

PLYMOUTH GIRL RESERVES WIN SCHOLARSHIP PLACQUE

The Plymouth Group Was Given Award for Highest Scholarship Records at Annual Banquet Held in Detroit Last Saturday Night.

(By Barbara Horton) It is the custom of the Girl Reserves of the Detroit Inter-Club Council to hold an annual banquet, which was held last Saturday night at the First Congregational Parish House in Detroit.

Each school had one or two tables for their own representatives, which they were to decorate for themselves. These were judged and the best one announced after the program.

Other judging took place, too. Posters made by the girls of the different clubs were on display. The winner being again Southeastern High school.

A very delightful dinner was served by the Girl Reserves of the grade and intermediate schools. The whole idea for the program was carried out with the windmill for its symbol.

Katherine Hutchinson of Southeastern High school gave a talk on the windmill, which stands for the whole Girl Reserve movement.

Katherine Wilcox of Plymouth, told about the windmill "In Gear." This was a talk about the Girl Reserve movement after it was running and the necessity of co-operation.

We all know that a windmill cannot work without wind, so "When the Wind Blows" was next on the program. The clubs of the different schools who had songs entered in the contest, each sang them in turn, the best to be judged later.

Dorothy Call of Western, next talked on the reserve power of the windmill this was called, "The Reserve" and Mrs. Grace C. Jones of New Central High school, told the girls about what the Girl Reserves really stands for, and what can keep the movement at its best.

The announcement of awards followed. The Plymouth group was given the wall plaque for the highest scholarship records, which means that our local group of 27 girls won over the groups in these schools: Birmingham, Northwestern, Northeastern, Southeastern, Southwestern, Cass, Commerce, Eastern, Central, Western, Redford, Ferndale, Northern and Highland Park. They came home exceedingly proud of themselves. Their amazement at the award, which was totally unexpected, was amusingly evident to all.

There was a long table of notables, women on the board of the city Y. W. C. A., and also many of those in executive positions in the city schools. During dinner all of the songs of the Girl Reserves know how to sing so well enlivened the hour, and "Miss Mac" as they affectionately call Miss Ella McIntosh, head of the Girl Reserve department of the Detroit Y. W. C., contributed much to their enjoyment.

Most of the girls wore their white middie and blue ties, and the blue triangle with its symbolism of health, knowledge and spirit was everywhere evident in the decorations.

WILL BUILD WOMEN'S PRISON COLONY

According to a report published in a Detroit paper, the Detroit House of Correction prison board announces that work on the new women's prison colony near Plymouth will be started about April 1st. The colony will house 288 prisoners, and its cost is estimated at $700,000.

TWO BIG PICTURES AT LOCAL THEATRE

"HANDS UP," SATURDAY, AND "THE VANISHING AMERICAN," SUNDAY, MONDAY AND TUESDAY.

H. R. Lash, manager of the Penniman Allen theatre, announces two extraordinary feature pictures for Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, March 13, 14, 15, 16. On Saturday evening, a rip-roaring comedy-western of Civil War times, "Hands Up," with Raymond Griffith in the role of the hero, will be the attraction.

On Sunday, Monday and Tuesday evenings, the big attraction will be Zane Grey's "The Vanishing American," with Richard Dix, Lois Wilson, Noah Beery and Malcolm McGregor in the leading roles. "The Vanishing American" is the screen's mighty tribute to the American Indian, first Lord of the western continent, showing the parade of civilization from the first man and his mate down to the modern Indian; the Red Man's gradual eclipse before the irresistible sweep of white civilization; his final stand in the barren wastes of the far west; his retreat into the desert fastness marked by a trail of blood.

With a cast of 10,000 Indians and 100 principals, "The Vanishing American" is the final epic of the fast-disappearing Red Man.

A special matinee will be given for school children only, Monday afternoon at 3:30 p. m. As an extra attraction, Miss Marlock of Detroit, will sing on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday evenings in connection with the screen play, "The Vanishing American."

NEW COMPANY PURCHASES SUBDIVISION

A new company known as the Plymouth Corporation, has purchased Sunset subdivision, located in the northwestern part of the village, from Oliver Goldsmith. The allotment consists of 146 building lots. It is the intention of the new owners to open up streets, lay sidewalks, sewer, etc., and place the property upon the market as soon as weather conditions will permit the work to be started.

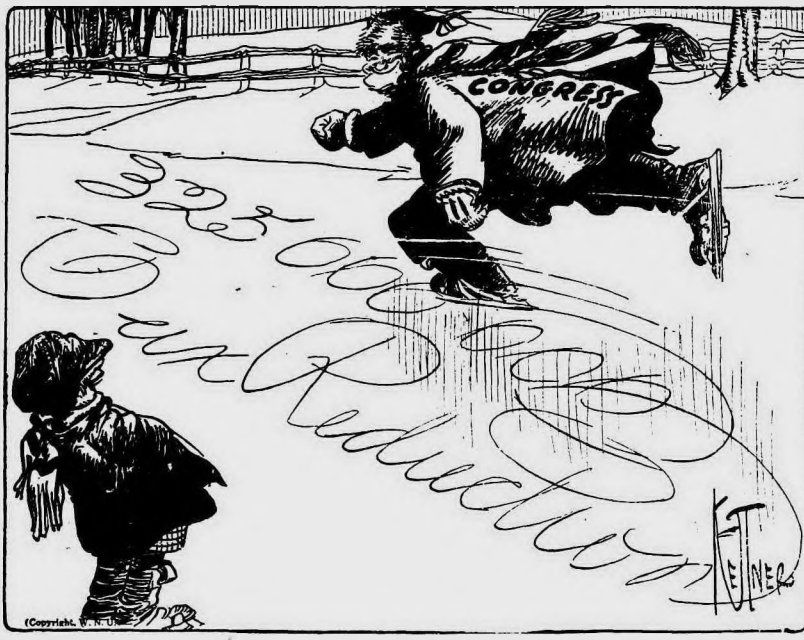

The same company has purchased the Mertens property, consisting of two houses and two lots on South Main street also. The officers of the new company are John M. Larkins, president, and John B. Hubert, secretary and treasurer.

DEATH OF AN INFANT

Robert, the seven months and four days old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Mault, died at the home of his parents, on Golden road, Friday, March 5th. Funeral services were held from Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, Dr. F. A. Lendrum of the Methodist church officiating. Burial in Riverside cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Steele returned to Daytona, Florida, the latter part of this week.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM CALIFORNIA

1696 Electric Ave., Venice, California. March 2, 1926

Dear Friend: Seeing your invitation in the Mail last week for all former Plymouth people to write a letter to the Mail, am sending one to you.

A couple of weeks ago, Edson O. Huston and wife and Elmer Huston and wife called on us. Last week Clyde Whitaker and Glenn Smith called. We were glad to see them or any of the Plymouth friends who are out here.

Last Thursday, we went to San Gabriel, where we witnessed the Mission play, which is the early history of California. The play is in its fifteenth year.

The next day, we drove over to Glendale, where we called on Mrs. Charles Shattuck, who went with us to Burbank, where we called on Mr. and Mrs. George VanDeCar who are with their daughter, Helen, and where we saw Helen's baby for the first time.

Our city of Venice has been annexed to Los Angeles, but our address is just the same as before.

We are glad to hear that Plymouth is on the boom, and hope it continues for some time to come.

We are planning a trip this summer around through the Panama Canal to New York City, and then to Philadelphia, where we expect to attend the Sesqui Centennial, then home via Detroit, Plymouth, Chicago and Denver. Do not expect to start before August.

I think this letter is about long enough, so shall end it right here. Any Plymouth friends coming out here will always be welcome.

Sincerely, CLARA A. SOUTHWORTH, Formerly Mrs. E. L. Riggs.

ST. PATRICK'S PARTY

The fourth annual St. Patrick's dance, given by Our Lady of Good Counsel Society, will be given at the Penniman Allen auditorium, Wednesday evening, March 17th. Patterson's orchestra will furnish the music, and Wayne VanDyne will sing Irish songs. There will be special features in the way of fancy dancing, favors, luncheon, etc. The grand march starts at 9:30 o'clock, led by "Mr. and Mrs. St. Patrick." Everybody is invited to attend.

A Republican caucus will be held at the Livonia town hall on Monday, April 15th, at two o'clock p. m.

JULIUS STEVER PASSES AWAY

The funeral services for Julius Stever were held at Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, Sunday afternoon, March 7th, at 2:00 o'clock.

He was born in Germany, June 23, 1847, and died at his home in Plymouth, Mich., March 5, 1926, at the age of 78 years. Mr. and Mrs. Stever were married near Berlin, Germany, and early in their married life came to the United States, and had enjoyed life together for 34 years when the summons came. They have lived in the same house in this village for more than 40 years. There were five children in the family, two sons and three daughters.

Rev. H. E. Sayles, pastor of the Baptist church officiated at the service. The burial was in Riverside cemetery.

The family have the sympathy of a host of friends.

OBSERVES THIRTY-THIRD ANNIVERSARY

The thirty-third anniversary meeting of the Plymouth Woman's Club was held on Friday, March 5th, in the Penniman Allen theatre.

On the program for the afternoon were Prof. Frederick Alexander, organist; Mrs. Annis Dexter Gray, soloist, and Edward Mosher, violinist, of the Ypsilanti State Normal College, and the Misses LaMoyné Everhart and Leone Dever of the Joy School of Dancing of Detroit. The club had as their guests, the Arche Club and the Literary Club of Wayne.

This meeting was made possible by the generosity of the management of the Penniman Allen theatre in donating the use of the theatre for the afternoon. It was a most pleasant occasion for all who attended.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

A Republican Caucus for the township of Plymouth will be held on Saturday, March 13, 1926, at 2:00 o'clock p. m. at the High school auditorium, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the various township offices to be voted for at the coming Spring election, and the transaction of any other business that may properly come before the meeting.

The contest for the fourth subdistrict of the Michigan State Oratorical Association will be held at the High school auditorium, Thursday evening, April 8th, at 8:00 o'clock. The fourth subdistrict consists of the following schools: Wayne, Dearborn, Northville, Springwells, Dearborn District No. 1, and Plymouth. Plymouth has ten pupils contesting for the privilege of representing Plymouth High school in declamation, and also ten students contesting for the privilege of representing our High school in oration. The elimination contest for the school is to be held Thursday evening, March 25th, when the student who is to represent our High school in declamation and also in oration in the subdistrict will be chosen.

A great deal of interest is being shown in public speaking in our High school this year, due to the efforts of Mrs. Ruth E. Whipple and the cooperation of the whole community is very much desired in order that the boys and girls who are working hard on declamation and oration will not feel that their efforts are unappreciated.

DEATH OF EDWARD R. LEE

Edward R. Lee died at his home at 184 Castor avenue, Friday, March 5, 1926. Mr. Lee was born in Flint, November 7, 1871. He was the son of George and Elvira Lee. April 23, 1890, he was married to Lillian M. Harrington, at Kingston, Michigan. To them were born five children, four of whom are living. They are: Glenn E. Lee, 472 Starkweather avenue, Plymouth; Harry D. Lee, Rockford, Illinois; Mrs. Lida Brown, Clawson, Mich.; and Mrs. Ruby A. Dudley, Jackson, Mich. He is also survived by two brothers and three sisters, as follows: Mrs. Margaret Bullock, Elkhardt, Indiana; Mrs. Stella Johnson, Flint; Mrs. Richard Burk, Saginaw; Clayton Lee, Mariette, and John Lee of Flint. His mother, Mrs. Elvira Lee of Mariette, is also living.

For the last thirty years, Mr. Lee has been a travelling salesman in Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Nebraska, and a number of other states. He was probably one of the most widely known salesmen of stores and ranges in Michigan, being known personally by practically every hardware dealer in the state.

Mr. Lee was a member of the Arts and Crafts Lodge of Masons at Bloomington, Illinois, the Fort Wayne, Indiana, Consistory, and the Shrine at Saginaw. He was also a member of the Battle Creek Lodge of Elks, the Travelers' Protective Association and until recently belonged to the United Commercial Travelers.

The funeral services took place at Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, Plymouth, Sunday afternoon at four o'clock, and interment was in Riverside cemetery. Rev. H. E. Sayles of the Baptist church, officiated. The service at the grave was in charge of the Masonic order, of which order Mr. Lee was a member.

PLYMOUTH GRANGERS GO TO LANSING

On Saturday, March 6th, twenty-one members of Plymouth Grange drove to Lansing. After visiting the State Farm Bureau headquarters on North Cedar street and the state capitol, the party went back to East Lansing, where they visited several of the college buildings, and attended the Grange supper club at the college Union building. After listening to brief talks by President Kenyon L. Butterfield of the M. S. C. Louis J. Tabor, National Grange Master; A. B. Cook, Michigan State Grange Master, and a few selections of music, the whole party went to the Little Theatre in the home economics building, where the Charlotte team exemplified the single degree, which was followed by talks by Mrs. C. H. Anderson, first and only woman in the state legislature; Stanley Powell of the State Farm Bureau legislative department, and L. J. Tabor. The Plymouth people returned at an early hour, Sunday morning. All report having had a fine time.

AN OLD-TIMER

Good people around Plymouth who wanted an old-fashioned winter realize by this time that they have not been disappointed. For this community, like practically every other in the United States, has had an abundance of cold weather, and the things that go with it. Eastern states have been especially hard hit this winter, the state of New York alone recording more than thirty snowstorms, and some of the heaviest in many years. The middle west and far western sections have also been "firing up" heavier than is usually the case, and coal men ought to have profited enough to be satisfied for life.

Those who place their trust in the groundhog agree by now that, no matter how reliable he may have been in the past he made a poor job of prophesying this time. For February brought to all parts of the country anything but spring-like weather, taking the month as a whole. But the winter season, if weather men are correct, is not yet at an end. They say that between now and the first of April we are apt to encounter more squally weather, even more snow is predicted for practically every state except those south of the Mason-Dixon line. Garden planning is now in order, they say, but they advise that the planning be done indoors, and the actual work of soil preparation be delayed a few weeks. And the doctors buck them up with a warning against too premature donning of D. V. D.'s and other light fluff garments. So govern yourself accordingly—or abide by the consequences.

FARMER'S DAY

Organized labor has its Labor Day the first Monday in September to impress on everyone the dignity and importance of labor. The National Grange and the American Farm Bureau at their last meetings endorsed a national "Agricultural Day" to dignify farming in the eyes of the nation, and impress upon farmers the importance of their calling. And why should not the farming industry, that creates twelve to fourteen billion dollars worth of new wealth every year and employs nearly one-third of the population of the country, have its own holiday? It could be made impressive with picnics and speeches and celebrations. And why wouldn't Plymouth be a good town, and this a good county, in which to inaugurate a great movement that would soon be recognized and celebrated throughout the entire United States?

NO RELIEF YET

The peaceful, law-abiding citizen of Plymouth, who has been expecting congress to pass a law regulating the sale and carrying of firearms seems doomed to disappointment, and as a result crime is just as rampant in the United States today as it has ever been, if not more so. Crime will continue to sweep this country so long as any person with the proper sum can buy a revolver and the law shuts its eyes to the class of people permitted to carry firearms. There should be a line drawn somewhere, a federal law determining who is entitled to carry a weapon and who is not. Every state has laws on the subject, but in recent years these laws have almost become obsolete, so lax is their enforcement. What this country needs is a federal law covering gun-selling and gun-shooting—and a law that has teeth in it.

MUNICIPAL NOTES

Well, our village election is finished. Three hundred and nine voters came out to register their preferences for commissioner, and their judgment on the bonds. The result of the vote for commissioners is as follows:

Henry Hondorp	160
John W. Henderson	155
George H. Robinson	138
Arthur E. Blunk	113
Scattering	2
Spilled Ballots	5

The vote on the bonding issues was as follows:

Bonds	Yes	No	Spd	Total
Sewer	245	48	11	304
Water	240	61	8	309
Gravel Ave.	176	122	9	307

This means that the first two carried by large majorities. A three-fifths approval of the Gravel avenue bonds would have required 185 favorable votes, so this issue is lost and the commission will have to find some other way of financing the village portion of this project, to which they are already committed.

We would like to call the attention of drivers again to the fact that you are not permitted to make a left hand turn at the corners governed by our traffic lights, when the light facing you is red.

The following figures on the cost of bringing water from the main to the sidewalk line, have been worked out from our 1925 records by William Hayball, in charge of our meter department. Costs to the village vary according to which side of the street the service is to be given, since the water main is well to one side of the road.

Water Tap Costs for 1925—These figures are taken from seventy-four taps on either side of the street, which cost the village an average of $18.44. They are based on the use of Byers galvanized iron pipe and no extra long services. Thirteen taps, all of which were extra distance cost the village an average of $64.86 apiece. The difference between iron pipe and lead pipe on five services on the far side of the street was $8.46, and of the two the lead pipe was the higher. Where services were on the near side of the street there was a difference of $2.98, and of the two the lead pipe was the higher. The village received $20.00 apiece for these taps. Due to the fact that the commission have ordered all lead services to be put in, and we find the cost of lead averages $5.72 per service higher, bringing the average cost of taps to $24.16, it may be deemed advisable to increase the tapping fee to $25.00. The total money received for 93 taps in 1925 was $1800.00. The total cost of these 93 taps for 1925 was $2,303.12.

Our chief of police, George Springer, is on the sick list with a severe cold. It isn't very often that George is off the active list.

Cocos Might Well Be Named Treasure Island

Perhaps one of the most famous of all spots where treasure is reported to be buried is Cocos Island. Cocos Island is a beautiful volcanic speck haunted by the spirit of piratic devilry. It belongs to Costa Rica and lies 300 miles off her coast.

Cocos is uninhabited except by a governor, a German by birth, described as a huge person physically. He has been there more than 25 years. In that time his eyes have witnessed so many parties of adventurers, fortune-bunters and mere sensation-seekers in the frantic efforts to dislodge the hoarded gold, that he has lost all count of their number. George Gercke tells us, in the New York Evening World.

It appears that about 1812 a Spaniard of high lineage was cruising Caribbean waters as a licensed privateer for the purpose of protecting galleons that were conveying gold bars from Italian mines to the courts of Spain and the Vatican. Becoming tired of the deary work, he grew covetous of such enormous wealth, decided he needed it more than did king or pope, and proceeded to get up a mutiny among part of his crew. These cut the throats of the honest men. High up on the masthead they ran the black flag. He named himself Benito Bonito, surveyed his gang of bearded pirates and looked forward to that career as buccaneer which was to last successfully for just four years.

Bonito and his crew became the terror of the day, overhauling treasure ships, sacking churches, mints and palaces. His loot was becoming so heavy that he was finally forced to seek a safe place of concealment. So on Cocos Island, the pirates killed wild hogs and tanned the skins to make bags which they used to pack and store the heaps of gold and jewels. These sacks were placed in a cave, the spot carefully marked, and away they sailed for new adventures.

Restoring Tolstol's Home

In the Hamovnik district of Moscow, the house in which Leo Tolstol lived and wrote some of his greatest works, is to be restored by the Tolstol museum, a government institution. In 1900 Tolstol gave his city home to his son, Serge, and moved to his country estate, Yasnaya Polyana. In 1911 the premises were sold to the city and the furniture, except the study, which was preserved, was either removed to Yasnaya Polyana or stored in Stupin. The house was nationalized in 1920 and the furniture at Stupin was restored. Now the museum has received 200 more pieces from the country estate. It has also a large collection of Tolstol portraits and photographs of historic characters mentioned in his works. The museum officials propose to complete the restoration of the home and to publish a new Tolstol volume on the occasion of his centenary.

Electricity From Trees

A French scientist has discovered a means of extracting and harnessing electricity in trees. He connected a copper plate attached to a tree and another plate buried in the earth, with a galvanometer, a delicate instrument which measures the strength of weak currents of electricity, and obtained a record of the current passing through the tree. With three trees connected in the same way the power was increased, the experiment, with a like result, being continued until 20 trees were linked up in this fashion. The scientist then placed two copper plates in the earth, about six feet apart, and with the current thus obtained lighted a small electric lamp. Whether the idea can be extended to be commercially worth while has yet to be determined.

Want Peons Ignorant

Five rural school teachers have been murdered in Mexico within a year either by, or at the instance of estate owners who resent the government's attempt to abolish illiteracy among their peons.

"According to reports in the office of the ministry of education," says El Universal, "the government's school program has been received with enthusiasm by some country employers who have given loyal assistance to the work of spreading primary instruction among the people; but in other cases the hacendados have opposed bitterly the advent of the spelling book on their estates."—Living Age.

One-Page Bible

To make a complete copy of the Old and New Testament on a single sheet of paper 6 feet long and 2 1/4 feet wide is a feat of skill and patience that few people would undertake. But it has been done by a Japanese Christian named Ishizuka.

This unique Bible was printed by hand on fine Japanese paper with a Japanese writing brush. The letters appear beautifully distinct when seen under a microscope.

According to the artist, "four years and three months and 10,000 prayers" were required to complete the work.

Cheap Fireproof Lumber

A group of lumbermen at Tacoma, Wash., became interested in the possibilities of manufacturing a noninflammable synthetic board from sawdust. Demonstrations show that by treating sawdust and other mill waste with chemicals a board can be made which will withstand a flame which would cut through thin steel. If this material proves commercially practical it will make it possible to build fireproof houses of wood.—Pathfinder Magazine.

THINKS GOOD TIMES WILL BE PERMANENT

Student of Economics Has No Fear of Future.

The American standard of living gives folks in the United States more of the joys of life than are bestowed in any other nation in the world. The big question is: What is America doing about making this a permanent state of affairs?

Are hard times gone forever? The big story is in the answer, for it shows the practical way America is going about making it perfectly safe for her to be as happy as she wants without worrying too much about the future.

It makes it look as if old-fashioned national hard times of the more violent kind have been permanently bred; that is, the business nightmares that used to grip the entire country periodically during the last century. Factories would be shut down by thousands. Armies of unemployed would be wandering in all directions. Uncertainty hung a pall of fear over the country from coast to coast. And then often things were made all the more terrifying by a Presidential election in which the party in power was turned out of office, and droves of political job holders with it, increasing gloom and unemployment.

There is reason to hope that all these are things of the past.

The nation is producing more than it consumes and thriftily saving the surplus.

It has equipped itself out of these savings with vast mechanical enterprises enabling the individual worker so to multiply his skill and strength as to produce goods in such ample quantities that there is an abundant share for everyone.

It is economic-minded enough to put into effect great nation-wide plans to produce with the maximum efficiency and the minimum waste.

It is perfecting its financial machinery to prevent currency and credit panics.

Its people have established a more equable distribution of wealth under the capitalistic system by widespread participation in the benefits of ownership of its corporations.

Its people in these many ways are consistently providing out of the abundance of today against the needs of the future.

It is because of all these things that the United States can afford to indulge itself in more joys than any nation in the world today—and to feel sure that it is perfectly safe for it to do so.—John Oakwood in Forbes Magazine.

"Colds" Afflict Holland

In Holland "catching a cold" is a national trouble. During the winter half of the Dutch people snuffle while the other half recover from colds. The raw sea winds of the lowlands seem not yet to have hardened the Hollanders. In no country is the handkerchief industry more prosperous.

A scientific inquiry into the causes of "colds" in the Netherlands and means to prevent them has been organized by the sanitary section of the University of Amsterdam. The inquiry will last 35 weeks. From all parts of the country signs of sympathy have reached the heroes of science who will try to cure Dutch of a great affliction. Eight thousand Hollanders offered to support the inquirers in their campaign.

New Terror of the Air

A radio-steered and propelled torpedo plane capable of swooping down from the sky, in stotilla formation, at 150 miles an hour and launching swarms of torpedoes on hostile naval squadrons at sea, has been tested and O. K.'d by the British admiralty, which ordered a large number to be built. One feature of this first torpedo-carrying seaplane is the extraordinary rapidity with which it can change direction, which means that, after sweeping down to discharge its load of death and destruction, it can quickly rise out of range of anti-aircraft guns. One more reason for going slow about building more $500,000 battleships.—Capper's Weekly.

Island Russia Forgot

Bolshoi Diomid, an island in the Arctic ocean, just north of Bering strait, almost forgot that it belonged to Russia and thought itself part of the United States. No Russian ship had called at the island for ten years until the man of war Vorvosky arrived there a few months ago. Its officers then learned that the inhabitants knew nothing about the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics or of Soviet culture and believed that Russia was still a monarchy. This impression will be corrected. The island's connection with the outside world has been through an American coastal schooner that made regular trips from Alaska.

Hopeless Case

David Starr Jordan was bemoaning the tendency of young America to fall in the respect and obedience due to parents. "Why, only the other day," he said, "as I stopped to hear two of the friends of mine on the corner one said:

"I understand you have a new nurse girl at your house. Do you like her?"

"To which the elder of the boys replied: "Naw. She don't mind us kids any better than pa and ma."

We Want To Hear From Former Plymouth Residents

The Mail is desirous of publishing an edition dedicated to those non-residents who have formerly lived in Plymouth. We mean by that that we want every person who has ever lived in Plymouth to send us a "personal communication," telling where they are living, what they are doing, about their family, the place in which they are live, reminiscences of early days in Plymouth, etc.

In other places where this feature has been successfully carried out by the home paper, it has made a most interesting edition. Not only would a large number of letters from these non-residents be interesting to the home folks, but they would be of especial interest to those old home town friends, who like the writers themselves, are living elsewhere and would be glad to hear from their old friends, who were once upon a time residents of Plymouth. Send in your letters, the longer the better.

Swedenborg Had Few Equals in Versatility

The annual Swedenborgian convention in Cincinnati a few weeks ago recalls the man from which this smallest of sects derived its name, Emanuel Swedenborg of Sweden, who was poet, mystic, mathematician, statesman, inventor, says Time.

The Vinet himself could not look down on him; Franklin's achievements cover a narrower range. There was seemingly nothing he could not do, nothing he did not do, in the early 1700s.

Did the lack of boats and galleys face Charles XII of Sweden with disaster at the siege of Frederikshall? Emanuel Swedenborg invented a machine to transport them overland. Did youths need verses in Latin for women? They applied to Swedenborg. Did house chimneys smoke or the deaf suffer? Swedenborg cured the chimneys and gave the deaf an ear trumpet. Did the world need an interpretation of the Scriptures? Swedenborg furnished one.

He produced a report on smelting and assaying which was a masterpiece of detail; he guided Sweden in its currency policy, dealt with the balance of trade and the liquor laws, unceremoniously rebuffed the economists, arrived at the nebular hypothesis to explain the formation of planets long before Kant and Laplace, was an original chemist, sketched a flying machine.

But with all this done and learned, life still lay flat and unpalatable on Swedenborg's tongue. He sought, like Paracelsus, the infinite and the spiritual; and neither geometrical, nor physical, nor metaphysical principles led him to them. But they must be found. And so to work on a new path. Then, in 1745, heaven was opened to him by direct spiritual revelation from God.

Cheap Lunches for Girls

In almost every parish in Paris—some of them housed in separate quarters, some attached to the clinics and creches maintained by the church, there has been established a "L'Œuvre Diocésaine," or restaurant, for working girls who find the ordinary restaurants too expensive. The average pay of midwives, many of whom carry their lunches in small compact leather boxes, is miserably small, judged by American standards. But many of the girls find lunch boxes an inconvenience and in answer to their need "L'Œuvre Diocésaine" has been inaugurated. The girls can have soup, hors d'œuvre, a meat course, vegetables, dessert and wine for about 8 cents. They can order less if they like, and if they do not wish to spend so small an amount, or cannot afford to do so, they may bring their own food and make use of the kitchen.

BUILD JUDSON LUMBER COMPANY
 "Lumber Specialists"
 Plymouth, Mich. Phone 301 F-22

Dear Friend:—
 Wood—Mother Nature's building material.
 Made in her great forests, seasoned by the elements, durable and long lasting. For centuries man has built of wood and it still serves him as his greatest aid in home construction.
 Beauty, impossible in man-made substitutes, adaptability to any architectural design or treatment, and economy, a minimum of waste because it is easily worked. Build your home of wood for that feeling of hospitality and cheerfulness that only a real home can have.
 For years the men in our organization worked with it, lived with it, and we understand its possibilities and also its limitations. We have had years of experience in home construction—in modern parlance—"we know our stuff."
 Whenever you have a building problem, bring it to our office. Although we're specialists, there is no consulting fee and we are sure our advice will be of help to you.

Yours truly,
 JUDSON LUMBER CO.

NEWBURG

Rev. Paul Havens will exchange pulpits with Rev. Ralph Harper of Vicksburg, next Sunday. There were sixty-six in Sunday-school. Mrs. Havens' class still holds the banner. Mrs. Cutler is teacher of the adult women's class. In place of Mrs. M. Era Smith, who has been a Sunday-school teacher for a great many years.

There were eighteen in the choir Sunday evening, rendering beautiful music. In connection with the story read by the pastor, entitled, "Whiter Than Snow." Mrs. Havens was ably assisted in the music by Miss Lillie Denham, of Ann Arbor, and Harry Luty of Detroit.

Services at the usual hour, Sunday next. Everyone heartily welcome.

Last week Wednesday, the L. A. S. met at the beautiful new home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Jewell. Tables were set in the large basement, where over 40 partook of a fine dinner, the hostess giving a treat of ice cream that was served with delicious apple pie for dessert. Over $20.00 was received for the dinner. The annual reports were read, showing the ladies had taken in since last April, $1,505.45. Mrs. Jesse Thomas presented a beautiful quilt cover to the L. A. S. A short program was given. Mrs. Jewell's sister-in-law, Mrs. Taylor, gave two humorous readings, entitled, "A Visitor," and "Lost." Mrs. Jewell's sun parlor is filled with beautiful flowering plants. A wonderful poinsettia that has blossomed twice this winter. The April meeting will be held with Mrs. Mark Joy.

The L. A. S. play, entitled, "A Deacon's Second Wife," was a great success. Mrs. James McNabb deserves great credit for her untiring efforts. All of the cast took their parts in a credible manner. Mrs. Mark Joy as Nancy Melissa Fitz, and James McNabb as George Washington Fitz, brought down the house by their music between acts—Mrs. Joy at the piano, while Mr. McNabb played the harmonica, Jewsharp and clappers. Joy McNabb and Evangeline Rousseau played duets, both excellent, in a delightful manner. The ladies' quartet also sang the first night, responding to an encore. Miss Lillie Denham of Ann Arbor, sang solos, accompanied by Mrs. Havens. The L. A. S. wishes to thank all those who so kindly assisted in any way in making this play a success. The L. A. S. have a nice little sum to apply on paying for repairs on the church.

The men are planning on giving a supper in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Chilson entertained at a family dinner last week Wednesday, in honor of the former's father, George Chilson, on his ninety-second birthday. Mr. Chilson has been very feeble all winter. However, he was able to enjoy the occasion. It was also Clare's birthday. Neighbors and friends extend congratulations.

Mrs. L. Clemens visited her son, George, and wife, last Thursday, in Detroit.

Miss Elizabeth Leonard, Mrs. Greer and Mrs. Havens are making plans for the Easter program.

Little Junior Ryder has been quite ill all the week.

Harry Richardson and Miss Harriette Casterline of Lansing, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith.

Mrs. Dorothy Joy Liscum and little daughter of Detroit, attended the play Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Holsington of Detroit, attended Saturday evening.

Mrs. Lutermaier's mother, Mrs. Besinger, is visiting for a few days with her daughter in Detroit.

Stark School Notes

By Dean Streh
Miss Corbett visited our school last week Wednesday, and played four records on her "gypsy." We sang the Four Leaf Clover song. We all enjoyed her visit.

Miss Gladys Kruman visited our school last Friday.

A very pleasant evening was spent at Mrs. Geer's, by the sixth, seventh and eighth grades. Games and music were the pastime of the evening. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Miss Gwinn visited our school and gave us a talk on our Gold Star Card. She especially brought out about the attendance star.

Mrs. Sharp, the Red Cross nurse, gave us our "safety first" pledges. The safety patrols are Stanley Johnson, Max Preston, Helen Schmidt and Donald Clement.

We are advancing rapidly on our Curtis tests.

Our district can well feel proud of its fine school. They surely had a fine program at the Zone meeting last week Saturday. There are three rooms on the third floor, and if they were only thrown together, they would make a splendid auditorium.

A neat little surprise was sprung on Mrs. Henry Grimm, Jr., last week Thursday, when several ladies gathered at her home. Little Robert Henry was the recipient of a number of nice gifts. Ice cream and cake was served, and a pleasant afternoon spent.

Freak Formation of Trees Not Uncommon

If anyone doubts that Nature has a sense of humor, he had better turn his attention to trees, and see what queer things she invents at times.

Evidently the long neck of the giraffe struck her as a joke that would bear repeating, for she has copied it almost to perfection in Key West, Fla. There, in what is known as Maloney's garden, is to be seen the giraffe tree, a date palm grafted onto a fig tree.

The graft has taken place about five feet from the ground, and in order to support it the fig tree has flung several roots across and around it. The date palm has curved downwards and upwards until it presents a faithful copy of a giraffe's neck, at the top of which shoot out the orthodox leaves, mingling on its left with those of the fig tree.

The Stamese twins offered Nature a chance too good to be lost, and she has reproduced them many a time in the tree family. There was a tree of this kind at Paulton, in Devon, England, and in the United States there are two splendid specimens.

At Sterling, in Massachusetts, two great oaks are solidly joined by a transversal branch or trunk a yard long and as thick as a man's body; while in New York state there are two ash trees joined by a thick branch which unites their trunks (distant one from the other more than 20 feet) at a considerable height from the ground.

Some years ago Nature discovered a disused quartz-mine chimney in Siam. Very soon a green branch was seen peering out of the top of the chimney, and it rapidly became a bouquet of greenery. The whole thing looked like an immense flower vase, but it is more than likely that by this time the roots inside the chimney have burst the brickwork, and that the "vase" has crumbled away.

Famous "Newspaper Row"

A part of the site chosen for the new National Press building was known as Washington's Newspaper row in Civil war days. G. A. Townsend is authority for the statement that newspaper correspondents had pitched upon this block before a hotel was projected. Its central location, proximity to government buildings, telegraph offices and lines of communication made it ideal. This line of offices was known the country over as Newspaper row and when the dwellings were converted into hotel property the correspondents continued to occupy the offices. When the Ebbitt house was rebuilt the proprietor reserved the basement stage for newspaper men's quarters. The building which is to be erected on this historic spot will become the permanent home of the Washington bureau of many of the leading newspapers of the country, as well as of the National Press club.

Honor for Columbus

Following a semi-official suggestion, 57 Italian towns rebaptized streets in the name of Christopher Columbus on October 12. This rebirth of enthusiasm for the great explorer is not altogether without political importance. It is one more sign of a new growth of nationalistic consciousness among the Italian people, who are beginning to feel that their past exploits on behalf of civilization entitle them to special deference on the part of other nations and to hope for brilliant feats in the future. One Italian newspaper has urged seriously that because Columbus once willed America to his son, and the Italian people are that son's heirs, the United States could not claim payment of the Italian war debt, but really should pay to Italy all its surplus cash.

March is a fitful, changeable sort of a month, but tradition tells us that those born in this month will know joy and comfort if they wear a bloodstone. This semi-precious stone is not costly, and makes an acceptable gift when set in a ring. Authorities on gem lore say that an aquamarine may be substituted for a bloodstone. We have a nice selection.

"The Best Looking Home in Your Neighborhood"

It isn't so much a matter of design, but of appearance. If the paints and stains are fresh-looking and rich in color—if they harmonize well—your home will be the best-looking one in your neighborhood.

And you can get this result by using Lowe Brothers High Standard Liquid Paint. It's fine paint, finely made for long satisfaction and true economy. It goes on smoothly and evenly. Its rich, even colors retain their original freshness of color. And it surely does withstand the wear of long weathering. That's why it's so economical.

TEMPLE THEATRE

"Mellie" Dunham, champion fiddler of Maine, was booked for the Keith-Albee circuit after his recent visit to the home of Henry Ford at Dearborn, and comes to headline the bill at B. F. Keith's Temple theatre, for the week starting Sunday matinee, March 14. It was the desire of Henry Ford, Detroit motor king, to revise the old American folk dances that drew "Mellie" Dunham out of the fastnesses of his Maine farm into the spotlight of national interest. "Mellie's" own composition, a waltz called "Rippling Waves," so impressed Mr. Ford that he is going to include it in his forthcoming publication of early American dance tunes. Neighbors of "Mellie" Dunham and "Gram" (Mrs. Mellie Dunham) direct from Norway, Maine, will appear with "Mellie" in a series of old-time Maine barn dances and tunes. Others billed: Charlotte, world's foremost ice skater; Mary Haynes, singing comedienne; Chaz Chase from Ziegfeld's Follies; Boyd Senter with Jack Russell in "Jazzology"; Hamilton Sisters and Fordyce in "Playtime"; Senator Murphy, the people's choice; Schichtl's Wonderettes; and "Our Gang" comedy and the weekly film subjects.

SCHOOL NOTES

The grade notes were furnished by Clifford Wood, the High school notes by Gertrude Grainer, and the Girl Reserve by Barbara Horton.

GRADE NOTES

There is to be a spelling bee at the school Friday, the 19th, to determine the champion spellers of each of the grades—five, six, seven and eight. The best spellers of a grade are to be spelled down until only one is left. Then this pupil will be pitted against the champions of the other three grades to determine the best speller in school. The best speller will represent us at the Detroit district match.

Kindergarten

Gertrude Ridley entered kindergarten this week.

First Grade A and B

The first A and B are now studying about the Dutch children. They have just finished making Dutch windmills. Evelyn Joslin and Christabelle Wnuk of the B first grade have been neither absent nor tardy this semester. The B first graders are making a border pattern of the goose girl and geese.

Second Grade A

The second grade A are making health posters. They are studying about the Dutch people and also they are making a Dutch border for their room. They celebrated March birthdays on Friday.

Third Grade A

The third grade A are beginning to study geography. They have also been making maps of Michigan.

Third Grade B

All third grade pupils are writing letters to John Smith, John Smith went to California recently.

Fourth Grade A and B

The fourth graders in Mrs. Mole's room, are drilling hard on the multiplication and division tables.

Fifth Grade A and B

The fifth grade pupils are studying interesting books and pictures about South America. Mrs. Bird, teacher of the fifth grade, is assisted this week by Miss Oral Renwick of the Detroit Teachers College.

Sixth Grade A and B

Margaret Haskell entered the sixth A, Wednesday. Sixth B just completed maps of products of South America.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Last week, Mrs. Ruth Huston Whipple's public speaking class gave their second series of after-dinner speeches. The class was divided into two sections, half speaking on Wednesday, with Franklin Atkinson as toastmaster, and half on Thursday with Elsie White as toastmistress. For this occasion, the class adjourned to the Domestic Science room, where their speeches could be given in true banquet style. The speeches were given on great heroes and heroines, with the following subjects: Mac Donnelly spoke on Julius Caesar; Julia Learned spoke on Sarah Bernhardt; Dorothy Hillman spoke on Clara Barton; Val Dee Caughey spoke on Lucy Stone; Leona Beyer spoke on Martha Washington; Ida Bennett spoke on Joan of Arc; The second day: Julia Wilcox spoke on Alice Freeman Palmer; Josephine Schmidt spoke on Dr. Anna Howard Shaw; Edwin Schrader spoke on Abraham Lincoln; Elton Ashton spoke on Theodore Roosevelt.

Now the members of the Public Speaking class are working on their preparation of the oration for the oratorical contest which will take place Thursday evening, March 25, 1926. Ten students have signed up for the annual Declamation contest which also takes place Thursday evening, March 25th. Mrs. Ruth Huston Whipple's English eleven class are studying the life and writings of Washington Irving, in American Literature. Mr. Coatta went to the drawing of places at Ann Arbor, Wednesday afternoon, to determine with whom Plymouth would be matched at the basket ball tournament for this district. At the present time Wendel Doudt is the high scorer of the league, making 94 points. The Plymouth Girls' basket ball team has played their last game of the season. The Girl Reserves had a bake sale Saturday, to repay the Scouts for what they borrowed toward sending delegates to the Saugatuck five state conference last summer. The Girl Reserves are now working for a fund to send delegates to the Mid-west Conference for the coming summer. The conference is under the auspices of National Leaders in the Y. W. C. A., and it really marks an epoch in the life of a girl fortunate enough to attend. Only two teachers were gone any part of last week. The posters for the Junior play were made by various members of the junior class, and Russell Robinson, a Senior.

The sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth grades are working on the music memory contest, which is going to be given March 10, 1926. The second team basket ball played Farmington, here, Friday night after school, which resulted in Farmington's favor, with the score 15 to 9. Ted Hickey and Wilbur Murphy attended the meeting Wednesday night, of the President Council of H-Y Clubs, at the Y. M. C. A. building in Detroit.

The seventh and eighth grades are preparing for a spelling contest which will be held March 19. The grade teams will consist of the ten left standing. The grade champion will be the last one standing. The Junior squad, consisting of the fifth and sixth grade teams, will compete with the Senior squad, which is the combination of the seventh and eighth grade teams. The first series of class basket ball games ended in a triple tie. The second series was played by elimination: The Seniors won first place, the Freshmen second place, the Juniors third place, and the Sophomores fourth place.

Plans are under way for the annual banquet of the Aggie Club. A committee has been appointed for this work. The date planned for the banquet is the first week after the spring vacation, which will be April 9, 1926.

Manual Arts

July work on furniture has been started by the High school classes. A six foot electric sign is under construction, and is nearly completed, which will be used for the Murphy & Teft Radio Shop in lower town on Starkweather avenue. The High school classes have just completed a set of window displays for Green & Julliffe's store. They have also under construction, a filing case for them. A great amount of the scenery for the Junior play was made by them. One of the students is working on a folding, portable engine, which he hopes soon to complete. The addition of machinery has speeded up the work and has helped in the making of some very artistic pieces of furniture.

NEWBURG SCHOOL NOTES (Mildred Gilbert)

The primary and intermediate rooms are keeping a March weather calendar. John and Angie Rogulski and Helen, Charles and Wilbur Carr have returned to school.

The second graders are working on a Holland spelling project. Aurdia Markus and Amelia Zlesko are in the lead in arithmetic drills in the intermediate grades.

The Zone meeting, which was held Saturday, March 6th, was a great success. At the morning meeting, Mrs. Waterman taught a splendid nature study lesson on Luther Burbank, using some of the third, fourth and fifth grade pupils. The pupils told interesting stories of some of the things Burbank has done and experimented with that have made him a famous agriculturist.

President McKinney of the Michigan State Normal College, spoke in the morning.

The ladies of the P. T. A. served one of the best dinners we have had this year. The dinner was served in the lunch room of the school. The cooks for the dinner were: Mrs. Gates, chairman; Mrs. Bakewell, Mrs. Bassett, Mrs. Clemens, Mrs. Rousseau, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Osten, Mrs. Hearn and Mrs. Wilson.

At the afternoon meeting, Mrs. Havens favored us by a piano solo. Mrs. Ryder gave two very splendid readings. Henry Hutton, Mr. and Mrs. Wagner gave a violin, flute and piano solo. A naturalization play was given by four boys; a song by five girls, and Miss Corbett demonstrated with the victrola. Mr. Brown, the speaker for the afternoon, gave a fine talk on "Alibi."

The P. T. A. meeting was held Tuesday evening. The election of officers was postponed until next meeting, on account of the illness of so many patrons.

"It seems to me," says Dad Plymouth, that what our big cities need is fewer night clubs and more night sticks."

GARTER ORDER NOT OLDEST IN WORLD

Many in Existence Before Its Institution.

The Order of the Garter, aside from being one of the oldest of the orders of chivalry, is now regarded as the most important of all such orders, and has been so regarded for many years.

The idea that it is the oldest of them all, however, is a popular error; though the story of its foundation by Edward III in 1334 gives it claim to the distinction of high antiquity.

Whatever the truth of the story pertaining to its origin may be, it is a fact that at the time King Edward is alleged to have picked up the original emblem and murmured his now immortal "Honi soit qui mal y pense!" similar orders were already thick as thistles in the great courts of Europe. The Holy See had started the vogue in 1048, nearly twenty years before the Norman conquest of England, by inaugurating the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, which still exists. Half a century later, at the close of the First crusade in 1099, the then pope founded the Order of the Holy Sepulchre.

Spain was then full of Christian knights, dusky Moors and chivalry, and established the orders of Calatrava and Alcantara, in 1156 and 1158, respectively. In 1191, two years after Frederick Barbarossa had crossed the country at the head of the Third crusade, the Teutonic order was founded in Austria. Nearly three decades later, in 1219, Waldemar the Conqueror established the Dannebrog order in Denmark. This interesting event took place just five years before the art of skating on ice was first essayed in Denmark.

Sweden and Norway were then rather a mixed grill. The Swedes and the Goths were decimating each other, while the Norwegians were quarreling with both and contracting fancy alliances with Scotland. However, toward the end of the thirteenth century, Magnus I organized a regular government, and before he died, in 1260, he also instituted a regular order of chivalry, the Seraphin, which still survives.

In 1318, five years after the suppression of the Knights Templar, the Holy See instituted the order of Christ.

All these eight orders, and probably a greater number of similar ones that have long since become obsolete, were flourishing in Europe before that of the Garter came into existence in 1334. So the only thing revolutionary about its introduction was its emblem, and the revolutionary nature of that feature was offset by the pleasantly chivalrous tone of the motto attached to the same, "Evil to him that thinks ill of it.—The Argonaut.

Berlin's Fish Dinner

Berlin devoured 5,000,000 jelly doughnuts and 2,000,000 pounds of carp as part of the celebration of the New Year. The Germans appreciate carp more than we do. An effort was made to popularize the fish in America shortly before the centennial. It was found that it bred so fast that it soon overcrowded small ponds in which it was raised. But with its sluggish habits the fish is easy to capture and readily takes the taste of impure water. With the American angler it is not a favorite, as it is not what is called a "free-biter." It is, however, one of the hardiest of fishes and it will live for several days after leaving the water if surrounded by damp moss. Thus it may be transported over long distances, and in war time it often became an important staple food of impoverished refugees. The little goldfish is cousin to this comparative leviathan, which was domesticated by the Chinese in a period long anterior to the Christian era.

Eastern Illiteracy

According to the latest figures, eight out of every hundred persons in India above the age of ten are able to read and write. That is not a large proportion. In 1923 there were 8,800,000 students in elementary and advanced schools. That is a large number, but we must remember that India has a population of 315,000,000. In all the schools and colleges of China there were, in 1923, 6,550,000 students. The population of China is larger than that of India, but the number of students is smaller. So we may say that China is behind India in regard to the number of students. On the other hand, China has made much more progress in education during the past twenty years than has India. The number of students in China is now more than six times as great as it was in 1906.

Army Efficiency

I have great respect for army people; they usually do things correctly. I was recently a guest at the home of Col. Jerome Pillow at Fort Leavenworth, and, while in his dressing room, saw that he had 27 neckties. I resolved that as soon as I returned home I would buy my other 26.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

TAX REDUCTION ALLOWED

Effective at once. The delivered price of all Chevrolet models is reduced.

Chevrolet buyers will be given the benefit of the recent tax reduction, though it does not become officially operated until March 29th. Thus, for the third time, since the first of this year, Chevrolet emphasizes its supremacy in dollar for dollar value.

—Reduced Prices.

Early in January Chevrolet Announced Sweeping Price Reductions.

Then—The Improved Chevrolet.

Shortly thereafter the improved Chevrolet was announced at these reduced prices. Instantly it met with such an increase in popularity that it became necessary to break all previous production records for January and February.

And Now—A Further Saving.

Although the reduction in automobile taxes does not become officially effective for some time, the full amount of this reduction is now passed on to Chevrolet buyers. Thus Chevrolet again emphasizes that principle of value on which it has built the greatest success ever obtained by any manufacturer of modern gear-shift automobiles.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS OF THE VILLAGE COMMISSION.

Plymouth, Mich., Feb. 19, 1926
 An adjourned regular meeting of the Commission, held in the Commission Room of the Village Hall, Friday evening, February 19, 1926, at 7:00 P. M.

Present: Commissioners Hillmer, Henderson, Robinson and Wilcox.
 Absent: Commissioner Fisher.

The minutes of the regular meetings of February 1st and 15th and the Special meeting held February 9th, were approved as read.

A letter was read from Mr. W. S. Thomas, expressing his agreement with the terms of settlement for his Theodore Street assessment proposed by the Commission.

A letter from Mr. E. N. Passage concerning the proposed playground was on motion laid on the table until this matter should come officially to the attention of the Commission.

Mr. Louer Jewell then appeared before the Commission requesting assurance that he could obtain a license to operate a poolroom in the basement of a building proposed to replace the present Gayde block at the corner of Main Street and Pennington Avenue. On motion this assurance was granted Mr. Jewell.

The manager was then authorized to obtain bids for road oil for the present season.

The President and Clerk were then authorized to obtain a loan of three thousand and no-100 ($3,000.00) dollars for Village purposes.

The matter of a fee to be charged for services of our Fire Department outside of the Village limits was then brought up and after discussion the manager was authorized to send either truck at his discretion outside the Village within a radius of fifteen (15) miles in response to calls for help upon the guarantee of fifty and no-100 ($50.00) dollars.

The following resolutions were offered by Commissioner Henderson, who moved their adoption, supported by Commissioner Wilcox.

BE IT RESOLVED, That the purchase of property for the opening of Gravel Avenue from its present eastern end through to Main Street and the grading of this Street be and the same hereby are declared to be expedient and necessary public improvements.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the agreed purchase price of fifteen thousand and no-100 ($15,000.00) dollars together with five hundred and no-100 ($500.00) dollars for the grading be accepted as the estimate of this Village of the probable cost of the said improvement and the same hereby is received and made a part of these records.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That this Commission do and hereby does adopt the estimate of fifteen thousand five hundred and no-100 ($15,500.00) dollars of which ten thousand five hundred and no-100 ($10,500.00) dollars shall be raised by general tax and five hundred and no-100 ($500.00) dollars by special assessment as the estimate of this Commission of the cost of the necessary opening of this street.

YEAS—Commissioners Henderson, Hillmer, Robinson and Wilcox.
 NAYS—None. Carried.

The following resolutions were offered by Commissioner Wilcox who moved their adoption, supported by Commissioner Henderson.

WHEREAS, This Commission has caused to be made an estimate of the cost of the opening of Gravel Avenue from its present eastern end through to Main Street, of which estimate the sum of ten thousand five hundred and no-100 ($10,500.00) dollars must be paid by the Village at large.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the proposition of borrowing the sum of ten thousand five hundred ($10,500.00) dollars and issuing the bonds of said Village therefore, for the purpose of making said street opening, be submitted to the qualified voters of the Village, to be held on Monday, the 8th day of March, 1926.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That said election shall be held at the voting place of said Village of Plymouth, to-wit, the Village Hall in said Village, and that the polls of said election shall be open from 7:00 o'clock in the forenoon until 6:00 o'clock in the afternoon of said day.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the form of the ballot shall be as follows:

Shall the Village of Plymouth borrow the sum of ten thousand five hundred and no-100 ($10,500.00) dollars and issue its bonds therefore, for the purpose of opening Gravel Avenue from its present eastern end through to Main Street?

Yes ()
 No ()

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That any elector desiring to authorize the said Village to borrow said sum and issue bonds therefore shall place a cross within the bracket following the word "Yes" of said ballot, and any elector desiring to vote against the borrowing of said sum and issuing of said bonds shall place a cross within the bracket following the word "no" on said ballot.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Clerk of said Village of Plymouth be and he hereby is authorized and directed to give notice of said election to the qualified voters of the said Village of Plymouth by causing a copy of these resolutions to be posted at the polling place for said election and ten (10) others of the most public places in said Village, at least fourteen (14) full days before the date set for said election and by causing a copy of said notice to be published in a newspaper of general circulation to be at least fourteen (14) full days prior to the date of such election.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Board of Registration of said Village of Plymouth shall meet at the Village Hall in said Village on Saturday, the 27th day of February, 1926, and on Saturday, the 6th day of March, 1926, from 9:00 o'clock in the forenoon until 8:30 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, for the purpose of completing the registration of the voters of said Village qualified to vote at said election.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Village Clerk, be and he hereby is authorized and directed to give notice of the meeting of said Board of Registration, together with and at the same time and in the same manner that he gives notice of said election.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That all resolutions, or parts of resolutions, in conflict with the provisions of this resolution, insofar as they conflict herewith, be and the same are hereby rescinded and repealed.

YEAS—Commissioners Henderson, Hillmer, Robinson and Wilcox.
 NAYS—None.
 Carried.
 The Commission then adjourned.
 Harry C. Robinson, President.
 Sidney D. Strong, Clerk.

Today's Reflections

When you hear a Plymouth man say his wife doesn't understand him, he means that she can tell by looking at him where he has spent the last 24 hours.

The only member of the family who can get madder than the woman who is asked to buy less, is the daughter who is asked to put on more.

Staying single and plenty of love are the only two things that will prevent storms on the matrimonial sea.

You can never tell. Maybe more Plymouth women would be throwing dishes at their husbands if they didn't think so much of the dishes.

A New York man has patented an electric dish-washer, and there is this much to say in its favor—it won't ask for a divorce.

Go into any home in Plymouth, and you'll find that nothing looks as out of place as left-over biscuits on the dinner table.

We've often noticed that most people will give three cheers for something they wouldn't give anything else for.

By this time everyone in Plymouth has realized that the only real groundhog day we have is the day we have sausage.

No farm movement is successful in the eyes of the politician unless it creates more jobs.

About the only thing you can't buy on the installment plan these days is character.

Another mystery we never expect to see solved is why so many Plymouth men do most of their worrying over things that are none of their business.

Next to losing your job after paying the first installment on the car, nothing hurts like raising your head up under the corner of a half-opened cupboard door.

It used to be that a Plymouth man could support a family on half it costs him now—but we didn't have cash registers then.

It's so much easier to dictate letters. Then you can use fine big words you haven't the least idea how to spell.

It is said the original forests of the U. S. contained five trillion feet of lumber, but who did the measuring is not reported.

There are many kinds of clubs for women, but we heard one Plymouth man declare yesterday he only favors clubs for women when kindness fails.

An Oregon teacher was fired for marrying one of her pupils. Maybe she only wanted to be sure he would stay home at night and study.

Wonder why old Ananias didn't get a job drawing the pictures for seed and vegetable catalogues.

There is hope for every man in Plymouth except the one who thinks he knows all there is to know about raising chickens.

To discover how much a girl learned at college, you have to talk to her, not look at her report card.

Why is it that the Plymouth man who loves to stay at home is always married to a woman who wants to go somewhere seven nights in the week?

We haven't much use for self-made men. Most of them we've ever seen looked more like warnings than examples.

Picked Up About Town

"A pedestrian has rights," declares the editor of a St. Louis paper. But they are usually the last sad rites.

Dad Plymouth says: "There would not be hardly anything but men left in the world if the women who wear present-day styles caught pneumonia as easily as they catch the eyes of the men."

"A girl used to buy stockings to keep her legs warm," comments Dad Plymouth, "but now she forgets the cold in trying to show her stockings."

It has been our observation that most men need higher moral courage more than they need higher foreheads.

Dad Plymouth says most married men have one job their wives can't get them fired from—and that is the job of being a door-mat.

The trouble with the world is there are too many people who want to live better without living better lives.

"I often wonder," declares Dad Plymouth, "what became of the old-fashioned woman who used to ask before she started down town if her petticoat showed."

EPISCOPAL NOTES

Notwithstanding the state of the weather, the congregations at the Sunday and mid-week Lenten services are very good. Last Tuesday evening, Archdeacon Ramsey was with us and he gave a very instructive and impressive address on the "Sacrament of the Holy Communion." Next Tuesday the Rev. Lt. E. Ridley, rector of the Church of the Ascension, will be the special Lenten preacher.
 We regret the illness of our organist, Miss Pierson, who is ill with the grippe.
 Last Sunday, Mrs. Paul Ware presided at the organ, and the solo, "Come Unto Me Ye Weary," feelingly rendered by Mrs. Brink, was appreciated by the congregation present.
 The Rev. Charles Ramsey was with us again on Sunday, and celebrated the Holy Communion, assisted by Rev. Charles Wesley.
 The vestry had a meeting, last Sunday afternoon, at which Rev. Charles Ramsey and Rev. Charles Wesley were present. Important matters were discussed relating to the church, Sunday-school and the Men of St. John's Club.
 The Men of St. John's are to have a meeting this week in the office of Sidney D. Strong, and they are to meet the bishop by special appointment Monday evening, in Detroit, at supper.
 It is decided that the Sunday-school will change their lessons to a series of courses more appropriate to the different grades. The Men of St. John's have taken upon themselves to supply materials for this change, so that no expense will be incurred other than the Sunday-school or to the church treasurer.
 Remember the choir practice, Saturday evening in the church at 7:30.
 The confirmation class is now being formed, and will meet next Sunday morning after the services, under the instruction of Rev. Charles Wesley.

USED CAR PRICES vary

There are no list prices on used cars. Our prices are lower, because we are primarily in the business of selling new cars. Our prices represent the true value of each car because we are in business to stay, and to deserve the continued good will of this community. Protect yourself—

BAPTIST NOTES

The pastor, after explaining in a brief way, the history of Lent, gave a sermon touching on the same thoughts from Isaiah 63:12. "And he was numbered with the transgressors." One question was, "Who are you numbered with?" The anthem, "Sweet Hour of Prayer," was enjoyed by all.

Rev. R. E. Klenke spoke in the evening on "The Good Shepherd."

The prayer meeting this week was held at the home of Mrs. Noel. Next week it will be with Mrs. James Bauglin on South Main street, March 18th.

Mrs. Ed. Humphries entertained the Ladies' Aid of the church at the home of Mrs. Noel on Starkweather avenue, last Wednesday, and all enjoyed a good time.

The Baptist Ladies' Aid society will hold their annual Easter bazaar and supper on Wednesday afternoon and evening, March 31st. Plan to be there.

The Sunday-school is arranging a program for Easter. Special music, recitations, etc.

If you are back on your dues in the B. Y. P. U., see Stillman Warner and settle your account.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES

On Monday evening at 6:30 p. m., the congregation sat down to an excellent dinner, provided by women of the church. After the meal the assembly resolved itself into the annual congregational meeting. George A. Smith was chosen chairman, and in his usual happy manner presided. Reports from the different organizations indicated a flourishing condition throughout the congregation. Officers for the ensuing year were elected. The Presbyterian people are looking forward to another good year.
 The first and second basket ball teams played against teams from the First Presbyterian church of Pontiac, Monday evening. The boys report good games and a fine time; but had to be content with the small end of the score.

CATHOLIC NOTES

The children's choir is doing nicely. Miss Mary Mertens is on the sick list.

We are glad to know that H. P. Lazotte is out of danger, and trust he will soon be up and around again.

The card party at the home of Mrs. R. Kheiner last Wednesday, was a success financially, and she wishes to thank all who helped make it so.

All is in readiness for our big party on St. Patrick's day. Don't fail to come, as a good time is assured.

Sunday is Holy Communion Sunday for the men of the parish.

WHITBECK'S CORNERS

The Helping Hand Society met this month at the home of Mrs. Charles Parrish. There were eleven active members and several visitors present. The place of the next meeting will be given later. Owing to so much sickness, there were not as many out as usual.
 Mrs. Lagrou has been caring for her daughter-in-law, who has been on the sick list the past week.
 Charles Parrish of Ypsilanti, was a caller at the home of his mother at East Plymouth, recently.
 Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dethloff spent last Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Klatt near Perrinville.
 Born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Prock now, February 28th, a baby girl.
 Mrs. Charles Parrish spent Saturday night and Sunday at the home of her son, Frank and family, and found him getting better and able to begin work Monday.
 Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gardner attended the Helping Hand Society meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Parrish, last week Wednesday.
 Mrs. Della Bunya is very sick at her home on East Ann Arbor street.

A CARD—We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation for the many acts of kindness, also for the floral offerings, in our recent bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Mault and Family.

Yes! there is a better gas

When does a Cadillac beat a Cadillac? Take two Cadillacs—same model—same year. Under ideal circumstances they should run the same.

Fill one with any gasoline and the other with Indian. You'll be amazed at the difference the better gasoline makes. The car is more lively, runs smoother and takes the hills like a breeze.

Your Cadillac, or whatever car you drive, will do the same. But how much better it will run with better gas, you can't tell until you try—

REALTORS WILL HOLD BUILDERS' CONFERENCE

Realizing the desire on the part of its membership for new ideas and methods, the officers of the Michigan Real Estate Association announce a Builders' Conference, to be held in Detroit at the Hotel Statler on March 17th and 18th. This being during the week of the Builders, Realtors and Better Homes Show makes a conference at this time of two-fold interest to the realtor, who is engaged in building homes for a profit.

Four one-half day sessions will be used in explaining new ideas and methods now in vogue in the building business. Those who attend the conference may attend the Builders' Show on the evening of March 17th. Every element of building construction work will be discussed.

The conference will be opened by Mayor John W. Smith, and will include in the program, Clarence Harvey of A. Harvey & Sons, Detroit; B. J. Dalberg of the Colotex Company, Chicago; George Miller of the Miller-Storm Company, Detroit; Clyde A. Mann of the Better House Registry of Chicago; Guy W. Ellis, Charles Bowen, Adam Dunlap and Louis G. Palmer of Detroit.

The interest taken by the membership of the Michigan Real Estate Association in its Brokers and Subdividers Conference, held at Ann Arbor ten days ago, indicates that the membership is intensely interested in improving itself, and this, the first Builders' Conference of this association, should attract all those realtors who are in the business of home building.

PLYMOUTH REAL ESTATE BOARD MEETING.

Thursday, March 11th, at 8:30 p. m. the Plymouth Real Estate Board met with Charles A. Fisher in the bank parlors. The usual business was transacted and usual discussions were held, and they gave Mr. Fisher a rising vote of thanks.

ERA OF DEVELOPMENT FOR YPSILANTI SEEN

One of the greatest areas of development ever experienced by a small city has been started at Ypsilanti, according to Joseph A. Martin, realtor, who is one of the heaviest land owners in the neighborhood of the normal school city. The cause of this development, he declares, is the recent announcement by the Ford Motor Company that it will locate a great automobile upholstery fabric factory on the water power site along the Huron river, near the eastern city limits.

Mr. Martin now holds more than 600 acres of property located in the immediate vicinity of the Ford holdings along the Huron river, and much of it borders on the five-mile long lake that is to be created by the Ford dam across the river. This lake, Mr. Martin believes, will supply thousands of summer home sites for Detroiters and people from other cities.

A majority of the Martin property lies along two roads, the already paved Ecorse road and the Belleville road. Some of it is immediately adjacent to the power dam, some along the Ford down to the new factory site from the railroad right-of-way, where it runs Michigan Central railroad main line, and still more adjacent to the lake at the Ypsilanti city limits.—Detroit Free Press.

Tree Lover Laments

Passing of Redwood

It was a cross-section of a giant redwood tree brought from Fresno, Cal. I think it was the swan-song of that tree I heard, a message I would willingly give my life if all the world could hear, and understand:

"You have just come from a land where ancient ruins are being dug out of earth and lava. You have looked with awe upon ancient monuments and great cathedrals built when the world is fighting to save these things, to pass them down to other ages. Yet I, in whose veins the life-blood is scarcely dried, am older than the ancient houses of Pompeii or the colosseum of Rome. Only yesterday I was alive, when my human murderers came. They killed me, killed me laughingly, feeringly, triumphantly, and with me two thousand years of knowledge and of life.

"I was straight and tall when the man you call Christ, and whose teachings have been so poorly followed on earth, was born. For God loved trees, and so did Christ. I was as mighty as your mightiest oak when the Middle Ages began. Yet still I was only shoulder high to my older brothers and sisters when Columbus discovered America, and I was still climbing toward the blue skies which God made for the trees when the Middle Ages ended.

"And I was two thousand years old when they cut me down. And those who killed me, and so many others about me, were not thinking of Pompeii, or Rome, or Christ, or God."

—James Oliver Curwood, in Hearst's International Cosmopolitan.

No Immediate Danger

Senator William D. McKinley, senior United States senator from Illinois, tells this one as the best he has ever heard:

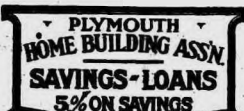

In the early days of automobiles, when roads were unimproved, a friend of mine started over the clay hills down South just after a terrible rain. Thinking every minute he would get on better road, he kept on driving until finally the mud was up to the hub. He kept on driving until it was up to the bottom of the car. Then he was forced to stop. Seeing a hat a few yards ahead of his automobile lying on the mud, and thinking someone had lost it he got out of the car and walked toward the hat. By the time he had reached the place where the hat was lying on the mud, he was up to his neck. Raising the hat, he was very much astonished to find a man's head under it. My friend, while up to his own neck in mud, was very accommodating, and raising the hat said to the man underneath the hat: "Well, stranger, can I help you any?" The stranger looked up with a silly grin on his face, and he said: "No, I guess I'm all right. I'm on my horse"—Exchange.

Spanish War Heroine

Baroness de Alcahal, a noted Spanish painter and newspaper correspondent, who is now in America, is one of the two honorary captains in the Spanish army, the queen being the other. First as a newspaper correspondent and then as a Red Cross nurse, the baroness spent months in Morocco with the army. She was twice wounded, once shot down from an airplane, and again during an infantry engagement. She bears the military medal of merit, presented to her by the queen of Spain.

Woman to Explore Persia

Miss Ada Boyland, the intrepid woman explorer, who has only recently returned to England after an adventurous trip through Nigeria, has now declared her intention of getting out alone for the more remote parts of Persia, an enterprise fraught with great risk.

Gone are the Old Penalties of Low Price

Until the new Pontiac Six was developed, it was literally impossible to buy a low priced six without accepting certain admitted penalties—those of ordinary beauty, ordinary performance, ordinary comfort and ordinary stamina.

Now the new Pontiac Six changes all that. Developed by engineers who could draw on the almost limitless resources of General Motors, it provides not only the economy of an unexpectedly low price—but every characteristic of high quality.

It provides the striking beauty of a smart, roomy Fisher Body; complete freedom from pitching, side-sway, and gallop; entirely new qualities of get-away, speed, smoothness and power; and above all, a stamina and long life that can be achieved only by the strictest standards of design, material, workmanship and inspection.

And because it gives all that it does at so low a price, the new Pontiac Six has won from the very hour of its public presentation a wild and reception, the like of which no other new six has ever enjoyed before.

LIVED AND WORKED IN BEAUTIFUL HOME

Lord Leighton's Abode Well Termed Dream House.

The home of a great man—the home where he lived and worked—is always fascinating and of the few places of this kind in London Leighton house stands alone.

It was the home of Lord Leighton, for many years president of the Royal Academy and one of the greatest figures in British art.

In addition to a wonderful series of drawings and sketches, which show, as nothing else could show, Leighton's methods of work, the house contains the famous Arab hall, a wonderful piece of eastern architecture, carried out to Leighton's own designs.

Here, says a visitor, we can hardly imagine ourselves in London, can hardly believe that only a minute or two ago we were in Kensington High street. We are in another world, a realm of enchantment and romance of the purest and most exquisite beauty. The scene does not remind us of the East—it is the East.

This effect has been obtained partly by the use of an unrivaled collection of Saracenic tiles, many of which were acquired by Leighton during visits to Rhodes, Cairo and Damascus. Panels, stained glass and lattice work were also obtained from Damascus. But while the material is thus priceless, it is the harmony of the whole, the triumph of blending and of lighting that most impresses the visitor.

It was in the house, which he loved, and where he worked for thirty years, that Leighton died, the peer of a day. The patent of the peerage was dated January 24, 1896, and he died on the following day. As he was unmarried the peerage died with him. There is no record of any previous peerage of so short duration and no British artist had ever before been honored in this way.

Many are the stories told of Leighton. Once a lady who did not know him told him his "Helen of Troy" was a "horrid picture." When he confessed that he had painted it, she exclaimed: "You must not mind what I say; I am only saying what everybody else says."

Those who knew real art had a different story to tell. When Leighton was only a boy his father took him and his drawings to Hiram Powers, the famous American sculptor.

"Shall I make him a painter?" asked Doctor Leighton.

"Sir, you cannot help yourself," was the reply. "Nature has made him one already."

Mail-Plane Service

The emergency landing fields of the New York to San Francisco air mail route are now equipped with long-distance telephones so that pilots who have to make forced landings may immediately report to the regular landing stations.

These mail planes fly on schedule, and when weather conditions or other troubles force pilots to land at other than regular stops the long-distance phone is used immediately to report slight delays or summon a relief plane if one is needed. Thus, the coast-to-coast air mail is kept on schedule and many delays are obliterated.

Odious Comparison

A congressman, with a farmer constituency, received a letter from one of his constituents, who was planning to visit Washington during the Christmas holidays, asking for tickets to the house. "I want to see all there is to see in Washington," the farmer had written. The congressman replied explaining that while tickets were not necessary for admittance to the house galleries, that congress would not be in session during the holidays. A few days later he received another letter, stating: "As the house will be closed, will you please send me some tickets for the zoo. They will do equally well."

Women's Rights in Turkey

Women's rights in Turkey do not yet include the ballot, but they do include reserved seats in trolley cars. Formerly red curtains inclosed the first two rows in the trolley cars, and women were required to sit in the secluded section, called the "harem." No man, except the conductor, was allowed in the harem, and no Moslem woman outside. This curtain has been removed and Turkish women now may sit side by side with men, but the women still have a monopoly on the first two rows of seats.

Bird Importation

According to records recently made public by the American Game Protection association the total game and song bird importations from foreign countries into the United States last year reached 450,000 individual birds valued at millions of dollars. The custom duties were more than $200,000. This included Mexican quail, Hun garian partridge, canary birds, parrots and ornamental species from Asiatic countries.

Germany's Many Dogs

On the average one German in every fifteen possesses a dog. In Berlin the proportion is one in seventeen and in Cologne one in nineteen. For licenses for these dogs large sums are paid. Of Germany's 4,000,000 canines, 3,838,532 live in the country and presumably earn their bread while 626,000 belong to the city dwellers and figure in dog shows and dog pounds. Five thousand belong to the army and the police and work hard.

Landing of Savages

A farmer residing near Santa Ana, Cal., came into town one evening and declared that a shipload of copper-colored savages had landed at a nearby harbor and had constructed a crude fort 18 miles outside the village. He finally persuaded a group of citizens to accompany him to the spot to see for themselves. The man's declarations were true, but upon closer investigation the fort and camp were found to be the location for a motion picture company filming scenes.

Dog Population Shows No Tendency to Drop

An attempt to ascertain how many dogs there are in this country has brought out the fact that about 8,500,000 are known to the public authorities. They are the dogs that are taxed or licensed.

All that is known about the unlicensed dogs, the strays, the puppies too young to get their owners into trouble if they are not reported or tagged, and the dogs kept where no effort is made to register or tax them, is that their number is great. It must surely be enough to bring the total up to 10,000,000 or more.

That means 1 dog for every 11 human inhabitants, or a fraction over 11. It is somewhat above the proportion of dogs to people in Great Britain. There about 45,000,000 "humans" have nearly 3,000,000 dogs. That is about fifteen persons for every dog.

The English seem to be fonder of dogs than Americans, as a rule, but the fraction of the British people who live on farms is very small. Here it is large, and dogs flourish in the country. Their troubles and perils multiply in cities, the bigger the worse.

Beyond doubt, the proportion of men, women and children to dogs is much larger in the United States than it was when this country was more rural and less urban. The contrast today between West Virginia, say, or Kansas and Massachusetts, in the dogs-to-humans ratio, is very great.

But nowhere is there anything to indicate that a dogless age may be not far ahead. The love of sympathetic, loyal, affectionate pets is too instinctive, too deep, too wide for that. Millions of people are too hungry for devotion, even if it comes from animals in many respects inferior to human beings.

Providence the Scapegoat

Bishop Walter Taylor Summer said in an after-dinner speech in New Orleans:

"We are too prone to lay the blame on Providence for misfortunes that are really our own fault. Providence, in fact, is getting a bad name."

"An old colored woman was fattening a Christmas turkey, but it got drenched just before Christmas in its leaky butch, and in a few days pneumonia carried it off. So the old woman's pastor called to console her in her great loss."

"He laid the blame, of course, on Providence."

"Doubtless all is for the best," he said. "Providence, you know. Here we see the hand of Providence."

"The old colored woman gave the table a whack with her fist."

"'Drat it!' said she. 'Providence bettah look out, dass all. Dere's one above won' let dat Providence go too fur!'"

Don't Live by Pen Alone

In the Paris Almanach for 1926 is a list of writers who do not live by the pen alone. They include a city hall employee, a publisher, a naval officer, a pig dealer, a bank employee, two farmers, a barrister, two engineers, two functionaries, a judge of the Seine court, a doctor and an inspector of forests. The names of several well known writers figure in the list. It appears that Andre Maurois, author of "Les Silences du Colonel Bramble," and an excellent life of Shelley, is a master draper. Jean de Pierrefeu is a manufacturer of perfumes, Pierre Hamp is an engineer and Jean Giraudoux is a diplomat.

Small Treasure Trove

In 1920 a London dealer in antique furniture bought an old writing desk and sent it to his workshop for renovation. In the course of the work the secret drawer, always supposed to lurk there, was discovered, and in it were a number of part sheets of unused English stamps of early date. These had been the owner's private letter stamps, probably kept in this secret place to prevent "borrowing" by other members of the household, but every passing year had added to their value, and they produced a handsome sum at a sale.

Thieves Had Conscience

C. V. Combes was held up and robbed at Winnipeg, Manitoba, while on his way home with $227, the proceeds of a concert held for the benefit of a Christmas stocking fund for the poor children of Winnipeg. A day later a shabby man called at the campaign headquarters, left a package with the cashier and quickly departed. In the package was found the money and Combes' watch. Also inside was a note saying: "Sorry we did the job. We did not know whose money it was. Spent $2 before reading."

Power in a Pocket

Sufficient electrical energy to work for many weeks an ordinary wireless receiving set using several valves is contained in a novel accumulator invented by a Russian scientist.

So small that it can be carried easily in the waist-coat pocket, this tiny accumulator has already attracted the attention of experts, who foresee great possibilities in its use for motor cars and cycles.

Has Odd Occupation

"Nomenclature" is a profession of which a woman, Miss Laura Lee Rogers, Elizabeth, N. J., is believed to have a monopoly. For twenty years Miss Rogers has made a business of supplying catchy names for houses, boats and commercial products. Some of the names suggested by her for prepared foods and similar products have become known throughout America.

Improved Potato Digger

Drawn by a tractor or horse, a potato digger now on the market harvests the crop more quickly than is possible by hand or plow, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. It straddles the row and has a shovel in front, set deep enough to avoid cutting the tubers while removing them.

Tines, grass and dirt fall away as they are carried on an endless chain belt to a shaker at the rear. A kicker attachment sweeps the refuse to one side, leaving the potatoes in a row so that they can be gathered quickly.

These Sedans Illustrate the Low Cost of Finer Transportation

Every day the American public becomes better acquainted with the Better Buick.

The capacity of the great Buick factories is taxed to supply the demand.

The Better Buick 5-passenger, 4-door and 2-door sedans are good illustrations of the reasons for Buick's accelerated popularity.

These sedans are real sedans with Fisher bodies, and striking Buick closed car body lines. Graceful. No harsh corners anywhere. Objects of admiration on boulevard and highway. Upholstery of finest quality. Interior refinements luxurious and complete.

And these fine bodies ride on the famous Buick chassis, with all the modern improvements and refinements introduced by the Better Buick.

The only similarity to "coaches," and other low-priced closed-car types, is price. Come in and compare these sedans before you spend your money. Here is finer transportation at lower cost.

THE THEATRE

"HANDS UP"

He's coming to make you smile, laugh, chuckle, grin, guffaw and roar until your sides ache!

Who? Why, that funny fellow with the high silk hat—debonair, smiling Raymond Griffith—in a bright and lively and exceedingly peppy comedy that bears the startling title of "Hands Up," at the Penniman Allen theatre, Saturday, March 13.

It's an original story with a combination Civil War and western background, in which the inimitable Griffith has the novel role of a rollicking, carefree young aide to General Robert E. Lee. His rip-roaring adventures as a Confederate spy go a long way toward proving that Sherman was wrong, and war is hilarious!

But that's only the half of it! Picture him falling in love with two beautiful girls, one a blonde, the other a brunette, and discovering that both girls love him and are determined to marry him. What's he going to do? That's what worries him all the way through the picture, even when he's dodging Indians, battling western "bad men" and trying to win the war single-handed. His method of solving this romantic problem is as funny as it is logical.

Although Griffith's is the outstanding performance, the principal supporting players—Mack Swain, Montagu Love, Virginia Lee Corbin and Marion Nixon—give an excellent account of themselves. Entering into the serious background of the story are several noted historical characters, such as Abraham Lincoln, General Robert E. Lee, Brigham Young and Sitting Bull. Of these, George Billings deserves honorable mention for his faithful portrayal of Lincoln.

"THE VANISHING AMERICAN"

"The Vanishing American," Zane Grey's latest and greatest story to be screened by Paramount, overshadows any similar exposition ever written, and establishes a new high mark in motion picture production. It is gigantic in spirit and presentation.

The picture, which will be the feature at the Penniman Allen theatre, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, March 14, 15 and 16, presents one of the biggest and most vital themes concerned with the history and civilization of the United States. It holds a deep element of tragedy from the Indian viewpoint, showing him dispossessed gradually of his lands and shorn of his power by the white man's progress.

To build up the tremendous theme we are carried back to prehistoric times in spectacular scenes that are absorbingly interesting, showing how the Indians overcame the cliff-dwellers, and how, in turn, the coming of the Spaniards foretold the passing of the Indians.

Two years of preparation were put into this picture by the company that has given the picture-going public such productions as "The Ten Commandments," "The Covered Wagon" and "Peter Pan."

Richard Dix, Lois Wilson, Noah Beery and Malcolm McGregor are featured in the leading roles of the production, adapted for the screen by Lucien Hubbard. George B. Seitz, who made "Wild Horse Mesa," directed. Ethel Hoberly wrote the screen play.

In brief, the story is one of Dix, a Navajo Indian youth, educated among the white people, who is confronted with the barrier of race when he falls in love with a lovely white girl.

Returning with a detachment of Indian soldiers from the war front of Europe, he finds his tribesmen in a rebellion that threatens to become grave—a rebellion against the oppressions to which they are subjected. How he averts disaster to his people and works out his own destiny in service to his race against the conflict of his love for the American girl is a motif of stirring nobility. The scope of the story is tremendous, harking from the primitive days up to the present when the race, segregated to reservations, is dwindling—thwarted aborigines who cannot cope with the might of the mechanical era wrought by white civilization.

Completing the all-star line-up of supporting players are such prominent names as George Magrill, Shannon Day, Charles Crockett, Bert Woodruff, Bernard Siegel, Guy Oliver, Charles Stevens, Joe Ryan.

"THE SONG AND DANCE MAN"

With the reputation of a big New York stage success, with the glamorous back-stage life of Broadway for a background, with a brilliant cast of screen and stage favorites, headed by Tom Moore, Bessie Love and Harrison Ford, and with the directorial stamp of Herbert Brenon, "The Song and Dance Man," Paramount's picturization of George M. Cohan's theatrical comedy, is a photoplay to look forward to with pleasant anticipation. It will be shown at the Penniman Allen theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, March 17 and 18.

There have been many stories written, centering around the colorful life behind the asbestos curtain, but none that combined the laughter and heart-tugs, the pathos and humor, the romance and picturesqueness in such appealing fashion as this sentimental tale of a typical song and dance trouper. George M. Cohan wrote the story from intimate, personal knowledge, and Paul Schofield, who scenarized it, has preserved all of its essential flavor and feeling.

"The Song and Dance Man" revolves around a youthful vaudevillian, whose tremendous conceit blinds him to the fact that he is nothing but a "ham" actor. He is, withal, a happy-go-lucky chap, generous, self-sacrificing, and ever ready to lend a fellow trouper or a helping hand. His sympathetic and later romantic interest in a charming little actress, and his efforts to help her in her climb to the musical comedy heights are vividly and entertainingly pictured.

The entire production has been lavishly set, brightly and fittingly costumed, and under Mr. Brenon's direction very briskly and smoothly produced. The chorus of George White's "Scandals" were used in many of the back-stage scenes.
