I. O. F. INTERURBAN LEAGUE MET HERE

A GOOD CROWD WAS IN PLYMOUTH LABOR DAY TO ATTEND THE LEAGUE TOURNAMENT.

In spite of the fact that the state fair was on and several neighboring towns had something going on, the athletic tournament held here by the I. O. F. Interurban League, which includes the lodges of Wayne, Dearborn and Plymouth, drew a good sized crowd on Monday, Labor Day.

The athletic events were held at the High school athletic park. The Millard band furnished excellent music for the occasion. Dearborn was the winner in athletic events with a total of 42 points, while Plymouth scored 35.

In the tug-of-war, Dearborn defeated Plymouth in the first pull, and in the finals Wayne defeated Dearborn.

The ball game between the Wayne County Roads team and the Eloise team was one of the big features of the afternoon. The score was 13 to 7 in favor of Wayne County Roads team.

The refreshment stands and other booths all did a good business during the day. The dance at the Penniman Allen auditorium was well attended during the evening, as was also the picture show at the Penniman Allen theatre.

The following is the result of the athletic events:

- 100-Yard Dash—Fey, Dearborn, 1st; Blake, Dearborn, 2nd; Doudt, Plymouth, 3rd.
- Shot Put—Harrison, Plymouth, 1st, 40 ft. 3 in.; Kuhn, Plymouth, 2nd; Dapprich, Dearborn, 3rd.
- High Jump—Harrison, Plymouth, 1st, 5 ft. 2 1/2 in.; Hotchkiss, Dearborn, 2nd; Cooper, Plymouth, 3rd.
- Standing Broad Jump—Hotchkiss, Dearborn, 1st, 10 ft.; Blake, Dearborn, 2nd; Doudt, Plymouth, 3rd.
- Pole Vault—Baker, Plymouth, 1st, 9 ft. 9 in.; Gray, Plymouth, 2nd; Blake, Dearborn, 3rd.
- Running Broad Jump—Fey, Dearborn, 1st, 19 ft. 7 in.; Darnell, Plymouth, 2nd; Seigel, Dearborn, 3rd.
- 220-Yard Run—Fey, Dearborn, 1st; Doudt, Plymouth, 2nd; Darnell, Plymouth, 3rd.
- One-Half Mile Run—Hotchkiss, Dearborn, 1st; Baker, Plymouth, 2nd; Kuhn, Plymouth, 3rd.
- Relay Race—Won by Dearborn, Blake, Seigel, Fey, Preith, Plymouth team—Kuhn, Darnell, Doudt, Gray.

REAMER-BECKER WEDDING

A pretty garden wedding took place last Wednesday evening at Maple Grove, the pleasant farm home of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Becker in Northville township, when their daughter, Madeline, was united in marriage to Otto Reamer of Plymouth.

Miss Dorothea Spillman of Plymouth, presided at the piano, and to the familiar strains of Mendelssohn's march, the wedding party proceeded from the house to a pink and white bower, overhung with bridal bells and flowers, which had been erected on the brilliantly lighted lawn. There Rev. S. Conger Hathaway, the bride's pastor, read the Presbyterian ring service and pronounced them husband and wife.

The bride wore a gown of white canton crepe, beautifully beaded and beaded, a bridal veil crowned with a wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of roses. She was attended by Miss Theo Swegles of Plymouth, who was gowned in rose silk, and carried a bouquet of snapdragons and roses. Manfred Becker, the bride's brother, acted as best man. Little Derward Jewell, carried the ring on a dainty cushion of white, and little Madelyn Blunk was flower girl, strewing rose petals in the way of the bridal party. A touch of sentiment was shown in the fact that the overhanging bridal bells had been used on three previous occasions at the weddings of the bride's older sisters.

Following the ceremony the guests were seated at tables on the lawn, where a bountiful two-course repast was served. Most of the fifty-three present were immediate relatives of the bride and groom, all of Mr. and Mrs. Becker's ten children and their families being present. Those in attendance were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hicks and Miss Thieda Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Voyle Becker and children, Eva, Mark and Earl of Fenton; Mrs. D. J. Hicks and Mrs. B. P. Hicks of Owosso; and Mrs. Paul Nichols and four children, Herbert Reamer of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Becker and daughter, Marie, of Northville township; Mr. and Mrs. Ford Becker, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Jewell and son, Derward, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Blunk and two daughters, Madelyn and Helen Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Borabacher, Manfred Becker, Miss Ellen Wilson, and Mrs. Walter Dethloff, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reamer, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schaufele and daughter, Lois, Miss Theo Swegles, Miss Dorothea Spillman, Miss Fern Murray and Rev. and Mrs. S. Conger Hathaway, all of Plymouth.

Both bride and groom are popular young people of Plymouth, and received many pretty and useful gifts. After a short wedding trip, the young couple will make their home, for the present, with the bride's parents at Maple Grove.

CROCKER-DAYMAN

At 4:00 p. m. Saturday afternoon, the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Thomas of Main street was the scene of a very quiet wedding, when Miss Stella Florence Dayman of Lakewood, Ohio, namesake, and when a tiny tot, the wedding attendant of Mrs. Thomas, was united in marriage to Wilbur A. Crocker, District Superintendent for the Western Union, Rev. D. D. Nagle performing the ceremony. The bride's parents were the only outside guests.

Mrs. George Wilkinson of Chicago, is visiting relatives here, this week. C. F. Lefever and family returned last Saturday evening from a few days' visit at Columbus, Ohio.

The Busy Women's Bible Class will hold its annual meeting next Tuesday at Maple Grove, the farm home of Mrs. F. L. Becker.

Among the Americans resident in Japan, mentioned the name of Mrs. Eva MacMillan, daughter of Dr. F. B. Adams formerly of Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hummel and son, Thurman, and Gale Beechler of Sandusky, Ohio; Mrs. Arthur Bailey and two sons and Mrs. McConnell of Elkhart, Indiana, were guests at Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Hummel's, the weekend.

The Ladies of the Lutheran church held a thimble party Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thennon on the Newburg road, with a good attendance. A pot-luck supper was served, and a general good time enjoyed.

A MATTER OF COURSE

Too many towns take their local newspaper as a matter of course—about as we consider the act of eating when meal time comes. They know the paper comes out on a certain day; they read it and are probably satisfied, and never wonder if there isn't some way in which they can individually aid in making it still better. It is in the towns where there is no community paper that the people realize its real value. They feel the lack of a good weekly paper, and if they have ever let one die for lack of support, they are more eager to have another one start that they may correct their mistake and give it the aid they withheld from the first one. There is an old saying that you never miss the water till the well runs dry. And the same thing holds good with the home-town paper—you never really know how much good it is doing in the community until it has passed away. The moral is—pay up your subscription, send in your news items, have your job printing done at home and your home-town paper will live forever.

When the two cars hit, the glass from the windshield of the oncoming car cut an artery in Mr. Wood's head, which took several stitches to close. He has since been confined to his bed, but is getting along as well as could be expected.

While Philip Angelo was driving out of Bert Tomlinson's yard, east of Plymouth on the car line, about nine o'clock last Monday evening, his car was struck by an electric car north bound. He grabbed his young son, who was on the seat with him and jumped to safety. The auto was practically demolished. It is almost miraculous that they escaped with their lives as the interurban hit the auto as they landed upon the ground.

PREBYTERIAN NOTES

The vested choir made an excellent appearance last Sunday, before a good sized congregation. The pastor wore his pulpit gown with a bachelor of divinity hood. The latter has a scarlet velvet facing and is lined with the colors of the Oberlin Graduate School of Theology, which granted him the degree in 1914. The pulpit was extended to make room for the enlarged choir, and a lectern was used in the scripture reading. This was placed at the left of the pulpit, and was used in the early part of the service, the pastor ascending the pulpit only for the sermon and the closing services. Processional and recessional hymns were used. The pulpit and platform were beautifully decorated with a floral cross and other floral arrangements by our "unprofessional artist."

Mr. Green also deserves credit for planning and building the pulpit extension.

Our Sunday-school superintendent Mr. Shaw, was in his place last Sunday, and was given a special welcome by the members. Let every teacher and scholar be on hand next Sunday.

A joint meeting of the session and trustees will be held next Monday night, at seven-thirty.

The Ladies Auxiliary is beginning its activity. There was a large circle meeting at the home of Mrs. C. H. Bennett on Tuesday, and a regular meeting at the church on Wednesday.

Rev. Walter Albion Squires, of Philadelphia, Director of Week-day Religious Instruction, of the General Assembly's Board of Publication and Sabbath School Work, and Rev. W. B. Shirey of Ann Arbor, who acts in a similar capacity for the Synod of Michigan, will attend the supper to be given in the church on Wednesday evening, September 19, to meet all who are interested in that work, and explain the program for the current year. Be sure to meet them.

BAPTIST NOTES

The pastor spoke last Sunday morning on, "The Unchangeable Christ," showing how the world in every respect has changed, but our Christ remains the same yesterday, today and forever.

The B. Y. P. U. was led by Duane Sayles. The report of the Kalamazoo convention was not given—will be given later.

Rev. Palmer Hartsough of Ontario, Wis., preached the evening sermon, last Sunday, and was much enjoyed by all.

At the covenant meeting last week Thursday evening, delegates elected to the Wayne Association were: Lewis Schaal, Joseph Stanley, Miss Scott, Mrs. John Williams and the pastor. The meeting will be held at the First Baptist church, Ypsilanti, September 18th and 19th.

Monday morning, Rev. and Mrs. Sayles and son, Alton, drove to Clio, Mich., to attend the funeral of Miss Pearce, who had been a friend of the family for years. Rev. Sayles preached the sermon, and Mr. and Mrs. Sayles and Alton sang.

Last Monday forenoon, Rev. and Mrs. Sayles and Alton called at the Mercy hospital in Jackson, and saw Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, who are getting better and hopeful of returning to Plymouth soon.

The Sunday-school picnic, which was to have been held at the tourist camp, last Saturday afternoon, was adjourned to the church and the lawn on account of the rain. All had a good time. There were contests of all kinds, and many prizes were given, and then a good supper was served. Come to Sunday-school next Sunday. Be sure.

Last week Thursday evening, as the shadows were gathering, Mrs. Merritt, wife of Rev. Merritt, was laid to rest by the side of her husband in the Baptist cemetery. She was 90 years and 6 months old, and was one of the charter members of the Baptist church of Plymouth. For some time she had made her home with her daughter at South Haven.

Mrs. Sayles and Alton drove to Hillsdale, last week Thursday, taking with them Mrs. Sayles, Mr. Sayles' mother, who had been here on a visit for several weeks; also Mrs. Remington of Boston, their aunt, who also was their guest.

Reduce the Skidding Danger!

Buick Four-wheel Brakes

BUICK four-wheel brakes reduce to a minimum the skidding danger every driver encounters on wet pavements.

The action of the simple yet positive Buick brakes not only slows down the car safely but keeps it steady, preventing skidding to either side.

Buick four-wheel brakes operate with slight pressure on the service brake pedal, are of the Buick-proved external contracting type and function independently of the emergency brake.

Buick has taken this advanced step of designing four-wheel brakes on its 1924 cars in conformance with its well-known policy of providing owners with the safest and most dependable transportation.

We will be pleased to give you a demonstration and let you prove the effectiveness of Buick four-wheel brakes yourself.

When better automobiles are built, Buick will build them

THE BEST WINTERTIME TREAT—IS AN ABUNDANCE OF HEAT!

Permanent Reliable Safe Heat in every room

No matter how large or small the building, "heat by radiators" has proved reliable, economical and satisfactory in every way.

Radiator heat saves fuel and provides constant, healthful warmth in every room. It is the cleanest, safest, most modern and most easily controlled method of healthfully heating any building.

Radiator heat has made sky-scrapers possible and convenient to live or work in. Imagine tending fires on the twentieth floor! It has also made the heating of the smallest building a matter of proportionately small expense.

"Heat by radiators" is the modern, reliable, permanent, safe, clean and economical way of heating. It lasts as long as the building. In practical terms, it alone has salvage value.

METHODIST NOTES

The Sunday-school board meets with Brother Hammond for a weiner roast, and business discussion. Every teacher and officer plan to be there. Now that vacation is over, why not plan to settle the matter of church attendance by going every Sunday, and make something of your spiritual opportunities this year. Neglect one Sunday to go, and it is easier to stay away the next Sunday. Soon one becomes spiritually lazy, which is a most dangerous condition.
Next Sunday an effort will be made to raise the amount due on our budget of last year, the amount due being about $350. We hope this year to clear our whole budget by pledges, so that it will not be necessary to come back after some more at the end of each year.
If each contributor will bear these facts in mind when making their pledge this year, there will be no deficit at the end.
The official board have decided to follow a little different plan for every-member canvass this year. Instead of the whole board doing the canvassing, two or three members of the church will be selected to do the personal canvassing. If such a representative of the church visits you some day during the next two weeks, receive them cordially, and send them on their way rejoicing, after having given them your generous pledge for the work of Christ's church for this year.
"Freely ye have received, freely give." And "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver."
The Epworth League service will be held Sunday evening at 6:30 by Albert Kenyon of Detroit, brother of our president. Be sure to be on hand, Epworthians. Special music.
The pastor speaks on the subject of "Blessings in Disguise," next Sunday evening at 7:30. Good music.
The Missionary Societies will hold their September meeting at the home of Mrs. W. S. Thomas on North Main street, next Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Noyes are hostesses of the occasion. A full attendance is desired for the first regular meeting of the year.

All Set for Oakland County Fair

Officers and directors of the Oakland County Fair are exerting themselves in surpassing all previous efforts this year, and the day and night fair to be held at Milford, September 12-13-14-15, will be replete with thrills and amusement for everybody.

The Red Letter Horse Races will bring to the track many circuit horses. Two races each afternoon with $400 purses, and the fair visitors may look forward to some real racing over a fast track.
Then there will be Roman chariot races, high jumping horses, and many stunts by the Blanche McKenry Hunter Racing Combination. The Midway will be bigger and better than ever, and the band concerts, big industrial parade staged by the Pontiac Board of Commerce on Friday, will be only a few of the features. The night program will include an elaborate display of fireworks shown by the Gordon Fireworks Company of Chicago.

A Farmer Needs More than Fire Insurance

WHAT is insurance? It is a means of protecting one's self from unexpected losses. Now there is no business that is more liable to suffer such losses than that of farming. Hailstorms, for one thing, can ruin a crop and wipe out a whole year's income. The death of valuable live stock is another loss that hurts. The loss of stock while en route to market may cut so deeply into the proceeds of a sale as to wipe out profits. What are the hazards that confront you? Let this agency tell you how to safeguard your income.

You need more than Fire Insurance. Get in touch with this Hartford agency.

TEST NEVER FAILS

First Act in the Morning Proves Character.

Just How Man Conducts Himself When Alarm Clock Wakes Him Is the Revelation.

If you want to know a man's character through and through, there are two methods. You can either see him dully for ten years, or you can observe him for ten minutes just after his alarm clock has rung in the morning.

The man who will succeed identifies himself before the tiny clamor has really begun. Throwing back the bed clothes he leaps to the floor, strangles the clock and goes right to work on his setting-up exercises. Such a man is an asset in any office and a criminal nuisance anywhere else, remarks the New York Sun and Globe. He will never be late to work, he will grin cheerfully when asked to stay after 5 o'clock, he will talk about the stock market, to a poet or a beautiful woman, and his idea of a vacation is to get up at 6 o'clock and get an early start for the six-hour climb of the nearest mountain.

Then there is another type, who never allows the alarm to ring more than a few seconds. He is almost as able as the man who will succeed, almost as ambitious, but he is human; he is late once every six months or so, and he has to stifle harsh words that rise to his lips when he is asked "just to finish those up before you go." He often likes to forget his business altogether, and he appreciates a quiet morning with a pipe and a book. You can spot him, because he walks across the room to the clock. He is not superhuman and he is a little bit afraid that if his ravelle call is within reach of the bed he will be tempted to turn it off and go to sleep again.

Coming down the scale is the man who wakes promptly, but after turning the indicator to "off," says to himself: "I guess I can dress and eat breakfast in forty minutes," and lies in bed for a luxurious five minutes which he sometimes stretches to six or seven minutes. He is the average man, never discharged, occasionally late, and seldom promoted. He works with reasonable diligence in office hours, but always has a pressing engagement at quarter past five which prevents his working overtime, although he "wishes he could and will stay late any other day."

Of course, in the abyss, there is the lethargic animal who has not even energy enough to silence the alarm. He has set it the night before to give him time to bathe, dress and breakfast in leisure, but he does not stir at the alarm rings itself out nor for half an hour or so afterward. Even then, his mother, his wife, his sister, or his roommate, has to pull off the bed clothes and shout in his ear before he will get up, throw on his clothes, and run for the subway with a piece of toast in his hand.

His business career is obvious. Late several times a week he spends the day reading a paper, wishing he could get a better job, and asking the boss for a raise. He usually lasts about six months in each office.

But happiest of men is he who has no alarm clock at all, whose wife taps him on the shoulder at quarter past 7, saying, "Time to get up, dear. Your bath is waiting and breakfast is almost ready. Do you want your eggs scrambled or fried?"

Motor in Near East.

Ninety per cent of all automobiles in Syria and Palestine are of American make. Palestine is a transformed territory. It is no longer a pastoral land untouched by modern life. American agricultural machines are there, and whereas before the war it took four days to journey from Jerusalem to Nazareth, it can now be done in four hours.

There is a motor car service between Beirut and Haifa, and between Haifa and Damascus. This route brings Bagdad within sixty miles land journey throughout Syria, Palestine, Mesopotamia and in certain parts of trans-Jordania and Arabia the American motor cars now link up remote communities and provide cheaper and more comfortable travel than by rail.

Odd Experience.

One day we were ready to go to town on an errand and our car refused to start. My husband tried everything he could think of, but to no avail. Next morning we hitched the team to the car and dragged it to our village garage, five miles away. I went along to guide the car. Thinking something was seriously wrong, we tied our huggy on behind to come home in. To our surprise the mechanic cranked the car twice and it started nicely. Just a little water had gotten in during a rain storm, and when it dried out nothing was wrong. We did feel foolish.—Chicago Journal.

United States' Wood Consumption.

The United States uses more wood than any other country. In fact the consumption in this country equals about two-fifths of the entire consumption of the world, or, expressed in round figures, about 22 1/4 billion cubic feet, declares the forest service, United States Department of Agriculture.

The per capita consumption in this country is 212 cubic feet, of which 110 cubic feet, or a little more than half, is saw timber, and the balance consists of cordwood, continues the department's report, which was recently printed for public distribution.

A Pronounced Success

The uniform success that has attended the use of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the relief and cure of bowel complaints, both for children and adults, has brought it into almost universal use, so that it is practically without a rival and as everyone who has used it knows, is it without an equal.—Advertisement.

LOOKING FOR SILVER CHAIRS?

Impoverished Duke of Cumberland Has a Set Which Will Soon Go to the Block.

Persons desiring a chance to sit in solid silver chairs might invest in those of the duke of Cumberland, whose household treasures, some of them brought from the East during the crusades and augmented through the years between, are about to be sold to pay plumbers' and repair men's bills; or, so at least the story goes in a dispatch to the Philadelphia Public Ledger. The present duke, Ernst August, is the son of the blind King George of Hanover, whose small but satisfactory kingdom was the original breeding ground of England's royal line beginning with George I and including Queen Victoria.

It happened in the Middle ages that many German knights and kings and kinglets went on crusades for what there was in it, and old Henry the Lion did pretty well, returning with plenty of loot. From him the house of Hanover descended, and from him it inherited much wealth, including the eastern plunder, the nucleus of a great collection of unique treasures. The present duke of Cumberland owns a palace at Gmunden, in Austria, where many of these treasures are housed, part of them in a great room, the furnishings of which are done in solid silver, by some of the greatest silversmiths in Europe.

The duke's son married the kaiser's daughter, but that was not enough to make the duke like the kaiser, and it is said he made a sour face at the nuptials. However, when the war came he backed the wrong horse, buying the war loans of the central empires for good gold money and getting back more paper. Now his castles need fixing up and the workmen cannot live on the promises to pay of the German government or the former Austrian government, so the treasures must go to the block.

The Austrians are greatly troubled over it, as they fear the furniture and knickknacks of priceless historic association may pass out of the country. One would not be surprised to meet them in the Metropolitan Museum of Art when some of the New York millionaires get through with them. Strange things have happened and war causes many a shift of property as well as of people. It is a hurricane, a great distributor of values—but expensive.

HARNESSING THE RIVER ROUGE

The Detroit Sunday News recently contained some illustrations of the Nankin, Plymouth and Phoenix plants of the Ford Motor company, with the following interesting article regarding the development of the power sites along the Rouge river:

Henry Ford is making the sluggish Rouge river work overtime. At three dams within an hour's drive of Detroit, he is taking power from this apparently unpromising stream and using it to run machines that turn out automobile parts.

At the Phoenix, Plymouth and Nankin Mills, he has placed picturesque little manufacturing plants in the heart of nature and thus proven that he was in earnest when he startled the world with his advocacy of rural factories along little streams.

One of Mr. Ford's pet policies is to use the energy of small streams wasted so long, utilize the power in generating electricity and build small factories where farmer folk can find employment at city wages during their slack time.

The Plymouth plant, recently completed, will make taps used in machine work and give employment to 30 farmers of the neighborhood. A winding road leads from there to Nankin Mills, lower down on the Rouge, where an old white-painted mill has been transformed into a little factory.

This was Henry Ford's first hydro-electric plant, laid out and put into operation inside a sturdy old building familiar to him in his boyhood days as a flour mill. The old mill wheel is gone and in its place is an electric generator operated by a flow of water through the underground spill-way, generating electricity sufficient to operate the several machines used in the manufacture of carburetor parts, tiny pieces and little screws of nickel and brass. Farmers in the neighborhood come in off seasons and work at the machines.

Also on the Rouge, a mile from Plymouth, is the Phoenix plant, which employs 100 women and girls all busily engaged in making generator cut-outs. These women come for the most part from small communities around Phoenix, some from as far as 20 miles. But good roads enable them to reach their jobs as quickly as city stenographers who go from residential neighborhoods downtown to work by street car.

The Phoenix plant is hidden just off the highway in a clump of trees and many Detroit motorists go by it every day without realizing that they are passing an industrial experiment and object lesson that may have a profound influence in changing the industrial fabric of the future, says Mr. Ford. It will not have its departments all under one roof or in the same town. Departments will be scattered over the whole state or several states, tucked away in little communities that happen to have a stream through them.

The products of the Phoenix plant are of a sort best made by the delicate feminine touch and the muscular effort required is very small. Though the Phoenix plant is fairly large and uses up considerable power the Rouge has been equal to the demands placed upon it. The force of the water coming through an intake and rushing down a spillway has been more than sufficient to drive the machinery. Since November last when the plant was opened, it has never been necessary to run the generator at full capacity.

There always has been an unused surplus of energy. The observer will notice that all the products turned out at these rural factories are small. The cost of transportation to Highland Park and River Rouge is infinitesimal per unit. One truck can carry enough parts to last a long time. Outgoing trucks from Detroit carry raw materials to the little plants and bring back finished products.

The visitor is also struck by another fact. Industrialism need not necessarily connote hideous factories of dirty brick, belching smoke-stacks and grimy workmen crowded into ramshackle hovels. The little Ford plants are placed in leafy bowers and surrounded with flowering shrubs, green bushes and trees. The spots you would select for a picnic, Henry Ford has picked for factory sites.

The buildings are simply constructed, trim and spotlessly clean, with wide window spaces, open to the cool country breezes. They do not dominate the scene and overshadow it, but are part of it. They fit in the surroundings.

No Substitute Offered Say what you will about the drug-gist offering something "just as good" because it pays a better profit, the fact still stands that ninety-nine out of a hundred druggists recommend Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, when the best medicine for diarrhoea is asked for, and do so because they know from what their customers say of it, that it can be depended upon.—Advertisement.

THE THEATRE

"MASTERS OF MEN"

"Masters of Men," Morgan Robertson's great sea novel, adapted for the screen by C. Graham Baker, which will be shown at the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, September 8, is a real American story, written by Americans for Americans.

The hero, Dick Halpin, is the sort of a boy every American admires, sensitive to hurts, rebellious against snobbery, quick to fight and big enough to carry a secret wrong to save the girl he loves from humiliation. Dick is falsely accused of theft and runs away from home. He joins the United States Navy and there he learns how to be a man. While on shore leave he and his superior are shanghaied on board a four-master and sent before the mast. They endure the brutality of captain and mate and the filth in which they are compelled to live until they manage their escape just as the United States declares war on Spain. The boys rejoin their ships and take an active part in the battle of Santiago when Cervera's fleet was destroyed as it came out to sea.

The naval battle is thrillingly presented and through courtesy of the United States Navy Department at Washington is authentically reproduced, the Navy permitting. Vitagraph, the producers, to take real shots on board men of war when stripped for action and indulging in gun fire.

The cast is an exceptionally strong one of fan favorites. Earle Williams plays Lieutenant Breen, and Cullen Landis Dick Halpin, the two young Americans. Alice Calhoun and Wanda Hawley play the old-fashioned sweethearts of the two boys. The love interest is strong, and there is abundant comedy running through the story.

"THE SUNSHINE TRAIL"

Douglas MacLean, star of many past Thomas H. Ince productions, has the leading role in "The Sunshine Trail," a zippy western comedy-drama with a new twist, which comes to the Penniman Allen theatre, Sunday, September 9.

The cast of "The Sunshine Trail" also includes Edith Roberts, little Muriel Frances Dana, Josephine Sedgwick, William Courtright, Barney Furey, Rex Cherrymen and Albert Hart. Thomas H. Ince's latest photoplay was directed by James Horne and was adapted by Bradley King from the story by William Wallace Cook.

The picture tells the amusing story of a doughboy-cowboy, who returns from the war, just three years late, to find that his girl is engaged to be married to "the other fellow" in the belief that her soldier-sweetheart is dead. The doughboy, who has been given a fine memorial funeral by his fellow townsmen, is greeted as an impostor when he comes home after a series of adventures which are both thrilling and amusing, he is thrown into jail. There's a surprise ending that carries a big kick.

CHEVROLET CUT A REAL SURPRISE

A schedule of reduced prices has gone into effect on Chevrolet models. The greatest reduction was in the sedan, which was cut $65. The coupe was reduced $20, touring $30, Utility coupe $40, commercial chassis $30, light delivery $15, and Utility express truck $25. Announcement of the Chevrolet cut caused a mild sensation in the automotive ranks and with the public generally.

CHASE & SANBORN'S Orange Pekoe Tea The Best TEA for ICE TEA

BREW in the same manner as though serving hot, only make a little stronger, as the addition of ice will reduce the strength.

When cold, add a small quantity of lemon juice and allow a few thin slices of lemon to float on top.

Add sugar to suit taste. Use cake of ice large enough to keep it thoroughly chilled.

FOR LARGE QUANTITIES

use three ounces of tea for each gallon of water.

Film-fam. It isn't often that the movie folks break into this column, for the simple reason that some folks might think they were getting undue publicity, but here is a laugh or two that earns a place:

"The reason so many of us fail to recognize opportunity," says Martha Mattox, "is because it usually goes around disguised as hard work."

Whereupon Helen Ferguson comes back with a bit of philosophy of her own, to-wit:

"For the first year, love takes the bride to her husband's office; after that, suspicion does it."

All of which has nothing to do with the newspaper headline that science had proved that men talk more in their sleep than women.

When Monty Banks read this in one of the Los Angeles papers he remarked:

"A man ought to have a chance to do some talking around his own home some time, without being interrupted corrected or shut up."

"All Comforts of Home" Plus.

An interesting comparison between the old-time "windjammer" that consumed months in crossing the ocean, and the last word in transport luxury the Leviathan, may be made in reading a description of the latter. Besides great speed and passenger capacity, the giant ship contains a ballroom, dining room, smoking room, tea room, swimming pool, gymnasium, special health baths, a small bathhouse and accommodations for dogs.
