Artley wins school seat on 5% turnout

Precinct by precinct results...pg. 7

BY MARK CONSTANTINE

Ninety-five per cent of the Plymouth-Canton voters failed to show up at the polls Monday to cast a vote in the annual school elections.

Unofficially, only 2,188 of the 44,000 registered voters in the district cast ballots in the school board race.

Incumbents Thomas Yack and Roland Thomas easily won in their bids to retain their four-year seats on the board, garnering 1,285 and 1,276 votes, respectively.

In the battle for the single two-year post, David Artley with 1,112 votes had no trouble out-distancing his opponents.

Thomas and Yack split the vote right down the middle with each winning seven precincts and tying in Pct. 5 at Allen Elementary School.

Percentage-wise, Yack pulled down 59 per cent of the vote to Thomas' 58 per cent.

Artley swept all 14 precincts and the absentee ballot voting. Fifty-one per cent of the voters who headed to the polls cast

7 file for 4 City seats

Seven residents filed nominating petitions for four open seats on the Plymouth City Commission by the Tuesday 4 p.m. deadline.

If nine or more candidates had filed by the 4 p.m. deadline Tuesday, the city would have held a primary on Aug. 2. But with only seven candidates running, city voters will not have to go to the polls until the Nov. 8 general election.

Incumbents Eldon Martin and Ronald Loiselle returned their petitions and challengers Mary Ellen McKercher, Mary B. Childs, Gregory Green, Norman Tritten and Jerry Vorva have entered the field as well.

Three residents drew petitions but did not return them—current City Commissioner Karl W. Gansler II, William J. Hayes and W. Edward Wendover. Commissioner Marl Wehmeyer was not eligible to run again.

"The top three vote-getters in November will receive four-year terms and the fourth will receive a two-year seat.

Six seats are open on the Plymouth Library Board but only six candidates have filed petitions. Barring a successful write-in candidate, the six will run in November merely to determine who will get which seats.

Top two vote-getters will receive three-year seats, the next two will receive two-year posts and the final two will be elected for one year only. Candidates for the library board are: Frances Loiselle, Mary Ann Prchlik, Raymond Masters, Margaret Dunning, Catherine Ann Doetsch, and Nancy J. Sharp.

"OH, HOW I LOVE A PARADE!" Meredith Whalen of Canton enjoyed Sunday's Country Festival parade despite the steamy heat. The parade featured over 100 entries and moved along flawlessly. For more Country Festival news, see pages 23 to 25. (Crier photo by Rick Smith)

Breen leading Schoolcraft board race

BY MARK CONSTANTINE
Plymouth Township's Mary Breen apparently will join Canton's Mike Burley on the Schoolcraft Community College Board of Trustees.

Unofficial results show Breen leading the way in the race for one of three six-year terms on the SCC board with 18 per cent of the vote.

Also, incumbents Harry Greenleaf and Rosina Raymond appear to have captured spots on the seven-member board. Greenleaf picked up 14 per cent of the vote, while Raymond garnered 13 per cent.

Sharon Sarris had no trouble out-running the field in the showdown for the one two-year term that was up for grabs. She accumulated 10 per cent of the vote.

In the Plymouth-Canton Community, Breen picked up 1,225 votes, while Greenleaf and Raymond notched 994 and 736 votes, respectively.

Overall, Breen totaled 4,060 votes to 3,307 for Greenleaf and 3,080 for Raymond.

Sarris walked off with 749 of the votes in the Plymouth-Canton district, while overall 2,995 cast ballots for the Livonia businesswoman.

Canton's Harvey Failor finished a distant sixth in the six-year race with 785 votes, including 284 from The Plymouth-Canton Community.

5 vehicle smash injures 3

BY RACHAEL DOLSON

A five-vehicle accident Friday on Ann Arbor Road near the C and O railroad overpass injured three drivers, one of them seriously.

Ronald D. Logan Jr. of Livonia and Roger L. Aho of Plymouth were transported to Oakwood Hospital Canton Center. Aho was released later that day, but Logan was stabilized and then transferred to St. Mary's in Livonia, a hospital spokesman said.

John V. Mayer II of Canton sought medical treatment on his own, police said.

Police said Logan's motorcycle was westbound on Ann Arbor Road and crossed the double yellow line, attempting to pass another vehicle. Mayer saw Logan's motorcycle coming in his lane and attempted to get over to the curb lane, police said, but hit a car driven by Robert Fry Jr. of Canton.

Mayer's car then swerved into Logan's, police said. Mayer's car "was out of control and hit the south curb then went back across the roadway hitting" two more westbound vehicles, police said.

Those cars were driven by Aho and Frederick Wilson Lars of Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth, according to the police report.

Logan was cited by police for reckless driving and driving with an expired operator's license.

Twp. meeting on separate police force

A Wednesday, June 22 special meeting has been scheduled by the Plymouth Township Board to consider establishment of a separate police force.

A preliminary report from consultant Erik Beckman recommended that the township strongly pursue establishing an independent police department.

Township Supervisor Maurice Breen said the special meeting would be in the committee-of-the-whole format to allow freer discussion on the report, and related items such as financing and housing of the possible police department.

The City of Plymouth has asked for further negotiations on the existing contract, Breen says. Any new proposals from the city will be discussed Wednesday, he says.

Beckman's report says the township would probably have to contract with other agencies for dispatch and jail services.

In other action, the board okayed a federal grant application which could finance renovations to the BPW garage to convert it into office space for a new police department.

their ballot for him. Roberta Woolard trailed Yack and Thomas in the race for the four-year seat, picking up 532 votes. The other candidate in that race, Harry Stearnes, finished with 442 votes.

Nancy Quinn held down the second spot with 495 votes in the showdown for the two-year position captured by Artley. Karen Murphy also made a run for the two-year slot and she accumulated 304 votes.

"I'm gratified and look forward to the opportunity of serving four more years on the board," a beaming Yack said Monday night in the board offices. If he completes this term, he'll have served on the school board for 13 years.

"I'm really happy. I view my election as a measure of confidence and support from the voters, although a five per cent turnout isn't very good."

Thomas finished third in the school board race last June, but he was appointed to the board shortly thereafter when William Decker unexpectedly resigned his seat.

He said he didn't feel vindicated for being elected after coming so close the last time.

"It really didn't matter to me at all," he insisted at the board offices. "I'm confident and happy and the journey has just begun. I'm tickled, I really am because of the confidence the people showed in me with their votes."

Artley, like Thomas, found the going rough one year ago, but he vowed to stay active and involved in the schools and he said his hard work paid off.

"It's not over, believe me, it's just the beginning," Artley said softly in the board offices. "I'm very excited, and I'm ready to do what I can to make a system that is good, better."

Manor Rooms fire was arson

BY RACHAEL DOLSON

The fire two weeks ago at the Manor Rooms on Ann Arbor Trail is being investigated as an arson, Fire Chief Roy Hall said.

Laboratory tests on samples taken at the Manor Rooms indicate an accelerant was present in the area of the fire, Hall said.

"Capt. Al Matthews (of the fire department) and Lt. Henry Berghoff (police department) are reviewing the whole case — talking to every witness again," Hall said.

The fire chief said it will be a while before he gets a written report from the Michigan State Police crime lab.

"All I have now is a verbal phone conversation confirming that accelerant was used. I don't know if it was just in room 14 or all over," the Chief said.

Room 14, at the front of the residential hotel on the second floor, is where the fire officials believe the blaze started.

Cops cut off negotiations

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

The Plymouth Police Officers Association has broken off re-negotiation of its current contract with the city.

"We're being used as a political football," said Gerry Radovic, business agent for Police Officers Association of Michigan (POAM).

Radovic said he'd been told that ongoing discussions between the city and Plymouth Township over the future of police services meant "There's only one chance in 20 we could keep the contract (between the city and township)."

"We're not going to be caught in the middle of this anymore. They've got enough political problems themselves," Radovic said. "When they resolve them, then we'll talk."

The union agent informed the city Thursday that the POAM would no longer continue renegotiating. He said he wanted Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen brought into the negotiations.

Radovic admitted that the union's refusal to make concessions could near a layoff of eight policemen — half the union's membership. "We're prepared to take layoffs if we have to."

But, the union spokesman said, "what I heard was that the chief (Carl Berry) and one lieutenant were going to the township (if it sets up its own department) ... so that could avert a couple of layoffs."

Berry, still under pressure from the city to move into the city from the township before Oct. 1 said he has had no offer of a township police job.

Canton Twp. still battles dusty road conditions

BY CHERYL EBERWEIN

In the beginning, there was dust....

In the end, at least in Canton, there may still be dust despite the efforts of residents, board members and legislators to amend the situation.

Dust control problems and the paving of Canton's gravel roads has been an ongoing issue with the Canton Township board for many years. Although the dust issue has heated up in the township again recently, neither the Wayne County Road Commission nor some Canton politicians see a quick and easy solution in the future.

At the June 7 township meeting, Canton residents Larry Markiewicz and Mike Plunkett asked that the board form guidelines on what residents could do to help the situation.

Markiewicz and Plunkett drafted a resident resolution which asked the Wayne County Road Commission to formulate a master plan for road improvements in the township within 60 days.

Although Supervisor James Poole said that the residents were moving in the right direction with their interest, the resolution would be unacceptable to the road commission.

"They share the same concerns," Poole said. "but they have said that they will only meet with someone from the township through our office."

Poole said that the problem with the paving issue was a lack of county funds and resident economic support for a paving program.

"No matter how many people agree with the paving problem, when it comes to the actual vote, alot of people speak out of both sides of their mouth," he said.

Poole said that he has met with the road commission on numerous occasions in the past four weeks. Paving and chloriding of the roads are not a county priority, he said. The county has no money for chloriding or paving, he added.

The county told us they would spray the roads once in '82 and not at all in '83," Poole said. "But this does not mean that the ownership or responsibility of primary Canton roads is transmitted to Canton."

Poole said that the county has made all Wayne communities an offer to pay for 50 per cent of a chloriding program. He said that all Wayne County communities will be expected to vote on the proposal within the next two weeks.

Poole said that if all of the communities in Wayne County do not agree with the proposal, the county will not settle either.

Dave Nicholson, director of economic growth in the township said that 95 per cent of the roads which needed chloriding and paving a year ago still need chloriding and paving today.

Nicholson volunteered to chair a committee which will meet with township residents to establish township priorities on chloriding and paving. The committee will work to write a resolution which is acceptable to the road commission.

Lou Sugo, director of public relations for the road commission said that the county has no money to chloride or pave township roads.

"When we have to chloride the roads in nine communities three times a summer, the cost is almost a million dollars," Sugo said. "That's a million dollars the county doesn't have."

Sugo said the road commission is still operating today on its 1974 budget of $28.2 million dollars. "We're going to benefit from the gas tax increase," Sugo said, "but we haven't seen any of that money yet."

Sugo said that the road commission is still spraying approximately 50 miles of primary county roads. He added that the county will continue to do as much chloriding as possible until new funds are generated by the gas tax.

Was fire arson?

The Plymouth Township Fire Department suspects arson in the brief blaze which burned the south side of the building at 44831 Lynn on Sunday.

The owner of the building was away at the time of the blaze and the fire was reported to the department at 12:42 p.m. by an unknown citizen, police said.

Township firefighters arrived and extinguished the blaze without difficulty, the police report said.

"It appeared the person(s) used unknown accelerant placed around a fence surrounding on air conditioning vent" to start the fire, police said.

The fence abutts against the building, the report noted.

Further investigation of the fire circumstances is planned by the township fire department, the report said.

Cabaron burned Sunday

BY RACHAEL DOLSON

A blaze Sunday at Cabaron Auto Reconditioning, 744 Wing Street in Plymouth, destroyed 20 per cent of the building and did smoke damage to four cars inside, Plymouth fire officials said.

Captain Al Matthews said samples were taken at the site and sent to the Michigan State Police Crime Lab in Northville for analysis. "The samples were submitted to the lab. We have no indication at this time what caused the fire. We have no reason to suspect arson and at this time are leaning towards an accidental cause," Matthews said.

Fifteen full-time and volunteer firemen responded to the fire call at 2:20 p.m. Matthews said. Firemen spent two hours at the scene, extinguishing the blaze and doing other work at the site.

City manager Henry Graper was at the scene and helped Cabaron owner Charles Bashawaty move vehicles parked outside to a safer location.

Four cars inside were damaged by smoke, Matthews said.

The building contains three "bays" where autos are worked on, Matthews said, and fire officials believe the blaze began in the small bay.

The building is a block structure with frame interior, Matthews said.

He said no employees were scheduled to work Sunday and the building may have been unoccupied when the blaze started.

The fire call was received on the 911 emergency line, Matthews said.

Hines mini-station reopened

BY RACHAEL DOLSON

Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano opened the Hines Park mini-station Monday morning and said the county deputies are going to help turn the park back into a family recreation area.

"This will be a central location for us to operate the park patrol. Hines Park will once again be a place for family recreation," Ficano said.

The visibility of park patrols alone, he said, should change the atmosphere of the park and prevent tragic events such as the drowning in Newburgh Lake last weekend.

"It's also financially sound for us to operate the mini-station there. When our officers took suspects downtown or to the station in Westland it took two or three hours processing time," he said. "With the mini-station it will take 45 minutes to an hour."

Ficano said he plans to have 48 officers working out of the park mini-station. "About 80 per cent of them are out there already, the rest will be assigned as soon as they are out of training," he said.

The sheriff's mounted division will start up again soon, probably by about June 30, he said. The horses will be housed at the mini-station and will require a guard at night.

"I have had excellent cooperation from the local police chiefs and officials," Ficano said. "Plymouth Township supervisor Maurice Breen has offered to get donations to feed the horses."

The mini-station will not just be open for the summer, Ficano said. "This is a permanent opening of the mini-station. Under the county charter we are required to patrol the park year-round."

Garbage contract to be renewed

The Plymouth Township Board was expected to approve a new two-year contract with Canton Recycling to collect rubbish from township homes.

Supervisor Maurice Breen has recommended that the township stay with Canton Recycling, the township's garbage collector since 1981.

"The prices offered to the township through the year 1985 keep the contract at a price level per resident pickup per month below that of the second bidder from the bid proposals of 1981," Breen said in a memo to the board.

For the first year of the contract, from July 1 of this year to June 30 of 1984, the contractor is asking for an additional 10 per cent. Canton Recycling is now receiving $2.77 per month and would like to get $3.05 per month beginning in July.

The second year would include a 5 cent per month additional charge, plus a possible increase based on cost of living.

Stan Denski, partner in the firm, said Canton Recycling would also like a house count audit in August of 1983 to have the house count verified.

CANTON RESCUE WORKERS remove an accident victim from his smashed vehicle last Wednesday. (Crier photo by Cheryl Eberwein)

Canton man hurt in collision

BY CHERYL EBERWEIN

A Canton Township man was hospitalized June 8 after the vehicle he was driving was struck by a semi-trailer truck whose driver failed to stop for a red light, police reports said.

A Canton Township rescue squad transported Gary Jerome Werner, 29 of Orchard Street, Canton to Wayne County General Hospital for possible head, neck and shoulder injuries. He was listed in fair condition.

According to police and fire reports of the incident, Richard Lee Mash, 36, of Sugar Grove Street, Dallas Center, IA, was driving his steel plating truck eastbound on Michigan Avenue at approximately 10 a.m. when the collision occurred.

Police reported that Mash failed to stop for a red light at intersection of Michigan Avenue and Haggerty Road. Werner was traveling south on Haggerty when he was hit, police said.

Mash was unable to stop his truck after hitting Werner, police said, and swerved across the median and both west bound lanes of the traffic on Michigan Avenue before coming to rest in a heavily wooded area, by the side of the road. Police added that diesel fuel was leaking from the truck's gas tank but no fire occurred at the scene.

Canton firefighters said that Mash reported he was unhurt in the incident and refused treatment.

Canton police issued Mash a hazardous citation and a $25 bond. The bond was issued because Mash has an out-of-state driver's license.

A hot couch in Canton Hall

Canton Township Hall was a hot spot June 9.

Canton firefighters reported that a couch in the staff lounge of the building caught fire and caused approximately $1,000 worth of damages.

According to fire department reports, the fire occurred at approximately 11:30 a.m. Seven firefighting units responded to the call.

The report said that upon arrival at the scene, firefighters did not see any visible signs of smoke. Canton Police Chief Jerry Cox, in the building at the time of the alarm, put out the fire with a building fire extinguisher.

Fire reports said that the building was evacuated and ventilated for smoke and dry chemical powder. The fire is currently under investigation by the fire department.

Hamburger fight injures 7

It wasn't the typical hamburger run Canton Police may be used to, and it was a little more action-packed than normal.

Canton police responded to a call from the White Castle Hamburger Stand on Ford Road in Canton June 7 at approximately 2:30 a.m. Police said they received a report of a fight in progress from the restaurant.

Upon arrival at the scene, police said they found seven subjects involved in a fight. All of the subjects were bleeding and shouting. Police officers separated the subjects to opposite sides of the restaurant and warned the subjects to quite fighting.

Police said two Dearborn subjects charged at them and the subjects on the opposite side of the restaurant, in an effort to continue fighting. Arrested for disorderly conduct were Paul Anthony Chargo, 23, of Shaddick Street in Dearborn, and Randall Leander Herndon, 23, of Payne Street, Dearborn.

Chargo's feet were later tied together in the squad car after he kicked out the back side window of the police vehicle. Police could not determine what had caused the fight but a witness said that name calling had contributed to the uproar.

Lighthouse broken into

The Lighthouse Car Wash, 41869 Ford Road in Canton, was the scene of a burglary June 3 which resulted in a loss of $350 cash, police reported. The break-in occurred at approximately 2 a.m.

Police reports said that the suspects entered the structure through an access panel at the beginning of the track which pulls vehicles into the wash. The currency was taken from an office inside the car wash.

Police said that the suspect(s) left the car wash through a doorwall on the southeast corner of the building. The owner of the business reported that burglar alarm system had been set when he left the building the previous night, and that the alarm was turned off when he returned the following day. He further told police that only a few of his employees know the code necessary to turn the alarm off.

From the Inside Looking Out

By Cheryl Eberwein

Flodin is O.K.!

In every reporter's career there are moments when the words or actions of an individual set him apart from other people dealt with on a daily basis.

In the time I've worked for The Crier, I've already experienced several moments like these. One in particular stands out.

It was one of those Canton Township meetings which everybody attended. Residents from throughout the township had packed themselves into the meeting room to complain about dust. Tempers were wearing thin as township officials explained and re-explained their position on dust control.

In the crowd was a young, particularly vocal individual. He let township officials know, in clear terms, that he was tired of dust and wanted some immediate action from the board.

"I like your spirit," John Flodin, township clerk told the man. "We need outspoken people like you to get this thing rolling. Will you call my office in the morning?"

It wasn't the first time I had seen John Flodin act or respond to comments at the township meetings which had set him apart from other officials. But it reinforced the knowledge that Flodin is, indeed, a unique township official and individual.

Flodin has worked for Canton for 30 years. In that time, he worked as the animal warden, a firefighter and a building inspector. He was elected as the township clerk in 1956 and has been consistently re-elected to the position since then.

Artfest deserves praise

EDITOR:

On Saturday, June 4, almost 7,500 people strolled Kellogg Park to view and hear Student Artfest '83, a showcase for the talent and skill of the young people of our community in the visual and performing arts.

Our sincerest thanks to each of you for this demonstration of interest and support.

Artfest '83 was a success because of the enthusiasm, dedication, commitment and outstanding contribution and teamwork of many people.

At the risk of missing someone who deserves special credit, we want to publicly thank the following:

The students, whose artwork and musical, drama and dance performances were outstanding;

A talented and skilled teaching staff;

A supportive group of building principals;

The Central Maintenance staff, Dan Minghine, director of buildings and grounds, and Corliss Mueller, secretary;

The changes which Flodin has experienced in working for the township during this period astound me. In a community which has demonstrated little continuity and stability, Flodin has provided some of both to the boards and residents he has served.

An anchor in the unpredictable waters of Canton politics, Flodin also has the unique ability to swing freely and acknowledge Canton's changes both sensibly and gracefully.

I've finally learned after seven and a half months in Canton that if Flodin seems somehow a little aloof and uninterested in Canton's meetings, it's only because he can probably predict the outcome of any discussion in nine cases out of ten. He draws on past experiences to guide the board in making future decisions.

He is one of the few board members I've witnessed who can say what is pertinent to a situation in a very few minutes. And in the heat of the worst township arguments, his sense of humor usually offers welcome relief to everyone.

Flodin was honored by the township last week for his 30 years of service. He was honored for the integrity, honesty and service he has brought to Canton. A township park was officially dedicated to him the week before.

"Serving Canton has been a privilege," Flodin said. "I've had a few words with people over the years, but mostly it has been a lot of fun and a pleasure serving this community."

All communities should find themselves blessed with a dedicated, sincere individual like Flodin.

Baseball work pays off

Everyone connected with all the baseball programs in The Plymouth-Canton Community should take a bow.

The Salem High School baseball team downed Ann Arbor Huron Saturday to capture a Class A regional title and, in the process, earn a berth in the Class A Finals.

The Rocks' appearance in the Final Four marks the second consecutive season a team from The Plymouth-Canton Community has advanced to the Class A Finals.

One year ago Canton coach Fred Crissey's crew made it all the way to the Class A championship clash before bowing out of the tournament.

Salem skipper Brian Gilles is not a stranger to the Finals, either. He directed his 1975 Salem squad all the way to the state title.

Baseball, like most athletic pursuits, isn't learned overnight. It takes long hours of practice and plenty of dedication, not to mention talent, on the parts of players and coaches to achieve greatness.

That hard work and dedication is personified in the 1983 Salem and 1982 Canton units that have proved themselves to be among the best baseball teams in the state in the past two years.

So, all you little league coaches and players out there who might be wondering if it's all worth it, just ask Crissey or Gilles, or players like Bryan Capnerhurst and Dave Slavin, they'll tell you it's all worth it.

EDITOR:

The Canton Chamber of Commerce wishes to express its gratitude to you and the staff of The Community Crier for the outstanding coverage given to all events held by our organization.

Only by making the community aware of what is happening is it possible for them to take part and make the event a success. This, in turn, allows the Canton Chamber to continue to make contributions and donations to the growing, thriving community of Canton.

We look forward to continued cooperation between the Canton Chamber and The Community Crier.

Mayor Eldon "Bud" Martin and City Manager Henry Graper;

Superintendent John M. Hoben and the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education;

Artfest patrons; Plymouth Community Arts Council, our friends from the non-public schools, you, the members of the press;

And, certainly, the Artfest leadership team from West Middle School - Lynne Lonigro, Karen Janer-Hanson and Michael Chiumento - whose tireless efforts made it possible to put everything together.

Thanks to all! See you next year on June 2 for Student Artfest '84.

Their grads attest to quality P-C- schools best in U.S.

EDITOR:

This year, 1983, is the year in which the last of our eight children graduates from high school.

For some 25 years we have had a child in the Plymouth-Canton schools, and we must not let this pass without comment.

Many changes such as Modular system, extended school year and computer education were experienced and through these and the rest of the changes we have all survived.

We feel that all our children were afforded the best opportunity for an education that is offered anywhere in the United States.

Each of them has been successful in their chosen fields. We enjoy our senior lab technician, one educator with three master's degrees, a construction contractor, our senior chemist at IBM, our nuclear power officer on a nuclear submarine, two homekeepers and housewives, and our most recent graduate is employed until college starts as an assistant to a civil engineer.

We commend you and your entire staff for a job very well done, and hope your continuing education program will afford the same opportunity for new students that was enjoyed by mine.

DONALD AND MARY SKINNER

Part-time principal a detriment Starkweather a victim

EDITOR:

So, once again, Starkweather is the victim of gross injustice!

It smacks of "Big Brotherism" when a group of uncaring and unknowledgable people can direct and mismanage the lives of a group of 260 children and parents.

Has anyone bothered to ask the teachers, parents, etc. their feelings about a switch in principals and, more importantly, ask them how they feel about having a part-time principal as we did some years ago to the total disservice of the entire school community?

It did not work them and it will not work next year!

To function at our present high level we should not be deprived of a full-time principal who has contributed so much to that level of achievement, staff contentment and parental approval and cooperation.

How can you people without knowledge of the socio-economic situation at Starkweather and its unique domestic problems in this situation possibly know what it means to lose a principal of John Howe's caliber, not to mention having someone else for half-time?

Howe understands the family situations and the problems the children face in our many one-parent homes, and the behavioral problems arising from such situations.

His empathy with the parents and, especially with the children, is well known and, of course, appreciated. It takes a special understanding, a special rapport and, most importantly, a knowledge acquired over the years to handle a school like Starkweather.

The last time we had a part-time principal this dedicated staff of secretaries, teachers, etc. held the fort and all worked together to maintain the commitment that is a mark of our school.

Not one word of praise, or thanks, or even acknowledgement came from the main office for a job well done. It will be the same this coming year with the staff continuing to protect, counsel, discipline and teach without even a nod from from the central office as to a job done well beyond the call of duty.

The Starkweather community is tired of being given the crumbs and then without even being represented or asked to accept and approve a major change and the deprivation of having a part-time principal.

What a total disservice to the children, the staff and the parents who, I might add, are the ones whose taxes keep the Plymouth-Canton school community going.

What is it about Starkweather that arouses such antipathy in the administrative ranks? Is it because we have progressively year after year continued to build the image of what a school should be -- the commitment between school and parents and staff -- our rapport with staff and parents and principal?

Nothing succeeds like success and here at Starkweather if success means such intermittent feelings, then we surely have it.

Much of it, of course, is due to our present principal who is always available to solve problems, to counsel and to just listen if need be.

Why should you want to interfere with a successful operation such as this school has?

In the federal government, if things are a success, a suspicious eye is cast. There is nothing suspicious or strange about our success -- it is the result of good, dedicated, caring and humane people doing their jobs the way they should be done -- for the benefit of the children!

And when the children benefit, the entire community and untold future generations reap the harvest of good teaching, good discipline and dedication that can never be compensated for.

Perhaps it is too late for the powers-to-be to change the course of this extremely traumatic and unwelcome situation.

But it is never too late to let you know what you are doing to a good school that has been getting better and better through the years under the supervision of our own principal -- a very caring and dedicated man.

It is too bad we don't have a shipload of tea to dump in the harbor!

P-C schools need to bend

A quality education is something we all seek for our children.

Many parents, to insure their youngsters will be educated in a certain school system, move into the community that district serves.

However, recent reports in "Newsweek" and "Time" tell a sorry tale of the inadequacies of education in general and the public school system in particular.

Unfortunately, shocking stories about young men and women who can't read or write graduating from schools across the country aren't uncommon.

Y. M. Gaekwad has read all those negative reports and he is bound and determined his son, Satyajeet, a sophomore at Salem High School, will receive the best possible education the Plymouth-Canton schools can provide.

Or at least the 14-year-old's father is trying his darrest to accomplish that goal for his son. And lest anyone gets the wrong impression, Satyajeet feels the same way, according to the elder Gaekwad.

Simply put, Gaekwad would like his son to take a pair prerequisites this summer, U.S. History and U.S. Government, so he can load up on tough electives his junior and senior year.

While Satyajeet will have no trouble enrolling in the history class, it's next to impossible for him to take the government course because the four sections scheduled to be taught this summer are full.

It seems the civics class is generally reserved for 12th graders who need the credit to get their diploma and juniors looking to get a prerequisite out of the way so they can either graduate early or take an extra elective their senior year.

Mike Homes, assistant superintendent for secondary education, admitted the district is between a rock and a hard place in a case like this.

The schools sympathize with the father's plight and even commend him for taking such an active interest in his child's education.

But, the district can only offer so many of the government classes each summer because that's all the teachers they can convince to come in and give up part of their summer to teach.

And, Homes added, we've actively pursued the question of getting more teachers to take on a class, but have simply had no luck.

So, a talented and gifted youngster like Satyajeet is left in a lurch. It doesn't hardly seem fair to me.

I also don't buy the story there aren't enough teachers out there willing to come in and make a few extra bucks during the summer. What about the layed-off teachers, can't one or two of them be called back?

The coupe de grace, however, would be if there aren't any teachers out there willing to teach a class this summer.

Whatever the case, I think it's a shame a youngster is being denied the opportunity to broaden his educational horizons.

After all, like has been said many times before by individuals much smarter than me, the children of this country are the future of this country. And the future lies in strong, quality education.

Ply. Twp. forces fast action

Act in haste, repent at leisure.

Major decisions require thoughtful consideration, deliberation and discussion.

Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen is not giving his fellow Township Board members or the public enough time to consider information on important issues -- such as a proposal to make additions to the township municipal complex to possibly house a new police department.

Consideration of federal grant application to pay for new police department offices was on the board's agenda last night. No information was included in the board's regular packet delivered Friday.

Township Clerk Esther Hulsing said she expected Breen to supply information on the grant to her Monday so she could pass the information on to the other members of the board before Tuesday's meeting.

But as of the close of business day

Monday, Breen had not prepared the information. The grant application deadline is June 25, so apparently Breen plans to hand the board the information Tuesday night and ask them to render a decision in practically the same breath.

In the past, some of the board members have complained about not receiving important information until the meeting. This week will certainly see another round of complaints.

Major decisions -- such as additions to the township hall complex -- should be thoroughly considered and discussed, not thrown before the board at the last minute.

The public, as well, has a right to learn about what is being considered before it is already signed, sealed and delivered by the elected officials of the township.

What good is a participatory democracy when the public -- and even some the elected officials -- get the information too late to participate?

Sesq. committee gets seed money

BY CHERYLEBERWEIN

They promised they wouldn't be back for another 150 years.

And Canton Supervisor James Poole admitted that he liked that part of their proposal best.

The Canton Sesquicentennial Committee received $4700 in "seed money" from the Canton Township board May 24 to continue with the township's 150th birthday plans.

Mary Dingeldey, co-chairwoman for the Sesquicentennial Committee requested $5,000 from the board to begin some of the projects the committee plans to sponsor in 1984. These include a cookbook which will highlight local recipes, a historical book on the history of Canton Township, a Crier newspaper tabloid on the Sesquicentennial celebration and a car raffle.

Dingeldey reminded the board in her written request that the committee wouldn't be back for another 150 years.

An entire year of activities is being planned to commemorate the event, Dingeldey told the board. The schedule of events had not been finalized, but she said that special plans had been made from January through October.

Dingeldey added that the Sesquicentennial Committee would like the celebration to be self-supporting. "We hope, at least, to break even," she said. "but we need some initial money up front to start out with."

"Look at this as an investment in Canton," Dingeldey told the board.

The Canton Trustees voted unanimously to financially support the committee's activities with initial funding. They requested that Dingeldey leave the money in Canton's accounts, however, and request money as the committee needs it. The seed money can be invested while not being used by the committee, Treasurer Maria Sterlini told the board, in supporting the move.

The Canton Sesquicentennial Committee will hold a meeting at 7 p.m. Monday at the Clerk's Office in Canton Township Hall.

Helping parents to cope with teens

'Toughlove' takes firm stance

BY CHERYL EBERWEIN

It's a tough balance to discover. The middle ground between being a firm parent and a loving one is an essential part of family life.

But the balancing act is not always easy. Many parents go through the experience that combination often leads them falling backwards, forwards and every way but stable.

Difficulty in achieving a solid balance between love and discipline affects many parents, said Joe Galura, an instructor and advisor at Growth Works of Plymouth. For this reason, Galura and Growth Works have started a new program, "Toughlove" in The Plymouth Canton Community Center.

"Toughlove is a national seminar group for parents who have problems handling their teenage children," Galura said. "Its whole philosophy is based upon setting an acceptable bottom line of behavior from the teenager which will be tolerated."

Galura said that parents who have problems with teenage children are common. "Toughlove", he added, is designed to help these parents realize that they are not alone in struggling with their children.

"What we're discovering with troubled kids is that there is a lot of denial by both the parent and the teen that a problem exists," commented Galura who holds a master's degree in social work.

"There is a sense of helplessness among the parents," he continued. "They really don't know what to do with their teen. By and large the kids are running the show, and the parents are so overwhelmed that they begin to clutch at anything which may seem like a change."

Stereotypes exist, he said, which seem to classify what type of home a troubled teen should come from. Broken families and divorced parents are typically thought of as very stressful teen situations.

"But you just can't blame the family structure for producing a troubled teen," Galura emphasized. "There will always be certain things in the teen's environment which will be stressful and tempting."

Growing up to be a teenager, Galura said, really doesn't have a role in society. Children are socialized, and then they emerge into adults with the "awful teen years" which are a result of this socialization. This isn't a helpful way to look at the teen years, he added.

"The juvenile justice system is like nebulae," Galura said, "and so is the school system. Discipline and a firm bottom line are important to the success of this program. Parents' efforts. The teens are playing a role in their own lives and a tough stand is needed."

Galura said that through informal "Toughlove" group sessions, he hopes that Plymouth-Canton parents who are experiencing teen problems will get together and share their experiences. "Toughlove" manuals are used as a basis for taking appropriate steps to bring balance back into the teen parent relationship.

Galura said that parents often blame themselves for their teen's behavior. "I've had a child in experience," he added that they also blame themselves for the problems they have with their children.

"It's not fair for a parent to come to grips with the fact that they love their kid, but the kid is doing something unacceptable," Galura said. "Parents often feel like they failed when their kids get into trouble, when it isn't their fault."

"Ultimately, it is the teenager who decides what actions he will take. It is the teen who decides to abuse alcohol or drugs, not the parent. But the feeling of guilt which parents have may hinder the group from forming at first," Galura said.

Galura added, however, that the program will have a ready-made group of parents who have already admitted they have a problem and that something different needs to be done to handle it.

Galura admitted that the first step, going to that first "Toughlove" group will probably be the hardest for many parents to take. But it will get easier as they begin to break through the "it's my fault" syndrome and come to grips with the necessary action.

It "Toughlove" success, Galura hopes a core group of parents will emerge and continue to develop the program. While he will act as the facilitator for the group, he said that in order for "Toughlove" to work the parents themselves, must be committed and must make it work.

"It's an exasperating experience having a defiant teen," Galura said, "but through group sharing these individuals will be able to talk about what's going on."

Growthworks, Inc. is a community youth serving organization. Growthworks provided several different services to The Plymouth-Canton Community. Galura said one of the main functions of the organization is to provide inexpensive crisis counseling to Plymouth-Canton residents.

In addition to counseling, Galura said Growthworks also offers a youth employment program and an alternative education program for those students who are having trouble in school.

Parents interested in the "Toughlove" program may contact Galura at Growth Works between 8 a.m. and 9 p.m. weekdays. Phone 455-4094 for further information and meeting times.

Library offers storytime hours

The Canton Public Library has a busy schedule of events planned for its summer patrons. Among the many programs which the library will offer throughout the summer, are the following four June events.

A pre-school storytime will be offered on Tuesdays at 10:30 a.m. or Wednesdays at 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. The sessions begin the week of June 28 and run through the week of July 27. Registration for the program is in person only on Tuesday, June 21 at 7 p.m. The program is available only to those children who did not participate in the spring storytime.

A toddler storytime is also being offered Mondays, June 27 through July 25 at 10:30 or 11:30 a.m. or 6:30 p.m. Registration for the program is in person only Monday, June 20 at 10 a.m. This is a storytime for a two-year-old with a parent accompaniment.

Graduation reflections

A poem from a parent

Graduation is a special time. It is the ending of one thing and the beginning of another. As high school students march up to receive their diplomas, they are greeted with mixed emotions. They are happy and ready to celebrate their accomplishment, sad at the idea of leaving behind many friends, yet ready and anxious to get out into the big world that lies ahead of them.

Sitting at the honors convocation at Canton High School last week many thoughts went through my mind. It doesn't seem like it was that long ago when I graduated from high school, yet in two short years my daughter will be graduating. I watched the expressions on the students faces, wondering what they would be doing 10 years from now.

When I heard my name announced as the next person to present awards, I suddenly realized (with a slight panic) that my left foot was asleep. After watching the seniors walk up and receive their awards without falling on their face, I knew I had to get my act together quickly. I somehow managed not to make a fool of myself, while wondering why dumb things happen in a serious situation. I guess that's just part of life.

When the program ended, I wanted to hug every student who was there, most of whom I had never met. In some way I wanted to let them know I was proud of them for what they had accomplished, and wish them years of happiness and success as they enter the world on their own.

There are many people who are proud of the graduating seniors. The Don Skinner family of Plymouth is celebrating the graduation of their eighth child to graduate from the Plymouth-Canton Schools.

While going through his files last week, Fred Hill found a poem written by a father about his son. The author is unknown. The same ideas could be addressed to a daughter by her parents. We want to share it with all parents and their sons and daughters.

His first big adventure

My young son started down life's highway today...it's all going to be strange and new to him for awhile, and I wish you would sort of treat him gently.

You see, up to now, he's been cock of the roost...he's boss of the backyard...his mother has always been around to repair his wounds, and I've been handy to soothe his feelings.

But now things are going to be different.

This morning he walked down the front steps, waved his hand and started out on the great adventure. It's an adventure that might take him across continents. It's an adventure that will probably include wars and tragedy and sorrow.

To live his life in the world he has to live in, will require faith and love and courage. So, I wish you would sort of take him by his young hand and teach him the things he will have to know. Teach him...gently, if you can.

He will have to learn, I know, that all men are not just, that all men are not true. But teach him also that for every scoundrel there is a hero...that for every crooked politician there is a dedicated leader...teach him that for every enemy there is a friend.

It will take time, I know, but teach him if you can, that a nickel earned is of far more value than a dollar found...teach him to learn to lose and to enjoy winning. Steer him away from envy, if you can, and teach him the secret of quiet laughter.

Let him learn early that the bullies are the easiest people to lick. Teach him if you can, the wonder of books, but also give him quiet time to ponder the eternal mystery of birds in the sky, bees in the sun, and flowers on a green hill.

Teach him it is far more honourable to fail than to cheat...teach him to have faith in his own ideas, even if everyone tell him they are wrong...teach him to be gentle with gentle people and tough with tough people.

Try to give my son the strength not to follow the crowd. When everyone else is getting on the band wagon. Teach him to listen to all men, but teach him also to filter all he hears on a screen of truth and to take only the good that comes through.

tell it to Phyllis

Teach him if you can, how to laugh when he is sad...teach him there is no shame in tears...teach him there can be glory in failure and despair in success.

Teach him to scoff at cynics and to beware of too much sweetness.. teach him to sell his brawn and brains to the highest bidder.....but never to put a price tag on his heart and soul.

Teach him to close his ears to a howling mob and to stand and fight if he thinks he's right.

Teach him gently, but don't coddle him, because only the test of fire makes the steel...let him have the courage to be impatient...let him have the patience to be brave.

Because then he will always have sublime faith in mankind.

This is a big order, but see what you can do...he's such a nice little fellow...my son.

Hands across...

Plymouth, Eng. visit links Sister Cities

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

"They're treating us like royalty."

That statement, whispered in awestruck tones by members of the Plymouth, Michigan delegation which visited Sister City Plymouth, England, typified the generosity and hospitality felt by all.

From the first official handshakes at the hotel, it was clear to the 15 visiting Plymouthites that their Sister City counterparts were happy to see the diplomatic exchange rekindled again.

It was Mayor Eldon "Bud" Martin's idea to re-establish the exchange which last occurred in 1970, when a group of some 34 Michiganders returned the honors of a 1967 visit by Plymouth, England's Lord Mayor, Frank Chapman, and his party.

But since that time -- although there have been gifts and unofficial visits -- no official parties had renewed the Sister City friendship.

Martin, who had been stationed near Plymouth, England during the war, felt it was an opportune time to pay a call for the Lord Mayor Choosing Celebration surrounding the installation of the new Plymouth, England Lord Mayor Derek Mitchell.

And the English counterparts welcomed the idea. From the word go, they put on the dog.

When the Rolls Royce purred up to the Mayflower Hotel (yes, Plymouth, England has a Mayflower as well) to pick up Martin -- followed by a fleet of black taxi cabs for the rest of the group -- it was evident that this Sister City exchange was going to go down in memory.

The English spared no effort or expense in welcoming the visiting Plymouthites.

Right from the first reception, held at the Lady and Lord Astor Home on the Hoe (the parkway along the cliff of Plymouth Harbor), the Michiganders were amazed at the common bonds they discovered had been forgotten.

The visitors were introduced to all manner of Plymouth, England officialdom -- from Lord Mayor and the Lady Mayoress, to members of Parliament, other city officers, military leaders (Plymouth, being a major port city is a key site for English military bases), to social, labor and educational leaders.

Michigan senior citizen leader Niles Beaugrand met his counterparts there. The same was true of the newspaperfolk. And it didn't take long for the antique car buffs to find each other either.

By Friday afternoon following the official Mayor Choosing Ceremony in the great Guildhall, the visiting Plymouthites felt at home amongst their hosts.

As the chain of office passed to Mitchell from outgoing Lord Mayor Reg Scott, the roots of the ceremony -- which date back to the times of Sir Francis Drake, a former Lord Mayor of Plymouth in between his round-the-world jaunts -- pointed up the tradition's importance.

But the excitement of the evening's event was mounting.

As a social event, there's nothing in Plymouth, Michigan (or for that matter, western Wayne County) to come close in comparing with the Lord Mayor's Banquet -- a formal dinner for an intimate gathering of 400 -- in the Guildhall. Derek Mitchell sure knows how to throw a party! The formal-dress affair was pure storybook.

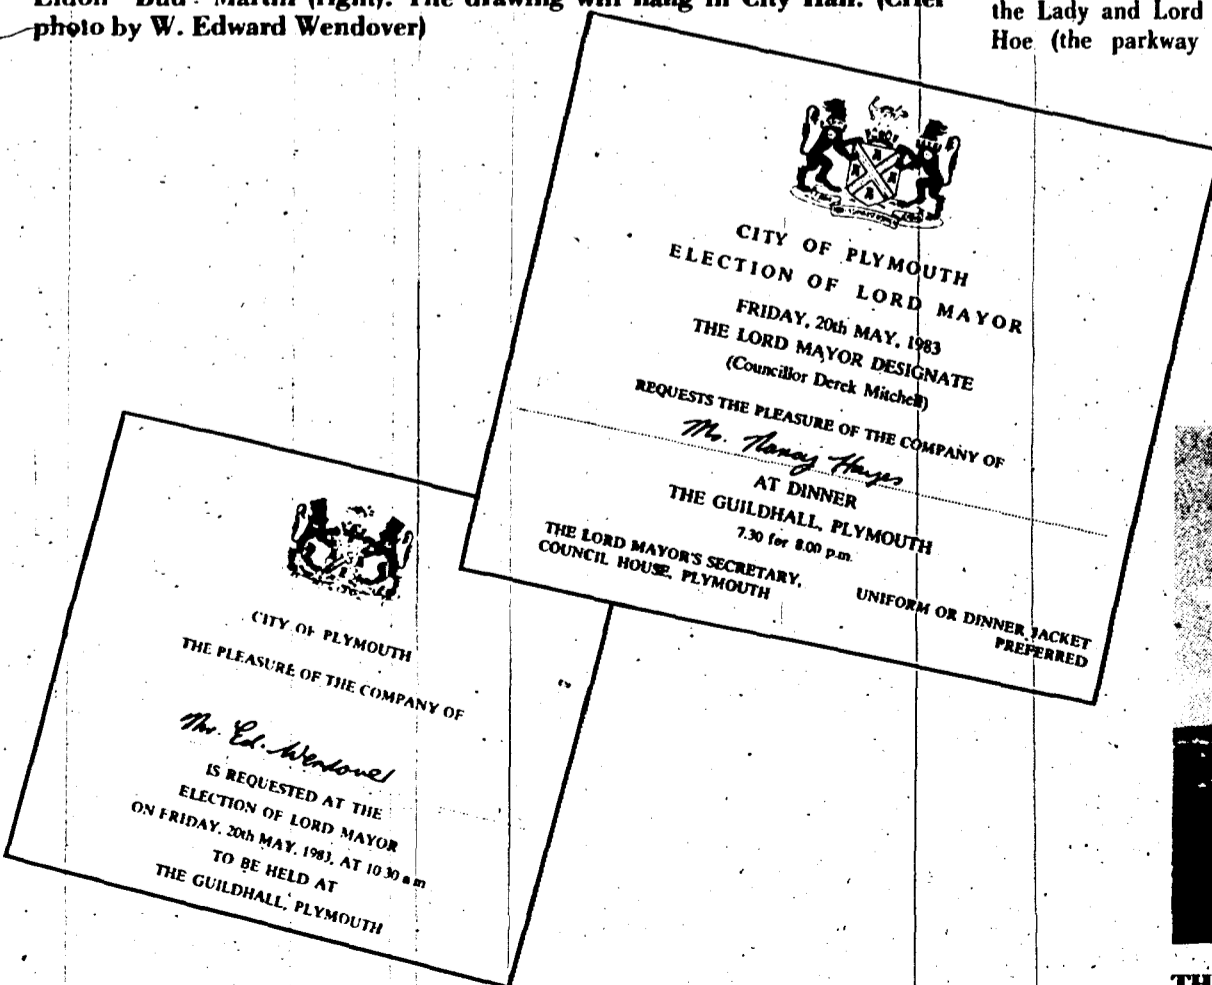

While the diners ate and drank through the courses, the highly-regarded Royal Marines Band provided the music. In a break from the standard procedures at the ceremony, Martin was recognized and presented Mitchell with an engraved silver ice bucket from the Michigan group.

Several speeches marking the start of the Lord Mayor's new term also welcomed the Americans.

Once the toast to the Queen was completed, out came the cigars and then, adjournment for brandy.

On the next day, Saturday, the Lord Mayor's Day was marked by a 138-unit parade along the Hoe, which the Michigan group watched from the official box along with Mitchell and his party.

Next, in a chartered double-decker bus,

THE MAYFLOWER sailed from here in Plymouth, England.

the visitors set out through the countryside for a tour of the area. The highlight of that trip was stopping for cream tea at Buckland Abbey - the former home of Sir Francis Drake.

That evening, the Plymouth, England officials treated the Sister City contingent to a performance of the Berlin Symphony Orchestra, followed by dinner, at the brand new Theatre Royal next to City Hall.

On Sunday morning, the visitors attended the Lord Mayor's Church Service at St. Andrew's Church, which is the Mother Church of Plymouth, England.

Following the services at which the Lord Mayor is blessed by God, the Michigan delegation hosted a luncheon for the top English officials. This luncheon supplanted Plymouth, Michigan's usual participation in Michigan Week's Mayor Exchange Day and was paid for the city of Plymouth, Michigan.

During that luncheon, Martin presented Mitchell with a plaque and the visiting group unveiled a color-photo montage of the Main Street Historical Marker and the monument which sits between City Hall and the Dunning-Hough Library as a reminder of the friendship between the two cities. (That marker houses a stone taken from the steps of the Plymouth, England dock from which the Mayflower sailed carrying the Pilgrims.)

Martin was the brunt of several good-natured ribbings about the size of the Plymouth, Michigan promotional budget compared to the, at least, $20,000 spent on the installing the new Lord Mayor.

'They're treating us like royalty'

The Michigan leader also suffered a couple of jokes about replacing the England city's Rolls with a Ford (Martin works for Ford).

A number of items - from T shirts to license plates to Michigan post cards - were also presented to the Englanders.

"We're overwhelmed by your generosity," said Mitchell in summing up the exchange visit.

The English counterparts wished the Michiganders well and Mitchell said he'd try to lead a group over to the States during his tenure.

That afternoon the visitors toured the historic Barbican district of Plymouth, known for its little shops and restaurants.

In the evening, the remaining members of the U.S. party met with the English Speaking Union to describe the Michigan city and the visit to England.

By Monday morning, as the last of the Michigan group prepared to depart - those having rented "wrong side" cars carefully edging up to the hotel doors - it was clear to all, that the bonds between the Sister Cities were strong and the friendships made will be enduring.

More local programming shown, says Omnicom

Omnicom of Michigan, Inc. has increased community and access programming in The Plymouth-Canton Community by 15.5 hours, company representatives said.

Suzanne Skubick, director of community affairs and programming said that local viewers will now be able to watch over 50 hours a week of local programming. The increased airing schedule went into affect June 13.

Skubick said that increased air time on channel 15 will include hours from 3 to 11 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 3 p.m. to 2 a.m. on Friday and noon to 10 p.m. on Saturday.

In addition to this increased air time, Skubick said that more community programs will also be aired on channel 8 following the end of the Family Home Theater's daily schedule.

Auditors balk at setting charge for cable devise

Tired of wrestling with the question of Omnicom's proposed $3.50 charge for remote control converters, the Plymouth Township board last month asked its auditors to determine if the charge is fair.

Well, auditors Plante and Moran conclude - in a six page report - that it "would be inappropriate to attempt to conclude as to whether or not the rental rate envisioned represents a reasonable rate of return on (their) investment."

Omnicom of Michigan, the township's cable provider, originally offered the hand-held channel changers only when customers paid for the "satellite" cable tier of services.

About six months ago, Omnicom decided it would like to offer the remote control converter to anyone who receives cable. They proposed a $3.50 per month flat fee.

Aerobics at the Family Y are for all

The Plymouth Family Y has a summer aerobics schedule designed to accommodate the busy schedules of daytime workers, teens and whole families, the Y has announced.

New this season are early bird aerobics and co-ed teen aerobics. Early bird aerobics is geared for the working person and runs from 7 a.m. to 8 a.m. with a choice of weekdays. Co-ed teen aerobics will be 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. with a choice of days, or 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Other daytime aerobics classes will be co-ed morning from 8:45 a.m. to 9:45 a.m., co-ed afternoon from 1 to 2 p.m. and co-ed mini-aerobics from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. Evening classes, for teens and the whole family, are at 7 p.m. on either Monday-Wednesday or Tuesday-Thursday.

All classes will be exercising to music. Activities include: limbering, warm ups, aerobics, cardiovascular, a cool-down, and somespot reducing for a glamorous figure. Call 453-2904 for more information.

Canton Country Fest continues

The fun and excitement of the Canton Country Festival is already under way, and thrill-seeking festival goers can still enjoy five days of action packed entertainment this week at the fest fairgrounds.

Starting this evening, the festival's carnival will open and run through to the end of the week. Other special Wednesday attractions include a performance by "Teezer", a local rock group.

Other festival activities which participants should watch for include a special trained animal show on Thursday, dinners and breakfasts Friday, Saturday and Sunday, look-alike contests, music, rodeos, a casino, tug-of-wars, a cow chip fling and corn eating contest.

A complete schedule, parking map and special Country Fest section are available in last week's edition of The Crier.

Free concert in Kellogg Park

A free concert Thursday by the 21st Century Steel Band in Kellogg Park at 7:30 p.m. will highlight the three-week stay of the group in Plymouth.

Also, the 21st Century Steel Band, under the direction of Michael Kernahan, will perform Sunday, June 19 at 5 p.m. and then again the following two Sundays, June 26 and July 3 at the Mayflower Hotel Meeting House.

Kernahan's ensemble picked up their instruments and began playing together in 1964. Since that time the 28-member band has toured the United States and Canada as well as the West Indian Islands from Trinidad to Jamaica.

The performances are being billed as "A musical cruise to Trinidad."

There will be a $5 cover charge and finger munchies will be provided. A cash bar will also be available.

Buyers and sellers meet

One man's junk is another man's treasure.

See for yourself if this is true at the "World's Greatest Garage Sale" on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Sponsored by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, individual "garage sales" will be set up in downtown Plymouth and in the Old Village area.

Alternate rain date is June 25.

Spaces, 10' by 20', are available for a $20 rental fee plus a $5 security deposit which is refundable if your area is left clean.

Space is available in downtown

Plymouth on Penniman from Main Street to Union and in Old Village on Farmer between Starkweather and Mill, according to Pam Kosteva, of the Wine and Cheese Barn, co-chairman for the garage sale.

Reservations and information can be obtained from the Chamber of Commerce at 453-1540.

"Imagine spring cleaning creating a profit for you!" said Cale Schneider, co-chairman, of Big Red Q Quick Print. "You can bring all your basement and garage 'treasures' and sell them.

getting down to business

Funeral homes undergo changes

BY MARK CONSTANTINE

Edwin "Bud" Schrader in 1931 took the "course of least resistance" and followed in the footsteps of his father, Fred, who'd started an undertaking business in Plymouth in 1904.

The younger Schrader graduated from the University of Michigan with a bachelor of arts from the U of M School of Literature during the height of the depression, and he said his father just figured it was a foregone conclusion his son would join him in the family business.

"I'd been around the place ever since I was a kid, so I knew my way around the business," Schrader recalled with a laugh as he leaned back in a comfortable-looking recliner and relaxed in his spacious family room.

"Yes, I went to work for my father for $10 a week. Can you imagine that, $10 a week for a college graduate."

There have been plenty of advances in the field of mortary science since Schrader first got into the field, but learning to cope with sorrow is a constant, he insisted.

"You represent sorrow and death to many people and that's something you just have to learn to deal with," he admitted with a pained expression. "But time and time again the reaction of the family is one of being grateful.

"You find you have to build an immunity to some of it, though. You'll hear things like 'I never want to see you again,'" said by a bereaved family member.

"But you know they don't really mean it."

Fred Schrader along with brother, Nelson, opened the Schrader Brothers Funeral Home in 1904, although it wasn't exactly a funeral home.

"In the old days they operated a furniture store as well as the undertaking business," Schrader said. "Some of the furniture stores made the coffins, but Dad never did, he just lined his own. Oftentimes back then a small town undertaker also ran a business like a hardware store.

• EDWIN "BUD" SCHRADER

"That's because it was very easy to put a sign up in the window saying: 'Gone to a funeral, be back at 4 p.m.' when you owned a business like a furniture store or hardware."

Fred and Nelson Schrader parted company in 1907 with Nelson heading to Northville. And it wasn't until 1933 that Fred got out of the furniture business.

Funerals in the first half of the century were conducted primarily in the homes of the deceased, but that began to slowly change in the 1920's. Fred Schrader was a pioneer in bringing funerals to funeral homes, according to his son.

"Back in 1924 or '25 my father took a home and turned it into a funeral home," Schrader said proudly. "I won't say we were the first, because I don't have the documentation, but we were one of the first in Wayne County to have a funeral home."

When Schrader first joined his father in the undertaking business, he had to endure a two-year apprenticeship, and then pass an exam given by the state board of mortary science.

Today, anyone wishing to get into the undertaking field must have an associate degree, take a year of mortary science at an accredited school and then follow that up with a year's apprenticeship, according to Schrader.

"I guess it was an effort to upgrade our profession - to add some education standards," Schrader hypothesized.

Schrader retired in 1975 and acts primarily as an advisor to his son, Edwin, who, like his father, followed in the footsteps of his father.

Over the years there have been tremendous advances in the undertaking business, especially in cosmetics and sanitation, according to Schrader.

"I haven't done any embalming since World War II, but there has also been vast improvements in that aspect of our profession, too."

One improvement Schrader said he was happy to see, however, wasn't actually an improvement but an elimination of a service Schrader's used to provide.

"Up until 1964 we were in the ambulance business, too," he said. "Let's just say I was glad to get out it when we did."

Canton Woman Sales Director with Mary Kay

Linda Heling has been appointed a sales director in the independent field of marketing organization for Mary Kay Cosmetics, Inc.

The Canton resident recently returned from a week-long training session in Dallas, TX., at Mary Kay's international headquarters.

The classes were part of Heling's preparation for assuming her new position, according to Mary Kay Ash, founder and chairman of the cosmetic firm.

Heling attended sessions taught by Ash, Richard Rogers, president and co-founder of the company, and other corporate executives.

Heling earned the appointment to the sales director spot, Ash said, after a three-month qualification period in which she developed a personal unit of beauty consultants and exceeded specific Mary Kay sales goals.

She now joins an elite group of 4,100 sales directors who coordinate and assist the efforts of more than 196,000 independent beauty consultants who demonstrate and sell Mary Kay products, according to Ash.

Heling will provide leadership, training and management for her unit. She first joined Mary Kay Cosmetics in February of 1980 as a beauty consultant.

Four join Family Service Board

Four new members joined the Plymouth Family Service Board recently. Family Service, a family counseling service, is funded in part by the Plymouth Community Fund.

Jan Carney, Shirley Spaniel, Dale Knab and Peggy Laney have been chosen for the board.

Current officers are Ken Hulsing, chairman; Jean Wagner, vice-chairman; and Connie Cavanaugh, secretary. Other members are Joyce Bohlander, Isabel Gerlach, Harger Green, Oscar Hertz, Jim Jabara, Bernice Maurer, William Morrison III, and Sally Wisotsky.

The Plymouth Family Service is a community service with the goal of helping residents with the problems of everyday living. It is staffed by professional counselors and is supervised by David Breeden.

Family Service deals with a broad spectrum of problems including stress, alcoholism, drugs, employment and marriage. Any resident of the City of Plymouth or Plymouth Township may call 453-0890 for information or an appointment. The office is located at 880 Wing Street, in Plymouth.

Ford dealership opening grand

Blackwell Ford held its official grand opening.

Extended hours and the introduction of the new 1984 Tempo brought many members of the community in, said John Blackwell Jr.

"It was very nice to see the community respond so well," he said.

Drawings were held each day for a color television set. Thursday's winner of a 19-inch set was Dana Novak of Livonia. Bruce Campbell of Plymouth was Friday's winner of a 19-inch set. Saturday's winner of a 25 inch set was Alice Papler of Plymouth.

Plymouth man on toes

Saves two lives

Robert Monteith proved last year he knows how to think quick on his feet in an emergency.

And the Plymouth resident had his nerves tested when he was forced to leap into action twice and react to life-threatening situations in a two-day period.

Monteith, a Detroit Edison Company employee, walked off with the giant utilities highest employee honor -- the Alex Dow Award -- for his efforts.

Edison also handed out the award to four other of the firm's workers for their outstanding contributions to the company and their respective communities.

The Alex Dow Award was established in 1946 in honor of the late Alex Dow, an electric industry pioneer who headed Edison from 1912 to 1940.

The 39-year-old graduate of Plymouth High School reacted coolly, calmly and immediately last year when he came across a car accident victim who was having difficulty breathing.

The next day Monteith administered cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) to a heart attack victim, learned through the firm's training program.

Monteith joined Edison in 1968 and is a member of Local 17 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

He also belongs to the BPO Elks Lodge 1780 and the White Eagle Post 166, both in Plymouth.

Matney gets 117 days in DeHoCo; free on probation

BY CHERYL EBERWEIN

A Westland resident originally charged with the Dec. 17 manslaughter of a Canton woman pled guilty to negligent homicide June 7.

William Glenn Matney, was sentenced by Judge Charles Kaufman of Wayne County Circuit Court to 117 days in the Detroit House of Corrections and five years probation. Matney also paid court fines amounting to over $1,000.

Matney was convicted of killing Madonna Tharp in an accident which took place at the intersection of Sheldon and Cherry Hill roads. Witnesses told the police that Matney allegedly hit Tharp's car, which was driven by her 16-year-old son Eric, and then fled the scene of the accident.

Matney was arrested later that evening in Westland and charged with manslaughter with a motor vehicle. The felony carries a 15 year prison sentence.

Matney fled the state prior to his preliminary exam, and returned to Michigan in February. His bond was set at $100,000 by Judge Dunbar Davis of 35th District Court.

Matney was unable to post the bond and has been in the Wayne County prison. Because he has already spent over 117 days in Wayne County, he has served his 117 day sentence and is now free on five years probation.

Although Matney registered a .28 in a police breathalyzer test at the time of the accident, Lieutenant Larry Stewart of the Canton Police Department said that Matney was not charged with drunk driving.

"The drunk driving charge was part of the manslaughter charge," Stewart said. "This isn't true in every case, but it was in this one."

Stewart said that Matney was not charged with unlawful flight because the charge would have come under federal jurisdiction.

"When the FBI gets involved in a search, once they help to apprehend the suspect, they dismiss their complaint against him," Stewart said. "Our department doesn't bring this charge against him either."

Stewart said that it is common for defendants to plead a lesser charge in the court system. Negligent homicide is a high misdemeanor.

"There just aren't enough courts and judges," Stewart said, "but usually a lesser charge is not accepted on the day of trial. Matney was an exception to this."

"We were ready for a trial," Stewart said. "There have been 23 or 24 fatal accidents in Canton in the past couple of years, and 60 per cent of them have involved the drinking driver."

"The value of property lost in drunk driving traffic accidents is probably more than all of the larcenies Canton experiences in a year," Stewart said. "And the emotional tragedy of the innocent victim and the victim's family is devastating."

community deaths

Country doctor dies at 84

Adalyah Price Warthman, 84, of Joy Road in Westland died on June 8. Funeral services were held on Saturday, June 11, at 11 a.m. at the Schrader Funeral Home with Dr. Coy D. Sims officiating.

Dr. Warthman had practiced medicine in the area for 52 years. In his early days he made house calls on horseback and performed surgery on kitchen tables by the light of kerosene lamps.

Dr. Warthman was one of the original physicians who contributed funds to expand the first Detroit Osteopathic Hospital from its original 35 beds.

In his later years, Dr. Warthman became interested in cranial osteopathy which he studied and researched until his retirement in 1980.

He treated over 700 children who had learning disabilities and behavior problems. The children were referred by Sister Mary McGrath of Marygrove Psychology Clinic. "Dr. Warthman (was) devout, dedicated, knowledgeable and a spiritual man. Many of these children grew up to become teachers, attorneys, nurses, track stars and one Naval officer and skydiver," Sister McGrath said.

Dr. Warthman was an honorary life member of the Michigan Osteopathic Association, Wayne County Osteopathic Association, American Osteopathic Association, Cranial Association, Academy of Applied Osteopaths, American College of General Practitioners, and was past president of the Cranial Academy of Osteopathy, and the Florida Osteopathic Association.

He had also been a member of the Moslem Temple and Shriners since 1925.

Dr. Warthman is survived by his wife, Janina G. Warthman and five children: Charles, Barbara Killebrew, James Deane, Edythe Robinson and Forrest.

Burial was in Glen Eden Cemetery.

Salem snatches regional baseball championship

BY MARK CONSTANTINE

Two victories.

Make that two big victories.

That's how far away the Salem baseball team is from capturing the state Class A crown.

The Rocks, playing in front of a large, enthusiastic home crowd Saturday, moved themselves into position to walk off with the state title by whipping Trenton, 16-4, and then then Ann Arbor Huron, 6-2, in regional tourney action.

If Salem skipper Brian Gilles needs any pointers on what to look forward to Friday at 5:30 p.m. when his troops square off against West Bloomfield in 'A' semi-final play at Ypsilanti High School, he can call Canton coach Fred Crissey.

After all, Crissey directed his Chiefs into the state finals one year ago, only to fall short of the coveted state championship when Midland edged the red-and-white-clad Canton club.

Two regional events come off on time with hard work

Paul Cummings was a man on the move Saturday.

The Centennial Education Park (CEP) assistant athletic director served as the tournament director for regional baseball and softball events held at CEP Saturday.

It's difficult enough to pull off one tourney smoothly, but two, well, let's just say it took a lot of hard work from an awful lot of people, according to Cummings.

"It just means we have to double what we do," he noted. "The planning part included making sure we have enough crew to handle both events.

"And the parents have taken so much pride in this facility that they come out here and do the work for us. There are a lot of jobs, too, from manning the concession stand to the guy who has to go out and rake the mounds between games."

However, no matter how much planning Cummings and company do before events like the ones that took place

Saturday, there is one aspect of the one-day affair they can't arrange -- the weather.

Cummings said many of the parents worked to almost dark Friday night making sure the field was chalked and raked and all the hundred and one little things that have to be taken care of were taken care of.

However, it all went for naught when an intense thunderstorm hours after the parents had completed their work wiped out most of what they'd done. And it was funny, Cummings said with a laugh, it didn't seem to rain anywhere else in town.

So, that meant Cummings' crew had to arrive out at the Park early and scramble to get the fields in shape to play.

"It basically flooded out here," Cummings said with a moan. "There were a lot of puddles and it took a lot of good, hard back work to get the fields ready to go."

On equal terms

Plymouth, Canton combine forces, amend rules in new co-ed league

BY MARK CONSTANTINE

The pitcher arcs in a high and wide pitch that the burly, mustachioed batter takes for ball four.

He trots down to first and then keeps right on going to second, while the next hitter, a petit, long-haired blond heads to first without even looking at a pitch.

Hey, what's going on?

Simple, it just one of the rules being used this summer in a brand, spanking new Co-Ed Softball League being conducted jointly by the Canton and Plymouth Recreation Departments.

And the emphasis is on fun, according to Bob Dates, Canton's recreation supervisor and Chuck Skene, Plymouth's top man in its recreation department.

"We organized it trying to stress the non-combativeness of the league," Dates explained. "That's why we had a manager's meeting with the seven managers in the league and opened it up for discussion as far as the rules were concerned."

"We don't normally do that with most leagues, but we wanted to make sure everyone knew clearly that we looked forward to this being a fun league."

The joint venture between the recreation departments isn't the first time the two organizations have combined forces to sponsor a league. Just last year

Capture Lakes Division

Thomann sets two goals, Salem unit reaches them

BY JOE SLEZAK

Salem girls' track coach Fred Thomann had two goals for this year's squad.

"We wanted to be able to compete in two meets," he said. "That was the regional championship and the conference championship. We wanted to be competitive enough to be a force on the track that day."

At the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) league meet, the Rocks placed fourth with 63 points. Livonia Churchill was first with 85 points.

At the regionals, Cheri Muneio (discus), Cindy McSurely (high jump) and Dawn Johnson (220-yard dash, long jump) all advanced to the state Class A finals.

Muneio ended up placing fifth in the state in her specialty.

Salem also sported a 6-0 dual meet record with the Lakes Division title to their name. They earned the honor by beating Livonia Stevenson, 64-59. The meet went down to the final event, the mile relay, and Salem won.

There was one event, however, that needed work, according to Thomann. "We still have a long way to go in terms of our distance runners."

Salem got two points at the WLAA meet from all three distance events. "That's just too many points to give up in a big meet," said Thomann.

"Our sprinters were pretty good and fairly consistent. Our field events people were very good and our relays ran very well."

Johnson was named the Rocks' most valuable runner, while Fran Whittaker got the most improved nod. And Carol Lindsay got the coaches' award from Thomann.

Muneio and McSurely also picked up awards for going to the state finals.

"As we went down the stretch, everybody ran better at the end of the year. We had a tremendous amount of personal bests at the conference meet," the Rocks' mentor said.

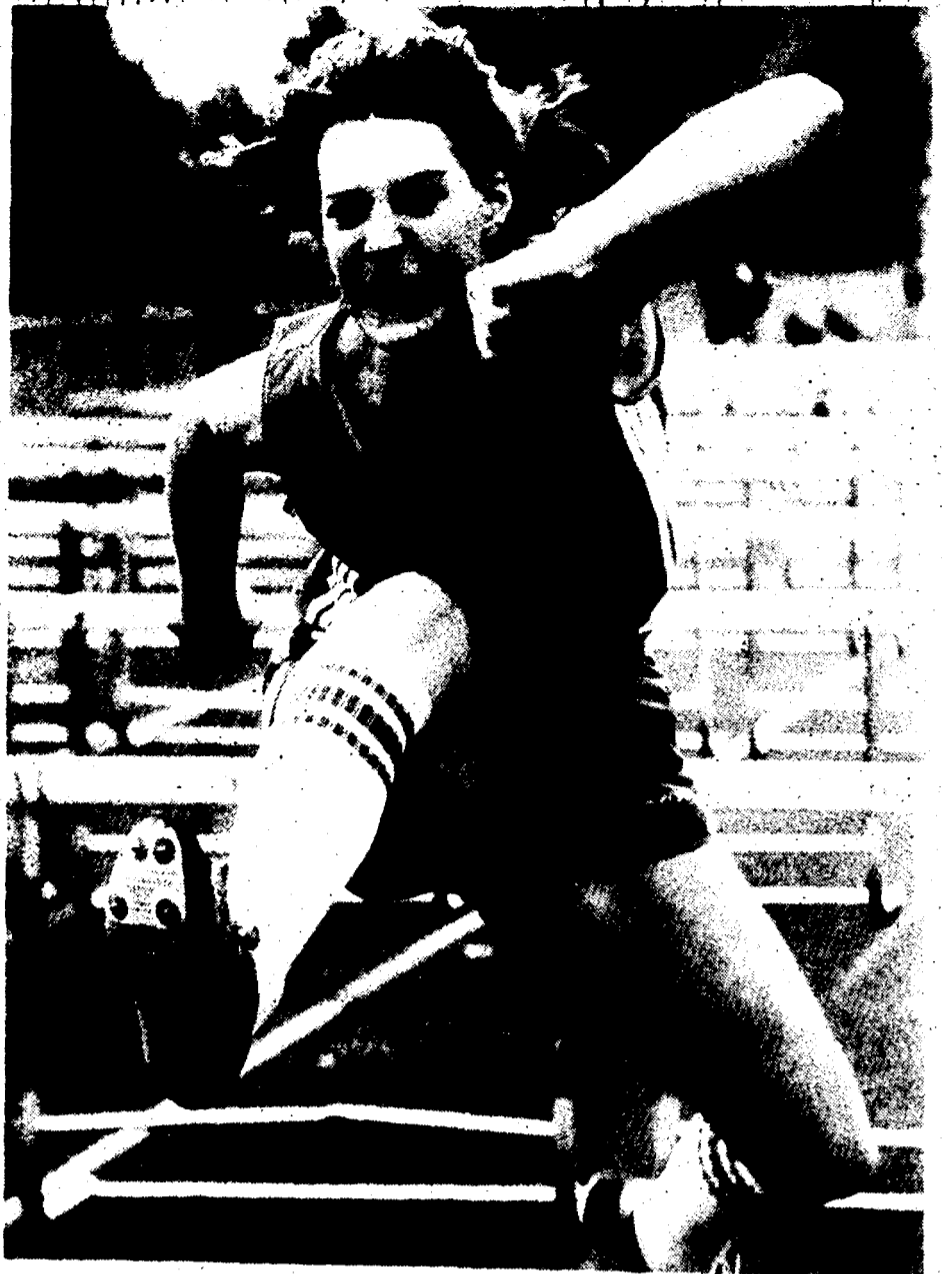

"It looks like our younger distance runners are going to be able to help us. If we find one more sprinter, we'll have a real nice team this year."

Thomann has to worry about replacing three senior record holders. Muneio set the school record in the discus, McSurely set the mark in the 110-yard low hurdles and Lindsay holds the record in a new event this year, the 330-yard low hurdles.

That event replaced the 220-yard low hurdles at the beginning of this year.

As for next year, "The individual runners have to set their own goals," said Thomann.

Johnson and Kelly Bemiss were named as the co-captains for next year.

Co-ed softball loop geared towards having lots of fun they put together a women's loop that has met the expectations of everyone concerned, Skene said.

"We've got an A and B Division for the women," Skene noted. "The problem was we had one or two excellent teams in Plymouth and Canton was in the same situation.

attract teams," Skene admitted. "But we've got seven in the league now, and that's not too bad for a first year for a new league."

Some of the other rules in the new league include no sliding and the alternating of the players in the field. That means if a man is at first, a woman

"We are going to remind each of the teams before we start each week that this is supposed to be a fun league. We really hope that's what happens because this has the potential to be just that — a really fun league." — Plymouth Recreation Department Director Chuck Skene.

"So, we got together and talked about putting all the good teams in one division and the others in another to help keep the play competitive. So far it has worked just fine."

Dates said he'd been thinking about starting a co-ed league for some time and, in fact, had initiated plans to have one just in Canton this summer.

However, he met with Skene last winter to go over plans for the women's league, and before long they'd decided to combine forces again.

"It was a little slow at first trying to has to hold down second, etc. Also, the batting order must be staggered with a man following a woman if she leads off or vice versa and, if a man is walked, the woman hitting next has the option of taking an automatic walk or she can step up to the plate and get in her cuts.

"We are going to remind each of the teams before we start each week that this is supposed to be a fun league," Skene insisted. "We really hope that's what happens because this has the potential to be just that — a really fun league."

ADVERTISING ADVICE #25

REPLACE YOUR CUSTOMERS

It's a fact that 20% of the population moves each year. In theory, that means you must replace your customers every 5 years.

It's true also that newcomers to an area develop their shopping habits within 60 days. Most use the local community newspaper to decide those habits. If you're not represented you may be passed by.

Mixed tennis event on tap on CEP courts

It's doubtful Billie Jean King or John McEnroe will be there, but it will be exciting.

The Canton Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring a Mixed Doubles Tennis Tournament for June 25 and 26, to be held at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) courts.

Each team must provide a can of new tennis balls for the tourney.

For more information, call the department at 397-1000.

Quality team slams Novi contingent

Plymouth-Canton's entry in the Pee Wee Reese Baseball League, Quality Construction, topped its record over the weekend to 7-0 with a pair of victories over Novi.

Tom Hill and Chris Johnston carried the big sticks in Quality Construction's triumph Saturday. The pitching chores, meanwhile, were handled by Dan Boyle, Marc Martinkowski and Bob Files.

Then on Sunday, an 11-run first inning outburst paved the way for an easy 13-1 Quality Construction victory.

Mike Culver got the nod to start the game, and he got relief help from Boyle. The Quality Construction attack was keyed by Peter Bidollio, Andy Gee and Ken Plonka.

Offsides: tourneys hard work

One week ago CEP hosted a district tournament and it came off smoothly, too, despite all the rain we had at the end of the week and Saturday morning.

"The parents had to work from about 6:15 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. last Saturday to get all the work done, and it looks like they'll have to put in at least as much time today, too," Cummings said.

All I can do is tip my hat to Cummings, his right-hand man, Charlie Brown, and the hard-working parents who put in the time and effort to insure the district and regional events were a success. The young people of this community are certainly lucky to be blessed with administrators and parents who care.

Salem earns berth in 'A' Final Four

Or, Gilles can think back to 1975 when his Rocks marched all the way to the state championship. In fact, the fiery Salem mentor insisted moments after his 1983 bunch battled its way into the Class A Final Four that his current group reminds him of that '75 contingent.

"It looks like '75 all over again," he recalled, smiling. "That team got a lot of breaks and things just seemed to go their way, and that seems to be what's happening again this year."

"Breaks," or defensive gems, whichever you prefer, helped the Rocks turn back the River Rats from Ann Arbor Huron.

Key double plays in the second and third innings and a spectacular catch by Mike Cindrich in the fourth frame took the wind right out of the Ann Arbor club's sails.

"The damn play that won the game for us was that pick-off," Gilles insisted emphatically.

That "pick-off play" took place in the second inning. The River Rats had men on second and third with no outs when Rock starting pitcher Barry McNamara wheeled and threw to second base, catching the Huron baserunner napping.

Rock shortstop Mickey Madsen put the tag on the River Rat runner after a brief run-down, and then fired a perfect strike to catcher Dave Slavin who easily tagged out the runner on third who had broken for home.

Then, in the third, the first River Rat batter lined sharply to center to start the inning. The next hitter also hit a shot toward center field, but McNamara stuck out his glove and speared it.

The runner on first had broken towards second, and was caught in no man's land between first and second. McNamara didn't even risk a throw, he raced to the bag himself to complete the double play.

The one play that started the River Rat players talking to themselves, however, occurred in the fourth. The Huron lead-off batter stroked the ball on a line towards the gap in left-center field, but Cindrich got a great jump on the ball and picked it off with a dive.

"All three of those plays combined to be the turning point for us," Gilles noted.

The turning point in the season, as far as Gilles is concerned, took place May 18 when Livonia Churchill dumped the Rocks after Salem had put together a modest two-game winning streak after getting trounced by Canton.

Salem has now reeled off nine victories in a row to run its record to 19-8. In the last 13 games, the Rocks have come out on top 12 times.

First, Ann Arbor Huron squeezed past the Cougars from Garden City, 5-2, in 11 innings, and then Salem had no trouble trouncing the error-prone Trojans from Trenton.

Trenton did give Salem a scare early in the game, scoring four runs in the second inning off starter Barry McNamara to jump into a quick 4-0 lead.

Trenton only touched McNamara for two hits in the rally, but the Rocks committed three errors and McNamara let loose with a wild pitch to help the Trojans along.

And, even though all four Trenton runs were unearned, Gilles had seen enough of McNamara to convince him it was time for a change. So, when the Rocks took the field in the third inning, Rick Berberet had been summoned from the bullpen.

Berberet's teammates made his job easier when they crossed the plate five times in the bottom of the third inning. Tom Moore's three-run home run to left-centerfield was the key blow in the uprising.

The home side quickly added four more runs in both the fourth and fifth innings and three more in the sixth to end the game early via the 10-run mercy rule.

Riedel headed a long list of offensive heroes for the Rocks with a single and a triple good for three RBI. He also crossed the plate three times himself.

Salem sluggers who got credit for three hits included Dave Haut and Moore, while Madsen, Cindrich and Tom Yakas chipped in with a pair of safeties.

Berberet, meanwhile, looked sharp on the mound, allowing only one hit in four innings' worth of work. The big righthander also fanned five Trojans, while giving up four walks.

McNamara got the nod to start the title tilt and he struggled through the first four innings with his control, but when he had to have the big out, he came up with it.

Salem scratched and clawed its way to runs in the first, second and third innings before exploding for three runs in the fourth inning after two were out.

Madsen ignited the rally in the fourth by belting what looked like a single to left-centerfield, but instead of stopping at first he motored on into second and went in standing up for a double.

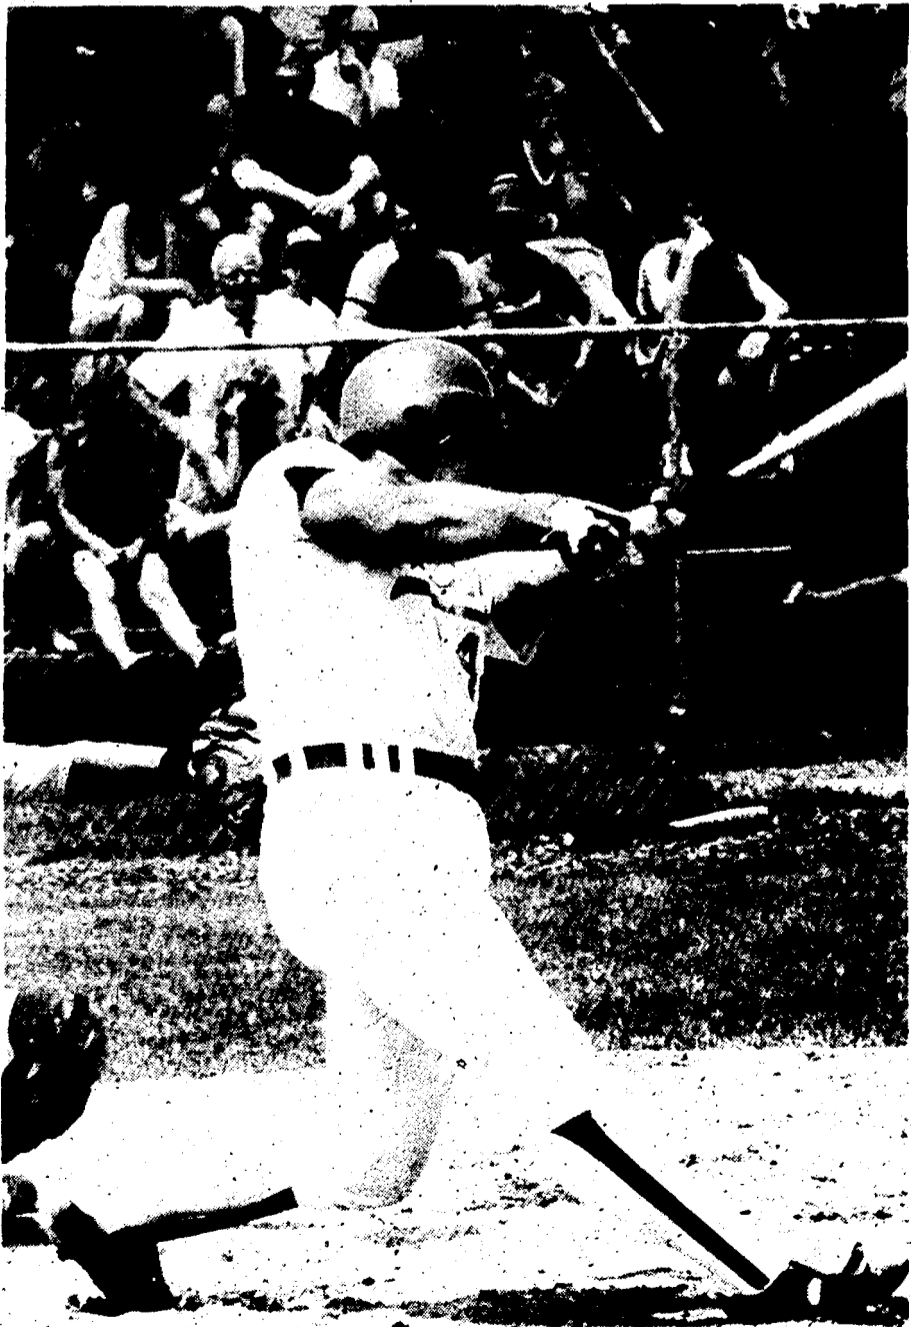

A walk to Riedel put Rocks on first and second and Slavin cleared the bases by rocketing a fast ball over the rightfield fence.

The River Rat hurler silenced the bats the rest of the way, but the damage had already been done. And once McNamara began to show signs of tiring in the fifth inning, Gilles had Berberet come in and he responded by shutting down the Huron attack.

"Barry wasn't as sharp as he was against (Farmington) Harrison or (Livonia) Stevenson, but he still did the job," Gilles said. "And Berberet, that's the best he's ever pitched for us. I'm telling you he came in that second game and slammed the door shut in their faces."

Salem only managed to belt out five hits in the championship clash, but the Rocks took advantage of the opportunities to earn a ticket to the Final Four in Ypsilanti.

Riedel banged out three hits in seven at-bats in both games, good for three RBI and he also crossed the plate five times. Madsen, meanwhile, stroked three hits in eight tries resulting in one RBI, but he managed to score four times.

SALEM CATCHER Dave Slavin helped give the Rocks a little breathing room in the regional title game Saturday by belting a three-run home run. (Crier photo by Rick Smith)

Suitcase studios open for use

BY RACHAEL DOLSON
Two "suitcase studios" are now available for use by schools, local governments and the local cable programming department, announced Suzanne Skubick, community affairs and program director for Omnicom of Michigan.

The suitcase studios will allow trained personnel to film government and school activities for broadcast on local cable television channels.

"All the necessary equipment for taping board sessions is in except for the modulators," Skubick told the Plymouth Township Board.

"The modulators allow for live capacity and they are expected within the next few weeks. We look forward to working with your designated crew in order to make possible the taping of your board sessions should that be your wish," she told the board.
