200,000 celebrate 32nd Fest

Festival of food

BY PAUL GARGARO

Despite a bit of uncooperative weather, the 32nd annual Fall Festival will go into the history books deemed a success.

In spite of the threatening weather, an above-average crowd, estimated at over 200,000, converged on Plymouth over the weekend. "Except for the rain, the crowds were consistent," said Joe Henshaw, chairman of the Fall Festival board of directors. "The people were out and seemed to be having a great time. That's the bottom line."

As usual, most of the major food providers sold out. The Lions fried fish, The Kiwanis flipped pancakes, the Jaycees sizzled steak and the Rotary laid a golden egg with their chicken.

In and around the Festival, things seemed to run smoothly, as coordinated by Fall Festival Manager Mike Vanderveen and his assistant, Joe Bida.

Despite the overall success there were a few minor problems. George LaCroix stated that the limited parking along Elizabeth Street may have contributed to the mediocre sales at the City will lay off temporary cops

BY PAUL GARGARO

Five temporary police officers with the City of Plymouth are scheduled to be laid off on Sept. 23, according to City Manager Henry Graper.

Originally there were eight officers hired for the temporary summer positions in May. Since that time, three have left the force.

"We'd love to keep these guys," Graper said. "We're working on finding employment for them on other forces."

Myers expressed similar sentiments. "We really hate to lose them," he said. "From my perspective, I'd like to have them on the force permanently.

They're good officers. Unfortunately, it's a financial thing."

The Sept. 23 termination date comes one week before the date that the officers would be eligible for unemployment benefits.

"These men were hired in May and told by the hiring commission that they were here to serve for a period of 16 weeks," explained Graper. "This should come as no surprise."

"There aren't any hard feelings," said Myers. "The terms of their employment goes right along with what the hiring commission said last spring."

Ypsi man injured in accident

An Ypsilanti man was seriously injured Sept. 8 after the truck he was driving left the road and hit a sewer culvert on Beck Road north of Saltz.

Two other passengers in the truck were not seriously injured in the accident, which occurred at about 3:30 p.m.

James Edwin Allan, 20, was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Superior Township by Canton rescue personnel. Allan underwent surgery for his injuries later that night and was listed in serious condition.

The passengers said Allan had swerved to avoid another pickup truck in the road.

City police picket at City Hall

BY DAVID PIERINI

Several Plymouth police officers picketed city hall during last Tuesday's city commission meeting, calling for a change in management style.

About 15 officers, dispatchers and family members, under light rain, carried neon-colored signs with messages that took stabs at policy and the officials that set it. The demonstration was the latest incident in an ongoing conflict between the police union and city administration.

"We've exhausted everything else," said Officer Joseph Kahanec, president of the Plymouth Police Officers Association (PPOA). "We've tried to talk to the chief, the city commissioners and the commander, and everything's still unresolved."

Kahanec said the officers will picket again if no attempts to settle grievances by the city are made. No strike is planned.

City Manager Henry Graper said the city has made every effort within the collective bargaining agreement to open communication lines and address problems.

Graper said he has tried to contact Jerry Radovic, business agent of the Police Officers Association of Michigan (POAM), the PPOA's main bargaining unit, to set up a meeting, but calls to his office were not returned.

"The lines have always been open," Graper said, "at the table and according to the bargaining agreement. The system does work."

The city recently filed unfair labor practice charges against the POAM because members of the Plymouth unit discussed grievances with The Community Crier. Discussing issues publicly is a violation of the

Commish leaves Plymouth

BY W. EDWARD WENDOVER

The only state of Michigan agency headquartered in The Plymouth-Canton Community is racing out of town after a decade here.

Negotiations for the Michigan Racing Commissioner's Office and Ralph Lorenz properties, its landlord since 1976, broke down and the state office is off and running to Livonia.

The 10 employe-office will move to 37650 Professional Center Dr. at Laurel Park at the end of September. The lease for its current location under the Mayflower Meeting House expired at the end of August.

Although the state office was not large compared to many state agencies, its impact in downtown Plymouth came from the many public hearings and meetings scheduled in town because of the proximity to the office.

A 3,000-square-foot office has been leased for five years, according to Kenneth Christopher, executive secretary to the racing commissioner. "We're sorry to leave the Plymouth area," said Christopher, who is a Plymouth Township resident.

Fund ready to kick off

Its time to gear up for the Fund again.

The Plymouth Community Fund United Way will kick off its 1987-88 fundraising campaign tonight at the Mayflower Meeting House with a kickoff luncheon, with registration beginning at 11:15 a.m.

One part of the kickoff will be the recognition of the Pacesetter organizations, according to Minnie Johnson, vice-chairperson of the 1987-88 fund drive. The Pacesetter campaign, introduced by this year's chairperson Marcia Buhl, is a pre-campaign drive designed to spur other firms and area workers to dig deeper during the general drive to keep pace.

The following organizations are this year's Pacesetters:

CLUBS: Colonial Kiwanis Club of Plymouth, Plymouth Rotary Foundation.

PROFESSIONALS: Sutherland and Yoe, Certified Public Accountants.

BUSINESS: Bob Jeannotte Pontiac. INDUSTRY: Northland Container.

The Plymouth Community Fund United Way Kickoff is sponsored by the following local businesses:

Coldwell Banker, Ford Motor Company, Gerish Building Company, H and B Gallery of Fine Carpeting, Earl Keim Realty South, Mayflower Hotel, Michigan Bell, Prescott, Ball and Turbin, Schrader Funeral Home, Stylecraft Printing Company and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence DuCharme.

Reported sighting near Warren Rd.

Panther in Canton?

BY DAN NESS

There is not one shred of doubt in Bob Willoughby's voice.

He saw a large animal near the edge of a wooded area behind his Canton home late last Friday night, and he swears it was a black panther.

Willoughby, an appliance service technician, had just returned home after dropping his mother off at about 11 p.m. Friday night. He was near the door in his mobile home in Royal Holiday Mobile Home Park, on the Westland border north of Warren Road, when movement caught his eye in his back yard.

"I looked towards the woods there and I couldn't believe my eyes," he said. "The only words that would describe that animal are 'large black panther.' It walked like it was on ice, it sort of glided, and it didn't make a sound."

"I was petrified. I just couldn't believe what I saw."

Willoughby said the animal he saw was about six feet long with a tail five feet long. He saw the animal for about three seconds as it moved near the periphery of the wooded area behind his home, he said.

Although it was at night, there is a street light near his yard, Willoughby said. He was about 30 feet away from the animal when he saw it, he said. "There was no doubt in my mind. It was definitely not a large dog."

Willoughby said he looked for prints the next morning, but didn't find any because the area is covered with thick grass. Willoughby called the Canton Police Department, who referred the case to their animal control officer.

Willoughby said the woods near his home are frequented by many animals, including rabbits, deer, badgers, raccoons, foxes, skunks and squirrels. "I don't mind the bunnies and the foxes, but the big cats are too much. This is big time."

Willoughby normally takes nightly walks near the woods by his home, he said. "But after this, I might just change my schedule and walk in the morning."

"I hope it was just passing through."

Non-profits may have new center

BY PAUL GARGARO

Future plans for the vacated Agape Christian Center on N. Main Street are being investigated by the building's current owner, Jim Jabara, and members of the Plymouth Community Fund, a fund raising arm of the United Way which works to meet a variety of needs within the community.

A proposal to convert the old Agape church into working space for local non-profit organizations is under serious consideration, according to those involved.

Clarence DuCharme, Plymouth Community Fund executive director, is hopeful about the proposal, but warns that it is too early to draw any conclusions about future plans for the building.

"We are looking into the proposal to create space for non-profit groups, but at this point there's still a lot to be discussed," said DuCharme. "I can't possibly make a definite statement about it right now. Presently, the Community Fund is concentrating on raising funds for our agencies."

DuCharme also said more conclusive information regarding the old Agape Christian Center would be upcoming.

Group wants to shield kids from some materials

BY KEN VOYLES

Members of the Citizens for Better Education (CBE) group are trying a new tactic this fall to keep their children out of classes (or assignments) they perceive to be against their moral principals.

Just last week the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools district received five letters (on CBE stationery) from concerned parents, requesting that their children "be involved in NO school activities or materials" unless the parents first get a chance to review the materials and give their consent.

The parents claim in the letters that the Protection of Pupil Rights Amendment (the Hatch Amendment) to the General Education Provision Act (GEPA, 1984) is on their side and allows them to review such materials.

Each letter also included a list of 22 areas where the parents feel they have a right to review the materials and pass judgement on whether or not their children will be included in the activities.

The list included the use of personality tests, guided fantasy techniques, sociodramas, isolation techniques, organic evolution, human sexuality, alcohol and drugs education, death education, psychological and psychiatric examinations, discussions of political affiliations, autobiographical assignments, use of moral dilemmas, role-playing, hypnotic techniques, group encounter sessions, self-evaluation, and mental and psychological problems and self-incriminating behavior potentially embarrassing.

"Unfortunately they were misinformed about the provisions of the Hatch Amendment," said Michael Homes, the district's assistant superintendent for instruction. "We will respond to each parent when we receive one of these letters."

District Superintendent John M. Hoben drafted the administration's response which went out this week.

In it he explains that the amendment applies only to "research or experimentation" programs funded through the U.S. Education Department.

Hoben added that "our district is not currently involved with any such programs nor do we anticipate any such involvement."

The GEPA (section 439a and b) does allow parents to review instructional materials "in connection with any research and experimentation program or project" that is Federally funded.

It also provides that "no student shall be required to submit without prior written consent to psychiatric or psychological examinations, testing or treatment in which the primary purpose is to reveal information concerning" such things as political affiliations, sex behavior, illegal or anti-social behavior, income or family relationships.

Hoben also said that "all activities" in the district are "directly related to the goals and objectives of the curriculum and have a distinct academic purpose."

Homes said the district may receive more letters from parents involved in the CBE.

No suspect in Canton rape

Canton police are investigating the reported rape involving a Detroit woman that took place on Sept. 7 in a field south of Ford Road and east of Lotz Road.

The woman reported to police that she had accepted a ride from a man near Telegraph and Fenkell in Detroit at about 3:30 p.m. that day, according to Canton police. The man drove the opposite direction of her home, she told police, and then produced a small handgun.

The man drove to Canton and allegedly raped the woman in a wooded area about 200 yards east of Lotz Road.

Police have no suspects.

The suspect is described as a white male, clean shaven, wearing a gold nugget ring, a gold link bracelet, a gold-colored watch; round black-framed glasses, possibly bifocals, a white t-shirt with a map on the front, blue jeans and white Reebok high-top tennis shoes.

Canton Bd. sets millage

BY DAN NESS

The Canton Board of Trustees approved a rate of 9.8 mills at the Sept. 8 meeting for fire and police protection and the general fund for the December tax rolls, down from the 9.89 millage rate for last year.

However, because state equalized value (SEV) figures increased, Canton taxpayers will be paying slightly higher taxes this year, according to Canton Finance Director John Spencer.

The board approved budget levels that were less than the dollar amounts requested for each department. The millage granted means that the public safety department can hire six more firefighters and four more police officers.

The final budget figures for each department are:

- Fire protection special assessment - $2,099,650;
- Police protection special assessment - $2,998,205;

• General fund assessment - $5,414,574.

The millage levied for each department will be; 1.64 mills for fire protection; 3.25 mills for fire protection; and 4.91 mills for the general fund.

The rollback in millage occurred because of the Headlee Amendment, Spencer said. Since Canton's cumulative SEV level increased by 3.8 per cent this year, surpassing the rate of inflation, the amendment calls for a rollback.

For a homeowner of a $100,000 house in Canton, the tax increase would be about $14.20, Spencer said.

The 9.8 mills represents $5,553,586 in taxes collected for the township, Spencer said.

One mill levied equals $1 of property tax per $1,000 of state equalized value of property. SEV equals about one-half the property's market value.

A strong paper

CEP administration shows support

EDITOR:

I read with some interest and some concern Ken Voyles' column, "In the Margin," in the Sept. 2 issue of The Crier.

It was with interest because I have for many years recognized how fortunate our school district has been to have a true quality student publication, The CEP Perspective. The paper speaks for itself, but further, its quality has been recognized by dozens of awards over the past few years. The dedication of our faculty advisors over the years — John Seidelman, Larry Grancis, Eileen Hewett, Dr. Denise Elliott, Sue Welker and Chris Peal — and the talent and devotion of our students have often been rewarded and recognized.

Reading the column also brought concerns. In the second paragraph Vogles stated, "... a topnotch student publication despite what its detractors among the CEP administration may think . . ." Detractors? No, I don't think there are detractors among the CEP administration; rather the word should be supporters. Tom Tattan, Canton principal, Gerald Ostoin, Salem principal, and Joan Claeys, area coordinator, have consistently supported the Perspective. They have supported it financially and with encouragement, and by allowing it the freedom necessary to be a truly outstanding student publication. Some examples are: recent acquisition of two Macintosh computers; creation of their own darkroom; approval of the home delivery plan; continued approval of their participation in the annual Columbia Interscholastic conference in New York; and perhaps most important, freedom to print without administrative "rights of prior approval."

I am likewise concerned over Voyles' reference to "the undue paranoia of the high and mighty administrators at CEP." What is the basis for this statement? I believe I'd classify that as an irresponsible comment. Administering a 4,400 student high school complex is a difficult task at best; the task is not made easier when opinions such as this are expressed. If working with advisors of student groups to help them understand that with rights also go responsibilities is paranoia, then I think Voyles fails to see and understand the educational process.

Further, Mr. Voyles, I think if you were to investigate the facts you would find, contrary to your last paragraph, that our newspaper students do indeed receive the "... accolades of, say, the varsity football team . . ." and indeed they should because they are talented and deserving of recognition for the outstanding work they do.

I appreciate your recognition of the Perspective; they deserve it. I fail to appreciate some "flip" — perhaps not well thought out — comments.

Police picket city hall

Cops are fed up

Plymouth police officers picketed city hall last week in an attempt to arouse public awareness of the ongoing conflict between the police union and city administration.

Obviously, the problems that have been biting the department have not been solved.

The officers say the city has done little to address morale problems. The officers say they tried to approach Police Chief Richard Myers and Commander Michael Gardner in good faith, but also say neither one will discuss morale matters.

City Manager Henry Graper and Myers say the communication lines have always been open. According to an agreement made by the two parties, problems are to be discussed at the bargaining table, and behind closed doors only.

The grievance procedure in place is not flexible enough and does not take into consideration special circumstances. The declining level of morale within the department should not be left to carved-in-stone procedures to solve.

The officers, realizing they were violating the collective bargaining agreement, went to the newspapers and now the picket lines, saying it was their only recourse.

Morale is the key issue. It has nothing to do with the bargaining table. It has everything to do with the community in the long run.

Along with his administrative duties, it is Myer's job to keep the peace within the department. If there is a problem with the spirit of his police force, then he should leave his door open to address morale-related issues. He is correct in following the grievance procedure, but could show more flexibility in handling inter-departmental static.

Good policy setting is not the only mark of a good police chief. Being a successful chief starts by being able to handle his or her own squad.

All things considered, Fest is another success

The 32nd Fall Festival is in the history books now. There it will be noted as one of the most successful yet.

The thousands of volunteers who work to stage the four-day, grand-daddy of local fundraising events for non-profit groups deserve a "job well done" award.

Obviously, not everything went completely smoothly. But most of the last-minute surprises were dispatched by the Festival board and management.

Yet, some nagging issues remain. For example, the location of the second barbecue pit in prime position to smoke out Union Street homes must be addressed. And at least one business owner has complained about the Fest's Forest Avenue activity. City officials cited safety questions on the kiddie rides. Traffic flow around town and parking shortages were also problems.

Although these items need to be evaluated before next year's Fest, the overall operation of The Plymouth-Canton Community's showcase event went well.

Cheers to the volunteers!

Patience and research urged on Twp. rec park

EDITOR:

Jane McCourt wants to build a swimming pool, bathhouse and concession stand, possibly in Plymouth Township Park. She quotes cost, expenses to operate, millage, homeowners costs, entry fees, etc. Who studied the project and qualified for the job? Why the rush?

The word 'Community' is used. Does it refer to the entire community or just the township? I spoke to an expert in this business. He feels it would be a mistake to even consider it. However if residents want it, it should either be private or financed by adjoining governments for use by all comers.

I feel government should do everything to discourage putting this on the November ballot without a thorough study.

Why not contact Jane and explain all of the obstacles in the way of a rush vote based on guesses and without time for residents to give their consideration?

It will be a waste of taxpayers money if not withdrawn. The factors to consider are immense. I trust our officials are giving this serious thought.

FRANK MILLINGTON

The last detail

by Paul Gargaro

Some things never change

I've been away from Plymouth for awhile.

After spending eight of my "formative" years as a Crusader -- the nickname for students at Our Lady of Good Counsel School -- my atmosphere and circle of friends changed slightly when I went to Ann Arbor for high school and then out of state for college.

But even though it was great to go away, I never stopped missing Plymouth.

High school in Ann Arbor wasn't exactly a complete severance of my roots in Plymouth. Neither was college. There were always winter breaks and summer vacations. Still, for those eight years my connection with Plymouth was slightly detached.

However, I am now back in the area indefinitely -- my new boss willing -- and like old friends, Plymouth and I still have a lot in common.

Sure, there have been some changes. John Smith has become Fred Hill and I can now do some of my Christmas shopping while waiting for a hamburger in Cloverdale.

But despite these changes and the recent commercial and residential growth in the area, The Plymouth-Canton Community has done well to retain its special aura.

Working downtown has brought this to light.

Take Penniman Avenue for example. Around midday, the corridor between Harvey and Main streets becomes pretty hectic, yet the lively pace hasn't chased off the familiarity that exists between the merchants and their customers.

The guys at McMullen's barbershop still remember me from the days when I used to fuss and fidget in the chairs of their old shop across the street. An unpleasant encounter between mom's hand and my exposed bottom in the the front seat of the station wagon, which was parked in the lot next to Cloverdale, quickly put an end to this childishness.

And by the same token, the Penniman Delicatessen continues to prosper.

I'm trying hard not to sound too sappy and nostalgic, yet it's hard not to be corny when extolling the virtues of Plymouth-Canton. How many other cities do you know of where the local movie house gives its customers the chance to see a show without having to mortgage their families?

There's a respect for tradition in The Plymouth-Canton Community, a need to hang on to things with history and social significance. Places like Kellogg Park, Old Village or the Box Bar exist as testimony to the fact that true communities retain those things which have made them home to so many.

Looking back, this was my first Fall Festival in over seven years. It was great to be back and see the progress and growth that has taken place at the Festival. Still, it was even nicer to note that very much remained the same. Tradition has a constant home at the Fall Fest.

Communities thrive on tradition. Building and progress can best serve a community by expanding upon existing tradition. Plymouth accomplishes this and that's why it was so pleasing for this native to return.

Plymouth Twp. vote tonight on Meijer proposal

BY PAUL GARGARO

The vote to rezone a parcel of land at the intersection of Schoolcraft and Haggerty roads from industrial to commercial use is on the agenda for tonight's Plymouth Township planning commission meeting.

The rezoning would allow the township to sell the parcel to Goodwill Industries, owner of Meijer Thrifty Acres. The sale and subsequent development would provide a substantial tax base for the township.

Several township residents are unhappy about the proposal and demonstrated their dissatisfaction at a township planning commission meeting August 19. At that meeting, the planning commission told the residents that the vote would be tabled for up to 90 days. During that time, the residents could gather the minimum 507 signatures on a petition to put the rezoning issue on the November ballot for a citizen referendum.

The proposal would ask citizens to purchase the land through a tax increase of no more than 7 mills over a two-year period, or approximately $175 per household per year, according to a circular attached to the petition. In turn, the township would purchase the $2.5 million parcel and develop it as a recreational facility.

Daskalakis: Expect complaints in a month

BY KEN VOYLES

It didn't take very long really.

Diane Daskalakis, representing Citizens for Better Education (CBE), recently notified administrators of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools of the group's intention to file further complaints against materials used by teachers in the district.

Classes in the district have been in session since Sept. 1.

In a letter to Michael Homes, assistant superintendent for instruction, Daskalakis said the group will file complaints against the film-strip series "Winnie the Witch" and the movie "What Friends Are For."

"Whether we get one or two or a flood of complaints I don't know right now," Homes said. "We'll have to wait and see."

Formal complaints have yet to be filed, however, but they can be expected within a month, according to Daskalakis.

"I called them the very first day of school," she said. "We're also looking at a lot of others also, especially some materials in the sex education curriculum."

Daskalakis said her group also wants to check out the Salem High library to see if books on witchcraft and the occult "outweigh" those books about Christianity or Jesus Christ.

"We want to prove or disprove they are handling those subjects in a favorable fashion," said Daskalakis.

Homes said the administration was looking for "reasonable" means to respond to the group's request to enter the library and study its book collection without disrupting classes at Thrifty Acres?

Some residents are concerned with the timing of the planning commission vote. "The board was waiting for people to forget about the issue," said

City cops picket

agreement, Graper said.

"The unfair labor practice thing is unfounded," said Radovic, who was present at last week's demonstration. "Morale issues are not in the contract."

Radovic said he didn't receive any phone calls from Graper.

Picketing officers carried signs saying "Plymouth needs a real police chief." Other signs proclaimed "Commander Khadafy terrorizes morale" and other signs asked the question "Why does Graper hate police?"

"We don't like to do this," said Officer Robert Henry, PPOA assistant steward. "I personally have a professional hangup about doing this, but this was our only other recourse."

Henry and other picketers criticized

Gary Gibson, a recreational park proponent. "Instead of 90 days, they're trying to push this through under our noses. If I hadn't called the Chief Richard Myer's fact-finding report and said that "the person we have complaints against" shouldn't be conducting the investigation.

"We need an independent board made up of people like Paul Sincock (assistant to the city manager), a city commissioner and someone from the POAM. We need someone who will listen to us and have a voice in matters."

Sincock said he was not approached by anyone and said he knew nothing about an independent board.

Myers would not comment on the state of the Plymouth Police Department, but did say a grievance procedure has been established in the contract.

"They have to utilize it," Myers said. "The process works."

township out of curiosity and asked when the vote was taking place, we would have missed the boat. As it stands, we've been forced to move much faster."

Planning commission members disagree with accusations that they are trying to sneak the vote through. "They've had close to two months to work on this thing," said Clinton Stroebel, a planning commissioner. "We've tabled the issue, we can't go on stalling the purchasing applicant forever."

"The Lakepointe residents are the one's protesting the most," continued Stroebel. "Whether they speak for the entire township is debatable."

"The normal (timetable) for a process like this is about two months, they've had a lot of time and ample opportunities to take action," added James Anulewicz, director of the township planning department.

Regardless, Laurie Potochick, an active petition driver, is confident that the drive will meet the required 507 signatures. "The people in the township want to be equal bidders on the land. We want a park," said Potochick. "I don't think this neighborhood is ready for Meijer, it'll just open a Pandora's box."

Teachers under fire

Salem.

One of the options being discussed is to let CBE "readers" use the library on the weekends. Homes emphasized, however, that the administration has not yet made a decision.

Dudley Barlow, a teacher at Canton who opposes Daskalakis and the efforts of the CBE said, "I'm convinced they haven't given up yet."

"We're concerned, very concerned about the chilling effect on teachers," Barlow continued. "We've been talking about it and formulating a posture."

Barlow and some other instructors at Centennial Educational Park (CEP) are also currently studying the recent revisions in the controversial teaching materials procedure. The revisions will now allow teachers to appeal a committee decision which may reject the use of certain materials.

The procedure also provides for a standardized parental consent letter which must be used in those cases when materials such as R-rated movies become classroom instruction tools.

Papal patter Local priest is commentator

BY PAUL GARGARO

The Papal visit is a phenomenon spreading beyond the locations His Holiness will visit.

No other pope has traveled as extensively as John Paul II and his touring has set aside some of the mystery behind his title.

Regardless, the Pontiff's presence demands understanding and interpretation. Even the most schooled Catholic stands the chance of being overwhelmed by the flood of issues that the Pope will carry with him and address this weekend.

Fortunately, Detroit has a papal expert right in its own backyard.

Fr. Harry S. Benjamin, weekend

assistant at St. Thomas a'Beckett in Canton, is on "loan" to WDIV-TV Channel 4 and will play a major role in their coverage of John Paul II's stay in Detroit.

Fr. Benjamin lives at Divine Child in Dearborn and works in the office of Archbishop Edmund Szoka. Within the office, Fr. Benjamin heads up the Priest Life and Ministry department. This group concentrates on continuing education for priests.

After earning a masters degree in theology from the University of Detroit, Benjamin did five years of graduate work in Rome. He returned to the Vatican for two years to teach at North American College and was in St. Peter's Square when Cardinal Karol Joseph Wojtyla was selected as the first non-Italian pope in 455 years.

Fr. Benjamin laughs at being called the "Papal Expert." Rather, he assumes that he was chosen to assist WDIV for a combination of factors. "I suppose they asked me because of the time I've spent in the Vatican and because of my position in the Archbishop's office," remarked Benjamin. "That type of proximity gives one a perspective — you accrue a good deal of information."

Fr. Benjamin will be in the WDIV studio throughout the weekend and will anchor special addition broadcasts with Mort Crim and Carman Harlan at 11:30 p.m.

Burns leaves Welcome Wagon

BY MARTY TUNGATE

Who visits more than 25 families a week, about 1,200 families a year? -

Who makes newcomers to the Plymouth community feel welcome in their new homes?

Sallee Burns of Plymouth Township. That's who.

Burns is one of many hostesses nationwide who visit and welcome people to new communities through the Welcome Wagon program.

Burns also makes it a point to visit some people who have moved to a different part of the community and to help them adjust. She even tries to drop in when new babies arrive.

But after three years and about 3,600 homes, Burns is calling it quits.

SALLEE BURNS

"I just don't have the time anymore, and there is someone who does have the time, so I'll let them take over," Burns said.

Burns, who has gotten to know a sizable part of the community during her stint as a hostess for Welcome Wagon, says she'll miss her job, but she also has a nursing career, and now is the time to pursue nursing further.

"Working part-time with Welcome Wagon, nursing, being a mom and wife takes a lot of time, and now I just have to make a little more time for the other things in my life," Burns added.

While a part of Welcome Wagon, Burn's job consisted of meeting as many of the new arrivals to the community as possible. She would give the new arrivals assorted gifts that were provided by city professionals and from non-profit organizations.

"We would give them a map of the community, brochures from the library, and little gifts that the businesses would chip in," Burns said.

The job didn't go without its challenges. Burns remembers times when dogs would jump on her in homes, or the time when she was left alone in a house while a mother went to the school to pick up an injured child.

"I've had my experiences with this job, and there wasn't one person who I wouldn't want as a neighbor," Burns said. "I've even become socially involved with some of them, and I see others around town."

By Phyllis Redfern

Thanks to Pat McCombs for sharing the following article. It hit home for us as we sent our sons off to college, but I'm sure it has a lot of meaning for all parents.

REFLECTIONS ON PARENTHOOD

One of these days you'll shout, "Why don't you kids grow up and act your age!"
 And they will
 Or you'll say, "Kids go outside and find yourselves something to do... And don't slam the door!"
 And they won't
 You'll straighten the boy's bedrooms neat and tidy... bumper stickers discarded...toys displayed on the shelves
 Hangers in the closet with clothes attached
 Animals caged
 And you'll say out loud, "Now I want it to stay just like this!"
 And it will
 And you'll say, "I want complete privacy on the phone—Silence! Do you hear?"
 And you'll have it
 No more plastic placemats stained with spaghetti or gates to stumble over in the doorway of the baby's room
 No more anxious nights under the vaporizer tent
 No cracker crumbs on the sheets, or wall to wall water in the bathroom
 No wet knotted shoelaces, pants with knees out, or rubber bands for pony tails
 Imagine, a lipstick with a point on it...and not having to get a babysitter on New Year's Eve
 No PTA meetings or washing her hair at 9 p.m.
 And imagine...
 Having your own roll of scotch tape!
 Think about it...
 No more Christmas presents out of construction paper and glue... and...
 No more sloppy kisses
 No more tooth fairy
 No responsibility
 Only a voice crying, "Why don't you grow up!"
 And the silence echoing — "I did!"

For those of you who have always wanted to be a star, for those of you who are quiet and shy and have no desire to be on a stage — the follies are for you. Take it from one who knows — you don't have to have any talent to sing or dance (thank heavens for comedy).

Being involved with the follies is the best way to meet the fun loving people in our community. It doesn't cost anything to find out what it's all about. Just simply go to meet the director night at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 22 at Pioneer Middle School. See you there!

Jill Kathleen Zoladz, daughter of James and Carol Zoladz of Canton, received a BS in Education from EMU. She also received her provisional teachers certification with a special education endorsement.

Area residents who received scholarships at Madonna College are: Mary Peters of Canton, a senior majoring in social work; Teresa Balash of Canton, a freshman majoring in social science; Cynthia Darmofal of Canton, a freshman majoring in nursing; Loretta Remski of Plymouth, a freshman majoring in computer information systems; and Ellen Bellaire of Plymouth, a freshman majoring in chemistry.

WATER GLORY IN ICELAND

When it comes to geysers, most people think immediately of Old Faithful and Yellowstone National Park. Actually, the word geyser has been taken almost intact from the Icelandic language, and Iceland is home not only to some spectacular geysers but to some mighty waterfalls as well.

In the Geyser area of Iceland (not far from the capital, Reykjavik), can be found Strokkur (The Churn), a hot pool that vents its waters more than 100 feet into the sky every seven minutes. Not far away is the Great Geyser, whose eruptions — though more dramatic — are less predictable.

In the north of Iceland is Dettifoss, Europe's mightiest waterfall in terms of volume. The tallest waterfall in Iceland is Glymur, 50 miles northeast of Reykjavik, which plummets 655 feet over a precipice into a fjord! Then there is perhaps the most photogenic of waterfalls, Gullfoss, which is surmounted on sunny days with a perfectly formed rainbow.

Locals will bus to see Pope John Paul II this weekend

BY KEN VOYLES

At a special meeting on Sept. 4 the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education approved the use of district buses to transport local church members to see Pope John Paul II on Saturday.

The board met in special session after there was some question of whether it was legal or not to lease the buses to the Archdiocese of Detroit, said Richard Egli, the district's community relations spokesperson.

"The board decided it was legal to go ahead and lease them. And we will," Egli said.

The buses will be used by local Catholic churches to transport their members to the Pontiac Silverdome on Saturday for John Paul's afternoon mass there. It was not clear yet just how many buses will be needed, but St. John Neumann Catholic Church has requested at least 20 buses.

"If anybody brings up opposition to this we plan to tell them it won't cost the district anything," said Ray Hoedel, associate superintendent of business.

Hoedel added that the district will charge a flat fee of $1.73 a mile to use the buses. The district will also charge the Archdiocese for the bus drivers' time at a time and a half, as well as for an on duty mechanic and any other staff hours accumulated by district staff.

The Archdiocese of Detroit will also cover the insurance costs during the event, said Hoedel.

Hoedel said other local churches would be contacting the district this week. Another local church looking at using the buses will be Our Lady of Good Counsel in Plymouth.

Fall Fest '87 concludes

Oddfellow's Flea Market. "We did pretty well but it was hard for people to park and check us out," said LaCroix. "In addition, people just weren't buying this year. I had to make a lot of hard sales."

Ken Vogras, Plymouth DPW chief, encountered a minor problem along Penniman Avenue at the kids' rides. "One of the ride owners did not have his Michigan operating permit up to date," explained Vogras. "But this wasn't a problem. We just had to shut down his Ferris wheel temporarily."

Smoke from the 11,000 Rotary barbecued chickens was thick and created some concern along Union Street. Rotarian Glenn Meadows, a Union Street resident, addressed these complaints and echoed an overall sentiment that seemed pervasive in the area. "As a Rotarian, I'm a little prejudiced," said Meadows. "But this is a community project - it's a tremendous thing. It's something which benefits the whole community. I understand it can be offensive, but there are a lot more offensive things that city life can offer."

Small problems aside, the Festival was another excellent effort, everyone involved agreed. "This was the easiest and most satisfying Festival that I've ever seen," said Jack Wilcox, Plymouth resident.

He should know, he's seen 32 of them.

Salem wins its 2nd football outing this year

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

The Salem Rocks football team is off to a running start this season. Salem brought its record to 2-0 by defeating Walled Lake Western Friday, 34-19.

The Rocks rushed for four touchdowns, and returned an interception for a touchdown.

Salem's quarterback Steve Holt was the leading rusher for the Rocks, rushing for 76 yards in 14 carries. Holt also rushed for two touchdowns.

Garrett Bowie, who two weeks ago rushed for nearly 300 yards against Trenton, also rushed for two TDs.

Salem's other touchdown came off an interception by Andy Gee. Gee picked off three passes on the night and recovered one Western fumble.

Holt was two for five on the night completing both passes to Brian Storm.

"Our offense moved the ball real well," said Salem coach Tom Moshimer. "Steve Holt did an excellent job at quarterback."

The Rocks next opponent is Walled Lake Central. The game is slated for Friday, Sept. 18 at 7:30 p.m.

Chief gridgers fall to tough Glenn

BY MARTY TUNGATE

Westland John Glenn was just too big and too strong for the Canton Chief football squad which dropped its first game of the season to the powerhouse Rockets, 49-7.

The Chiefs, who won their season opener, are currently 1-1 on the year.

"John Glenn is big and physical team, but we didn't play as well as we were capable of playing," Canton coach Bob Khoenle said.

The Rockets got things going early, as they took the opening kickoff and marched down the field for a first quarter touchdown.

Then when the Chiefs took over, they turned the ball over on their first possession. Neil Hubert threw one of his five interceptions on the night.

But the Chief's defense snuffed out Glenn's offense, and things were looking good for the Chiefs, as Hubert got together with senior running back Joel Riggs, who took the pass from Hubert and raced for an 83-yard touchdown.

But that was all the scoring the Chiefs would see, as the Rockets played a strong, swarming defense that kept the Chiefs confused for the remainder of the night.

Everything was going the Rockets way as they scored two more touchdowns before halftime. One of the touchdowns came when Tony Lumetta intercepted a Hubert pass and raced 47 yards to help set up the Rockets third touchdown of the night.

John Glenn took a 21-7 half time lead into the lockerroom.

The second half then became the Kevin Wilson show, the senior running back from John Glenn, out ran the Chiefs defense the entire night, as he gained 151 yards to lift the Rockets to a total of 280 yards offense. The Chiefs could only garner 35 yards offense on the night.

Ready, steady, go

The Canton varsity football team gets set to run an offensive play against Westland John Glenn on Friday. It wasn't much of an offensive night for the Chiefs,

Despite the loss Khoenle is still optimistic about the season.

"We still have a real good team, and I feel they can come back from such a defeat," Khoenle added.

The Chiefs did see some bright spots in the loss, as senior receiver Ed Bardelli played fine offensive and defensive game for the Chiefs, and turned in a 37 yard reception, but two plays later when it seemed like the Chiefs were going to score, Hubert tossed another interception.

"We still have to work on some things, but league play is coming up and I feel that we can be a strong team in our league," Khoenle said.

The Chiefs did open their season on a bright note, as they crushed hapless Willow Run, 63-12.

Next up for the Canton is the Walled Lake Western Warriors. The game will be this Friday, Sept. 18 at the CEP football field.

Kick off time is slated for 7:30 p.m.

Register for the junior basketball season

Registration for the Plymouth-Canton Junior Basketball Association (PCJBA) program for players in grades nine through 12 will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 16 and Saturday, Sept. 19 at the Phase III gym on the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) campus.

There are boys and girls teams open for students in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. The sign-up fee is $32 per players.

Registration will be 7-9 p.m. on Wednesday, and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday. Ages groups include Girls B and C Leagues and Boys A, B, and C Leagues.

Tryouts will take place before team organization for the purpose of equalizing teams.

C Leagues are instructional.

"We are always in need of adults for coaches and board members," said PCJBA President Chuck Barna.

Link teams looking for a good season

BY MARTY TUNGATE

This could be a good season for both Salem and Canton's boys golf teams.

Canton has a new coach for the 1987 season, Fred Libbing is the new man at the helm, and he said he is very positive about his group of linksters and is looking for some exciting things from his team.

"We have some great kids on this team, if they play the way they can, they can go a long way," Libbing said.

The Chiefs will be led by senior captains Mike Toutant, and Chris Trim.

"These kids are really good golfers. They play a good all around game," Libbing said.

The Chiefs will carry, along with the two seniors, two juniors, one sophomore, and one freshmen.

"The kids are shooting good golf as they are bringing scores in the high 30s and low 40s," Libbing added. "The boys on my team are just a bunch of good kids, and if they play the way they can, they're going to have a great season."

On the other side of the rough, it's Rick Wilson and his Salem golf squad.

The Rocks are coming off a banner year. They placed in the middle of the pack of last year's Class A state meet.

"We had a great team last year, and it's just a little early to tell about this year's team," head coach Rick Wilson said.

The Rocks will feature some big hitters this season, as senior captain Chris Braidwood will lead the squad, followed by Matt Braun, Dan Kruesher, and Lamar Crayton.

Also aiding the Rocks cause will be Eric Matthews and Gregg Speaks.

"We have some good solid players, and if our kids can keep their scores in the low 40s we should have a great season," Wilson added.

The Rocks, who already started their season, finished 14th in a 21 team Brighton Invitational.

"The kids did pretty well, but they still need a little work," Wilson said.

The Rocks and the Chiefs can be seen at Brae Burn Golf Course on Sept. 15 in Salem's two-man Best Ball Tournament. Tee time is set for 9 a.m.

Chief hoop squad splits in Mercy tourney

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

The Canton girl cagers took on what could be considered some of the best teams in the area this weekend in the Mercy Basketball Classic.

On Saturday, the Chiefs were victorious against Waterford Kettering, 58-42. Leading the scoring for the Chiefs was sophomore Susan Ferko with 14. Next for the Chiefs was Karen Boluch with 13, and Heather Miller with 11.

Last Thursday, however was a different story for the Chiefs as they lost to Traverse City, 44-33. Boluch led the scoring drive for the Chiefs with nine.

What made Saturday's game different from Thursdays?

"We settled down during the second quarter, made good decisions, and we were a lot more patient in choosing our shots," said Canton coach Rob Neu.

He also added that the sophomores played a key role in Saturday's game.

"Jennifer Russell's quickness on the perimeter, and Susan Ferko's inside game, kept us in the game," said Neu.

"Susan (Fenko) has been very consistent and for being a sophomore in her first varsity season she's playing quite good," said Neu. "The exciting thing about her is as she gets more game time she continues to improve."

Some other highlights of the weekend came when Canton's co-captains Karen Boluch and Heather Miller, both seniors, were named to the all-tournament team.

The Chiefs are now 2-2 and are gearing up for a match-up with cross-campus rival Salem tomorrow, Thursday, Sept. 17. Game time is approximately 7:30 p.m.

Steelers action

The Plymouth-Canton Steelers opened the 1987 football season against the Belleville Cougars on Sunday.

The freshmen won their game, 13-0.

The squad was led by Ahmande Grimes, who ran for a 40-yard touchdown in the first quarter, and Ted Barker, who scampered for a 17-yard touchdown in the second quarter. Barker also converted the extra point on a run.

The junior varsity team lost its opener 13-0, while the varsity team played tough and ended in a 0-0 tie at the end of the contest.

The Steelers play at home this weekend, hosting the Garden City Chargers on Sunday, Sept. 20 beginning at 1 p.m.

Rocks upset by Ladywood hoop team

BY MARTY TUNGATE

Salem's lady cagers suffered their first defeat of the season at the hands of rival Livonia Ladywood, 52-49, in the Great Lakes Invitational Tournament last week.

Rock senior sensation, guard Dena Head, scored 35 points in the losing cause, which was a career high, but it wasn't enough, as Head's 35 points was overshadowed by the three Ladywood cagers who got into double figures.

Ladywood led for most of the contest, until Head started lighting up the scoreboard in the second half.

Head brought the Rocks to within two points of the Blazers, 49-47, with 1:12 remaining in the game. But Salem ran out of gas, and could only manage one more bucket by the time the buzzer sounded.

The loss put the Rocks at 2-1 overall on the year, but things don't get easier for the Salem cagers, as they will meet neighbor rival Canton tomorrow, Thursday, Sept. 17, and will meet up with the always strong Mercy team on Saturday, Sept. 19.

The game with Canton will be a rematch of the season opener. Salem beat the Chiefs in game one of a probable four game series, 60-50.

Tip-off is slated after the junior varsity contest at around 7:30 p.m.

Rock kick team wins big over Central

BY MARTY TUNGATE

It was the Salem Rocks boys soccer team winning, and winning big.

Coming off of two close wins with rival Canton and Livonia Franklin, the Rock kickers took out some frustration Monday night against the lonely Walled Lake Central team, as they pounded Central, 15-1.

Jeff Gold got things going for the Rocks, as he put the first points on the board, then Mark Lipke scored for the Rocks, followed by a goal from senior co-captain Randy Balconi, who scored against Central on a penalty kick. Balconi also had another goal in the second half along with four assists.

Then it was senior Don Koontz's turn to light up the chilly night, as he poked a goal by the Central goal keeper.

Senior Denny Reynolds had his best night of the season thus far, as he came up with a double hat trick, scoring three goals and dishing off for three assists.

Greg Christenson and Joe Cosenza followed up the first half of scoring for the Rocks, while Salem took an 8-0 lead into the intermission.

"We played a real good game tonight," Salem coach Ken Johnson said. "We've had so many tight games, and the team really needed to let go tonight."

The Rocks then came out and continued to pressure Central, while lighting up the scoreboard the remainder of the evening.

Tim Stahl, who missed all of the 1986 season while he was an exchange student in Germany, got things started in the second half for the Rocks, then Donvoan Nichols knocked a goal in for the Rocks, followed up by a goal from Mike Ulaszek.

Finally Walled Lake Central got on the scoreboard for their lone goal on the night, coming at the 60 minute mark, as they slipped the ball by back up goaltender Koontz.

The Rocks came back to score four more goals in the second half.

One of Reynold's goals, then Troy Giacherio got the ball by the goaltender. Balconi's second goal followed as did Lipke's second goal of the night.

The win ups the Rocks record to 5-1 overall, and 3-0 in conference play, and things are looking bright for the Rocks, but Johnson isn't quite sure the team is really where they should be.

"The guys look good, but they aren't quite there yet, but they still are the best team I've coached," Johnson said. "We've been winning ugly for most of the year. This team is like a volcano ready to explode, and when that happens look-out."

The "ugly" victories for the Rocks came against Canton early last week, and Livonia Franklin.

The Rocks topped their neighbor rival Chiefs, 2-1. Gold and Balconi scored for the Rocks in that one. Salem slipped by Franklin by the same score, 2-1.

Reynolds and Ulaszek provided the goals in that contest.

The Rocks will travel across town to battle the always tough Northville Mustangs tonight.

Kick off is set for 7 p.m.
