Main St. will be open for Fall Fest

BY ROB KIRKBRIDE

The Plymouth Downtown Development Authority Director said Main Street will be ready for the annual Fall Festival celebration on Sept. 8, 9 and 10.

Steve Guile said Main Street will have its leveling coat of asphalt in place by the time the 40th Fall Festival gets underway.

"The street (Main) should be open for the most part from now on," he said.

Guile said a temporary power box will be installed this week to run the electricity for the festival.

Brick work is also being completed on Main Street sidewalks and Guile said a new drinking fountain will be in place by next week.

What's happening at the Mayflower?

BY ROB KIRKBRIDE

What is happening at the Mayflower Hotel in downtown Plymouth?

At a recent meeting of the Plymouth Property Owners Association, management of the Mayflower unveiled plans for the renovation of the historic hotel. Management of the hotel did not return repeated calls to comment on the renovation. According to information given at the meeting, the hotel will add a 200 plus seating banquet room, outdoor seating, a wrap-around piano bar, a bakery, cappuccino bar and a 175 seat bar/restaurant.

The hotel has survived several rough-and-tumble years. In early 1992 the Mayflower filed Chapter 11 bankruptcy. Since then, the hotel has changed hands and is owned by Keith and Matt Karmo. At the property owners meeting, representatives of the Mayflower said they were seeking relief for back taxes owed to the City of Plymouth and the county.

The Mayflower Hotel is not in any way part of Mayflower Square.

The front page of the Plymouth Mail on Nov. 11, 1927 heralded the opening of the Mayflower the day before. It was major news in the community. Once again, the future of the hotel is cloudy. Will the Mayflower be sold once again or will Plymouth's most famous building be remodeled?

Sledding hill at Twp. park will cost $143,149 to improve safety for kids

Hill will be completed by Oct. 31, hopefully in time for first snowfall

BY BRIAN CORBETT

If everything stays on course, sledding at Plymouth Township Park will not snowball into a problem as it did last year when the winter sport was banned.

The board of trustees unanimously awarded a bid to B & V Construction of Wixom for sled hill improvements.

B & V will take care of 24 items including, asphalt removal, tree removal and relocation, storm sewer construction, top soil placement, slag path installation, spring repairs and reinstallation of wood bollards.

The project will cost $143,149.40, and is scheduled to be completed by Oct. 31. Township Engineer Michael Bailey, who made the recommendation, said some of the items were non-essential to sled hill but were included in order to have cost estimates in case the board feels they needed to be done. "The slag hill we could do without," Bailey said, "but it would be convenient to have."

Another item, spring repairs, depends on the weather and extent of use. "Spring repairs may not be necessary," said Bailey, "we could have the contractor come back with revised costs."

The total after extracting nonessential items falls to $126,978.

The improved sledding hill will change the course from last year, increasing safety.

Empty chair

Hoedel attends last official meeting for school district

There will be an empty chair and a familiar face missing at the next Plymouth-Canton Board of Education meeting.

Monday night marked what was the last meeting for Ray Hoedel, associate superintendent for business and operations. Hoedel is retiring after 22 years of service to the school district.

Before jumping into the night's agenda, P-C School Board President David Artley brought the special night to the attention of the audience, and then thanked Hoedel — which set off a chain reaction of goodbyes from numerous board members.

Trustee Jack Farrow recalled how Hoedel always provided the information he needed. "He's never too busy to help explain something. Thanks Ray," Farrow said.

Said Trustee Barbara Graham: "It's been a pleasure having Ray part of the staff here." Superintendent Charles Little, who was hired last summer, said, "I appreciate the opportunity to work with you this year."

After being showered with send-offs, Hoedel remarked how it had been business as usual this summer — until the last week. "All of sudden, I started to realize, in the past few days, I'd better start packing up here," Hoedel said.

Hoedel said he enjoyed being a part of education and thanked all the boards of education he has dealt with, before ending his farewell with a laugh. "I wish you all well," Hoedel said, "and I hope the MEAP scores go up."

After the laughter had subsided, Hoedel was rewarded with a round of applause from all those in attendance.

'Furry friends' invade Canton beauty shop, owner looks for adoptive homes

BY ROB KIRKBRIDE

The owner of Canton De'Cut Salon is trying to find a humane end to a hairy situation.

Bonnie Whitfield said her beauty salon is being invaded by marauding hamsters — allegedly left behind by Feed Rite Pet Supply when the company closed their Canton store several months ago.

Now she's looking for help — and a good home for the hundreds, possibly thousands of hamsters.

Whitfield said she saw the first of the furry critters about a month ago. Although she said she was concerned about the situation from the beginning, she captured the hamster and brought it home.

"By the fourth one I saw," she said, "I knew I needed help."

Help has come from the Humane Society, who has agreed to accept any of the hamsters Whitfield can catch.

But the problem, said Whitfield, is that the hamsters live in the plumbing and come up through the floor drain, making them difficult to catch.

"They're adorable, friendly and fluffy," she said. "I've called every animal control company and it's $50 to $75 dollars just to come out."

Plus, said Whitfield, it would mean the end for the hamsters — something she wants to avoid at all costs.

"I think they can collect them unharmed," she said, "but it will cost me."

At this time, Whitfield said she is relying on the help of her friends. "I've been putting out food — apples — an ashtray with water," she said. "My friends and I sometimes stay until midnight trying to catch them."

Whitfield said the hamsters have not disrupted her business, although they have caused her staff to be a little jumpy. The drain from which the hamsters emerge is sealed during the day.

Whitfield said she has nowhere left to turn.

"I've been on the phone for five and a half hours," she said, "but who are you going to call? I've tried every resource available." Brian Kepes of Lake State Investment in Farmington, the landlord for the strip mall, said they are willing to help in any way they can.

"We can actively follow our former tenants," he said. "We are willing to work to help clean that up."

Canton Municipal Services Director Aaron Machnik said he was unaware of the problem.

"It's amazing," he said. "I've found on occasion some very bizarre situations. I've learned to believe just about everything I hear now."

School enrollment higher than expected

Most dramatic increase at one of state's largest districts felt in the ninth grade, Canton elementary schools also see rise

The ninth largest school district in Michigan is getting bigger. The Plymouth-Canton School Community District will have an additional 300 to 400 students this school year.

"The enrollment in the district has certainly increased," said

Superintendent Charles Little.

Little said the increase was a lot more than predicted. The largest influx of new students was in the ninth grade at the Plymouth-Canton Educational Park. David Rodwell, associate director for research and technology, said the increase was not because of students not leaving the school district, but that more were enrolling. Rodwell said new enrollments were also high at the elementary schools in Canton.

Confidence on the reported numbers was not extremely high since class schedules could still be picked up. Still Little said there was no doubt student population had increased. "I think it's safe to say enrollment in the school district has gone up 300 students," Little said.

Debate arises over Twp. road paving

BY BRIAN CORBETT

To pave or not to pave.

That was the issue being debated at the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees meeting last week.

The roads in question were Marlowe Avenue, between Ann Arbor and Joy roads, and Gold Arbor and Southworth roads located within Tomlinson Estates Subdivision.

The board held a public hearing after receiving a petition signed by a majority of residents adjacent to the roads agreeing to pay for the improvements. And the board certainly heard from the public, as each issue heard about an hour of public comment. In both cases, the board carried the motion to proceed with the special assessment districts — meaning final drawings will be made, bids will be taken and the final public hearing will be scheduled.

Concerning Marlowe Avenue, 63 per cent of the property owners abutting the affected roadways signed a petition, which, in essence, says the roadway is gravel, it should be paved and the residents agree to pay for it. The projected cost of the project is $139,562.

Speed and cut through traffic were the prevalent concerns voiced by residents who were either in objection to the paving, or were wavering in their support for it. Alfred McClaughin, a resident of Marlowe, said, "As the only paved street in the subdivision, I anticipate unusual traffic problems."

McClaughin said traffic was already too fast, and that kids playing street games would make it worse. He suggested a no thru traffic sign and a 20 mph speed limit. Township Police Chief Carl Berry said speed limits have to be 25 mph in a residential area to be enforceable. As for cut through traffic, Berry said, "The data is there to support that, there is cut through traffic."

Trustee Kay Arnold asked Berry what the effectiveness of no thru signs would be. "You can request them," said Berry, "enforcing them is practically impossible because you have to follow them all the way through."

Trustee K.C. Mueller suggested speed bumps for Marlowe. But Berry said, not only would Wayne County not accept such a proposal for speed bumps, they often do not serve their purpose. "The only thing speed bumps do are make a lot of noise," Berry said.

If the petition maintains its majority support until the next — and last — public hearing, the board will vote to carry the motion, Mueller said. "It is out duty and obligation," Mueller said, "that if there is 60 per cent, that we go through with it."

Trustee Charles Curmi said he would vote no, if he could, until the issues were rung out. "It's completely in your hands," he said.

The Tomlinson Estates debate was no less intense. And the concerns were similar. Gold Arbor resident Sue Fisher said, "If you pave the road, could you change the name to the Autobahn?"

Jim Anulewicz, director of public services, shot down Fisher's suggestion to make Gold Arbor a one-way street because of his familiarity with Wayne County's typical operations. "I'll guarantee the county won't accept that," he said.

Gold Arbor and Southworth road residents have 30 days to go to the township clerk's office to remove or add their name from the petition.

Other issues raised revolved around the pavement's durability and the time frame for the project. The pavement is the lowest grade accepted by the county and typically lasts 10 years and up; if approved, construction would begin in May.

The resident who started the petition urged his fellow neighbors to watch their speed. "It's not the people cutting through that speed, it's us," he said.

The Tomlinson Estates special assessment district, which would cost $212,600, was carried by the board. Residents affected by either Marlowe or Tomlinson Estates have until Sept. 23 to add or sign their name to the petition at the township clerk's office. If the petition is abandoned, it can be submitted again at any time.

MAIN STREET WILL BE OPEN BY FALL FEST

Merchants on Main Street that have been looking for signs of completion of the project in front of their stores, will shortly be rewarded.

Asphalt crews will begin preparing the streets for asphalt. For the first time since April, Main Street will be open for traffic. Periodic closings may be necessary. Forest Ave. may also be closed temporarily to allow for the curing of the asphalt. The brick paving continues to proceed on Main Street. Work crews have re-laid most of the old brick on the Kellogg Park side of the street. Planter boxes on Main St. and Penniman Ave. have been constructed.

Change brings improvement

St. Mary Hospital brings state-of-the-art to health care

The new emergency center at St. Mary Hospital on Levan and Five Mile roads in Livonia will open at 8 a.m. on Sept. 7 with enhanced medical services for patients and their families. With new prompt care services, additional space and direct access from Levan Road, the center has the capacity to efficiently accommodate more than 35,000 emergency visits a year.

A community open house was held on Aug. 27, featuring tours of the center, refreshments, a Teddy Bear Clinic for children's stuffed animals, a prize drawing and special guests.

The $3.8 million project was designed by Labert Kahn Associates, Inc., of Detroit, and constructed by Barton Malow Company of Southfield.

The new design of the new emergency center reveals a modern, expanded facility with more convenient access from Levan Road. The new center at approximately 17,000 square feet has about double the space of the former emergency center to improve patient flow and accommodate additional services.

Patients will be directed to the triage area for assessment after entering through the wheelchair-accessible revolving door or ambulance entrance. Three registration areas will be staffed, two traditional emergency center registration areas and a prompt care registration area for patients with minor injuries or illnesses.

A family waiting area and a children's waiting area with scaled down furniture, a TV and VCR, are available for family members and visitors.

Individual trauma areas feature sliding glass doors that provide increased privacy for patients and visibility for physicians and staff. The center includes four trauma areas, four exam/treatment areas, six observation/treatment areas, three beds designated as the chest pain center, and five prompt care treatment areas. A privately located family quiet room is also available.

Other areas are equipped for isolation, decontamination, paramedic/police, radiographic (X-Rays) Room and Orthopedics.

The prompt area specializes in the rapid evaluation and treatment of patients with minor illnesses and injuries. Specific criteria are used to determine which patients are directed to prompt care.

Since many patients who arrive at the emergency center are suffering from chest pain, three of the center's observation/treatment areas are equipped to provide rapid evaluation of undiagnosed chest pain. The chest pain center in the new emergency center provides state of the art cardiac diagnosis, monitoring and treatment.

New signs clearly highlight the entrance to the center and emergency center parking is located close to the entrance. Renovations to parking areas around the hospital have resulted in an additional 110 spaces.

"Completion of the new emergency center is the first phase of a $36 million construction project to help St. Mary Hospital achieve its mission of 'building the future' and responding to the health care needs of the community," said Sister Mary Renetta, executive vice president and administrative liaison for the project.

The expansion project includes a two-story west addition that will be home to a maternity center featuring labor, delivery, recovery, postpartum rooms, a state of the surgical suite and a new women's center. The west addition is scheduled for completion in spring of 1997.

To provide a more convenient entrance for patients using the St. Mary Hospital Pavilion and Marian Pavilion Building, a new pavilion entrance is being constructed at the south end of the hospital. This entrance is slated to open in November.

PCAC creates new 'art movement'

BY ROB KIRKBRIDE

When people think of an art movement, they usually think of impressionism or pointillism, but the Plymouth Community Arts Council organized a different type of art movement last week.

The PCAC Rental Gallery, whose home has been on the second floor of the Dunning-Hough Library in Plymouth since 1975, has moved.

Therese Gall, who has organized the rental gallery for 12 of those 20 years, said the move to the PCAC's location on Sheldon Road was planned since the building was purchased last year.

"With the move," she said, "all art projects and services will be under one roof."

The hundreds of pieces of art were moved in one trip with the help of 16 volunteers and as many vehicles.

"This has always been one of the most viable programs for the arts council," Gall said.

And according to Gall, it's one of the best bargains in town. Art work sells from $5 to $900 and is rented to the public for $6 per picture, per month.

Gall said 90 percent of the art is created by Michigan artists and 90 percent is original artwork.

The program works like this: the artwork is rented to the customer. After a year, the work is priced for sale. "If you fall in love with the piece," she said, "you can buy it."

Gall said that during the transition, few changes to the program will be made. The rental gallery hopes to increase their hours — they are currently open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Wednesday.

Lenga elected State Bar treasurer

Plymouth resident will assume duties next month

Detroit attorney and Plymouth resident J. Thomas Lenga, a senior member in the law firm of Dykema Gossett PLLC, has been elected by the Board of Commissions of the State Bar Michigan to the post of treasurer for 1995-96.

He will assume his duties as treasurer and an executive officer at the conclusion of the State Bar's annual meeting in Lansing next month.

Lenga practices primarily in product and commercial litigation at Dykema Gossett.

He was first elected to the State Board of Commissions in 1992, and currently chairs the State Bar's Hall of Justice Committee, which seeks ways to establish a single facility in Lansing to house the judicial branch of state government.

Lenga served as president of the Detroit Bar Associations in 1989-90 and as president of the Association of Defense Trial Counsel of Detroit in 1988-89.

In 1987, he was named the University of Toledo College of Law's Distinguished Alumnus of the Year.

Lenga is a member of the American Bar Association and the state bars of Michigan and Ohio.

He is a Fellow of the American Bar Foundation, Michigan State Bar Foundation and American College of Trial Lawyers, and is an Advocate on the American Board of Trial Advocates. He is a member of the International Association of Defense Trial Counsel and Michigan Supreme Court Committee on Standard Jury Instructions (Civil).

Outing promotes Plymouth business

For the first time in over 14 years the chamber's golf outing has a new chairman, and a whole new committee. The annual event, which will be held this year on Sept. 12, started as the chamber's major fundraisers 14 years ago by city leaders Ken West, Chuck Skene, Ken Vogras, Joe Bida, Paul Sincok and Hank Graper.

It has continued to be one of the area's most successful outings. "Because of these fellas' dedication, this outing is one of the best around, we hope to keep the momentum going," said 1995 chairman Harold Bergquist.

This year's outing will be held at Fox Hills Golf Course, with tee time set for 10 a.m. The chamber expects 200 golfers. To add to the event, each participant will receive a door prize. There are still openings for individuals at $175 or a foursome sponsorship for $600. Help is still needed on the course — non-golfers wishing to support can help prepare lunch

The chamber extends a special thank you to the golf outing's major sponsor — John Blackwell III and Blackwell Ford. With increasing costs, the major sponsor enables the chamber to continue to provide the golfers with the same quality they have come to expect without increasing the fees.

Waste hauler comes under fire

Complaint calls rise with change to Painter Ruthenberg, City vows to help solve problems that are thought to be associated with learning new pick-up routes

BY ROB KIRKBRIDE

The City of Plymouth's new solid waste hauler began service in July and according to Plymouth's Director of Public Works, the transition has not been easy.

Paul Sincok said community complaints have gone up since Painter-Ruthenberg was awarded the solid waste hauler contract over former hauler Mister Rubbish.

"There's a substantial change in the amount of calls," Sincok said. "We did not have as difficult of a time with the changeover (when Mister Rubbish took over the contract three years ago)."

Sincok said the DPW has met with Painter-Ruthenberg officials to try to iron out some of the problems. "There has been some improvement," he said.

Mayor Doug Miller said the good news is that the city is monitoring the situation carefully.

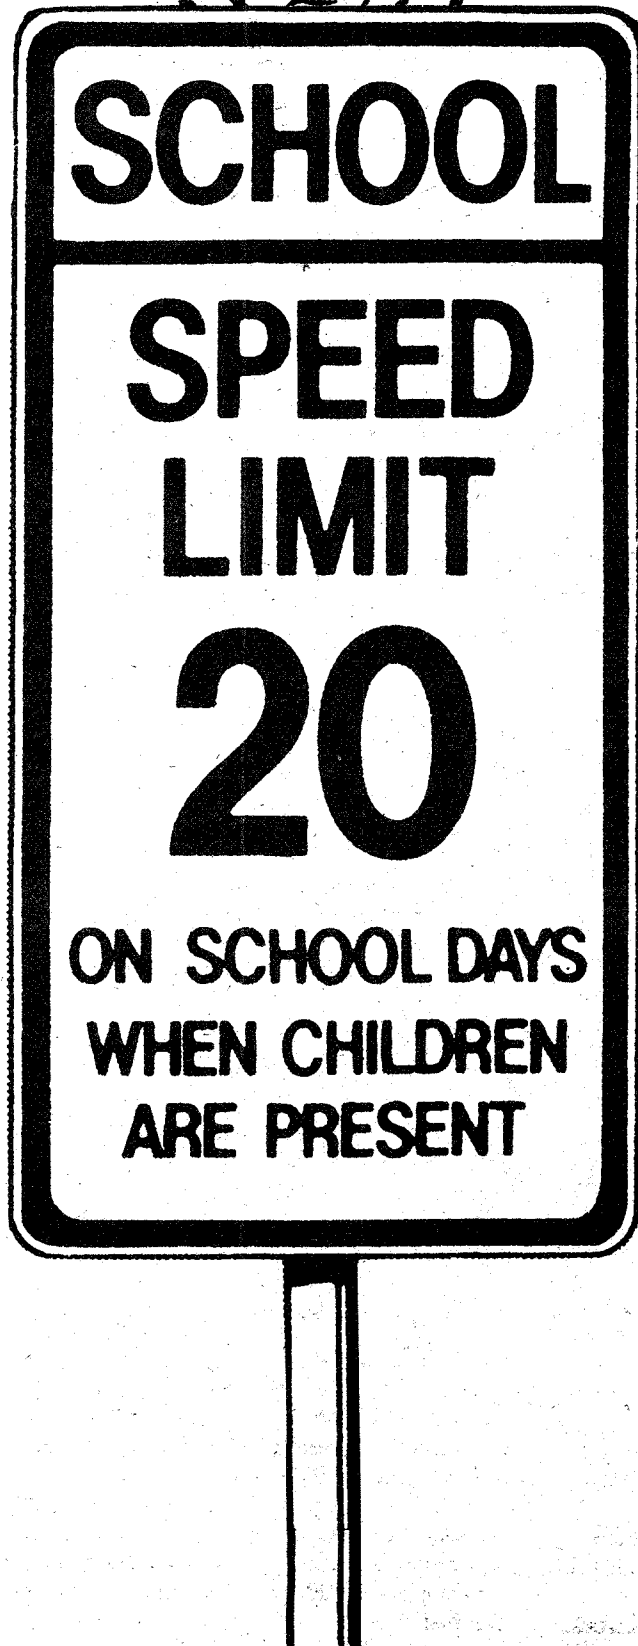

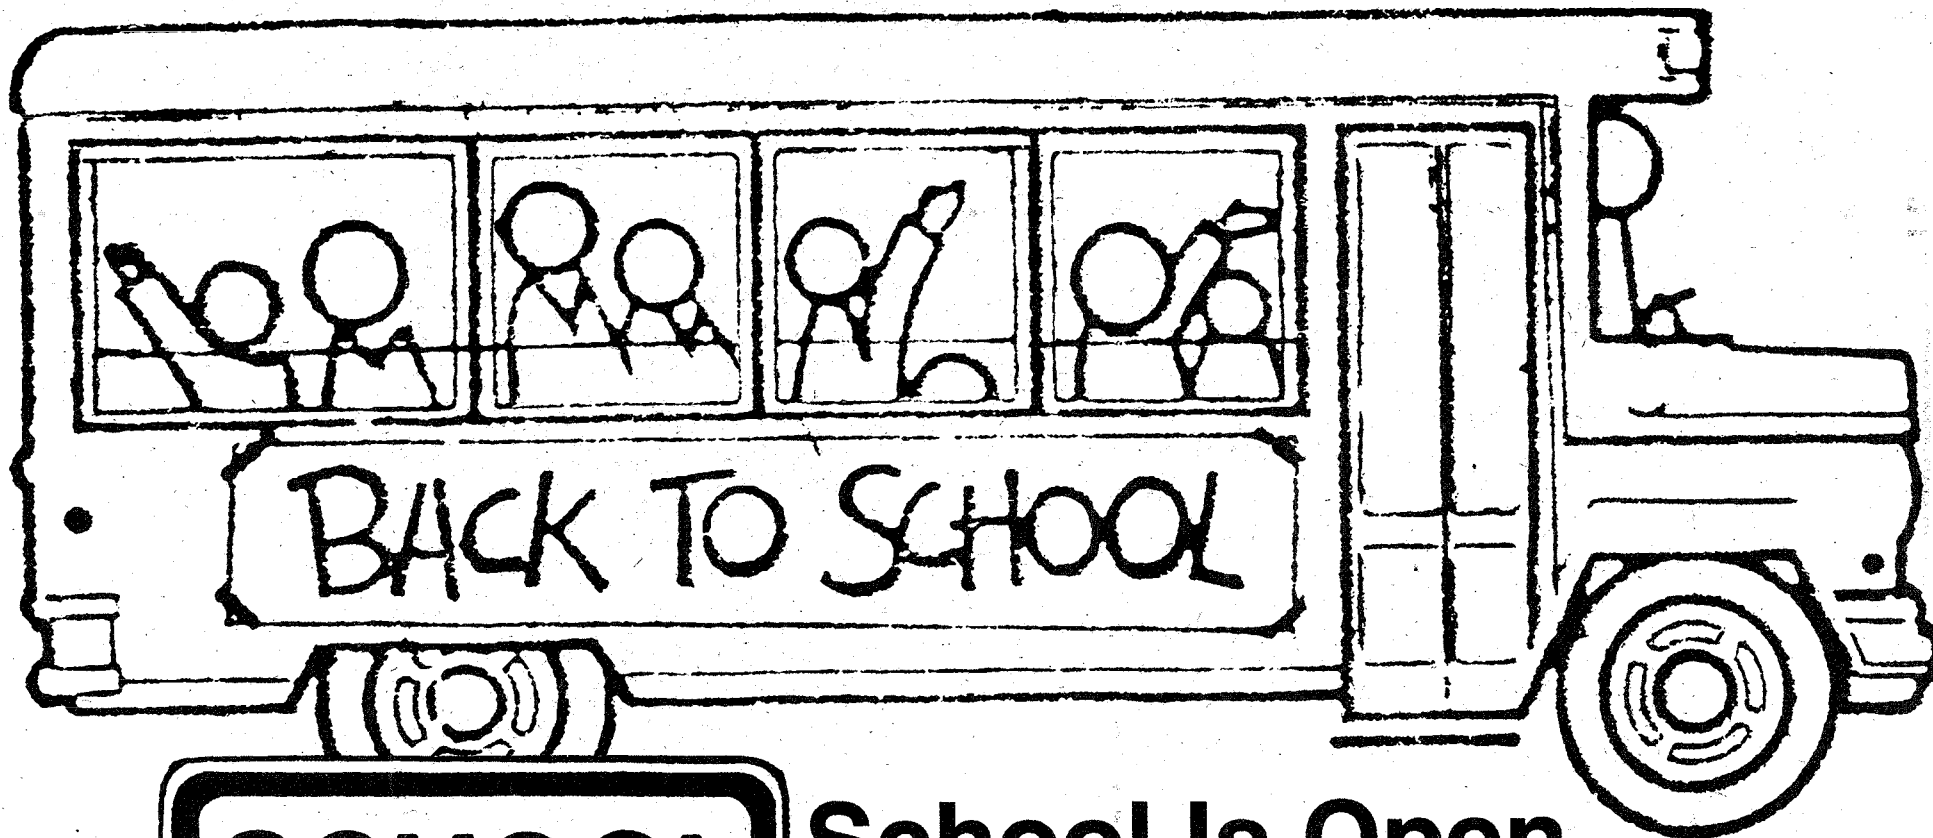

Sincok also noted Painter-Ruthenberg is taking longer to complete the daily routes — sometimes by as much as 12 hours longer. He said he attributes the length of time to finish the routes to the fact that the company may still be learning the routes.

"I think it's premature to draw conclusion on the vendor," said Commissioner Bill McAninch.

Miller said he agrees with McAninch. "Our objective is to meet the needs of the people and the contractor," he said.

Painter-Ruthenberg was awarded the contract in May after bidding $450,000 less than former solid waste hauler Mister Rubbish.

Mettetal appointment process initiated

While the Canton-Plymouth Mettetal Airport Advisory Board is chosen, work crews continue to construct the new runway at the airport. (Crier photo by Rob Kirkbride)

Bennett, Carmody reappointed

After weeks on uncertainty and guessing, the appointment process for the Canton-Plymouth Mettetal Airport Advisory Board has been initiated.

Chair Mark Merlanti announced that Terry Bennett and Tom Carmody had been reappointed to two-year terms. Bennett fills the board's Canton position. Carmody is one of the board's state representatives.

Carl L. Schultz was the lone new appointee announced. He will replace the chair vacated by W. Edward Wendover, who did not seek reappointment.

With the appointments, only two seats remain vacant on the board.

Merlanti said Plymouth Township has not made a decision on its appointment yet. Mike Stankov, who served on the board, is seeking reappointment. Stankov has been asked to serve past his Sept. 1 term expiration date until an appointment is made.

Merlanti said he could not confirm Stankov would comply, but said it was favorable he would.

Barb Bergenty's position, which is open because of her impending move, is in the nomination process Merlanti said. "I don't believe those two seats will be filled by the next meeting (Sept. 14)," said Merlanti. "It looks like we'll have those two appointments for the October meeting."

Canton hires maintenance supervisor

In a move to better coordinate the maintenance of its wide range of buildings and facilities, Canton has hired a new facilities maintenance supervisor to oversee all maintenance and repairs of township municipal buildings, especially the Administration Building, police station and the new Summit on the Park community center.

Bob Jenkins, 52, began his duties recently for the municipal organization. He will oversee a current staff of two full time employees and a number of part time employees. Additional facilities "technicians" will be hired in the near future as well. The Albion resident spent 12 years working for Montgomery County Children's Services in Dayton, OH as the director of support operations before moving to Albion some seven years ago where he was director of environmental services for Service Master, an organization which specializes in managing buildings and grounds for colleges and hospitals.

Jenkins, who is currently looking for a new home in Canton, started his career at Central State College in Wilberforce, OH as director of plant operations for the school (where he also completed several years of course work).

As supervisor of the maintenance division, Jenkins will over the maintenance of the township's 16 different facilities, said Mike Ager, manager of the Resource Development Division that includes the major township facilities include the historic Cherry Hill and Sheldon schools, the Seniors' Center on Michigan Avenue, two fire stations and two golf courses.

ATTENTION: ERNIE ARCHER & ARCHIE BUNCH It seems to me the least you two fellows could have done was to decide whether you would have a common first name or last. No wonder your friends get confused. ## Salem soccer takes tourney, looks forward to season

BY MATT HUCAL

Entering his final season as coach of the Salem boys soccer team, Ken Johnson may be able to go out on a winning note as he closes the door on his 14 year career.

The team showed how tough they really are, winning the Gary Balconi Invitational this past weekend.

With the priority of winning high in Johnson's final year as coach, Salem also has in the back of their mind last season's screeching halt that came after a double overtime shootout loss to Stevenson in the first game of districts. Needless to say, the loss was tough for the Salem team to swallow, considering the team seemed to have pulled together near the end of the regular season.

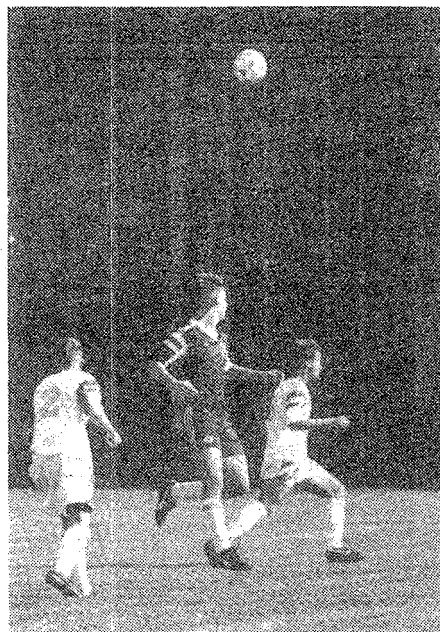

With the input of Johnson and assistant coach Dave Mashni, this season's team will be an experienced and skilled team. For many of the seniors this will be their third year on varsity, and most of the others made varsity as sophomores.

"This season we should be more team oriented. Last year we had a lot more individuals. We seem to be more focused on team success this year," Johnson said.

He also added, "We have a lot of experience coming back, with all our seniors and juniors."

Salem should be strong at every position, with the players exhibiting either experience, talent or both.

"Almost every player is able to play more than just one position, so we'll be able to rotate them in different positions," Johnson said. "It's an added plus for us."

Anchoring the forward position is senior captain Ronny Mashni with first year varsity players, sophomore Brett Konley and Mike Mezgec, also filling in a scoring gap that was left with the graduation of three high scoring forwards last year.

The midfield of Salem has many players capable of contributing. Seniors Drew Drummond, Andy Makins, John Larson and Taras Seniuch, and junior Matt Sarkesian are returning lettermen who will help lead the team with new-coming juniors Ryan Konley, Scott Loewe, and sophomore Andy Powers.

On defense Salem is looking forward to shutting out many teams with a defensive line that has been together for the past few years. Seniors Matt Hucal, Chris Jaskolski, Matt Simons, and junior captain Chris Curry will be the elders in back, with new lettermen junior Josh Fair and sophomore Rob Zdrodowski molding in to make a strong unit.

The goalkeeping duties will be shared by senior captain Brian Bacyinski and junior Andres Lopez, both of whom are big and cover a lot of space in the net.

Even though playing a little sloppy and trying to work some kinks out, Salem was able to conquer the Gary Balconi Invitational last weekend at Canton High School.

Competing along with Salem was Canton, Grand Blanc, and Portage Central. Salem defeated Grand Blanc by the score of 5-1 and played Portage Central in the final after Portage beat Canton 3-2.

The score of the final was 4-2 with Salem hailing as the victor in a hard fought game that was dominated by Salem, but wasn't won until the final eight minutes.

With tough teams like Stevenson, Canton, and Churchill on the team's schedule, this season Salem is hoping to match rival Canton's state title last year and bring an end to Johnson's reign in style.

Canton kickers look to defend title

BY MATT HUCAL

As state champions last season, the Canton boys soccer team disposed of supposedly tougher and more highly skilled teams on the road to the championship.

The team showed they had guts and heart by winning many close games with a timely decisive goal or a strong defensive stand.

This season, with many players lost to graduation, the team will rely on the heart that got them to the top last year.

Canton coach Don Smith, last year's coach of the year, recently underwent surgery and has handed the reins over to his assistant Jeff Neschich while recovering.

While Neschich is not sure how the team will perform this year, he knows he has some strengths to build around.

"We have a very strong defense, from the goalkeeper to the sweeper and three markers," Neschich said. "Some things will need to be worked on, but we should come together as a team during the course of the season."

The defense of Canton will be headed by last year's all-state goalkeeper senior captain George Tomasso. His sharp play, along with graduates and some on this year's team, helped win the title.

The other captain, senior Todd Stonestreet, seniors Greg Kilby and Sam McGrath, and junior Jason Bennett help compose the rest of the defensive blanket along with juniors Mike Elsner, Sean Malone and Ryan Dyer. Juniors Jason Meagrow and Joseph Gasiewicz will back up Tomasso during the season.

The offense of Canton will be looked upon to pick up a lot of offensive punch lost with the graduation of many scorers on last year's team.

Senior forwards Jeremy Stillings and Ryan Meath will join juniors Jacob Rea and Kevin Gniewek and sophomore Jon Page to provide the scoring touch.

In the Gary Balconi Invitational this past weekend, Canton was defeated by Portage Central 3-2 in their first game and then crushed Grand Blanc 6-1 in the consolation game.

"The first game, we didn't start very well and weren't playing together," Neschich said.

"But the last 20 minutes we took it to them, we just couldn't finish on our chances."

Neschich added, "I think the pounding we gave in the second game made us realize that we are a good team with a promising season ahead."

Lenn enters national horse riding competition

BY MATT HUCAL

Without much fanfare, without much publicity, a local Plymouth resident has accomplished quite a feat.

Megan Lenn, 14, has qualified for the Grand National and World Championship Morgan Horse Show taking place in Oklahoma City, OK, the week of Oct. 9. Competitors from all over the country will be there with all kinds of riding being exhibited.

If successful at that competition Megan will have a shot at the World Championships.

In order to qualify for the Oklahoma event, show riders had to place differently in different events.

For some events riders had to place either first, second, or third. In other events riders had to place in the top eight.

It all depended on which event a rider is in.

Riding at the Showcase Stables in South Lyon for about five years and competing for about two, Megan, according to her mother Lucy, competes for one single reason: Her love of horses.

"The whole barn environment and the people associated with it are very positive to be in," Lucy said.

Getting this far in horse competition has not been easy for Megan.

She qualified at the Michigan All Morgan Horse Show at the Michigan State Fairgrounds July 12-14 riding in the category of Junior Saddle Seat Equitation, the type of riding in which she excels.

At the end of July she entered the New England Morgan Horse Show in North Hampton, MA. The outcome of that show for Megan was Junior Seattle Seat Equitation Reserve Grand Champion, which is translated into second place and was quite a finish for her.

Even though the Lenn family and all those who participate in horse competitions find it to be a fun and exciting sport, Lucy is surprised that others are not as interested in it.

"Megan has been competing in some large shows recently," Lucy says, "and what I've noticed is that even though many riders from all over the region and country compete in them, there aren't as many people in attendance as there should be."

Lucy also added, "If there is another show around like the one at the Michigan State Fairgrounds, people should come and see that they can be fun."

Chief swimmers look to top league...

Team takes long look at last season, determined to improve on previous year's finish

BY MATT HUCAL

The 1995 Canton girls swimming team has had a lot of time to think about last year. They had a tough season and any of the swimmers on last year's team are back and ready to prove to people that things will be different this year.

Finishing eighth in the conference behind Churchill and Farmington was not one of their season goals. Coach Ron Krueger knows that and will expect more of his swimmers this year.

"Last year was a rough year for us as a team," Krueger said. "We had a lot of problems, but we came through and did a good job by the end of the year."

This season, the team has many reasons to feel confident in their abilities.

"Our ninth and 10th graders are looking very strong and we see nothing but improvement from last season," he said.

We have mostly the same kids as last season but they are a year older and have been swimming year round. When they do that, good things start to happen for them. Those who didn't swim year round will notice a great deal of improvement from those who did and could be surprised over what happens during the course of the season."

To be able to lead the 60 swimmers on the team, Krueger has picked three seniors who he hopes will keep the team together. Those three are Heather Brooks, Erica Pendergrass and Kristi Wright.

Others who should contribute are juniors Carla Howe, Kate Jackson, Donna Logston, Jamie Skimara and Amy Skulenstein, and sophomores Sue Fanning and Lisa Sabina. Sabina was third in the conference in diving last season.

Sophomore Angie Frost, last year's MVP, will be looked upon to win her share of races. She has medaled in the zone regional and last Monday participated in an open water mile and a half race in Nebraska. It was the first time she has competed in an open water race.

The years to come look promising with freshmen Jaclyn Bernard, Courtney Ceci, Andrea Zizewski, Jenny Cornellier, Leah Reider and Meghan Dowd. Krueger believes freshman Terry Hanson is their fastest swimmer and should place in the top six in many of the events this season.

Even though the team lost four seniors, the newcomers and upperclassmen could make this a pleasant and entertaining season for Chief swimming faithful.

...while Rock look to stay in hunt for lead

Program deep in tradition and incredible experience will make Salem tough foe for any team

BY MATT HUCAL

Much is expected from those who continually remain at the top or near the top of the pedestal of their sport. The Salem girls swimming team seems to always perform with the best and finish their season's close to the top.

What coach Chuck Olson is counting on is reaching that level with the enormous crop of seniors that will make Salem an intimidating opponent to all those swimming in the same pool.

"We have plenty of experience and hopefully with their high level of work, we will have a tremendous group to rely on this year," Olson said.

The 52 swimmers will be headed by senior captains Sara Castillas, Melissa Mangan, Jenny Werthman and Zoe Yockey. Other contributing seniors will be Andrea Bien, Meghan Harvey, Carey Hyatt, Nicole Wallon, Anna Winkler, Merideth Wheeler and Jessica Geiseman.

"There's always a big chunk of seniors leaving, but with everyone moving up a year we look pretty good," Olson said. "We've always been at the top in the conference, we haven't been the best yet, but we're planning on it."

The team's first competition will take place at the Western Lakes Conference Relays tomorrow at Salem where 11 teams will start the season less stressful and less competitive in order to work the kinks out.

Salem swimming has one area where they feel they are very strong.

"Our strength will definitely be our freestyle swimmers, but our new swimmers will help shore up the specialty strokes like the back, breast, and butterfly," Olson said. "As of now we no major injuries and the team is very excited and enthused over what we're sure is going to be a successful year."

Rude behavior

Order in the court!

The Plymouth-Canton-Northville Community presiding.

The evidence is clear. Joe Muneum is guilty of rude behavior.

Muneum, a friend of State Rep. Deborah Whyman, lost his cool last Tuesday at the Canton Board of Trustees Meeting.

Muneum was at the meeting to help Whyman with her bid to find support for House Bill 4952, which would mean the end for Detroit Recorder's Court.

Muneum was in charge of video taping the event — and loudly laughing at anyone who spoke against the bill.

We're not talking an occasional snicker — this was full-fledged laughter — and it was downright rude and had no place at an official public meeting in our community.

The incident began after Whyman and Recorder's Court Judge Richard Jackson (eloquently) finished their arguments for and against the bill. Their tone was adversarial, but all in the proper spirit of discussion and debate.

Jim Netter of the NAACP then spoke in support of the Recorder's Court.

That's when the objectionable occurrence took place. Netter was trying to express his opinion when Muneum rudely broke into laughter.

No curves

By Rob Kirkbride

No one deserves to be laughed at during a public meeting. It is a disgrace to the reputation of our community and it's just plain wrong — in any situation. The question becomes: Why didn't Canton Supervisor Tom Yack gavel Muneum's rudeness?

Dismantling the Recorder's Court is a controversial issue, full of allegations of "playing the race card" coming from both sides.

Incidents like last Tuesday's do not help anyone's cause.

The Plymouth-Canton-Northville Community formally apologizes to Netter.

And Whyman should give Muneum some advice: Stay out of our meetings if you're there to be rude.

And a little advice for Whyman: Keep up the fight to reform Recorder's Court, but be a little more careful when choosing friends. When you lie down with the dogs, you may end up with fleas.

Case closed.

Post Office boxes should stay on Fralick

EDITOR:

Has anyone noticed the dramatic improvement in traffic flow in front of the Post Office on Penniman Avenue since the mail drop boxes were moved to Fralick Street?

Streetscape construction dictated this move, at least temporarily I'm told. From some of the discussions I've had with merchants on Penniman Avenue, there seems to be little sentiment in favor of returning the boxes to their original location after construction has been completed.

This sentiment is shared by the current downtown Post Office manager.

What are the advantages? Vastly improved traffic flow, safer passage for pedestrians crossing to enter the Post Office, easier ingress and egress to the angle parking spaces across the street and adequate room for those cars trying to pass through this twice-a-day bottleneck.

The disadvantages? I had heard that some merchants feel the increase in traffic to the drop boxes may enhance their business. Hardly! The safety hazard and congestion created by these boxes can in no way justify the remote chance that someone dropping off mail will drop into their store to shop on impulse.

Let's take advantage of the current construction to eliminate these boxes altogether, and keep them in their current location on Fralick Street. Let the Post Office manager know you agree. He is anxious to see this bottleneck removed permanently. Now is the time.

Safety problems make interchange at Plymouth Road, I-275 priority

For the safety of our community, the time has come to construct an interchange at I-275 and Plymouth Road.

Although the plan for the interchange was scrapped almost 12 years ago, a group called the Plymouth Road Interchange Committee — headed by Plymouth attorney Mike Gerou, has taken on the challenge to get the project off the ground once again.

The traffic congestion on Ann Arbor Road has caused truck drivers to bypass main roads and use subdivision streets.

The truck traffic in front of Allen School in Plymouth Township is dangerous and an exit at Plymouth Road would relieve the traffic pressure.

The economic benefits for the Township, City and Old Village are obvious.

The community needs to support Gerou and the Plymouth Road Interchange Committee.

The safety of our community is at stake.

Rotary Club remembers WWII vets

EDITOR:

On Aug. 25, the Plymouth Rotary sponsored "The Great Crusade Remembered — Rotary Heroes of World War II." 15 Plymouth Rotary World War II veterans honored the 12 million young men and women that served to preserve freedom.

Each spoke on his tour(s) of duty and its impact on them during the 50 years since. They brought uniforms, medals, pictures and many other items from the war. World War II songs were played in the background throughout the meeting.

As each spoke, their 50-year-old picture in uniform was shown on a large screen above their head.

The final speaker showed a video of him jumping out over Belgium in a gripping reenactment. This was followed by a song and taps.

Fifty years ago, the Japanese surrender concluded the effort by 12 million Americans who changed the course of history forever and the hundreds of thousands who made the ultimate sacrifice for freedom. Because of them, democracy is the government of choice in most countries of the world.

PCAC Rental gallery move shows how volunteerism works for group

EDITOR:

Today, my faith in volunteerism was restored! The Plymouth Community Arts Council's Art Rental Gallery was very efficiently moved from the Plymouth District Library to our new home at 774 N. Sheldon.

I had anticipated a large headache when I thought of all the artwork involved; instead, we had 16 wonderful workers, and overflow of vans, and the smoothest operation imaginable. It couldn't have been done without the help of Linda Anderson, Joanne Berg, Betsy Delaney, Nancy Dipert, Gordon and Pat Eddy, Bonnie King, Judy Lewis, Ginny Myrtle, Jeannie Retherford, Sandra Richards, Pam Solberg, Lois and Mariah Stuart, Phyllis Van Wagoner and Jo Wilson.

We also appreciated the cooperation of Pat Thomas and the library staff and Plymouth Police Chief Bob Scoggins.

We'll miss being at the library, but know we will be much more accessible at the new art center.

This move proved that a team effort works! I want to say thanks to all of them for a job well done.
