

'Miscommunication' cancels City sidewalk bid

BY JIM TOTTEN AND
W. EDWARD WENDOVER

A City of Plymouth bid for sidewalk improvements has been cancelled because proper procedures were not followed.

Questions concerning the $32,000 block grant program for street improvements were raised by City Engineer Ken West. A single bidder had responded for and was awarded a project to replace downtown sidewalks with handicap ramps at intersections, he learned.

Former Acting City Manager Paul Sincock said Monday that two new city policies governing public works grants and projects were issued May 21 as a result of the "miscommunication" with this particular bid.

"We hope these policies have eliminated any misunderstandings we have had," Sincock said.

In Monday's election

Millage, 2 school board seats at stake

BY KEN VOYLES

With the school board election just five days away, the four candidates seeking two seats on the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education have a message for local residents -- get out and vote.

school district election officials preparing for Monday's voting.

Turnout is expected to hover around 10-20 per cent, they said. There are 55,000 voters in the district. In last year's election, 7,900 voters went to the polls to elect Lester Walker and Carl Battishill.

So far this year the district has collected 255 absentee ballots, said the officials. That may be a little higher than usual, they said.

As for the candidates themselves, the two long time incumbents both sat on the school board throughout much of the 1980s. Swartzwelter, 56, is employed by the Ford Motor Company, while Thomas, who also works for Ford, is 47. Both have had children attend school in the school district (Thomas' twin sons graduate this weekend).

Both are also residents of Plymouth Township.

Swartzwelter said he stands for "fiscal integrity," and establishing priorities for using the district's limited financial resources.

He has also said he wants to remain on the board to help finish some unfinished business, namely the hunt for a new superintendent, the potential bond vote and the current mess over state financing of education.

Thomas has said the critical issues facing the district include improving communication, the learning process and environment, long range planning, monitoring of spending, reducing class size and reforming school finance.

Cleary, 33, of Canton, is the mother of three children, one of whom she home schools. She has a chemical engineering degree and has been involved with the Trinity Presbyterian Church.

"The school system plays a fundamental part in the success of our community," she said during last week's League of Women Voters forum. "Experimental education needs to be thoroughly examined. We must proceed with caution."

Please see pg. 29

Two Canton women -- Bobbie Cleary and Deborah Lynch -- are challenging incumbents Dean Swartzwelter and Roland Thomas on the Monday (June 10) election ballot.

Also on the ballot this year will be a millage renewal request for 17.74 mills.

It is the millage renewal vote which has the candidates in agreement. All four have said during the race that the millage should be approved since it represents half of the district's operating budget and does not mean a tax increase.

"Although I want to be re-elected the most important vote is passing the millage," said Thomas, who is seeking his third term on the board.

Swartzwelter, who is also seeking his third term on the board, and is currently the board president, has said that the millage approval is "extremely critical" for continued success of the school district.

Newcomers to school board races, both Cleary and Lynch, have expressed support for the renewal issue, calling it important for maintaining the quality of education in Plymouth-Canton.

The election campaign this year, unlike last year, has not been marred by the usual mudslinging of local school board races. Candidates representing the conservative Citizens for Better Education (CBE) apparently stayed away this year -- the first time in three years.

And yet near the end of the race several issues arose bordering on the kind of dirt one sees in a highly partisan vote. But overall the election campaign was more a battle of issues this year, than a propaganda contest.

Will that bring voters out to the polls? It's just too early to tell, said

Y starts fund drive for P-C-N facility

BY JILLIAN BOGATER

The Plymouth Community Family YMCA Friday initiated a five year fund drive to finance a modern full service facility for the Plymouth, Canton and Northville communities.

By December of 1995, YMCA supporters hope to raise $275,000 through a combination of donations, fundraisers, and funds from operating revenues.

The money will be used to buy property and cover building costs. Tom Kalis, past president of the YMCA, said on Friday.

A goal of $25,000 is set for 1991, said current Vice President Mark Brown. If fundraising goes as planned the YMCA will have enough money to make a down payment on a piece of land as early as next year.

To reach this year's goal, fundraising will provide $16,000 while $9,000 will come from operating revenues, Kalis said.

All members consider the end goal of $275,000 reasonable, as long as fundraising goes as planned, he said.

"It may seem very far out to some people, but we are trying to be realistic in our planning," Brown said.

The building, which would house a swimming pool, gymnasium and classrooms, would service an approximate 110,000 people from the Canton, Plymouth and Northville, Kalis said. Currently, residents in the service area participate in YMCA activities through local high school facilities or use the Livonia YMCA center, which is full facility, he said.

"We can't meet the demand anymore," Kalis said. "There are too many people needing the facilities at school."

Because of scheduling conflicts and lack of facilities for YMCA activities, it is necessary to update and build a center, he said.

"We are an organization that has been in existence for 30 years, and we are 20 years behind," he added.

The organization currently uses a home located at 248 Union Street as a YMCA office.

Though the YMCA is not gaining sponsors for its fundraising effort as fast as originally planned, board members are remaining positive.

"The way I look at it, we're just like any other business; we compete for people's time and money," Brown said. "The way to get them involved is to give them what they need."

"I don't get frustrated with the community because it is my responsibility to see they get what they want."

A Family Fun and Fitness week, scheduled for June 10-16, will kick off the five year fundraising drive, Brown said.

Among the activities planned are open swimming, basketball, racquetball at Canton High School as part of Family Fun and Fitness Day, on Saturday, June 15, and the 12th Annual Run, on Father's Day, June 16.

Date reserved for School bond vote

BY KEN VOYLES

Although no final decision has yet been made, a date has been reserved for a possible Plymouth-Canton Community Schools bond ballot proposal.

Last Wednesday the Wayne County Election Scheduling Committee approved an election date of Sept. 24 for the Plymouth-Canton Schools, said county officials.

Approval of the date paves the way for a potential bond vote this fall. It had been unclear prior to the county decision whether the district would be allowed use of that Sept. 24 since it is within 30 days of a special election planned in August.

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education has not yet made a final decision on the bond vote, however. The board will continue to grapple with the issue at a June 17 workshop.

If the board does approve the date, voters will have a chance to consider a $59 million bond with funds in it for two new elementary schools, improvements at all of the district schools, buses and an integrated technology package.

Board members Dave Artley and Roland Thomas have already expressed concern about rushing a bond vote through in the fall. If there is no vote this fall, it is likely to be on the ballot in January, 1992.

Details of what might be in a technology package — priced at $12 million — will be available after June 14, said John M. Hoben, superintendent of the school district, when a consultant report is due to be completed.

Hoben said Monday that putting together the technology information is "on a fast track" in the district.

Canton discusses plan Michigan Ave. widened?

BY JIM WHITE

Canton officials have taken their case for an improved Michigan Avenue to Lansing.

Supervisor Tom Yack, Clerk Loren Bennett, Tom Casari, township engineer, and Yack's assistant Dan Calabrese went to Lansing last Wednesday to discuss plans for widening and resurfacing Michigan Avenue.

They met with State Representatives Jim Kosteva (D-Canton) and Wilfred Webb (D-Hazel Park), Tim Aben, of the House Fiscal Agency Staff, and Daryl Holmes, legislative liaison for the Michigan Department of Transportation.

Township officials have been meeting with MDOT officials on a district level for two years, Yack said Monday. This was the first time they had talked to someone on a policy making-level.

"Rome wasn't built in a day, there are lots of stops for the train and this was just one of them," he said.

"We hope in time to find a financial vehicle for this project. It's a lengthy process, fortunately we're going to have some years."

The project would not even be started until 1994, once construction of the Western Townships Utilities Authority sewer line along the Michigan Avenue median was complete.

If the project can be funded, plans would call for three lanes of traffic in each direction, plus decel and turn lanes, Yack said.

MDOT is already scheduled to begin similar improvements on the road this summer from the western Wayne County line (also Canton's western

Residents still concerned over compost smell

BY JIM WHITE

The smell is better for the most part, but residents fear the new facility that composites Canton's yard waste are still not sure the problem has been solved.

Canton trustees were expected to receive an update on the facility last night at their board meeting.

Two weeks ago the stench of rotting grass emanating from the sight between Sheldon and Morton Taylor roads south of Michigan Avenue was overpowering, said residents living nearby.

"We inadvertently mixed some grass with topsoil and it went anaerobic," said John Langs of Composting Systems, Inc., the Ypsilanti firm operating the facility.

Grass was turned over with topsoil in a one-acre area of the 40-acre site, said Langs. Once oxygen was cut off from the grass, it began to decompose anaerobically and hydrogen sulfide was produced, giving off a smell like rotten eggs.

"But we've taken care of that problem," Langs said. "There's absolutely no odor now." There wasn't any odor Friday morning, as he spoke.

But residents still aren't convinced the problem will blow away.

The odor comes and goes now, said James Mason, whose yard borders the facility. "The hell of it is, you never know when it's coming," he said. "I'm afraid to open the windows. It takes five minutes to fill the house (with the smell) and all day to air it out."

The good thing is that the smell is no longer "a real dead smell," said Lisa Sacco, another resident who has been chased indoors more than once when the wind blows the smell through her yard. "Now it's a sour rotting smell."

Though the odor is less offensive now, the situation is still not acceptable, Mason said.

"I had to get a big bundle of cedar for the house, to cover the odor," he said. "If we don't get the smell stopped, it's going to affect our property value."

When the smell was at its worst two weeks ago, the composting-site was in danger of being shut down. That is not so likely now that the odor has been lessened, but Canton officials are keeping a close watch on the facility, one of the first of its kind in Michigan.

"We'll have inspectors checking on a regular basis," Aaron Machnik, Canton municipal services director, said Monday.

"We're still getting some offsite odor and we're going to keep at that," he said. "It's important that we try to respond to the needs of the residents."

"The operators have been very cooperative and have made the changes we have asked."

"We're making topsoil from waste material here," said Langs. "We feel real positive about this project."

"I agree 100 per cent with recycling, with composting," Mason said. "I do not wish to have this facility closed down, unless they cannot control the smell. If it's going to be a nuisance, I won't stand for it."

Vote Monday

Taking a brief look into history, several election in The Plymouth-Canton Community have turned into close elections with the end result a difference of a few votes.

A few years back, a school bond issue lost on a tie vote. Your vote could make a difference.

Now with a school board election, it is essential that everyone take a stand in a decision that will affect the school district's future.

So Monday, June 10, during lunch break or any open moment, be sure to get to your polling place and cast your vote.

You can make a difference.

Tonquish clean-up and City Hall

They came in all ages, shapes and sizes.

Armed with chain saws, pruning shears, and work gloves, they attacked.

The Rouge River Rescue in Plymouth centered on the Tonquish Creek -- overgrown home of the once famous Tonquish Creek Yacht Club. (In fact when the volunteers had finished their hard day's work, many talked about re-floating the yacht club.)

And while progress there -- and at other points along the Rouge in Plymouth and Canton Townships -- was quite noticeable, the Rouge is a long way from the mental picture connoted by a Northville Road real estate sign that brags, "Riverfront."

The environment needs more work. Thus, Issue Number 2 for City Commission races this November was raised by a pair of city hopefuls at Saturday's Rouge Rescue.

Only two city candidates -- of seven -- volunteered at the city site Saturday morning. This recalls when Issue Number 1 ("City Leadership Continuity") was raised at a meeting of the downtown Plymouth landlords -- only two candidates (different ones from the cleanup) were at that meeting. Will all the city issues be raised by two candidates at a time this season?

Rosita Smith and Bill McAninch, two city commission hopefuls, helped the Tonquish cleanup last weekend. They worked alongside some 75 others -- young and old -- who then feasted on lunch prepared by the Tonquish Creek Manor residents. A number of city employes (and families) pitched in too, beyond just the normal call of duty.

But what with the city's famous-infamous (!?) stands on the environment -- buck-a-bag tax, the recycling center they dropped in some nice folks' backyards, bailing out of commercial garbage pickup, moving slowly on pollution -- why aren't more folks raising the ecology as an issue? What other downtown displays a gas station under environmental disaster protection as its centerpiece? (Although Amoco gets a back pat for its efforts to landscape the old station.)

Certainly 75 volunteers plus the Tonquish Creek area residents think City Issue Number 2 is important.

(And a hearty congratulations to the Plymouth Lions' Club for the ongoing efforts providing the bridge between downtown and the Tonquish community. The small ceremony of thanks Saturday typified the "bridging" between politics, ages and the general citizens who joined in to rescue the Tonquish.)

Re-elect Swartzwelter, Thomas Monday

One can't compare a campaign like Monday's Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education election with the partisan way of life in Lansing.

But one has only to look to the state capitol to see what can happen when voters throw out an incumbent, seeking change for change's sake.

The two candidates challenging school board incumbents Dean Swartzwelter and Roland Thomas have much to offer, so even a change on the board won't be as traumatic as political events in Lansing of late.

Voters in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools district must exercise caution Monday.

Deborah Lynch and Bobbie Cleary advocate a change in direction, a change in leadership that just is not warranted for Plymouth-Canton Schools.

Much of what Lynch and Cleary stand for is not new either -- the rights of parents, the need to fully investigate new programs before implementation, and administrative accountability, to name a few.

Both of the challengers offer fresh perspectives, and both have the best interests of the district at heart. But changing horses in mid-stream is a dangerous game when it is done without good cause.

There are few, if any, reasons to remove Swartzwelter and Thomas from the board. They have provided the district with effective and stable leadership through many a crisis (the financial crunch of the mid-1980s, the district's move out of formula) and have been a strong voice on the side of parents for years.

Swartzwelter's business background, his experience on the board since 1985 and his strong efforts at consensus building both on the board and in the community rate him as the best candidate this year.

At times the frustrations of leading a board through difficult questions has shown in Swartzwelter's sometime gruff dealing with the public, even raising questions about his attitude and meeting

Once again, City Hall just doesn't get it?!

Plymouth City Hall just doesn't seem to get the message.

Starting during the tenure of former City MisManager Henry E. Graper, Jr., several violations of bidding procedures-policies-Charter-requirements came to light.

Each time one surfaced, there were pledges that the practices would be corrected and would not re-occur.

But just last week, another incident surfaced. (Fortunately, this one was discovered by City Engineer Ken West before it proceeded too far.)

The incident did not involve deliberate chicanery, investigations thus far show, but it is clear that City Hall has not gotten the message that it must follow the City Charter, state and federal laws, and city policies on bidding and contract letting.

Several City Commissions, mayors, and acting city managers plus a full city manager have failed to get the message through to all city employes -- although they have promised over and over again to do so.

This repeated problem will obviously fall squarely into the laps of the new city manager, Steve Walters, (who took office five days ago), and the current city commissioners, (who are in the midst of elections).

It is a serious problem.

And it is an embarrassment to all city residents and taxpayers that this editorial had to be written -- again.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

manner. But Swartzwelter has to be commended for his handling last year of the extremely difficult Nalepa affair.

And with the proposed bond plan, Swartzwelter has led the way in making sure that residents are involved in the discussions at all levels.

Thomas, like Swartzwelter, brings business experience, school board experience and parental experience (his twin sons graduate from Canton High this weekend) to this campaign. He also has a strong grasp of what the district faces financially in the coming years (it was Thomas who expressed concern about rushing through a bond issue vote in September) and the need for a stable, yet progressive leadership.

As a strong watchdog of the administration of late, Thomas is constantly demanding detailed information and reports. While at times he seems to lack clear direction, Thomas cannot be faulted for allowing his strong will to take a backseat on a board that includes several other strong personalities.

And while one feels as if he sometimes chomps at the bit to move ahead when it's obvious that a slow, steady pace is called for, Thomas has been a positive force on the board, demanding changes in the way the administration functions and the way the board operates.

Deborah Lynch also has much to offer the voters of this school district, and what she lacks in experience is clearly made up by an enthusiastic desire to become an active player in the running of the schools.

Lynch also has a strong business background and runs her campaign around the fact that she is experienced as a mother. She has obviously done her homework during this race and one cannot take her lightly as a candidate.

But her interest in the school district is clearly a recent phenomenon, as evidenced by her voting record and spotty attendance at meetings.

A smart, concerned, parent, Lynch could be a frontrunner with a little more direct school experience, perhaps on a committee or with an advisory group. It's not that she doesn't know what is going on, more that she has only barely begun to scratch the surface.

Next year when Barb Graham's and E.J. McClendon's seats on the board expire, Lynch would have the credentials to be a formidable candidate if she continues her interest. She also might be the strongest candidate for an appointment in the interim.

Without a record of continued interest, she cannot be a strong replacement for Swartzwelter or Thomas.

That leaves Bobbie Cleary, a well-meaning mother of three, who raises valid concerns about the school district, but for which she offers little experience.

She too has done her homework during this election and shown a keen interest in grappling with school related problems, but Cleary is not suited for the board just yet.

How can Cleary, who lives in this district but who has said she will not send her child to Plymouth-Canton Schools expect voters to support her?

One need not even be a parent to be a good school board member, but one must have some form of vested interest. Cleary does not; will she ever?

Many of those going to the polls Monday have children in the school system. Others, such as the growing senior citizen population, have sent their kids through the system. Still others have no children, but support the district wholeheartedly.

Cleary could learn a lesson or two from those residents during her attacks on the district's attempts to try new teaching methods and keep up with the times. Getting back to the basics is nice, but face it, the basics just aren't enough any more.

Votes for Dean Swartzwelter and Roland Thomas on Monday are votes for experience and stability in Plymouth-Canton schools.

Vote 'YES' for schools

With the state of school financing in Michigan such a shambles, it is highly important for residents of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools district to support this year's millage renewal ballot.

The renewal request, representing half of the district's operating funds, is for a total of 17.74 mills — a reduction of four mills as promised by the school board two years ago.

Those four mills are being "rolled back" this year, after being presented — and then voter-approved — as a temporary need two years ago.

That's the good news for everyone.

The bad news is that some voters in this community put on blinders when it comes to any millage proposal and plan to vote "no" just for the sake of opposing taxes.

Clearly, though, the shape of the educational financing debate in Michigan has to be of concern for everyone. The plan to freeze SEVs cuts to the heart of school funding in Plymouth-Canton. Schools here have become dependent on SEVs since going "out of formula" a few years back.

And now the district has begun considering a series of cuts to the tune of $1.5 million to stave off any possible harm from the messy wrangling up in Lansing.

With or without those cuts the district will still need its 17.74 mills just to keep the district's program afloat.

Without the funds generated by those mills residents should know that students will be harmed. Programs will be cut, staff training reduced, buildings closed — the usual horror stories one hears when a major millage fails.

All four of this year's school board candidates support the renewal — it is one area where they all agree. However, school officials have chosen, perhaps unwisely, to play this millage renewal down and hope that it will automatically pass as a renewal.

There's nothing automatic about it. Every "yes" vote is needed Monday.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

To ensure good schools, support Monday's millage

EDITOR:

On Monday, June 10, an important school election will take place. The Plymouth Canton Community Schools District will ask residents to renew a large portion of the millage upon which the district operates.

Along with the millage election, two board seats on the Plymouth Canton Board of Education and four board seats on the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees come up for vote.

While we hope people will investigate and vote for the candidate of their choice, this letter is specifically in support of the renewal election.

Good schools are an important part of the quality of life our community enjoys. As concerned citizens, we need to take time to investigate what our schools are doing and how we can help.

The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce has initiated two committees that have been dealing with schools and education issues. The business people serving on our Business/Education Partnership Council and the Education Committee have been impressed by the striving for excellence and the willingness of teachers and administrators to consider alternative suggestions coming from the community.

To ensure a good school system is maintained, support for the renewal is essential. This year the current millage of 21.74 mills will expire. Your schools are asking for a renewal vote of only 17.74 mills which will save taxpayers in our community four mills. This is a reduction in your taxes and an opportunity for you to support your schools.

Please plan to vote on June 10, we need you to help this renewal millage pass — our schools need your continued support.

In the margin

By Ken Voyles

Politics has never been a big topic at Schoolcraft College, except maybe internal politics between staff and administration. But this year "the friends" of Schoolcraft College have got a real election race to sink their teeth into come Monday.

There are 11 candidates vying for just three seats. A real barnburner potentially, but unless you have some connection with the school, like myself, you are probably still not much interested.

For those who do want a little taste of the race and the candidates here is the lowdown.

The current board includes: Mary Breen, chairperson; wife of Maurice Breen and a resident of Plymouth Township; Wendell Smith, a township resident also and businessman; Thaddeus McCotter, a Livonia resident and example of its political machine on the move; and Harry Greenleaf, also of Livonia, a well respected, long time board member.

Three members are up for election: Michael Burley, a Canton resident and probably the most solid board member the school has ever had; Jeanne Stempien, a Northville resident and example of its political muscle; and then there's Steve Ragan, a City of Plymouth man, an appointee who filled the vacant seat left by Jack Kirksey in April.

Of those you can see that only two come from any SC district other than Plymouth-Canton-Northville.

One challenger from Canton, Subramanian Ramamurthy, is taking on Burley and Stempien. Ramamurthy leads a very worthy field of challengers and would make a fine addition to the board. He is an independent in this non-partisan (ha!) contest.

There are seven other candidates who want Ragan's slot. They are:

Ronacle Bowman, a favorite among politicians in Livonia. She ran two years ago and still has name recognition.

Paulette Cebulski, of Plymouth Township, and Patricia Watson, of Northville, can be lumped together as very outside shots. They both have education backgrounds, Cebulski in therapy and Watson in clinical psychology, so forget them.

Dr. Robert Gordon, of Plymouth Township, and a City of Plymouth doctor would probably do well on the board, but he's running like Cebulski and Watson — without any machinery.

Forget M. Andrea Taylor. I like the fact that she graduated from Schoolcraft College, but she just doesn't have anything else to offer the school or the community.

Willis Brauer, of Livonia, is a nice guy and would do the community proud if he got elected. Brauer also has an education background (he's a school principal) and a clear head about him. He's as unlikely to win as Watson and Cebulski.

Finally, there's Bruce Patterson, a Canton hotshot lawyer looking for quick ride to the top, if Schoolcraft could be considered the top. Patterson has a lot to offer those who do not care about how long he will be around.

As for Ragan, he's a smart young man who deserved to be appointed, but who must still prove himself. If elected he will have made one point at least — you don't have to be over 35 to sit on the Schoolcraft board.

Depending on the outcome Plymouth-Canton could end up dominating the board even more, but before that happens voters will have to wade through a lot of political crap.

Big money is being spent on this race — bigger money than usual. A sign war has developed, but even worse a photo war has developed over who can get their picture taken with current SC President Richard McDowell.

Still it's pretty hard to go wrong in picking candidates in this race, especially if you still don't care. Don't tell the candidates this, but voter interest in a Schoolcraft election is usually about as strong as George Bush's interest in civil rights.

Cleary OK

EDITOR:

Bobbie Cleary is running for school board just when we need her. More and more people are becoming aware that our schools in recent years are not stressing academics as they used to, and improving academics is foremost on Cleary's mind.

I know her personally and the extensive research she has done has enabled her to understand the specific needs of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools District.

Her commitment to strong academics will help to balance out the "feelings" approach to learning so prevalent in our classrooms.

SUSAN WHITE

Vote Cleary

EDITOR:

It is refreshing to have school board candidate like Bobbie Cleary who has definite convictions about education.

It seems that, starting with modular scheduling, the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools have embarked on a series of ventures that have resulted in failure or limited success at best.

We think that Cleary's desire to emphasize basic academic instruction, particularly reading, should provide a badly needed stabilizing force in the system. We are also sure that her concerns will cause her to listen to and evaluate parental complaints.

Can't vote Lynch (taxes late), Cleary (kids out)

EDITOR:

Over the weekend, I heard some disturbing information about two candidates running for school board seats in Monday's Plymouth-Canton elections.

How can candidate Deborah Lynch be qualified for an office that will decide how I should be taxed and where my tax dollars should be used when her taxes have not been paid for 1989 or 1990 yet? (This information was confirmed by the Canton Treasurer's office Monday.) We all have financial reasons for doing what we do, but don't run for an office that relates to those tax dollars that I have paid! This seems to be a conflict of interest.

The other person, Bobbie Cleary, admits to educating her child at home and intends to use a private school (Plymouth Christian Academy) instead of Plymouth-Canton Public Schools in the near future. There is nothing wrong with alternative education, but I object to that same person running for a board seat to decide how other children will be educated or how I should be taxed or where my tax dollars will be used!

I want leadership from people who have or have had children in our school system and know how it works from first-hand experience, and therefore what and where improvements are needed. I support two men running for re-election, Dean Swartzwelter and Roland Thomas. They have both served us well and have had children in the schools.

JOANNE BERG

EDITOR'S NOTE: After this letter to the editor was received Monday, the two Plymouth-Canton Community Schools candidates it names were given the opportunity to respond in the same edition since it is their last opportunity before the election on Monday. Deborah Lynch and Bobbie Cleary took their hurried chance to respond late yesterday afternoon.

Lynch:

Only 9% of husband's property taxes late

EDITOR:

I appreciate Joanne Berg's concern over the disturbing information she heard involving my candidacy.

The taxes in question for 1989 and 1990 are not attributable to me, but rather to my husband in the context of his business as a builder-developer. The property in question represents approximately nine per cent of the total business property holdings of my husband in The Plymouth-Canton Community. Ninety-one per cent of the property tax holdings have been paid for the same two-year period.

Cleary:

Schooling at home is parents' right

EDITOR:

In response to Joanne Berg's letter, I feel I must defend my decision to school my children at home.

I have chosen to home school my children because I do not feel the Plymouth-Canton schools offer adequate education. I wouldn't have even considered home schooling if the public schools weren't so questionable.

I have done extensive research on education and feel I understand it along with the many problems involved with public education. Most people who know a lot about education choose to home school their children because they understand the benefits.

The public schools must offer a good

This nine per cent balance is a common practice in the development industry when when a property has not yet emerged from the "developmental" stage. When this occurs, all taxes will be paid in full.

I hope this will put Berg's mind at ease.

My intentions have been, and will continue to be, to do the best job on the school board I am capable of and to acknowledge and answer all concerns relative to my candidacy. All taxpayers, like Berg, deserve honest answers.

DEBORAH LYNCH

education, and that is why I am running for a position on the school board. My choice of schooling my children at home is not an issue of doing wrong, but actually an issue of parents' rights.

If elected, I will do all in my power to improve the public school system to a level that I would consider acceptable and challenging for my and other children of this community.

Just because I'm not immediately going to put my children in the public schools, doesn't mean that I want to ignore the rest of the children in this community. That's why I ran for the school board.

The organizing committee of the 1991 CEP Senior Party and the 1991 graduates of Salem and Canton high schools wish to acknowledge and thank the following community merchants, professionals and individuals who have generously contributed their support for the party.

The CEP senior class part is an all night, "lock up" party given graduation night by the seniors' parents with the support of the community. The party is given each year so that the approximately 1,000 graduating seniors have the opportunity to celebrate together in a safe environment.

The community is invited to attend an open house from 7-8 p.m. graduation night (June 9) at Salem prior to the party's start at 9 p.m. This year's theme is "Grand Prix."

A party of this magnitude requires the help of the community and your support during this slow economic period shows you have an interest in the community and its people and is greatly appreciated. Whether your donation was great or small, thank you for your participation. Together we are making it happen!!

CEP SENIOR PARTY
COMMITTEE

CEP seniors ready to celebrate

BY JILLIAN BOGATER

Some students think the fun stops after the last song is played at prom.

But for Salem and Canton high seniors, the excitement has just begun.

Aside from prom activities, which were held last Saturday night at the Dearborn Hyatt Regency, a senior party is scheduled for the evening of graduation ceremonies.

The senior party, with the theme "Grand Prix '91," will take place at Salem High School Sunday from 9 p.m. to 4 a.m., said Mary Thomas, who co-chairs the senior party with her husband Roland.

Tickets are $16 per person and all students who purchase tickets in advance will receive a free souvenir 1991 Senior Party T-shirt. Tickets are $20 at the door.

A mock casino, videogames, a recording studio to record students singing to their fave music tunes, a DJ and "more food than you can begin to imagine" are only part of what seniors can expect, Thomas said.

A new feature for the party is an open house hour from 7-8 p.m. for the public to discover what senior parties are all about, she said.

"It's a great chance for the community and local businesses to see what we have done with all their donations," Thomas said. More than $5,000 worth of prizes, both donated and bought, will be given away at the party, she added.

Friends & Neighbors

Students must bring their student ID's to purchase tickets and to enter the party Thomas said, adding anyone who leaves cannot re-enter and students who arrive after 11 p.m. will not be admitted.

Graduation ceremonies for Salem and Canton students are also scheduled for June 9 at Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor. Salem students clad in blue and white caps and gowns will commence at 1:30 p.m. with Canton, in red and white, following suit at 5 p.m.

Although there is not an active Students Against Driving Drunk group on campus at either school, at Canton's graduation rehearsal, administrators will ask students for their cooperation in refraining from drinking and driving during the festivities, said Kenneth Jabobs, administrative area coordinator at Canton.

Jabobs said students will be advised to "use good judgement, culminate career goals and have fun doing it.

"We try to treat graduation as a solemn occasion, not so much for the seniors, but also for the parents and families."

Local police will be present in the last week of school to ensure a safe celebration. Students are discouraged from bringing shaving cream, smoke bombs, water balloons, firecrackers or similar materials. Students who are in possession of these objects face suspension for the remainder of the school year.

Along with the graduating seniors, many teachers and administrators are planning to leave at the end of the school year.

Among them is science teacher Dallas Goss from Canton High. Goss has worked in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools district for 32 years, spending the last 19 years teaching biology at Canton.

Goss started his career in 1959 when he worked as a science teacher at East Middle School for 11 years. He came to Canton the first year it opened in 1972.

Saying he is retiring "reluctantly," Goss said he would have liked to wait another three years but decided to speed up his plans after talking with his wife.

"We looked at each other and said 'we aren't getting any younger,' and realized maybe this is the time," he said. "I have mixed feelings about leaving, but when it's over, it's over."

Originally Goss intended to work for a business degree, but changed his mind after a past professor found him a job. Though it seemed a simple decision at the time, it was one that eventually changed my life.

"I may have lost a lot of money for choosing teaching over business administration, but I feel fortunate that that happened," he said. "I don't know if my students feel the same way, but I sure do."

Shirley Spaniel, executive director of Elementary Education, is also retiring after working in the district for more than 26 years. Spaniel has also been principal at Miller Elementary School and director of Language Arts, Reading and Writing.

Also leaving the school district is William A. Pearson, principal at Hoben Elementary School. He will resign June 30 to accept a position as assistant superintendent for instruction in the South Lyon School District.

For describing trespasser Police recognize 2 youths

BY JILLIAN BOGATER

Two second-grade students at Farrand Elementary School in Plymouth Township were presented with awards Thursday for providing a description of a man trespassing on school grounds.

Randy Wilson, eight, and Samantha Morrow, nine, were given certificates of recognition in front of their classmates by Plymouth Township Police Chief Carl Berry and Sgt. Robert Antal for helping police.

Prenczky resigns Canton board looks to fill vacancy

BY JIM WHITE

John Prenczky sat on the dais for his final Canton Board of Trustees meeting last Tuesday night.

In a letter to the board, Prenczky tendered his resignation as trustee effective "May 31, 1991, at 11:59 p.m." He will be moving to Northville Township.

The board was expected last night to discuss the process by which they would choose a successor.

Prenczky's replacement will be appointed to serve out the rest of the term, which expires in 1992. Board members agreed that Prenczky's seat would be hard to fill.

"We can all be very proud of our accomplishments," said Prenczky, who has served on the board since 1984. "I believe the most important is that the township is in very good financial condition."

Prenczky listed some of the actions he was most proud of being involved with as a trustee:

- The insight to hire (Public Safety Director) John Santomauro, who has made the department "second to none and one we are all indeed very proud of."

- Beginning a recycling and composting program "to the benefit of all of us who intend to live on this planet in the future."

- Continued development of Canton's recreational facilities.

- Joining the Western Townships Utilities Authority - "a permanent solution to our sewage problems."

"We'll miss you," said Supervisor Tom Yack. "I see you as a visionary when it comes to Canton's future, a cheerleader for community organizations, and possessor of a great sense of humor."

Several names have surfaced as possible successors for Prenczky, which is why a selection process must be agreed upon. The new appointee will have to win votes from four trustees, something easier said than done.

"We wouldn't be struggling with a process if one name just jumped out," said Yack Monday. "My way is straightforward, just throw out names and vote on them."

But Canton Treasurer Gerald Brown said last week he wanted to try something different to avoid hurting candidates whose names were "thrown out" but who could not muster four votes.

The board has 45 days to pick a successor.

Police commend students

The ceremony was recommended by Officer Kathy Pumphrey, who originally took the description from the students.

Back on April 9 Wilson and Morrow were in their classroom alone during recess when a man they did not know walked in and asked where their teacher, Deborah Beardsley, was, Wilson said.

After discovering Beardsley was outside, the man proceeded to go through her desk drawers and attempted to open the coat closet before leaving, Wilson and Morrow said. A neighboring teacher entered the room shortly. Morrow said, and took them to the principle's office to give a description of the man to police.

That evening the Livonia Police Department contacted the township police, saying they had arrested a man matching the description the children had given.

Plymouth resident Michael J. Madsen, 26, was arrested and charged with several counts of larceny in buildings in Plymouth Township, including possession of stolen credit cards from Central Middle School. Madsen gave a statement to the Livonia police indicating he entered Farrand with the intent to steal a purse.

In connection with the Farrand incident, Madsen was charged with attempted larceny, in which he pleaded guilty May 23. His sentencing date is scheduled for July 10.

Both Berry and Antal credit the fast apprehension to the work of the two classmates.

"These two students gave a description so well, that we knew exactly who they were talking about and in turn arrested the man," Antal said.

Berry and Antal also commended Morrow and Wilson for their calm behavior and quick thinking.

"This could have turned into a very dangerous situation, but these two knew what to do," Antal said. "They didn't run, but they didn't put themselves in danger either."

A look at P-C Schools candidates

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following quotes are the responses of candidates running for the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education to a number of questions focusing on issues in this year's race. The answers were gleaned from the League of Women Voters Forum last week as well as The Crier's own candidates forum.

Questions:

1. What is your position on the millage renewal on the June 10 ballot? What is your position on the potential bond proposal?

Bobbie Cleary:

"It's essential to the success of our school system. It represents half of the operating budget..."

"There are different parts to that bond issue. I would like to see those parts broken down and let the voters decide. There's no description of the technology package. How could I support that with no details?...So I have questions with it and I'd like more answers before I can say anything else."

Deborah Lynch:

"I think that it is a necessary renewal...It is a crucial element to maintaining quality education in this community. A renewal is just that -- it's not an increase..."

"The bond is going to be necessary sometime in the future. Right now I think it's very preliminary to decide whether to support it or not...I have to agree that it's not broken down in very much detail."

Roland Thomas:

"Although I want to be re-elected, the most important vote you can make is to pass the renewal millage. I feel so strongly about this..."

"I'm very supportive of the bond issue...I'm a little bit troubled at this point with the technology package...The timing issue is one that concerns me...Two new elementary schools are an absolute need. We'll need new housing in the next five years if we're ever to have a chance to reduce class size."

Dean Swartzweiler:

"It's extremely critical that this passes....If someone came along to your family and removed half of your income you'd find it difficult to keep your household going. That's what we face with the renewal..."

"Conceptually, I do support the bond issue 100 per cent. The board has not made a decision on the bond in its totality or separate parts...There are a lot of open issues, the timing, the extreme emergency in our elementary school capacity. The bottom line is that I'm very happy with the bond."

2. What are your views on the newer teaching methods being used throughout the school district and how they relate to the changing nature of education in this community?

Bobbie Cleary:

"This is what got me into this whole thing...There are a lot of reports that the students are learning less but feeling better...I have a number of concerns about the programs...They're teaching kids to be good guessers and bad readers...They're not going forward but backwards. Illiteracy is a big problem in education. I'd like to see an investigation into the problems and see them fixed...We need to get back to the basics."

Deborah Lynch:

"Developmental learning is a good learning process. It builds self-esteem and a life long love for learning. It is in its infancy right now and needs more regular evaluation to help make parents more comfortable...It does emphasize creativity...A lot of it is experimental at this point...We should concentrate on reducing class size and cultivating parents and kids and concentrate on the goals at hand."

Roland Thomas:

"We've taken what works out of the traditional methods and blended that with a developmental approach...We've got to put a complete package together so kids can think their way through education...We've raised the students expectations. They've learned something from the process and success breeds success...It is not an experimental program. It is a developing process."

Dean Swartzweiler:

"This board and administration has been willing to go out and find new ways to improve the education of our children. We're not changing the basic curriculum, we're just trying to find ways to make students get more out of it. We're doing a lot of things on a lot of fronts to improve the process. This is not something we've invented...It is not experimental."

3. What other issues do you consider important in this year's school election?

Bobbie Cleary:

"Certainly finances is an issue; first and foremost, though, is academics. That's what a school system is all about; the issue of improving communication between the school board and parents."

Deborah Lynch:

"How we react to all of the government influences on education; our district's ability to develop alternative sources of income; accountability of the schools and the need for increased vigilance to watch how administration carries out policies."

Roland Thomas:

"Changing the learning process and teaching methods and focusing on teacher training; the school district's fiscal situation -- the state doesn't know what it wants to do; how do we incorporate technology in the classroom."

Dean Swartzweiler:

"Financing K-12 education in the future; the use of technology and where it's going; getting parents involved in the education of their children."

Bios:

Bobbie Cleary, 33, has lived in Canton since 1987 and is seeking a slot on the board for the first time. Cleary has a degree in chemical engineering from the University of Nevada and was previously employed as an engineer with an oil company in Oklahoma. A member of the Trinity Presbyterian Church for four years, she has done a variety of volunteer work for the organization, including her role as a Sunday school teacher. Cleary has three young children, one of which she has home schooled.

Deborah Lynch, 37, has lived in Canton since 1988 and is seeking a slot on the board for the first time. Lynch has been involved with the DARE program (fundraising efforts), her Canton homeowner's association and as a member of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church in the City of Plymouth. She has a business degree from the University of Michigan and is currently self employed in the financial services industry. She is the mother of six. Three of her children have graduated from Salem High. A fourth child was formerly enrolled in the Plymouth-Canton Special Education program, and her youngest, a 20-month-old toddler, will enter the district in the next three years.

Roland Thomas, 47, has been a Plymouth Township resident since 1977. Originally appointed, Thomas has sat on the board of education since 1983 (he is currently the board secretary). A veteran of the U.S. Army, Thomas is employed as a manager with the Ford Motor Company. He has been with Ford since 1966. He holds business degrees from Eastern Michigan University and is a 1962 Plymouth High School graduate. He has been involved with Junior Achievement, Plymouth-Canton Junior Basketball, his school PTO, and his church St. John Neumann. He also co-chaired the CEP Senior Party committee in 1989 and 1991 and has sat on various school board committees. Thomas' twin sons graduate from Plymouth-Canton schools this weekend. His daughter is a 1989 CEP graduate.

Dean Swartzweiler, 56, has lived in Plymouth Township since 1977 and has sat on the board since 1985. He is the current board president and has been in that post since 1989. Also, he was previously board vice president and secretary. He is employed as an executive with Ford Motor Company and has been with the company for 30 years. A U.S. Army veteran, he has business degrees from Drake University. He has also been involved with I Care and the Educational Excellence Foundation and active with the First United Methodist Church for 14 years, and with the United Foundation. Swartzweiler's three children all graduated from the Plymouth-Canton schools.

3 seats, 11 candidates in Schoolcraft race

BY KEN VOYLES

There will also be key elections for the Schoolcraft College (SC) Board of Trustees on the ballot during Monday's (June 10) election vote in Plymouth-Canton.

Three candidates will contest for the two six-year seats on the Schoolcraft board including incumbents Michael Burley, of Canton, and Jeanne Stempien, of Livonia. The challenger is Subramanian Ramamurthy, of Canton.

Eight other candidates have been certified for the lone four-year seat up on the board this year. That seat is currently held by Steve Ragan, of Plymouth, who was appointed to the spot in April to replace Jack Kirksey.

The candidates include: Ragan, Robert Gordon, Paulette Cebulski, Bruce Patterson, Ronaele R. Bowman, M. Andrea Taylor, Willis Brauer, and Patricia Watson.

Michael Burley

Burley, 51, has lived in Canton for 15 years. He was elected to the board in 1979 and is serving his second six-year term. Chairperson of the board in 1983-87 and currently treasurer, he holds degrees from Lawrence Institute of Technology and Eastern Michigan. He has also finished course work for Ph.D at U-M. He has been an educator, as teacher and administrator, for 25 years and is currently a business teacher at Northville High. He has a son who graduated from the SC Culinary Arts program.

"I enjoy education and Schoolcraft," he said. "It gives me a different perspective, a look from the top down. We've done some pretty fantastic things at Schoolcraft."

"We don't know what's going to happen as far as financing," he said. "The community college is one of the few places where there are opportunities to update working skills close to the environment."

"We've got to get back to mutual gains bargaining, communicating both ways," he said. "I like the politics of the job. I like the people I've met and I've enjoyed most of my time on the board."

Subramanian Ramamurthy

Ramamurthy, 42, has lived in Canton since 1986. This is his first run for a seat on the SC board. He is president of Optimum Management Inc. in the City of Plymouth, an engineering management firm. He has degrees from the University of Madras, India, Indian Institute of Technology and a Ph.D from Cornell.

"Education is an important issue in this community," he said. "It relates to our competitiveness in the world. Schoolcraft plays a pivotal role as a place for students to prepare for a four-year school and as a place for retraining."

"We have to not only educate the kids but their families. We have to build good relations between students and the community," he said. "I want to bring all of those together who have a stake in it."

Jeanne Stempien

Stempien, a Northville resident, has been a Schoolcraft trustee since 1986. She and her husband are partners in Stempien & Stempien, a Livonia based law firm. She holds degrees from Detroit College of Law and the University of Michigan. She has been a member of the Women's Lawyers Association of Michigan, the Livonia Bar Association and the Northville Business and Professional Women.

Stempien has also taught in the Taylor Public Schools and served as vice chairperson of SEMCOG.

Ronaele Ruth Bowman

Bowman, 48, has been a resident of Livonia for 14 years. This is the second time she has run for SC board. Two years ago she finished fourth out of seven candidates. She is presently the coordinator of the Garden City Youth Assistance Program. She has a degree from Marquette and has studied at Schoolcraft. She is a member of the AAUW, Plymouth, and on the board of the Homes for Black Children, Detroit.

"I'm a real community oriented person," she said. "The present board is a good board but it's unbalanced. No one is an advocate of the faculty and students."

"Another issue is training women so that they can be competitive," she said. "We must maintain quality education at an affordable cost in spite of state budget reductions and the threat of reduced property tax collection."

Willis Brauer

Brauer, 51, has lived in Livonia for 25 years. This is his first time running. He is the principal at Hoover Elementary in Livonia and has been with Livonia Public Schools for 28 years. He has degrees from Wayne State and U-M. He is active in his homeowner's association and the Guillain-Barre Syndrome Support Group of Southeast Michigan. He has also been involved with the Friends of the Rouge. His son has attended

JEANNE STEMPIEN

M. ANDREA TAYLOR

PATRICIA WATSON

Schoolcraft and Brauer has taken community education courses at SC.

"I see it as an opportunity to continue to serve the community," he said. "To me the most difficult challenge facing the college is continuing the excellence in education considering the finance situation."

"The North Central (accreditation) report sited employe relations as an issue. That needs to be resolved. I see both sides of it from my experience."

"I would like to see us look for more business partnerships," he said. "I'd still like to see the main focus be on the main campus."

Paulette Cebulski

Cebulski, 48, has lived in Plymouth Township since 1984. This is her first election race. She is the assistant director and coordinator of clinical education at University Hospitals and is a teacher at U-M. She has degrees from St. Louis University, University of Minnesota and a Ph.D from U-M. She is a member of the American Physical Therapy Association.

"I've been working with students all my professional career," she said. "I believe I'm very qualified to provide the community with service at the community college level. I'm a life long educator -- I'm not a politician."

"The budget situation, long and short term, is a critical problem," she said. "We also need to look at the utilization of the facilities and assess the community's needs."

"I have no hidden agendas," she said. "I'm not influenced by political pulls and tugs."

Dr. Robert Gordon

Gordon, 36, has lived in Plymouth Township for three years. It is his first time running. He has a general medical practice on Main Street in Plymouth (for six years) and an office in Southfield. He is a Michigan State graduate and a professor there. He is a member of the Colonial Kiwanis Club of Plymouth and member of the Plymouth Chamber.

"I feel that with my education background, teaching experience, and my managerial skills I am well rounded for the position," he said. "I feel that the board and school has been doing a good job, but I can add a different perspective."

"We need to be aware of the financial status and management of costs at Schoolcraft," he said. "I want to make sure we maximize our dollar spending and find other areas of funding."

Bruce Patterson

Patterson, 44, has lived in Canton for 15 years. This is his first time running for Schoolcraft. He has degrees from Wayne State and entered private law practice in 1972. He is president of McCabe, Middleton and Patterson. He also sat on the Canton Merit Commission, 1979-1991, is a Rotary Club member, on the Canton Community Foundation board.

"I'm very much interested in our community and community issues like education," he said. "I have something to contribute to Schoolcraft and Schoolcraft is something worthy of contribution."

"In the long term it's critically important that Schoolcraft have the physical plant to house the students and educators," he said. "We may be at a crossroads as to where it goes and who runs it."

"In the short term the principal issues is the budget issue," he said.

Steve Ragan

Ragan, 25, has been a City of Plymouth resident for one year (he grew up in Plymouth Township and is a Canton High graduate). Ragan was appointed to the board in April. He has a degree from the University of Michigan and attended Schoolcraft between 1984-1987. He is currently an administrative assistant with the Wayne County Division of Airports and is a member of the Plymouth Zoning Board of Appeals.

"I offer a slightly different perspective being the only one of the board who actually attended as a student," he said. "I have a strong background in finance and bring some good experience into this."

"I'm concerned about the financial situation of the college," he said. "The college faces difficult times in the coming years. It's expected to grow but with limited resources."

"I also have concerns about employe relations," he said. "And we need to look to develop an 'afternoon college' program. I'd like to see the college established in the Canton area. I also think the college needs to more aggressively market some of its success."

M. Andrea Taylor

Taylor, 45, has lived in Livonia for 39 years. She ran for the board in 1989.

Heat Air keeps growing ADVERTISEMENT

Select Air has grown into one of the largest heating/cooling companies in Plymouth, he said. The company also has cultivated a wide range of clients, installing heating/cooling systems in all Detroit, Michigan facilities, refrigeration devices at May's Deli and central air conditioning in area homes.

Richard said he is always looking for experienced installers and maintenance men.

"I hope (1991) will be a very growing," he said. "We do good work."

The Plymouth Township Select Air Systems has been doing the last four years Larry Richard created the Plymouth Township Select Air Systems in 1987. At that time, he had three workers. He now has five installers, seven service men and the industry has five trucks, fully equipped with service parts.

Big or small, they can do it all.

Quality means good business

In the competitive heating/cooling field, Select Air Systems competitors on quality to stay ahead.

Larry Richard, owner of Select Air, said his company consists of professional service.

"A professionally designed system is always going to be better," he said. "It will give you the best heating and cooling and be efficient."

The company also does custom sheet metal duct work, Richard said.

"We'll measure and design all the metal," he said, adding that much of the duct work is highly individual. "Everything has its own brand is one of the best in the business," he said.

Sterling Heights man nabbed on drug charges

A 23-year-old Sterling Heights man was arrested Sunday for possession of cocaine in an unusual incident at the Knight's Inn on Ford Road in Canton.

The man, an Egyptian citizen with a valid green card, was one of three men renting a room at the hotel, according to Canton Police reports.

A hotel security guard noticed the three men carrying handguns and a shotgun into the room, said the reports. The men were driving two vehicles with Arizona license plates, and U.S. Border Patrol agents had the room under surveillance.

This is how events unfolded, according to reports:

A woman went into the room while it was being watched. She then came out and as she drove away, she was stopped by Border Patrol agents, who found about 17 grams of marijuana in her car.

The woman was cited for marijuana possession and turned over to Northville Township, where she had an outstanding warrant.

The Sterling Heights man came out of the room next. He was stopped by the Border Patrol agents at a phone booth near the hotel.

As he was being questioned, the other two men from the room drove away.

Meanwhile, according to the reports, Canton Police were called in by the Knight's Inn manager to evict the men from the room because of the guns.

Canton officers informed the Sterling Heights man that he was not under arrest, and obtained his permission to search the room for weapons, said the reports.

During the search, they found cassette tape cases containing bags of what appeared to be cocaine.

The man was then arrested by Canton officers.

Police information officer Pat Nemecek said the U.S. Department of Immigration and Naturalization would have to decide if formal charges would be filed in the incident.

Places to be Classic Farmfest features tractors

BY CHERYL VATCHER

Tractors and antique farm equipment are only a glimpse of what awaits crowds at the first Classic Farmfest show scheduled for Saturday (June 9) at the Washtenaw Farm Council Grounds.

The farmfest, which will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., is to benefit the 4-H of Washtenaw County, said Robert Poet, a Plymouth Township resident and organizer of Classic Farmfest along with wife Lynda.

One of the main attractions for the event are the antique tractors, Poet said.

"Twenty five guys from Iowa are bringing their tractors here. They were told about the show by Bob Smith from Saline," he said.

There are also power demonstrations planned for the tractors.

"Besides the tractors coming from other individuals, I will be bringing a tractor that my great grandfather bought in 1945. It will be totally restored for the show," he said.

The show will also include other equipment such as old cars and trucks. To attract the whole family, there is at least one full building of crafts.

"There will be ceramics, baskets, wooden toys, teddy bears, popcorn, country crafts, gold wire wrap jewelry, chair pads, water-life consisting of farm themes. Also included are American Memory Prints, out of Belleville, IL. There are going to be live demonstrators which include rug weavers."

The show was planned around what the Poets wanted, which is a change from the standard farm show. To do this, on Memorial Day Weekend last year, the Poets decided to create their own show, using ideas from previous shows.

Poet personally chose the vendors he wanted: He said he was not interested in just anyone.

"Besides, I want to cater to the exhibitors that I picked, because I like them and want them to be a part of future shows," he said.

Dedicated fans do not mind a lengthy drive to attend the tractor fest, Poet said, adding some plan to travel almost one to see the exhibit.

"There will be people from Ohio, Illinois and Indiana," he said.

Classic Farmfest is a non-profit organization, said Lynda Poet, who has lived in Plymouth Township for 28 years and is a part of the famous Bunyeya family.

"I have had a lot of help. We hand picked our own committee to ensure its success," her husband said.

There also will be entertainment including the Luke Schrables Band for square dancing on Saturday night. There also will be Wesley Lincenkugel's Dulcimer Band which will perform all weekend.

Challenge Fest becomes tradition

BY JIM WHITE

Not even weekend thunderstorms could dampen the success of the third annual Canton Challenge Fest this year.

Fest organizer Bill Joyner estimated that 15-20,000 people attended events during the 10 day extravaganza, which ended Sunday.

"It takes three years to create a tradition," said Joyner Monday. "We're right on track. The fest is firmly established."

Rain shortened Friday night's concert by Rockstalgia and forced organizers to cancel Sunday's play in the tennis tournament. But otherwise, the final weekend of the fest was "fantastic," said Joyner.

Conrad Ruiz, of Canton, won the grand prize at the fest - a $1,000 shopping spree sponsored by Woodland Meadows.

There were plenty of other winners in the numerous events.

In the Pat Danna One on One Basketball Tournament, Canton resident Aaron Rypkowski captured the 11 and under age group.

Dan McKian and Henry Bahrou, both of Canton, won the 12-13 and 14-15 age groups, respectively. There were no entries in the 16-17 group.

Rhett Clark, of Canton, beat out all 18-35 year olds and Joe VanEsley, of Plymouth Township, won in the 36 and up bracket.

Tony Vitale caught the biggest trout in the Fishing Derby (16 and 5/8 inches) and netted a $100 U.S. savings bond in the process. Justin Hadjuk finished second for the boys and John Wosford came in third.

Kristin Kosik reeled in the biggest one among the girls (16 and 1/2 inches), also good for $100. Stefanie Hadjuk (just what kind of bait were those Hadjuks using?) finished second and Courtney Armstrong was third.

All anglers were Canton residents.

Josh Walaskay captured the 18 and under group in the Photo Contest, sponsored by Frame Works. Adam Bourque and Ben VanDyk finished second and third.

Mike Fitzgerald shot the winning entry in the 19 and up group. Dennis LeFay was second and Fitzgerald also won third.

Craig Lakian hit the longest drive during the fest at Fellows Creek Golf Club. Matt Chiodo came closest to the pin. Both won $50 gift certificates at Las Vegas Discount Golf and Tennis.

Among junior golfers, Matthew Church won the nine-hole tournament for 10-12 year olds. Brian Fox and Roger Niehaus finished second and third, respectively.

Duffers aged 13-18 played 18 holes. Matthew Snow captured the 13-15 group, with Andy Uthoff finishing second and Jack Gatlin third.

Jeff Meese beat all 16-18 year olds. Brad Paskievitch was second and Heith Hamrick followed in third.

First prize in the girls category went to Krisin Kosik, who was awarded $100 for a 16 1/2 inch fish. Residents may vote on joint services

BY JIM TOTTEN

The issue of combining dispatch services between the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township could possibly be pushed to a vote before residents.

"We are seeking to get a referendum so it goes on the ballot before the voters," said Judi Van Houten, a dispatcher for the city and president of the bargaining unit for dispatchers.

Van Houten said that dispatchers are concerned about job security and how decisions could possibly affect their current positions.

"We have no feeling of job security," she said.

City dispatchers met with joint services committee members at an informational meeting on May 22 to be updated on the latest developments.

"I came away believing that we would become township employees," Van Houten said. She said city dispatchers would move over to the newer facilities in the township and would be leased by the city for their services.

The group's current contracts with the city are effective until December 31 at which time negotiations can be conducted.

Former Acting City Manager Paul Sincock said that it was stressed during the meeting that joint services are still in an early stage of the process.

"There is a lot that has to be done before this can be implemented with the dispatchers," Sincock said. He said that differences in policies between city and township must all be discussed before any further steps can be taken. Resolving these policy differences is currently under review by attorneys from Risk Management.

"We are waiting for that response before there can be any more movement," Sincock said.

He added that combining services must be accomplished in a slow, careful manner since "one screw up can jeopardize a great working relationship" between the city and township.

Township Supervisor Gerald Law said that combining services is a "very complicated" process with many legal problems to be resolved.

He added laying off dispatchers was not being considered during the discussions.

"Nobody is going to lose their job. We have never talked about people losing their jobs," Law said.

IRS investigates Massey

BY JIM TOTTEN

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) searched the files at Don Massey Cadillac in Plymouth Township for possibly failing to keep proper records for cash transactions.

IRS spokesperson Sarah Wreford said it could be several months before the investigation, the first of its kind in Michigan, has been completed.

Approximately 20 IRS agents entered the business Thursday morning with a search warrant for any records regarding form 8300. This form must be filed under federal law for cash transactions of $10,000 or more.

No charges have been filed by the IRS against the Massey automobile dealership.

Yet Wreford said the search was not a routine check.

"We do not execute a search warrant unless there is probable cause that a crime has been committed," she said. She would not say what prompted the investigation of Massey, but only that sufficient evidence had been gathered to go to the courts with probable cause for a search warrant.

Don Massey declined to comment on the investigation at this time.

Wreford said typically, when a search warrant is executed, "you are at the information gathering stage of the investigation." She said it could possibly be months before another step is taken.

The penalty for a 8300 form violation ranges from a $50 fine for inadvertently not filing properly to a possible felony with a $100,000 fine and/or five years in prison.

Picture this CEP yearbook.

BY KEN VOYLES

It's the largest of its kind for high schools in Michigan. It's even larger than many produced by state colleges and universities.

The 1991 Centennial Educational Park (CEP) yearbook, "Picture This," hit the hallways of Canton and Salem highs last week at more than 430 pages.

"Most books are 200 pages," said Lauren Pearson, advisor to the 24 students who produced the annual yearbook. "But this takes an entire year to produce and a lot of hard, hard work."

Published by Walsworth Publishing Co. in Missouri, the yearbook includes color photographs, sections on staff, students, student clubs, athletic teams, and even one on Plymouth's Fall Festival.

More than 2,500 yearbooks were printed this year, said Pearson, who took over for Jim Stevens as yearbook advisor this year.

"It went very well," Pearson said. "It's important to have teamwork."

Work on next year's yearbook has already begun, said Pearson.

Riverpark loses bid to switch to P-C Schools

BY JIM WHITE

For the second time in a month, the efforts of a Canton subdivision to join the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools district has been thwarted.

Students from Riverpark subdivision, located south of Palmer between Canton Center and Sheldon, currently attend Wayne-Westland schools.

Riverpark families went before the Wayne County Regional Educational Service Agency (RESA) board Thursday night with their request to transfer to Plymouth-Canton.

They wanted to be part of the Plymouth-Canton district because they were part of the Canton community and because they believe there are better educational opportunities in Plymouth-Canton, said Max Mitchell, a Riverpark resident.

Greenbrook, located just west of Riverpark, had the same request to transfer denied by RESA May 1.

The RESA board heard arguments from residents and from administrators in the two school districts before making a decision.

Mitchell, who just became a father four weeks ago, said Monday he figured the request would be denied, but he was disappointed that it was refused for the exact same reasons as Greenbrook's was.

"We're different," Mitchell said. "Our argument is we're not part of the tax base yet. The detrimental effect (to Wayne-Westland) of our transfer is almost zero."

Greenbrook has 172 homes and 114 students.

Of 145 lots in Riverpark, only 80 homes have been completed. Mitchell said his last tax bill was based solely on the assessed value of his land, not on his home. And Riverpark has 24 students.

"What will the Wayne-Westland school district lose if we join Plymouth-Canton?" Mitchell asked. "Nothing! This is a new subdivision. Wayne-Westland has been operating without our tax dollars."

Wayne-Westland Superintendent Dennis O'Neill made the same argument against the new transfer request as against Greenbrook's, that the loss of tax money would cripple his district.

"As an in-formula district, we would lose nearly $4,000 on each of the students," he said.

Mitchell said that only about half of the 24 students were even enrolled in Wayne-Westland schools last September -- when the Fourth Friday attendance count for funding purposes was made.

John Hoben, superintendent for Plymouth-Canton, said the district was "neutral" on the transfer, but that he was worried since elementary schools in Plymouth-Canton are already overcrowded and new ones won't be built for at least two to three years.

Only 16 of the 24 Riverpark students are in elementary school, Mitchell said. "If Plymouth-Canton cannot presently absorb 16 more students at the elementary level," he said, "then all (home) construction in Canton should be halted."

Plymouth-Canton could handle 16 students in the short term, Mitchell said, and "long term plans are already underway to solve the overcrowded elementary school problem."

Mitchell said Riverpark residents plan to follow in Greenbrook's footsteps and appeal the RESA board's decision to the Michigan Board of Education, a process that may take six months or more.

Twp. residents request airport vote

BY JIM TOTTEN AND JIM WHITE

Plymouth Township residents want to put the Mettetal Airport issue to rest with a vote.

Members of the Plymouth Township Concerned Citizens last week handed the township board of trustees over 2,800 signatures on petitions calling for a vote on the purchase and operation of Mettetal Airport.

"The vote that we are asking for is should Plymouth Township, either individually or jointly with the City of Plymouth, purchase and operate Mettetal Airport," said Robert Zaetta, spokesperson for the Concerned Citizens.

Township Supervisor Gerald Law said the township clerk would need to verify the signatures.

Law said that "before the board takes action, we would have to request from our own attorneys an opinion upon it" to insure that whatever steps were taken were legal.

Law also said that the trustees would check with the Wayne County Elections Committee and if needed, the Michigan Attorney's General Office.

"We believe that the proposed Mettetal Airport purchase is a bad business deal," Zaetta said several times during the meeting.

Zaetta cited several potential problems the township could face if it purchased the airport with the city.

"Who pays if this airport continues to run at a loss," he said. "Most of what we're hearing is that it is not profitable."

He said the township would enter into the purchase/operation agreement as a tenant in common and is therefore not immune to liability.

"Potentially significant liability to the entire Plymouth-Canton community is possible from this purchase of the airport under the joint operating agreement," he said at the meeting.

Airport expansion was another reason that the township should not become involved with Mettetal, he added.

"We've heard people say that this airport is not going to be expanded and quite frankly, that's difficult to believe," he said.

Zaetta presented a letter from Dean Nitz, supervisor of the Michigan section, airport district's office of the FAA, which stated that parcels of property surrounding the airport could be acquired by condemnation.

Nitz said last week that the FAA is recommending that most of the proposed parcels be bought through negotiation.

"The interest here at Plymouth is not to take condemning action," Nitz said.

Nitz said that the parcels are being proposed for acquisition for protection of the approaches to the existing airport.

"It is really not an airport expansion," Nitz said. "Land is being acquired to protect the approaches. He said the airport currently meets safety regulations, but that when FAA funding is involved, the airport is expected to be brought up to meet certain standards."

"Over the next few years, we would be working with Mettetal owners to improve the facility," he said. New lighting, paving the entrance road and the runways are some of the proposed improvements. He also said the FAA was recommending to shift the runway 300 feet to the south.

"We are not participating or interested in condemning any kind of property," Law said when asked about acquiring property around the airport in Canton. He said the only feasible discussion conducted so far was gaining easements which would limit the height of construction on neighboring property.

Liability to the township or the city is not an issue, according to Mettetal Airport Board Chairperson Tom Kennedy. He said that pilots will be required to show proof of insurance which covers the pilot and the airplane.

"There is no way in hell that anyone can get through the layers (of insurance) to the city or township," he said. "Nobody has ever successfully sued a public airport in Michigan."

Ronald Lowe, attorney for the City of Plymouth added that the joint venture, described as a "governmental purpose" by the Michigan aeronautics code, would have governmental immunity in most cases.

"Where there are exceptions, you have damned good insurance," Lowe said. The airport board, city and township will each have insurance policies, he said.

The Concerned Citizens were also concerned about a "closed" airport board meeting held at Plymouth Township Hall Wednesday morning.

The meeting was actually a meeting of the FAA, and board members had simply been invited to attend.

Canton man charged with CSC

A Canton township employe was arraigned Thursday on three counts of first degree criminal sexual conduct.

A plea of innocent was entered for Rodney Charles Brown, 40, of Canton, in 35th District Court before Judge John MacDonald. Brown faces a preliminary examination June 14.

Brown is charged with allegedly sexually assaulting a three-year-old girl in his home in February, 1990.

According to Canton Police information officer Pat Nemecek, Brown's wife was baby sitting the girl when the incident allegedly occurred.

Brown is currently free on bond.

Oust Canton on the way Rocks move to state regionals

BY RITA DERBIN

The Rocks (23-6) are headed for the state baseball regionals. The Salem squad earned the chance to play Wyandotte Roosevelt at 12:30 p.m. Saturday afternoon at Wyandotte Memorial Field by defeating cross-campus rival Canton in the district finals, 3-1. The district win was the fourth in five years for the Rocks.

"This was a very tough regional," said Canton coach Fred Crissey. "Any time you have four teams with over 20 victories you're going to see good baseball."

Jeff Belisle pitched an outstanding two-hit district final game for Salem. Frank Learned was on the losing side of the decision for Canton.

The game started out as a pitching duel but Salem got on the board first with two runs in the fourth inning. Eric Nielson got the first Rock hit off Learned to lead off the inning. Scott Niemiec followed with a double to advance Nielson to third. Scott Rodgers then doubled in Nielson and Niemiec for a 2-0 lead.

After Belisle shut the Canton hitters down in their half of the fourth inning, the Rocks once again had Learned on the ropes in the fifth inning.

Bright singled but was out at second when Jeff Coleman reached on a fielder's choice. Ed Gundry then doubled to chase Learned out of the game. The Chiefs put power pitcher Scott Kennedy in to face Niemiec, who is the Rocks' most dangerous hitter. Niemiec fought off a 1-2 count and grounded the ball to the shortstop, who bobbled the ball enough to allow Niemiec to reach base and Nielson to score from third, making the score, 3-0.

Ben Hendricks hit a solo homerun in the Chief half of the fifth inning for Canton's run.

"You're never satisfied when you lose but the team played hard," said Crissey, whose team finished the season at 22-7. "I'm pleased with the season -- we won the division, played for the conference title and district finals."

To reach the district finals, Canton defeated Adrian, 3-2; and Salem defeated Westland John Glenn, 4-3.

Kennedy went all the way for Canton, pitching a three-hitter and striking out 12. The Chiefs gave up two unearned runs in the first inning and Canton made it 2-1 in the third with a run. The Chiefs then went up 3-2 with two runs in the fifth inning when Riggs scored on ground ball to the right side by Chris James. Mike Wougamon then scored on a wild pitch.

Salem reached the finals by defeating Westland John Glenn, the second-ranked team in the state, 4-3.

Scott Rodgers (11-2) was wild on the mound, but no-hit the potent John Glenn hitters until the seventh inning.

For the Rocks, Ed Gundry had two hits including a double and RBI; Kevin Craggs hit a solo home run; and Rodgers had a base hit, scored a run and walked in the sixth inning to set up the winning run.

"They scored first but we came back," said Salem coach John Gravlin. "We had them on the ropes most of the game but couldn't break away."

"Scott Rodgers showed a lot of guts, he bore down when we needed him," Gravlin added. "Holding John Glenn to one hit was quite an accomplishment."

Last Tuesday, Canton was defeated by John Glenn in the conference championship game, 8-4.

Kennedy pitched six innings and took the loss. He allowed five hits in the game. Canton had 11 hits in the game but could not get enough runs across the plate, according to Crissey. "We woke up a little too late to get into the game."

Also last Tuesday, Salem finished third in the conference by defeating Farmington Harrison, 9-2.

Salem used four pitchers in the game, with Rodgers getting the victory.

CEP girls end successful 1991 track campaign

BY RITA DERBIN

A very successful girls track season was completed for the Centennial Educational Park runners at the state track meet Saturday in Grand Rapids.

In individual state competition, the Canton girls took a third place finish in the 3,200-meter relay. Amy Smith, Lana Boroditsch, Christie Saffron and Kim Gudeth earned all state honors with a school record time of 9:43.48. Stephanie Gray also placed at the state meet with a seventh place in the high jump. Other participants at state for the Chiefs were Aleah Collier, in the shotput, Selena Bastine in discus, and the 1,600-meter relay of Smith, Ndu Okwumabua, Saffron and Gudeth.

"It was a real good state meet for us, the 3,200-meter relay team was truly outstanding," said Canton coach George Przygodski. "This has been the most successful season of any Canton girls track team I've ever coached.

"We'll miss our five seniors but we're already looking forward to another great season next year."

Salem participated in two events at the state meet.

Sophomore Tonya Wheeler was fifth in the 400-meter dash with an outstanding time of 58.78, almost three seconds off her regional time of 1:00.5.

"Tonya ran a textbook race," said Salem coach Mark Gregor. "She won her heat and ran against some good competition.

"Tonya was seeded 15th and finished fifth and the four girls ahead of her were all seniors," Gregor added. "Look for her next year."

Also, junior Theresa Giacherio placed 10th in the 300-meter hurdles with a time of 47.49.

"Theresa didn't run her best race," said Gregor. "It was a hot day and it wasn't her ideal conditions but she was very competitive -- the experience will help her next year."

Last Friday the Rocks finished third at the Lady Braves Relays with 46 points.

Finishing second for the Rocks were the long jump relay of Tracey

Salem boys track captures conference

BY RITA DERBIN

"As long as we're here we may as well win."

Those words of wisdom by senior tri-captain Jim Ramsay turned out to be the theme the Salem boys track team adopted this season.

The Rocks wrapped up a perfect season with their second conference title. Salem finished first in the Western Lakes Activities Association track meet last Tuesday with 150 points. Westland John Glenn, which won the last two conference titles, finished second with 102 points, and Canton was third with 78.5 points. Northville and Livonia Churchill tied for fourth place and Farmington Harrison was sixth (63 points).

Conference champions on the Salem squad included junior Leon Hister, who defended his conference title in the long jump with a 21-2¼ jump; Also finishing first for the Rocks was the 3,200-meter relay team of Mike Wooters, John Thomas, Jayson McDonald and Mike Patterson with a school record time of 8:12.8; Thomas, with a season best time of 1:59.1 in the 800-meter run; and the 400-meter relay of Hister, Todd Forbes, Ramsay and Matt Perron (45.0).

Second place finishes went to Ramsay in the 110-meter high hurdles (15.5) and 300-meter intermediate hurdles (41.8); Andy Rojas in the

Livermore, Dana Driscoll and Alysia Sofios; the 4x3,200-meter relay of Emily Farrell, Julie Cutting, Stacey Witthoff and Corey Gulkewicz; the 6,400-meter relay of Kelly Stankov, Katie Heid, Kelly Morante and Beth Turomsha; the 800-meter relay of Livermore, Andrea Kinnelly, Driscoll and Wheeler; and the sprint medley relay of Livermore, Sofios, Kinnelly and Witthoff.

Finishing third was the shot put relay of Nikki Santilli, Kathryn Ryan and Kristin Bernhardt; and the 1,600-meter relay of Witthoff, Lynda Sebestyen, Sofios and Wheeler.

400-meter dash (51.0); and Steve Boudreau in the 3,200-meter run (10:19.3).

For Canton, second place finishes went to Dean Benedict in the discus (150 ft.); Mike DeJarnett in the high jump (6-3); the 3,200-meter relay team of Mike Ream, Craig Miller, Dave Washenko and Jim Carnes with a season best 8:16.4; and the 1,600-meter relay of Don Green, Brett Kearney, Washenko and Miller with a season best of 3:30.8.

Placing third for Canton was Karl Wukie with jump of 21½ feet; and fourth places went to Ream with a season best time of 10:19.7 in the 3,200-meter run; and the 800-meter relay of Paul Chudyk, Dave Fedorko, Green and Josh Walaskay (1:35.5).

Rocks lose soccer regional

BY RITA DERBIN

The Rocks just couldn't get past number one ranked Livonia Stevenson in regional soccer action Friday night. The Salem season ended with a record of 16-2-1 when the squad fell to the Spartans in the regional finals, 3-1.

"Stevenson is a very good team," said Salem coach Ken Johnson. "It wouldn't surprise me to see them win the state title again this year."

The Rocks played hard and controlled the first half of play in the finals but late in the first half Stevenson drew blood first to make the score, 1-0.

Salem quickly tied the game at one with an unassisted goal by Mandy Drummond just two minutes later to make it 1-1 at halftime.

Salem dominated the second, too, but Stevenson got a goal with 15 minutes to go, then scored a breakaway goal soon after while Salem was pressing to try to tie the game to make the final, 3-1.

Benedict 3rd

BY RITA DERBIN

Dean Benedict finished his career at Canton with all state honors at the state boys track meet in Grand Rapids Saturday.

The senior discus thrower finished third in the state with a school record throw of 165-7.

"He's always been ready for the big meets and he certainly was ready for this one," said Canton coach Bob Richardson.

Also qualifying for the state meet for the Chiefs was senior high jumper Mike DeJarnett who made the first cut of six feet but did not place.

Chiefs routed in district softball play

BY RITA DERBIN

The Chiefs collapsed and were knocked out of the state softball tournament in the district finals, falling to Belleville, 10-0. The Canton softball team's season ended with a 20-5 record.

Sophomore Kelly Holmes (16-3) took the loss in the game which was scoreless until Canton committed three errors that allowed three Belleville runs to cross the plate in the fourth inning.

The nightmare continued as three more Tiger runs crossed the plate in the fifth and four runs scored in the seventh.

"We played real well until the third inning," said coach Jim Arnold. "Offensively, we were hitting the ball hard -- Belleville was just playing outstanding softball.

"They have a great team and they just played unbelievable defense," Arnold added. "There's nothing we could do."

Holmes was also the pitcher of record in the Chiefs' 6-2 win over Adrian in the district semi-finals earlier in the day.

Sarah Schimmelpfenneg had two of Canton's seven hits in the game and also had two RBI. The Chiefs' top batter, catcher Renee Dory, who had a .388 average for the season, added two hits and Kim Hengy was one for three with an RBI. Throughout the state tournament Dory was 7-11 with a .636 average.

"I'm real pleased with our season," said Arnold, who wrapped up his first season as varsity coach. "With Holmes and Dory back next year this will be a hard team to beat."

Last Tuesday, the Chiefs lost to North Farmington in the conference playoffs, 6-0. According to Arnold, the team put in an unspectacular performance.

"It was a real surprise for us," he said about the loss. "But I think the girls were looking ahead to districts -- they made a lot of mental mistakes."

To get to the districts, the Chiefs defeated Romulus, 11-2. They had 13 hits in the game and Holmes pitched a two-hitter, striking out 11 and, at the plate, she had three hits and drove in three runs.

$6 million facelift at Canton Meijer

BY JIM WHITE

A pedestrian bridge between Meijer Thrifty Acres at Ford and Canton Center roads and Carriage Park Apartments to the south will be part of a $6 million facelift at Meijer.

The bridge spanning the Stevens Drain affords the residents of Carriage Park, who are senior citizens, more independence, said Carriage Park general manager Edee Snider Monday.

"It certainly will add to our community," Snider said. "The bridge was requested by residents here and it shows Meijer was listening to our concerns. We are very appreciative."

The new bridge is a small part of the remodeling being done at the 18-year-old Meijer, Canton's largest retail outlet.

"The total square footage will remain at 248,000," said Jennifer White, Meijer public and consumer affairs coordinator. "But we're eliminating the bank, the travel bureau, and upgrading the barbershop."

The grocery area will be completely redone, White said. An new island in the deli section will hold a selection of cheeses, pizza, and deli entrees.

Interior lighting will be improved, new colors and fixtures will be added, and signs inside and out will be changed, she added.

"It will take us into 1992," White said. "We hope to be done by April."

Meijer will stay open throughout the renovation. The Canton store is one of 60 throughout Michigan and Ohio.

Takes $190

Armed man hits Budgetel

A man armed with a revolver held up the Budgetel Inn on Ford Road in Canton early Thursday morning and escaped with about $190 in cash.

According to Canton Police reports, a man entered the hotel at about 4:33 a.m. and asked a Budgetel employee to change a dollar bill.

When the employee opened the cash drawer, the man pulled a gun and pointed it at the employee, police said. He ordered the employee to put all the cash in a brown paper lunch bag.

The man took the cash and fled through the rear entrance of the hotel, said police. No cars were seen.

The suspect is described as a white male, approximately 35 years old, six feet two inches tall and weighing 150 pounds. He has hazel eyes and long, straight black hair tied in a pony tail. He has a full beard and mustache. At the time of the robbery he was wearing blue jeans and a black t-shirt.

Canton Police are asking anyone with further information to contact Detective Brian Schultz at 397-5338.

Gusfa, outgoing child, dancer

Lauren L. Gusfa, 12, of Plymouth Township, died May 27 in Detroit. Funeral services were held May 30 at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church with the Rev. Robert Keller officiating. Burial was in Riverside Cemetery in Plymouth.

Miss Gusfa is remembered as a outgoing and special child who participated in the Special Olympics and was a dancer at the Curtain Call Studio. She was a sixth grade student at Lowell Middle School and a member of Our Lady of Good Counsel parish.

Survivors include: parents James and Barbara Gusfa, of Plymouth; sister Kristen; brother Steven; grandfather Edward Turlo, of Dearborn Heights; and grandmother Anne Gusfa, of Dearborn.

Memorial contributions can be made to the Plymouth/ Canton Special Olympics C/O Dr. Gusfa, 44815 Deer Run, Plymouth, MI 48170. Memorials can also be given to the Association of Retarded Citizens.

Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees race to be wide open

She works in a Livonia restaurant and is a graduate of the SC culinary arts program. She also has a certificate from the American Management Association and was a cafeteria manager with the Plymouth Canton-Schools, 1987-1989. She is a member of the BPW.

"I ran because Schoolcraft had done so well for me -- the experience," she said. "If I had an opportunity to give back a little bit, I felt now I had the time to put forth as much as I can. It was Schoolcraft that made me take the interest."

"I think keeping the reputation of the college is important," she said. "But finances is the issue that relates the most between the staff and administration."

Patricia L. Watson

Watson, 39, has lived in Northville for three years (she also lived in Canton for seven prior to that). This is her first race. She is currently the clinical supervisor of the psychology department at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital. She has degrees from Aquinas College, Saint Francis College and a Ph.D from the University of Detroit.

"We need to establish fiscal priorities. What we don't do is look at the whole picture in terms of fiscal responsibilities," she said. "It's looking more at the whole picture and promoting partnerships."

Sidewalk bid to be re-let

This sidewalk bid will be re-let, Sincok added, and taken to the first city commission meeting in July. "Technically I don't think we could legally have let the contract with the (state) statute on engineering," new city manager Steve Walters said.

State law requires that a registered engineer review plans for projects over $15,000. Sincok acknowledged that West (the city's only registered engineer on staff) was not consulted, although specifications drawn up by West for a former project were used on the bid.

"The error was that we failed to communicate directly with Ken West," Sincok said of this DPW project's procedures.

Typically, West added, the city engineer would help suggest possible contractors who might bid on public projects.

The City of Plymouth has been criticized several times in recent years for not following proper procedures on bidding contracts.

In a May 21 memorandum to Mark Hammar, assistant director of the DPW, Sincok wrote, "The city engineer will prepare all requested proposals or bid specifications that involve construction work or construction repair projects. This administrative policy will allow the Department of Public Works to fully utilize the expertise of the city engineer."

Sincok also wrote that, "At the request of the city engineer, any requests for information from the Building and Engineering Department shall be directed solely to the city engineer through memorandum, personal meeting or voice mail."

The bid was due May 13 and was the remaining portion of the 1987 block grant funds.

"I didn't know the project was in the works, it didn't come under the budget," Mayor R.J. Kenyon said Thursday. He called the miscommunication a "classic administrative problem."

He added, "I don't see any political questions here at all."

Schools vote on Monday

Cleary's campaign has focused on her concerns over several of the "new" teaching methods being tried in the school district. She has said she is unsure about letting her children enter the school system because of the methods.

Cleary has also said she wants to see improvement in the way the school board handles parents.

Lynch, 37, is a resident of Canton. She has six children, three of whom have graduated from Salem High.

Lynch, who is self employed in the financial services industry, has called the current board complacent and has raised concerns about the way it treats parents of the district.

During the election campaign she focused on the idea of "partnership," with the community, with parents, with local businesses, and with the students.

"We all have a common goal and that's the education of our children," she said.

The polls will open at 8 a.m. on Monday and remain open until 8 p.m. at precincts throughout the district. For information on where to vote call the school office at 451-3135.

Curiosities

Jill - vacation - what's a vacation?

How many hours do I have to work?

Leon - I think it looks great - and you didn't have to drop five to do it.

Justin - two weeks with no weekend breakend - I don't know if we can take it! Love ya kid!!!

Ron and Tracy - 2 nights room & board - your bill total is $39.95 plus tax! Just kidding! It was fun!

"Congratulations Mom" It's always nice to be a big winner!

Thanks Mom and Pops for the past 7 weekends of vacation! We really appreciated it - and he really loved it!

Brends & Mike - such lovebirds!

Ruth will always trust Jack.

I love summer. You have the American flag, warm weather and short skirts.

I should stop in and see Peg and Debbie every day.

Finally Kay has the basement done! Now we'll hear about the garden.

Rita, did you go to Cleveland for the weekend games?

Bobby and his boys did it. They're in first place - king of the mountain.
