Schools eye bank for summer tax

BY MARK CONSTANTINE

First National Bank of Plymouth and the Plymouth-Canton schools are on the verge of forming a partnership both sides say will be beneficial to the property taxpayers in The Plymouth-Canton Community.

Although a contract hasn't been signed and the Board of Education hasn't passed a resolution, Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business, admitted First National will probably wind up collecting summer school taxes in Canton and Plymouth Township.

"More than likely First National will do it for us," he said. "We are in the process of looking at a proposed contract right now."

And that proposed contract will be brought before the board at its May 9 meeting if the details can be ironed out, according to Hoedel.

Ken Currie, president of First National, said the schools approached First National almost eight weeks ago and negotiations have continued since.

"We are happy we can serve the local schools and also provide service at a reasonable cost to the people of Canton and Plymouth Township," Currie said.

The present First National set up will have to undergo only minor modifications to be able to handle the summer tax collections, which should benefit all concerned, according to Currie.

Property owners in Canton and Plymouth Township will be able to pay their taxes by either showing up in person at any of First National's three locations.

Gallimore wins Book Bowl

AN EXCITED SPECTATOR, Joey Messina throws up his arms in anticipation of a correct answer at the Canton Public Library's 3rd annual Book Bowl. Holding Joey is Hyeyong Phillips. Ten Plymouth-Canton schools participated in the competition. Teams of 4th and 5th graders from Farrand, Fiegel, Bird, Gallimore and Field Elementary Schools answered questions on books most correctly and competed in the semi-final competition. The final contest, held April 19 at the Canton Library found Gallimore and Field battling for top honors, and in the end, Gallimore students walked away with the honors. (Crier photo by Rick Smith)

At Woodland Meadows dump

Canton pledges inquiry

Canton Township will investigate allegations made by two former hazardous waste haulers against Woodland Meadows Landfill, Canton planner Jim Kosteva said.

Kosteva said the township will investigate statements made by the two drivers that they dumped liquid chemical wastes into the landfill located on Hannan and Van Born roads in Canton's southeast corner between 1974 and 1976.

According to state landfill regulations in enforcement at that time, dumping any liquid waste at Woodland Meadows would have been prohibited.

The drivers, Howard Munn, of Canton, and James Drouillard, of Westland, are both former workers of Browning-Ferris, Inc., one of the nation's largest hazardous waste hauling firms. Both drivers reported that they dumped chemicals such as chromic acids, transmission fluids and paint thinners into the dump during their employment with the company.

Ray Kellas, district manager for Michigan Waste Systems, Inc. a subsidiary of Waste Management, Inc. denied the allegations.

"I see Canton's role as being one of making sure that the allegations are not forgotten," Kosteva said. "They will be taken to the highest court of review and action," he added.

A complete report of the alleged dumpings appeared in last week's Crier.

To begin an investigation into the allegations, the two truck drivers, Canton officials and The Community Crier staffers have planned a meeting to review specific details. Kellas was unavailable for comment on whether or not his company would participate in the meeting.

City prepares plan for Twp. cop cutoff

BY RACHAEL DOLSON

City Manager Henry Graper said he had "alternate plans on paper" should Plymouth Township decide to cancel its contract for police services with the City of Plymouth.

The city would be out about $35,000 after "an extensive number of layoffs" in the police department, according to the sketchy back-up plan Graper outlined.

"The township plans to have a Michigan State professor conduct a study for them (on other options the township has besides contracting from the city)," Graper said.

"Hopefully, he will outline to them the start-up costs and dollars they would be spending to create their own police service," Graper said.

The city manager told the city commission he has "a total plan to reorganize and re-establish" the Plymouth Police department to cover only the city in the event of a cancellation.

Graper predicted the city would still receive revenue from the township for providing dispatch services, a jail facility and detective service.

"They would need dispatch from us because there are no available channels. I don't believe they plan to build a jail facility over there (in the township). And we have an excellent detective group," Graper said.

The city would have to pay about $60,000 in unemployment compensation the first year of the cutback, Graper said. He figured the city would have to pay the benefits for six police department workers, the township would be responsible for two officers that had been hired since the contract began, and another two laid-off officers would probably be hired by the township.

Plymouthite dies in crash

A Plymouth man died of injuries sustained in a one car accident on Warren Road in Canton early Sunday morning, Canton police reported.

James A. Morofski, 30, of Heritage in Plymouth died at University Hospital after being stabilized at Oakwood Canton Center. Police said Morofski may have suffered a torn aorta and other injuries.

According to police reports, Morofski was heading west on Warren Road at approximately 1:45 a.m. when his car struck a utility pole and rolled over. The pole was located next to Canton Fire Station Two.

Canton firemen said they were notified of the accident by a neighbor. When they responded to the scene, they said they found Morofski walking around his car and complaining of back pains.

The Canton rescue transported Morofski to Canton Center. He died four hours later after being transported to University Hospital.

Have you got your Follies '83 tickets yet?

BY PHYLLIS REDFERN

How do you start a show?

Take one great director, one brassy chairman, one enthusiastic arts council, gather an enormous group of fun loving people and mix thoroughly for two and a half weeks. Beat lightly and repeat, repeat, repeat... Throw all the ingredients on a stage and one by one they all come out as stars.

Follies madness has hit the Plymouth-Canton community. People are running all over town trying to fit rehearsal times, costume fitting, scenery building and ticket selling into their busy schedules.

Complaints about sore muscles echo throughout the community. Everywhere you go you hear, "I lost my music. I can't remember my lines. What time in the next rehearsal I just wish I didn't have two left feet."

Fast food restaurants are doing a booming business as parents dash home with the gourmet dinners. Even the local watering holes are noticing an increase in business as the dry, thirsty dancers and singers drag in after hours of rehearsing.

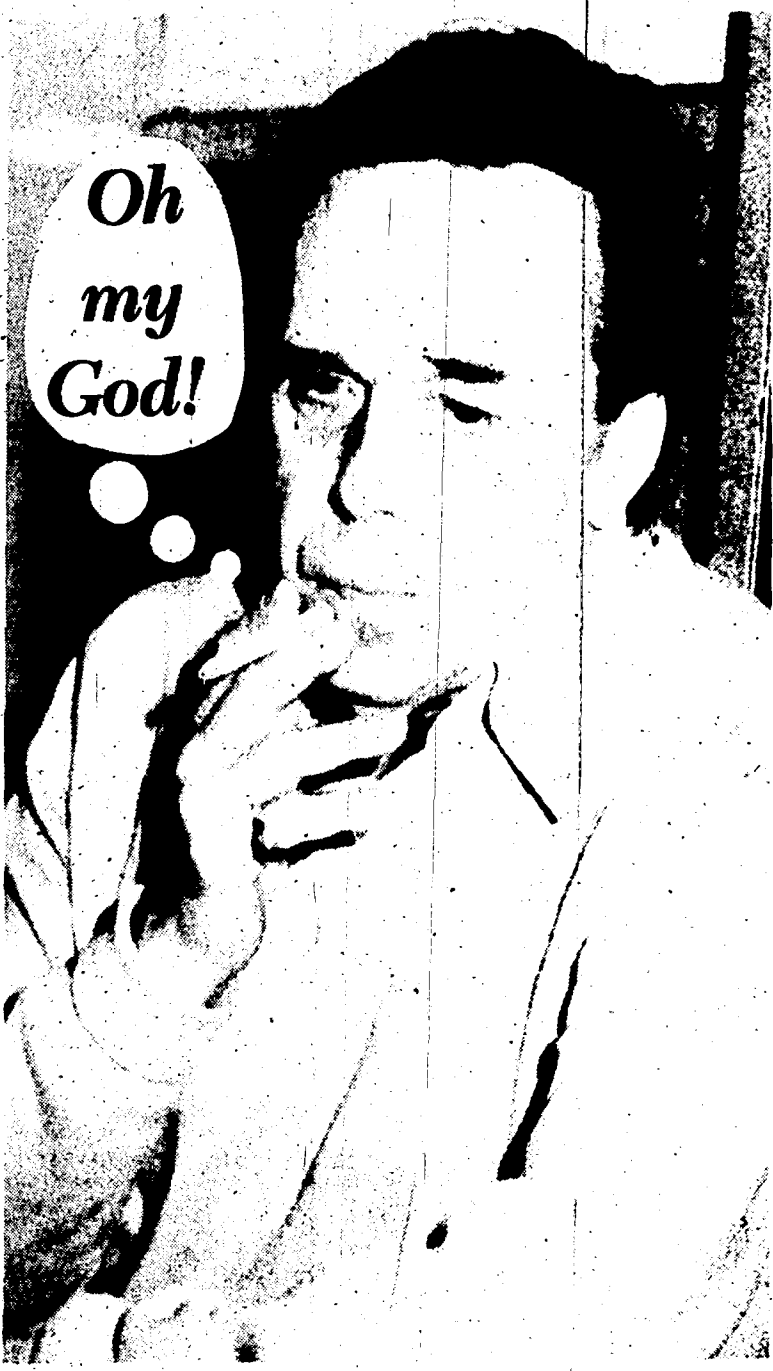

The director of this year's Follies is Peter Thomas. He is good at working with the talented and well as the not so talented, and heaven help you if he learns your name. However, he doesn't let a name stand in the way when he is trying to get someones attention. The short guy in the white sweater knows exactly who he is talking to.

Follies fever is a contagious disease. Those who aren't directly involved with the show are catching the bug from friends and co-workers who are. How can you help it when you see people waltzing into work singing, "It's not how you start, it's how you finish..."

When the curtain goes up and the lights go down, you'll want to be there with everyone else in the community, sharing the fun and excitement. Show time is 8 p.m. this Friday and Saturday, April 29 and 30 at Salem High School auditorium.

Tickets may be purchased at Plymouth Furniture Store Window on Main Street between 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. The prices are $6 for floor seats and $4 for balcony, senior citizens and students K-12 are $5 for floor seats and $3 for balcony. If any tickets are left, they will be on sale at the box office the night of the performance.

Don't miss the fun. The Follies are guaranteed to be the talk of the town.

A GROUP OF potential jockeys (below) and Jackie Stack (above) rehearse for this weekend's Plymouth Community Arts Council Follies '83. Director Peter Thomas's worried look was only fleeting -- we think. (Crier photos by Rick Smith)

Schools borrow $6 million, board unanimous in vote

BY MARK CONSTANTINE

The Plymouth-Canton schools need to borrow $6 million to help the district meet its cash flow needs.

That's a lot of money but it's a far cry from the $17 million the district had to borrow just one year ago for the same purpose.

The decrease is a direct result of the district's move to summer collection of school taxes, according to Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business.

Instead of having to wait until after the first of the year to deposit school taxes in its coffers, the schools can start collecting the funds in August and using the monies immediately, he added.

The district paid $1.3 million in interest last year on the $17 million the schools borrowed. This year, however, the district will only pay out $335,000 in interest, meaning the schools will save over $994,000 by collecting half the school taxes in the summer, according to figures provided by Hoedel.

"The summer tax collection means a great deal to the school district," Hoedel said.

The Board of Education at its regularly scheduled meeting Monday night passed a resolution 7-0 allowing the district to issue a Tax Anticipation Note for the $6 million.

Canton Library Board considers new library

BY CHERYLEBERWEIN

Although the Canton Public Library has only been open since October of 1980, the Canton Library Board is already looking for more space - whether that space means a new building or merely branch locations.

The library board recently considered applying for federal funds through the state to build a new facility. But Katherine Baldrice, chairperson of the Canton Library Board, said that plans for a new or expanded facility were not complete enough to warrant seeking the grant money.

"When we were told that federal library grant money was available through the state, we looked into it," she said. "But we needed to have our program complete and ready to go in a couple of months in order to obtain funding, and we felt we were acting prematurely."

Baldrice said that the library board has been considering a move or branch expansion for over eighteen months. The library has conducted numerous data surveys, and usership studies to determine how much space will be needed by the new library facility. Data from the surveys is only now becoming available.

Lack of space in the present library facility is the primary consideration behind a possible move, Baldrice said.

"We never dreamed our usership would be so successful," Baldrice said. "When we first moved into this building, we thought we would have ample space for the circulation we expected. But the library has really taken off."

Douglas Ritter, a trustee on the library board reiterated Baldrice's comments.

"Although we're all surprised at how happy we've been with the library in its present location, this is a question of capacity," Ritter said. "With 12,000 square feet, the library is a busy place. Canton has the sixth busiest library in Wayne and Oakland counties and its crowded."

Ritter also said that the library board was not far enough along in its plans to try for the grant money. "It costs money to make mistakes," Ritter said, "and when things are done in a hurry, they aren't done well."

Ritter said that the library board did not feel it could secure the matching funds necessary to obtain the grant money at the present time.

The grant money would have required the library to fund from 54 to 75 per cent of the library project itself. Debra O'Connor, Canton librarian said that this would have amounted to at least $1 million and "the library just does not have this amount right now."

Both Baldrice and Ritter said that the library board will continue to consider a future move or branch locations for the library. A complete study of the community's library needs will be undertaken when a report with usership data is finished.

Pollution class at Madonna looks at crises

Pollution, the catchword of the 70s is still important in the 80s.

Madonna College is offering a class on environmental problems May 2 through July 6. The class will focus on such topics as pollution, radiation and population control and their effects on people.

Mary Hunt, M.Ed., of Allied Health, will teach the course. In addition to classroom meetings, Hunt said students will investigate community problems like sewage treatment and food problems in areas with high unemployment.

Classes will meet Mondays and Wednesdays from 12:30 to 3 p.m. in room 275. Call 591-5000 for more information.

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP firefighters retrieve Jack Morao from the Rouge River. Police said the man slipped on the broken concrete embankment Saturday, but was spotted by a family fishing. (Crier photo by Mark Constantine)

Man falls into the Rouge

BY RACHAEL DOLSON

A 18-year-old man sustained injuries to his left leg on Saturday when he fell off an embankment and into the Rouge River, police said.

Jack Harold Morao, 18, fell down a reinforced concrete embankment, near Northville Road north of Five Mile Road, and into the river, witnesses told police.

Plymouth Police said a man fishing with his two sons reported that saw Morao slip on the broken concrete embankment and fall in.

Two Plymouth Township firefighters retrieved Morao from the river, the police report said, and transported him to St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia with a possible broken leg.

A Plymouth Police officer at the scene reported that earlier in the day he had ejected Morao from the Plymouth Hilton for being disorderly.

Police said a bicycle that he had been riding earlier was found near the river and taken to police headquarters.

Jaycees in need of money for Plymouth Fourth of July parade

Plans for the 1983 Plymouth Jaycees Fourth of July Parade are well underway, parade chairman Fred Eagle said.

"This year's parade plans to be the largest parade in the history of The Plymouth-Canton Community," Eagle said.

The Jaycees are in need of financial donations from local businesses and individuals to help underwrite the cost of the parade. "The business community has made past parades successful through their financial support," co-chairman John Ellison said.

"Again this year the Plymouth Jaycees are appealing for your support. Contributions will be listed in The Plymouth-Canton Community Crier and the Plymouth edition of the Observer," Ellison said. "Send your donation early."

Send your donation to: Plymouth Jaycees, Fourth of July 1983, P.O. Box 279, Plymouth, 48170.

For further information on the parade, call Eagle at 464-6797 or 464-8927 or Ellison at 459-8659.

I wasn't sure whether I was in the wrong or not, so I drove back to where I'd been parked to check it out.

Darn! Carpenter got me, but I was angry. The markings on the pavement were nearly worn away. In my haste to get into the meeting with The Crier's publisher, Ed Wendover, I didn't even notice I'd parked illegally.

On the Mark

with Mark Constantine

Later that afternoon I complained to Wendover that the ticket would set me back $7 and he suggested I contest it.

Sounded good to me, so I called 35th District Court, just like you're instructed on the ticket, and the voice on the other end of the phone said I'd be getting a notification of my court date in the mail.

Oh boy, this is going to be just like my one-year-old son's favorite show, "People's Court." I'm going to get my day in court just like the litigants (you like that word, thanks Judge Woepner) on that popular night-time show.

So, on the appointed day and time I marched over to 35th District Court. Judge James Garber heard my explanation and dismissed the ticket, saying: "Working for Wendover is sentence enough."

The point of this column is anyone, not just someone who works for a newspaper, can challenge a ticket, whether it's for speeding or parking.

Many people are under the impression that if the police officer who issued the ticket doesn't appear in the court, the ticket is tossed out. Well, that's not exactly right.

In 1979 Michigan law was changed, most traffic violations were decriminalized, and procedures were set up to take care of the disposition of tickets.

District courts could, if the judges were so inclined, set up informal hearings for those issued tickets. The judges simply listen to John Q. Public explain why he shouldn't have been given a ticket, and then the men and women in the long black robes make a decision.

The police officer, on the other hand, would be represented by a written report the judge would have a chance to look over as John Q. pleads his case.

Garber, with a broad smile on his face, told me several days after he'd heard my case that 35th District might have been the first district court to use the informal hearing set up.

"We have tried to hold the operation of this court, both direct and indirect, down as much as we can," Garber noted. "Back when Tim Ford was the Police Chief of Plymouth, he approached us about the informal hearings because he felt it would be a way to save some money.

"His officers wouldn't have to come to court and be paid for sitting in court waiting for traffic tickets to be decided.

"It has worked out very well and, as a matter of fact, many other district courts are now using the informal hearings."

Showing up in court isn't the only way John Q. can fight a ticket. He can also write a letter to the court explaining why he shouldn't have to pay the ticket.

"Every letter that's sent is read and a response is mailed back," Garber insisted.

However, if you feel strongly enough about not wanting to pay the ticket, you can show up in court. And, if you're still not pleased with either Garber or Dunbar Davis' decision, you can appeal it.

That's when the police officer will have to be there (if he doesn't make it, the case is tossed out). So, if you think you're right, don't take the law into your own hands, take 'em to court. Where have I heard that before.

Cat dash dilemma solved

EDITOR:

Please allow me to share a somewhat comical, but true experience with you that I feel will serve to restore faith in mankind and possibly amuse your readers.

While driving home from the veterinary clinic, my cat, Trudi, climbed up inside the dashboard of my car and either became stuck or simply would not come out. My efforts and methods to retrieve her were in vain.

Since I own a Pontiac, I drove to Bob Jeannotte Pontiac, where upon hearing my dilemma, the service staff began disassembling my dashboard. After untangling Trudi from the dash, they returned my seemingly unconcerned cat safely back to me.

The charge for removing the dash and rescuing Trudi, $0.

Thank you Bob Jeannotte Pontiac!

Arbor Day really celebrated?

"Think trees for today and tomorrow."

Those words are one of the important mottos for the National Arbor Day Foundation. The foundation, solidly based upon the idea of beautifying communities with trees, places special importance upon instilling respect and love for trees in youth.

Although the Tree Board in Plymouth also believes that Arbor Day is sponsored for the youth of tomorrow according to chairwoman Mary Childs, Plymouth's Arbor Day celebration was less concerned with trees and youth than it was with technical requirements and political showmanship.

Plymouth decided to celebrate National Arbor Day two years ago. The city reasoned, correctly, that trees were an asset to the community.

To gain recognition by the National Arbor Day Foundation, and in compliance with its requirements, Plymouth formed a tree board. It also donated a minimum $1 per capita annually for the maintenance and planting of trees.

The city was required to host an Arbor

Day Celebration. But what it hosted Thursday could hardly be termed as such.

Don't misunderstand me - it was a wonderful little ceremony - for city officials. Mayor Eldon Martin turned out for the event. DPW Supervisor Kenneth Vogras was invited to attend. A few members of the city commission stopped by. The Tree Board asked the CEP band to play, and representatives from the Plymouth Women's Club also showed up to plant their own tree.

The only people who weren't invited to attend the ceremony were the residents of the community. The residents, in fact, weren't even notified about the celebration.

And since they didn't know, they didn't attend.

Now why would a board so concerned with the youth of tomorrow, fail to use such foresight today?

The significance of Arbor Day as a community event seems mute. If the tree board doesn't see the importance of promoting it and encouraging the public to attend, then why bother celebrating at all?

With Malice Toward None

Dumps are never welcome

Nobody wants a dump next door or even just a short piece down the road.

Dumps are unsightly and malodorous at best.

And more and more they're proving to be hazardous as well.

The folks in the "sanitary landfill" industry, are beset with a problem that they just can't solve. Unless the waste companies inspect - really inspect - every load of garbage, there's just no guarantee that something hazardous isn't being dumped into the middle of today's pile of garbage.

That's apparently the problem that makes Ray Kellas, of Waste Management which runs Canton's Woodland Meadows dump, very nervous.

Two truck drivers have come forward to say they and others dumped hazardous materials into Woodland Meadows. Such chemical wastes - sprayed out as liquids or contained in 55-gallon drums - could not have been legally disposed of in Woodland Meadows. Worse yet, the truck drivers say that the Woodlands employees knew what was going on and dispensed false receipts.

Kellas denies that such materials were dumped at Woodlands, but admits that an occasional load could sneak through.

And that's the rub.

Unless every item going into a dump is checked, it's impossible to say what's going in.

While the garbage has to go somewhere, the potential unknown hazards shouldn't. How can anyone be certain?

When the dump folks can answer that question, then everyone will be safer.

Fash bash brings out the highbrow in us all

Well, darlings, I simply must tell you all about about the bash of the spring season - the Plymouth Newcomers' annual fashion show "Designer Showcase." I know you are just panting to know all the gory details.

The pre-luncheon portion of the soiree was a bit of a bore, since moi knew hardly anyone else and was not interested in becoming inebriated on the plentiful wine and bubbly.

It was painfully obvious, as I gazed about the Mayflower Meeting Room, that ladies with any sense of haute couture had worn their hats. Petite hats, large hats, plain hats and festooned hats perched on the heads of the smart women, making the rest of us dolts appear merely adequate.

Moi was a trifle peeved to be upstaged so, but I kept my chin up and went to my appointed table.

Delightfully, I discovered the creme de la creme was fortunately seated at my table - including Carol McManamy, Betty Pogue and two madcap madames - Julie Ormsby and Alice Sutherland.

Never was moi so amused by anecdotes of Plymouth life on afternoon teas, redecorating, neighborhood pooches, special assessment districts and married life.

I suppose a brief note on the luncheon cuisine is in order. The fresh pineapple boat was juicy and tasty, the broccoli with hollandaise sauce was a tender treat considering the time of year. The salad so good moi could have eaten two.

The stuffed boneless breast of chicken would have made any feathered fowl proud to donate.

However, the dessert was a disappointing end to an otherwise delicious lunch. The daiquiri ice with shaved chocolate - it breaks my heart to say - came sans chocolate. So sad.

The door prizes and raffle winners were all delightful, too bad moi and her new friends did not win any!

On to the fashion show itself.

The fashions were bright, fresh and original. Co-chairman K. C. Mueller and Kathe Wilcox - and the Plymouth merchants of course - outdid themselves with the wide variety of clothes for all shapes and occasions.

The models deserve kudos as well, with special mention to Susan Williams for so aptly modeling the maternity wear and to John Miller for being so sophisticated and charming amid falling props and minor mix-ups.

Star of the afternoon, however, was that saucy lady of unending poise - Lynn Lyon. Striking in a black dress and a black hat large enough to carry brunch and dinner, Lynn narrated the show and filled in the gaps while models hurriedly dressed.

Her advice on mini-skirts created a tidal wave of hysteria. "Remember girls, if you were old enough to wear mini-skirts the first time around, you should not be wearing them this time. Leave it to your daughters," she said.

In all, an enjoyable afternoon. And for those of you who sat at table No. 19, did you really think moi would not mention that gauche incident with the salad in the lap. Tsk, tsk, tsk - we must be more careful, darlings, when we try to talk and eat at once!

S'craft student staff honored

Former Crier sports editor Ken Voyles along with a pair of Plymouth residents have been recognized for their efforts on Schoolcraft Community College's (SCC) student-run newspaper, The Campus Globe.

The trio took top individual honors in the Michigan Community College Press Association Awards held April 16, while the Lansing Community College Lookout just edged out The Campus Globe as the best overall newspaper.

Voyles, 24, captured first place honors in the best news story category for an article written last fall about threatened layoffs by the SCC administration.

Voyles handles the editor's chores at The Globe, and he expects to graduate this spring.

"We are very happy with the showing," Voyles noted. "This year was definitely a team effort."

Romantic play is season's final

As a close to its season, the Plymouth Theatre Guild will present "Same Time, Next Year," a love story, the first two weekends in May.

The show stars Carole McNulty and Mike Rothaar. Director duties will be handled by Al La Croix, with Patricia Bray as assistant director and Clemie Cyburt as producer.

For ticket information, call Ann Schatter at 453-7505 or Karen Groves at 420-2161. For this production, 25 cents from each ticket will go to the Plymouth Park Players and their trip to Austria.

The play will be presented at Central Middle School in Plymouth at 8 p.m. on May 6, 7, 13, and 14. The play is an adult comedy and parental discretion is advised.

Plymouth's Jim Craft, 41, brought home a first place certificate for best sports photo. In his award-winning shot, he caught the Ocelot basketball player Mike Cavicchio on film.

Mike Davis also calls Plymouth home and the 19-year-old graduate of Canton High School won first place in the best feature column category for his short story "Smoke Rings," published in The Globe's "Literary Corner."

Fri. crash stops traffic, leads to OUIL charge

An Ypsilanti man has been charged with drunk driving in connection with an I-275 accident which snarled traffic Friday evening.

According to the Michigan State Police, the accident occurred at 6:25 p.m. Friday on southbound I-275 just south of the Joy Road overpass.

Police said Mark Sedlarik, 24, of Ypsilanti, was driving southbound on the expressway and was weaving across the lanes. His truck struck the guardrail and spun around heading north, police said.

Sedlarik's truck then struck a car driven by Carolyn Hughes, 31, of Redford, police said. Sedlarik was thrown from the car. He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital.

Police ticketed Sedlarik for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. "He said he didn't remember anything," police said.

Budget proposed

Spending down, but city taxes up

BY RACHAEL DOLSON

A half-dozen employee lay-offs, a .8 mill tax increase, and wage freezes for some employees are all part of the $6.6 million budget proposed for the City of Plymouth.

About a dozen people attended the city's official budget hearing Monday night and heard City Manager Henry Graper explain a budget for the fiscal year which begins July 1, 1983.

The City Commission, which reviewed the budget in a study session earlier this month, is expected to act on the budget at its Monday, May 2 meeting.

Revenues from the state (down $154,000), the local property tax (down $77,000), the district court (down $80,000), interest income (down $25,000), and parking fees (down $21,000) have all decreased, Graper said, compounding the city's financial woes.

Other cost areas, he said, are projected to continue to increase in the upcoming fiscal year. Major cost increases are: fringe benefits (up $37,000), utility (up $30,000), purchased materials (up $30,000), labor costs ($85,000) and refuse pickup (contract up six per cent).

The first draft of the budget projected a discrepancy of $712,822 between revenues and costs, Graper said, but chopping by the administration and city commission narrowed that gap to $122,000.

To bridge the gap, Graper said he will use a combination of the tax increase, elimination of six employee positions, a wage freeze for department heads and non-union employees, cutting of expenses, re-evaluation of services and, hopefully, concessions from the union employees.

"I am still in negotiations with the unions," Graper said Monday night. "I would not want to discuss those talks in public... but, if I don't get the concessions I have projected I will have to get it from the budget in another way."

The city's projected spending, Graper said, will actually be 1.5 per cent less than last year.

If the city commission approves the tax increase, the millage rate in Plymouth would increase from 16.48 to about 17.3 mills.

One mill equals $1 of tax for every $1,000 of state assessed evaluation (SEV). The increase of .8 mill would be a tax hike of $40 on a home with a true value of $100,000.

The proposed millage levy breaks down to about 12 mills for general operations, 2 mills for refuse collection, 1 mill for library operation and 2-plus mills for debt levy.

"I think the residents of Plymouth will be satisfied. When they look around and see the services they are getting for their money compared to (other municipalities)," Graper said.

Increasing costs to provide employees with established fringe benefits was become a real "bug a boo," Graper said.

Graper gave other reasons why he said the tax increase had been avoided for several years but was necessary now: the city has in the past lived off the increases in SEV as the city grew, the city has used contingency funds to balance the budget, and the commission has made major capital improvements to the Cultural Center, City Hall and Dunning-Hough Library.

"The economy has affected us badly. I may be standing up here next year saying we need another .3 mill increase. I know the economy is coming back, but I don't expect any real growth until 1987. (City assessor Ken) Way has predicted a slight decrease for next year," Graper said.

In Southeastern Michigan Blood Service Region - an area which includes Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and St. Clair counties, nearly 1,000 units of blood are needed everyday for the sick and injured of the community.

Blood can be donated by anyone in good general health between the ages of 17 and 65 years old who weigh at least 110 pounds. Donating blood takes less than an hour and includes a free mini-physical.

Window designs are her artwork

BY CHERYL EBERWEIN

Lurking somewhere in Barbara Mandell's basement are gigantic chocolate-dipped strawberries, jugs of maple syrup as big as barrels, smiling rabbits, a whole fleet of sailboats, chocolate bars longer than yardsticks and pencils taller than children.

And that's just the start of the list! Mandell's unusual basement menagerie also includes huge sticks of gum, masks big enough for several people to hide behind, school buses, apples and flowers.

If Mandell's collection is hard to imagine, then stroll past Plymouth's Willow Tree Store on Main and glance at the windows. There you'll see some of her unique objects on display.

Mandell is the window designer for the Willow Tree and for many other stores in the Detroit area. In her work, Mandell uses props, like the ones above, to give her store windows life and vibrancy.

"I sit in my studio all day long and think up new and crazy ways to display the same old merchandise for my clients," Mandell said. "I try to magnetically draw people to the stores I do through my window displays. Once they're inside, it's up to the sales people to take over."

Although Mandell, a Birmingham resident, demonstrates creative flair and artistic talent in her designs, her educational background was not in art but English and math.

"I taught school for a year, but found it wasn't for me," Mandell said. "I started working in a store where I was responsible for setting up my own area. That's where I learned about setting up appealing displays. I learned the art through osmosis after that."

Mandell said that she originally opened a window display business in partnership with another designer, Ingrid Anderson.

But when her work become more widely known and requested, she became busy enough to open her own studio.

"I love my work," Mandell said enthusiastically. "Who else has a job which allows them to fantasize all day?"

Mandell designs windows for 18 different stores. Along with all nine Willow Tree store in the Detroit area, she also designs windows for a tennis store, a cooking store, a chocolate store, a book store and two children's stores.

Each store has its own personality and Mandell said she tailors her window designs to match the image of the store. It usually takes at least three different windows to really get the feel for a particular stores personality.

But even if individual window displays are influenced by a store's character, all of her designs have several elements in common.

"I think big with my designs - almost cartoon-like. I also think bright, bold and friendly," she said. "Sometimes this work can become very egotistical and I have to remind myself that the merchandise and not my props are the center of attention."

Typically, most of the windows Mandell designs take about a day to create props and a day for installation. Most of her clients prefer to have their windows changed on a monthly basis, and she often starts a month in advance designing a window for a client.

"I've never had a window which I couldn't design. And I've never had a client tell me they couldn't work with one of the windows I've designed," Mandell said.

But some windows are harder than others to design. The most difficult are those in which merchandise cannot be displayed because it will fade.

"Purple is notorious for fading in windows, and stationary is ruined by sunlight," she said. "In paper stores it takes a lot of imagination to come up with appealing representational art."

And art it truly is, Mandell said. "I'm doing graphic work applied to commercial retailing. This is definitely an art form."

ONE OF BARB MANDELL'S many successful Willow Tree window designs. This one appeared in the Plymouth store several months ago.

ONE OF THE MANY fanciful characters Mandell uses in her windows. The rabbit above was an original design.

Eagle files Chap. 11 plan

Associated Newspapers, Inc., which publishes the Canton Eagle and other newspapers, has presented a plan to come out of Chapter 11 Bankruptcy status.

The publishing company filed for protection from its creditors in fall, 1981 when its principal outstanding notes - to the papers' former owners, Panax Corporation - came due, according to records filed with the U.S. Bankruptcy Court.

"A meeting of the newspapers' creditors committee was held yesterday to review the plan and a formal hearing before the court is scheduled for 9 a.m. Monday in Room 1067 of the U.S. Courthouse in Detroit before Bankruptcy Judge Ray Graves to present the plan.

According to the plan, Associated will undertake refinancing and would arrange payments with its creditors. The proposal is desirable, the plan said, since if Associated were liquidated, unsecured creditors would receive nothing.

The plan lists total assets of Associated at $482,434.50 and debts as: $45,015.92 administrative; $142,903.31 priority claims; $410,911.48 secured creditors; and $158,577.79 unsecured creditors.

A and W Great Root Bear a great big success

BY MARK CONSTANTINE

By the end of the first half, the A and W Great Root Bear was dying for a frosty, cold A and W root beer.

Dan Moore, son of Charles and Dottie Moore, the owners of the A and W restaurant on Ann Arbor Road near Lilley, donned the Great Root Bear costume for Saturday night's Michigan Panther-Los Angeles Express game at the Silverdome.

And even though he built up a powerful thirst performing along the sidelines, he insisted he'd be glad to do it again.

"I've done things like this in the costume before," Dan said breathlessly as he tried to relax at halftime in a hallway underneath the stands near the players entrance at the south end of the stadium.

"I enjoy it, I really do. It's fun every time. I like kids and this gives me a chance to be near them," he added, wiping sweat from his forehead.

A and W restaurants and the Panthers have formed a partnership, resulting in the A and W Junior Quarterback Club. The organization, for youngsters 15 and under, provides them with discount tickets to the Panther games and a host of other extras.

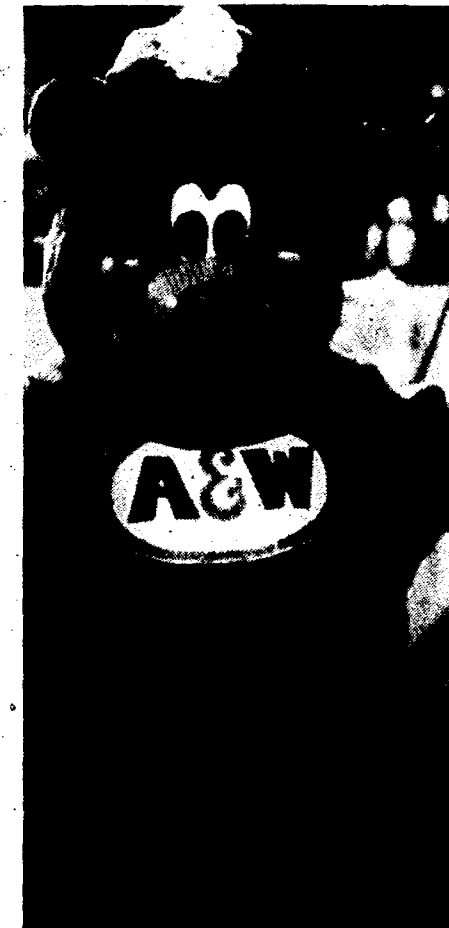

"Each game they ask someone from one of the Detroit area A and W's to work the sidelines in the costume," Charles said, patting his son on the shoulder as the 21-year-old Eastern Michigan University (EMU) sophomore continued to try to catch his breath.

"A representative from A and W came down to our place last week and asked if we had anyone who'd like to be the Root Bear for Saturday's game. Dan, of course, jumped at the opportunity."

So how did the fans react to the sight of an eight-foot bear roaming the sidelines passing out suckers, buttons and certificates for free A and W root beers?

"You saw, didn't you" Dan said, smiling. "All the kids, especially, wanted to shake hands with me. Geeze, it sure is a lot of fun."

Do P-C subscribers pay higher rates?

How do Omnicom's services compare?

BY CHERYL EBERWEIN

How much would you pay to change the channels on your TV without moving out of your chair?

That was the question at the April 12 Canton Township Board meeting and it was evident that at least some Canton Township and Omnicom Cable TV officials were in disagreement over the price of such convenience.

Omnicom of Michigan submitted an amendment to the township board which would change subscriber rates in Canton. Under the new amendment, the cable television company would charge $3.50 per month for remote control converters. This charge would apply to those subscribers with remote control converters but not subscribing to the satellite tier of channels.

"The initial cost of a converter is $76," Tom Publiski, marketing director for Omnicom said. "At the end of a three year period its value is about $15. We have to make up for a cost difference of $61."

Publiski explained that revenue losses on a converter were figured over three years because technical advancements in this time would require new converter designs to "properly serve subscribers."

Publiski also said that the converter charges were figured on the assumptions that there would be a 10 per cent loss factor, a five per cent cost of maintenance expense, a five per cent inflation cost and straight line depreciation.

Trustee Steve Larson, a member of the Canton Cable TV Committee said he felt Omnicom was trying to recover the total cost of remote control converters without making significant improvements in the system. He also said he felt that Omnicom was not crediting subscribers with the original system costs when considering remote control converter costs.

Supervisor James Poole said technical figures were not relevant to the issue.

"You're still violating a principle which is at stake," Poole told Publiski. "This is not a rate increase, it's a service charge. If people use a converter, they're charged $3.50 for it, and you want this board to put its stamp of approval on such a charge."

Several different cable television companies in the area charge their customers for monthly rental of remote control converters. At $3.50 per month, Omnicom is charging at least 50 cents more per month for their converters.

Publiski told the board that Omnicom will still provide remote control converters for subscribers who take the satellite tier of channels. He also mentioned that Showtime has been taken out of the satellite tier and is now available to subscribers not taking the satellite tier.

Publiski added that it will cost subscribers $14 to take Showtime and rent a remote control converter.

Jim Kronberg, a member of the Canton Cable TV Committee, said Omnicom's remote control rates were ludicrous.

"Omnicom has forced us to pay for basic services twice in this township," Kronberg said. "It costs them 10 cents to provide services and we pay $7.95. Everything centers around the satellite tier because it's so profitable," he added.

Kronberg said that the satellite tier should be in the basic tier. Although Larson said he agreed with Kronberg, he mentioned that nothing could be done about the franchise agreement.

"Omnicom would rather go to federal court than give up the satellite tier," Larson said. "I'm willing to amend the franchise rates to include the converter, but not at $3.50 per month."

Larson recommended that Omnicom charge $1.50 for the remote converters. Publiski told the board that he had no authority to accept such a proposal.

Peter Newell, senior vice president for the northern division of Capital Cities Communications said that comments like Kronberg's overlook the fact that Omnicom provides other basic services (like two-way security) to its subscribers. He also said that subscribers don't just pay for programming in cable rates.

"When you compare cable systems, you have to compare a complex series of questions," Newell said. "You have to consider how many cable lines are underground as opposed to above ground wires, for example. You also have to consider how much local programming there is, and maintenance and upkeep costs."

Newell said that the number of services and types of programming will also affect cable television rates.

"Kronberg has taken a superficial look at cable television rates. Communities wouldn't spend thousands of dollars investigating different services, if it were easy to compare systems on the basis of rates," Newell said.

Newell also mentioned that Omnicom is a business like any business. "We're in business to make a profit," Newell said. "We've invested $10 million into our system and we'd like to get a return on the investment."

The Canton Township Board voted to table action on the proposal until further information was available on revenues from Omnicom.

Balloons, daisies ready for OV walk Sunday

CLOWNS AND BALLOONS will again delight children at Sunday's Old Village Spring Walk. Happy times at another Spring Walk are shown above with kids Tiffany Rickman and Georgia Klingfelter (right)

Perhaps just the "spring tonic" you need is a walk through quaint and picturesque Plymouth Old Village.

"Spring has been a celebration of life and Old Village would like to invite you to join with us in celebrating its renewed life with a spring walk," Old Village Association President Gail Tosh said.

The Annual Spring Walk in historic Old Village is this year scheduled for Sunday, May 1, from 1 to 6 p.m. Old Village, Tosh said, is a unique setting of over 50 shops located among the oldest homes of Plymouth.

"Take a walk on a lovely spring day and enjoy the beauty of the quaint area of Plymouth," said Jan Sadell, retail chairman of the Old Village Association. "Featured for your pleasure are the Moon Walk and other rides for the kids. Daisies will be given to all the ladies.

"Pick pocket clowns will delight you with their antics while you dig deep in their pockets to see what treasure you can find," Sadell said.

A boom truck will drop nearly 300 balloons on Liberty Street at 3 p.m. for a "balloon bust." Inside the balloons will be coupons good for savings at Old Village stores.

"Celebrate spring with a walk through historic Old Village with your family," she said.

Coffee and donuts will be available on the streets.

Arbor Day tree

MEMBERS OF THE PLYMOUTH WOMEN'S CLUB got into the spring spirit by celebrating Arbor Day with the City of Plymouth last Thursday. Linda Pawling, above left, president of the club, places the first shovel of dirt on their donation - a flowering crabapple tree which was planted in Kellogg Park. Next to her are Joyce Kelly, secretary of the club and Jean Sigmon, treasurer of the club. A flowering crabapple was also planted in the park by The City of Plymouth in honor of the event. A variety of trees are available to city residents for planting on the city property in front of their homes. The trees cost $25, are guaranteed and maintained by the city and are available through the DPW. (Crier photo by Cheryl Eberwein)

Hines Park clean-up planned

A COUNTRY PARK clean-up day on Saturday, May 7, will include such fun activities as rescuing picnic tables from the water at Hines Park.

Three local residents have been appointed to the Wayne County Park advisory park and will be joining with residents of The Plymouth-Canton Community to participate in a county park clean-up day.

Mike Gouin of Canton, Charles Skene of Plymouth, and Gene Hood of Plymouth Township have all joined the county executive's park advisory board.

"We have received tremendous cooperation from everybody we have asked to help," said Wayne County Executive William Lucus.

Lucas' project, dubbed "People for Parks - Parks for People," will be initiated on Saturday, May 7, when volunteers will clean up small brush and debris in the Lower and Middle Rouge Parks, including Middle Rouge Parkway along Hines Drive, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Volunteers are encouraged to bring their own rakes or other appropriate garden tools.

A few spring painting pointers ...

Spring is a time when many area homeowners pick up the old paint bucket and begin brushing the exterior of their home.

Pease Paint and Wallpaper has some "spring paint pointers" for homeowners to consider before they begin to apply that first coat.

Surface preparation, owner Terry Bixler said, often takes the most time and effort but is time well spent "because the results will be more attractive and longer lasting."

Follow these step, Bixler said:

-Scrape all surfaces clean of peeling paint and rust.

-Remove dirt and grease with a detergent.

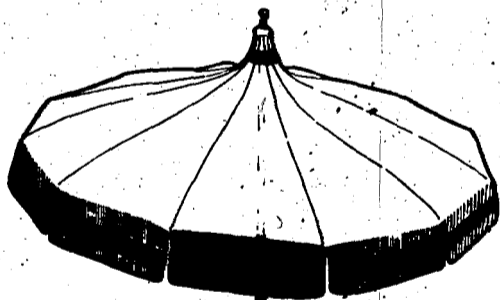

-Remove all traces of mildew with commercial preparations of household bleach in warm water.

-Caulk cracks in siding or open joints.

-Treat wood knots to remove resin and then seal with special sealer.

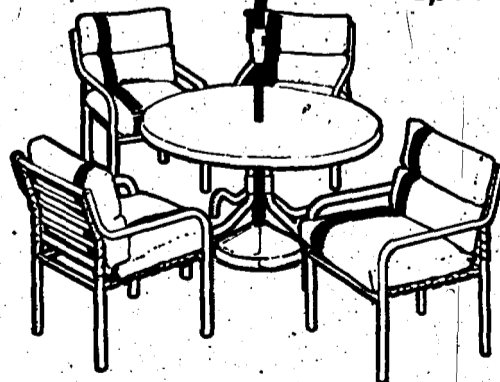

-Rough, glossy painted surfaces

New dates added for Schoolcraft's flower walk

If you missed last weekend's spring wildflower walk at Schoolcraft College, don't fret, three more are scheduled for the month of May.

Walks are scheduled for 1 to 3 p.m. on the Sundays of May 1, 8, and 15, the college announced. The walks are arranged by Roger Sutherland and his colleagues in Schoolcraft's biology department.

More than 35 species of wildflowers are featured at the walk location — the nature trails of Bicentennial Park, Seven Mile at Wayne Road, in Livonia.

More than 600 people attended last year's tour, Sutherland said, so this year two new days have been added to assure the flowers would be at their peak. Also, the extra days will give walkers some flexibility in inclement weather strikes.

Groups of 25 walkers or more should call Sutherland at 591-6400 to arrange a tour.

The tours are conducted by students who have taken Schoolcraft's wildflower course and sometimes by Schoolcraft faculty. Guides include: Margaret Converse, Bessie King and Angella Zrull of Livonia, Kay Wittliff of Farmington and Jane Walker of Northville.

LEARNING TO FLY A KITE is 3-year-old Scott McMartin, with a little help from his Dad, Craig McMartin. The father and son duo enjoyed the warm spring weather Saturday at Hines Park. The McMartins live in Plymouth Township.

That gorgeous lawn can be yours! (Maybe)

Is your neighbor's lawn greener than yours? Is it disgustingly devoid of unsightly brown patches, dandelions, and crabgrass? Is it so lush and full you want to take your shoes off and run your bare toes through the blades?

Well, your neighbor has probably discovered the seven steps to beautiful lawn.

Having a good lawn isn't impossible. It's simply a matter of knowing what's important and when and how to do it. Here are some suggestions from Saxtons Garden Center and the Ortho Lawn and Garden Book.

- Prepare the soil well, adding plenty of organic matter if necessary. Consider having the PH of the soil tested and adjusted to the optimum level.

- Plant improved varieties of seed or sod. Many improvements have been made in recent years - take advantage of them.

- Use grasses that are well adapted to your area. Look around your neighborhood for the lawn that looks best. Ask about it.

- Water, thoroughly, don't sprinkle.

Water heavily to a depth of 5 inches. Avoid light sprinklings which tend to cause grass to develop a shallow root system which can be susceptible to drought, insect infestation or disease.

- Mow at the proper height. If a close cropped lawn is your style, choose a grass that should be mowed low. Generally, mow to a height of 2 to 3 inches in the summer month to shade the soil and protect the root during hot summer days.

- Fertilize regularly. Spring and fall are the two most important times. Apply as directed on label.

- Control insects and diseases as necessary. Sod webworms, chinch bugs, and grubs appear in most lawns on a regular schedule. Be prepared for them in order to minimize the damage they cause.

New life can be added to old lawns. The first job in renovating a lawn is to improve soil drainage and relieve soil compaction. Air and nutrients must be able to penetrate every square foot of soil.

A thorough aerifying annually will do the job. In many areas power aerators can be rented to remove cores and permit air water and fertilizer to enter deeply into the soil.

Miller Woods Walk is a 'spring tonic' the whole family enjoys

Wildflowers in their "glory month" and the wonders of a beech-maple woods are as close as western Plymouth Township.

The annual spring wildflower walk through Miller Woods is scheduled for Sunday, May 1 and Saturday, May 7. Sunday hours will be 1 to 3 p.m. and Saturday hours are set at 10 a.m. to noon.

Miller Woods is owned by the Plymouth Canton school district and its operations are supervised by the Miller Woods Committee.

Participants in the walk will follow the woods' trail, committee member Evelyn Edgar said, for the hour-long tour. "Principally, the walkers will see the wildflower — we call this our glory month. But other wonders of the beech-maple woods will be pointed out by tour guides," she said.

Exceptionally quiet groups, she said, may even see some of the woods' natural inhabitants.

The committee decided on two walk days this week in case of inclement weather. "Usually our attendance will vary greatly based on the weather that day. This will insure we will get at least one great day!"

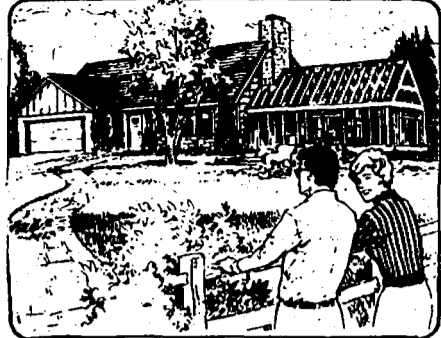

Tours will be conducted by Evelyn Edgar, Bill Edgar, Herbert Conant and Kenneth Wright.

Current Miller Woods committee members are the tour guides plus Penny Wright, Pat Atchinson and Janet Elston.

"We need more people on the committee and are constantly looking for volunteers interested in Miller Woods," she said.

"We love to have family groups, this is a good thing to for families to do together," she said.

Miller Woods is located on the north side of Powell Road between Beck and Ridge roads.

IT WAS UP on the table for this enthusiastic party goer at Honey radio's 10th Anniversary celebration at the Plymouth Hilton, Sunday. (Crier photo by Cheryl Eberwein)

Honey bash a smash!

BY CHERYL EBERWEIN

If at first it was the lack of chairs which forced partiers at the Honeyradio 10th Anniversary Party up and on their feet this past weekend, it was definitely the music which captured their shouting and foot-tapping by the end of the night.

Honeyradio, a station devoted to early 50's and 60's rock on 56 AM, held its birthday bash at the Plymouth Hilton Inn Sunday from 5:30 p.m. to midnight. Although tickets to the party were only sent to 2,000 listeners (who requested them in advance), the ballroom at the Hilton was teeming over capacity with do-woppers and be-boppers by midnight.

The lack of seating brought early complaints and disgruntled disc jockeys together early in the night. Honeyradio hosts chastised the crowd for being more concerned with the comfort of their feet than the enjoyment of their ears.

"I can tell you that Honeyradio will not host another party like this, if people don't stop complaining about seating space," one frustrated radio disc jockey told the crowd from the stage.

But the music, and not the threats saved the evening for everyone involved. Bands like "The Renegades," "Gamut," and "Benny and the Jets," warmed the crowd up and got them swinging for encore performances by the famed "Larados" and "Drifters".

Crooning through such sweet golden oldies as "Barbara Ann," "Up on the Roof," and "Under the Boardwalk" the Drifters and the Larados proved that, without a doubt, some of the country's finest rock and roll was recorded and sung in an earlier decade.

Free beer, inexpensive drinks, some 50's costumes and a lot of high spirited revelry proved the evening a success and demonstrated Honeyradio knows how to get people up and on their feet - in one way or another.

BIRD SCHOOL will host its annual Fun Fair on May 7 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. There will be games and prizes, a candy store, a cake walk, a poster toss, a make-up room and a space walk at the one-day affair: Bill Heiney, an area magician, will perform several magic shows. The Fun Fair will also offer a plant room where a perfect Mother's Day gift can be found. Bird School will also host a raffle with a 13" color TV, a home computer, a BMX dirt bike and a cassette recorder as some of the prizes. Above, Jeremy Burcham, 5, poses as a smiling pirate, while Kim Gaffield, 11, clowns around and Shelly Hazlett, 6, pretends she a shy Indian. (Crier photo by Cheryl Eberwein) cancellation has arisen because of Supervisor Maurice Breen's comments to Graper that the cost of the police contract was becoming too high for the township to bear.

Council on Aging celebrates

City plans for Twp. cutoff

The city manager said he had sent Breen a letter which predicted the police service costs would go from about $413,000 to in excess of $450,000. Under the city's proposed budget the township will be paying about 46 per cent of the cost of the Plymouth Police department, Graper said.

"I had hoped in three years the township would be paying about 50 per cent, but I am satisfied that this is fair," he said.

The township gets a 30 per cent discount on its half of the cost of fringes. Graper said this was agreed to in the

Robber foiled

BY RACHAEL DOLSON

An apparent armed robbery attempt last Tuesday behind Holly's Restaurant on Ann Arbor Road was thwarted when the victim showed the felon he had no money, Plymouth Police said.

A man told police he was leaving Holly's early Tuesday morning when a lone man approached him with what he believed was a switch blade. The robber asked for his wallet, the police report said.

"The complainant showed the subject he had no money," police said. The subject then reported sworn and ran away westbound.

The suspect is described as a white male in his early 20s, 5' 10" in height, thin, with dark collar-length hair. He was wearing blue jeans and blue sneakers with white stripes.

original contract because the township's other employees have a less expensive fringe package.

"I'm prepared to accept a cancellation. I'm also prepared to negotiate with the township for a fair cost for the contract," Graper said.

If the township did create its own police service, Graper said it would be deficient in the areas of response time, professionalism and good will in the community during its initial start-up.

"Also, they would be hiring officers at between $17,000 and $20,000. Officers who would be around officers who are making $28,000 to $29,000 ... that can only last so long.

"They say you can fight off the union for three to five years ... eventually they would have the same problems we have now, you have to live with it," Graper said.

"(Breen) is a very frugal person, I believe he could start a police service for a lot less than they pay us ... but your costs are going to increase," he said.

Graper cited Brownstown as an example of a community which had decided to provide its own police services and found out how quickly costs can climb.

The township would have no capital equipment for a police department, Graper said. "The only thing they own is one car they are furnishing the department as part of the contract."

Graper cautioned the commission that the township was not at the cancellation stage yet. "The cost is going up so high the township is looking at other options. Breen is only one vote on that board, perhaps he has others with him, but a majority resolution from that honorable body (the township) is needed to revoke the contract."

CEP fetes 'Law Week'

The Canton and Salem libraries are interested in "people resources" and, as a result, have gone out of the way to bring Law Week (May 2-6) to life.

Salem librarians Marian West and Sherry Frazier, along with Canton librarian Jenny Porter, have put together a long list of guest speakers who'll discuss all aspects of the law.

Also chipping in to help ensure Law Week will be one to be remembered at Centennial Education Park (CEP) are Salem social studies teachers Audrey Etienne, Bob Thams, Warren Vandenvosch and Ethie Hazelwood.

The week gets underway Monday, May 2, which is officially designated Law Day, with landlord-tenant attorney Ed Zelmanski on the hot seat.

Tuesday's speakers include Michigan State Police trooper Bob Garcia, criminal lawyer Ron Grossman and 35th District Court Judge James Garber who'll chair a panel discussion on "drinking and driving."

Civil law attorney Randall Whately and a member of the FBI are two of the speakers who'll be on hand Wednesday.

Also Wednesday, a group from MADD, Mothers Against Drunk Driving, will take part in a panel discussion on drunk driving.

Steve Lokhen from the post office will talk about consumer mail fraud Thursday. Then on Friday, Russell McPeak, a parole officer from the Murphy Hall of Justice, will speak to a group of CEP students.

Finally, on Monday, U-M Law Schools' Dr. Andrew Watson will finish out the week-long activities by discussing the insanity plea.

All the guests will lecture at either the Canton or Salem library at various times throughout the day. Everyone is invited to come and listen to the speakers, Frazier said. For more information, call 453-3100, ext 282.

Twp. contracts MSU for police options study

BY RACHAEL DOLSON

Erik Beckman, a law enforcement professor at MSU, will conduct a feasibility study for Plymouth Township on options to the current police service contract with the City of Plymouth.

Beckman was involved as a consultant when the two municipalities initially agreed to a mutual police service. But township Supervisor Maurice Breen - distressed over the rising cost of the police contract - has called Beckman back in.

Breen told the township board Tuesday, April 19, that he and Police Chief Carl Berry had already met once with Beckman. "I plan on going ahead unless someone (on the board) objects vociferously," Breen said.

"I met last Thursday with the chief and Beckman and asked would he do a feasibility study for us? He said he would be excited to work on alternative to our current contract with Plymouth," Breen said. "He said he could be exciting and innovative in light of the fact that Plymouth Township is not locked into a police (officers union) contract."

The study will take between four to six months, Breen said, so the board could act to give notice by October 1 that it did not intend to continue the contract, if that was the decision of the board.

City Manager Henry Graper said he, Beckman, Breen and Berry plan to meet this week. "Hopefully, he (Beckman) will explain to the township the capital expenditures and other start-up costs they would need," Graper said.

This year's cost to the township for the police contract is expected to be in excess of $450,000, Graper said, compared to last year's $411,000 cost. The township's contribution represents about 46 per cent of the operating budget of the police department, Graper said.

Breen, Failor run for S'craft

The names of Mary Breen of Plymouth and Canton's Harvey Failor will be included on the ballot in the June 13 annual school elections.

The pair are among a group of seven other candidates who filed nominating petitions, looking to fill three six-year terms on the Schoolcraft Community College Board of Trustees.

Filing from Livonia are incumbents Harry Greenleaf, Rosanna Raymond and Bryan Graham.

Also on the ballot will be two from Garden City, Gerald Cox and Daryl Delabbio.

Filing from Northville are John Burkhardt and Myron Casey.

Also up for grabs will be one two year term on the board. Those submitting petitions by the 4p.m. Tuesday deadline include, from Livonia, Sharon Sarris, as well as Wesley Berry, Jr., Mark Steinhauer and Northville's Jay Christopher Rotta and Burkhardt.

or by mailing a check to a designated post office box number.

"The funds will technically be coming into a checking account, and as soon as the checks clear they will be deposited into an interest bearing account," Currie explained.

The City of Plymouth and Superior and Salem Townships, meanwhile, have reached an agreement with the schools for the collection of the summer taxes. Those governmental units can keep the funds for 10 working days, and normally make money off it by investing the cash in short-term interest-bearing accounts, Hoedel said.

"It's a big advantage to us to be able to get our hands on the money right away," he noted. "That way we can start making money on the money right away."

A Better Cemetery Program For The American Family

SOME FAMILIES STORE UP MONEY FOR THE FUTURE. When you are storing up for the future, make sure you store away pleasant thoughts and happy memories.

There are two times in life when you should not speculate, when you can't afford it and when you can.

There are two times in life when people purchase cemetery property, when they are well and happy and when in tears.

Doesn't it make good sense to purchase property that you know you will eventually need, when you have income, good health and good reasoning ability. The senior years brings lower income, poor health, medical bills and dependence upon others.

Some things we must do for ourselves and the purchase of cemetery property is one. This decision should not be left to others, especially since there is always a money shortage and insurance money never pays off soon enough to purchase the first need, the family lot.

Salem bags Mangan title...

BY MARK CONSTANTINE

The Salem boys' track team won the war and most of the battles last Wednesday in capturing the title in the 7th annual Mangan Memorial Relays.

Canton coach Mike Spitz, however, insisted his club can hold its head high following the 87-45 setback.

"The attitude of the entire team was one of let's go out and give it all we've got," he noted. "They did just that, too. Salem is a good team and it's no disgrace to be beaten by them.

"But this was a good first meet for us. Early meets like this give you a chance to look at what you've got to see if your training techniques are working."

The day went a little easier than expected for the Salem girl's track team.

The Rocks opened their season last Wednesday by beating cross-campus rival Canton, 90-33, at the Mangan Memorial Relays.

Dawn Johnson and Carol Lindsay won four and three first place medals, respectively.

Johnson won the 220-yard dash (28.3 seconds) and the long jump (16' 2 3/4"). She also anchored the winning 440-yard

Canton coach smiling, Chiefs remain unbeaten

BY MARK CONSTANTINE

A pair of victories in the last week, combined with a double triumph over Wayne last Saturday has put a smile on Canton baseball coach Fred Crissey's face.

He isn't, however, making travel plans to Eastern Michigan University (EMU) and the state Class A finals, just yet.

The Chiefs bagged win number three Wednesday at Central Middle School, crushing Walled Lake Central, 10-1.

Crissey's crew then traveled to Northville Friday, and edged the Mustangs, 3-2.

"It was a real good ballgame, as good a game as you'll ever see this early in the season," Crissey said of the Northville clash. "Our guys turned in an outstanding defensive performance.

"In fact, I've been very pleased with the way we've been playing defensively."

Canton goes after its fifth victory in a row Friday when the Chiefs host Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) rival Livonia Churchill.

Immediately following the completion of the Churchill confrontation, Crissey and company will hit the road to take on Hazel Park under the lights.

The lights went out on Walled Lake Central quickly last Wednesday. The Chiefs paraded across the plate four times in the first inning and four more times in the second to take control of the game.

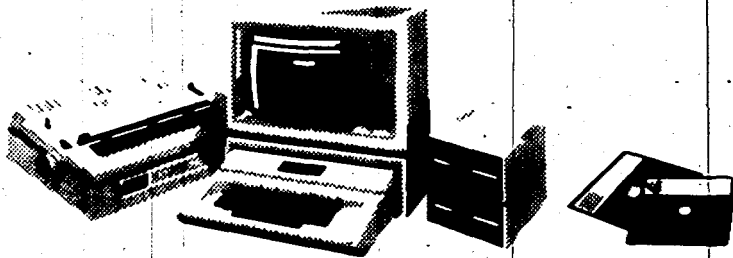

A trio of Canton hurlers benefited from the Chiefs' offensive fireworks. Mike Battaglia started and got the victory, pitching four innings of no-hit baseball.

Scott Ford got the call in the top of the fifth, and went two innings, allowing one hit and one unearned run. Bucky Blake took the mound in the seventh, and he

Salem kickers use reverse psychology

BY JOE SLEZAK

The Salem girls' soccer team used some reverse psychology Monday.

The Rocks played at home against Livonia Franklin in a wicked wind and blanked the Patriots, 3-0.

Now here's where the reverse psychology comes in. All of Salem's scoring occurred in the second half, when the Rocks were running into the wind.

Julie Tortora, a freshman, continued her hot play with the game's first goal 11 minutes into the second half. Four minutes later, Tortora set up Shelly Staszal for Salem's second tally.

Athletics teaches about life

I get tired of hearing people put down sports, in general, and athletes, in particular.

Comments I've heard recently range from: "Who cares about sports, it's just the toy department of life," to "Why not fill the sports section with just pictures, jocks can't read anyway."

Poppycock!

Athletics teaches you how to cope with life. Just that one lesson is enough to make sports worthwhile.

However, when you consider the entertainment and enjoyment millions of fans derive from watching their favorite team, then you easily can see where sports fill an important role in many people's lives.

I'm not sure why I'm writing a sports column about what athletes get out of sports because more than likely anyone reading this column is fully aware of the benefits of athletics.

However, if by some chance there are a few readers out there who think sports are for buffoons and still decided to pick up the sports section to read about what's happening on the sports scene in The Plymouth-Canton Community, then the rest of this article is for you.

You might be asking at this point, "Okay, Buster, just how do athletes learn about life?"

I could give you hundreds of examples, but I think one will suffice.

The Salem baseball dropped a tough decision to Farmington Harrison last Wednesday night and, in the process, learned that life isn't always fair.

Salem hosted the game because the weather had turned the Harrison diamond into an unplayable mess. Therefore, the Hawks were the home team, meaning the Rocks batted first.

Harrison clung to a slim 5-4 lead after as Salem came to bat in the top of the seventh and final inning. Three outs and that would be it for the Rocks.

To make a long story short, Salem scratched out a single run to knot the score and, with the bases loaded and two outs, it looked like the Rocks might be able to break open the game.

Mike Cindrach belted a long fly to center that appeared to go over the Harrison player's head. From where I was standing, it looked like the Hawk cen-fanned two, while giving up one hit.

The big sticks in the Canton line-up were carried by Marty McCarthy and Jim Dillon. Both pounded out a pair of hits, resulting in two RBI apiece.

Defense and pitching dominated the Canton-Northville showdown. In fact, all the scoring in the game took place in the sixth inning.

Mike Scarpello started the Chiefs' surge in the sixth by belting a single to left. Brian Capnerhurst then put down a bunt that the Mustang fielder went to second with, but Scarpello beat the throw.

The Chiefs didn't waste the scoring opportunity. With runners at first and second and no outs, McCarthy delivered a RBI single. A perfect bunt by Jeff Olson loaded the bases, setting the stage for Jeff Whittner's single to left that gave the Chiefs a 3-0 lead.

Mark Bennett got the nod to start the game, and he breezed along through the first five innings. In the sixth, however, three walks and a single produced a Northville run and the end of Bennett's stint on the mound.

The Chiefs were in hot water when Battaglia came on to relieve Bennett. The crafty southpaw came into the game with the bases loaded and no outs.

The first batter Battaglia faced lifted a long fly ball to right which the Chiefs' Capnerhurst flagged down. A Mustang runner sprinted home to bring the home side to within one, 3-2, but Battaglia smothered the Northville fire when he picked a man off of first to end the inning.

Ex-Plymouth gridder signs new contract

Fomer Salem gridiron great Ron Egloff recently signed a new three-year pact with the Denver Broncos of the National Football League (NFL).

Egloff made it into the NFL in 1977 from the University of Wisconsin where he was a four-year starter for the Badgers.

The Broncos have used the 6'5" 227-pound Egloff at tight end. He hauled in 10 passes for 96 yards in the strike-shortened 1982 season.

"I've always been signed to one-year contracts, ever since I've been in professional football," Egloff told a Denver newspaper. "So we had a longer term contract in mind when we started negotiations."

Egloff's parents are no longer living in the Plymouth-Canton Community, having moved to Sarasota, Fla., several years ago. Likewise, the Bronco stalwart calls Sarasota home.

Gilles sees red - Rocks lose again

BY MARK CONSTANTINE

Brian Gilles is seeing red and it has nothing to do with the color of the other team's uniforms.

The Salem baseball coach literally seethed with anger Monday night as he described his squad's 4-3 loss to Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) foe Walled Lake Western on the Rocks' diamond.

"We're just not hitting the ball at all," he fumed. "We played very poorly the first three or four innings. The problem is the kids aren't coming ready to play."

"We're not good enough to be able to get away with giving it anything less than our best. We've got no quick hands at the plate - we're hitting .186 as a team."

Gilles' group opened the season at home last Wednesday on a sour note, dropping a 6-5 decision to Farmington Harrison in eight innings. Then on Saturday the Rocks hosted Livonia Franklin and broke into the win column by downing the visitors twice, 4-3, 7-3.

"I'll tell you we're lucky to be 2-2," Gilles said sarcastically. "We're also seeing good pitching, too. Many people picked us to be right there for the league title, and they are all throwing their best pitchers at us."

The Rocks get back into action tonight (Wednesday) at home against Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) Lakes Division rival Livonia Stevenson.

Friday afternoon Gilles and company head to Farmington for a WLAA encounter with the Falcons, and then host Redford Union Saturday for a pair of non-league games.

Rick Berberet and Dan Carlson wore the heroes' robes in the Rocks' first victory over Franklin.

Berberet went all the way on the mound for Salem, allowing three runs on seven hits while fanning 10 on his way to his first triumph of the young season.

Carlson, meanwhile, blasted a long three-run home run to left-center in the third inning to put the Rocks ahead, 3-1.

The winning run crossed the plate in the fifth courtesy of Todd Riedel. Barry McNamara started the rally when he made it to second base after the Franklin centerfielder bobbled his fly ball. Riedel stepped up to the plate next and he lashed a single to right, scoring McNamara.

Dave Haut got the starting call in the nightcap, and his performance left a sweet taste in Gilles' mouth.

"That was his first start and, after giving up three runs in the first inning, he settled down and pitched a great game," Gilles noted. "You have to give our pitching coach, Tom Willette, some of the credit."

"Willette has worked hard with Dave and it showed out there on the field."

Salem found itself down, 3-0, coming to bat in the bottom of the first, but singles by Tom Moore, Riedel and Dave Slavin, plus a throwing error netted the Rocks a pair of runs, catapulting the home side back in the game.

The Rocks took the lead for good in the third. Mike Cindrich walked, stole second and crossed the plate when Chris Mowers belted a double.

A shot off the bat of Cindrich that didn't go right at a Harrison player but instead went over the head of the Hawk centerfielder could have meant victory for the Rocks, but unfortunately for the Salem faithful the umpire ruled the enemy fielder made the catch.

Cindrich's blast came in the seventh and final inning with two outs and the score knotted at 5-5. It appeared from the infield that the Hawk fielder played the ball on one hop, allowing two Rocks to cross the plate as the Harrison player turned and whipped the ball towards the plate.

However, the umpire, who neglected to leave the infield to get a better view of the play, ruled Cindrich out, effectively ending the Salem rally which had netted the Rocks the tying run.

Cindrich's drive to center that the Hawk centerfielder allegedly caught ended the inning. McNamara then set down the Hawks in order in the bottom of the seventh, setting the stage for the extra play.

The next time up, however, Harrison walked away, literally, with the triumph. A walk, a bad-hop single, a sacrifice bunt and another walk, this one intentional, loaded the bases for the visitors.

Chief netters break out gate fast, knock off pair of rivals

The Canton boys' tennis team is undefeated in two matches, and veteran Chief net coach Jim Hayes isn't complaining.

Hayes' honchos beat up on Farmington Monday afternoon, sending the Falcons home saddled with a 5-2 loss.

Last Wednesday the Chiefs hosted Walled Lake Central and blitzed the Vikings, 6-1.

The Chiefs have won both matches at home and the Chiefs will have an opportunity to make it three in a row at the Centennial Education Park (CEP) courts this afternoon (Wednesday) when Hayes' club will host North Farmington.

Livonia Franklin ventures into Chief territory tomorrow (Thursday) as Canton enters the heart of its schedule.

Jonas Palm manned the number one singles spot for the Chiefs Monday, and the Swedish foreign exchange student won in three sets, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2.

The top four Canton singles performers, Ron Austen, Rayn Lademan and Mike Minton, along with Palm, all triumphed.

Adding the Chiefs' final point was the doubles duo of Todd Garrett and Tim Feldcamp.

end for most of the first 45 minutes. Farmington only got two shots the entire first half.

Alice Shob and Pat Phillips divided the time in goal for the shutout. "They played outstanding," said Lonigro. "They're understanding the mechanics of the game. I'm really pleased with them."

Friday Canton traveled to Northville for a make-up game with the Mustangs, which turned to be Canton's opener. The home side ended up beating the Chiefs, 5-1.

Canton's lone goal occurred when Northville's goalie tried clearing the ball. But instead of booting the ball out of danger, she gave it to Canton's Lori Engel who capitalized on the opportunity.

"They did quite well playing their first game together," said Lonigro.

Canton will play at the Schoolcraft Invitational this Friday and Saturday at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

"Too bad we don't have a game before Schoolcraft (Invitational)," said Lonigro. "As a team, they're working much, much better together."

Lindsay's other two medals came in the 330-yard low hurdles with a time of 52.8 seconds and in the mile relay with a time of 4:31.64. Also on that relay was Shelly Simons, Mary Beth West and Sue Balconi.

Salem had three other double medalists. Cheri Muncio captured the shotput and the discus with efforts of 31' 6" and 102', respectively, while Cindy McSurely won the 110-yard low hurdles (17.0) and the high jump (4' 10"). In addition to her relay first, Simons won the 880-yard run in a time of 2:42.1.

Erica Bashor (mile run, 6:14.1) and Laurie Swierb (two mile run, 13:43.6) also won for the Rocks.

Canton, meanwhile, only won two events. Newcomer Kim Bennett took both the 100-yard dash (12.3) and the 440-yard dash (1:06.6).

"It was a good beginning meet," said Thomann, the Salem coach. "We told our runners at the beginning of the season that the times weren't important right now. We were interested in places.

"Our times will get better," added Thomann.

At the Tiger Relays on Saturday, the Rocks tied for first with host Belleville with 76 points. Canton was ninth out of 12 teams with 13 points.

Salem journeyed north with three first place trophies. The discus relay of Muncio, McSurely and Whittaker combined for a length of 267 feet. Bemiss, Johnson and Nancy Smith won the long jump relay by collectively jumping 45' 9 1-2". Salem also took the title in the two mile relay with a time of 10:57.4. Running was Balconi, Bashor, Amy Miyazaki and Simons.

The Chiefs took third in the distance medley, fifth in the shuttle hurdle relay and sixth in the 440-yard relay.

Lingg leads way in Rock Mangan Relay triumph

Whatever training techniques Salem coach Gary Balconi and his assistants are using on the Rocks seem to be working just fine, thank you.

The Rocks walked off with 12 of 16 first in the event, including a pair of victories by senior tri-captain Dan Lingg in the pole vault (13-0) and the long long jump (21-7).

Canton had a double winner of its own in Elijah Rogers. He crossed the finish line first in the 100-yard dash (10.34) and the 440 (54.4).

Both units hit the road Saturday heading for the Tiger Relays in Belleville, and neither the Rocks nor the Chiefs managed to come away with a victory in any of the events.

The Belleville get-together is now ancient history as far as Balconi is concerned as he prepares his unit for an early season showdown tomorrow (Thursday) with Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) Lakes Division foe Livonia Stevenson.

"This could very well be the toughest meet of the season," Balconi noted. "I've told the guys this might be for all of it if we can beat them."

Canton, meanwhile, kicked off its league dual meet campaign yesterday by hosting Livonia Churchill.

Salem and Canton will meet again Saturday when both take part in the Wayne Memorial Relays. The Chiefs appearance will mark the first time they've sent a squad to the event.

Individuals who captured firsts for the Rocks in the Mangan get-together included Jeff Spencer (discus, 125-10); Mike White (high jump, 5-6); Arvinder Sooch (120 high hurdles, 15.54); Dan Allinger (330 low hurdles, 43.4); Karl Gansler (880, 2:14.2); Jeff Arnold (220, 24.9) and Frank Brosnan (two mile, 10:30).

The 440 relay unit of Lingg, Arnold, Matt Broderick and Glen Medalle as well as the 880 relay foursome of George Condash, Dave Sivaki, Sooch and Marc Tindall topped their Canton counterparts.

Also, the mile relay team, consisting of Gansler, Dan Harkness, Sooch and Tindall came away with a victory.

Besides Rogers, Canton's winners included Anton Ivezaj (shot, 43-10) and Ralph DeCosty (one mile, 4:49.3).

Another Chief who triumphed but didn't get credit for the victory was sophomore Bryant Gattos. Spitz had him jump in the junior varsity competition and he cleared 5-8, two inches higher than the varsity winner.

The top Salem finisher in Belleville affair, the discus relay foursome of Spencer, Keith Urban and Dan Hasley, managed to bring home a silver medal.

However, one of the highlights of the meet as far as Balconi was concerned was the performance of the Rocks' four mile relay foursome.

Scott Steiner (4:56), Brad Haertel (4:57), Skip Whittaker (4:57) and Brosnan (4:49) raced to a third place finish in the event.

"That's the first time Salem has had four runners under four minutes in a long time," Balconi said. "I was pleased with the distance men's performance overall, and I think that can be attributed directly to distance coach Tom Trusdale's work."

Salem did manage to work its way into fifth place in the 11-team competition, accumulating 41 points. Belleville captured the title in its own event, while Canton took seventh with 15 points.

The highest Chief finisher, the distance medley unit of Steve Grady, Jim Wallace, Mike Thompson and DeCosty, battled its way to a third place finish, bringing a smile to Spitz's face.

"Ralph ran the anchor leg and had to make up 40 yards to get into third place and it was nice the kids were able to take home some hardware."

Offsides: Sports teach athletes about life terfielder picked up the ball on one bounce.

He wheeled and whipped the ball back in to the infield as two Rocks crossed the plate - indicating he also knew he'd picked up the ball on a bounce - but the umpire, who had remained on the home plate side of second base, raised his right hand indicating an out.

Needless to say Salem coach Brian Gilles vehemently protested the call. It was to no avail, however, the call stood.

The Rock players were bitterly disappointed, of course, but they still had to pick up their gloves and take their positions in the field.

Gilles and his troops know the umpire has the final say, whether he's right or wrong, and just because they think he's wrong doesn't mean he's going to change his mind or that they shouldn't continue playing.

Besides, trying to change an unchangeable situation is like trying to knock down a brick wall with your head. About all you'll get is a headache.

Life is very much like that. There are many times we run into problems we think are unfair and, if through prior experiences you've learned to cope with unfair situations, then you're better able just shake it off and keep on going.

Like an old football coach of mine used to say: "When the official says you're out of bounds, you're out of bounds, it's as simple as that."

Unfortunately, many people in all walks of life haven't learned that lesson. Life is full of officials and umpires and, if we'd all learn to accept it when an official tells us we're out of bounds, it would be safer to walk the streets at night.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH BOARD OF TRUSTEES - SPECIAL MEETING TUESDAY, APRIL 19, 1983

The meeting was called to order by Supervisor Breen at 7:34 P.M., followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. All members were present except Mr. West who was on vacation.

There were no objections raised to the Supervisor reversing the order of the agenda. Ms. Bennett was present to represent Tkacz and Associates. A copy of a redesigned tentative design for Fire Station I was given to each Board member for their perusal and study. The plan had been revised to meet further requirements of the fire department.

Since this item was for information only, a decision will be made as to the plan being acceptable or not at another meeting.

Mr. Breen advised the Board that the City Manager of Plymouth is preparing a report regarding the police contract which will be sent to the Township and officially brought before the Board at the April 26, 1983 meeting. The report will incorporate formal requests from the City regarding the police contract and will probably ask for a higher rate. Study will be done on another way of providing police services.

Mr. Breen reported it was necessary to extend to General Fund employees the same health insurance and long term disability insurance as was ordered given to the firemen in the arbitration award because that was the only way the Township could obtain them.

Mr. Breen had no formal 1983 First Quarter Budget Report. It will be given later.

Mr. Mark Chmielewski, Certified Public Accountant, and Mr. Joseph Heffernan, Certified Public Accountant, from the firm Plante & Moran, were present to give major detail of the audit of the Charter Township of Plymouth for the Calendar Year 1982, and to answer questions of Board members.

Mr. Chmielewski went over the combined balance sheet of all general fund types and account groups; the combined statement of revenues, expenditures and changes in fund balance in all general governmental fund types; the combined statement of revenues and expenditures-budget and actual of all general governmental fund types, the statement of income and retained earnings in the Water and Sewer Fund and the changes in the financial position of the Water and Sewer Funds. A compliance report on the use of Federal Revenue Sharing Funds were submitted as well as the management letter.

A true copy of the auditor's report together with the management letter and the compliance report on the use of Federal Revenue Sharing Funds is available for inspection in the Clerk's Office at 42350 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth, Michigan, from 8:30 A.M. to 5:00 P.M., Monday through Fridays.

Mrs. Hulsing moved that the Special Meeting of the Board of Trustees be adjourned at 8:51 P.M. Supported by Mr. Pruner. Ayes all.

Accepted by Maurice M. Breen, Supervisor

Respectfully submitted, Esther Hulsing, Clerk

These minutes are a synopsis of the official minutes. Minutes are on file in the Clerk's office.

The meeting was called to order by Supervisor Breen at 7:30 P.M., followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. All members were present.

On Page 3, Item 2, after Mid-Rise Zoning, Mr. Horton asked to have inserted that, "Mr. Horton pointed out that there would be a problem in either a Mid-Rise or Industrial Zoned district with a car dealership. A 'conditional use' would have to be requested." Mrs. Fidge moved approval of the minutes of the Regular Meeting of March 22, 1983, as amended. Supported by Mr. Pruner. Ayes all, except Mr. Breen, who abstained as he was absent from that meeting.

Mrs. Hulsing asked that the March 1983 D.P.W. Report be added to the agenda as Item K. 1. (a) 3, Thomas Hollis, D.P.W. Superintendent. She requested that Item H. 1 (a), Planning Commission, be removed from the agenda. L. Elizabeth Seely, of Omnicon of Michigan, had requested that Item J. 2.

Sloppy describes Canton win

BY JOE SLEZAK

Sloppy is a good word to describe the Canton softball team's 7-4 victory over Farmington Monday on the Chiefs' field.

In Canton's half of the sixth, alone, the Falcons committed four passed balls, two errors, walked three Chiefs and gave up two stolen bases.

However, through all of the mess, Canton only scored two runs.

Canton's opened the scoring in the first inning, as Lou Ann Hamblin scored from second on a Ranae Edwards bunt that was thrown away.

Hamblin accounted for a pair of run in the second inning when she laced a double. Farmington got one back in their half of the third.

Canton pushed across lone runs in the third and fifth innings, but Farmington edged to within one in the top of the sixth, via a Michelle Ingalls double with two aboard. One of those runs were unearned off of Canton hurler Janine Carpenter.

Carpenter pitched all seven innings, allowing six hits, seven walks and striking out 11. She looked particularly tough in the fourth inning, fanning three Falcons in a row.

The Chiefs pounded out 10 hits, stole five bases and only allowed one hit in a 14-1 win over Northville. The game was stopped after four and a half innings because of the mercy rule.

Friday's match was scheduled to be played at Canton, but because of a large mound of dirt in centerfield, the game was played at Salem's diamond.

Canton pitcher Janine Carpenter struck out eight batters, while walking five and allowing one hit. The one run was unearned. "For the first game, she did real well," noted Canton coach Max Sommerville.

"The kids are real enthusiastic. I just hope we can keep the enthusiasm," said Sommerville. "The team as a whole worked hard this spring. We're eager."

Canton exploded for five runs in the first. The Chiefs capitalized on four miscues and two passed balls.

The Mustangs got one back in the top of the second on an error and thier lone hit, a triple.

In Canton's half of the second, Kathy Young nailed a bases loaded double to drive in two runs. Missy Aiken followed by doubling in Young and Carpenter laced another double to bring in Aiken. The score at that point was 9-1. Carpenter was moved ahead to third and scored on a Tami Budlong sacrifice fly.

The scoring was made complete in the bottom of the third. Lou Ann Hamblin walked, stole second and moved to third on a Ranae Edwards single. Edwards stole second and Young walked to load the bases with only one out. Carpenter then drilled a triple to make the score 13-1. She scored on a single by Aiken.

Canton was aided by the fact that they were issued 10 walks. Only one of their six stolen base attempts were unsuccessful and four of their runs were unearned.

Canton is scheduled to play at Livonia Franklin this afternoon (Wednesday) at 4 p.m.

SALEM BOYS' Track coach Gary Balconi (background, pointing) was pleased with his team's performance at both the Mangan and Tiger Relays. He said his club is improving with each meet, and he expects with hard work the youngsters will continue to improve. (Crier photo by Rick Smith) minutes left in the match, Maureen Dazer was set up by Staszal for the game's final goal.

"We turned around (into the wind) and played better," said Salem coach Ken Johnson. "I was really nervous. When you have a wind, it's tough."

Johnson was very pleased with the efforts of Staszal, an all-state pick a year ago, and Tortora up front. "Last year, we didn't have much support to go with Staszal," said the native Englishman.

Such is definitely not the case thus far this season. Tortora has now scored four goals and added an assist in only two varsity games.

Johnson was also happy with the play of defenders Robin Brandt and Colleen O'Connor, along with goalkeeper Sarah Wallman.

The Rocks, now 1-0-1, will host Livonia Stevenson this afternoon at 4 p.m. After that they will participate in the 12-team Schoolcraft Invitational on Friday and Saturday at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

Ex-Canton star stops Rocks

McNamara then proceeded to walk the next Hawk batter on four straight pitches, this time not intentionally, to hand Salem a season-opening loss.

An error by Rock leftfielder Dave Haut in the first inning of Monday's game allowed the Warriors to jump out in front, 1-0.

Salem came right back in the bottom of the inning to claw out a run. Tom Shaw drew a walk and came home after the Western third baseman threw away a slow grounder hit by Mike Cindrich.

Barry McNamara took the hill for the Rocks and his battery-mate, Dave Slavin, staked his pitcher to a 2-1 lead in the third when he stroked a drive over the centerfield fence.

The long ball derby continued in the fifth when a walk and a home run put the Warriors out in front again, 3-2.

Slavin scored the tying run in the sixth, touching the plate following a long sacrifice fly to left by Shaw. Slavin found himself in position to score after he belted a single, Dan Carlson hit another base hit and McNamara sacrificed both runners to second and third.

Western took the lead for good in the top of the seventh, scoring with two outs on a single and a double. Salem had a chance to get back in the game in its half of the inning, loading the bases with one out, but a strike out and a fly out to right spelled defeat for the Rocks.

Potent Rock hitters still pounding ball

BY JOE SLEZAK

Once again, the Salem softball team possessed a potent offense.

The Rocks stretched their record to 4-0 on the road Monday, scoring 15 runs. Walled Lake Western, however, scored nine.

"If we were going to get some errors, I'm glad we hit today," said Salem coach Rob Willette.

Salem pounded out 18 hits and committed six errors in the process.

The Rocks' Mary Pryslak had another hot day, belting three home runs in her first three at-bats. She also hit a single to up her day's totals to four-for-five, including six RBI.

Pitcher Diane Murphy went three-for-five with two RBI. Cheryl Viele and Terri Lesniak also drove in two runs.

"We started out good, but we went bad and then settled down," said Willette.

Salem scored seven in the first two innings, but the Warriors fought back to notch six in their half of the second inning to make a game of it.

"If we could only leave that inning out," said Willette.

The Warriors scored three runs in the bottom half of the sixth inning, but Salem came right back to cross the plate six more times to pad their lead to four, 13-9.

Murphy pitched all seven innings, scattering seven hits and striking out one. She also walked three batters.

In the opener last Wednesday, Salem shutout Farmington Harrison, 6-0, at home.

Diane Murphy went all the way, scattering four hits for Salem.

The Rocks jumped on Harrison in the first inning. Debbie Glomski led off with what should have been an easy ground out, but the cold and opening day jitters got to the Hawk's third baseman, who threw the ball away and Glomski went all the way to second. Sarah McKenna doubled and Glomski scored to make it 1-0, Salem.

Then with the bases loaded with Rocks in the third, Harrison pitcher Chris Witte walked three straight batters to put the Rocks up, 4-0.

In the bottom of the fourth, Salem got their final two runs. Cheryl Viele hit a single, driving in McKenna from third and Pam McBride from second.

Saturday, Salem travelled to Novi to play a doubleheader and came home big winners.

In the first game, Salem erupted for 12 runs in the fourth inning to insure an 18-1 win, which was stopped after five innings because of the mercy rule.

The Rocks sent 18 batters to the plate during the rally.

Murphy pitched all the way, only allowing one hit. She struck out one, walked two and allowed an earned run.

McKenna went two for three, Viele went two for four and Mary Pryslak went two for four.

In the nightcap, Terri Lesniak scattered four hits and the Rocks won again, 7-2.

A scientific whiz kid

Sanjoy Mukerjee understands physical science.

He also understands the questioning minds of great thinkers.

Sanjoy, 13, a Canton resident and former Erickson Elementary School student recently won first place honors in the Science and Engineering Fair of Metropolitan Detroit.

Sanjoy's winning experiment, entered in the physical science category, examined a scientific theory which was disputed between two scientists, Proust and Berthollet.

Zinc and hydrochloric acid were used in Sanjoy's experiments. Through a series of 10 tests, he proved that these two substances combine in constant proportions regardless of the amount of material used.

"I was able to prove Proust's theory," Sanjoy said. "My experiments came out very close to his original findings."

Sanjoy, a 7th grade student at Detroit Country Day School, said his chemistry teacher brought the question to his attention. He worked on the problem and entered his results in the science fair.

Sanjoy's experiment took him four months to conduct. It will be displayed at malls in the area to encourage other students to enter the science fair in the future.

"I feel really good about winning," he said. "I want to become a surgeon someday."

The science fair was held at Cobo Hall March 13, 14, 15, and 16 and involved students in grades seven through 12.

See Atlantis through puppets

Have you ever wondered what the legendary lost city of Atlantis may have been like?

The Plymouth Theatre Guild and the Theatre West Virginia will show you, first hand, when they travel to an island where the fabled city is located May 2 at 7 p.m.

Through the magic of Plymouth's own master puppeteer, Donald C. Watkins, Atlantis is brought to life in the explorations of 12-year-old Jennifer.

In this marionette production, Watkins and his assistant John Sarris will maneuver the puppets past sea monsters and through the gateway into Atlantis.

"Gateway to Atlantis" is the first production Watkins has written completely from his imagination. The two previous years' marionette plays were adapted from other works.

The puppet show will be held in the Central-Middle School gym. The show is being presented for the benefit of The Plymouth-Canton Community.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT:

Holy Spirit, you who make me see everything and show me the way to reach my ideal. You who give me the Divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done me and you who are in all the instances of my life with me, I in this short dialogue, want to thank you for everything and confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you, no matter how great the natural desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual Glory. Thank you for the love you've shown towards me and my loved ones.

Pray this prayer for three consecutive days without asking you wish. After the third day your wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted.
