On film: Allen kids talk books

Thanks to a $2,000 grant from the Michigan Department of Education, four classes at Allen Elementary School in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools district are participating in a project to produce four 20-minute television shows.

The shows will help promote children's books for children by children.

Marjane Baker's fourth and fifth graders at Allen are the producers and camera crew for all four productions. They will also be responsible for the first 20-minute segment which features the books of Roald Dahl ("Charlie and the Chocolate Factory").

The title of all four shows is "Run To Read."

There are three other classes at Allen involved in the project as well.

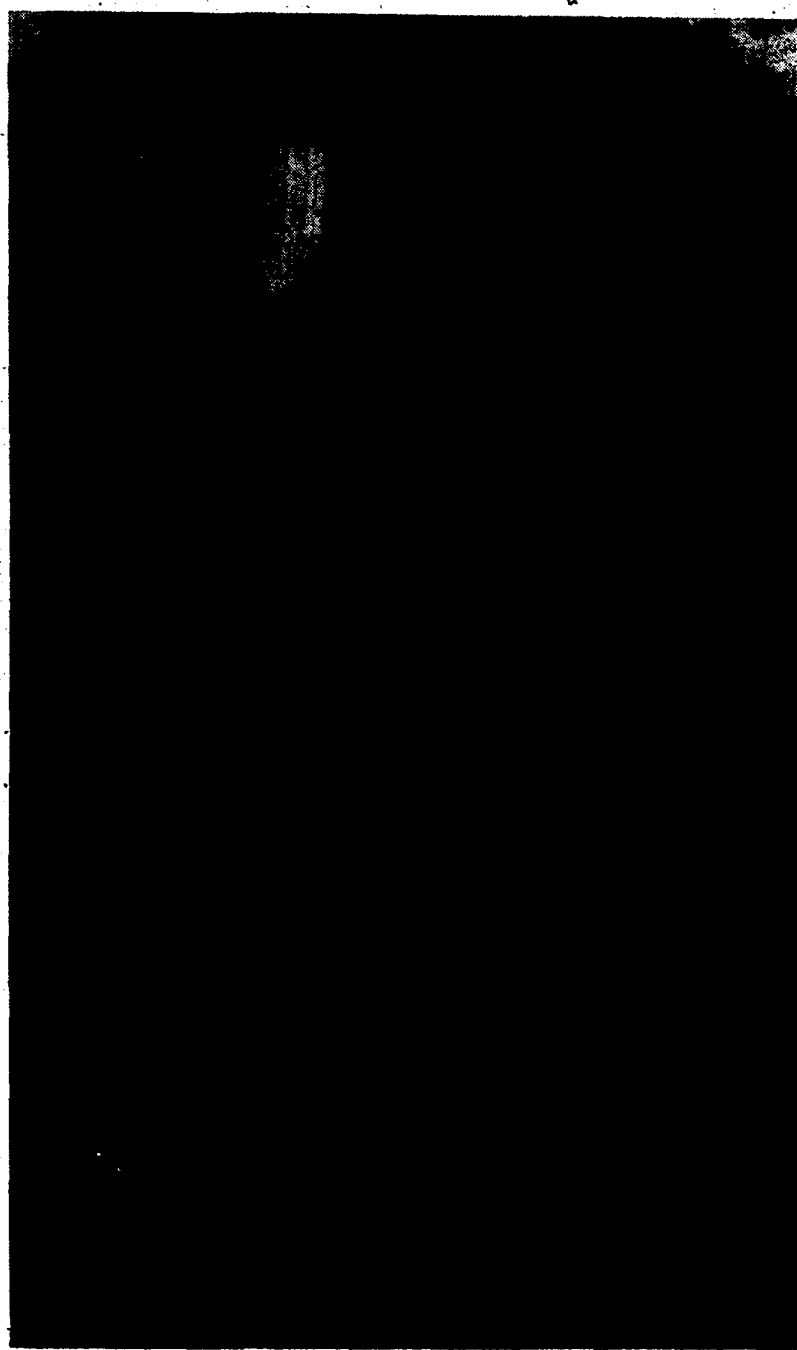

Gail Maloney's third graders will promote nonfiction books, Terri Kolakowski's second and third graders will promote books about pigs and Ginger Krappitz's first graders will promote a variety of books for first graders.

The shows will be filmed by Omnicom and then shown on one of the local cable company's channels.

The grant money was partially used for equipment and supplies. Omnicom also provided video equipment.

In preparation for the first segment, Baker's class wrote letters to Dahl to explain the project.

His response caused a lot of excitement among the students, according to Baker.

Ice fest expenses detailed

BY PAUL GARGARO

Recently released figures from the 1988 Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular indicate that this year's festival was a financial success.

The budget for 1988 festival was set at $53,200, accounting for the costs of ice, promotions, labor and carvers, postage and printing services, debt retirement and interest costs, prizes and plaques, scholarships, and contingencies.

According to City Manager and Ice Sculpture Spectacular Inc., partner Henry Graper, the total expenditures of this year's festival amounted to only $30,027.55, approximately $7,000 under the projected income total of $37,000.

Graper said that because the city was a co-sponsor of the festival, it will not bill Ice Sculpture, Inc. the $2,800 worth of DPW overtime.

Ice Sculpture income was generated from prime and major sponsorships, local sponsorships (of $100 or less), total income received ($32,000), and the estimated income yet to be received.

Of the various items budgeted for the 1988 festival, only the costs of ice exceeded the estimated budget.

The price tag on this year's ice was $17,583.35. The cost of ice was budgeted at $10,000.

State Police investigate jail death

BY PAUL GARGARO

Michigan State Police officials have been called in by the City of Plymouth Police Department to conduct an investigation of the circumstances and facts surrounding the death of Michael Anderson.

A 23-year-old Detroit resident, Anderson collapsed in the Plymouth Police Department's holding cell on the evening of Feb. 14. When resuscitation attempts failed, he was rushed to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia where further attempts to save his life failed, according to city police.

Anderson was handed over to the Plymouth police on Feb. 13 at 5 a.m. by the Plymouth Township police, who picked him up earlier that morning for violations of the Controlled Substance Act, said township police.

According to Plymouth Police Chief Richard Myers, Anderson was arraigned early Sunday morning (Feb. 14) and then brought back to the police station where he was being held on a $50,000 bond on a felonious drug warrant.

The Wayne County Medical Examiner recently determined that Anderson's death was the result of cocaine intoxication.

In a statement released Friday, Myers said that the internal affairs staff of the Plymouth police is continuing to investigate the death.

The statement also read, "To avoid interference with, or compromising the State Police independent investigation, the Plymouth police will not be releasing additional details to persons not directly involved until both State Police and internal investigations are completed."

Myers was not sure when the State Police would complete its study.

School officials study annual report to community

BY KEN VOYLES

On the edge of an abyss shaped in the form of a do-or-die millage vote March 22nd, Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education members and district administrators are considering ways to market the district.

"As far as I'm concerned we haven't been doing a good job getting our message across," said Trustee Dean Swartzwelter at Monday's workshop session. "That tells me we have to do better."

Community relations spokesperson Dick Egli, who has been working with a marketing committee to generate ideas, told the board an annual report to the community was needed along with several other measures.

"I think we're long overdue to have a significant report to the community," said Superintendent John M. Hoben.

Such a report, which has never been developed before in the district, might be released this summer or by the next school year in September. It would highlight accomplishments of the previous year and include goals for the upcoming year.

"I do think we need an annual report," Egli told the board.

The report would be in written form, said Egli, but might also be made into a video package. He even mentioned a district slogan -- "Leadership and learning."

A video program examining the district has already been produced and shown to the board. It is also being used during the election crunch to give residents an idea of what the district offers.

Other marketing suggestions included maintaining a speakers bureau, working with senior citizens, and designing placements for name recognition.

Selling the district has become even more important with the fast approach of the special millage ballot on March 22, but board members said they also want something for beyond that vote.

Egli said the district a report, not a "puff piece."

Besides marketing the district's outstanding qualities, a report is also seen as a way of getting the district's message across to residents.

"The ball is in our lap in my opinion," said Swartzwelter. "We've gotten no encouragement from the state on finances. What I want to know is can we continue to maintain what we already have?"

A message from Oakwood's Cardiology Center

Four weeks ago, Charlie Mitchell thought his playing days were over

Charlie was lucky. When his heart attack occurred, his teammates recognized the symptoms and rushed him to Oakwood Hospital's Emergency Room. Their quick response and Oakwood's fully equipped, 24-hour emergency room are two factors in Charlie's speedy recovery. Many wait too long before seeking medical treatment.

A delay can cause additional damage to the heart...even death.

Oakwood Hospital is just minutes away, and we can do a world of good. Our cardiologists are capable of state of the art treatment, with options that include the use of anticoagulant drugs -- that destroy blood clots in the arteries. But, because everyone is different, the treatment is individualized.

Oakwood is also devoted to the patient's follow-up care, with education courses and monitoring that help lead patients back to full, active lives. So don't delay.

Filing date approaching for 2 schools seats

Residents wishing to seek a seat on the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education have until 4 p.m. on April 11 to file a nominating petition.

Two seats, each with a four-year term, will be filled during the regular school election set for Monday, June 13. The two four-year positions are currently held by E.J. McClendon, trustee, and Lester Walker, vice president.

Petition forms are available from the board building at 454 S. Harvey in Plymouth, and should be returned to that office. Office hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Each petition must contain a minimum of 27 valid signatures, a figure based on the number of voters in the last election. Potential candidates have until 4 p.m. on April 14 to withdraw from the ballot.

The school board is composed of seven citizens, each elected for four years. Any registered voters in the school district can run for a seat on the board.

Members are elected from the total community and receive a stipend of $30 per meeting, or up to a maximum of $1,500.

The June 13 election is a regular school election with voting at school election polling places. For further information about nominating petitions call 451-3135.

Under Michigan law, the school board is responsible for setting goals of the district, establishing policies for the operation of schools, employing and evaluating the superintendent, determining the educational standards and goals, authorizing curriculum development and securing money for school operations.

Twp. board looks at Plymouthrock deal

BY PAUL GARGARO

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees was to have voted last night on a request from the Michigan Liquor Control Commission (LCC) to allow Var-Ken Inc. stockholder Don Vargo a chance to sell his stock back to the corporation and make Peter Eleferio the sole proprietor of the Plymouthrock Saloon.

Var-Ken Inc. is the corporation which currently owns the saloon.

Township Police Chief Carl Berry formally recommended that the board deny the application based on three reasons.

Berry's first reason centers on the charge that the corporation does not exist since it has not filed financial reports. In last month's public hearing to determine the fate of the Rock's Class C liquor license, it was revealed that Var-Ken has not submitted the financial reports of the Plymouthrock for the last three years.

According to state law, failure to submit financial reports dissolves a corporation.

The police chief's second reason for denying the request is Eleferio's past criminal record and his record as the co-owner/manager of the saloon.

Berry's third reason for denial revolves around the Rock's failure to pay property taxes to the township.

According to Township Treasurer Mary Brooks, until Monday the saloon had not paid township taxes since the summer of 1985. As of Monday, Brooks reported that the back taxes were paid up to the winter of 1987.

The saloon still owes a balance of $1,099.87. Brooks said that Eleferio told her the balance would be paid by Thursday.

The trustees were also to have set a date for a public hearing on the renewal or non-renewal of the saloon's Class C liquor license.

City delays decision on block grant $$$$

BY PAUL GARGARO

The public hearing slated for Monday to discuss Federal Community Block Grants Funds has been rescheduled for March 21 at 7:30 p.m. by the City of Plymouth's Board of Commissioners.

A decision regarding the use of the Block Grants must be reached by April 1.

According to Assistant City Manager Paul Sincock, Monday's public hearing was cancelled because it was not published as required.

This year Plymouth's Federal Block Grant Funds amount to $58,000.

According to federal stipulations, Block Grant money can only be used to improve low-income areas and/or enhance the lives of low-income residents. Recipients of Block Grant money earn eligibility at the county level.

Sincock said that the city is currently looking to spread the money over four areas - the Senior Van Program ($22,000), the Council on Aging ($2,500), street lighting in Old Village ($27,000), and the cost of administration fees ($5,800), which includes the cost of the city's legal notices and a portion of the assistant city manager's salary for work on the allocation of the Block Grant funds.

While Sincock was ready to give a presentation to the board Monday, he said that public input has been scarce.

"At this point, there hasn't been a great amount of inquiry into the proposed use of the funds," said Sincock.

Dearborn man charged in Canton double-fatal

A Dearborn man was arraigned Monday before 35th District Court Judge James Garber on two counts of manslaughter in the deaths of John and Sandra Kogut on Feb. 5.

Larry Arquette stood mute at the arraignment and was released on a $25,000 personal bond, said Canton Police Department spokesperson Officer Dave Boljesic.

Arquette's examination is set for 1:30 p.m. on April 4 at the 35th District Court, probably before Judge Garber again, said Boljesic.

The Koguts were killed while waiting to enter Michigan Avenue from the driveway of the Canton Softball Center when Arquette's station wagon left the roadway, became airborne and struck the couple's min-van, Boljesic said.

The couple were pronounced dead at the scene. Arquette was treated and released from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Superior Township, at the time, police said.

City to go after Rouge clean-up grant

BY PAUL GARGARO

Plymouth's City Commission voted to comply Monday with a preliminary consent agreement from the Department of Natural Resources concerning a final order of abatement for the Rouge Valley Waste Water Control System.

According to City Manager Henry Graper, compliance with the consent

Jail death

In compliance with the released statement, Myers would not comment on whether or not Anderson was carrying the drugs on his person when he was taken into police custody.

Asked whether the Plymouth police department will change its policy regarding the admittance of prisoners in the city holding tank and provide coveralls as is done in county jails, Myers responded:

"We're not a county jail -- it's different than a holding facility. Under the law, they can do a lot more than we can."

Myers also rejected The Crier's request to photograph the jail cell after he had already given permission earlier in the day on Monday.

According to Myers, photographing the cell would violate the risk management policy of the department.

Assistant City Manager Paul Sincock said that there was no written police policy regarding risk management.

agreement is a necessary step towards the grant of federal funding to complete necessary work outlined in the city's sewer system evaluation survey.

City Engineer Ken West said that Plymouth is one of 11 communities that have been supplied with work orders by the DNR and the Michigan Water Resources Commission to clean up the Rouge Valley Waste Water System. That work includes cleaning out sanitary sewers and grouting areas within the sewer where there has been infiltration.

Plymouth was included in the group because it owns and operates a separate

Ice fest

While the Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular Inc., brought in more than it spent this year, it still has an outstanding bill of $22,000.

The corporation owes Midwest Ice $2,000 and the First of America Bank $20,000, which was borrowed to cover the unforeseen expenses of 1987's "Slush Fest."

Graper, though, is confident that the corporation will be able to cover the outstanding bills.

"They'll be taken care of. We'll (Ice Sculpture Inc., President Scott Lorenz and Graper) pay the bill ourselves if we have to," said Graper.

sanitary waste water system which outlets into the Rouge Valley Sewage Disposal System.

If the city receives federal funding, 55 per cent of the work cost would be covered by the federal government. That would leave the city with a work bill of $125,000. Without the federal money, the cost of the project would be $275,000.

West said that Livonia is paying a total of $8 million (which includes federal funds) for the project.

"We're way ahead of schedule compared to some of our neighboring communities. They (the DNR) want us all to be in line within two years," said West.

West also said that Plymouth is one of the few communities that keeps the level of sewage input below the capacity that it purchases.

Auction on tap

The Plymouth Newcomers group will host its Third Annual Art Auction on March 26 at the Plymouth Cultural Center. The Art Auction is a fundraiser to benefit the Community Literacy Council, a non-profit organization dedicated to teaching people of all ages how to read.

The auction will begin at 7 p.m. with a preview of original signed etchings, lithographs, serigraphs and oil paintings. Artists will include Renoir, Calder, Norman Rockwell, LeRoy Neiman, Joan Miro and many others. All art will be framed, matted and ready for hanging.

The art will be auctioned below retail cost, with the price range from $5 to $2,000. Many pieces will cost from $20 to $85.

Hors d'oeuvres and wine punch will be served throughout the evening. The auction will end with a drawing for the door prize -- a piece of art.

For a donation of $4, tickets are available at The Rainbow Shop in downtown Plymouth or by calling 455-0981 or 451-2898.

History behind Penn's look

EDITOR:

I enjoyed reading David DeGrazia's recent Crier Plus article about the Penn Theater, especially since my family and I regularly patronize the Plymouth movie house.

There is a point in David's review which I would like to speak, however, and it occurs in his comment: "After entering the lobby of the building, which isn't any worse for wear despite more than 40 years as a movie house...."

His comment suggests that the building has worn well considering its 40 years of age and also implies that is the way it was built.

It may not be apparent, and that may speak for our design abilities as architects, but we had the pleasure in 1966-'67 to remodel the lobby and the foyer of the building for Margaret Wilson, then owner of the Penn.

Before our work began, the ticket booth was situated dead-center in the bank of glazed, wood doors on the "front". The candy counter was located in the auditorium space, inside the second bank of doors, at the "right-hand" side.

Margaret had several excellent thoughts about how to better differentiate between waiting movie-goers and those exciting through the lobby. She also determined that the candy counter was poorly located where it was and that it would do a better job out in the lobby. As it was, it was too small and too distracting (noisy) in the auditorium space. And so, with all that and a tight budget we set about sprucing up the Penn.

We tried to accomplish that by being practical yet elegant in a quiet way, without intruding on the original charm and personality of the building. Incidentally, we all agreed that the marquee and the upper facade should remain untouched (except for maintenance repairs), for it was an important example of the kind of "architecture" exhibited by many movie theaters of the Penn's era.

The cedar panelled wall which now separates the foyer from the seating area was no higher before, our work than it is now, but the top third, or so, was clear glass — this, presumably, to enable audiences to watch the movie while they stood waiting for seats. (That is why there were ushers, remember?). We redesigned the walls, (since Margaret no longer wanted people to be waiting in the foyer) and also added the globe lights which flank cash aisle entrance.

So, there you are. I didn't realize I would get involved in a snap architectural history review. I know that Dr. Sam Hudson could do a much better job of this sort of thing than I. But I was happy to realize that part of what David said was due in part to a bit of architectural "face-lifting" which we helped accomplish. "See you at the Flick, David!"

Not all of the endeavors a student may face head-on in high school are on the athletic field. Many times we forget that there are students who strive for glory in such areas as debate, computer science, music or even cheerleading.

One such group of students -- the Canton Chiefettes pom pon squad -- deserves immense praise for capturing a state pom pon title recently.

The girls on that team know of their success. The rest of the community should as well.

Way to go Chiefettes. Success at the state level points to a total team effort by students who care about what they do and who strive to be the best at it.

The Rockettes also deserve praise for placing third overall.

Often times such praise is never uttered. Teams like the Chiefettes, or individuals such as Laura Porterfield (who will take part in a teleconference between U.S. and Soviet students), do not compete or challenge themselves to win honors or notice from the community.

They do it because, like athletes, they enjoy the hard work and the personal rewards associated with being the best you can be.

So, hat's off to the Chiefettes. May they be an inspiration for others who make the most out of high school, be it on the football field or behind a debate lectern.

To anonymous woman who returned my purse: I'm most grateful

EDITOR:

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to the woman who returned my purse to my home after it fell out of my van at Salem High School on Thursday, March 3.

I was not at home when you returned it as I was frantically searching all the places it might have been. My son took the purse but did not get your name.

I am most grateful for your thoughtfulness. Thank You!!!

FRAN LOISELLE

In the margin

By Ken Voyles

Dolores Morgan is upset.

She claims that City of Plymouth officials "make it very difficult to make a living down there."

She is, of course, referring to Liberty Street in the Old Village part of town.

"If anyone brought business to that street it was me," Morgan claims. "The city has done nothing to help businesses down there."

Morgan also said that in the past 17 years Harold Guenther, the noted resident who owns much of the street, has "never put one red penny" into Liberty Street.

Guenther, however, says he's spent about as much money as is worth spending on the buildings. Over the years he's fixed furnances, painted and done other repair work.

Morgan opened one of the first antique shops on the street. At one point, in fact, she operated three different antique shops along the street.

"Every antique dealer should get a medal for staying there," she said.

Morgan said the remark that the street is worth $1 million is "just plain bull."

"Those kind of remarks are ridiculous," she said. "It would take so much to renovate the street that the city would never okay it."

"Plymouth is known for that street, for those shops," she continued. "Junk is a fantastic seller."

Morgan suggests that the buildings along Liberty need to be renovated, sold to someone who would renovate, or torn down.

But her real concern is the way the city handles Liberty. Or more realistically -- how it does not handle Liberty.

"They've hindered any business ever down there," Morgan said. One of the city's tactics is to charge for parking spots along the street, she says.

"One man told me the city wanted $4,000 for each additional parking space," she said. "I don't know how they can ask for that when everyone uses that street, even those people not on the street."

Morgan, like many others, wants Liberty Street to retain its character (antique alley as it were) but she also fears what will happen to the street if it remains undeveloped in the future.

Chiefettes, make us all proud

EDITOR:

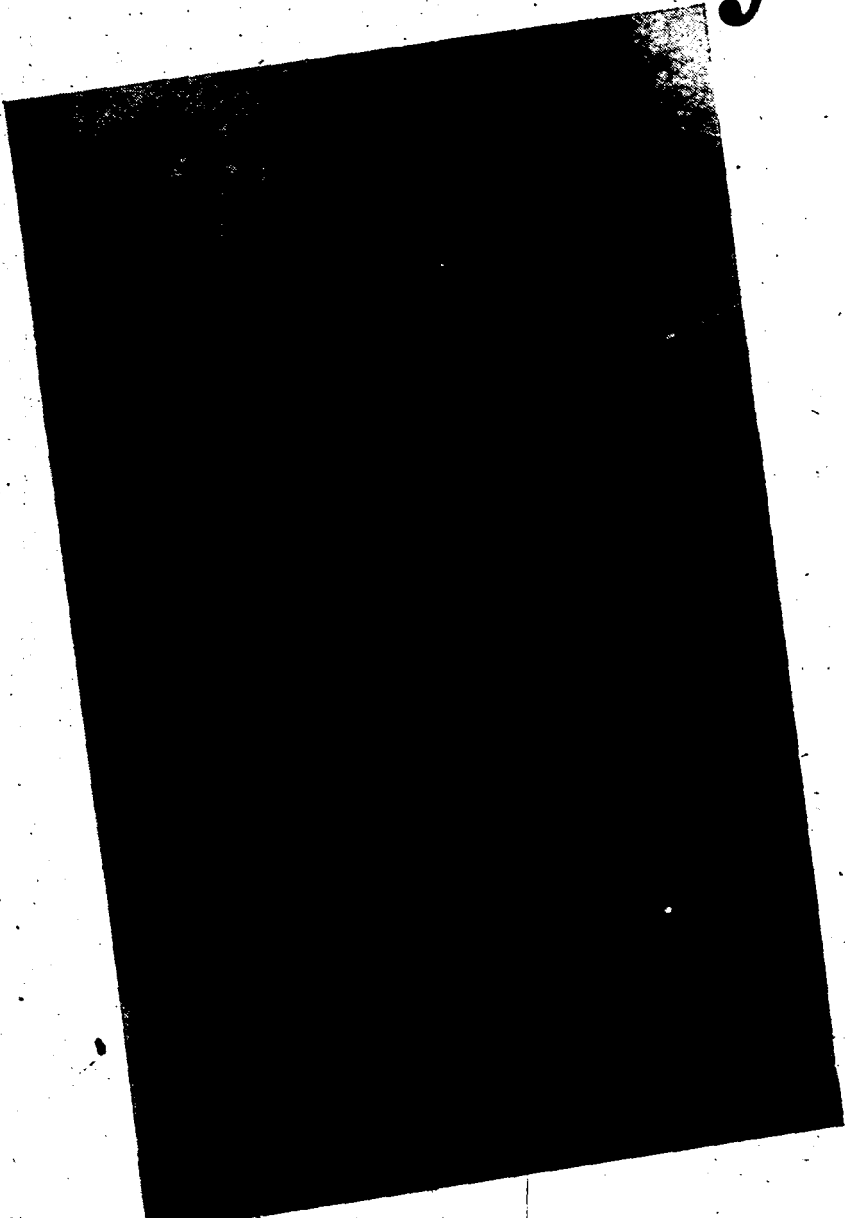

The people in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools district have reason to be proud. On Saturday, Feb. 27, young women from both Canton and Salem High Schools took high honors at the state championships for the pom pon competition held in Davison, MI.

The Canton Chiefettes captured first place and Salem Rockettes took a third place out of all the squads in the state.

Let's give congratulations to all the talented and dedicated girls for their hard work and long hours of practice. Also for their coaches, Ann Buie, for the Rockettes, and the Chiefette coach, Christina Branham, a round of applause.

PSO performs 'refreshing' piece

BY CHERYL SZYNISZEWSKI

The high caliber performance given Sunday, Feb. 21 by the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra was diminished only by the fact that the audience was so sparse.

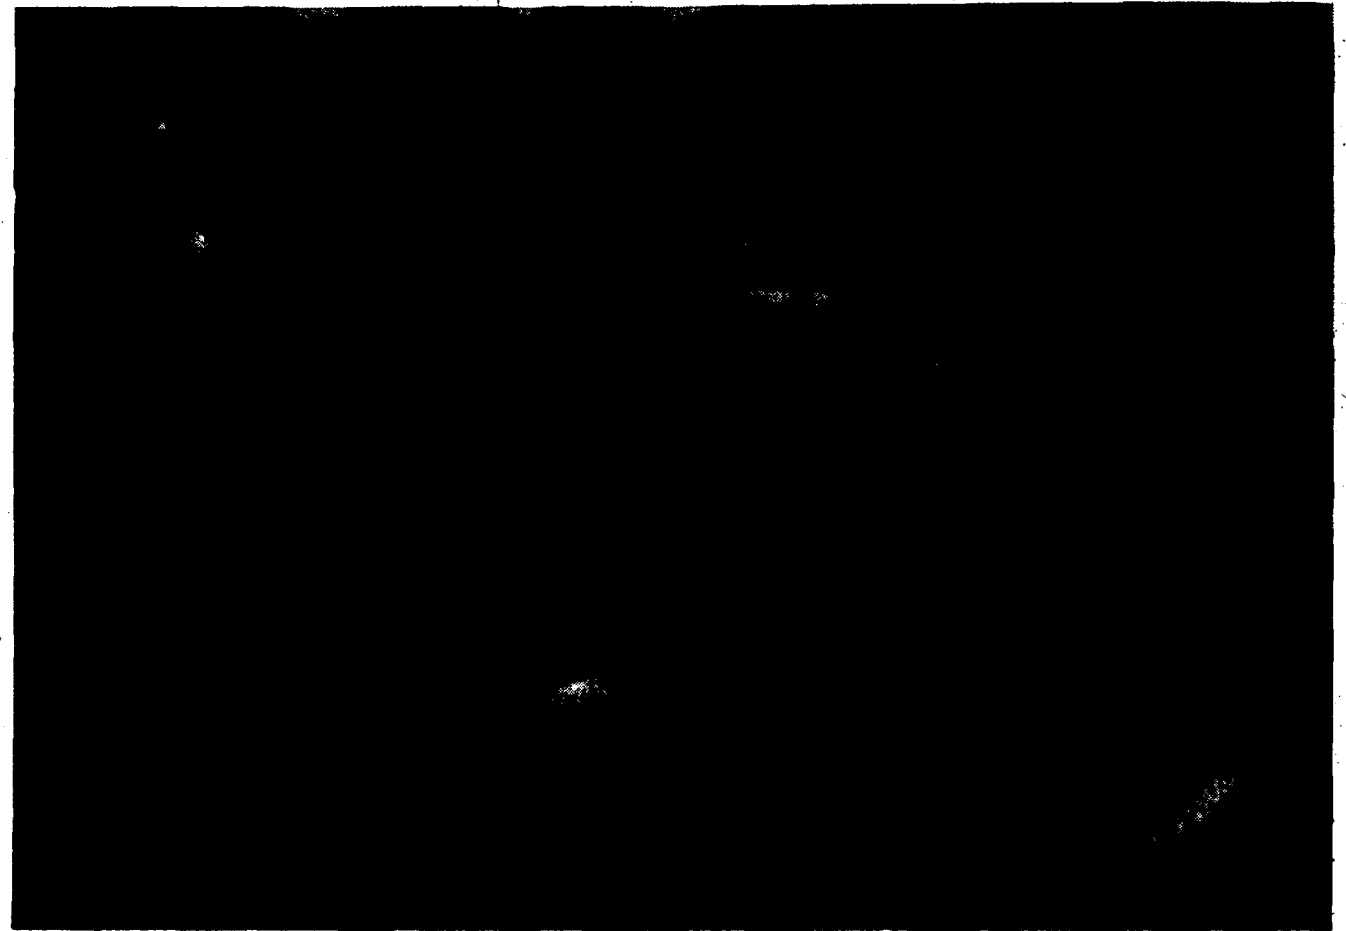

It's truly unfortunate that so few from The Plymouth-Canton Community came to hear their symphony and to take advantage of a special opportunity; the chance to experience the live performance of a contemporary work and meet the composer.

It's disheartening for performers to put hours of practice time and hard work into the preparation of a concert — to find so few people around to hear the end result. Nonetheless, under the direction of conductor Russell Reed the orchestra played with fervor and deserves praise for giving such an enjoyable performance.

The highlight of the afternoon was Anthony Iannaccone's "Divertimento for Orchestra."

Iannaccone, currently a professor of music at Eastern Michigan University, teaches composition, orchestration and arranging, and is conductor of Eastern's Collegium Musicum.

Having studied under Aaron Copland, Walter Piston and Robert Bennett, to name a few, Iannaccone is frequently commissioned to write large ensemble, chamber, and choral works. His "Divertimento" was commissioned by the American String Teachers Association in 1983 and has been performed several times by the Classic moment

Detroit Symphony Orchestra as well as other orchestras throughout Michigan.

Divertamento is a refreshing piece. Refreshing because there are no preconceived notions or images for the listener. Frequently music will evoke visual images for the listener of today. When one hears Mozart's music for instance, images of women in ball gowns and men in powdered wigs may be summoned.

A nationalistic period piece may demand identification with strife in some repressive country while a popular, contemporary piece may be associated with a film one has seen.

Iannaccone's Divertamento stimulates the emotions and imagination without specific identification to any single time or place. Drawing on a theme from the past, a popular Boccherini minuet, Iannaccone mixes it with the sounds of today.

Intended as an entertaining work in a lighter vein, Divertamento conjures up feelings of mystery and adventure. There are stirrings of excitement and then a sense of contentment throughout the first movement as this lullaby section is punctuated with hints of what is to come. The theme is continually drawn out, emotion building and relaxing until the hidden minuet is finally fully revealed.

Near the end of the movement, just as the listener thinks the section has peaked and is winding down, there is a foreshadowing passage from the second movement, and then that final cleansing cadence.

The second movement of the Divertamento is alive with energy and enthusiasm. A spirited dance theme is recalled. The pace of this movement is brisk as tension mounts and the work reaches an invigorating impassioned ending. At first hearing, this reviewer found that the Divertamento ended all too soon, and that response hasn't changed after numerous listening experiences.

Also included in the program for the afternoon was Der Freischutz Overture by Weber, Water Music by Handel, and Strauss' Death and Transfiguration, Opus 24.

Egg hunt time

It's nearly time again for the Canton Parks and Recreation's annual Easter Egg Hunt, slated this year for Saturday, April 2 at Griffin Community Park on Canton Center Road.

The hunting begins at 10 a.m. sharp and is open for Canton children ages four and under, five-seven, and eight to 10 years of age.

The kiddies will search the grounds at Griffin Park for special eggs packed with Easter goodies.

Parking is limited so the recreation office is asking residents to car pool if possible.

Call 397-5110 for further information about the annual event.

Y plans annual auction

It's auction time. Well, almost.

Planning is already underway for the Plymouth Community Family YMCA's 4th Annual Auction to be staged at the Mayflower Meeting House in downtown Plymouth.

Wine and cheese will be included in the $8 ticket charge. Call the YMCA at 453-2904 for tickets or further details. Tickets will also be available at the door.

The event is set for Friday, April 15 from 7-10 p.m.

Spring art sale

The Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC) Art Rental Gallery will be the scene of a spring "Clean the Gallery Sale" on March 23 and 30 from 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m.

The sale will be held at the PCAC location on the second floor of the Dunning-Hough Library on Main Street in Plymouth.

More than 150 paintings and reproductions have been priced for the sale. Prices range from $12.50 to $325. Most of the works are $100 or less, however.

Because of the markdown prices, the usual "two rentals deducted from the price" rule will not apply.

Price lists will be available prior to the sale at the gallery. For further information call the gallery any Wednesday at 459-0110. Or call Therese at 459-6896.

Vogras: litter intolerable

Ken Vogras, director of the City of Plymouth's Department of Public Works, is fed up with litter in the community.

Vogras said the city will no longer "tolerate litter around commercial, residential and industrial buildings and parking lots."

During the recent thaw Vogras drove around the city noticing a litter problem that "has become more apparent in several areas throughout the city."

Vogras said plans are underway for a "clean-up week" in May, but for the present time "the existing litter ordinance will be enforced immediately."

High school vocal students show off at states

Vocal music students from Centennial Educational Park (CEP) recently performed for Michigan School Vocal Association adjudicators (judges) as part of the MSVA District 12 Solo and Ensemble Festival at Eastern Michigan University.

The CEP Madrigal Singers, a select ensemble for 16 girls, received the highest possible rating of "I" for their performance of "He's Gone Away" by Nelson and "Nymphs and Shepherds" by Purcell. The first division rating indicates an excellent level of performance and musicianship.

The non-select CEP Men's Ensemble received a "II" rating from their adjudicator. They scored the rating with performances of American folk songs "Annabel Lee" and traditional "Vive La Compagnie."

Soloists from CEP who performed two vocal solos of contrasting nature chosen from traditional vocal repertoire and their ratings included:

Leslie Boughton, Salem junior, "I"; Amy Pennington, Salem junior, "I"; Michael Kavalhuna, Canton senior, "I"; Amy Armstrong, Salem junior, "I"; Joan Zaretti, Salem junior, "I"; Toni Krachenberg, Canton junior, "II"; Susan Fett, Canton sophomore, "II"; Jennifer Kincer, Canton senior, "II"

The Madrigal Singers and soloists who received the highest rating will perform for the State Solo & Ensemble Festival on April 16 at U-M, Flint.

The next concert of the CEP Vocal Music Department will be held on March 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Salem.

A $2 donation will be requested, to be used for scholarships for CEP Choir students to attend summer music camps. The "Singsations" Show Choir will be featured, as well as several soloists from the group listed above, along with the remaining CEP choirs as they prepare for the District Choral Festival March 10-11.

Group sings 'Elijah'

The Plymouth Oratorio Society will perform part one of Felix Mendelssohn's "Elijah" on Sunday, March 27. The performance will be held at 7 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth.

A free will offering will be taken.

The Plymouth Oratorio Society (POS) is a community ecumenical choir formed at the beginning of each year to perform a major choral work in the spring. Last year 77 singers representing 15 area churches presented the Easter portion of Handel's "Messiah," accompanied by 18 instrumentalists.

This year 65 singers representing 20 churches from Plymouth, Canton, Northville, Livonia, Redford, Detroit, and Ann Arbor have joined together.

The director of the POS is Robert H. Pratt, formerly the conductor of the Chancel Choir at the First United Methodist Church, Plymouth.

Lions celebrate 40th

Members of the Plymouth Lions Club and their wives met recently at the Plymouth Hilton to celebrate the completion of their 40th year.

Of the original charter members, three remain active today, and were honored at the banquet. They are William Fehlig, Bruce Richard, and Roland Widmayer.

Member John Sassaman made the arrangements for the celebration, and member John Roose served as master of ceremonies.

Leon Piekarski is the current president of the Plymouth Lions Club.

Mog wins S'craft award

A committee member, referring to Pat's dedication, said, "He is always a pleasure to work with and is an outstanding credit to Schoolcraft College."

Bulimia: New News About Its Effect On Teeth

One in every 250 American families has a member who suffers from an eating disorder. 5% of all female college students are bulimic, with the incidence of the problem increasing at an alarming rate. Bulimics have secret, episodic eating binges which they terminate by self-induced vomiting. The vomiting allows either continued eating or termination of the binge.

There are definite physical and mental effects from constant purging, and among these is dental enamel erosion. The stomach naturally produces hydrochloric acid to aid in digestion. When the persons vomits, the hydrochloric acid comes up into the mouth and can cause erosion of the enamel and dentin on the backs of the front teeth and on the entire back teeth. It can also cause periodontal (gum) problems, deteriorate fillings, and even dull the edges of the teeth. Early detection and recovery can deter long lasting effects, but the longer the term of the disorder, the more likely there will be permanent damage.

Dentists can help to control the damage to teeth by applying fluoride and bulimics can lessen the chances for permanent damage by rinsing with baking soda to neutralize the acid. Severe damage should be treated as soon as possible and may even require caps and crowns.

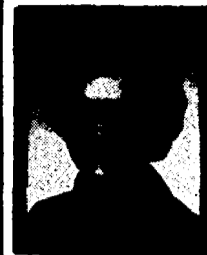

Outpatient therapy is available for sufferers of this disorder and usually consists of individual psychotherapy, family counseling, and/or nutritional therapy.

The dental damage caused by bulimia can result in tooth loss and gum disease and should be treated as soon as possible.

Travel TALK FROM Emily's World

SANIBEL ISLAND — SHELLING PARADISE

If you like searching for sea shells - you'll love Sanibel Island located in the Gulf of Mexico just west of Ft. Meyers, Florida. If you visit this sheller's paradise, you can't ignore the major activity on the beach.

A steady stream of people trudge by staring at the sand in search of the perfect sea shell. You wonder how anyone could rightly consider this "fun." Are you kidding? It's more like a mania. And it keeps those who are hooked coming back for more, even though the "Sanibel Stoop" can give even the youngest sheller a kink in the back for days.

Why fanatics of all ages, from all over the country, are out there in force is simply that Sanibel Island is a veritable sheller's paradise. It is said to be one of the three best on-shore shelling areas in the world (the other two are in Africa and in the South Pacific).

Of course, the island does offer other diversions - guided fishing and canoe trips, sailing, golf and tennis. But if shelling is your hobby, Sanibel is your place in the sun.

Pipe company moving to twp.

BY PAUL GARGARO

If all goes as planned, one of the nation's largest piping contractors, Power Process Piping, Inc., will make Plymouth Township its home early next winter.

Power Process Piping is currently located downriver in Brownstown Township. The company has been there for 10 years, operating out of a 21,000-square-foot facility.

According to company President David Williams, the new piping plant, in R.A. DeMattia's Metro West Industrial Park on Sheldon and Five Mile roads, will be a 29,000-square-foot facility.

Williams estimated the cost of the new facility to be approximately $2 million.

"We decided on the Plymouth area last summer," said Williams. "It provides us with easy access to the expressways and it's close to the airport."

"I really like the community and I think it's a pivot point for a lot of our employes," added Williams.

Power Process Piping regularly employes 250 employees, but that number often increases with business demands.

Williams said that it is likely that additional people will be hired after the move. However, he stressed that the number of personnel hired will depend on the company's work load.

According to Williams, the company bends, shapes and erects piping for industries to carry petroleum products, water, steam, chemicals, gas and air.

The winner

Maria Grainger (above) was the winner of an area spellingbee at Plymouth Christian Academy last week. She successfully spelled "blustering" and "inescapable" to win the title. Twenty-three students competed in the event. Grainger now advances to the state finals in two weeks. (Crier photo by Chris Farina)

PCA gets accreditation

University of Michigan accreditation has been conferred on Plymouth Christian Academy, in Plymouth Township, and the total educational program of the high school division.

Dr. William Bushaw, acting associate director for accreditation, conducted the accreditation evaluation during the fall of 1987 and confirmed on Feb. 22, 1988 that all of the certification requirements had been met or exceeded.

In order to receive U-M accreditation, Plymouth Christian had to meet all the established requirements, which are very specific, according to information in a release from the school last week.

U-M representative Dr. William Bushaw verified the requirements, as well as the school's financial and business records. PCA was cited for no violations, and the structure of the school and leadership of Superintendent Roland DeRenzo received high marks, according to a release.

The school met necessary qualifications within a three year time frame rather than the customary five years.

Counselor Greg Hovermale said that it was a considerable accomplishment. He also said the dedication and cooperation among board of regents' members, administration and helped make it possible.

Hovermale added that accreditation is rare among non-public, Christian schools. A reception was held recently in honor of the school's new accreditation.

Eriksson students ready for 'largest concert' show

Students at Eriksson Elementary School in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools district are preparing to participate in the 1988 "World's Largest Concert" sponsored by the Music Educator's National Conference.

songs and folksongs including: "The Star Spangled Banner," "Eric Canal," "Old Dan Tucker," "This Is My Country," and the program theme song, "America Takes Note."

Caludia Tull, Eriksson music teacher and MIOSM chairperson for Michigan said, "This is a wonderful opportunity to bring the school together as a whole and have a sort of old-fashioned song fest."

The concert will also be televised from Washington D.C. and can be seen on Channel 56 (PBS) from 1-1:30 p.m.

Getting down to business

It's a family affair for Cinnamon Sam's

BY PAUL GARGARO

For those residents in The Plymouth-Canton Community with insatiable "sweet teeth," satisfaction is less than a week away.

Cinnamon Sam's, located on Ann Arbor Road in Riverbank Square, will open its doors for public consumption on March 11 with the hopes of drawing attention to a wide variety of homemade baked goods including, gourmet cinnamon rolls, fruit-filled muffins, cookies, cakes and party trays.

In addition, the sweet shop will offer deli sandwiches made on freshly baked onion and kaiser rolls.

Although Cinnamon Sam's is a franchise store of a Kansas-based, specialty-bakery company, the new Ann Arbor Road location brings a unique approach into an established operation.

From top to bottom, it's a family-owned, family-operated store. According to Kathy Burrell, store owner, there isn't a single employe on staff who is not related. Even the pre-opening heating and cooling construction work was done by Burrell's husband, Terry, and her brother-in-law Al Carter.

According to Burrell's sister and store Manager Elaine Carter, Cinnamon Sam's is destined for success.

"We have such a great variety," said Carter. "People are too busy, so we'll do their home cooking."

"But it's the people that make it," added Dawn Burrell, Kathy's daughter and assistant manager of the store.

This is Carter's and Burrell's first shot at the food business, but they bring to the shop a degree of enthusiasm and expertise spawned in their own kitchens.

Although, the hours have not been officially set, Burrell said that the store will be open seven days a week. The hours have been tentatively set as 6:30 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the weekends.

Edison prepares to close Plymouth shop

The Detroit Edison customer office, located at the corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Main Street in downtown Plymouth, will soon be closing its doors permanently.

According to Edison spokesperson Lorie Kessler, the closure is the result of a company policy designed to cut costs. She added that Edison is currently looking into employment opportunities within the company for the three employes who work at the office

Edison will still be able to serve the community efficiently with a recently opened customer office in Novi at 43292 11 Mile Road. In addition, Edison maintains customer offices in Wayne and in Ypsilanti, said Kessler.

Earl Smith, who owns the property with his wife Betty, said that Hugh Jarvis, owner of the Wayside Gift Shop next door to the Edison office, will expand his shop into the vacated office.

Smith said that Wayside will be able to move in by June 1.

Salem tankers 1st, Chiefs finish 3rd in WLAA meet

BY MARTY TUNGATE

Salem High's boys swim squad captured the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) conference crown, over the weekend, while neighbor-rival Canton High finished third.

The WLAA conference meet looked like a showdown between Livonia Stevenson and Salem for the conference crown, with the rest of the conference left to battle it out for third place.

But nobody told the Rock tankers that they would have to fight off the Spartans from Stevenson, so the Rocks dominated the meet and all of the teams that stood in their way.

Salem finished first with 254 points, while Stevenson took second with 194 points, and a fired up Canton squad made a run at second place, but ended up taking third in the league. Still, not to shabby.

Every year many people call the WLAA conference the toughest conference in the state for swimming, and according to Olson, that statement holds true.

"Without a doubt, this is the strongest conference in the state," Olson continued. "Coaches from other conferences can't believe the times that our kids are putting out. And every year they get faster."

Tankers take title

"We swam awfully well," Salem coach Chuck Olson said. "I thought it would be tighter between us (Salem) and Stevenson, but our guys swam great."

Salem's medley relay quartet got things going when they captured first place with a time of 1:40.78. David Miller, Geoff Taylor, John Hobgood and Mike Hill made-up the crew.

In the 200 yard freestyle, it was Salem's John Irvine capturing second place in a time of 1:48.55.

Then sophomore sensation Ron Orris finished first in the individual medley with a quick 2:00.25.

Kevin Kolacki placed third for the Rocks in diving, as he earned himself a spot at the state diving regionals.

Then it was Canton's turn to get on the scoreboard, when Bryce Anderson raced to a second place finish in the 100 yard butterfly in 57.70 seconds.

Irvine kept the Rocks hot when he captured first place in the 100 yard freestyle.

In the 500 yard freestyle it was all Orris. Orris captured his second first-place finish with an effort of 4:54.5.

Salem's Miller got back on the scoreboard, as he raced to a third place finish in the 100 yard backstroke in 57.70 seconds.

The 100 yard breaststroke saw Canton's tanker Jeff Howman finish first with a 1:03.62. Howman also broke the conference record in the breaststroke in the preliminaries with a 1:02.18.

Salem's Taylor raced a strong third in the breaststroke with 1:03.97.

The Rocks topped off the evening by capturing the 400 yard freestyle, as Orris, Jeff Musson, Fred Seidelman, and Irvine swam to a 3:19.27.

"This was a great feat for us," Canton coach Hooker Wellman said about their finish. "We didn't swim bad, we didn't swim good, we swam great."

Canton came into the conference meet looking to battle it out for fourth or maybe take third, but according to Wellman his team was ready.

"Our kids were ready for this meet, we worked very hard, and the boys were great," Wellman added. "The boys just swam their minds out and it paid-off for them."

Next up for Salem and Canton's tankers is the Class A state championship meet.

Canton has qualified more swimmers for this year's meet since Wellman first took over in 1980.

Howman, Anderson will compete individually at the states for Canton, along with the Chief's medley relay team, which is made up of Scott Swartzwelter, Howman, Mark Levesque and Justin LaBond. And Canton diver Brad Flowers may qualify for the state meet, depending on his finish at the diving regionals.

Irvine and Orris will compete individually at the states for Salem. The medley relay team, which includes Miller, Taylor, Hobgood and Hill, will also swim the finals.

The Rocks will also be sending the 400 yard relay squad, including Orris, Musson, Seidelman and Irvine. And Kolacki may be at the states depending on the outcome of his dives at the diving regionals.

The state meet is set for this weekend -- Friday and Saturday, March 11-12 at Eastern Michigan University. Tickets are $2. The gun will sound at 2 p.m. on both days.

Junior baseball registration

It's baseball and softball time for Plymouth-Canton residents.

That's right folks, the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League (PCJBL) will conduct its annual sign-up beginning this Saturday March 12, from 9 a.m. through 3 p.m. and will continue on March 26 from 9 a.m. through 3 p.m.

Umpires and managers are also asked to sign-up at these times.

Early sign-up is a must this year, as due to the lack of volunteers the PCJBL's President Rich Madson will have a cutoff number for kids to the number of volunteer managers that sign-up.

Being a veteran in the league or first time player will have no bearing on the cutoff time.

So lets go Plymouth and Canton, add some fun and excitement to this years summer.

When you sign your son or daughter up to play, sign yourself up to be a manager.

For further information call Madson at 420-0223 or Chris Mroczka at 455-5253.

Rock cagers fall to Raiders in WLAA

BY MARTY TUNGATE

Salem High's boys' cage squad went into the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) conference championship game for the second year in a row.

But this time the Rocks could not pull out a win or a lucky coin toss. Salem was crushed Saturday by Lakes division rival North Farmington, 58-46.

The Raiders led from the opening bucket and at the end of the first quarter the Rocks found themselves trailing by 10 points, 13-3.

"After North took that opening lead we just couldn't comeback," Salem head coach Bob Brodie said.

In fact, the Rocks were only able to come within seven points of North Farmington.

"We just weren't mentally prepared for the game," Brodie continued. "Our shots were poor, we couldn't even hit on some of our lay-ups."

The Rocks shot 16 for 62 from the field, which according to Brodie pretty much tells the story of the game.

"It was frustrating watching the game slip away," Brodie added. "Our shots just wouldn't fall."

While Salem was trying to play catch-up all game, the Raiders just kept up the pressure.

"They (North) really hustled. They're good team," Brodie said.

Salem was led in the contest by Jeff Elliot with 15 points. Elliot was the only Rock in double figures on the night.

Salem was the defending WLAA conference champions, and the opportunity was there for a repeat since the Rocks had already defeated the Raiders twice during the regular season.

But, according to Brodie, when the conference tournament begins you can throw-out the records. It's a new season for everybody.

"North was a team kind of like us. They fought back from injuries, and continued to get stronger as the season went along," Brodie said.

District action will begin tonight (March 9) for the Rocks, but things won't get any easier.

Salem will face Novi High in its first round of district action at Northville.

"Novi has some big kids inside and two quick guards. We'll have our work cut-out for us," Brodie said.

WSDP's Jeff Umbaugh has all the highlights

BY MARTY TUNGATE

He is on the air, and he's got highlights.

No, it's not who you're thinking. It's WSDP's Jeff Umbaugh.

WSDP is the Centennial Educational Park's (CEP) student radio station, and Umbaugh is WSDP's sports director.

A senior at Salem, Umbaugh has been WSDP's sports director for two years now and is in charge of all of the sports duties at the radio station.

Umbaugh hosts his own sports show every Friday on WSDP at 6:10 p.m., but he can also be found behind the microphone at Salem and Canton basketball games.

"I love doing play by play," Umbaugh said.

According to Umbaugh, he got interested in broadcasting because he loves to talk and he really like sports.

"I love sports broadcasting, and I got a little ham in me," Umbaugh continued. "So when I heard the high school had radio station I gave it a shot."

The Salem student still finds it difficult not to be biased when the Rocks and the Chiefs square off, but with his growing experience a professional attitude has developed.

"It was hard at first not being biased when Salem played Canton, but I've learned through my years and mistakes at broadcasting and the professionalism really takes over now, and I'm less biased during those Salem and Canton clashes," Umbaugh said.

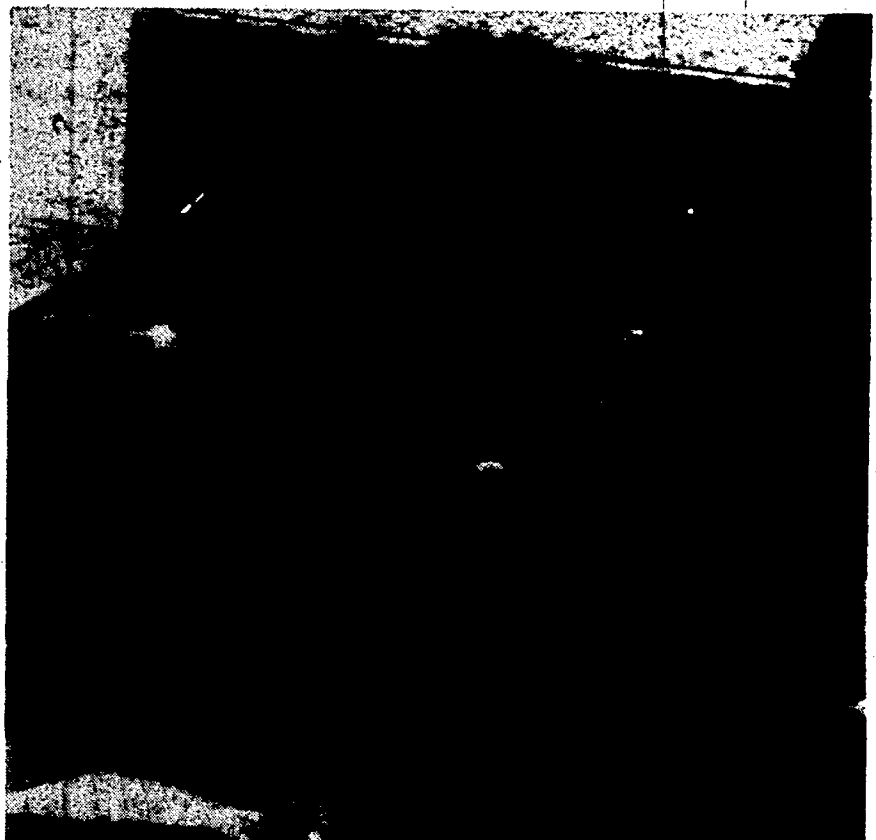

Umbaugh has now also branched out to other radio stations. He works as a intern at one of Michigan's largest radio stations, WJR. He also works at a Christian radio station, WLQV.

Umbaugh's style is an original one as he calls the action on the radio. He likes to think he'll make it big someday like his broadcasting idols.

"I like Scott Whale, Jim Berk, Frank Beckmen, Dale Conquest, and I like the enthusiasm of Dick Vitale," Umbaugh said. "But I can't forget the guy I grew up watching, not Howard, but Brent Musberger on CBS."

As Jeff wraps up his WSDP sportscasting days he will have many memories to look back on at WSDP.

"I remember a time when we're broadcasting an away girls basketball game and somebody hung-up our phone line at the station and half the game wasn't even on the air," Umbaugh added. "I guess my fondest memories would have to be going to Grand Rapids to cover the girls hoop team in the state finals. They came so close."

Umbaugh, although he is the big cheese for the sports department at WSDP, he has quite a unique staff which adds to the color of his weekly show and his play by play.

Jeff Stomber is always at Umbaugh's side on the basketball court with color commentary, while Patty Williamson, George Manolias, Doug Donaldson, Jeff Hendry, Shannon Beeding, Kerry, Demay and Jeni Mckeon all add to the excitement and color, and sometimes bizarre, sports weekly.

Umbaugh hopes to continue to study broadcasting at Western Michigan University or Michigan State.

Then, maybe one day, he'll make his way to the top in a warm climate.
