Mettetal to be sold?

BY DAN NESS

Mettetal Airport -- The Plymouth-Canton Community's only airport and one of the nation's few remaining privately-owned airports -- may be close to being purchased.

According to informed sources, the airport property owned by the Mettetal family on the southeast corner of Joy and Lilley roads is being considered for purchase for a large commercial development.

Helen Mettetal, who owns the airport with husband, Marvin, and his brother, Robert, neither denied nor acknowledged a sale of the property. "I can't say yet one way or another," Mettetal said.

Mettetal did say that property on the immediate corner of Lilley and Joy roads is in the process of being sold to Sun Oil Company, which owns Sunoco service stations. But, she cautioned, "nothing is finalized with Sun Oil yet."

The Mettetals have been negotiating with Wayne County over the right-of-way on their property to arrange for Lilley Road to be straightened, Please see page 23

David Artley was elected president of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education Monday night.

Artley, who has been vice-president of the board for the past year, won unanimous support from the board, 6-0, A glorious weekend Monday night. Previous Board President E.J. McClendon was not present for the organizational meeting.

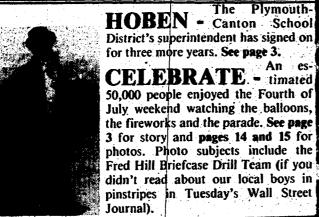

"I'm pleased by the support from the board members," Artley said. "I look forward to another year of excellence in education, labor peace and teamwork among the staff, students and community.

"I plan to work hard to keep the community informed as to what's going on," he continued. "I'm excited. I think it will be a good year."

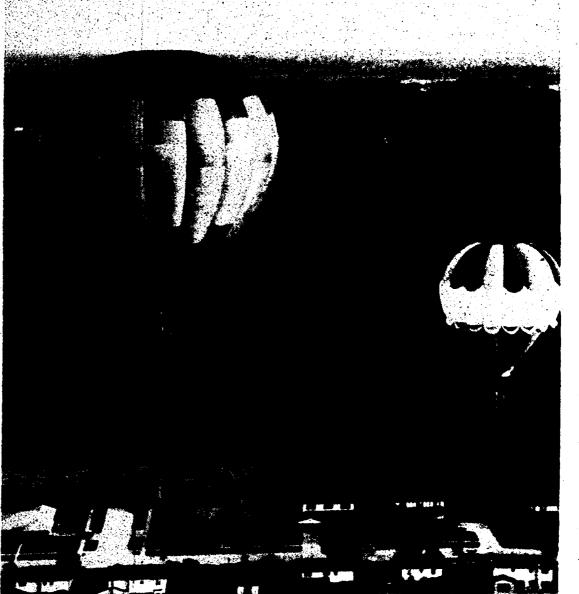

Lester Walker, last year's treasurer, was unanimously elected vice-president of the board, while Dean Swartzwelter was re-elected as the board secretary. Marilyn Schwinn was named board treasurer for this year.

At the same meeting the board also passed 18 other

Wake up to bargains

Inflation is usually a word that bargain hunters hate to read about.

But on July 11, inflation is a word that serious shoppers love to hear around Plymouth. It is also a day where the early bird really does get the cheapest worm.

Starting promptly at 5 a.m. downtown shops in Plymouth will slash prices up to 50 per cent off normal tagged prices. That is right, many stores open their doors at 5 a.m. and cut prices in half off many items in the store. But there is a small catch.

The "inflation" part of the sale begins at 6 a.m. when prices rise to 40 per cent off. This inflation rate continues throughout the morning at 10 per cent per hour until 10 a.m. when all prices go back to normal.

Canton trustees' pay cut denied

The four trustees on Canton's township board will continue to receive $100 per meeting.

Clerk Linda Chuhran introduced a resolution at the June 30 meeting to cut the pay the four trustees receive per meeting from $100 to $45, with a maximum of $135 paid per month regardless of how many meetings were held.

The resolution came at a time when the positions of supervisor, clerk and treasurer are awaiting changes to a part-time status -- with decreased pay rates. Canton residents will get a chance to participate in an advisory

City votes for address upgrade

The Plymouth City Commission adopted an ordinance Monday night that will call for an upgrading of street address displays for residential and commercial buildings.

The ordinance -- requested by Plymouth Fire Chief Alan Matthews -will require all buildings to display street addresses in Arabic numerals that can be easily read by police, fire and E.M.S. vehicles.

"In the past, E.M.S. has had problems finding addresses," Matthews said at Monday night's city commission meeting. "Usually people aren't outside waiting for emergency vehicles so they can pin them down. They're inside taking care of matters at hand. This should speed things up."

All numerals shall contrast with the surface they are applied to and will be no smaller than three-and-a-half inches high by two-and-a-half inches wide. The numeral "1" will only have to fit the required height.

City Manager Henry Graper said vote on Sept. 15 to voice their opinion on the matter.

Trustee Robert Padget, although disagreeing with the language included in the pay-reducing resolution, introduced his own resolution to cut the trustees' pay per meeting along the same scale as Chuhran's resolution.

The resolution to cut trustees' pay failed on a 4-3 vote. Padget, Chuhran and Trustee Loren Bennett voted to reduce pay for trustees, while Supervisor James Poole, Treasurer Gerald Brown, and trustees John Preniczky and Stephen Larson voted to maintain the present pay rate.

he'd like to see the ordinance take effect over an 18-month period, but said that enforcement procedures have not been decided yet.

Fireworks injures one

Canton police reported two fireworks accidents over the Fourth of July weekend, resulting in one injury.

On Saturday, a 13-year-old Canton boy was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Superior Township after a bottle rocket exploded near his face, injuring one of his eyes.

Also on Saturday, the Canton Fire Department responded to a barn fire on Michigan Avenue that was started through the use of fireworks. Canton police cited John Clor, 67, of Canton, for use of fireworks, according to police reports. Fireworks that started the fire included Roman candles and bottle rockets, according to police.

Mayflower Mortgage acquired

BY DAVID PIERINI An Ann Arbor-based bank holding company has signed a letter of intent to acquire Mayflower Mortgage Corp., of Plymouth, for an undisclosed amount. Republic Bancorp Inc. signed a letter of agreement with Mayflower Mortgage and now awaits approval from the Federal Reserve System.

Republic Bancorp Inc. has $132 million in assets and owns banks in Ann Arbor, Flint, Owosso, Williamston, and Traverse City.

"Republic represents, from our perspective, a broader capital base to operate from," said Chuck Adams, president of Mayflower Mortgage. "They're bankers, we're mortgage bankers.

"We strengthen each other. One plus one equals more than two."

Not only would both parties benefit from the merge, but Mayflower customers would be eligible for privileges as if they were Republic bank customers, Adams said.

Mayflower Mortgage is the largest independent mortgage corporation in Michigan with loans totaling $175 million in 1986. Based in Plymouth, Mayflower has offices in Ann Arbor, Livonia, Petoskey, Birmingham and Grosse Pointe Woods.

"Mayflower has been successful in a market area we deem very desirable," said Jerry Campbell, chairman of the board and president of Republic. "Part of our business is mortgages, and they do one aspect better than we do."

Campbell said he does not anticipate any changes among the officers of Mayflower Mortgage.

Hoben signs 3-year pact

BY KEN VOYLES

John M. Hoben, superintendent of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, was given a contract raise Monday by the district's Board of Education.

Hoben, who has been superintendent in the district for 16 years, earned a two per cent salary adjustment. Under the new contract -- which runs for three years -- Hoben will make $83,897 each year.

Last year the superintendent earned $79,516.

The salary adjustment followed an annual evaluation of the superintendent by the board's evaluation committee led by Marilyn Schwinn. The committee included Dean Swartzwelter and Lester Walker, but each board member had a chance to evaluate Hoben.

Using a rating scale from one to five, with five being outstanding, the board judged the superintendent in 15 performance categories.

Hoben averaged 4.68 overall.

In remarks included with the evaluation it reads, "The superintendent's evaluation once again makes a positive statement about his high quality performance during the past year."

Balloons survive winds, wires for 4th

BY DAVID PIERINI

Not even tain or a five-by-25-foot mustard slick could put a damper on this past weekend's hot air balloon and Fourth of July festivities.

According to Scott Lorenz, organizer for the Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival, three of the five scheduled flights got off despite Friday and Sunday rains that grouded balloonists.

"We really can't complain, we got some nice flying in," Lorenz said. "Even though we couldn't fly Sunday, we got between 7,000 and 10,000 people out."

A tremendous gust of wind late Friday afternoon knocked down concession tents, including a hotdog stand. The gust scattered ketchup and mustard in what Lorenz said was a five-foot by 25-foot slick.

"Someone said they figured it was a 60 m.p.h. gust of wind," Lorenz said. "I guess there were hotdog buns flying all over the place."

In another mishap, one of the participating balloons ran into some high wires near Joy and Ann Arbor roads, according to the Canton Fire Department. No one was hurt in the accident, and the pilot of the balloon kept on going after the wires were knocked down, according to Chief Mel Paulun.

The weather cooperated with the festival on Saturday, with an estimated crowd of 50,000 able to enjoy the hot air balloons and Fourth of July fireworks at Plymouth Township Park.

"I'm not just talking about the park," said Plymouth Township Police Chief Carl Berry. "In the area from Beck Road, to Sheldon Road, to Ann Arbor Trail, to North Territorial

BY DAN NESS

The new Canton Public Library and the new Hoben Elementary School projects both received unanimous site plan approval at the June 30 Canton Board of Trustees meeting.

The John M. Hoben Elementary School, with construction just getting underway now, will be located on Saltz Road between Sheldon and Canton Center roads.

The new library for Canton will be located on the west side of Canton Center Road just south of the Township Administration Building. Although the site plan was approved unanimously, the bid for construction of the project was the subject of discussion at the June 30 board meeting.

The Canton Public Library Board had recommended the construction bid go to the DeMaria Building Company, Inc. "based primarily upon the time for completion of construction and the base bid amount," according to the library board's minutes.

The owner of a construction firm that did not get the bid urged the trustees to disregard the library board's recommendation and award the bid to his firm, TKI Construction Management, Inc., which submitted a bid that was more than $36,000 less than DeMaria's base bid. DeMaria's base bid was $2,874,500. "We feel the people of Canton can

Library Board member Dr. James Gillig said the board favored DeMaria Construction because that firm could complete the job is less time. "Time was an important consideration for us," Gillig said. "We were very satisfied with the decision we made."

Ultimately, the board agreed with the library board on a 4-3 vote backing its decision. Supervisor James Poole, Clerk Linda Chuhran and Treasurer Gerald Brown voted against the library board's recommendation.

The collapse of a building that injured two Plymouth construction workers and three others last Thursday was caused by "haste" on the part of the workers, the Garden City building inspector said.

Austin "Woody" Lynch, 44, of Plymouth was listed in stable condition at Garden City Hospital Tuesday morning after suffering a skull fracture, two broken ribs and a broken nose. He is the former Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce president and Canton Businessperson of the Year.

David Hebda, 38, of Plymouth and three other workers were treated and released at Garden City Hospital.

Lynch is owner of A and J Construction, which was building the roof frame when it collapsed.

Following Monday afternoon's investigation by the Michigan Department of Labor and the Garden City Building Department, Garden City Building Inspector Gerry Durkin said the workers were "going too fast.

"They didn't take the proper precautions in bracing wood trusses that were 50 feet long," Durkin said. "We're going to call in the architect to go over some of the details."

Electric lines smoked in the grass Friday at the intersection of Farmer and Sunset in Plymouth. The wires were knocked down by strong winds. (Crier photo by Ken Voyles)

"A gust of wind seemed as though it captured the trusses, and they kind of went down like dominos," said Lynch, who built Skatin' Station in Canton, the Plymouthrock Saloon, First of America's Canton branch, and otherprojects in The Plymouth-Canton Community. "I've done this kind of work for years. It was a fluke accident

Lynch said he was feeling "okay" but was disappointed that he had to miss Monday night's Duran Duran concert.

From his hospital bed in Garden City, Lynch said he and his workers were installing the trusses and putting up plywood sheets on the roof frame when a wind gust knocked the trusses loose, bringing down two walls.

but it is indicative of attitudes that exist these days in our community. Steven Johnson, of Windsor Park, does not share in those "I-could-careless-about-how-my-community-looks" attitudes, and a drive through his subdivision on July 4th would have told you that. But first, the trash.

It occurred to me that the driver of this particular car (specifically, license plate number 541 JMY, for anyone who really wants to check up on it) might not be bothered with the situation that exists off of Lotz Road south of Ford Road on an old airplane landing strip. It is that situation that I wrote about some months ago. detailing how the vacant property had turned into a makeshift landfill through the handiwork of inconsiderate slobs that didn't care how other people's neighborhoods looked.

As the driver of the silver Ford

Tempo neared the Canton Center

Road intersection heading west on Joy

Road, a crumpled paper cup flew out of the window, rolling onto the

It wasn't a major crime, this tossing

f trash onto the street on Monday,

I had a chance to talk recently to one of the Lotz Road neighbors who has to ive near the dump, and the situation as worsened.

He was worried about unsightliness and declining property values and declining moral values in general, and vondered out loud if this situation existed in another subdivision, would omething be done about it?

He implied that other subs may have better hold on the ears of Canton's elected officials, but I wasn't cynical enough to agree with him. It is a sad situation, the old airstrip off of Lotz Road, and as long as there are people like those in the silver Ford Tempo on Monday, the situation will probably remain.

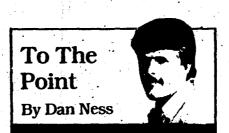

On the other hand, as long as there are people like Steven Johnson around, maybe the situation won't remain.

Johnson, a Realtor associate with ERA Mark Realty Northwest, lives in Windsor Park and thought it would be a nice idea if all of his neighbors had an American flag in front of their homes on the Fourth.

Johnson sent notices out to his neighbors and said he would provide the 11-by-17-inch flag, even put it up, if they would be willing to let the flags fly at the curb in the middle of their property. Beforehand, he had no idea what type of response to expect from his neighbors.

The day before the Fourth, he had a nuch better idea. Out of 905 homes in Park, 902 homeowners. Windsor agreed to fly the flags on their lawns.

"Everyone seemed to really like it," he said. "It looked really nice because all of the streets in Windsor Park were lined with flags. I'm still getting calls from people who said they liked the idea.

Johnson and helpers started placing the flags on lawns at 5 a.m. on the Fourth and were finished four hours later. He hesitated to place the flags the night before, fearing vandals would take them.

Unfortunately, his fears were warranted.

Fortunately, the day turned out to be a proud one for the residents of Windsor Park subdivision, and Steven Johnson in particular. "Nobody took the flags in until later that night,' Johnson said.

"I'd like to see if we could make this a tradition on every Fourth of July, it worked so well."

That's a nice idea. And -- just maybe the tradition of keeping one's trash inside of the car instead of throwing it out for someone else to take care of will also catch on some day.

Voyles rekindles pride

EDITOR:

Congratulations on your July 1 issue which brought to life for the people of The Plymouth-Canton Community the glorious history and heroic deeds of the men of the 24th Michigan, Company C.

The descendents of those men now living in the area have good reason to be proud of their ancestors, and you have rekindled that pride by bringing their stories out of the history books and faded letters onto the front page.

As was pointed out, Bev Schmitt's desire to trace her roots resulted in her becoming the head of the Archives department at the Plymouth Historical Museum. She and the other staff members at the Museum are anxious to assist anyone interested in researching their family's history, and we hope those who have such an interest will take advantage of our resources.

Thanks to Ken Voyles (and others who may have worked on the stories) for a very fine job.

Briefcasers competed with noise; please accord some courtesy

EDITOR:

If I were Fred Hill and the Briefcase Brigade, I would refuse to appear in the July 4th parade again, unless I were assured I would not be followed by a monstrous flat bed truck.

Seeing them perform is funny in itself, but you also have to hear what they are saying to appreciate the whole concept.

While they were performing in front of the grandstand, the Bunyea truck repeatedly blasted it's horn. How rude!!

Another group had their music drowned out by the Scottish Bagpipers while performing in front of the grandstand.

If a group is performing in front of the grandstand, can't it be worked out that any other group between Penniman and Ann Arbor Trail be quiet? Their turn is coming and they surely want the same courtesy accorded them.

Otherwise, the parade was beautiful. Loved the Middlebelt Nursing Home group. A marching band would also be a nice addition, and more antique cars. We love 'em.

P.S. I don't know who the M.C. is but he's great. Love his quips and snide remarks. Is he a pro? SPARKY KALLUNKI

Community opinions

Mike, sure it's embarrassing to have something named after you while you're still alive and kicking.

But, unless you're planning to walk away with the kiddies milk fund between now and then ... you'll live through it.

As a young Plymouth High School sophomore, I remember meeting you in the guidance office in my first week of high school. Being a new kid on the block, I never could figure out why you took such an interest in me as one of maybe 1,600 PHS students at the time.

Later, I learned, you did that with all of 'em.

In the ensuing 25 years I've watched you coach, counsel, teach and manage at Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. Your students recall lessons from the classroom, the football field and the hallways (that latter reference was me).

Some of them even proudly relate how they came to work for "you" at the schools after attending there.

You weathered tough times. Stepping in first as interim, and then as full-fledged superintendent after the predecessor was fired -- now that took guts.

Those kind of guts may have won football games a long time ago -- today they help teach kids.

Sure, you got a raise Monday night.

I personally wouldn't take the job for twice the price though. (However, if the typographical error in another newspaper that added a decimal point to your salary comes true, I'll apply.)

Through 45-15, random selection, the student population boom, the budget cuts, the teacher strikes and the other assorted calamities, you've earned it.

Along the way, graduates of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools have excelled in many walks of life in distant and close-by corners of the Earth.

For this, the name of a new elementary school is small tribute. Sure, it's awkward having them make a fuss about you while you're alive. You can always blame (former school board member) Flossie Tonda -- she started the idea of putting your name on the sign.

Your kids -- not just your family - but your students over the years know you deserve it. Your colleagues in teaching and administration and the school board types feel the same way too.

Congratulations, Mike. It's well deserved.

Why is it important?

Finding who Akin Holloway was

It would probably take a lot of digging, but we could help Beverly Schmitt find out which man in the photograph of the ⁻24th Michigan Regiment is her great grandfather.

You see, Akin Holloway (from Plymouth) fought with the 24th during the Civil War and later joined the Eddy Post veterans group of the GAR, or Grand Army of the Republic.

When a monument to the 24th was dedicated at McPhersons Woods on the Gettysburg battefiled in 1889 many of the survivors gathered at the dedication.

A photograph recorded the moment. Today Beverly still doesn't know the identity of her soldier relative. All of those who knew what Akin looked like have passed on and there are no existing photos of him before, during or after the war.

But Akin is in that one post-war picture, hidden among about 60 other known and unknown faces from the past.

There are two ways of still possibly finding Akin.

First, obtain photos of his three sons as well as grandsons and great grandsons. Then look for certain family features for a resemblance. It would be tricky eliminating the other faces for lack of any of family traits, though it could work, especially if an expert was brought in to help.

Second, identify every other soldier in the photograph, thus eliminating the faces of those who are not Akin Holloway. This may be even more difficult — other families with ancestors who fought in the Civil War may be in the same boat and not know what their great grandfather looked like back then.

Still it would be an intriguing search. And isn't that what history is all about anyway?

I wanted to start this...the Civil War on my mind...but decided against it, even though I have indeed had the War of Secession on my mind lately.

I consider myself an avid history buff and looking into details about the 24th Michigan became a passion. Finding out who Akin Holloway is would be an even greater challenge. THE COMMUNITY CRIER: July 8,

Why is it important to find out what Akin Holloway looks like?

Simple. It's called perspective, in this case historical perspective. Reading about or studying the past is all well and good, but to really get in touch with the era, with the people, with the link to today, it is necessary to have all the information one can lay one's hands on.

And that especially means -- images. To bring this home, in my own family there is an "image" of the Voyles fighting against each other on both sides of the battlefield (and apparently some truth to it), but I have no specifics and really would like more information.

So I think to myself that it would be nice to help someone else instead, and in doing so come to grips with history through the vicarious glasses of time.

Plymouth Twp. forms confusing to employes?

Some employes and officials of Plymouth Township are fuming mad over a barrage of forms they have been required to fill out for the completion of new procedure manuals for the township.

The manuals, being processed by a Southfield consulting firm, were voted to be done at the June 17 township board meeting.

But many township employes believe the board did not know the amount of time that the employes would be required to invest during working hours to complete the forms.

"I don't think the board knew what they were approving," one employe who asked not to be identified said. "The forms are ludicrous. They have flow charts, and connector symbols, instead of a simple step-by-step example."

According to trustee Jim Irvine the township authorized almost $10,000 for Grant Thornton's Management Consulting Department out of Southfield to process the manuals.

He also said that unrealistic time elements were placed on the employes to complete the necessary paperwork.

One employe said that the forms were received last Tuesday afternoon (June 30), and a portion was expected to be completed by this Tuesday (July which was about three working 7). days with the holiday weekend.

Irvine said that what the employes were expected to do, and the timeframe allotted were impossible to meet. Treasurer Mary Brooks agreed with Irvine.

"It just seems like an insurmountable task," Brooks said. "Time wise, I just don't see how wecan fill these things out in such minute detail in the time they want them done."

Employes are also upset about the format that the forms have been given to them.

The company is asking that each employe complete a worksheet which describes each task completed by the employe. The worksheet asks that each employe also label the task and each step of the task with symbols and identification.

Employes said that there was a "instructional meeting" given by the company but that was just as confusing.

Brooks said that everyone is "delighted" with the prospect of desk manuals for new employes, but that "the form these come in is just unbelievable.'

the second s

The reason given by Township Supervisor Maurice Breen for the manuals in a memo to the board is to save time in training new employes, and correct errors commonly made by employes.

Employes, however, think the forms are making that goal more difficult.

"We are not trained to do this." one employe said. "If they want them done right, they should hire people who are trained in writing manuals. With this, I can't even get my normal work done.

Holbrook will stand new trial starting July 13

BY KEN VOYLES

Darol Wayne Holbrook will be arraigned for a new trial on Monday, July 13 in Detroit Recorder's Court following a ruling last week by 35th District Court Judge James Garber.

Garber, who ruled on the acceptability of "similar acts" evidence, decided that there was "sufficient similarity" to bind Holbrook over for a new trial.

Holbrook is the convicted murderer of Janet Reynolds.

"I found there was a high degree of similarity and I accepted the testimony under the similar acts rules of evidence," Garber explained.

Garber said he listened to testimony from Mary Holbrook, who is currently married to Holbrook's brother, Tim. But back in 1974, she testified that Holbrook attempted to rape her and the "circumstances" were similar, according to Garber.

City of Plymouth Police Lt. Robert Commire also testified before Garber on his attempts to find another woman who was assaulted by Holbrook in Wyandotte in 1975.

Holbrook was found guilty of that assault and served a term in Jackson State Prison, but Commire said current attempts to find the victim failed.

Garber then ruled that he was satisfied with Commire's efforts to find the woman and accepted a transcript of her previous testimony against Holbrook.

"I looked for similarities in the M.O. (modus operandi)," Garber said.

The case began after the Michigan State Supreme Court ruled that a blood typing test, serological electrophoresis, was not admissible evidence in a murder case. Much of the evidence against Holbrook centered on the testing of drops of blood on his shoes.

Following the supreme court ruling, Garber was ordered to take yet another look at the Holbrook case and rule whether or not he should be put on trial again or set free.

"The Prosecuting Attorney's Association of Michigan (PAAM) will use the Holbrook case as a test case," said Garber. "It will be their vehicle to see if they can't get the supreme court ruling changed."

PAAM is seeking to reverse the decision against the admissibility of

of an inconvenience.'

Berry said there were few problem reported.

The Plymouth Jaycees also boasted success in sponsoring Saturday's Fourth of July parade, which ran down Main Street.

According to Parade Chairman Rich Doherty, everything ran smooth and an estimated crowd of 10,000 was comparable to Fourth of July parades past.

The Plymouth Fife and Drum Corp just beat out the Michigan Scottish Pipe and Drum Corp for the bands competition.

There were no surprises in the marching units competition, with the Fred Hill Briefcase Drill Team, a parade favorite, taking first place honors.

In other parade competitions: the Plymouth Business and Professional Women won the adult float category;

the Polish Centennial Dancers took top honors in the youth float competition and the Plymouth Historical Society won first place honors in the antique cars category.

Party store gets cited

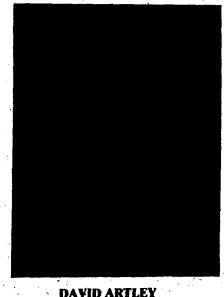

The owner of Village Party Store, at 7399 Lilley Rd. in Canton, was cited by Canton police for selling alcoholic beverages to minors on July 3, according to police reports.

A Canton Police Officer observed a Canton minor purchase beer and wine coolers at the party store without being checked for age identification, ac. cording to police.

Party store owner George Jacob, 64, of Southfield, will face changes in 35th District Court on Aug. 3, police said.

electrophoresis evidence. "This was an interesting case,"

Garber said. "It's a relatively rare situation to have similar acts evidence.'

Double trouble Pair of Matts meet, close 700-mile gap

COMMUNITY CRIER:

Regan, a seven-year-old from Plymouth, and a Matthew Regan, of Manassas, Virginia, also seven, have been pen pals for the past seven months, trading letters and birthday greetings across 700 miles.

The pair met last week and spent some time getting to know each other far better than what one could do just writing letters.

The energetic youths are not related, even though the Virginia Regan family lived in Plymouth at one time, but they became buddies through the mail after Doris Dietrich, the grandmother of the Virginia Matt and an employe at Bird Elementary, discovered another Matt Regan at the school.

"I thought it was a real interesting coincidence," Dietrich said. "I helped them get in touch with each other and they went from there."

The Plymouth Matt's only com-

Advertising Advice plaint of his new friend is that he doesn't write enough. Matt has sent off two letters and a birthday greeting, while his eastern pen-pal has only responded once.

"We write about what we do and where we live," said Matt from Plymouth. "Do you have to tell everybody?"

"Matt's right," said Matt from Virginia. "I've got to get on the stick and write again."

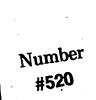

When Matt from Virginia came to visit his grandmother -- as he does every year -- he hooked up with his distant comrade. Together they spent the better part of a week "doing" The Plymouth-Canton Community.

The youths will enter second grade next year.

As if knowing what each other was going to say, they both said they were excited and glad to finally meet. One could see the excitment in their gentle, but boyish, play.

COMMUNITY

Kellogg Park and some of the downtown streets of Plymouth will become an art haven this weekend for the two-day Art in the Park festivities (July 11-12).

This year's affair features more than 175 artists from all over Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and New York. Some 65 Michigan communities will be represented with artists and craftspeople at the 7th annual gathering. Besides displays of art and hand-created crafts, working demonstrations will highlight the event. Entertainment and food concessions are also planned during the gathering.

The Three Cities Art Club will be well represented as will as other art clubs in southeast Michigan.

Art in the Park will take place from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday along Main Street from Ann Arbor Trial to Church Street, and Penniman Avenue from Main to Union Street. Those sections of street will be closed to motorized traffic. A variety of food concessions -featuring fried potatoes, Italian sausage and ice cream -- can be found in Kellogg Park and there will also be entertainment in the bandshell near the Penn Theatre.

"I created this seven years ago," said Dianne Quinn, organizer and show director of Art in the Park. "I thought we have a beautiful park and nothing going on there."

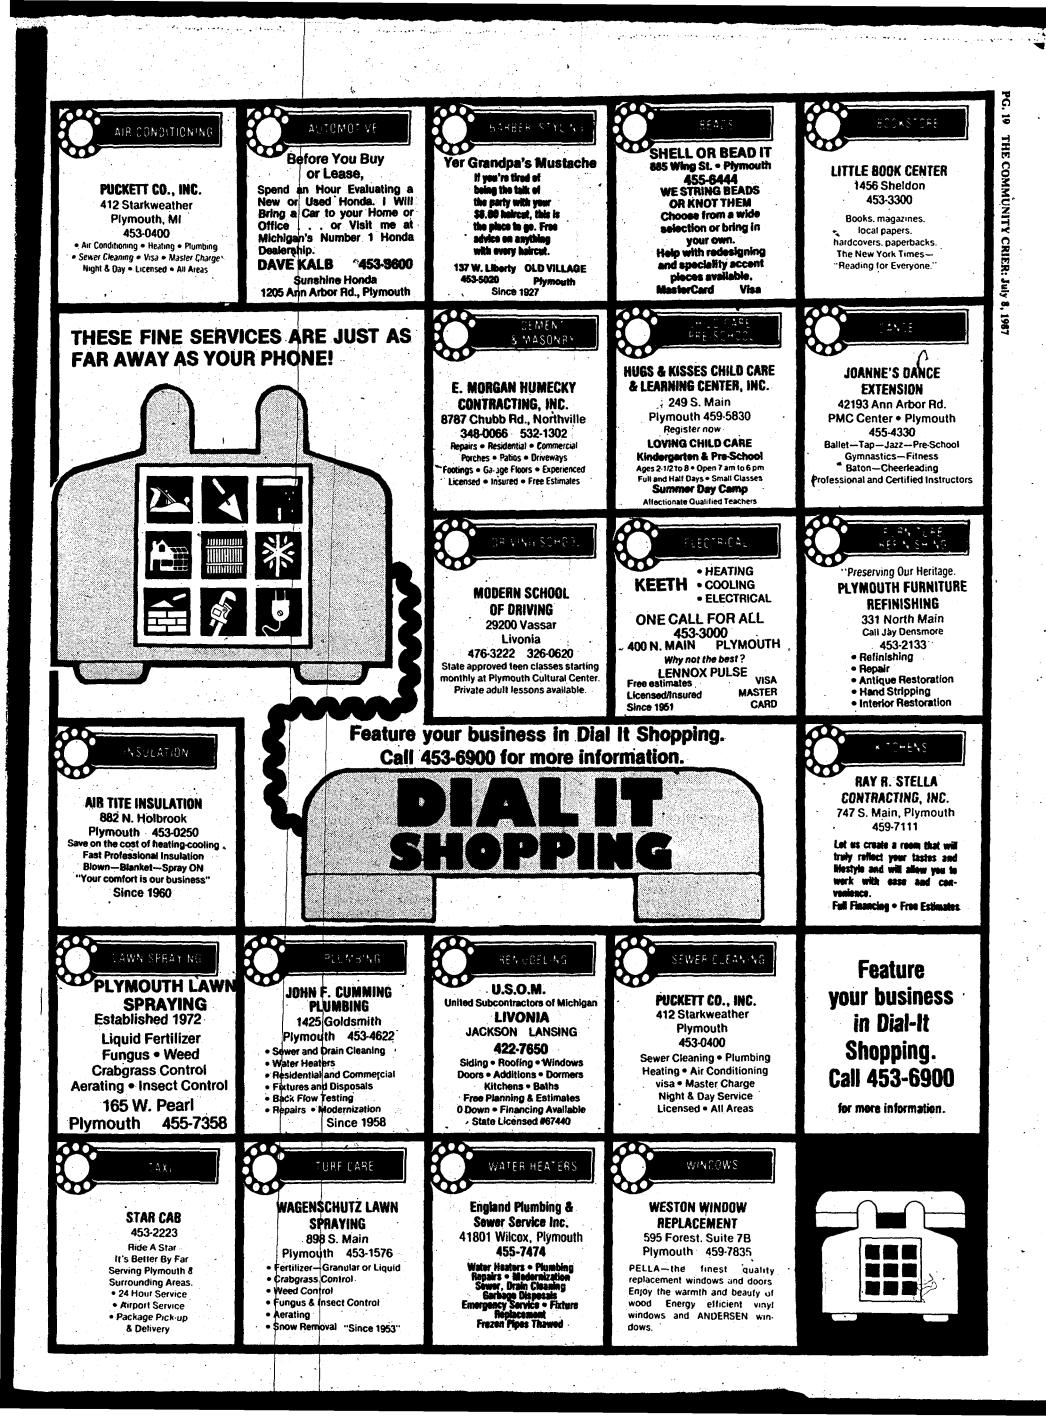

Quinn got permission from the City

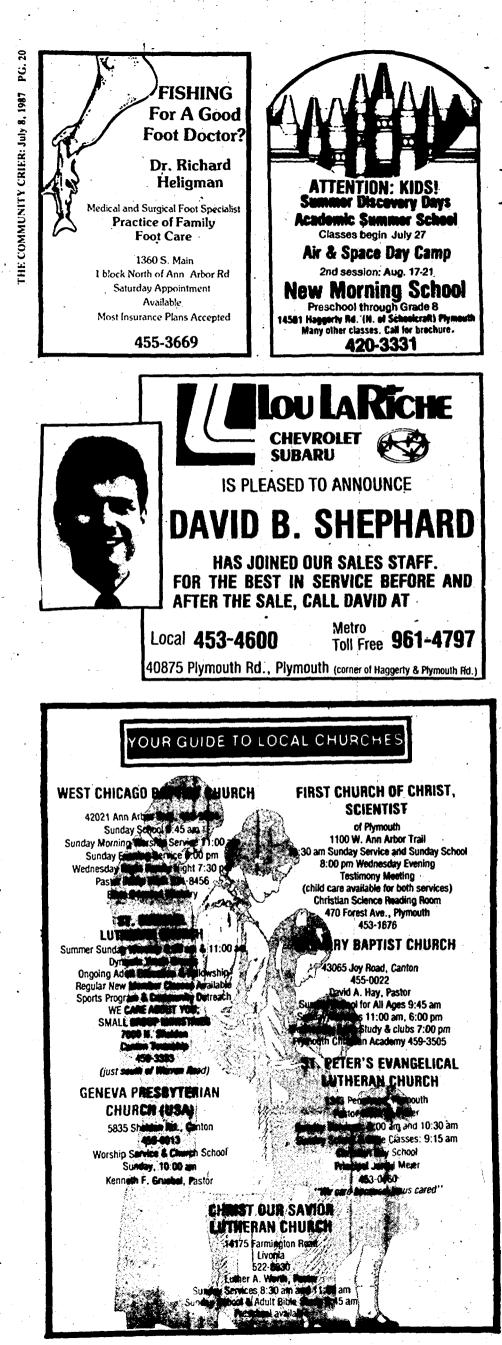

Commission for the event, which has grown each year.

"We started with just 30 artists. Now we have almost 200," Quinn said. "It has gotten bigger every year."

This is the first year in the past five years that Art in the Park will not be held in conjunction with the July 4th festivities and the hot air balloon festival.

Airport for sale 'on and off'

Mettetal added.

Canton Director of Community and Economic Development David Nicholson could not be reached for comment.

The airport has been for sale "off and on for the past 20 years," Mettetal said. As one of the estimated 15 privately-owned airports in the nation, the Mettetals receive no federal funding, as municipal airports do. Gas tax monies for airplane fuel purchased at Mettetal Airport goes to municipal airports, while the Mettetal family retrieves none of it, Mettetal noted.

"We don't get a cent of government funds," she said.

The president of the Plymouth Mettetal Aviation Association, Bill Brown, said that approximately 125 airplanes were either tied down or in hangars at Mettetal Airport. In addition, Jet Services, Inc. runs a helicopter service at Mettetal Airport as a fixed-base operator of airport fuel systems and flight school, as well as housing the helicopter fleet it uses, Brown said.

Hungry residents lined up for the Flap-jack Fly-in last Saturday at Mettetal Airport. The pancake feed was sponsored by the Experimental Aircraft Association. Mettetal Airport may be in the process of being sold. (Crier photo)

GLSG registration deadline for athletes athletes had registered for the finals to Approximately 2,500 athletes are

The registration deadline for athletes to enter the first ever Great Lakes State Games, a Michigan Sesquicentennial event, has been extended to Wednesday, July 15, organizers of the event recently said.

ER:

THE COMMUNITY

As of last week more than 800

athletes had registered for the finals to be held in Marquette County, July 31 to August 2. That total doesn't include athletes who are involved in sports requiring regional qualifying rounds, like basketball, softball, volleyball, bowling and junior class wrestling. Approximately 2,500 athletes are expected to take part in the games this summer,

The youngest entry so far is three and the oldest is 73.

Twenty-five sports -- totaling 37 different events -- are offered this year for all ages and skill level. Awards for the games will be ribbons and Olympictype medallions of gold, silver and bronze.

Call 1-800-5 CAN WIN for further information on any aspect of the Great Lakes State Games.

Skater gets ready

Twelve-year-old Karla Stewart seen working out last week as she gets ready for the Great Lakes State Games. The youth hopes to some day compete in the Olympics. (Crier photos by Dennis Bakker)

Young Canton skater to take part in GLSG

BY JANET ARMSTRONG While the average 12-year-old is playing outside, or talking on the phone with friends, Karla Stewart, an eighth grader from Canton is hard at work in the ice rink.

Stewart, an upcoming figure skater, practices from 7:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. five days a week during the summer, at the Garden City ice rink.

Stewart has earned the right to participate in the first ever Great Lakes State Games, which are to be held in the end of July in Marquette County.

Stewart is no a stranger to competition as she took the gold medal in her division (which was pre-juvenile at the time of competition) at the regional competition in 1986. Competing in the event were skaters from five Great Lakes states.

According to Stewart, she puts in the amount of practice so she can one day

"go to the Olympics"

Stewart, who has been skating since the age of six, is presently competing in the intermediate division. In figure skating competition their are six divisions, pre-juvenile, juvenile, intermediate, novice, junior, and senior.

Skaters usually advance to the next level once a year, according to Lisa Maceratini, who coaches Stewart.

"Being 12 at the intermediate level is average," said Maceratini. She added "Karla has progessed one category a year."

About Karla's quest to be an Olympian Maceratini said, "There's always a possibility."

When asked about the amount of time Stewart puts in, Maceratini said, "You have to be dedicated.

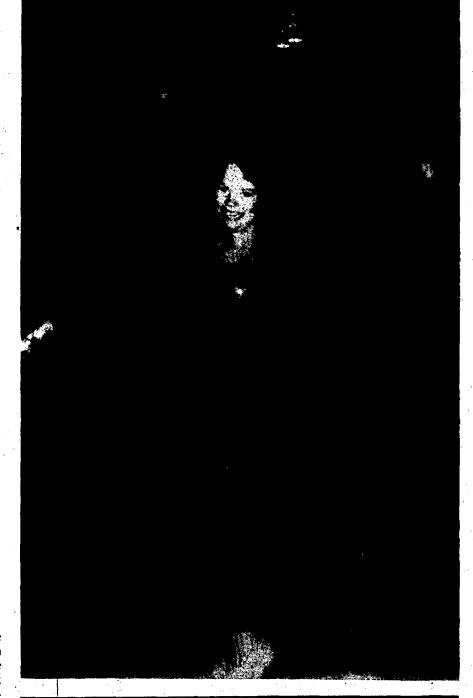

"And Karla is dedicated."

The 8th Annual Michigan Senior Olympics will be held beginning at 9 a.m. on Saturday, August 15 at Oakland Community College. Seniors from The Plymouth-Canton Community will be among the athletes on hand for the event.

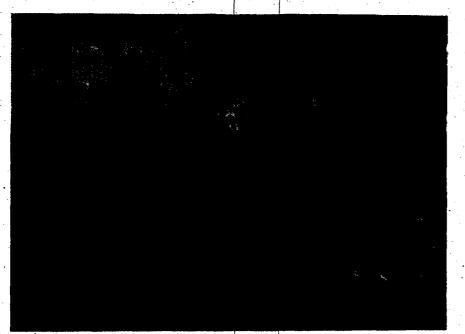

The Canton Seniors, for example, will take a busload of seniors to the event – including participants and spectators. The bus will leave the Canton Recreation Center at 7:10 a.m.

Registration forms are available to compete through the Older Persons and the Canton Seniors (397-1000, ext. 278). They-are due no later than July 23.

Men and women 55 and over are eligible to compete. The cost is $2 to register (includes a t-shirt and lunch) and $1 for each "closed event." Open events are free.

Strikers

The Canton Strikers pose for a group shot.

Striker kick team wins division title

There are a lot of good youth soccer teams in The Plymouth-Canton Community.

Take the Canton Strikers, this year's champions in the Superior Division of the Great Lakes Soccer League (GLSL). The squad went 8-1-1 during the regular season.

Made up of Canton and Plymouth youths ages nine and younger, the Strikers also garnered a second place overall at the Canton International Tournament over the Memorial Day weekend. The team lost in the finals to an Ohio team from Strongsville.

More recently the club took first place in the Canton Cup Tournament.

The team will travel to Maumee, OH, in August for yet another big "open" tournament.

Last year the Strikers won their Michigan Division of the GLSL, putting them in the Superior Division this past season. Next year the squad will play in an open division or as a travel team.

Team members include Matt Capald, Brandon DiPaola, Scott Epley, Joe Hunter, Jamie Kahil, Brian Kaminski, Mike Kaplan, Andy Makins, Brian Prybylski, Chris Salmon, Tara Seniuch, Dan Shasko, Todd Stonestreet, George Tomasso, Brian Williams, C.J. Woolard and Ryan Wuorenma.

Wes Shasko coached the team this past season along with assistants Jim DiPaola and Tim Makins.

Chamber golf classic planned for September

The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce will host its Annual Golf Classic '87 in September.

The classic -- to be played at the Fox Hills Country Club -- is slated for Tuesday, Sept. 22. If rain prevents play on that day, a rain date has been set up for the following Tuesday (Sept. 29).

An individual ticket is $85, while a $40 ticket buys dinner. But as a sponsor participants receive a package two tickets for a round of golf, cart rental, meals, refreshments, and a shirt.

There are a limited number of reservations available.

Tee-off time is 10:30 a.m. Golfers should check in by 9:15 a.m. to assure a good tee time for the classic.

To register call the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce at 453-1540. write the chamber at 960 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Suite 2, Plymouth, MI 48170.

Last chance for tourney

The 2nd annual Singles Tennis Tournament, sponsored by the Canton Parks and Recreation Department, is slated for July 10-12 at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) tennis courts.

The event is open to residents ages 14 and under, 15-18 and 19 and over. Trophies will be awarded to the winner and runner-up in each of those age brackets. The fee is $4 per person. Registration deadline is 5 p.m., Wednesday, July 8.

Each participant must furnish a new can of USTA approved tennis balls for each match. The new balls go to the winner.

Call 397-5100 for further registration and tournament information.

Land of confusion By Marty Tungate

As we approach the middle of summer, many people in The Plymouth-Canton Community keep more active than they do in the winter months.

But what is the most popular sport during the summer months?

Some people jog, others walk, ride bikes, golf, play baseball or softball, or get involved in some other sort of organized recreation sport. But the sport people seem to be getting more and more enthralled by is volleyball.

Driving through Hines Park on a weekend, you can see almost as many volleyball games as softball games.

Volleyball is seemingly getting more popular year after year.

Is it because the sport is receiving more media coverage than it has in many years, or is it because of the thrill one gets when spiking the ball into an opponents face?

Volleyball is one of my all-time favorite summer sports for many reasons:

- Almost anyone can play it.

-- One does gets some exercise -- depending on how hard you play. -- The thrill of making a diving save at the ball, or spiking the ball to win a point.

There are many more reasons why I play volleyball, and why the community is becoming more active in the game.

Volleyball also has many terms that the rookie of the sport may not understand. Here are a few definitions to help you understand some of the volleyball lingo.

Spike -- When one leaps into the air and hits the ball over the net with great speed toward the ground.

Dink -- When one fakes a spike, and lightly taps the ball over the net, or the guy who has too much to drink and is seeing two balls.

Save -- When one dives or makes a great play for the team keeping the ball in play.

Blocking -- When one leaps straight up at the net to attempt to stop a spike or dink.

There are many other terms, and these definitions are from a backyard volleyball player, but knowing the terms will make you look and sound like a real backyard pro.

So come on Plymouth and Canton, join in the fun. Volleyball is the hottest game across the United States.

It even beats out arena football, but that's another story.
