To Sheldon Plant Ford grants Q1

The Ford Motor Company Sheldon Road Plant, is currently basking in the glow of its new Q1 status.

ADLERS: Filmmakers with local roots tackle a touchy subject. See pg. 8.

TRAVEL: Canton entrepreneur Jim Walling helps business travelers with expenses. See pg. 12.

This morning, the plant received its official designation and celebrated with a Q1 flag raising ceremony attended by representatives from the plant, Plymouth Township, the City of Plymouth, and Ford headquarters.

"The Q1 award is an indication from Ford that a plant meets certain quality standards. Within Ford, it's a very big deal," said Ford spokesperson Gene Burkhardt. "It's taken about one and a half years of joint effort between UAW (United Auto Workers) and the company."

The Sheldon Road Plant is the climate control division headquarters for Ford.

Sign ordinance: new look for city

BY PAUL GARGARO

After weeks of haggling, revising, and debating, the City of Plymouth has a new sign ordinance.

The restrictive new ordinance was passed on Monday by a 4-1 vote of the city commission with the only "no" vote coming from Ron Loiselle. Commissioners Mary Childs and Jack Kenyon were absent with excuses from Monday's meeting.

"We now have a very fair and workable sign ordinance," Mayor Karl Gansler said after the vote.

According to the new ordinance, its intent is "...to regulate the location, size, construction and manner of display of signs and outdoor advertising in order to minimize their harmful effects on the public health."

Under the four-page ordinance, all ground signs for structures "other than dwelling units" cannot exceed 25 sq. ft. per side in area or exceed two sides or a height of four feet.

In addition, signs erected outside of the Central Building District, which is bounded by Church, Harvey, Wing, Union, and Deer streets, are allowed an additional area of one sq. ft. for each foot of setback to a maximum 32 sq. ft. per side and a maximum height of eight feet.

The ordinance also mandates that a business can use only one wall sign or one ground sign to identify itself. In the case of multi-tenant structure, a business will be allowed to identify itself on one group sign for the structure and with one wall sign on their unit.

Wall signs cannot exceed 25 sq. ft. in area.

Although the new ordinance allows for the use of canopy and awning signs, which do not overhang public property by more than thirty inches, it states that the message area cannot exceed 10 per cent of the canopy or awning surface. The message area is defined as the area within the letters or symbols.

Real estate signs advertising land and/or structures for sale or lease will be limited to a maximum of four feet in height and area of four sq. ft. and must be removed within seven days of the lease or sale.

Political signs are also limited to the same dimensions and cannot be displayed until 45 days before the election.

The ordinance also covers the use of flags and flagpoles. According to the ordinance, flag poles cannot exceed 30 feet in height and must have a setback equal to the length of its flag. Flag height cannot exceed 20 feet or 25 per cent of the poles' length.

National, state, municipal, and school flags are permitted. Flags displaying official corporate logos or awards are also permitted.

Municipally owned flags and poles are exempt from the ordinance, which includes the pole in Kelllogg Park and in front of City Hall.

Loiselle said he based his vote on the addition of the flag segment and made a motion to have it removed from the ordinance. The motion was not supported.

"This is misplaced. It should be covered under the building code," said Loiselle. "I'm proposing dismissal of the whole paragraph. I can't vote for it like this."

Loiselle said his father, Jerry Loiselle, owner of Jerry's Bicycle Shop in Plymouth Township was denied a request to erect a 75 foot flag pole by township trustees based on specifications in the township's building codes.

Legislation to fight truancy

BY JOHN BRODERICK

Remember the days of skipping school and driving out to lunch, or to the lake?

Those days may be over soon, if some state lawmakers have their way.

People under the age of 18 who skip school, or have dropped out of school, could lose their driver's license, if two recently introduced bills become law.

One bill, introduced by State Representative Gerry Law (R-Plymouth) would prevent anyone under 18 from obtaining a driver's license without first proving that they were conforming to their school's attendance policy.

The second, introduced by Representative Michael Nye (R-Litchfield), would require the Secretary of State to suspend the driver's license of anyone who had dropped out of school. A person could have their license reinstated if they re-enrolled in school, with the intent of gaining a high school diploma, the bill states.

"My bill would say that before a person could get a driver's license, they would have to bring a form to the Secretary of State's office, that would show they are enrolled in school, and attending regularly," said Law.

"The only out would be if the person could prove that there was some sort of medical or economic hardship," he added. "The Nye bill is closely related, but comes at the problem from the other end. It says that if someone drops out of school, they would be called in and have their license suspended."

Law said that the initiative has been implemented successfully in a number of states, including California and West Virginia.

Plymouth-Canton Community

Schools Superintendent John M. Hoben said he thinks the idea is a good one.

"They sound like pretty good bills. If kids are not in school, they shouldn't really be out driving around," he said.

But Salem High School Junior Kerie O'Donnell said she thinks the idea is too extreme.

"That's ridiculous. They should do something else -- something -- that is more directly related to school," she said.

Canton Senior Rebecca Allison disagreed. "It sounds like a good idea to me. It seems that a lot of students really care about their cars -- maybe this will make them more concerned about going to school."

Law said that the bills are intended to keep people from dropping out of school.

"This may be enough of an incentive to keep some of those people who are on the borderline, in school until they graduate," he said. "People have to remember that a driver's license is not a right -- it is a privilege."

Trustees delay presentation

Howmet granted reprieve

BY PAUL GARGARO

Management at Howmet Corporation on Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth Township can rest a little easier this week now that township trustees have granted them a little breathing room.

Howmet, a manufacturer of jet engine parts, has been the target of noise and odor complaints from residents in the neighboring Arbor Village subdivision.

Months ago, similar complaints prompted trustees to move for a noise study to be conducted near the Howmet premises. The study determined that Howmet was not the area's dominant noise source.

In the wake of continuing neighborhood complaints, Township Planner James Anulewicz asked that all comments be made in writing for Howmet to respond to with formal plan of action to be presented to the board.

That action plan was originally supposed to have gone before the board on Feb. 28. At last Tuesday's meeting, however, trustees moved that the presentation be made on March 28.

"I want the Howmet implementation plan and the residents concerns, etc. in writing," said Anulewicz.

Motorcycle chase ends in collision

BY JOHN BRODERICK

A high-speed motorcycle chase through Canton ended in a collision with a Westland Police car early Friday morning.

Police thought two youths were fleeing the scene of an armed robbery at the Domino's Pizza on Sheldon Road near Warren, according to police spokesperson Dave Boljesic.

Shortly after midnight Thursday, police responded to a call stating that a white male had allegedly demanded money from a Domino's attendant. The suspect put his hand in his pocket and pointed, as if he had a gun, said police.

After seeing that the register was empty -- money had been deposited in a safe with no key on the premises -- the suspect fled north on Sheldon, on foot, Boljesic said.

At the scene, police said they heard a motorcycle start up a few blocks away. Reasoning that it may have been the suspect, police began pursuit northbound on Sheldon, and then eastbound on Joy Road, said Boljesic.

Police clocked the motorcycle at 90 miles per hour, added Boljesic.

The chase ended when the motorcycle struck a Westland Police car, near Newburgh Road. The Westland officer had been alerted to the chase and was waiting for the suspects, said Boljesic.

Boljesic said that there was no connection between the chase and the armed robbery.

The youths have not yet been charged, although Canton Police are considering charging them with reckless driving, said Boljesic.

Police said they have no suspects in the robbery.

Courts deem Tyburski competent for trial

BY KEN VOYLES

Leonard Tyburski was ruled competent to stand trial Thursday by 35th District Court Judge James Garber. Tyburski is being held in the 1985 slaying of his wife Dorothy Tyburski.

Garber "adopted" the conclusions of a psychiatric evaluation made by Michael Farra, which said Tyburski was "not likely to exhibit irrational behavior."

Garber read from the evaluation after the prosecution and defense agreed to waive the need for Farra's presence. In the report, Garber said, Tyburski was found capable of participating in his own defense in a "rational and responsible manner."

Garber added, "I adopt those conclusions (of the report) as conclusions of the court."

Garber also pushed back a preliminary examination date until March 2 at 1:30 p.m. in the 35th District Court.

Canton set to develop dispatch base

Canton's Public Safety Department will develop a base station for central dispatch following approval of a proposal last Tuesday by the Canton Board of Trustees.

The base station, which will be used once the new Enhanced 9-1-1 system is up in June, will allow the department to combine police and fire dispatch, according to Public Safety Director John Santomauro.

"This will help us consolidate our dispatch center," he said.

The station, and equipment to bring it on-line, will cost the township $5,345. The board unanimously approved the plan, 6-0. Treasurer Gerald Brown was not present at the meeting. Santomauro said the station was necessary with the coming of Enhanced 9-1-1.

That system will allow residents to call in emergencies over one easy to remember emergency line, which automatically displays the caller's phone number and address.

Excellence at stake

CBE tax opposition harms students

EDITOR:

This is my first-ever letter to the editor, and I am breaking the ice because the future of quality education in the Plymouth-Canton school district is in jeopardy.

I am a Christian who believes in the Bible. I oppose R-rated films and teaching the occult in classrooms. I do not always agree with the school board. I sympathize with concerns of Citizens for Better Education (CBE). I dislike taxes as much as anyone.

But CBE's reported opposition to a school tax hike in the district will only harm the students they are trying to protect. My third-grader is one.

Without a hike, more cuts will have to be made. More programs reduced. More classes eliminated. More excellence lost.

We already spend far less per pupil in this district than Dearborn, Livonia, Northville — or the State average. That fact alone is deplorable. It will become calamitous if voters fail to renew and increase millage and compensate for the loss of State revenues.

CBE ought to support the hike — for the kids' sake. So should the rest of the district. I certainly will.

I think my son is worth it.

Canton crime posts mixed stats

Major crime in Canton decreased about 12 per cent last year, Canton's Public Safety Director John Santomauro, told the Canton Board of Trustees last week.

But at the same time the department saw a jump in the number of "calls for service," that "being anything from getting a cat out of a tree to helping someone unlock their car door to responding to a fatal accident.

One thing Santomauro pointed out with pride was the shorter average response time achieved by police and fire units. It fell last year from five minutes to four and a half minutes.

There were more traffic violations in 1988 — 8,765 compared to 5,418 in 1987 — and the township's number of accidents climbed by nearly 14 per cent.

In the margin

By Ken Voyles

An interesting side note: Canton's detectives worked on a lot more extended investigations last year, resulting, surprisingly, in an increased number of complaints by residents unhappy over one thing or another.

Santomauro also told the board that there were 18 municipal vehicle accidents last year in the township, up from five the previous year. That tally includes all of the township's fleet, not just police and fire vehicles.

"We also had a fairly high success rate for closing cases," the chief said. "All of the officers are doing a good job."

Some of the other interesting items in the chief's report:

The "stolen property" classification rose a dramatic 300 per cent, while liquor law violations climbed 179 per cent.

Major decreases were seen in arson (down 40 per cent) and embezzlement (down 33 per cent). Also down some 29 per cent were burglaries in the township.

Looking at 1989, Santomauro said he wanted to continue developing the leadership training program for his department while also making improvements in other areas.

Memorial project moving along

JCs: thanks for Vietnam support

EDITOR:

The Plymouth Jaycees would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank the many businesses and individuals who helped us promote our two fundraisers to benefit the Korea/Vietnam Memorial project for the City of Plymouth.

Our sincere thanks go to the following businesses/individuals for their support and/or participation at the Hilton Inn on Feb. 10 and 11.

Steve Kregel and his staff of the Plymouth Hilton Inn; Benny and the Jets along with their manager Jerry Patlow; Jan Scruggs; Congressman Carl Pursell; Ron Griffiths - Plymouth Township Trustee; Channel 4; Oliver Lindsey of University Limousine; the Plymouth Sir Speedy Printing shop; the law firm of Lowe & Lewandowski; the law firm of Brunk & Jackson; Dave and Mandy Blake and Dave Coldsworthy of Simpson Granite; Carpenter Audio-Visual, Inc.; Dr. Stan Jenkins of Central Baptist Church; David 'Doc' Maloney of Vietnam Veterans of America Chap. 133, and anyone else who helped us support this cause, we thank you.

The Plymouth Jaycees have supported this event for the past seven months and we had hoped for more support from the residents of Plymouth, Canton and Northville. We feel that the supreme sacrifice made by those men from the area who gave their lives during the Korea and Vietnam Conflicts are very worthy of the planned Memorial to honor them.

The Plymouth Vietnam Veterans Association, Inc., which was formed to raise funds for this Memorial project is still accepting donations, please mail contributions to: P.V.V.A.; P.O. Box 292; Plymouth, MI 48170.

Clear the decks for school race

Voters have the unique opportunity to lay to rest the question that has caused all-too-much controversy in the past few years -- that of Citizens for Better Education (CBE), and how much community support the conservative Christian group really has.

A sure fire way to accomplish this is to allow the June school board election to be a litmus test of sorts -- with a CBE candidate, and a non-CBE candidate going head to head, each with a clearly defined position, and without a bunch of other, less defined candidates clouding the field.

So in other words, if you are thinking of running for the school board, don't. Please folks, if you just want to get involved, and figure you might as well throw your hat in the ring, please sit this one out.

There is one seat up for grabs. It is time for a showdown between a CBE candidate, and a non-CBE candidate.

Current board boss David Artley has declared early -- a smart move, that may help to keep the field small.

Artley is no doubt the non-CBE candidate. CBE will no doubt field a candidate. If CBE wins in a landslide then the issue will be settled, and all those folks screaming about academic freedom will know they've lost.

And if CBE loses? Well it is doubtful that they will give up their hope of ridding the schools of R-rated movies, and materials that "corrupt" our youth, or even their hope of taking over the school board.

But if they lose, then the people who think that CBE has been exaggerating claims of enormous community support, may just be proven right.

Congratulations Crier!

Citizens can count! Take Bill Dolinski

Still on his feet, dissatisfied Stahl Manufacturing neighbor Bill Dolinski continues to air his gripes at Plymouth City Commission meetings.

Life next door to an industrial eye sore creates new problems with each passing week. Dolinski, an Ann Street resident, knows this and he has made sure that the city commission knows it, too.

The Dolinskis (his wife also attends) have become familiar faces at commission meetings and his (Bill's) remarks during the citizen's comments portion of the agenda has become as routine as one of Commissioner Mary Childs' reports.

In the early battles of the war between Stahl and its residential neighbors, the commission saw its share of hot heads lambaste the city and Stahl.

Dolinski has always been a leader, but he's managed to retain his cool. His presentations to the board are controlled -- strained at the very worst.

"The river in front of my house is getting larger and larger....." he began on Monday.

Thus far Dolinski's complaints have ranged from excess noise and trash from the still unpaved Stahl parking lot, and water-run off onto his yard and into his basement -- not to mention the uncounted number of times Dolinski's driveway has been blocked by plant truck traffic.

The complaints rage on and Dolinski remains before the commission. Over the months, the city has forced Stahl into compliance with building codes. Loading docks and parking lot retaining walls are in their proper places.

Regardless, violations of peaceful co-existence remain and it should be noted that Stahl's attendance at commission meetings has been far less than noteworthy.

Property deals between Stahl and Dolinski remain a mystery, but the ugly gap between the two is still wide open. The war drags on.

Last week, Stahl complained to the city for notifying the Department of Natural Resources about the contents of its yard.

Tough luck, Stahl, come to the meetings and make yourself seen and heard like some of your disgruntled neighbors.

Take a lesson from Bill Dolinski.

Voss towed us out of jams

Ambulance chasers -- police, firemen, reporters, and lawyers -- all knew Bud Voss.

B and B towing was the on-call 24-hours-a-day savior of many a teenager stuck on a dirt road, the unfortunate crashed folks, little old ladies with dead batteries, and stranded truck drivers with flat tires.

Often, when the little old lady or the teenager didn't have much money, Bud wouldn't take a cent.

When a Detroit television station was in Plymouth not long ago to do a live remote, the camera man locked the keys inside the mobile studio (with the 11 o'clock hour rapidly approaching). It was Bud to the rescue -- and he wouldn't take money for it, believing it was a community PR gesture.

Although he'd served stints as a Plymouth policeman and fireman, was a good father and husband, Bud will be remembered by Plymouth-Canton folks "big" and "small" for his odd-hours rescues with a tow truck. Some even had the fortune to share a few minutes of local gossip and history with Bud sitting in the B and B office which looks as close to a towing company headquarters as any movie set ever could.

Featured in last year's Industry and Commerce Section, Bud philosophized with a Crier reporter sitting around the B and B shed about the danger of drunk drivers and his belief that everyone should wear seat belts. "Probably our biggest problem with accidents are drunk drivers. The majority of our calls are directly related to drunks," he was quoted then.

Bud hadn't been well lately, but he went into the office every day he could. He just decided it was time.

And while his son and son-in-law continued the B and B tradition, a lot of folks will miss old Bud himself.

He'll be one of the many who've entered Plymouth lore -- the boy of stories passed on.

Local film producers explore tough issues

BY KEN VOYLES

It's the story of a man who found out he had cancer, forcing him to confront his own mortality and re-evaluate what is really important in one's life.

What Dr. Fred Lee, a world-renowned radiologist at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital who discovered he had prostate cancer, found out is that helping people deal with the disease can be as important as understanding the nuts and bolts of cancer.

Lee's story, and that of other cancer sufferers, is dramatically portrayed in a 30-minute documentary conceived and produced by three local high school graduates -- Scott and George Adler and Claud Brown. The fourth member of the team, which recently completed filming of "Living with Cancer: The Windstorms of Life," is Susan Gardner.

"The focus from the start was based on the emotional way Lee dealt with cancer," said George Adler, 31, and a Canton High School graduate who currently lives in Ann Arbor. "We focus on the emotional and philosophical issues. Our major intent was to have this reach people with cancer."

Scott conceived the project, but Claud and George took over on the technical side of things with much needed help from Gardner.

"Basically it was a lot of long nights," said Scott, 26, and a 1980 Canton graduate who works for Catherine McAuley. "We'd identify the themes and then debate it. Most of the time we agreed."

Brown, 33, agrees. "A lot of this was meeting together and working as a team." The Plymouth High School graduate runs Ann Arbor Video Productions along with the elder Adler. The outfit is owned by Barb Masters, a Canton teacher who gave all three their first taste of film work.

The documentary they put together is currently being looked at by Public

Broadcast System (PBS) stations in New York and Boston, as well as a cancer support program known as I Can Cope.

"We think this is a very human story, applicable to even the general public," said Scott, who added that they are trying to find a sponsor to help make the film available on a regional or national level.

The film was conceived in 1986 when the Adler brothers huddled over some ideas they thought they might want to pursue on film. They had heard of Dr. Lee and after conducting a preliminary interview realized there were ideas and issues worth putting on film.

"Fred (Lee) has turned prostate cancer detection on its head. He's world-renowned," said Scott.

Following the interview the group began putting together a grant proposal, which was submitted to Burel and Kjaer, a medical technology company in Boston. By June of 1987 they had a commitment from the company for $75,000.

"We made several versions," said Brown. "The first couple were more about his research but as time went by it seemed there was more potential for reaching people who had cancer and using Fred's attitude toward cancer as an inspiration."

One person interview during more than 10 hours of interviews, was Elisabeth Kubler-Ross, an author well known for "On Death and Dying," and one who rarely grants interviews.

A core theme of the project, according to the Adlers and Brown, is that suffering reveals character. That's why the metaphor of "windstorms" plays an important part throughout the story.

Besides looking for encouragement from PBS, the local film makers are also trying to gain the support of the American Cancer Society, which is currently reviewing the film.

If that happened the film would become a part of the vast cancer information network, a network that leaves much to be desired when it comes to update information not on the technical aspects of cancer but the human and emotional side of the story.

"Our hope is they endorse it and buy it to distribute," said Scott, who added that the film is "Star Wars" compared to a lot of the out-of-date slide presentations currently available for cancer support groups.

Much of the reaction to the first documentary effort by the foursome has been positive. That may be because they tried to go beyond the technical chains of the subject and tell a more emotional, human story.

And as film documentaries go (giving a nod here to local Oscar winner Pam Conn) "Windstorms" has those qualities.

"This whole project has been blessed from the start," said Scott.

Resident aids special olympics

Matt Pilon, of Plymouth, is among a select group of 120 Central Michigan University students who will serve as volunteers during the 1989 Michigan Special Olympics State Winter Games.

The games -- to be held through Friday at Sugar Loaf Mountain Resort -- brings together more than 800 mentally impaired athletes for competition in skiing, snowshoeing, figure skating and speed skaing.

Pilon, a sophomore at Central, will help out during the snowshoeing competition. He is the son of Phyllis Scholl, of Plymouth, and Thomas Pilon, of Canton.

"We depend heavily on this group of student volunteers from CMU," said Cindy Piletic, a special Olympics training coordinator.

Dance contest winner

Dawnell Dryja, a student at Joanne's Dance Extension of Plymouth, was named Petite Miss Dance of Michigan, Jan. 22 at the Michigan Inn in Southfield.

Along with the title and crown, she won scholarships for classes and cash to cover expenses for a national competition to be held in Portland, Oregon.

Huisman gets Rotary award

Sherry Huisman of Canton, a student at Madonna College, was one of three recipients of the Rotary Club Scholarship.

Huisman, a second semester graduate student in the master's program at Madonna, received her bachelor's degree in Computer Information Systems in 1988. She is currently working full time at Unisys Corporation as a computer programmer during her graduate schooling.

Getting down to business

Resident makes personal accounting easier

BY KEN VOYLES

Jim Walling has a pet idea. The 39-year-old owner of Focused Marketing Systems, Inc. in Canton has developed a hand held computer -- Personal Expense Tracker (PET) -- for business people trying to organize their expenses.

"I always thought expense tracking could be automated," said Walling, who has lived in Canton for 15 years. "It was born out of my own experiences and is the only one of its kind as far as I know."

The unique system, which will eventually be marketed to companies and individuals, was first developed last June, said Walling. It is currently being evaluated by 30 companies across the country.

Walling, who once traveled 20,000 miles in one month when he worked for Alumax Aluminium Company in Chicago, said keeping track of expenses has always been a "chore" for business people.

"Most of us have a form to fill out, but we don't take it with us or we forget to fill it out until after we come back from the trip," Walling said. "This stays with you all the time and when there is an expense you can record it immediately and store it for later."

The PET can track 25 different expense areas, said Walling, from car mileage, to entertainment, food, lodging, and rental expenses. It also stores notes, appointments, phone numbers and a variety of other essential business functions.

The system includes a software

Travel tips

Jim Walling, of Canton, displaying his PET -- a new invention to help business people keep track of their expenses.

package which helps transfer data from the PET to a personal computer and into a company's main files. It can then generate a variety of reports which can cover one person's expenses or that of a whole department. It can also track by the week, month or year.

Walling hopes to start production on the PET in the near future, and is currently seeking venture capital to make that possible.

"We started on this last June and by August we had a prototype," he said. "We did a survey on it and then made some design changes."

Though typically a product can take up to 18-20 months to develop, by January this year Walling had a testable PET, one in which several companies were showing some interest. Walling is now in the process of filing a patent application for PET.

"We have a very nice future planned," he said. "And we're in the process right now of seeking venture capital to make the PET happen."

Walling, who graduated from the University of Detroit with degrees in marketing and business, said PET will cost around $400-$500 when it goes on the market. The cost includes the unit itself, a computer hook-up and the software package to process the data.

The company, which is owned by Walling and his wife Joni, has already constructed 65 PETs for use in test marketing.

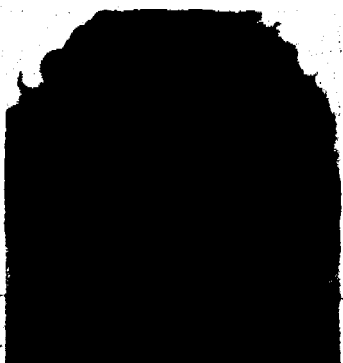

A adjunct professor at Madonna College in Livonia and a member of the Central Michigan University teaching staff, Walling is familiar with the marketing of a product, but this is the first time he has ventured into the field of developing his own product.

In the long run, Walling said the PET may be just the answer for people who hate to do expense reports and who work for firms which need better, more accurate information to manage travel expenses.

"It can eliminate those expense sheets people hate," said Walling, who added that the name PET came out of a lengthy "brainstorm" session with his wife.

New ordinance

"I really agree with 99 per cent of this sign ordinance, but are you supposed to vote "yes" because you kind of agree?" asked Loiselle.

Local realtor Robert Bake also expressed some dissatisfaction with the ordinance on Monday and at a commission study session last Wednesday.

"It's not as strong as it should be," said Bake. "I wanted to see us have more control over the subjective areas of the ordinance."

Gansler, however, maintained that any further restrictions, like a designated sign review board, would hurt business.

As it stands, all signs proposals will be submitted with site plans for planning commission approval. Applications for variance will be handled by the zoning board of appeals.

Non-conforming signs must be modified by Dec. 31, 1996.

Schoolcraft to host chef's seminar

Schoolcraft College will host the First Annual Chef's Seminar on Monday, March 6, in Schoolcraft's culinary demonstration labs on campus.

A gathering of prominent chefs and knowledgeable people in related fields will present this seminar which is expected to appeal to sophisticated cooks as well as aspiring chefs.

Eight separate sessions, each lasting one and one-half hours, enable professionals to share cooking secrets and expertise with participants. Foods will be taste tested, recipes will be handed out, and there will be a question and answer session in each session.

Heading the eight workshops are Executive Chef Duglass (Brasserie Duglass in Southfield); Certified Master Chef Michael D. Russel (The Kingsley Inn in Bloomfield Hills); Certified Master Chef Milos Cihelka (The Golden Mushroom in Southfield); Executive Chef Ed Janos (Chez Raphael in Novi); and Executive Chef Bryan Gawlas (Jaques Restaurant in Birmingham).

Subjects covered at the seminar will include low-sodium, low cholesterol, low-fat foods to wild game preparation, current trends in entrees, desserts, wines, cooking tools, and starting a restaurant.

For further information and a brochure, interested persons should call Schoolcraft College Continuing Education Services at 462-4448. The seminar fee is $150 and includes lunch.

The seminar is open to the public.

The Plymouth Family Support Groups of the Alzheimer's Association will meet on March 1 at 1 p.m. and again on March 6 at 7 p.m. at the Arbor Health Center in the City of Plymouth.

The support group is for family and friends of those afflicted with Alzheimer's disease.

For more information call 557-8277.

Michigan natives hold picnic

Plymouth residents who happen to be in Florida on March 7 may find just a little piece of home at the annual picnic of the Plymouth Michigan Sunshine Club.

The Sunshine Club is made up of former Plymouth residents who now live in Florida. This will be the 32nd annual picnic, and nearly 200 guests are expected.

Plymouth residents and friends are invited to join the party. It will be held at Highlands Hammock State Park, off U.S. 27, near Sebring, FL, at 634 West.

The picnic kicks off in the morning, with a big meal planned at 1 p.m. Shelters will be available and there is camping in the park and motel space nearby.

To stay in the park call 813-385-0011 for a reservation.

Roy and Berniece Bennett, of Ft. Myers, who recently sent out about 200 postcards invitations, said they are expecting a good turnout this year.

It is suggested that picnic goers bring a covered dish, their own table service and a beverage. Barbeques will be provided.

Women's issues discussed

"The Feminine Touch" will be presented at First Baptist Church in Canton, on March 10-11. Pat Quesbury, founder of the seminar, will be present to address the questions facing today's women. The cost is $20 until Feb. 26, and $25 for late registrations. For more information contact the church office at 981-6460.

Celebrate Mardi Gras at S'craft

The second annual Mardi Gras Celebration, sponsored by Schoolcraft College's Music Department, is slated for March 3-4 at 7:30 p.m. in the Waterman Campus Center.

Members of the SCool Jazz choir will lead the celebration at 7:30 p.m. each night.

Trumpet fanfares will herald each course of a New Orleans Creole style dinner, including seafood gumbo, catfish, red beans and sweet potato pie.

Following dinner will be a performance by the jazz group.

Tickets are $22.50 each. For further information call 462-4452.

Training for Women's Resource Center

The Schoolcraft College Women's Resource Center is looking for women interested in participating in volunteer training to attend a group informational meeting at the center on Monday, Feb. 27 at 10 a.m.

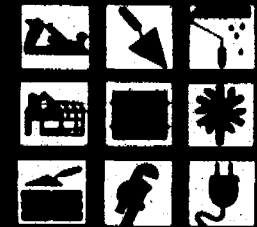

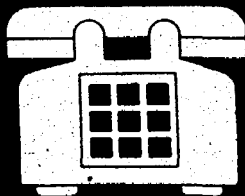

Beginning in March, an eight-week training course will be offered from 9 a.m. to noon on Mondays and Wednesdays.

Designed for those interested in helping people develop their potential, participants will learn how to develop listening and communication skills as well as problem solving techniques. Upon completion of the training sessions, they are requested to serve as volunteer peer counselors three hours a week for a minimum of four months.

For an appointment or for further information, call 462-4443 or visit the center.

CEP tumblers have a winning week

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

It was a clear-cut victory for the Canton Chiefs Monday night when they defeated Farmington, 127.05-120.0.

Canton swept two events in their domineering win over the Falcons.

Johanna Anderson led the way for the Chiefs taking a first place in the vault (8.4). Heather Murphy took second (8.15) with Danielle Mirto. Sandi Sherwin and Dawn Clifford all tied for third (8.1).

Canton also had first, second, and a third on the beam. Clifford was first (8.4) and Anderson was next for the Chiefs (8.2). Kelly Fortier wrapped up the clean sweep taking third (7.4).

On the uneven bars, Clifford earned a second (8.25), Murphy had a fifth (7.7) and Shannon Connel garnered a sixth (7.5).

Anderson earned her second first-place finish of the meet in the floor exercise with a score of 8.35. Murphy placed third (8.25) and Mirto was fourth (8.1).

It was again the trio of Clifford, Anderson and Murphy that placed in the all around competition for the Chiefs with scores of 32.55, 32.10 and 31.20 respectively.

"We had a decent night," said Canton coach John Cunningham. "They (Anderson, Clifford and Murphy) each had a weak event, but did well in the rest."

Canton also competed in the Freeland Invitational on Saturday placing eighth in the 15 team competition with a score of 129.40.

"I was pleased with our performance in the meet," said Cunningham.

On the vault, Anderson was the highest placing Chief in 19th place (8.4).

While on the uneven bars, Clifford and Murphy led the Chiefs by sharing 22nd place (8.0). Murphy again led the Chiefs in the beam event earning a 14th place and a score of 8.45.

In floor exercises, Anderson placed 17th (8.7), with Murphy not far behind in 19th place (8.65).

The trio who led the Chiefs in all around against Farmington also led Canton in the invitational. Murphy was 19th (33.05), in 20th place was Anderson (32.90) and at the 22nd position was Clifford (32.65).

Canton's next challenge will come against powerhouse North Farmington on Wednesday at North Farmington.

"Actually they've been a little inconsistent," said Cunningham. "But I'm still probably in trouble."

The meet starts at 7 p.m.

Rocks beat Harrison, 122.2-112.75

Salem tumblers taste victory

BY RITA DERBIN

The Salem girls gymnastics team finally had a taste of conference victory on Monday. The Rocks downed Farmington Harrison, 122.2-112.75 to win their first conference meet of the season.

Leading the Rocks were Autumn Bunch who was first all-around with (33.8) and Dana Holda who came in second all around (30.5)

In individual events, Bunch was second on vault (8.4), and first on bars (7.75), beam (8.75) and the floor exercise (8.9).

Holda was third on vault (8.35), second on bars (7.4) and fourth on floor (7.7).

Other high scorers for Salem were Robin Breed, second on floor (8.05); Aimee Wong who was fourth on vault (7.9); Lisa Wietfeld, fifth on vault (7.8); Kerry Savola, third on beam (7.45) and Jenny Skylakos, who was fourth on beam (7.2) and third on floor (7.8).

"We looked pretty good," said Salem coach Kathi Kinsella. "We need a little more work and concentration before we're ready for regionals ... but the scores are coming up."

"We also have to work on our routines and use the next three matches to get ready," Kinsella added.

The Rocks tumbled to Northville on Thursday, losing 134.2-122.8.

Dana Holda led the Salem gymnastics team with two second place finishes in the vault (8.4) and on the beam (8.2). Holda also had a 7.9 on bars and took fourth place in the all around with 32.1 points.

Autumn Bunch competed against Northville after missing the Canton meet with a fractured foot and finished second on the floor with an 8.9 and fourth on bars (8.0) and beam (7.7). She did not compete in the vault.

Other high scorers for Salem included Jenny Skylakos and Aimee Wong who tied for fifth in Vault with a 7.8, and Sue Farmer who finished fifth on the floor with an 8.4.

"Northville had four girls who got over 30 points in the all around," said coach Kathi Kinsella. "They were very good but I'm pleased with the improvements my team made. They did much better than last week against Canton."

The Rocks will compete in their last regular season home meet tomorrow at 7 p.m. against Walled Lake Western before travelling to Trenton for their last regular season meet on Monday.

Rocks win playoff

PG. 19 THE COMMUNITY CHIEF: February 22, 1989

BY RITA DERBIN

Despite a special defense designed to neutralize Jeff Elliott, the Rocks stopped Livonia Churchill in its tracks on Friday, 62-48.

After the first round playoff victory, the Salem basketball team was 16-2.

"Churchill's special defenses held him to nine points," Salem coach Bob Brodie commented on Elliott, the team's leading scorer, who has been averaging over 20 points per game. "So we just gave the ball to different people and everyone scored. We wanted to prove that we weren't a one-man team."

Jake Baker picked up the slack with 20 points, nine rebounds and four blocked shots in the game which featured an inside attack by the Rocks.

Jeff Gold had 10 points for the Rocks and Jeff Jagacki led the team with 11 rebounds. Matt Kluckevick (11 points) and Jayson Belaire (10 points) were in double digits for the Churchill Chargers.

"I felt good about the way we played defensively," said Brodie. "We weren't shooting from the perimeter. We were going inside and drawing fouls."

The Rocks took advantage of their inside game and converted 24 of 29 foul shots.

Last night Salem travelled to Livonia Franklin for the second round of the playoffs. The winner of that game will face the winner of the Westland John Glenn/Farmington Harrison game in conference finals on Saturday.

The conference playoffs resume at Salem's gym beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday. The championship game will be at 8 p.m.

Canton hoops stopped

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

It was a heart-breaking loss for the Canton boys hoop squad on Friday when the John Glenn Rockets pulled off an overtime win against the Chiefs, 79-77.

It was the first round of the conference playoffs for the Chiefs, and the second time Canton has lost to John Glenn this season.

Brian Paupore led the game in scoring for the Chiefs with a season-high 31 points. Troy Waldron added 20 points, while both Fernando Johnson and Geoff Allen contributed eight points each to Canton's losing effort.

Paupore had 10 points in the first half before removing the protective nose guard he wears to protect the broken nose he suffered against Farmington Harrison earlier in the season.

John Glenn made their first six shots of the game to put them ahead, it was a lead that switched hands a number of times before the final buzzer.

"They (Glenn) shot the ball well," said Canton coach Tom Niemi. "We played an excellent ball game. We just came out on the losing side."

"It was a real good high school basketball game," he added.

The conference championship is a three-game playoff, so while Chiefs are unable to win the league title, they still a chance to better their position in the league standings.

Canton played North Farmington yesterday at Canton, and will play again at home on Saturday.

Canton to compete for division

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

With Thursday's win over John Glenn in the past, the Canton boys swim team is concentrating on tomorrow's division championship against Livonia Churchill.

Canton, 8-3 overall and 5-1 in the conference, beat John Glenn 95-77.

Scott Swartzwelter, Jeff Homan, Mark Levesque and Mitch Timberlake combined for a first-place finish in the 200-yard medley relay (1:46.21) for the Chiefs.

Swartzwelter also captured a first place in the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 1:01.40.

With the 200-yard medley relay safely under his belt, Homan along with Jim Hartnett, Steve Geddes and Mike Helmstadter swam to a first place in the 400-yard freestyle relay (3:30.92).

Homan earned his third first-place finish when he swam the 500-yard freestyle in 5:06.8.

With a time of 56.36, Bryce Anderson garnered a first place in the 100-yard butterfly.

With the Glenn meet behind them, Canton can now concentrate on winning a division title, said Canton coach Hooker Wellman.

The Chiefs have worn the Western Division crown for two years in a row, and according to Wellman they will wear it again this year.

"It (the meet versus the Chargers) will give us another chance to swim some of our second and third swimmers," said Wellman. "They're (Churchill) not a real strong team."

"But they'll come at us with everything they have," he added.

The title showdown starts at 7 p.m.

"Fun in the Sun"

Plymouth-Canton gymnasts stood tall in Gym America Club of Ann Arbor's Class II Optional "Fun in the Sun" Invitational Meet on January 28 and 29.

Katie Gilles, of Plymouth, finished sixth on the vault, third on the balance beam, and seventh all-around. Canton resident Kim Berres placed third all-around, with second-place finishes on the bars and the beam.

In other gymnastics news, Plymouth Township resident Rebecca Allison competed in the United Association of Independent Gymnastics Clubs meet in Bay City. Allison, a Class I gymnast, was one of four competitors to qualify for the regional meet to be held in Cleveland this spring.

Success in the regional competition would mean a berth in the national meet to be held in Las Vegas this June. Allison was a national competitor last year.

Salem tankers make a splash against Chargers

BY RITA DERBIN

Livonia Churchill was the victim of a Rock onslaught last week. Not only did the Salem basketball team defeat the Chargers, the Salem swim team also did a number on them Thursday night with a 112-60 victory.

The Rocks are now 9-2 overall and 3-1 in the Lakes Division.

Both relay teams took first-places for Salem. The 200-yard relay team of Sean Fitzgerald, Mark Erickson, Ron Orris and Fred Seidelman had a time on 1:45.85; and the 400-yard freestyle relay of Mike Axford, Rick Steshetz, Chris Caloia and Mike Hill finished with a time of 3:31.92.

Individual first-place finishes were: Axford in the 200-yard freestyle (1:58.44); Hill in the 50-yard freestyle (22.84) and 100-yard freestyle (50.09); Rob Shimmel in the 100-yard butterfly (59.80); and Orris in the 500-yard freestyle (4:46.39) and 100-yard backstroke (56.35).

The Rocks also had several second-place finishers: diver Pat McManaman (204.55 points); Seidelman in the 200-yard individual medley (2:11.62) and 100-yard freestyle (50.58); Erickson in the 100-yard breaststroke (1:10.11); Steshetz in the 50-yard freestyle (23.73); Eric Bunch in the 100-yard butterfly (1:00.90) and Chris Butzlaff in the 100-yard backstroke (1:02.82).

The swim team also had a chance to compete as individuals in a meet sponsored by the Michigan High School Swim Coaches Association Saturday at Eastern Michigan University. The meet included 24 teams.

Orris took two individual first-place finishes in the 200-yard individual medley (1:57.42) and the 100-yard butterfly (53.35). He, along with teammates Seidelman, Hill and Steshetz, also won the 400-yard freestyle relay (3:17.96)

Other results included the 200-yard medley relay of Butzlaff, Bryan Keppen, Seidelman and Hill, who came in sixth place with a time of 1:45.35; and Hill, who came in fourth in the 100-yard freestyle (49.63).

The Rocks will end the regular season at home tomorrow night against Livonia Stevenson. The meet will begin at 7 p.m.

Salem will also host the conference meet next week. Preliminaries will be Wednesday at 2 p.m.; diving will be Thursday at 3:30 p.m. and the finals will be on Friday at 6 p.m.

Salem grapplers compete at states

BY RITA DERBIN

The wrestling season is over at Salem High School.

Three Rocks traveled to the state meet in Battle Creek last Saturday and did not go as far as intended.

Senior Ed Bartlage (140 lbs.) was eliminated after losing his first two matches to Brother Rice's Jason Lerdahl and Clint Stevenson from Benton Harbor.

"He had a real good senior year," said coach Ron Krueger. "And should be proud that he made it to the state meet."

Juniors Steve and Brian Burlison fared a little better but neither could break into the finals.

Steve (160 lbs.), a two-time state qualifier, defeated Rick Linnell from West Bloomfield in the first round then was defeated by the eventual state champion Dean Moscovic from Brother Rice (It was a real close match," said Krueger. "Burlison scored nine points but couldn't beat him.") He was then eliminated by Clio's Jerry Young in the third round.

"The kids that beat Steve were seniors," observed Krueger. "I'm looking for next year to be Steve's year."

Brian Burlison (171 lbs.) also won.

PCJBL fights out in division

After last week's action in the Plymouth-Canton Junior Basketball Association (PCJBA), divisional races remain tight.

In the Boys AA League, the Suns, the Celtics, the Rockets, and the Lakers all have claim to first place with records of 4-3. They are followed by the Kings, 3-4, and the Pistons 2-5.

Last week, the Celtics crushed the Pistons, 73-71; the Lakers drowned the Rockets, 74-64; the Kings burned the Suns, 73-63; the Rockets stopped the Pistons, 79-72; the Lakers topped the Suns, 74-64; and the Celtics crowned the Kings, 70-66.

In the Girls B League, the Rockets remain tops with an 8-1 record. The Kings and Celtics share claim to second place with a record of 6-3, followed by the Lakers at 3-6.

In action last week, the Kings reigned over the Suns, 34-27; the Rockets pounded the Lakers, 42-29; and the Celtics dominated the Pistons, 47-31.

The Celtics hold first place in the Girls AAA League with 7-1 record. They are followed by the Kings, 4-4, and the Lakers, 3-5.

In games last week, the Kings kicked the Pistons, 48-34; the Celtics downed the Lakers, 48-32; and the Pistons, 45-29; and the Kings clipped the Lakers, 43-25.

In the American Division of the Boys B League, the Sonics maintain a perfect record of 9-0, followed by the Nets, 7-2, and the Lakers, 5-4.

The Bucks, the Pacers, and the Hawks all claim first in the National Division. They are followed by the Celtics, 6-3, and the Jazz, 4-5.

his first match by defeating Kyle Kares of Grand Ledge. He then lost to John Zolikoff of Granville in the second round. He came back to defeat William McFadden of Lansing Sexton in the third round before being eliminated by Mac McCabe before he could reach the finals.

"Brian lost to the third and fourth place finishers this year," said Krueger. "And will have to work very hard to get ready for next year because there are a couple juniors coming back in his weight division."

Overall, however, Krueger was proud of his whole team's season. "We won more matches than ever before," Krueger said. "We were 23-2, losing only the first one to Hazel Park and last one to Detroit Catholic Central in the regionals last Wednesday."

Between the first and last loss, the Rocks won the league and district meets along with the Novi, North Farmington, and Riverview tournaments.

"The boys did real well and I'm happy with the season," Krueger said. "There are only three seniors on the team so we should come back strong next year."

On the three senior -- Bartlage, Mike Schumate (130 lbs.), and Craig

Action last week saw the Nets defeat the Spurs, 67-44; the Sonics charge ahead of the Lakers, 73-57; the Rockets pound the 76ers, 66-50; the Knicks dethrone the Kings, 63-37; the Bucks trounced the Jazz, 49-34; the Bulls kicked the Suns, 43-31; the Hawks soar over the Pistons, 40-33; and the Pacers clip the Celtics, 32-29.

Seniors lead Rocks netters

BY RITA DERBIN

With all the seniors playing, the Salem volleyball team won their last home match of the season against Farmington on Monday, 15-10, 15-13. The Rocks are now 16-11.

"We did okay," said Salem coach Betty Smith. "We had a 10-2 lead in the first game and allowed Farmington to come back a little ... and then played from behind to win the second game and match."

Maria Wordhouse had three kills in the match and Asaka Motoyama had six of 10 kills and Colleen Lawrence had five of eight.

On Wednesday the Rocks travelled to Westland and were defeated by the John Glenn Rockets, 12-15, 15-13, 15-4.

Maria Wordhouse led Salem in service aces with five. Kaori Saga added three in the losing effort.

On the attack, the most consistent hitter on the team was Wordhouse who had nine kills in 37 attempts.

"The first game was touch and go," said coach Betty Smith. "The second game was the same way but we missed a couple serves after the game was tied 12-12, and lost momentum."

Richardson (112 lbs.) -- Krueger said: "They have been good captains and hard working kids. I'm going to miss them ... We can never replace the seniors we just have to pick up the slack. And we've got good kids who can do that."

Krueger also wanted to thank all the parents who helped with the tournaments and districts through the year. He also wanted to thank his assistant coaches: Larry Phillips, Larry Fidge and Greg Wochuk.

Another wrestler Krueger was watching at the state meet was the defending heavyweight champion, who also happens to be his son, Lee.

Long season concludes for Chiefs grapplers

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

"A learning situation" That's how first-year Canton wrestling coach Ray Kossakowski summed up the Chiefs' 1988-89 season.

Canton started the season with 55 wrestlers but lost a lot along the way.

At the start of the season Kossakowski looked for Liam Rentz (sophomore), Scott Swartzinski (senior), Tim Nardini (junior), Mike Golchuk (senior) and Mike Kelly (senior) to be standouts in the program.

But that when the season was in full swing, he had quite a few surprises.

"I chose those guys because they had the most experience," said Kossakowski. "But some kids came on this season that I never expected."

Chris Capilini and Nick Purzer were two that pleasantly surprised Kossakowski, the coach said.

The Chiefs ended the season with an

The younger Krueger, a senior at Catholic Central who has committed to go to the University of Wisconsin in the fall, defended his title with victories in four straight matches. Lee, who finished fourth in the state as a freshman, sixth as a sophomore and first as a junior, began the day by defeating Todd Galley of Waterford Kettering on a technical fault. He then defeated Ben Hondrop of Grand Rapids Union on a pin and Ziam Cunmulhalaj of North Farmington, 7-4 to set up a rematch with the wrestler he beat in the regional finals, Paul Nowicki of Romulus. In the championship match, Lee defended his title by beating Nowicki, 7-4, in overtime.

overall dual meet record of 3-4, and 1-4 mark in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA).

At the beginning of the season Kossakowski said the team had a good base, but he said it broke down midseason.

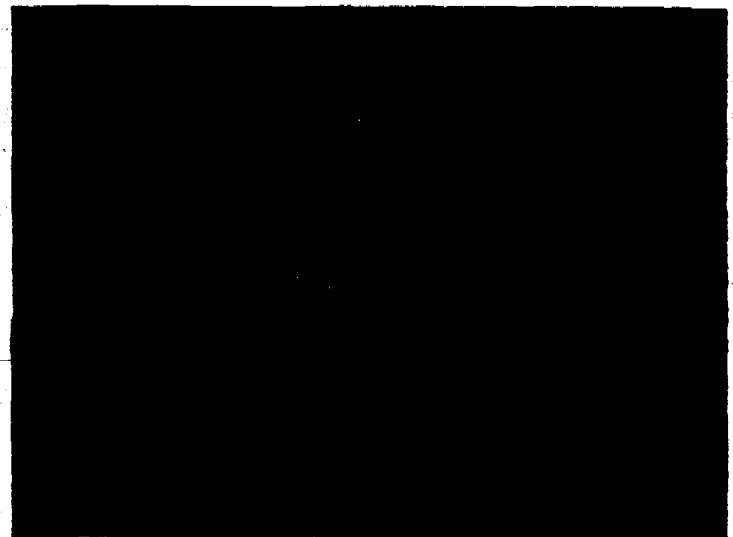

What will the coach do differently next season?

"Get away from the injuries with discipline and hard work," said Kossakowski.

He also said that next year's team leaders will play a bigger role in the success of the squad.

Kossakowski also pointed to the success of this year's J.V. team, which he said he hopes to capitalize on when selecting next year's varsity team.

"I'm happy with our season," said Kossakowski. "but disappointed for the kids because they look at the win-loss record instead of the base we created."

The third game of the match was all John Glenn. "They took us for a ride after we lost the momentum in the second game," said Smith.

The Rocks will travel to Livonia

Stevenson tonight to play their last regular season match at 6:30. They will then compete in the conference meet which will be held at Walled Lake on Saturday.

Senior transportation available

Recent additions have expanded local transportation options for seniors and commuters.

Newest on the the list is University Limousine Service.

Operating on a federal grant, University Limo runs a shuttle between Plymouth, Canton, and Ann Arbor. One way fare is $1.

University Limo owner Oliver Lindsay said the service has just begun in the area and includes stops at Plymouth's Catherine McAuley Arbor Health Center, Plymouth's Tonquish Manor, and St. John Neumann Catholic Church in Canton.

The service operates from 7:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. on weekdays.

Oliver's 16-person bus makes regular stops at St. Joseph's Hospital (Riechert Professional Building) in Ypsilanti, the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor, Greenhills School and Domino Farms, both in Ann Arbor, and Westland Mall.

Reservations should be made 24 hours in advance through University Limousine Service at 455-5858.

Another transportation option is provided through Child and Family Services of Washtenaw. Seniors aged 55 and up or physically handicapped people can use the home pick-up service and be taken wherever they want within a 10-mile radius.

According to director Ann Harris, the program is available to resident of Plymouth City and Township and costs $1 each way. Harris added that the van is equipped with a lift to handle wheelchairs.

For reservations and questions call 455-7873.

Another option in Plymouth is the Community Van Service, which operates on weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

City of Plymouth Housing Director Sharon Thomas said the service will pick up city and township seniors aged 62 or older and drive them anywhere within the two communities. The fare is subsidized by the township for its residents, but costs 25 cents for city residents.

The van is not equipped with a chair lift.

Reservations are requested one day in advance and can be made by calling 455-7873.

Also available to City of Plymouth seniors aged 60 or older is the Dial-A-Ride taxi service, which operates around the clock, seven days a week.

The service will take seniors throughout the participating communities of Farmington, Farmington Hills, Livonia, Northville, Northville Township, and anywhere within the City of Plymouth.

The fare is 90 cents for the first three miles and $1 for every mile after that.

Thomas said questions on any of the programs could be answered by calling 455-7873.

For seniors sharing the cab, the cost remains at 90 cents per mile. For information call 421-1100.

Public Works study planned

Bartell and Bartell will undertake a management study of the Canton Department of Public Works, Community and Economic Development and Building Department.

The study, approved by the Canton Board of Trustees last Tuesday, will be the first "in-depth" look at those departments in the past eight years, according to Supervisor Tom Yack.

Yack added that the management study will be used to help improve efficiency in the three departments, as was the case when Bartell and Bartell completed a study of the township's police and fire departments.

He also said an "organizational blueprint" may be developed to assist in any future decision making.

The study will be completed at a cost of $47,314, said Yack.

"Bartell and Bartell has provided us excellent studies and reports in the past," said Trustee John Prenczyk, who added that the scope of the study may be as wide-ranging as the one done for the Canton Public Safety

Department. Dan Durack, Canton's personnel director, told the board that Bartell and Bartell will "do a good job for you" and produce a "top notch" report.

Canton controversy brews

BY JOHN BRODERICK

A controversy has erupted on the Canton Board of Trustees, after the body awarded contracts to certain companies without securing bids from others.

The board was to take action last night on waiving the rule that requires competitive bids to be sought before awarding any contract over $3,000, said Canton Supervisor Tom Yack.

Last Tuesday, the board passed a motion to award a $4,500 contract to the Public Administration Research Group (PARG), to coordinate promotion and publicity for the upcoming Canton Challenge Sports Festival. PARG is partially owned by Bill Joyner, Yack's campaign manager in the last election.

The board voted 4-2 in favor of the contract, with trustees Elaine Kirchgatter, and Henry Whalen opposing, and Gerry Brown absent.

Whalen raised questions about the firm's "track record" at the meeting.

Canton's Superintendent for Parks and Recreation Michael Gouin said that although the firm is new, Joyner and co-owner Cynthia Burgess were experienced in public relations and are very familiar with the community.

Joyner, when asked if the awarding of the contract was a political payback, said, "No, they came to me, and asked if we would do it. I deal entirely with Gouin, not Yack."

"Isn't it ironic," Joyner added, "that the person who is bringing up this issue — Elaine Kirchgatter — has voted many times to award contracts, totaling in the tens of thousands of dollars, without first waiving that rule? She has never brought up the issue before."

Kirchgatter could not be reached for comment.

Citizens work to pass millage

BY JOHN BRODERICK

Some folks want this millage to pass so badly they can nearly taste it.

School officials, staff members, and concerned citizens are gearing up for an all-out effort to ensure that the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools get the funds they need to continue to provide a quality education.

Board of Education members and administrators discussed a number of issues relating to the June 12 election, at Monday's board workshop.

A strategic planning committee has been formed, and presented a 10-point plan, for waging a successful millage campaign. Among the ideas were plans to appoint a millage manager — a person who would coordinate all activities of all volunteers involved in the campaign, and the creation of a speaker's bureau — a group of people who could present information on school financing to community groups.

Sharon Streen, co-chair of the committee, said that there have been over 200 people who have either volunteered to help with the campaign, or pledged their support for the cause. She stressed the importance of citizen participation.

"This campaign must be citizen led, and school supported," she said.

The ballot will include a request to renew eight mills, and a separate request for four additional mills, for two years.

Citizens wishing to help with the campaign may call Dick Egli, administrative assistant for community relations, at 451-3188.
