Schools to fall out of formula

BY DAN JARVIS

Lack of funding for the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools continues to plague school officials as they brace for a move away from membership state aid sometime within the next two years, said John M. Hoben, schools superintendent.

As the district prepares for the worst, moving out of the state aid formula will have a dramatic effect on the system's funding structure.

"If the state equalized values keep rising and student count takes a plunge, we could go out of formula within the next year," said Hoben.

"We've never been out of formula," he added.

If the school system does go out of the state formula, they will join 114 districts out of 525 districts total which currently receive no state membership aid.

"In the last three years, we've gone from $566 per student from state membership aid to $114 this year," said Hoben.

District officials have already had to cut their budgets in a variety of areas -- 11 per cent in administrative costs; three per cent of the teaching staff; 10 per cent of secretarial staff; and 20 per cent of the aide staff -- because of funding difficulties.

"Those who are well in or well out of formula are doing well," said Hoben. "It's when you get in the middle that you get in trouble. It gets more difficult to fund the system when you're out of formula because the burdens become more localized."

"One of the difficulties in the state formula is that the guidelines change every year," he added. "If we have another year like this one, we will definitely go out."

Hoben said that the school system has braved the lack of state and local funding, but that the Headlee tax rollback has made adequate funding nearly impossible.

In-formula districts are more dependent on state aid and less so on local millage revenue. Out of formula districts depend on local millage levies but receive no state membership aid.

Apparent homicide victim found

An unidentified male body, the victim of an apparent homicide, according to Plymouth Township Police, was found yesterday afternoon in the lot behind Forest Cleaners on Ann Arbor Road.

Plymouth Township Police said they received a call alerting them to the fact at approximately 3:35 p.m.

"The circumstances in which we found the body would give us reason to suspect that there was foul play involved," said Township Police Chief Carl Berry.

Township Chief Chip Snyder said the body was apparently dumped sometime during the day yesterday between 9:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Berry added that members of the Michigan State Police Crime Lab began their investigation yesterday.

Ford granted tax abatement

BY PAUL GARGARO

With six "yes" votes, Plymouth Township decided that Ford Motor Company's Sheldon Road Plant will be the beneficiary of another significant tax abatement.

Ford was granted a 50 per cent reduction for 12 years in the regular tax rate on equipment valued at $6.6 million. The abatement comes as an amendment to an abatement granted in April of 1986 on $4.7 million worth of new machinery and equipment.

The Sheldon Road Plant is headquarters for Ford's Climate Control Division.

In June, Ford was granted a 12-year tax abatement for the purchase of 10 new injection molding machines. The abatement was for half of the normal tax rate on the machines' value of $5 million.

Plant Manager Paul Pietila said competition was a major factor in the abatement request.

"The competition is relentless -- it never ends. It all boils down to competition on the quality front and the cost front," said Pietila. "We are consistently looking for ways to cut costs. We're actively pursuing a Q1 award."

Ford representative Jerry Brown said that Ford buys its parts and components on a worldwide basis and puts out bids to a variety of manufacturers.

"This plant simply must be competitive. We're building a new plant at an old address," said Brown. "The kind of commitment this company is making to the plant says to us and to you, too, that we're going to be here a long time. We believe Act 198 has been good to the company and to Plymouth Township."

Under Michigan State Act 198, industrial firms can be granted up to a 50 per cent tax break to renovate old facilities or build new plants.

Brown also said that although Ford's tax revenues were in decline in the early part of the 1980s, he expects that the plant will pay over $1.5 million in revenues this year.

"We've doubled our payment, even with the abatements," he said.

The plant's UAW representative Bill Yankowski agreed with the reasons for the abatement and said the community has benefited from factors other than tax revenues.

"We all have to be in this thing together to survive," said Yankowski. "It's not just the (tax) money. You've got to look at how much we (Ford employees) spend here."

City plans to sell vacant well field

BY PAUL GARGARO

After years of discussion, it looks as if the city has reached a decision regarding the future of its vacant well field on Beck and Five Mile roads in Northville Township.

Sell it.

On Monday, city commissioners, by a 4-3 vote, accepted a purchase offer for the 48-acre parcel from the Carrollton Arms -- Fairfield West II syndicate.

The cash deal, worth $475,000, depends on whether the syndicate gets plat approval on its development plans for the property from Northville Township.

City attorney Ron Lowe said the syndicate is planning a residential development for the parcel.

"I don't think their plat approval will get rejected," said Lowe. "I think they've done everything reasonable to develop it properly."

If the plat approval is not determined after 22 months, or if it is rejected, the deal could be off, said Lowe.

Accompanying the offer is a purchaser's deposit of $22,000 to be held by the city and applied to the purchase price if the deal is closed.

The 22-month period protects the city in case litigation is brought against them before the deal is closed, said City Manager Henry Graper.

Lowe said the $22,000 would act as an incentive for the developers to get plat approval.

In August, commissioners rejected a bid of $440,000 offered by Carrollton Arms -- Fairfield West II.

Earlier this year, the city was sued by Carrollton Arms (and eventually Fairfield West II) for fraud on the grounds that the city showed bad faith by not accepting the original bids of the two firms, said Lowe.

At the time that the original two bids were entered, they were the only two made on the property, said Lowe.

On May 20, Circuit Court Judge Charles S. Farmer ruled that the city had the right to continue seeking bids.

In July, the city sent out more bid packets with a bid specification set at $412,000. The only bid it received was from the Carrollton Arms -- Fairfield West II syndicate.

Commissioners Ron Loiseau, Robert Jones, and James Jabara voted to

Canton, Schools tackle property sale

BY KEN VOYLES
AND DAN JARVIS

With supportive residents looking on, Canton's Board of Trustees last week agreed to purchase the Barchester property from the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools and possibly turn it into a community park.

The board voted 6-0 to move ahead with a several step procedure for buying the land. Supervisor Jim Pcole did not vote.

"It fills a dramatic need in the northern part of the township," said Trustee Bob Padget. "This represents a nice compromise solution that will guarantee no development there."

He added that the board would recommend the property become a "true community park" and that there was no intent to make it a homeowners park.

Residents who live near the site called it a unique piece of property that should not be developed for housing.

"We're definitely for this," said one resident. "We don't need more houses there. It'd be an excellent idea for a park."

Both Canton and the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education will obtain appraisals for the land. A third appraisal will then be obtained from an outside source. The

Star weds at Mayflower

BY KEN VOYLES

Comic movie star Steve Guttenberg married a former local girl, Denise Bixler, Friday in what was described as an "intimate" ceremony at the Mayflower Hotel.

Guttenberg, star of such movies as Cocoon, Short Circuit, Diner, Three Men and a Baby, and Police Academy, met Bixler about a year and a half ago at the Academy Awards in Hollywood.

Bixler, a 1983 Westland John Glenn graduate, grew up in The Plymouth-Canton Community. She is a model and has also been in several movies.

Friday's ceremony was attended by about 60 family and friends and took place in the Mayflower Meeting House, also the scene of the reception which followed. Both a priest and a rabbi performed the service, according to one insider.

Guttenberg, who came to town on Thursday, stayed at the Mayflower Hotel across the street. A brunch was also held on Saturday after the wedding in the Mayflower. The couple was expected to honeymoon in Hawaii.

While in town Guttenberg was spotted by witnesses passing up lunch at the Cafe Bon Homme restaurant for a couple of deli sandwiches from the Penniman Deli, which he enjoyed while sitting in Kellogg Park.

He was also seen jogging along Union Street and Main Street on Friday morning, wearing a New York Mets baseball hat. When stopped, witnesses said, he seemed relaxed before his upcoming nuptials.

"I just love it," Guttenberg told one witness about Plymouth. "Everyone here has been great. The people are great and the atmosphere is really nice here."

By Friday evening security around the Mayflower was tight. Guttenberg's

Several local "groupies" were seen hovering around the side entrance of the Mayflower Meeting House, but were turned away along with members of the media.

CEP students honored

Nine CEP students have been named as semi-finalists in the 1989 merit scholarship competition and will now compete for some 6,000 college scholarships.

Of the nine, eight are from Salem High and one from Canton.

The Salem students are: Sarah R. Andrews, Scott C. Baily, Kristopher Efickson, Shelley M. Ketcham, Stephen D. Laurette, Anindya K. Roy, Deborah L. Stephen and Emily R. Zinn. The lone Canton semifinalist is Joshua Worth.

All nine are the top scorers in Michigan and are now eligible to advance to the finalist level. Scholarship winners will be chosen from a pool of 14,000 national semifinalists.

Students who have been named for honors but will not compete for scholarships are: Stacia Bannan, Maureen Becker, Laura Bodell, David Gackenbach, Cholley Kuhaneck and Robert Shimmel, all from Salem. Canton students who will be honored are: Laura M. Broad, Elizabeth Curd, James E. Harnett, Kyle S. Karinen and Brian E. Theisen.

All 11 CEP students will receive letters of commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Corp., in recognition of outstanding academic promise.

Resident guilty of disorderly conduct

BY KEN VOYLES

A Canton man arrested during last year's hot-air balloon festival was found guilty of disorderly conduct on Sept. 27 in 35th District Court.

Leo Medley, 66, was arrested on July 4, 1987 for blocking traffic and failing to move when ordered to do so by a Canton Police officer.

A retired autoworker, Medley said he was simply trying to get home, but that Canton Center Road, the road he lives on, was blocked at both ends for the balloon festival held at Centennial Educational Park (CEP) across the street.

Medley, a Canton resident for 17 years, was found guilty by a jury of six after nearly 30 minutes of deliberations. He will be sentenced in three or four weeks, said Judge James Garber, who presided over the case.

"I'm pretty disgusted with the whole deal," said Medley, who claims he was just trying to get the Canton officer's identification when he was arrested on Warren Road at the intersection with Canton Center. "I support a good police department 100 per cent. I didn't think I had any problems with anyone."

Medley, who said the whole case revolves around his word against that of the Canton officer, faces a maximum of 90 days in jail and a $500 fine.

The prosecuting attorney in the case said Medley "painted himself as the victim."

Medley said he took his wife to work around 8 p.m. on the 4th, but when he tried to return was unable to go south on Canton Center from Joy Road. That's when he turned around and drove to Sheldon Road before getting on Warren.

Canton police officers were in the intersection of Warren and Canton Center directing traffic, which was coming out of CEP in two southbound lanes. Police said Medley screamed at them when he was unable to get through and blocked traffic on Warren Road.

Medley, whose troubles with the balloon festival began in 1985, said the road was illegally closed since the township did not get a permit.

Garber ruled during the case that the road was indeed open and that the township did not need a permit for its actions.

Save the Rouge

YCUA takes a giant step

Maybe now that Canton and Plymouth Township have moved yet another step forward in their plans to join with the Ypsilanti Community Utilities Authority (YCUA) the future of the Rouge River won't be so much in doubt.

The river, long a source of pain and frustration for local governments because of its unhealthy state, is a key element in the YCUA plans.

Water being treated through the system will be returned to the Rouge in what officials are calling a clean enough state to save millions on desperately needed clean-up efforts.

YCUA makes good business sense for the townships, who have been unable to get any satisfaction from the "son of super sewer" project. That project also got a shot in the arm last week when federal money was released to begin construction.

Although local leaders are cautious about the future of the Rouge, it looks at last like something will be done.

Maybe then The Plymouth-Canton Community can enjoy the river as a recreation area. And homeowners will be proud to have the Rouge flow through their backyards.

Yes, the project will be expensive, and it will take years to complete. But once finished the two townships, at least, will have their finger in the pie when it comes to planning the future of the Rouge.

Roulette at Joy & Canton Center

EDITOR:

The accident that occurred the morning of Wednesday, Sept. 28, brought about this concern for the safety of both students attending the Salem-Canton high schools and the residents of the Westbrier II subdivision.

When school is either starting in the a.m., or letting out at various intervals throughout the day, it's like a game of roulette trying to safely enter Joy Road from either the north or south side -- stretching from Canton Center Road to McClumpha.

Havoc also occurs in the a.m. when students continue through the amber light going north on Canton Center Road onto westbound Joy Road jamming up the east bound traffic necessitating motorists to wait for the light to change two or three times. With exceptions, students won't give an inch to courtesy when it comes to driving etiquette. They fail to realize that while they are anxious (?) to get to school on time, there are adults also trying to get to work on time ... and safely. It is an extremely dangerous intersection!!

This situation needs attention immediately before another serious accident occurs.

On behalf of the students, adult school personnel and residents involved, I recommend time be put aside without further delay by persons responsible for resolving serious traffic problems such as this. The first step may be a monitoring system by the Plymouth Township/Canton Police Departments during peak moving periods to personally see first-hand just how dangerous it is.

We thank you in advance for anything that can be done to alleviate this situation.

Canton's ridiculous spending ideas

EDITOR:

The antics going on in Canton government continue to amaze me. I recently read with pure disgust of the intention to place on the November ballot the proposal to build a recreation center. Just where do backers think this money is coming from?

It is pure asinine to even think that homeowners, whose SEVs were increased enormously recently and who voted down several school millage proposals, would actually vote yes to more taxes for construction of a recreation building.

We're already paying for the new library and will also be paying more as a result of the recent increase for police and fire services, both of which are worthy. We will certainly learn a valuable lesson if the proposal for the so-called "recreation center" passes: Cantonites value fun and recreation more than educating their own children.

Enough is enough. Let's say no to the recreation center. If Canton government officials want it, then discontinue the tax abatement they're granting to all these corporations moving in. As usual, big business gets the tax breaks and the homeowners continue to carry the load by paying enormous tax bills for frivolous boondoggles.

Perhaps someone should notify Schoolcraft College and Wayne County that Canton's got money to burn -- perhaps they can come up with more proposals to raise our taxes. After all, Canton wants a recreation center and even wants to move an old dilapidated house so it can become a township "historical" building.

Where else but Canton do these ridiculous money-spending ideas crop up? What about using some of its excess monies to fund soup kitchens for those (especially senior citizens and young families) who are going to be taxed right out of their own homes?

Steve Whotenberg?
Steve Guttenberg. You know, the guy from "Diner" and "Police Academy."

Oh yeah. He's at the deli? No kidding?

And so it went last Thursday. No way of knowing what you'll run into on the way back from lunch.

Faces pressed to the windows and lots of excited chatter around the office. Steve Guttenberg had been spotted and he was across the street at the Penniman Deli checking out the coldcuts.

Meanwhile in the deli, folks milled around the candy counter with one eye on the Milky Ways and another on the movie-star.

My pal, Steve Guttenberg. Love your movies. Heard you're getting married. Are you Steve Guttenberg? Really?! Good Luck!

And he was smooth, especially for a guy a day away from getting married.

Thanks very much. Really? Nice to meet you. Please, no pictures now. Thanks, guys.

It was a tough pill to swallow. Big shots are supposed to be jerks, right? They won't talk to you. They're not interested in your paltry life, your pathetic humility puts them off, and they punch the lights out of people who take their pictures.

But to have all that fame, to be constantly nagged by flocks of adoring girls, to be plagued with a healthy income and still be a regular guy -- that's too much.

Send us those Hollywood brats and the air-heads with the blond hair. At least you know where you stand. They can be mocked and ridiculed with a clear conscience.

But, Guttenberg. He threw us a curve. He seemed like the kind of guy who might live next door. Not a lot a flash, but he'd loan you a screwdriver in a pinch. You might even shoot a few baskets in the backyard with him, maybe drink a beer, watch the game-- the whole deal.

I hope I'm wrong. Maybe within the next year, we'll read about Guttenberg throwing some temper tantrum on a movie set and slugging the nearest cub scout.

But don't bet your house on it.

Regardless, Plymouth has made a new friend and I think it's fair to say that both parties were equally impressed.

Rotary club thanks supporters

EDITOR:

On behalf of the Plymouth Rotary Club we would like to extend our sincere appreciation and thanks to those who supported Plymouth Rotary by purchasing a Chicken Dinner during this year's Fall Festival.

In addition, we must also thank the citizens of Plymouth, the City of Plymouth and its administration and employees, the Fall Festival Board, and Michigan National Bank for their continuous help and cooperation in making our Barbeque a success each year.

Finally, we would like to recognize all the people who volunteered their time and services on Sunday and throughout the year. These include, but are not limited to, Plymouth Rotarians and their families, the Salem and Canton swim teams and their coaching staffs, and all the individuals who show up each year to help.

Our committee starts planning each Chicken Barbeque in December and works hard to prepare the best dinner with the highest quality foods. However, without the help of everyone mentioned and all our vendors, this event could not take place.

A model for education

Has your name appeared in any books lately? No? Mine either.

But one name familiar to the community, John M. Hoben, Superintendent of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, has appeared in a book: "Building Effective Mastery Learning Schools," tri-authored by Block, Eftim and Burns, a group of educators.

Mastery learning, the book explains, is an old philosophy which asserts that any teacher can help virtually all students learn excellently, quickly and self confidently. More to the heart, the philosophy states that even slow and unmotivated students can learn as well and as fast as quicker, more motivated ones.

"The Hoben Model," as laid out in the book's planning section, seeks to assess the ongoing success of Mastery Learning programs by asking:

"Where are we? Where do we want to be in five years? One year? Is the change (if any) necessary? Is it worthwhile? What resources do we have? Do we need? What is our entry point? What plans must be in place to begin successful implementation?"

In each of the above categories there is a complete series of questions posed by Hoben to ascertain whether change in the educational process is needed and how the change should be implemented.

The book's authors give the Hoben Model 10 pages of print, complete with explanations and asides. Not bad for a guy who is trying to improve learning in our district.

Cited by the authors as the reason for turning to Mastery Learning techniques, or any other outcome-based educational system, is that policy makers are wondering "why are so many students currently leaving public schools without traditional or advanced skills?"

Some feel that the level of teaching is too low and that our standards have slipped. Perhaps we, or our children will begin to compete against the Japanese in the international market, but not until some new programs are put in place.

No one is saying that The Hoben Model is the only program, or even best program, for better learning. But at least no one residing in The Plymouth-Canton Community can say that Hoben is not aware of the disparity in international competition or that he's not trying to improve America's position in the educational race.

With popular WDET show

Watroba brings out the folk in us

BY KEN VOYLES

Interest in folk music is on the rise again.

It may be in part due to the raspy, relaxed voice of radio folk hosts such as Matt Watroba.

The 27-year-old Canton High graduate (in 1978) has put in two years behind the control panel of WDET's Saturday afternoon show "Folks Like Us." Using his own knowledge and interest in folk music from around the world, Watroba covers a wide range of folk material during any given three-hour set.

"I try to bring my own interests to the show," said Watroba. "And I like live music on the show. It's great for the listeners."

"I really consider doing the show a privilege," he added. "I'm able to share this wonderful music and I enjoy that. We really try and blend all kinds of music from the U.S., Canada, Great Britain and other places."

Watroba is helped every Saturday by Judy Dyki, his producer. With two forces at work the show runs so smoothly that "it's scary," said Watroba.

"We prepare for the show on Saturday and create it in the hours before we start," he said. "I never get up in the morning and say I wish I didn't have to do it. It's a great creative outlet."

Watroba, a talented folk singer and sometime composer, said he looks at each show like a performance. "I've come to the realization that I talk to this (the microphone) as if it were my audience. I have an audience in that microphone and they are tuning in from beginning to end," he said.

A recent graduate of Eastern Michigan University (with a teaching degree in English) Watroba got into radio by accident.

What would Saturday afternoon be without "Folks Like Us?" Host Matt Watroba takes listeners through three hours of folk music each weekend. (Crier photo by Chris Farina)

Born in Detroit, Watroba moved to Plymouth with his family in 1964. While at Canton High he studied theatre, choral music, wrote for the student newspaper and played acoustic guitar with a band.

Although not strong academically, Watroba excelled in music and drama. But he never worked for the student radio station WSDP.

He also met his wife Kim at Canton and although they remained friends for years it was just two years ago that they tied the knot.

At Canton Watroba's inspirations included Gloria Logan and Betty Weideman.

After high school Watroba took off six years while continuing to perform music at local clubs such as the Ark in Ann Arbor. Four years ago he started at Eastern.

In November, 1986 Watroba was working a benefit concert in Northville when he stopped by WDET to promote the show. The previous host of WDET's "Great Lakes Almanac," Judy Donlin, asked Watroba if he wanted to fill in for her one afternoon.

"It was all an accident," he said. "I did the show twice and then heard she was looking for a replacement. It was pretty instant. All of a sudden I was on radio."

But it was less his radio experience and more his interest in folk music which got Watroba the job.

Any traces of nervousness from the first couple of shows have vanished. Watroba is a calm, cool radio performer, relaxed, but in control from start to finish.

Today Watroba has complete creative control over the show -- he and Dyki pick the songs to be played and set up live studio performances with acts in town for a show. Many of those acts now call Watroba.

Watroba first discovered music while in an English class at Canton. He found an old Tom Paxton album and gave it a listen. "I told myself I have to find out more," he said.

He then picked up his first guitar at 14.

Just last winter Watroba returned to Canton to student teach with instructor Dave Seeman. He said the school seemed "like a new place."

"I still have a lot of ties to Plymouth. My family still lives there," Watroba said.

Besides his desire to teach and raise a family, Watroba wants to continue his radio work and write more songs.

"It's shaping my choices," he said. "I haven't even looked at teaching jobs out of state because I want to do the show."

"It's been very important to me."

Home economics teacher wins 'extra miler' award

For going the extra mile in the pursuit of academic excellence, Salem High School home economics teacher Judy Endres has been awarded with the "Extra Miler" award.

Endres has taught with the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools since 1974 and has now received kudos from board of education members, teachers and administrators for working extra hours to help students succeed.

During the presentation, board member Jeanette Wines said, "Judy gives of herself more freely than most teachers. Her students love her because she truly cares and listens to them."

Wines went on to quote a letter from a student to Endres, thanking the teacher for extra help.

"I just wanted to say thank you for helping me out...You are really a wonderful person," the student wrote.

Voter deadline Oct. 11

Tell it to Phyllis

By Phyllis Redfern

It may not have been cold enough for a fire in the fireplace Sunday, but it was damp and dreary enough.

It was a great afternoon for doing one of those rainy day projects you've been putting off. Actually I did accomplish a few things around the house, but not nearly all I had planned.

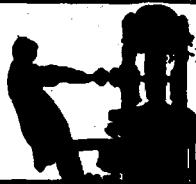

When the weather is nice, I seem to have more energy. (I wonder if the sun provides energy for humans -- and others.) However, when the weather is dark and gloomy, it takes all my energy just to think of projects...let alone try to accomplish anything.

One project was to take care of all the spider webs that have been rapidly growing in my house. I don't know who invited Charlotte, but she was certainly making herself at home throughout my house.

While wiping down spider webs, you notice things like rooms that need a new coat of paint or wallpaper that should be replaced. The only trouble is once you paint or wallpaper, then the carpet and drapes need to be replaced, and then of course the old furniture looks tacky so you have to replace everything. Once you start a project like that it never ends.

I decided it was safer to go back to sorting papers and cleaning out drawers. But gosh, you can only do that for so long before you have to find something else to do or go crazy. By the time I had projects started and not much completed, I gave up. I'm sure there will be other rainy (or snowy) days soon when I can finish the five projects I started.

A fire in the fireplace is relaxing as well as warm and friendly, and while it may snap a bit, it doesn't talk back like the kids and office folks have a tendency to do.

asking price will be taken from an average of the three appraisals.

The school board has yet to act on moving ahead with an appraisal for the land. School officials said they will act on the property when officially notified by Canton of its intent.

"We can't do anything until we hear from Canton," said Ray Hoedel, associate superintendent for business. "We're still awaiting word from the (Canton) board, which is expected soon."

Hoedel said the property has been appraised in the past, but declined to give out the previous appraisal figures.

Originally the land was to be used for a school site, but with the opening of Hoben Elementary School the district is currently no longer in need of another school, said school officials.

Canton officials said the district has threatened to file a lawsuit to allow it to sell the land for development.

"This might be a way of resolving a sensitive issue," Padgett said.

Ordinance change may mean new look

BY PAUL GARGARO

If approved, recommended changes in the sign ordinance may make for subtle changes in the look of Plymouth's business community.

Planning Commission Chairman Dr. Doug Miller said the changes in the proposed ordinance were inspired by Mayor Karl Gansler's request that the city's business and retail signs be revamped by the year 2000.

"We had originally started on Karl Gansler's idea of upgrading the signs by 2000," said Miller. "But a lot of people felt that that would be too long."

Included in the proposed sign ordinance is a discontinuation of such temporary signs as festoon (banners and pennants), vehicle, flashing, and portable signs.

In addition, Miller said citizens comments during a planning commission public hearing prompted a change in the size requirements for ground signs.

In the proposed ordinance, Miller said businesses with a 25 foot setback will be allowed to have a 32 square foot sign. An 18 square foot sign would be the maximum size sign allowed for businesses with a setback of less than 25 feet.

Miller said that the proposed ordinance also requires that real estate signs be removed within seven days of a sale.

If approved by the city commission, all signs in the city would have to reject the purchase offer.

Loiselle supported a blanket indemnity clause to be inserted into the contract to protect the city from future liability on the property. The amendment was rejected.

conform with the new ordinance within five years of its enactment. If approved this year, that would mean an upgrading of city signs nearly seven years earlier than Gansler's target of 2000.

Grafer said he was pleased with the decision to accept the offer.

"I think it's a good program -- in the best interest of all involved," said Grafer.

Grafer estimated that the deal could be closed within 9-12 months.

On again, off again

Who turned off the lights on Fleet St.?

BY PAUL GARGARO

Businesses in the Fleet Street area have put up with a lot during the past year.

From burying utility lines to repaving projects, the contours of this downtown business corridor have been in a state of flux.

Most recently, area businesses have been (and will be) experiencing scheduled electrical power shutoffs associated with the continuing project to bury telephone, cable television, and electric power lines.

Reconnecting the electric lines to businesses also involves a change over from 120-240 volt system to a 120-208 volt system, said Philip Paff, of Paff Electric, the electrical contractor on the job.

Paff said that while much of the work has gone smoothly, there have been some problems.

On Thursday, businesses along S. Main Street, including Armbrusters Bootery, The Mole Hole, Little Professor on the Park, Masons and the Craft Cupboard, were without the benefit of power throughout the day.

Paff said their power was shut off at 7 a.m. and was supposed to be turned back on at 11 a.m. However, complications kept the power off until 7 p.m.

Paff attributed the problem to pre-1950s wiring and equipment in the building.

"We were basically operating in the dark with flashlights and candles," said Bill Armbruster, owner of Armbruster Bootery. "It made it a challenge for us and our customers. Ironically, we had a pretty good day, but we were the exception to the norm, the darkness seemed to be a real hindrance to the others, I think, due to the nature of their businesses."

While the project is in full swing, Paff said a definite completion date is not known.

"Closing our newspaper and our publishing company down for an entire day is no small task," said W. Edward Wendover, publisher of the Community Crier and owner of COMMA, Inc. "It's been made more difficult by the fact that they've changed the date."

"However, this means that Bill Graham (city clerk and finance director) owes me dinner," laughed

Wendover. "As difficult as this whole thing's been, it was a matter of time and it had to be done. We just have to roll with the flow."

Firefighters plan for fire week

BY DAN JARVIS

Observing National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 9-15, local fire departments will be buzzing with activities as firefighters spread the word that most fires are avoidable.

City of Plymouth Fire Chief Alan Matthews will be one of many firefighters on hand as the Plymouth squad presents a full week of open-house activities.

From 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. Sunday (Oct. 9) through Saturday, citizens are welcome to come in for a tour, said Matthews. Large groups are requested to issue advanced notice for tours. Brochures on fire safety will be available as a public service. For tour information, call 453-1234.

In Canton, Fire Prevention Bureau Chief Art Winkel and his firefighting staff will also host tours at both fire stations: at 128 N. Canton Center Rd. and 41500 Warren Rd.

Winkel said the Canton squad will feature their annual fire safety poster contest, open to Canton students including those attending the Plymouth Christian Academy, the Van Buren Public Schools and the Wayne Westland Schools.

Two age groups, first through third graders and fourth through sixth graders will compete. The contest, co-sponsored by the Canton Chamber of Commerce, will offer a $50 savings bond to each age group winner as well as a trophy displayed at the two winners' schools.

Plymouth Township Fire Chief Larry Groth said both township fire stations, at 42350 Ann Arbor Rd. and 41212 Wilcox Rd., will be open to tours as the Plymouth Township Fire Department helps to kick off the week.

Hours are 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. during the entire week, Sunday through Saturday.

"It will give the kids a chance to see what the fire department does," said Groth. "We will give them advice on fire safety and tell them what to do in case of an emergency."

During the week, the township fire department will make practice runs to the Salvation Army site on S. Main, south of Ann Arbor Road.

Canton, Plymouth Twp. push forward on YCUA

BY KEN VOYLES AND PAUL GARGARO

Canton and Plymouth Township both approved an agreement between the Western Townships Utility Authority (WTUA) and the Ypsilanti Community Utilities Authority (YCUA) last week to begin a new, far-reaching wastewater program.

Both boards passed the resolution, which will help implement a project to transport wastewater from the three townships to the YCUA treatment plant. Northville Township was also expected to pass the resolution last week.

Ford tax abatement

Plymouth Township resident Russ Haerberle questioned the abatement. "I think it's the company's responsibility," he said.

Township Treasurer Mary Brooks voted against the abatement. Brooks said she disagreed with the idea of granting a 12-year abatement on equipment which could wear out in eight years.

A former Ford attorney, Trustee James Irvine abstained from the vote.

In related news, Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara said that $34.7 million in federal grant money will be released this week to help the long awaited "super sewer" project to reduce flooding and clean up the Rouge River.

The grants are being made by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) along with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

The YCUA project, however, did not receive any federal money. Funding for that project will come from the three townships involved. The project is estimated to cost nearly $70 million.

At a Saturday news conference, McNamara also said that $8.4 million had been awarded to help build the North Huron Valley-Rouge Valley Interceptor mostly along Edward Hines Drive from Plymouth eastward.

"The YCUA project will go a long way toward cleaning up the Rouge," said Poole. "Many of those who were opposed to this a few years ago are just shouting praises now wishing they'd done it."

"We feel comfortable with Plymouth Township's commitment to the project and their ability to pay for it," said Joe Heffernan, of Plante and Moran, one of Plymouth Township's accounting firms.

PSO opens on bold, passionate note

BY DAN JARVIS

A sense of wonder filled the Salem High auditorium as the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra (PSO), launched its 43rd season Saturday night.

In an all-Russian venue, the PSO was joined by violinist Debra Fayroian, a member of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, who received high praise from an abundant and appreciative audience.

As the PSO flawlessly executed the three movements of Aram Khachaturian's Cello Concerto, Fayroian demonstrated a deep passion for Russian music combined with impressive precision.

Review

At times Fayroian's music was gentle and whimsical, while at others her bow was like a Russian sword, slicing the night silence as a single, unwavering note drowned in the sadness of a lonely soul.

At the soloist's leaving, the audience graciously gave what seemed like an unending standing ovation.

As Russel Reed led the PSO through Rimsky-Korsakov's "Scheherazade," he did so with masterful execution and flawless arrangement and interpretation.

Proving that not all Russian music is stormy and bombastic, Reed led the PSO through gentle, warm movements that may remind one of a bright, sunny day — full of hope. Other movements were like an exploding battlefield, raging with the sounds of war.

But whether gentle or powerful, the music was full of raw power and a longing that all people can understand.

Powerful, bold, passionate, and moving are just a few words that seek to describe a better-than-words season opener. If the rest of the season follows this lead, the 43rd season of the PSO promises to delight music lovers in The Plymouth-Canton Community and beyond.

On Oct. 22 pianist Louis Nagel will be the featured soloist as the PSO honors the work of Johannes Brahms. The symphony will also perform Shostakovich's Symphony No. 1, Op. 10.

For more information, call 451-2112.

According to well known celebrity watcher, Linda Solomon, the wedding "was just gorgeous."

"They both looked beautiful and very happy," Solomon added. "It was just a very intimate evening."

Guttenberg, who had been a frequent visitor to Plymouth lately to plan the wedding, was seen entering the Meeting House Friday carrying a pair of well worn tennis shoes and wearing a tuxedo.

2nd guilty verdict in slaying

Steven Stamper, 18, of Ypsilanti Township was found guilty Friday for his part in the slaying of 13-year-old Mary Anne Hulbert of Canton.

Stamper was charged with second-degree murder in the 1986 shooting death of Hulbert. Christopher Machacek, 18, was found guilty three weeks ago of first-degree murder for his part in the slaying.

Stamper, who was 16 at the time of the slaying, was tried as an adult in Washtenaw County Circuit Court, according to William Delhey, prosecutor in Washtenaw County.

Hulbert had been shot seven times when her body was discovered by hunters in a Superior Township field on Jan. 17, 1986. She was a student at Stevenson High in Westland.

Dumped in OT

Raiders hand Rocks their first loss

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

It took an overtime skirmish to blemish Salem's unbeaten football season Saturday.

A missed Rocks' field goal on the first possession of overtime gave North Farmington the chance to win the game 13-7.

Salem's first loss brings their record to 4-1 for the season.

Salem football coach Tom Moshimer said he was satisfied with part of his team's performance on Saturday. "I was pleased with the way they came back in the fourth quarter."

The coach said his team was stagnant offensively, but said he was pleased with the defensive performance.

"We just could not move the ball," said Moshimer. "(It) was the combination of us not playing well offensively and them playing well defensively."

The Rocks lone score came off a touchdown pass from Eddie Wilson to Brian Schultz.

North Farmington Raider Chris Hill caught a touchdown pass from Mike Filipovich, and Joe Sturtz ran the other touchdown in for North's other score.

Moshimer said the defense kept the Rocks in the game Saturday.

"Our defense played very well," said Moshimer. "They (the defense) held a good team to 13 points."

Moshimer said the loss will make things a little more difficult for the Rocks in the division, but not impossible to top the league by season's end.

Salem is in a dogfight with John Glenn and North Farmington for the division title.

According to Moshimer, if the Rocks beat Glenn next week, and then Glenn beats North Farmington the following week, the Rocks would stay on top.

Overall, Moshimer said he's been pleased with both the offense and the defense this season.

"When you average 25 points a game, your offense is playing well," said Moshimer. "And our defense has held us in a lot of games."

The Rocks play Friday at home against the John Glenn Rockets. Game time is slotted at 7:30 p.m.

Canton gridgers savor season's first win with a victory in Northville

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

"Finally" is a word the Canton High School football team may have used following their first victory of the season on Friday over the Northville Mustangs.

The Chiefs' 21-15 victory over the Mustangs brings their record to 1-4 on the season.

"We did a good job on both the offense and the defense," said Canton coach Bob Khoenle.

Running back Jim Young ran the ball 21 times for 125 yards and scored two of the Chiefs' touchdowns.

Mark Barrette was responsible for Canton's other touchdown.

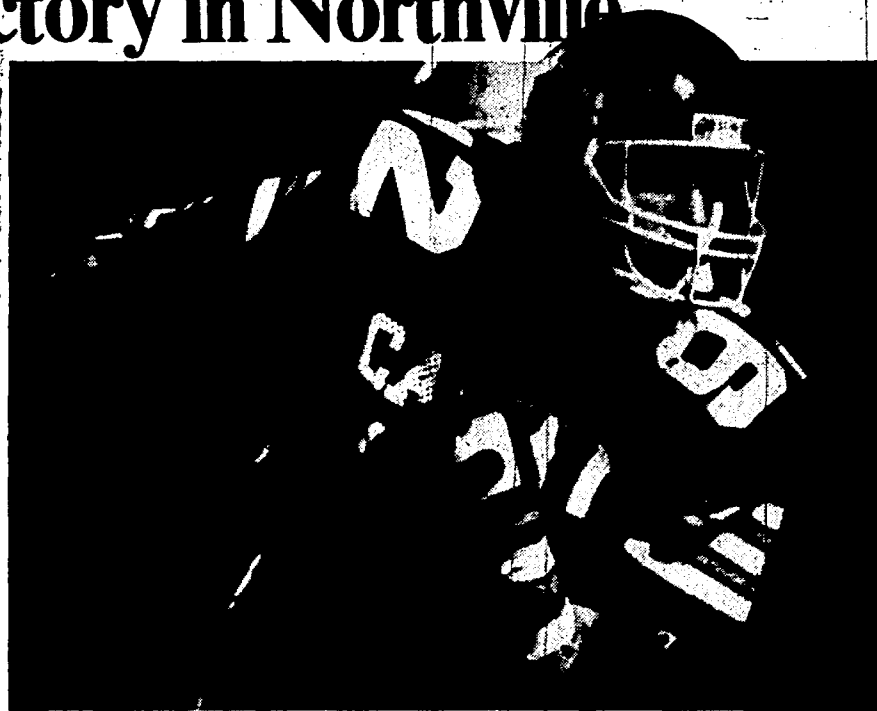

Sophomore quarterback Carl Wokie was 7 of 13 on the night for 170 yards and two touchdown passes.

Khoenle said linebacker Scott Swartzwelter and defensive back Kevin Stackpole played well on defense.

Another key play for Canton was a field goal by Mike Karejar, said Khoenle.

As for the rest of the season, Khoenle said he is looking for more victories from his team. But he said he is taking it slowly.

"We're going to take it one game at a time," Khoenle said. "We're going to do what we need to do to win."

Canton's next test will be Saturday at 1 p.m. at Farmington Harrison.

Canton hoopsters shoot past Harrison

BY RITA DERBIN

The Canton girls basketball team bombed Farmington Harrison last Thursday 73-13 to improve their overall record to 8-1. After the victory, the Chiefs' conference record improved to 3-0.

According to Canton coach Rob Neu, several girls had good nights against Harrison, including Amanda Bell, who led all scorers with 16 points and five steals.

Susan Ferko's 15 points, Marnie Smith's 11 points, and Jennie Clark's nine points also contributed to the blow out. Michelle Fortier pitched in with seven assists to go with her eight points.

Neu said he is pleased with the effort the team is showing each game.

"We're working through a non-competitive stretch right now," he explained. "But this is a mature group of girls that understand what we're trying to accomplish."

"We're improving each game," Neu added. "We want to be ready for the state tournament."

Yesterday, the Chiefs played Livonia Franklin and tomorrow they will travel to Livonia Churchill for a 6 p.m. game.

Canton x-country comes up short in dual meet

The Canton High School boys cross country squad dropped its first dual meet to Walled Lake Western on Thursday by a score of 26-30.

The Canton harriers record now stands at 1-1 in the Western Division and 2-1 overall.

Mike Ream lead the Chiefs with a third place finish. Jim Gallagher, Brian Beach, and Matt Hall finished fifth, sixth, and seventh respectively.

Brad Hibner finished in ninth place.

Chiefs tankers still undefeated after W.L. Western

The Canton High School girls swim team made a big splash on Thursday beating Walled Lake Western 137-34.

The Chiefs, who are now 3-0, captured first place in every event of the night.

"They're working pretty hard," said Canton coach Hooker Wellman. "So far so good."

The Chiefs next test is Thursday against Northville at the Chiefs' pool. The meet is scheduled to start at 7 p.m.

Rocks down John Glenn

Salem hoops improve to 6-2

BY RITA DERBIN

The Salem girls basketball team raised their season record to 6-2 last Thursday with a decisive victory over conference rival John Glenn.

The 71-45 win also improved the Rocks' conference record to 3-0.

"It was an excellent team game for us," Salem coach Fred Thomann said.

"We had nice individual performances but the girls did it within the framework of the team."

Thomann praised the team's overall effort, which was led offensively by Wendy Bailey's 21 points.

Jill Estey also contributed with 19 points and a team high 15 assists, while Teri King added 13 points.

Lydia White pulled down 18 rebounds for the Rocks on the defensive boards.

"We played very well defensively, and offensively we are starting to get the ball to the open people," Thomann said. "I am pleased with the results."

The Rocks played Farmington last night and will be at home to play Livonia Stevenson at 6 p.m. tomorrow.

Salem harriers trot to win

The Salem boys cross country team beat Walled Lake Central 22-37 last Thursday. The Rocks took three of the top four finishes and seven of the top 10 finishes in the meet.

Mark Kwaitkowski of Central was the top runner with a time of 16:55.

Salem took the next three finishes with times of 17:10 by Scott Stryker, 17:28 by Dave Hamway, and Sean Speakman's 17:48.

After the meet Salem was 2-1 overall and 2-0 in the conference.

Rock tankers victorious

Winning was the name of the game for the Salem girls swim team on Thursday. The Rocks beat Walled Lake Central 137-35. The win brings the Rocks record to 4-0.

"You can't beat a win," said Salem swim coach Chuck Olson.

The Rocks travel to North Farmington on Thursday to take on the Raiders. Meet time is slotted for 7 p.m.

At Salem, swimming has become a family affair

Yes it's true, when you're on a sports team you sometimes consider it one big happy family.

The Salem High School girls Swim team takes this philosophy one step further.

There are five pairs of sisters on the team.

Just how happy of a family is it?

"It's not bad," said freshman swimmer Candy Bosse of swimming with her sister. "She can be helpful."

Most of the sister swim duo's are either seniors or juniors.

Senior Stacie Anderson swims with her freshman sister Shelley. Sarah Andrews, who's a senior, swims with her freshman sibling Megan.

Senior diver Jenny Syria is joined this year on the team by her freshman sister Amy Syria, and Junior, Tammy Hickey competes with Julie Hickey, another promising freshman on the swim team.

If you've ever been on a sports team -- be it little league or high school, and were joined with your sister or brother, you know how it feels.

For those of you who haven't had the pleasure, the Rock sisters will give you an idea.

"I like it, except she always yells at me in practice," said Shelley Anderson.

Second thoughts

By Janet Armstrong

"It's weird being with her all the time," said Stacie of Shelley. "The Freshman all do stuff wrong, but I only yell at her."

Nicole Bosse said it was all right for the most part except coach Chuck Olson mixes up the names a lot.

"He calls everybody by their last name," said Bosse. "So we never know which one he's talking to."

Olson said that is a problem sometimes, but for the most part it's only a unique obstacle.

"It does make things a lot more interesting," said Olson.

As for sibling rivalry, there is some evidence of that in the ranks.

"I like to compete with her," said Shelley Anderson. "I can't beat her though."

"Once in a while there is some sibling rivalry," said Olson. "But by in large, they get along real well."

Whether it's good or not, it's easy to see it makes things a lot more interesting.

Family affair

Advertising. The ability to communicate the benefits of your products and services to your customers. Sound simple? It can be, but not always. That is because a newspaper and the businesses it serves must act as a team with a common goal — to produce effective advertising. The Community Crier and its advertisers have a higher goal — it's call Award Winning Advertising.

On October 1, 1988 the following advertisers and The Community Crier received special recognition from the Michigan Press Association. Listed below are the 1988 MPA Awards they won:

Company	Award Category	Place
COMMA,	Best use of Multi-Color	First
First of America	Best Promotion	First
Sunshine Honda	Best Ad Idea	Third
Heide's Flowers & Gifts	Best Use of Spot Color	Honorable Mention

Also, on September 28, 1988 The Michigan Press Association presented The Community Crier with the following editorial awards:

Best Use of Color — First Place	Best Use of Graphics — Second Place
Best Special Section — First Place (87 Fall Festival)	Best Sports Writing — Third Place
