

DNR continues investigation into Twp. spill

BY JIM WHITE

An unknown substance was apparently spilled in a drain near Sheldon and Joy roads Thursday.

Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) environmental quality analyst Martin Hedges said yesterday that the source of the spill

"is unconfirmed, but we're working on it."

Canton Fire Chief Mel Paulun said his department received a call at about 2 p.m. Thursday regarding a filmy substance on the water in the Green Meadows drain.

Firefighters from both Canton and Plymouth Township responded and placed absorbent pads in the open drain where it runs along Elmhurst just south of Joy.

Paulun said the spill originated upstream from Canton, either in Plymouth or Plymouth Township.

"That's where the substance is coming from, not our side," he said Friday. "We've done all we can do, we're turning it over to the DNR for cleanup."

The filing deadline for both the county race and the 36th District State Representative contest passed at 4 p.m. yesterday with a total of only four candidates lined up in the two races.

Maurice Breen, who left his post as Plymouth Township Supervisor to replace Susan Heintz as interim county commissioner, was the only candidate to file for the county race.

But local communities will still have to go through the election process, said Wayne County election officials. The 10th District includes the Plymouths, Northvilles, and part of Livonia.

New manager takes over in Plymouth

BY JIM TOTTEN

The 'old boy' is coming back to Plymouth.

After spending 17 years in the City of Northville as city manager, Steve Walters, 47, will now be taking over the reins in the City of Plymouth. He starts Monday as Plymouth's new city manager.

Walters originally worked as an administrative assistant in Plymouth from 1966 until 1970 after he graduated with a master's degree in public administration from the University of Michigan. He then served for three years as St. Ignace's first city manager before accepting the position in Northville.

"It was the time to do it if I wanted to work in another city," said Walters of his switch from Northville to Plymouth. It was also a chance, he said, to have one more "realistic city career."

"Plymouth has asked me twice before," to become city manager, Walters said. He was approached in 1981 and again in 1990, but involvement with other issues prevented him from accepting. The timing just happened to be right when asked the third time, he said.

Walters said that Plymouth was working on several projects that interested him, one being the Downtown Development Authority (DDA).

Steven Walters, the City of Plymouth's new manager, spent time here from 1966-70. He takes over on Monday. (Crier photo by Eric Lukasik)

"It's a very satisfying thing and it takes a lot of work," said Walters, of working with DDAs.

One of the main reasons for his being hired, Walters said, was his long standing involvement with the Northville DDA. The city commission will look toward Walters for advice and leadership on the current DDA project since he will also take over as director of the DDA.

The addition of computers for the city and joint services were other aspects to switching to Plymouth which appealed to Walters.

Walters, who was divorced this year, said that he was planning on "selling our home anyway" to look for something smaller in Plymouth. The youngest of his three sons, Richard, will be graduating from Northville High School this year.

Walters expects that his new position in Plymouth will be about 90 per cent the same as in Northville. However, he will meet with more department heads since Plymouth is a larger community than Northville.

"Plymouth is probably somewhat more diverse, more politically active," he said. "It has a lot more activity going on."

Along with this diversity, Walters said it is "harder to get things done," but added that that is a sacrifice one makes moving to a larger community.

He described the two communities as competing but in a healthy fashion that benefits both cities.

"Each has got something that the other hasn't -- and has done it well," said Walters.

While Plymouth is working to improve its downtown, Northville would like to have more annual events such as Plymouth's Fall Festival.

But, he added, the changes to downtown Northville were part of a long process.

"We're benefiting from 18 years of the historical district commission," Walters said. The historical commission, which was established in 1973, maintains control over storefront design changes and seeks to preserve older styles.

Plymouth man found guilty of counterfeiting

A Plymouth man has been found guilty on two counts of violating federal counterfeiting laws.

The jury took one hour to return a guilty verdict May 21 against Arthur Acosta, 43, said U.S. Attorney Stephen Markman last week. The trial lasted four days.

Assistant United States Attorney Patrick E. Corbett, who prosecuted the case, said, that the evidence presented at trial established that $400,000 of counterfeit currency had been manufactured in Boston.

Sometime in November and December of 1990, $50,000 to $60,000 of this counterfeit currency was shipped in two stages to the defendant in Michigan in exchange for a 1968 Mercedes Benz, Corbett said.

He added that the counterfeit money surfaced after being passed in the Detroit and Saginaw areas. At the same time the counterfeit money began surfacing in San Antonio, TX.

During the first and second weeks of December 1990, Acosta exchanged the counterfeit money with various individuals for numerous articles of stolen clothing from Hudson's of Flint and other locations, said Corbett. He said the counterfeit money was then passed "many times" in the Saginaw and Lansing area.

Acosta is scheduled for sentencing on Aug. 15. He faces a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison and a fine of up to $250,000, or both.

The United States Secret Service offices in Saginaw, Boston and San Antonio were involved in the investigation of the case.

like it could only have come from someplace in Plymouth Township," Hedges said.

The drain runs underground through the township. Plymouth Township Department of Public Works employes have worked since Friday dropping down manholes, looking for a source of the spill.

By yesterday morning, they had not found the source, but had determined the substance was not flammable, said, Plymouth Township Fire Chief Larry Groth.

It was the second time in two weeks a substance had been found in the drain. Previously, the DNR cleaned up about 20 gallons of what looked like the same substance, said Hedges.

"We saw about 20 gallons that time but more may have gotten by," he said. "It was cleaned up using state funds."

Hedges said the substance spilled Thursday was "more than likely" from the same source as the previous spill.

More tests are being done to determine exactly what the substance is, he said.

City adopts safety policy

BY JIM TOTTEN

The City of Plymouth has adopted a policy outlining steps for maintaining the safety of its workers.

The city commission passed a resolution at their meeting last Tuesday to adopt a risk control/safety policy proposed by the Risk Control Committee.

"It relates more to the actual operation of the city" than to public festivals and events said Paul Sincock, acting city manager. Sincock said the policy is directed at increasing the safety of city employes in their work environment.

set, was originally scheduled for Friday, but "there was some confusion on the part of the defense," Nancy Diehl, prosecutor in the case, said Friday.

The defendant, William Nutting, 40, a urologist in Dearborn, is charged with allegedly having sex with his three children, and with forcing them to perform sex acts while he watched. In all, he faces 15 counts of criminal sexual conduct.

The charges stem from incidents allegedly occurring between November, 1989, and November, 1990. The children are four, six, and eight years old.

Diehl said that Thomas Howard, Nutting's attorney, did not show up in court Friday because he had been given a court date of June 4 for motions involving four of the counts.

"But now the short and the long of it is we'll be in court June 10," to hear motions on all the counts, Diehl said. A trial date should also be set at that time.

The conference will be held before Wayne County Recorder's Judge Craig Strong.

This weekend Challenge Fest heats up

BY JIM WHITE

Canton's Challenge Fest shifts into high gear this weekend, with most of the activities taking place at the Canton Recreation Complex.

Highlighting events in the complex (located behind Township Hall on Canton Center) is the annual Fishing Derby, sponsored by Canton Parks and Recreation Services.

The pond in the complex has been stocked with 2,000 rainbow trout. Anglers between the ages of four and 15 (Canton residents only) may sign up for an hour of fishing on either Saturday or Sunday. A $100 U.S. savings bond will be awarded for first prize.

Register by Thursday by calling the parks and rec department at 397-5110.

Fishing licenses cost $1 and you must provide your own gear.

Another popular event brought back from last year is the Windjammers kite flying exhibition. The national champion team will fly 27 kites at one time. They perform at noon Saturday.

From 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., they will also hold kite flying workshops.

Remote control car enthusiasts will be out in force. Dirt track racing will take place at 1 p.m. Saturday and on-road races will be held at 1 p.m. Sunday. Registration begins at 10 a.m. both days. For more information call Bret Martin at Rider's Hobby, 981-8700.

Be more careful during clean-up

EDITOR:

As you know the week of May 5-10 the City of Plymouth had its annual spring clean-up. What a great event: mini mountains of things unwanted appeared on the curbs. People young and old rummaging in the piles to discover lost treasure.

However, this event could be tragic. Someone had left samples of children's medicine in plain sight on the curb where many youngsters go to school. I was grateful I saw it before any children had and disposed of it properly.

I feel the citizens of Plymouth should exercise more care in the way they dispose of potentially dangerous things.

Millage renewal important for Schools

EDITOR:

As a senior citizen, I urge the voters of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools District to please vote "Yes" on the 17.74 millage renewal. Since this represents approximately 50 per cent of the district's annual budget, it is important that this millage renewal is passed.

We should be proud that our school district spends less per student -- $4,075

-- than the following 10 surrounding school districts:

- Ann Arbor, $6,375; Bloomfield Hills, $6,737; Detroit, $4,311; Farmington, $6,105; Inkster, $4,221; Livonia, $5,148; Northville, $4,679; Rochester, $4,893; Wayne-Westland, $4,794; and West Bloomfield, $6,063.

In Wayne County, Plymouth-

Canton is 25th out of 34 local districts in per-pupil spending. The average per-pupil spending is $4,455 in Wayne County and $4,988 in Oakland County.

Also, there will be two four-year board of education seats to be filled in this election. Vote for Dean Swartz-weller and Roland Thomas.

24 hours in search of Canton's heart

If you ever decide to take 24 hours to roam a community just to find out what's going on, you may find you have an extra minute or two to think about things.

On Friday, May 17, I mostly thought about how nice it would be to go to sleep.

But the age-old question of Canton's identity kept interfering.

I logged 238 miles within Canton's 36 square mile boundary, and I talked to anyone who would talk back. The words of one woman stuck with me most of the day.

Sue LaPrairie was planting flowers in Wagon Wheel Mobile Home Park. A few yards south, and she'd have been in Van Buren. A short walk west would have taken her into Superior Township and a whole other county.

"We're out in the corner here," she said. "The rest of Canton seems to forget about us."

She considers herself a Canton resident, certainly, but in many ways she has more in common with her neighbors to the west and south rather than back east. Her closest source of news is the Ypsilanti Press.

Marcia Hess and her Greenbrook subdivision neighbors have a different problem. They strongly identify with Canton (living only a half mile from its geographical center) but because of settlement patterns, they are part of the Wayne-Westland School District.

The boundary lines were drawn when settlers moving along Michigan Avenue into southern Canton had more in common with neighbors back east in Westland than with folks to the north.

Geography has always been the main impediment to a cohesive Canton. The township has enough people (nearly 58,000) to rank as one of Michigan's larger communities. But the population is spread out over a large area, and there is no natural center to draw the population together.

The Northvilles and Plymouths combined cover the same acreage as Canton, and there are two downtown centers in that territory.

The lack of a "downtown" has long been recognized. Canton Supervisor Tom Yack would very much like to settle the court dispute now involving the township's Downtown Development District and move ahead on creating a downtown.

The idea is to drop a Plymouth- or Northville-style downtown shopping district into the 80-acre area bounded by Ford, Sheldon, Morton Taylor, and Carriage Hills subdivision.

Canton folks could go "downtown" for recreational, cultural, or retail activities.

But can you really just designate a downtown? Is it something that can be created artificially? You can build it, but will people automatically think of it as the town center?

Something interesting is going to happen long before those questions can be answered.

Most of this weekend's Challenge Festival events are going to take place in the true geographic center of Canton — the Canton Recreation Complex off of Canton Center Road just south of Cherry Hill Road.

People are going to be drawn to a center in Canton because for one weekend, that is the place to be.

And while they might clear out again this year once the Fishing Derby ends and the entertainment tent is struck, don't be so sure about next year.

By next spring, construction should be almost complete on new phases of the recreation complex. There's going to be an amphitheater there, as well as enlarged ponds and rolling hills.

The Canton Public Library and township hall are already located in the same area. In the not-too-distant future, a multimillion dollar community center may be built. There's talk of a golf course complex on surrounding land, and local veterans interested in a Canton memorial have already chosen their site at the entrance to the complex.

People are going to have reasons to visit the recreation complex, and they are going to have reasons — cultural and recreational, at least — to stay.

No, no downtown "shoppes" are planned, but Canton has empty store fronts now, more retail outlets are not necessary.

So a 55-acre park may eventually serve as Canton's anchor, and that's something pretty unique. How many other communities can say "downtown" is simply open green space?

CAFE finds 3 candidates capable

EDITOR:

For the third year running, the Committee for Academic Freedom and Excellence (CAFE) has invited candidates for the Plymouth-Canton school board to meet with us and discuss their ideas and concerns. This year, three of the four accepted our invitation.

Dean Swartzwelder, Roland Thomas and Deborah Lynch met with the executive committee of CAFE, presented their agenda and answered our questions about three subjects in particular: schools of choice, the developmental program, and the Michigan Model for Comprehensive School Health Education.

We regret that candidate Bobbie Cleary was unable to attend. However, recent articles in the newspapers and comments attributed to her suggest that she should not be considered a serious candidate.

As experienced board members, Swartzwelder and Thomas each gave thoughtful, knowledgeable responses to our questions. Both incumbents are clearly committed to a continuation of the academic excellence that has made the Plymouth-Canton schools such a good place to obtain a public school education.

The pleasant surprise of the evening was Deborah Lynch. Lynch was exceptionally well prepared. She was thoroughly familiar with both the developmental and the health education programs. But most impressive of all was her grasp of the financial position of the school system in terms of both the present situation and years to come. We feel her energy and insight would make her a valuable addition to the board.

All three candidates expressed what have become widely held concerns about the possible impact of different schools of choice proposals. Most of their reservations were confined to the question of students crossing district lines.

As we have consistently discovered in recent years, there are highly qualified individuals in our community who stand ready to undertake one of the most challenging political positions around. Swartzwelder, Thomas and Lynch are such individuals. We wish them the best of luck in the coming election.

Salem treasurer lacks respect for firefighters

EDITOR:

I recently read a quote by Salem Township Treasurer Suzanne Witthoff ("The White pages"), that compelled me to write.

Although I have never personally had a need for the fire department, I have seen them at work many times in my years as a police officer.

It's obvious by Witthoff's flippant comment that she lacks respect for fire chiefs and fire departments in general.

In the community I live in (Canton) and work in (Plymouth Township), our firefighters also respond to rescue calls. Chances are good that if Witthoff were in any type of accident in our community it would be the fire department that would rescue her and save her life. If her home was on fire in our community, it would be the firefighters that would walk through flames to save her life.

She asked how much training does a fire chief need? Someone should explain to Witthoff that the fire chief would decide what type of training and equipment the fire department needs. He would also be the one to set the procedures for how fires are fought.

I would think that a fire chief should be both an excellent firefighter and a good administrator.

If a CEO of a company makes a few bad decisions the company could lose money. If a fire chief makes a few bad decisions the community could lose lives.

Witthoff should get her priorities straight. It's a shame that she lacks respect for the men that could save her life.

I just wanted them to know that they have mine.

Our Lady, Blunk dispute nears settlement

BY JIM TOTTEN

Attorneys for Blunk Street residents, the City of Plymouth and Our Lady of Good Counsel Church are apparently on the verge of resolving their differences.

Ron Lowe, attorney for Plymouth, said last week that a settlement offer would enter the parties into a consent judgement. But the judgement would require the parties involved to meet within 60 days in an attempt to resolve their conflicts.

Currently, the city and Our Lady are trying to agree on a proposal for the settlement of the issue with the residents, Lowe said.

Last Tuesday the city commission rejected a proposed settlement with Our Lady after a closed meeting with Lowe to discuss settlement strategy.

Lowe said, "there was some language that we wanted added on," but Our Lady refused, and the offer was rejected by the commission. The offer will now return to Our Lady, he said.

"What we really want to do is start over," said Carol Levitte, attorney for the Blunk Street residents.

Levitte said that Plymouth was handed a temporary restraining order in January that prohibits it from issuing work permits to Our Lady. The city was also told in February that it must issue stop work orders to Our Lady if any construction begins before the resolution of the lawsuit.

"I think it is still going to settle out," Levitte added.

"Essentially, the church and plaintiff (Blunk Street Subdivision) have worked out their differences," said Michael Peterman, attorney for Our Lady.

Peterman said that he expected a settlement would be reached soon once the city and Our Lady agreed to the settlement language.

The case of Blunk Street Subdivision vs. the City of Plymouth and Our Lady of Good Counsel began when the Plymouth Planning Commission approved site plans for an addition to the Catholic church on Penniman Avenue.

Levitte has maintained that the plans fail to conform to city ordinances, specifically those regarding building height, lot coverage and parking.

It is expected that Our Lady will have to resubmit plans to the city planning commission for their proposed expansion.

The policy attempts to "decrease liability exposure" by listing potential problems that need to be addressed and corrected Sincoc added.

The city has been directed to create a committee to address the issue of workers' safety and make recommendations for improvement.

In a letter to Sincoc, Risk Manager Carol Stone wrote that "both the Michigan Municipal Risk Management Authority and the Michigan Municipal League's Workers Compensation Insurance Program have mandated that participating municipalities develop a risk-control committee for the purpose of reducing liability exposure."

Stone wrote that during the 1989-1990 Fiscal Year, $17,924 was paid out for liability claims and legal expenses and $37,243 was paid out in workers compensation claims.

Goss gets nod

The board of commissioners of the Western Townships Utilities Authority (WTUA) elected Northville Township Supervisor Georgina F. Goss as its chairperson.

After being elected last Monday, Goss said she is "very excited and honored to be chosen by her colleagues for this important position."

"The benefits to be achieved are tremendous," she added, "both in terms of our environment and the method by which our wastewater is handled."

As chairperson, Goss will oversee construction of a $90 million wastewater transportation system project that will serve Canton, Northville and Plymouth Township communities.

The largest project of its kind in the State of Michigan, the new system will provide better wastewater treatment, eliminate sewer overflows and basement floodings and reduce pollution in the Rouge River.

The project is scheduled to be completed in late 1993.

Rouge clean-up on tap Saturday

BY JIM TOTTEN

Put on those work clothes and get down in the mud to help make the Rouge River a little cleaner.

The upcoming Sixth Annual Rouge Rescue, sponsored by the Friends of the Rouge, will have work sites in all the surrounding communities including the cities of Plymouth and Northville and the townships of Plymouth, Canton, and Northville.

The rescue is scheduled for Saturday, June 1, from about 8 a.m. to noon.

The cleaning site in the City of Plymouth will be along Tonquish Creek (a tributary of the Rouge) west of Harvey Street. Registration is at 8:30 a.m. behind the Tonquish Creek Manor on Sheridan Street. Volunteers can park at Tonquish Creek Manor or at the Harvey Street Parking structure.

Coffee and donuts will be served and there will also be a free picnic lunch on site for volunteers.

"It is not real hard and don't have to be there the whole four hours," said Jim Penn, site coordinator for this year's rescue. He explained that volunteers do not necessarily have to get in the water since the city's DPW crew will be pulling debris from the creek.

He added that volunteers 18 and under will need to sign a release waiver.

It is recommended that volunteers wear sturdy shoes/boots, long pants and long sleeve shirts, but a pair of gloves will be provided. There will also be soap/water for cleaning purposes.

For more information on the Plymouth City site, call Jim Penn at 453-1234, ext. 229.

Plymouth Township and the Western Wayne County Conservation Association are combining forces for this year's rescue. The site in Plymouth Township will be at the clubhouse of the WWCCA on Napier Road between Five Mile and North Territorial roads.

The cleanup will be along the Johnson Creek (a tributary of the Rouge River).

Registration is at 8 a.m. and the cleanup will finish at noon.

Coffee and donuts will be served and there will be a picnic afterwards at Ann Arbor Trail and Hines Drive.

WTUA construction

The Western Townships Utilities Authority (WTUA) is expected to formally begin construction on its sewer project along Haggerty Road this weekend.

Work will begin at various locations along Haggerty Road south of Joy Road in Canton. Traffic is expected to remain open along much of Haggerty during the work.

Equalization basins at Joy Road and at Michigan Avenue are already under construction.

It is recommended that volunteers wear boots and old clothes but will be given gloves.

"Gonna get muddy and probably get wet," said Chuck VanVleck, rescue chairperson for the site, adding that, "We need all the help we can get."

For more information, call VanVleck at 453-3840, ext. 1221.

The site for Northville this year will be along Edward Hines Drive just south of Six Mile Road at Waterford Mill. Volunteers should meet at 8:30 a.m. for registration in the Northville Recreation Center (303 W. Main) where they will be driven by bus to the actual site.

The cleanup will last from 9 a.m. to noon, and then a picnic of hot dogs and pop will be served on site.

Volunteers are recommended to wear long pants and shirts.

For more information, call John Anderson at 349-0203.

The site for Canton will be behind the UAW Local 900, on Michigan Avenue just west of Newburgh Road in the City of Wayne.

Registration will be at 8:30 a.m. and work will begin at 9 a.m. and last until noon. Refreshments will be provided by local businesses.

Volunteers age 18 and under must have written permission from a parent or guardian or must be accompanied by an adult. Anyone 13 or under must be accompanied by an adult.

The work will concentrate on logjams and debris blocking the channel and will be supervised by employees of the Canton Department of Public Works.

Volunteers are advised to wear long pants and long sleeves and sturdy shoes.

Pre-registration may be done by calling 397-5417 or by visiting the Canton Resource Development Division on the third floor of Canton Township Hall, 1150 S. Canton Center Rd.

At 75 Bedell leads church, community Small town pastor a big time success

BY KEN VOYLES

Bellflower isn't such a far away place.

And while it may only be a small place, that Missouri community's unique blossom has touched a few lives right here in Plymouth-Canton, giving local residents a picture of poor rural America.

The Rev. Evelyn R. Bedell is a spunky 75-year-old head of the First Presbyterian Church in Bellflower -- the only resident minister to the 403 people who occupy the hamlet some 60 miles west of St. Louis.

Ordained at 73, Bedell has worked in several churches and hospitals, spent time in Africa with the Peace Corps and helped the homeless along Haight-Ashbury in San Francisco.

As Bedell describes Bellflower it could be anywhere rural USA. The only paved road besides the nearby state highway leads to the local cemetery. The nearest library is 10 miles away in Montgomery City and costs residents $5 a year to use.

There are four churches in Bellflower, a strong cemetery board (as Bedell relates it), a volunteer fire department and a community center.

"It's a farming community. Our strength is the farmers who come to town," said Bedell recently. "I'm the only resident pastor in town and the only one this church has had in 20 years."

The historic church is a center of attention for some 44 residents of Bellflower.

"It's a beautiful old church built in 1903," Bedell said. "It was going down hill, though, but we were able to renovate the kitchen and sanctuary areas last year."

At Bedell's church there is a Bible study group, a women's group, and a "kitchen" band.

"I'm trying to reach out to the elderly -- that's an important part of my life and work," said Bedell. "I've grown a lot since I've been here.

"I've always been in big churches where the programs offered are the big thing," she continued. "I was here four months before I realized they don't want a lot of programs. This is a family church. They want it open on Sunday and available to worship or gather.

"Once I realized that I was a lot happier."

One assignment, playing the kazoo and singing with the church's kitchen band, also keeps Bedell happy. Her Shirley Temple routine is always a big hit.

Even more important, Bedell began an effort over a year ago to increase the size of the church library by gathering book donations.

"The first thing I do when I go to a place is check out the library," she said. "There isn't one in town. You have to drive 10 miles and pay $5 a year to take out books.

"I told a friend in Arizona about it and she suggested I try to get books donated for the church," Bedell continued. "We now have over 500 -- that's more than the grade school in town."

Bedell enlisted her daughter, Peggy Stickney, in the effort and Stickney, a resident of Plymouth Township since 1973, turned to her church, Geneva Presbyterian in Canton, for help. So members of the church began shipping Bedell boxes of books last December.

Today "the Reverend Evelyn," as Bedell is called in Bellflower, is continuing her effort to bring books and

Schools, parapros huddle with mediator

BY KEN VOYLES

Paraprofessional employes and administrators in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools sat down with a state mediator Friday in a further effort to work out their differences over a new contract.

The 135 members of the Plymouth-Canton Paraprofessional Association (PCPA) without a new contract since the last one expired in July, 1990 -- work throughout the district providing a variety of assistance in school lunch rooms, school offices, on playgrounds and in classrooms.

The organization last week rejected an offer from negotiators representing the district, said Joyce Harrington, the group's president.

"It wasn't anything we could accept yet," Harrington said. "But it was a starting point in the right direction."

The offer was rejected by the union membership, who, said Harrington, apparently did not think much of the offer. "Our members are getting very impatient and very angry," she said.

The union's main differences with the administrator, Harrington said, center on vacation days and lining up the same benefits as other bargaining units in the school district.

"We're looking for equity with the other groups," Harrington said. "We're trying for a guaranteed work year."

The group's main bone of contention, centers on the fact that members are not paid on traditional school holidays; such as Christmas or Memorial Day, while other employe unions get such days as paid vacation.

Errol Goldman, the district's director of employe relations, said last week that there appears to be some "movement" to resolve the major issues.

Goldman said that the district's recent proposal was a verbal offer, one the administrator was ready to stand by. "It wasn't accepted," he said. "We understand some of their concerns and are trying more to address our concerns as well."

Goldman said the paraprofessionals had not made any kind of counterproposal. He said it is important to keeping "looking for solutions."

A state mediator has no binding power over the two parties, said Goldman, but acts more like a facilitator to help come up with solutions, solutions that in the end must be resolved between the two parties.

It was the third meeting with a mediator since the staff union's contract expired last year.

from 1980 until this year. From 1968-1970 and from 1976-1980, he also served as township trustee.

MAURICE BREEN

In the state representative's race, Northville Township Supervisor Georgina Goss, Plymouth City Commissioner Jerry Vorva, and Deborah Whyman, of Canton, all Republicans, have filed.

They will square off Aug. 6 to fill Gerald Law's seat. Law left Lansing to replace Breen as Plymouth Township supervisor.

The 36th District includes the Plymouths, Northvilles, and part of Canton.

Goss, 54, has held the Northville Township Supervisor's position since 1987. Prior to that she served as township clerk. A graduate of Northville High School, she will complete her bachelor's degree in public administration this fall at Madonna University.

Vorva, 38, has been a city commissioner since 1989. Previously, he was a Plymouth Police officer for 10 years. He has lived in Plymouth for 13 years.

Whyman, 32, is a Republican Party precinct delegate from Canton. She is a data processing consultant for Ford Motor Co. A Canton resident for six years, this is her first time running for public office.

Dave Artley, vice president of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education, had expressed interest in running but decided not to file. He said last week that he would be a candidate for the seat in 1992.

The special general election for both races will be held Aug. 27.

1 held in armed robbery

A Detroit man was arraigned Saturday on an armed robbery charge after an incident in Plymouth Township Thursday night.

Sergeant Robert Antal, of Plymouth Township Police, said that Michael Keith, 22, of Detroit, posted $10,000 bond and is currently awaiting a preliminary examination Friday (May 31) in 35th District Court.

Keith was one of two men who allegedly robbed a Detroit couple at gunpoint, said Antal.

The two were having mechanical difficulties with their automobile and were parked in the Standard Federal Bank lot at Ann Arbor and Haggerty roads when another vehicle pulled up carrying two couples.

Antal said that two males left the automobile and approached the Detroit couple with a stainless steel semi-automatic handgun. Police said the pair got away with $650 before fleeing the scene.

The two Detroit residents gave police the license number from the automobile, which was traced to Budget Rent-A-Car. Antal said that the individual who rented that automobile put down a Canton telephone number but a Detroit residence.

Police traced the number to a Canton residence where they arrested one of the two couples allegedly involved in the robbery, said Antal.

Police later released the female, said Antal, but Keith was held over night and arraigned Saturday.

Police are continuing to look for the other male involved in the robbery.

reading to the rural community. Her latest efforts are directed at obtaining bookcases and bookends for the collection.

"I'm kind of stymied by the lack of space," she Bedell, who sometimes uses the church's funeral fund to buy a bookcase. "We also need more light weight reading. No textbooks. People here are not readers.

"I just believe so much in reading," she continued. "I see the people here as having a very limited outlook on the world. I'm trying to expand that."

Bedell has also tried to start a reading night at the church.

Stickney, a Geneva member for 13 years and teacher at Fiegel Elementary School, said, "As a teacher her effort caught my attention. Our church has a very active out-reach committee so I thought it would be a good effort for us.

"Bellflower is just very different than what I'm use to," she added. "We went down there for my mom's birthday recently. I thought she might retire to Plymouth but she changed her mind."

Born and raised in Chicago, Bedell attended Schaufler College where she received a bachelor's degree in religious education in 1942.

From school Bedell went to work in her first church in Pamona, CA, as the director of education. During World War II she moved to Kalamazoo and became a minister's assistant at the First Congregational Church. She married Joel Seward and they moved to Marshall and then Sturgis where Bedell spent seven years working for the local hospital and raising three children.

"I would not be a pastor today if I didn't have my family," she said. "They have inspired me."

At 57 Bedell joined the Peace Corps, spending three years working in a hospital in Swaziland while her husband helped the local dairy farmers.

When her husband died Bedell retired to Lake Havasu City in Arizona. She later married her second husband, Glenn Bedell.

While in Arizona, Bedell began working at the local church and preaching for the first time. But after her second marriage ended in divorce Bedell decided to return to school.

"I realized I needed to have more education so I went to the seminary at 69," she said. "I didn't know I'd be the oldest one there, but I was very accepted."

Bedell graduated from San Francisco Theological Seminary in three years. While attending school she worked with the street people of Haight-Ashbury and interned in a home for latch-key children.

Ordained in 1988, Bedell accepted the Bellflower assignment with relish, knowing that a large part of her congregation was made up of senior citizens.

Evelyn Bedell (left) and some members of her family in a recent photograph.

"This is my first love," she said. "We are training our ministers to do youth work, but half of my church is over 55. Reaching out to the elderly, that's my role. That's an important part of my life."

Besides her daily functions as Bellflower's resident pastor, Bedell often finds herself making "house calls" to the rural residents living nearby. It is a task that she enjoys.

"I want to stay on here as long as my energy lasts," she said.

Bedell has visited Plymouth three or four times over the years, most recently around Christmas. She plans to come back again next month.

"We're very close," said Bedell, of the relationship with her daughter. "I like to visit my family and I love the downtown area in Plymouth. They've maintained that atmosphere of a small town community."

Looking back on her adventure filled life Bedell said she probably would have considered the ministry earlier if she had been able to do so.

"I would have been a pastor out of college if I had been able," she said. "I see women pastors as being more compassionate in church. In worship they bring an element of femininity."

"I like to think I am helping here," Bedell added. "I'm able to help more because of my life experiences and my family."

It is an extended family now, one that stretches from Plymouth to Bellflower and back again.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Anyone interested in helping Bedell and the residents of Bellflower should send Bedell a note to P.O. 3, Bellflower, MO, 63333. Or call Bedell at 1-314-929-3617. Donations of books, bookcases, and even money are welcome.)

Getting down to business

Mike's Rak Time in Canton A family pool room

BY JIM WHITE

Fast Eddie Felson, you are only welcome if you bring the kids.

Mike's Rak Time, a billiards and snooker room, recently opened in the F&M Plaza on Ford Road in Canton. But this is no smoky old pool parlor from a scene in "The Hustler," where big money rides on games.

"Our main focus is to provide wholesome, family style entertainment," said proprietor Mike Martinez last week. "We want to provide a clean, bright, inviting atmosphere, and smash the negative stereotypes."

His father, Mike Martinez, Sr., added, "Billiards is the oldest indoor game. The Egyptians played it. More people play it today than badminton, horseshoes, or those sports."

"Only in the last few years, people who have probably never played it associate bad things with it," he said.

Mike's Rak Time will simply offer "people of all ages a place where they can enjoy themselves, where they can play for a nominal fee," Mike Martinez, Jr., said.

Those who come to play will find soft drinks, coffee, candy, chips and cigarettes for sale. But there will be no alcohol.

Billiards runs in Martinez blood, said Mike Martinez, Jr. "I've been around this industry since before I could see over the top of a table," he said.

While Martinez does not compete, his mother held several state titles and competed on the national level. Mike Martinez, Sr., opened the original Mike's Rak Time in Warren.

The younger Martinez, 27, now from Livonia, lived in Plymouth while attending Eastern Michigan University. He thought back then that Canton could use a billiards room.

"I liked this community and I realized a need here for a recreational facility for kids," he said.

So far, mostly men in the 16-24 age range and "yuppie-type couples on dates" have provided the bulk of business, Martinez said.

A women's league will start in June, and men are putting their names on rosters for a league. Martinez would also like to see a coed league.

So far, the leagues will play eight ball, but that may change. "We're evolving the business to suit the clientele," Martinez said.

Mike's has 15 tables now, and Martinez wants to add four more. Most are Brunswick Gold Crown billiards tables. There is also one antique Brunswick Regina snooker table that was made in 1912.

For $4, one player can play for an hour. Two can play for $6, and each additional player must pay $1.

Salem senior Scott Rodgers shows his winning form in Thursday afternoon's district game against Ypsilanti. The righthander led the Rocks to a 6-0 victory, striking out 15 and hitting a three run homer in the contest. (Crier photo by Eric Lukasik)

Salem falls to CC

BY RITA DERBIN

The Rocks were praying for rain Saturday, but the weather held up long enough to see Detroit Catholic Central sweep a doubleheader from the Salem baseball squad.

The Rocks went down 4-2 in the first game despite out hitting the Shamrocks, 7-5. Catholic Central then trounced Salem in the second game, 14-2.

"There's really nothing to say," said Salem coach John Gravlin. "We were wild -- in the second game we committed four errors, walked nine, had five wild pitches besides hitting three batters."

The two losses put the Rocks at 20-6 for the season.

Scott Rodgers was rock solid Thursday as he led the Salem baseball team into the state districts with a 6-0 win over Ypsilanti.

The senior right handed pitcher improved his record to 9-2 when he pitched a two-hitter and struck out 15 in the pre-district game. He now has 95 strike outs on the season.

Rodgers, who went into the game with a .79 earned run average shut down the Brave offense and then hurt them at the plate when he broke open a scoreless game in the bottom of the fourth inning with a three-run home run. Scott Bright added another three run home run in the sixth inning to secure the win.

"Scott Rodgers rose to the occasion," said Salem coach John Gravlin, whose team was 20-4 after the victory. "Ypsilanti had every reason to come back after we knocked them out of the state tournament last year but he bore down and had a real big game when we needed him."

"The whole team played well -- we played some great defense when we needed it," Gravlin. "All the kids know they have to play hard now."

The Rocks will travel to Ann Arbor Huron to take on Westland John Glenn in the districts at 1 p.m.

Chiefs 21-5 after Belleville sweep

BY RITA DERBIN

A combination of solid pitching and hitting has helped put up some big numbers in the win column for the Canton baseball team. The Chiefs are 21-5 and still alive in the state tournament after a full week of baseball.

Canton defeated Belleville in doubleheader action Saturday. Dan Conrad (4-0) went six innings in the first game for the decision in the 8-0 victory. Jason Riggs (2-2) started the second game for the decision in the 11-1 victory.

Jason Crain went four for six in the two games, and Riggs and Mike Wougoman each had three hits in the doubleheader.

Thursday the Chiefs advanced to the state districts with a 2-1 pre-district win over Romulus. Ace Scott Kennedy, who has a 9-2 record with four saves, pitched a three hitter, striking out 12 and walking three.

Todd Pniewski was the hitting hero in the game for the Chiefs. After Romulus had scored in the top of the third inning, Pniewski doubled in the bottom half of the inning, then tied the score at one run when he scored on a single by Crain. Pniewski then drove in the go ahead run in the fifth inning with a single that scored Riggs.

The Chiefs will play Adrian at Ann Arbor Huron Saturday (June 1) in district action at 10 a.m.

Girls make it 7 straight Chiefs win WLAA title

BY RITA DERBIN

The Lady Chiefs are conference champs!

The Canton girls track team, which won its seventh straight Western division title this season, beat out the competition last Wednesday in the Western Lakes Activities Association meet to claim the conference title with 175 points.

Livonia Stevenson placed second with 117 points and Salem was third with 102 points.

"It was a tremendous effort for us," said Canton coach George Przygodski. "It was the most competitive meet we've won for as long as I've been coaching at Canton."

The Chiefs were league champions in five events. Aleah Collier was first in the shot put with a throw of 34-3. The 3,200-meter relay of Monica Pellow, Christie Saffron, Lana Boroditsch and Kim Gudeth (9:51.00) also finished first.

Other individual conference champions included Gudeth in the 800-meter run (2:23.3), Heather Pastor in the long jump (16-1/4) and Stephanie Gray in the high jump (5-0).

The four Chief second-place finishers included Ifeoma Okwumabua in the shot put (33-5/8); Aimee Lanzon in the high jump (4-10); Saffron in the 400-meter dash (1:03.5); and Karina Kilpelainen in the 300-meter hurdles (48.3).

Salem track finishes 3rd

BY RITA DERBIN

The Rocks put in a good effort at the Western Lakes Activities Association conference track meet but couldn't overcome an outstanding effort by Canton.

The Salem squad finished third in the field of 10, with 102 points, behind Canton (175 points) and Livonia Stevenson (117 points).

"It was a great meet for us," said Salem coach Mark Gregor. "We scored in 12 of 16 events and put in some good times."

"Canton was just too strong," Gregor added.

The Rocks had three league champions -- the 800-meter relay of Tracey Livermore, Andrea Kinnely, Dana Driscoll and Tonya Wheeler (1:49.7); Wheeler in the 400-meter

Faces Edsel Ford today Salem soccer wins district

BY RITA DERBIN

It hasn't been easy, but the Rocks' season is still alive. The Salem soccer team won its district to advance to regional action against Dearborn Edsel Ford today at 4 p.m. at Woodhaven.

The Rocks (15-1-1) won their district with a 2-0 win over Ann Arbor Huron Friday night in the district finals. The shutout marked the 14th of the season by junior goaltender Jennifer Emmett. The Rocks have scored 89 goals this season while allowing four.

Julie Thomas, starting for an injured Mackenzie Emmett, scored both goals in the district finals. Assists went to Kris Goff and Mandy Drummond.

"It was a grinding week for us," said Salem coach Ken Johnson. "We had a tough game against Canton on Monday and were tired but the whole team has put in a good effort. This whole season has been a team effort."

Last Wednesday the Salem squad defeated Ann Arbor Pioneer in the district semi-finals, 4-1. Goff scored two for Salem. Drummond and Thomas finished the scoring. Erin Bagozzi had two assists in the game and Jennifer Oleksiak and Drummond each had one.

"Pioneer was a feisty team," said Johnson, who was missing two starters due to injuries -- Erin Harvey and Mackenzie Emmett. "It turned out to be a good game. We were leading 2-1 at the half and everyone played well."

Canton sends 2 to state

Canton will have two boys representing its track team at the state meet Saturday. Senior Dean Benedict is the regional discus champion at discus. He won the event at the regionals with a school record toss of 154 feet.

Senior Mike DeJarnett will join Benedict at the state meet, held at Houseman Field in Grand Rapids. DeJarnett, who won the regional high jump competition as a junior, finished second in the event this year to qualify for state with a jump of six feet.

Plymouth junior middleweight Lally headlines fight bill

Plymouth resident Brett Lally, the North American Boxing Federation (NABF) Junior Middleweight champion, will headline a seven fight bill at the Laurel Manor Conference Center on Tuesday, June 11 at 8 p.m. Tickets for the Golden Boy and West Coast Production event are $25 ringside and $15 general admission and can be purchased at Ticket Master outlets.

Lally will fight Anthony Ivory in a 10 round non-title fight on Tuesday, June 11 at 8 p.m. at the Laurel Manor Conference Center.

Lally is 28-5 with 18 knock outs and Ivory, a Chicago native, is 9-2. Both fighters are punchers and like to mix it up inside but Ivory likes to use the ring more than Lally.

There will be seven more fighters on bill. Each fight will feature local fighters matched up with out-of-state opponents.

Lally, a Westland native and 1981 graduate of Westland John Glenn, is making his first Michigan appearance since 1983. His only loss at junior middleweight was a second round technical knockout by two time former world junior middleweight Donald Curry in 1989. Lally is ranked third by the World Boxing Council (WBC), seventh by the International Boxing Federation (IBF) and 10th by the World Boxing Association (WBA) at junior middleweight.

Lally will defend his NABF title Aug. 6 against Pat Lawlor in San Francisco.

City wants state money for presidential primary

BY JIM TOTTON

Whether it will be heard or not, the City of Plymouth is sending a message to the State of Michigan.

The Plymouth City Commission last Tuesday approved a resolution to "cease all expenditures of time, money and in kind services" for holding a Presidential Preference Primary. The primary is scheduled for March 17, 1992.

In a memorandum to acting city manager Paul Sincock, City Clerk Linda Langmesser wrote that the resolution "basically requests the State to put their money up front to hold the Presidential Preference Primary."

Langmesser said that the state has been slow to reimburse the city in the past for expenditures for such elections. In the resolution, it is written that the state in 1980 "did not reimburse the full costs of the election to the local units, and those funds which were reimbursed, arrived one full year after the expenditure of the funds."

The resolution also states that Plymouth will not take any steps towards holding the primary until the state has set aside for Plymouth $1,000 per precinct deposit towards the costs of the election.

Langmesser said that the move was one way for the city to implement various "cost saving measures," since the state has been making its own cuts in programs for the poor, senior citizens, arts, recreation, and to local governments, cuts which the city "did not oppose."

Canton 5 Mile Run nears

Put on those running shoes. The Canton Parks and Recreation Department is once again sponsoring its annual Canton Five Mile Run on Saturday, June 22.

The 13th annual race begins at Proctor Road, next to the Canton Administration Building (1150 S. Canton Center Rd.) and finishes at the Canton Recreation Complex.

Race time is at 9 a.m. with check-in and late registration at 8 a.m. at the Administration Building. Register in person or by mail to Canton Parks and Recreation, 1150 S. Canton Center Road, Canton MI 48188.

The cost is $8 for advance registration and $9 for late registration (after June 20).

For more information call 397-5110.

Walters sees City's potential

"I am proud of how I am leaving the city. The downtown has made a lot of progress," said Walters about Northville. He said Northville is approaching being fully developed with the last subdivisions under construction.

Plymouth still has room to make more changes and improvements, he said.

"Plymouth has a much bigger potential than Northville of what it can do," said Walters, adding that with an active movie theater, downtown hotel and a unique park, Plymouth has a greater range of possibilities for change than Northville.

Walters said that he sees himself staying in Plymouth for about 13 to 15 years before retiring. He added that only one opportunity would change his plans.

"I could possibly see myself as having one more move," to a job with a community along Lake Michigan, Walters said.

Mike's to carry supplies

Martinez wants eventually to carry a full line of billiards supplies and equipment, including tables. He does repair work on cues presently but is holding back on selling equipment until business starts to grow.

That may not be long. "Interest is already greater than we anticipated," he said.

"You can never reach perfection in this game," his father added. "It's not like in bowling where you can reach 300. Willie Mosconi has the record now, something like 553 straight balls. But I could get 554 tomorrow, and you could get 555."
