Thomas to rejoin school board

Fewer lost votes, voters seen at polls

BY BRYON MARTIN

Less than two percent of the 2513 ballots cast in Monday's School Board election, won by Roland Thomas, were lost, according to Judy Evola, director of communications for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

This figure was being watched closely by many, after 716 votes lost at the polls in the March 22 school bond special election.

Four separate groups filed petitions with the schools over this loss, including Thomas.

Dan Dismuke also filed recount/revote petitions. Vorva filed a lawsuit in May, which is still in court, seeking an injunction of the bond's progress.

Following these and other allegations that the Unilect system was faulty and deficient, Evola's department worked with the schools' elections office to provide at-the-precinct training to improve voter competency with the system.

Evola said 45,000 copies of the schools' Newline newsletter were distributed to "all the homes in the district."

Flyers and how-to-vote directions were posted in voting booths and around the precincts. An instructional video played constantly while the polls were open.

P-C kids hurt celebrating Red Wings victory

Roof-top ride lands one in hospital

BY JILLIAN BOGATER

Two teens were injured — one seriously — Saturday night in Plymouth Township while celebrating the Detroit Red Wings Stanley Cup Championship sweep.

Jeremiah Sullivan, 17, of Canton and Chad Brandonberg, 16, of Plymouth were thrown from the roof of a car as it cruised through a neighborhood at Sheldon and Joy.

Both were transported by Huron Valley Ambulance to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. Sullivan was treated and released for scrapes on his hand, while Brandonberg was hospitalized two days for a serious head injury and a broken arm, according to the Plymouth Township Police.

"We were listening on the radio and celebrating the win," Sullivan said. "When we heard the Wings won the cup, we got up on the roof of the car. Everyone was going nuts, honking horns and stuff."

As a third teen, Nicholas Vitto, 17, of Canton drove Sullivan's 1987 Dodge Daytona along a curve on Mayflower, near Mayflower court, Sullivan and Brandonberg were thrown from the roof.

Sullivan said his car was traveling about 25 miles per hour when the accident hap-

Bad luck for drunk driver

Canton man may have gotten away with driving drunk, if Ann Arbor woman hadn't turned

BY JILLIAN BOGATER

Police arrested a 44-year-old Canton man for drunk driving Sunday evening after he was involved in an accident in Plymouth Township.

James H. McCann was arraigned Monday on one charge of operating under influence of liquor before Judge John McDonald at 35th District Court. His next court appearance is set for July 1.

Plymouth Township Police say around 5:20 p.m. McCann was driving his 1987 Ford Econoline van southbound on Beck, south of North Territorial, when a vehicle turned in front of him to do a U-turn.

McCann then hit the 1989 Saab driven by Debbie Ann LaBelle of Ann Arbor.

LaBelle, who was extracted from her car by the Jaws of Life, was transported by Huron Valley Ambulance to University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor where she was treated and released.

When police asked McCann for his insurance information, an officer noticed the smell of alcohol on his breath, according to the police report. When asked, McCann said he had a couple drinks but had stopped drinking at 1 p.m.

Breath tests found McCann had a blood alcohol level of .20; Michigan considers .10 legally drunk.

Police impounded his van, along with a pet parrot named "Popeye." The bird was later released to a friend.

Police cited LaBelle for failure to yield.

According to the police report, Sullivan said he and Brandonberg had been drinking before the incident.

Police cited Vitto for driving without a operator's license and careless driving.

If the Wings go on to win another cup next year, does Sullivan plan a repeat performance?

"No way," he said. "It's very dangerous. I didn't realize it until it was too late."

the ballot, Fischer was certain to visit the local newspaper office to stump for the cause.

Although proud of his local roots — his father, George, preceded him on the Plymouth School Board (Canton was added to the name years later) — Fischer's former greenhouse and then real estate business background led him to vote with his business-sense, not his emotions. Serving on the committee to evaluate Central School (Fischer graduated from that as a high school), he voted to recommend discontinuing its use.

Time of the essence for Canton mega-development

Township commission cautious over rezoning for 124-acre commercial park

BY SCOTT SPIELMAN

A long-talked-about 124-acre mega-development may be on the way to Canton.

The development is a proposed corporate park district south of Ford Road between Lotz Road and I-275. It could contain a variety of structures, including theaters and assembly halls.

The proposal received a tentative go-ahead by the Planning Commission last Monday. The commission voted 7-0 to amend existing zoning on the condition that the developer meet with the Ford/Lotz study group to discuss some design issues, according to Community Planner Jeff Goulet.

"My only concern was that if it was a corporate park district, there should be a consistent theme," Planning Commissioner Bob Wade said. "We wanted to be sure all the structures were uniform."

Other aspects the commission was concerned with include signs, landscaping, right of ways, and other detail items, Wade said.

But the concerns may have been a case of putting the cart before the horse, Goulet said.

"The concerns were based on the conceptual plan of the district, and we're a long way from that," Goulet said. "It was just a sketch to show what the district could possibly look like."

The land had been zoned C-4

(Interchange Commercial) and R-2 (Single family residential), and was rezoned to MRD (Mid-Rise Development). The land could encompass existing uses and expand the capacity to include buildings up to eight stories in height.

"We went ahead with the rezoning. I'm comfortable we can pull this thing together."

— Bob Wade

One of the structures could be a multi-screen movie theater, Goulet said.

"We wanted to change the zoning," Wade said. "This project fits well with what we wanted to do with the area."

Wade agreed with the time-sensitive nature of the project, he said.

"When you have a lot of small parcels that you have to pull together, and someone starts thinking it isn't going to happen, it doesn't take much for them to pull out and the whole thing to fall apart," Wade said.

"But we haven't done anything to stop what the developer wants," he said. "We just went ahead with the rezoning on the condition that they meet with us. I'm comfortable that we can pull this thing together."

Plymouth businesses bring LPGA Futures to MI

Four-day tour a chance to 'promote women as positive role models.'

BY JILLIAN BOGATER

If you told MedHealth Wellness Centers President and CEO Jack Moores he would head a pro-am women's golf tournament in four months, he probably would have laughed.

But that's precisely what the Plymouth business executive, along with Don Massey Cadillac, has managed to pull off.

The four-day Women's Futures Professional Golf Tour begins June 26 with a Pro-Am Tournament open to men and women. Cattail's Golf Club in South Lyon will host to the 120 national women players in the 54-Hole Futures Classic from June 27 to 29.

"This is a first for Michigan," Moores said. "The Futures players we will see are poised to become the next generation of LPGA players."

The golf outing will benefit Our Lady of Providence Center, a Northville Township organization that provides assistance for developmentally disabled women and children.

"If you love golf and want to promote women as positive role models, this is an extremely worthy cause," Moores said. "This whole thing is for and about women."

Moores said he hopes to raise about $30,000 for the organization.

Many golfers use the Futures golf tour as a stepping stone to the Ladies Professional Golf Association (LPGA). Currently 129 LPGA golfers have competed in the Futures tour, including golfing sensations Rosie Jones, Barb Mucha and Michigan golfers Meg Mallon, Michelle McGann and recent Futures alumna Karrie Webb.

MedHealth, which specializes in cardiac rehabilitation, sports medicine and preventive health measures, sponsors Futures player Shelley Sanders of Sarasota, FL.

Moores and Sanders struck up a friendship after she gave him an impromptu golf lesson in Florida. The two stayed in touch, and when her corporate sponsor suddenly pulled out, Moores came to the rescue.

Currently the number two all-time money winner on the Futures tour, Sanders hopes to qualify for the LPGA in 1998.

Pro-Am player reservations and tournament ticket information are available by calling the MedHealth Futures Hotline at (313) 459-1800.

Walker Bros. Circus to perform today

The circus is coming! The circus is here!

The Walker Brothers Circus arrived in town and will perform today and tomorrow at 5:30 p.m. and again at 7:30 p.m.

The two-day event is again sponsored by the Plymouth Lions Club in the Unisys parking lot at Haggerty and Plymouth Roads.

Tickets can be purchased in advance at the Trading Post on Ann Arbor Road or at Beitner's Jewelry on Ann Arbor Trail until noon today.

'This is a wonderful circus for a small town like Plymouth. Last year we packed them in.'

— Mary Baxter

Tickets purchased in advance cost $6 for adults and are free for children under 12 years of age. Tickets purchased at the door will cost $8 for adults and $5 for children under 12 years of age.

The Walker Brothers Circus is from Sarasota, FL and travels around the east and the Midwest, organizer Bill Baxter said.

This year the the family-oriented circus will be all-new with trampolines, horses, clowns, elephants and chimpanzees entertaining the crowd.

The Lions Club will bring 10-12 children from the Pen Ricton Center for the Blind to the circus Wednesday, along with other multiply handicapped people. The Taylor-based center is one area in which the club supports.

"This is a wonderful circus for a small town like Plymouth," Mary Baxter, wife of organizer Bill Baxter, said. "Last year we packed them in and people loved it."

Whalers select local star at OHL draft

Plymouth's draft picks focus on size, strength

BY PETE KRUPSKY

Saturday night the Red Wings brought home Stanley for the first time in 42 years. On the same day 260 miles east, up Highway 401 at Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto, the Plymouth Whalers hoped to add enough new players to eventually bring home Robbie for the second time.

Robbie? The J. Ross Robertson Trophy is awarded to the Ontario Hockey League champions, won by the Whalers in 1995, then known as the Detroit Jr. Red Wings on the same Joe Louis Arena ice surface.

Although it's premature to think the Whalers are ready to challenge for another OHL title, they may have found a few more pieces to the puzzle in a draft that lasted eight hours, 24 rounds and 323 players.

Plymouth made 16 selections, including four centermen, six wings, five defensemen and a goaltender. Whaler scouts understand that size and strength are a plus in the tough OHL West Division, so all but one of the wings and defensemen are over 6 feet tall and at least 200 pounds.

As predicted, all Plymouth General Manager/Head Coach Pete DeBoer had to do with his first choice was walk down the hall from his own locker room some 50 feet to select Compuware Ambassador center Dave Legwand ninth overall.

"We took the best skater in the draft," DeBoer said with a smile.

On a team with plenty of grit but hungry for goals, Legwand (21 goals with 41 assists) fills the need for offense as well as anyone in the draft.

Legwand played last season in an outstanding situation that faces skaters on both sides of the U.S./Canadian border — does he stay with the Ambassadors and keep his college hockey eligibility open? Go the collegiate route? Turn pro (in the eyes of the NCAA) and play with the Whalers? Or play with the National Development Team in Ann Arbor?

When asked last season, all Legwand said was he wanted to explore all options.

But the smile on Legwand's face as he walked around Maple Leaf Gardens wearing a Whalers jersey seemed to answer the question emphatically.

"Last year when I came to the (OHL) draft I pretty much decided that this was what I wanted to do," Legwand said. "Last night, my dad asked me one more time if I wanted to be skating in the (Michigan) maize-and-blue jersey. And I said, 'No, this is the right way.'"

Plymouth's selection of Legwand is the third time the team has taken a Detroit-area player with its first round pick — the others being Pat Peake (first overall, 1990) and Bill McCauley (third overall, 1992).

In a sense, Plymouth reached back into its past when they selected defenseman

DeBoer named to Canadian National team; Terzo lost in expansion draft

BY PETE KRUPSKY

The Canadian Hockey Association named its coaches for the national junior and under-18 team. Plymouth General Manager/Head Coach Pete DeBoer joins the WHL's Red Deer coach Rick Carriere as assistant coach of the Canadian National Junior Team.

The team — which has won the World Junior Championships for the last five years — named Real Paiement of the QMJHL as head coach.

DeBoer will be lost to the Whalers for about a month around the Christmas holidays.

The Whalers also lost centerman Anthony Terzo over the weekend, only he won't be returning.

Terzo was taken by the expansion Toronto St. Michael's Majors.

Terzo scored twice with an assist in 50 games last year. Other forwards taken included Mike Kosterewa (Kingston), Frank Mucher (Sault Ste. Marie), Vladimir Antipov (Windsor), Clarke Duncanson (Peterborough), Andrew Plumley (Oshawa), Ryan Robichaud (Guelph) and Marcin Snita (Sarnia). The Majors took eight defensemen, including Sean Murphy (London), Richard Gallace (Owen Sound), Chris Biagini (Belleville), Jason Cannon (Barrie), Jay Leach (Ottawa), Gerald Moriarity (Sudbury), Rob Stanfield (Kitchener) and Troy Turyk (North Bay).

St. Mike's may be new to some fans, but they actually have along history in the OHL, having won Memorial Cups in 1934, 1945, 1947 and 1961.

Canton soccer: 14 wins, 14 shutouts

Defense, balanced scoring make Chiefs elite team — again

BY BRIAN CORBETT

Call him the Scotty Bowman of soccer. Canton coach Don Smith likes to keep his players on their toes. A successful tactic that has produced numerous championship teams for both coaching legends, led by a balanced scoring attack and a stalwart defense.

This season was no different for Smith and his girls soccer team. The Chiefs went 14-2-2, capturing the Western Division crown and losing in the Western Lakes Association championship game to Livonia Stevenson, 1-0.

The Chiefs' leading scorer had only eight goals, and Canton had 14 shutouts shared by goalies Kristin Lukasik and Becky Hayner. The pair of netminders surrendered just seven goals in 18 games.

"We just worked really hard and covered each other," said Smith, whose teams have won three WLAA titles this decade. "We worked really hard at giving good team support."

Despite losing six seniors — including goalie Sarah Warnke — from the 1996 team, and an early season rash of weather-related game cancellations, the Chiefs carried on the program's tradition, which includes two state titles during Smith's tenure.

"Once you've won, it just feels like nothing compares to it unless you win again," said Smith. "We're always competitive. We always feel like we have a chance."

A chance is what most opponents didn't have versus Canton. The Chiefs' ball pursuit gave opposing teams fits, creating turnovers that Canton capitalized on more often than not. Inevitably, a seam would open in the Chiefs' defense, but the riddle posed by Lukasik and Hayner proved too difficult to solve. "I was a little concerned about our keeper (Lukasik) because she didn't get in many games when we had Warnke, but she stepped it up," Smith said.

An impressive 1-0 win at Northville in April solidified this team's potential. In the last week of April, Canton defeated Farmington, Livonia Franklin and Walled Lake Central by a combined score of 20-0. The Chiefs then rattled off several wins against quality opposition. The Chiefs had one of the toughest schedules in the state; that's something Smith would like to change, and his intentions will likely surprise you.

"I think we have to play more good teams, and that's not taking away anything from the teams we played, but we didn't get to play Troy this year, (and) Mercy we didn't get to play because we had to make room for a makeup game. Games like those make you work hard. But you need those games. If you have four or five games when you're not tested, you get into trouble in the top games," Smith said.

Such as the 1-1 tie versus Salem on May 7, and the meetings with Canton's season-long nemesis, Stevenson. The Spartans were 2-0-1 against Canton in 1997, and held the Chiefs scoreless in every match. Stevenson ended Canton's season with a 3-0 win in the state tournament.

It was the final game in the high school career of six Canton players. Jenny Parvianen, Emile Meier, Jill Reinhardt, Beth Knight and Hayner are graduating. "They're going to be missed. They're good players, but they are replaceable like all players. We already have kids playing those positions," Smith said.

Emily Fitzgerald has positioned herself as a rising star after a breakthrough performance this season. "She stepped up her game really well," Smith said. "Last year, she was just sort of a role player for us."

Lukasik, Melissa Marzolf and Elisa Esper are also expected to be key contributors, along with a strong incoming freshmen class, on a team that will feature seven seniors and six juniors.

"We're suppose to have a good freshmen class coming in, so maybe I can pick up a few sparkplugs who will give us a jump start," Smith said.

Freshmen's eagerness to play often inspires the more experienced upperclassmen, Smith said.

"But I don't think the seniors will need that incentive next year," he said. "I think they were a little disappointed with the way things ended."

Don't say you weren't warned, Stevenson.

Hornets win Michigan Cup

The Canton Hornets won the Michigan State Cup finals at Rochester on June 1. The Hornets, a U-14 Little Caesars Premier soccer team, won all six of their games in the two-week competition by outscoring their opponents 21-3. The Hornets now advance to the regionals in Rockford, IL and will represent the state in a six day competition.

Whalers draft 16 players

Jeff Jillson from Mount St. Charles High School in Rhode Island in the second round.

The last time the Whalers selected a player from Mount St. Charles?

Whaler great Bryan Berard, who became the first pick overall in the 1995 National Hockey League Entry Draft and had an excellent rookie season this year while playing for the New York Islanders.

"Jillson plays like Berard, only two inches taller," DeBoer said.

While Jillson follows Berard and goaltender Brian Boucher (Tri-City, WHL) as the third Rhode Islander to play in the Canadian Hockey League, he actually patterns his game after another pretty fair American.

"I think I try to pattern my game after Chris Chelios," Jillson said. "I'm kind of a mix — I'm a defensive-type player, but I can play the finesse game as well."

Jillson scored 16 goals with 14 assists for 30 points in 15 games for Mount St.

Charles last year.

Plymouth's third round selection — 6-foot-4, 200-pound Andy Burnham from New Liskaerd midgets — offered a Canadian geography lesson.

"It's about five hours north of Toronto, and then another hour north of North Bay," Burnham said.

"I love going up and down my wing, mucking it up in the corners and I think I can put the puck in the net. So I'm pretty much an all-around player."

Burnham's stats — 20 goals with 24 assists for 44 points and 230 penalty minutes in just 31 games — back up his claim.

As the draft rolls on to the late rounds, teams look for diamonds in the rough who slip the cracks.

Plymouth may have picked up a sleeper in the seventh round in goaltender Brandon Sacco from Port Colborne Jr. B.

"As a real young goaltender, he's put up good numbers now for two seasons (3.89 goals against last year)," DeBoer said of Sacco, who turns 17 in October.

Holmes ace pitcher, student

University of Michigan softball standout and Canton High School graduate Kelly Holmes added another award to her list of 1997 achievements when she was named to the 11-member GTE Academic All-America First-Team by the membership of the College Sports Information Directors of America.

Holmes, who was a GTE Academic All-America Second-Team selection in 1996, graduated from the university in May with a degree in accounting. She will begin work in July as an auditor with Plante and Moran in Southfield.

A pitcher with the Michigan softball team, Holmes put together a career season in her final year. She finished as the Wolverines' career wins leader (76-24) and was second in career innings pitched (731). She recorded 30 shutouts over her career — 12 in the last season — and tossed 361 strikeouts.

Holmes' award list for the year includes a third Academic All-Big Ten Conference and second GTE Academic All-District IV First-Team citation. She was named to the National Fast Pitch Coaches Association All-America Second-Team (at-large) and was a First-Team honoree on the All-Great Lakes Region team.

Holmes was named Big Ten Conference Pitcher of the Year, All-Big Ten First-Team and NCAA Region 6 Most Valuable Player. She was twice selected as Big Ten Pitcher of the Year, and was chosen Michigan's Most Outstanding Player and Outstanding Pitcher for the season.

Holmes helped Michigan capture its third straight Big Ten Conference Tournament title and third consecutive NCAA regional crown.

She started all three U-M games at the NCAA Women's College World Series and finished with a 1-2 record, including a 1-0 shutout victory over South Carolina in the second round.

Holmes is the fifth Wolverine softball player tabbed for national academic honors by GTE and CoSIDA, and is the third player to earn recognition in two seasons.

Make a pet a 'fixture' in your life

Cute, playful, frisky, soft. Homeless, helpless, motherless, scared. The kittens just showed up one morning, crawling out from under the backyard deck into the bright light of day. The mother cat must have had the kits right there in the cool, dry darkness, then disappeared. She's either dead in a ditch somewhere, or back at her irresponsible owner's house sitting in a warm, oblivious lap and gazing out the window. Maybe tonight she'll be outside again, getting started on her next litter.

The first two kittens were scooped up and adopted on the spot, by neighbors willing to expand their household by two very small but hungry mouths. Litter-trained and growing by the day, these two cats seem to have it in the bag. The other two still live under the deck, though, and their future is still an open question, nine lives or not.

The smaller of the two is having a tough time—his hind legs are nearly useless. In-breeding of stray cats sometimes results in birth defects. He still play-fights with the other kitten, but he can't run away when approached. He just sits there, shaking and looking around nervously, like a long-tailed cat in a room full of rocking chairs.

Food for these two little left-behinds is put out by the homeowners, who have taught the kittens not to fear humans. The lady of the house has made friends with the little comedians, but her husband isn't particularly interested in adding to their current menagerie. They still own the cats they adopted a few years ago from the Humane Society, rescued from the eternal catnap like Death Row inmates given a reprieve by the Governor. The two kittens under the deck haven't gotten that phone call, and time is running out.

Kittens, puppies, cats, dogs, domestic animals of all shapes and sizes are destroyed on a regular basis, simply because they're unwanted. If you love your pet, but have no desire to care for its offspring, please take it to a veterinarian and have it fixed. If you are interested in adopting a pet, please call the Humane Society.

Oh, by the way — June is "Adopt-a-Cat" month.

Memorial parade nice; sound system wasn't

EDITOR:

The Memorial Day Parade this year had a nice "Americana" atmosphere. It was moving to see so many people turn out to honor those who died in service to our nation.

It was a shame though, that the audio system at the ceremony in the park was so inadequate as to provide decent coverage to everyone attending.

Were we attempting to imitate the ceremonies of a hundred years ago before public address systems? This is the nineties and we should be able to have an adequate P.A. system.

We stood as close as possible, yet could only make out about one word in ten. We were surrounded by people who were also anxious to hear the speeches, but could hear nothing. It would have helped the situation if the speakers by the fountain were working.

Were we attempting to imitate the ceremonies of 100 years ago before public address systems? This is the 90s and we should have an adequate P.A. system.

It's such a special occasion — next year lets allow everyone who wishes to join in the festivities be able to hear.

Future awaits class of 1997

CLASS OF 1997

Congratulations on your achievement! Please, class of 1997, look at what you have done. Your Class Council has had great leadership. You started out slow, but have developed into a great leadership group. If it had to be done, you did it.

Your class just this year won the Boy's Basketball Conference and District Championship; Girl's Basketball Conference and District Championship; Boy's Swimming District Championship; Girl's Gymnastics District Championship; qualified for Girl's Volleyball State District Championship for the first time in 19 years; Boy's Cross Country Districts; Girl's Cross Country Conference and District Championship; Girl's Swimming Conference and Division Championship; and Boy's Soccer Conference, Division and District Champions. Wow, are we great!

You have also won many other areas of outstanding awards like Debate; Forensics; Concert Choir; and the PCEP Marching Band earned a superior rating in competition. I could write a lot more.

Four long years have passed and you've grown so much in wisdom, maturity and responsibility. You've learned English, history and math, but you have also learned compassion, caring and self-motivation. You are ready to meet the many challenges that lie ahead in life.

You have the opportunity to make a positive difference in the future. Don't sit on the sidelines watching someone else, get up and get involved.

You'll enjoy life more and will really have the chance to make some positive changes in the world.

That first college class, first "real job," first serious relationship and eventually, for some of you, marriage and your own family. I'm certain you will have the skills to meet these challenges.

Class of '97, you have the opportunity to make a positive difference in the future. Go for it! Get involved. Don't sit on the sidelines watching someone else — get up and get involved. You'll enjoy life more and will really have the chance to make some positive changes in our world.

Life's paths change, and you and your friends might end up going in different directions, but you will never forget those special people you spent four years with at Plymouth-Canton High School. They will always hold a special place in your heart. I'm sure the staff has enjoyed all of you (some even raised blood pressure a little) and will miss you, your enthusiasm and your energy.

My hope and prayers for the class of 1997 is fond memories, and a healthy self-respect with an attitude that knows you can accomplish any goal you set your mind to. Best of luck in the future. Thank you for letting me be a small part of this.

Be rational in the face of rudeness

Helping people who can't help themselves is a time-honored noble calling.

Helping people who go out of their way to make life difficult and unpleasant for those who try to help is another story.

There's a strong temptation to do nothing — or worse — when folks you're trying to help go out of their way to slap you in the face.

Three such examples surfaced last week.

Jack Moores, Jr., who heads the MedHealth Wellness Center, succeeded at sullyng his otherwise noble cause to help women's professional golf as a benefit for Our Lady of Providence Center in Northville Township.

Moores, known in the past too for his abrasiveness, tried this approach to asking for media coverage:

"Come to think of it, I can't remember one line in (The Crier) about a (local) business sponsoring a major sporting event," he whined.

This certainly is a way to encourage the reporter working on the story to pursue his benefaction in the face of his rudeness. (Maybe a long day in The Crier morgue reading past issues would change his attitude.)

It's just like Bob Bake, a local Realtor who keeps his name plastered on a long-vacant building as a professional testament.

While downtown Plymouth has regained momentum since completion of the Streetscape, the out-of-state banking bean-counters have announced they'll close the Main and Penniman branch that is Plymouth's oldest banking location.

At the end of the Downtown Landlords Committee meeting last week, Bob whispers to the reporter, "Put a positive spin on this story or we won't invite you back."

Here's a reporter already going out of her way to cover a "lesser" committee meeting because she recognized the importance of the decision making going on there.

Hit her again, Bob.

But perhaps the toughest slam of the week came from National Bank of Detroit — now First Chicago-NBD.

With malice toward none

While downtown Plymouth has regained momentum since completion of the Streetscape, the out-of-state banking bean-counters have announced they'll close the Main and Penniman branch that is Plymouth's oldest banking location.

It has the lowest number of transactions in the NBD group, says the bank.

Yet, with Community Federal Credit Union building its new corporate headquarters two blocks away and a new bank looking to move downtown, it seems NBD has slapped downtown in the face just as it stood to gain more from the momentum.

NBD may have other issues about its downtown location as well. Wayne County Circuit Court records show the bank is involved in a lawsuit with its landlord, to whom it sold the building three years ago. There is not much easily-accessible parking for the bank now that it no longer has an exit to the Central Parking Deck. There is no drive-up facility.

Despite that, it was NBD's decision to move lending out of the downtown offices years ago that eventually doomed the bank's business level.

As other business booms downtown, how can NBD miss this opportunity?

Trying to help foster businesses downtown has been a rewarding struggle. (The same can be said for the roots laid down by the late, great Bart Berg who fathered the Canton Chamber of Commerce.)

But it's hard to help when a business slaps you in the face.

Nonetheless...

To help keep NBD in its historic location, there is something you can do:

CLOSE YOUR ACCOUNT AT NBD until the decision to keep the branch open is — at least — reconsidered.

INFORM NBD of your decision by calling or faxing:

Vern Istock, chairman

First Chicago-NBD

Phone: (312) 732-9511

Fax: (312) 732-6092

Even though NBD started with a slap to the face, you can help them make the right decision.

Promotion tax levy impractical

The "Marketing Plan" unveiled by the Plymouth Downtown Business Association, the Downtown Development Association and City Hall shows one thing:

These groups are unsuited to plan and execute such a program.

A millage to promote downtown or any shopping district is novel and may well be a sound IDEA.

But it is clearly UNWORKABLE AS A PROGRAM.

While the initial thoughts of a one or two mill tax on the properties in the DDA made some sense philosophically, the city-coached plan came out asking for an outrageous nine mills. (Each mill raises about $18,000 per year.)

That demonstrates how incredibly unable these forces are at planning or running such a program. Individual shopowners, who would be paying the proposed millage as a pass-on from the landlords, have no desire to turn over their entire marketing budgets to City Hall.

Past marketing efforts by the city-led promoters have met with less than stellar success. In fact, the most ambitious try ended up with a threatened lawsuit with the advertising agency.

The very fact that city-led forces thought a nine-mill levy made sense shows that the whole idea to have them execute a plan is unworkable.

Downtown Plymouth businesses, like businesses everywhere, should promote smarter and most should promote more. Obviously, the downtown business group, the chamber of commerce, the DDA and the community should help when practical.

Practical.

That's the key word.

This effort has just shown it's unable to view this in a practical way.

There is no need for a promotion tax levy that is impossible for a city-led effort to plan or expend properly. Oppose this tax increase!
