Canton Library will close for month

BY KEN VOYLES

The move is on. More than 90,000 books and other materials will be shifted as the Canton Public Library takes over its new quarters on Canton Center Road.

The library, which has been located on the third floor of the Canton Administration Building since 1980, will be closed until after the move is completed. It closed on Sunday (Oct. 16) and will remain closed for service until Monday, Nov. 14.

Before re-opening a public dedication and open house is planned for Sunday, Nov. 13 from 1-4 p.m. The open house will feature a ribbon cutting, flag ceremony, refreshments and a preview of the new 31,500 square foot building.

"We can hardly wait," said Rebecca Havenstein-Coughlin, assistant director of the library. "We're running on adrenaline right now and that should keep us going."

"I think the public is as excited as we are," she added. "We've been planning this since 1985."

Five teams of three are labelling the materials for the move, which begins in earnest today (Oct. 19) when the Hallett Company from Chicago begins transporting the books to their new home.

Havenstein-Coughlin said the major part of the move should be completed by Sunday.

During the move the library book drops will remain open. Residents with a library card can also use it at any of the other area libraries in the Wayne Oakland Library Federation (WOLF).

Besides moving materials to the new library, the library staff will also be shelving, cleaning, painting, training on new equipment, filing cards and linking materials to the computer system.

"We've still got a lot of work ahead," Havenstein-Coughlin said.

The library will begin new hours once the move is complete. It will open at 9:30 a.m. Monday through Saturday and at noon on Sunday. The library will close at 9 p.m. on Monday through Thursday and at 5 p.m. on Friday through Sunday.

Pre-trial examination explores Twp. homicide

BY PAUL GARGARO

Plymouth Township's first homicide in seven years followed a late night of drinking and alleged homosexual advances.

That testimony was introduced Monday during the preliminary examination of Plymouth township resident Patrick Dennis, 22, of 9458 Corrine. He will be tried on a charge of first degree murder in the Oct. 4 stabbing death of 23-year-old Kevin Kinney.

Kinney's body was found in the bushes in a lot behind Forest Cleaners on Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth Township.

The lot is adjacent to Dennis' Corrine Street home.

Dennis was arrested in connection with the homicide early on the morning of the Oct. 5 following a tip from a witness who saw the two together on the morning of the slaying.

Witness Deborah Youmans, a friend of Dennis' for nine years, testified Monday that she saw Dennis at Dunkin Donuts on Ann Arbor Road on the morning of the slaying. Youmans said Dennis acted more intoxicated than she had ever seen him.

"He was drunk and I've never really seen him like that - that drunk," she said. "He said, 'I have a faggot in my car and I'm going to kill him.'"

Enrollment sags to 15,325

Student count affects funding

BY DAN JARVIS

A lower-than-expected student enrollment in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools has some school officials surprised, and the ripple effects may mean less state funding, said Ray Hoedel, the district's associate superintendent for business.

A fourth Friday count of 15,325 students this year is slightly below last year's count of 15,542 and is well below this year's projected count of 15,575.

"We're somewhat surprised at the lower number because several residential land closings in the community seemed to indicate more people were moving in," said Hoedel.

As far as effects on school funding, Hoedel said, "The lower number of students will push us out of formula quicker. As the SEVs (state equalized valuation) per student rise and the student count falls, you get a lower amount of state aid."

"This year we've received approximately $1.7 million in state membership aid. Next year we will be down to zero," said Hoedel.

Ypsi man killed in Canton

A 22-year-old Ypsilanti man was killed Thursday morning when the car he was driving slammed into a guard rail and tree along Ridge Road, Canton Police said.

Marc McKenna, 22, was northbound on Ridge at approximately 12:25 a.m. when he was apparently unable to negotiate a slight curve in the road just south of Ford Road, police said. Police said McKenna's Yugo apparently became airborne, struck a guard rail and then a tree along the right side of the car before coming to a stop.

McKenna was pronounced dead on the scene, police said.

Police investigators also said alcohol was involved and that the driver was not wearing a seat belt.

It was unclear how fast McKenna was traveling at the time of the accident, said police, who added that there were no witnesses on the scene.

- ◆ Is my present life insurance right for my later years?
- ◆ What steps can I take now to make things easier for my family in case of my death or disabling illness?

To help you find the right answers to these questions, Waddell & Reed, Inc., one of the nation's leading financial services organizations, invites you to attend a seminar designed specifically for the retired and near-retired.

Canton voters to face choices

BY KEN VOYLES

Canton voters will have a full slate of choices during the Nov. 8 general election. Besides races for clerk and treasurer, voters will also have to select four new trustees for the township board.

The supervisor's position was decided during the primary when Tom Yack distanced his two opponents (there were no Democrats in the race) incumbent Jim Poole and current trustee Bob Padget.

Residents will also vote on a tax hike for a new community center and select a new library board. The tax hike would be 1.2 mills for no more than 20 years. There are six seats open on the board and six candidates.

In the clerk's race, Republican primary winner Loren Bennett will face Democrat Cynthia Burgess. Bennett is currently a trustee on the board. He beat incumbent Linda Chuhtran in the primary.

Incumbent Gerald Brown, who bested Ruth Allegrina in the Republican primary, will face a challenge from Carol Bodenmiller, a Democrat, and former member of the board.

The four survivors of the Republican trustee primary -- Elaine Kirchgatter, Henry Whalen, Robert Shefferly and John Preniczky -- will face Democrats Edwin Rasmussen and Matie Ostrum in the race for the four trustee spots.

With the defeat of Chuhtran, Poole, Padget there are currently three "lame ducks" on the township's governing board.

Comm. center proposed

Canton voters will also be asked to approve a tax levy increase of 1.2 mills for 20 years to fund the construction, equipping and operation of a community center.

The ballot proposal, if approved, would allow for the building of the community center, which might include a swimming pool, gymnasium, banquet and meeting facilities, indoor running track and physical fitness area.

The construction cost is estimated at $7.9 million. The 1.2 levy (1.20 dollars per one thousand dollars of State Equalized Valuation) would cost a homeowner with an $80,000 home an additional $48 per year in taxes.

The community center proposal reflects the results of a survey, authorized by the Canton Board of Trustees, which suggested residents favor increasing recreational opportunities in the township.

The community center, if approved, would be built behind the township Administration Building along Canton Center Road.

4 on ballot in 15th District

BY DAN JARVIS

Voters in Michigan's 15th Congressional District, which includes Canton, will have four choices on the Nov. 8 ballot, including incumbent William D. Ford (D-Taylor).

The other three candidates are: Republican Burl C. Adkins, of Southgate, Libertarian Eric Blankenburg, of Westland, and Ronda M. Bell, of the Workers Against Concessions Party.

Ford, who did not face a challenge in the August primary, has been a member of congress since 1964 and is chairman of the congressional Civil Service Committee.

Adkins, winner of the Republican primary in August, is a business owner and long time resident of the 15th district. He founded "Back to Basics," a group pushing for fair trade and economic justice for American workers.

"Three hundred thousand American automotive jobs are on the line between now and 1990," said Adkins.

Blankenburg, 29, is a U.S. Air Force veteran and a graduate of Madonna College. A computer consultant, Blankenburg has held contracts with major automobile companies.

He joined the Libertarian party after serving as a Republican delegate because "in spite of the rhetoric, the Republican Party is not much different from the Democrats when it comes to special interest politics, government spending, budget deficits, regulations and government meddling at home and abroad."

Ronda Bell, 32, of the Workers Against Concessions Party, is an automotive worker who is among many in the party opposing concessions in major auto company contracts.

"Workers have to stand up and be heard in their own voice," said Bell. "People have to learn to believe in themselves."

During the campaign so far Ford has said he will not appear in any public debates with the other candidates, while the other candidates have said they would be willing to meet with their opponents.

League of Women

Forum slated for Oct. 26

Canton voters will get a chance to hear from those candidates seeking the clerk, treasurer and trustees positions in the township this year at the League of Women Voters forum to be held on Wednesday, Oct. 26.

The 7:30 p.m. forum will take place in the Canton Administration Building and will include question and answer sessions with the public and local media.

The candidates expected include: Loren Bennett and Cynthia Burgess (clerk); Gerald Brown and Carol Bodenmiller (treasurer); and Edwin Rasmussen, John Preniczky, Elaine Kirchgatter, Matie Ostrum, Robert Shefferly and Henry Whalen (trustees).

The general election is slated for Tuesday, Nov. 8. Polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

PCAC grant?

BY PAUL GARGARO

City commissioners voted Monday to file for a $100,000 Michigan Equity Grant on behalf of the Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC).

According to City Manager Henry Graper, the grant would help cover the PCAC's plans to purchase property to be used for its offices and a gallery.

"Equity Grants must be applied for by a city or township, said Graper.

The PCAC would be required to match funds under terms of the grant application. The arts council would have to raise the funds, not the City of Plymouth.

"I hope they get it because they are a worthwhile organization," said Graper. "All we're doing is acting as a conduit for the Arts Council."

City man held in accident

BY DAN JARVIS

A 49-year-old Plymouth resident was arrested Sunday following a fatal pedestrian accident in East Lansing, said East Lansing Police.

According to police, at 12:46 a.m. on Sunday, Philip Eugene Rader, 19, of West Bloomfield, was struck on Grand River Avenue at M.A.C. Avenue when he tried to cross Grand River against the traffic light. He died at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing Monday afternoon, a hospital spokesperson said.

The driver of the car was arrested at the scene and given an alcohol breath test, which registered a .16 blood alcohol level, police said. Michigan state law states drivers can be prosecuted for drunk driving when blood alcohol is .10 or more.

He is expected to be arraigned this week.

Governments need good property sale policies

With several recent property sales by local governmental units in The Plymouth-Canton Community, a number of questions are raised.

After much debate:

--The Plymouth City Commission voted 4-3 to sell its Northville Township well field for $475,000.

--Canton's Board of Trustees continue to wrestle with selling what is known as the Haggerty Road "triangle." The board finally agreed to get the land appraised and discovered the property is worth much more per acre than what had originally been suggested by Canton planner Dave Nicholson.

Two buyers had expressed an interest in the land, but there were concerns that by publicly discussing the sale the township board would scare off the potential buyers. One of the buyers has in fact already backed off.

--Plymouth-Canton Community Schools have agreed to sell the unused Barchester site to Canton, but a price has not yet been established. Residents in the area want to maintain it as a park and keep out developers.

--The City sold its former DPW yard properties.

Additionally, Wayne County and the City of Detroit own much land in The Plymouth-Canton Community -- and a lot of that is unused.

All of these sales raise several public policy questions.

•How does the governmental unit determine which pieces of property are "excess"?

•How are "excess" properties valued?

•How are the properties sold off (by bidding, etc.)?

•How is the resulting money used? In some cases, charters and laws may restrict use, in cases where that is not so, what policies are in place?

•Since many excess pieces of one governmental unit (especially the schools) have been desired by another, what transfer price is fair to the respective taxpayers?

•The State of Michigan Open Meetings Act says that discussions to purchase property may be held in secret to avoid running up the price, but shouldn't discussions to sell "excess" property be held in public?

•Should governmental units promise zoning or other inducements in selling property?

•Can governmental units sell property on a land contract basis or should they insist on cash?

(Many of those questions apply when Plymouth-Canton governments are acquiring property as well. Currently, for example, Plymouth Township is considering acquisition of a DPW site.)

Good public policy which addresses those questions is required to insure that the taxpayers are getting fair treatment.

Property transactions by governmental units in The Plymouth-Canton Community must be vigorously discussed in public and elected-appointed officials must watch this aspect of the public trust which they administer.

Community Improvement Association -- end of an era

EDITOR:

Community Improvement Association of Plymouth Township.

If this name brings up memories, read on. Read on regardless if you would be interested in Plymouth Township history. Organized in 1954 as a non-profit property owners association, its stated purpose was, "to study and enhance the residential characteristics of our township, to otherwise assist in the planning for improvement and to take an active interest in its civic progress."

Who were the original members? Mostly professional people, lawyers, auto executives etc. Included were the then landowners, farmers plus a few scattered homes. First thing most did was to buy an old tractor from a farmer, put it in the garage and move the car outside. Call them gentleman farmers. Our area was west of Sheldon Road, mostly open space and dirt roads. Many a car I towed up the hill in the snow and ice with my old Farmall tractor on 24 inch wide steel wheels with lugs.

Even the train whistle was welcome it was so quiet. The train from Lansing with its lighted dining room car was a welcome sight around 5:30 p.m.

As time went by we monitored our public officials and attended all public meeting. Zoning and taxes were primary concern. Who exactly were these so called city slickers trying to take over? Many today are well known business men in the community in all walks of life. You read their names today in the local media. Did you know that Plymouth was one of the two Republican strongholds, including one of the Grosse Pointe in Wayne County?

Who gave us public recognition at that time? No other than that great writer and man about town today, the right honorable Fred Delano who lovingly referred to us as the land barons, smug Republicans, rutabaga growers and misguided doers, gathered around the pot bellied stove in the cinder block township hall evenings while our wives waited at home, discussing the big issue of the day such as, schools, annexation, water supply (we used wells) business locations, politics including whether to pay Pinky Holmes the treasurer a salary instead of a percentage of all taxes collected. The only issue we seemed to agree on was residential zoning.

As we grew, we eventually served in positions of supervisor, trustees, clerk, treasurer, boards etc., even the school board. Ralph Barber wrote me in as road commissioner, (as write in). I received three votes and won. Little did I realize that there was no salary and no authority as the law had expired. Flushed with this honor, I actually kept Beck Road open in winter for years with my tractor blade until the County finally agreed we warranted first place after the main paved roads.

Now as to the reason for this letter. Gradually, subdivision home owners took over our assumed responsibilities, one of which was nurturing a fine, second to none, pleasant, well governed, townships in Wayne County including excellent fiscal policies.

And so it seems we just faded away. Eight years went by and one day I started thinking. Even a desire to serve the public cause should not die without a tombstone or epitaph.

I wondered what happened to our bank balance. After several months of corresponding with the State Chamber of Commerce in Lansing, without success, I finally reached the last treasurer and with his help located the money in the bank. With his help we held a meeting of four members at large, approved a motion to override the by laws on meetings, passed a Resolution to dissolve the Association and to donate the $275.85 balance to the Salvation Army. This is where the Escheats Division lost out. And so ends an era.

The bus stops here

On again school bus service stops for students in the Hamill-Northville Road area last week after a controversy there was aired. (Crier photo by Dan Jarvis)

Schools allow bus service until safety hearing

All Aboard.

Students living near the Hamill-Northville Road intersection are riding the bus to school again. They were temporarily denied the luxury when a computer search by the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools determined that the location was too close to Farrand Elementary School.

Since then, several parents have challenged the finding and have measured the route in an attempt to prove the school's computer wrong. One man even bought an odometer wheel to measure the route. Another parent contacted an attorney, who filed a freedom of information request to get more detail from the schools.

According to the district's policy, if a child in kindergarten through second grade lives one mile or farther from school, they are eligible to ride.

And as one who has rode the route in an automobile and noted the distance on an odometer, I must say it is pretty close. But I wouldn't want to bet a nickel either way.

But it seems to me that it was not the distance, nor the eligibility, that had the parents ticked off. It was the way they were told.

Several parents complained at a recent school board meeting that a new bus driver had threatened children with losing the daily bus ride if they did not behave. Within a few days, all parents in the Hamill-Northville Road area had received letters from the school system stating that the bus would no longer stop for their children. Bad public relations?

Even though parents complained about the ineligibility, most complaints centered on the lack of concern, the rudeness and the perceived disregard for the families.

The issue has become much more than whether or not the kids will ride. It has become an outcry for better treatment.

Apparently the schools have heard the word. The bus is stopping again and the parents are now awaiting final word from the schools whether the kids will ride.

An answer is expected at the Oct. 26 (9:30 a.m.) meeting of the district's safety committee.

"Everything dies baby that's a fact, and maybe everything that dies will some day come back. Put your make-up on, Put your hair up pretty, and meet me tonight in Atlantic City."

It was a gamble.

Blackjack, an easy game to master quickly, but one that calls for being gallant even in the simplest of positions, say playing no higher than a 12 to win (really playing the dealer to "break" or bust), is not an easy bet when the surroundings are totally alien and especially perplexing in scope and pace.

But I went for it, somehow not really concerned since I didn't plan to risk much, just a safe round with the players (of all ages, colors, shapes, styles, ideas).

No harm. Nothing gained (except maybe some fun) and nothing lost (except maybe my entry into Heaven).

It was a first time visit to Atlantic City, that Sodom and Gomorrah of the eastern seaboard, and I was truly enthralled, almost under some kind of spell.

Don't tell anyone this but blackjack can be played to win (yeah, I know what you're thinking -- this guy's either some kind of fool or he's trying to trick us).

It may be close to Halloween but believe me this is no trick.

Starting on the safe side with just $5 I sat down to make one bet ($5 being the minimum at that table) little realizing I wouldn't get up again for hours.

With a little coaching and some luck that one chip turned into 20 chips. As the pile of chips got bigger I had to wonder if this was really happening. All around, people were losing round after round, until they had dropped anywhere from $100 to $600.

I sat there pondering how long my luck would last. And would I really be looked down upon by those readers who might hear the story and think me a sinner for gambling in Atlantic City.

Life's enough of a gamble anyway. There's no sense getting all freaked out by someone singing the praises of Atlantic City. Better to gamble there than on a freeway or in a dark alley of Detroit.

No, I'm not suggesting that Plymouth-Canton needs gambling casinos; no I don't think residents of this community would be amused by the sight of hundreds of senior citizens getting off buses and rushing to the thousands of slot machines; no it isn't a place where you'd want to live; and yes, most people can get by without ever going there.

But once there it starts to become clear that Atlantic City is at the heart of the "American dream," where winners and losers are all that matter and you better not get caught on the wrong side of that line...

City should eye new parking deck for Stahl

To park or not to park? That is the question.

The city commission plays Hamlet. While Stahl Manufacturing seems to be headed in the right direction (it just recently received planning commission approval for its parking lot expansion), its presence still continues to cause a commotion on and around Ann and Junction streets.

Following its sellout to Columbus Auto Parts, the Stahl operation has increased its Plymouth operation by adding shifts and labor.

Good for productivity, bad for the neighbors.

With more employees parking along the surrounding streets, parking spots have become somewhat of a commodity. Tempers have flared and the city commission is still looking for an answer.

A recently aborted No Parking sign initiative along Blunk and Harvey streets has created a stir.

In fact, 30 residents of Blunk Street presented the board with a petition saying, "We don't want No Parking signs."

This seems simple, but there's another, much different sentiment alive in the north end of town.

The extreme is for No Parking signs on Ann Street. It's a sort of "If we can't park here than neither should Stahl" philosophy.

That's great until your friends come over for dinner and their car gets towed away.

Walking an extremely thin tightrope, City Manager Henry Graper offered two solutions to the assembled citizenry at Monday's commission meeting.

One is the implementation of the "Cruise Ordinance", which would require parking permits and guest parking cards for area residents. It's good for curbing cruise-related parking problems, but it could be a logistical enforcement hassle when applied to the day and nighttime parking concerns of the Stahl neighbors.

The other solution would be to put up No Parking signs 300 to 400 feet down the adjacent streets from the plant.

You can't completely shut the Stahl employees off, but if you inconvenience them a little -- make them hike through the snow or rain -- perhaps they'll stick to the company parking lot.

The bottom line, as Graper has pointed out, is that people can't be stopped using a street as long as the gas and weight taxes are paid.

Perhaps a North Central Parking deck would be the solution.

Irvine ducks 'GOPs for Pollack,' Twp. write-in Elections and intrigue go together.

Jim Irvine says he won't be running a write-in campaign against Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurie Breen after all.

But he'd leave the door open for others to run him. "I'm willing to be drafted," he said. "If other people feel strongly, they're free to proceed."

In the intrigue of politics, several Democrats for Lana Pollack sought to bankroll an Irvine sticker vote if he would lend his name to a "Republicans for Pollack" campaign.

But Irvine declined the offer.

He also declined to discuss the Democrats' offer, but it doesn't take much to figure that such a deal would have helped Pollack in the toughest re-election campaign Carl Pursell has ever faced -- but it wouldn't have aided Irvine much to abandon Plymouth Township's hometown Congressman.

Having come so close to unseating Breen, the write-in route tempted Irvine for several weeks. Canton's Jim Poole toyed with the idea too after being upset by Tom Yack. Several years ago

With malice toward none

By W. EDWARD WENDOVER

Canton's Bob Greenstein nearly won a write-in push after losing the primary.

But the key word is "nearly."

A group of township residents organized an August primary write-in campaign for Lorraine Halmekangas against Esther Hulsing, but she was swamped.

Even though it's unlikely Irvine's friends will pass out stickers at the polls, Breen must be frightened that they will. With no ballot opposition, Breen is sending out a campaign flier to each voter requesting an absentee ballot for Nov. 8.

It must be election time.

Sentence postponed in Hulbert slaying

BY KEN VOYLES

Chris Machacek, a Ypsilanti man guilty in the slaying of Canton youth Mary Anne Hulbert, will be sentenced Oct. 28 in Washtenaw County Circuit Court before Judge Henry Conlin.

Machacek was to have been sentenced Friday, according to Washtenaw Prosecutor William Delhey, but sentencing was "adjourned" until Oct. 28. Delhey said the defense attorney may not have been present, or that the court's probation department had not yet filed its sentencing recommendation.

With a first degree murder charge, Delhey said Machacek will automatically get a life sentence with no chance for parole.

"I view this as a very serious case," Delhey said, who added that a recent flier going around suggesting Conlin could let Machacek off with a light sentence, had no bearing on the case.

"It's mandatory life," he said.

Steven Stamper, also guilty in Hulbert's death, is slated to be sentenced on Friday before Conlin. He was found guilty of second degree murder and could get 30 years or more.

The flier, which suggests if "the judge gives 10 to life they can be paroled and on our streets in five years," urges people to "help the judge make his decision."

Delhey said he has long been acquainted with Conlin and called him a fine "jurist."

Drain repairs

Canton Center closed

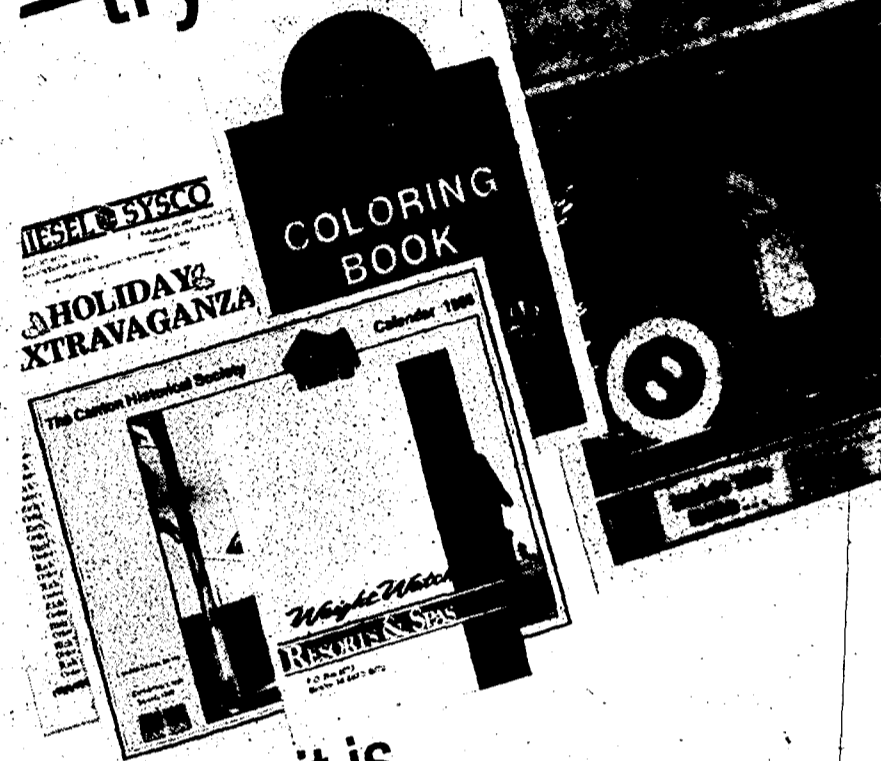

Wayne County road crews have closed down Canton Center Road to through traffic as work begins on two drain repairs between Michigan Avenue and Ford Road in Canton.

Local traffic will be maintained as much as possible, according to county officials. The road will be closed at the Green Drain and the Mott Drain, but not both at the same time, they said.

The road will be closed so that county crews can reconstruct Canton Center Road where it crosses the two waterways.

It will remain closed for approximately five weeks. Detour signs will be posted and most traffic will be routed to Beck Road or Sheldon Road.

Cameraman eyes publishing success

BY KEN VOYLES

If a picture is worth a thousand words, the kind of video work John Fuller performs might make for a trilogy.

Fuller, an award-winning news cameraman with WXYZ Channel 7 for the past 25 years, is on the street every day recording a daily diet of news, features, and sports events. The Canton resident has worked the World Series, at national political conventions, and rushed to the scene of the Flight 255 disaster little more than a year ago.

"It's a strange business and you really have to have a certain temperament," said Fuller, who has used his experiences on "the University of the Streets" creating video snippets of life.

And now he's written a book. It's not about his years as a cameraman with Channel 7, or as a news anchor in Flint and Moline, IL, but he does use those experiences to advantage in the softcover book which should be hitting the bookshelves this week.

The book -- "Prescription for Better Home Video Movies" -- evolved from workshops Fuller runs mainly for Highland Appliance to teach people how to use camcorders, those fairly new mini-cameras used in home video work.

"It's really the book that picks up where the camcorder instructions leave off," he said. "It's designed to be easy to read, understandable and show how to make home videos and enjoy them."

Taking a step back, Fuller said the workshops, and eventually the book, grew out of being forced to watch some "bad" home videos.

"Can you imagine how many bad home videos there will be if we don't learn how to use them?" he said after noting that camcorders are steadily being added to our society's collection of electronic gadgets. "There was a definite need for this.

John Fuller doesn't need advice from his book, "Prescription for Better Home Video Movies," but new videographers might. Fuller, a Channel 7 cameraman and Canton resident has recently released the instructional book. (Crier photo by Chris Farina)

"And I use the same techniques in it as I do working," he continued.

Fuller wrote the book after numerous queries from his students about where to turn for further information on videos. One stack of rejections later he had a publisher -- HP Books.

The book followed a two and a half year trail along the publishing path before becoming a reality. Fuller will do some Detroit area promotion and hopes to make one of those ubiquitous book tours.

Fuller started off as a disc jockey while attending Drake University in Iowa. He eventually became a t.v. news reporter in Moline after a stint with Armed Forces Radio.

"You did all the work there," he said. "It was of necessity that I learned how to use a camera."

Once he had the bug, though, Fuller said he "became more interested" in video work.

He wound up in Flint working as a reporter and anchor man, and he kept working with a camera. Then an opportunity turned up at Channel 7 and he "grabbed it."

"I've no regrets," Fuller said. "I'm as close to being a reporter as you can get without pushing a pencil. I was never uncomfortable in front of a camera, it's just that behind the camera was where I wanted to be creatively."

Fuller stuck with it and found the job as engrossing as being a reporter.

"It's interesting work, never the same two days in a row," he said. "You have to love it though or you won't do well."

Fuller loves making moving pictures.

For going the extra mile, West Middle school employes Ann Ensor, assistant secretary, and Barbara King, secretary to the principal, were both honored with "Extra Miler" awards at the Oct. 10 meeting of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education.

Board president David Artley said the two "embody the team concept.

"It is the good fortune of staff and children with whom they work to have them there. They both possess the finest qualities anyone could ask for in the district," Artley said.

King has been with the district 12 years, and Ensor, 21. Both have been at West the entire time, said Artley.

Halloween can be a fun and exciting time if everyone is careful and uses a little common sense. Trick or treaters are not as common as they once were, but drivers should be on the lookout for them.

Parties are the in thing for Halloween and many community organizations sponsor events to celebrate the holiday.

Oakwood Hospital on Canton Center in Canton is having Children's Day this Sunday, Oct. 23. It will run from 1-4 p.m. Children are asked to come in costume and bring a favorite doll or stuffed animal. An ambulance, fire truck and police car will be on hand for children to check out and finger printing will also be available.

"By popular demand" the Teddy Bear Clinic will be open so children can have teddy examined by a friendly staff member. A party wouldn't be complete without games and refreshments. Numerous raffle gifts, donated by area merchants will also be given away. No advance registration is necessary.

DISCOVER THE DIFFERENCE

In the look alike world of financial institutions, there's a place that's different than all the rest...a credit union. What's the difference? Credit unions are cooperatives.

Because they're cooperatives, every member is an owner and has a vote in how the credit union is run. Credit unions are committed to meeting your needs. Ask us—we'll show you.

October 16-22 is International Credit Union Week. It's a time to celebrate our commitment to uniqueness and the better quality of life made possible through credit unions. Join us as millions around the world celebrate the credit union difference.

Cinnacraz expands to Plymouth

What? More cinnamon?!

Yes, and much, much more.

Plymouth residents Mark and Sue Tanki recently opened their third store, Cinnacraz, in Plymouth Township. Located in the old Little Book Center building, next to Arbor Drugs (formerly Family Discount) on Sheldon and Ann Arbor roads, the shop specializes in much more than just cinnamon rolls.

For example, gourmet coffee mavens will appreciate the wide selection of java and java beans. In addition, patrons can select from bakery items featuring an assortment of pies, nine different selections of bread (including oat bran), muffins, and sweet rolls.

The new Plymouth Cinnacraz also accomodates the lunchtime crowd with a soup and sandwich menu.

The Tanski's began Cinnacraz two years ago with their first franchise, a sit down coffee shop in Briarwood Mall. Their second store is a carry-out shop in Wonderland Mall.

The Tanski's said they plan to expand their operation by opening other franchises in Twelve Oaks Mall and another in Canton.

"We've now got three different type stores for our franchise," said Tanski, "Instead of sitting in the back of the bus, we're now driving it."

Cinnacraz is open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 9:30 to noon on Sundays.

Fleet Street improvements slated

BY PAUL GARGARO

Financing is on the way for upcoming improvements and additions to the Fleet Street area - Central Parking Deck and the Riverside Mausoleum.

On Monday, the Plymouth City Commission approved a $1 million parking structure and cemetery improvement bond, series 1988, to help finance Municipal Building Authority improvements to the Fleet Street area and the city's plans to renovate the existing mausoleum and construction of a new mausoleum.

City of Plymouth Finance Director Bill Graham said $800,000 will be set aside for the mausoleums and $200,000 for Fleet Street to cover anticipated project costs.

Graham said the proposed mausoleum project consists of a renovation of the existing structure, including work on the floor, ceiling, electrical wiring, and the addition of 16 new crypts.

That work has already commenced. Graham said it will be covered by the general fund until it can be reimbursed by the bond revenues.

According to Graham, the new mausoleum structure will include 856 new crypts and 408 niches.

Bids are scheduled to be sent out by early January with work to begin in April, said Graham.

"The total estimated cost for the renovation of the existing structure is $145,000," said Graham. "Frankly, I think it will be less."

Architect Fritz Homann's plans and specifications for the new mausoleum project were approved on Monday.

The Fleet Street project includes removing portions of the existing sidewalk and pavement and replacing it with monolithic curb and brick pavers. In addition, wood transformer screens, brick planters, poured concrete dumpster screen walls, a catch basin, and appurtenances will be installed.

Graham also said covering the existing parking deck stairways could be included in the project.

The project will cost an estimated $170,000, said City Manager Henry Graper.

Graham said bids for the project will be sent out later this fall with work to begin in the spring.

According to Graham, the bonds for the projects will go on the market Oct. 26 with a bond closing date set for Nov. 10.

Canton Chamber moves

The Canton Chamber of Commerce has moved from its office along Canton Center Road to new headquarters in the Canton Landing shopping center on Ford Road between Sheldon and Canton Center roads.

Joan Bolek, executive director of the chamber, said the Oct. 1 move would help give the chamber "better visibility."

"It's just more centrally located," Bolek said. "We have about the same square footage but it's divided into two offices now instead of one room."

The chamber's new address is 44968 Ford Rd. The phone number -- 453-4040 -- has not changed.

An open house and ribbon cutting is planned for 6-8 p.m. on Nov. 2 at the new location. The public is invited and refreshments will be served.

McNulty arraigned Sat.

A Canton man was arraigned Saturday in 26th District Court on one count of armed robbery following his arrest by Canton Police.

According to police, Keith McNulty, 29, of Canton, entered the Top Value Muffler Shop on Canton Center Road Friday, held his hand in his pocket as though he had a gun and demanded that the clerk turn over money to him.

Following the crime, McNulty fled on foot, said police, who added that he apparently dropped a hat on the way which helped them in their investigation.

He was later arrested when Canton Police set up a surveillance team at Michigan Avenue and Morton Taylor where they said they had reason to believe he would appear.

His examination date has been set for Oct. 24 in 35th District Court.

School Board approves sale of Barchester site

BY DAN JARVIS

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education approved a resolution allowing for the sale of the Barchester property to Canton at the Oct. 10 meeting.

The site, located west of Lilley Road, between Hanford and Barchester in Canton, was once on the planning books for a school facility and instead might now be used for a community park, said Ray Hoedel, associate superintendent of business for the school district.

Hoedel, who declined to indicate a price for the site, said the property will be appraised by Michigan Appraisal Company, on behalf of the school district, to determine its worth.

Canton will seek an independent appraisal, said Hoedel, and both the township and school district will hire a third appraiser and the sale price of the site will be based on an average of all three appraisals.

"The land is worth some good money," said Hoedel. "We will have to wait and see what the appraisers say it's worth."

In a preliminary examination, testimony against Patrick Dennis was introduced. Dennis will now stand trial for first degree murder. (Crier photo by Chris Farina)

Dennis to go to trial

As she said that from the witness stand, Dennis shook his head while seated at the defendant's table.

Youmans testified that later that afternoon she heard Dennis tell police that he had spent the previous night at his brother's house.

Investigating officer Eric Mayernick said police obtained a search warrant and subsequently arrested Dennis at his home on the evening of Oct. 5 after finding blood samples in the garage.

Citing Dennis' written confession -- which Dennis' attorney tried to withhold from the preliminary exam -- Mayernick said that Dennis and Kinney met at the Plymouthrock Saloon.

After the two left the bar together, Kinney rubbed Dennis' shoulder and tried to touch his groin, Mayernick quoted the confession.

When the two went out to Dennis' garage to look at a bike for sale, Dennis then stabbed Kinney, according to the confession.

Dennis' attorney Anthony Walton questioned the admittance of the "confession," but 35th District Judge James Garber allowed it to be used in testimony for the exam purposes. Walton also questioned the first degree (premeditated) murder charge, saying that his client was drunk, according to Youmans.

Band is 2nd

The Centennial Educational Park, (CEP), Marching Band placed second overall at the 4th Annual Westland John Glenn Invitational on Saturday, Oct. 15.

For the third consecutive contest, the percussion section, under the direction of Jerry Hotchkin, Jr., received the Best Percussion Trophy.

Featured music soloists in the band competition were Sarah Naasko on the mellophone and Brad Nottle on the saxophone.

Oct. 22, the CEP Marching Band will compete in the Durand High School Invitational.

Fair moves to Pioneer

After years of holding its craft fair at Canton High, the Delta Kappa Gamma, Gamma Gamma chapter will move the show to Pioneer Middle School.

The annual Scholarship Craft Fair will be held on Saturday, Oct. 29 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and include fabric crafts, woven baskets, novelty toys, handmade wood furniture, quilts and other handmade items.

For the past five years Delta Kappa Gamma, an honorary sorority for women educators, has held the craft fair to raise money for scholarships for local women planning careers in education. The group currently provides four such scholarships.

Happy Homecoming

Chief gridgers fend off Franklin

BY RITA DERBIN

Homecoming proved to be a victorious night for the Canton High football team Friday night.

The Chiefs beat Franklin 17-14 to improve their record to 2-5 in the conference and 2-3 in their division.

The Chiefs did all of their scoring in the first half and held on for the victory.

Linebacker Scott Swartzwelter recovered a fumble and returned it for a 38-yard touchdown run to start the scoring.

Later, receiver Mike Barrette pulled in a 52-yard pass from quarterback Jason Dembny for another touchdown. Mike Krecjar added a 23-yard field for the rest of the scoring.

"The kids played an intent, aggressive first half," said Canton coach Bob Khoenle. "They fell off in the third quarter but held on to beat a good Franklin club."

This Friday the Chiefs will host Walled Lake Central at 7:30 p.m. in the conference playoff game.

Chief kickers take third spot in division

Canton's soccer team beat Livonia Franklin last Wednesday, 3-1. The victory improves their record to 5-7-4 overall and 3-5-3 in their conference.

The Chiefs finished third in their division.

Canton scored three unanswered goals in the first half by Dave Presley, Rick Menari and Kerry Zavagnin and then held on to win.

Canton's next match will be at home against Farmington today in the conference playoff.

Salem harriers dominate at conference meet

BY RITA DERBIN

The Salem boys cross country team beat John Glenn in a conference meet Thursday, 19-41.

The Rocks dominated the meet by finishing with eight of the top 11 times.

Salem's Scott Stryker won the meet. He was followed by teammate Dave Hamway and John Glenn's Matt Maybour.

Brandon Masterson and Sean Speakman of Salem rounded out the top five.

Mike Patterson finished seventh,

John Thomas finished eighth, Samir Bhavsar finished tenth and Todd Cimp finished 11th for the Rocks.

"The team ran real well," said Salem coach Geoff Baker. "They came out and held their times."

Baker was very impressed with the efforts of second place finisher Hamway saying that he ran a great race.

Tomorrow the Rocks, who are 4-0 in the division, will compete against undefeated Farmington for the division title in the conference meet.

Rocks soccer finishes 2nd, heads for Class A playoff

Salem High's boys soccer squad concluded the regular conference season with a 1-1 tie against Farmington Harrison last Wednesday.

The Rocks current record stands at 10-4-2 and 7-1-2 in the conference after the tie. The club finishes second in their division.

The lone goal for the Rocks was scored by Matt Gold with an assist from Billy Joker.

The Rocks will play at Northville in the league playoff today and on Monday, October 24 will play Canton in the Class A district playoffs.

Salem netters made a run

Although they didn't qualify for the state competition, the Salem girls tennis team fared well in both the Class A Regionals and the Western Lakes Activities Associations League Meet, said Salem coach Judy Braun.

Ann Gilmore, Salem's number four singles player, walked away from Friday's Regionals as the top player in the four singles spot.

Gilmore led the Rocks to a third place finish overall in the competition.

The Rocks cruised to a second place finish in the WLAA league meet last Tuesday.

Beth Cundiff and Michelle Minton led the team as the runner-ups in the number one doubles competition.

Gilmore also contributed to Salem's success finishing as a runner up in the number four singles position.

Salem gridgers blank Farmington, up record to 5-2

BY RITA DERBIN

Salem High's football squad improved its record to 5-2 overall and 3-2 in conference play Saturday afternoon with a shutout against Farmington.

The 27-0 rout started on the Rocks' first possession. Ryan Johnson scored the first of four Salem touchdowns on a 15-yard run on the Rocks' first possession but then the Rocks ran into trouble.

"After the first drive the team got sluggish," said Salem coach Tom Moshimer. "We didn't play well early in the game. The penalties, turnovers and mistakes hurt us in the first half."

The team improved greatly in the second half. In the third quarter Johnson connected with Scott Austin for a 19 yard touchdown pass.

Then, in the fourth quarter the Rocks scored twice more on touchdown runs of three and four yards by Mike Jarvey and John Brannan, respectively.

Friday the Rocks will play Northville in a conference playoff game at 7:30 p.m.

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

The Canton High School girls basketball team defeated Northville on Thursday to bring their record to 7-0 in the division and 12-1 overall.

The Chiefs, who beat Northville 50-39, gave a good team effort, according to Canton coach Rob Neu.

"We don't have any superstars. Every game there are different players that step forward and play well," said Neu.

Michelle Fortier and Susan Ferko led the Chiefs' scoring drive 12 points each.

Ferko and Jennifer Russell led Canton in rebounds, each pulling down 10.

"Russell was tough on the glass," said Neu.

Fortier, Amanda Bell, and Candi Jones led the team in scoring assists, racking up four each.

Canton, whose only loss came at the hands of the number one ranked Marion team, is currently ranked fifth in Michigan.

Canton's next opponent is Farmington Harrison on Thursday at Canton. Tip-off is set for 7:30 p.m.

Canton tankers splash past rival Rocks in dual meet

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

The Canton High School girls swim team won this year's bragging rights at the Centennial Education Park, defeating cross campus rival Salem.

The Chiefs out swam the Rocks by a score of 109-63.

Canton took all but one first place in the meet.

Erin Olson captured Salem's only first in the 100-yard breaststroke.

Jean McLenaghan, Val Gildhaus, Chris Lang and Lori Engelhuber combined for a Canton first place finish in the 200-yard medley relay.

Canton's Nicole Drake captured first in the 200-yard freestyle, with fellow Chief Cassie Cummins taking a first in the 200-yard individual medley.

In the 50-yard freestyle Engelhuber garnered a first place. Amy Vanbuhler was the diving champion for Canton.

Lang captured the 100-yard butterfly competition and Drake took the 100-yard freestyle.

Cummins captured the 500-yard freestyle crown, with McLenaghan taking the 100-yard backstroke.

Drake, Lang, Kelly Rische, and Cummins combined for a first place in the 400-yard freestyle relay to end the meet.

Canton coach Hooker Wellman said he was proud of his team.

"They put together a real good performance," said Wellman.

Salem coach Chuck Olson was equally pleased with the effort his team gave Thursday.

"It was a good meet," said Olson. "We really didn't feel too bad about the way we swam."

Wellman said he felt both teams had something to be proud of.

"Salem's kids all swam really well," said Wellman.

Canton next swims at Farmington Harrison Tomorrow at 7 p.m. Salem hosts John Glenn tomorrow also at 7 p.m.

Canton boys run to 4-1 overall record

BY RITA DERBIN

Canton's boys cross country team beat Farmington Harrison Thursday, 22-33 to improve their record to 4-1 overall and 3-1 in conference play.

The Chiefs' Brian Beach won the meet with a time of 16:15. Canton also placed six other runners in the top 10 finishers.

Mike Ream finished third with a time of 17:16 and Matt Hall was fifth at 17:46.

Canton's Jim Gallagher, Brad Hibner, Jason Napolitano and Aaron Moore were the next four finishers respectively.

Canton's coach Jim Hayes was pleased with his team's performance at the meet. "We are having a successful season," he said. "The whole team is doing well and we're looking forward to doing well in the conference meet."

The Chiefs competed yesterday at the Redford Union J. V. Invitational and will be in the conference meet next Tuesday.

Fifth in regional

Canton netters close out solid season

The Canton girls netters, who finished the dual meet season with a record of 9-4, competed in the Class A tennis Regionals on Friday and in the Western Lakes Activities Association League meet last Tuesday.

The Chiefs finished their solid season with a fifth place finish in the regionals, a performance Canton coach Carol Michaels said she was quite happy with.

"I didn't expect us to place that well at Regionals," said Michaels.

Michaels said part of the reason the Chiefs did so well at regionals was strong the play of Michelle Sparkman and Sherri Bajer.

Bajer, who was undefeated at the number three singles position in dual meets, worked her way to the regional finals, but was stopped just short of bid to be regionals champion.

Sparkman made her mark at the number four singles spot by making it all the way to the semi-finals, but was stopped just short of the finals by the number by a rival from Salem High School.

Michaels said she was not as happy with Canton's finish in the league as she was the regional finish.

"I was hoping to come away from the league with a fifth place," Michaels said.

Canton finished with a combined sixth place finish.

With this season over, Michaels said she is looking forward to next year. Canton will lose only one player to graduation.

Chief lady harriers stay perfect

BY RITA DERBIN

The Canton girls cross country team defeated Farmington Harrison handily Thursday to remain unbeaten this season.

The 15-48 victory gives the Chiefs a 5-0 record and 4-0 in the conference.

Canton swept the top five places and finished with seven of the top 10 times.

Lori Tenland won the meet with a time of 20:33. She was followed by teammates Lynda Schendel, Cathy McCabe, Kris Marquard and Missy Jasnowski.

Also in the top 10 for Canton were Adrienne Garrow in sixth and Carolyn Way in ninth place.

"We're finishing up a successful season," said coach George Przygodski. "All the girls are running in a tight pack right now and are looking forward to the big meets coming up."

Przygodski credits his senior runners for the success of the team. Lynda

Schendel, Kris Marquard, Heather Dejong, Sonya Wiebe and and Cindy Stessard have all done a great job getting the team together, according to Przygodski.

Przygodski expects to finish among the top three qualifiers at the Class A Regional meet on Saturday, Oct. 29 and advance to the state finals to top off the successful year the team has had.

Salem hoops protects lead, improves record

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

Perhaps the basketball cliché, "It's not over until the final buzzer rings," is implanted in the minds of the Salem High School girls basketball team.

On Thursday, Salem pulled off a close one against the North Farmington Raiders, 56-54.

The Rocks pulled ahead of the Raiders 54-52 in the final minutes of the game with a basket by Lydia White. Salem hoopster Jill Estey then strengthened that lead 56-52 by hitting two free throw attempts.

The win brings the Rocks record up to 10-2 overall and 7-0 in the division.

Jill Estey was the leading scorer for Salem, contributing with 18 points. Sarah Rudy was the next highest scorer for the Rocks with 16 tallies.

White also got into the scoring game for Salem with 10 points. Wendy Bailey chipped in with nine points.

Estey also led the Rocks in assists with 12, while White led in rebounds with 10.

Salem coach Fred Thomann said his team's success this year is due to a team effort, although he did say that Senior Jill Estey was playing super.

"Everybody on the team has to pull their weight," said Thomann. "We're making some adjustments (due to injuries) and playing hard."

The Rocks play at Westland John Glenn tomorrow. Tip-off is slated for 7:30 p.m.

St. Jude, O holy St. Jude Apostle & Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles near kineman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in the time of need, to you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power, to come to my assistance, help me in my present and urgent petition. In return, I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Marys and 3 Glorias. Publication must be promised. St. Jude pray for us and those who invoke your aid. Amen. This Novena has never been known to fail. (This Novena to be said on 9 consecutive days.)

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT

Holy Spirit, you make me see everything and show me the way to reach my ideal. You who give me the Divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that's done me and you who are in all the instances of my life with me, I in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you, no matter how great the natural desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual Glory. Thank you for the love you've shown towards me and my loved ones. Pray this prayer for three consecutive days without asking your wish. After the third day your wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your lover has been granted.
