

Salem soccer could clinch state title at home

Canton softball, Salem baseball also still alive

Saturday will be a big day for local sports as three high school teams move closer to the prize in end-of-season competition.

The Salem girls soccer team has a rare opportunity ahead to capture another state title Saturday, but this time they will play for the state championship at home.

The Rocks play tonight at Jackson high school against the 21-1 team from Brighton high. If the Rocks come through with a win, it's back to their home field to face the winner of a game between Birmingham Seaholm and Rochester on Saturday.

The Canton Softball team will meet Belleville in the first round of softball regional competition on Saturday. The Chiefs knocked off Churchill and Franklin over the weekend to clinch their first district title since 1992.

Salem's baseball team will be moving on to regional play at Novi on Saturday. The Rocks won the District Championship defeating Franklin and Churchill, and move one step closer to a state title.

School elections expect heavy turnout

Absentee vote return for June 12 election already tops 1,000

Voters will go to the polls Monday, June 12, to decide three issues for the Plymouth-Canton Schools.

• First is the election of two new school board trustees to fill the seats left open by departing Trustees Sue Feiten and Roland Thomas.

The seats are being sought by eight candidates: Carrie F. Blamer, Daniel F. Dunnigan, Michael J. Maloney, David A.

McCarthy, Jeffrey M. Phillips, Brenda A. Plecha, Paul T. Schrauben and Gerald Trumpka. Two other names will appear on the ballot — Anne Cox and Sheryl Tripp Khoury — said they have withdrawn from the race.

• Voters will be asked to decide the fate of two millage questions. First is a renewal of 18 non-homestead (commercial and industrial) mills. Second is a request for 2.3 enhancement mills to be used for instructional tools, textbooks and teacher training.

• Voters will also make a decision about the Schoolcraft College board of trustees. Mary Breen, Brian D. Broderick, Harry G. Greenleaf and Steve Ragan are all running for three six year seats. Carol M. Strom is running unopposed for one two year seat.

Please see a story on the candidates on pg. 3 and endorsements on all three issues in The Crier's opinion pages.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday. As of presstime, over 1,000 absentee ballots had been sent to the P-C Board offices. Historically, the absentee rate is one of the three highest in P-C Schools' election history.

Ameritech enters local cable television fray

BY ROB KIRKBRIDE

Residents in Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton will soon have a choice of cable service providers.

Negotiations are underway between the Plymouth-Plymouth Township-Canton cable consortium and Ameritech.

"Ameritech has already approached us about a conventional cable system," said Plymouth City Manager Steve Walters. "They are well along the road negotiating with the (cable consortium) committee."

Walters said Ameritech is taking a different approach. "Ameritech is looking at the commercial and industrial uses with the system along with the regular system," he said.

Video conferencing and other interactive cable uses would be offered, according to Dave Onak, spokesperson for Ameritech.

"This is a very highly competitive marketplace," he said.

"We are not saying exactly the programming we will offer, but it will be an exciting package of services, backed with the reliability of our phone network and the customer service consumers are already used to."

Onak said cable customers can expect service in some area communities within the next year — and more than 6 million customers in Ameritech's five state service area by 2001. "It's just a matter of working through the franchise agreements with the individual communities," he said.

"With the potential for competition," said Mayor Doug Miller, "the winners are the consumers. It will also clear up service problems. If the quality isn't there, you change service."

"This is positive for the cable customers in Plymouth."

Cutlers honored for 27 years of service to 35th District Court

BY PETER BRODERICK

In the late 1960s, the 35th District Court started a volunteer program for probation officers in Plymouth Canton and Northville to have a well-staffed probation department while swaying the cost of numerous salaries.

Answering the call were Jim and Mary Louise Cutler, who served the court on a voluntary basis for 27 years. The husband and wife team was honored recently for their service at the 35th District Courthouse over the past three decades.

"It's been really rewarding," said Mary Louise. "The thing I like best is that you see lives being changed." She said that the probation department handles people 17 years old and up.

The Cutlers began their service shortly after Judge Dunbar Davis began the volunteer program in 1968. They received no training, but served as counselors for the courts for several years. The Cutler's service began to dwindle in the 70s, until Sue Ewing came in as the new probation director.

Ewing asked the Cutlers to come back to the court and continue their service, and after several training sessions they have done everything they could for the court since then.

School candidates run on varied experiences

BY ALEX LUNDBERG

The race is on for two open board seats on the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

Running for the seats on the June 12 ballot are Carrie F. Blamer, Daniel F. Dunnigan, Michael J. Maloney, David A. McCarthy, Jeffry M. Phillips, Brenda A. Plecha, Paul T. Schrauben, and Gerald Trumpka.

Two other candidates, Sheryl T. Khoury and Anne Cox, said they dropped out of the race but their names will appear on the ballot.

Blamer is a former realtor and worked on the superintendent criteria committee.

Dunnigan is a financial analyst for the Ford Motor Co. Maloney is a reliability engineer for Ford and is involved with the PCJBA, McCarthy is a retired firefighter who went on to teach fire administration at Macomb Community College. Phillips is an engineer for Electronic Data Systems and is involved with the PCJBA. Plecha is an education manager for Family Services for Detroit and Wayne County. Paul Schrauben is a stay-at-home father who used to be employed by the U.S. Department of Treasury Office of Thrift Supervision. Trumpka is a personnel manager at Midas and a member of the Plymouth Rotary Club.

All of the candidates support both the 18 non-homestead renewal and the 2.3 mill enhancement millage. All eight have ideas of what should happen if those issues fail.

Maloney — "If the enhancement does not pass there would be a serious effect on operations in the district," Maloney said. "We would have to find out what the community thinks is important."

Dunnigan — "The key issue is long-range planning. In two years the millage will run out, the district should lobby Lansing for adequate funding of instruction and material."

Schrauben — "We need to make sure the important areas are addressed, the business is education."

Phillips — "We would have to look at the details, go over the budget line by line."

Blamer — "I would want the three T's (textbooks, teacher training and tools) put into the budget and not get cut."

Trumpka — "If it doesn't pass, we need to find things to cut. There have to be places to cut."

McCarthy — "If it doesn't pass, we need to find out what the community thinks is important and ask for their support for adequacy of instructional materials."

Plecha — "If not, I don't know, there will be some hard choices to be made. The board has a lot of information."

All of the candidates said that the board did not do a good job of selling and explaining the enhancement and renewal at first but is now on the right track.

All of the candidates said that the board is doing a better job of handling communications with the community it serves. But there are still problems

Maloney — "If the people being served think there is a problem, there is one. More openness at meetings gives people more of a feeling that they're involved."

Dunnigan — "We need to insure a forum where ideas are respectfully considered. Efforts have been made to address that."

Schrauben — "It has improved, there were a lot of years of public distrust. It's getting better, (Supt.) Little has an open door policy."

Phillips — "This year has been tremendously better than in prior years. I'd like to see more less-formal workshops where people can bounce ideas off each other."

Blamer — "We have to ask questions and comprehend what is being said. If there is an error, we need to be able to ask to have it checked out and get feedback."

Trumpka — "The dialogue has to be kept up. There are the same 20 faces at all of the meetings, communication has to be kept up with those who are not at meetings regularly. The board is getting better."

Plane skids off Mettetal runway

Student pilot, instructor ditch landing on airport lawn

BY ALEX LUNDBERG

A plane coming in for a landing at Canton-Plymouth Mettetal Airport Monday afternoon missed the runway and skidded into the grass.

At 4:25 p.m., a two-engine Piper Aztec landed in the grass at Mettetal Airport, damaging the plane's nosegear and propellers.

According to Canton Police Officer Lew Stevens, the pilot of the plane was a student.

dent.

"He was coming in for a landing and the plane yawed (like fish-tailing a car)," Stevens said. "The pilot overcompensated and went into the grass on the east side of the airport."

Stevens said the nosegear collapsed in the grass, causing the plane to go nose down, damaging the propeller. Neither the pilot, Timothy Gleason, nor the instructor co-pilot, Robert Folks, was injured in the accident.

Doug Kitze, Mettetal Fixed Base Operator and Owner of Kitze Aviation, refused to comment on the accident.

Ofc. Stevens said that the Federal Aviation Administration has been contacted and they will be investigating the cause of the accident.

The Canton-Plymouth Mettetal Airport Advisory Board will discuss the incident at their meeting tomorrow.

Local senior citizens target of scam

BY ALEX LUNDBERG

Like a bad smell rising from an open waste dump, people attempting to take advantage of the elderly have descended on The Plymouth-Canton Community.

According to Phyllis Hess of the Plymouth Community Council on Aging, some seniors in the area have received some suspicious calls.

"We have had two calls reported by seniors from some group calling itself the Western Wayne County Seniors and the Area Council on Aging," Hess said. "There are no such groups."

Hess said the callers wanted to send representatives out to their houses to drop off literature and talk about senior issues. She warned that people should be suspicious of callers wanting to come into their homes.

Plymouth Police Chief Bob Scoggins seconded that warning.

"If someone wants to come out to your house that should raise a red flag," Scoggins said. "We haven't had any complaints about this recently but there were some two or three years ago posing as representatives of police and fire agencies."

Scoggins suggested that if some gets a call like this they should start asking questions.

"You should question these people thoroughly and ask for proof that they are who they say they are, you can also call the Better Business Bureau," Scoggins said. "You should be very suspicious."

Hess said that the Plymouth Community Council on Aging has complete lists of helpful agencies for seniors. She also said that the Senior Alliance can help as well.

Confusion, anger over Ann Arbor Trail island could cause delays

BY ROB KIRKBRIDE

A legal battle, threatening to delay Plymouth Streetscape construction for more than a month, seems to have been defused before making it to the courtroom.

Bill Beitner, owner of Beitner Jewelry, feels the layout of the streetscape project along Ann Arbor Trail in front of his business is dangerous to pedestrians and would hurt business — and he's prepared to go to court to stop construction.

Plymouth Downtown Development Authority Director Steve Guile said they are willing to work with Beitner to address his concerns over the pedestrian island slated for construction in the center of Ann Arbor Trail.

"This is a safety issue," said Beitner. "It's impossible to have the pedestrian island and parking both."

"I do not want one of my customers maimed or killed coming to see me — but I don't want parking eliminated."

Beitner said Guile was not receptive to his concerns. "I went to the manager of the DDA," said Beitner. "He said, 'If you don't like it, do something about it' so that's what I've done."

Guile said changes to the pedestrian island are being proposed. "The compromise I came up with negates any of Mr. Beitner's concerns," he said. "We would reduce the island 66 feet and would have to remove some streetlights and some of the aesthetics of the island."

Beitner said he's not the only one concerned about the safety of the streetscape design. "All the people who have been through here don't like the whole concept of revamping the looks of Plymouth," he said. "Plymouth is unique. Why would we want it to look like other cities?"

Steve Mansfield, co-owner of Heide's Flowers & Gifts, said that although he has not seen the updated plan for the pedestrian island, Ann Arbor Trail does not lend itself to the proposed changes.

"If they want to turn us into a mall without customers," he said, "that's their prerogative. We could all move to Ann Arbor Road and Sheldon if they want to drive us out of town."

Annette Horn, owner of Native West, said she has attended every meeting held regarding the streetscape project, but did not know there were plans to put the island on Ann Arbor Trail.

"I think the island on Main Street will be attractive," she said, "but an island on Ann Arbor Trail — I don't think it's necessary. I would be against it."

Guile said the current Ann Arbor Trail layout is dangerous and the streetscape will improve safety.

"Most merchants have seen pedestrians having a hard time getting across the street," he said. "We have had no other complaints about the island. Our feeling is that a pedestrian island is necessary."

Beitner said he will fight — in court if necessary — to keep the streetscape safe and convenient to his customers. "It's never too late (to stop) until the concrete is poured."

Beitner has started a list of signatures at his store of those who question the safety and need of the streetscape project.

Guile said the changes to the project should not delay construction.

CAP focuses on reducing student-teacher ratio

BY ALEX LUNDBERG

Trying to give kids a better education by providing more room to breathe in the classroom is the goal of the Class size Action Partnership (CAP).

According to CAP Co-Chair Judy Mardigian, the partnership got its start over the phone.

"We formed two years ago after I had a telephone conversation with Sue Feiten during the 1993 millage campaign," Mardigian said. "We both wanted to focus on class size. We formed the CAP core group and began to meet monthly."

Mardigian said that, compared to other districts, the Plymouth-Canton Schools are "lean and mean." While the spending levels are low, Mardigian said that class size is a problem.

"We started to identify what we called the 'hot spots', first and second grade classes that have 30 or more kids in them. Many classes last year had more than 35 kids in them," Mardigian said. "The opening of Tonda and Bentley Elementaries helped with the space problem."

Mardigian said through long-range planning and spending time with the board — focusing on the budget and educating the board on the importance of reducing class sizes — has paid off.

According to Judy Gordon, CAP knows the situation the district is in and is aware of what the board is trying to do.

"CAP is trying to be both practical and optimistic," Gordon said. "We know that there are a lot of needs for the pile of money. We're very proud of what the P-C Community Schools have done."

Gordon said the P-C Schools are poised for 21st century education and are trying to send students to the Centennial Education Park who are ready for the curriculum and have a foundation of learning that will let them excel.

"In 1993-94 we added six teachers, in 94-95 we added 12.5 teachers," Gordon said. "That may not seem like much but since kids were pulled from existing classes, the introduction of 1 teacher means that 125 to 150 students are affected."

Don Kronig, a member of CAP, said that his experience at his former home did not prepare him for class sizes in Plymouth-Canton.

"We used to live in Colorado, where the state mandate is that there are no more than 23 students per class," Kronig said. "When we got here we had a real shock."

Kronig said that CAP has identified three challenges. First: Get the administration to view solving the class-size problem as a key objective. Second: Have a strategy for managing class size (how to fund solutions, establishing a timetable and identifying the number of kids in the classes). Third: Build on the present momentum.

"When the board and administration sees this," Kronig said, "then we can move forward. I challenge the (trustee) candidates to embrace reducing class size as a goal and have a plan to solve the problem."

Canton false alarm calls prompt review of ordinance

BY ALEX LUNDBERG

At a serious cost to taxpayers in Canton, the amount of false alarms in the township is starting to be a problem.

According to Canton Community Relations Officer Lew Stevens, the number of false alarms is an expensive problem.

"Last month we had 206 false alarms," Stevens said. "That isn't much more than it was the month previous but as Canton grows there will be more."

The problem is getting to be a costly one. Ofc. Stevens said when an alarm goes off, at least two officers are dispatched to the scene. At an average of 20 minutes per alarm call a lot of manhours are wasted when they go off for no good reason.

"On a normal call, we send two officers, we always send backup," Stevens said. "But when we get an armed robbery alarm we send several officers."

Stevens said most of the time these false alarms are caused by error.

"Some go off in storms and there's nothing that can be done about that, but mostly it's a lot of employee error," Stevens said.

"Someone isn't trained in how to use the system or someone trips the alarm in a house and doesn't know that they've done it."

Stevens said an ordinance against false alarms (providing a penalty of $10 for two false alarms in a four month period — going up $25 for each subsequent false alarm) has not been strenuously enforced but is being considered for review by the director of public safety.

Lawn mower larceny lamented by local business

BY PETER BRODERICK

A recent rash of thefts at a local business has stirred up anger in its owner.

"It gets sickening after a while," said Don Darling, half owner of Don's Small Engine Repair on Mill Street in Plymouth. "We've had a lot of stuff stolen in the past year."

Darling said that over the past twelve months, the store has lost lawn mowers, a chainsaw, several odds and ends, a truck, and a license plate off of the truck's replacement.

The truck was found, but had already been stripped and was a total loss. "The license plate was found on another car somewhere down south," according to Darling.

The latest incident happened last week, when a lawn mower that was in for repairs disappeared. Darling said that the store has begun chaining the mowers together, as well as keeping lights on all night. "We've also got the people at the Union 76 station watching, because they're open 24 hours. But they can't see everything," said Darling.

Lieutenant Michael Gardner of the Plymouth police said that there is no major trend in thefts lately. "There's been no significant increase, but then not all crimes are reported." Gardner urges all residents to promptly report all crimes to the police department.

City ponders transportation options

BY ROB KIRKBRIDE

Senior citizen transportation in Plymouth will not be lost — even though the city opted out of the recent SMART vote in Wayne County.

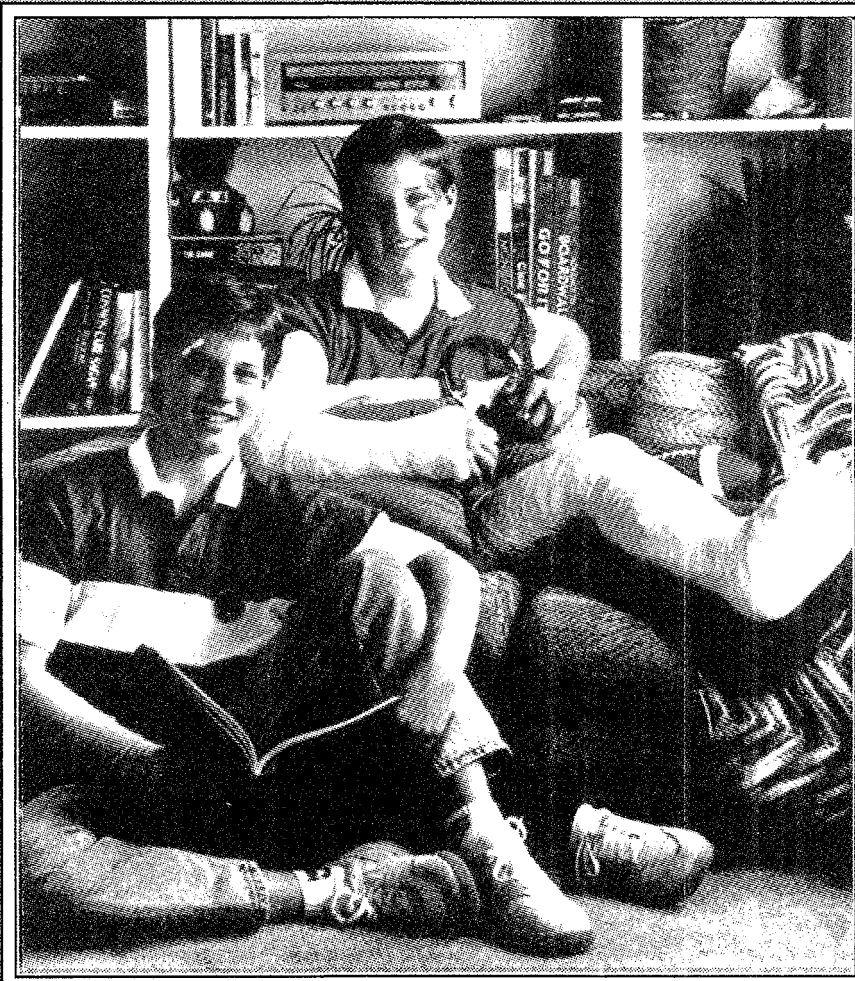

Plymouth City Commissioners must now come up with a public transportation system for the "special needs" riders who counted on the SMART service discontinued in the community.

"The municipal credits (for senior citizens) we've been getting will not be affected by the vote," said City Manager Steve Walters. "They are federal transportation dollars earmarked for the community."

Mayor Doug Miller said Plymouth will work with area communities to come up a plan for the SMART riders that are now stranded — but not until the dust settles from the upcoming SMART election in Oakland County.

"We'll wait and evaluate what the needs of the community really are," he said.

The funds generated from this campaign will be used towards operational expenses during the Symphony's 50th Anniversary Season. Ticket sales are not covering all of their expenses so they are relying more on private funds. To make a donation or for more information, call the Plymouth Symphony office at 451-2112.

From the beginning

Artist Heidi Finley of Canton has gone past her starving phase to spread her work all over the state and country

BY BRIAN CORBETT

"Born with a silver spoon in his mouth" or "Born with a stratocaster in his hands" are meant to imply lifestyles and characteristics that seem almost predetermined at birth. Well, Canton resident Heidi Marie Finley may have invented a new one. "Ever since I was old enough to hold a pencil," she said, "I've been drawing."

Finley is a promising young artist who has painted over 1,000 pieces of work in her life. Her work has been displayed at U-M Hospital, the Ann Arbor public library and, currently, some of her creations are being showcased at Penn State University. It is just the start of a career that has been developing for decades. "I knew so early," Finley said about her interest in art, "that I didn't even know. It was so early, my parents knew, nothing else was ever discussed." She painted in her free time, and when she was busy, during her childhood. But she was hooked for good when she got to high school, and started using water colors in art class. "This is like, all did in high school," Finley said. "I wasn't the type of kid that played basketball. I was always in the art room."

Her devotion carried on to EMU, where she received a fine arts degree. Since then, it has been a period of creation and experimentation. Four years ago, Finley switched to pastels "because it was tough," and continued to paint her one and only subject matter: wildlife. "I've always been drawn to animals," she said. "It has always come from the heart. I have such a love for animals and wildlife. I notice things in nature, I like to portray things in nature." In the traditional story of a struggling artist, Finley has a part-time job that allows her to continue her work when she is not selling her paintings, but she hopes that changes in the near future. "They are all for sale," Finley said. "It's a wonderfully vicious circle. I paint them and sell them, and selling them motivates you to do more." If she was not busy enough, Finley has now expanded beyond painting by adding Feathers and Fur, a small note card company, to her enterprise.

"I'm going to keep trying to get work out there, and hope people like it," Finley said. A Feathers and Fur catalog, along with a mailer that lists where Finley's work will appear, can be obtained by writing P.O. Box 15535, Ann Arbor, 48104. Also, Michigan Made in downtown Plymouth carries Finley's work regularly.

McDurmon winner of the Jaycees Otto award

BY BRIAN CORBETT

Don McDurmon does not do it for the recognition, but more publicity means more volunteers for the Plymouth Jaycees. That recognition came when the Plymouth Jaycees won the Otto Award as the number one chapter in Michigan at a recent statewide meeting. There are approximately 8,000 Jaycees organizations in the state. "It's been a fun year," McDurmon said. "We've accomplished things we didn't think we could accomplish." Other announcements included the election of McDurmon to management vice president, a state Jaycee representative post.

The Otto Award criteria includes an evaluation of all areas of the Jaycees, such as individual development and community programs. "It's an overall accomplishment for us, basically," McDurmon said. McDurmon surmised that it had been twenty years since the Plymouth Jaycees had won the award. Some of the more prominent projects that contributed to the Plymouth Jaycees winning the Otto Award included the completion of Jaycee Park and the scholarship program. "I think Jaycee Park is one of the major accomplishments," McDurmon said. "We're also pretty proud of our scholarship programs."

With thousands of similar Jaycee organizations, McDurmon believes it was an old but successful concept that made the Plymouth chapter stand out. "I think the thing I see is the team concept," he said. "Everyone was working, Everyone was responsible for things. It was a lot of hard work, a lot of new members." Even after being commended with a very high honor, McDurmon, who is a full-time firefighter, refuses to rest. He hopes to increase public awareness about the Jaycees. "I think the biggest thing we need to do is get the word out to the community on what we're doing. A lot of times you do stuff, and it's overlooked," McDurmon said. Local residents will have several opportunities in the coming months to participate. The Jaycees take part in the Fourth of July Parade, fireworks and they plan on building a pavilion in Jaycee Park. "We always need help financially for the parade and the fireworks," said McDurmon. But before picking up the phone and calling the 24-hour hotline number (453-8407), be aware that all Jaycee volunteers are between the ages of 21 and 40. "The logic behind that is," said McDurmon, "if you know you're going to be out in a year, you have to teach what you know so that it carries on." McDurmon said the best thing about being a Jaycee is meeting people from all over the state and country. "It's a wonderful way to meet people, to network ourself — to further your goals," he said. McDurmon and current Plymouth Jaycee president, Kris Rowe, will be making more friends when they travel to St. Louis on June 18 to attend a national award ceremony. Rowe is up for the Culp Award, which names the top 60 chapter presidents, and McDurmon in nominated for his role as district director.

School candidates run on varied experiences

McCarthy — "I am encouraged by the changes, in the past, people were tolerated but not listened to."

Plecha — "There has to be a balance between business and information, there's more now than there was in the past. Maybe a more relaxed atmosphere would be better."

All of the candidates had good things to say about Supt. Charles Little's first year in the district's top post.

Maloney — "He's energetic, he's well-connected to the people in the district. He's done more than prior superintendents have in the last 35 years. The selection committee did a good job."

Dunnigan — "He has put forth a great effort to be visible in the district. He has realistic responses and is good at acknowledging people's concerns."

Schrauben — "He's going to be replacing some people who are going to be there for a long time. There's going to be some evolution in the district and he is the right person for the job."

Phillips — "He seems to be an excellent administrator. With a new team coming into the district is at a critical juncture."

Blamer — "He's not afraid of changes and he's everywhere. He's a listener and tries to answer people's questions."

Trumpka — "Supt. Little has done a magnificent job. If there's a problem he calls it a problem. I give him an A for the first year."

McCarthy — "He mentions things that have never been brought up — like the age-advanced kids in the middle schools. Supt. Little is open, very visible and promotes the district."

Plecha — "I'm impressed, he's honest, accessible and straightforward, he knows how to say 'I don't know.'"

The two seats have been left open by outgoing boardmembers Sue Feiten and Roland Thomas.

Feiten is leaving the board citing time and family constraints and Thomas, with 13 years of time on the school board, says he is ready to step down.

The board candidates will share the June 12 ballot with two millage issues; a renewal of 18 non-homestead mills and a 2.3 mill enhancement for instruction.

Egli retiring after 30 years service to Plymouth-Canton School District

BY ALEX LUNDBERG

After more than 30 years of service to the district and schools in general, P-C Schools Associate Director of Community Relations Dick Egli is moving on.

Egli, whose contract ends at the end of June, said that the decision to get out of the district was purely financial.

"The teachers got a severance package in the last negotiations and the administration got one too," Egli said. "Anyone could take it that had 30 years in."

Egli said he was not planning on retiring this year, but the buyout package and his tax situation made it hard to turn down.

"I talked to my CPA and he said that the offer was too good to turn down," Egli said. "I hadn't given it a lot of thought, I like my job."

Egli said the position, which will be posted on June 23, had to be rewritten because it had not been posted for 15 years and a lot had changed at the job since then.

"There's more to the job these days," Egli said. "For instance, when I signed on there was no need for computer use. Now, they can't hire someone who doesn't know how to use one."

Egli also said that there are more things that someone in his position has to do to serve the district well. His position includes getting the word out on awards to employees (VIPs and Extra-Milers), coordinating cable programming (scrolling messages and zap-shot camera stills), and the coordinating of focus groups to gauge public opinion.

"Focus groups are very much in vogue these days," Egli said. "It used to be a lot of that kind of polling was done over the phone."

Egli said that retirement did not mean that he would be moving to Florida and he would be looking for work.

"I'm not sure what I will be doing," Egli said. "I have options open to me, I just have to review what those options are."

Associate Superintendent for Business and Operations Ray Hoedel is also retiring this year.

Assistant treasurer hired

Canton has hired a new assistant treasurer to fill the position left vacant with the death of Sandy Setlock. The new assistant, Mary Siefert, began her duties with the treasurer's office last week.

The 38-year-old Royal Oak resident is the former treasurer for the Charter Township of Harrison, where she worked with Candice Miller, Michigan's Secretary of State. Siefert spent eight years as treasurer in Harrison.

Owner of antiques store hopes shoppers will flock to Old Village

BY BRIAN CORBETT

It makes sense for an antique store to be located in the Old Village of Plymouth. After all, most the buildings there are historic. But they are forgotten too. So when Gerry Sindici decided to open the Robin's Nest, 640 Starkweather, he did not surprise anyone when he disclosed his motivation. "I'm doing it to build up Old Village," Sindici said, "that's the only reason. It used to be a jewel."

Sindici is not degrading the area, he just wants to return it to its former glory. Sindici is moving from the Plymouth Antique Mall to the Old Village, where he will compete with Paul Kalik and others who started him in the business. Sindici hopes Robin's Nest, which is named after his wife, will initiate the process of rebirth to the area. "We have antiques and collectibles," Sindici said. "The big difference is the price. You're actually going to be able to buy them. They're priced to go out the door. Whatever your heart desires, we'll have it."

The collection at the Robin's Nest will perpetually change from Remington's and Tiffany's to furniture and western-style cap guns. There is an entire dining set and a washing machine from the turn of the century. Running along the longest wall is a magnificent showcase that Sindici said used to be in a candy store downriver. For every product, Sindici knows the background or has a story. "It really is an education," Sindici said about the antique business. "You talk about the old days. You get an education." Sindici hopes to combat the typical presentation of antiques, and increase conversation in his store by setting up a coffee and refreshment bar. "It's an opportunity to sit down, get a break; think about something," Sindici said. "You know, chew the fat." The air-conditioned store will serve coffee, espresso and soda.

Sindici said he got the idea for the alternative setting while in California. Ironically, antique traders on the West Coast raved about Plymouth. "People used to come from California to shop," he said, adding that Madonna used to visit the area regularly. "It's

Lunch...finally

After 29 years of providing popular pizza to the community, local restaurant is now open for lunch

BY BRIAN CORBETT

Ask and you shall receive. That is what the clientele of Gino's Pizza did, and now the pizzeria is open for lunch for the first time in 29 years.

"What it really is, is the public is asking me to do it," said Gino Martucci, owner of the business located at 40504 Ann Arbor Trail. "People came in for years and said, 'Geez, why aren't you open for lunch?' People are elated I'm open for lunch."

Gino's Pizza is one of the oldest restaurants in Plymouth with the same owner since it opened.

Martucci has achieved this longevity by not bowing to the coupons and "two-for-one" deals made famous by franchises.

"It isn't just the word quality, I buy the best. I used to buy from Porterhouse Meats before they went out of business," Martucci said.

"The success is just being honest with going to be a California-type antique store. If you want it and can't find it, we'll find it," Sindici said.

Madonna will not be visiting, but authors, sports figures and other celebrities will appear for signings. "It's going to be exciting," Sindici said. The Robin's Nest is now open to the general public, with the grand opening celebration set for Saturday. If a chance to see the most radical antique store is not enough to entice a visit, consider the Sindici is holding several drawing giveaways for cellular phones and concert tickets. "We're alive in Old Village," Sindici said. "Pay attention to us because we're here."

the people. It's not a secret, it's just good food." Every item that is served by the store must pass a strenuous test:

Martucci's taste buds. "Everything that comes into the store, I taste," he said. Gino's Pizza has numerous offerings on the dinner menu, full of authentic Italian food.

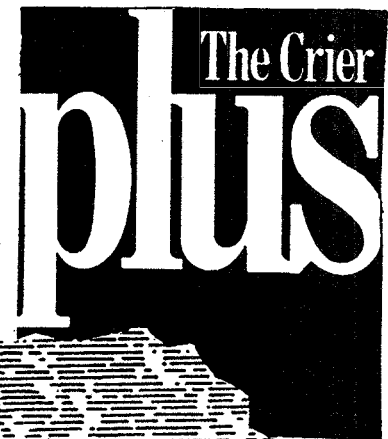

Martucci said, "You go to a franchise, and their Sicilian pizza is just a deep dish pizza." Martucci also serves up subs, burgers and a number of tantalizing side orders.

Martucci has downsized the menu for lunch because all the food is made to order.

"I don't keep it in a holding tank," he said. "There's nothing wrong with that... But sit down and wait 20 minutes, and I'll cook you fresh chicken." Various pizza dishes and broasted chicken have consistently been favorites with customers for decades.

"I haven't changed anything," Martucci said, "the pizza's the same. It's like, what do they say? If it ain't broke, don't fix it."

Homes must be prepared for sale

If property does not look good, it will be slow to sell

BY ALEX LUNDBERG

Part of selling a house is getting it ready for sale. From the biggest mansion to the smallest shack, if it doesn't look saleable — no one is going to want to buy it.

There are a lot of simple things that can be done to whip a house into selling shape. According to Broker Associate Noel Bittinger of RE/MAX Crossroads Realty, the first thing to look at is picking the place up.

Make your house a home.

Community Federal Credit Union Home Equity Loans.

"You should de-clutter the house, so that it looks bigger," Bittinger said. "The same goes for the closets. Get all of the clothes you don't wear out — send them to the Salvation Army — because people want a lot of room."

By the same token, Bittinger said that people like a bright house. When getting ready to show the house, have the curtains open and the lights on so that prospective buyers can see how much light the room has.

Bittinger also said that the walls should be considered before inviting people to see the house.

"If the walls need paint, they should get a coat, something neutral," Bittinger said. "The same goes for wallpaper. If it is too colorful, people will look at it and think that it will need to be replaced. If they are looking at another house for the same amount of money that doesn't need as much work they'll take the easier house."

Some of the things to think about when selling the house are the big ticket items. According to Anita Crumley, a realtor for Weir, Manuel, Snyder and Ranke, there are definite pre-sale hot spots in a house.

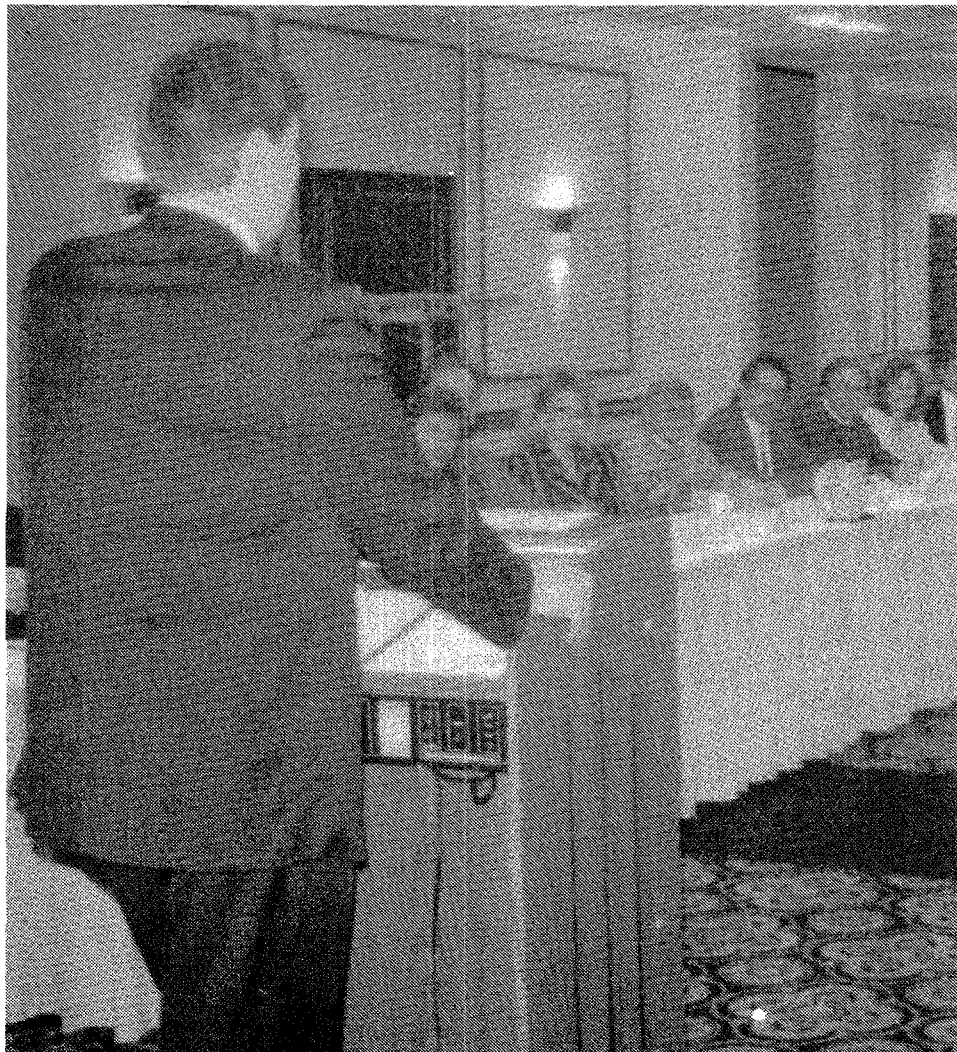

"The kitchen and the bathroom should be updated," Crumley said. "Windows are important too. If they're just old aluminum windows they can knock $3,000 to $5,000 of the price of the house. I think windows are the number one concern."

Crumley said a good rule of thumb is to take care of anything that looks like it might pose a problem to a buyer. Things like an old furnace, unkempt basement or a poor roof can cause problems when someone is looking at a house. She also said that the look of the outside of the house is very important.

"The better the house looks, the better it will sell," Crumley said. "Landscaping should be cared for, if it is overgrown — weed in and make it look neat. If you've got a deck, it should be powerwashed and water-treated."

Real estate company sells three offices, continues to grow

Training seminars, held locally, is just one of the reasons Remerica continues to be one of the fastest growing real estate companies in the state. (Crier photo by Mat Eaton)

Remerica Real Estate continues to grow.

The Plymouth-based company recently announced the sale of two of their branch offices to Remerica associates.

Remerica Main Street in Plymouth was purchased by long-time Remerica associates Gary Jones, Randy Onza and Dick Randazzo. The office will be managed by Randazzo.

Remerica Suburban in Livonia was purchased by Larry Martin and Gordon P. Libby.

Remerica Real Estate President Jim Courtney said the sale of the two offices is part of the company's continued expansion, adding that the two offices will remain part of the Remerica organization.

"When a new associate comes on board at Remerica Real Estate, we offer them more than just the opportunity to make a comfortable living," he said. "We offer them the chance to start a career — maybe even own their own office."

Jones said owning the office is the culmination of years of hard work.

"I've always wanted to be in business for myself," he said, "and Remerica gave me that chance."

Remerica Real Estate Hometown office on Five Mile Road in Plymouth was the first office to be sold by the company. It was purchased by John McArdle, Elizabeth Chuba and Tim Haggerty early in March.

Remerica is committed to growth, having opened 18 offices in the Detroit Metro area — including three offices in the last six months.

Interest rates

Today's low interest rates make home-hunting easier

BY PETER BRODERICK

Low interest rates are making it a perfect time to think about moving or buying a new home — especially in The Plymouth-Canton Community.

According to Wendy Hewitt of the Community Federal Credit Union mortgage department, all interest rates are down, and fixed rates are in single digits. "The housing market is slow, both construction and re-sale," she said. "It's a really good time to buy a home."

Hewitt said that a slow down in the housing market can cause a drop in interest rates, which fluctuate continually. The trend has been to lower rates due to a slow economy and slow real estate market, and as a result, it is a great time to buy.

Community Federal's current note interest rates are 7.25 per cent for a 15-year fixed loan and 7.5 per cent for a 30-year fixed loan.

Ken Currie of First of America said that the note rates for his bank are 6.75 per cent for a 15-year loan and 7.375 per cent for a 30-year loan. He said he sees stability in the future of rates, with "nothing too dramatic happening."

Continual growth in The Plymouth Canton Community means great opportunities for prospective homeowners. The interest rates that are low at the moment could increase as the market picks up momentum, but no one knows exactly what turns the market will take. "The only thing I can say with any certainty is that they (interest rates) will change," said Hewitt.

Wendy Hewitt, Community Federal Credit Union

MARTHA DAVIS- Hang in there, Martha. There is an answer somewhere and we are certainly going to help you find it.

My true love hath my heart, and I have his.

CHARLIE KETTERER- YOU REMEMBER HIM. He used to be Athletic Director at the old High School. Gave Randy Eaton a failing mark once and was called on the carpet, by Randy's Dad. "Why did you give my boy such a low mark," said he. "Because he earned it" said Charlie. Next card marking Randy earned a "B". So glad you came back to see us, Charlie. Come again.

ERNIE ARCHER- never have I seen such a beautiful Iris. The tulips weren't bad either. Thank you.

LEAH VARGA- Thank you for your picture. You really look like a butterfly on the outside and I think you have its spirit on the inside as well. Love you. Your Pretend Grandmother.

"BOOMER"- Welcome home! The Boak family is delighted that you had someone call, you being a dog and all and unable to dial. Heartfelt thanks to your benefactor and theirs. They were so afraid that something had happened to you. Don't scare people like that again, will you?

Salem baseball moves on to regionals at Novi

BY BRIAN CORBETT

Championship teams find ways to win, and the Salem baseball team did just that on Saturday defeating Franklin, 10-7, and Churchill, 3-0, to win the district championship and move on to regional competition at Novi this Saturday.

"I don't think we're over exuberant," said coach Dale Rumberger. "We're glad we won, it was something we wanted."

It was the Rocks seventh district title in nine years. The two games — one played right after the other — could not have been any more different. In the first game, Salem used their bats to overcome a disastrous defensive outing. The following game saw Salem's bats go silent, but was accompanied by a nearly flawless pitching and defensive performance.

Against the Franklin Patriots, staff ace Justin Marcis took the mound for Salem. He went all seven innings, allowed six hits and two earned runs while striking out four and walking two. "He really didn't have his good stuff," said Rumberger. "He was tired, but he was out there pitching the whole way."

The Rocks scored 10 runs on 11 hits, but made six errors. Kazuki Kurisu, Bill Styles, Dan Quaine and Marcis all faltered in the field. Rumberger was flabbergasted. "These guys are all consistent fielders," he said. "They all seemed to be routine plays, they just booted them. We were just lucky to win."

Kurisu redeemed himself at the plate by recording two hits and scoring two runs. Salem jumped out to a 2-0 lead, but let Franklin take the lead on a couple hits, an error and two sacrifice flies in the top of the fourth. "Literally, we gave them three runs," Rumberger said.

Right fielder Geoff Mackiewicz, tied it up by leading off the bottom of the fourth with his second dinger of the year and seventh of his Salem career. The shot easily cleared the 355 mark in the right center field alley. "He was really swinging the bat well today," Rumberger said.

The game remained tight until the bottom of the seventh when "we kind of put it away" Rumberger said, referring to the four hit, six run outburst.

After receiving a scolding from Rumberger concerning the defensive breakdown, the Rocks took the field to face Churchill. Pitcher Ryan Andrzejewski got the nod, and responded four hit shutout — Salem's first goose egg since April 28. Andrzejewski struck out six and walked two.

"He was pretty effective," Rumberger said. "He hadn't had a start in two weeks. His location was a bit off, but his velocity was good."

While Andrzejewski kept the Patriots off the base paths, Franklin pitcher Jayson Tomassi was throwing curve balls that seemed to defy logic.

"He threw a lot of curves, a lot of off-speed pitches," Rumberger said. "That stuff caused us a lot of trouble. We like people who try to throw it by us."

Salem's scored in the first inning when Kurisu, Styles, Lear all singled. Grimes doubled, bringing in Kurisu, but Styles was thrown out at the plate after getting a bad jump from second. Another run came in off Quaine's sacrifice fly to right. "Then we just stopped hitting," Rumberger said.

Salem broke the drought in seventh when Aaron Leanhert — running for Grimes — stole second and then scored on Kurt Craggs' single. The 3-0 Salem victory was completed in just 90 minutes. Now the season turns to regionals and a game with Ypsilanti, a team Salem split a doubleheader with this season. "They're a pretty good team, they're athletic," Rumberger said. "We didn't see they're best pitcher, and they didn't see ours."

The game will be played at Novi High School. "We're excited to play there, because it's a small field," Rumberger said. "If we can just hit line drives, they'll go out."

Chiefs finish 8th in state track meet

BY BRIAN CORBETT

By the end of a sports season, a team's coach should know the players' capabilities; be able to measure his team's chances; maybe predict the outcome. And no one is more in touch with his team than Canton boys track coach Bob Richardson. "We were happy. I figured we'd be seventh or eighth," Richardson said about his team's placement possibilities at the Western Lakes Activities Association track meet. "I thought we'd score in the thirties."

Where did the Chiefs finish? Eighth. What was Canton's score? 34 points.

The undisputed star at the meet for Canton was Ian Bedford. He finished second — the highest placement for the Chiefs — in the 3,200 distance event with a time of 9:48.8. Jon Gallinger almost finished second in the discus, but ended up 11 inches behind Nick Shaieb of Harrison with a 136'7" throw. In the shot put event Chris Benskey (45'8") placed eighth. Over at the high jump, Jim Chefan skied over the 5'11" setting and finished fourth. He was in the midst of the competition again, this time in the long jump, finishing eighth with a 18'9" leap. The Chiefs were quieted in the 110-meter hurdles, but returned to the score sheet in the 300 hurdles, thanks to efforts of eighth-place finisher Ben Nelson (43.6.) It was Nelson that sparked Canton's two top relay teams. In the 400, where the Chiefs finished sixth in 46.2, Nelson was joined by Rob Theakston, Dave Koshizawa and Bill Iler. For the 800, the line up stayed the same, except that Theakston was replaced by Chefan, and Canton recorded a seventh-place time of 1:35.6. Nelson and Iler helped wrap up the day on a positive note, when they combined with Adam Massey and Jon Page in 1,600 relay to finish eighth in 3:44.8.

•State finals meet: Ian Bedford ran 10:17 in the 3,200 run. "He was a little disappointed," said Richardson. "It wasn't as good as we hoped." The meet was run in temperamental weather, which may have effected Bedford's running.

Only two more games

Salem girls soccer team two steps from another state championship

"Two more to go," said Salem girls soccer coach Ken Johnson after the Rocks had defeated Churchill 3-1 on Friday for the regional championship.

The victory gave Salem the right to play in the state semifinals tonight at Jackson High School versus Brighton (21-1) of the Kensington Valley Conference.

The winner will play in the state finals on Saturday at Canton against the Birmingham Seaholm/Rochester winner.

In the last week, Salem has defeated Ann Arbor Huron 2-1 in overtime and Novi 3-0 while on their drive through the state tournament.

Friday's game, played in extremely muggy conditions, provided a familiar opponent: Churchill, a Western Lakes Activities Association member. "We just played our regular game," Johnson said.

Churchill drew first blood in the 17th minute off a corner kick deflection slipped by goalie Julie Buczek, but panic did not set in on the Salem side.

"We've come from behind before," Johnson said.

The Rocks tied it up 11 minutes later off a corner kick of their own. Sophomore forward Jodi Coyle booted the ball toward the center of the goal, where it found the legs of junior Mari Hoff, who sent the ball into the goal. Just six minutes later, with the momentum in Salem's favor and the score 1-1, forward Kelly Lukasik and midfielder Mia Sarkesian brought the ball into the Churchill end.

Sarkesian took control near the box, made an outstanding dribble move to get past a defender, then made a short pass to Lukasik who rocketed a shot past Churchill's goaltender for a 2-1 Salem advantage. "That was a good move by Mia," said Johnson. The score remained the same when the teams adjourned for intermission.

"The killer came at the start of the second half," Johnson said, referring to a goal by midfielder Kate Gardner.

The play started with Hoff roping a pass to Sarkesian, who took the ball to the goal and delivered a cross shot. "Kate just put it in," Johnson said.

Gardner, mostly a reserve this season, was called upon for emergency duty when Heather Buchanan left the game with a hamstring injury. Churchill was down 3-1, but they were not out. "They came back strong," Johnson said. "Our defense played very well."

Defenders Sue Parrish, Amber Rabeau, Andrea Dudik, Lisa Bares and Sarkesian were entrusted to hold the precious two-goal lead.

"Our defense just wore them down," Johnson said.

When the game ended, Salem had out-shot Churchill 15-8. "They came to play," Johnson said.

"For the first 10 or 15 minutes, we worked hard to contain them, but we weathered the storm.

Now, the field of competition is down to four teams, and the state title is within reach. "We won it in '87," said Johnson. "I told them, 'There's nothing like it.

You know we have three titles now: divisional, conference and regional. Why stop now? The state title is something you'll remember forever.' They're fired up."

Salem track finishes 3rd in WLAA

Rocks post a 118, finish behind John Glenn and Harrison — 1,600 relay team beats Northville for first place — Biniecki, Johnson also top

BY BRIAN CORBETT

If only Rocks could fly.

Salem posted 118 points, and finished third at the Western Lakes Activities Association boys track meet, behind the soaring Rockets of John Glenn (150) and the gliding Hawks of Harrison (141.)

"We were happy with it," said Salem coach Geoff Baker. "We wish we could've won. (John Glenn and Harrison) were just too strong in the distance events."

All was not lost, however, the Rocks did have conference champions in several events. Two of those came compliments of junior standout Jared Biniecki.

He won the 1,600 run in 4:27.0 and the 3,200 in 9:46.2, edging out Canton rival, Ian Bedford. Rocky Johnson grappled a title by throwing the discus 145'3", over seven feet ahead of second place finisher, Nick Shaieb of Harrison. "Rocky Johnson had a fine meet," Baker said.

Salem's 1,600 relay team — Dave Karmann, Scott Kingslien, Andrew McDonald and Jason Barylski — finished the meet strong for the Rocks by finishing first in 3:27.0, just four-tenths of a second ahead of Northville.

Other strong performances came from Johnson in the shot put, where he finished fifth with a 46'6" throw. Freshman Dave Hester was spectacular with personal best throws in the discus (sixth, 129') and the shot put (44'7", ninth.) A rising star in basketball, sophomore Andres Lopez, can use his high jump skills to jam next season.

Lopez recorded a personal best 5'10" jump, finishing seventh. In the hurdles, Dan Johnson was runner-up in the 300 hurdles with a time of 41.8. The 100 hurdles saw U-M football recruit, Harrison's Jason Granger, win with a time 11.1. Close behind was Salem's Lawrence Nunn who finished in 11.6.

"Lawrence is a hard worker," Baker said. "We were hoping he'd sneak up a couple places."

Jason Barylski (fifth, 52.6) and Scott Kingslien (eighth, 53.60) started Salem's comeback in the running events by placing in the 400.

Andrew McDonald and Dave Karmann followed their teammates strong showing with an equally impressive performance in the 800.

McDonald, who placed second, registered a time of 2:01.3 and Karmann was six-tenths of a second behind him in fourth place.

Junior Scott Pengelly cruised to 4:35.6 in the 1,600 even though he was hobbled by a stress fracture.

"He's been running on it for a while," Baker said. "He's going to be a spectator at states."

Salem's 400 (Nunn, Kevin Conte, Jason Gibson and Kingslien) and 800 (Nunn, Conte, Gibson, and Dan Johnson) relay teams both finished fifth.

"We were happy with those guys," Baker said.

State finals meet: The 3,200 relay team — Dave Karmann, Andrew McDonald, Scott Loewe and Jason Barylski — placed in the top eight. Also representing Salem: Rocky Johnson, Jared Biniecki and Scott Kingslien.

Canton softball faces Belleville in 1st round of regionals Saturday

BY BRIAN CORBETT

The Canton softball team is peaking at the right time.

After coming up just short in several tournaments and conference games this season, Canton came to play on Saturday, and defeated Churchill, 6-3, and Franklin, 10-3, to win their first district title since 1992. "We happen to be hot," said coach Jim Arnold. "We need to be this time of the year. It all counts this time." Canton is currently 22-12.

In the opener versus the Churchill Chargers, Jackie "no-hit" Nicastrì struck out three and walked two while allowing three runs on four hits. At the plate, the Chiefs scattered their hits and runs throughout the game.

Canton scored a run in the first, one in the second, one in the third and two in the fifth. "We've been hitting the ball real well lately," Arnold said. "I hope it continues to this weekend."

Nicastrì helped her own cause at the plate by going two for three. Tara Biro was also two for three with one RBI. Canton had beat the Chargers, 9-0, and lost, 5-4, in the regular season.

Next up was the championship game with Franklin — another opponent that Canton was 1-1 against in the regular season. "I just told them, 'Have fun, relax. Play Canton softball.' They were real loose, more loose than I was."

As the game began, the cloudy skies threatened rain. But the only deluge during this game came from all Canton's balls in the air. "Everybody contributed," said Arnold. "We just hit the heck out of the ball, everybody hit. A single from everybody, and nobody can beat us."

Canton had 13 hits in the game. Nicastrì was on the mound again, and was fabulous — again. She struck out six and walked four. "She's a terrific defensive player," said Arnold. "She's a good pitcher. She has a good change-up. She keeps the hitters confused, she keeps them off stride. I'm going to miss her when she graduates."

Canton was off to a quick start when Shana Bidwell singled, Amy Price doubled and Tara Biro singled; making it 1-0. "In the third, we blew the game apart," said Arnold.

The Chiefs posted five runs on six consecutive hits, and it was 9-0. "The girls got a little excited," said Arnold, "and I had to remind there was no mercy rule for the championship game. I said, 'You can't let up, just keep playing well.'" Franklin scored three meaningless runs in the seventh on three hits. There were several stars for Canton. Biro was three for four as was Price, Bidwell was two for three, shortstop Nicole Kovachevich was three for three with two RBIs, and Nicastrì was two for three with one RBI.

Catcher Amy LaGrow also contributed. "She's one heck of a catcher," said Arnold. "She blocks real well. I'm so confident in her, I let her call all the pitches. And that's uncommon for a sophomore. She's an outstanding kid."

Canton will face Belleville, the runner-up at the Canton Classic Invitational last month, at Novi in the first round of regionals.

"We'll be ready to play," Arnold said. "I only have two seniors on this team... They're very responsible. They'll keep this team in perspective."

If the Chiefs win on Saturday, Arnold might be interested in hiring a security guard for his house. Last weekend, after the district championship game, he fell victim to a playful prank by his team: they toilet papered his house. "They were very excited about winning," Arnold said. "We were in three or four tournaments this season, and we always finished second or third. We never got a medal. They were happy with the results of the districts."

Maloney, Blamer top candidates for school board

Out of a field of eight desirable candidates for the Plymouth-Canton school board, two stand out.

The top candidates are Michael J. Maloney and Carrie F. Blamer, who will be fighting the other six candidates for the two, four-year seats.

Maloney's background and education in business, negotiation and large organization will give the district the managerial support it will need in the financially tricky times ahead.

Blamer's dedication to the children of the district, through her work on the superintendent search committee, the Bird Elementary PTO, her understanding that many viewpoints need to be considered in the schools and that the "three T's" should be part of the operating budget with or without the millage give her the edge over the other candidates.

It needs to be said that all of the other candidates are worthy alternatives to Blamer and Maloney and should consider staying involved in the process of making the Plymouth-Canton Schools a better place for kids to learn and grow.

It is regrettable that former State Rep. Jerry Vorva did not opt to stay in the race. His views, experience in the makeup of school finance and his strong advocacy would have brought the race for the trustee seats to a higher level.

With new board members coming into the district, it is also time for new board leadership. Trustee Mark Horvath has come into his own as a knowledgeable trustee and has the necessary level and patient head to be the new School Board President.

THE COMMUNITY CRIER

Vote 'yes' for school enhancement, renewal millages

In order to put the Plymouth-Canton Schools in a good position to educate in the 21st century, the community needs to rally behind not only the renewal millage but the enhancement as well.

The renewal of 18 non-homestead mills is necessary to keep the schools running as detailed in Proposal A. This is not a rise in the amount of taxes for businesses in the district — passing the renewal will still leave taxes for businesses lower than they were before the passage of Prop A.

Without this money, $15 million to keep the district operating, the schools would lose approximately $1,000 per student.

The request for 2.3 enhancement mills should also be supported by the district. The millage, which will be collected for only two years and budgeted over five years, will be earmarked for the "three T's" — textbooks, teaching tools and teacher training. A separate account has been set up for the money and the school board has pledged not to use the money for anything other than instructional purposes.

The main reason for the community to support both the renewal and the enhancement is because the well-being of the schools is important to the well-being of the community. Better schools make the community more attractive to prospective homebuyers and that means higher property values. In the terminology of the district, all of the stakeholders have a vested interest in the Plymouth-Canton schools.

But be sure, if passed the

How, why The Crier endorses

Because the staff watches the day-in-day-out activities of government, The Community Crier closely witnesses the community's political personalities in action. In addition, through vigorous campaign season reporting, The Crier staff has an opportunity to meet and interview the newcomers, the challengers, the "wannabes" — and to re-evaluate the incumbents (if any).

Accordingly, The Crier offers its endorsement of those races that have money from the enhancement must go toward the "three T's." The credibility of the school board and the school administration are on the line with this issue — the community will be watching every last penny.

special impact on The Plymouth-Canton Community. Newspaper endorsements should be used by voters as but one more criteria for making their own choices.

These endorsements are the collective opinion of the newspaper's editorial staffers who vote on the races following heated debate. But these opinions are not nearly as important as the vote of each and every person casting a ballot Monday.

Get involved

Canton playscape needs a few good people to help work

It's good to get involved.

There's something going on this week that everyone, at least a lot of people, should get in on.

The building of the Canton Playscape.

The editorial staff of The Crier got out last month and lent a hand with the Plymouth Playscape at Plymouth Township Park.

We came in on a Wednesday and offered our services. Because we were unskilled we were handed shovels and rakes and spent our time leveling ground and hauling dirt.

I had a great time. I used to landscape during summers while I was in college and getting back to working a shovel was fun. I will explain.

Being a reporter, your day is spent around machines that make soft whirring and clicking noises. That's not very exciting.

Wordsmith

By Alex Lundberg

Being around the high-pitched whine of power tools and the diesel rattle of heavy equipment was a great change of pace for me.

I spent 20 minutes breaking up ground with a pick, I can't count how many times a day I think this word processor needs a few good whacks with a heavy, bladed tool.

The best part about the work at the playscape was hanging around other volunteers. Everyone was dedicated to doing the best job they could, but they also wanted to have a good time while they were doing it.

For those who have never done it, there is a special vibe to manual labor. It creates a kind of down-in-the-dirt camaraderie that you don't often get in office work. It's something about beating up the ground, heaving dirt and making fun of the non-working foremen that just causes people to bond. We were out of the office (out of school and out of the house) and working in the open air. It was hard work, but doing hard work as a volunteer is easier than doing it for pay.

I'm still not sure how that works, but I had a good time.

The Canton Playscape will be under construction this week behind the library in Heritage Park, June 7 through 11, and they need volunteers.

Hope to see you there.

Parking pains

Will City Hall ever get parking problems worked out?

It's time for the Plymouth Landlords' Committee to pass its Third Annual...

"CHANGE THE PARKING ORDINANCES" resolution.

And it's time, once again, for the City Hall Folks to lie and say, "We're working on it."

At what point are city voters, business owners and politicians going to realize that:

- The city's current parking ordinances (especially the "parking credit" lie) would never win a court challenge.

- The current rules inhibit proper use of downtown for businesses.

- The current rules make parking confusing and un-user-friendly in downtown.

- The plan to link easing the parking rules with acquiring new (now privately-owned) parking lots will never move beyond the Micro-Manager's desk. Even if it could succeed, it's failed public policy to link buying more property with changing the parking rules. (The city can only micro-manage so many issues at one time).

- There is no consistent parking policy downtown (or Old Village or Ann Arbor Road either) in the city.

With malice toward none

By W. Edward Wendover

THIS IS A CITY COMMISSION ELECTION YEAR!!! Usually this might engender support/opposition to the "parking problem."

"Parking problem?" say the City Hall ostriches.

With attention focused on the Streetscape, this parking issue will be lost in the woods — and no viable candidate wants to tackle it. That's just what City Hall hopes as the facade goes on.

"Everything will be just fine...."

After Bill Beitner flexed his muscles on the Ann Arbor Trail island and threatened a lawsuit, City Hall meeked out. The politicians were scared that a lawsuit would tie them up.

Maybe that's the solution for the parking ordinances too. Surely there's an attorney who would take on such a case just to help downtown.
