick Village subdivision and some of those lots may end up being developed for a playground and park—and all for a cost of $1.

At last week's meeting of the Canton Township Board, Dominic Mocerri, appeared before the board with his attorney and an assistant and reported that through his error and failure of Wayne County and Canton Township officials, he was not billed for taxes on nine lots in the subdivision. He told the board that the lots were acquired by the state because of the total delinquency bill of $4,200.

He said he was able to redeem two of the lots after finding out about what had happened accidentally on a call to the township office to discuss other business. The other seven lots are now held by the lands division of the Department of Natural Resources.

The DNR offers first crack at such land to the local unit of government.

Officials of Pickwick Village Homeowners Association have expressed an interest in the lots for park purposes.

Mocerri's situation is even more painful. After the property reverted to the state for non-payment of taxes before he was aware of it, he stepped in last summer and with the help and advice, along with the necessary permits, from the DNR, the county and the township, spent $60,000 in making improvements on the lots to clear up drainage and erosion problems in order to have them removed from the flood plain.

Appearing before the township board with Mocerri was his attorney, Gerald J.

Carnago.

Carnago labeled the builder's failure to pay the property taxes "a mutual mistake." Township tax rolls do not list Mocerri or any other individual as the owners of Lots two through eight in Pickwick Village subdivision.

Clerk John Flodin pointed out, though, that the absence of Mocerri's name on the tax rolls did not exempt the builder from property tax payments.

After the discussion the township board voted to buy the lots for $1 from the state. There was no language in the motion, though, calling for the return of any of the lots to the builder, although this suggestion was made in the discussion of the problem.

Just how many of the lots will be used by the property owner group for playground and park purposes is in question. The association has not made any firm request.

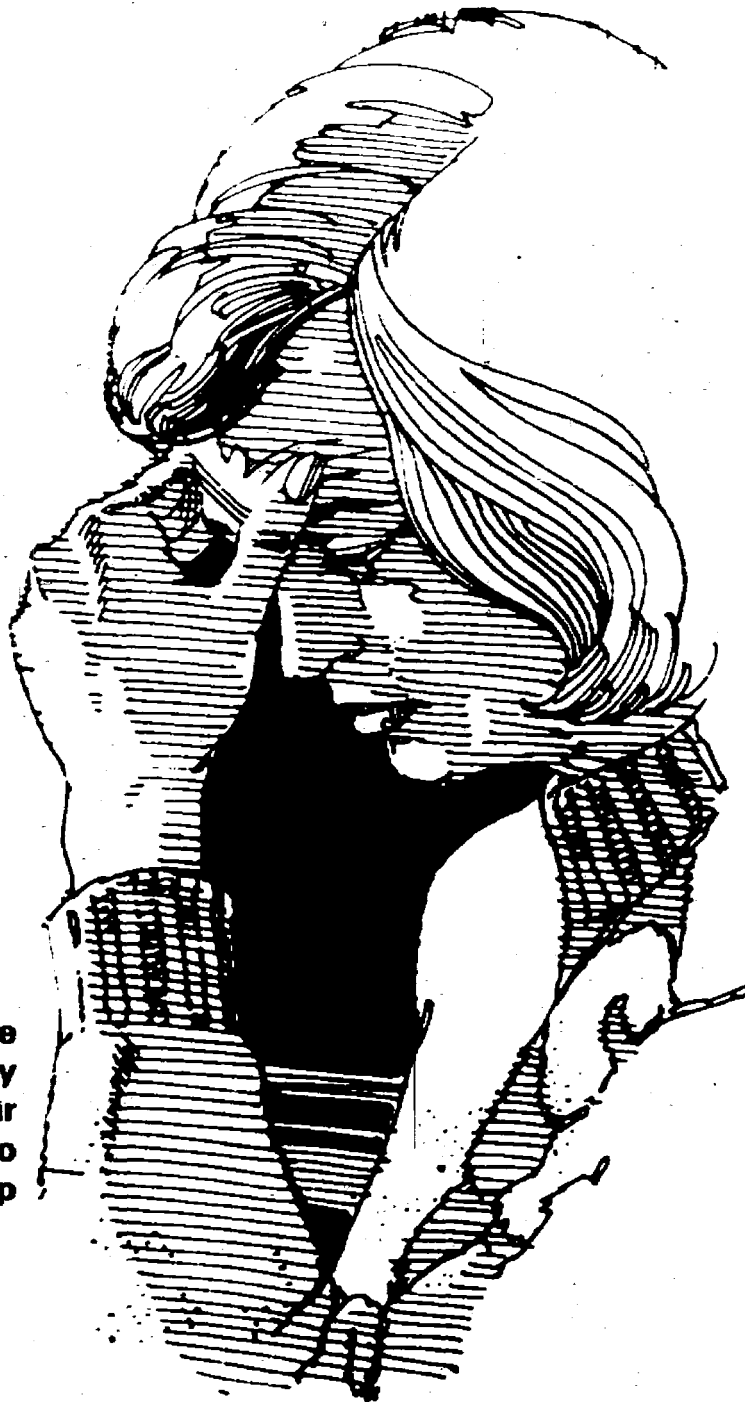

Estimated market value of the lots in the subdivision which is located east of Lilley Road and North of Ford Road is between $12,000 and $15,000.

Even though Canton township might end up with title to the lots, there will be little profit for the township if they are resold. Under state law municipalities obtaining property turned over to the state for delinquent taxes are required to return profits from sale of the land over to the other taxing units such as the county, intermediate school district and local school district.

THE PAIN OF ARTHRITIS

Invades Your Whole Life

Millions of people are crippled each year by arthritis. These sufferers spend millions of dollars each year seeking relief only to have this dreaded disease gradually eat away until each year the suffering is worse and worse and the patient is able to do less and less. Chiropractic patients have not only received help but many no longer have pain at all.

Jim Poulos, an arthritis sufferer has this to say:

Since my first Chiropractic adjustment I have progressively gotten better. I have experienced no discomfort from the adjustment even though I was in severe pain at the time. . . the adjustment was a blessing. . .

Canton parent takes exception to letter stance

EDITOR:
In response to K. Roberts' letter last week, I think a few facts should be cleared up. Of the 711 students at Fiegel, 586 are Canton residents; 125 Plymouth residents.

Yes, many of the Canton students are bused, but we parents are grateful that our children can attend a quality school such as Fiegel.

The Canton parents were as vehemently opposed to ESY as the Plymouth parents. The declining enrollment at Fiegel is substantial, due to lack of growth in the Canton area. We see the board made a wise decision in keeping Fiegel on ESY. The monies saved will help keep teacher jobs, buy textbooks and supplies—and keep our curriculum at a high level.

Let's stop nit-picking as to who lives where! At Fiegel we work together as a unified body of parents, students and teachers, regardless of where we live.

This division of thought in the school district between Canton and Plymouth parents can only hurt the students in the long run.

Let's unite and work together for the betterment of the school district as a whole. After all, shouldn't our only objectives, as both Canton and Plymouth parents, be the best educational system for all the students, regardless of where they live?

Sports coverage is called important in holding interest

Dear Sports Editor:
Last year your publication gave our team weekly coverage, a fact which helped us tremendously in establishing ourselves within the league and aided us in recruiting new players.

To continue the interest in this team (we are the only women's soccer team in this area) and to make more people aware of the Great Lakes Women's Soccer League, we would appreciate the same type of coverage from your newspaper this season.

In line with this request, please find, attached to this letter, a brief summary of our first game, played (Sunday), along with a schedule and roster of our team.

If I can be of any help to you, please feel free to contact me. Thank you for your time and cooperation in this matter.

Editor's note: It's that simple. All you have to do is provide the sports department with the information about your team and its upcoming season, like Mr. Snyder. That makes better coverage on our part possible, especially for all the various summer teams.

Belter furniture displayed at Plymouth Museum

VICTORIAN STYLE TABLE AND CHAIRS designed by Meek are on display at the Plymouth Historical Museum now through mid August. Joseph Meek and sons designed furniture in the mid 1860s, imitating a technique created by John Belter in the 1840s.

Plymouth's Historical Museum will present a unique display of valuable "Victorian" furniture made by John Belter (1804-1863) now through mid-August.

Belter came to the United States in the early 1840's and started making furniture in 1844.

The furniture features richly carved frameworks in rosewood and walnut with heavy rolled moldings and intricate fruit and floral decorations.

On display will be several chairs and a loveseat by Belter and a table by Joseph Meeks and Sons, who during the 1860s produced furniture in a similar style and construction to that produced by Belter.

Perhaps Belter's greatest achievement is his successful application of laminating in furniture manufacture. He used pressed work with veneers over, steamed and shaped to a curvilinear. The frame was then pierced and carved to create the effect of openwork carving in a curved plane. He designed the machinery to achieve that form and Meek designed furniture using the technique.

Another unique element to Belter's style is the thinness of the furniture. It doesn't look like it would hold up under the weight of a person.

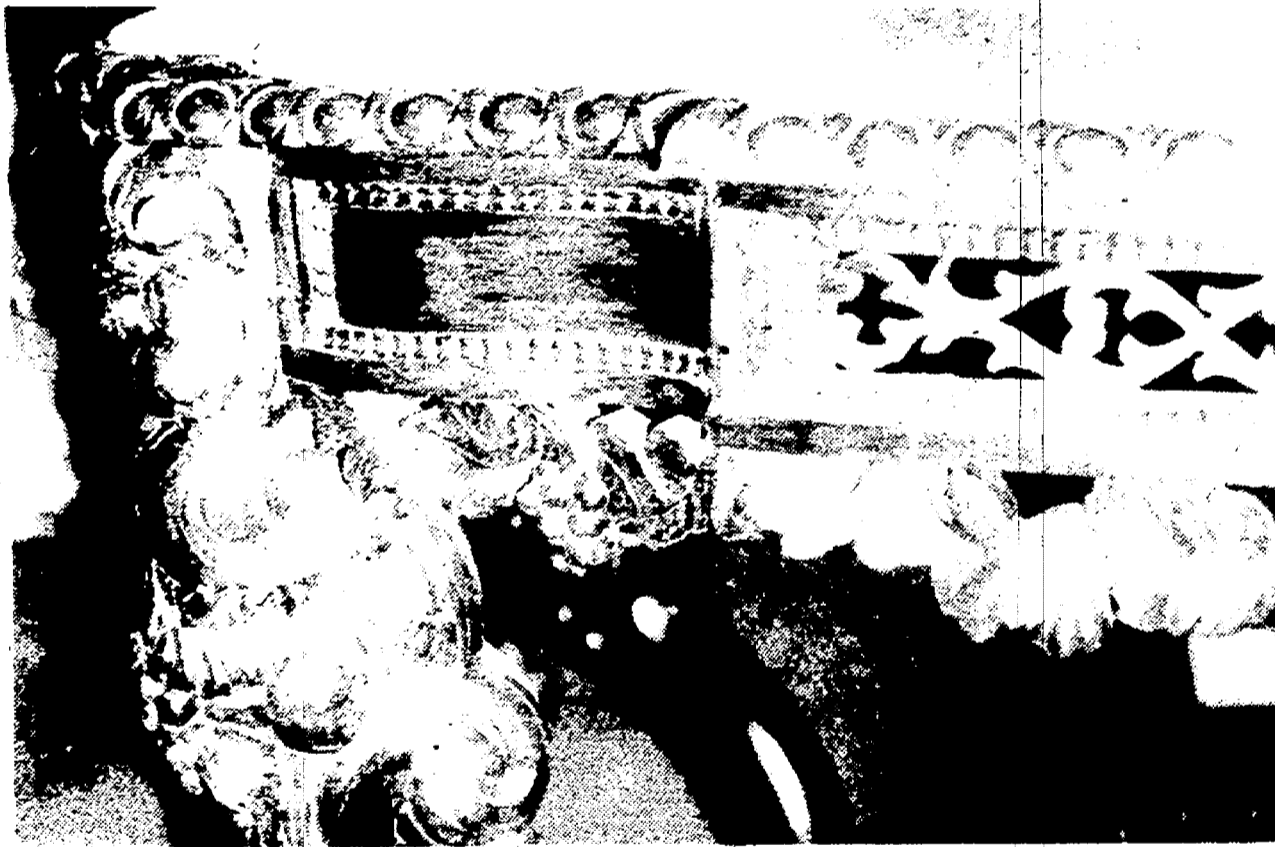

Along with the furniture exhibit is a display of decorative items such as a silver sugar spooner, a silver butter dish, a cruet, cut glass, bride's basket and chocolate pot.

There will also be a display of early 1900 materials for children on the lower level of the museum and a "Victorian" bedroom has been completed and is ready for viewing.

The museum is located at 155 S. Main in Plymouth and is open Thursday, Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. Admission is $1 for adults, 50 cents for youths 12-17 years of age and 25 cents for children under 12.

Special tours can be arranged by calling the museum at 455-8940.

tell it to Phyllis

It was a beautiful, bright Sunday morning. As I sat sipping tea and feeling lazy, I tried to convince myself that I really should do something constructive. But you know how it is when you've been out late the previous night.

Suddenly the phone rang. It was a friend calling to tell me the home of a mutual friend had flooded, something about a water pipe breaking, and they were recruiting volunteers. That wasn't quite how I had envisioned spending my day off, but what are friends for if they're not around when you need them?

When we arrived, the floor was under an inch or two of water which was streaming in from the utility room. It didn't take the crew long to get started. While someone turned off the water and rented a machine to soak the water out of the carpet, others moved furniture and grabbed mops and sponges and went to work.

It's amazing how much water a three bedroom ranch can hold. It was too bad the people living in the house were out of town at the time. What started as a small problem could have been taken care of quickly, if they were there to see it.

Once we had aired and cleaned what we could, part of the cleaning crew (with pant legs still rolled up) came over and enjoyed the last few rays of sunshine. After throwing dinner on the grill, it was great to sit and relax and enjoy each other's company. After all, that's what friends are for.

Next time I need a helping hand, you can guess who will be first on the list to call.

MR. AND MRS. DANIEL MILLER

Ritter-Miller vows said in church rites

Kathy JoAnn Ritter and Daniel Patrick Miller were married May 2 at the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth. Witnessing the couple's wedding vows were The Rev. Frank Lyman and The Rev. Father Jim Jagielski.

The new Mrs. Miller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sabagian of Florida. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfonso Miller of Amherst Court, Plymouth.

The bride wore a silk organza gown, with a cathedral train and scheffli lace trimmed the dress bodice and finger tip veil.

Maureen Hogan, Lynn Henman, and Suzanne Smith wore China frost Qiana gowns with matching sheer jackets and carried Mums, ivy and baby's breath bouquets. Melissa Ritter was the flower girl and wore ivory eyelete and carried a basket of Mums.

Robert Miller was the best man. Groomsmen were Dan Wilson, Mark Ouellette and Jace Stokes. Ushers were Doug Miller and Mike Ritter.

ONE OF THE PRIME attractions at the Fair this Sunday will be the dunk tank, which will allow fair-goers to immerse their favorite Canton trustee. Here, two of last year's participants show the end result of a good throw. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)

Rides, food, the Big Top and all the staples of a good old-fashioned country fair are moving into Canton.

Loads of fun will be had at the annual Canton Jaycee Fair, June 10 to 14, located at the southwest corner of Ford and Lilley Roads.

The Fair opens at 4 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, and closes at 10 p.m. Friday it opens at 4 p.m. and closes at 11 p.m., on Saturday it runs from 11 to 11, and on Sunday from noon to 10 p.m.

Saturday will feature a special rate whereby fair-goers can pay $5 and ride all the rides from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

But watch out for Sunday.

"Dunk Your Local Trustee Day" will be the Sunday feature, when trustees Robert Padgett, Stephen Larson, Carol Bodenmiller and Loren Bennett each take turns in the dunk tank.

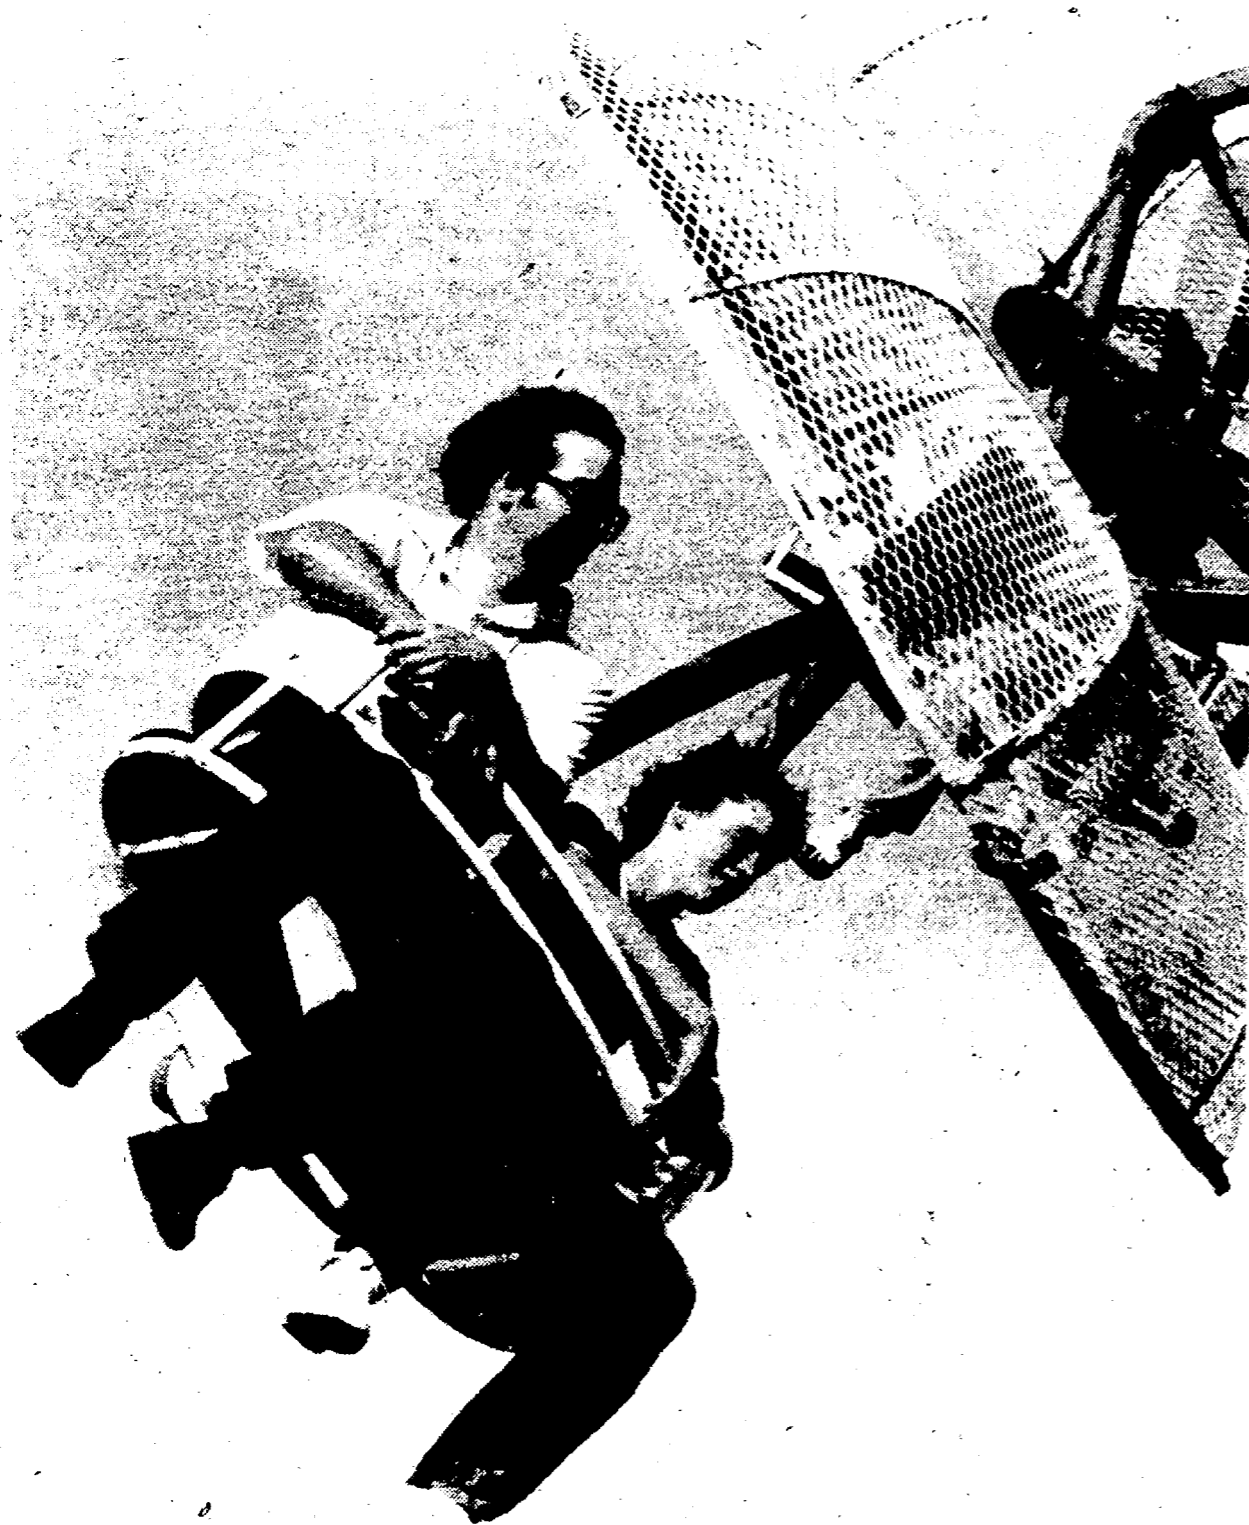

Throughout the fair will be a big top tent. Under the big top will be World Book Childcraft, Canton Jaycettes, Centennial CB, Peoples Church, Anderson Music Co., Canton Kiwanis, Jewelry & Leather Hatbands, Canton Historical Society, New X-Pressions, Coppercraft Guild, Canton Police Crime Prevention Unit and Bike Safety, Canton Fire Department and Picture Safeway booths.

There's plenty to do and see, so come out and have a good time -- something for the whole family will be there.

'75 Salem graduate joins Birmingham theatre cast

Linda Dwyer, a 1975 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School has joined the cast of "Do Black Patent Leather Shoes Really Reflect Up?" at the Birmingham Theatre.

"Patent Leather Shoes" is a story about growing up in a Catholic school, and the confrontations students have with nuns and priests. The story focuses on Eddie Ryan (Scott Ellis), and is his story according to Dwyer.

There are eight major roles, four male and four female. The part of Nancy Ralansky, although not the female lead, "is one of the principal roles," said Dwyer, who plays Ralansky.

Dwyer is replacing Leah Green, who had the role in Chicago but chose to go back to school instead of touring with the show.

Ralansky is a "dumb, silly, pretty, cheerleader-type girl" said Dwyer of the character she portrays.

A singer, actress and dancer, Dwyer grew up in Plymouth. She received a drama scholarship when she graduated from Salem and went on to Eastern Michigan University, graduating with a drama major. She performed two seasons at Opryland USA in Nashville. Other recent accomplishments include summerstock at the Red Barn Theatre Company in Saugatuck. Dwyer had the role of "The girl" in "Tuscaloosa's Calling Me But I'm Not Going" in the Actors Renaissance Theatre in the Renaissance Center, and has performed in the Attic Theater in Detroit.

Dwyer was cast in the role only three days before her opening night, June 6. She says she didn't have too many problems learning the role, because she was familiar with it. Her husband, Randy Gianetti, is the male understudy for the three supporting male characters in the play.

There are eight performances per week, two on Saturday, two on Sunday, and one each night Tuesday through Friday.

"Patent Leather Shoes" is performed to capacity crowds at the Birmingham Theater according to Dwyer, and performances have been extended to July 5.

Voters reject millages 2-1

eight certified for the race) to carry a voting precinct was Washburn, who split the Farrand precinct with Harper and won the Starkweather precinct. Washburn was fourth in the race with a total of 903 votes.

Voters followed a pattern set over the last two school elections, by not reelecting an incumbent to the board. They did not, however, follow a long-standing tradition of passing a school millage request.

In a post mortem session following the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools double millage defeat in Monday's election, Superintendent John Hoben said, "While it is obviously disappointing, the number of votes by which the additional mill and the Headlee rollback were defeated is clear indication that we will have to make the best of the millage we now have. We will do this using the cutback priorities as determined by the board.

It will certainly not be an easy year for us, but, like many others in these hard economic times, we will do the best job we can with the funds we have."

Plymouth police chief says he is feeling better

Plymouth Police Chief Tim Ford, stricken with a debilitating illness that has kept him away from his post for over a month, now says he's feeling better.

"I'm feeling fine," he said Monday evening. "I'm pretty much under the control of my doctors. I'm seeing two different people each week."

Ford's leading health problem at this stage is "coronary insufficiency." It is an inability of the coronary arteries to deliver an adequate blood supply to the myocardium, which could result in heart failure.

"It means that my heart is only working with 75 per cent efficiency even with treatment," said Ford.

Ford added that he gets out and covers at least three miles daily in his exercise routine. Other than that he's doing a little reading.

"I imagine if I'm not back soon the city will have to make some kind of move," he said concerning his position with Plymouth. "The important thing to be watchful of is the inherent stresses in the job," he added.

Carlson's computer class curries close competition

BY DAN BODENE

In an economy long beset by recession and a shrinking job market, one of the few booming fields has been the computer industry.

It makes sense, therefore, that schools offer instruction in that field, and indeed, Plymouth-Canton's Centennial Education Park (CEP) does just that.

The computer program at CEP, headed by John Carlson, has been so successful that not everyone who wants the classes can get them right away.

"So many kids want the class, since we have limited space and equipment we are forced to pretty much limit it to seniors," laments Carlson. He is quick, however, to point out the obvious successes of the students in the program.

Canton senior David Pinter, for example, walked past the computer room in his sophomore year. "I saw so many people having fun that I decided to look into it," he recalls. Now, Pinter runs his own company, Delta Software, and among the many computer programs he has written is one that has been adopted by the district's library system. Carlson uses another for class grading.

Other students now work for the Community Federal Credit Union, which was instrumental in getting the program off to a good start.

"Under the old system we used time-sharing with the Wayne County Intermediate School District," Carlson says. "But George Lawton at the credit union also donated a lot of time to us."

The program consists of two classes -- an introduction and follow-up. "Instruction runs from problem solving through flow charting," explains Carlson, "and includes commands of the basic language, manipulation of data and data files."

Students work at seven stations, each equipped with an "Apple II" computer, and must double up because of the demand for the classes. "We used to have only two stations," Carlson remembers with a sigh.

The Apple II units, although not equipped for the more universal Fortran computer language, nonetheless have a greater capability for graphics. In addition, they do not require buying computer time and are quite dependable.

"With 150 kids beating on them every day, I'm surprised," laughs Carlson. Much of the credit, he says, goes to Larry Rakozy of Computer Connection, Inc. Rakozy, a Plymouth Township resident, donates not only time and expertise, Carlson says, but occasionally parts as well.

The two men have a reciprocal agreement of sorts. "The problem in this industry is finding enough qualified people," says Rakozy. "Sometimes John helps me find some from his group of students."

There seems to be no shortage at CEP. "Some of these kids are addicted to computers," Carlson says. "They stay here for hours after school, at lunchtime, whenever they can get ten minutes in here."

"People think I'm doing a great job, but it's the kids -- they're interested in being in something that's job-oriented. This is something that gives a lot of personal satisfaction."

New city emergency vehicle set to roll

PLYMOUTH CITY FIREMEN officially accepted the keys to a new, fully-equipped emergency vehicle last week. Mayor Mary Childs presented the keys to Fire Chief Roy Hall while City Commissioners Mark Wehmeyer and Ralph J. Kenyon and City Manager Henry Graper, Jr., looked on. The new emergency vehicle cost $30,000. The aluminum body is loaded with equipment to handle most any medical emergency.

Plymouth police to get new patrol car

Plymouth's Police Department will be getting a new police vehicle sometime soon.

City Commissioners passed a resolution Monday night for the purchase of a 1984 Buick LaSabre from Dick Scott Buick, in Plymouth, for $8126.

The vehicle was purchased by the dealership as a police vehicle and is powered by a six-cylinder engine.

According to City Manager Henry Graper Jr., if the city put out bids for a car of the same caliber the cost would be closer to $9100.

Currently the department is in need of three cars to replace those that have had heavy use over the past years, said Graper. That includes a Chevrolet with over 80,000 miles on it and two Plymouths that have cost the city $1500 in maintenance work in the past 45 days.

Concert to feature

MUSIC AND WHEELS

Beginning at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, July 13, the Plymouth Jaycees will present a concert and car show sponsored by the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce and the Plymouth Community Band.

The concert, set to start at 8 p.m., will feature a display of new car models by all 11 Plymouth car agencies around Kellogg Park along with a display of 400 donated bicycles provided by Bambury Group.

The concert theme is "Hello Summer" and the car show theme is "You've Come a Long Way, Buggy."

Jaycees are seeking fireworks sponsors

Plymouth Jaycees would like to make this year's Fourth of July fireworks display possible.

But they need a sponsor, or group of sponsors, to help fund the show. "This year's fireworks display is in jeopardy unless we can line up some sponsorship," says Mike Stankov, of the Jaycees.

"Unless we can find some donors, we won't be able to put on the show. And unless we can do it right, we won't do it at all."

Last year, Stankov said, the fireworks were the capstone to Fourth of July festivities and were attended by roughly 25,000 people.

Individuals or groups interested in helping to fund the fireworks display should contact Stankov at 496-1979.

Local realtors join forces

After 30 years in Plymouth, this week Dibble Realty will be joining forces with the multi-office Schweitzer Real Estate Better Homes and Gardens.

Originally known as Stark Realty, when it was located on Penniman Avenue by Schrader's Furniture, the firm was founded by Howard and Frances Stark. Sam Dibble, Sr. joined the Starks in 1962 after developing the Plymouth Colony Subdivision. The firm continued as Dibble Realty upon the Starks' retirement in 1965.

The size of the firm's original cubbyhole office - since destroyed by the Penniman Avenue fire - supported its slogan of "The Biggest Little Office in Town."

Dibble's son, Sam, Jr. joined the firm in 1969. By 1974 he became broker, manager and owner. During this period Sam, Sr. continued with the firm.

In joining Schweitzer, Dibble will be closing the present office at Ann Arbor

AL COFFIN AND SAM DIBBLE, JR.

Trail and Forest where it's been located since 1967. It is the second realtor office (along with McKeon Real Estate) to join the Sterling Heights-based Schweitzer Realty.

In affiliating with Schweitzer, Sam, Jr. will work in an associate broker capacity. His father will continue with another firm specializing in commercial and industrial real estate.

Chamber directory to be released this month

The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce's new community directory is almost ready for printing and will be available later this month, according to editor Margaret Wilson.

"It's a different tool than The Crier's Guide to the Plymouth-Canton Community," says Wilson, owner of the Penn Theatre. "It will be a tool for realtors and industry. Industry will be able to use it a lot." She adds the directory will include such items as a map of Plymouth and listings of activities, special functions and businesses.

Sparkling! Chiefs win regional crown Saturday

BY KEN VOYLES

Canton's baseball team proved it knows how to win baseball games.

The Chiefs, 28-2 on the season, exploded for six runs in the bottom of the fourth inning Saturday afternoon to grab the Class A Wyandotte Regional from Bedford, 6-2.

Canton again received two sterling pitching performances Saturday, one from Dave Malek in the regional opener with Taylor Center and the other from unbeaten Dan Smith against the Bedford Mules.

The Chiefs started the Bedford game on shaky ground and failed to produce any run scoring threats through three innings.

In the first frame, Keith Stone picked up his first hit of the game with an infield single. He went to second on a bunt by Steve Schumacher. Jeff Cousins then walked, but a strikeout and a ground out ended the inning.

Smith picked up his first strikeout of the day in the top of the second but also allowed his first hit. A ground out and pop out got him out of trouble in that frame.

Wiley wins Canton Open Golf tourney

Matthew Wiley of Canton took charge from the opening hole and posted two of the best rounds at the 2nd Annual Canton Open Golf Championships this past weekend to win with a record 147.

Wiley bested the 32-man field at Fellows Creek Golf Course with rounds of 73 and 74. That gave him a five-stroke victory in the championship flight over Canton's Rick Francis who fired two rounds of 76 for 152.

Wiley's rounds featured three briddies on Saturday and three more on Sunday including pars on No. 11 both days. He wrapped up the tourney with a 34 on Sunday's back nine.

Ramzy Taweel of Livonia and defending champion Kevin Ryan of Inskter were next with 153 and 156 totals, respectively.

Kevin Pollock and Roy Gaddey also fired 156 totals for fourth place overall.

The first flight was won by Canton's Phillip Smith who shot an 81 Saturday and recovered with a 76 Sunday for a 157. Edward Thomas of Plymouth was one stroke behind the pace with a 158 and third went to Robert Wilson also of Plymouth with a 161.

Canton keeps on the winning track

Canton went down one, two, three in the second inning on a pair of strikeouts and a fly ball.

Smith allowed a walk in the second inning and Bedford pitcher Steve Bowron allowed a walk in Canton's half of the inning but no runs were scored.

In Bedford's half of the fourth frame Smith allowed a single but got out of the inning on a pair of pop outs and a fielder's choice.

Jeff Stemberger started Canton's game winning inning when he was safe on an infield hit. Tommie Harris came in to run. Brian Capnerhurst then walked and Bill Hannis picked up a bunt single to load the bases.

Smith then struck out and Scott Bricker was walked scoring Harris. Fred Rumberger then hit a shot to right field that was dropped by the Bedford rightfielder and Capnerhurst scored.

Stone had the big blow of the inning when he smacked a triple over the centerfielder's head which cleared the bases of Canton runners.

Schumacher came up and promptly hit a single scoring Stone and Canton was ahead 6-0.

Bedford rallied in the top of the sixth inning when a single and a pair of doubles brought in two runners. With runners on first and third Smith got out of the jam when he tried to pick off the runner at third base. He was eventually run down. While that was happening Bedford's runner at first took second base and tried to go to third, but was also tagged out ending the inning and Bedford's last threat of the day.

"We started the game very very tight," said Canton coach Fred Crissey. "At no time in the game or during the season, however, did the team quit on us or themselves."

"This is a very together group. That team we played is a fine ball club," he continued. "The community has got to be very proud of these kids. They are very dedicated."

"Keith (Stone) has lettered for us for three years and he and Schumacher really really wanted to do some things for this team. When Keith got into third base after the triple he literally had tears pouring from his eyes. We are awfully pleased with this team."

If the Chiefs win their Tuesday afternoon semi-final game they will travel to Central Michigan University for the state finals.

Malek and his teammates completely shut down Taylor Center in the district opener, while tallying nine runs. Malek picked up eight strikeouts and gave up four walks.

The first of those runs came in the bottom of the third inning when Rumberger singled, Harris came in to run. He stole second base and went to third on the wild throw at second. Schumacher then walked and stole second and Cousino hit a grounder to the Taylor third baseman. His throw went wild and both Harris and Schumacher scored.

The Chiefs added three runs in the fifth inning when Rumberger singled and Stone was safe on a bunt. Schumacher then hit a bunt and Taylor got a fielder's choice at third base.

Cousino then singled to score Stone and Stemberger singled to score Schumacher. Taylor hurler Eric Woloszyk then balked to bring in the third run.

Canton scored its final four runs in the bottom of the sixth inning. Bricker started with a single. He stole second. Smith then struck out but when the Taylor catcher went to finish the strikeout, after dropping the ball, with a toss to first base, he hit Smith who was then awarded the base.

Rumberger then singled, scoring Bricker, and Stone bunt singled to load the bases. Schumacher then smacked a two-run single. When Schumacher tried to steal second the throw went wild and Stone crossed the plate from third to account for the four runs.

"We played good defense when we had to do it. That was the key in the game. Malek had a great effort and Rumberger had three hits for us," said Crissey.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH BOARD OF TRUSTEES - SPECIAL MEETING

June 2, 1981

A special workshop meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Plymouth was held June 2, 1981. Supervisor Breen called the meeting to order at 7:35 p.m. and led in the pledge of allegiance. All members were present.

The item of the contract proposal for Norman L. Dietrich Associates for the planners retainer fee was placed in the budget memorandum file for later consideration.

Proposed Ordinance 49-H was scrutinized for corrections. Insertions, deletions and additions were made with no objections from Trustees after reasons had been given or action explained in response to Trustee questions.

It was moved by Mrs. Hulsing, supported by Mr. West that the cost of Construction Water be tripled. Ayes all.

It was agreed that the Ordinance would be ready for adoption at the June 9, 1981 meeting.

A resolution relating to the depreciation rate for the DPW budget and the charge of General Government against the DPW department for services rendered was put over to the June 9, 1981 meeting.

It was moved by Mrs. Hulsing, supported by Mr. West to adjourn the meeting at 9:20 p.m. Ayes all.
