Teacher dies at 89 Community remembers Gertrude Fiegel

BY JILLIAN BOGATER
Gertrude Fiegel, namesake of Fiegel Elementary School in Plymouth Township, will be most remembered for her exemplary talents as a history teacher at Plymouth High School.

Miss Fiegel, 89, died of cancer June 4 at home in Ann Arbor.

"She was a real Christian lady," said fellow teacher Irene Walldorf, an English teacher who worked with Fiegel for more than 30 years in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

"She was here when I came to teach in 1933," she said. "Gertrude was an outstanding teacher at the high school."

Children attending Fiegel Elementary School were enchanted by Miss Fiegel and enjoyed a special visit she made to the school in 1988, said current Principal Barbara Young.

"We put together collections of pictures of school activities to take to her," Young said. "Miss Fiegel, whose eyesight was failing, would take out her magnifying glass and carefully examine each picture. She was so interested in our children and our

SC incumbents, Ragan, in P-C incumbents win; millage OK'd

BY KEN VOYLES

Voters reaffirmed their support Monday for longstanding Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education candidates Dean Swartzwelter and Roland Thomas.

The two incumbents retained their seats on the board during the annual schools election, besting strong challenges from Deborah Lynch and Bobbie Cleary. The election also included a millage renewal vote and a race for the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees.

Swartzwelter led all Plymouth-Canton voter getters with 3,797, or 58 per cent of the total votes cast, according to unofficial results Monday night. Thomas finished second with 3,208 votes, while Lynch garnered 2,329 votes and Cleary came in with 1,766.

Some 6,513 voters went to the polls Monday, or about 12 per cent of the entire voter population for the district, according to election officials. There are approximately 55,000 voters in Plymouth-Canton.

That turnout was less than last year's nearly 7,000 votes cast when Carl

Battishill and Lester Walker were elected to the board.

The millage renewal ballot (for 17.74 mills, or half of the district's operating fund) passed 4,359 to 1,966. Support for the millage was strong throughout all 15 regular voting precincts in the district and it passed by a nearly 3-1 margin.

In the Schoolcraft College race, incumbents Michael Burley, of Canton, and Jeanne Stempien, of Northville, retained their six year seats on the board. Burley garnered 5,345 votes, while Stempien led the field with 6,643. Canton challenger Subramanian Ramamurthy picked up 1,081 votes.

In the four-year contest, Plymouth resident Steve Ragan finished first, based on unofficial results, with 2,947 votes, while Canton resident Bruce Patterson was second with 2,231.

Ronaele Bowman was the only other candidate in that field to pick up more than 1,000 votes. She collected 1,292 votes Monday.

Results from two Northville precincts were not in as of press time, said election officials at Schoolcraft.

Other Plymouth-Canton candidates in the four-year Schoolcraft race finished as follows: Paulette Cebulski, 617 votes; and Dr. Robert Gordon, 478.

Swartzwelter won every precinct Monday but at Field Elementary School, which was captured by Thomas. Lynch finished second in two of the 15 precincts.

"I'm pleasantly surprised," said Swartzwelter. "I'm overwhelmed and extremely grateful that the millage passed by over a two-to-one margin."

"I'm also pleased that voters have interpreted what Roland and I have done for the past four years on the board," he continued. "It's an endorsement of our course of action. I look forward to the next four years serving 15,000 students, and a lot more parents."

Swartzwelter said he plans to focus on three major issues during his new term, including the state of school finance in Michigan, the potential

The drive to secure an $8 million grant to help fund an integrated technology package for the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools has apparently cleared a major hurdle in Washington D.C.

The school district's efforts to obtain the federal funding have been helped by both U.S. Congressmen Carl Pursell (a Republican whose district includes Plymouth) and William Ford (a Democrat whose district includes Canton).

Firefighter files complaint

Racial discrimination in Salem?

BY JIM WHITE

A Salem Township firefighter who believes he was discriminated against during a selection process for fire chief has filed a complaint with the Michigan Department of Civil Rights.

Raymond Givens, 37, is alleging he was not hired as chief because of race. "I was the only black applicant in this so-called selection process," said Givens in his complaint. "There are no blacks employed or appointed to various boards and commissions in Salem Township.

"It is therefore apparent to me that because of my race (black), I have been treated unfairly and subsequently denied the fire chief position," he said.

The five member Salem board voted 4-0 on May 7 to hire Mark Hamilton, another Salem firefighter who is white. Trustee Ferman Rohraff abstained because his son is also a member of the department.

Givens, a 15-year veteran of the all-volunteer department, is up to date on fire fighting and investigation techniques, he is certified as a deputy sheriff, and he is qualified as a first aid and CPR instructor. Hamilton only qualifies to be a firefighter under a 1982 Michigan grandfather clause. He received some of his first aid training from Givens.

"The reason they said they picked him," Givens said Monday, "is that he's a people person. But I'm involved in the Jaycees and everything. He's not more of a community person than me."

The board did not make any reaction to Givens' complaint, or to his request that a second roll call vote be made.

"A roll call is only necessary in money matters," said Salem clerk Nancy Geiger yesterday. Regarding the complaint, Geiger said, "I have no comment. The board is not taking any action that I am aware of."

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is also looking into Givens' case.

"I'm going to take it as far as I have to take it," he said. "People in the community and from surrounding departments have offered me money for attorneys' fees. I appreciate that, it makes me feel good."

Givens is not pursuing the job for the salary - "it works out to be about 50 cents an hour" - but because he feels he is the most qualified to serve the department and the community.

"I would hate to see somebody killed over this," he said. "But Mark Hamilton is in over his head."

Miller Woods to be named a natural preserve

BY KEN VOYLES

Miller Woods was expected to be officially designated a natural preserve during a meeting of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education last night.

The board considered a deed restriction for the site as a way to help protect the rare climax-beech forest from encroaching development and random environmental destruction.

The deed restriction was drawn up by Draguelis & Ashton, one of the school district's legal firms, and covers 10 acres of woods on a 40-acre site owned by the schools along Powell Road in Plymouth Township.

The deed bases its need to "preserve, develop, protect and insure the integrity of the parcel of property and to make available to this and future generations the opportunity to learn about nature, and to promote, demonstrate and stimulate knowledge," of a climax beech and maple forest.

If the board approves the designation the nature preserve would remain undisturbed as a place where "the earth and its community is untrammelled by humanity."

The restriction also prohibits commercial enterprise on the site and any form of temporary or permanent road.

It allows, however, for the construction of a fence to "limit access to the area" and the construction of educational signs.

The deed will place the "burden" of the agreement with the school district.

The woods became a topic of concern last spring when members of the Friends of Miller Woods said a fence was needed to protect the site from motorbikes, bicycles, bonfires, and other acts of vandalism. The woods is surrounded on three sides by single family homes.

Fatal accident in Canton

A Chelsea man died Monday night when his car struck the back of a parked semi-trailer on Michigan Avenue in Canton.

Donald Wayne Hollis, 35, of Chelsea, was driving eastbound on Michigan just east of Lotz Road at about 9:52 p.m., said Canton Police Captain Alex Wilson, when he hit the truck parked in the right hand lane.

truck to apparently make a telephone call, Wilson said.

Hollis, the lone occupant of the car, was not wearing a seatbelt. His speedometer froze at 52 mph at the time of impact, Wilson said. The posted speed on Michigan is 55 mph.

Wilson said an investigation is continuing to determine if alcohol was involved or if charges will be filed in the incident.

Museum wants art PO mural debate continues

BY JIM TOTTEN

Concern about the future of the historic mural in the Plymouth Post Office remains alive and well.

In a May 22 letter to Postmaster John Mulligan, director of the Plymouth Historical Museum Beth Stewart, wrote, "in the event that post office building is not used for that purpose any longer, the Plymouth Historical Museum would like to have the mural in our Museum."

Stewart said the museum considers the artwork an important piece of history from the Plymouth community that should be preserved.

It is believed that the mural was painted as part of the WPA projects started during the Franklin Roosevelt administration.

"My understanding is that regardless of who has the building, it will remain the property of the Postal Service," said Mulligan last week.

But Mulligan added that he does not think it is possible to move the mural since it is painted directly onto the building's surface.

"I had a terrible feeling that bureaucracy will fail the whole thing," Stewart said. She would like to have the mural placed in the museum if it can be taken down. But "if it is physically impossible," she said another alternative would be to make a large, blow-up of a photograph of the mural.

The museum has an enlargement of a 1904 photograph of a Fourth of July Parade in Kellogg Park on view in its building.

About a month ago, U.S. Congressman Carl Pursell wrote a letter to Mulligan asking that the preservation of the mural be given high priority.

Canton residents: vote!

CANTON

Canton has a new logo. Although not all the Canton board members understood it this way, a re-designed logo is now official. "The board (members) as individuals signed off on this," said Dan Calabrese, administrative assistant. But now, Canton residents have a chance to vote! Do you prefer the old logo (on left) or the new logo (on right)? Residents should send this ballot to:

How will sewers affect Salem plan?

For the first time since 1972, Salem Township is trying to update its master land use plan, and not everyone is happy.

The master land use plan is the blueprint for future development. Revising has gone on for two years.

At least one residents' group is worried about some of the possibilities being discussed for the future. The group packed the planning commission meeting May 20 and has promised to do so again this Monday (June 17).

Kathie Crowley, chairperson of the newly-formed Salem Township Agricultural Association, said her group is made up of horse people and small farmers.

"We hear you can't stop development, but you can," she said. "There's no reason why we can't all live together."

Crowley's group was formed in reaction to discussion of the MLUP. Some of the ideas considered by the planning commission, such as commercial zoning along Gotfredson Road, have Crowley worried.

"We want to preserve the character of the community," she said. "This is a prime opportunity for us to be a leader, to be one of the nicest communities around."

"They're talking about building cluster homes, condos, and commercial development on Gotfredson," Crowley said. "This has been a family-oriented 4-H community."

Don Pennington, planning consultant for the township, said Crowley's group does not need to worry.

"We're trying to preserve the existing character of Salem," he said. "We've collected an immense amount of physical data and we've looked at trends of existing land use."

"What we're doing now," he said, "is looking at the information from a need perspective and from an environmental perspective."

Pennington said the agricultural association has only recently become involved in the process, and that they should not be alarmed.

"We look at the 'what ifs,'" Pennington said. "Do you want to see this happen? This is how it can take place. Nobody is saying land use should be urbanized."

He added that nothing is being promoted at this point, but that all options must be considered. "You don't bury your head in the sand."

One of the problems facing planners is that most of the land in Salem is zoned "agricultural/residential."

But, "You can't have a full agricultural district as well as a full residential district," Pennington said. "That's one thing we're trying to alleviate."

Chris Ward, secretary for the planning commission, said input from residents is wanted. "We have sent a survey to farmers to see what they want."

A revised concept plan will be introduced at Monday's meeting, said Ward.

"It may concern Gotfredson Road, or it may concern adding sewer," she said. "There is no public water here now but some homes have problems" that installing sewer lines could help.

Community opinions

Fear of group homes unwarranted

They came to ask questions. Plymouth Township residents who live along Ann Arbor Trail wanted some answers about the group home that is going in next door.

They arrived at the public hearing May 28 hoping to ask some questions, find out more details about the people moving in, and leave somewhat relieved.

But the residents left learning nothing new, except that their trustees sympathized with their situation.

"I have small children and I'm concerned about their safety," said Janice Bellis of Ann Arbor Trail. "What do I do if there is a problem?"

Township Supervisor Gerald Law and the trustees could add very little to the discussion because they knew just about as much as the residents.

Township Clerk Esther Hulsing had sent letters to the Department of Social Services (DSS), Community Programs Services (CPS) and Wayne County Living Services (WCLS) inviting a representative to attend the hearing and help inform residents about the group home. All three declined the invitation.

These groups believe that adults with developmental disabilities, being United States citizens, are entitled to the same civil rights as anyone else. If they want to move into a new neighborhood, they should be able to do so without a public hearing or special questioning.

In his letter to the township, Richard

From the horse's mouth

By Jim Totten

W. Bennett, executive director for CPS wrote, "...it is evident that they enjoy the freedom to choose their place of residence without their decision being challenged or discussed in a public forum. It is no different for you or me."

I called up Denise Mogos, WCLS director of public affairs, who was listed in one of the letters as a person to contact for information about the program and its services. Mogos said that previously WCLS would send letters to residents informing them a group home was going in and hold an informational meeting.

Mogos said that procedure has changed.

"We don't write any letters. We open up the house like anyone else," she said.

The issue of whether public hearings for group homes are legal is awaiting a decision from the Michigan Court of Appeals.

Plymouth Township has previously gone to court to fight the procedures used by these organizations for opening group homes, and has lost both times.

Under the Federal Fair Housing

Amendments Act of 1988, people with handicaps (physical and mental disabilities) were included as a protected class. They have the same civil rights as the rest of us. And it is unlikely that it will be changed.

And I think it is for the best.

A public hearing is not held when an Afro-American, Chinese, Hispanic, or Jewish family decides to move in. Why should one be held when adults with a developmental disability move into a neighborhood?

Fear seemed to be driving most of the concerns expressed that evening. Residents quickly took the position that adults from the group home would cause trouble, make excessive noise, but most of all, pose a threat to their children.

I would reply that anyone that moves in next door could be a 'potential' threat to family members, so the question is what evidence is there that these adults pose more of a threat?

There is none.

When a group home is going in, allegations are often made of child molestation, said Joseph Lavey, an attorney with Michigan Protection and Advocacy Services.

"There is no empirical evidence that supports that fear," Lavey said. He also said there is no evidence showing that there is an increase in criminal activity when a group home is established.

Maybe the best piece of advice during the public hearing came from Kathy Kleppack of Plymouth Township.

"These people are a part of our community. We have to accept that," she said.

In the margin

By Ken Voyles

Development vs. nature Westland or Wetland?

Westland is at it again. In the name of development that community has allowed the destruction of what Detroit Audubon Society members call an important "cattail marsh with willows and red osier dogwood."

The wetlands, and stream, affected feed directly into Wayne County's William P. Holliday Nature Preserve, which juts into Canton on its northeastern boundary, said Jack Smiley, which juts into Canton on its northeastern boundary, said Jack Smiley, executive director of the Audubon group.

"While taxpayers are funding a multi-million dollar cleanup of the Rouge River, many developers continue to destroy the filtering wetlands and headwaters of the river," said Smiley in an open letter asking for residents to help save wetlands in Michigan.

Smiley said that destroying such wetlands, like the one-acre parcel, negate the cleanup efforts of many volunteers and communities.

"A clean tributary of the Rouge River flowed through the wetlands, which made them contiguous to a lake or stream," wrote Smiley, and subject to Michigan DNR protection under the state's Wetland Protection Act.

A proposed car wash on the site was approved by the Westland City Council earlier this year, but the DNR was never contacted about the special wetlands permit Smiley suggested to the council.

About a month ago Smiley visited the site to find a bulldozer plowing through the soils of the wetlands, "destroying cattails and everything else that lived there."

A videotape he made of the work went immediately to the DNR, which issued a cease and desist order to the developer.

"The issue is still pending but the DNR may require restoration of the wetlands," Smiley wrote.

Thanks again to the rash development fever gripping Westland (maybe we should call it "Wasteland," definitely not "Wetland"), the Holliday park again seems threatened, if only by the cutoff of its tributary streams.

The illegal wetland fill may not seem like much. After all it's only one acre. But the old domino theory kind of holds true with wetlands -- start small and pretty soon larger and larger parcels will be gobbled up in the name of development.

That's Plymouth, MI!

Sunday's edition of The Free News, or News Press, or whatever it is now, ran this Plymouth as the lead photo for a travel feature on Plymouth, MA. The problem is, the photo is of the "Plymouth Rock" veterans' memorial here in Kelllogg Park. One can excuse the confusion, however, because of the long-standing Sister City (J.O.A.) arrangement with our town -- Plymouth, MA -- Plymouth, England. --THE COMMUNITY CRIER.

District gets 2 grants Council, Library plan unique program

BY JIM TOTTEN

The Plymouth District Library will soon be getting a financial boost.

The library was recently approved for two grants under the Federal Library Services and Construction Act (LSCA) Title I which is administered by the Library of Michigan.

The first grant of $25,000 will be used to purchase complete backfiles of the "Plymouth Mail" newspapers on microfilm. The library will also use the grant money to index the microfilm using volunteers from the library and the Plymouth Historical Museum.

Library director Pat Thomas said, "this is a golden opportunity to get at that whole problem," with the incomplete backfiles of newspapers not on microfilm.

The "Plymouth Mail," the first newspaper in the Plymouth community, dates back to 1887 and was bought by the Observer Newspapers in 1954.

Currently, the library only has backfiles of the Plymouth Observer going back six months. The Community Crier newspaper is available on microfilm from 1981-88 and on backfiles dating back six months.

The second grant, for $17,967, will be used in conjunction with the Plymouth Literacy Council to develop additional tutor training and purchase books-on-tape for literacy students.

The literacy program at Starkweather Adult Education Center currently has about 100 tutors trained to teach reading and the English language.

Mary Kay Frey, coordinator at Starkweather, said the program serves residents not only from Plymouth, Canton and Northville, but also those from Belleville, Westland and Ypsilanti.

Inter-generational story hours are also being planned by the library and literacy program.

"The library and the literacy council will work together to set up an intergenerational story hour for parents and children," Frey said. Literacy students and their children will be provided with materials that they could read together.

If parents like reading, Frey said that their children will also pick up this habit.

She added that Plymouth will be one of the first districts to use intergenerational story hour.

Canton doctor to stand trial on CSC

BY JIM WHITE

The attorney for a Canton doctor charged with 15 counts of criminal sexual conduct could not convince Wayne County Recorder's Judge Craig Strong Monday that his client should not stand trial.

After hearing pre-trial motions, Strong set a trial date of Sept. 18.

The charges against William Nutting, 40, allege that he sexually abused his three children between November, 1989, and November, 1990.

His attorney, Thomas Howard, argued that if the alleged incidents could not be pinned to specific dates, the case should not go to trial.

"But time is not an element," said prosecutor Nancy Diehl. "In previous case law in Michigan, it has been recognized that children can't remember days and dates. The judge followed this today."

The children are now eight, six, and four.

Howard also wanted the charges involving each child separated, so that there would be three separate trials. Strong denied this motion as well.

"We're all set (for trial) as far as I'm concerned," Diehl said.

Howard could not be reached for comment. Nutting is free on $10,000 cash bond.

Canton seeks successor to Preniczky

BY JIM WHITE

The Canton Board of Trustees has 33 more days to find a successor for John Preniczky, and it may just take that long.

The board seat has been empty since Preniczky resigned June 1 before moving to Northville Township.

The board spent time last Tuesday night discussing the process they will use to pick a replacement. It isn't likely that one candidate is going to get the necessary four votes right off the bat, and trustees have said they don't want to cause anyone unnecessary pain of rejection.

Whatever process the trustees follow, they are going to make their first attempt to agree on a successor at the Tuesday (June 18) meeting.

"We could individually pick one or two names, write them down, and submit them to Loren Bennett (township clerk)," said Phil Lajoy. "We could rank them, or not. These would be names you could support, that you could vote for. We might come up with the name of a solid candidate.

"This isn't a science," he added.

"Whatever we do, it will be done publicly," said Bennett. "We don't want to put anyone through needless pain, we don't want to nominate someone who has no chance."

Bennett said he could think of two frontrunners, "names I have never discussed with anyone, but I bet everyone here knows."

But he caught some trustees by surprise.

Elaine Kirchgatter said she'd be "hard pressed" to come up with any frontrunners, and Robert Shefferly said he didn't know who Bennett meant either.

Schools Board to approve parapro contract

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education was expected last night to approve a new three-year contract with the Plymouth-Canton Paraprofessional Association.

The agreement, if approved by the board, comes nearly a year after the last contract with the paraprofessionals expired.

The 135-member bargaining union "overwhelmingly" ratified the new agreement Monday, said Joyce Harrington, the local president.

The contract calls for five, four and three per cent payhikes, beginning with last year and running through 1993. There is also a cost of living adjustment to a maximum of two per cent and language changes, said Errol Goldman, the district's director of employe relations.

The group's main concern during bargaining over the past 11 months centered on vacation days and lining up the same benefits as other bargaining units in the school district.

Harrington said the group's main concerns were addressed. "We got some vacation we didn't have before," she said. "This is a start. I'm not unhappy with it.

"People have to understand you get what you can," she added.

The group's other contention, over medical benefits, was also addressed, Harrington said.

Paraprofessionals staff schools throughout the district, working in school offices, on the playgrounds, in classes and lunchrooms.

Residents: composting stinks

BY JIM WHITE

After eight weeks, the smell from Canton's new composting facility is no better, and residents nearby say they have had enough.

As long as there are offensive odors, the facility is violating township and Wayne County ordinances, residents say, and they have asked Canton to shut it down until the problem can be fixed.

Supervisor Tom Yack was expected at last night's Board of Trustees meeting to specify a "reasonable amount of time" for the facility to correct odor problems and comply with ordinances.

Yack refused to give a time period at last Tuesday's meeting, telling

It is an effort to increase interest in flying for pleasure, building one's own aircraft and educating the community on the activities of general aviation, said the organizers.

Some of the planes that will be on display include a Redwing Blackbird, a Volmer (amphibian), a Nesmith Cougar, the Mustang II and the Star-Lite, a plane designed by Plymouth resident Doug Shumard.

Chapter 113 is made up of approximately 75 members, many of whom will display their homebuilt craft along with others flown in from around Michigan.

The breakfast and display will be held from 7-11 a.m. at Mettetal (located at Joy and Lilley roads). The cost for breakfast is $3.50 adults and $2.50 children. There is no charge for the aircraft display.

For more information, call Doug Shumard, daytime 446-9450, evenings 453-8969, or Frank Abar, 464-7343.

Canton tax talks planned

Time to talk taxes.

Citizens for Tax Responsibility, a grass-roots movement concerned about the prospect of ever increasing taxes, will hold its first open meeting Thursday (June 13) in the Canton Public Library at 7 p.m.

The Canton based group is under the direction of Lana Mayfield.

Patrick L. Anderson, a recognized tax reformer, will be the guest speaker for the meeting. Anderson is the director of "Taxpayers United for the Michigan Constitution" and co-chaired the Patterson-Anderson Property Tax Limitation Drive in 1990. He will be presenting information on the status of the Headlee Tax Cut Initiative.

The meeting is open to the public. For more information call Mayfield at 454-0179.

Local Dealer gets Jump on Competition

"That's right" says auto dealer Lou LaRiche, "these are the Big Frogs of California. They have six-inch bodies and their legs are 18 inches long."

What's an auto dealer doing with frogs you say? They will be one of the main events at Lou LaRiche's largest ever AUTO TENT SALE. "The SALE, scheduled for June 17th through June 22nd, will feature the best deals of the year on all our CHEVY CARS - CHEVY TRUCKS - GEOS AND SUBARUS," says Lou LaRiche. Starring on Friday June 21st (7:30 p.m.) and Saturday June 22nd (11 a.m.) will be the 'Croakmaster' and his jumpy friends the frogs.

The 'Croakmaster,' John Close, his wife "Lily Pad" and a few "Frogettes" who measure the jumps and keep the frogs from jumping too far away have 'hopped' all over the country with this slippery show. "You gotta like frogs," the Croakmaster says. "They make you hoppy." Kids and Adults, everyone from age 8 to 80 will enjoy this wart-filled event.

"You must first catch the frog to enter the jumping contest," explains the Croakmaster. "That can be difficult. These frogs can jump over 6 feet." "Once you have your frog get to know it," says Lily Pad. Then it's off to the starting line. Each entrant is allowed three leaps. Winners of the jumping event win a frog t-shirt. There will also be human croaking competition, frog stories, frog jokes and lots of fun.

LaRiche will have Hot Dogs, Pop, and Chips all priced at 25 cents each. You will also be able to enter drawings each day for service.

Don't frog get the TENT EVENT June 17th through 22nd. Hop on over for un-frog-gettable FUN AND DEALS THAT WILL MAKE YOUR FRIENDS & RELATIVES GREEN WITH ENVY.

Places to be

Mountainous music Summer concerts begin

Grab a blanket, kick off your shoes and lie down in the soft grass to hear the sweet sounds of summer.

The Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC) will once again be sponsoring its annual "Music in the Park" concerts in Kellogg Park in downtown City of Plymouth.

The 10 summer concerts will feature local and area musicians and a wide variety of styles and forms of music.

Magician Christopher Vos will dazzle audiences with his magical feats before each concert at 11:30 a.m.

The first concert will be held on Wednesday, June 19, from noon to 1 p.m. and will continue each Wednesday at noon through Aug. 21.

June 19 - The acoustic trio Skylark will open up the series playing traditional American music on hammered dulcimer, banjo, guitar, mandolin and fiddle. The music will include instrumental, seasonal, sing-alongs, traditional, swing, folk and country classics.

June 26 - The Oakland Shores Chorus is a growing chorus and is part of Sweet Adelines International. The group has consistently been a top contender at regional competitions and is highly regarded throughout the region.

July 3 - The string trio Intermezzo featuring Canton resident George Stepulla on violin will perform classics and popular classics.

July 10 - The popular Edinborough Saxophone Quartet, formed in 1983 by Giuseppe Merenda, will perform music ranging from popular to classical, and folk to swing.

July 17 - The Chautaugua Express, a highly acclaimed children's show, features Guy Louis playing instruments, telling stories, and giving hands-on participation and educational entertainment.

July 24 - The versatile Onita Jackie Sanders will sing and play the harp in her varied repertoire that includes Baroque, classical, pop folk, blues, Broadway and jazz styles.

July 31 - Jane Austin has been playing music in the U.S., Canada and Europe for over 20 years. She accompanies her children's music with her unique singing voice and guitar, autoharp, recorder, jew's-harp, keyboard and various percussion instruments.

August 7 - The Steve Wood Trio, featuring saxophonist and flutist Steve Wood, will play traditional and original jazz compositions. Wood has performed with jazz notables as Marcus Belgrave, Thad Jones and Freddy Hubbard.

August 14 - Just Me & the Boys will feature local musicians Art Durov (Plymouth) on mandolin, banjo, bass and harmonica; Barry Weeder (Ann Arbor) on fiddle; Chris Boughn (Plymouth) on guitar; and Diane Kimball (Plymouth) on hammered dulcimer and Appalachian dulcimer.

August 21 - The final concert will feature Silver Strings Dulcimer Society playing traditional folk and dance music on hammered dulcimer, lap or mountain dulcimer, guitar, fiddle, bass and other traditional folk instruments.

For further information call 455-5260.

Mysterious end?

S-C class features novelist

Novelist Loren D. Estleman will end the "Author-Author" program series at Schoolcraft College with a class on "The American Mystery."

Estleman has published 31 books since his first novel in 1976, including a detective series which is set in Detroit. He has won seven national writing awards, and was presented with an award for literature by the Michigan Foundation for the Arts in 1987.

Estleman will briefly discuss the history of mystery form with emphasis on the differences between the American and the British schools. He will also discuss markets and recommended authors while explaining his experience as a mystery writer.

The class is scheduled for Tuesday, June 18, from 7-9:30 p.m. in the Applied Science Building, room 375. Register by calling Schoolcraft at 462-4448. Tickets also available at the door.

Class fee is $18 and the program is open to the public.

Historical exhibit planned

A photographic exhibit, "Historical Houses - A Salem Sample," will be shown at the Salem Town Hall in conjunction with the Salem Flag Day Celebration on Friday and Saturday (June 14-15).

The exhibit is being presented by the Salem Area Historical Society and will feature photographs of historic sites throughout Salem Township.

The exhibit is open from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Friday and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday.

What's Happening

To list your group's event in this calendar, send or deliver the notice IN WRITING to The Crer, 821 Penniman Ave., Plymouth, MI 48170. Information received BY NOON FRIDAY will be used for Wednesday's calendar (space permitting).

Roe allegations continue to surface

BY JIM TOTTEN

Allegations made against the Personalized Nursing Light House, Inc. during a May 21 Plymouth City Commission meeting are false, says an attorney representing the program.

"The allegations of Carol Levitte are false and I can only assume they are deliberately false," attorney Geoffrey Smereck said Thursday.

Levitte represents Roe Street residents concerned about the placement of program participants in the home located at 303 Roe Street. The program rents the home for residential purposes, Smereck said.

Levitte said during the May 21 meeting that the program was violating city ordinances by conducting random room checks and urine testing at 303 Roe Street. She said that procedures used at the home constitute a business, which is prohibited under city codes in a residential neighborhood.

"The Lighthouse Program does not conduct random room checking or urine checking and has never done so," Smereck said. "It was established in court on the 17, 18 and 25 of April before Judge John MacDonald. The program has been given a clean bill of health."

He said four officials from Lighthouse gave sworn testimony during the April court examination that there was no random room checking or urine testing at 303 Roe Street. He said the court ruled against Levitte who was the attorney during that case.

"No program activities of any kind take place at Roe Street," Smereck added.

Levitte agreed there is no actual testing being conducted at 303 Roe Street, and said that is not the main issue.

"Is a business being conducted at Roe Street? And is there any indication that a business is being conducted at 303 Roe Street by Lighthouse?" Levitte said are the issues at question.

"You can't have a program that controls their behavior as tenants in a residential neighborhood," Levitte said. She added that these procedures are outside the landlord/tenant relationship and therefore constitute behavior control.

City attorney Ron Lowe said during the precommission meeting last Monday that Levitte needs to present evidence to support her allegations before the city can take any actions.

Get ready for YMCA races

Take your mark, get set, go.

The Plymouth Community Family YMCA will be sponsoring its 12th Annual Run on Sunday, June 16.

Starting in downtown Plymouth at Kellogg Park, runners and walkers will be gliding through the scenic streets of Plymouth. Also that morning, a pancake breakfast, refreshments, and massage therapists will be available.

At 7:30 a.m. is the Junior Jog (ages 6-8) and at 7:45 a.m. is the Tot-Trot (ages 3-5). Pre-registration cost is $6 for both events.

At 8 a.m. the one mile Fun Run/Walk and the 5K race begins, while the main event, a 10K race, starts at 8:45 a.m. Pre-registration cost is $9 for the one mile Fun Run/Walk and $13 for both the 5K and 10K runs.

After June 7, the late registration costs are $9 for the Junior Jog/Tot-Trot, $12 for the Fun Run/Walk, and $16 for the 5K/10K Runs.

Check-in and late registration on June 16 begins at 6:45 a.m. for Tot-Trot, Junior Jog, one mile and 5K races, and 7:30 a.m. for the 10K race.

For further information call the Plymouth YMCA at 453-2904.

Composting site violating ordinances

residents, "I am not going to be boxed in by you."

David Holliday, a resident near the facility, said Monday that he and his neighbors may not wait for Canton to act.

"We have reviewed our legal options with four firms," he said, "and all four said we have a meritorious case for a nuisance suit against the (composting) company and against Canton Township."

Holliday added that the residents' next move would depend on what action the Canton board was going to take last night.

The facility, located between Sheldon and Morton Taylor roads south of Michigan Avenue, is operated by Composting Systems, Inc., of Ypsilanti. CSI leases the 40 acre site from Canton Township, which owns the land.

Canton's composting operation is one of the first in Michigan. Between 1992 and 1994, all yard waste will be banned from landfills and will have to be handled by facilities like Canton's.

The facility began operating this spring. John Langs, of CSI, said Michigan Department of Natural Resources officials have called the operation "one of the best they have seen."

But residents near the site say CSI has yet to work the kinks out. They have complained for weeks about the smell.

"If Canton wasn't involved in this (operation) you would have shut it down by now," said one man at last week's meeting.

"It seems to me like there's a conflict of interest there," said James Mason, another nearby resident, Monday. "I lost my patience and Mr. Yack and I had a long argument on Friday."

Yack admitted at the meeting last week that there were violations, but said he was not prepared to shut the facility down. "In general, we allow a reasonable time for operators in violation to comply with ordinances. If they don't correct the problem, then we take them to circuit court.

"At this point," he said, "I'm not prepared to say what is reasonable."

The Air Pollution Control and Environmental Health Divisions of the Wayne County Health Department are concerned about the site, said spokesperson Howard Murray yesterday. Three citations have been issued by the pollution control division.

"It just lets them know they're in violation and they must respond within 30 days with a plan to solve the problem," Murray said.

In the meantime, Mason said he must keep his windows shut and seal himself inside his house to avoid the smell.

"I'm so disgusted, so depressed," he said. "It just seems like we're banging our head on a wall."

State Police nab 6 at stop

The I-275 rest stop in Canton was once again the scene of multiple arrests for public homosexual acts.

Six men were arrested May 23 and charged with disorderly person by obscene conduct, said Michigan State Police Detective Sgt. Robert Silva.

Those arrested included a Livonia school teacher, 62, a 30-year-old truck driver from Detroit, a 30-year-old Wixom social worker, a Southgate student, 19, an Ann Arbor student, 35, and a 37-year-old airline attendant from Texas.

State police said the names of the suspects were not being released.

"They approached an undercover officer and told him what they would like to do to him," Silva said.

The state police often post undercover officers at the rest stop, Silva said. "It depends on how many complaints we get," he said.

On the night of the arrests, Silva said, the parking lot lights were out and the men "were running rampant, for some reason."

The six men will be arraigned in 35th District Court June 20. If convicted for the misdemeanor, they face a maximum penalty of a $100 fine and/or 90 days in jail.

City man killed golfing

A City of Plymouth resident died last Friday evening after receiving severe injuries to the head from a falling tree limb at Fox Hills Country Club in Salem Township.

Paul J. Domen, 42, was struck by a tree limb that fell during a severe storm and died later at St. Joseph's Hospital said Rick Johnson, supervisor at Huron-Valley Ambulance. Johnson said they received the call at 7:30 p.m. on May 31.

Domen had been on the golf course with his wife when the storm struck.

Funeral services were held June 4 at Zion Missionary Church with the Rev. John D. Motter officiating. Burial was in Hillside Cemetery.

Mr. Domen was a master plumber and pipe fitter for Local 190. He was a member of the Romulus VFW Post serving in the 82nd Airborne of the U.S. Army during Vietnam.

Survivors include: wife Barbara L.; daughter Michelle L. Johnson, of LaPort, IN; mother and father, Olive and Robert Howard, of Belleville; brothers David, of Newnan, GA, Fred, of Covina, CA, Bruce, of Belleville, and Daniel, of Rochester Hills; sisters Martha Hendricks, of Denver, CO, Marilyn Montgomery and Birdie Samonek, both of Belleville.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Disabled American Veterans Association.

Local arrangements were made by David C. Brown Funeral Home in Belleville.

Porterhouse goes national 'Word of Mouth' tantalizing tongues

BY KEN VOYLES

The word is out on "Word of Mouth," an all-natural spaghetti sauce created by Jack Trabue, owner of Porterhouse Meats in the City of Plymouth.

"Enjoy the flavor, spread the word," reads the label to the homey concoction now on the verge of making its national debut.

Conceived nearly three years ago "Word of Mouth," has gotten increased notice among food lovers in metro Detroit by just that - word of mouth.

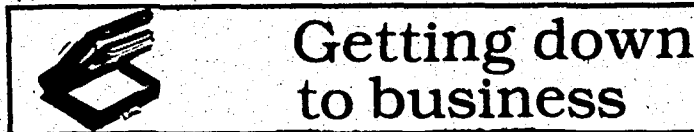

"It caught on and people liked it," said Trabue. "You can't even put a handle on it, it's going so fast."

"Creating a sauce is a mentality, a process to achieve a goal," he continued. "To be good at it you have to keep working at it. We've tried to be very objective about it, not loving our own product, but seeing what others think."

"We knew it was good because of the response around here, but we didn't know how it would stack up," added the 35-year-old. "It's really not meant to compete with those national sauces."

"It fills a nice niche."

Trabue's sauce has also gained the interest of a national distributor who wants to spread the word even further about product by releasing it throughout the country.

Besides the sauce, the Jack and Kristin Trabue also make a butcher's blend "power shake" seasoning, "Jack's Smokey Barbeque Sauce," and more than 13 different kinds of sausage, including cajun style.

The idea for a spaghetti sauce took hold more than three years ago, said Trabue, who bought the Porterhouse after working there for several years.

Today the Trabues bottle and sell more than 50 cases of sauce each week, or about 600 quarts. In fact it is selling so well that the outfit can barely keep up with demand.

"It's easy to sell what tastes good," said Kristin Trabue, 31. "It's a sweet, spicy, robust sauce with a homemade taste."

Trabue, a 1974 graduate of Salem (Kristin is a 1977 Salem graduate), has a master's degree from Eastern Michigan in fine arts and a bachelor's degree in arts. For him creating a sauce is much like creating a work of art, but a practical art, one that everyone can enjoy.

"I love it," he said. "I use to make large batches of the stuff and freeze for meals. "It helped make things easier for us when Kristin was pregnant."

Eight months ago the Trabues took the sauce on the road. It is now found in some 40 stores in southeast Michigan. Two more sauces are currently in development to help add variety for a potential national line of "Word of Mouth."

Trabue said he originally wasn't that interested in making sauces, but he dabbled with his own and other sauces, doctoring them to his own taste and eventually finding a mix that he liked.

"I think its good," he said. "You've got to make something like this the way you like it. We make it very American and very thick. We didn't try and make an Italian sauce."

Kristin Trabue, who has a speech pathology degree from Michigan State, is less interested in making the sauce - she markets it throughout the state, taking it around to different stores.

"I've dabbled in sales before," she said. "This is a lot more fun. It's easy to sell what tastes good."

Her husband added, "It's really taken off in the last eight months. We've got the sauce established, now we're working on a black cajun spice."

The name "Word of Mouth" was suggested by Kristin's father, said Trabue, as the product was about to be bottled for the first time.

"We had everything ready to go, the labels were printed and our printer was waiting," he said. "We needed a name and "Word of Mouth" seemed to symbolize the sauce."

Porterhouse is a fully stocked meat store. Besides their own products, the Trabues also sell a variety of other locally produced foods.

About three years ago Trabue developed his first sausage. Now he makes some 13 varieties, including the special cajun style.

"People looking for cajun flavor think it's phenomenal," he said. "We started a lot of these products at the same time, but we keep trying to add something new all the time."

Heading for final 4

Cereal, Rodgers ignite Rocks' fire

BY RITA DERBIN

The Salem baseball team isn't superstitious or anything, but before each baseball game they've been eating Kellogg's products. This ritual seemed to have worked because the Rocks are heading to Battle Creek this weekend for the Class A state final four.

Leading the way for the Rocks will be senior righthander Scott Rodgers (11-2). He will be called upon to pitch against Grosse Pointe North in the semi-finals on Friday.

The 18-year-old Canton resident, who has good command of a mid-80s fastball and curveball, is trying to remain cool about this weekend but a chance at a state title is something he's dreamed about for a long time.

"I really thought we could make it past the regionals if we played up to our ability," said Rodgers, who put a message to three teammates in the senior section of the high school yearbook six months ago saying that they'd be going to Battle Creek. "I knew then we were good enough."

Competition is what drives Rodgers, who also played varsity football for two years. He also snow skis and water skis but baseball is his first love.

"I love to win — whether it's a strike out or home run or playing football Friday night," he said. "I try harder in the big games — when it comes down to this late in the season I try that much harder."

"What I love about baseball is how quickly everything can change," he said. "There's always the capability to be hero but it's still a team sport — there's nine guys out there."

That drive to be a winner has helped make him one of the best pitchers in the state, according to Salem coach John Gravin, who says the whole team knows they can win when Rodgers is on the mound.

"We're all confident when he's out there — he's such a competitor, he'll dig deep to win."

Rodgers, who plays rightfield when he's not pitching, has been on a roll in state tournament action. In probably his favorite game this year, he struck out 15 and hit a home run in a 6-0 win over Ypsilanti in the pre-districts. He then pitched one-hitters against Westland John Glenn in the districts and Wyandotte Roosevelt in the regionals. In both games he also delivered key hits.

For Rodgers, and most of his teammates on the veteran Salem team, high school will end this weekend. Rodgers will likely go on to pitch in college but not before he goes out and gives it his all.

"During practices we make up scenarios like it's the bottom of the seventh in the state finals, one out and we're down by one and everyone wants to be the hero," Rodgers said. "We've done well but haven't yet played a perfect game, if we play perfect games this weekend we can win."

"I know it's almost time to move on," he added. "But I've had so much fun this year, I don't want to see it end — this has been the best team I've ever been on."

Game directions

To get to Battle Creek Bailey Park for Friday afternoon's game between Salem and Grosse Pointe North, take I-94 to Exit 98 downtown Battle Creek. Go north on Division Street, which turns into Capital Avenue. Veer to the right on Capital Avenue and go two miles. The Bailey Park complex is located on the right. Salem will play at Nichols Field at 1 p.m. Friday and the championship game is Saturday at 1 p.m. The cost of admission is $4 each day and parking is free.

First time since 1983 Rocks advance to state's final 4

BY RITA DERBIN

Teamwork paid off as the Salem baseball team earned a long-awaited trip to the state final four after defeating Detroit Catholic Central, 5-3, in the regionals on Saturday afternoon.

"This has got to be the greatest day in my coaching career," said Salem baseball coach John Gravlin after the Rocks won their Class A regional to advance to the state's final four for the first time since 1983.

"This team has been great - they believed from the word go this is where they were going to be," said Gravlin.

The Rocks will travel to Bailey Park in Battle Creek for the state semi-finals against Grosse Pointe North at 1 p.m. Friday.

"We finally got (John) Gravlin a regional win - that's what we've been working for," said senior Scott Rodgers, who pitches and plays rightfield for the Rocks, after Saturday's doubleheader action.

The regional finals winning pitcher, senior Eric Nielson added, "We've been playing as a team and we're all focused on playing baseball. Teamwork has been the key."

Against Catholic Central, Salem was up 3-1 after four innings before the Shamrocks took advantage of Rock miscues on defense to tie the game in the fifth inning and chase starter Jeff Belisle.

With two on and one out, Nielson (1-0) came in to relieve and promptly struck out the first batter he faced and got the second batter to ground out to end the inning.

The righthander, who has five pitches, including a tremendous breaking pitch nicknamed the "Beast," then stopped the Shamrocks on one hit while striking out three in the next two innings.

"I was expecting to be put in," said Nielson, who played third base early in the game and singled in the first Salem run of the game. "All year long I've been used in late innings because I throw strikes."

In the top of the sixth, the Rocks came back to score the go ahead run when Tom Davey singled, stole second base, and scored on an RBI single by Kevin Craggs. Rodgers then drove in an insurance run in the seventh inning on a single that scored Brett Nicholson.

Earlier in the day Rodgers (11-2) threw his second consecutive one-hitter against Wyandotte Roosevelt in the regional semi-finals for a 4-0 victory. The righthander also had a double and two RBI to help the Rocks at the plate.

"It feels great to be still playing baseball another week," said Rodgers. "This year has just been a lot of fun. We've been talking about going to Battle Creek all year ... this is just great."

Gravlin, who coached the Rocks to district titles four of the last five years but could not win the regionals, praised Rodgers' effort in both games.

"He was just exhausted at the end of the first game but he reached back and got us the win," Gravlin said. "He's so competitive - he has to be one of the best pitchers in the state."

"I like our chances in Battle Creek because Scott Rodgers will be my pitcher - the team knows that every time he goes out there we can win."

Gravlin's philosophy has always been that you win with seniors, and he has a senior team with a good attitude which will be a key this weekend.

"To win in Battle Creek this team will have to be, feel and play with confidence," Gravlin said. "I know they're a good team and we've been playing to win but we have to continue to be aggressive and hit the ball."

In Grosse Pointe North (19-14), Salem will be playing an unknown team but Gravlin is sure the Rocks' foe will come well coached and armed with good pitching.

"To get this far you need good pitching - and they've come from behind to win some big games," Gravlin said. "I do know that their coach, Frank Sombrero, is a hall of fame coach and the team will be well coached and ready to play."

Gravlin and the Rocks will once again rely on Rodgers to get the team to the state finals.

"Everyone will be throwing their best on Friday and he's ours," Gravlin said. "As a team we have to tighten up on defense and our pitchers have to keep us in the game so our offense can work."

Salem's Tom Davey slides into home plate to score the game winner in the Rocks' 5-3 victory over Detroit Catholic Central in regional action Saturday. Above, Scott Rodgers unleashes a pitch against Wyandotte Roosevelt in the regional opener, a 4-0 victory. (Crier photos by Eric Lukasik)

Millage passes -- candidates seek input, support

bond issue and the eventual search for a new superintendent in Plymouth-Canton when John M. Hoben retires.

"I'm extremely pleased," he added. "One doesn't go into this unless one has a conviction for it. I think it should also be said that the two challengers did extremely well."

Thomas said, "I'm gratified by the response of the community, for the millage and myself.

"I'm dedicated to this community and the kids in this community, whether they are from Canton or Plymouth," he continued. "I want that known to the people in Canton.

"I've had a great year on this board and I look forward to four more," he said. "I want to see us continue to reach out by going to some of the other schools for meetings. I want to see us continue generating ideas and I want to see us continue seeking input.

"We need now to focus on some long range planning, as much as Lansing will let us," he added. "I'm really pleased with the outpouring of support."

"I want to congratulate the winners, Dean and Roland. I feel I ran a good campaign, a professional campaign and I will be back next year," said Lynch. "I want to thank everyone for their support. I'm proud of our campaign and the numbers we received."

"I didn't think I'd win," said a disappointed Cleary. "I'm just relieved that it's over. I don't think I'll run again."

Cleary said she hoped residents were made more aware of what is going on in the Plymouth-Canton school district because of her campaign.

"I hope now people will take a closer look at their school district," she said.

Hoben said the millage renewal passed because the community recognized "the educational excellence which is made possible through this millage.

"We are appreciative of the continuing support of the voters of this community," Hoben said. "Support for good education is only one of many benefits of living in Plymouth-Canton, but it is one which is critical to the education of our young people and the preservation of our property values."

Red Cross in Canton extends hours

The Southeastern Michigan Chapter of the American Red Cross is expanding hours at the Canton blood donor center.

The new center, which opened in March, will take blood donor appointments three times a week starting July 10. Originally the site was only open once a week for donations.

The center, located at 6700 Canton Center Rd. in the Westgate Plaza, will be open as follows: Mondays, 2-8 p.m.; Wednesdays, 2-8 p.m.; and Fridays, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Hours at the center were expanded because the center had successfully brought in blood donors, said American Red Cross officials.

To make an appointment to visit the blood donation center call 494-2800 or 1-800-582-4383.
