A Former Resident Dead Memories of the Past In and Around Plymouth

The remains of David Cady, a former, old and highly respected resident of this vicinity, were brought here for burial in the Kinyon cemetery last Friday afternoon. Mr. Cady died at the home of his son, 449 Marquette avenue, Detroit, October 22, 1913, in the 96th year of his age. He was the father of Alfred, D. D., Orin and Nelson Cady and was one of nine brothers whose early boyhood was spent on the Cady farm 2 1/2 miles northwest of Plymouth.

The Epworth League Banquet

The seventh annual banquet of the Epworth League will be held at Grange hall on Tuesday evening, November 11th. The affair this year will be larger and better than ever. The program committee is now hard at work and to date have secured some of the best men in the state to respond to toasts. As an added attraction Mr. Harold Jarvis of Detroit, will sing several selections, accompanied by Prof. Stevens, who will also render some instrumental selections. The sale of tickets will be limited, so that all are advised to buy theirs early, in consideration of the fact that the demand far surpassed the number who could be accommodated last year. Price of tickets is 50c.

Special Election Called

On another page of this paper there will be found a notice of a special election to be held on Monday, November 17th for the purpose of submitting to a vote of the people the proposition of Pontiac parties for the installation of gas works, storage, and distributing tanks, mains, pipes and conduits in the village of Plymouth.

Pastor Cook of Brooklyn, Preaches a Striking Sermon at Village Hall

The pastor seemed filled with enthusiasm over God's future provision for the world. His audience showed intense interest in what he revealed from the Scriptures as to the Two Salvations. He also made it very emphatic that none will get a second chance though every good one will get one. All fair chances for salvation either in this world or the world to come. He also made the distinctions between the two salvations very pointed. Showing that we who expect to be of the church who are being selected out from the world since Jesus came, must carry a very high standard during this our trial time, sacrificing up the very things, for the sake of a place in the Kingdom, which the world will get and be so satisfied with in the next age, their trial time. He said such sacrifices are rare, and consequently, the scriptures declare will cause the Kingdom class to be few in number, as Jesus said, "Fear not little flock it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the Kingdom." But how glad we are said to be, yet although the majority of the world are not willing to do this sacrificing for a place in the heavenly Kingdom, they are not shut out from all hope as we have believed in the darker past, but in the age just dawning when the church is completed and glorified, will have abundantly more in the shape of earthly blessings than they ever thought or dreamed of, even a Paradise restored. In conclusion the speaker urged upon his hearers the necessity of "giving more earnest heed" to the diligent study of God's word rather than to the creeds originated during the dark ages, that thus their faith in God might be increased and their lives made full. And none to be so foolish as to think of any second chance, for the great apostle makes very plain in Acts 3:21 that every soul that will not hear (obey) that prophet (the great Christ, head and body complete) shall be destroyed (not eternally roasted) from among the people.

Safford's in bad condition, while the horse neglected to stop. The night was very dark and Harmon driving on the wrong side of the road was the cause for the collision. One of the hills to Harmon's buggy was driven through the front of the bus, above the seat. No other damage so far as we have learned.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Medical inspection of schools is a business proposition. In a town of 250 children, it is said for instance, there would be an annual saving of $5,250 if by thorough medical inspection the curable physical defects that handicap children could be remedied.—Moderator Topics.

The Art Exhibit is over. A goodly number of Plymouthites availed themselves of the opportunity of viewing the pictures. More should have come. Why is it people will not take advantage of such an opportunity—one of the most refined and elevating in life—for the small sum of 10c, and not even to help the schools their children attend?

The Plymouth football team came back from Wayne victorious to the tune of 22 to 0. Had captain Spencer not broken his collar bone the score would have been much larger, while Wayne's would have read 0. It was one of the best games ever played between the two schools. The spirit between the boys on either side was good. Supt. Rayerat is to be commended for his good work in this behalf.

The football team journeys to Ypsilanti Wednesday p. m. to play the Normal High team. The team is much crippled in the loss of Capt. Spencer. He is one of our strongest players and an efficient quarter back. Two other players are also out because their work isn't up to standard. With the loss of these players and the consequent shifting necessary, together with a new quarter back, we don't expect to come back home with a very large score in our favor.

School closed Thursday and Friday of this week so that the teachers could attend the Michigan State Teachers' Association Institute at Ann Arbor. All teachers are going. They have already secured their lodging places, paid their fees, and secured their badges. The badges are the prettiest ever, consisting of a metal button with a cut of the new Hill Auditorium on it with a strip of yellow and blue ribbon attached. The yellow and blue are University colors. The new Hill Auditorium seats 6000 people. Its acoustic properties are the best in the United States it is claimed. A person sitting in any one of the 3000 seats can hear the speaker if he uses only the ordinary conversational tone. The program prepared is considered the best that has ever been offered the teachers of the state.

MAKING GOOD ROADS BY CONVICT LABOR

By DONALD F. BIGGS

CAMP OF CONVICT ROAD WORKERS

HERE is nothing particularly new or revolutionary about the working of convicts upon the public roads. For many years it has been the custom in most of the cities of this country to place vagrants and other minor offenders caught in the police dragnet at work upon the streets and in a number of states the inmates of the penitentiaries have been employed at various times in the construction of highways.

But the modern idea of convict road labor is new and it is only just beginning to appear in various parts of the United States. The old idea—where convict labor was employed on the roads—was merely to utilize the labor of the convicts to the best advantage to the state—to make the convict produce as large a revenue as possible, in order to repay the state for the expense of maintaining its penal institutions. Into the new idea, there has entered an element that was unthought of formerly. This new element has to do with the reclamation of the convicts, the development of their moral senses and their ultimate return to the world as law-abiding citizens, rather than as human derelicts, made unfit, through their prison life, for any further attempt to lead an honest existence.

BUILDING ROADS BY CONVICT LABOR

The new idea of convict road labor is to aid both the state and the convict; to give the state the benefit of the labor that can be utilized to greater advantage in this way than in any other, and to give the convict the benefit of the outdoor life, the freedom from the restraint of prison walls and the different character of discipline that makes it possible for him to regain his self-respect.

In working out this new idea, especially with the view to the reformation of the convicts, old ideas of prison regulations necessarily have disappeared and the whole system of discipline has been revolutionized. The honor system has taken the place of armed guards, in many instances, and the "camp" has replaced the stockade and "bull pen" of the old days of convict road labor.

Colorado was one of the first states to adopt the new idea. New Jersey began experiments along the same line a short time later. President Woodrow Wilson, then governor of New Jersey, is given credit for the inauguration of the convict road work in that state along the new lines. Several other states have fallen in line, each working possibly in a different way, but toward the same general end.

Illinois is the latest state to make a beginning in this work. A force of nearly one hundred convicts was recently taken from the penitentiary at Joliet and placed at work on the roads. Armed guards were dispensed with and the men were placed upon their honor. The convicts pledged themselves to make no effort to escape and the authorities are relying upon their keeping this promise.

In this case a tendency soon developed on the part of the people to overdo the idea of giving the convicts greater liberty and pleasure. A plan to give the convicts an automobile ride and theater party in a nearby city was proposed to the authorities, but Governor Dunne vetoed this program and let it be understood that while it is planned to give the convicts greater freedom than they have been accustomed to within the prison walls and to add them in getting a better view of life, the fact that they have been sentenced to pay a penalty for infraction of the state's laws must not be forgotten, and the men must be made to realize that punishment awaits such violations of the statutes.

The working of convicts upon the roads in Colorado was made possible only a few years ago by act of the legislature. The system has been generally adopted throughout the state during the past two or three years, the various counties co-operating with the state in the improvement of the highways. The result is seen in many miles of splendid roads built by the convicts.

The honor system was adopted simultaneously with the placing of the convicts on the roads in Colorado. All of the convicts were not turned loose from the penitentiary without guards, but a certain percentage of the prisoners, including those having the best prison records, were taken from the penitentiary first as an experiment. As the success of the experiment seemed evident to the authorities, the number of "honor" men was increased and more than 50 per cent. of the convicts were finally removed from the prison and placed in the road camps.

Warden Tynan and other prison authorities declare the experiment has been even more successful than was anticipated.

"During the last three years we have had more than 100,000 man-days of convict labor on the roads," says the warden. "These men, without guards—some 300 miles away from the prison—have created a national reputation for loyalty. Less than one per cent have violated their pledges by successful escape. Communities no longer fear to have our convict camps established near them. We have made manhood as well as money by this healthy, hearty outdoor labor. We have built the prisoners up both physically and morally. Men discharged from our road camps do not have the prison pallor; the physical weakness and the hesitating, hanging dog appearance of the typical discharged convict. They are bronzed, sturdy, healthy, efficient laborers and are in demand as such. About 80 per cent of those we have sent from the camps on the completion of their terms have made good. The other 20 per cent, have mostly found their way back into prison elsewhere."

Under the Colorado system, the convict is allowed ten days off his sentence for each month of labor performed on the roads. This is in addition to the usual reduction made for good behavior. There are other incentives for the convicts to so conduct themselves that they will be put at work on the roads, according to Warden Tynan. "For one thing," he says, "the man who is allowed to leave the prison for the road camp practically has seen the last of prison if he conducts himself properly. His food is better, his clothing is better. He has not constantly before his eyes the guns of the guards to remind him that he is a convicted criminal and has no place in society. His self-respect returns, he is taught self-reliance and sustained application, and these things enable him to take his place among other people and do a man's work when he is released from prison."

As to the economic side of the question, Warden Tynan is just as optimistic. He declares that the state has saved a large amount of money and that it will save hundreds of thousands of dollars during the next ten years through the use of convict labor on the roads.

With reference to the cost of maintaining the convicts in the road camps, Warden Tynan gives some statistics.

"In one of our camps," he says, "we utilize 25 men, not including the camp help, one week. The maintenance of each of these men cost the state exactly 35 cents per day. The total cost of all the work for the month, including salaries, care of stock, food for teams and cost of equipment, was $215.15, or 47 1/2 cents per day per man. Had this number of men been employed at the standard wage rate of $3 per day, the cost of wages alone would have been $1,425.00."

In New Jersey the convicts are handled a little differently, but the object is the same. Here the guards have not thrown away their guns, but the firearms are not in evidence and the casual visitor to the convict camp scarcely can tell which are the keepers and which convicts.

Woodrow Wilson, when he was governor of New Jersey, thought he saw a way to solve some of the problems presented by the state prisons. He outlined his idea to the state prison labor commission and turned over to that body, together with the state road commissioner, the task of working out his idea. The result of President Wilson's suggestions is "Don't Worry Camp," the first of the road convict camps to be established in New Jersey.

This is very much like any other summer camp, except that it is better equipped. One large room holds the convicts' beds, while in a projecting all there is space for five guards, whose beds are so placed that every square foot of the convicts' quarters can be seen through a glass partition. This is the only suggestion of surveillance, except for the locks that are placed on the doors at night. The convicts' room contains a shower-bath and other facilities. The ventilation is scientific and the floor, walls, ceiling and beds are spotless. Two former chefs, now convicts, preside in the kitchen and prepare the meals, which include meat twice a day and plenty of fresh vegetables.

All the buildings in the camp were constructed by the convicts themselves, without any outside help, save where expert workmanship such as could not be furnished by the convicts, was needed. After the camp was completed the convicts were put to work on the nearby roads. Asphalt roads are to be laid and culverts and bridges constructed, and in this connection is seen one of the chief benefits of the new system, so far as the convicts are concerned. The prisoners will have an opportunity to learn the mysteries of scientific road-making, a profession which is not over-crowded. Those prisoners who show an interest in the work will be promoted to responsible positions and will be in a position to secure well-paid jobs when their terms expire, the authorities believe.

While these few states have been taking the lead in the efforts to solve the problem of convict labor, other states have been studying the question of how best to spend the labor of the state ward, both for his own interest and that of the state, and rapid progress is predicted along these lines during the next few years by those familiar with penal institutions throughout the country.

TALES OF GOTHAM AND OTHER CITIES

Fights Bird for Feather So as to Win Husband

NEW YORK.—"Bill the Beak," the giant macaw in the Central park bird zoo, expelled a terrific shriek. A woman had hold of Bill's tail. The woman tugged and pulled at the long feather which makes Bill the envy of all the other male birds in the zoo. And the more the woman pulled on Bill's tail the more the big bird shrieked his mingled rage and pain. Finally Bill got the woman's offending fingers between his beak and nipped her savagely.

her eyes. "Bill the Beak" was smoothing out his ruffled tail feathers and cawing discordantly.

"What do you mean by trying to jerk that parrot's tail out?" demanded the head birdkeeper.

Miss Garrison sniffed. "I am one of the Salem left-overs," she explained. "There are three times as many girls in Salem as there are men, and, like hundreds of other Salem girls, I was unable to get a husband. Recently I came to New York and consulted an astrologer who told me that if I could get the tail feather of a macaw and would wear it in my hat during the day and under my pillow at night during the ascendancy of the planet Uranus I would marry a handsome young man with plenty of money."

"I heard that there were macaws at Central park and came here this morning to see if one of them would shed a feather. After waiting for half an hour or so for one of them to drop one I put my hand through the bars. That's all I remember until I felt my finger in that nasty bird's beak."

Little Girl Steals Auto Ride Clad Only in Nightgown

CHICAGO.—It was kind of ahivery in the cool October morning to be dashing around in an automobile with only just a nightgown to cover pink skin. But O! Such fun to be stealing a ride without daddy knowing!

As the automobile spun down Jackson boulevard and stopped at the crossings in the loop William J. Newman, a contractor, living at 3231 West Jackson boulevard, wondered why pedestrians looked so strangely at his automobile and smiled with so much amusement.

Margaret, his three-year-old daughter, was having the time of her life. When daddy had kissed her good-by in the morning she had crept out of her little bed and stole downstairs. While her father was bidding the others good-by she slipped out of doors and crept into the rear of his automobile, all unnoticed.

ping off her shoulders, but she did not notice. A crowd gathered around. One little hand rested on her knee as she steeled herself.

"Little September Morn!" observed a laughing girl, who paused with several others to look at her.

"Morning!" replied Margaret, catching the last word. Just then daddy came in sight. His eyes popped wide open as he caught a flash of ten pink toes diving to the depths of a great green blanket. There was a hasty explanation in excited baby talk. Mrs. Newman was standing at the telephone on the verge of collapse from anxiety when it rang and her husband called.

Pioneer Indian Fighter, Crippled, Seeks Aid

SAN FRANCISCO.—William Kincaid, pioneer Indian fighter and veteran of the Mexican and Civil wars, applied lately at the Central Emergency hospital for aid.

At the conclusion of the Mexican war Kincaid came north and was employed as a rider on the pony express. Countless fights with the hostile Sioux, adventures with the Apaches and other Indians are Kincaid's remembrances of this period of his life.

In 1858 Kincaid went to Missouri and raised horses near Boonville. The Civil war broke out and to escape military service he took to the brush. At night, if the coast was clear, the young man's sister would display red, white and blue lights from the house and Kincaid would come in for dinner. While at the table one evening he was surprised by a detail of ten men from General Fossenden's command and enlisted for service.

Following two years of soldiering, Kincaid and his partner came west and engaged in transporting horses across the plains for the federal cavalry.

In 1865 Kincaid's father was governor of Nevada and the son came west again. Kincaid's father also was a federal representative of Arizona. The later years of his life Kincaid "punched" cattle, drove stages, "rode line," logged in the northwest and lived a general outdoor life.

Boys' Plan for a Free Film Show Is Halted

CLEVELAND, O.—Dreams of long hours spent in an improvised motion picture theater of their own, with the admission price to pay, and no one to respect them to "make room" for somebody else, were well on the way toward realization for two West side boys the other day, when officers from the juvenile court interfered and confiscated their outfit, which, it is charged, was stolen from the Victor theater.

The alleged confessions of Walter Kreager and Harry Worris, each fourteen years old, to Probation Officer Lewis explained why patrons of the theater found the place closed one recent Sunday night.

The boys, according to the juvenile court officers, said they thought they would like to have a playhouse all their own, and decided it would be easier to have someone else furnish the paraphernalia than it would be to save their pennies and buy the necessary material. They picked on the manager of the Victor as their Santa Claus, but forgot to tell him they had borrowed his motion picture machine, several films, a graphophone and a basket of records.

When the theater manager opened his place of entertainment he gaped in amazement and then rubbed his eyes. Ordinary atmosphere filled the space formerly occupied by the picture machine. Rolls of film that had been specially advertised were not to be found. The phonograph that diverted audiences in the intervals between shows was gone. A heavy pinch, delivered where it did the most serious, convinced the astonished manager that he was not asleep.

Unconquerable Cat. There is just one animal man has never conquered, never can conquer. Centuries ago every other beast became the slave of man or else fled far from human habitation. One and one only refused to flee or to submit. This only exception to a world of servants and of scared enemies is the domestic cat. When some animals became man's slaves and others fled from him, the cat did neither. It simply took all the favors and advantages man had to offer, and refused to do one lick of work in exchange. Beat a dog and he will turn on you. Beat a cat and he will attack you and then desert you. You can't conquer the cat. You can't make it work.

ECZEMA ON BACK AND CHEST

Pierson, N. Dakota.—The eczema started on my scalp. It finally went on to the back of my neck, then on to my back, arms and chest. It broke out in pimples first and then seemed to run together in some places, making a sore about the size of a dime. At times the itching and burning were so intense that it seemed unbearable. The more I scratched it the worse it became, and there would be a slight discharge from it, especially on my scalp, so as to make my hair matted and sticky close to the scalp. My hair was dry, lifeless and thin. My hair was falling so terribly that I had begun to despair of ever finding relief. My clothing irritated the eruption on my back. The affected parts were almost a solid scab.

"I had been bothered with eczema for about a year and a half. Then I began using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used them daily for two months and I was cured." (Signed) Miss Mildred Dennis, Apr. 30, 1913.

What Doctor Can Best This? In less than three months a physician of Portland, Me., has treated professionally five patients representing five successive generations of the same family, beginning with a centenarian and following in the direct line of descent down to her great-grandson. He first attended the old lady, who was ninety-nine years old, for senile gangrene, resulting in her death. During her illness he was called on to prescribe for her daughter, aged seventy-five. Next his daughter's son, a florist, aged fifty, fell ill and required attention. Following him, a son, a clerk of twenty-seven, found himself in need of medical aid. And lastly to the clerk's wife was born a male child, whom the doctor was called upon to assist into the world, as he had been summoned to ease the great-grandmother's exit from it barely three months before.

Aha, that a wise man can't help looking like a fool at his own wedding!

DOCTORS DID NOT HELP HER

But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Mrs. LeClear's Health—Her Own Statement.

Detroit, Mich.—"I am glad to discover a remedy that relieves me from my suffering and pain. For two years I suffered bearing down pains and got all run down. I was under a nervous strain and could not sleep at night. I went to doctors here in the city but they did not do me any good.

"Seeing Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised, I tried it. My health improved wonderfully and I am now quite well again. No woman suffering from female ills will regret if she takes this medicine."—Mrs. JAMES G. LECLEAR, 836 Hunt St., Detroit, Mich.

Another Case. Philadelphia, Pa.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is all you claim to be. About two or three days before my period I would get bad headaches, then pains in right and left sides, and my head would ache. I called the doctor and he said I had organic inflammation. I went to him for a while but did not get well so I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking two bottles I was relieved and finally my troubles left me. I married and have two little girls. I have had no return of the old trouble."—Mrs. CHAS. BOKEL, 2650 S. Chadwick St., Phila., Pa.

MELISSA RECOGNIZES INSUPERABLE BARRIER.

Mrs. Merriwid's maternal maiden Aunt Jane wore her real coral necklace, a pink waist and a mysterious smile, the latter adorned being assumed when Mrs. Merriwid expressed her admiration of the general effect.

"The rate at which you're improving makes my head swim," declared Mrs. Merriwid. "You'll be tottering around in a hobble the next thing I know."

"I don't think that you need feel any anxiety on that score, my dear," said Aunt Jane. "I have always been brought up to consider the petticoat an indispensable adjunct of feminine attire, and bloomers as an infringement on that pertaining to the other sex."

"Dear me!" remarked Mrs. Merriwid. "Mr. Chubb will be here this afternoon. Melissa," observed Aunt Jane in a casual manner, as she shifted her embroidery hoops.

Mrs. Merriwid opened her eyes wide and became alarmingly rigid. "Here—this—afternoon!" she exclaimed. "Why, I told him distinctly that I was going to the matinee. I told you that I had reasons for staying at home, dearie. Surely you remember. When did he tell you he was coming?"

Aunt Jane's face approximated the color of the coral necklace. "He telephoned about an hour ago," she replied.

thing to embarrass you for words, intentionally. But you know, Auntie, that nobody loves a fat man."

"He's not fat," said Aunt Jane. "He isn't a dissipated person, I should imagine, and consequently he hasn't been reduced to skin and bones like some gentlemen I could name. He may be inclined to portliness, but that only proves that he has a good appetite and sleeps well. I like to see a man comfortably stout."

"You've got a treat in store for this afternoon, then," remarked Mrs. Merriwid.

"Stout people have their feelings," said Aunt Jane.

"Still, I'm afraid that I can never learn to love him," Mrs. Merriwid persisted. "It isn't only that I ache to push him over with my finger to see if he won't roll right side up again; it's not merely the fact that he wears those double thick convex spectacles that give him a somewhat pop-eyed effect of looking into my strictly private soul, and I could overlook his regular habits and his side whiskers; poor dear Henry Merriwid had both side whiskers and regular habits. What keeps me from hiding my blushing face in his shirt bosom and murmuring a basul consent is his delusion that he has a rather nifty tenor voice."

Aunt Jane looked at her niece queerly. "There's something else, isn't there, my dear?" she asked.

"I haven't given the matter a great deal of thought," replied Mrs. Merriwid serenely. "There might be, of course."

"It occurs to me, my love, that his not asking you might be a consideration," suggested Aunt Jane, in a shaky voice. "You might find the further fact that he has no idea of asking you something in the nature of an insuperable bar. You see, Melissa, dear, it is highly probable that you have misconstrued the purpose of Mr. Chubb's rather frequent visits here, and that, however attractive you may be to some gentlemen who—who—who—"

Aunt Jane snatched the little lace handkerchief from her belt, pressed it to her eyes and started for the door, but before her hand could touch the knob her niece had her in an embrace from which there was no escape.

"Auntie!" cried Mrs. Merriwid. "Look at me! You don't mean to tell me that—Oh, you dear thing! Auntie, if I had had the faintest idea in the world that you know I didn't mean anything by what I said, and I think he's a darling and as sweet and lovable as he can be. Dearie, please! Here, I'm going to shake you. Tell me, has he actually proposed?"

Aunt Jane giggled a little hysterically. "He—he has intimated—that he will this afternoon," she stammered.

"Heaven forgive you, you've broken my heart!" Mrs. Merriwid laughed delightedly. "You perdidious things! Here I've been thinking all along that I had a chance, and now—Oh, Auntie, Auntie! Now you can run along and bathe your eyes, and pretty you'll be out of the house inside of ten minutes."

"You—you're sure you don't mind, Melissa?" said Aunt Jane, anxiously.

Mrs. Merriwid kissed her fervently and reassuringly and then, taking her by the shoulders, turned her out of the room and apostrophized the electrolite.

"Well, wouldn't that agitate you?" she said.

HER BOY'S RETURN

By GERTRUDE MARY SHERIDAN.

"Scat!" ordered Mrs. Jared Smith, and bang! a rolling pin went hurtling through the open doorway after a sly dog canine. It struck the animal who uttered a cry of pain and disappeared, limping.

"Easy, mother; easy does it, you know," spoke an even, soothing voice, and Jared Smith came into view. "Just a minute more and I might have got it. Here's your rolling pin, ma. I'll look after the dog."

"You'll do no such thing, Jared Smith!" stormed his angry helpmeet. "The animal got his lesson and deserves it. I told you when you brought the half-starved creature here yesterday he'd make us trouble."

"And what has he been doing?" inquired Jared placidly.

"Better ask that when you get your supper," observed Mrs. Smith tartly, "seeing as the dog stole the small loaf I'd baked special for you, and put it out to cool."

"Well, maybe the poor creature needed it worse than I did," said Jared.

"One thing—don't you dare to bring that animal back here! Now, you mind me!" proclaimed Mrs. Smith.

Jared went into in search of the animal in disfavor. He had picked up the poor creature coming home the day previous.

Jared was tender-hearted, even with the brute creation. His kindly face wrinkled with sympathy as he came across the dog slinking behind the barn and holding up a broken paw.

"Why, you poor thing!" he pitied, caressing the frightened and trembling animal. "And don't you hold it against Samantha," he proceeded.

"She's good as gold, but she's had her crosses, and she hasn't been used to pets since—h'm—there was a strange catch in Jared's throat—a long time ago," he concluded in a sad, dreamy way.

Jared went into the barn and got some horse liniment and some rags. He soon had the injured limb mended up. Then he filled a pan with water and led the animal to an empty cattle pen way back of the house.

"Now you stay here till the storms blow over," he advised his dumb charge. "Samantha will come around right when she knows she's hurt you, and I'll see you get some supper, and the dog wagged his tail and looked up wistfully into his eyes as though fully understanding all that was spoken.

"Where are you going with that plate of stuff?" demanded Mrs. Smith, suspiciously, as just after supper she detected her husband sneaking out of the kitchen with some heaped up scraps.

"It's for that dog, Samantha," explained Jared. "You hurt him a good deal, and I've put him in a comfortable straw bed outside of the lot, where he won't trouble you any before he gets in shape to travel on his way."

"You'll just encourage him to hang around," declared Mrs. Smith, peevishly.

"Samantha," said her husband softly, "don't forget that David liked dogs."

"David!" The old wrinkled face of the woman flamed, paled. Her lips quivered. She went about her work in silence, her head drooping, one by one the tears falling across her homely, toll-worn hands as she put things in order.

David—her boy!—a door opened in her soul long closed seemingly, and a host of longing, pitiful memories had rushed in.

"Two years lonely, bitter and hopeless—two years without the boy who had run away from home to become a sailor. Only once they had heard from him. There had come a letter to the mourning mother from the ex-rat but loving son."

"I wouldn't do it over again," read the pathetic missive, "but I'm started, and I've got pride enough to go through with it. Mother, I'm going to the East Indies next. Then I'm coming home. And I'm going to bring back some of the rare silks and jewels they say you can pick up there for a song!"

Vain dreamer! A year went by and no further word from the wandering boy and the ship he had sailed in reported lost in a terrible simoon off the Malacca coast.

Mrs. Smith was strangely silent all that evening. After they had retired for the night her husband noted how restless she was. Once he fancied he heard her sobbing softly.

He was himself awakened shortly after midnight by the barking of the dog. The animal seemed to have come up to the house and was paying at the door. Mrs. Smith made no complaint and Jared knew she was thinking of the lost son.

"You can fetch that dog into the kitchen if you want to, Jared," she said softly as her husband started out to feed the stock.

As Jared came out into the yard the dog jumped up to him. The farmer petted the animal and motioned it to follow him into the house. However, the animal acted strangely. It did not seem to want to go with him, circled about him and then turning its face toward some thick underbrush whined in a plaintive and it seemed a beseeching way.

"The critter acts funny, I declare!" Jared was saying as his wife came out into the yard. "Why, what does the animal want, anyhow?"

The dog had caught a loose fold of his coat in its teeth and was persistently pulling at him.

"This means something, Samantha," said her husband quite seriously. "See, he wants us to follow him."

"It does look that way," agreed Mrs. Smith.

Out of curiosity both of them followed the limping animal. The dog penetrated the thick copse given over to dense undergrowth. Ten feet advanced among this Jared Smith halted with a shock.

"Why, Samantha!" he exclaimed. "It's a man!"

Mrs. Smith peered timidly over her husband's shoulder.

"Oh, Jared! Is it some one dead?" she shuddered.

"I think not, I hope not, Samantha," replied Jared, lifting a one-half eaten little loaf from beside the prostrate figure—"your bread!"

Just there the dog crept up to the stranger and nosed at his face buried in the grass. The recumbent man moved and then with a groan turned his weary, fever-stricken eyes upon the intruder.

"Mother!" he uttered, and collapsed.

"Oh, Jared!" fairly shrieked Mrs. Smith. "It's my boy!"

Yes, then the runaway had come home—in lieu of silks of the far away India, rags. Instead of the dazzling gleam of jewels, the hectic glitter of death in his eye!

Just in time they had found him. When they had carried him—oh, so tenderly! to the house, and the doctor arrived, it was to tell them that another hour in inattention might have ended in his death.

"I stole up to the house weak, almost fainting," David Smith told them when he was convalescent. "Then ragged and ashamed, I could not go in. But there was mother's bread. I took it, not the dog, not this grand splendid hero to whom I owe my life in discovering me later that night."

And the night of a grand family jubilee, attended, too, by the faithful sweetheart of old times, the faithful animal was awarded a post of honor.

NOT A FRIEND OF RAGTIME

In Denouncing That Form of Music, Frank Damrosch Brings Forth Amusing Story.

Frank Damrosch, standing on the deck of the steamer en route for Europe, deplored the grip that ragtime has taken on the American public.

"Ragtime tunes are like pimples," said the director of the Institute of Musical Arts. "They are impurities in the musical system which must be cleared out. But a vaudeville artist, just home from France, told me with enthusiasm that we were becoming famous in Europe for our ragtime."

Mr. Damrosch smiled bitterly.

"Famous for our ragtime!" he scoffed. "A poor claim for distinction. It reminds me of a story."

"During his travels in the west a well known English clergyman was accompanied by a native of Deep Gulch, who said:

"'Wall, sir, and what strikes you most about this place?"

"The clergyman instantly replied:

"'Your blasphemy, sir. I don't think I have ever been in a place where blasphemy was more general or more horrible."

"A look of gratified vanity spread over the native's face.

"'You're about right, stranger,' he drawled. 'For variety of blasphemy I don't think we can be beaten. This is a wonderful region.'"

Scotch Hotel Customs.

At Aberdeen, Scotland, in a temperance hotel, each visitor, on signing his name in the hotel book, is desired also to add his signature to a card testifying that he is a teetotaler and will not bring any intoxicants into the hotel. In a Glasgow hotel it is the custom weekly on Sundays to go round the various rooms and take a subscription on behalf of one of the city charities. In another Glasgow hotel the proprietor, religiously inclined, holds divine service each Sunday at noon, to which all the boarders are invited. At several of the larger hotels in the north of Scotland the guests are beguiled from their slumbers each day by the playing of bagpipes, while in an hotel in Inverness a posthorn is employed for this same purpose.

The Fit of a Garment Depends on Correct Measurements

Don't it stand to reason that a tailor is most competent to take your measures. We are at your service every day in the year.

A short time ago in one of our advertisements we gave the public a definition of quack tailors. We did not mention any names or make it personal. But a competitor gets sore, claims he has been called a quack tailor and refers to the accuser as a prevericator. It looks as though we are pointed out as the guilty one. We should ignore this matter as we don't wish to be classed with mud throwers, but we will say that whoever found the cap to fit, should wear it and not get sore, for we only smile at the accusations of jealous competitors. Our business is good in all departments and we are well satisfied to let the people continue to be the judge.

LETTER FROM THE STATE CAPITOL

LUTHER L. WRIGHT IS PLACED AT HEAD OF FLINT INSTITUTION.

SUCCESSOR AS SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT REPUBLICAN.

Interesting Process of Taking White Fish Spawns From Detroit River Now in Progress.

[By Gurd M. Hayes.]

Lansing—Superintendent of public instruction Luther L. Wright tendered his resignation to Governor Ferris last week and has been appointed superintendent of the Michigan School for the Deaf at Flint, succeeding Dr. Francis Clarke, deceased.

These appointments which are considered the most important made during the administration of Governor Ferris came as a decided surprise to official Lansing. Wright was re-elected superintendent of public instruction at the spring election for a term of four years, and no one here, with the exception of Governor Ferris and a few of Wright's most intimate friends had the slightest inkling of the proposed change.

The new superintendent of public instruction was appointed as deputy under Wright, July 1, 1908. He is 41 years of age and was born in Washburn county. His entire life, since leaving the University of Michigan where he was graduated from the literary department in 1893, has been spent in educational work.

After leaving the university he was principal of the high school at Houghton for a year and when the state normal school was opened at Mt. Pleasant, Keeler was the first teacher engaged by the board. For thirteen years he was in charge of the science department at the Mt. Pleasant state normal. His work in the department of public instruction during the past five years has won him considerable praise from educators in all parts of the state.

Luther L. Wright, the new superintendent of the Flint institution needs but little introduction to the people of Michigan as he has been in public life in Michigan for a number of years. He was born in Canton, New York, January 18, 1856. He was graduated from Ripon college, Wisconsin. He was county commissioner of schools in Gogebic county for five successive terms and for twenty years was superintendent of schools at Ironwood. In 1901 he was appointed as a member of the state board of education to fill a vacancy and was re-elected in 1902. In 1906 he was nominated and elected as superintendent of public instruction and has held the position ever since. In 1908 he received the degree of master of arts from the university of Michigan.

Although comparatively few persons are aware of the fact, the taking of white fish spawn from the Detroit river, is one of the most important of the varied activities of the state game and fish department. Deputy State Game Warden D. R. Jones and James Hunter of the game warden's department have begun their annual task of gathering some 90,000,000 white fish eggs at points near Bell Isle and Grassy Island in the Detroit river. About 40 men, including the government experts are employed in the work and it will require about three weeks to complete the task.

At this season of the year the fish come up the Detroit river from Lake Erie to spawn. Big seines are used to gather the fish, and as soon as they are taken from the water, the males and females are placed in separate crates and anchored in the river again. Then, when the proper time arrives, men who are experts in this line of work take the eggs from the female fish while they are still alive, place them in cans and ship them to the government hatchery at Detroit. When the fish are hatched out they are again placed in the Detroit river and in this way an inexhaustible supply of white fish is assured.

After the eggs are taken the fish are sold by the state to defray a portion of the expense.

Each female fish will give up 40,000 eggs, or about one quart. Of course, many eggs are lost in handling, but James Hunter, who has supervised this work for the state during the past few years, says that 90,000,000 eggs will probably be taken during the next few weeks.

Owing to the fact that a white fish will not bite an artificial bait, they are placed in the inland streams and lakes. The expense of propagating white fish in the great lakes comes largely out of the federal government.

The industrial accident board states that the Michigan compensation act cost employers of this state $387,098.00 from January 1 to October 1 in adjusting 7,590 accidents of minor personal injuries. These claims were reported to the board by 1,571 employers representing 17.5 per cent of the employers operating under the statute at the close of the first fiscal year.

The injured employes constituted 1.6 per cent of the total number of workers covered by the compensation act. The automobile industry shows the highest cost per accident $67.16, while transportation is second with an average of $68.56. The industries classed under food products show the lowest average cost $35.73. Exclusive of transportation Wayne county is credited with 37.2 per cent of all the compensation paid. The three counties paying the highest amounts of compensation are Wayne, $145,017.74, Houghton $39,574 and Kent $18,608.59.

Among the industries the highest amount of compensation was paid by the manufacturers of automobiles to the total of $67,165.90; transportation second with $54,169.94; copper mining third with $37,921.48. The miscellaneous division including a large number of unclassified industries are fourth with $37,218.07; lumbering fifth with $36,921.52; construction sixth with $34,518.73; iron mining $30,540.36. Coal mining brings up the rear with a total of $2,168.45 paid out in the ninth months in the adjustment of accidents.

Mrs. Hazel Green, widow of Private Ora H. Green, of Battery A First Michigan Field Artillery whose death resulted from injuries received while on strike duty in the copper country, has been awarded $1,800 by the board of state auditors. Owing to the fact that national guardsmen while on strike duty are not protected by the workmen's compensation law, the state board of auditors is authorized by separate statute to pay compensation. Mrs. Green will receive $25 per month until the entire amount is paid.

Owing to the fact that the state paid Green's burial expenses, the amount the state paid through the board of auditors is larger than the widow would have received through the compensation board.

During the month of September 5, 269 births and 3,304 deaths were reported to Secretary of State Martindale. There was an increase of 159 deaths and a decrease of 475 births last month as compared to the report for August. Cancer caused 180 deaths, tuberculosis in its various forms claimed 188, and 190 deaths were due to violence.

As the result of an opinion handed down by Attorney General Fellows, there is little likelihood of the state erecting a house of correction for short-term prisoners at Bay City, as the attorney general has ruled that the supervisors of Bay county have no right to call an election to vote on a proposed bond issue of $50,000 with which to purchase a site for the proposed prison, to be given the state.

The attorney-general holds that the act itself does not give the county the right to issue bonds for the purchase of the site and if it did give that right, it would be ineffective because the proposed bonding of the county would be held invalid, as it would not be for county purposes, but to turn over to the state.

CALLS ATTENTION TO CONSTITUTION

SECRETARY OF STATE SHOWS HOW PROVISIONS ARE IGNORED.

RELATIVE TO CREATING REPRESENTATIVE DISTRICTS.

No City or Township May Be Divided Yet East Lansing Has Been In Two Districts for Several Years.

Lansing, Mich.—Secretary of State Martindale calls attention to section 3, article 5 of the Constitution, which provides that in every county entitled to more than one state representative, the board of supervisors shall assemble at such time and place as shall be prescribed by law, divide the same into representative districts equal to the number of representatives to which the county is entitled by law, and shall cause to be filed in the office of the secretary of state and clerk of such county a description of such representative districts, specifying the number of each district and population thereof, according to the last preceding enumeration. The state constitution says no city or township shall be divided in the formation of a representative district.

East Lansing has been divided for years, ever since Ingham county was entitled to two representatives districts, and Prosecuting Attorney Hayden has called the attention of the board of supervisors to the provisions of the constitution. The last legislature redistricted the state, making many changes and there are a number of counties whose boards of supervisors must divide the counties into districts. The law says that boards of supervisors shall meet the second Monday in October, and may continue in session for 15 days, so there is little time left for boards of supervisors to make the necessary changes as follows: Wayne, Kent, Houghton, Saginaw, Bay, Berrien, Calhoun, Genesee, Ingham, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lenawee, Marquette, Oakland, Ottawa, St. Clair and Washtenaw.

Three additional representatives were added to Wayne county, and the board of supervisors will have to determine how many of these will be added to what Detroit city now has.

The Valuations in Wayne County. Detroit, Mich.—The Board of supervisors placed the taxing valuation on Wayne county property, approving the work of the equalization committee. The value of Detroit for county and state taxing purposes was placed at $490,425,120. All Wayne county, including Detroit, was put at $585,195,454. Townships' share was $94,771,034.

The different townships: Brownstown, $1,998,781; Canton, $1,303,341; Dearborn, $2,852,339; Ecorse, $11,078,976; Grosse Pointe, $16,550,258; Hamtramck, $19,862,933; Huron, $895,604; Livonia, $1,161,407; Montclair, $3,938,987; Nankin, $1,990,161; Northville, $1,602,262; Plymouth, $2,076,159; Redford, $2,287,938; Romulus, $1,046,097; Springwells, $3,158,014; Sumpter, $671,004; Taylor, $899,358; Van Buren, $1,469,384; Wyandotte, $5,231,943.

Large Verdict is Given.

Ann Arbor—Judge Kinne rendered a verdict for $93,622.22 in favor of the Title Guaranty Surety Co. of Detroit in their case against Frank G. Glazier, ex-state treasurer of Michigan.

The Title Guaranty Co. was on the board of Glazier for $150,000 when he was state treasurer. It contends after he defaulted in his duties to the state it had to pay to the state the sum of $70,590.46 as its share of the $685,000 of Glazier's indebtedness, and it has been put to further indebtedness in this matter to the amount of $12,000. It is also alleged Glazier had agreed to repay part of this bond.

Mr. Glazier did not appear in court. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Milbourn, pioneer residents, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at their farm home in Hamlin township, near 100 guests being present. Mr. and Mrs. Milbourn have spent all of their married life in Eaton county. The state highway commission recommended that taxes in Clinton county be raised two mills to raise $40,000 for building highways and presented the recommendation to the board of supervisors. The commission also recommended that a highway be built from St. Johns to Fowler. The supervisors adopted the recommendation that taxes be raised.

WEBS AMERICAN SUITOR

The marriage of Miss Katherine Elkins to Mr. William Mitt puts an end to a long romance. Gossip has said for years that the marriage of the West Virginia belle to the Duke of the Abruzzi was only prevented by the stern disapproval of the king of Italy.

MAY SOON WITHDRAW SOLDIERS

Local Authorities Have Strike Situation Well in Hand and Little Disorder is Reported.

Calumet, Mich.—No further serious trouble is anticipated, and the force of militia likely will be cut in two soon. Another two weeks will probably see all the soldiers gone home. The mining companies continue to import men.

Another proposition to bring to an end the strike was turned down Monday by the operators because it involved, in an indefinite way, recognition of the Western Federation of Miners. The proposition was presented by two leading democrats of northern Michigan, both strong Ferris men, Circuit Judge Patrick H. O'Brien, of Laurium, and James J. Byers, former sheriff of Houghton county and a wealthy contractor and lumberman. They plan to confer with strike leaders again and later with the operators, when another proposition will be presented, Judge O'Brien says.

Circuit Judge O'Brien plans to bring contempt proceedings against the Miners' Bulletin, said to be edited by Guy Miller, of the Federation of Miners' executive council, because of an attack on him.

Another Wreck on New Haven.

Westerly, R. I.—Fifteen persons were injured, one woman seriously, when the Gilt Edge express, from New York for Boston, over the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, went off the track on a curve a mile and a half east of Westerly. Heavy rain is believed to have undermined the roadbed, causing the rails to spread.

Episcopal Close Meeting.

New York.—The triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal church adjourned Saturday afternoon after a session which had brought few of the important results anticipated, although many matters were disposed of. Others were definitely put over till the next convention.

Precautions for the stilling and care of cows during the winter have been summed up on printed instructions and are being distributed to the farmers of the state by State Dairy and Food Commissioner Helme. The instructions make clear the importance of clean stalls in relation to pure milk.

Mayor Bailey, of Battle Creek, has served notice on the Commonwealth Rower company and on the Grand Trunk Western railroad immediately to raise two bridges over the Kalamazoo river, on the ground that in their present condition they will menace the city in event of another spring flood next year.

The Michigan Central railroad has announced that it intends to construct new car shops and build a new freight depot at Bay City and that ground will be broken in a few weeks. The work will cost more than $500,000. The road has just spent about three-quarters of a million for new round houses and yards at this point.

President W. S. Linton, Saginaw board of trade, has appointed a committee of 15 to promote a campaign for pure water. The common council committee has started a movement to obtain a filtration plant, and both business and municipal bodies promise to unite so the Saginaw public shall not depend on corner pumps for drinking water.

The board of supervisors of Dickinson county has authorized the sheriff to offer rewards of $25 for the arrest of all men wanted on charges of wife desertion. The rewards will be paid by the county. George L. Price has tendered his resignation as assistant secretary of the state industrial accident board. He will accept a position as secretary of the Copper Country Commercial Club. Mr. Price was a newspaper man before going to Lansing, having been managing editor of the Hancock Mining Journal.

HUERTA RETAINS DICTATORSHIP

ELECTION IN MEXICO FAILS TO SHOW CONSTITUTIONAL MAJORITY.

VERY LIGHT VOTE IS POLLED IN REPUBLIC.

England Announces That She Will Take No Further Steps Without Consulting Policy of United States.

Mexico City—This city took on the appearance of an armed camp as returns from scattered election districts made it certain that no candidate had received a majority of the votes cast in the presidential contest. Though no disorders attended the balloting here Sunday, and there was no disturbance during the night, troops were brought into the city at dawn to prevent riots on promulgation of official announcement from the government that the balloting had resulted in "no election."

The result of the election means that Victoriano Huerta will remain in office as president. In the returns that have been received thus far Federico Gamboa, former minister of foreign affairs, and Felix Diaz are running a close race, but the number of votes cast is less than one-third of the total voting strength of the republic, which is required by the constitution to make an election legal.

The outstanding feature of the election is the fact that it has only strengthened Huerta in his position as dictator. That Huerta had no doubt that the election would fall was borne out by his decree increasing the strength of the Mexican army from 80,000 to 150,000.

Prescriptions that the election would be a farce were fully borne out by the scenes at the polling places on Sunday. In some precincts not a vote was cast, and latest figures indicate that not more than 4,000 were cast for all the candidates in the federal district, although there are 80,000 registered voters in that section of the republic alone.

Before taking any further steps in regard to Mexico, England intends to await the results of the elections in that country and also information as to the policy of the United States. Information was given out at the foreign office that nothing would be done without consultation with the United States.

Mrs. Pankhurst at Cleveland. Cleveland, O.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the British militant suffragette, spoke Saturday night to an audience which taxed the capacity of Gray's armory. Although Cleveland suffragists refused to take part in arrangements for the meeting, many crowded into the hall to listen to her address on "The Humanitarian Aspect of Suffrage."

Governor Cox, who was here, was asked to introduce the famous militant, but he was forced to return to Columbus early and was unable to introduce. Lieut.-Gov. W. A. Greenlund introduced her at the governor's request.

Woman May be Police Chief.

Chicago.—A woman for chief of police is being seriously considered by Mayor Harrison. The mayor has not made known his choice for successor to Chief McWeeny, resigned, but it is stated that Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton looms large in the mayor's canvas. Mrs. Britton is a woman of independent means, who has for years been prominent as a social worker. She is familiar with police work; is a member of the police examining board of the city civil service commission, and lectures in the police schools.

War Ships Start on Cruise.

Hampton Roads.—Bearing the greetings of the new world to the old, nine dreadnoughts of the Atlantic fleet started Saturday on their way from Hampton Roads to the Mediterranean. The sombre garbed war machines, carrying thousands of the American sailor men, received the final nod of farewell from the Dolphin, bearing Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt, and slid slowly out between the protecting capes into the open sea—the course due east.

Hal Warner, 21 years old, of Kalamazoo, is dead as the result of being hurt in a football game. The boy's heart was injured by a fall, say physicians. A sleep on the Northwestern track near Beaver, Elsiear David, a woodsman, was struck by a passenger train and killed.

Governor Ferris has appointed the following delegates to attend the third annual convention of St. Louis, Mo., of the National League of Compulsory Education Officials to be held Nov. 21-22: Tompston P. Twigg, Detroit; B. S. Teft, Saginaw; W. B. W. P. Bashaw, East Jordan; E. T. Hinchey, Port Huron; W. A. Greeson, Grand Rapids; John A. Doelle, Houghton.

MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS

Alpena.—William Thomas, thirty-three years old, a paralytic, committed suicide at the cotby house by taking poison. He was despondent.

Cheboygan.—Roy Bodell and Max Ross of Alpena were heavily fined here for having trapped muskrats in violation of the state game laws.

Morris.—George Moody, a farmer, seventy years old, was beheaded west of Bascroft when he was struck by an east-bound flyer. Moody had been to Lansing.

Bay City.—The Ad clubs and boards of commerce of the state will meet in this city November 7 for the purpose of planning Michigan's representation at the Panama exposition.

Jackson.—Prosecuting Attorney Rossman has announced that he will start a campaign against all clubs which he believes are violating the liquor law. It is said that at least ten warrants may be issued.

Muskegon.—After feeding his farm to his son, Ole Peterson, Gilbert Peterson, the father, who is sixty-five years old, recently won it back in a lawsuit, and obtained a license to wed Mary Chandler of Fruitport township.

Newaygo.—Lawrence Durand, seven years old, is in a critical condition as the result of being shot through the face with a .22-caliber gun, accidentally discharged by a playmate. The children purchased the cartridge from a local dealer.

Cadillac.—John Kryger and Charles Cable, were arrested in Missaukee county by Deputy Game Warden Kidder with 80 partridges in their possession. The birds were confiscated and sent to Mercy hospital in this city. The men were fined $35.20.

Pontiac.—The movement for a city beautiful opened when H. F. Hemenway, staff lecturer for the National Society for Broader Education, spoke at the Methodist Episcopal church. The work will be taken up by the Commercial association at the completion of the course of lectures which will last all week. A branch of the league will be formed here to be known as "The City Beautiful League of Pontiac."

Corunna.—William Wall, thirty-one years old, is in the county jail awaiting examination October 30, on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm. While working in a potato patch near Shattara, it is alleged he knocked Arthur and Alfred Tyler down with a pitchfork, rendered Owens Corunna, a cripple, unconscious with a blow from the fork, and knocked Mrs. Anna Tyler down with his fist.

Ann Arbor.—The preliminary program of the seventh annual convention of the Michigan State Association for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis, which will meet in Kalamazoo November 6 and 7, were issued. Among the speakers will be Governor Ferris, Dr. O. W. McMichael, Chicago; Mrs. Josephine Goss, Grand Rapids; Dr. V. C. Vaughan, Ann Arbor, and Dr. A. S. Warthin, Ann Arbor.

Turner.—A loss of $32,000 was caused by fire here. Turner is without fire protection and a bucket brigade fought a losing battle against a stubborn northwest wind which fanned destruction to the entire business portion. The property affected: Hotel Menzer, $7,000; D. W. Jennings & Sons, general store, $4,000; R. J. Spofford, drug store and dwelling, $4,000; F. L. Pano, furniture store and dwelling, $3,000; H. C. Henninger, restaurant, $1,600, and George Marantette dwelling, $3,000.

Port Huron.—Capt. J. N. Garlock, who dropped dead in the arms of his son, aboard of the barge Mary N. Bourke, at Sarnia, had called the lakes all of his life and had owned several barges, among them the Unadilla. At the time of his death he commanded the Bourke, which is being used to carry coal for the Imperial Oil company. Captain Garlock was seventy years old and leaves a son and daughter. The cause of his death was heart disease. His home was in Marine City. The body was taken there on the tug Chase B. Osborn.

Hastings.—Marching through the country with a gun over his shoulder, and proclaiming his ability as a snake-catcher, Joseph Rogty, forty-eight years old, a hermit of Delta, so alarmed the residents that they complained to the authorities. In protest court here Rogty was pronounced insane, and he will be committed to the Kalamazoo hospital. Rogty, who has been making a diving selling angle-worms and other bait to fishermen, startled some of the residents of Kalamazoo by carrying a "mess" of serpents of various kinds to Kalamazoo, where he exhibited them and afterwards publicly killed them. He formerly resided in Kalamazoo county. Nothing here is known of his family. He is the third man from Hope township pronounced insane in 12 days.

Ann Arbor.—Miss Clara Hoffman, Ann Arbor, has been elected president of the Ann Arbor women's section of the Deutsche Vereinigung and Miss Elia Schlaach of Birmingham was named as vice-president. The other officer is Miss Christine John, Ann Arbor, secretary and treasurer. Detroit, Mich., Oct. 31.—An unidentified girl about twenty years of age threw herself in front of a Lake Street trolley train on Dearborn street near Canfield, and was instantly killed. It was the second attempt the girl had made to end her life in this manner.

A Peep at Women's New Autumn Coats

THE Style Store is displaying many smart and exclusive styles so carefully cut and tailored as to look very much more costly than they really are. They leave nothing to be desired by even the most particular. Materials run the whole range of weaves from the most prominent Boucles, Persianas and astrachans to the smooth Velour de laines, Duvetines, Matelasses and Fancy Velours. Colors are the most beautiful in years. Black and navy are relieved by such pronounced colors as French blue, mahogany, taupe, plum and wood brown.

The model illustrated shows a clever manipulation of a soft, handsome boucle cloth. The velvet collar is a d'oufonce piping contrast with the fabric tone and two rows of velvet ornaments cover the slashes at the back and give a neat finish to the charming bit of drapery. This model may be taken up with pride and pleasure; it is both stylish and practical. $18.75

Another inexpensive Boucle model contains a number of the exclusive little features that distinguish the highest priced coats. The lining is soft American Beauty satin, and Seal Plush is employed for the cuffs and de Medica collars. Distinctiveness and durability combine in this model. $22.50

For the woman who insists on an all-enveloping full length coat for winter, this semi-fitted Persiana coat will fill the bill perfectly. The shawl collar is generously full and the fronts are gracefully rounded to suggest a cutaway effect. The coat is full lined with fine satin and a single ornament of smart design is employed for fastening. $25.00

Fetching coat models cut with much grace of line, embody such clever style ideas of the low belt effects, mandarin sleeves, high buttoning collars and draped designs of infinite variety. $10-$15-$18-$20-$25-$30

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE VILLAGE OF PLYMOUTH, STATE OF MICHIGAN:

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the Common Council of said Village, held at the Common Council Chamber on the 27th day of October A. D. 1913, was called by resolution to submit the proposition of the acceptance and adoption of the hereinafter set forth ordinance or franchise to the qualified electors of said Village, at a special Village election to be held on Monday, the 17th day of November, A. D. 1913, at the Village Hall in said Village. Said ordinance is in form and terms as follows:

Ordinance authorizing the manufacture, erection, distribution, operation and installation of gas works and appurtenances, including tanks, mains, pipes and conduits in the village of Plymouth, Wayne County, Michigan.

Whereas, it is desirable that the village be furnished with the convenience of gas for light and heat, and whereas, in order to induce any company or persons to install, erect, maintain and operate gas works in said village, and to furnish a supply of gas for public and private use therein, it is necessary to grant and assign to such persons certain rights and privileges, subject to certain restrictions, in order to protect the rights of the village and its citizens and of such person or company;

Therefore, the Village of Plymouth ordains:

Sec. 1. That the sole right and privilege of erecting, maintaining, continuing and operating gas works, and all other necessary and usual appurtenances pertaining to the manufacture, treatment and storage of gas, and the materials entering into its manufacture, and the laying down and continuing of gas pipes along, across, under and through any and all streets, sidewalks, lanes, alleys and public grounds of said village, and in like manner in the territory which may hereafter be added to the corporate limits of said village, for conveying gas and supplying said village and the inhabitants thereof with gas lights and fuel, and the rights and privileges of manufacturing, receiving, storing and distributing gas in said village for sale for light and fuel, and of selling the same, and of supplying the inhabitants of said village, and said village, and the buildings and streets therein, with gas for lighting the same, be and is hereby granted to A. L. Moore and Clarence A. Fox, their successors, associates and assigns, for thirty years from the date of the acceptance by them of this ordinance, subject to the conditions thereof.

Sec. 2. That the above named Andrew L. Moore and Clarence A. Fox, their successors, associates and assigns, shall within sixty days after the passage of this ordinance by the council of said village, file with the Clerk of said village their acceptance of this ordinance and agree to perform on their part according to the terms and conditions thereof.

Sec. 3. That said grantees and assigns shall supply said village and the inhabitants thereof with gas for light and fuel, and shall supply their premises with service pipes and fixtures for receiving and burning gas, and who shall sign the rules and regulations of said gas company and who shall require and pay for the same. The rate for said gas shall be not exceeding $1.30 per thousand cubic feet. When twenty-five million cubic feet are sold and used in any one calendar year, the rate shall not exceed $1.40 per thousand cubic feet; when fifty million cubic feet are sold and used in any one calendar year, the rate shall not exceed $1.50 per thousand cubic feet; when one hundred million cubic feet are sold and used in any one calendar year, the rate shall not exceed $1.60 per thousand cubic feet; when two hundred million cubic feet or more are sold and used in any one calendar year, the rate shall not exceed $1.70 per thousand cubic feet. And this grant is upon the express condition that any and all consumers shall be entitled to and shall receive a discount of fifteen cents per thousand cubic feet from the prices hereinafter named, upon payment being made on or before the fifteenth day of the month following the one for which the bill shall be rendered.

Sec. 3 1/2. That in cases where less than 75 cents worth of gas is used per month per meter, the said grantees, their associates, successors and assigns may charge a meter rental so that the minimum bill for any month shall be 75 cents per month per meter.

Sec. 4. Said grantees, their successors, associates and assigns, in digging for, laying down, relaying or continuing gas pipes along, across, under and through any and all of the streets, lanes, alleys and sidewalks and public grounds of said village, and in digging for the relaying of said pipes, shall use extreme care not to unnecessarily obstruct or injure any such streets, lanes, alleys, sidewalks or public grounds, and shall restore the same, alleys, sidewalks or public grounds to as good state of repair and condition as the same were before being disturbed as near as may be, and shall in all respects fully indemnify and save harmless the said village from and against all damages and costs which the said village shall be put to or sustain by reason of such digging and excavating.

Sec. 4 1/2. Before beginning any work upon any of said streets, lanes, alleys or public grounds of the said village, the said grantees shall enter into a good and sufficient bond, in a sum of not less than $5,000, to be approved by the Village Council of said village, said bond to be conditioned that the said grantees shall restore the same to as good state of repair and condition as the same were before being disturbed as near as may be, and shall in all respects fully indemnify and save harmless the said village from and against all damages and costs which the said village shall be put to or sustain by reason of such digging and excavating.

Sec. 5. That the grantees and assigns shall hold and save harmless the said Village of Plymouth from their negligence of their servants, agents or employees in exercising or attempting to exercise any rights or privileges herein granted, and from all damage that may arise to owners of property because of or by reason of the exercise of this ordinance, and from all damage that may arise to owners of property because of or by reason of the exercise of this ordinance, and from all damage that may arise to owners of property because of or by reason of the exercise of this ordinance.

Sec. 6. That the grantees and assigns shall hold and save harmless the said Village of Plymouth from their negligence of their servants, agents or employees in exercising or attempting to exercise any rights or privileges herein granted, and from all damage that may arise to owners of property because of or by reason of the exercise of this ordinance, and from all damage that may arise to owners of property because of or by reason of the exercise of this ordinance.

Sec. 7. Said grantees, their successors, associates and assigns shall at all time display the necessary clear signs around an excavation, and keep sufficient space in good condition for travel of wagons, teams and vehicles on at least one side of an excavation where practicable in the opinion of the street commissioner of said village. And it is especially required that in all cases where work requires the exercise of skill, as in the laying or relaying of pavement, cross-walks, or sidewalks, the said grantees, their successors, associates and assigns shall employ skilled workmen familiar with the execution of such work.

Sec. 8. That said grantees, their successors, associates and assigns may require, at their discretion, a guarantee deposit from persons proposing to become consumers, not to exceed Five Dollars per meter for private house, dwelling or flat, and not to exceed Ten Dollars per meter for all stores or public places. Said deposit to be returned to the depositor when he ceases to be a customer, with the legal rate of interest added.

Sec. 9. That no person, company or corporation shall be permitted to tap or make any connection with any of the distributing or service pipes of said grantees, their successors, associates and assigns.

Sec. 10. That said grantees, their successors, associates and assigns may make and enforce as a part of the ordinance upon which they supply gas to consumers, such reasonable rules and regulations as are consistent and in harmony with the law.

Sec. 11. Said gas furnished by said grantees or assigns shall have illuminating power of not less than sixteen (16) candle power determined by a test with standard apparatus.

Sec. 12. That said grantees, their successors, associates and assigns shall hold and save harmless the said Village of Plymouth from their negligence of their servants, agents or employees in exercising or attempting to exercise any rights or privileges herein granted, and from all damage that may arise to owners of property because of or by reason of the exercise of this ordinance, and from all damage that may arise to owners of property because of or by reason of the exercise of this ordinance.

Sec. 13. As a further condition of this ordinance, if the said grantees, their successors or assigns at the end of two years from the date of the acceptance of this ordinance are not prepared to furnish gas for light and heat, then their rights under this franchise and ordinance shall hereby cease and be at an end.

Sec. 14. This ordinance shall become effective upon its being approved by the qualified electors of said village at an election hereafter to be held to pass upon the same.

Made and passed by the Common Council of the Village of Plymouth at a meeting thereof held September 2nd, A. D. 1913.

Marred Surfaces Made New

A scarred or scratched table, or a chair on which the finish is marred, or any woodwork where the finish isn't what you would like, can be made new with

ACME QUALITY VARNOLAC

It's also good for floors. It will stand hard wear, because it's made from the best floor varnish. Varnolac not only renews, but it also stains and varnishes at one application. You can change oak or pine to a mahogany or walnut or dark oak finish, or any of the expensive hard wood finishes. And it's easy to do—you can do it yourself.

Our book, "Home Decorating" tells you how to do all kinds of home painting at trifling cost. Ask for a free copy.

WHISKY WORSE THAN OPIUM

Missionary Explains Why There is More Crime in America Than in Heathen China.

"There is ten times less crime in heathen China than in Christian America," said a missionary. "That is to say, a Chinese city of 1,000,000 population will require no larger prisons and no more police than our American city of 100,000 population. And the cause of this is vice.

"Yes, vice is the cause of the superior virtue of the Chinese. They, you see, smoke opium. That is their national vice, the opium pipe. And this vice calms them, makes them sleep. Sleeping, they do no harm. Alcohol, unlike opium, excited and exasperates. Crazed with alcohol, men commit all kinds of horrible crimes. While the Chinese opium slave lies happily sleeping, the American whisky slave is beating his wife, or bludgeoning a policeman, or murdering his star boarder.

"And that's why it is that ten Americans are punishable to one Chinese."

Five Solid Reasons

FIVE solid reasons why each farm needs a manure spreader are these, in the words of a farmer who has devoted much time to correct soil-feeding. 1. It saves disagreeable and hard work. 2. It pulverizes and mixes the manure mass. 3. It distributes manure evenly over the field, insuring a good, even stand of grain. 4. It prevents loss of nitrogen through fermentation or leaching in the pile when manure is hauled directly from the stable. 5. Indivisibly, the ease with which it can be handled encourages the owner to care for the manure and distribute it on the fields carefully instead of wasting it.

I H C Manure Spreaders

will work uncomplainingly for years making profits for the owners. You will find them all styles and sizes, high and low, endless apron or reverse.

I H C manure spreaders are exceedingly durable, strong, correctly built to stand all conditions and all strains they may meet. Each feature has its purpose. Up hill or down or cutting corners, they spread all kinds of manure evenly, in a light or heavy coat at the will of the driver. The beater drive is strong and simple, beater teeth are square and chisel pointed to pulverize the manure, and the large diameter of the beater prevents winding. The rear axle, carrying a large percentage of the load, insures ample tractive power.

But see all these things yourself at your local dealer's. Find your choice in the I H C line. The dealer has catalogues for you, or, write the International Harvester Company of America, Chicago, Mich.

Then Get Rid of That Spendthrift Stove!

Don't you know that when you put high-priced fuel into a commonplace stove that there's a steady stream of wasted dollars pouring out your chimney? Get rid of that spendthrift stove. Sell it. Better give it away than try to satisfy its boggish appetite with fuel at the present high price.

And Get a "Garland"

Get a new, 1912 model "Garland" heater or base burner.

That you'll stop saying things about the coal dealer.

And you'll be comfortable all the time.

Maybe you think some other stove are as good as the "Garland."

We ourselves didn't know till we investigated.

But we are convinced that the "Garland" is the greatest fuel saver. That's why we change to sell it.

Now, you step inside our store and see how quickly we will convince you of "Garland" superiority.

It doesn't make any difference what style of stove you want or what price you can afford to pay when you buy a "Garland" that exactly fits the bill.

We will even put a "Garland" stove in your home, our risk of financing.

We will deliver it, set it up, kindle a fire in it and by you see it is warm.

If it doesn't please, try our new and your money back.

We won't have any dissatisfied customers.

Why not inspect our "Garland" Stove. You'll like it better!
