

Resident arraigned on arson charges

BY PAUL GARGARO

Guy James Zukowski, 25, was arraigned on Monday before 35th District Court Judge John MacDonald on charges of arson in connection with the Nov. 4 Heritage Square Apartment blaze at 300 N. Mill Street.

A preliminary trial date has been set for Feb. 3.

Five units in the 18-apartment complex were gutted and another three received minor damages in the blaze, which originated from an explosion in Zukowski's apartment, said City of Plymouth Police Chief Alan Matthews.

Units from Plymouth Township, Canton, Northville City and Township were called on to assist Plymouth firefighters.

Matthews said the blaze was brought under control within 40 to 45 minutes.

Zukowski received extensive third-degree burns over half of his body and was treated at the University of Michigan Burn Center, said Matthews.

Shortly after the 4:08 p.m. explosion, Derek Davis, a resident of a neighboring condominium, his uncle John Davidson, and friend John Foley found Zukowski sitting outside of the apartment. They then took him next door to a neighbor's house.

Following the initial investigation, Matthews determined that the gas supply line to the stove in Zukowski's apartment was ripped out and patterns were found on the floor which "encouraged our investigation to determine whether it was accidentally or purposefully set."

On June ballot

Board admits need for vote

BY JOHN BRODERICK

Although no formal action was taken, the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education reached a broad consensus Monday, on the need to add some type of funding proposal to the June 12 ballot.

Board members said the proposal may ask voters for additional funds to allow the district to continue operating at present levels.

The initiatives could take the form of a request to override the Headlee Amendment (which limits property tax increases to the rate of inflation), or to request four or five additional operating mills, or both. In any case, the proposal(s) would be for one year.

During the June schools election voters will be requested to renew eight mills for operation, as well as select a candidate for one four-year seat on the board of education.

Board members, school officials, and teachers discussed the district's financial plight at Monday night's regular meeting. They plan to look at the issue further, and decide on a course of action, during a future board meeting.

"Right now we're in trouble," said John M. Hoben, schools superintendent. "We need a one year reprieve from Headlee -- after that we'll probably be alright."

Board vice-president Dean Swartzwelter said that he supported an additional ballot proposal, but not in the form of a Headlee override.

"I agree that we need the renewal," he said. "I know we need four or five incremental mills. But if one puts the Headlee name on it, the voters won't go for it."

"Headlee anything will not pass," said Marilyn Schwinn, board trustee. "I would support an incremental maintenance millage."

Student rep on board?

BY JOHN BRODERICK

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education tabled a motion Monday which would have allowed for official student representation during board meetings.

The board will wait until it is clear how the student will be chosen, and how future student representatives will be selected, before acting.

Board members said they were concerned that it would look like favoritism if they were to approve a representative, unless there were a fair selection process first that gave a number of students the opportunity to apply.

District Superintendent John M. Hoben said the board has had a student representative present at meetings in the past. He added that it provides "a good link between the student body and the board of education."

"These meetings are open," said E.J. McClendon, board trustee. "There is nothing stopping them from just sending someone."

"But if we approve them, the selection process must have been fair," he added.

Say suspect may be local man

Police follow tips in graveyard rape

BY KEN VOYLES

Canton Police are investigating more than 25 leads in Thursday's rape of a 37-year-old Taylor woman at Knollwood Cemetery along Ridge Road in a rural part of the township.

Police, who have released a "composite" sketch of a suspect, said there are similarities between the most recent attack and a rape that occurred last August involving a Westland woman.

"There's lot of similarities -- in the description, the demeanor of the suspect," said Dave Boljesic, Canton's liaison officer. "The statements he made to the victims, and the brutal nature of this lead us to believe he is the same man."

The suspect composite drawing was made after the August assault, said Boljesic, but the victim in Thursday's rape, though beaten about the eyes, told police it was "similar."

"It's highly likely that the suspect lives, works or has friends in this community. It's such a rural place," said Boljesic, who added that police were following up on anonymous tips from citizens and other police departments. "I think the best bet we have is a description, though it's kind of vague, of the vehicle."

The suspect is described as a white male in his mid-20s, with brown curly hair and a mustache, wearing blue jeans and a gold watch. His car was described as a brown 2-door, possibly mid-1970s model, with the driver's side window broken out and covered in plastic.

The Taylor woman was attacked about 3 a.m. Thursday, said police. She had run out of gas at Van Born and Telegraph roads and was walking to a gas station. The suspect pulled up and offered her a ride to the station but then accelerated, police said, and began "verbally" assaulting her when she asked to get out, said police.

The victim was taken to the rear of Knollwood Cemetery, police said, where she was raped. When she tried to escape police said the suspect beat her "severely."

The woman later escaped from the suspect's car and hid in the cemetery, police said, before fleeing to a nearby residence.

Though beaten, police said, the victim did not describe her attacker using any type of weapon.

The previous attack occurred on Aug. 28, 1988 when a Westland woman was picked up at a bus stop at Michigan Avenue and Telegraph and taken to Knollwood where she was assaulted for several hours.

Police said the victim in that case said her attacker threatened her with a handgun. The description of the vehicle at the time was of a gray Ford Granada.

"The brutality of this one really makes us think he has the capability of striking again," Boljesic said.

Boljesic added that both victims told police their attacker "appeared" clean cut and friendly when he stopped them.

Anyone with information on either attack should contact Boljesic or Detective Charles Raycraft (397-3000) with the Canton Police Department.

Traffic study identifies hotspots

BY KEN VOYLES

A new traffic study conducted in Canton over the past six months focused on traffic congestion problems at major intersections throughout the township.

One of the main results of the study was that 15 signalized and unsignalized intersections (out of 33 studied) were found to be experiencing unacceptable levels of congestion as well as high numbers of traffic accidents.

Fourteen of those 15 intersections, which the township is considering improving, currently have traffic signals.

The Joy Road, Ford Road, and Sheldon Road corridors are currently the most congested roadways in Canton at peak-hour traffic time, according to the report.

The Ford Road corridor is the highest accident area, according to Michigan State Police data.

Three of the 15 intersections will only require traffic signal timing changes in order to correct existing congestion or safety problems, according to the report.

Canton's engineer Tom Casari said most of the improvements should not be that costly to the township.

Five of the 15 intersections will need left-turn lanes constructed on at least two of their approaches, according to the report, while another five will require lanes that range from a southbound bypass lane at Palmer/Canton to extensive realignments at Joy/Lilley and Joy/Haggerty.

The costs of the recommended improvements, according to the report, range from $5,000 for traffic signal phasing changes to $1.25 million for the planned Joy and Haggerty roads improvement.

The report was prepared by Barton-Aschman Associates, Inc., of Southfield.

Among the recommendations for improvement suggested is the "immediate" changing of traffic signal timing at the various intersections. The report recommends making changes at all 15 intersections identified, from adding turn lanes to adjusting timing patterns.

The report points to the intersections of Ford Road at Haggerty, and Joy Road at Lilley as the main priorities for improvement.

Jaycees plan fundraisers

The Plymouth Jaycees are planning two weekend events to spur interest in the Plymouth Korea/Vietnam Memorial project.

On Friday, Feb. 10 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. residents can boogie down to Benny and the Jets at the Plymouth Hilton. Admission is $5 per person; cash bar and food will be available.

On Saturday, Feb. 11 there will be a fundraising banquet at the Plymouth Hilton featuring Jan Scruggs, the guiding force behind the building of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington D.C.

To stop illicit activity

State Police raid area rest stops

BY PAUL GARGARO

Michigan State Police are out to eliminate the illicit sexual behavior at area rest stops.

Last week, state troopers from the Northville and Ypsilanti posts joined forces to arrest 41 men and women allegedly engaged in illicit sexual activity.

According to state police, the round-up comes as part of a concentrated effort to put an end to the behavior in public rest areas along state freeways.

"These rest areas were not designed to facilitate this kind of illicit sexual behavior and we're not going to tolerate it. Enough is enough," said Det. Sergeant Dean Sanderson, of the Northville State Police Post.

He added, "We'll step up operations and continue to make arrests and we'll add as many consequences to their consideration of engaging in these activities in these areas. Basically, we're going to throw the book at them."

Penalties under consideration include, forfeiture of vehicles, incarceration, bonds, and publication of names, cities of residence, and employment, said Sanderson.

The alleged incidents involved homosexual activity and male and female prostitution. Arrests were made in Novi, Belleville, Ypsilanti, and Ann Arbor at rest areas along I-94, I-96, and I-275, including the I-275 rest stop north of Michigan Avenue in Canton, said Sanderson.

This sign points the way to the I-275 rest stop in Canton. (Crier photo)

Those arrested came from all over southeast Michigan, including Canton, as well as other states.

The state police operation began at 11 a.m. Wednesday and continued through Thursday using male and female undercover troopers, said Sanderson.

The arrests crossed age, race, and economic boundaries.

"We had everything from auditors, salesmen, truckers, unemployed factory workers, to the vice-president of a big company," said Sanderson.

"They could be your brother, your father, or your friend."

Police said warrants are currently being obtained and the charges will be brought for soliciting prostitution and acts of illegal homosexual activity.

The charges are misdemeanors and carry penalties of up to 90 days in jail and a $100 fine.

Sanderson said the rest stops are popular for this kind of behavior for a variety of reasons.

"They can go in be anonymous and relatively discreet," said Sanderson.

"Through this they engage in the most hazardous kind of sexual activity. None mentioned the use of condoms. These are people willing to go back to their nine to five lives with who knows what they have (contracted)."

Sanderson said the alleged activity went on in parked cars, inside restrooms, in the bushes, and "wherever they could find a secret place."

The police action came in response to numerous complaint calls from travellers passing through the rest stops, said Sanderson.

While the arrests may satisfy the many complaints, others have expressed dissatisfaction with the raids.

"As I've told the state police, it's totally ineffective. If they were really serious, they'd post state police in there or have them stop in whenever they drive by," said David Piontkowski, of the Michigan Organization for Human Rights (MORE), an organization which protects the rights of people with differing sexual orientations. "If people are simply meeting there and going some place else, there's something offensive about arresting them."

"If we're talking about conduct that's offensive, then that's different than mere speech," added Piontkowski. "I don't envision a major change in the problem. Until the laws are changed, this will continue."

Piontkowski referred to the state's anti-sodomy laws and the consensual laws prohibiting sexual activity between unmarried adults.

Piontkowski is an attorney, who volunteers his time to help MORE.

Kindergarten sign-up

Kindergarten registration for the 1989-90 school year will be held the week of March 6-10 in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools District.

Orientation and school visitations will be held during April and May for all registered students. Children are eligible to attend kindergarten if they will be five years old on or before the first day of December of this year.

One-two punch hits P-C School District

BY JOHN BRODERICK

"We're in deep trouble." Schools Superintendent John M. Hoben's words nearly sum it up well.

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools district is facing a loss of nearly $2 million in state membership aid next year, because its property taxes are rising rapidly; the more money schools raise on their own, through local property taxes the less they get in state membership aid.

But at the same time, the schools do not even see those extra local funds: the Headlee amendment limits property taxes to the inflation rate, and keeps the district from collecting the amount it is entitled to, based on the number of mills voters have approved.

This one-two-punch, may just end up knocking out some of the programs that have helped to build the reputation of the district as a heavyweight in education.

Lawmakers, teachers, school board members, and administrators agree. And they are putting their gloves on.

"The Headlee Amendment is confusing and not many people understand it. I'm not sure Headlee understands it himself," said E.J. McClelland, board trustee.

The task that Plymouth-Canton educators have set out for themselves is that of educating the voters of the community about the district's financial situation.

FUNDING

The voters are the only real solution to the schools' immediate financial crisis, and whether they support an initiative to help the schools through this critical period, depends on them believing that the district is not crying wolf.

"The problem is," said Raymond Hoedel, associate superintendent for business, "we're having to rollback (mills) at the same time as we're going out-of-formula."

"We're not able to levy our full authorized mills, and at the same time the state is cutting substantially our state membership aid," he added.

The district will likely go out-of-formula next year, and will then collect most of its funds from local property taxes.

"Had we been out-of-formula this year, we would have had a $4 million increase in revenues -- but the state

Twp. residents ask: 'How noisy is Howmet?'

BY PAUL GARGARO

What's all this noise about Howmet? The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees intends to find out by asking management of the Howmet Corporation at 41605 Ann Arbor Road to develop an action plan in response to the complaints of area homeowners that the facility creates excessive noise and noxious odors.

A manufacturer of jet engine parts, Howmet has been the target of criticism by owners in the adjacent Arbor Village Subdivision for creating a noise nuisance in the neighborhood.

In December a noise study of the area was conducted by the Kalano Engineering firm.

The data from that study concluded that Howmet was no greater a source of noise than other area noise sources like auto traffic, airplane traffic and the railroad overpass.

The Howmet controversy has sparked some interest among board members of updating the township's current sign ordinance.

At last Tuesday's trustee meeting, area homeowners expressed their dissatisfaction with the Kalano study.

Township Planner James Anulewicz asked that the resident submit their complaints in writing for Howmet to address in its plan of action. A full discussion of the matter will be held Feb. 28.

However, Township Supervisor Maurice Breen warned residents of the danger of raising their hopes too high.

"There has been no whitewashing or ignoring the issue. I think we've affected quite a bit of cooperation," said Breen. "I'm concerned with raising expectations. The fact of the matter is that it's industrial next to commercial."

A Howmet spokesman present at the meeting declined comment on the situation at that time.

Tax abatement

A Plymouth Township company -- Clean Air Technology -- won approval of a tax abatement from Canton's Board of Trustees last week for the construction of a new facility in the township.

The board approved the move 7-0 last Tuesday.

Festival idea needs broad support

Good festivals, like Plymouth's annual Fall Festival, are born and live on through the efforts of local residents and service groups to keep them alive.

In Canton, there is a germ of an idea for a sports/fitness festival to replace the now defunct Canton Country Festival.

As a festival the plan has a uniqueness about it that just might help make it work since not many other communities can boast of such an event.

But, at the same time, there is a real concern that the festival will become a township managed event and the community spirit talked about so feverishly by township officials will never materialize.

True community spirit is born and lives through a sense of the past as well as the present and the future. Special community wide events help make that happen. A Fall Festival helps provide that kind of source for community spirit by allowing residents to create and run the whole show.

The trouble facing Canton may be that community involvement is not cultivated or nurtured the way it is in Plymouth, and instead of a festival that springs from the hearts of its residents, the festival will become the domain of township staff.

An example of this is the one facing the Plymouth Ice Festival, which draws some support from local business people but lacks any group or club participation at the planning level. It is not a community festival in that sense.

If Canton officials fail to involve their entire community in this new sports festival idea, in a few years the township will notice that there is no real commitment to it, and, like the Country Festival, this latest Canton incarnation will disappear.

Thoughts on trains, awards, Nankin

Idle thoughts while remembering the hours spent on a train riding to Chicago...

There is a certain awesome power about a train. The pulsating throb of diesel engines, the swaying cars creaking along through the frozen dark night. It reminds me of the movie "Runaway Train."

With the world shrouded there is a real feeling of being trapped inside an enclosed space. It's very similar to riding an elevator, but this machine has windows to the world.

Yes, you can't see much, but you feel it all the same. There are towns out there beyond the black, towns like Plymouth and Canton. They pass quickly by, but one knows they are there, pulsating almost like the train itself, groaning at the pull of the world.

Most people around here think only of trains when they are stuck waiting for one to pass. Usually it's a freight train, loaded with machines, or coal, or chemicals.

In the margin

By Ken Voyles

Riding on one, as a passenger offers a glimpse of the other side..

It's true, you spend most of your time on a train, killing time, and ignoring the machine that gets you to where you want to be, but the a sense of the past creeps up on you and you feel connected to it.

Oh well, nobody rides trains anymore.

Getting off in Union Station, Chicago, alone on a Friday night testifies to that fact.

During the awards ceremony last week for the holiday home decorating contest sponsored by the Beautification Committee in Canton, a lot of good families were finally recognized for their efforts.

It's just too bad not many people showed up either to claim their awards or to offer a hearty salute to the winners, many of whom were young people.

The Wyatt family on Canton Center Road finished first, while the Hennings on Beck Road were second.

Their efforts (and those of the other winners) help build a sense of community pride in Canton where all too often the only good things said about the township are bad.

Canton seems to be presenting the most resistance to a plan by the Nankin Transit Commission to convert into an authority and raise a millage to pay for continued service.

That's the assessment of Robert Shefferly after attending a recent meeting of the commission where City of Wayne officials agreed to adopt an authority if the commission would cut its millage request from half of one per cent to two-tenths of one per cent.

In a note to Canton's board, Shefferly said representatives from all five communities expressed their belief in the necessity for the commission's conversion into an authority.

The commission will try some more public relations with the Canton board in the near future, taking the board on a visit to the Westland facility and letting them "experience" a bus pickup run.

So far, though, it seems like Canton is not ready to bite. Maybe, it's a bit too early to tell, but from the looks of it, Canton may have to leave the Nankin system or join in the conversion to an authority whether its officials like it or not.

Such is the business of government.

Vorva will have last laugh

EDITOR:

I would like to make some observations concerning the Jerry Vorva firing.

It goes without saying that the city is being totally irresponsible by wasting the "taxpayers" money to defend a court case which surely will be decided in Mr. Vorva's favor.

It's hard to understand how a city government can try to establish their own interpretation of the Constitution of the United States.

Mr. Vorva need not worry. Something tells me that he will have the last laugh.

PG. 7 THE COMMUNITY CRIER FEBRUARY 1, 1993

The last detail

by Paul Gargaro

Two weeks ago, Plymouth realtor Gregg Donovan took out a curious ad in The Crier.

I missed it the first few times through the paper and not because of its subtlety. Prominently displayed on a quarter page in the middle of the paper, it probably stood out like a $250 beacon to the ad rep that sold the thing.

But I don't read the paper very often, so it had to be pointed out to me.

It read: "Lilley Road, Plymouth, N.H. Alley."

Subtle indeed!

Although his business sits comfortably in the scenic environs of downtown, Donovan said the impetus for the ad came merely from travelling along Lilley Road. There's no vested property interest, he assured me.

"The most criminal area is Ann Arbor Road north to Main Street," said Donovan. "It's an awkward mix of industry and single family trying to look good in the midst. The community is trying to keep up its image, it buffs Main Street and ignores the alley (Lilley)."

Back to the ad: "IT'S UGLY Half City-Half Township hence NOBODY'S responsibility CITIZENS OF PLYMOUTH ARISE".

We get the picture, but what's the point.

Donovan said something can be done. Landscaped berms, tree and shrubbery can be planted. Just spruce it up a bit.

"Spring is coming. It's time to clean up the worst main street in Plymouth," said Donovan. "Let 'em have their share but don't throw it in the face of the town. Well taken and handled."

Most inspired citizens letter to the editor and pay .25 for a stamp. Donovan took a percent track and multiplied by 1000.

The impact of his ad is a tough call. It's doubtful that Donovan's ad inspired city and township planners to pick up the phone and begin negotiations with Lilley Road's captains of industry about landscaping possibilities.

Still, it's a statement. Well done.

"Paid for by GREGG DONOVAN - Non resident of Lilley Road -- Owner of no property on Lilley Road. Just a frequent driver thereon and sick of the look of it."

Newsletter is arrogant Convolutated

EDITOR:

In response to the convoluted (indeed with this one you have truly outdone yourselves) CBE "newsletter" you delivered to my home, I offer the following thoughts.

1. You (CBE) have no authority, constitutional or otherwise, to dictate, determine, or supervise public morals. Perhaps you could read the whole definition of the term censor which your publication so narrowly defined. Go back to your previous dictionary or try Webster's "New World Dictionary." Be sure to catch the entire meaning this time.

2. CBE censors, in order for you to do your work more efficiently and honestly, you should take a lesson, a workshop, or better yet, an entire course in the understanding of context. You can begin by looking up the word in the dictionary. Be sure to get the complete definition. This will help you to understand author's purpose and reasoning. Then, go back and reread your material, be it health text or Holy Bible. If you can grasp the concept of context, you will see the text in a new light, as opposed to the darkness of a closed mind. You still may not agree with it but at least you will understand it.

3. To your list of newly acquired vocabulary you might consider adding: intolerant, authoritarian, and irrational.

4. Last but not least, CBE censors, how arrogant and presumptuous (more new works) of you to intimate that God Almighty is on your side. A 19th century poet wrote that "A knowledge of different literatures is the best way to free one's self from the tyranny of any one of them." Jesus, the GREAT TEACHER (not censor) just might subscribe to that.

Pavillion charges a disappointment

EDITOR:

I was deeply shocked when I called the Plymouth Township Hall to find the Township Board had changed the policy for the reservations of the pavillion out at the Township Park. I spoke to Becky Armstrong and she explained that no longer could one call up and reserve the pavillions. The procedure now was to be, the person must come to the hall to fill out the required forms, and leave $70 per date desired. Of this $70, $50 would be returned after the date, if the pavillion was left, to the on site persons satisfaction. $20 would be kept by the township for processing and paperwork. What paperwork, is my question? If I understood correctly, I would be the one coming into the township hall doing the paperwork.

The Township Park was purchased for use by township residents with tax dollars. Those pavillions were built and donated, at no cost to the township by the local Kiwanis Clubs. I am extremely disappointed that the Board has decided to start "charging" for the use of those pavillions, for in reality that is what they are doing.

I am a classroom teacher and had planned on using a pavillion for my class picnic and my classroom family evening picnic. This would mean I would need to leave $140 out of my pocket for five months, and receive $100 back, sometime later. Personally those interest rates do not interest me.

If it is the wish for fewer reservations or less usage of the pavillions, I am sure the desired outcome will occur.

First graders in Carol Breed's class at Bird Elementary are learning at a young age the dangers of a throw away society.

They not only collected nearly 4000 cans, and other various recyclable materials, they spent a good deal of time learning about the environment, and how to protect and preserve it.

Breed got interested in recycling when her daughter returned from a stay in Germany, where recycling is more common, more a part of people's lives. She was upset when she came back and realized how much we waste.

Wouldn't it be nice if we were like that?

But its hard to learn new habits. Unless there is some incentive.

In Germany, England, and other European countries, recycling is more a part of life partially because it is much easier to do. Places to drop glass, plastic and paper products are easily accessible, and picked up regularly by municipalities.

Ed McNamara, Wayne County

Executive, was on hand to award Breed's first graders last week for their efforts. He said that county landfill space would be full in three years if we continued to produce as much solid waste as we do.

His administration has started a recycling project, and wants municipalities in the county to cut their solid waste by 75 per cent.

This kind of move, if it is to be successful, will necessarily involve a change of individual habits.

It's hard to teach a society of old dogs, even the smallest of new tricks.

The move to becoming a more recycling oriented society, both at the local level, and on a larger scale, will be made easier if municipalities follow the lead of their European counterparts, and make recycling easier to do.

By the way -- Woodland Meadows Landfill has recently changed its name to Woodland Meadows Recycling and Disposal Facility -- an effort to promote recycling as opposed to dumping. Citizens or organizations interested in recycling may contact Janis Lanyon at 326-0993.

Designer fashions his way to success

STEPHEN WALKER

BY JOHN BRODERICK

Stephen Walker never suspected he'd be designing clothing -- let alone winning national awards for his efforts.

But the 1987 Canton High School graduate, who had planned on being a fine arts major, "went on a whim," and decided to study fashion design and marketing, at New York City's Fashion Institute of Technology.

Walker was recently selected as one of 23 finalists, 10 of which are FIT classmates, in the "Suit of the Future" contest, sponsored by the Anderson-Little/Richmond Brothers Co., of Boston.

Walker was a grand prize winner in last year's contest, for which he received a trip to Milan, Italy, to work with professional designers.

This year -- if Walker can pull off two in a row -- he could receive another trip to Milan, to attend the Milan Fashion Trade Fair.

Menswear is Walker's specialty. He recently completed an internship with Tommy Hilffiger Menswear Designers, and has plans to design for other companies such as Eddie Bauer, or J. Crew.

"I had planned to be a fine arts major. But then I saw that I could make more money in designing," Walker said. "I got my grades up and here I am."

It took Walker some time to adjust to living in New York City. "I'm a more midwest, country type of person. I like it (NY) for what it has to offer in terms of fashion -- but there is not much of a release in terms of nature," he said.

Walker's entry in this year's contest is called "Subtly Suited." It is made of a knitted sleeveless jacket, a long sleeve knitted shirt, and an elastic cord drawstring tapered pant.

Walker plans to work in design for a few years after his graduation from FIT, and then to move into the marketing end of the business.

So watch the racks in local department stores. Residents may soon get the chance to buy clothes designed by a Plymouth resident.

Bird students learn about waste

BY JOHN BRODERICK

Taking out the garbage, for some first graders at Bird Elementary School, has taken on a new meaning.

Since the beginning of the school year, students in Carol Breed's class have been learning about recycling, and how the environment can be helped by not throwing so much away.

Breed's students were recognized last week for their efforts, by Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara, who visited Bird to present them each with certificates noting their accomplishments.

"As of this morning (Friday), our class has collected 3,495 cans -- and about 60 more have come in this morning," Breed said before a group of spectators.

The class presented a series of short plays about the environment -- complete with recycled props -- which discussed issues of overpackaging of food products, running out of space for landfills, and how simple it is to recycle.

One of the skits, entitled "Mother Earth," concluded with the main character (in the title role), saying "that's no way to treat your mother!"

Breed said the project overlapped into other areas of the curriculum. "Each morning we separated the different metal products from each other, which taught about science, then we would spend time tallying, practicing math skills.

"The kids took this very seriously -- the 'clink-clink' of cans dropping was heard all over," Breed said.

McNamara's interest in the project stems from the efforts of his administration to cut the amount of solid waste going into county landfills.

McNamara estimates that the county has three years of space left in its landfills. His administration is trying to get municipalities to cut their amount of solid waste by 75 per cent.

"We want to tell the communities, 'if you don't cut your amount of waste, you won't be allowed to dump it in the county landfill,'" McNamara told the group of students and parents.

"It is never too early to teach children to use items over again," he said. "I am pleased to see these youngsters develop habits now, that will help us reduce the volume of solid waste now going to landfills and preserve the environment for the future."

Students in Carol Breed's first grade class at Bird Elementary School show off some of their efforts to learn about waste and recycling. Wayne County

City, Twp. chase results in smashed cars, injuries

BY PAUL GARGARO

A low-speed, alleged "chase" through downtown Plymouth late Wednesday night left two smashed cars in its wake and Plymouth Township Police scratching their heads.

The chase lasted under five minutes and ended in the hospitalization of a 26-year-old Walled Lake man whose truck struck a parked car while he was allegedly trying to flee from a pursuing Township police car late last Wednesday night.

Township police officer Eric Anderson-Smith said he noticed a blue pickup truck "driving erratically" and clocked it travelling over the speed limit on radar at Five Mile Road, just east of Bradner Road in Plymouth Township shortly before 10 p.m. Wednesday.

Anderson-Smith said he followed the vehicle up Northville Road and observed as it proceeded through a red light at Edward Hines Drive at approximately 40 m.p.h.

As the pursuit continued along Starkweather Street, the pickup struck a vehicle which had pulled over to the side of the road at the sound and sight of the police sirens, said Anderson-Smith.

The pickup pulled around the struck car and continued west up Farmer Street failing to stop at stop signs at Harvey and Blunk streets, added

Anderson-Smith.

Anderson-Smith said the vehicle continued to drive along the curb and finally struck a parked car occupied by two teenaged passengers at an estimated speed of 40-45 m.p.h.

The collision forced the parked car approximately 100 feet into Sheldon Road, said police.

Police said there were no serious injuries on the night, although the driver of the pickup was transferred to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia.

Neither the pickup driver nor the teenagers were wearing seatbelts, said police.

As of Monday, he was listed in fair condition in St. Mary's.

Police said they suspect the incident was alcohol related.

"While administering first aid, I smelled intoxicants," said Anderson-Smith.

Police said they expect to get the results of the blood alcohol tests this week. The driver was released pending the issuance of a warrant.

Getting down to business

Shuttle will help students, patients

BY JOHN BRODERICK

There is a new way to get to Ann Arbor -- but it's not another highway.

University Limousine Service has recently begun a shuttle bus service between the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area and the western Wayne County suburbs including Plymouth.

The first of two daily routes passes through Plymouth just after 7 a.m. This route is primarily for students and workers at EMU or U of M., according to the company's founder, Oliver Lindsay.

A second route stops in Plymouth around 10 a.m., Lindsay said.

"The second is geared toward senior citizens or medical patients," said Lindsay. "We stop at Catherine McCauley Medical center, and also at various points for shopping or sightseeing."

Here is the good part: the service costs just $1 each way.

"We do a round trip for two dollars," Lindsay explained. "A trip to Ann Arbor -- with gas and parking -- is about $5. And a parking ticket is $10 more."

Lindsay began the business in 1983 with one limousine. Since then the business has grown enormously.

"Now we have 17 units -- about half of which are busses, and half of which are limos," Lindsay said.

University provides a number of other shuttle services that cover different routes. Lindsay said the service is good for people who want an alternative to driving to school and work.

The new Ann Arbor service is being funded by the federal government, through the Ann Arbor Transit Authority, for a one-year trial period. Lindsay, a long time Plymouth resident, and graduate of Salem High School, said that he doesn't expect the shuttle service to be a major financial success.

"It's not making much -- certainly not as much as with limos -- but I want to put something back into the community."

Super service

Betty Meade, of Plymouth, gets ready to board the shuttle last week. The service, offered to local residents, is run by University Limousine. Driver Patrick Norton waits for Meade to come aboard. (Crier photo by Chris Farina)

TAX TIPS

IRS Tax Tip . . .

Only 80 percent of unreimbursed business-related meal and entertainment expenses qualify as an itemized deduction. Call 1-800-424-3676, and ask for free IRS Publication 463, "Travel, Entertainment, and Gift Expenses," for details.

Expensive Hobby?

Losses from a hobby are not deductible from other income. Order free IRS Publication 525, "Taxable and Nontaxable Income," for more information. Just call 1-800-424-3676.

IRS Tax Tip . . .

If you have a large amount of income from other sources not subject to withholding (such as interest, dividends, taxable social security), you should consider making estimated tax payments using Form 1040-ES, "Estimated Tax for Individuals." For more information, order free IRS Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax," by calling 1-800-424-3676.

IRS Tax Guide Collection

Publication 1194, "Tax Information Publication," a three-volume reference set of the IRS' most requested publications, is available for public use at most libraries.

"At Risk" Amounts

If you have investment amounts that are not "at risk," you must complete Form 6198, "Computation of Deductible Loss From an Activity Described in Section 465(c)." IRS Publication 925, "Passive Activity and At-Risk Rules," gives details. To order forms and publications call 1-800-424-3676.

New Medicare "Premium"

Medicare eligible taxpayers with at least $150 in federal income tax liability on their 1989 return may be subject to the supplemental medicare premium. Free IRS Publication 934, "Supplemental Medicare Premium," explains more. Order by calling 1-800-424-3676.

Presidential Campaign Contributions

Taxpayers may no longer take a credit for political contributions. They may, however, have $1 of their tax ($2 if married filing jointly) go to a general fund established by Congress to support public funding of the presidential election campaigns. Mark the appropriate box on Form 1040, Form 1040A or Form 1040EZ. Free IRS Publication 17, "Your Federal Income Tax," contains further information on this and other tax topics which may be ordered by calling 1-800-424-3676.

Photocopy Tax Forms At Library

A reproducible federal income tax forms package, Publication 1132, which contains over 90 of the most commonly used federal income tax forms, schedules and instructions (which can be photocopied), is available at most neighborhood libraries. Many libraries stock the most often used tax forms and schedules, including the Form W-4. Check with your local library.

Real Estate Sales

Homes and certain other real estate sales must now be reported to the Internal Revenue Service by the real estate broker, settlement agent or other person responsible for closing the transaction. The broker must report the sale to the IRS on Form 1099-S, "Statement of Recipients of Proceeds From Real Estate Transactions." More information is contained in free IRS Publication 916, "Information Returns." Forms and publications can be ordered by calling toll-free, 1-800-424-3676.

IRS Offers Braille Tax Guides

As a service for the blind, several of the most needed forms and publications are available in braille. Call the IRS for details.

Free Tax Guide For Fishermen

IRS Publication 595, "Tax Guide for Commercial Fishermen," contains tax information to assist those in the fishing industry prepare their federal income tax returns. Topics such as recordkeeping, business expenses, depreciation, and treatment of wages paid to crew members are covered. This handy reference tool is available by calling 1-800-424-3676.

IRS Says, "Use the Label"

Use the preprinted label and envelope provided by the IRS in your tax forms package when filing your return. Doing that will help expedite the processing of your tax return.

Withholding

Get free IRS Publication 919, "Is My Withholding Correct for 1989?," to see how the income tax you are having withheld compares to your estimated total annual tax. Call 1-800-424-3676 to order.

Graduates 'dare' to say no

Sixty fifth grade students at Farrand Elementary School graduated from the Michigan State Police DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program Friday.

The mostly 11-year-old students have participated in the special program since last October. Geared for elementary age students, DARE emphasizes the importance of self-esteem in resisting drug abuse.

State Trooper Bob Garcia worked with the children on a weekly basis with activities like role-playing to familiarize students with saying "no" to drugs.

The graduation ceremonies at Farrand featured a performance of "Pinnocchio Don't Smoke That Cigarette," a musical with anti-smoking and substance abuse themes.

The musical was presented by fifth graders from Gallimore Elementary School, who will also graduate from the program in a separate ceremony.

Places to be

Free tax seminar planned at library

A free tax information seminar sponsored locally by the Plymouth District Library (Dunning-Hough) in the City of Plymouth will be held on Thursday (Feb. 2) and again on Feb. 9.

Both the 7 p.m. sessions will be held upstairs at the library, located on South Main Street.

An Internal Revenue Services (IRS)

representative will highlight the new tax changes and discuss specific areas of the individual tax return including deductions and credits such as child care and earned income credits.

A question and answer session will follow the discussion.

For further information call 453-0750.

Mainstreeters host gospel music concert

The Mainstreeters of Main Street Baptist Church in Canton will be presenting a free concert of Southern Gospel Music on Feb. 12 at 7 p.m.

Robert Scoggins, a sergeant of the Plymouth Police Department, is the minister of music and the director of The Mainstreeters.

The group also includes Michael McElhiney, of Plymouth, who sings bass and lead; Anita Clark, of Plymouth, who is the church pianist and sings tenor, alto and lead; Donna Keith, of Canton, who sings alto and lead; and Jan Munday, of Plymouth, who sings lead.

The Mainstreeters plan to become more involved in The Plymouth-Canton Community in the future as well as record an album sometime this spring, according to Munday.

The Sunday show is open to the public. Refreshments will be served following the service.

Through 'living history' Studying the Civil War

The Civil War is coming to Lowell Middle School in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

As a part of a Living History Program at Lowell Middle School students will spend time in February and March learning about the war during an outdoor reenactment as well as an appearance by a Civil War musician.

The program, funded by Teacher Project Assistance grants from the Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC) and the Educational Excellence Foundation, is organized for eighth grade students by teacher Karen Tripp-Opplé.

Students will also be studying Michigan history and will get a visit from a French Voyager in May or June.

Parents are encouraged to join the participation style history. They can call Lowell Middle School at 451-6503 for information.

Twp. forms solid waste committee

BY PAUL GARGARO

Enough talk about the solid waste issue. Plymouth Township is taking action.

At last Tuesday's meeting of the township trustees, a five-person ad hoc committee was chosen to explore the various ways to dispose of solid waste in the community.

The committee's formation comes in light of Wayne County's request that local governments develop workable plans to reduce the amount of solid waste dumped into landfills by 75 percent by 1992, said Township Supervisor Maurice Breen.

Township Trustee Smith Horton was appointed chairman of the committee, which will be comprised of township residents Jo Hulce, Janet Campbell, Dorothy Balogh, and Steve Harper.

According to Horton, the problem facing the county and the country is the ever-decreasing amount of landfill space.

Horton said the committee will look into landfill alternatives like composting and recycling.

"A significant amount of what we're throwing out and putting into landfills are grass clippings, leaves, and twigs. These could be composted," said Horton. "This (the committee's solution) is not going to be a money making venture. I want to do some thinking about it. I don't want the committee to flounder."

Horton said the committee first meeting is scheduled for Feb. 16. He added that it has been given approximately one year to complete its work.

"At that time (Feb 16), we'll receive our charge to study solid waste disposal and in the end, recommend a solution," added Horton.

To enhance the committee's effort, the board also approved a salaried position to coordinate the committee's plans and research various waste disposal options.

Breen said it has not been decided whether the position will be filled by direct hire or through a contract with an outside source.

Schools finance picture

took away $5.5 million in aid. That's the hard part -- that's the unfair part," Hoedel said.

He added, "Next year is very critical, because we will go the rest of the way out-of-formula -- next year we will get zero dollars from the state in the form of membership aid."

The schools are scheduled to receive about $1.7 million for the 1988-89 school year in membership aid.

State Representative Jim Kosteva (D), whose district includes Canton, has been active on the issue of school finance reform, and has sponsored legislation on the topic.

"I hate to see a good district sink before it gets a chance to swim -- Plymouth-Canton is about to start swimming," he said. "If the district could retain those mills that would be rolled back under Headlee, they would have the chance to continue the high quality educational product that Plymouth-Canton is noted for, during this transitional period."

Plymouth-Canton has two long-term possibilities for help, according to Kosteva. Either the district moves further out-of-formula (and thus frees itself from dependence on state aid), or waits for some sort of school finance reform at the state level.

Kosteva said that there are rumblings of educational finance reform in Lansing, but that it is too early in the new legislative session to tell what proposals will surface.

State Senator Robert Geake (R) whose district includes The Plymouth-Canton Community, said that the district's situation is not necessarily unique.

"The Headlee rollback and going out of formula are both the inevitable result of a community with rising property values," he said.

"However this does create a very real problem for the school system, because, under Headlee, the school system does not get the benefit of the increasing property values, unless the people vote to override."

So the school board will be going to the voters for help in June.

They have yet to decide how the additional ballot proposal will read, but are united in the belief that the district cannot get through the next school year with only a renewal of eight mills (which is the main proposal on the June ballot), and keep the educational programs intact.

PCAC grant for facility

BY PAUL GARGARO

A cool $100,000 would have been nice, but members of the Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC) will have to be satisfied with $75,000.

Last week, the PCAC learned that it would receive $75,000 as part of a Michigan Equity Grant, which was applied for through the City of Plymouth.

Assistant City Manager Paul Sincok said: the city applied for a $100,000 grant on behalf of the PCAC in December.

"Through this grant, monies are made available statewide to fund a variety of projects, including libraries, cultural, and history projects," said Sincok. "It helps to provide equity around the state for these monies."

PCAC Executive Director Susan Froelich said the PCAC was pleased with the grant and that the money will go toward a new facility.

The current PCAC facility is located on Main Street above Wiltse's Pharmacy.

"We need a facility. Right now we have a big problem with our visibility," said Froelich. "It (the grant) doesn't go too far, but we're looking at ways to make that a bigger amount."

Froelich said the project, which could include relocation and expansion of the PCAC offices and gallery, is still in the beginning stages.

Down to the wire

Salem tankers clip Canton

BY RITA DERBIN AND
JANET ARMSTRONG

It went down to the wire, but the Salem swim team defeated Canton, 89-83, on Thursday.

The Rocks are now 7-2 overall and 1-1 in division play.

"It was the best dual meet between Salem and Canton in the school's history."

Such was the reaction of Canton swim coach Hooker Wellman.

The meet came down to the final event (400-yard freestyle relay) with Salem pulling out a narrow victory in front of the capacity crowd at Canton on Thursday.

Finishing first for Salem were: the 200-yard medley relay team of Sean Fitzgerald, Mark Erickson, Ron Orris and Fred Seidelman (1:44.16); Mike Hill in the 200-yard freestyle (1:50.49) and the 100-yard freestyle (50.20); Orris in the 200-yard individual medley (2:00.23) and the 100-yard breaststroke (1:01.43); and Seidelman in the 50-yard freestyle (23.29) and the 100-yard butterfly (57.04).

Also, taking first places for Salem were: Mike Axford in the 500-yard freestyle (5:15.37) and the 400-yard freestyle relay team of Chris Caloia, Rick Steshetz, Axford and Hill (3:28.96).

Fitzgerald also added a second place finish in the 100-yard backstroke (1:02.18) for the Rocks.

"Diving went Canton's way," said coach Chuck Olson. "We were tied going into the 500-yard freestyle but we won it unexpectedly and went ahead." The Rocks then clinched the victory by winning the 400-yard freestyle relay, according to Olson.

Canton had only two first-place finishes on the night. The first came in the diving competition which Brad Flowers pulled out with a total score of 214 points.

Jim Hartnett in the 100-yard backstroke was the only other Chief to earn a first place. He captured the 100-yard backstroke in 1:01.

Canton's Andrew Lane takes a breather between freestyle strokes. Regardless, Lane's effort wasn't enough. Salem edged out rival Canton 89-83 in the dual meet. (Crier photo by Chris Farina)

Phew!!

What Canton lacked in first-place finishes, they made up for in seconds.

Scott Swartzwelter, Jeff Homan, Mark Levesque and Mitch Timberlake combined for a time of 1:44.5 and a second place in the 200-yard medley relay.

Homan also had second-place finishes in the 200-yard individual medley with a time of 2:08 and in the 100-yard breaststroke with a time of 1:03.4. While Steve Geddes took seconds in the 200-yard freestyle (1:55.2) and in the 500-yard freestyle (5:15.4).

Mike Helmstadter had three second places against Salem. The first coming in the 50-yard freestyle (23.6). He also had a second in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 52.3.

Helmstadter combined with Hartnett, Geddes and Bryce Anderson for a second and a time of 3:30.1 in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

Jon Stirling finished off Canton's one-two punch in the diving event taking a second place with his personal best of 180.24 points.

Swartzwelter also had a second-place finish against the Rocks. He earned that second with a 58.2 in the 100-yard butterfly.

Last night the Rocks faced Brighton and tomorrow they will host Westland John Glenn at 7 p.m.

The 5-2 Chiefs next challenge in the Farmington Harrison Hawks, Canton will travel to Harrison on Thursday. The meet begins at 7 p.m.

Salem volleyball team demolishes Farmington

BY RITA DERBIN

Despite an unsportsmanlike road crowd, the Salem volleyball team defeated Farmington on Monday night 15-4, 15-6.

The Rocks brought their record to 10-4 overall and 3-1 in their division with the victory.

In the match, Jennifer Justice and Asuka Motoyama each had four aces and Kaori Saga, Colleen Lawrence and Cindy Woitis contributed two apiece.

Motoyama also had three kills and Maria Wordhouse added four more for the Rocks.

"It was real good for the team," said coach Betty Smith. "Everybody played and had an influence in the point scoring."

Smith said that strong serving was the biggest factor in the Rocks victory.

"The most difficult part of the night," said Smith, "was playing against the crowd."

Salem will host Livonia Stevenson tonight at 6 p.m. and travel to Walled Lake Central on Monday.

Canton hoops show heart in comeback win

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

Canton basketball showed a lot of heart in a dramatic, come-from-behind 52-46 win over Northville on Friday.

The Chiefs ended both the first and second quarters trailing the Mustangs. Canton trailed 10-15 at the end of the first and 25-29 at halftime.

According to Canton coach Tom Niemi, strong bench play was the key to the Chiefs' victory.

"Both Jim Frigge and Jim Young came off the bench and played well for us," said Niemi. "Jeff Allen also came through and hit some key free throws."

Senior Brian Paupore led the game in scoring with 28 points. He also had eight rebounds, while Heath Myers had 18 points for the Mustangs.

Troy Waldron and Jeff Allen were also key point scorers for Canton. Waldron had 11, while Allen contributed nine.

Waldron also had five assists for the Chiefs.

The Chiefs brought their record up to 9-4 overall and 7-2 in the league with the win.

According to Niemi, Canton will have to continue playing good basketball if they expect to beat Farmington Harrison, who is one game up on the Chiefs in their division, on Friday.

The game between the Chiefs and the Hawks is being played at Canton at 7 p.m. on Friday.

A big success

Canton's Neu retires at after 4 years of hoop magic

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

Canton girls basketball coach Rob Neu has resigned from his head coaching duty with the team.

Neu, who has been the Chiefs varsity coach for four years and the Canton track coach, made the decision to resign after accepting a job with his father's company in Traverse City.

The Chiefs were Western Division champions four years in a row under Neu's coaching, and in addition to being ranked fifth in the state this year, Canton won the Western Lakes Activities Association's (WLAA) league championship.

The decision to leave was made just after Canton wrapped up the season, said Neu.

"I have an outstanding opportunity in the computer industry," said Neu. "Of course I'm going to miss the kids and the coaching staff a great deal.

"If you leave something better than when you got there, it's a success," Neu said. "I think I've done that."

In addition to his coaching responsibilities, Neu taught at Canton for almost three years before being pink slipped due to cut backs by the district.

Neu along with Salem coach Fred Thomann started a girls youth basketball skills camp, which takes place at the high school.

According to Canton's junior varsity basketball coach Bob Blohm, Neu will be greatly missed.

"He will because he devoted a lot of time and effort to the program," said Blohm. "And he did a good job."

According to Neu, after being gone only a month he already misses his job.

"I already miss being a coach," said

Neu. "I miss getting ready for the next season."

With Neu's resignation comes the dilemma of who will replace him as Canton's varsity coach?

One of the more obvious choices for the position would be Blohm, who coached Salem varsity girls basketball coach before coming to Canton to become athletic manager.

Blohm said the double duty could be tough.

"My big dilemma is time," said Blohm.

Canton gymnasts turn in season's best effort

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

The Canton girls gymnastics team dominated in their win over Farmington Harrison on Thursday, the Chiefs beat the Hawks with their best team score this year 129.55 to 107.45.

Heather Murphy started the ball rolling for the Chiefs by earning herself a first place in the vault competition with a score of 8.1.

Dawn Clifford and Johanna Anderson tied for a second place in vault with both earning a 8.05.

Clifford led the Chiefs in the uneven bars taking a first with a score of 8.35. Murphy wasn't far behind with a score of 8.15, which earned her a second-place finish, while Shannon Connel took a third place for the Chiefs with a 7.8.

In the beam event Clifford gained another first-place finish scoring Canton's highest score on beam this season (8.65). Murphy took her second second-place finish against Harrison in beam with an 8.6. Anderson completed the sweep of the event for Canton by placing third with a score of 7.7.

Clifford and Murphy were again Cantons one-two punch in the floor exercise with Clifford garnering her third first-place finish for the meet with a 8.75, while Murphy earned her second place with a score of 8.5. Kelly Fortier finished of the floor exercise with an 8.45, which won her a third place.

Not a surprise was the fact that Clifford won the all-around scoring a 33.8. Murphy was second with 33.35, while Anderson, with a 31.15, was third.

"Across the board all the kids did well," said Canton coach John Cunningham. "Our vaults and floors were good."

Cunningham added that while his kids are doing very well things are only going to get better this season.

"We did very well, but we're only starting to touch the surface," Cunningham said.

John Glenn is Canton's next opponent. Canton will travel to Westland Thursday at 7 p.m.

Salem tumblers knock River Rats

BY RITA DERBIN

The girls impressed their parents in good style.

The Salem gymnastics team held parents' night on Thursday and were inspired to beat Ann Arbor Huron, 124.2-71.4.

With every girl competing in at least one event, the Rocks assured themselves of a spot in the regionals by recording their fourth qualifying score of the season.

"It was a good meet," said coach Kathi Kinsella. "Everyone is really starting to get into it."

Kinsella added that the everyone helped out in the first home meet.

"(Athletic director) Gary Balconi

ran the whole meet," said Kinsella.

"I'd really like to thank him, and all the girls and custodial help, for making the meet run so smoothly."

Autumn Bunch led the Rocks by winning the all around competition with a score of 32.25. She finished first on the vault (8.4), bars (7.85) and the floor exercise (8.65); and fourth on the beam (7.35).

Dana Holda received two second-place finishes on the vault (8.1) and beam (7.5) and third on the bars (7.2) after falling once.

Aimee Wong finished second on the bars (7.25) and third on the vault (7.9).

Robin Breed was second on the floor

(8.45) and Sue Farmer, who is coming back from an injury, finished fifth on the floor (7.9).

Jenny Skylakos finished third on the floor (8.0) and Jenny Krieger was third on the beam (7.45).

"We're just getting some of the injured girls back," said Kinsella. "This week Krieger should be able to compete in the all-around for the first time in the season. That will help us as we move toward the regionals."

"Our goal now is to get as many individual qualifiers as possible."

The Rocks are now 2-2 overall and 0-2 in division play. They will host defending conference champion North Farmington tonight at 7 p.m.

Canton wrestlers still ailing

Rocks grapplers capture WLAA meet

BY RITA DERBIN AND JANET ARMSTRONG

Salem is back in a familiar position - number one.

Closing out a season filled with successes, the Rocks' wrestling team won the Western Lakes Activities Association conference meet on Saturday with 213.5 points.

Westland John Glenn was second and Northville finished third.

Salem finished its season at 21-1.

Canton also competed in the conference meet on Saturday, where the Chiefs had four wrestlers place.

Canton's only first-place finisher in league competition was Liam Rentz (135 lbs.). Jim Yack (140 lbs.) also placed taking a third place overall, while Michael Golchuk (145 lbs.) and Nick Parzer (152 lbs.) each earned fifth-place finishes.

All 12 Rocks who competed in the conference meet placed in the top six.

Five Salem wrestlers were league champions: Craig Richardson (112 lbs.), Mike Schumate (130 lbs.), Ed

Bartlage (140 lbs.), Steve Burlison (160 lbs.) and Brian Burlison (171 lbs.).

Pete Israel (152 lbs.) finished second in his weight division and Ken Stoppa (119 lbs.) and Julian Sell (125 lbs.) were third in their divisions.

Fourth-place finishers were Dan Bonnett (103 lbs.), Anthony Perkins (189 lbs.) and heavyweight Scott Breithaupt; Jeff Coleman (135 lbs.) came in sixth.

"We had a good season," said coach Ron Krueger. "We lost our first meet, then won 21 in a row."

The Rocks won three tournaments, finished second in one, and came in eighth place at the Lansing Eastern Invitational earlier in the season.

"Last year we lost the conference title for the first time since the new leagues were formed," added Krueger. "We worked hard to get (the title) back."

The next step for Salem will be the pre-district meet tonight at Northville where the top three finishers will advance to the districts.

Krueger said that the team was looking forward to the districts, which will be held at 10 a.m. at Salem on Saturday.

"Our goal is to get as many qualifiers as possible through the districts," Krueger said. "Then we'll concentrate on the team districts."

Krueger noted that Charlie Apigian, who could not compete in the conference meet due to illness, will probably not be ready for the districts.

It has been an injury plagued season for the Canton boys wrestling team and at no time during this season they have never had a full roster of starters.

Thursday, versus a dominating Walled Lake Western team, Canton was only able to win three matches in the 59-12 loss.

Scott Swartzinski (125 lbs.), Michael Golchuk (145 lbs.), and Nick Parzer (152 lbs.) were the only winners for the Chiefs, who are now 2-3 in their division on the season.

"We had a lot of people out of action again," Canton Coach Ron Kossakowski said.

Although it's been a frustrating season for the Chiefs, Kossakowski said his team's rocky performance can be attributed to the fact that they've never been at full strength during the season.

Canton's junior varsity team also competed in their own meet Saturday. George Young and Josh Anderson were the champions in their weight classes, while Eric Jallad captured a third place.

Rocks stop on top

Salem hoops clinch first slot in Lakes Division

BY RITA DERBIN

First place is theirs.

The Salem basketball team has clinched at least part of the Lakes Division title with victories over North Farmington on Friday and Walled Lake Central on Tuesday.

The Rocks were 12-1 overall and 7-0 in division play following the victories.

The Rocks defeated North Farmington, 76-48, behind Jeff Elliott's 24 points. Jeff Gold added 10 points and six assists.

Jake Baker and Craig Marshall each had seven rebounds in the victory.

On Tuesday the Rocks downed

Walled Lake Central, 98-53.

Elliott led the attack with 22 points. Baker (15 points), Gold (13 points), Jim Taylor (12 points) and Marshall (10 points) were also in double digits.

The Rocks led from wire to wire and scored off Walled Lake's defense and pressure.

Last night the Rocks played Livonia Churchill and they will travel to Westland John Glenn on Friday.

"It's going to be tough to play at John Glenn," said coach Bob Brodie. "We can't get far behind like we did when they were (at Salem) and expect to come from behind to win."

The Crier 10th Annual
'89 GUIDE
 to Plymouth-Canton-Northville

What:

The 10th Annual Crier '89 GUIDE to Plymouth, Canton and Northville — The comprehensive and efficiently organized Community GUIDE puts people with a need, in touch with a name, phone number or address, that can provide a solution.

Why:

Because there is a practical need in the community for residents to have a resource tool at hand, that can answer questions and direct people to the proper place of business, governmental agency or community group.

Who:

|------------------------------|----------------------------|
| Agencies offering assistance | Lawmakers |
| Churches | Libraries |
| Commerce | Media |
| Community Maps | Michigan Offices, Agencies |
| Courts | Neighboring Governments |
| Cultural Activities | Schools |
| Events | Recreation |
| Groups & Clubs | Senior Citizen Agencies |
| Guide to Shops & Services | Utilities |
| History | Wayne County |

When:

The GUIDE is already being prepared by The Crier Editorial, Advertising and Production Staffs for a March 1st release. Real estate offices, Chamber of Commerce, Welcome Wagon, libraries and schools: Please let us know your anticipated needs for distribution.

ADVERTISERS:

This is an excellent opportunity to receive immediate and year round exposure. People anxiously look forward to the Guide's publication every year — and warmly receive it and immediately begin reading and using it. Plymouth, Canton and Northville residents use The GUIDE constantly throughout the year — and if you're not in it — your business is constantly being passed over. You, your business and your customers can't afford that. So act now and take advantage of the 10th Annual Guide's expanded circulation of 33,000, immediate and year round exposure.
