A Home Coming Practically Assured

A Meeting Held Tuesday Evening Was Largely Attended.

A Mass Meeting Has Been Called for Tuesday Evening, March 25, at the Opera House.

An informal meeting of business men and others was held in the rooms of the Plymouth United Savings Bank Tuesday evening for the purpose of ascertaining the feeling of our citizens in regard to the holding of a home coming celebration here some time the coming summer. There were about forty citizens present. W. J. Burrows called the meeting to order and explained its purpose. After the matter had been discussed at some length it was the unanimous vote of the meeting that Plymouth should hold a home coming celebration at some time the coming summer, the date to be decided upon later. As temporary officers, F. D. Schrader was chosen president and L. B. Samsen secretary, and the following executive committee was appointed: L. H. Hillmer, E. C. Hough, W. C. Brown, B. F. Farber, Edward Gayde and W. J. Burrow.

It was then decided to call a mass meeting in the opera house Tuesday evening, March 25th, at 7:30 o'clock, at which time it is hoped that there will be a large attendance of the citizens of this village. At this meeting the ladies are especially invited to come as their assistance and co-operation is required to make a successful home coming celebration. At this meeting a permanent organization will be effected and plans will be laid and committees appointed that the work may be started at once for the biggest event that has ever been pulled off in this village. A home coming celebration cannot be carried on by a few, but it must have the united efforts of many, or it is a failure. It is different than the ordinary one-day celebration, in that it is in a true sense a real home coming or one big reunion in which all the people of the village have a part. It brings back to the old town those who once called Plymouth their home, and who are glad of the opportunity that has been given them to come back and again renew the acquaintances of those whom they have not seen for years. And would it not be a source of considerable satisfaction for the citizens of Plymouth to have these former residents come back and note the great progress the town has made in the past quarter of a century? Every citizen is urgently requested to attend this meeting and become a booster for the celebration, and as has been said before, it cannot be done by a few, so let every one put their shoulders to the wheel, boost just a little and it will be easy. Will you boost?

Sundowner Entertainment

A unique entertainment was given Friday evening, March 13, in the M. E. church by the young men of the Epworth League. A three weeks contest is on and will close Friday, March 21st., between the young men and the young women of the League, each side striving to outdo the other in making money for the society, the money to be used in missionary and benevolent work. At the Sundowner entertainment six or eight of the young men changed the color of their faces to black, turned their hearts to the melody of plantation song, and scattered their quips of fun and merriment through the audience generally; and having diffused good cheer and sunshine, sent the people home dollars happier, and only 15c. poorer. The girls are guessing how much the boys have made to date, but the secret is profound, and will only be divulged at the final social at Dr. Caster's home, Friday of this week.

About thirty Odd Fellows from Detroit and Wayne were the guests of Touquah Lodge of this village Tuesday evening. The visitors exemplified the degree work of the order for the local lodge, after which refreshments were served the visiting brethren. It was a most pleasant occasion for all present.

Sixty Years of Wedded Life

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gates, Sr. Celebrate their 60th Wedding Anniversary Sunday.

Surrounded by their children, their grandchildren and great grandchildren and other relatives to the number of thirty-six, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gates, Sr. old and highly respected residents of this village celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary at their home in north village last Sunday. It is quite common for people to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary, but it is indeed rare where a couple journey through sixty years of wedded life together, but this bride and groom of so many years ago are hale and hearty and enjoying life to its fullest extent.

William Gates, Sr.

Mr. Gates was born near Berlin, Germany, November 48, 1828. Mrs. Gates who was Miss Recca Peters was also born near Berlin, February 22, 1832. They were united in marriage March 16, 1853. In 1857 they came to America and on landing at New York came directly to Plymouth. They crossed the ocean on a sailing vessel and were seven weeks in crossing. When they landed in Plymouth Mr. Gates had just nine cents in his pocket with which to begin life in a strange land. Mr. and Mrs. Gates secured work on the farm of Luther Safford near this village, where they remained for six years. By thrift and economy they had saved enough during these years to purchase a farm of 40 acres in Livonia township and on which they resided for twelve years. They then removed to a farm in Superior township where they lived for thirty years, coming to Plymouth about ten years ago. The family circle has been broken by two deaths. The children living and all of whom were present are Wm. Gates, Jr., Mrs. Louis Schall, Mrs. Albert Trinkaus, James Gates and Albert Gates of Plymouth and Theodore Gates of Easton, Colo.

One of the features of the occasion not soon to be forgotten, was the sumptuous wedding dinner. A large wedding cake formed the center-piece of the table which was prettily decorated with flowers and greenery. The parlor of the home was beautifully decorated with ferns, carnations and roses. After the dinner hour the bride and groom were presented with a fine set of books from their children. After this a family group picture was taken on the lawn by James Wood. The afternoon and evening was passed in visiting and several pleasing instrumental selections were rendered by Mrs. James Gates and son Ross. It was a most happy reunion for young and old, in which all joined in the spirit of the occasion. The Mail, with a host of friends extend congratulations in this aged and worthy couple.

The Matron's Contest

The Matron's Contest was a great success. The judges had difficulty in arriving at a decision, and finally announced a tie between Mrs. J. J. Travis and Mrs. W. Bartlett. The prize was an elegant silver fruit spoon. While it was designed that there should be but one prize, the committee will procure another spoon similar to the first, so each of the winners will be the proud possessor of the same. Financially the result was very gratifying to the ladies of the Aid Society, and each of the twelve contestants covered herself with glory. The entire program was a fine concrete argument for the franchise for women. It may easily be doubted whether twelve men could be discovered in Plymouth, who with the same limited time for preparation, could render literary selections of prose and poetry with such a degree of dramatic art.

Woman's Literary Club Observe Anniversary Day

The Woman's Literary Club met at the home of Mr. J. J. Travis last Friday afternoon, the occasion being Anniversary Day. Each lady was privileged to invite one guest. After a solo by Miss Marguerite Hough, Mrs. Marguerite Phillips of Charlotte, was introduced and gave an interesting lecture on "Pictures in Art," taking for her subject many of the old master-pieces and works of the old masters, illustrating her talk by reproductions of the same. Mrs. Phillips who has made a thorough study of Art in European galleries handled her subject in a very instructive manner. A solo by Miss Celia Blomgren concluded the program, after which dainty refreshments were served. There were about 75 members and guests present and it was a most delightful event for all present.

Canning Factory Burns

Last Sunday evening between nine and ten o'clock the canning factory and a part of the green house belonging to G. A. Raviler, who lives about a mile and a half east of town on the Plymouth road, burned to the ground. The fire started in the boiler room, but its origin is unknown. Mr. Raviler was in the factory about twenty minutes before the fire broke out, and everything was apparently all right. He went to the house to write some letters, and presently Mrs. Raviler heard glass cracking, and they at once discovered the building in flames. The neighbors turned out and a bucket brigade was formed, but they were only able to save the auto truck from an adjoining shed, the contents of the building being totally destroyed, a loss of about $2,500 with no insurance. There was a very small insurance on the buildings. Mr. Raviler will not rebuild the canning factory.

Annual Base Ball Meeting

The annual meeting of the Plymouth Athletic Association will be held in the rooms of the Plymouth United Savings Bank on Monday evening, March 24th, at 7:30 p. m. Officers for the ensuing year are to be elected and any other business transacted. It is hoped there will be a large attendance, and this means everybody interested in athletic sports and possessed of a desire to see Plymouth remain on the base ball map. Remember the time and place.

A Sad Death

Mrs. Emory Blake died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Williams, Wednesday evening. She had been married only about a year. The funeral will be held this afternoon from her late home at 2 o'clock and from the Baptist church at 2:30.

Harvey Springer visited friends in Detroit the latter part of last week.

Legends of Easter Flowers

PRIMROSE—by the river's brim, a yellow primrose was to him—and it was nothing more.

Thus wrote that great flower lover, Wordsworth, in telling about the lack of sentiment in one of his characters. But neither that man nor any of his kind were in Australia when the first English primroses emigrated to that new land. An enormous nugget of gold could not have created more excitement. Rugged, restless men wept over the plants with their pale, modest blossoms. They were fragrantly

STUDY IN COLOR

EVERY TRADITION ASSOCIATED WITH THAT EASTER FLOWER, THE IRIS, MAKES IT A LEADY OF REFINED PROPORTION.

Every tradition associated with that Easter flower, the iris, makes it a lady of refined proportion. It signifies a message, and because it grows in every part of the world, it is a universal message. The Greeks named it for the rainbow, but the Egyptians lay special claim to the flower.

It is the plant spoken of in Exodus as being the hiding place of the infant Moses when he lay in the cradle of the rushes on the river's bank. It may be that the flowers whispered to him then that his destiny was to lead his people to the promised land. The ancient Egyptians placed the iris on the brow of the sphinx and on the scepters of their monarchs, and among all the eastern nations it has ever been the symbol of power. Another land that highly honors it is France, for it is the veritable fleur-de-lis that figures on the arms of this country. But there is a most beautiful legend that makes the iris a sacred flower as well as a national emblem. The story tells that it was a trembling, agonized witness of the crucifixion. "When it heard the anguished cry, 'My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?' it sobbed out the vow, 'Henceforth I will perpetually mourn, and, lest man should ever lose sight of this solemn hour, above my golden chalice I will carry a veil of violet.'"

Ancient and important is the history of the lily, which was also high in favor with the old Egyptians, for it appears prominently in their hieroglyphics. According to a pretty legend, when lilies first grew on the earth they were none of them pure white, but all of a lovely yellow hue. Seaborn Aphrodite in her happy wanderings suddenly appeared before them wondrously fair and bright and white as the foam of the waves from which she sprang. The lilies trembled before her beauty, and grew so pale with jealousy that ever after they blossomed white. First the goddess Juno chose it as her favorite flower, and, then passing to the Virgin Mary, it was dedicated to the early Christian church. Besides being the chosen flower of the church, it is also an imperial blossom. Away back in the days of 1043 Garcias IV, king of Navarre, established the Order of the Knights of St. Mary of the Lily, and another Order of the Lily was founded by Ferdinand of Aragon. Dundee carries lilies argent on its arms and beautiful Florence claims the queenly flowers as its emblem.

The sweet forget-me-not that blooms for happy lovers, has more beautiful legends clinging to its name than any other flower. According to one beautiful tale, the Lord called the plants in the Garden of Eden before him to give them their names and color. As he spoke to one after another, a tiny flower thought itself unnoticed and fearful of being quite overlooked. The great Creator turned sternly toward the little plant that had dared to interrupt him, then seeing how sorely afraid it was, he gently smiled upon it, gave it for its color the heavens' own blue, and called it Forget-me-not, as a reminder that it had once been so foolish as to doubt him. It is the Persians who have fashioned a beautiful legend to tell how it is that these flowers are scattered over the earth as the stars are spread over the sky. According to them, one morning of glory when the world was new, an angel stood weeping outside the closed gate of Paradise. He had fallen, in that he had loved a fair daughter of Earth. When his eyes had rested on her as she sat on a river's bank weaving forget-me-nots in her hair, heaven and his mission to earth were alike forgotten. Now he might no more enter in until his beloved had sown all over the earth the forget-me-not. He returned to her and hand in hand they wandered, planting everywhere the sweet astringent flowers. When at last there remained on earth no spot barren of these blossoms, they turned again to the gate and found it open. Together they entered in, for the angel's great love had lifted the woman to Paradise.

Some authorities there are who do not hark back to the days of the Garden of Eden, but tell a pathetic tale of the Danube as the origin of the forget-me-not's name. The blue waves of the river washed the foundation walls of a brave knight's ancestral castle. He had but just come home from the wars and laid his honors at the feet of his lady love. His bride and he were wandering along the river's bank when he exclaimed, "Look, wonder, there, upon that lily; see those starlike blossoms blue as thine eyes!" Instantly he sprang into the river and swam toward the flowers. In safety he reached the lily and grasped the fragile prize, but when he tried to return with them to the shore his heavy armor made him helpless in the current. Finding the danger of his situation, the knight's lady leaped into the water and swam to him. She held him up to the sun and said, "I will never forget you, and you shall never forget me." And so it was that the forget-me-not came to be named as it is.

abundant messages from home. But despite its unassuming manner the primrose has linked with its history a tale of political honors. It is an heraldic flower giving name to a noble Scottish house on whose shield it is graven with a motto that, translated, reads: "Early youth is charming." Besides this, it was taken as the symbol of a political career more bold, brilliant and strange than any other of its time. The statesman was Lord Beaconsfield, and in connection with him there was established in England a new festival called Primrose Day.

Mythology as well as history claims the humble lily flower, and tells a tale of its origin. The story is that a beautiful youth named Paralos died of grief over the loss of his love, and was metamorphosed into the primrose, which in its early days bore his name.

The fair spring blossoms which Mother Earth sent forth to herald the coming of Easter have been gossamer about each other. The tales they tell about the tulip, that bright favorite of Oriental lands, besides being highly romantic, verge on the sensational. Its notorious career has been freely discussed among the less brilliant flowers, some of which, in spite of their sweet, gentle disposition, resent the tulip's regal bearing and courtly airs. Few people have ever heard the stories they tell. In this busy, hustling age only poets and occasionally other unpractical folk find time to "trace the family tree" and history of flowers.

Not the tulip, as well as the other blossoms that are talked about, will probably be welcomed and more cordially than of old into the churches and the homes of the best families after its coming and wonderful past becomes known. The story of the Turkish head-dress and one of the chief national festivals in the Sultan's land is based on the story of tulips. But the proud flower that does something more than please the eye and charm the heart.

Once upon a time it held just as great an importance over the financial affairs of some families on Wall Street as had over those of others. This was in respect something over 300 years ago, when the tulip was first taken to western Europe. It was immediately enthroned as czar in the royal kingdom, and so great was the rage for it in Holland and France that many families fared the wealth were bankrupted by it. The new-comer's beauty made even the wise, staid Dutch merchants mad, and speculation in costly bulbs became a terrible gambling mania among them. A tulip specimen often won a prize as high as that which a high-stepping race horse or a fine diamond. Fortunes changed hands daily in bets on the final outcome of almost priceless seedling tulips. The gambling reached such a height that the government finally had to issue a proclamation to suppress it. During three years tulips yielded to the city of Haarlem the sum of $25,000,000. The finest bulbs are still to be seen in the Holland town, and are descendants of those famous tulips.

bunch of violets worn by a Frenchman, or seen in his home, was a secret message that he was loyal to the exiled chieftain's cause. The name was bestowed upon the violet by the imaginative Greek who loved to pebble the petals of every blossom and the ripples of every rill with fair creations of their fancy. According to mythology the name was derived from Ix, the daughter of Midas and the betrothed of Alys. The story runs that Diana, desiring to conceal the maid from Apollo, transformed her into a violet. Another myth about the birth of the flower says that Jupiter caused the first violets to spring from the earth as food for the persecuted la while she was hiding in the form of a white heifer from the fury of Juno.

The verse makers have a special fondness for the tiny flower, and love to translate the message it is trying to tell to the rest of creation. It is a singular fact that some flowers suggest pensiveness and even melancholy, while in form, color and bearing others speak only of gladness. While the personality of the flower may be somewhat responsible for its effect on the human moods, more, perhaps, is due to the strain of poets' moods. Most of the Easter flowers seem to be message bearers of joy and hope, lifting their faces to the blue skies in happy worship rather than in sadness. It seems to be natural for poets to give names and human attributes to plants, but the beauty-loving Greeks went farther along the path of fancy. They invented human originals for their favorite flowers, and made beautiful legends to account for the transformation. The lovely narcissus, according to their lore, was once a handsome young god who became so lost in admiration of his own shadow that he cruelly slighted the affections of the fair Echo. As a punishment for this crime he was changed into a narcissus, the flower of self-love.

Shakespeare alludes to another romantic legend in his "Winter Tale." The narcissus was said to have been the flower that the daughter of Ceres was watching when she was carried off by Pluto of infernal region fame. The night goddesses also chose it for their ancient coronet, and it was a highly important factor in the customs of Greek life. The Chinese, too, have a great fancy for this flower. They use it in many of their sacred ceremonies, and every family in the Mikado's realm takes great pride in having a plant in full bloom at the New Year.

Love and jealousy played leading parts in the story of the birth of the hyacinth, another Oriental favorite. There was a youth, Hyacinthus by name, who was much beloved by Apollo and Zephyr. He preferred the warm, steady affection of the sun to the fitful love of the wind. This made the passionate Zephyr wildly jealous and caused the plotting of a terrible revenge. While Apollo and Hyacinthus were playing quoits, which was a favorite game with the gods, Zephyr saw his avowed opportunity. He made his rival the slayer of Hyacinthus by blowing the god's quoit toward the head of the youth. But while the dying boy was held in the arms of Apollo he was transformed into the fair, fragrant hyacinth. The flower has always meant some or play because of this tale.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

WE MUST be as courteous to a man as to a picture which we are willing to give the benefit of a good light. —Emerson.

SOME HOMELY MEAT DISHES.

A nice supper dish may be prepared by pouring a batter over pork sausage and baking them in the oven. Take ordinary link sausages, prick them and put them into a pan and set in the oven to try out a little of the surplus fat; pour off the fat and pour over a Yorkshire pudding batter, as follows: A cup of milk, a pint of flour and two well beaten eggs, a teaspoonful of salt. Bake until the pudding is brown.

Sausages may be baked on top of creamed potatoes, making another nice change from the ordinary method. Serve them on the table in the dish in which they have been baked.

When serving hamburger steak, it may be made to serve several more by the addition of a little cooked oatmeal or other cereal; season well with salt, pepper and onion juice, make in small patties and fry in hot fat. Or, if put in a long roll it may be broiled nicely.

Horn Scuffle.—Take a cup of cold cooked chopped ham, one-half cup of bread crumbs, three eggs, a pint of milk and pepper and salt to taste. Beat the eggs light, mix the ingredients thoroughly and bake twenty minutes in a moderately hot oven. Serve with tomato sauce. If served with an escalloped dish, it will not be necessary to have a sauce for the soufflé. Ham is better broiled than fried. Cut in thin slices, soak an hour in luke warm water to remove the salt. Drain and wipe, then broil five minutes.

Surprise Sausages.—Parboil sausages, divide in half and remove the skins. Wrap in mashed potato, dip in beaten egg and bread crumbs. Fry in deep fat until crisp and brown. Serve these very hot.

IS THY burden hard and heavy? Do thy steps drag wearily? Help to bear thy brother's burden. God will bear both it and thee. —Elizabeth Charles.

POTATO SUBSTITUTES.

There are several kinds of foods that might take the place of the potato, and for variety it is well to occasionally miss a meal and substitute one of them.

The cheapness and availability of the potato is a great factor in its popularity.

Rice, macaroni, bread crumbs and combinations with these foods will make quite a variety to use in place of potatoes, occasionally.

Rice cooked until tender, mixed with a little butter, sprinkled with grated cheese and onion. Repeat with another layer of rice, and bake. Makes a most nutritious dish, which may be served as a vegetable.

Rice and tomato, baked in layers and well seasoned with cayenne pepper, makes another acceptable dish.

Rice, plain boiled, served in a pretty mound, garnished with parsley, will make a most acceptable addition to beefsteak. The rice may be well seasoned and served on a plate, as one does mashed potato.

Macaroni With Nuts.—Take a cupful of cooked macaroni, put it in the bottom of a buttered dish, sprinkle with any kind of coarsely broken nut meats, add a cupful of white sauce, cover with buttered bread crumbs and bake until the crumbs are brown.

Hominy is another food rich in nutriment which may be served as a vegetable. Season and serve well cooked, as potato with meat, or it may be combined with cheese and white sauce and baked.

Hominy Griddle Cakes.—Add hominy to a griddle cake batter, and cook as usual or add to muffin mixture and bake in the form of gems or muffins.

Bread Crumb Omelet.—Soak a cupful of bread crumbs in hot milk, add two well beaten eggs, season with cayenne; add two tablespoonfuls of grated cheese; season with salt and cook in an omelet pan. When set, place in the oven to bake the top.

Orange Charlotte.—Soften two and a half teaspoonfuls of gelatine in half a cup of cold water, add a half cup of boiling water, a cup of sugar, a cup of orange juice, the rind of an orange grated, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and the whip from three cups of cream. Line the mold with sections of orange and chill. Serve with a thin custard, if desired.

Austrian Girls to Learn to Cook. Cookery had never been taught in Austrian schools until last September, when the minister of education added it to the curriculum of all girls' schools under his control, both elementary and advanced. He further stipulated that any girl taking up modern languages or other extra subjects shall be compelled to include cookery in her school course. In order to carry out the innovation so many as possible, restaurants are being constructed, and the "kitchen" is being introduced into the schools.

One day a very nervous, timid-looking woman, accompanied by a robust farmer, appeared on the platform of a little railway at a remote country town.

"Yes; I had a good 10-cent cigar exposed in my vest pocket the other day, and he didn't reach over and take it."

Steady use of either tea or coffee often produces alarming symptoms as the poison (caffeine) contained in these beverages acts with more potency in some persons than in others.

"No end of sleepless nights—would have spells at night when my right side would get numb and tingle like a thousand needles were pricking my flesh. At times I could hardly put my tongue out of my mouth and my right eye and ear were affected."

"The doctors told me I was liable to become paralyzed at any time, so I was in constant dread. I took no end of medicine—all to no good."

"The doctors told me to quit using tea, but I thought I could not live without it—that it was my only stay. I had been a tea drinker for twenty-five years; was under the doctor's care, for fifteen."

"About six months ago, I finally quit tea and commenced to drink Postum."

"I have never had one spell of sick headache since and only one light attack of bilious colic. Have quit having those numb spells at night, sleep well and my heart is getting stronger all the time." Name given upon request.

Postum now comes in concentrated, powder form, called Instant Postum. It is prepared by stirring a level teaspoonful in a cup of hot water, adding sugar to taste, and enough cream to bring the color to golden brown.

STATE GRANGE DEFENDS THE COLLEGE PRESIDENT.

The Short Ballot Bill Stands Little Chance of Going Through and the Recall Cannot Be Submitted at the Spring Election.

[By Gurd M. Hayes.]

Despite the fact that a majority of the senate committee on the agricultural college are personally opposed to President J. L. Snyder, of the Michigan Agricultural College, and some of the members of the house committee believe that a change in the management of the institution would be desirable, every effort will be made by the two committees to secure the increase of appropriation asked for by the state board of agriculture.

In order to get a line on the sentiment, Senator Fred Woodworth, chairman of the senate committee called a conference between the two committees and the state board of agriculture. At the outset Woodworth informed the board that the prejudice against President Snyder was so strong that he did not believe it possible to get the appropriation of the institution increased. Senator Odell, who is also a member of the committee, said that the students at the college were unanimously opposed to the president and he declared that there was little sentiment in his favor among the alumni. He claimed also that the farmers of the state were not in sympathy with the institution.

N. P. Hull, former master of the state grange, and the various members of the state board of agriculture rose to the defense of the president, and all of the members of the board declared that they had been over the state and had heard nothing of the sentiment against the college which Odell and Woodworth claimed existed. In the end it was decided that the members of the board and the house and senate committees should put forth their best efforts to secure the needed appropriation. Every one agreed that the institution was growing and that more money was needed to carry on the work.

Although the Odell short ballot bill passed the house by unanimous vote, it has been sidetracked in the house and stands little chance of getting through the legislature this session. Rep. Baird, one of the progressive republicans who led the fight against the measure pointed out that it was not consistent to offer the people the primary and then take that right away from them by allowing the chief executive to name all of the state officers below lieutenant governor.

Rep. Baird is a strong adherent of the primary system and he believes with many others that it will be a step in the wrong direction to increase the governor's appointive power and take from the people the right of deciding for themselves as to their candidates for attorney general, secretary of state and other administrative officers. It is pointed out that the taking of three or four names from the ballot would not shorten it to any great extent and that it is the long county tickets that causes the voters so much confusion.

All chance of submitting the recall amendment at the spring election has gone glimmering and it is doubtful whether the amendments providing for the initiative and referendum will leave the printers in time for certification by the secretary of state to the county clerks.

Sixty-seven members of the house locked themselves in under a call, in an effort to correct an error made in the resolution providing for submitting the constitutional amendments relative to the recall, and failed because two members were opposed, and 67 votes were required. The senate had sent back the recall resolution amended to require more than 25 per cent on petitions. The house refused to concur and changed the proposition back to its original form which read "less than 25 per cent."

Individually the necessity of making the changes in two places in the bill, was overlooked. When the error was discovered the resolution was recalled from the senate. A count of noses developed that just the required two-thirds number of members were present. During the interim necessary for sending after the resolution, it was discovered that two members would not vote to amend the resolution, and the plan had to be abandoned.

The senate has agreed to the semi-monthly pay bill. This is a compromise between the monthly pay day request of employers and the weekly pay day demands of employees.

The Murtha bill making it a misdemeanor for any public official to fail in carrying out pre-election pledges was agreed to in committee of the whole in the senate. The Case bill fixing the standards of purity of drugs, foods, etc., was agreed to. The Amberson measure prohibiting the misbranding of foods and drinks was favored. Senator Woodworth gained agreement on the part of the committee of the whole for the amendment to the drug bill which has to do with the authority to revoke licenses in cases of the unauthorized sale of drugs or poisons.

Senator Robert Walter, chairman of the fish committee appointed to meet with the Wisconsin legislature to frame uniform fish legislation for Lake Michigan, has just received word from the game warden of Wisconsin, commending the Clark commercial fisheries bill which just passed the house. The Wisconsin expert says it is the best measure of its kind he has ever seen bearing on lake fisheries and will ask the Wisconsin legislature to adopt it for that state as the basis for uniform fish laws.

Michigan and Wisconsin never before have been able to agree absolutely on the commercial fisheries legislation and the difference has been a source of no little trouble to the game wardens of the two states and the commercial fishing interests representing the two sides of Lake Michigan. The complications have been so numerous and troublesome that Senator Walter determined this year to make a fight for uniformity.

With but little opposition, the house committee on revision and amendment of the constitution reported out the resolution to submit state wide prohibition to the people of Michigan. It cannot be said that the members of the house received the measure with great glee for many have asserted their personal disinclination to support such a measure but adding thereto a statement that probably they would vote for the bill if the committee turned it loose, and the indications now are better for success for the resolution than in any previous session, in both houses.

The action of the committee this session comes as something of a surprise, observers point out, in view of the fact that such other measures such as equal suffrage, the initiative, referendum and recall, have the call on public attention, while in other years delegation after delegation came here to fight for such a measure, and petitions by the thousands were filed without effect. This year with little or no agitation the resolution is placed in position where it is generally admitted there is a chance for its passage.

The committee was not agreed on the matter, and the report is without favorable recommendation for the resolution by the committee. On the question of reporting out the bill the following members voted in favor: Reps. Skeels, Hulst, Flowers, Middleton, Pray, Wieland, C. H. McBride, Stevens, Rice, while Chairman Ashley and Hepp, Sutton, Freeman and Foote favored indefinitely postponing consideration of the matter.

Butter and cream must hereafter be above reproach as the result of a bill passed by the house. The Rayburn measure which requires that butter must contain at least 81 per cent of butter fat and cream at least 18 per cent of milk fat, was passed by a vote of 37 to 2 and sent to the senate. Advocates of the measure asserted the standards required are those adopted by the general government, and it is declared the bill will bring prestige to Michigan butter as well as to protect the buyer from purchasing a large quantity of water in his butter.

All doubts as to the progressive nature of the senate were dispelled when the upper house in a single afternoon passed the resolutions providing for the submission of constitutional amendments that would give the people of the state, the initiative and referendum on legislation, the recall, the initiative and referendum on constitutional amendments and the short ballot.

Five years ago these measures would have been considered fit only for the discussion of statesmen of socialistic tendencies. And yet, such changes have been brought, that all three measures hardly brought out an antagonistic comment from the floor. In this day of primaries when every aspirant to public office must explain his action and his vote to the folks at home, the people really have come to rule. "The people want it," is enough enough for anything in this progressive day.

Old legislators who had in the house and senate of the last ten years ago fairly gasped at the initiative and referendum slipped through the senate. There was no further discussion of the short ballot proposal of Senator Odell. Some of the members of the senate did not want it, but they were of the opinion that it would be killed in the house.

Senator Allswede's horse power tax on automobiles which is a preliminary or auxiliary measure to the trunk line highway now pending in the senate has been passed by the senate on third reading. This carries a tax of 50 cents per horse power on pleasure vehicles and 25 cents per horse power on commercial cars. The difference is accounted for by the fact that commercial vehicles practically are limited to the use of streets in cities and do not contribute to the wear on country roads.

BURNED AND ITCHED BADLY

It was all red and inflamed and had pus running out of it. I suffered terribly from burning pain; could not sleep for two weeks it burned and itched so badly. I applied — Salve, — Salve and a salve my druggist recommended as his own, but got no relief. I then commenced using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bathed the burned parts with Cuticura Soap and applied the Cuticura Ointment on a linen bandage. I got relief from the first, and my arm healed nicely. I was soon able to be at work again. Book Urges Changes in State Game Laws

Warden Oates Makes Recommendations in Annual Report.

In a booklet composed of 55 pages, Game Warden William R. Oates makes an exhaustive report of the past year's work by his department and recommends several changes in the state game laws, which if carried into effect, will immediately change the limitations now placed on hunters.

Warden Oates first recommends civil service for deputies. A rod license for non-resident fishermen and the abolition of the spring shooting of water fowl are recommended. He suggests that the "buck law" now in operation in various states be used in Michigan, allowing only the killing of male deer with horns and suggests that the shipping of deer heads out of season be licensed, provided the owner can show that the animals were killed at a lawful time and in a lawful manner. He wants the number of game birds killed by either resident or non-resident hunters reported to the state game warden, and the beaver license law amended to allow the proceeds and responsibility of the law to come to his department.

In speaking of the deer, hunting season of 1911, the report says: "It is a conservative estimate to say that there were 23,000 hunters in the woods during the deer hunting season. It is estimated that 12,000 deer were slaughtered in the state, not counting those destroyed by wolves." The report recommends the opening of the deer season Nov. 10 instead of Oct. 15. The partridge season should be opened Oct. 1, according to the report.

Doesn't it stand to reason that Resall "93" Hair Tonic must be a mighty good remedy and have given great satisfaction to our customers if we endorse it like that? We know of no similar remedy that is so good. It is because of what Resall "93" Hair Tonic has done for others that we back it with our own money.
Why suffer scalp and hair trouble or be bald, when Resall "93" Hair Tonic will remove dandruff, make your scalp comfortable and healthy, promote hair growth and tend to prevent baldness—when we will pay for the treatment should it fail to please you?
We don't obligate you to anything. You simply buy the treatment; use it, and if not pleased, some back to us. We know that we will hand back what you paid us. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00 a bottle.

The Four Amendments

In order that the voters of this village and township may have an unmistakable understanding, here is a concise statement of what the four proposed constitutional amendments are that the electors of the state will find on their ballots when they go to the poll Monday, April 7th. It will be up to the electors to adopt or reject any or all of the four.
Woman suffrage. The same amendment was defeated last November by a majority of 760 in a total vote of 495,510.
For initiating amendments to the constitution by petition of not less than 10 per cent of the number that voted for governor at the last preceding election. The right of the legislature to initiate amendments by a two-thirds vote of each house will continue even if the amendment is adopted.
For enacting laws for the initiative and referendum as well as by the legislature, at least eight per cent of the legal voters may express, by petition, that they want a law enacted on a given subject. The law they thus initiate goes to the legislature. Whether passed or rejected by that body it must be submitted to a referendum of the electors. Any law initiated by the legislature and passed by it must be submitted to referendum if five per cent of the electors so petition. This, in substance, is the proposed amendment.

For pensions for members of municipal fire departments disabled in line of duty. The amendment would not in itself create a firemen's pension system. It simply would open the way so the legislature could do so, the idea being to have a state controlled pension fund maintained by assessments of firemen with the state contributing a minor portion.

Thos. S. Smith has deeded to D. D. Alleh, forty-five acres of land in a 1/4 of a 1/4 of section 22, north of Ann Arbor road, township of Plymouth; $1,000.
Thos. Patterson has purchased the Cal. Whipple farm, about two miles north of this place, and leased the same to B. D. Brown, who will work it the coming season.
Miss Ellen Packard has resigned the primary department in our school, after three years of earnest and excellent service. She carries with her the affection of the little ones and of their parents as well.

The Plymouth wind mill company have again resumed business. They fired up the furnace in the moulding room on Thursday last for the first time, and on Monday took off a heat. The whistle is now blown, which sounds like business.
The first social party given by the M. O. B. club, at Amity hall, last Friday evening, was a success in every particular. About forty couple participated; the pleasures lasting until the "wee-smo-hours." Several couple from Northville and adjoining towns were in attendance. The boys appeared to be highly pleased as it was a new adventure. Harmon's full orchestra furnished the music.

George Hix, of near Nankin mills, while engaged in chopping timber, went up a tree to dislodge it by cutting off a limb. The tree went down and Hix with it, striking his jaw upon the tree and breaking it in two places. The limb which he severed also fell, striking him, fracturing a rib and crushing his left arm and hand. Dr. Hatch dressed his wounds and Dr. Pelham took an impression of the jaw in plaster Paris.

The special administrators appointed to take charge of the Baetcke banking business at Brighton, at the recent death of its owner, have learned that they cannot open the bank owing to the fact that an inventory shows a $11,000 balance on the wrong side of the ledger. The Argus says that the creditors may expect to realize about 35 per cent. of their holdings.

Loss of appetite or distress after eating—any symptom that should not be disregarded.

PREVENTING THE PREVENTABLE.

It is, of course, worse than useless to worry about preventable misfortunes. It is worth while, however, to differentiate between the preventable and the unpreventable. It is equally worth while to work for the prevention of the preventable. And one is surprised to find how many of the losses and sufferings of mankind might be prevented if proper time and thought were given to them. Losses of human life through unnecessary diseases, destruction of food products through preventable causes, sacrifices of property through avoidable fires—they constitute an appalling chapter in our social inefficiency. Only an approximate monetary value can be placed upon human life. The insurance companies make such estimates, but they are convincing only when considered impersonally. To say that millions are lost to the people of America through unnecessary dying, through the ravages of preventable diseases, is to state an economic fact undeniably. It is, none the less, a fact. The property loss by fire in the United States for 1911—the latest authentic figures obtainable—was $225,000,000. And any expert will say a majority of those fires might have been prevented by precautions of quite an ordinary character.

Locomotive engineers sit for hours at the throttle in a cramped position, the mind is taxed to the full limit, the body at a terrible strain. The percentage of deaths from kidney disorder is very high among locomotive engineers and it is asserted that this is due in a large measure to the continual jar of the engine. With a view to ameliorating these conditions an inventor has contrived a portable back rest made of canvas, which is attached to the seat, while the upper end is secured to coil springs, which are hooked to the ceiling of the cab. The springs relieve the engineer of a great deal of jarring, permit him to occupy a more comfortable position, and consequently make him more efficient, particularly on long runs.

WILSON CALLS CONGRESS TO MEET

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE WILL BE DEVOTED TO TARIFF PRINCIPALLY, IT'S SAID.

SPECIAL MESSAGE ON MATTER OF CURRENCY MAY FOLLOW.

The Committee of the House Will Be Ready to Report Promptly When Congress Convenes and Get at Work.

President Wilson has issued the formal proclamation convening congress in extra session at noon, April 7.

The president's pronouncement is brief and followed form closely. It stated merely that "whereas, public interests require," congress would be convened in extra session by order of the executive.

Originally, Mr. Wilson had fixed on April 1 as the date, Rep. Underwood, the democrat leader, having informed him that the tariff bills, to which it is agreed congress should give immediate attention, would be ready on that date. Mr. Underwood found, however, that the ways and means committee would need another week to draft the tariff schedules and today's proclamation is in deference to the wishes of Leader Underwood and house leaders.

The absence of any specific reason for the calling of the extra session is explained in that Mr. Wilson's statement immediately after his election declared that he would call an extra session to revise the tariff.

President Wilson plans to point out specifically his wishes for the extra session in his first message, in preparation. This, it is known from talks the president has had with members of congress, will outline the administration's idea of how the tariff should be revised and just what schedules should be taken up. The belief is general that the entire message will be taken up with a discussion of the tariff, with the exception of the last paragraph or two, which will draw attention to the need of currency legislation at the earliest possible moment and will indicate the purpose of the president to send later a special message on that or other subjects which he believes should be taken up by the new congress.

The tariff plan will be submitted first to a caucus and then directly to the house by the ways and means committee.

"The committee will be ready to report by that time," said Democrat Leader Underwood. "We have made headway and there will be no trouble about reporting the revised plan, when the congress convenes."

The majority of the ways and means committee began taking up the administrative features of the new tariff. These provisions relate to the variety of custom house routine and the effort of the democrats in changing the terms and phraseology of the administrative section is to simplify and facilitate the customs work both in the interest of the government and the importers. A number of changes along that line were suggested by witnesses during the tariff hearings in January.

"The tariff revision plan will be in such condition that whatever form the caucus determines on can be reported immediately out of the committee and the whole tariff discussion formally opened up in the house without delay.

There will be no attempt to name all or even the bulk of the house committees at the outset of the extra session, that being reserved under the present until toward the close of the extra session so as to obviate any unnecessary legislation until the regular session of congress convenes in December. The ways and means committee personnel already has been determined upon in democratic caucus of the sixty-third congress and it will be ratified by the house at the opening of the extra session, when the committee on rules, mileage and accounts also will be named. Whether any other committees will be created for doing business at the extra session depends on developments between now and April 7.

KING OF GREECE ASSASSINATED

DEGENERATE TAKES KING'S LIFE AS LATTER SAUNTERS ALONG STREET

HE DIES IN HALF AN HOUR AFTER BEING SHOT DOWN

Officials Take Oath of Allegiance to Prince Constantine; Queen on Way. Perfect Order Maintained Throughout.

SALONIKA, March 18.—King George of Greece, was assassinated while walking in the streets of Salonika this afternoon. The assassin was a Greek of low mental type, who gave his name as Aleko Schinas. He shot the king through the heart.

The king was accompanied only by an aide de camp, Lieut.-Col. Francoulis. The assassin came suddenly at the king and fired one shot from a seven-chamber revolver. The tragedy caused intense excitement. Schinas was seized immediately and overpowered.

Dies in Few Minutes. The king fell into the arms of his aide when shot. Two soldiers ran up, on hearing the firing, and helped to support him. He was placed in a carriage and efforts were made to stop the bleeding, but he breathed his last on the way to the hospital nearby.

When Prince Nicholas bade the officers swear fealty to Constantine, they shouted "Long Live the King."

Prince Nicholas is the only member of the royal family in Salonika. Mourning emblems are displayed everywhere. The Greek governor has issued a proclamation announcing that the oath of fealty to King Constantine has been taken.

Prince Nicholas, the king's third son, and other officers hurried to the hospital. Arriving there, Prince Nicholas summoned the officers and, speaking in a voice choked with sobs, said:

"It is my deep grief to have to announce to you the death of our beloved king, and invite you to swear fealty to your new sovereign, King Constantine."

Progressives First on Ballot. The electors of Michigan will have an opportunity of voting on four amendments to the constitution this coming April election.

Secretary of State Martindale this morning certified to the initiative amendment as applied to constitutional amendments and the initiative and referendum as applied to laws, also the amendment proposing pensioning of firemen. The equal suffrage amendment has already been certified to.

There is no chance now for the recall, as the time limit is not long enough to allow certification to be made to county clerks and sheriffs in time to place the amendment on the ballot.

County clerks are wiring or telephoning the secretary of state to ascertain the order in which the various tickets shall appear on the ballot. Here is the proper way, and the only one that will be legal: National progressive, republican, democrat, socialist, prohibitionist, socialist labor.

Thus for the first time in years first republican ticket will not appear first.

Standing on a street corner in Grand Rapids, Fred Wirth, 25, drank poison and died before he could be sent to a hospital. He leaves a widow and three children, one only a week old. Decependency was the cause.

Proof from Michigan Farmers

The Great Worm Destroyer and Conditioner

The results Michigan farmers are getting from "Sal-Vet" and the way they endorse it is proof conclusive that this great worm destroyer and conditioner is the greatest boon to farmers ever discovered. Here are a few of the hundreds of letters written to me by grateful Michigan farmers relating their experiences and results from "Sal-Vet". You may possibly know some of them personally. Read what they say:

"I have fed SAL-VET to all my sheep, hogs and pigs, and also to one of my work horses that had the colic. The horses have gained in weight, my sheep never lacked and my pigs are in the best of health. I have also used SAL-VET to feed my cows and my calves, and my experience has been that SAL-VET and worms cannot stand together."—K. A. BUNTRAGER, Fairview, Mich.

"My SAL-VET is all gone, and as common salt does not begin to take its place. I want you to send me another box at once. I am now that 200 worth of SAL-VET saves me $100 worth of feed: all my sheep, cows and hogs are doing remarkably well. My experience has been that SAL-VET and worms cannot stand together."—K. A. BUNTRAGER, Fairview, Mich.

"I have given your SAL-VET a good trial and find it is all that you say it is. I would rather have it than any stock feed or remedy that I have tried."—W. E. MICHOLSON, Ligonier, Mich.

"Your SAL-VET is all that you claim it to be and I would recommend it to every stock raiser. It really has no equal in the line of worm destroyers."—EDWARD LITTLE, Prop. of the Good Stock Farm, Romulus, Mich.

"Having thoroughly tested your SAL-VET I have found it to be exactly what you say it is. It really has no equal in the line of worm destroyers. I can testify to its value in my life. Many hogs in the neighborhood had died of cholera, but after I had fed your SAL-VET to them they were all cured."—JOHN H. LEYENDECKER, R. 2, Breca Center, Mich.

"Sal-Vet" is a wonderful medicated salt—a preparation which is saving farmers hundreds of thousands of dollars. It is not only the surest and quickest remedy for worms, but also a tonic, digestive and conditioner which puts all farm animals in excellent condition, thus providing the most efficient, disease preventive you can get. No trouble to feed it. You simply place it where all your farm animals can run to it freely—no drenching, no handling—no bother at all—they doctor themselves.

A Most Remarkable New Automobile Tire

An entirely new pneumatic Automobile Tire has made its appearance in Detroit, which marks the greatest progress in tire improvement that has ever been made. This new tire is the invention of Mr. E. Warren Wilson, a Consulting Engineer in Detroit, who is known as the WILSON PNEUMATIC AUTOMOBILE TIRE. It consists of an ordinary inner air tube combined with a flexible rubber tread which encircles the inner air tube in such a manner that it is absolutely impossible to puncture or blow out the inner tube, the inner air tube and the outer flexible rubber tread being held in place by a pair of steel rims attached to the rim of the wheel. These steel rims are made demountable and can be quickly attached to any standard wheel.

A full set of these tires have been in constant use all winter and have all ready shown much greater efficiency than any other tires now in use. They have been tested under extreme conditions of wear, including driving over rough, frozen and icy country roads, making many long runs which would have completely used up any other tires and they hardly show any signs of wear. There has been no puncture or blow out of any kind whatever. They are good for at least 20,000 miles of travel. Many competent authorities estimate they will without doubt last for over 30,000 miles. They have been used all Winter without chains and are not skid. They have the same resilient action found in other pneumatic tires and ride just as easy, most people say they ride easier. These tires are not only suitable for passenger automobiles but answer every requirement for trucks and commercial cars and can be adapted to carry any load from 500 pounds up to 10 tons.

These tires are made much cheaper and much better than any other pneumatic tires but they will be sold at about the same price. Any orders have been received for them without regard to price. These tires will be manufactured by the WILSON PNEUMATIC TIRE COMPANY, office 1802 Ford Building, which was recently incorporated with a capital stock of $1,000,000 and the company is now offering $400,000 worth of stock. A large number of well known Detroit business men have subscribed for nearly $100,000 of the stock. The following men have been elected as Directors: W. M. Wilson, President; J. H. Gregg, of the Greck Hardware Company; Frank H. Hedges, of the Greck Hardware Company; Arthur J. Hiles, Attorney; E. W. Wilson, Consulting Engineer and T. S. Sprague, Dealer in Bonds and Stocks, Detroit.

What Three Bushels More to the Acre Means

EIGHT years ago the farmers in a central state averaged crops that ran three bushels less to the acre than they now get. Suppose each acre of farm land in the country were so tended that it produced an increase equal to that of this state. How much more money would you have with which to buy the luxuries of life that you earn and deserve? Your share in this prosperity depends entirely upon yourself. The first step is to fertilize your land properly with manure spread by an I H C Manure Spreader.

The spreader that does its work as it should must have many excellent mechanical features. The apron should move without jerking; the beater should meet the load at exactly the right point to pulverize the manure without too greatly increasing the draft of the machine; the speed changes of the apron should be positive. All these features are provided for in the construction of I H C spreaders.

I H C spreaders are made in low styles which are not too low for use in deep mud or snow, narrow and wide, with both reverse and endless aprons, for use under all conditions. The rear axle is located well under the box, instead of at the rear. Placed in that position (under the box) it carries over 70 per cent of the load and insures ample tractive power.
