School board balks at 3-year PCA pact

The Newspaper with Its Heart in The Plymouth-Canton Community

BY DAN BODENE

Plymouth-Canton school board members on Monday night balked at voting on a possible three year contract with the district administrators' bargaining unit.

The board did approve a three per cent pay increase for administrators for this year, however.

A proposed agreement was hammered out following last week's negotiations between bargainers for the board and the Plymouth Canton Administrators (PCA). It was presented to the board Monday by assistant superintendent for employe relations Norm Kee.

The proposal called for a three per cent pay hike for 1983-84; and a six per cent increase in 1984-85, with administrators at the top of the pay scale receiving a one per cent increase in the second half of the year.

Kee said the provisions were the same as in agreements made with other district bargaining units in October.

But the PCA proposal also left open the possibility of a pact for 1985-86, to be reopened for wage talks.

Kee said the PCA's main request was for "an improvement" in the reopener based on a comparison of salaries in area districts.

Superintendent John Hoben said in a current comparison, Plymouth-Canton administrators' salaries rated last among those in 12 area districts. "And these are not the 'Cadillacs' of the industry," he said.

But board members said they weren't ready to ratify a three year contract without more information on the third year terms.

Canton police get 11.28% pay hike

BY CHERYL EBERWEIN

After nearly four months in arbitration, contract negotiations between the Canton Police Department and Canton Township have been settled. The arbitration decision, in favor of the police union, will pay patrolmen and corporals an 11.28 per cent wage increase in the next year.

Ernest Sayre, Canton police officer and local president of the Police Officers Association said the decision was reached Dec. 5. Police wages have been the primary issue behind a settlement hold-up; Canton police officers have been without a contract since June 30, 1982. The contract, a three year agreement, is scheduled to go into effect Jan. 1, Sayre said.

"The arbitrator voted in favor of the union," Sayre said. "The decision will give give patrolmen and corporals an 11.28 per cent pay increase next year to be followed by a six per cent raise the second year and a six per cent raise the third year.

Sayre said the initial 11.28 per cent increase will bring the Canton police up to exact parity with the wages received by Canton firemen.

"The arbitrator voted in favor of the union," Sayre said. "The decision will give patrolment and corporals an 11.28 per cent pay increase to be followed by a six per cent raise the second year and a six per cent raise the third year.

Sayre said the initial 11.28 per cent increase will bring the Canton police up to exact parity with the wages received by Canton firemen.

Dan Durack, personnel director for the township, said the arbitrator's decision will cost the township nearly $70,000 for increased police wages in the first year of the contract.

"This amount does not include such roll-ups as paid vacations and time off either," Durack said. "Our concerns throughout negotiations were that the increase in police salaries the police union requested were quite costly. But that's the system we work under."

Hartwig given reduced charge by Circuit Court

BY RACHAEL DOLSON A Wayne County Circuit Court judge has ruled that Ronald Hartwig's retrial will be on a charge of second degree murder - not the first degree murder charge he was convicted on originally.

Hartwig was convicted of first degree murder, mentally ill, in the Aug. 23, 1981 killing of Stacey Hurrelbrink, who police say was beaten to death with a hammer in the basement of the Old Village Inn.

This summer an appeals court judge granted Hartwig's request for a retrial, and the new trial is tentatively set to begin Monday, Jan. 9 in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Circuit Court Judge Patrick Duggan heard a "motion to quash evidence" Friday from Hartwig's defense attorney David J. Esper, said Duggan's court clerk. "The end result was that the judge decided to reduce the charge to second degree murder," said the clerk.

In Duggan's opinion the prosecution did not have sufficient evidence to prove premediation on Hartwig's part, the clerk said. Premediation is the essential diference between the charges of first and second degree murder.

Hartwig's retrial is scheduled to be heard in Wayne County Circuit Court before Judge Mary Ann Battani.

The body of 21-year-old Hurrelbrink was found next to railroad tracks in Old Village. The Wayne County Medical Examiner ruled that she had been bludgeoned to death with a blunt instrument as she slept in the basement of the Old Village Inn.

Wayne County prosecutors argued that a hammer, found later in Wilcox Lake in Hines Park, was the murder weapon.

Support your high school Battle for blood is on!

At Centennial Education Park (CEP), battle lines are forming. Salem and Canton high schools are out for blood.

Blood for a donation battle on Dec. 16 coordinated by the National Honor Society, that is. The winners will be the school which provides the greatest number of pints; and the Red Cross, which desperately needs donations to replenish stocks.

At the event, Salem and Canton will vie for the donations title and a trophy provided by the Trading Post. Donors will also receive coupons good for 50 per cent off the cost of pizzas at Jimmies Joynt in Plymouth.

The battle is being put together by a committee of honor society volunteers, led by Lisa Maggio at Salem and Cheryl Dilts at Canton.

But the idea for the battle came from Vicky Schenkel, a registered Red Cross nurse (and Plymouth High School graduate).

For the past three years, only staff and faculty donated blood for the Red Cross, she says. This year, the entire population of both schools will get into the act.

"There's a tremendous amount of blood running between the two schools," she says. "There's also a tremendous amount of competition. I'm hoping the competition will be a saving grace."

Donors must be 17 years or older (to waive parental permission) and must weigh more than 110 pounds.

Canton study to solve dept. fights?

BY CHERYL EBERWEIN

It has the potential for solving many problems or none at all. It could eliminate hard feelings, or it could create more. It might reveal new information about personnel matters in Canton - or it could reinforce everything the board may already know.

Even the price of the organizational study which the Canton Board recently voted to conduct is unknown, although it has been estimated to be well in excess of $6,000.

In a five to one vote, Canton's board gave approval to conduct an organizational study which will examine where township duties are best performed at the Dec. 6 board meeting. The study will also examine the staffing levels of the various township departments.

The study has been proposed to address some of the personnel problems various township departments have experienced in the past year. Although details of the study have not been finalized, it has been proposed that the study examine functions performed by the supervisor, clerk, treasurer and finance director. A similar study was proposed a year ago for the treasurer's department; the board voted against the study at that time.

"This study would take a a look at the functions to be performed in the treaurer's office vis-a-vis the finance, clerk and other departments," Dan Durack, personnel director for the township told the board. "The study is long overdue."

Durack said there is an overlap of functions among township departments which has not been addressed.

"This study will be done by an independent third party with expertise in government finance and a basic knowledge of Canton who has no axes to grind. It will give particular individuals and board members a guide on how the operations should be."

But the idea of conducting a study to identify specific departmental functions produced heated debate among board members. The lone dissenting vote on the proposal, Trustee Robert Padget, said he felt the study was an unwarranted expense which would be of little value to the township.

"There is a lack of commitment to deal with the findings of this study," Padget said. "You can't resolve management because you have a strong person who refuses to get along with other people. If the differences can't be worked out, a study won't resolve the problems. You're throwing money away on a problem which goes deeper than efficiency. There is efficiency between departments, but until the departments can agree to get along and function on some basic level, this is a waste of money."

Trustee Carol Bodenmiller felt the study might offer the board some solutions to personnel problems between township employes.

"The situation has deteriorated rapidly no matter who or what the cause is. I had hoped this would be settled administratively but it didn't happen. I prefer to see something done to help solve the underlying problems and confusion," she said.

"This study can't hurt, and it definately can help. We wanted to go ahead with this study a year ago, but when we asked (the treaurer) if she'd go along with the findings for smoother operations, we received a negative response," Bodenmiller continued.

Canton treaurer Maria Sterlini disagreed with Bodenmiller's remark saving it "was totally incorrect.

"Members of this township board are elected officers," Sterlini said. "There are books and laws which tell very simply what the authority and duties of the supervisor, clerk and treasurer are. It's sad to see this board pay an outside firm for this type of organizational study."

Sterlini told board members they must throw away their preconceived, misconceived ideas and review their own offices to determine how they fall together. Sterlini said other members of the board were making accusations, and allegations about the situation.

But Padget. told Sterlini he and other board members have read the book outlining the duties of township administrators. "You and I have argued for three years about the interpretation of that book," Padget said.

Durack said it was his hope that the study would resolve some of the personnel-related problems the township has experienced. "We're always reviewing operations in an attempt to perceive possible problems and to see if operations can be done more efficiently," Durack said. "Attempts to resolve perceived problems in the treasury and finance departments haven't been successful and I see this as a way to resolve this difference of opinions."

Court costs up, but what are the reasons why?

BY CHERYL EBERWEIN

One might be inclined to chalk them up to growing pains - except that they carry a hefty price tag.

The 35th District Court, serving Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton, Northville, and Northville Township was once situated in each of these muncipalities. It has been relocated in one building since September of 1981. Although court administrators feel the consolidation has improved the efficiency and economy of the court, such efficiency and economy is harder for at least some municipal officials to perceive.

At its Dec. 6 board meeting, the Canton Township Board voted in a five to one vote to pay the court an additional $39,000 in court fees. John Flodin, clerk for the township told board members this was the amount needed from Canton to balance the court's 1983 budget.

Their expenses were less than their actual revenues," Flodin said. "We owe the court some money. Plymouth has some money coming back to it, but Northville, Northville Township and Plymouth Township all owe the court money as well."

George Wiland, court administrator said Plymouth will receive approximately $38,000 from the court while Plymouth Township will be asked to pay $22,000, Northville Township will be asked to pay $13,000 and Northville will be asked to pay $9,000.

City police held at gunpoint

BY RACHAEL DOLSON

A Plymouth man has been charged with two misdemeanors after he held a loaded .38 caliber revolver on two Plymouth Police officers Friday night.

Alonzo E. Mayes, 54, of Risman Drive in Plymouth Township has been charged with possession of a firearm while intoxicated and failure to present a firearm for safety inspection (have a gun registered), Plymouth Police said.

Police received a call at 11:15 p.m. reporting a break-in in progress at 12308 Risman, apartment 202. Plymouth officers Thomas Zedan and Robert Scoggins arrived at the scene and went up the stairs with Scoggins in the lead, police said.

Scoggins stopped at the door to 202 and saw a man sitting on the floor of the laundry room (opposite the apartment door) pointing a handgun directly at him, police said.

Scoggins yelled, "He's got a gun," and made an evasive move to the left. Scoggins said the aim of the handgun continued to follow him and he noticed that the gun was in a cocked position.

Then, Mayes' aim reportedly left Scoggins and went to Zedan, then in front of the door. Zedan began backing down the stairs, police said. Scoggins, moving

Man arrested in gun dispute

Gene T. Fowkles, 20, was charged with disturbing the peace and possession of a firearm while intoxicated after pointing a shotgun at Plymouth Police officers Sunday.

Police said they made two trips to 843 Starkweather, apartment 6, early Sunday morning because of reports of "family dispute." The third time the police were sent to the apartment, Fowkles came out shouting obscentities, police said.

When Officer Jerry Vorva called Fowkles by his name, Fowkles bent over to the blind side of Mayes, saw the cocked gun protruding slightly through the doorway and struck -- knocking the gun from Mayes; police said.

Scoggins grabbed Mayes and restrained him until officers Zedan, Joseph Kahanec and Rick Webster completed the arrest.

Police said at no time did Mayer say anything. Later investigation revealed that Mayer had told another person at the apartment complex to call police, police said, and apparently there was no theft in progress.

Police said Mayer's .38 Titan Tiger (Arminius) revolver was not registered and that he was highly intoxicated at the time of the incident. Mayer's gun was loaded with six "wad cut" bullets, designed primarily for target practice, police said.

The incident was one of two this week involving a firearm aimed at police officers. Police were called to a "family dispute" on Irving Street and a man came out on the porch with a shotgun and threatened to shoot the officers.

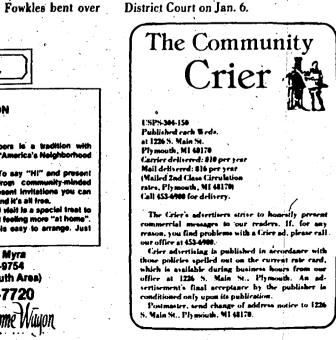

Police later talked the man into dropping the gun which they later found was not loaded. That man was charged with possession of a firearm while intoxicated also.

said, "I'll kill you," to the officers, police said.

Vorva jumped behind a parked car. and drew his revolver, police said. The man's mother yelled, "It's not loaded, don't shoot him," police said.

Vorva ordered him to drop the longgun and he did, police said. Fowkles was highly intoxicated, police said. Fowkles is scheduled to appear in 35th District Court on Jan. 6.

Treasurer angry about visit Should Canton Twp. officials visit one another?

BY CHERYL EBERWEIN

Who can visit a Canton township official, when, and why?

These questions became the topic of hot debate Dec. 6 when Canton township board members argued over their own answers to the queries. The debate resulted in accusations and allegations of theft, interrogation and office disruption between board members.

Trustee Carol Bodenmiller brought the issue of visitation rights to the board. The trouble, she said, began when she tried to visit the treasurer's department Nov. 30.

"In the past the treaurer has said 'You, as trustees, should see for yourselves the amount of work done in the tax season.' I thought what better way to appreciate this than to see it for myself." Bodenmiller said.

Bodenmiller said she went to the treasury department and asked to see Maria Sterlini, Canton's treasurer. One of the treaurer's employes told Bodenmiller Sterlini was not in the office.

"The ladies were all very busy, and this lady was very gracious and nice," Bodenmiller said. "She showed me around the department and explained what various people in the department were doing. I stood and watched them for awhile."

Bodenmiller said she stayed in the department until 2:20 p.m. at which time she left, disappointed that the treaurer had not returned. At 4:20 p.m. she said she received an " irate phone call from the treasurer telling me I had no right to be in her department talking to her employes without her being there.

"I was not in her office, I was in her department," Bodenmiller told the board. "I have been in the township for six years and talking to other township employes in Mr. Flodin's and Mr. Poole's office. Members of the board are not to go into other departments and request studies, and I haven't done this. I was observing the department."

Sterlini asked Bødenmiller how many employes Bødenmiller interrupted in her department. "First of all, you have what I call the ABC's of business. 'A' as in 'always', 'B' as in 'be' and 'C' as in 'courteous'. The door is never closed to anyone who wants to ask questions, but in this particular incident Trustee Bodenmiller did not contact me to discuss the nature of her concerns."

Sterlini said if Bodenmiller had called ahead to make an appointment it would have enabled her to prepare for the visit. "This is not an unreasonable request," she added.

 $t \to 1$

Sterlini also told the board Bodenmiller showed no consideration to treasury department employes over the workload they had to do Nov. 30. "We would have been happy to accommodate her, but not on that day. What was so critical about that day that you had to take the away from the important task of tax payments?" Sterlini asked.

Bodenmiller told Sterlini she didn't interrupt the department's functions. "I take offense to this implication," she told Shelly was taken by Plymouth Fire Department EMTs to Oakwood Canton Center. She is scheduled to be released from the hospital this week.

Witnesses told police that Shelly had had an argument with her boyfriend, who walked off. Shelly was standing in the westbound lane of Joy Road near General Drive, calling to her boyfriend, when she was hit, police said.

Betty J. Huddleston, 50, of Canton, the driver of the car, told police she did not see the girl until the accident. No tickets were issued.

Sterlini. "I guess I'm asking the board is it the wish of the board that we don't want to gather information or was Ms. Sterlini wrong in her verbal tyrade."

Trustee Robert Padget said it is the responsibility of the trustees to visit other township offices. "This whole thing is ludicrous and has been for the past three years," Padget said. "We have worked for three years to solve problems because of one person that wants to operate an office."

Loren Bennett, another Canton trustee said the question of visitation rights became a personal attack on one person.

"I sincerely hope that everyone sees the attempt the treasurer has made to try and change the direction on whether we as trustees have the right to gather information. I will continue talking to employes as I have. You get alot of straight talk from employes and I'm not sure if I want the boss around."

"All board members have the right to talk to your employes without notifying you," Padget said. "We generally do not through department heads, but we're not arguing about courtesy. We're arguing if trustees have the right to go directly to the employe. They absolutely do have."

Although Sterlini told the board personnel problems existed in the township because of situations like this and Bodenmiller had misrepresented herself to the employes, Bodenmiller said the incident reinforces that the rest of the board is not welcome in the treaurer's office.

"How much better it would have been if you had called me and said 'Carol I understand you were in my department today. Did you get the information you needed, were my employes courteous?" This (incident) has reinforced to myself and the rest of the board that we are not welcome in your department. You don't want us to know what's going on no matter wh. I say. It took a lot of courage to wain into that department and I don't think the rest of the board is comfortable (walking in)."

35th District -- new expenses with new location?

supporting in 1983 because probation fees assigned under the judges have not been collected.

But Garber said probation costs have heen collected by the court. Garber said a reduction in the number of Canton tickets written in 1982 is responsible for the court's inability to support itself.

"This is the first year we've had any real experience in this building and we're $57,000 short," Garber continued. "The reason for this is because Canton's ticket revenues went down by 28,000 tickets. We generate about $35 per ticket. That resulted in the $57,000 deficit."

Garber said the court is not asking that Canton write more tickets. "It becomes our duty to tighten up and tighten up the operation," Garber said.

Garber said some individuals really cannot pay their probation costs. Others are not collected for whatever reasons.

Although he said he was unsure how much money in probation costs the court was not collecting, "It was only in 1982 for the first time that all costs in the court were identified. There will never be a day when we collect all probation costs but we're trying to make sure we reduce the nonpayable probation costs to an irreducible minimum."

"For once the cost of running the court has not been buried on someone else's budget," Garber said. "There are no hidden operation costs. We're holding a mirror up to see what else we can do (to cut the budget) but we can't tighten up much more."

Garber said he expects the court to come very close to self-sufficiency in 1984, "if ticket revenues remain where they are. Next year we should be in very good shape.

"With five different systems administration was an awful headache," Garber said. "We would have needed 20 more clerks; and more computers and cash registers."

Garber said he felt the court's costs would prove themselves out in the long run. The 1984 budget, he said, is only $2,000 more than the 1983 budget and incorporates 6 per cent raises for court employes. The 1983 court budget was approximately $967,000 Garber said.

The court will ask the communities for an annual start-up appropriation for 1984 of $150,000. Canton's portion of this amount will be $58,500. The money provided by each community at the start of the fiscal year is credited against the final 1984 per centage they owe at the time of the final court audit.

Canton police receive wage increase

Durack said the arbitrator's decision also settled several other pending issues not directly ruled upon. These issues were settled on the basis of the arbitrator's wage ruling.

"There were several issues outstanding which were decided upon the basis of the wage decision," Durack said. He added that the township had agreed to the two six per cent increases before an arbitrator was called in to settle the contract.

Among the issues resolved as a result of the wage decision were: the township will not provide the Canton Police Department with a gun allowance; the officers' medical benefits will be reduced; permanent shifts will be established in the department, but the chief will maintain an ultimate say in who works the various shifts; the township will maintain its 10 year vestiture program for new police employes; and promotions will still be handled by choosing from the top three candidates rather than the top person in the department.

Durack said the contents of the new wages will be added to the contract language. The whole package will then be submitted to the arbitrator for final approval. "Then we'll go through ratification and final approval," Durack said. "If the contract isn't effective by Jan. 1, it soon will be."

Sayre said he felt the township board wanted to give the officers the 11.28 per cent raise sought by the union. "I think they (the board members) realized the raise was fair and we should get it (which we finally did) but they couldn't justify that increase. It would have placed them in a bad position with the public."

Proposed school contract nixed by unsure board

"It makes me nervous," said Trustee Tom Yack, who added that the board hadn't talked about a three year contract with any other bargaining unit. Trustee E.J. McClendon said he was uncomfortable with having to "guarantee" a pay hike in the contract's third year, although that could be the goal of talks.

Kee said, "By the same token, no other group was willing to commit to (three years). I think it's an attempt for a good faith agreement." Board president Glenn - Schroeder disagreed with the wage comparison, saying he was "Not in favor of negotiating on the basis of who pays whom." McClendon replied that it was unrealistic to completely ignore such comparisons.

The board agreed to the three per cent pay hike for 1983-84 for tax purposes, but asked that the PCA come back with a more specific proposal for the 1985-86 year.

Don't waste our money on study

It's clear that relations between the Canton treasurer, Maria Sterlini, and board members, department heads and other township employes show no sign of improving. Last week's board meeting resulted in nothing more constructive than three hours of childish uproar among board members.

After three years of departmental squabbles and petty bickering, it can only be concluded that these problems will not be solved until the players in the drama change.

In an effort to amend what is clearly a onedepartment personality conflict with the rest of the township, the board has voted to finance an independent departmental study. The study would define functions in the finance, treasurer, supervisor and clerk departments. Its cost, unknown at the present time, can be expected to exceed $6,000. (Trustee Bob Padget cast the only vote against the study.)

While we can appreciate the desperation which has motivated this decision, we can't endorse such "pie-in-the- sky" attempts at solving problems which have resulted from self-righteous, selfinflicted, noncompromising attitudes. The $6,000 would be better spent on erecting hitching posts in Canton's major shopping areas.

If department heads and township officials don't know which functions they are responsible for (and we suspect, in reality they do) then they must be considered unqualified to serve in their positions. To waste taxpayers' money on such a useless study is irresponsible and unrealistic.

The antics of the treasurer and her group of followers are an inexcusable, unwarranted attempt to glorify their own political maneuvers by discrediting all other township employes and officials,

Do we smell the pungent aroma of the upcoming election year already?

Community Opinions Don't get carried away with guns

Guns scare me.

And what scares me more, is that other people don't seem to be as scared as I am.

In two separate incidents this weekend, very foolish people pointed guns at our local policemen. Luckily, both incidents ended without any shots being fired - due probably to the levelheadedness of the cops involved.

There certainly was no "levelheadedness" displayed by the two men with the guns – both, according to police, were very intoxicated. Drinking and driving don't mix, and drinking and firearms are a worse combination.

In one of the cases, police went to an apartment complex on a breaking and entering complaint and ran into the busines end of a .38 special. The man, sitting in a darkened laundryroom, aimed the handgun at police until Police Officer Robert Scoggins leaped at him from his blind side and knocked the gun away.

In the second incident, police answered a call of a "family dispute" and a reportedly drunk man met them on the porch – with a rifle – and threatened to blow holes in them. The policemen ducked behind their vehicle and eventually the man was talked into dropping the gun.

Although they could have been charged with the more serious charge of felonious assault with a firearm - warrants have been issued by the Wayne County, prosecutor's office charging them with the lesser crime of use of a firearm while intoxicated. In the first incident the man was also charged with having an unregistered gun.

Registration. While I was in the police department Monday morning, reading these firearm reports, it seemed everyone and their brother was coming in for a gun permit. I'm sure it's just a coincidence - in a year of hanging around the police desk I've only seen about three people come in for permit requests - but Monday I saw about five in one morning. I guess there is a sale at K-Mart or something.

All these men looked like reasonably sane guys, but I still shudder to think of even more guns in the homes of our communities. In a year here, I have yet to read a report of someone who protected themselves from harm with a gun. But out of their cases for their police inspection. To me, they are shiny, cold and evil-looking.

My husband came home with a borrowed rifle to go deerhunting last month - I made him lock it in the trunk of his car rather than have it in the apartment for even a few days.

Guns scare me. I hope they scare you. I hope if you have them you treat them with a great deal of respect.

During these holiday times - when emotions run high and families often argue - leave your guns in the closet. During these days of Christmas partying and drinking - watch that you don't get carried away and point your guns at the good guys.

School board: Please consider kids' safety

EDITOR:

An open letter to the Board of Education:

week after week I read of people -- drunk or in a rage - who threaten their own family members with weapons. Of people whols guns go off while cleaning, blowing a hole in the ceiling or wall. Or, like this week, people "protecting" themselves

I admit I have a bias against guns. I cringed Monday when people took them from our police force.

As parents, we are aware that the ultimate responsibility for all decisions made in this district rests with you the Board of Education. Therefore, we, the West Parent Advisory Council, are again coming forward with our on-going concerns about the starting time at West Middle School.

We are addressing you, now, in November, 1983, requesting that in the process of finalizing the changed middle school day timetable, you will give the greatest priority to our safety concerns.

To reiterate, our 997 students, ages 10-16, are walking to their school or bus stops in the dark or twilight. We are confident that you are fully aware that safety studies consistently reinforce the fact that partial or changing light is even more dangerous for all pedestrian safety than full darkness.

There are approximately 480 (exact figures were not available from Transportation) walkers at West, some of whom walk one and one half miles, requiring them to leave at 7 a.m. or shortly before. Our earliest bus pick-up is 6:45 a.m. (Route no. 497 - stop 1). West and Lowell both start 20 minutes earlier than the other three middle schools. Because of this schedule difference our students are placed on the roads under completely different safety conditions. Our starting time consistently forces all our students to be en route to school or bus stops in the dark or partial darkness. Therefore, a later starting time would benefit all our students.

We are aware the Board is sensitive to, but unable to control, the following conditions:

weather
location of sidewalks or paths

- •condition of sidewalks or paths
- •quantity of vehicular traffic

You are, however, fully empowered to exercise the one control that rests solely with you: the time of day that our students are en route.

We, the West Parent Advisory Council, believe that we would be negligent of our responsibility as parents and representatives, to not again bring these concerns to your attention.

Therefore, we are formally requesting that you move forward the start of the West Middle School day to a more optimum and safer time.

WEST PARENT ADVISORY COUNCIL

We appreciated use of hall

EDITOR:

Isbister cluster consists of all Girl Scout Troops at Isbister School. There are six troops in the cluster, two junior level troops - grades 4 to 6, and four brownie level troops - grades 1 to 3.

At the Dec. 9 father-daughter square dance, we had approximately 120 girls participating for a total of 200 girls and fathers.

As we were unable to reserve the Isbister School gym for the Dec. 9 square dance, we asked our cluster sponsor, the Ladies Auxiliary to the Mayflower Lt. Edmond Gamble Post 6695 VFW for the use of the post hall.

We greatly appreciate the post and auxiliary's donation of the hall on such short notice as this is a popular event with the families of the girls in the scout troops. ANNE KOEH

Hemingway I ain't

In Addition

By Dan Bodene

During the last few weeks while Crier editors were interviewing prospective members for our staff (I've gotta be replaced soon), somehow the conversation got around to everybody's Most Forgettable Story.

One was a front page piece (not in The Crier) on a cow that gave birth to triplets. There was apparently a lot of nice mail on that one.

Another was on "Little Miss Michigan Majorette," the saga of a six-year-old twirling dynamo with a cute factor reading off the scale.

Then there was an in-depth piece with heavy investigative undertones, on an attic in Canton that housed several hundred pigeons.

I'm less than gratified to admit I haven't written only one of that type of story. I've got a list.

One of my first stories for The Crier was an interview with the Easter Bunny at Smith Elementary School. This was merely a preview of things to come.

Does anyone remember the very first issue The Crier ran with full color on the front page? I do. I wrote the cutline under a full color rendering of the new 35th District Court, wherein I identified the new court building as being located at Plymouth and SHELDON roads. Oh boy. Once I wrote a rather uncomplimentary column on what a hassle shopping malls can be around Christmas. The advertising director wanted to cheerfully kill me.

And I can't forget (nobody lets me) about the listing we ran in 1980 of all the political races in the area and who was running for each office. In putting together an outline for the chart, I abbreviated the name of Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara, who was running for county executive.

I used the abbreviation "Eddie Mac" in the outline which went to our typesetter, who never lived in Livonia. Guess what name appeared on the front page. Ugh.

Let's face it, I'm still worrying about last week's column on the newspaper union. Not good to upset people in your own business.

Add to these the stories I've done at other newspapers on bovine home births AND pigeons, and you get an idea of the track my career has taken.

I should have been a lawyer like my mom wanted:

Are Dems fading?

Perhaps it is indiscreet during the joyous Yule season to write of misfortune, but I am saddened by reports that terminal illness has overtaken an old friend, albeit an abrasively noisy one in earlier years. I speak of the Democratic Party structure in Plymouth.

Graveside services are not yet scheduled, but even Ben Creech, last known president of the Plymouth Democratic Club, doesn't recall gaveling any meetings recently and has heard no pleas to schedule one.

"I think Democrats have written Plymouth off as a lost cause," a prominent local Republican official told me over the weekend in discussing plans for the Jan. 11 Wayne II GOP District Convention at Plymouth Township Hall.

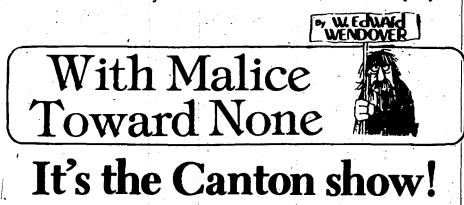

This will be when Republicans from Plymouth, Northville and Livonia nominate delegates and alternates to the state and national conventions.

"It's not that we've written Plymouth off, it's just not winnable," says realist Creech.

What a far cry that outspoken philosophy is from the press-conscious promotion-minded era of a decade and more ago when loquacious Bob Dwyer was Plymouth Democratic chairman while serving as boss of the Secretary of State's office when it was on Main St.

Democratic meetings were raucous fun times sparked by Dwyer, the effervescent Billie Bidwell, the wisdom of genius Irv Rozian and a host of lesser lights who were taught to talk victory even if they doubted its possibility. There never was a dearth of newspaper copy from the organization in those days.

Titular head of Wayne II Democrats now is that veteran party war

Step right up. You have to see it to believe it.

Before your very eyes we offer this reenactment of the Shootout at the O.K. Corral.

And best of all - it's free.

You might know the act as the Canton Township Board meetings, but amongst the show business fraternity members, this act is classic. For added impact, Omnicom Cable Television goes to the effort to bring the Wild West show into subscribers' living rooms (but it can't match being there - maybe it should work like football games with no telecast unless there's a sell-out).

Of course, this popular show is nothing new.

Now in its 10th season, 'the Shootout has, like all good soap operas, seen a cast of characters come and go. Some have gone on to better things (What isn't beter?, you may ask) and others have been cut by their poor ratings.

But the plot goes on. Screaming, yelling, stomping out of meetings were added to the formerly-sleepy meetings at the Canton Fire Hall during the rise to power of one Robert Greenstein and his emotional groupies. Then the Harold Stein - Anne Bradley Era brought further controversy which the next-in-line Noel Culbert cast of characters kept it all alive. When the current Jim Poole - Maria Sterlini Era took office three years ago, many thought that stability and tranquility had returned to Canton government. Clearly, that is not the case. Why, you ask, can't grown folks respectfully disagree without all the theatrics? It must be a throwback to Canton's stagecoach days.

At any rate, short of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners' Circus, it's the best act in town.

Bring your own popcorn. Or maybe the Canton Board could borrow the City of Plymouth popcorn wagon and raise money by setting up in the lobby.

Ad was in bad taste

EDITOR:

We moved to your great town of Plymouth a few months ago and love everything about it, especially your newspaper, but I must write to tell you what very bad taste I feel you have brought to this fine paper by the very Playhoy-type ad that you placed in your paper.

As a mother of four children, I really doubt it was necessary to display it in a family-type newspaper and next to a bicycle ad, to boot.

I really feel this type of advertising has absolutely no place in a community paper!

horse, Orville Tungate, a Plymouthite for more than 30 years. This genial Irishman is once again, chief deputy to Wayne County Clerk Jimmy Killeen, stamping Orville as a machine man who knows that when it comes to counting precincts ya win some and ya lose some. He's more concerned about the county as a whole than just Plymouth Republicanism.

Now that Michigan has abandoned the presidential primary format to let each party map its own course of action in determining national convention preferences, Tungate has high hopes that the Democrats have hit upon a plan which will prove popular and effective.

The key date in their case is Saturday, March 17. What the party will be doing, in effect, is conduct a "straw vote" from which percentage of delegate support at the national convention. will be determined, candidate by candidate.

"Any citizen, by declaring himself or herself a Democrat, can cast a ballot that day for his or her presidential preference," said Tungate. The event will not be run as an official governmental primary, instead being conducted strictly by the party.

For those of this area who wish to participate, the polling places will be set up at the Plymouth Cultural Center and at Schoolcraft College.

The hooker, of course, is that requirement to declare yourself a Democrat. Even Republicans are finding voter willingness to make a firm commitment to the party line to be slipping.

"It's a matter of the times; people are apathetic," said my GOP source. "In the last election, we had a terrible time getting people out to work. So many are declaring themselves as Independent they just won't commit to one party or another."

Personally, I wouldn't either.

Omnicom schedules new offerings

Several new shows will make their debut the week of Dec. 19 on Omnicom of Michigan's channels 8 and 15.

The first show to premier is "Tell Me A Story," a program featuring children's stories, number counting, alphabet, magic and more. It will air Monday and Wednesday nights at 8 p.m. on channel 8.

Youngsters from Beginners Inn of Canton help to make for a lively children's program. Omnicom Programming Director Suzanne Skubick says parents will want to tune in this show for their little ones before sending them off for bed.

Next up on Mondays and Wednesdays at 8:30 p.m. is the debut of "The Letter Writer" featuring local problem solver Ginny Eades of Canton's Letter Writer business.

The program is much like her newspaper column. Ginny will present letters from area citizens having some difficulty and then she will problem solve step by step.

Crier, COMMA, deadlines set

Special advertising and editorial deadlines have been set for the Dec. 28 and Jan. 4 editions of The Crier. Offices of The Crier and COMMA will be closed Friday, Dec. 23 and Monday, Jan. 2.

Proof ads and display advertising for The Crier's annual Growth section (which will appear in the Dec. 28 edition) must be submitted by noon, Wednesday, Dec. 21. Regular ads must be in by noon on Thursday, Dec. 22 although classified ads will be accepted until noon on Dec. 26. Editorial submissions must also be in by noon on Dec. 26.

Proof ads for the Jan. 4 Crier must be submitted by noon on Thursday, Dec. 29. Display advertising, classified ads and editorial submissions must be in by noon on Friday, Dec. 30. Carrier elections are due over the Christmas vacation. Collections are due Thursday, Dec. 29 and may be turned in at The Crier office on Main Street until 8 p.m.

Also in last week's Crier the following mistakes were made in the McCue-Larson engagement announcement on page 38. The groom-elect, Arthur Larson, Jr. was a graduate of Plymouth-Salem High School and graduated from the University of Michigan in 1982 with a degree in computer science. He is the son of Arthur Larson of Traverse City and the late Hazel Larson, both former residents of Plymouth. Fancy'. begins Tuesday, Dec. 20 with repeats on Thursdays. Air time is 9 p.m., on channel 8. Pam Miracle of La Cuisine catéring service will teach viewers each week how to cook with a Chinese wok. Her first program features a holiday meal sure to please.

"Total Fitness" comes to channel 15 from the Hamtramck studio of Omnicom. Jackie Starr will take viewers through the paces in her exercise show to be aired on Tuesdays at 5 p.m. and on Thursdays at 9 p.m. The show may also soon be airing in an early morning time slot, Tuesdays through Fridays at 7 a.m.

In the week of Dec. 27 another Hamtramck studio production will debut on channel 15 at 6 p.m. Tuesdays and at 10 p.m. on Thursdays. The show is called "Prescription for Health" and features Betty Jean Rivkin from Detroit General Hospital in Hamtramck.

Because of the new additions to the program lineup, some shows are being slotted in new time periods.

"Rave Review," currently on channel 8 at 8 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays, will move to channel 15 Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4:30 and 8:30 p.m.

"Gospel Stars of Tomorrow" will move over to channel 15, too. It will air Tuesdays at 4 p.m. and Thursdays at 8 p.m.

Finally, "Cooking With Cas" will slide over to channel 15, staying on the same days but airing at the new times of 6:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and 10:30 p.m. on Thursdays.

Several other shows on channel 15 were moved to new air times, and viewers should consult their listings in the paper and on channels 8 and 15 for exact times.

Skubick says she hopes viewers will take time out during the holidays to sample the new productions. "We are very pleased to be increasing our program schedule with so many quality programs that provide something of interest for every age group."

More new shows will premier in late January, Skubick says.

WHITE AND WHITE, a warehousing firm, was one of the first companies to locate in Metro West Industrial Park.

Full steam ahead for Metro West

BY DAN BODENE

THE COMMUNITY CRIER:

Many people don't think of Plymouth Township as a light industrial area. Robert DeMattia wants to change that perception.

How? With Metro West Industrial Park, a 200-acre development located on Five Mile Road just west of Sheldon Road.

The park has been three years in the planning, and represents a "major financial committment" by the R.A. DeMattia Co. of Farmington Hills and the Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co. of America, DeMattia says.

"We expect $200 million to $300 million in business," he says. "The Plymouth Township project is our premier development."

That's quite an assessment -- the DeMattia organization's client list already reads like a Who's Who of industry. DeMattia construction and renovation jobs have ranged from a $5,300 addition for Grace Hospital in ROCK TOOL'S facilities in Metro West.

Detroit, to a multi-million dollar project for Quanex Corp. in South Lyon.

The company itself specializes in hightech building design and industrial park development. It's a kind of one-stop outfit: With a staff of more than 40 people, DeMattia can plan, engineer and build under a single contract.

Many examples of the DeMattia Company's work are in The Plymouth-Canton Community, including jobs for Wykoff Steel Co. and Midwest Bank Note Co. in Plymouth, and Brouwer Turf Equipment, Ltd. in Canton.

But it's the Metro West development that DeMattia Co. planners and builders have put to the forefront.

DeMattia says Metro West has been designed as a high-tech park, "architecturally pleasing and 'smokeless."

Preliminary platting has been completed so that the park can be developed in three stages. Metro West has been certified Class A by the state, and every lot has access to water, gas, sewer and storm sewer utilities. There's also proximity to the rail, air and expressway transportation network.

DeMattia says Metro West is now the object of a major company promotion effort, aimed not only at southeastern Michigan, but also at the rest of the U.S. And the Plymouth community will figure prominently in that promotion, he says. "We think the Plymouth area is a great place to live and work."

Already built are facilities for Rock Tool Co., a machine tool manufacturer; White and White, a warehousing firm; and Mitutoyo Tool and Instruments (MTI), a Japanese company which is the world's largest manufacturer of precision measuring tools.

DeMattia says firms locating in Metro West will be part of the growing high-tech "corridor" between Detroit and Ann Arbor. The park will provide other local benefits as well.

"It will be a boon to the community," DeMattia says. "There will be thousands of new jobs, and income to merchants in the area. We think the Plymouth area is great, and we want to become a part of it."

Skubick showed 'em

Plymouth Beauty Supply

Suzanne Skubick, community affairs and program director of Omnicom of Michigan's local cable system, had a long weekend in Cincinnati.

Skubick was invited to Ohio by Warner Cable Communications of Cincinnati, Inc. for the company's second annual community programming conference on Saturday. Along with another speaker, Skubick led a workshop on creative programming.

It's an area she knows well. At Omnicom, she's responsible for coordinating training and workshops, community and company productions, weekly program schedules and liasion with the six communities Omnicom serves in this area.

At the Cincinnati conference, she showed just how some of those things are done in this cable system. And part of her presentation graphically showed a few Plymouth-Canton program offerings --Skubick showed a tape which included clips of local shows.

• "So now, there'll be a lot of Cincinnati folks who will know how talented we are up here," she laughs.

to business

isn't just for professionals

Al and Cathy Bethel had several things in mind when they opened Plymouth Beauty Supply at 44519 Ann Arbor Rd. (at Sheldon Road) this fall.

•The store would offer to the public a variety of beauty supplies usually sold only to licensed professionals.

•Along with supplies, jcustomers would be able to count on knowlegeable help and good advice. Making sure people know what they're getting and get what they want would be stressed.

•Service would be family-oriented, so the store could give the personal touch.

And when the Bethels went into business, that's exactly the plan they followed. The husband and wife team are from Detroit's east side, but they fell in love with The Plymouth-Canton Community and felt their services were needed here.

Al, who has been in the business 10 years, managed a beauty supply store in Rochester before joining with his wife in their venture. He was also a sales representative for Jhirmack, and taught various techniques to beauticians. Cathy is a licensed beautician, and has been working in the field for six years. "I really enjoy this business," says Al.

"When I get up in the morning I really enjoy coming to work. It's nice being in a business that puts a smile on people's faces."

Giving Plymouth the business

Help give Plymouth the business and help the community as well.

That's the message the Caviston Insurance Agency is sharing around town these days. The Plymouth-based insurance company has printed bright orange bumper stickers which say "Give Plymouth the business." Lee Kenaga and Thomas Caviston of the Agency said Plymouth is an ideal city in which to live, work and shop. They hope their bumper stickers will remind Plymouth residents to patronize the shops in their own back yard.

Those interested in obtaining a bumper sticker may call the Caviston Agency or stop by at the Amelia Road office.

Mobile home, parking sections need work City zoning ordinance to be modernized, updated

BY RACHAEL DOLSON

Vilican Leman and - Associates, professional planners for the City of Plymouth, were awarded a $2,380 contract to review the Plymouth zoning ordinances and update standards.

The study will take about six months to complete and take an estimated 56 hours of time, at Vilican Leman's hourly rate of $42.50, city officials said.

City Enginner Kenneth West recommended that the city commission approve the study to correct some deficiencies which exist in the Plymouth zoning ordinances. For example, a major court ruling on mobile homes, handed down two years ago, is not addressed by the city zoning ordinances.

The city planning commission had also recommended approval of the updating project.

"While various selected amendments have been completed in past years, there is need for a more conprehensive updäting," Vilican-Leman told the planning commission in April. "Not only have development standards and practices changed, but the basic state enabling legislation has also been altered."

Changes are needed in up to 29 sections of the zoning ordinance, they said. The revised zoning standards will be submitted to the planning commission in memo form over. If the commission agrees to the revisions, they will be reviewed by the city attorney before going to the city commission for action.

The planners said that terms such as

Young writers win the P-C Laureate prize

Several young students from the Plymouth-Canton school, district have been honored for their achievements in creative writing.

Recipients of a Laureate Prize for Literature in the primary division are Lisa Nicastri, Fiegel Elementary School; Jon Lambe, Field Elementary School; and Kirk Oakley; Eriksson Elementary School.

Three students have been awarded a Laureate Prize for literature in the intermediate division. They are Laura Porterfield, Farrand Elementary School; Joshua Worth, Farrand Elementary School; and Heather Schlachter, Smith Elementary School.

A special Laureate Award has been awarded to Todd Husak from Hulsing Elementary School.

Students will be presented with Laureate Medals. Their stories will be published in the third volume of the Laureate Anthology. Copies of the anthology are placed in each elementary building so all students may read them.

Laureate prizes for literature were created three years ago by the Laureate Committee to encourage and recognize excellence in childrens writing. Judging for this year's prizes were: Luan Brownlee of Field; Tina Powell of Smith; Sandra Lanese of Fiegel; Paula Holmes of Tanger, Marion Brown of Hulsing, Vada STarr of Allen and Patti Klope of Miller. arcades, berms, drive-ins, dwelling units, manufactured-site built, useable floor area, mobile home and recreational vehicle need to re-defined.

The section on site plans needs to update: to reflect the new state law, particularly with respect to bonding and other financial guarantees, the planners said.

New sections are needed, they said, on RV storage, antennas, manufactured dwelling units, trash storage areas and canopies. The section on the zoning board of appeals could be revised with an eye towards the new state law which allows for alternate members on the ZBA, the . planners said.

In the area of parking, the planner would like to see the landscaping requirements for parking areas expanded. Also the parking standards for multiple residential, acrades, gas stations, nursery schools, flea markets, industrial and professional offices need to be reviewed.

Polish carols sung Sunday

The Polonaise Chorale sings Polish Christmas Carols (Chor "Polonez" Spiewa Koledy) under the direction of Bronislaw P. Siarkowski will present its annual holiday concerts in the coming week.

The first concert of traditional Polish Christmas carols will be given Sunday, Dec. 18, at 4 p.m. at Madonna College, 35500 Schoolcraft Road in Livonia.

The second concert will be given on Wednesday, Dec. 28, at 7:30 p.m. at St. Sylvester Church on Twelve Mile Road.

The Polish Christmas carols will be performed by mixed and female choruses of the Polonaise Chorale, a soprano soloist, Danuta Siarkowski accompained by Bronislaw Siarkowski. The program will include several English carol selections, a harp solo, and some poetry readings in Polish and English.

Grant studies local communities joint purchasing

BY CHERYL EBERWEIN

Joint public purchasing. It may be local government's answer to buying in bulk. The Canton township board unanimously approved a resolution which supports joint public purchasing at its Dec. 6 meeting. The resolution, to be passed in 12 other communities, will develop a time frame and study for a joint purchasing venture.

Terry Carroll, grants coordinator for Canton, said a joint purchasing agreement would allow communities to jointly purchase services and products like fuel at a reduced bulk prices. Carroll said communities who are members of the Conference of Western Wayne (CWW) have approached the Metropolitan Affairs Corporation (MAC) with a grant application to set up and participate in a joint purchasing program.

"The program has been funded," Carroll said. "and all of the project costs are covered. The only time you participate in this program is when you want to purchase something. You only dish out money for products received through the program."

Carroll said MAC has asked each of the CWW communities to sign a resolution, such as the one Canton passed, to indicate that they are willing to particpate in the project. Carroll said MAC has approved financial support for the project which will not exceed $15,000.

According to the MAC resolution, a joint purchasing program was developed to help governments establish intergovernmental policies for joint services. The CWW communities became interested in the project after determining that such joint purchasing agreements c ild lower the cost of purchasing so. e government goods and services.

"We are exploring the mechanism for implementing joint purchasing now," Carroll said. "This will identify cost savings, what goods and services we should concentrate on and will generate a report and time frame on the project."

Among the 13 CWW communities participating in the joint purchasing venture are: Canton, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Garden City, Inkster, Livonia, Northville, Northville Township, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Redford, Wayne and Westland.

MAC and the CWW communities have agreed to consider the following points in establishing a study which will explore joint purchasing:

• CWW will establish a working group to coordinate with MAC in the project. The group will appoint a member to serve as liason with MAC. MAC will assign a staff person as project coordinator.

• MAC's support for the project is for services, materials and supplies not to exceed $15,000. In turn, the CWW communities will assist MAC consultants in collecting information and carrying out activities necessary to accomplish the project.

 If the research demonstrates that cost savings and efficiencies will result from joint venture purchasing, and if all the governments agree to particpate, they will pay the financial costs necessary to make the program work.

In a memorandum sent to the CWW communities, MAC representatives also told the communities MAC will conduct a legal analysis to remove possible existing impediments to such a program in local charters and state laws.

The memorandum also said MAC would request each community to make an inventory of its existing equipment and supplies. From this inventory, MAC would identify those items offering the possibility of joint purchasing between communities. Finally MAC would explore mechanisms for administering such 'a joint program.

Riverside prices hiked 10%

A cemetery rate increase of 10 per cent was approved by Plymouth City Commission on Monday, Dec. 5.

Earlier this year the rate increase was unanimously approved by the cemetery board. The changes were adopted as part of the city cemetery code, amending the previous prices.

"Based on last years lot sales and interments, the cemetery fund will realize an additional $8,200 in revenues," said Kenneth F. Vogras, director of public works.

Vogras said the increase makes Plymouth the highest priced municipallyowned cemetery in the state. Riverside Cemetery, however, is still priced below privately-owned cemeteries, he said.

The commission also approved a slight increase in the amount from each lot sale set aside for perpetual care. The increase falls in line with the hikes recommended by the city auditors, City Manager Henry Graper said.

The city has several schedules of prices for services performed at Riverside. The prices vary based on city residency, adult or child, size of monument, weekday and weekend burials, and type of interment (crypt, niche or vault).

'Talking' library books

Plymouth's Dunning-Hough Library now has a "Talking Book Center," one of 19 such centers established by the Wayne County Regional Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped.

Regional librarian Barbar Goral said the center is designed to promote library services to the blind and physically handicapped. The centers focus attention on various library materials available through the Wayne County Regional library which has over 80,000 "talking books" on records and cassettes.

The "talking book" centers feature a collection of 200 fiction and non-fiction books on records and cassettes which can be borrowed by adults and children who are registered with the regional library. Application forms for service are also available at all centers.

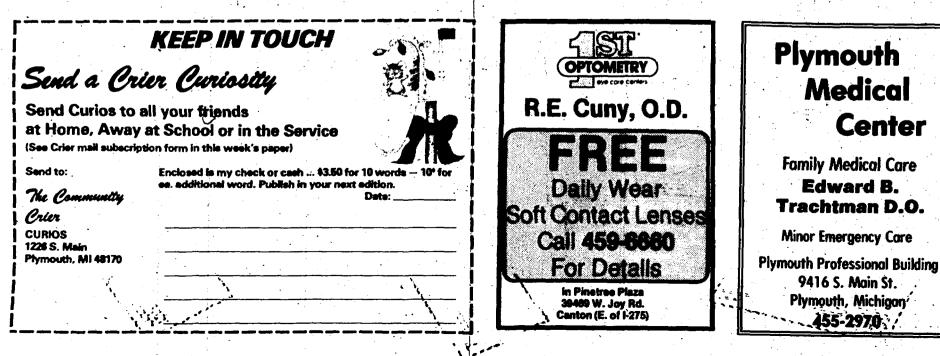

For more information, call Gerry Barlage at the Plymouth library 453-____0750.

Commission sets '84 meetings

The Plymouth City Commission officially approved its schedule of meetings - regular, precommission and committee of the whole - for the 1984 year.

As in the past, regular meetings will be held at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall on the first and third Monday of each month. In the event that the Monday is a legal holiday, the commission meeting is held on Tuesday that week. Precommission meetings are held at 7 p.m. in the City Manager's conference room before all regular meetings. Committee-of-the-whole meetings are held following the first meeting of every month, providing there are subjects for discussion.

The precommission and committee-ofthe-whole meetings are open to the public as well.

Jenny Hill wins coloring contest

P S

JENNY HILL

Two hundred kids from Plymouth and Canton entered The 1983 Crier Christmas Coloring Contest. They patiently added color to this year's drawing – a montage of Santa, elves, gifts, angels and other Christmas symbols.

Each of the entrants wrote a short letter to Santa and then brought their entry into The Crier office.

But regretably, only four kids can be chosen as winners.

"It gets harder for the judges every year," said Phyllis Redfern, general manager of The Crier. "It's just amazing the beautiful entries we get."

The winning entry, featured on today's cover, was submitted by Jenny Hill of Plymouth. Jenny was entered in the fifth to eighth grade category. The West Middle School student must already realize her talents in the artistic field, for her letter to Santa said, "I would like anything used for art."

Jenny is the daughter of Fred and Sandra Hill. She won a $40 gift certificate to be used at any of the shops advertised in The Crier's "Letters to Santa" special section.

This is not Jenny's first time in the winners circle - she has won several other art contests, including the Kellogg' "Stick up for Breakfast" contest. She drew Tony the Tiger eating breakfast.

Jenny's other Christmas wishes were for "anything with Garfield on it and also a stereo." She said she plans to spend her gift certificate on clothes.

Winner in the pre-school and first grade category was Michelle Pearson of Canton. Michelle, 6, is a first grade student in Mrs. Lucetti's first grade class at Eriksson Elementary. Michelle said she plans to buy a new sweater with her $20 gift certificate.

Michelle is the daughter of Carolyn Pearson of Canton and Bill Pearson of Northville. In her letter to Santa she had this message: "I love you. I will leave you some cookies and milk. I have been a good girl."

Winner in the second through fourth grade category was Wendi Pomaranski of Canton. The judges especially liked Wendi's technique of outlining the major elements of her entry with black marker before coloring in with crayons - creating a stained-glass window effect. "I just thought it would look good," Wendi said when asked about her coloring style.

Wendi, 9, is the daughter of Rosemary and Gary Pomaranski. She has a sister Kim, 13, and two brothers Ken, 16, and David, 15. Wendi said she had a day off from St. Raphael's School and "I didn't have anything to do and my mom showed be the contest and said 'why don't you enter?' Beth said she likes entering coloring contests and has one a host of prizes in the past: four stuffed animals, dinner for her and 10 friends, a book bag and a gift certificatate for John Smith Clothing.

Beth is the daughter of Nancy and Roy Chapman of Canton.

Beth's letter for Santa said, "What I really want for Christmas is to win this contest, so I can buy my family the best Christmas present they ever had." Beth will have a $20 gift certificate to spend on her family for Christmas. She has a sister Amy, 9, and a brother, Roy Daniel, 2.

Judges for this year's contest were art teachers Donna Baretta and Marilyn Barrick, Jean Wendover, and Redfern.

Northvilles explain their 'drunk patrol' concerns

(Editor's note: in last week's Crier, an article appeared on page three which explored the progress of the new alcohol enforcement program started in The Plymouth-Canton Community and the Northvilles. The article was written before officers of the Northville or Northville Township police departments were contacted. Below is an explaination by Northville City police Chief Rod Cannon on the Northvilles position in the program.)

BY CHERYL EBERWEIN

When it comes to an alcohol enforcement program, only one thing matters to the Northville city police -getting the drunk driver off the street.

That's the view Chief Rod Cannon of the Northville City Police says he holds. Cannon and the Northville forces were recently accussed of not participating in an alcohol enforcement program started by The Plymouth-Canton Community as well as Northville and Northville Township. Officer Robert Henry, Plymouth police officer and program coordinator, said the Northvilles have not participated in the program since Nov. 1.

Although Cannon admits his force has not sent officers out to patrol community streets and participate in the program, he said there are good reasons for this lack of participation.

"First of all, Northville is a split community, partially serviced by Oakland County. We've been active in an alcohol enforcement program with Oakland County for over a year and a half." Cannon said. "Their program is running much smoother than Wayne's is right now."

We're also waiting for the city attorney opinion on the liablity involved with this program," Cannon continued. "We want to make sure we have the proper insurance to participate in this program and we want copies of the other municipalities' resolutions for legal points."

Cannon said of the four other municipalities participating in the alcohol awareness program (Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton Township and Northville Township) "some have not turned over their resolutions to us.' Cannon was unable to recall which communities have withheld their alcohol enforcement program resolutions.

"We expect to be squared away by Dec. 19, and participating in the program,' Cannon said. Henry said earlier the Northvilles may lose their alcohol grant money if they do not particpate in the program soon.

Tis the season to be wary?

'Tis the season to be wary - especially if you live in Canton.

Canton Police reports revealed lots of pre-holiday mischief around the township last week, which resulted in expensive damage in at least one of the cases.

On Dec. 1, Canton police took a report from a homeowner on Craftsbury Court who said unknown suspects took the Christmas lights off of his pine tree between 11 p.m. and midnight. The four dozen Christmas lights were worth about $12, the victim told police.

The search for a perfect Christmas tree may know no bounds as one Canton couple discovered Dec. 4, police reports revealed. The Glen Arbor residents reported to police that the top of their 17year-old Colorado Blue Spruce had been cut off leaving about 4' of base. The tree

Fire station 2 remodeled

A bid for rehabilitation work at Plymouth's fire station number two was awarded to low bidder AFCCO, Inc. with a price of $9,840.

AFCCO's work will be only a portion of the total rehabilitation effort planned for fire station two, said Paul Sincock, city grants coordinator.

The total project, which is being funded with federal community development money, will outside fix-up and painting, interior renovations, and replacement of very old equipment and kitchen appliances.

"The stove and some of the other equipment is definitely in need of replacement," said Sincock.

Two other companies bid on the rehabilitation work -- Thomas Decker Inc. for $10.900 and Mardon Construction for $13,200.

was valued at approximately $600, the report said.

Another attempt at a Christmas tree heist was unsuccessful Dec. 6 when Canton police spotted the would-be lumberjack entering an abandonned wooded lot with a saw. Police said they arrested John Henry Jentzen, 41, of Florane Street in Westland, on a larceny charge. Police said Jentzen had allegedly cut down a pine tree on an old nursery property at Palmer and Lotz roads. Police said a fresh cut pine was discovered next to the road where Jentzen jumped into his car when after seeing police officers. He latersturned over a saw to them, police said. Jentzen was released on a $100 bond.

A Brunswick street homeowner reported to police on Dec. 7 that a silver flying saucer sled valued at about $5 had been stolen from the front vard, and in another police report, a Canton resident reported to police that her car had been damaged Dec. 7 by several juveniles throwing snowballs.

Nutcraker dancers lacking

Symphony masterful

BY CHERYL SZYNISZEWSKI With hopes of another Christmas dream, Clara, and the audience at the "Nutcracker" performance, reluctantly left the magical Kingdom of the Sweets. and returned home.

g

This past Sunday the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra and the Northern Ballet Theater of Livonia combined talents to give two performances of "The Nutcracker Ballet" by Tchaikovsky.

The "Nutcracker" is a classic ballet that originates from a children's fairy tale. On Christmas Eve, Clara, a young girl, is given a Nutcracker doll. That

Girl falls off pickup truck

A Plymouth girl fell off the back of a pickup truck Tuesday morning and was slightly injured, police said.

Kathleen Benson of Gotfredson Road in Plymouth was a passenger in a Chevy pickup driven by her stepfather, Robert Harwood, and they stopped for a red light at Main and Church streets, police said.

When the light turned green, Harwood made a left turn onto westbound Church and Kathleen fell out during the turn, police said.

The girl was transported by Community EMS to St. Joseph's Hospital with cuts and bruises.

Messag

night, through a magical dream the Nutcracker turns into a prince.

Clara follows the Prince to the land of magical dreams; the Kingdom of Sweets. Here Clara and the Prince are entertained with a series of dances until Clara's "dream" is over and she returns home with hopes of another Christmas dream.

The theatrical performance of the ballet had its strengths and weaknesses. The Northern Ballet Theater of Livonia gave an adequate performance of "The Nuteracker Ballet.

The choreography and costumes for some of the numbers, like the Chinese, Russian and Arabian dances, were quite impressive. Overall, the performance did not feel connected. Having attended past performances of the Northern Ballet Theater under the direction of Michelle Wolfe, I found my expectations slightly disappointed.

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Johan van der Merwe, gave a very strong performance. Their music felt unified and confident.

Seniors eat hearty

SENIORS IN THE PLYMOUTH-CANTON COMMUNITY were treated Monday to a home-style Christmas dinner hosted by the Salvation Army Plymouth Corps. Although the seniors group has traditionally gone to Detroit for the dinner, this year they feasted on a meal prepared by the Army's executive board and served by Salem High cheerleaders. There was also a program put on by a group of talented youngsters. (Crier photo by Dan Bodene.)

Canton Christmas spirit glowed at museum

THE COMMUNITY

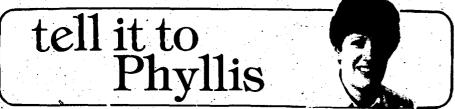

Crier photos by Cheryl Eberwein

HOLIDAY SPIRIT was brimming from the rafters at the Canton Historical Society's annual Christmas Open House on Dec. 8. The Historical Society held its annual monthly meeting and then broke into a festive mood with the help of other township wellwishers. Above left, the children's choir from the Cherry Hill United Methodist Church sang Christmas carols. Joyce Younk accompanied the group on her guitar. Above right, one of the many beautiful decorations done in the museum by the Apple Run Garden Club, this Christmas tree featured old fashioned candles, gingerbread men and popcorn strands. At right, Mary Hank, a longtime Canton resident and museum supporter, was on hand to share in the Christmas spirit. At left, a display of toys and antiques reflects the memories of Christmases gone by.

I've always said Christmas is my most favorite time of the year. It's fun getting together with family and friends when everyone is happy and in a good mood. The streets are decorated with brightly colored lights, you can hear the sound of Christmas songs and in the air there's a feeling of Christmas.

Snow in the month of December is great. I love watching those big white flakes falling through the air. It's fun going for a walk in the snow or making a snowman. Let's face it, I'm a kid at heart.

The only problem with Christmas is trying to find time to do all the things you want to. There was a time when I could bake tons of cookies, make candy, send out a 100 Christmas cards, decorate the house and still have, time to sew and make many gifts. However, things have changed and I don't have time for all those things.

No matter how busy you are, you can still find time to do some of the things you really want to do. I won't be making any gifts this year, but with my creative talents the people on my gift list won't miss much. When I announced that I wouldn't be baking as many cookies this year, the kids both confessed that they didn't much care for a certain kind of cookie anyway. (I wish they had told me that years ago).

Last weekend we had friends over to help decorate Christmas cookies. It's funny, every year as I roll the cookie dough out and cut it into shapes, I vow I'll never do it again. However, watching the kids have so much fun decorating the cookies, I know it's a tradition I'll never give up.

Driving on snow covered streets and trying to find a parking place is no fun, but what would Christmas be if we didn't have special people to shop for?

Of course we're all busy trying to do a million and one things, but we wouldn't be doing them if we really didn't want to. Deep down inside we all love the holiday season and all the things that go with it, so next time you're out shopping or waiting in line remember all the fun you're having. If you happen to be standing in line next to me, please remind me of how much fun I'm having.

The Christmas season comes but once a year, so let's enjoy it while it's here.

The Plymouth Beautification Committee invites everyone to join with the City of Plymouth in decorating with lights for Christmas.

"When you are in town at night, notice how beautiful the city appears," said Dennis R. Smith of the committee.

The beautification committee will be viewing decorations on Monday, Dec. 19, so turn on all your lights! The committee will be given awards for the best decorations.

Rocks go 2-0 after toppling Harrison

BY TIM McKERCHER It was a good way to start the game Friday night for the Salem boy's basketball team. Thanks to a technical foul called on a Farmington Harrison player during the pre-game warm-ups, the Rocks were leading the Farmington Harrison Hawks, 1-0 before clock was even started.

CRIER:

Rick Berberet sank the free-throw just before game time and then Salem got the ball out of bounds to start the game.

Coach Fred Thomann started his five seniors, Jeff Arnold, Barry Bell, Scott Jurek, Erich Hartnett and Berberet.

The five seniors mixed well and Salem mounted a big lead that never diminished.

The 6 foot 4 Berberet was the main scorer for the Rocks all night, he poured in five of his 21 points in the first eight minutes.

The Rocks played a quick passing offense with a lot of movement through the key. Thomann used a number of point guards although Arnold was the main ball controller.

Junior Mike White came off the bench with two minutes left in the quarter and teamed up with Berberet for a number of impressive scoring plays.

The Salem defense played tough and held the Hawks to five points in the first quarter, four of those came from Farmington's All-State football player John Miller.

The score at the end of the first quarter was Salem 16, Farmington 4.

The pattern of the second quarter was much the same as the first. Arnold sank one of his patented 30 foot jump shots at the 7:46 mark to boost the Rocks edge, 18-

4. A minute later, White showed his outside shooting ability by swishing backto-back 25 footers. Hartnett came back with a fancy play of his own at the 4:39 mark. Driving down the lane, he switched the ball from his right hand to his left, and then laid it in for the score.

Miller scored four more points in the quarter for Harrison and Jim Quarles added a three point play to make the score, 26-13 with 4:26 left in the quarter.

Thomann started to use his bench at this point of the game, and juniors Steve Sobditch and Craig Morten came through with some tough defense and three points between them.

Every player on the team had seen some playing time before the first half ended. Thomann plans on sticking with this strategy for the first nine or ten games of the season.

"We're going to try to use the bench as much as we can and look at the different combinations," Thomann said.

The first half ended with Salem leading, 31-16.

The pace slowed down considerably in the third quarter, the Rocks managed to pour in only ten points, six of those came from the free throw line. Harrison put together an offense that sank eight points and they closed the lead to 41-24.

"We didn't take good shots, that's all there is to it," said Thomann.

Salem picked up the pace for the last eight minutes, Hartnett chalked up a three point play with a minute ticked off the clock. White made a smooth move to the basket at the 6:16 mark to give Salem a 46-26 lead. Arnold increased that lead a minute later, sinking two free throws.

Berberet scored four more points in the Rocks next two trips down the court, this upped the score to 52-29, with four and a half minutes left in the game.

He added two more points at the 3:30 mark when he tipped in a Morten jumper. Arnold added a three point play with 2:52 Cont. on pg. 51

CEP wrestlers compete at John Glenn Invitational

BY TIM McKERCHER

Both the Canton and Salem wrestling teams traveled to Westland last Saturday to compete in the John Glenn Invitational. Salem, who was missing eight starters, finished seventh with 71 points and Canton finished sixth with 72 and one half points.

The highlight for Salem was John

Need a break from all the snow and slush? Ready for some good old summertime softball?

Then get ready for the March of Dimes Sno-Ball softball tournament.

Mens, womens, and co-ed softball teams throughout metropolitan Detrit will play a winter-time version of baseball. The tournament will take place, Jan. 28-29 at Bi-Centennial Park in Livonia. The registration fee is $100 per team (this includes umpire fees). e softball Sno-ball headquarters will be at Otello's Lounge (Farmington and Seven Mile Roads). A "fire-up" party will be held Tuesday, Jan. 24, at 7:30 p.m. Tournament rules will be discussed at the party.

Proceeds for the event will support the March of Dimes fight against birth defects via medical research, educational programs and community service projects.

For more information contact the March of Dimes at 423-3200. Jeanotte, who won the 132 pound division. Bruce Zak also had a good day, he came in fifth in the 155 pound division, and in the 167 pound division, Jamie Woochuk fought his way for a sixth place finish.

The Rocks were hindered by injuries. and the fact that Coach Ron Krueger sent a number of his younger wrestlers to a B meet so they could get experience.

"We're in the process of developing, I wanted to put kids in places where they could get the best experience and work. I was real pleased with the way it went. We're getting better," Krueger said.

That was the only action the Rocks saw last week, they had a dual meet planned with Bentley for Thursday but the official broke his arm and no replacement could be found.

Canton Coach Dan Chrenko was also pleased with the performance of his team, the Chiefs only took 10 wrestlers to the meet and seven managed to score. Tim Collins was the premier performer, who won the 138 pound division, beating four opponents during the day, this upped Collins record to, 9-0.

"We got a real good performance from Timmy Collins," said Chrenko.

Larry Janiga also put in a good day for the Chiefs, he came in fourth in the 145 pound division, he lost to a wrestler from John Glenn. Heavy weight Jim Malson also wrestled well, finishing fifth after winning two matches. Heath Smith and Jeff Condit both finished in sixth place. "We're coming, it's an improvement from the week before. We're trying to improve each week," Chrenko said.

The Chiefs wrestle Bentley tomorrow night at Phase III at 6:30.

Salem set to defend league crown

Park swimmers start with high hopes

Chief's divers key

BY BOB BUDLONG

After starting off the season with 33 swimmers, Chief Coach Hooker Wellman has trimmed his squad down to 20 bodies. The loss of all of those swimmers doesn't alarm Wellman though.

"That happens every season. We start off with a lot of kids who think they want to be swimmers, but a lot of them eventually drop out," he said.

What Canton loses in quantity, it makes up for in quality.

The Chiefs return with a strong diving squad, and a lot of talented freshman. One of those divers is sophomore Andy Flower.

"Andy is going to be terrific this year. He worked out every day over the summer, and that's what it takes to be a state champion," Wellman said.

Another area that looks good for the Chiefs this year is the breaststroke.

Wellman has Joe McBratnie and Jim Luce swimming that event, and both are captains.

McBratnie has set his sights on former All-American Paul Peterson's school record in the breaststroke. Matt Krawczak, Jim Casler, John Ahrens and Paul Swartzinski are all swimmers that Wellman expects to carry the team this year.

The freshman that he speaks so highly of are Frank Wisniewski, Chris Jeonotte, Jim Walker and Steve Schwinn.

Despite a lot of talent, Wellman doesn't expect the Chiefs to roll through their schedule. "The league looks tough. Salem will run away with it, and Northville and Churchill are going to be tough too," he said.

The Northville and Churchill meets are going to be big ones for the Chiefs this year.

"They have more talent than we do, but I think we can beat them," Wellman said.

The next home meet for the Chiefs is tomorrow night at the Canton pool against Walled Lake Western. Starting time is set for 7p.m.

Rocks look to

repeat in '84 BY BOB BUDLONG

Last year, the Salem men's swim team was 10-2 and finished first in the league meet by more than 100 points.

BOYS "C" LEAGUE

This year, they're picked to win the conference again, but it won't be easy.

"I guess we should be picked as the favorites for the conference, but it's going to be more difficult this year," Coach Chuck Olson said.

One of the reasons for Olson's optomism is the fact that he has four swimmers with state meet experience.

Those four swimmers; Scott Anderson, Bob Bowling, Erik Kleinsmith and Dave Workman will also serve as team captains.

"They're (the captains) are going to have to have a real good year," Olson said.

The Rocks got off to a good start Thursday by defeating Ypsilanti 86-85.

According to Olson, the meet was by no means a flawless performance for Salem.

"It looked like the first meet of the year. There were a lot of mistakes," he The Rocks took only five firsts for the night.

The relay team of Mike Harwood, Workman, Tony Atwell and Bowling finished first in the 200 yard medly relay. In the 200 individual medly, Klein-smith was first with a time of 2:17.88, and Don Harwood was first in the 50 freestyle with a 23.33.

In the diving competition, Bob Longridge was first for the Rocks with a score of 149.15.

The other first for Salem was captured by Kleinsmith in the 500 free. He touched in at 5:21.19.

It won't be an easy year for Salem.

"I think quite a few teams have gotten stronger. Stevenson, Farmington, Churchill are all tough this year," Olson said.

The Rocks swim again tomorrow night against Harrison. The meet will be at Salem and will get under way at 7 p.m.

Chief cagers top Walled Lake, 59-56

BY BOB BUDLONG

The Canton men's basketball team has taken their first step towards a league title.

A win over Walled Lake Central on Friday gave them a 1-0 league mark, and a 1-1 record overall.

That loss came at the hands of perennial state power Ypsilanti Tuesday night, by the score of 89-53.

The lopsided score didn't bother Coach Dave VanWagoner though.

"We lost to a very, very good basketball team. I was not completely disapointed. I thought our kids played well for an opening game, considering the competition," VanWagoner said.

In that game, Jim Schlicker scored 15 points and co-captain Gary Thomas added 10.

On Friday night, the Chiefs traveled to Walled Lake to take on a previously undefeated Central squad.

After leading by as much as 16 points in the game, Canton found itself behind by a point late in the game.

However, Thomas hit three free-throws and Schlicker one to ice the game for the Chiefs, 59-56.

VanWagoner said it was Central's defense that allowed them to nearly win the game.

'We let their press bother us. They got a lot of easy baskets. We just let them get Four players scored in double figures on the night for the Chiefs, and Van-Wagoner feels that must happen consistently this year.

"For us to be successfull we have to play as a team," he said.

Once again, Thomas had the hot hand offensively.

'Gary shot the lights out,'' Van-Wagoner said. Thomas finished with 23 points.

Co-captain Mark Bennett played an excellent all-around game, nearly completing a triple 10 (10 points, rebounds, and assists). Bennet scored 10, grabbed eight rebounds, and dished off eight assists.

Schlicker added 13 points and eight rebounds, and Mike Jennings pumped in 10 points and pulled down 11 rebounds.

One statistic that pleased VanWagoner was team rebounding.

Despite not starting a player over 6-2, the Chiefs out-rebounded the taller Vikings, 42-27.

"We're very happy with our week. We're in first place in our division," VanWagoner said.

Canton's next game is Friday night against league rival Farmington. The game is at Canton and starts at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Fidge moved to table this item until December 13 meeting in order to receive more information about the 15,000 miles limitation and clarification on the use of two vehicles as opposed to one as discussed in the budget communication. Supported by Mr. Horton. Ayes all.

Mrs. Hulsing moved to accept the resolution in form and substance as presented to the Board members, approving the Project Plan of the Ford Motor Company for pollution control at their Sheldon Road Plant. The resolution is stated in full in the official minutes. Supported by Mr. Pruner. Ayes all on the roll call vote, except Mr. Horton who abstained.

It was moved by Mrs. Fidge and supported by Mr. West to adopt, by resolution, the Memorandum of Agreement with the Township submitted by the Ford Motor Company, Re: the installation of water treatment facilities at their Sheldon Road Plant. Township of Plymouth, and authorize the Clerk to sign same Ayes all on the roll call vote, except Mr. Horton who abstained.

In the Agreement, the Ford Motor Company will indemnify the Township, its Board and officers from any and all loss and damage and any and all claims, demands, liabilities or payments arising form or in connection with the financing of the project until the closing on the bond issue. A copy of the Agreement, in its entirety, is entered into the official minutes on file in the Clerk's office.

Mrs. Fidge moved to deny payment at this time of $71,434.03 to the Wayne County Drain Commission for engineering work done in the study of the Tonquish Creek Drain, and to seek advice from our legal counsel as to whether it is our prerogative to have it spread over the drainage district only, or is it a General Fund obligation? Is it proper for the Drain Commissioner, Charles M. Youngblood, to charge us interest because it could not be paid by November 17 plus an interest charge of $25,000 to us on their loan? Supported by Mr. Horton. Ayes all.

Mrs. Fidge moved to approve Resolution No. 83-12-6-50 authorizing the Supervisor and Clerk to sign the agreement. Supported by Mr. West. The resolution is as follows:

BE IT THEREFRE RESOLVED, that the Charter Township of Plymouth enter into agreement with the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, relative to construction, operation and maintenance of detention basins and related to storm sewers in Subdivisions 1 and 2 of Metro West Industrial Park, a copy of said agreement is attached hereto and made a part hereof.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that Maurice Breen, Supervisor, and Esther Hulsing, Clerk, be and the same are hereby authorized to execute the foregoing Agreement for and on behalf of the Charter. Township of Plymouth.

Ayes all on the roll call vote.

The agreement rescinds the agreement for Subdivision No. 1 in the Metro West Industrial Park Re: detention basins and storm drainage and institutes a new agreement for Subdivisions 1 and 2 in the Park. Since the storm drainage in 1 merges with 2 and the second alters the first to some extent, a new agreement between the Township and the Wayne County Road Commission has been formulated. The agreement, in its entirety, is attached to the official minutes.

Mrs. Fidge moved to approve the request for the Supervisor to sign the agreement with Detroit Edison to provide electric service for scrator pumps in the ponds at the Park and the Golf Course. Supported by Mrs. Lynch. Ayes all.

Mr. Carroll had advertised for hids and the following had been submitted to him for material to construct a patio on the east side of Friendship Station.
