July 4th parade ready to roll

Doing anything on the Fourth of July? Well, there'll be plenty to do and see this Sunday, right here in the community, during the 1982 Fourth of July festivities scheduled in Plymouth.

Independence Day events will kick off at 8:30 a.m. with the Five Mile Run sponsored by Spartan Stores and Sportventure. According to Tom Truesdale, the run this year will be staged exclusively through residential areas of Plymouth and Plymouth Township, and through a portion of Hines Park. And he promises that problems of past races will not be an issue this year.

The race is already shaping up as the biggest and best ever, Truesdale says -- advance registration has already surpassed last year's total field of runners. The runners competing this year will also include several notable entries, including several wheelchair-bound athletes and the return of 1981 champion

Gary Wolfram of Canton, who will defend his title.

Late registration for the race begins at 7:30 a.m. in the central parking lot in Plymouth. The run will begin at 8:30 a.m., beginning at the intersection of Penniman and Harvey streets.

After the starting gun goes off, runners will follow Harvey north to Farmer, east on Farmer to Starkweather, north on Starkweather to Edward Hines

School Board okays $42.1 million budget

BY DAN BODENE

Plymouth-Canton school board members unanimously passed a balanced budget for the 1982-83 school year on Monday night, even though some crucial factors have not been decided by state legislators.

On a more positive note, the board also approved the lowest school millage rate since 1975.

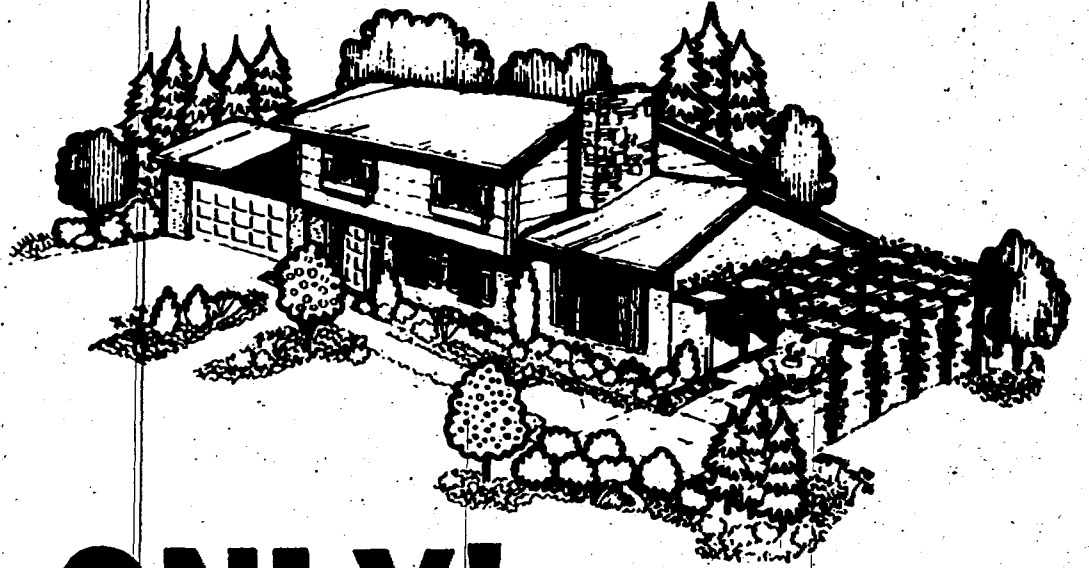

Board members adopted a general fund budget with available revenues estimated at $42,523,000 versus expenditures of $42,237,000. The Debt Fund position was slightly better, with

50 personnel decisions made

School Board shuffles staff

BY DAN BODENE

You almost couldn't tell the players without a program.

Now that most of the Plymouth-Canton district schools are closed for the summer, school board members and administrators are increasingly looking at action on personnel matters. On Monday night, for example, there were items affecting 50 people.

By the end of the Board of Education meeting, the roster of things considered or heard included one request for maternity leave of absence, three resignations, one layoff, one return from leave of absence, 38 layoff recalls, one reappointment of a school assistant principal, resolution in tribute to an outgoing school board president, certification of vote totals which provide for the reelection of one board member and the election of another, a renewal of the district superintendent's contract and the announcement of an appointment of a board member.

School board members accepted a request for maternity leave of absence from Alice Chrenko (Board President Carol Davis reported "It's twins!"); and accepted the resignations of German teacher Lynn Haire-Kline, 6th grade teacher Constance Patterson and executive Director of Finance Daniel White.

According to the board's informational packet, Haire-Kline has accepted a position with Ferndale Public Schools, while Peterson will join her husband, who has been transferred out of state. White has accepted a position with the L'Anse Creuse district, involving increased responsibilities. "He'll be dealing with busing and maintenance problems. It should be a real growing experience for Dan," said Davis

A layoff notice will be sent to Kathleen Lovernick, a half-time teacher now returning from maternity leave. Ronald South will return from a two year leave of absence to Germany, to an assistant principal's position. Superintendent John Hoben said South's contract specified such a position upon his return.

Janice Hawkins will be reappointed as assistant principal of Field School, and James Burt, who now holds the job, will also join the teaching assignment pool. The board also recalled 38 personnel who had been notified of layoff. Nine are special education teachers, 18 are classroom teachers, five are less than full time personnel, two are learning specialists, two are French teachers, one is a counselor and one is a media specialist.

Two separate board items dealt with the makeup of the board itself.

First, a resolution was unanimous-

Denski Bros. awarded Canton trash contract

BY DICK BROWN

Canton Recycling, trash hauling firm owned by Denski Bros of Canton, will continue to cart away trash from Canton township homes.

The Canton contract was up for bids and six bidders responded. The Canton Recycling bid came in considerably lower than the others at 71 cents per household per week.

Other bidders were BFI Waste Systems of Wayne at 83 cents per week; Sanitation Systems, 84 cents; Waste Disposal Authority of Michigan, Allen Park, $1.30; SCA Services of Michigan, Dearborn, 96 cents; and Waste Management of Michigan, 83 cents.

The one-year contract was approved by the board with the suggestion that extension terms beyond the one-year duration specified in the bid specifications, be negotiated.

Costs of residential trash collection in Canton township come from tax dollars.

Old Village merchants get ready for Dearie Days

Old Village merchants are polishing the plans for the annual Dearie Days, set for July 17 and 18.

The two-day celebration will feature old fashioned bargains, lots of entertainment, arts and crafts exhibits and antiques.

Canton Board agrees to fight decision of labor mediator

BY DICK BROWN

There was no indecision on the part of the Canton Township Board members June 22. Trustees voted unanimously to fight a decision of a Michigan State Labor Board arbitrator ordering the township to pay overtime that two firefighters might have earned had they not been suspended for failing to fill a water tank.

The board accepted with reluctance the decision of the arbitrator that the firefighters should be paid for the six days they were suspended and the firefighters have been paid.

The incident happened last year when the Canton department showed up to fight a grass fire and the tanker turned up empty.

The men responsible were suspended and the union filed a grievance.

In the state arbitrator's decision, the men were declared not responsible with the arbitrator claiming that they had not been directed to fill the tank.

Supervisor Jim Poole expressed astonishment at the request of the firefighters union that it was pressing for any possible overtime the two men might have lost during the suspension.

"You mean we not only pay them for the time they weren't working, but now we're supposed to pay them for overtime they might have worked, if they had been working?" he asked Dan Durack, Canton personnel director.

The amount would cost the township taxpayers a total of $200, according to Durack.

After some heated discussion, the board voted to fight the overtime issue even though it will cost $400 to go back into arbitration.

Trustee Stephen Larson led the debate on whether to fight the decision or not.

"Sometime precedents have to be established. I think we should fight this even if it costs us four times as much money as it might to settle. It will be money well spent," he said.

"It comes to a point of principles you will argue about and this is one of them," Larson added.

Supervisor Poole had something more to say about empty water tanks.

"But the real kicker," Poole told the board, "is that they found the damned truck without water again the other day."

Canton Board approves First Step architect

Canton Township trustees gave a conditional okay to First Step, an agency to assist battered spouses, to contract with an architect to remodel an existing building in Western Wayne County for temporary housing for abused women and children.

In 1980 Canton applied for a $60,000 grant from the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development for such a facility. Canton was to serve as the pass through unit of government to receive the grant and act as fiscal agent for First Step.

The grant was approved but because no adequate structure could be found, the money was never received.

Now First Step has located a home which will be large enough to shelter six women and up to 12 children.

First Step Director Gayle Mattson-Croninger appeared before the Canton Board at the June 22 meeting to request that Canton approve an architectural contract to prepare plans for the renovation.

Canton trustees were concerned about the deadline set by HUD for getting the contract off the ground. The $60,000 must be spent by Dec. 31, 1982 or the grant expires.

Trustees are seeking assurances that the township will not be obligated for any expenditure of money on the project if the timetable is not met.

As fiscal agent Canton will use the grant to pay the bills for bringing the facility up to code requirements.

City building inspector victim of cash crunch

The City of Plymouth's full-time building inspector has become one of the latest victims of the economic crunch.

Edgar Talbot, 51, Plymouth building inspector for eight years and father to eleven children, was laid off last week in an effort to squeeze a little more out of an already tight city budget.

"It's just a shame that there wasn't enough work," City Manager Henry Graper said.

"he was an excellent employee," City Engineer Ken West agreed, saying, "He's very well-qualified, and was a very good building inspector."

West will take over Talbot's duties which include building inspections for the City of Northville.

Talbot's departure brings the city building office personnel count down to three. Friday was Talbot's last day with the City.

City Commission secures outside property assessor

A Lansing firm has been recommended for the job of property reappraisal for the City of Plymouth.

City Commissioners have approved a contract with Great Lakes Appraisal Company for the complete examination of each parcel of private property within city limits to begin this summer. Property appraisals are used by state and local government to assess property taxes. Plymouth property has not been appraised since 1977.

Representatives of the appraisal firm, company president Robert Eckert and manager Dirk Ashley, appeared before the Commissioners June 21 to hear questions and comments.

According to the contract drawn up by the city, the appraisal company will notify property owners by mail of the impending project. The notices will be addressed to recipients of city water bills.

Property will be measured and the condition of the exterior will be evaluated. Appraisers will carry identification cards and will enter the home only with permission. "If they say 'we don't want you in', we don't go in," Eckert told the Commissioners.

However, he reminded the commission, access to the interior of the home is vital to a realistic appraisal.

They also assured the commission and the small group of citizens present that the data collectors employed by Great Lakes are experienced appraisers and are aware of community concerns. "If you don't have the public backing, you don't have anything," Eckert said.

Drive and east to Riverside Drive (the halfway point). Runners will then proceed south on Riverside to Ann Arbor Trail, turn west and then south onto Fairground. The route follows Fairground to Burroughs, crosses Main (Burroughs then becomes Sutherland) and follows Sutherland west to McKinley. Runners go north on McKinley to Park Place, west to Evergreen and north to Ann Arbor Trail. On Ann Arbor Trail it's east to the finish at Forest Avenue.

Participants will receive certificates for finishing the event, and trophies will be awarded to the overall winners and first three runners in each age division.

Spectators will have a short respite before the judging for the annual Bike Decorating Contest sponsored by the Plymouth Jaycettes begins at noon. Decorated bicycles of every size and embellishment will be on display at the Kroger parking lot at 240 N. Main St.

Shortly thereafter, a more somber event will begin in the green located between Plymouth City Hall and the Dunning-Hough Library. There, at 12:30 p.m. various city administrators, leading community figures and honored guests will conduct the dedication of Plymouth Rock.

At 1 p.m. the highlight of the day's events will begin, as the Jaycee Fourth of July Parade entries led by Grand Marshal Mary Childs start their trek down Main Street.

Childs, a 20-year Plymouth resident whose credentials include terms as City Commissioner and Mayor as well as involvement in innumerable community organizations, will lead a procession including bands; marching units; local, state and national officials; and other units.

Members of the Plymouth Jaycees say that units already tapped to join the parade include the Veterans of Foreign Wars Color Guard, American Legion Marching Unit, Windsor Lions Youth Band, Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps, Plymouth Community Band, police and fire Department representatives, several antique cars, a calliope, a squad of clowns and officials of the Jaycees, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, district and circuit courts, state and national offices.

The theme for this year's Jaycee Parade is "America, Michigan and Plymouth Work Together." Master of Ceremonies for the event is Dennis Campbell, station manager of Video Services Cable channel 13. Judges for the parade competition include Dick Brown, editor of The Community Crier; Bill Ventola, of Central Distributors; and Ernest Koi of the American Legion Passage-Gayde Post.

And for thirsty parade watchers, the Plymouth-Canton Junior Football League along with Paul Paron and the Plymouth Jaycettes will be serving refreshments along the parade route. That's not all: for stay-at-homes, the entire parade will be filmed by Omnicom of Michigan for live broadcast.

Immediately after the parade, antique cars will be on display from 2 to 4 p.m. Auto buffs will then have an opportunity to look over some of the examples of horseless carriage history in Kellogg Park.

Finally, the day's official agenda will be topped off by a traditional display of pyrotechnic entertainment, held over Massey Field on Plymouth Road near Haggerty.

Fred Eagle, Jaycees spokesman, says the $2,750 expense of the fireworks display has again this year been underwritten by Budweiser Beer, through Central Distributors of Taylor. Since many of the Central Distributors staff are Plymouth community residents, company president John Colina explains, "It was just natural to get involved in the Fourth of July."

The fireworks will begin at dusk, under the direction of pyrotechnician Bob Fillhart.

Parking will be available at the Burroughs Corp. parking lots at Plymouth and Haggerty Roads, as well as at other locations in the city. No parking or pedestrians will be allowed on Massey Field or in the 35th District Court lots, however -- Jaycees have reserved those spots for VIP parking.

Jaycees say thanks are in order for a host of local Fourth of July activities boosters who are making this year's events possible. As of press time, the list includes Central Distributors (Budweiser Brewing); Mayflower Hotel; City of Plymouth; Del's Shoes and Clothing; Daly's Restaurants; Plymouth Office Supply; Richard and Paul Kenzie, O.D.; William and Greg Ferman; Armbruster Bootery; John F. Vos, III; Gary L. Kreuger,

D.C.P.C.; Mary and Eric Childs; Western Electric; Dairy King; The Porter House; Schweitzer Real Estate Inc. Better Homes and Gardens; Joe West; Schrader Funeral Home; The Early American Shop, Inc.; Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith; Robert Evans, D.D.S.; Ernie Rumsby; Dunbar

All in all, it promises to be another great Independence Day in The Plymouth-Canton Community.

ly passed (with one obvious abstention) honoring outgoing Board of Education President Carol Davis. The resolution expressed the wish of the board to "pay tribute to Carol A. Davis, a sincere and steadfast friend of students, staff members and the community."

Next, the official vote totals from the June 14 school election were accepted. As a result of that election, Vice President Elaine Kirchgatter was reelected to another term and E. J. McClendon was again elected to a seat on the board. He is a veteran of previous board service, and was elected president in his first term.

The contract of Superintendent John Hoben was unanimously renewed for the 1982-83 school year, a pact that included no salary or fringe benefit increase. Hoben had requested the salary freeze in consideration of the district's financial position, according to Trustee Tom Yack.

Finally, the board heard of the appointment of Trustee Flossie Tonda as president of the Wayne County School Board Association.

All in all, it must have been a busy week for the personnel department.

2nd District GOP convention called Wednesday, Aug. 18

A call has gone out for a district convention for Wayne Second District Republicans for Wednesday, Aug. 18, at 8 p.m. at Schoolcraft college.

Delegates to the convention will be those Republican delegates elected at the Aug. 10 primary election.

Purpose of the convention is to elect delegates and alternates to the state GOP convention scheduled for Aug. 21.

For the farmers, whether they are of the full-time or backyard variety, the Country Fest board is searching for the largest tomato, squash, radish, beet or any other vegetable.

Each entry will be displayed and judged during Country Fest. Ribbons will be awarded for first, second and third place in each category.

Former resident escapes injury in plane crash

A former Plymouthite and another man escaped serious injury when they crashed their plane into the Arkansas River on June 16.

Keith "Rob" Stevens, 23, a 1977 Salem High School graduate and the son of Margaret Bidwell, of N. Territorial Rd., and Keith Stevens, of Joy Rd., was credited with keeping a cool head when the plane he was piloting malfunctioned on take off.

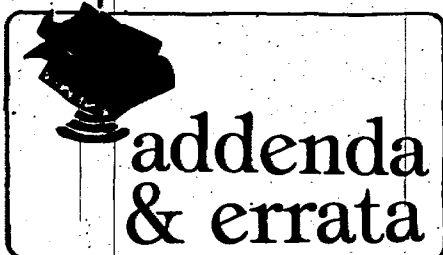

"We took off, got up to 1,200 feet and then the engine failed," Stevens said. "We had no decision other than put it in the river."

"We had to dive under the power lines," he added, explaining that the area around the Jones Airport is built up with apartments.

After landing the plane in the river, Stevens and his passenger, Charles Rothermel, swam to a nearby sandbar where they were found and rescued by search teams about half an hour after the crash.

Both men are employes of Tulsa Piper and Stevens is scheduled to graduate at the end of July with a degree in aviation maintenance.

According to Stevens, the plane was totaled and the cause of the engine failure is still under investigation.

A 14-year-old Plymouth youth has been charged with malicious destruction of property in connection with the June 5 vandalism of Strakweather School.

According to Plymouth Police Chief Carl Berry, the youngster was turned over to authorities at Wayne County Juvenile Court and has been placed at Hawthorne Center.

Plymouth police are discussing restitution and legal actions with the parents of two other youthful suspects in the incident.

A story in last week's Crier incorrectly reported that the youth charged with the crime had pleaded guilty when facing charges in 35th District Court.

Maybe the boards were too long and they couldn't cut them down.

Maybe they plan to build up the floor nine inches (and thereby replace the crumbled concrete everyone SAID would be OK under the barbecue pits).

Or maybe something got lost in the City of Plymouth Building Department cutbacks and the inspections weren't made.

Whatever the reason, the new City of Plymouth Farmers' Market building is nine inches taller than it was supposed to be.

That's nine inches taller than the permit (number 3797 which replaces lost permit number 3772) allows for.

"What difference does that make?" was the initial defense of City Manager Henry Graper.

He did, however, admit there was some concern about the effect of the unplanned height on the structure's stress so tests were run and cross braces added for strength.

This newest confusion only heightens some local folks' criticism of the building.

Purists, who've learned how to barbecue Fall Festival chicken, ribs and fish in the rain, think the roof over the lot will put smoke in their eyes during their respective days on the pits. Of course the city says that problem will be corrected by the addition of a hood and vent fans.

And, say critics, what about the heat from the barbecue?

Well, the city hasn't suggested it yet, but what about air conditioning?

One of the problems with all these added frills is that as more and more additions are crowded into what could have been a simple building, it becomes harder to squeeze the large white colonial columns on the front and back. (Since the building is a public project reimbursed by local service groups, MONEY is not one of the problems.)

And what if, in years ahead, the farmers go to market somewhere else? What then of this $60,000 monument?

The city can always use it to park the double-decker buses - another project that ranks right up with the farmers' market building.

Oh well, it's only money.

And so what about the permit problem - it's a city building and while the city says it enforces building codes for privately-owned buildings to protect the public, public buildings must be inherently all right for the public.

It's a thought...

The fund raiser for Jerry Law last Tuesday night must have been fun, all those good buddies yukking it up to raise money for his campaign to be elected as State Representative.

But why did the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees postpone its meeting for a half-hour to accommodate the bash?

This wasn't the first mistake over Law's fundraiser either. Law's campaign manager is Township Supervisor Maurie Breen, whose township-funded office number was listed as a source of fundraiser information.

Do the township trustees feel it's OK to mess with the rules? Part of what makes township government work is public acceptance of the board's decisions. It's pretty hard to take a decision seriously when the board sees fit to bend it's own rules.

Gerald Law is a Plymouth Township Trustee. Not was, or is-but-is-taking-a-leave-of-absence, but he's a trustee now. That means every other Tuesday night, of buddy Jerry and six other local folks get together to deal with township governmental policy. They decide important stuff too, like garbage collection, tax breaks for struggling new businesses, licenses and permits and it's important to a municipality that these things be decided by a competent, responsible governing body.

Now sure, it's pretty keen to have a local fella in the race, the chances of running into Jerry Law in Kroger's being pretty good. But Plymouth Township is growing too fast for the Board of Trustees to pretend this is some little teeny town with part-time government. This is the real thing guys, big tax base, paved roads and everything. We really do care about how you manage our township.

And keeping politicking from interfering with township government is something the township residents expect.

Nighttime stroller expresses unhappiness over low branches

EDITOR:

I am a late evening walker and in the evenings visibility is not too good.

I am complaining about the low hanging branches from trees on public and private properties. They are very hazardous to a six-footer.

I am referring to the area east of Main Street and south of Ann Arbor Trail and also the trees around the fountain in Kellogg Park.

Whom must I sue if I injure an eye or an ear?

PLYMOUTH RESIDENT

Religious concert was inspiring event

EDITOR:

Last Sunday my wife and I attended a religious concert program at the First Baptist Church of Plymouth where two of our former neighbors were participants.

Needless to say, as we entered the worship service, our enthusiasm seemed to have remained outside the church. But let it be gratefully acknowledged, that as active members of several different congregations during nearly 40 years, we have never witnessed nor enjoyed a more beautiful and thoroughly inspiring service.

Both the musical arrangement by Cheryl Kaye and the words of worship, alternating by Pastors William Stahl and John Elliott, were fit for royalty as well as citizens who are filled with the living spirit of democracy.

As the words were intoned for the blessing upon the President of the United States and all other leaders in authority that they may be led to seek the Truth and Justice for all God's children everywhere, the music echoed, "If my people would turn from their wicked ways..."

Had President Reagan heard such a program he would be convinced that there is no need for an amendment to the Constitution in order to see America turn to the ways that the Founding Fathers intended her to go. Here was a religious service so full of God's love for humanity that one would wish it were broadcast from the steps of our Nation's Capitol in Washington.

When will the leaders of government, and more especially in public education, realize that there is a fundamental need to combine the best from every religious practice with the spirit of democracy so our youth will have the faith they require for healthy and happy development? Democracy gives us the freedom to choose which direction we will follow. Faith in the Supreme Being teaches us to make the right choices. While democracy has the seed within itself to survive all "isms," a religious faith properly inculcated in the youth provides the nourishment necessary for life.

As an educator, I see a definite need for a certain time set aside for quiet meditation in every classroom. Such a practice, however, must be voluntary and never imposed by law. Only when teachers in the classroom are trained and able to combine the best that democratic practices allow with the moral principles that God's Nature requires of each of His children will there be a quality education in America's schools.

Thank you, neighbors Jim and Rosetta Maddick, for the lovely presentation you made possible for us to experience.

Shifting Canton teacher called a big mistake

EDITOR:

I would like to call attention to a serious mistake in process at the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. This is a decision to transfer Stephen Williams to a middle school in the district.

Mr. Williams is a social studies teacher at Canton High School. He is currently the only philosophy teacher on the staff and for good reason—he is best qualified. Mr. Williams has a bachelor's degree in political science and history, a master's degree in philosophy of education, and for the past three years has been working on a PhD degree in Education of Philosophy and Education of Psychology.

Mr. Williams' enthusiasm for teaching is unending. He has taught many sessions of summer school and night school besides teaching during the regular school year session.

Those who know Mr. Williams personally realize his special ability to work with high school students. He goes beyond the typically superficial relationship between teacher and student and helps students to learn and think and to get involved.

If Mr. Williams were to teach a conventional social studies class at a middle school his abilities would be grossly underused.

A teacher who has devoted several years of skill and enthusiasm to Canton and developed personal relationships there deserves better. I urge any citizens who want to show their support for qualified education to write the School Board or attend one of the meetings and voice your opinion of support for Mr. Williams.
STEVE SWANSON.

Canton Township is once again headed back to a state mediation of a labor problem involving "The Case of the Empty Tank Truck".

To review this long-running serial, a Canton fire truck went out on a fire with no water in the tanker. The two Canton firefighters involved were suspended for 6 days for failure to check the water supply.

The firefighters, through their union, filed a grievance and the case ended up before a state labor mediator who ordered the township to pay the two firemen for the days not worked.

That didn't make the township officials too happy, but they complied.

But the mediator's decision didn't stop there. In his infinite wisdom, the mediator said that the township should pay the pair for everytime they might have worked if they had been on the job.

This the township did not do.

Now the union, in behalf of the men, is seeking $200 in overtime payments for work that never was performed.

Faced with that Catch 22 situation, Canton trustees are going to spend around $400 to go back before the state mediator to fight off spending $200 on unearned overtime.

It's the principle of the thing, according to Canton trustees - and they are right.

Too much taxpayer money is being spent meeting the edicts of state labor mediators who are generally attorneys who can't, or don't want to, cut it on the outside and who assume powerful quasi-judicial roles safe from the vote of the people.

It's another example of bureaucracy at work. Even if Canton loses this case, trustees are right in challenging the overtime decision.

It was bad enough when the mediator told township officials in the first decision that the men involved should have been told to keep the tanker filled, therefore they should not have been suspended.

There's a postscript to this comedy. A couple weeks ago Canton firemen made another fire run with a dry water tank.

Onward and upward.

Who will lead School Board?

This will consist of a try at something I'm not particularly good at -- predictions on politics.

What I propose to do here is make a series of educated guesses about what will happen with the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education in the coming months.

Let's start with some "givens". The district is not what anyone would call in the best of shape, financially. Not that we're going the route of Alpena schools and getting out the building padlocks, but let's assume there are definitely going to be some hard decisions for the board to make. Next, let's agree that the coming school year may be a pivotal one in terms of what will follow in coming years. The decisions made in the hardest of times often have impact that goes far beyond the immediate months.

Further, it is established fact that the board is an experienced one. In the recent school election, Vice President Elaine Kirchgatter was reelected and board veteran E.J. McClendon was given the nod for another term.

OK? Here goes the part where I begin treading on thin ice.

Who will be elected president of the Board of Education tomorrow? The choice may have a lot to do with the overall direction of the district.

Let's begin with the freshman. E.J. McClendon has the distinction of being the only person to be elected president of the board upon his election

In addition

by Dan Bodenc

to a first term in office. Could he duplicate that? I don't think so: it's my feeling he really doesn't want that. I bet that McClendon will become one of the chief board advisors, because of his past experience and credentials.

Will Bill Decker be elected? I'm not quite convinced there, either. Although there have been a rash of rumors that he would resign, he's told me there is no truth to them, and I sincerely believe that Decker has become increasingly active in the advisory capacity, on the conservative side of the fence. But could he be the dark horse winner?

Glenn Schroeder, in my opinion, anchors the conservatives on the board. I don't always agree with him, but he's reasonable and consistent and gets my respect for sticking to his guns. Here's a man with the financial background and will do the job. Definitely a contender.

A board member who has been very active is Sylvia Stetz. After a year as secretary, she's very knowledgeable on board procedure, and she's spent quite a bit of time on other committees and groups. She's another one with credentials, and I hear she wants the job.

Tom Yack has been board president before. In my estimation he leads the liberal voice on district administration. He's utterly familiar with all aspects of the educational process, and more often than not has asked the kind of questions that help even us morons understand the issues. The plot thickens.

But could Flossie Tonda be the compromise candidate that everybody could live with? She's long been an advocate of solid, basic, fair educational opportunity; but more than one "liberal" cause has found a formidable ally in her.

Elaine Kirchgatter is now vice president. In my opinion she offers the most intriguing mix for qualifications. She is definitely an experienced board member. She has served in a variety of capacities. She's active in the community. She had the overwhelming support of district voters almost three weeks ago. And contrary to our slight misgivings about her aggressiveness, mentioned in our candidate endorsements, she has shown a redoubled willingness to get in and fight. Could this be our next board president?

At least we don't have long to wait to find out.

Canton diamond squad puts on a great show

Under thunderclouded skies, The Plymouth-Canton Community had a tremendous bright spot last week.

In vying for the state Class A baseball championship, the Canton Chiefs and their fans demonstrated once again that our community keeps good sportsmanship and aggressive competitiveness on an even keel.

Although the final score saw the Chiefs fall short, it took to the final strike before Midland could breathe a sigh of relief and claim the crown.

Even when they were down 5 to 0, our valiant diamondmen hung in there keeping the pressure on. To come back within range like they did is a credit to their competitive spirit.

And then to take the loss like men, wiping away the tears and shaking hands with the victors, the Chiefs showed what good sportsmanship is all about.

The fans at the final game did our community proud as well.

Good going Chiefs! We'll win it next year and there's certainly nothing to be ashamed about in this year's performance.

It's an old story to Dave Brown

Truck ripped off for second time

When David Brown heard his truck start up last Thursday night, he knew something unpleasant was happening all over again.

Brown, co-owner of Precision Gulf at the corner of Main and Starkweather, felt the same way the first time his 1976 Ford four-wheel drive had been stolen, in February 1981.

"I was out on business that night in the car," Brown explained. "My wife heard it start up and watched it drive away. She thought it was me, but then she decided to give me a call."

Sure enough, when Joanne Brown called the station, she found out her husband hadn't taken the truck. That night he reported his pick-up stolen.

Two weeks later, as Brown drove along Wayne Road near his home, a very familiar 1976 Ford pick-up truck bounced by going the other way. "I think I burned about 20,000 miles of rubber off those tires turning around," he said.

As he chased the suspect, Brown hollered out the window for someone to call the police and as the chase drew up near Ann Arbor Road and Main Street, the police pulled up to wait at the Daly's restaurant on the corner. The suspect pulled into the parking lot and walked into the restaurant before police took him into custody.

In the two weeks the truck had been gone, the thieves had removed many parts for resale and had it retitled by the Secretary of State under a different serial number. "It took three months to get it back from the police," Brown said of his truck, "then it took another two months to get it back together. It was torn up pretty bad."

Then just as Brown and his truck had gotten to know each other again, it was stolen again. As Brown sat in his service station last Thursday night figuring his daily check list, he heard his truck start and ran out in time to see it driven away. "I told Mike (co-owner Mike Hewer) to get the wrecker and chase the guy and I called the police."

Hewer chased his partner's truck to the Lawson's store at Harvey and Penninen where he was met by Plymouth Police moments after the thief leaped from the truck and fled. Suspect Jimmy-John Myers of Blanche Street was taken into police custody two blocks from the scene.

Library offers program

Computer Pix '82, a program for young adults ages 14 and up, is being held at the Dunning-Hough Library this summer.

The program will use a computer to match those participating with books.

For more information call the library at 453-0750.

WSDP will present National Radio Theatre program

WSDP, the radio station that serves The Plymouth-Canton Community, is one of more than 300 radio stations across the country that carries the Peabody Award-winning National Radio Theatre series.

In its third week of summer broadcasting, WSDP will air the Underground Golf Course on Tuesday, July 6, from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m.

The Underground Golf Course itself was winner of the National Federation of Community Broadcasters Program Award. This combination of comedy and fantasy centers around a young, aspiring writer who earns a living by caddying at a public golf course.

One of the boy's main customers is a loud, boorish golfer who never misses an opportunity to belittle his caddy. Their game evolves into a fantasy in which the world becomes a golf hall.

National Radio Theatre plays will be presented every Monday from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. on WSDP. In coming weeks, plays to be aired include The Dark Tower, a saga of romance and heroism starring Michael York that will be broadcast on July 12; and on July 19 LaRonde, a satire on the middle class Viennese society.

htk MONTEREY

The locally produced musical play, "Monterey" is going on the road.

Currently undergoing some writing revision by its Plymouth author, Ed Draugelis, the show will be included in the upcoming season of the Grand Rapids Community Theater. Andrew Henderson, of Canton, scored the love story which made its debut amidst local hoopla in April.

COMPUTER DAY CAMP

FOR STUDENTS ENTERING FIRST THROUGH TWELFTH GRADES
TWO WEEK SESSIONS 1 1/2 HOURS A DAY, MONDAY THROUGH THURSDAY
Begins Monday, Aug. 2 - Runs through Thursday, Aug. 12

The CEC's Computer Day Camp is an opportunity for children entering first through twelfth grade to learn computer programming in a small group setting. Class size is limited to ten students, with no more than two students per computer.

WHAT IS THE CEC?

Bruce Alatalo and Anne Wood-Alatalo, teachers in the Plymouth-Canton Schools, opened the Computer Education Center this year in response to the scarcity of opportunities to learn about microcomputers in a small group setting. As classroom teachers we know the importance of individual attention and hands-on experiences.

Our Computer Day Camp is just another way for us to bring the knowledge of computer technology into children's lives.

We believe that computer experiences help children learn to think in a logical and systematic way, apply creative problem-solving techniques, and prepare them to survive in an increasingly technological world.

SCHEDULE

SECTION I 9:00 - 10:30 a.m.	GRADES 10th, 11th, 12th	SECTION III 10:30 - 12:00 a.m.	GRADES 7th, 8th, 9th

Community seniors like new SEMTA program

Residents of Tonquish Creek Manor in Plymouth and Royal Holiday Cooperative Motor Home Park in Canton Township are participating in a new SEMTA transit program that began operation last November.

The program, called site-to-site, enables groups of 10 or more senior citizens to travel at the same time every day or every week from their home to any location within a six-mile radius and back home again.

"I've always thought that the CONNECTOR small bus program was a wonderful service for seniors," said Pat Grootick, resident at Tonquish Manor. "but this program shows me that SEMTA really aims its services at meeting the needs of its patrons. Not only can I call the CONNECTOR for my occasional trips alone, but I can also rely on it coming to the Manor every Tuesday to take me and my neighbors to Westland. I may not use the service every day or every week, but I'm certainly glad that it is there if I need it. Although I have a car, I rely on the CONNECTOR when the weather is bad."

"We really love the CONNECTOR service," said Doris Ramage, 13-year resident manager of the Royal Holiday Cooperative Motor Home Park in Canton. "It's a real Godsend for our residents who don't drive and it's a real selling point for attracting new residents to the park."

2 Plymouth residents work for nuclear freeze

Nuclear weapons freeze activists are busy in and around Plymouth-Canton. Area residents Johanne Fechter of Plymouth and Lee Riehling of Northville were doers for the cause as they joined hundreds in Lansing May 26 to present petitions for the issue to be placed on the ballot. But they didn't stop there.

On June 12 Riehling and her husband attended a rally in New York City at the UN

Fisher luncheon set

A noon luncheon honoring 36th District Republican House candidate Ron Fisher will be held July 6 at the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

The 36th District includes the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, most of Canton, City of Northville and Northville Township.

Special Session on Disarmament which attracted 750,000 people. In July she will spend two weeks in Germany with representatives of the United Church of Christ, meeting with German church leaders. The group will discuss the church's role in peacemaking. She will return July 15 to report to the Northwest Suburban Committee for the Nuclear Weapons Freeze on her experiences.

Fechter attended a portion of the Physicians for Social Responsibility Symposium in San Diego early in June where the national president, Dr. Helen Caldicott, spoke of the long road to security and about our children's future.

The Northwest Suburban Committee for the Nuclear Weapons Freeze plans a public meeting for mid-October. For information call Johanne Fechter at 455-2149 or Lee Riehling at 349-8243.

Milliken declines Cow Chip Fling bid

Canton Country Festival's Cow Chip Fling won't have Gov. William Milliken doing any tossing in open competition.

Capt. Art Winkel, chairman of the Cow Chip Fling, received a letter from Gov.

Milliken expressing his regrets. It goes like this:

Dear Capt. Winkel

One of the joys of public life, soon to be denied me, is the reception of invitations to participate in such events as the second annual Cow Chip Fling Invitational which is part of the Canton Country Festival.

I realize that this is my last chance to participate in an endeavor planned by the fertile minds of the Canton leadership, but I fear that my talents do not measure up and that my clumsy efforts might besmirch the reputation of your community.

I have therefore designated to represent me a true talent, a man whose abilities match the challenge of your contest. He is Robert Law, a man I believe you know, a member of my staff and, coincidentally, a former member of the legislature.

His talents have made him a legend in his own mind. I am sure he will do well and that you will be well served in having him.

School Board agrees to lawn mower purchase

Can you save thousands of dollars just by cutting the lawn differently?

That's what Plymouth-Canton Community Schools maintenance personnel intend to do.

At Monday night's Board of Education meeting, more than one head was turned at a resolution for a $15,000 expenditure for a tractor, following on the heels of a depressing presentation on the district budget.

However, Assistant Superintendent for Business Ray Hoedel was quick to point out that because the new mower can cut a 15-foot swath instead of the five-foot swath cut by an old mower, the district saves approximately $8,000 per year in direct labor costs. That means the new tractor all but pays for itself in two years, Hoedel said.

The new tractor will be used at Centennial Education Park and should last at least 10 years, Hoedel added.

Old Village makes plans for Dearie Days celebration

For the 11th year, the Old Village Association will present the Dearie Days Festival on Saturday, July 17 and Sunday, July 18. Dearie Days, a return to the Gay Nineties.

Dearie Days will feature entertainment throughout the two days, a petting farm, pony rides, hay rides, refreshments, kissing booth and old-fashioned contests including a Kiddie Kookie contest, mustache. There will be an old-fashioned dress contest, Gay Nineties swimming suit contest and craft demonstrations.

Each of the more than 50 shops in Old Village will have a special of the day advertised in their windows.

There will be arts and crafts and antique displays and flea market booths.

Maxwell makes its last run

BY DAN BODENE

John T. Maxwell's love of steam faded a little more into memory almost two weeks ago, as the tracks that guided his trains were begun to be pulled up.

Alice Maxwell, his widow, remembers with fondness the urge that led to the creation of one of the most popular stopping places for folks visiting the area in the 1950s and 1960s. "He loved steam," she says. "His dad gave him a steam engine when he was a boy and he just loved it. He liked people, too."

On his farm in Canton on Joy Rd., John T. Maxwell had great occasion to put steam to work for him. "Mr. Maxwell did everything here at one time or another," Alice says. "I've lived here since 1934 and since then we had raspberries, chickens, everything." Those endeavors often called for a tractor, and Mr. Maxwell's preference was for - you guessed it - steam engines.

But the steam tractor wasn't all that interested Mr. Maxwell. Apparently, all his life he remembered the one his father had bought him and in 1957 he had a chance to buy another. A little bigger, though.

That summer Mr. Maxwell hauled home on a flatbed from Fremont, Ohio an 1,800 pound miniature steam locomotive, a flatbed car and a few ties and feet of track. Alice remembers that a particularly thorny problem at first was not to get the engine running - Mr. Maxwell could do that easily enough - but rather where to get more track.

Finally, she says, he found a source of the right supply. And soon enough about 5,000 feet of track arrived at the Maxwell Farm from its previous resting place in a West Virginia coal mine.

Mr. Maxwell's first engine lasted about a year. "He kept the whistle, sandbox and boiler, then rebuilt a new engine," Alice recalls. "He did it all by hand, and it took about a year." (By that time Mr. Maxwell was operating a mill and machine shop.)

Once the second locomotive was inaugurated on the rails, a kind of local legend was born. One of the first "engineers" besides Mr. Maxwell was his son Russ (who now operates the machine shop). Outfitted in overalls and cap since he was barely able to walk, Russ soon was allowed to pilot the train himself. And although there were some that doubted the ability of the boy, Alice says Mr. Maxwell flatly shrugged them off. "Let him go," he said. "he knows almost as much about running that train as me," she remembers her husband stating. The "Maxwell Railroad" featured rides on Sundays (but only after church), holidays and for special occasions. Alice remembers, "At first, all we had was people interested in steam. Then people saw how much fun we were having." But steam was steam, and carried some now-funny risks.

The length of the train seemed to grow in direct proportion to its popularity. "We had people from everywhere, California to the eastern states," Alice explains. "When they'd visit Plymouth, they'd stop by the Maxwell Railroad. We used to take a lot of church groups for rides. There were 400 the last time, in 1976. Then Mr. Maxwell had a stroke and had to quit. He passed away in 1977."

Since the railroad halted operations, it was stored in a special shed on the Maxwell Farm. The Maxwell family, which used to visit the annual steam show in Montpelier, Ohio (it has since moved to Wauseon) for years, has even slacked off a bit there, too. "I used to spend the week there," Alice says. "I lived in a trailer, and helped out with things at the show."

Finally, Russ Maxwell began uprooting most of the track two weeks ago. Some of the wooden trestles were deteriorating rapidly and it was felt that it was just matter of time before someone got hurt. "It's kind of sad to be taking it down though, says Russ.

All is not lost, however. The entire train is still in that shed, "And it wouldn't take much to get it running," Alice says with a twinkle.

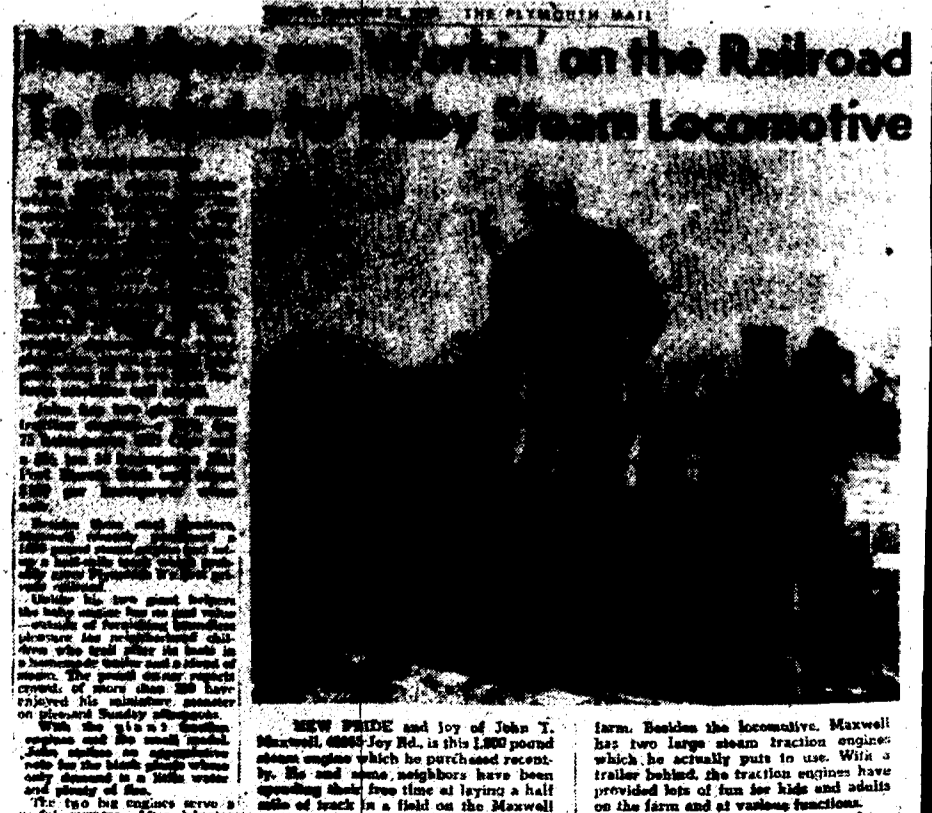

And Russ still has those little coveralls and hat.

IN ITS HEYDAY, the railroad was a favorite spot for visitors to the area, to drop in for a ride. Mr. Maxwell here opens 'er up for a pair of delighted passengers. (Photo by Ed Folk, courtesy of Alice Maxwell)

THE RAILROAD attracted its share of press coverage in years past--here's a story which was printed in the now-defunct Plymouth Mail.

School budget approved, some factors unknown

estimated revenues of $3,482,491 versus expenditures of $2,293,662.

Superintendent John Hoben explained that the balanced budget is still a long way from finality, however.

Hoben said a crucial and so-far-unresolved factor is what the state aid bill currently in the legislature will mean to the district's revenues. The bill, which is expected to be passed on Sept. 15, may cost the district between $300,000 and more than $1 million, Hoben said, depending on what compromises are made between proposals from the legislature and from Governor William Milliken.

According to Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business, state aid has already dwindled from approximately $430 per student in 1979-80 to approximately $117 per student this year.

State Equalized Valuation (SEV) figures aren't set yet, adding to the confusion. Hoedel says the SEV has increased about an average of 16 per cent over the last five years, but only went up 4.2 per cent this year. That has a dramatic impact on revenues, Hoedel adds.

Enrollment figures which affect staffing are also still uncertain. Hoben said Monday that pupil counts are within 15 or 16 of last year's figures. "My feeling is that we are going to have about the same number of (personnel) recalls, but that there will be a larger list of permanent layoffs."

Yet another uncertainty is on the number and severity of executive order cutbacks. Hoben said that although the district has so far weathered one cutback and has budgeted for two more (all three total approximately $285,000), there may be another large one subtracted from the August state aid allotment.

The list of unsettled factors goes on. Still unanswered are questions of interest rates, delinquent taxes, contract negotiations, arbitration cases, delayed state aid payments and workers compensation costs.

Hoedel says the district has taken steps to deal with mounting budget pressures. Expenditures increased only 1.5 per cent for the coming year, chiefly because of projections for no age increases, no grade realignment costs and a reduction in the number of schools on Extended School year.

On the other hand, Hoedel says, revenues have only increased approximately one tenth of one per cent.

For now the budget is balanced, says Hoben. Monday night he offered one more cautionary note - due to the use of most of the projected fund balance from the 1981-82 year in the new budget, the district will have less than $300,000 by the end of next year for a fund balance.

One of the few brighter moments in the district financial picture was the adoption of the most modest school millage rates since the 1975-76 school year. Board members approved a 1982 tax levy at a total of 37.50 mills. Although the operational levy of 35.26 mills represents an increase of .25 mill from last year, the debt retirement levy of 2.24 mills dropped .75 mill.

Overall, the district financial picture apparently remains on hold until at least a few more of the uncertainties can be resolved.

Plymouth C of C starts membership campaign

Linda Anderson, executive director of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, has announced the Chamber's 1982 Membership Drive. The Chamber has designated July as its New Member Month and expects to add one hundred new members to its organization.

For many years, the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce has been dedicated to the continued economic growth of the community and the preservation of those unique qualities that make living, working, and participating in the Plymouth Community so enjoyable, according to Anderson.

Under the direction of Committee Chairman Michael Pollard, the Chamber will seek new members from all segments of the community to insure its continued success. Because the Chamber offers a unique forum in which business people and industrialists, can join together to express common concerns, the Chamber is anticipating a successful membership drive.

Ms. Anderson can be contacted at 453-1540 for additional information.

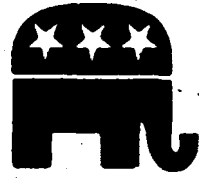

P.A.C.T. seeks funding with July 3 car wash

The Plymouth Area Citizen's Teams (P.A.C.T.) which patrols the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township areas with CB-equipped private vehicles are holding their first fund raising event.

A car wash will be held on Saturday, July 3, from 10:00a.m. to 4:00p.m. in the parking lot of Friendly's Family Restaurant on the corner of Ann Arbor Road and Lilley Road.

The donation is $2.50 per car or pick-up. A donation of $3.50 will get a van or pick-up with camper washed.

From One Republican To Another:

- Like a night at the DRC, most politically-active community leaders are jockeying to pick a winning County Executive Candidate, and without exception, most have their money on the nose of one of the Democrats.
- As a news writer covering county politics I find it amazing that the very persons complaining the most about county assessments and labor contracts are the ones ready, willing, and able to replace what they have with more of the same.
- In 1974 the county budget was $360 million and the 7,000 county employees cost $90 million. Today the county budget is $286 million and the 4,000 county employees cost you $122 million. Union-backed Democrats have provided you with less service and more salaries at the negotiating table. The famous "manning clause" in the Deputy Sheriff contract, negotiated by union teams -- one for you and one for them -- just cost you $5 million this year and the loss of the road patrol.
- Even the Democratic national leaders are trying to disassociate themselves from the union because of these very problems. Think BEFORE you vote, then...

Consider Republican Candidate No. 137 on the ballot

Canton Library offers Computer Pix program

A summer program called Computer Pix will be offered by the Canton Public Library beginning July 1 for young adults ages 14 to 18.

The program is designed to match a person's reading interests with a list of books stored in the computer's data base. Those participating in Computer Pix will fill out a short questionnaire indicating their areas of interest—science fiction, mystery, romance. This information will then be run through the computer and a printout of up to 20 book titles will be ready for them in about 10 days.

Complete details can be obtained at the library or by calling 397-0999.

The first 10 placers will also receive T-shirts featuring the winning logo.

Contest rules, as outlined by the Canton Library Board, call for a design which captures the spirit of the Canton Public Library and its services.

The design should include a figure or motif which should become identifiable with the library.

The design should be clean and clear and entries should be original and copyright-free.

The contest is open to all Canton residents, amateur and professional, and there is no age restriction, no limit on the number of individual entries. Canton Public Library employees and members of the library board and their respective immediate families are not eligible.

A LIGHTER MOMENT is shared by Timothy Rybkz and Jerilyn (Hindman) Massengill.

Class of '72

Welcome back, grads!

Members of the Plymouth High School Class of 1972 had a chance recently to see what has become of their classmates, 10 years after picking up their diplomas.

On June 19 more than 300 class members converged on the Plymouth Hilton Inn for their reunion, coming from as far away as Hawaii (Tim Porter shared Traveled Furthest honors with two California residents) and as close as Plymouth itself. Diane (Williams) Bacon, one of the Reunion Committee organizers of the event, said the year-long effort to make the bash a reality was well worth it. "It was a total success," she said. "We had a real nice program, with a flag presentation, music by a disc jockey who played some old favorites, and a sit-down dinner. It was a great night."

Along with food, drink and renewing old acquaintances, a highlight of the evening was the presentation of awards. Denise (Downey) Powell was named Person Married the Longest; Joe Gray and Leona (Passons) Smolinski shared the Most Children Award, with four each; and Phil Catlett was recognized with the Eager Beaver Award for sending in his reunion information first.

Besides Hawaii resident Porter, Person Traveling Furthest honors went to Californians Sharon (Foster) Bezier, Tim Rybka and Brian Godwin.

Strangest Occupation awards were shared by several classmates of '72. Ron Gill is now a dairy farmer, Gerry Edwards works as an aviation instructor, Lewis James is a special agent for the Department of Defense, Dan Holt (who was celebrating his 6th wedding anniversary that night) is now a port captain, and Sue (Cobeleskie) Bartlett has achieved fame as the first woman pipelayer in the state of Idaho.

Bacon added the party was such a success because of the tireless efforts of fellow committee members Terese (Kulick) Whitten, Linda (Barr) Jener, Carol (Cronin) DeWitt, Becky (Tillotson) Krohn, Sue (Messerly) Riley and Debbie (McAllister) Osterhout.

P.S.: Any volunteers for the next reunion?

ATTENDANCE at the Plymouth High Class of 1972 Reunion was quite a bit greater than expected. Ross DeMerritt, one of the returning classmates, here joins a conversation at the celebration, which was held at the Plymouth Hilton Inn. DeMerritt is now an engineer and consultant now working in Chicago, Ill.

JIM GRIMMER here exchanges shoe talk with another reunion guest. Grimmer is now a Livonia resident who works as an industrial education teacher.

THIS LIGHTEARTED GROUP consists of, from left, Michele DuBach, who works as a radio news director and reporter in Virginia; Sue Stewart; Nanette (Marceau) Lareay, who is a business education teacher in Brooklyn; and Brooke (Siefker) Sheer, who is a student but nonetheless finds time to run a day care center.

MARK JAMES ALBRIGHT of Romulus was visiting his cousin, Todd Cameron of Canton, when he really got into the spirit of the June 24 concert's "March Music. So...

A LITTLE DANCING to the music...

NEVER HURT anybody...

COMMUNITY BAND CONCERTS often provide more than just an opportunity to listen to music.

Here's a schedule for the Plymouth Community Band

- JULY 1: "Old Freedom" -- a program of patriotic music, featuring "American Civil War Fantasy," "America the Beautiful," a host of Sousa marches and a finale of "1812 Overture."
- JULY 8: "Midsummer Night's Dream" -- featuring fantasy selections
- JULY 15: "The Speaker of the House" -- including narration and vocal solo by Carl Grapentine of WQRS radio (and the voice of the University of Michigan Marching Band)
- JULY 22: "Name That Tune" -- a selection of familiar music whose origins are not popularly known.
- JULY 29: "Kellogg's Snap, Crackle and Pops" -- the Community Band Pops concert, featuring soloist Mike Chiumento performing Haydn's "Concerto for Oboe."

SO WHY NOT have some fun?

Crier photos by Robert Cameron

CONDUCTOR Carl Battishill no doubt has a lot to keep track of in his duties as leader of the band. But not much escapes his practiced eye.

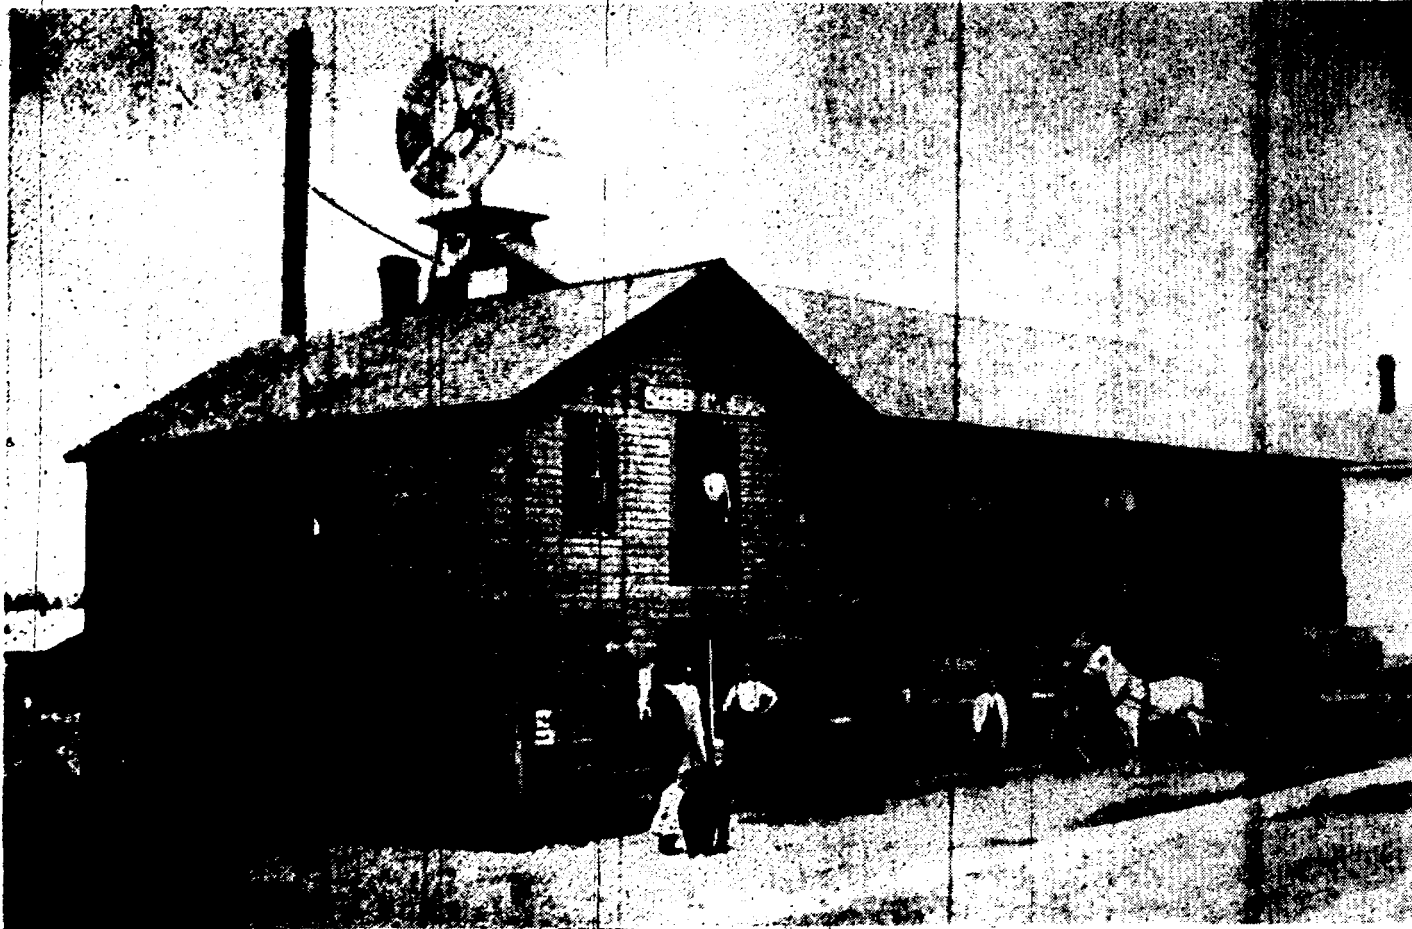

LLOYD ABDELNOUR of Dearborn Heights tunes up before the performance.

GOOD MUSIC makes for a stroll through the park, especially since most of the good seats were taken. Community band concerts have long been crowd-pleasers on Thursday nights in Kellogg Park.

glimpse at yesterday

Early Plymouth industry

MAINSTAY OF PLYMOUTH INDUSTRY back in 1876 was the C. H. Bennett Fanning Mill factory. The product was a hand-cranked fanning mill for separating the chaff from the hand-flailed grain. The factory was still in operation as late as 1898 and the building which stood on the corner of Main and Union Street was torn down in 1984.

Cong. Bill Ford to mark birthday with picnic bash

Live music, games, contests, door prizes and gifts for children will highlight the 1982 Congressman William Ford Birthday Picnic set for July 31 at VanBuren Park in VanBuren Township.

Cancelled in 1981 because of scheduling conflicts, the old-fashioned country-style picnic will run from noon to 6 p.m.

All residents of the 15th Congressional District, both those from the old and the new, are invited to attend, according to Picnic Chairman Harry Brunner. A portion of Canton Township is in the 15th District.

In past years, from 6,000 to 8,000 people have showed up at the picnic to honor Cong. Ford and munch on hotdogs, kielbasa, popcorn and corn on the cob. Beer and soft drinks are also provided.

Picnickers will be charged $10 per carload, with a maximum of seven people per vehicle. Senior citizens will be admitted for a reduced fee of $2.

Cadet promoted

Cadet Stephen Geisler, Plymouth, has been promoted to cadet staff sergeant at the nation's only U.S. Marine-oriented college preparatory school, Marine Military Academy, Harlingen, Texas.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Geisler of Plymouth.

He earned the promotion in recognition of his performance in the academic, military and athletic programs at the academy.

Mayflower Hotel has a big week

The Mayflower Hotel's Meeting House has asked the state for an addition to their Class C liquor license. An entertainment permit held in conjunction with the present 1982 Class C with dance permit license will permit dinner theater at the Meeting House.

"This will enable us to contemplate dinner theater in the future," explained Scott Lorenz of Lorenz Enterprises, owners of the Mayflower complex.

"There is a fine line somewhere that says we have to have this permit if there is dialogue between two or more people up on a stage," he went on. "a one man show wouldn't count."

The Plymouth Commissioners approved a resolution to recommend to the state that the license be approved.

Mayflower addition christened at party

THE MAYFLOWER II addition announced its opening with a weekend-long celebration topped with a Grand Opening tour and reception Monday night. The addition "is a project that reflects private enterprise and municipal Government working together," Plymouth mayor Eldon Martin said.

"The Lorenz family has vision, courage and the desire to improve our downtown." Below, revellers Fred Hill, well-known local clothier, and Sandy Young, the mermaid to his left, enjoy the hospitality of the Mayflower Hotel at the reception. (crier photos by Robert Cameron)

Compiles 242 years of Papal Encyclicals

Sister Claudia conducts study

BY KALLIE BILA

In today's profit-seeking, money-crazed world, there is still one woman who, without reservation or personal monetary gains, has devoted most of her life working for others.

Sister Claudia Carlen calls her work "a response to a need," but others, such as the Catholic Standard in Washington, D.C., describe her latest accomplishment, the combination of the papal encyclicals, "one of the most historically important (ventures) in Catholic publishing."

Papal encyclicals, she explained, are letters from the Pope to the bishops around the world bearing "messages" that everyone should know about.

"(They) kept the unity of faith and let people know what was going on . . . they showed the Pope cares about the people," she added, explaining that topics such as unemployment and escalating crime have been discussed in the 242-year-old practice.

Her quest for unifying the documents, which, until now have never been completely translated into English, began 25 years ago when she sent a letter to the Catholic Library World, a monthly publication, discussing the need for the coalescence.

"It's still hard for me to believe that this has not been done before, it's such an obvious need," she said, referring primarily to her experience at Marygrove College. It was there, during her career as a librarian, that she realized students had a difficult time researching the encyclicals.

Sister Carlen became interested in becoming a nun during her high school years and entered St. John's Provincial Seminary, Plymouth, to study languages. (she is literate in Latin, Spanish, German and French).

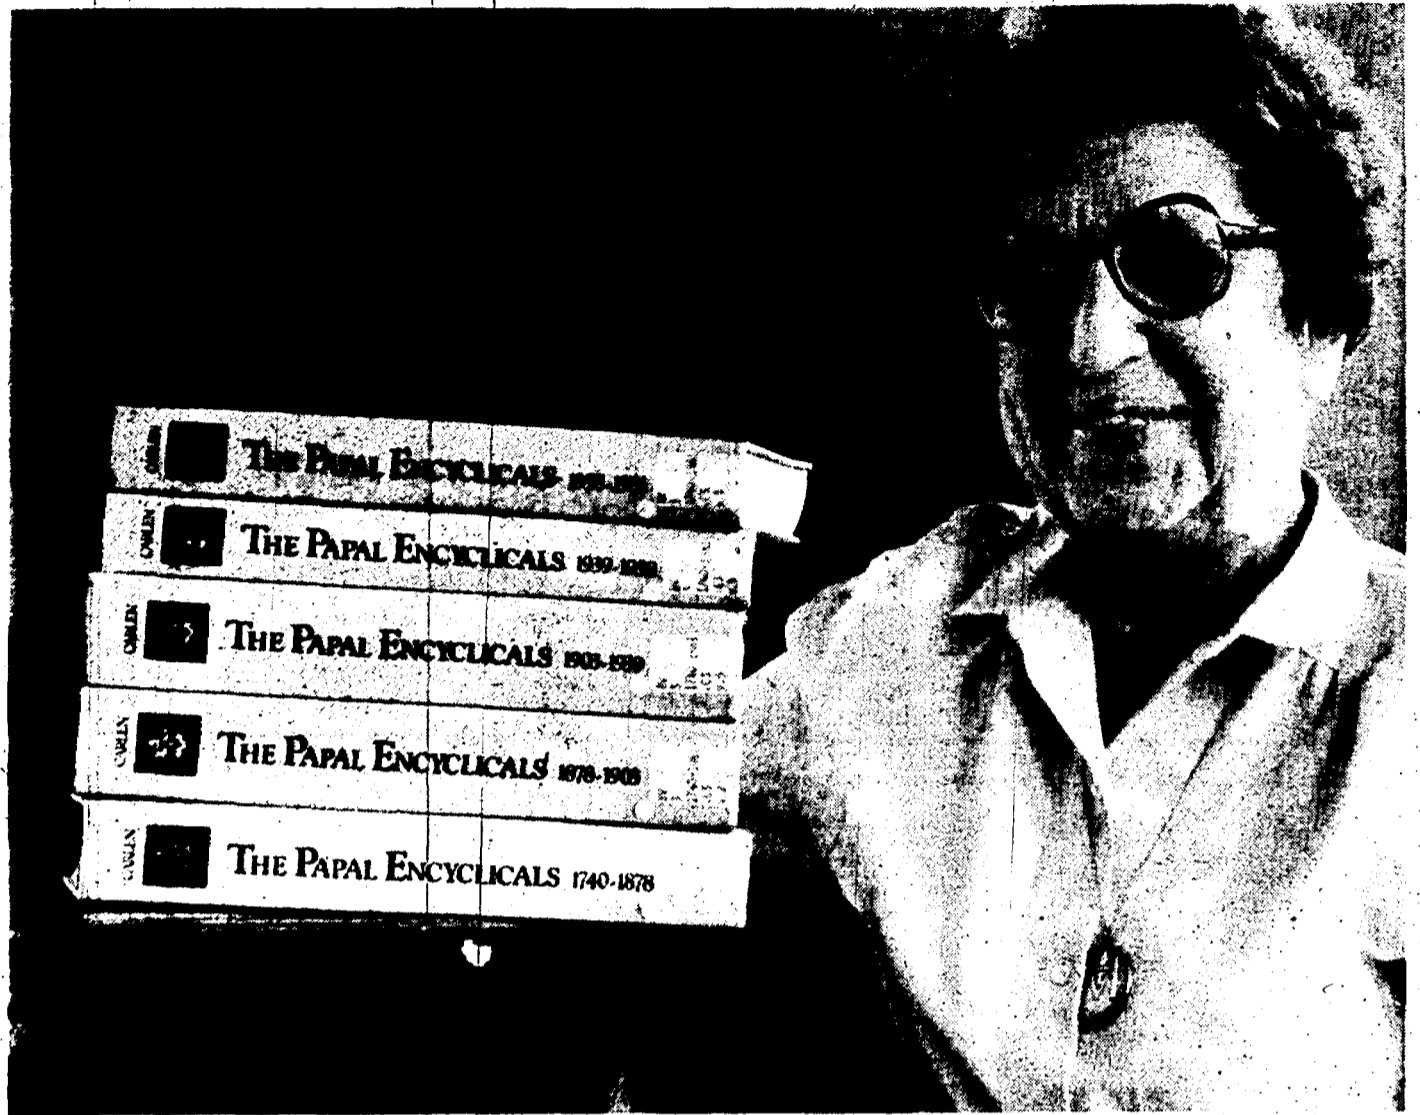

She went on to library work at University of Michigan where, although she enjoyed her studies, she had little choice in the matter.

"In those days (the church) would strongly suggest things for you to go into," she said.

After graduation she became assistant librarian at Marygrove College, and soon became aware of the students' difficulty in researching the encyclicals for their religion classes.

Before she began to write and publish her works, Sister Carlen again attended U of M, obtaining a master's degree in library science.

Sister Carlen has lived at St. John's Seminary for 11 years now, nine as the head librarian, one as administrative assistant to

SISTER CLAUDIA CARLEN here shows the product of almost 25 years of work -- the compilation of Papal Encyclicals. Until Sister Carlen began her work, the encyclical (letters from the Pope to bishops around the world, bearing messages that were to be distributed) had never before been completely translated into English. Of great help was her command of languages: she is literate in Latin, Spanish, German and French. And the effort did not go unrewarded. Recently, sister Carlen was able to personally deliver the collection to Pope John Paul in Rome. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron) the rector and currently as a "scholar in residence."

She recently traveled to Rome to personally deliver her collection of papal encyclicals to Pope John Paul.

"He was very happy to have them, and he gave us his blessing," she said, recalling her excitement.

"While talking to us, he had held my hand," she said, laughing. "I didn't even realize it until I saw a picture of us taken by the photographer."

At St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church

Janice Murphy and James Alves wed

St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Westland was the setting for the recent morning wedding of Janice R. Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Murphy of Plymouth, and James K. Alves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Alves of Clare.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a candlelight satin gown with a cape affect trimmed in chuny lace with a chapel train. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of dusty rose and ecru silk flowers. She carried a bouquet of complimenting flowers made by her matron of honor.

Gail Bupp, sister of the bride from Greensburg, Pa., was her matron of honor. Lynn Henry, Sandra Powell of Plymouth and Kathy Ciment of Florida were her bridesmaids. All wore dusty rose crepe floor-length skirts with high-collared ecru old-fashioned blouses. They carried bouquets to tone of silk flowers made by the bride.

Assisting the bridegroom were Robert Alves, as best man, Donald and Terry Alves of Westland and William C. Murphy, brother of the bride from Dallas, Tex., as ushers. Daniel J. Marlow, nephew of the bride from Livonia, was ringbearer.

For the ceremony and buffet reception at the church parish hall both mothers wore street-length dresses. Mrs. Murphy's was a silk print of pink and dusty rose and Mrs.

Alves wore a pale blue silk jacket dress. Both had wrist corsages.

The couple traveled to Toronto for the honeymoon. They will make their home in Plano, Tex. The new Mrs. Alves received her N.C.D.A. in February. Her husband is employed by Ewing Buick dealership in Dallas.

Animal control costing taxpayers plenty

Canton planning dog crackdown

BY DICK BROWN

Canton Township is going to the dogs—or rather a lot of Canton Township taxpayer money is going to the dogs.

Red Cross needs more blood donors

Summer is the time when the living is easier for many people, but for some people summer means more injuries and more sickness. Summer also means that there is a greater need for Red Cross Blood donors.

That's the situation Red Cross Blood Center officials battle in the summer when donors tend to take a vacation from giving blood.

On Friday, July 23, the Red Cross will be accepting blood from donors at Oakwood Hospital Canton Center from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m.

For appointment donors should call Joan Petroske at 7030.

That was the assessment of Canton Police Chief Jerry Cox at the June 22 Canton Board meeting, as he sought direction from the board on how to handle the licensing and enforcing of the Canton animal control ordinance.

Chief Cox told the board that he had appeared several times over the last three years to point out the problem and was in need of some direction as to how he should proceed.

The chief pointed out that the township had spent $40,000 on animal control in 1981, a figure that is way above the amount of money taken in in dog license fees.

"Between January, 1979, and December, 1981, only 2,500 dog licenses were issued in Canton while the estimates of the number of dogs at 12,000," Cox said.

Chief Cox proposed that a home by home census of dogs be undertaken as a preliminary to a program of enforcement of the dog license provisions of the township ordinance.

He also emphasized that it wasn't just the loss of dog licensing revenue that posed the problem but that without licensing there is very little control over the enforcement of state laws requiring rabies vaccination of animals as a prerequisite for a dog license.

"We've spent nearly $135,000 on animal control, excluding damage claims for which state law obligates the township, Chief Cox said, "and have collected only $12,000 in dog license fees.

"I am sure that people in Canton who don't have dogs do not appreciate these imbalances," he concluded.

After hearing the report, Supervisor Jim Poole said, "The state law requires us to do this. Now do we want him to go back and come up with a plan, or not?"

The board agreed that the chief should prepare a plan for canvassing and licensing of all dogs housed within Canton Township and report that plan back to the board for approval.

Early Canton families left rich heritages

BY CHARLES ZAZULA

John Denski, Sr., depicted an American story of rags to riches through hard work. John was a yard man at Belleville's French Landing plant. The company hauled garbage from Detroit, made fertilizer from it and sold the product to local farmers.

John and Stella moved to Plymouth in 1931 with three children. He went into the junk yard partnership at a location on Ann Arbor Trail at the C & O Railroad. In 1935 Denski acquired full ownership, sold the yard and moved to Ann Arbor Road and Sheldon to enter the paper reclaiming business. At that time paper was scarce and more valuable than iron. Denski's task was to recycle the scrap paper and sell it to paper mills.

In 1941, after procuring 60 acres from Everett Postif, he built, with the aid of his friend, Victor Wisniewski, a large house at 5775 N. Lilley Road. Since lumber was scarce, they used trees from the back yard as basement beams. John Denski, Sr., moved the business to this location and operated it until his sons returned from World War II in 1946 and 1947. He retired and relinquished the business duties to sons, John, Jr., Cass and Stanley.

The post-war depression stymied the paper recycling business. The Denski brothers entered the rubbish hauling business for the U. S. government in Norway and Willow Run districts. Then they signed with Canton Township for rubbish removal and landfill projects.

John, Jr. and his wife, Phyllis have six children who are being raised in the tradition of their forefathers.

Gideon Swick, like the Biblical name of old, has persevered until he, in 1982, is now 88 years old. Born March 20, 1894, he migrated from Lincoln Park at least 55 years ago and settled on a 10-acre parcel at 2248 S. Lilley Road. Gideon Swick purchased the property from Lou Parsell while working at the Ford Motor Company where he was employed for 37 years.

Swick and his wife, Heppie, had four children, Harold, Marie, Ronald and Gideon, Jr.

John Tillotson carved himself a claim to Canton heritage. Having traveled from New York State, he settled on an 80-acre piece of land at Sheldon and Warren Roads. Here he did general farming and raised three boys.

His son, Virgil, married Mary Corwin, a local pioneer's daughter. The Corwins owned much land nearby. Bert and Frank inherited the land from their father, John, and acquired 80 more acres at the corner of Lilley and Warren Roads.

CHARLES ZAZULA, Canton resident interested in community history, has prepared a series of articles about old-line Canton families and their contributions to the community. This article is one of the series.

Virgil's son, Isaac, married Carrie Finton, who was a teacher at the Hough School which their son, Ray attended. Isaac was born on July 18, 1872, and died in September of 1951 at the age of 79. His son, Irving, farmed Michael Conner's 100-acre farm at the southwest corner of Warren and Lilley Roads.

Warren, the son of Irving, the son of Isaac, son of Virgil, who was the son of John, is the fifth generation of the Tillotson legacy. Warren is busy pursuing the agricultural heritage of his forefathers with a greenhouse, truck farming and produce, flower and decorative wreath stands on Lilley Road between Warren and Ford Roads. The Tillotsons have had four greenhouses and roadside stands for 20 years of business.

Charles McMahon carved himself a name in artistic antiques. He operated an antique workshop and store at the northwest corner of Ford and Canton Center Roads. Charlie was an antique dealer who catered to the prominent names in society. He traveled on business to Greenfield Village. There is a story of how Charlie replaced Stafford's walnut barn floor with cheaper wood in order to use the walnut for cabinets and furniture. He lived to the ripe age of 80 and is another example of proven ingenuity.

Canton senior citizens plan Cherry Festival trip

Canton Senior Citizens groups are putting together a trip to the Traverse City Cherry Festival for July 9 and 10.

Those making the trip will see the Cherry Festival parade, tour Old Mission, Chateau Grand Traverse Winery, Old Mission Light House, Bowers Harbor and the West Bay waterfront where Traverse City began in the logging days.

The round-trip transportation via motor coach will include a night's lodging at Sugar Loaf Mountain resort, baggage handling, the sight seeing trip, a seat for the parade and a performance at the Cherry House Theatre.

The cost of the trip is $89 based on double occupancy.

Registration must be made in person at the Recreation Center, 44237 Michigan Ave. or call Louise at 397-1000, ext. 278 for further information.

Plymouth resident runs for house as Libertarian

Keith Z. Bilby, a 26-year-old Detroit Diesel Allison engineer, is seeking the 36th District seat in the Michigan House of Representatives on the Libertarian ticket.

Bilby was nominated at the Libertarian State Convention in May as a candidate. He will not be on the August primary ballot but will be on the ballot for the general election in November.

Born in Traverse City, Bilby, who lives at 42489 Lakeland, Plymouth, attended public schools in Jackson and graduated in 1979 from the University of Michigan with a BS degree in mechanical engineering. While at the U of M he was in the U of M band.

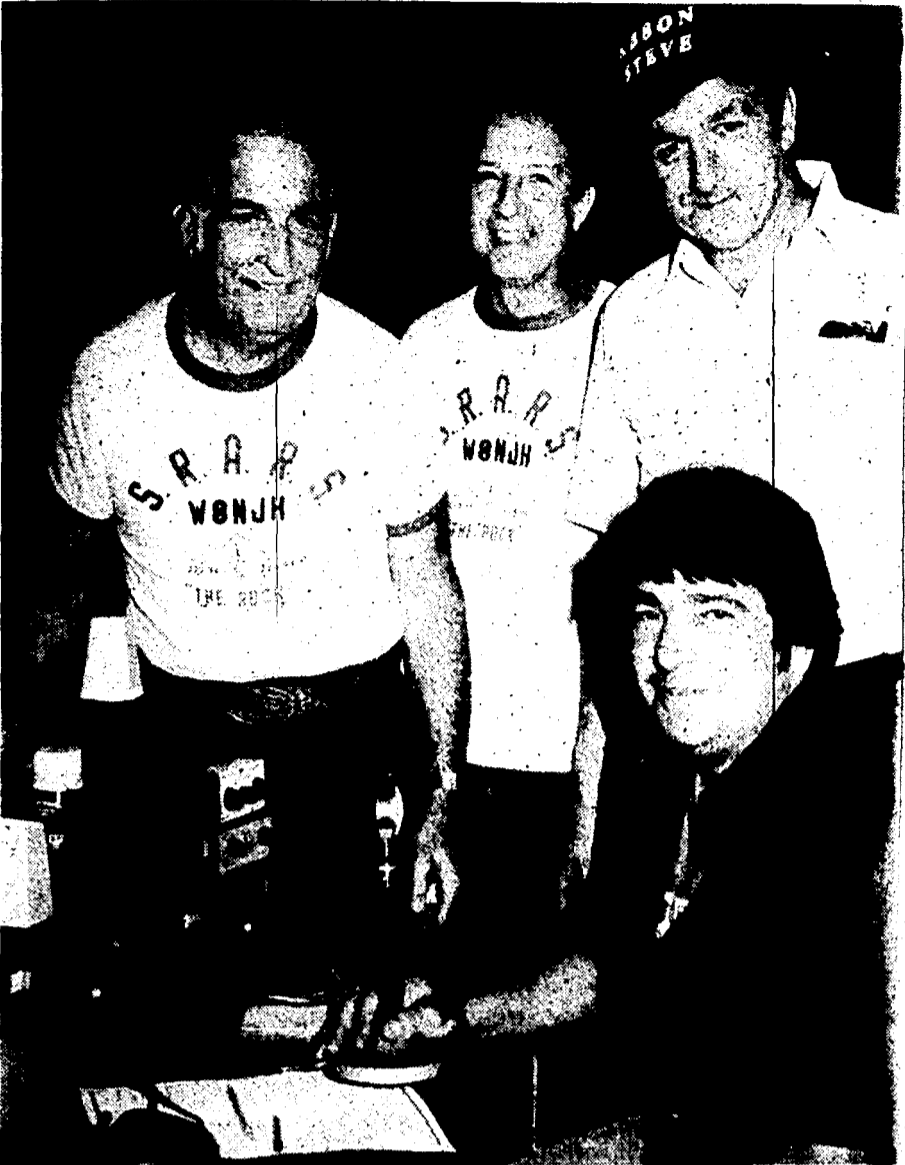

He is a member of Michigan Libertarian Party state central committee.

Bilby, in making the run for the legislature, is calling for reductions in all state taxes, particularly the property tax and single business activities tax.

"I use to complain about taxes and big government," he said. "This year I'm doing something about it."

"If the people of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville and the North Canton have heard enough excuses about why their taxes can't be cut, then together, we can make a big impression on the Republicans and Democrats in November," Bilby said.

Radio operator field day

FIELD DAY exercises were held over the weekend at Plymouth Township Park, by members of the Stu Rockafellow Amateur Radio Society. The group of 40 to 50 radio operators and volunteers participated in a emergency preparedness drill, and were prepared to make "first contact." Shown at the drill are, standing from left, club vice president Dan Pressede, Trustee Dick Stisko and President Steve Spegar, who surround Field Day Chairman Rick Waara. Canton fire chief gives department report

In a report to Canton Township Trustees at the June 22 meeting, Fire Chief Mel Paulun said arson is on the increase in Canton Township. Township fires with damages close to $1 million dollars are currently under investigation, he reported.

In reviewing fire department activities over the last six months he reported that the department had made 780 EMT runs with 52 percent of those cases being taken to

Oakwood Hospital Canton Center. "Oakwood's Canton Center facility is a cost-saving factor to the township," Chief Paulun said. "We save on gas and on man hours."

He reported that thanks to recently provided clerical help in the department, over due billings for emergency runs are much lower than they have been in the past.

"We are still short of manpower in the department," the chief warned the trustees.

P-C softball teams busy this summer

Do-Rite quashes Malarky's, 9-0

Summer's here and with the warmer weather come the softball teams. Plymouth and Canton Parks and Recreation Departments have set up 106 adult softball teams that play Monday through Friday at parks throughout the Plymouth-Canton community.

One of Friday night's games at Canton's Griffin Park pitted Plymouth-Canton Women's Class B teams from Malarky's Pub and top-ranked Do-Rite-Tools.

Malarky's struggled against a determined team as Do-Rite managed to keep Malarky's to three hits and off the scoreboard completely in a 9-0 walk-over.

Good fielding and tight plays gave Do-Rite the advantage.

The contest moved quickly and with few incidents until Do-Rite pulled pitcher Sue Ohls in the sixth. Malarky's second batter in the bottom of the inning Sharon Smith, hit a pop fly to left field that was caught in a flying dive by fielder Christy Berry.

Friday's win brings Do-Rite's record to 7-1 for the season. The team plays Bartz Animal Hospital's squad this Friday evening, Bartz is tied for second place with Emma's and Ossie's Welding.

Softball sluggers show off your stuff

Canton Township senior citizens are sponsoring a senior citizen softball team to enter in the Garden City Senior Softball League.

Seniors 55 or older, men or women, are needed to fill the team ranks.

Softball rules have been altered to accommodate senior citizens which include such changes as substitute runners and shortening of the distance between bases.

A bus will be available to the team for the games which will be played at Maplewood Center.

Cost of player registration is $1.

Games will start June 28 with the season running through Aug. 30. They will be played at Maple Center and at Griffin Park in Canton at 9:30 a.m. on Mondays.

Registration can be made in person at the Canton Recreation Center or by phoning the Canton Parks and Recreation Department at 397-1000, ext. 278 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

DO-RITE-TOOLS starting pitcher Susan Ohls scoops a grounder up at Friday's game against Malarky's Pub. Do-Rite took the win with a 9-0 shutout, retaining their number one ranking. Softball teams of all ages play all week long in and around The Plymouth-Canton Community. (Crier photo by Robert Cameron)
