Commission campaign cloaked with controversy, confusion

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

The Plymouth City Commission election is less than two months away and the controversy and speculation surrounding two of the candidates remains red.

A default hearing that was scheduled against candidate William R. Warren was canceled according to City Attorney Don Morgan.

Warren of Plymouth filed a complaint against Warren because they felt his campaign for the City Commission and his position as the Plymouth Community Fire Chief would be a conflict of interest.

When the city didn't receive an answer on the complaint a default hearing was requested.

"The purpose of the hearing was there was no answer from Warren on the complaint filed," said Morgan. "We agreed to have the default set aside provided Warren filed an answer to the complaint by today (Monday), which was done."

According to Andrew Nickelhoff, Warren's attorney, the next step will be a declaratory ruling.

"Both sides are looking for a declaratory ruling," Nickelhoff said. "We (Warren) just want to clarify his rights in terms of running for office."

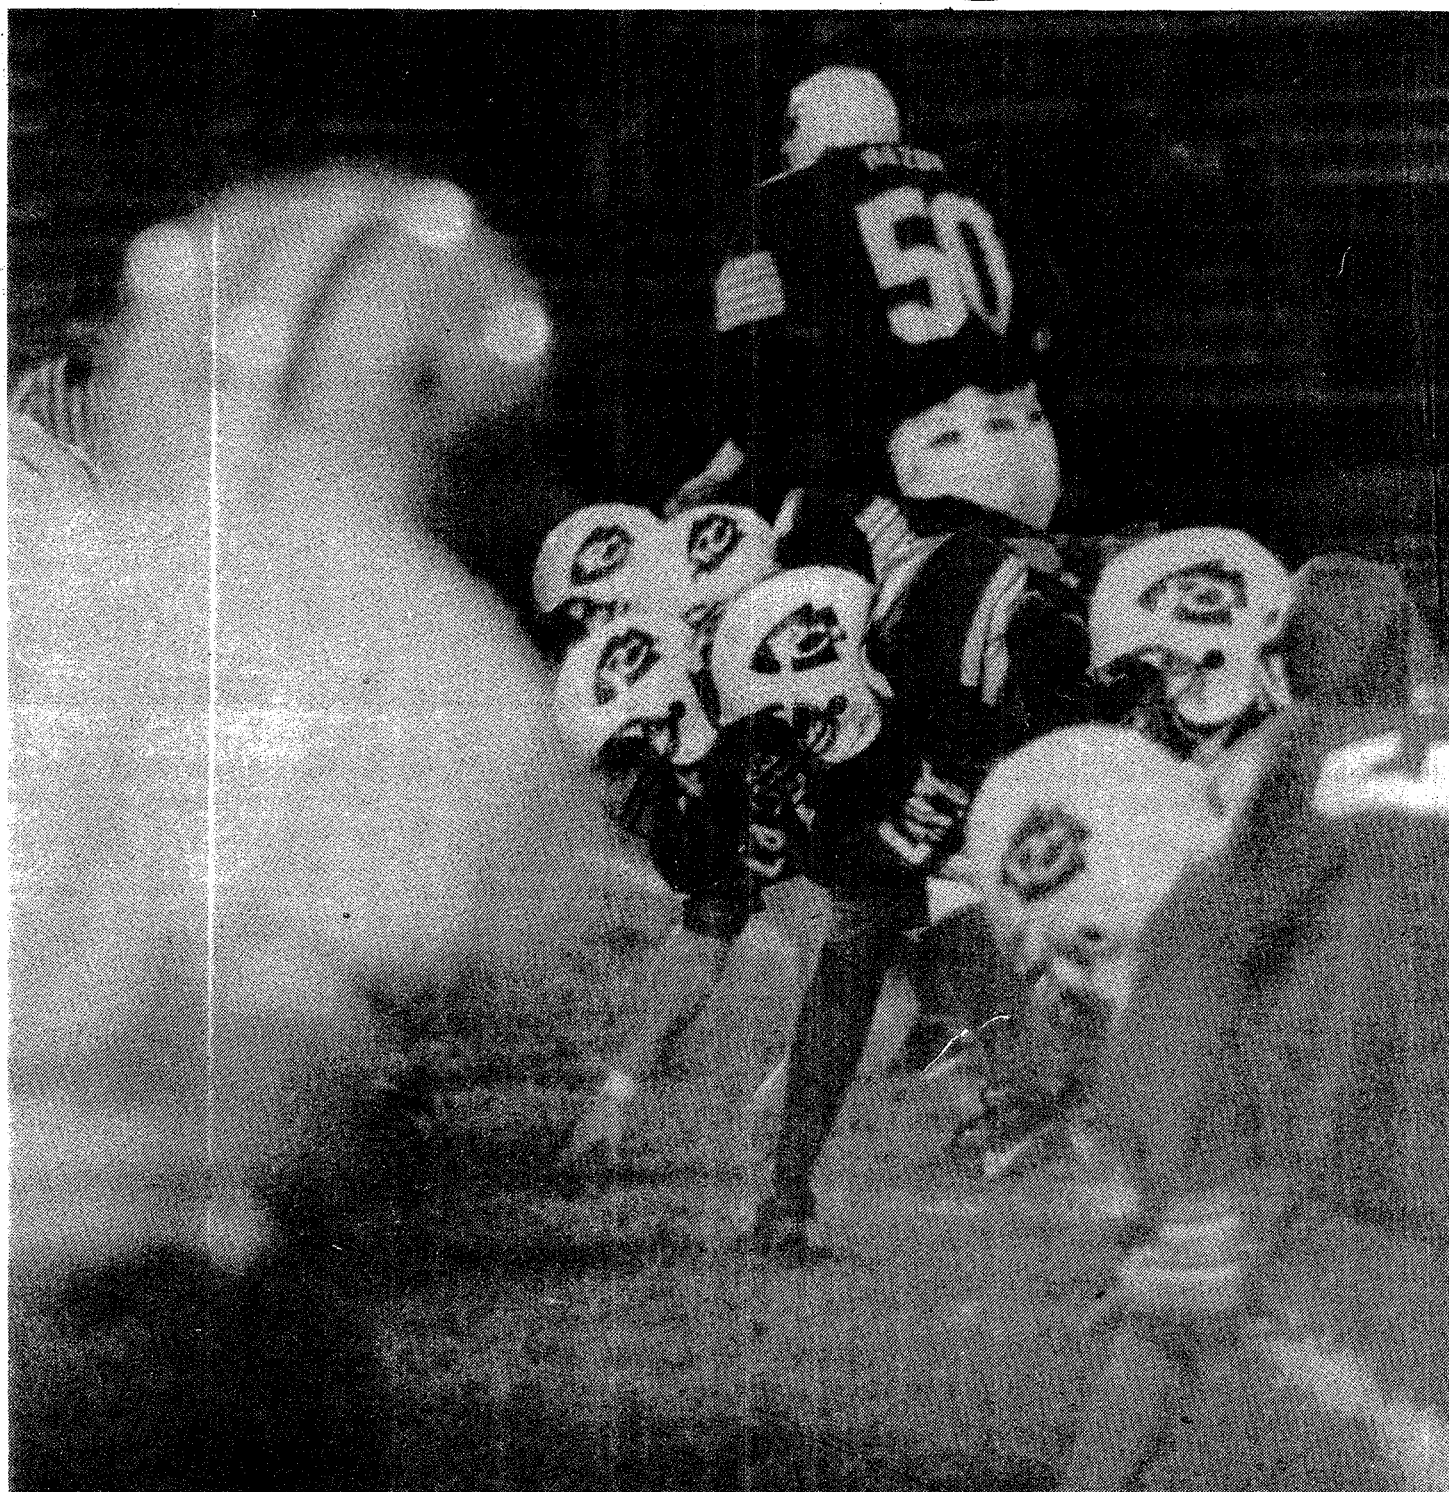

According to Warren's counter-complaint, written by Nickelhoff, "...Warren has the right to become a candidate for the City of Plymouth Commission without resigning or surrendering his employment with Plymouth Township."

Nickelhoff added that in similar situations the employee is usually allowed to run.

"In comparable situations the employee has been able to run for office and then

Hall of Fame, Community Achiever awards return to Canton

BY AIMEE PARENTI

The community will once again have a chance to recognize outstanding residents of Canton. The Canton Hall of Fame and Community Achiever award nominations are now being accepted after a one-year hiatus. The nomination deadline is set for Oct. 23.

Nominations for the Canton Hall of Fame, which are normally accepted annually in March, were postponed until the Summit on the Park banquet center could be completed. The Canton Hall of Fame banquet will be held Dec. 3.

Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack said Summit on the Park would make a better location. The Canton Hall of Fame banquet could also be included in conjunction with the "Community Holiday Celebration at the Summit."

Nomination forms for both the Hall of Fame and the Community Achiever awards are now available for residents and local supporters at the Canton Administration Building, the Canton Public Library, the Canton Chamber of Commerce office, and the Canton Foundation Office. Forms should be sent to Ken Voyles at 1150 S. Canton Center Rd., Canton, MI 48188 or faxed to him at 397-5382.

Canton Hall of Fame honors go to individuals who have proven to be supportive, and have made long-lasting contributions to the Canton Community, while Community Achiever awards recognize individuals who have made an outstanding achievement in the past year. Because there were no awards present in 1994, achievements will be recognized for both 1994 and 1995.

The Canton Hall of Fame and Community Achiever reception will help closeout a special weekend full of activities to help celebrate the opening of Summit on the Park. The reception is tentatively planned as an invitation-only event.

20 students disciplined after fights break out at PCEP Thursday

BY BRIAN CORBETT

Several fights and confrontations at the Plymouth-Canton Educational Park (PCEP) on Thursday resulted in Canton Police being called to the scene and about 20 students being disciplined.

Canton High School interim principal Ken Jacobs said five to six "skirmishes" occurred outside, including one that spilled into the north end of Canton High School. "Once it got inside it dissipated," Jacobs said.

Racial insensitivity was a factor in one of the fights said Salem High School principal Gerald Ostoin. "Race definitely had a fold in it," he said.

Said Jacobs: "There was one situation that involved racial intimidation that has been turned over to Canton Police."

African-American students were involved, as well as students known as "skinheads" said Sgt. Bernie Sayer.

Superintendent Charles Little described the incident as "regrettable." Little said it began as a "lover's quarrel" that quickly escalated with race dividing those involved. Jacobs said the other confrontations were not connected and were built up by the 200 to 300 students who witnessed them. "Most of them weren't even fights," he said.

Sayer said Canton Police were called to the scene after the skirmishes were broken up. He said no arrests were made.

Little said about 20 students were disciplined as a result of the violence. Ostoin said some of the students had been "permanently removed."

Ostoin said he believed a majority of the students involved were ninth graders unfamiliar with the PCEP's sensitivity policy instituted last year. "We try to work with dignity and respect," Ostoin said. "Those who were here last year would be sensitive to it."

Jacobs agreed with Ostoin's belief that the incidents involved mostly ninth graders. He also pointed out another five to six students had not been attending class for a while and were waiting to drop out of classes when the skirmishes broke out. Jacobs said those students were granted their wish to leave school.

Sayer said Canton Police returned to the PCEP Friday as a precautionary measure. "We were there (Friday) to make sure nothing more happened," Sayer said.

Officer Lew Stevens said there were rumors circulating about more fights on Friday, but nothing more ever developed.

Ostoin said security at the PCEP has changed as a result of the fights. "We have some new people," he said.

"I think we need to continue to promote the dignity and respect motto," Little said, who praised the other students at the PCEP for not getting involved.

Jacobs said preventative methods are always considered and said the schools had applied for and been accepted for a federal project for conflict resolutions. "We're always looking at putting new programs into place," he said.

Continental to consolidate regional offices in Twp.

BY BRIAN CORBETT

Continental Cablevision is in the process of finalizing plans to build a 100,000 square foot facility in Plymouth Township.

"We have signed a letter of intent," said Bill Black, director of corporate affairs for Continental Cablevision. "But we haven't finalized it with DeMattia. They're working on design and budget projects."

R.A. DeMattia Co. is a Plymouth-based architectural and design firm.

Black said the plans have not reached the Township Planning Commission. "I don't know if they've seen anything on that," Black said.

Black said the facility will be located hold office," he said. The hearing date for the declaratory ruling has not been set. While Warren's candidacy and the issues surrounding it have been heating up, candidate Craig Brass has tried to put to rest some of the questions surrounding his candidacy. Brass joined in the City Commission race at the urging of friends and family. It was those same people who have convinced Brass to "stay" in the race.

There has been some speculation, because of a serious family situation, that Brass would not take the position if he was elected. That, according to Brass, is wrong. "The scenario is that I'm running but I'm not campaigning," he said. "What's most important to me now is taking care of my family situations." The family situations that have caused the time constraints include his new daughter and his wife Bev.

"I've got a two-and-a-half-month old baby and my wife is currently going through serious medical treatment," said Brass. "I'm not able to organize anything that would resemble a campaign."

Although time won't allow Brass to actively campaign now, his wife's medical treatment situation is expected to improve about the same time as the election. That would enable him to serve as a commissioner, he said. "I have no qualms if people who haven't met me don't vote for me (because of the lack of campaigning)," said Brass. "But I think I'm entirely capable of doing this job. "I want the city to remain as strong as it has been and improve on it," he added.

Glumm waves right to pretrial in assault case

City of Plymouth - Plymouth resident Barbara Ann Glumm waived her right to a pretrial examination in 35th District Court Friday.

Glumm has been charged with assault with intent to murder following an incident at her home in which she is accused of stabbing 38-year-old David Warnick on Deer Street on Sept. 10.

According to police reports, the police were called to the home after Warnick and Robert Carley, Glumm's brother, began fighting.

Glumm is accused of stabbing Warnick twice during the fight. Carley was arrested for obstructing police.

The next step for Glumm will be an arraignment on the information in Detroit Recorder's Court on Sept. 29th.

Kingsboro Cleaners robbed

Canton - Kingsboro Cleaners on N. Lilley Road was broken into sometime between the hours of 7 p.m., Sept. 14 and 7 a.m., Sept. 15. The burglars, according to Canton Police, entered the cleaners through the roof and slid down a 10 inch to 20 inch vent to the rear of the shop.

The break in caused approximately $300 worth of damage in addition to the estimated $300 taken.

Canton Police are investigating.

Canton - Dad's Party Store on Warren Road also fell victim to a roof-top break-in sometime between the late hours of Sept. 14 and early Sept. 15 according to Canton Police.

Police work together to catch suspected thief

Plymouth Township - Plymouth Township Police teamed with neighboring officers in Canton to stop thefts that have been occurring at the First United Methodist Church since late July, according to Investigator Steve Mann of the Plymouth Township Police.

Mann said Plymouth Township Police set up a surveillance camera, on loan from Canton, and on Friday caught the suspected thief.

The 18-year-old Canton resident will be charged with larceny over $100. He is accused of taking approximately $1,000 from the churches petty cash fund, according to police reports.

Newspapers distribution center remains quiet

Plymouth Township - The Detroit Newspapers Distribution Center, located at Metro Park West, who began distributing The Detroit News and the Detroit Free Press from the center Sept. 10 has remained quiet, according to Plymouth Township Police Chief Carl Berry.

"We've had nothing out here," he said.

His officers, however, remain ready for any future conflicts in the area, he said.

"We are ready for any trouble at the sight, no matter who it is (management or picketers)," Berry added.

Artrageous celebrates second year

BY JANET ARMSTRONG

What do 13 area restaurants, 13 galleries, Plymouth-Canton School students, the Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC) and music in the street have in common?

The Artrageous '95 Gallery Walk scheduled for Sept. 29 - Oct. 1.

The event, now in its second year, was the idea of the PCAC and the local gallery owners, in an effort to bring the community closer to the art available in Plymouth.

"Plymouth is changing, it's not a country bumpkin town," said Annette Horn, the chairperson of the event. "We want the community to know that we have something special here."

On the opening night of the event, Sept. 29, each of the 13 galleries involved will have Hors d'oeuvres for visitors from one of the 13 area restaurants involved.

Each gallery will also have an artist on hand during the weekend to exhibit their individual art work and speak with visitors.

Also planned is a contest in which Plymouth-Canton School students will create chalk murals Sept. 28 and 29th with the judging taking place on the 29th.

That's not the only way that the students will be involved with the event according to Horn.

"We're showing student art work at the galleries Sunday afternoon," said Horn. "It will be exciting for them to see their work on display in the community where they live."

Horn said the group wanted to make the event as entertaining to visitors as possible.

"We wanted the atmosphere to be more entertaining," she said. "So we Artrageous is more than just art, it's also entertainment — including roving music groups. (Crier photo by Craig Breil) added music on the street."

The violin, pop/classical guitar, Baritone saxophone, clarinet and flute will serenade visitors from the street.

Plymouth Theatre Guild begins season

Several nuns were left dead recently when their cook accidentally poisoned them.

Faced with the dilemma of burying their fellow nuns, the remaining five found themselves out of money before they were out of nuns.

In an effort to raise the burial money needed the nuns did the most logical thing they could - they decided to hold a fundraiser.

No, this isn't the most recent story playing out in the tabloid media, it's the first show of the Plymouth Theatre Guild's 49th season.

Performances of Dan Goggin's show "Nonsense" began with opening night Sept. 15 and included the group's first ever benefit performance Sept. 19.

According to the guild's Karen Groves, hosting a benefit show was a logical way for the group to become more involved in the community.

"It's really important for us to give something back to the community," she said. "If we can help out an organization like the Cancer Institute (the Karmanos Cancer Institute which was formerly known as the Michigan Cancer Foundation) we all benefit."

Nonsense, which is being performed at the Water Tower Theatre on the campus of the Northville Regional Hospital, runs Friday and Saturday with performances at 8 p.m., Sunday at 6 p.m. and Sept. 29 and 30 at 8 p.m.

General seating tickets for upcoming shows are $9 in advance or $10 at the door.

According to Groves everyone should take this opportunity and experience live theater.

"This show is hilariously funny," she said. "There's nothing like live entertainment."

Groves added the group is always looking for new members to join and you don't have to want to be the next Glenn Close or Mel Gibson.

"We have a lot of people who don't want to act, but find a niche in the group doing something backstage," said Groves. "For every one person on stage, we need five to 10 people behind the scenes."

The Plymouth Theatre Guild has several shows lined up for the 1995-1996 season in addition to "Nonsense" including: "Death of a Salesman", "Oklahoma!" and "The Owl and the Pussycat".

Krueger dies in car accident on I-96 near Lansing

All-state Catholic Central wrestler was son of Salem High School teacher, coach — 3 local residents injured in roll over accident

Plymouth resident Daniel S. Krueger was killed Sunday afternoon in a rollover accident on I-96 in LeRoy Township in Ingham County.

Krueger, 18, is the son of Salem High School teacher and coach Ronald Krueger.

Sgt. Trenton Taylor of the Ingham County Sheriff Department said Krueger, Plymouth residents Barton James Nafe and Kirsten Clough, and Canton resident Andrew Thomas Bertha III were traveling east on I-96 at 2:21 p.m. when Nafe hit the shoulder on the side of the road. Taylor said Nafe over corrected, lost control and struck a guardrail sending the vehicle rolling.

Taylor said the vehicle rolled three times, throwing Clough and Krueger from its confines. Clough, 19, sustained a broken wrist. Nafe, 17, sustained minor injuries and Bertha, 18 and the front seat passenger, had back and chest injuries.

Taylor said there were no other vehicles involved.

west of Beck Road between Five Mile and M-14. "It's adjacent to one of (DeMattia's) existing parks," Black said. "So it'll be one of his new developments."

Black said the facility will employ 250 people and have office and warehouse space. Black said the facility will consolidate regional offices. "I want to stress that we will still have regional customer service offices," Black said.

Black said Continental Cablevision hopes to break ground in January, with a completion date set for January-March 1997. Black said DeMattia was still working on cost estimates for the facility.

Black said Continental Cablevision chose Plymouth for its accessibility to expressways. He also said, "We think it's a good central location for where we'll be doing business after we close on the Omnicom/Continental contract."

Continental is negotiating a contact to buy out Omnicom Cable and serve The Plymouth-Canton Community.

Taylor said they were transported by ambulance to Sparrow Hospital in Lansing after receiving treatment from Ingham County Sheriff paramedics and Dr. Ron Rouhle. Taylor said they have all been released.

Taylor said alcohol did not play a role in the accident, but possible excessive speed does. He said the investigation is ongoing and could be completed in anywhere from a week to a month's time. It will then be sent to prosecutor's office.

Krueger was born March 20, 1977, in Ann Arbor and was a life-long Plymouth resident. He attended Catholic Central High School in Redford where he was an

All-State wrestler. He was also a member of the football and lacrosse teams. Krueger was on the staff of the student newspaper and yearbook, and worked on the sign painting committee. He was active in the student government as a home room representative for four years. Krueger graduated in June and enrolled at Eastern Michigan University and joined the wrestling team. He was also a member of Good Counsel Catholic Church.

Krueger is survived by his parents, Ronald and Dolores; sister, Kristen A.; brothers, Lee F. and Jason L.; grandmother Mildred M; and grandfather Bolek Woloszynek.

Visitation was held yesterday and will be held today from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Schrader-Howell Funeral Home. Services will be held tomorrow at Good Counsel Catholic Church with Fr. John H. Menner officiating. Memorials to Catholic Central High School are appreciated.

"It's just so sad a person's life passes so quickly," said Superintendent Charles Little.

Greg Grabowski of the Catholic Central Alumni Association said students have been given Thursday off so they can attend the funeral.

Soda Jerk brings the '50s to Plymouth

Juke box, floats, sodas, burgers makes for traditional '50s atmosphere

BY BRIAN CORBETT

All of Plymouth was screaming for ice cream according to Plymouth resident Nancy McKeon.

"It seemed to scream for an ice cream shop around here," said McKeon.

And not just any ice cream shop McKeon said. "This town needed a destination-style ice cream shop," she said.

So McKeon opened Soda Jerk, 1456 Sheldon Rd. Serving floats, malts, ice cream, yogurt, sodas, soups, chili and sandwiches under the watchful eye of a wall covered with "The Little Rascals", Marilyn Monroe and Elvis Presley. "The response has been overwhelming," said McKeon. "People seemed to be waiting for a spot like this."

All different ages of people too McKeon says. Senior citizens stop in to enjoy a soda and slip a quarter in the juke box to dance to the "Tennessee Waltz." Families drop by to try a lick of one of McKeon's 28 flavors of ice cream. "Then I get all the teenagers, and then I'll be lined up so late," McKeon said. "And they're a good group of kids."

It could be argued McKeon's free-spirited and kind customers are a reflection of her close-knit staff. Her parents, Norman and Helen Bagley, come in to help handle the grill during lunch and dinner.

Even McKeon's daughter, Kathy, gets into the act helping her wash dishes. And then there is her 20-person wait staff, a majority of which is McKeon's neighbors or friends. To guarantee McKeon is hiring the best soda jerk she can find, her younger employees must be accompanied by their parents at the interviews, and keep up their grades while working for the Soda Jerk.

"It's not like I'm trying to be the boss or anything," says McKeon, "I just think their school is more important than their

Nancy McKeon, owner of Soda Jerk in Plymouth, may be sitting down on the job here, but normally she is working the soda fountain and the grill until late at night. (Crier photo by Brian Corbett)

"Even with a staff of "smart" and hard workers" McKeon admits she is having trouble keeping up with the popularity of her business. "We were mobbed from day one," she said.

"I thought we'd learn and grow with this, but we got slammed," McKeon said.

McKeon was supposed to open in May, but construction forced her to delay the opening for three months. She thinks the curiosity that built up with each delay has led to her immediate success. McKeon didn't know what to expect either after spending four months collecting memorabilia other than knowing she would be working for herself.

"I wanted to succeed or fail on my own," said McKeon.

As it stands now, Plymouth has deemed McKeon successful.

Said McKeon: "How often in your life do you have something in your mind played out perfect?"

The Soda Jerk opens at 11 a.m. during weekdays to grill up "classic fifties fare" burgers McKeon said and swings until 9 p.m. On Friday and Saturday the juke box keeps playing until midnight.

Backyard Birds lands in Plymouth

BY BRIAN CORBETT

This one is for the birds — literally.

Backyard Birds, 627 S. Main St., opened this month featuring a wide assortment of bird feeders, houses and birding supplies.

"We want to have fun with what we do — stay light-hearted," said owner Gary Phillips. "But I'm informative too."

Phillips opened the store in Plymouth after convincing founders Ernie Kramer and Georgeanna Koruchko that Plymouth would be a great place to open Backyard Birds sixth store. "They wanted a store in Ann Arbor. I thought Plymouth would be a better slot," said Phillips

"Plymouth is just a beautiful town," said Phillips.

After four years of dedicated bird watching, and a lifetime of interest in our feathered friends; Phillips is flying high with his new business. "I had a year's hiatus from my other job," he said, "and I got to feed and nurture birds in my backyard."

As a result, Phillips was visiting bird feed outlets with increasing frequency. "My wife turned to me and said, 'Why don't you do something like that?'"

So he did. And now Phillips is at work, doing what has always seemed natural. "I've always enjoyed nature," he said. "I've always enjoyed birds and wildlife."

Phillips said bird watching is a great sport because it is pleasurable and enjoyable, and it does not place the demands on people that other pets or hobbies usually do. He said chickadees, cardinals, blue jays and woodpeckers are his favorite to watch. "Their behavior; how they fly, what they do," Phillips said. "Each bird has a different behavior."

Phillips is offering several giveaways and specials to celebrate his opening, including a free food scooper when a customer buys $10 worth of merchandise and free samples of bird seed. "Our seed is just pure blended, just good stuff for birds," Phillips said.

Backyard Birds also stocks wind chimes, nature tapes, book and field guides, garden statuary, bird baths and other items.

Canton falls 28-14 to perennial powerhouse Harrison

BY MATT HUCAL

Close, but no cigar.

The Canton football team hosted perennial powerhouse and defending Class AA champion Farmington Harrison last Friday night and put up a good fight, but came up short and lost 28-14.

Canton held their own throughout the game, but the qualities that have made Harrison such a strong team seemed to lead them to the victory.

One quality Harrison's always possessed has been a dangerous weapon. Last year it was a fullback who has since moved on to play at the University of Florida, and this year it was senior tailback and cornerback Jason Granger. The speedy runner was what Canton coach Bob Khoenle emphasized as Harrison's major strength, and although his team was ready for him, Granger was his usual self and racked up many yards.

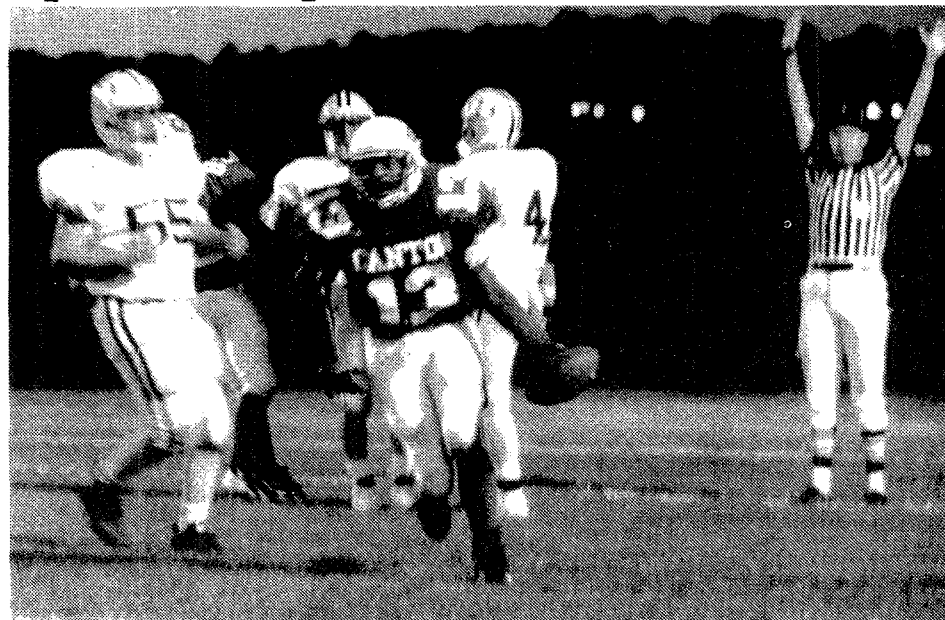

"Granger killed us," Khoenle said. "He's quick and fast and we knew that no matter how well we played that sooner or later he'd break a long one."

Canton did hold him in check until the end of the third quarter when the score was tied at 14. With 1:18 left in the third quarter, Granger scored on a 61 yard run that could be classified as the turning point of the game.

The scoring began with Harrison running in a touchdown on their opening drive. Canton then retaliated with a 55 yard touchdown pass from junior quarterback Rob Johnson to senior receiver Ron Hunter, but then missed the extra point.

The next score was by Canton sophomore fullback Nick Allen when he ran it in four yards at 7:48 of the second quarter. They scored on the two point conversion to go ahead 14-7. Granger ran for Harrison's next touchdown at 1:50 of the second quarter to tie the game at 14-14.

Canton then missed on an opportunity that doesn't come along often against a team like Harrison. Canton had the ball at the 50 yard line with just over 10 seconds left in the first half. Johnson went back to pass and heaved the ball about 50-55 yards in the air right into the arms of senior receiver Nick Belyk at the goal line, but he dropped it.

Khoenle believes the play early in the second half when Hunter recovered a Harrison fumble at Harrison's 27 yard line, then Johnson fumbled on the very next play changed the tide of the game.

"If we could've capitalized on that turnover I think the game would've ended differently," Khoenle said. "But all of our turnovers were costly."

Granger's long run was the next score, then Harrison scored on a short run to end all the scoring. Canton was finished at 5:50 of the fourth quarter when Granger intercepted Johnson.

Canton has played two highly ranked teams out of the three games they've played. Monroe was their opponent the first week and Canton lost 35-14. They then played Walled Lake Central and won 22-13. Khoenle thinks they're improving week after week.

"Considering we've played a big, strong team like Monroe and a team like Harrison with one of the top five running backs in the state, I think we're playing pretty good," Khoenle said. "We're playing with a lot of effort and enthusiasm, and if we keep it up good things should happen."

Khoenle thinks his underclassmen backfield is holding their own and is also impressed with the way senior Shaun Dyer and junior Nick Kanaan are playing on defense and how senior Kris Hornick is playing at both tackles.

Canton's next game is at Franklin on Saturday at 1 p.m.

Steeler varsity, JV remain perfect, frosh fall against Dearborn Heights

The Plymouth-Canton Steelers varsity and JV football squads romped over the Dearborn Heights Redskins on Saturday 39-0 and 30-0 respectively, each earning their second victory of the season with no defeats. The freshman team suffered their second loss, 12-0.

The varsity got off to a quick start, scoring 27 points in the first quarter. Jason Evans returned a punt 15 yards for the first Steeler touchdown. Two minutes later, Mike Hardin swept around the left end for a 19 yard score. Andy Kocoloski followed with a 32-yard-run, making the score 20-0, just six minutes into the game. Evans scored two more times on runs of four and 19 yards. Brad Wells finished the scoring on a one yard plunge in the third quarter. Ian Winter gained 102 yards on six carries.

Leading the Steelers on defense to their second straight shutout were Pete Hoskins, Trevor Wildman, Brian Applegate, Matt Fair and Winter who combined for 32 tackles.

The JV started off with a bang as Chris Trott returned the opening kickoff 70 yards for a touchdown. Jarry Gaines had touchdown runs of six and 12 yards. Jordan Robertson had a two-yard-dive for the final touchdown. Marshall Tucker had a fine defensive game as he combined with Chris Pisani for a safety, had two quarterback sacks and an interception. Charlie Haeger added four points on PAT kicks and also had an interception as the JV recorded their second straight shutout. The freshman were locked in a defensive struggle until late in the fourth quarter, losing to the Redskins 12-0. Matthew Harman had 13 tackles and Daniel Taylor added nine tackles to go with 45 yards rushing. Brandon Mancini recovered a fumble for the Steelers. The Steelers play at home on Sunday, Sept. 24 starting with the freshman kickoff at noon at Central Middle School.

Salem golf stuns 8th ranked Churchill

The Salem Golf Team stunned eighth-ranked Churchill Monday at home, 201 to 213.

The team was lead by Mike Hjelmstad, who shot a scorching one-under-par 34 at Hilltop Golf Course.

Salem coach Rick Wilson said Hjelmstad and the team have been on a roll. "(Hjelmstad) has been on a streak for a week," he said. "I nominated him for the 'athlete of the week' award. He's played great.

"If he keeps that pace up, he'll do something at the state level."

Hjelmstad was not the only Rock to rise to the occasion against Churchill, a tough conference foe. Ryan Andrzejewski shot a 40, Brian Fox came in with a 41, Adam Wilson ended with a 42 and Jeff Lear shot a 44.

The victory over Churchill improves the Rocks' conference mark to 3-0. Salem is 6-0 overall and are looking to defend their Western Lakes Conference title following some early season injuries they suffered this year.

"I tell the kids to play one shot at a time," he said. "We've seen matches come down to one shot. If one of the kids has a bad hole, I tell them to put it behind them."

Wilson said the team must play well if they hope to return to the state tournament again this year.

They face Walled Lake Western today and Stevenson Friday at home. Stevenson is expected to be the Rocks' toughest divisional opponent this year. In the other division, Churchill and Northville are the teams to beat.

Wilson said that if the team performs well at home, the season should be successful.

"At our home golf course (Hilltop), the greens are very difficult — sloping and undulating," he said.

"With our kids putting on those greens every day, it gives us a tremendous home course advantage. I think we're going to win our share at home."

Salem basketball nearly pulls off upset against Flint Northern

BY MATT HUCAL

They almost pulled it off.

The Salem girls basketball team played even up to the defending Class A champion Flint Northern, and almost pulled off an upset, but were defeated 46-40 at home on Saturday.

Coach Fred Thomann, perspiring and energized by the close outcome after the game, was very impressed with the way his team competed with a Flint Northern team that didn't lose anyone from their championship season.

"Our players did a nice job and hung in there throughout the whole game," Thomann said. "We really showed a lot about our team with the way we stayed in it."

The game was expected to be a tough one for Salem, especially after they were supposed to play Northville, a top 25 team in the state, on the Thursday before the Northern game. That game was switched until October because of a coaching change that just took place there. So with some rest and time on their hands they were able to prepare longer.

The score of the game was tied 23-23 after the first half and the outcome was up for grabs. Then in the third quarter Northern seemed to step it up a notch.

Thomann was impressed with the way Northern used their speed in the second half, "After half-time Northern came out running, and we couldn't control it. They had a lot of breakaways and were playing more fast paced. That's how they outscored us in the third quarter."

Northern outscored Salem 10-4 in the third quarter and in the fourth quarter the scoring was tied at 13 a piece.

The leading scorer for Salem was senior Shellye Sills who had 11 points, eight rebounds, and two steals. Sophomore Amanda Abraham and freshman Angela Sillmon each had seven points while senior Nicole Van Hees had five points, four rebounds, and three assists and freshman Andrea Pruitt had five points, seven rebounds, and three steals.

Salem's upcoming games should be tough as they travel to Walled Lake Western tomorrow and host Adrian on Saturday, but Thomann realizes that his team has improved throughout the season and can compete on any level with any team.

Plymouth to hosts air rifle hot shots at WWCCA club

BY MATT HUCAL

Ready, aim, fire.

The Western Wayne County Conservation Association (WWCCA) will be hosting the 1995 World Championship Field Target Competition for air rifles. It will be taking place September 29-October 1 at WWCCA's club grounds at 6700 Napier Road in Plymouth.

Garry Heath, one of the WWCCA board of directors, believes the public will enjoy the competition very much.

"We hosted this a few years ago and we had such a big turnout and it was so successful that they decided to bring it back here," Heath said.

What the competition will consist of is a 150 shot match with 50 shots per day. There will be three 25-lane courses with one target per lane and two shots per target. Day one and two will be qualifiers for classification and the final position round will be on Sunday.

Classes will be set up for pre-charged guns, those which use introduced air for discharge, and Piston guns, those using movement of a piston to compress air for discharge.

"This is one of the most precision sports and is more advanced and difficult than shooting rifles," Heath said. "We don't use gun powder, but we use compressed air and gas."

According to Ron Smith, WWCCA Air Gun Chairman, some of the world's top air gun shooters will be in attendance for this match from as far away as Australia.

point of the season and had a certain level of play we hoped to be at," Thomann said. "Now we hope to build from this game and reach a higher level in the next four weeks."

Heath thinks that it would be worth the time to go out to the competition. There will be shooters with guns worth thousands of dollars showing their stuff off.

"A lot of people from England will be here," Heath said. "It's really popular over there, and they are very experienced and very good at the sport."

The WWCCA is located on Napier Road between North Territorial and Five Mile Road approximately three miles west of Plymouth.

Mayflower experience less than satisfactory

EDITOR:

I came to Plymouth to visit friends during Fall Festival this year and stayed at the Mayflower Hotel. To me, the Mayflower is synonymous with Plymouth and I have thought of it over the years as a pleasant property with a great centralized location.

That is no longer so. If something is not done quickly, the hotel, like its namesake, will be history.

I found a property in an advanced state of disrepair. As soon as you set foot in the building you notice a strong odor of stale tobacco (and I smoke occasionally) and mildewed carpeting. The carpets in the lobby and halls were frayed and pulling up — an uninviting first impression inviting a lawsuit from the first person that takes a spill after hooking a toe.

The staff of the Mayflower was cordial and helpful, so I am sorry to say they were also somewhat unprofessional. With personnel hanging out in the lobby talking and clowning around the place had more the feel of a college dormitory than a hotel.

My suite in the main building was sparsely furnished though the furniture in it was quite serviceable. The elevators, however, needed a serious sprucing-up. The shower stall in my suite was an inexpensive addition. The towels were thin and cheap. Curiously, there was only one toilet seat — the half-moon type — and not a second, covering seat. This may not sound important, but early one morning I nearly drowned my shaving kit before I realized the john could not be used as a table.

I cannot speak directly to the food and catering because I did not eat at the Mayflower.

I did, however, walk in on a group of about a dozen businessmen who had apparently gotten together at one of the Mayflower restaurants for a breakfast meeting and they seemed to be extremely unhappy with the arrangements. I went up the road to the deli for coffee.

Overall, the presentation is so bad that I doubt anyone who stays there now would book another trip. If the new owners are serious about maintaining the good reputation on the Mayflower Hotel they need to get their renovations underway immediately.

Speed radar trailer purchase is wasteful, books more important

EDITOR:

How can P-C Schools Superintendent Charles Little even consider spending $15,000 on a speed radar trailer when three months ago voters rejected a millage that was to be used on books?

Wouldn't the money be used more wisely on actual textbooks for students?

Let the local police enforce the speed limit if there's a problem. If they can't do it, perhaps speed bumps could be installed to prevent motorists from speeding in school zones.

Enforcing safe speed limits should not have to come out of the school district's budget. This is another example of waste in The Plymouth-Canton School system.

SUE CAMPBELL

Plymouth Road interchange idea needs more study

EDITOR:

A recent update on the proposed I-275/Plymouth Road interchange contained the headline, "Project moving quickly." My question to the interchange committee is, "What's the hurry?"

With all due respect to the committee, is the interchange the dream of a few opportunists? Or is this truly a project that has been researched for the benefit of the entire community? Who are the members of the committee, what is their motivation, and how will the project be financed? (Legislators are proposing a gas tax solely to fund repairs for existing highways).

Perhaps these questions have been answered in previous news articles and letters that I have missed. However, I feel the questions are worth repeating, since I am sure there are people who are not aware that this project is unfolding.

One reason for the interchange is to relieve traffic congestion at the Ann Arbor Road and Ford Road interchanges. By design, that is one intent of freeways and interchanges; to relieve congestion in other areas.

However, instead of traffic relief, freeways and interchanges encourage more development, and more traffic. Eventually, the new freeways and interchanges mirror the same roads they were meant to replace. The existing roads do not experience less traffic and the new roads experience more.

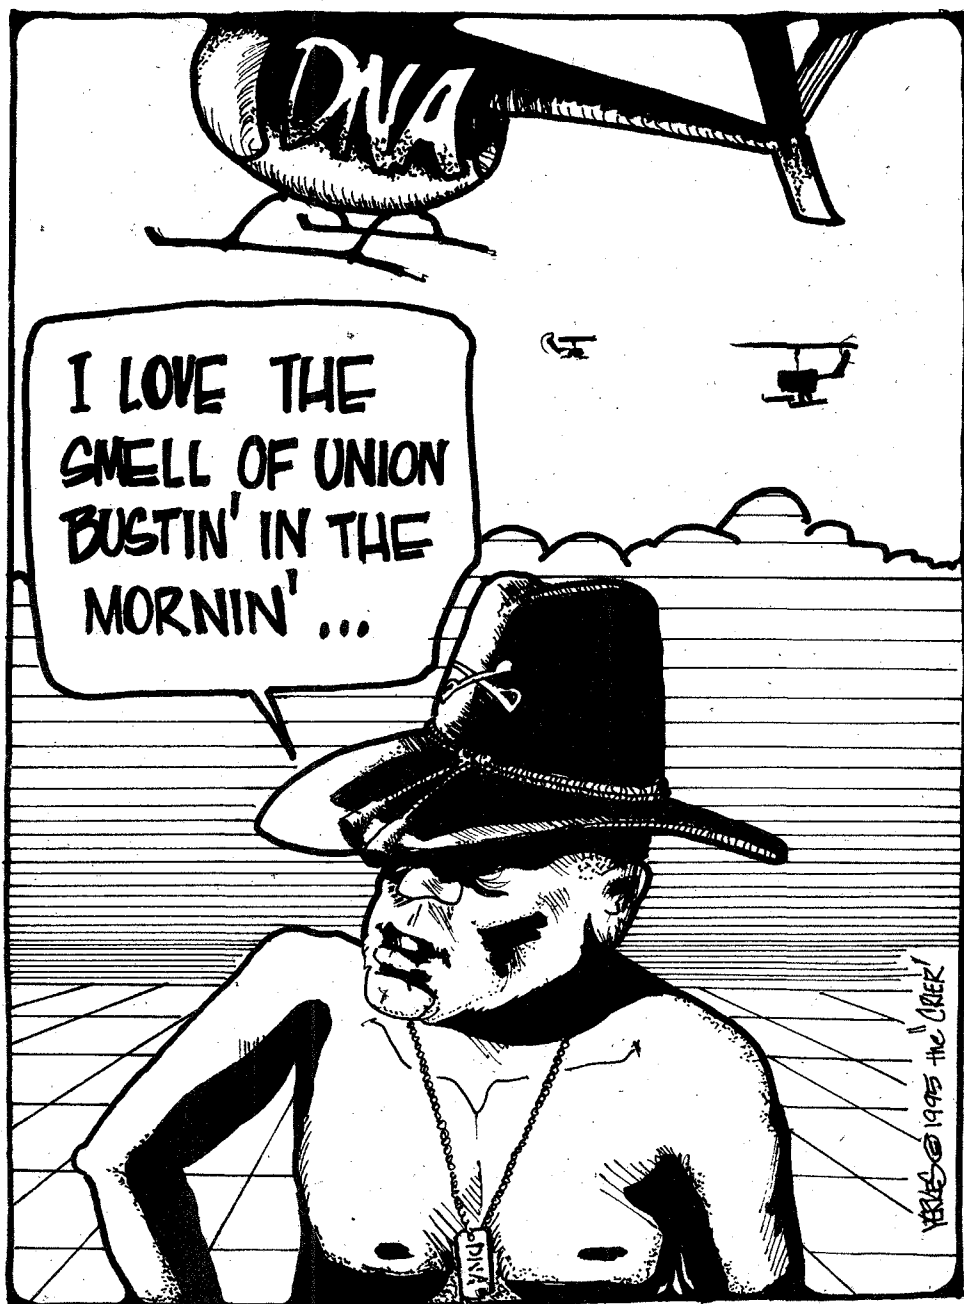

An increase in Plymouth Road traffic would have a significant impact on the City of Plymouth and Main Street. The increased traffic volume, railroad crossing delays, and pedestrian safety are concerns that need to be studied. To deter traffic on Main Street, a suggestion is to impose a 25 mile per hour speed limit. The speed limit is already in place, is not obeyed, and has not reduced traffic.

I commend the committee for the research it has accomplished. However, I am skeptical of the interchange for the reason that a project of this size appears to have more steam than less costlier traffic safety improvements, such as adding a right turn lane or installing a left turn traffic light.

The impact of a new church building at Beck Road, which has sparked loud concerns, pales in comparison to the impact a major freeway interchange will have on the community. Ironically, it is the interchange project that has received little opposition.

If the new interchange means progress, by all means let us plant the seed. The promises of planned development are eventually lost though, due to lack of cultivation. Before the community embraces the new interchange like a long awaited harvest, we should remember that history repeats itself, and not be surprised when the growth becomes over ripe.

Heart of gold

Leonard Grunwald quietly made the world a better place

He was everybody's friend — both the young and the young at heart.

Leonard Grunwald, owner of Plymouth-based Grunwald's House of Fudge, died Sept. 2 — just four days short of his 75th birthday.

He will be remembered by everyone who was enticed to walk in his candy shop door by the smell of warm fudge as a man with a heart of gold.

Leonard was the first person I met (outside the newspaper) when I came to Plymouth two years ago.

It was a frigid day in January that I started working at The Crier — it was also the first time I met Leonard. The temperature was -20 degrees with a windchill that made it seem twice as cold.

My first job was to deliver newspapers to downtown businesses. House of Fudge was one of the first places I stopped. The minute I walked in, I knew I would like this place — it smelled incredible. As I warmed my hands, Leonard carved off the end piece of a batch of fudge he was working on. He handed me the candy, which probably weighed a pound, and thanked me for bringing the newspaper. If I remember correctly, it was a piece of chocolate raspberry fudge — it was the best piece of fudge I've ever tasted. Not only did I like the candy, I also became friends with Leonard.

Leonard made friends easily. Leonard's wife Peggy said the children who came into the candy store were some of his best friends. "He loved making children happy," she said.

His love of children may have began when he drove bus when he was living in Gaylord. Where ever the love came from, Leonard somehow put it in the candy he made.

It all started 20 years ago when Leonard was asked by a friend to help

Thanks for Fall Festival help

EDITOR:

I would like to express my appreciation to all of the Fall Festival patrons who helped me create such a wonderful atmosphere.

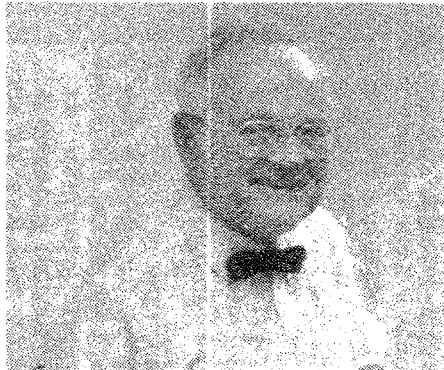

The food was magnificent, the festival-goers were wonderful and the weather could not have been better.

As other Fall Festival Board Members are aware, there is a lot of organization and coordination that goes into making a large festival run smoothly. My goal was to produce a festival for people of all ages and also provide some memories for this commemorative year. I think that this was certainly achieved through the opening ceremonies and the car raffle.

LEONARD GRUNWALD

run a candy store. From there it grew, and after a couple other locations, he opened a candy store in Plymouth in 1982, the day after Thanksgiving.

"We lived in Northville Township," said Peggy, "and when we started looking for a location, we checked from Birmingham to Canton. Plymouth turned out to be the place we wanted to be."

Leonard started the business as a wholesale operation and later opened the retail end of the business. He also ran a popular fudge stand at the Plymouth Farmers Market and a stand at the Gibraltar Trade Center. From the very beginning, Leonard and Peggy's daughter, Darla O'Callaghan, was there to help with the day-to-day operation of the store. Darla will continue to run the candy shop. "She knows every aspect of the business," said Peggy.

Leonard and Peggy also have two sons; David, who works for General Motors and lives in Ann Arbor; and Dennis, who is a radio disc jockey in Matawan.

In addition to his love for his family and his fudge, Leonard also enjoyed working on his rose garden.

Peggy said Leonard made the House of Fudge employees feel like part of the family. "Almost all the people who worked here stayed with us," Peggy said.

Leonard treated people with respect and kindness — and those rare values did not go unnoticed.

"I knew he was well liked," said Peggy, "but it's just been incredible. I have never received so many hugs. It does make a difference."

As Peggy leafed through a packet of newspaper clippings about Leonard and the House of Fudge during our interview Monday, she stopped at an article about President Bill Clinton's visit to Detroit. "Leonard sent over a tray of fudge and candy when the President came to town," said Peggy. "The white chocolate covered potato chips were the hit of the meal."

From the President of the United States to just about every kid in town who has tasted his fudge and enjoyed his company, Leonard's life proves that one person can make a difference. He is one of those exceptional people who made the world a better place to live.

Goodbye, Candy Man — you will be missed.

We also tried to update the entertainment so that all age groups could enjoy the shows.

I would like to personally thank the people who supported me during the planning stages and that helped me attain such a wonderful festival. Once again, it proves that the people in the Plymouth community do come together and the results are incredible.

Thank you to the City of Plymouth and their faithful employees, the Fall Festival Board Members, the Kiwanis Clubs for the pancake breakfast, the Rotary Club for their chicken dinner, the local newspapers for their kind words and advertising, and all my personal friends who spent their weekend making sure I produced a success.

The Plymouth Rotary Club wishes to acknowledge ALL of our volunteers at the 40th Annual Chicken Barbeque. Due to the hectic pace of the BBQ, we did not obtain the names of many of our "helpers" and we would like to THANK all of those not mentioned above.

In addition, many thanks to the Residents of Plymouth Opportunity House for their assistance. Also, special thanks to ENGINEERING REPRODUCTION CENTER INC., Plymouth-Salem Wrestling Team, Plymouth-Salem Swim Team, Plymouth-Canton Swim Team, and Plymouth Christian Academy for the donation of their services.

Proceeds from the Chicken BBQ & other fundraising income are used by Plymouth Rotary Foundation for Civic & Charitable activities. Some of the foundations past & present projects include:

- Student Loans • Community Projects • Growth Works • Salvation Army •
- Plymouth Opportunity House • Junior Achievement • March of Dimes • Plymouth Community Band •
