It Does Make a Difference What We Believe

The lazy man loves to think it is of no consequence what he believes. Indolence has no belief. Enterprise can't live without a definite faith and a reason for its belief. Anybody who doesn't read the Bible carefully can say that it makes no difference what the Book contains. All that that proves is the person's mental slovenliness. We are told that soldiers are sure that Christ never did wrong. They are sure by instinct which is always sensitive in the presence of death. We are sure of the same mysterious fact by the teachings of Scripture and reason. The value of our Sinless Saviour will be the theme Sabbath morning at the

W. S. S. Campaign Continues Until July 8th

The Citizens of Plymouth Township Are Responding Liberally to the Latest Appeal from Uncle Sam for Funds.

The campaign for the sale of War Savings Stamps is still on, and the committee has decided to continue the drive until July 8th. The various teams are now cleaning up the territory that has been allotted to them, and they are meeting with splendid success. While no definite quota had been set for Plymouth township, it was the aim of those in charge of the campaign to reach the $40,000 mark or better. Wednesday morning a total of about $35,000 had been pledged. If by some chance the collectors have missed you in their canvass you, can leave your pledge at the Plymouth postoffice.

Chautauqua Committee Held Enthusiastic Meeting

Chairmen of Various Committees for the Big Event to Take Place Here July 25-30.

About thirty members of the Chautauqua committee met in the store of Schrader Bros., Tuesday evening, to make the preliminary arrangements for the coming Chautauqua in Plymouth, July 25-30. Every member of the committee present was an enthusiastic booster and there is every reason to believe that the coming Chautauqua will be the big success that it deserves to be. The following chairmen of the several committees were appointed with power to select as many assistants as they deemed necessary:
Ticket Committee—Karl Hillmer, Rev. F. M. Field
Advertising Committee—L. E. Sautzen.
Grounds Committee—F. D. Schrader
Entertainment Committee—W. T. Pottinill
The officers of the local committee are:
President—F. D. Schrader
Vice President—F. M. Field
Secretary—C. F. Reeb
Treasurer—Karl Hillmer
The advertising matter has arrived and will soon be distributed. The list of attractions that make up the Chautauqua this year is one of the very best on the Chautauqua platform today. Watch next week's paper for complete announcement of the 1918 Chautauqua.

Plymouth certainly has reason to be proud of her Red Cross builders. Last week's meeting was made of the great work done by Mrs. J. H. Knable, Mrs. D. M. Snow, Mrs. Harvey Smith, and Mrs. D. M. Snow. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Knable and was one of the most successful of the kind held in Plymouth. Twenty-three female allies were registered in Plymouth during the recent registration held by Postmaster Brown.

Large Crowd Hears Dr. Sykes

Plymouth People Hear Interesting Message Right from the Battle Front in France.

There was a large crowd at the High School auditorium, last Friday evening, to hear Dr. Sykes of Detroit, who has but recently returned from France, tell of his experiences on the firing line at the front. The meeting was held under the auspices of the local Red Cross Branch. Rev. Karl P. Miller presided over the meeting, which opened with the singing of America. Rev. F. M. Field offered prayer, after which with a few appropriate remarks, Rev. Miller introduced the speaker of the evening.

Dr. Sykes is a forceful and eloquent speaker, and the message that he brought to his hearers was intensely interesting from start to finish. It is one thing to read about the great battles that are waging in Europe and the part our own American boys are playing in this great conflict, but it is quite another matter when you hear it from the lips of one who has actually seen and has taken part in the great events which are being enacted in France. Dr. Sykes said in the most interesting and graphic manner of the life of the American soldier in the trenches and in the camps. The speaker impressed upon his audience the sacrifices being made by the boys "over there," and that it was our duty to back them to the limit "over here." He paid a glowing tribute to the splendid work of the Red Cross in the hospitals at the front and to the thousands of noble women of America, who are giving unstintingly of their time and efforts in providing the many articles needed by the army. It was a message from the front, that gripped the hearts of all who heard it, and many times the speaker was interrupted by the applause of his audience.

By a rising vote of thanks, at the suggestion of Evered Jofflin, secretary of the Plymouth Branch of the Red Cross, the large audience expressed its appreciation of the splendid address. The local branch of the Red Cross society also derives the gratitude of all who heard Dr. Sykes, since it was possible to secure the speaker only in the name of the Red Cross, and through the personal influence of Mrs. C. H. Bennett, the local chairman, who first heard Dr. Sykes' stirring message in Detroit.

Dr. Syke's Address Appreciated

Those most actively interested in the work of the local Red Cross Branch feel that the timely message delivered on Friday evening by Dr. Sykes is already proving very beneficial in more ways than one. Not only have the workers been greatly stimulated in their endeavors, but other ladies are showing an interest. It is expected that many additional volunteers will be added to the present corps of workers. There is plenty of work to be done, and it is hoped that others will offer their services and not wait to be asked.

Van Atta-Finn Wedding

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Finn, 808 Church street, Thursday evening, June 27th, when their only daughter, Aries Isabelle Finn, was married to Don VanAtta of Northville. Rev. Karl P. Miller, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives of the couple, the ring service being used. The bridal couple were attended by Sebastian Finn, brother of the bride, and Ida Mae Nivison of Detroit, and Lee VanAtta, brother of the groom, and Miss Nellie Freydl of Northville. The house was prettily decorated with the national colors and crimson rambler.

The bride, who has resided in Plymouth for about a year, has made many friends during her residence here. The groom is employed by the Michigan State Telephone Co. and is connected with the office of the local exchange of that company. After the ceremony the young couple took a short wedding trip to Ann Arbor and Toledo. Their many friends extend congratulations and best wishes. They will make their home with the bride's parents for the present.

Twenty-three female allies were registered in Plymouth during the recent registration held by Postmaster Brown.

Granges Will Hold Big Rally

The Annual Six County Rally Will Be Held at Belleville, Saturday, July 27th.

The annual Six County Rally of the Grange will be held at Belleville on Saturday, July 27th. No pains will be spared to make this the biggest event in Grange circles held in Wayne county in many years. It will be an all day affair, with a basket dinner at noon. The master of the state of Ohio, Mr. Tabor, as well as our own, J. B. Ketchum, will be there to aid in the entertaining. Their talks will be along patriotic as well as progressive lines.

This is the first time the Six Counties picnic has been held in Wayne and every member of the Grange is urged in joining to make the same the huge success it has been at other places. There will be visitors present from all over this part of Michigan, so the Wayne members must turn out in full force to hold up their end. The musical and general program will be given at a later date. Watch for it.

The Annual School Meeting

Will Take Place in the High School Auditorium, Monday Evening, July 8th.

The annual school meeting of District No. 1 Fr., will take place at the High School auditorium on Monday evening, July 8, 1918, at 8:00 o'clock. Our public school is one of the big things of our community, and this annual meeting is a most important event, or at least it should be to every taxpayer in the district, and they should make it a point to attend this meeting. Besides the reading of the secretary's report, and the reports, there will be the election of two trustees to take the places of Miss Lina Durfee and Paul Bennett, whose terms of office expire, and any other business that may come before the meeting.

Division No. 4, Wayne county, of which Plymouth is a part is called upon for 36 men.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Draper and two children and Mr. and Mrs. Wymann Bartlett and son are spending the week at the Draper cottage at Silver Lake.

HOLLAND WON FROM THE SEA
First Sight of Great Dikes Amazing, Even to One Who Has Read All About the System.

Everyone who visits Holland, of course, goes there knowing full well that this is a land won from the sea, that the Dutch have built them a country by raising dikes and pumping the water out of the inclosed lowlands.

Holland today is a quiet little checkerboard of a flat country, fertile, quiet and prosperous, dotted with thriving cities, gridironed with roads and canals.

In the old school readers there was a standard tale of a noble little Dutch boy who saved his province from disaster. He observed a tiny leak in one of the dikes, and thrusting his finger into it, he sat down and kept it plugged until help arrived.

It is, of course, impossible to preserve all such places, but one hears with regret that "development" is to claim another Dickens landmark in London.

FARMING IN 1840

Amazing Changes in Living Conditions Are Shown.

In Early Days the Farm Produced Practically Everything Family Consumed, Food and Clothing.

In view of the modern-day high cost of living and of the many wonderful advances made in the last century—the railroad, the telegraph, the ocean cable, the telephone, the automobile and farm and home-saving machinery—these inventions have necessarily wrought in all directions in almost every walk of life—it may be of interest to recall living on a farm in the year 1840.

The farm I have in mind, writes Warner Miller in the New York Times, consisted of 200 acres. The stock was 15 cows, a yoke of oxen, 20 sheep, an old white horse, a dozen pigs, 60 hens, 10 geese, a few ducks and a flock of turkeys.

The farm produced practically everything the family consumed, both clothing and food. The sheep furnished the wool, which was carded at a "fulling" mill and made into rolls for spinning.

At home it was spun into yarn and woven on a hand loom. There were no ready-made clothes; all clothes were made in the home.

Several cows were killed each year. There was a tannery near by, where the skins were tanned. A shoemaker made our boots. They were usually too small and gave much trouble and pain.

The fax, cut and laid down until the fiber loosened from the woody part, was put through a heckle worked by hand and then spun and woven. This strong linen cloth was used for summer clothing, towels, etc.

For food we had everything needed—fresh meat, potatoes, beets, cabbage, parsnips, pumpkins for pies, apples, which lasted from fall to spring; cider, which gave us vinegar or produced a cider-champagne.

Half a dozen pigs killed in the fall gave us plenty of ham and bacon, lard, sausages and salt pork. There were plenty of chickens for roasting and potpies and eggs, turkeys for Thanksgiving and Christmas, occasionally a roast goose with apple sauce.

From the cows' milk we made both butter and cheese. What butter and cheese the family did not consume was sold in a nearby village. Butter usually brought 12 1/2 cents a pound. Cheese was also made at home, as there were neither creameries nor cheese factories. Cheese was sold at 5 to 6 cents a pound.

Little was heard of the world at large. Twenty miles from the railroad the great four-horse stagecoach came every day, bringing the mails. There were few newspapers or magazines. The telegraph was unknown. The Atlantic cable did not succeed until 1866. There were only 23 miles of railroad in 1840.

Admiral Beatty's Hero.
Go into Admiral Beatty's parlor and glance at the line of books which lie on the table, says the London Daily Telegraph. It is "Nelson's Dispatches."

Need you ask whose it is? Nelson stands shining before him as sitting he drinks the king's health in the way of the navy, and the statuette is his mascot. Only once did he leave it behind, and the ships had trouble. That was on maneuvers and never since has Nelson been forgotten.

A "Dickens Spot" Going.
It is, of course, impossible to preserve all such places, but one hears with regret that "development" is to claim another Dickens landmark in London.

News of Our Boys

We are privileged this week to publish another letter from a Plymouth boy who is in active service in France, which will be of interest to his many Plymouth friends:

"Somewhere in France", June 4, 1918.

Dear Mother: Received your letter today, and was glad you had heard from me. I am well and hope this will find you the same.

I have just come out of the trenches this morning. I have been in there twelve days. They are not so bad as they talk about. I sure have seen some sights. Well, that is what we are here for—to fight. I got the letter from Lottie the other day, and was surprised to hear that Walter Ward was dead. I suppose you see now that it takes a long time for you to hear from me, so don't worry.

We sure have had some excitement. Where I stayed we had some place. When I went to bed the rain would make a race track out of my tent, and then they would try to pull the blankets off from me. There was one of the fellows who looked for his loggin and found it way down in a hole. We sleep in dugouts.

We have not had any rain here since then, and I get a chance to see my dog. When I get a chance I will get some pictures taken with my outfit on, all but my pack, and will send you one.

I am glad that Rob is there with you. I think that it would be best for you to have him stay with you if he will. You know, I am far away and don't know how long it will be before I can be with you.

I got the Plymouth Mail all right. I think you will get your insurance papers before long. There are some of the fellows whose folks are just receiving them. I will see if it will be safe to send my watch home and if it is I will send it. See if you can get me a pen for a fountain pen and send it in a letter when you write again. Well, I guess this will be all for this time.

With love to all,
Your son,

The Confessions of a German Deserter

Written by a Prussian Officer Who Participated in the Ravaging and Pillaging of Belgium

Copyright by Deibel Press, Inc.

CIVILIAN DEAD STREW STREETS OF FRENCH TOWNS AS FOE SWEEPS ON TOWARD PARIS

Synopsis.—The author of these confessions, an officer in the pioneer corps of the German army, a branch of the service corresponding to the engineers' corps of the United States army, is sent into Belgium with the first German forces invading that country.

Toward one o'clock the battle south of Tonneppe reached its climax. When the Germans advanced to make storming attacks on all points the French gave up their positions and retired in the direction of Stupples.

In the barn, which served as a shelter to the civilians, were thrown together men and women, youths, children and old men. Many were wounded by shell splinters and cartridges and others had suffered burns.

"Will you sing, you pigs?" cried an officer and the pitiful-looking "pigs" tried to obey this order. Faintly sounded from the ranks of the over-tired men: "Deutschland, Deutschland Ueber Alles, Ueber Alles in Der Welt."

Several comrades who like myself had watched this troop pass came to me and said, "Let us go to the camp and try to sleep so that we might forget this."

Our destination on this day was Stupples. Before the march started the following army order was read: "Soldiers, his majesty the emperor, our supreme war lord, thanks the soldiers of the Fourth army and sends to them his full appreciation."

After this talk we gave three cheers, something which had become routine for us. And then we resumed our march. We now had plenty of time and opportunity to discuss the gratitude expressed by the supreme war lord.

Everywhere, on the march to Stupples, lay dead soldiers, most of them with blood-stained open wounds. Thousands of pigs also swarmed on the corpse, partly decomposed, and giving off a fearful stench.

In the evening, after a long march, we reached the town of Stupples. Here we camped and as we would find no more food, we were ordered to eat the contents of our canteens.

three of us who had entered the room clenched our fists with impotent wrath. We received orders to remain in Stupples until further notice and the next day witnessed the return of many fugitives.

"Mittel-Europa is in existence today," says Frederick Naumann, a prominent member of the reichstag. He is right. Germany stands possessed of all she hoped to gain when she forced the war.

The following night, remaining in Stupples, we were again obliged to camp in the open "because it was armed with frank-thiura. Such were our instructions. In reality nothing was seen of frank-thiura, but by this method the enmity toward the people living in the towns along our line of march was maintained. The Germans practiced the theory that the soldiers fight better and are more amenable to discipline when filled with hatred of their enemies.

The next day we were obliged to march to Chalons-sur-Marne. This was one of the hardest days we ever had. From the very beginning, as we began our journey, the sun blazed down upon us.

A large chocolate factory was robbed completely, and chocolate and candy in heaps were trampled in the ground. Empty houses were broken into and wrecked, wine cellars cleaned out and windows smashed.

The monotony of the march was broken when we reached the enormous camp at Chalons. This is one of the largest of the French army camps. We saw Chalons from the distance. As we halted about an hour later outside the city in an orchard, without a single exception every man fell to the ground exhausted.

Terrific laughter marks the opening of the battle of the Marne, when the German hordes, rushing forward so rapidly that their supply lines are broken, are caught in a French trap.

Pop's Income Uncertain. It is stated of the Vatican that outside of the actual money supplied in the papal treasury, which is the accumulation of many popes, there is no way to determine the actual income and expenditures for the reason that the income varies from year to year.

Office Boy—I tell you the office isn't in. I've just looked. "That's not bad. I wanted to pay him some money I owe him." "Walk a second, I'll look again."

WHY WE MUST WIN THE WAR

If Conflict Ends With Conditions as at Present Germany Will Dominate, Writer Says.

"Mittel-Europa is in existence today," says Frederick Naumann, a prominent member of the reichstag. He is right. Germany stands possessed of all she hoped to gain when she forced the war.

If the war ends with conditions as they are at present Germany's brutal policy of force will dominate the world. Italy, France and Great Britain have a combined population of 118,000,000. They are much smaller in area than the Mittel-Europa empire would be.

The United States, practically alone, would be left to face the aggression of a power with about twice the population, directed by autocratic rulers toward further conquest.

TOO WEAK TO FIGHT. The "Come-back" man was really never down-and-out. His weakened condition because of overwork, lack of exercise, improper eating and living demands stimulation to satisfy the cry for health-giving appetite and the refreshing sleep essential to strength.

Do Not Read Casualty Lists. An Englishwoman, writing in the Atlantic Monthly, says: "We do not read our casualty lists any more. Many of us dare not. When we meet, we do not even speak of those who have gone away."

He Probably Meant Raze. Jones (suddenly become patriotic and planning to plant things)—I say, old man, how do you raise a garden? "Jones' Right Kick—First you get some seeds and plant them, then you see a hen, and—

Cuticura for Sore Hands. Soak hands on retiring in the hot sudsy of Cuticura Soap, dry and rub in Cuticura Ointment. Remove surplus Ointment with soft tissue paper.

Buzz saws are usually temperate, but occasionally they take two or three fingers. One of the troubles with calling the other man a fool is that he may be right.

Middle Aged Women. Are Here Told the Best Remedy for Their Troubles. Freedom, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—headaches, nervousness, and was in a general run-down condition."

Valuable Good Will. Good will appears to be a valuable property in Bangkok. The Bangkok Daily Mail, a newspaper published in English and Siamese, and which has been under American ownership, has been sold to a Siamese nobleman.

WHEN your mouth tastes like all the mean things you ever did—mixed together, then you need BEECHAM'S PILLS. Your mouth is a good indication of the condition of the stomach and bowels.

FRECKLES. Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots. There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these honey spots.

Unnecessary Fears. Of course the eloping couple's roller-skate of a car had no chance against the old man's high-powered roadster. He soon came up with them. "Do not take her back," pleaded the young man with tears in his eyes.

Important to Mothers. Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, that famous old remedy for infants and children, and see that it bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Watson. In Use for Over 80 Years. Children Cry for Fletcher's Castoria.

W. C. T. U.

Plymouth W. C. T. U. met with its Newbury members at Newburg church, Thursday, June 27, at 2:30 p. m. A very fine report of the state convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was given by Mrs. Howard Brown, the youngest delegate to the convention. An "efficiency" badge was brought by Mrs. Brown to Plymouth Union for increase in membership, and contributing to the various funds for the state and national. The piano duet by Miss Anna Youngs and Miss Faye Ryder, and the vocal duets by the Youngs sisters, added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion. At the conclusion of the meeting dainty refreshments were served by the Newbury ladies, and a social time enjoyed by all. The meeting was altogether delightful and will long be remembered by those who attended.

The Detroit Journal of July 1st tells how thirty state troopers patrol fourteen-mile "front" between "wet" Ohio and "dry" Michigan, searching automobiles and other vehicles for booze and confiscating same. It was estimated Sunday morning that more than 400 cars had been stopped and 25 per cent of them carried booze. Some violators were arrested and some were allowed to go after a warning.

Doing Good

Few medicines have met with more favor or accomplished more good than Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. John F. New light standards of concrete are being distributed at the crossroads along Michigan avenue by the Wolverine Auto club. The lights will add much to the safety of the numerous crossings along the avenue in addition to making more beautiful this thoroughfare.—Wayne Weekly.

A large force of men are at work on the new concrete road from Belleville to Romulus, which when completed will close the last link in the outer belt pavement around the county. At present the big fill at the new bridge at French Landing is being laid preparatory to the completion of the pavement.

The horrors of war were brought home last week as related by D. U. roadmaster A. J. Law. Several Canadian friends were visiting himself and wife. One of them had a lady friend, also a friend of the Law's. This lady had a sweetheart in the Canadian army who was wounded in action and sent home, but nothing was said to the young lady as to how badly he was injured. She went to see him, and when they brought him to her, both arms and legs were gone and he was stone blind. She shrieked and soon after was taken to an asylum, her mind hopelessly shattered by the fearful shock.—Rochester Era.

UNITE ON NEWBERRY

His Friends Believe He is the Man to Harmonize All Elements in the Republican Party.

Paul H. King, executive chairman of the Newberry Senatorial Committee, asked for an expression, has issued a statement for the press of Michigan as follows:

"I have been asked for a statement as to the position of our Committee, and am very glad, indeed, to make one, although as a matter of fact it had not occurred to me that one was necessary.

"The fact that a few of our good friends in the Democratic party have met together and decided upon a candidate for United States Senator has not in any way disturbed the friends of Commander Newberry, who are so earnestly and successfully advocating his nomination.

"This action has certainly aroused the spirit of the Republican party in the state. Many republicans do not hesitate to express themselves as believing that the party in Michigan is able to select its candidate for Senator without outside suggestion. Moreover, the attention of everyone has now been called to the necessity of the selection at this time for this high office of the ablest man available.

"It is unquestionably the patriotic duty of every citizen to lend his effort to help bring about the selection of such a man. That is why, I believe, the men of Michigan, irrespective of party in many instances, are rallying to the support of Truman H. Newberry. They know that he has the ability, the broad experience and the vision of the future and that his integrity is beyond question. He is not only in the service himself, but his own side, and in fact his entire family. He is doing everything possible to help win the war. He is devoting his entire time and attention to his duties in the Third Naval District. His friends believe that he is just the man to unite all elements in the Republican party, and that as Senator he would acceptably serve the people of the whole state.

"We shall go steadily forward with our efforts in his behalf until the day of the primaries. We have literally thousands of assurances of support, and we are confident of his nomination and election."

Are You One of Them?

There are a great many people who would be very much benefited by taking Chamberlain's Tablets for a weak or disordered stomach. Are you one of them? Mrs. M. R. Searl, Baldwinville, N. Y., relates her experience in the use of these tablets: "I had a bad spell with my stomach about six months ago, and was troubled for two or three weeks with gas and severe pains in the pit of my stomach. Our druggist advised me to take Chamberlain's Tablets. I took a bottle home and the first dose relieved me wonderfully, and I kept on taking them until I was cured." These tablets do not relieve pain, but after the pain has been relieved may prevent its recurrence.—Advt.

Reaching Limit of Fertility Few of us realize how very little fertility in proportion to the whole bulk of the soil there really is. In a ton of ordinary black clay loam, there are only 3 1/2 pounds of nitrogen, 3 1/2 pounds of phosphorus, and 60 pounds of potash. When these are exhausted, they are gone, that's all.

The best and cheapest general purpose fertilizer and the one that contains the three elements above mentioned is barnyard manure. A ton of it contains 5 pounds of nitrogen, 3 1/2 pounds of phosphorus and a much larger quantity of potash. It is worth at present prices for commercial fertilizers about $5.50 a ton, according to Pennsylvania Experiment Station Circular No. 67.

$600 Worth of Manure on Average Farm

Supposing you have the average number of stock on the average farm—8 cows, 3 horses and 10 hogs. These will, according to U. S. Farmers' Bulletin 162, produce about 110 tons of manure per year. At $5.50 per ton, those 110 tons will have a total value of about $600.

How much will you get in return for that amount of manure? That all depends on how you handle it. Director C. E. Thorn of the Ohio Experiment Station says that eight loads put on with a spreader are worth as much as twelve put on by hand. This means a loss of one-third of the above amount—about $200 if the manure is spread by hand. It is hard to realize that the unevenness of hand spreading would make that much difference in comparison with even machine spreading. A good spreader doesn't cost near as much as that loss of $200.

Advantages of Wide Spread Spreader

In buying a spreader at the present time the farmer should see that he selects one with a wide spread attachment. With such an attachment a strip 8 feet wide or better can be covered, extending well outside the wheels on both sides. This has positive advantages over the narrow spread spreader of years ago. In the first place, the load is thrown off twice as fast and the same amount of ground is covered with just half the driving distance, and on the return it is not necessary to drive so that the wheel tracks lap in order that all ground may receive an even spread. For practically the same price today a wide spread spreader can be bought that will deliver more in service and include more in quality of construction than an old type machine that only spreads the width of the wheel.

A spreader is the most necessary implement on the farm today. It is a crop producer, whereas most other machines are only crop handlers. It encourages the saving of manure and thereby saves the farmer money with his soil. He increases his fertility and doesn't steal it.

Take Care of Your Capital

The fertility of your soil is your working capital. Everything you have depends upon it. It determines the value of your land, the yield of your crops, the size of your bank account, the measure of your success. Take care of it. Watch it as every business man watches and takes care of his capital.

Every planted acre in the United States that has not been properly fertilized in the past can be made to produce an increase this year. Take that pile of stable manure that has accumulated through the winter and top dress your growing crops with it, using a

Low 20th Century Manure Spreader

This is an easy running, light draft, wide spreading machine. It saves labor. It saves time. It saves fertilizer. It increases crop yields. With a 20th Century you can make every acre produce to its limit. Use it for top dressing. It spreads so wide that it dresses three rows of corn at once. It spreads evenly because it gives the manure a double beating, breaks it up into small pieces, and spreads it out beyond the rear wheel tracks. Three sizes—small, medium and large—all light draft machines with narrow boxes. The size you buy will do just the kind of spreading your soil needs to make it produce bumper crops. Telephone your order, or come in and get a 20th Century spreader. We can make immediate deliveries.
