Chiefs grab playoff berth

BY RITA DERBIN

Let the bragging begin. Canton High's football squad crushed Salem Friday night, 34-0, in the annual cross-campus grid showdown.

It was a sweet victory for the Chiefs who, through the years, have suffered loss after loss at the hands of the Rocks.

Above all else, however, the victory helped the Chiefs (8-1) qualify for the state Class AA football playoffs for the first time ever.

The Chiefs, ranked fourth in Class AA Region 2, will play at Westland

John Glenn on Saturday afternoon. The game begins at 1:30 p.m. and will be broadcast live on WSDP radio, 88.1 FM.

The Canton squad made it to the state football playoffs for the first time by edging out Battle Creek Central for the fourth and final playoff spot by .111 points.

The Chiefs finished with 871 points (96.777 average) and the Bearcats had 870 points (96.666 average) in the computer rankings.

In Region 2, John Glenn (8-1) is the top seeded team, followed by Ypsilanti (8-1), Detroit Catholic Central (7-2) and Canton (8-1).

It was a difficult two-day wait for Canton coach Bob Khoenle following Friday night's victory over Salem.

Khoenle had originally thought the Chiefs made the playoffs after defeating Salem, but soon discovered that the team would have to wait longer to find out if they were in the playoffs.

The playoff picture hinged on a very close three-way race between Canton, Catholic Central and Battle Creek Central for the final two spots in the region.

Community gears up for election

BY MIKE GUINN AND PHILIP TARDANI

Residents throughout The Plymouth-Canton Community will head to the polls Tuesday (Nov. 6) to elect local, state, county and federal legislators, and decide on a bond referendum for Metro Airport.

Unusually small or large voter turnouts are not expected during next week's general election, according to both local and county election officials.

Marya Sieminski, Wayne County Chief Deputy Clerk, said that in 1986, 42 per cent of registered voters cast votes.

"At this point we're still checking with local clerks," said Sieminski. "It's probably not going to be higher than normal."

Questions facing Michigan Tuesday include deciding on a governor, a U.S. Senator, attorney general, secretary of state, all U.S. House of Representative seats and numerous state and local posts.

Linda Langmesser, clerk in the City of Plymouth, predicted a 15 per cent turnout, based on the return of absentee ballots. She added that some voters in the city have told her they will not vote in protest of the negative campaigns some candidates have been running.

"I've had a lot of negative feedback from residents who have applied for ballots and have been following campaign literature and commercials," she said. "They're not real happy with both the candidates and the political ads."

In Plymouth Township, Clerk Esther Hulsing predicted about a 50 per cent turnout.

"Four years ago during the gubernatorial race, we had over 60 per cent but I didn't notice any groundswell of voters this year," she said. "Plymouth Township usually has had a good turnout."

Canton's clerk, Loren Bennett, said he hopes to see nearly half of the electorate exercise its right on Nov. 6.

"We are preparing our precincts for a 40 per cent voter turnout," he said. "Unfortunately, I think that (prediction) is going to be high."

Two national offices are scheduled to be decided by local voters. In the 15th Congressional District, incumbent Democrat William D. Ford is seeking his 14th term. He is facing challenges from Republican candidate Burl C. Adkins and David R. Hunt, of the Libertarian party.

S'craft offered airport use
N'west interested in aviation school?

BY KEN VOYLES
A major airline, Schoolcraft College, and Eastern Michigan University have joined the cast of characters in Mettetal Airport's ongoing engagement.
At the same time, Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen sent a letter to Canton Supervisor Tom Yack last week suggesting that if Canton changes its posture the township would want Canton in any newly formed authority.
The idea of an aviation school at Mettetal is seriously being discussed, said Tom Kennedy, chairperson of a blue ribbon steering committee and a driving force behind saving the privately owned airport.

Kennedy said Monday that Northwest Airlines has expressed an interest in seeing such a school using the Canton airport.
Kennedy and Breen are waiting to hear further response from Northwest following a letter they recently sent to Al Checchi, chairperson of Northwest, explaining the program further.
Both Schoolcraft and Eastern have already been offered use of the facility, said Kennedy, and the Livonia college is currently studying the idea as part of a needs assessment.

"The college has first priority on the airport," Kennedy said. "We've offered it the hangar facility at Mettetal."
He added that Northwest said it "will do whatever is necessary to do this."
"I think its an excellent idea," said Breen, who added that funding may be available through the state as well as private sector to start up the program. "Part of Northwest's commitment will be predicated on the industry."
Kennedy, a TWA airline pilot, said the two-year degree program would include pilot training, avionics and aviation mechanics and be cheaper than private programs. Lansing Community College currently runs a program with about 200 students, he said.
"The college would provide the education and some facilities, the airline would provide the jobs," Kennedy said.

A survey two weeks ago of 1,230 students conducted through the vocational-technical education department at CEP showed that some 30 per cent of Canton and Salem 11th graders were interested in an aviation program, he said.
Of the letter, Breen said, "We'd rather be a part of an authority with Canton than not."
Yack said Monday that he had not

JANET CAMPBELL MARY KLEAM VIRGINIA TORNGA

A look at Library Board candidates

BY KEN VOYLES

Two Plymouth Township residents and one City of Plymouth resident are vying for the open slot on the Plymouth District Library Board during the upcoming general election.

Incumbent board member Janet Campbell is being challenged by Virginia Tornga and Mary Kleam for the four-year seat. Because of a new state law the eight-member board is being reduced in size to seven members, accounting for the lone contested seat this year.

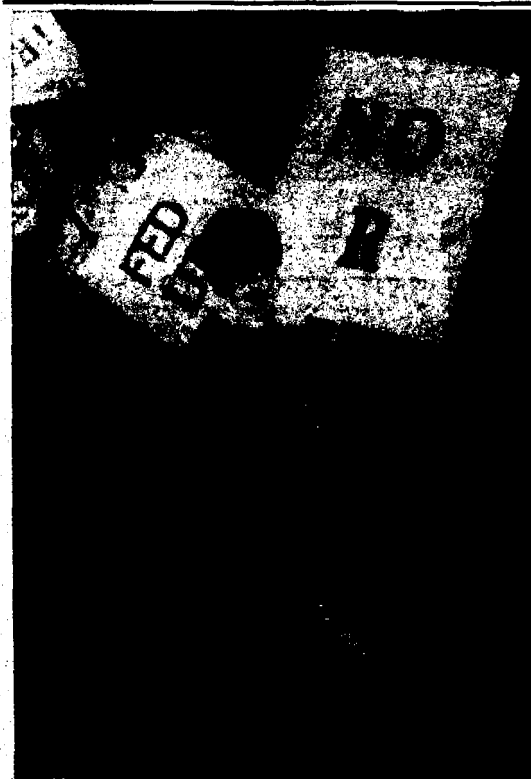

At the heart of the district library race is the issue of the Dunning-Hough Library's future at its current location, or some other site in downtown Plymouth or the township. A study has suggested that expansion is necessary, and that alternative sites be considered if necessary.

Campbell, 56, has been a township resident for 17 years. A former teacher, with a degree from Michigan State, she has sat on the library board for six years.

Campbell is a "professional" volunteer, working with the school district and the library (she helped start the Junior Great Books and Great Books programs); as a member of the original committee which formed the library district; as a past president of the Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC); as a member of the Geer Preservation Committee; and as a tutor in the local literacy program.

"I had not planned to seek re-election, six years is plenty of time," she said, "but because of the decision we have to make about the library's future I think they need someone who has been there for a while, who can make the decision based on experience.

"It's an important decision not only for the

Canton protest

About 40-50 picketers organized by the Citizens for Better Education (CBE) group protested in front of Canton High School Monday, many carrying signs attacking the school district for allowing the use of R-rated movies in high school classes. Organizer Diane Daskalakis said the picketers, including several school age youths, were out in front of Centennial Educational Park (CEP) to protest the showing of the R-rated film "Excalibur" in a Canton class this week. Prosecutor: no obscenity charges filed over show

BY MIKE GUINN

A Washtenaw County Prosecutor has refused to file charges against an Ann Arbor art exhibit, stating that the display does not fall under Michigan's statutes governing obscenity.

In a written statement released Friday, Assistant Prosecutor William Delhey said that because the Performance Network's "Fear No Art" exhibit was not intended to generate a financial profit, the promoters cannot be charged under the obscenity laws as written.

"Once we could not show commercial gain beyond a reasonable doubt, it made no difference whether it was pornography or not," Delhey said. "It is irrelevant because the material does not meet the requirements of the statute."

Delhey also said the promoters took special care to prevent people who did not want to view the display from catching a glimpse of the works.

"It (the exhibit) wasn't open when the theatre was open," Delhey said. "Strips of paper were hanging down blocking the view. You couldn't see anything without going inside."

4 GOOD REASONS TO VOTE YES FOR METRO AIRPORT BOND ISSUE

1. IT DOESN'T COST TAXPAYERS. THE AIRLINES PAY THE BILL

Don't be confused by ballot language. Even though this referendum is on the Wayne County Ballot, the airlines at Metro are responsible for paying all these bonds without ANY cost to taxpayers. The issue will permit $100 million worth of improvements to make Metro a safer, more efficient and more convenient airport.

2. A YES VOTE PROTECTS 50,000 JOBS

Metro Airport provides more jobs than six Saturn plants would. Passage of the bond issue will create 20,000 more airport-related jobs.

3. METRO IS OUTDATED

When construction began on Metropolitan Airport in the 1950s, no one dreamed air travel would become as important to business and vacation travel as it has. Metro now serves 14 MILLION PASSENGERS per year - and the demand for air travel is growing. The bond issue will provide more parking and a safer, more convenient airport.

4. METRO WILL GET QUIETER AND QUIETER

Wayne County Executive Edward H. McNamara has begun a campaign to make Metro Airport quieter. This bond issue will also pay for noise abatement measures.

Second train mishap in a week

BY PHILIP TARDANI

For the second time in five days, a truck has collided with a CSX train at the Beck Road railroad crossing just south of Five Mile Road.

The latest incident occurred Tuesday about 3 p.m. when a refuse hauler from Ann Arbor northbound on Beck Road collided with the lead engine. The train derailed about 1000 feet farther down the tracks.

The truck was turned around and thrown into the southbound lane. The driver was removed with the "jaws of life" and flown to St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor, according to Plymouth Township Fire Captain R.J. Maycock.

"Fortunately, he was hit on the passenger side," Maycock said. "If it had been the on the driver's side, there would have been no hurry to get him out of there."

The driver had lacerations and "suspected fractures," he added.

On Friday, a truck from Oakland Disposal Inc. southbound on Beck Road collided with a train at the same site, though there were no injuries.

There was a hole in the 3,500 gallon diesel fuel tank of the lead engine, but no fire danger because diesel is not very flammable, according to Fire Chief Larry Groth.

A total of three engines derailed.

You cannot bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift.

You cannot further the brotherhood of man, by encouraging class hatred.

You cannot help the poor, by destroying the rich.

Letter charges 'teacher dissent' over program

BY KEN VOYLES

A group of teachers in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools is claiming that the majority of the elementary instructors oppose the development learning approach currently in place in the district.

An anonymous letter, signed "teachers who care about kids," suggests apparent dissent over the program among district teachers. It was received last week by board of education members and The Community Crier.

According to the letter, "The majority, we believe 90 per cent, of Plymouth-Canton elementary teachers are opposed to most of the developmental approach to educating children."

The letter said that, "Teachers are not being given a choice about using these methods, it is being forced on us."

It also said that teacher morale is low, "partly because we feel that what we are doing is wrong for children. We do not dare talk openly against it as a number of teachers have been given verbal reprimands for doing so."

The letter added that, "this approach will fail and something new will be instituted. In the meantime, the children educated developmentally will be the losers."

The district's top instruction administrators said Monday that they were hard pressed to respond to the letter.

"I'm very much surprised by this," said Michael Homes, the schools assistant superintendent for instruction. "I would hope if there were concerns that the teachers would be professional and ethical enough to come forward. It's hard to respond to that -- to whom are we responding?"

Homes added, "I'm disappointed that this avenue was chosen. If there's strong feeling about this, all the more reason to sit down and talk about the concerns and issues raised."

Homes said he had not heard directly from any district teachers reflecting the concerns raised in the letter. He added that a teacher evaluation of the program last year "reflected quite favorably." He said there "seems to be enthusiasm for what the kids are getting out of this."

Shirley Spaniel, the district's director of elementary education, said the administration has made every effort to prepare teachers for the changes resulting from the program and respond to their needs.

"It's a change, a departure from before," she said. "And that takes time. We have recognized that with the teachers."

Homes said that if 90 per cent of the teachers opposed the program he would have heard the message "loud and clear" before now.

The program, which stresses hands-on learning and tailoring instruction to match individual student skill levels, began with the district's kindergarten students in 1988.

Last year it expanded to include first graders and this year includes second grade students as well. There are about 125 elementary teachers in the district.

Spaniel said district teachers were an integral part in the planning of the new program. She said some teachers originally came to her in 1987 suggesting the changes.

"Much of the change was initiated by classroom teachers," she said.

Prior to the teachers' letter, several district parents had already raised their own concerns publicly with the board of education about the program and its effects on student learning.

Homes said that the administration is preparing an update on the program for the board. He said no teacher grievances had been filed over the program.

"The amount of change coming through the state and nationally has probably been overwhelming to a lot of elementary teachers," Spaniel said. "Unfortunately it looks like developmental learning has produced all that change. In fact, it hasn't."

"There is a lot of evidence to support the value of this change," she added.

Homes said that the program's goals are clearly spelled out and that the program is being monitored.

Dean Swartzwelder, board president, confirmed having received the letter. He said he does not give any credibility to anonymous letters.

To the Citizens of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools

Financial Report - 1989-1990 School Year

The financial and statistical report for the PLYMOUTH-CANTON COMMUNITY SCHOOLS is submitted in accordance with Section 216, Act 269, Public Act 1965, as amended, and is compiled from data submitted to the Michigan Department of Education and from the annual audit for the school year ending June 30, 1990.

This report substantiates that the PLYMOUTH-CANTON COMMUNITY SCHOOLS is continuing to operate on a sound financial basis. On June 12, 1989, at the annual school election, the voters approved a four-mill increase for operating purposes for a period of two years. However, the net total levy increased only 2.77 mills because of a greater Headlee rollback and also due to the debt retirement decreasing from 2.6 mills to 2.3 mills. (The Headlee rollback for 1989-90 was 4.06 mills, compared to 2.83 mills the previous year, 1988-89.)

PLYMOUTH-CANTON COMMUNITY SCHOOLS, for the first time, is no longer receiving State Membership Aid. The impact of being out of formula and thereby not receiving State Membership Aid and the loss of potential revenue due to an increased Headlee reduction in operating mills were the reasons the Board of Education requested and received voter approval for a four-mill increase for a period of two years. Without it, the district faced substantial further cutbacks beyond those made in the two previous years (1987-88 and 1988-89).

Continuing the tradition of excellence in our educational program, while living within our financial resources, has become an increasingly difficult task. The Board of Education and Administration are very appreciative of the efforts of citizens and staff for their assistance and attendance at the Board of Education meetings and at the various committee meetings the Board of Education has established. Be assured the Board of Education will join the staff and citizens in continuous evaluation to determine the extent to which adopted goals and programs are producing the desired Educational results and to make necessary changes as warranted. Your continued participation in school activities is welcomed, encouraged, and appreciated.

The Board of Education meets on the second and fourth Monday of each month. A place on the agenda is set aside for comments from citizens. We encourage you to communicate with the Board of Education in this manner.

Retain State Sen. Geake

Experience counts.

That's a good reason to keep State Sen. R. Robert Geake in the 6th Michigan Senatorial District.

Geake is challenged by Democrat Patrick J. McDonald, a former Redford Township supervisor who faced Geake before. Both men are qualified, and if McDonald were to unseat Geake he could do the job in Lansing.

The face-to-face forum between the two was notable for lively, informed debate and fair play.

something that doesn't seem to be too prevalent nowadays. The incumbent, however, came across more aggressively with an economic plan and has more of a handle on the Plymouth-Canton-Northville community.

McDonald would make himself a better candidate by paying more attention to local issues. He also might want to narrow his focus and run for state representative.

Geake is better here than McDonald.
THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Re-elect Law to State House

In choosing who will best represent the interests of their community, voters in the 36th State Representative District should send Incumbent Republican Gerald Law back to Lansing.

Though there are other civic leaders who might be more effective than Law, Democratic challenger Dennis Shrewsbury is not one of them.

Law has served the voters in the 36th District since it was created in 1982, and, by experience, is better qualified to represent the district's interests. He has become more visible, more accessible this past term than in the past.

Shrewsbury, an attorney who lives in the City of Plymouth, should be credited for standing up and devoting the time and money to run for office, but he simply does not know the district as well as Law.

The challenger might be able to season himself by running for the Plymouth City Commission or other local board or commission before setting his sights on the state house.

Law, despite his sometimes antagonistic manner, is the better candidate. Vote to retain Law.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Kosteva is best for 37th State Rep.

Voters in the Michigan House of Representatives 37th District have a simple choice to make Tuesday.

Incumbent Democrat Jim Kosteva, a six-year veteran of the State House, has proven that he is an able, hard-working legislator, accessible to people and well-versed on issues affecting his district.

Kosteva has made education for all one of his main priorities as an officeholder.

Republican Dolores E. Carmichael, the challenger, should be given credit for caring enough to run. However, not much else can be said for her. She confessed ignorance on several issues affecting the 37th District (including the proposed sale of Mettetal Airport).

Carmichael's main incentive for running appears to be her complaint against the state's Department of Natural Resources's wetlands ruling which affected her own piece of property. Hardly a worthy platform plank.

Voters should re-elect Kosteva on Tuesday.
THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Note these unopposed races, too

There are two types of races on next Tuesday's ballot which are of additional interest to voters in The Plymouth-Canton Community.

First, there are two local races where the candidates are unopposed. The non-partisan race for a 35th District Court Judgeship (a six-year term) has the incumbent, John E. MacDonald running without opposition. For Wayne County Commissioner in the 10th District, Susan J. Heintz, the incumbent Republican, is running unopposed.

It is unfortunate that no candidates challenged these two. In the judge's race, for example, it may be hard to unseat an incumbent, but it could be a leg up for an attorney hoping to run for the new 35th District Court judgeship expected to be added soon. In the county race, Heintz is the only Republican on the entire county commission and would therefore seem worthy of a Democratic challenger on that basis alone.

This is not to suggest that these two unopposed candidates don't perform well in office -- they both are well respected civil servants. But the system works best when there is a choice and incumbents must stand up and justify their reelection.

Secondly, there are several incumbent candidates running for county-wide judgeships who hail from The Plymouth-Canton Community -- although they're not identified by their hometowns on the ballot.

The Plymouth Township candidates for Wayne County Circuit Court judgeships are Thomas J. Foley and Marvin R. Siempien. From Canton, Martin T. Maher is running for Wayne County Probate Court.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

In best ballot contest, Mack edges Gustafson

Without much doubt the best, most interesting local race in this year's general election is the one for the 11th District seat on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Incumbent Milton Mack faces challenger Victor Gustafson in a battle that pits two very solid candidates.

But no matter who wins this contest it's really a no-lose situation for local voters. The edge, and the endorsement, has got to go to Mack for his sound, sensible leadership on the commission while representing Canton's interests.

Mack's experience, his time-tested knowledge of county issues, and his visible commitment to The Plymouth-Canton Community suggest that he should be re-elected for another term.

There does remain a question of how long Mack will stay in the post with rumors running rampant that he will give up his seat for a judgeship, but that is not enough to reject retaining his leadership.

Gustafson is a viable candidate for the job as well. He is enthusiastic, knowledgeable about the issues, full of ideas and committed to being his own person.

It would be nice if some of the other candidates on this year's ballot had as much to offer the community. But Gustafson also hurts his own credibility with a "slick," rhetoric-laced style, a style, albeit, that is truly his own.

With a little more experience, perhaps as an elected official in Canton, Gustafson's election profile would be complete and he would be ready to serve a district that cuts across many community boundaries.

Until then, though, voters should back Mack for the county commission seat. They can be safe in knowing that he is answerable to the community, that he is committed to doing the best job possible.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Keep Campbell on Library

This year's lone open seat on the Plymouth District Library is sought by three candidates — each qualified to do a fine job taking the library into the future.

Incumbent Janet Campbell faces challengers Virginia Tornga and Mary Kleam in a non-partisan race that, in many ways, is really more about the library's future than the board itself.

The library's crystal ball is focused by a recent study which calls for expanding the library either at its current downtown Plymouth site or at another (as yet undefined) location in the city or township.

All three candidates support the idea of library expansion, yet, all three said they would prefer to retain the library at its current location.

So who should voters support for the library board seat this time around?

Campbell's direct experience with the current study and with on-going discussions about the library's future makes her the best choice for the job. Both Tornga and Kleam have much to offer as well (they're not strangers to the library's planning), and hopefully they will stay involved even if not elected to the board.

Campbell, though, is a known power on the board, one who hasn't flinched when it comes to making tough decisions and one who is willing to look beyond the narrow confines of the library and at the overall picture.

She should be on the board when it comes time to decide the fate of the Dunning-Hough Library.

Get out Tuesday: vote

Here we go again.

It is now time to settle the first major election season of the new decade, a decade that holds much promise for this country, but one that may also raise the spectre of economic harshness and war.

Voters in The Plymouth-Canton Community owe it to themselves, and the nation, to get out and vote during Tuesday's (Nov. 6) general election.

A wide range of election races are on the slate Tuesday, races for local, county, state, and national positions. With a vote Tuesday, local residents can help shape the direction of both this state and this country.

So get out and vote. Be a vocal part of the solution and not just someone who complains, but stand blindly on the sidelines.

With voter turnout once again expected to hover anywhere around 20-50 per cent, casting a vote becomes all that more important. One vote here, one vote there, may be decisive.

The polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. throughout the community. Make the time to go to the polls and vote.

You are only voting for yourselves, so no excuse is a good excuse.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

How, why Crier endorses

Each election, the staff of The Community Crier goes to extra lengths to present the issues and candidates of special interest to The Plymouth-Canton Community.

This research — which includes face-to-face candidate interviews, coverage of "meet the candidate" forums, reviewing campaign literature, candidate histories such as voting records — is then debated amongst the staff.

Over a large pot of chili, The Crier staffers meet for an endorsement session in which each staffer gets one vote. Rarely are endorsements unanimous; always the discussion is lively.

The resulting endorsements appearing here are designed to aid voters in making their choices for next Tuesday. (A complete ballot appears in today's Crier for your convenience. By marking your ballot in advance, you may make Tuesday's visit to the polls go faster.)

Crier staffers, who cover The Plymouth-Canton Community's political issues throughout the year, see the end result of the election process up close. They feel their familiarity with the issues, the elected officials and the hopefuls may help voters who are uncertain about their choices.

Although these endorsements are meant to provide more voter information, the best endorsement is each individual voter's well-thought-out opinion delivered at the polls.

EDITOR'S NOTE: In this year's election endorsement process, Crier Publisher W. Edward Wendover abstained from participating in the U.S. Congressional and The Wayne County Commissioner races because of his Washington D.C. lobbying work against the Newspaper Preservation Act and a business affiliation.

addicts deserve a chance

We're human, too

EDITOR:

The residents of Roe Street in the City of Plymouth are human, they have a right to express their opinions on The Light House Rehab Center.

But don't we as alcoholics and addicts have a right, too? A right at a new start in life, a right to want to be a part of the real world again, a right to be a part of our families again.

Yes, even though we are alcoholics and addicts we have families, we are capable of loving someone.

We have kids that we want to share our lives with. People that have never had to face the disease of alcohol or drug addiction don't know the hell we have been through.

We don't like the way we are. IF we had a choice we would be like you. We would have homes, be with our families, have jobs and have the ability to face the real world.

Let me ask each of you this -- can you help catching a cold or the measles or any other disease? Our personal opinion to this is NO!

What we have is a disease (addiction) but it is something that we can't help. But we can get a handle on it by having a new start, by having a positive outlook on life, along with many other things.

All that these centers are trying to do is help us get that new start.

Is it wrong to help another human in need?

Hasn't any of you ever stopped and helped anyone? Let me ask another question -- what if any of you had a kid or a loved one that was an alcoholic or addict? Would you close the door on them? Or would you want to help? to help?

Campbell deserves re-election

EDITOR:

With only one seat vacant on the Plymouth Library Board to be filled Tuesday, Nov. 6, I hope the voters in the City of Plymouth and the township re-elect Janet Campbell to this vacancy.

This is very important to Janet as she started the Friends of the Library program, as well as, co-founded the Great Books program. She feels there is much more to be done and would

And what I mean by helping is to find out about their addiction, and also by what means you can best help. I ask each of you before you keep condemning us, find out what you're fighting. Find out how many lives are at stake here. Find out how many loved ones we have. Find out how we feel and that we are hurting from our addiction.

We are worried about our families, too. We have hurt them and we have long, hard roads to travel to recovery, to finding our way back home again.

People, when a small child can look up at you and say "Daddy, I love you, I want you to stop drinking and come home. I need you," aren't I supposed to hurt? Aren't I supposed to get the help I need? Shouldn't that make anyone want to change? If that small child can forgive me and give me that new chance, can't you?

I'm asking you people, can't I have that chance or do I have to look at that small child and say "Son, I can't, I've been condemned by alcohol and society? I have no place in this world, your dad is dead."

There are places to find out about us and our addictions like Hegira in Westland and a number of other places.

Please take the time. Find out what you're fighting, what our addictions have done to us.

You can call the Hegira and talk to our counselors. The number is 721-5190.

People, we are human, we have feelings. Give us this chance -- please be human and find out.

I have known Janet for many years and know the many hours she spent in the Plymouth-Canton schools. As past president of the Plymouth Community Arts Council she again donated many more hours of work to bring art in many forms to the many students and to the Plymouth-Canton community.

With malice toward none

By Edward WINDOVER

Free speech is great; use it appropriately

Free speech is a wonderful thing. But it's proper exercise is lost on some.

On Sunday morning, as a couple hundred youngsters were walking through downtown Plymouth on their way to pumpkin carving at The Gathering, some of them saw a graphic full-color, anti-abortion flier, stuck in the front window of a newspaper box.

Obviously, someone thought it was funny or politically expedient to open the news box and slip in the photo of a mutilated fetus for all to see.

This was hardly an effective use of free speech. And it certainly was inappropriate.

By contrast, take Mark and Elizabeth Baidel -- the Cantonites who are protesting an art show in Ann Arbor -- and Diane Daskalakis -- who led the protestors at CEP Monday against showing a film there.

These efforts are what the First Amendment had in mind. They get the point across without offending youngsters or adults.

The anti-abortion group which published the flier and the person who placed it in full view in someone else's news rack (was it an anti-abortion statement?) have a lot to learn about free speech.

Crying out loud

By Mike Guinn

Attack someone's opinion, not their right to say it

Most Americans would agree that our First Amendment right to freedom of speech is one of the most valuable privileges we possess. Take it away, and anyone who spoke out against someone in authority would endanger themselves or someone they care about.

Virtually anyone is also free to abuse this right as they see fit, with little or no harassment from others. Note for example, the product of the rap group, "2 Live Crew."

For those unfamiliar with this band's "work," the lyrics resemble a type of graffiti scrawled on bathroom walls. Its value to society, while difficult to measure, is roughly equal to that of a skunk's carcass, smashed while crossing the freeway.

But let someone attack this group's right to "freedom of expression," and the cries of protest grow really loud, really fast.

So why is it, when a Canton couple decides to use this right to speak out, they are not granted the same toleration given the group mentioned above?

The couple, Mark and Elizabeth Baidel, are protesting an art exhibit in Ann Arbor, of which some contents they find obscene. As of Monday, they have done no more than use their First Amendment rights to peacefully picket the display.

Unfortunately, many who disagree with the Baidel's opinion (the operative word) have been quick to attack the couple personally.

"It's getting real irritating to have people on the radio insinuate that we are a far-right religious group," Mark Baidel said last week. "People coming from the simple bias that I'm a religious fanatic is unfounded."

It's also unnecessary. Those who disagree with someone should attack the opinion, not the right to express it. To do so otherwise unfairly restricts the Baidels' First Amendment rights.

Personally I disagree with the stance the Baidels have chosen. But a dispute with what is being said should remain apart from the right to say it.

There are many people who will disagree with the words written here. They have a right to express their opinion.

Hopefully, they'll remember that the Baidels are only doing the same.

In Congress, Adkins would be responsive

It's time for a change in the 15th Congressional District. Voters in the district are faced with a difficult choice election day. Has incumbent, Democrat William D. Ford, shown himself to be less and less accessible to his constituents as time goes on?

It appears that way, at least for Canton voters. For example, Ford's ongoing refusal to participate in a face-to-face forum with his challengers suggests that he feels he is above the free election process. ("That's the silliest damn thing I ever heard of," said Ford of the invitation to meet his opponents in debate.) Challenger Burl C. Adkins, although he follows the Republican dogma a little too strongly, has shown himself to be aware of the issues facing the 15th District in his two most recent campaigns against Ford.

Adkin's has ideas on improving the educational system by creating schools geared to students' interests and offering scholarships in subjects that are experiencing decreased enrollment. In contrast, Ford has stated that Americans will not receive a better educational system until they are "willing to pay for it."

A third candidate in this race, Libertarian David C. Hunt, said he is participating to make known his party's attitudes towards government. Hunt cannot be taken seriously as a contender.

Largely because of his inaccessibility, Ford's seniority in Congress is not as helpful to his district as it should be.

Thus, Adkins is at the right place at the right time for a change in the 15th Congressional District. Vote for Adkins.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Retain Rep. Pursell

There has been a lot of talk lately about sending a message to members of Congress by voting out all incumbents.

If the voters in the 2nd Congressional District followed that advice and canned Republican Carl D. Pursell, however, they would be doing themselves a disservice.

Challenger Elmer White's claims that Pursell is an "invisible man" and not accessible to the district simply do not stick.

Pursell has been responsible to the community throughout his 13 years in Congress. Sure, you're not going to run into him on the street every day because he is in Washington D.C., doing his job.

It is hard to tell where White, a Democrat, is coming from on many issues.

One good idea he has come up with, however, is to give first-time homeowners a $2,000 abatement on their income tax for five years.

A third candidate on the ballot, Tisch Patry nominee Paul S. Jensen, could not be reached to discuss issues. It's hard to take someone seriously when you can't even talk to them.

Pursell knows his way around Congress and has become a budget leader in the House of Representatives. Voters should return him there.

Thanks, Lions, for bridge

EDITOR:

Thank you Lion's Club. I wish to thank the Lion's Club for giving us the new bridge. After waiting all these months, we finally got our bridge.

It's nice to know that someone cared enough to see to it that we had our bridge again. Even though the bridge was closed by the city, that did not stop the children from climbing over. I worried that one of them would get hurt.

It's a pleasure to be able to use the bridge again.

I thank each and every one of you from the Lion's Club; and most of all those of you who used your time and energy. Thank you from all of us in Tonquish Manor.

God Bless you all.

Cast a yes vote for Metro bond

Voters in The Plymouth-Canton Community, as in all of Wayne County, will decide Tuesday the fate of a $400 million bond issue for Metropolitan Airport's upgrading.

The county's bonds would be paid by airline leases at the airport and would not require tax dollars! Proceeds would be used to add a new runway, noise berms, and additional parking and flood control.

Begun in the 1950s, Metro Airport is certainly in need of upgrading. Estimates place the number of jobs currently related to the airport at 50,000 and projections say that another 20,000 jobs could be added with Metro's upgrading.

Some would argue that this bond issue is of little consequence to Plymouth-Canton or that voters here might feel different if the airport were located in Plymouth-Canton. Neither point is valid.

Metro's proximity means the I-275 Corridor is attractive to desirable growth and even if Metro were here, (as is Mettetal Airport) it would still be necessary to keep it a first-class facility.

Vote "yes" on the Metro Airport bond issue for the future.
THE COMMUNITY CRIER

The facts on Mettetal

EDITOR:

Let me first say I am not now nor do I have plans to be involved in aviation or in local area business, real estate speculation, or government. I am a homeowner and taxpayer.

Several weeks ago as I exited the Great Scott (now Kroger) at Ann Arbor and Sheldon roads in Plymouth, I was asked to sign a petition to "stop the use of my tax dollars" by Plymouth Township to purchase and operate Mettetal Airport. Having just read a newspaper summary of the township board meeting, I knew that the board had specified approval of the project only if no Plymouth Township funds were involved, and I so responded.

I was then asked if I "paid federal taxes" and again being aware from the article that funding would be by the Airport Trust Fund I knew this money was not from my income taxes but from airport landing fees and taxes on airline tickets, aviation fuel, etc.

My response was:

1. "The facts are being misrepresented. Why? What's going on? and,

2. (Having been a senior manager in business for many years) "I am well aware what a valuable asset a general aviation facility is to The Plymouth-Canton Community's current and potential industry."

It has recently become clear that the Mettetal project is much more than the mere enhancement of a valuable local airport. The probable injection of an important college facility for several hundred students in aviation engineering, electronics, and mechanics, plus pilot training, offers enviable opportunities for our youth in an industry critically short of trained personnel in these fields.

It will also provide salaried jobs for college level educational staff and jobs in supporting satellite businesses attracted by the college. Some programs could be available to our high school students, also.

It is clear that this project will increase the value of our homes by attracting light industry and increasing the communities' educational base all "without" using our income tax or real estate tax dollars. In fact, it will help to hold down our real estate taxes. And these are the real facts.

So, again, I ask "what's going on?" Whoever is behind this misrepresented petition drive certainly doesn't have the best interests of The Plymouth-Canton Community in mind.

Whoever it is should come out in the open and let us hear what their real motives are in depriving us, the citizens of Canton and Plymouth, of a very valuable asset and the opportunity for a major "no cost to us" enhancement of this valuable asset to provide salaried jobs and education for valuable careers for our youth.

The Centennial Educational Park (CEP) Marching Band took first place with a score of 93.4 in the Michigan Competing Band Directors Association (MCBDA) State Championship competition Saturday at the CEP stadium. This is the sixth time in the past seven years that the band has received the Grand Championship Trophy.

Jenison High School from the Grand Rapids area was second, third place went to Flushing, and fourth place was Durand. The CEP band was also awarded trophies for best winds, best marching and maneuvering and best color guard. According to Band Director Glen Adsit, "The students must continue their hard work as they prepare for a Regional Marching Bands of America competition in Toledo on Saturday, Nov. 3, and the National Competition in Indianapolis on Nov. 17."

To help them prepare for the National Competition in the Hoosierdome, the CEP band will have a practice session in the Silverdome.

The final performance for the 1990 award winning CEP band will be at the Lion's Thanksgiving Day game on Thursday, Nov. 22.

Search for scraper

In this day and age of environmental awareness there must be a special corner in the solid waste area for ice scrapers. Every summer millions of ice scrapers simply disappear. While they are reusable (if found), I haven't noticed any that could be recycled.

Everyone who drives in Michigan in the winter knows you must carry some kind of snow brush and ice scraper with you all the time. Every year about this time we frantically run to the closest store, as the first snowflakes of the season start to cover the windshield. Of course the first store you go to hasn't gotten any in yet, the second store sold out five minutes before you got there and by the time you get to the next store you are willing to accept any size or shape at almost any price.

The thing that amazes me is every spring we clean the car and put the ice scraper in a special place so we will know where to find it in the fall. I know I'm not the only one who recently cleaned under the seat of my car, checked the trunk, the garage and the hall closet looking for a stupid scraper. Sure, some of you haven't done it yet, but your turn will come within the next few weeks.

Okay, so a few of you will luck out and find last year's scraper, but I bet I'll meet the majority of you in line as we wait to pay for a new one. Every once in awhile we have a bad ice storm and a few scrapers end up in pieces, but that only accounts for a small percentage of them.

Where do all the ice scrapers go? Do little ghosts go from house to house and snatch them up and take them to a special landfill?

Three of us in our household own cars and only one ice scraper survived. I'd sure like to get my hands on that ghost.

Baby face ...

The demons were out in force at Thursday night's haunted forest, sponsored by the Plymouth-Canton Jaycees and the City of Plymouth. Proceeds from the hair-raising event will go to fund Jaycee community projects. (Crier photo by Erik Lukaski)

Canton wins showdown

"I thought we were out after Catholic Central beat DePorres because Battle Creek tallied their points wrong but I called (the Michigan High School Athletic Association) anyway and I'm glad I did," said Khoenle.

"We're in and now we can get ready for John Glenn," added Khoenle, who said he was thrilled by the Chiefs victory Friday over Salem.

The Rockets are perennially a quality football team, according to Khoenle, who expects a close game on Saturday.

"Chuck Gordon does a great job with that team," said Khoenle. "Year in and year out they are good; but we're good, too. I think we can play with them and I think we can win -- that is our attitude."

BURL C. ADKINS

Burl C. Adkins, 38, of Southgate, is owner and founder of Global Technology Associates, a Lincoln Park automotive consulting firm. He attended Wayne State Community College. Adkins is making his third try for the 15th District seat. Adkins is married with two children.

The economy:

"For 21 years, the Congress has not been able to balance the budget...We have a $3 trillion dollar deficit... The congressional budget office has identified $60 billion a year in waste in government... We don't have accountability... What we need to do is stop spending...We need to cut 10 per cent across the board on government overhead."

U.S. in Middle East:

"I think George Bush has done a commendable job handling the situation in Saudi Arabia...If (Hussein) had went unchallenged in Iraq then he would have went into Saudi Arabia and be controlling 20 per cent of the world's oil reserves...We have to demand from our allies that they foot their share of it."

Goals and objectives:

"I believe the people of the 15th District want the government to be run more like a business...we need to make restitution of the crime victim a condition for parole...I will call to demand a justice department investigation into the influence that these lobbyists are having on our trade policies."

In 15th District

3 running for U.S. House seat

BY MIKE GUINN

The 15th U.S. Congressional District features a three-way race, with incumbent Democrat William D. Ford pitted against Republican challenger Burl Adkins and Libertarian candidate David Hunt.

This will be the third time Adkins has challenged Ford in the 15th District, which includes all of Canton. The district has been represented in Congress by Ford since 1964.

WILLIAM D. FORD

William D. Ford, 63, of Taylor, has represented the 15th U.S. Congressional District since 1964. He holds a degree from the University of Denver. Ford served in the U.S. Navy in 1944-1946, and in the U.S. Air Force Reserves in 1950-1958. He is a former Michigan State Senator. Ford has three children.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Ford refused to participate in a face-to-face candidate forum, but was interviewed by telephone.

The economy:

"The immediate problem is we're going into a recession... Americans continue to borrow money at an unprecedented rate, and that all has to be paid for...There isn't any simple answer other than for people to start sobering up and acting responsible to America...The people buying the imported cars should be the last ones to complain when this recession starts to hit us."

U.S. in Middle East:

"The president had better be giving some serious thought to adjusting our stance as it is at the present time...I don't think the American public expected that we would be there this long or almost by ourselves... It's getting pretty thin to justify the tremendous cost."

Goals and objectives:

"If I am re-elected I will be selected by the Democratic Caucus as the chairman of the Education and Labor Committee, that will keep me extremely busy...I will continue to use my influence to get federal money for senior citizen housing."

DAVID R. HUNT

David R. Hunt, 35, of Ypsilanti, is a programmer analyst for Renaissance Systems Technologies, Inc., in Southfield. He holds degrees in computer science and engineering from the University of Louisville. Hunt has previously run for the Michigan State House of Representatives in the 22nd District.

The economy:

"Too much government spending, you can cut a bunch out of it... For example, $200 billion is spent to defend other countries... Something the American public has to realize is that government waste is the government benefit. Until the American public objects to it they're going to continue doing it."

U.S. in Middle East:

"Get them out, quickly... If war breaks out there, we are going to see casualties of about 10,000 per month... If Iraq gets hit, what happens if they start delivering chemical and biological weapons coming in on freight? I'm glad that finally we are starting to go to our allies and ask them to help pay some of the bill."

Goals and objectives:

"I'd like to get people away from the attitude that if they're in trouble, run to the government to fix it...I don't think the government should impose any social values...Income tax wasn't created until 1916, I'd love to get rid of that...It would nice to no longer be supporting our allies."

2 challenge Pursell for house post

BY PHILIP TARDANI

Republican Carl D. Pursell faces two challengers in his re-election bid to represent Michigan's 2nd Congressional District in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Democrat Elmer White and Tisch Independent Party candidate Paul S. Jensen, both of Ann Arbor, will square off against the seven-term incumbent on Nov. 6.

The 2nd Congressional District includes all of the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township as well as all of Northville and Northville Township. A two-year term is up for grabs.

Pursell, 58 and a City of Plymouth resident for more than 50 years, is a member of the House Appropriations Committee and has a master's degree in education from Eastern Michigan University.

Recycling pilot gets approval

BY MIKE GUINN

Last week the Canton Board of Trustees authorized the Solid Waste Committee to proceed with a pilot curbside recycling program, and allocated $7,602 to begin the project.

The resolution directs that money for the project be made available through the Solid Waste Fund.

While supporting the measure, township Clerk Loren Bennett said he was concerned about how bins associated with the program would be distributed.

"We need to address the ongoing problem of one bin per household," Bennett said. "If a bin is stolen, will we replace it? What if someone needs two or three bins?"

The Solid Waste Committee hopes to begin the mandatory program, covering three residential areas, in January, 1991. The pilot is scheduled for a two-month period.

Schools bids

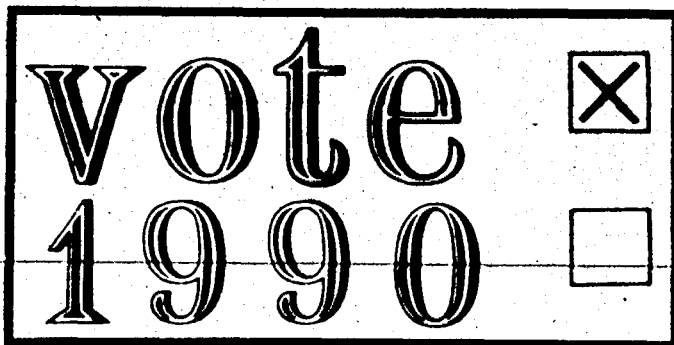

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education Monday approved more than $1 million in bids for the addition and renovation work to the board office on Harvey Street in the City of Plymouth.

With the currently bidding releases, the district has now spent nearly $1.4 million on the project.

Less than $100,000 of work still needs to be bid out to complete the project, said Dean Swartzwelter, board president.

A consultant on the project told the board Monday that he hoped to have the addition work completed by the holidays.

Bid work included: $10,000 for demolition; $6,000 for masonry; $459,900 for general construction; $13,000 for hard tile; $25,000 for flooring and carpeting; $254,000 for mechanical; and $153,000 for electrical.

He has practiced law in Ann Arbor for 25 years and specializes in accident law. He served three years in the U.S. Air Force and has two children.

The 2nd Congressional District race features incumbent Republican Carl D. Pursell, of Plymouth, running for his eighth term. Challengers include Democratic candidate Elmer D. White and Paul S. Jensen, representing the Tisch Independent Citizens party.

For Michigan offices, Plymouth-Canton residents will decide on a 6th District state senator, and 36th and 37th district state representatives.

R. Robert Geake, Republican incumbent state senator, is being opposed for his 6th District seat by Democrat Patrick J. McDonald. The 36th District sees incumbent state Representative Gerald H. Law, a Republican, take on Democratic challenger Dennis F. Shrewsbury.

Democratic 37th District Representative Jim Kosteva, the current officeholder, is being challenged by Republican Dolores E. Carmichael.

Two Wayne County Commissioners seats are also up for grabs. In the 11th District, incumbent Democrat Milton Mack faces Republican challenger Victor E. Gustafson. Susan J. Heintz, the Republican 10th District commissioner, is running for re-election unopposed.

Also on the ballot is one seat on the Plymouth District Library Board (there are three candidates -- Janet Campbell, Virginia Tornga and Mary Kleam); and 35th District Court Judge

John MacDonald is running again unopposed.

Polls will be open Tuesday from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in all precincts.

City starts recycling line

BY PHILIP TARDANI

There's a new hotline for recycling and solid waste questions in the City of Plymouth and a new employee to man it.

Joe Russell, 23, started his duties as the city's new solid waste coordinator on Monday.

Russell will be handling the city's switch to the user-fee "bag or tag" system, as well as any other questions that arise, according to Assistant City Manager Paul Sincok.

"He'll be the chief reference point for recycling," Sincok said. "He'll also be working on the yet to be resolved commercial pick-up problem."

The new 24-hour number for solid waste questions is 455-1392. Sincok said an answering machine will record questions when Russell is not able to answer the phone.

Russell, who beat out five other candidates for the $20,000 a year job, has a bachelor's degree in public administration from Miami of Ohio University.

Historic district idea to be studied

BY PHILIP TARDANI

The City of Plymouth's district study committee exploring the idea of a historic district in the city is nearly full, according to Mayor Dennis Bila.

Bila has also appointed planning commissioner Doug Miller, to chair the committee. Miller replaces David Opple, who is ill.

"We're anxious to get going," Miller said. "I'll be an active participant, I have an interest in it (the historic district.)"

The city's planner, Robert Donohue, said the first task of the committee will be to survey all the historical resources in the city that are at least 50 years old.

"It's a big job, but it shouldn't be too tough because you've got a good core area and cohesive neighborhoods," Donohue said.

The committee will also be learning how to date old buildings and will eventually decide which districts in the city they want to concentrate on, he said.

That process will take a year or better, Donohue said, then the committee will work on "getting the word out" and examining ordinances other cities have adopted.

"By the end of the second year, they'll start to put it together," he added.

The committee will have to decide which historic district ordinance best suits the city, Donohue said. The trend state-wide is toward a voluntary compliance ordinance, which says homeowners within a district would have to consult with the city building department before making any changes to their home. Compliance, however, would be voluntary.

"The real focus of any ordinance is the view from the street," he said, adding a house can best preserve its historic character if changes or additions are in back of the structure, or somewhere else out of sight.

'Black Comedy' on tap

Ever wonder what happens when the lights go off?

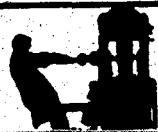

Find out when the Plymouth Park Players present "Black Comedy," a British comedy that answers the question of what happens when the lights go off. Miller said he plans to meet with Donohue and go over some background before the committee gets to work. Donohue -- a certified historical planner -- has also offered to give another seminar on historical districts.

Thus far Bila has appointed Mark Oppat, Marda Benson, Jackie Kenyon, Gary Stone, John Welsler, Mike Snyder, Jan Foster and Jack Wilcox to the committee.

The performances will be held on Nov. 1-3 at the Salem High auditorium.

Tickets for the show are $3.50. For more information call 459-3518.

P-C schools, businesses team up to teach work skills

A partnership council between local businesses and the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools is aiming to prepare a wide range of students for meeting the challenges of the working world.

The Plymouth-Canton Community Business-Education Partnership (PCCBEP), formed in 1988, is seeking the participation of local businesses through student learning opportunities and financial donations.

Coordinator Betty Bloch said the PCCBEP hopes to impact as many pupils as possible.

"Our goal is to touch all students in the Plymouth-Canton Schools, from kindergarten to adult education," Bloch said.

Some of the area employers taking part in the program include Krogers, the Mayflower Hotel and McDonald's of Canton.

The Unisys Corporation, pledging its support for the program, donated $2,000 to the BCCBEP last Wednesday. Unisys Human resources manager Jan Schmit said that the company considered it an investment in the future.

"Recognizing that talent will be there in our future is important," Schmit said. "It's a wise investment on (Unisys') part."

Jim Danielski, chairperson of the PCCBEP, said that he will be contacting all businesses in Plymouth and Canton to attract their support.

Financially, Danielski said, the council hopes to raise $15,000.

Local businesses and others who wish to lend support to the program should contact the PCCBEP at 451-6276.

Despite '88 ballot defeat

Canton community center possible

BY MIKE GUINN

Canton may still see a community center structure built in the near future — paid for without an added millage or other type of tax — if township leaders can come up with alternate project financing.

A report from a consulting firm currently studying the community center idea is expected to be reviewed next month.

Two years ago a proposal to pay for the facility by a voter-approved millage was defeated in a general election. Canton Supervisor Thomas J. Yack said, however, that the vote does not necessarily mean Canton residents don't want the center.

"My reading was people saw the need (for a community center)," Yack said. "But they were not prepared to sign up for the additional cost."

To finance the structure, Yack said that a number of options are being considered to make the funds available without turning to taxpayers.

Some of the measures to be considered, Yack said, include using money set aside in the recreation bond issue and obtaining community block grant funds through the sale of township property.

Yack said funds could also possibly come from leasing banquet space in the center once it has been built, or through money generated through the township's solid waste disposal program.

"Unless there is a public groundswell of support for a tax raise, which I don't think there is, we'll have to do it one of these ways," Yack said.

Michael Gouin, Canton Superintendent of Parks and Recreation, said that various ways to finance the center are being studied by the consulting firm of Hastings-Chivetta. The firm is scheduled to advise Canton's Recreational Advisory Committee of its findings Nov. 7.

"Once the committee is comfortable with the study, it will go to the (Canton Board of Trustees)," Gouin said.

Proposals will hopefully be before the board in December, Gouin said.

Yack estimates that building the structure would cost between $8-9 million.

Truck, train meet

No one was injured last week in a truck/train collision on Beck Road in Plymouth Township. The truck driver told police the sun was in his eyes and he did not see the crossing lights. He will be cited for failing to yield, according to police. (Crier photo by Phillip Tardani)

Firm cleared in mishap

A Michigan Department of Labor investigation has cleared a City of Plymouth firm of any violations in an industrial accident that cost a worker his leg.

Rodney Lemmon, 36, was pinned beneath a stack of sheet metal at BMC Manufacturing on Oct. 12. His right leg was later amputated.

Mark Smith, head of the Labor Department's general industry safety division, said BMC was found not to be at fault in the incident.

"Basically, investigators found that a stack of sheet steel had fell," Smith said, adding that Lemmon stacked the metal himself. "We didn't have any violations because witnesses said it was stacked straight and square."

Smith said his department gets about 100 reports a day of incidents for which workers qualify for worker's compensation.

Tree plan eyed

BY MIKE GUINN

An ordinance aimed at preventing tree removal over plots of land larger than two acres was considered by the Canton Board of Trustees last Tuesday.

Aimed at protecting trees and other natural resources on parcels of land over two acres, the Forest Preservation Ordinance is expected to be brought back to the board for action sometime in November.

Supervisor Thomas J. Yack said the two-acre restriction was included in the ordinance to prevent it from applying to private residences.

"It (the ordinance) is designed to speak to development as opposed to what people do around their property," Yack said. "It is intended to eliminate clear cutting."

If approved, the ordinance would prohibit removal of any trees that have a six-inch diameter, four-feet high. Violation of the ordinance would be a misdemeanor, resulting in a $500 fine, a 90-day jail term or both.

Canton accident

Police said Dahy was traveling westbound on Warren Road when she failed to yield to a red light at Sheldon Road. Upon entering the intersection, Dahy's car was hit broadside by Gega.

"A witness said (Dahy) ran the light," Nemecek said. "There were no skidmarks at the scene."

Nemecek said they are investigating whether Dahy had been drinking prior to the accident. Dahy was not wearing a seatbelt, Nemecek said.

The auto fatality is the ninth in Canton this year, Nemecek said.

CSX picks up 6

City of Plymouth Police wrote CSX Transportation six tickets over the weekend for holding up traffic over five minutes.

"Anything over five minutes and they're in violation of the local ordinance," according to Commander Robert Commire.

The time violations ranged from blocking the street for 17 minutes to six minutes. Four of the tickets were written on Sunday, two of them within an hour.

The violations occurred at the N. Main, S. Mill, Ann Arbor Trail and Starkweather crossings.

Addenda & errata

A front page story on the City of Plymouth Department of Public Works said the city was charged $93 for the waxing and cleaning of a city vehicle. The charge for that service was actually only $60; the other $33 was for removing decals and adhesives from a former police car.

We regret the error.

Canton gets playoff nod

Chiefs scalp Rocks in cross-campus clash

BY RITA DERBIN

There were high hopes on Friday night at the Centennial Educational Park after the Chiefs (8-1) ran right over Salem (6-3) in a decisive 34-0 victory.

The victory was sweet, not only because the Canton football team beat the Rocks, but the victory gave the Chiefs the points to make the state playoffs.

The team will be traveling to Westland John Glenn on Saturday afternoon to take on the Rockets in the state Class AA Region 2 playoffs at 1:30 p.m. John Glenn High School is located at 36105 Marquette, west of Wayne Road.

No doubt the Chiefs will depend on the stars of Friday night's game -- seniors Karl Wukie and Jason Riggs.

The victory over Salem was a tremendous team effort by the Chiefs, according to Canton coach Bob Khoenle, but Wukie outdid himself after having a bad game against Salem last year in the Chiefs' 25-6 loss.

"Last year he didn't have a good game (against Salem)," said Khoenle of his third-year starter. "But tonight he did what he had to do, he did a great job leading the team."

"He's just a super young man," Khoenle added. "He's a super athlete who had something to prove and he did."

The elusive quarterback scrambled his way to 110 yards rushing. He also completed seven of 11 passes for 105 yards and three touchdowns to beat the Rocks.

"After the way I played against them last year I really wanted this victory," said Wukie, who threw four interceptions in last year's loss to Salem, which knocked the Chiefs out of the playoffs. "I waited all year for this -- this was a chance for me to make it up to everyone -- I didn't want to go around knowing I lost to Salem in our final game."

"It's nice knowing I'm the first one to beat Salem and now I'm the second one," said Wukie. "No matter what happens now, the team will be happy knowing we beat Salem."

Wukie put the Chiefs up 13-0 just before halftime with a one-yard touchdown run following a 50-yard completion to Brett Howell. He also connected with Riggs for touchdown passes of three, three and 51 yards. Backup quarterback Steve Hohl ran for an 11-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter to complete the scoring. Riggs also had 101 yards rushing in the game.

That's when, according to Wukie, "we put the nail in the coffin."

On second and 22, Wukie went right and eluded the entire Salem defensive line before finally getting a pass off to a wide open Riggs on the left. Canton then completed a two-point conversion to make the score 21-0.

"The offensive line held up all night and gave me time to run around," Wukie said. "If you run around enough you'll give people time to get open. Riggs got open tonight."

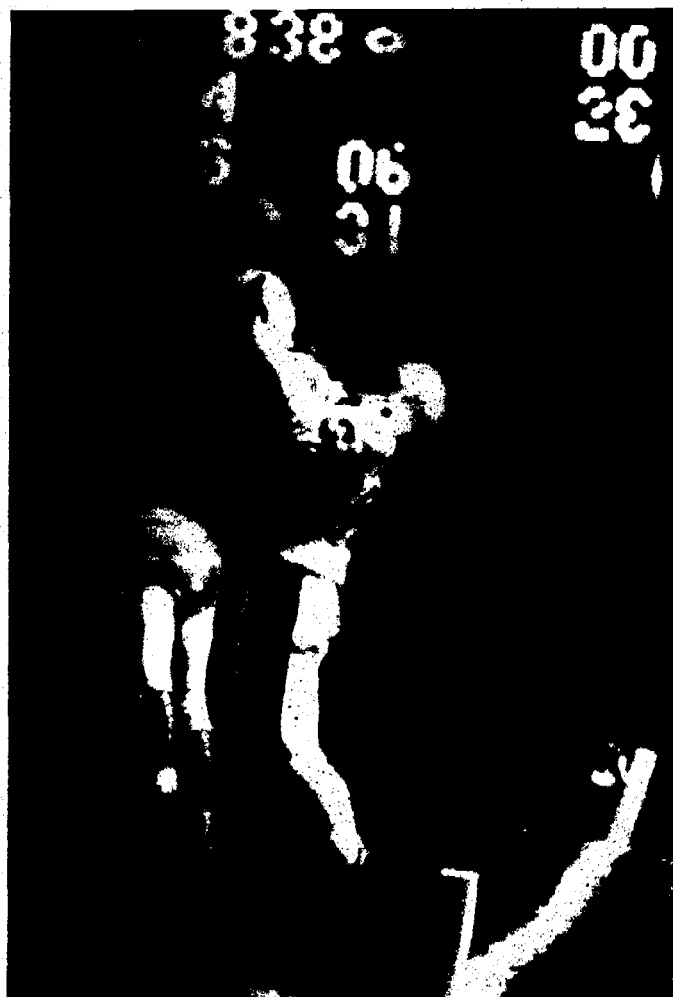

Wukie's scrambling and key passes gave the Salem players and coach fits all night.

"We had (Wukie), we had him cornered and he got away and completed to a wide open Riggs, it was a matter of our linemen chasing the quarterback," said Salem coach Tom Moshimer, who tipped his hat to the way Canton played on Friday night. "They are a very good team and they came to play, they played well and they dominated, that is obvious."

Moshimer added that the Chiefs executed very well throughout the game, while Salem made inexcusable mistakes.

"We were making some mistakes that were first game mistakes, not mistakes made in the ninth game of the season," said Moshimer, who saw his

It's conference playoff time in girls basketball and both Centennial Educational Park teams are ready to roll.

The Rocks won the Lakes Division and are 10-1 in conference play, making them the top seeded team. They will host North Farmington tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in first round conference playoff action.

The game will be a rematch of last Thursday night's game when the Raiders upset Salem, 37-34, and handed the Rocks their only conference loss.

To win, Salem coach Fred Thomann feels the team has to make more shots and stop Eve Clair, who scored 30 of North Farmington's 37 points. In the loss, Yolanda Jackson scored 16 for the Rocks.

"We didn't play particularly well on Thursday," said Thomann, whose team is 14-3 overall. "But we have had a nice season so far."

Earlier in the week, Salem defeated Livonia Franklin in overtime, 50-46, to clinch the top seed at the tournament. Leading scorers for the Rocks were Darcie Miller (15) and Jackson (11).

On the other side of campus, the Canton team, 11-5 overall, is getting ready to host Walled Lake Western in the conference tournament tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. The Chiefs won the Western Division and have a 9-2 conference record, making them the second seeded team in the tournament.

Last Thursday, the Chiefs defeated Livonia Churchill, 59-36. Stephanie Gray led Canton with 24 points. Julie Nicastri had 16 points and Mary Barna added 11 points in the victory.

Last Tuesday, the Chiefs defeated Westland John Glenn, 70-48. Gray had 27 points for Canton, Nicastri added 14 and Barna chipped in nine.

we're ready for the playoffs."

Canton did not face Lakes Division powerhouse John Glenn this year, but Khoenle saw the team when they were defeated by Farmington Harrison in the WLAA championship game.

"They always have a good, strong team but I think we can play with them and I think we can win."

Jr. football

The Plymouth-Canton Freshmen, Steelers junior football team advanced to the Western Suburban Football past weekend over the Belleville Cougars.

Kevin Salla led the Steelers with three touchdowns and 84 yards rushing. The squad, coached by Jim Coburn, is 6-0-1 overall.

The Varsity Steelers grabbed a 40-23 victory behind the running of Lenny Gardner and Dan Krueger.

The varsity team, coached by Ron Krueger, sneaks into the playoffs with a 4-3 record.

Rocks lose 2-1

Chargers shock Salem soccer

BY RITA DERBIN

The Chargers were too much for Salem last Wednesday. With a 2-1 loss to Livonia Churchill in the soccer district semi-finals, the Rocks' season ended.

Tom Baker scored the last goal of the season for the Salem team, which finished at 16-2-1. Chris LaJoy had the assist on the goal.

"We had a tough game against Canton to start out the week and we just weren't in the game against Churchill," said Salem coach Ken Johnson. "We had tied Churchill and beat them to win the conference this year -- we just didn't play our best and had no luck."

The Rocks did accomplish some firsts this season. The team defeated Livonia Stevenson for the first time during the regular season to win the Lake Division, and then defeated Churchill for their first conference championship.

All conference selections for Salem were seniors Andy Cosenza, Ryan Fitzpatrick, Jake Baker and Brad Fisch. All Lakes Division were seniors Chris LaJoy and Joe Nunez, junior John Truskowski and sophomore Tom Baker.

Cosenza broke the Salem school assist record of 20 previously held by Randy Johnson in 1983. The senior finished the season with 23 assists and 19 goals.

P-C players fuel Shamrock playoff run

Detroit Catholic Central will face number one Warren DeLaSalle in the first round of the state soccer regionals this afternoon, after winning the Troy district. The game begins at 5 p.m. at Troy Athens High School.

Players on the Shamrock team from The Plymouth-Canton Community include Joe Sebastyn, Kerry Zavagnin, Brendan Sullivan, Scott Larnier and Mike Duffy.

On Saturday, the Shamrocks will face off against Ypsilanti in Class AA Region 2 football action. The game will be held at Ypsilanti High School at 7 p.m.

Local youths on the team include seniors John Brand, Eric Wiklendt, James Buda, Rob Sylvester and Mitch MacDonald. Juniors playing for Catholic Central include Kerry Zavagnin, Matt Roney and Dan Kelly.

team give the ball back to Canton on an offside call and also for having too many men on the field on a Canton punt. "We were our own undoing in a lot of situations," added Moshimer. "We were taken out of our game when they scored right away."

The Rocks went to a passing game to catch up, which took away running back Leon Hister's running game. "I guess we should have stayed with our game plan but we didn't," Moshimer added. "Canton played well and definitely deserved to win this game. I just wish we would have played better."

On the other side of the field, Canton could do no wrong.

"We played well all season but tonight was just a super effort," said Khoenle. "Beating Salem was great -- the rest is just a bonus. What we're doing now is just for fun."

What the Chiefs are doing now is getting ready to take on John Glenn, the top ranked team in Region 2.

"Our team is playing good football right now," said Khoenle. "I think

When the dust cleared at the West Bloomfield cross country regional both Salem cross country teams had qualified for the state meet this Saturday in Ann Arbor at the University of Michigan golf course.

The boys team became the first Salem team to win a regional competition.

state with a third place finish. Corey Gulkewicz, Stacy Whittoff, Julie Cutting, Emily Farrell, Beth Turomsha, Kelly Morante, and Jill Czaplicki will be competing in the team competition at 11:20 a.m. on Saturday morning.

Also qualifying for the state meet with a third place finish at the regionals was the Canton boys team. Competing for Canton on Saturday will be Mike Ream, Jason Crain, Dave Yack, Jim Carnes, Jason Napolitano, Chris Nelson and Kirk Stewart.

The Canton girls did not qualify as a team but Amy Smith and Heather Myer will compete in the individual competition before the girls team competition.

Providing comfort through quilts

BY MIKE GUINN

United by the efforts of a local business outfit, sick and needy children throughout Michigan are receiving a home-made present specially designed to give comfort and warmth.

For the last year, Dian's, a City of Plymouth patchwork shop, has been gathering quilts for children suffering from a wide range of diseases and abuses.

Edna Rohan, a Dian's employe, said that the program was started to assist babies suffering from AIDS. But due to the large response, many other categories of hurting kids have also been able to be helped.

"The response has been absolutely wonderful, we have gotten at least 250 quilts," said Rohan. "In fact, we've gotten so many that we have offered them to other groups that have asked for them."

Dian's became involved with the quilting program when a Midland woman called the shop to ask if they would become a collection center,

Getting down to business

Rohan said. As the word became available, donations from around southeastern Michigan began to come into the shop.

Besides The Plymouth-Canton Community, Rohan said they have also received comforters from areas including Detroit and Port Huron.

Not all of the donations have been made by experienced quilters. Rohan said that brownie and girl scout troops have also donated their efforts, and one special blanket came from a group of people who must have surely been making their first quilting attempt.

"We had pre-school children from a day-care center send one," Rohan said. "The children drew the blocks, and I think the adults helped them with the sewing.

"It gives you a good feeling to see the little ones making quilts for those more needy than themselves."

The comforters have found their way to places throughout the entire state, Rohan said.

"About 60 quilts were given to a group from Michigan Bell that takes care of children in need," Rohan said. "Last year 40-50 of them were given to the Wellness House of Detroit, which is affiliated with Children's Hospital. About 60 were also recently sent up north."

Besides acting as a collection center, Dian's is also making a contribution of their own. Rohan said that ladies from the shop are involved in creating a quilt that will be given to the Telephone Pioneers of America, who will then raffle it off.

Proceeds from the drawing will be donated to local police departments' "Hug-A-Bear" program, which purchases stuffed animals to comfort small children at crime scenes. The quilt will be on display at the Detroit Homebuilders Show in March.

Rohan said she doesn't see the process of gathering the comforters end anytime soon.

"It will be ongoing as long as there is a need and the ladies are willing to do it," Rohan said. "We are more than happy to be involved."

Anyone interested in donating a quilt to needy children can call Dian's at 459-3630.

blow. I don't want to do it if we can avoid that."

She said the community might have to consider bonds for any future library expansion or relocation.

Campbell said the library can always be improved and her goals included expanding the book collection and number of community programs.

Tornga, 66, has been a township resident for 16 years. A retired teacher (over 30 years) in the Dearborn Heights schools, she holds a degree from University of Michigan.

Tornga has been a volunteer at the Plymouth library for six years, and is a member of the PCAC and the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth.

"I'm running because it's my civic duty. I thought somebody should get involved," she said. "I feel I have somewhat better knowledge being there those years, seeing the needs."

Tornga said she "definitely" favors expanding the library. "It's growing so much," she said. "I think it would be sort of a shame to move it. I'd probably favor staying there if there is a way to do it."

"That's the most important issue -- what's going to happen to our library," she added.

She said that there is no other space available downtown if the library had to be moved, and added that the public would have to have a say in any funding.

Tornga's goals include making more space available for children's needs, adding shelf space and being an "advocate" of the library.

She is a member of the PCAC, the First Presbyterian Church, and previously belonged to the Canton Newcomers. Kleam graduated from Salem High School and has been a patron of the library for many years.

"I'm interested in the library. I'm a patron, I use it," Kleam said. "I'd like to see the services enlarged, a larger collection, more computer space, more programs for children. I would also like to see more community involvement."

Kleam said she agrees that expansion is necessary. "I'm open to all of our

Nearly 100 Friends of the Canton-Plymouth Close Up Program attended a fund raiser sponsored by the Canton Community Foundation. Money raised for the Foundation Scholarship Fund is to be donated to the Close Up Program. It is expected that proceeds from the evening will reach $5,000.

The Close Up Program is an exciting year-long government program that provides "hands on" experiences for over 350 Canton-Plymouth students. The study of politics and our government is highlighted by a one-week seminar in Washington D.C. in March.

The Canton-Plymouth Close Up Program is the largest of its kind in the nation. Steve Janger, President of the Close Up Foundation in Washington, was the surprise guest of honor at the party.

It is planned to make this activity an annual event.

This family recently enjoyed the 2nd Annual Canton Corn Roast.

The first 5 people to call the Canton Community Foundation office at 454-5427 and correctly identify the family will receive a $5 gift certificate from the Big Boy.

CANTON RETAILERS INVITED TO BREAKFAST

Canton Retailers will be hosted at a breakfast on Tuesday, November 13. The event, sponsored by Phyllis Redfern (The Community Crier), Mel Morris (President, Canton Chamber of Commerce), Tom Yack (Canton Supervisor) and Cindy Burgess (Public Administration Research Group), is an attempt to establish lines of communication within the retail community.

The breakfast, from 8-9 a.m., will be a social opportunity for retailers to meet and mix. There will be no agenda, and is designed for fun and fellowship. Of course, some discussion will take place on the marketing of Canton retail. To R.S.V.P., call Cindy Burgess at 454-5428.

COMMUNITY LITERACY COUNCIL

The Community Literacy Council continues to provide a tremendous service to our community and its residents. According to Carolyn Burns, there are currently 88 tutors voluntarily assisting over 100 students learning to read.

The Council, with an office provided by the school district at the Starkweather Center, has received most of its funding through a State of Michigan grant applied for through the local library. With funding cutbacks this year, the Council is in need of additional funding for materials and supplies.

Last year 86 students were tutored by 82 volunteers. The oldest student assisted in the past two years has been 80 years old.

If you have a student needing literacy help, you can call Carolyn Burns at 451-6473 or 451-6555. If you would like to help this tremendous community based Council, and can write a check, it would be greatly appreciated. You can mail it to 550 North Holbrook, Plymouth 48170. Call Carolyn if you have any questions.
