Bureau to Begin Member Drive

The Wayne County Farm Bureau's membership drive has been set for December 6-10, beginning with a meeting of all roll call workers at the Sheldon Methodist church on Monday evening, December 6.

Clarence Reid, past president of the Michigan Farm Bureau, will be the speaker.

The drive is under the supervision of Jacob Brinks of Plymouth as roll call manager, assisted by George Matevia, Philip Dingelday, John O. Schroeder, Otto Koster, Harvey Vetal, and Jesse Brown.

According to Mr. Brinks, the Farm Bureau is the largest and most powerful farmer's organization in the world today. Forty-five states and Puerto Rico have a total membership of one and a quarter million. Thirty-five thousand of these members live in this state, banded together as the Michigan Farm Bureau, he continues. Over 50 county Farm Bureaus with nearly 800 community groups make up this state organization. An enumeration of the organization's goals included: sound legislation, farm prices that compare favorably with labor and industry, fair taxation, equality of opportunity and education, farm research cooperative services for members, adequate medical and hospital facilities, and world peace and security.

Continuing a discussion of the Bureau, Mr. Brinks said "The farmer, meeting with his neighbors in the Farm Bureau community group, has the opportunity of expressing his personal opinion and discussing practical farm problems. The results of these discussion groups are sent monthly to the state office at Lansing, which in turn makes known the voice of the organized farmer in Washington."

They Get Biggest Deer and Bear

To Elwood Russell and Joe Elliott, apparently, go the trophies for bringing back to Plymouth the biggest deer and the biggest bear of the present hunting season.

Elwood Russell, hunting with William Cody on his second deer hunting season, brought down as nice a buck as ever came out of the north woods. The two had made one trip to the Upper Peninsula before Thanksgiving, getting not even a shot. But determined to get a deer, they returned to Palmer in southern Marquette county, where Russell on his first and only shot brought down his buck weighing well over 200 pounds and with a perfectly formed 14 point rack.

Joe Elliott's bear, weighing somewhere around 400 pounds, was a mighty big fellow. That, too, came out of the Upper Peninsula.

Plymouth deer hunters are not reporting as good luck as experienced last year, but their luck has been about as good as the state average.

As far as can be learned Mr. and Mrs. Russell Powell are the second man and wife who hunted in the northlands who both got their deer. Mrs. Powell brought down a big eight point buck and Mr. Powell shot the only albino deer brought back to Plymouth in a number of years. Some years ago while hunting near Atlanta, he saw one in the woods, but it was a doe. His 1948 albino was a spike-horn, but the horns measured over 14 inches long, another unusual thing.

There's a good story coming out of the same hunting camp about two "crack" shots of Plymouth who rate high when it comes to marksmanship, that apparently suffered from "bear fever" when they saw two bear ambling through the woods near their blind. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Selle, says this "grapevine", did not even shoot at the bears, although they were within perfect range. Adding to this dismay was the fact that Jack had three perfect shots at three different bucks, and the bucks are still running around the woods near Atlanta.

William Rambo who was able to get away from his Plymouth Sport shop to hunt three or four days during the end of the season in the Upper Peninsula, also brought back a nice buck.

Other local hunters who made good this season were reported by the McAilister Brothers who own storage lockers where the venison is being kept. They named: Dewey Smith, Warren Bassett, Don VanAtta, Byron Murray, Bud Holmes, Howard McKillit, Rosie Goodale, Bill Kiefer, Jr., and Robert Tennant.

From the Soth Locker Service comes news that the following hunters have also stored their deer meat: Fred Johnson, Harold Gotthard, Leonard Cruse, John Tibbatts, R. C. Breathe, Ted Johnson, Ken Maplettoft, who also bagged a bear, Al Hubbs, Paul Meyers, Elwood Russell, Mrs. Huber and F. J. Hix Sr. and F. J. Hix, Jr.

Santa Attracts Plymouth Younger Set

Caught talking to Santa Claus in Fisher's Store last weekend were: Jill Congdon, right, and Caroline Pagenkopf who is being held by her sister Joann. Jill is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Congdon, and Joann and Caroline are the daughters of Mrs. Ellen Pagenkopf.

Santa Claus arrived in Plymouth for his first visit of the year last Friday afternoon, amid shrieks and shouts of joy from the city's younger set.

Close to 300 lined the walk in front of Fisher's Shoe store, sponsor of Santa's visit, waving and yelling his welcome as he was chauffeured to the building in an Oldsmobile convertible donated for the occasion by Walter Beglinger.

Over 1200 children enthusiastically related to Santa their wishes for Christmas during the two days he was at the store, James Houk, proprietor, announced. Both Friday and Saturday they lined the sidewalk, not only in front of the store, but around the corner and down Penniman avenue. During three hours on Friday alone, 500 children paid their respects to the jovial old man.

Santa presented each child with a gift.

Wild Lifers Have Royal Feast

One of the highlights of the many years of existence of the Western Wayne County Conservation Association was its 1948 annual venison dinner held Wednesday evening at the club house on Joy road.

Attended by more than 200, there was a feast of both venison and bear stew for all who attended—and never before did the members and their guests ever eat more delicious stew than that served Wednesday evening.

President Brick Champe induced Jim Latture to come down to the club and help supervise the preparation of the meal with Charles Wolfe and Kenneth Gust as his special aids. Roy Crites was general chairman in charge of all arrangements for the dinner.

Those attending the wild life dinner not only helped to eat up some of Joe Elliott's 400 pound big black bear, but they ate venison from that albino deer Russell-Powell shot while hunting near Atlanta.

Peter Petoskey, district game manager of southeastern Michigan urged the Western Wayne County wild lifers to put every ounce of their strength into the fight against stream pollution. He pointed out the alarming damage that is being caused to Michigan streams and lakes by pollution.

Some exceptionally interesting colored pictures were also shown of many of Michigan's beauty spots.

It cost about 251 million dollars for maintenance of the entire Navy in 1935; in 1945 the Navy's food bill alone was over 670 million.

Animal Stories in New Collection

One hundred years ago, December 9, was born the man who wrote the Uncle Remus stories, yarns about Brer Fox, Brer Rabbit, and other animal friends. Celebrating the centenary of Joel Chandler Harris, a collection called "The Favorite Uncle Remus" has been published recently and will soon be placed in the branches of the Wayne County library.

As a small boy, Joel lived on a plantation. It was there that, from a chimney nook in the slave quarters, he listened in the evenings to African legends of animal lore. In later years he wrote them out and put them in print just as he heard them, preserving the quaint humor. Given in the dialect of the cotton plantation, we must use our ears, not our eyes, to get the full flavor of the story and it is for that reason, according to Mrs. Agnes Pauline, children's librarian at Plymouth that the Uncle Remus tales are loved best by children when read aloud.

At his birthplace, Eatonton, Georgia, the anniversary will be marked with the issuing of a special Joel Chandler Harris postage stamp.

ROYAL EXILE . . . The young Prince of the Asturias, son of Don Juan, pretender to the Spanish throne, who has been in exile with his parents, will return to Madrid for schooling.

The Navy's food requirements for the fiscal year of 1944, were 4,500,000,000 (B) pounds, enough to fill a freight train reaching from Boston to Charleston, South Carolina.

At the end of the recent war the Navy had approximately five square miles of roofed storage space.

Menu Tips

By HELEN HALE

ARE YOU HAVING an old-fashioned baked bean supper soon? Serve it with some rolled cinnamon bread with a sugar and cinnamon crust, or some gingerbread, for variety. Small squash halves baked with sausage balls will also add a savory touch to the menu.

Creamed leftover chicken with canned asparagus tips makes a delicious Sunday night supper dish. Sprinkle some cheese on top if you are in the mood.

An Omelet will be more delicious if you add some diced shrimp to it before cooking. Serve with chili sauce.

Official Explains Duplicate Bridge

The winners of last Monday evening's play at the city recreation department's Bridge club were, north-south, Mrs. Nellie Bird, and Mrs. Schreur, tied for first place with Mr. and Mrs. Fornwald, east-west, Mrs. Calahan and Mr. Hafner.

Interest in duplicate tournament play is increasing, a club official states, and brings to light a number of misconceptions. One of these, he continues, is that duplicate is an entirely different system of bridge. This is not so, he continues, as the bidding and play are just the same as in rubber bridge, except that in play, the cards are laid out in rows in front of each player so that the hands can be kept intact and replaced in the board, to be played again at succeeding tables.

Another difference and advantage of duplicate, this same official states, is the fact that one does not need good cards to win, for his score depends on how well he does with the cards he gets. His real opponents are not the other pair at any table, but the other pairs playing the same cards in the same direction. One can get top score with poor cards, he states, for in this case, good defensive play comes to the fore.

The point count system, as being taught at the Bridge club, the official relates, is much simpler and more accurate than other methods of evaluating the trick-taking power of the hand. However, one using a point-count can readily play with an honor trick player, as they are not incompatible.

These persons who wish to improve their bridge, but do not care to play duplicate, may make up a table of their own and attend the club sessions for instruction. However, anyone may come without a partner, and if they call Mr. Calahan at 1575-J, provision will be made to take care of them.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hamill Tell of Recent Trip Through the West

"One would think after several trips to the west coast, including fishing in waters from Mexico to Seattle, visits to Pikes Peak, Mount Hood, Columbia Highway drive, Yellowstone park and Grand Canyon, everything else would be a commonplace."

Frank W. Hamill, retired Pere Marquette agent, reports that he and Mrs. Hamill did not find this so during their trip to the West and southwest part of the country from which they recently returned.

Two weeks were spent by the couple in Hollywood. In telling of this portion of the trip, Mr. Hamill described the temperature as averaging 70 degrees in the day time, and 45 degrees at night. "There has been rain there since last April, and the rainfall all last year was but seven inches or about our average for one month. All trees, fruits, flowers and lawns have to be irrigated."

He told of a fierce mountain fire which raged just north of Hollywood when they left there on November 4. It covered some 1000 acres.

From Hollywood the couple visited Long Beach and Santa Ana, then leaving on the Santa Fe Scout for Amarillo, Texas where they were met by their cousins from Guyton, Oklahoma. They described the land in this northwestern section of Texas as mostly flat, semi-desert country. Some years, Mr. Hamill relates, they have enough rain for a bumper wheat crop, approximately 60 bushels to the acre. During the dry years, however, they are liable to have heavy blows which will migrate the crops, plus top soil, to some place in Kansas, he continued. In this section wheat is drilled 18 inches apart in the rows, and they use but 20 pounds per acre.

"There are no houses and barns along the roadside every few rods like in Michigan, Mr. Hamill's report of the trip revealed, and ranchers own one to ten sections of land and live in large cities.

He went into some detail on a bad sand storm which hit east of Amarillo on November 6, wrecking 40 automobiles and causing damage estimated at $100,000. A patrolman who stopped to investigate a wreck said he was 15 minutes trying to find his own car, and it was but 15 feet away. Mr. Hamill's narration disclosed.

Following a visit to Guyton, Oklahoma, Mr. and Mrs. Hamill's cousins took them to Woodward, Oklahoma, a small city of 7,000 to 8,000 people which was almost completely razed to the ground a year ago last spring by a cyclone. One hundred and twenty eight had been killed. Upon visiting the city they found it to be almost entirely rebuilt, with very little evidence of the disaster remaining.

Further highlights of their trip was visits to Siloam Spring, Arkansas and the Ozark mountains.

Counselor Takes Part in Workshop

George W. Canfield, counselor for boys at Plymouth High school, was among the 57 educators who met for a four day Guidance Services Workshop at the State Conservation camp at Higgins Lake recently.

At that time elementary and secondary teachers, principals, superintendents, coordinators, counselors, and college professors selected from 34 cities in both the lower and upper peninsula met to pool their experiences and develop an integrated program of guidance services for Michigan.

Two more meetings are to be held by this group in the spring to put into final shape a publication on guidance services which will include the elements, planning, initiating, appraisal, improvement and sources of materials for a guidance services program.

Mr. Canfield was a member of the steering committee which met to conclude the general plans for the workshop as well as holding membership on the six-man panel that introduced the various aspects of the Guidance Services Workshop. In addition he served as chairman of one of the groups that attacked the five general problems of the conference. The latter were: why have a guidance services program; how to plan and organize a guidance services program; how to carry on a guidance services program; and how to improve a guidance services program.

Mr. Canfield came to Plymouth in September as counselor for boys, from Allegheny college in Meadville, Pennsylvania. There he was chief appraiser for the guidance center in the veterans rehabilitation program. The keynote speech of the workshop was presented by Earl E. Mosier, assistant superintendent for instruction of the Lansing department of public instruction. He emphasized the need for an integrated guidance services program to help the boys and girls meet the pressing educational, vocational and personal problems of today.

Bazaar Based on Circus Theme

It will be "Big Top" time at Newburg Methodist church on December 11, when a bazaar based on a Circus Fair theme takes place in the church hall, reports Mrs. Melvin Gutherie, chairman.

Decorations already planned consist of much red and green along with festive booths. Mrs. Williams will preside over the candy booth, Mrs. Raymond Grimm has charge of the boxes of hand stitched articles for the W.S.C.S. booth, and Mrs. Harry Gilbert will supervise the bake goods sale. A rummage sale by the Fidelas class will be handled by Mrs. Fred Wilson. Mrs. Jerry Baldwin is chairman of the notion booth, and the Youth Fellowship will handle the pink lemonade and pop corn sales.

Supper is planned from 5:30 until all are served, and it is under the direction of Mrs. Vern Nymen. Mrs. Jesse Bennett has charge of the dining room.

Benet's Story Enacted Tonight

The crying need for greater understanding and neighborliness between nations as well as between individuals was the underlying reason why "The Devil and Daniel Webster" by Stephen Vincent Benet was chosen as the tenth radio presentation in the series "Great Scenes from Great Plays" to be broadcast over station CKLW on Friday evening, November 18, and sponsored by the Episcopal families in Plymouth, states the Rev. Alexander Miller.

How Canton Land Owners Will Wish for Good Old Days When They Read the 1849 Tax Rolls

When Hurd McClumphia, 50385 Warren road, was rummaging through some old books and papers at his home recently, he discovered what proved to be the first assessment roll ever levied in Canton township, as well as the minute book which recorded the proceedings of the township board from September 1834 until 1861.

It was not at all surprising that these two old record books of Canton township should have been found in McClumphia home, as members of this family were some of the first settlers of the township and some of them had served as township officers.

A. Moore, one of the first assessors of the township was a great grandfather of Hurd McClumphia.

The farm on which the Hurd McClumphias live at the present time, more than a hundred years ago belonged to members of the family. Then it consisted of 441 acres and the total tax was $2.94.

The farm has been reduced to 100 acres—and what is the tax?

Ahem! It's right up in the clouds—like the taxes on everything else these days.

But in those very early days, the records show that there was no money collected for road purposes, none for schools. Tax money went chiefly for the support of the poor and to the county.

The total assessment in 1835 was $432.15. The total amount raised for township purposes was $64.82, of which $25 was raised "for the support of the poor."

It was not until 1837 when first mention was made of any tax being raised for state purposes. In that year Canton township taxpayers paid a half mill tax for the state, the total amount of tax collected for state purposes in Canton being $150.01.

In that same year, first mention was made of money being raised to pay for the building of a bridge in section 19 of the township.

Apparently in that year the township raised money for the first time to pay for "laying out a road" in the same section where the bridge was built.

In subsequent years frequent mention is found of taxes being raised for the purpose of paying for laying out new roads.

It was back in 1846 when Canton township taxpayers began to pay rather substantial taxes for the support of rural schools.

During the first few years of the existence of Plymouth township, both Canton and Northville townships were a part of Plymouth township.

When Plymouth and Canton townships were made into two separate units they were of equal size. Then a number of years later Plymouth township was divided and the township of Northville was created. While Canton remains the regular size of a township, both Plymouth and Northville townships are only "half" townships. In fact Plymouth township isn't even that at this time. When Plymouth decided to quit being a village and became a city, it automatically withdrew as a part of the township, leaving Plymouth township only the territory outside the city limits.

It was in 1844 when Canton township granted a tavern license to Peter Burden, the cost of the license being only $5. The Plymouth Mail has not been able to learn where the first tavern located in this vicinity was located.

In 1847 another tavern license was granted by Canton township to Caleb Jessup.

With these old township books, Mr. McClumphia found a copy of an article that had been compiled from the Michigan Pioneer Collection for the years 1877-80, making reference to the first tax roll of the township of Plymouth, Wayne county, Territory of Michigan. This tax roll is dated October 2, 1827 and shows a total of 71 resident settlers. The total value of the tax roll was $19,194 and the total tax to be collected was $99.37. Many of the settlers had total taxes of between 50 and 60 cents.

A. B. Markham was elected tax collector that first year and he tells in the Michigan Pioneer Collections 1877-80 of his three week trip through the township locating these settlers and collecting the tax. When he was through he lacked several dollars of the full amount, resigned from his job as tax collector, never again held public office nor wanted to.

On page 1255 of Silas Farmer's Chronological Cyclopaedia, as he amusingly says authored by one "native here and to the manner born" is the following reference to the Canton township organization and officers:

"This township was created by the act of March 7, 1834, out of part of what had been Plymouth township. It was named Canton, after the city by that name in China, the object being to get a name not found elsewhere in the

WHAT YEAR IS THIS? . . . Remember "Home Run" Baker? That's a long time ago. Let's look at the rest of the lineup in the dugout. From the left, seated, are Baker, Eddie Rommel, another old time Athletic player; Howard Elmke, Lefty Grove, Connie Mack, Big Chief George Bender, Hans Lobert and Otto Knabe, former infielder with the A's. Connie got together with his former players in a party in his honor at which a premature birthday cake was presented. He will be 86 Dec. 23.

"The first meeting to organize the township was held at the house of Henry Chaffee on the first Monday of April 1834. Joseph Safford was chosen Moderator and L. Weiter, clerk. The following officers were elected in that year: Supervisor Joseph Safford, Clerk Lyman Weiter, Assessors Ira M. Hough, Alfred Moore, Ira Towle, Collector Thomas Houston, Directors of the Poor, Aruna Bradford, John Chambers. Commissioners of Highways, Isidore Cummings, S. R. Tripp, A. Y. Murray, Jos. Bearley, Amos Stephens, Inspectors of Common Schools, William Morrison, Jacob Randall, Alonzo Harrys."

HAVING trouble with snap fasteners after laundering? Fasten them carefully before washing and putting through the wringer, and they'll come out in good condition.

FRUIT STAINS from linen can be removed by applying a little glycerine to the spot before laundering.

To give a professional look to tablecloths when ironing, press the center crease only. All other folds should be made by hand as ironed creases will not lie flat on the table.

When you press woolen materials, use a damp cloth. Never iron until the cloth is completely dry or it will give the woolens a shine. Press quickly, allowing steam to rise, and this will bring up the nap on the material.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Spiced Sweet Potatoes (Serves 6)

3 large sweet potatoes
3 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup cream
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon each of cloves, cinnamon and putneg.

Boil potatoes in water until tender. Peel and mash. Add all remaining ingredients and beat thoroughly. Pile on platter, sprinkle with brown sugar and dot with butter.

Fruit, coffee, tea and chocolate stains may usually be removed from table linens by spreading the spotted part over a bowl and then pouring water from a height so you will strike the stain with some force.

When you find ink on linens, let the stained parts stand in milk. When milk discolors, use fresh milk again. Wash in cold water and ammonia.

When you get too much bluing in your rinse water, don't let it make you blue, too. Use a small quantity of vinegar in clear water and rinse the clothes again.

ANOTHER IRON TRICK is to rub the bottom of a rough iron with dampened salt. The salt may be applied with a crushed newspaper. Before using iron, rub it with a clean cloth.

Calypso Music on Docket for Club

Arthur Greenhall, curator of Detroit zoos, will speak to the Men's club of St. John's Episcopal church at their regular 6:30 p. m. dinner meeting in the church on Thursday December 9.

The Rev. Alexander Miller states that Mr. Greenhall has spent a considerable amount of time on the island of Trinidad where he became well versed with the native folk music, the Calypso. The Calypso singer, he states, King Radio, the Duke of Iron and other weird names, are the favorite sons of the native Trinidadians, and once a year they meet for a contest. Much of the Calypso music is completely spontaneous and extempore, and at the time of the contests they are recorded.

Mr. Greenhall will discuss the subject at the Men's club meeting, supplementing it with recordings.

All club members are urged to call in their reservations early to the secretary, John Morrow, phone 589-W. The Rev. Miller states that guests are welcome to the meeting, and that they too should call Mr. Morrow.

At the end of the recent war the Navy had approximately five square miles of roofed storage space.

Army Rejections Running High

Inventory of Selective Service pre-induction examination results throughout 12 state Fifth Army Area indicates a high rejection rate of 66.37 per cent.

Of the 6,185 men examined between October 11-22, only 2080 were found acceptable for military training and service.

According to Fifth Army officials, failure to meet requirements of the physical examination by the Army medics resulted in 48 per cent of the total number rejected. The figure is almost four times that of the percentage of rejects, for physical reasons, under the volunteer program.

Of 12,561 volunteers for enlistment processed by all recruiting main stations in the Fifth Army Area during the month of September, only 1,535 or 12.22 per cent were disqualified by the physical.

High rate of rejection among selectees during October is laid to the fact that many of the men reporting in the first call are from age brackets already called by previous Selective Service calls, and to the fact that many of the local boards have not as yet obtained the services of consulting physicians to screen obvious rejects.

It is anticipated that the December call for 15,000 additional men for induction, to be drawn from the pool of 23 and 24 year olds, will see a decline in the percentage of rejects. The 10,000 inductees for November will be composed of 7,000 men in the 25 year age bracket and 3,000 in the 24 age group.

The Army has already called on Selective Service officials for 20,000 for the month of January. The December request for 15,000 was based on probable facilities and personnel available for examinations, inductions and training, and was also curtailed to avoid induction of personnel during the Christmas holiday.

Mrs. Verona was first prodded by her youngest son to enter a product of her domestic endeavors in the contest, and his early prediction was "I bet you'll win." To please him she set to work on the pie which won her laurels.

After winning the preliminary daily contest, she went on to win first place in the finals, being awarded both a monetary prize and a gas range.

Her winning apple pie recipe is as follows:

Combine and sift together:
2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
Cut in:
1 cup shortening
1 tablespoon butter
Add enough cold water to make pastry stick together, using a fork to blend. Roll half of the dough thin, and ease into a 10-inch pie plate. Trim edges. Over bottom crust, sprinkle:
2 tablespoons brown sugar
Pare, core and slice thin:
6 large apples
Arrange in pie shell. Sprinkle with:
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Combine and sprinkle over apples:
2 1/2 tablespoons tapioca
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup sugar

Roll remaining dough for top crust. Slash to allow escape of steam and arrange on top of pie. Brush with:
Mixture of milk and melted butter.
Bake in moderately hot oven, 400 degrees, 10 minutes; reduce heat to moderate, 350 degrees and bake about 45 minutes longer, or until apples are tender. When pie is about half done, brush again with milk and butter mixture.

AUTUMN

When crimson leaves are dancing
And small grey rabbits run
Between the cornstalks standing
Against the setting sun;

When meadow-winds are sighing
An old song ever new,
And fields are bright with autumn
My heart is bright with you

Many thanks to you ladies who were so kind as to write to my mother. I just visited her this evening and she was delighted with her mail. She will answer all of you who wrote her.

Now it is autumn in Michigan and the exciting year is drawing to a close. It is time to take stock of ourselves and see what we did during 1948 that we could have done better, and make plans to improve ourselves in 1949. There are many surprises in store for us in the coming months. For instance, you will remember that we said there would be something unusual about the election. Well, today I heard from one of the world's leading astrologers. And the prediction is this: Truman may not be our next president after all. We may have a Republican! Truman will not be our next President until he is sworn in next year. Between now and then strange things may happen. We can't say now—but wait and see. Something very unusual is likely to occur. Anything is possible in our spectacular Atomic Age.

A question that just came in was this: Will conditions ever change in my life so that real happiness will be mine? Answer: According to the birth data sent with the question this person has a remarkable horoscope. Almost all of the planets are in the signs of Capricorn and Sagittarius. The Sun and Moon are both in Capricorn, indicating early physical handicaps, perhaps ill health, that increase the ambition to succeed in life. Such a person has great self-control, is a stern judge of things, an exacting, positive type, very sensitive and with deep emotions. The

Author of
"HOW TO WIN FRIENDS and INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

DON'T GET BORED

DID you know that one of the surest ways of getting "worn to a frazzle" is by allowing yourself to become bored? Boredom is far, far more tiring than work, or, I might say, more tiring than work you are interested in, for if you are not interested in your work that work is going to bore you.

Not long ago I read a book entitled "Archives of Psychology" in which the author, Dr. Joseph E. Barmack, told of experiences that proved the truth of boredom producing fatigue. He put a group of students through a series of tests in which he knew they had little or no interest. He says that pretty soon those students were tired, sleepy, even complained of eye strain and headache. Some of them were irritable, some even nauseated.

D. Carnegie

To make sure that they were not imagining their ills, he had metabolism tests made on them, and these tests showed that the blood pressure of the body, and the consumption of oxygen actually decreased when they were bored, and that the whole metabolism picked up immediately when their interest was aroused in something.

Last summer I took a vacation in the Canadian Rockies, up around Lake Louise. I spent several days trout fishing, fighting my way through brush higher than my head, stumbling over logs, fallen timber, yet after eight hours I was not exhausted. Why? Because I was excited, exhilarated. I had a sense of high achievement; a creelful of cut throat trout. But suppose fishing bored me? I would have been worn out by such strenuous work at an altitude of seven thousand feet.

Mr. S. H. Kingman, president of the Farmers' and Mechanics Savings Bank of Minneapolis, Minn., says that during the war, the Canadian Government asked the Canadian Alpine Club to furnish guides to train the members of the Prince of Wales Rangers in mountain climbing. He was one of the guides chosen, all men ranging from 42 to 59 years of age. They took these young men across glaciers and snow fields, up forty foot cliffs, where they climbed with ropes and tiny footholds. After fifteen hours the young "Rangers" were utterly exhausted, some of them fell asleep without eating. And they had been hardened by commando training! The guides, much older men, stayed up for hours, not exhausted because they were interested. The young men, you see, were not.

If your work is boring, find some element in it that interests you or you'll grow old before your time.

planet Mars was retrograde at birth and has just now turned "direct"—moved forward in the zodiac by secondary progression. This means that the life will from now on be entirely different from what it has been all of these years. The answer is YES. Astrologically speaking, conditions will now change and offer new opportunities for happiness. Between February 10th and 25th of next year Jupiter will be in conjunction with the Sun in this chart—a sign of prosperity and success. Indeed, from the present month onward, things will very likely improve, and by spring will not know herself. But she must learn to see the bright side of things. Capricorn people are naturally serious and sometimes melancholy. The writer knows. He's a Capricorn mark himself. We need to laugh more, and play.

Question: I have always liked to cook and study foods. Does my horoscope show success in these lines? Should I try to get a job doing cooking or preparing menus? Answer: Cooks and food specialists are almost always born in Cancer, Taurus or Virgo. Cancer people make the best cooks; Taurus people enjoy eating; Virgo natives make the best food specialists and food scientists. You have all three of these signs active in your chart. It is a wonder that you haven't got into this line before now. But it's never too late to make a new beginning. By all means, try to enter this fine field.

We don't give enough attention to food. We worry about our clothes and automobiles, and about falling in love, but we seldom give the proper study to what we eat. If we eat wrong what good does a new suit or dress or a new car do? We are half-sick and can't enjoy life, nor can we think straight. Every person should get a few good books on diet and decide what is best for him. Better still, we should use any land we have and grow fresh things for ourselves instead of depending on canned stuff all the time. The writer will be glad to advise anyone interested about some good books on the subject.

forces of construction are strong. Farmers know that wheat and corn planted in the New Moon is undersized. Try it and see. The Moon rules the tides of the sea, human gestation and cycles of illness and so many other things that this newspaper couldn't contain them all. There is a great importance to the Moon in everything that happens. The Moon will figure largely in the possibility that Truman will never take office as our next President. But of this—more later.

The writer will still be glad to hear from readers. Address G. Cardinal LeGros, 1111 Burlingame Ave., Apartment 405, Detroit 2, Michigan.

Pictures Taken of Underclassmen

Representatives of Harry L. Killian and Sons, school photographers, were in Plymouth on Monday, November 29, to take the school pictures of the underclassmen. Pictures of the juniors, sophomores, freshmen, eighth, and seventh graders were taken on this day.

Students could order as many pictures as they wished for various prices but the studio offered a special order consisting of: 24 small pictures, three enlargements, one studio enlargement, and three folders. The complete cost of the pictures with the folders is $2.30.

All teachers who had their pictures taken will receive 48 free ones to distribute among the students in their classrooms. The pictures were managed by the annual staff under Beverly Basley, editor.

Any student who wishes may see samples of them on the first floor showcase, where the number and cost of the pictures is explained.

Sales of '49 Annual To Begin Next Week

The sales campaign for the 1948-49 annual, The Nugget, will begin next Wednesday, December 8. Orders will be taken in all first hour classes. The price of the annual is $2.50. The sales will continue for two weeks, with the annuals being sold in the first hall in front of Lincoln's statue.

The theme and name for the annual were chosen by the staff editors and Miss Priscilla Eacock, annual adviser, at a meeting three weeks ago. The art staff is working around the theme of the "gold rush" and the "forty-niners." The name of the annual is the Nugget, representing a piece of gold.

The individual pictures were taken last Monday, November 29. The students will receive 24 wallet-size pictures, two studio-size prints and one large picture for $2. One small print will be kept for the annual.

In the early days of printing in this country, ink was smeared on type faces by means of a deer-skin swab.

English Students Study Journalism

Miss Irene Walldorf's eleventh grade English classes are getting a taste of journalism, the Pilgrim Prints staff reports.

As part of their work the eleventh grade English classes are studying a unit on journalism. Classes were taken over for an hour by Joe Miller, managing editor, Nancy Walton, business manager, and Agnes Siterlet, reporter for the Pilgrim Prints, to give the students a picture of what happens when editing a newspaper.

The explained the complete set-up of the newspaper, including the financial stand-point. At the end of the hour a test was given to see how much the students had learned.

Hi-Y Plans For Christmas Party

With the big day around the corner, the Hi-Yers have planned a Christmas party in the grade school sometime next week.

Each member is supposed to bring one or more cans of food which will be put in boxes, for distribution by the Goodfellows for destitute families. Games will be played and also refreshments will be served.

Recently at a noon meeting of the Hi-Y club, a movie was shown about the different YMCAs in the devastated countries in Europe, China, East Indies and also in South America. It showed how the children in various countries were brought up during the war, and how the Hi-Y groups aided the hungry. They also provided for recreation such as baseball, football, tennis and some basketball and games for the girls.

Sociology Class Visits DeHoCo

It costs the state of Michigan $4 a day for every girl inmate of the Women's division in the Detroit House of Correction.

Before taking her sociology class to visit the institution, Wednesday, November 24, Miss Neva Lovewell pointed out this fact, along with the thought that good civic recreation facilities in the community from which these women and girls come might have cost much less and prevented many of these girls from doing criminal acts.

About 30 students, accompanied by the high school principal, Cyrus Pierce, went to the House of Correction by bus. There they were met by Miss Lovewell, Miss Doris Whitney, superintendent, and Mrs. Kent, an assistant, and conducted through the various buildings.

They visited the main building, the new laundry, the occupational therapy department, the canteen, and two cottages.

In the main building there was an attractive display of articles made by the girls.

Hi-Yers Take Interest Test

At the noon meeting the Hi-Y members took a test, that one of the officials composed, to determine what the interests of the group were.

After the tests were corrected the boy at the head of activities committee could make plans for entertainment to suit the majority of the group. This method has been used in other groups and proved very effective.

The Hi-Y is planning a Christmas party around December 8.

Students Decorate School Windows

The students from Mrs. Francis Overton's art classes are painting Christmas decorations on the second and third floor windows in the front of the high school and some windows in the commercial building.

The students have been divided into groups with Wanda Neilson, Betty Mino, Pat Wilkins, Jean Gilles, Joan Pagenkoff, Pat Dudley, Noreen Lobdell, Bruno DeBenedict, Barbara Finnegan, Joy Evanoff and Mary Jane Schindler as the chairman.

The decorations are religious and were designed by the students. The painting started yesterday, December 2.

Pierce Holds Monitors Meeting

Cyrus E. Pierce, principal of Plymouth High school, presided over a meeting of all the school hall monitors, Monday at 11:30 in the junior high school study hall.

The purpose of the 15 minute meeting was to call to the monitors' attention the fact that many monitors were using their hall duty period to talk with other monitors. Mr. Pierce then asked for any questions the monitors might have. Problems discussed included students who work, alumni, and the athletic teams.

Council Studies Noon Supervision

Facing the problem of noon-hour supervision for the winter months, the student council consulted Chief of Police Russ Haselbach on this matter at the meeting Tuesday, November 24. Since Russ took part in a discussion on this topic at the state conference at Ann Arbor, he was able to explain how other schools deal with the same problem. The council decided to postpone action until the next meeting.

The council voted to accept Barbara Cushman's report on the troopers. Betty Salmon, Jim Wells and Ed Whipple volunteered to act as judges in the choosing of three boy cheer leaders.

Officers Elected In English Class

An election of class officers took place at the regular third hour sophomore English class which Miss Priscilla Eacock teaches, Wednesday, November 24.

Because of a tie for president between Gary Sockow and Donley Young, a revote had to be taken. Donley Young won this by a narrow margin of three votes. The other officers are: Richard Cramb, vice-president; Arlene Dowling, secretary; and Judy Parmenter, treasurer.

Miss Priscilla Eacock, who came to Plymouth High in September from a school in California, is adviser to the school annual, the "Nugget." She is a graduate of the University of Michigan.

During the 45 months of war, about 75,400,000 rations, or about 226,200,000 individual meals, were served at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Illinois.

The Civil War battle between the Monitor and the Merrimack was fought in Hampton Roads, just off the present Norfolk Naval Supply Center.

Fred Nelson Plans For Junior Chorus

Fred Nelson, vocal music instructor, is starting a junior high school chorus in grades 7-9 where they will study the fundamentals of music and acquire a good taste for the best of music.

He plans to make the younger students interested in music, so that the best singers will be readily picked for the high school chorus when they progress to senior high.

Mr. Nelson also reports that there are still some openings for would-be singers in the fifth hour class.

Debate Team Downs Ypsi

The Plymouth High school debate team, under the instruction of James Lature, is off to a good start this year with two victories, the latest one a major win over Ypsilanti Central.

Ronald Hees, Ronald Witt, Roger Kidston and Larry Mack successfully debated on the topic of whether or not the United Nations should be revived into a Federal World Government.

Plymouth now leads the 6-B suburban league with four vicories and no defeats. On Wednesday, December 1, there was a debate with the Redford Union "Panthers."

This year Plymouth has also entered in a Detroit league. The first debate will be with Hazel Park, Monday, December 6, at 2 p. m.

'Snappers' Learn To Print Pictures

Learning to print pictures was the work of the Photography club at their weekly meeting in the basement of the Commercial building.

At the beginning of the year, the new members learned to develop films.

Jim Butt and John Bachelder mixed the chemicals needed, and Leon Christensen and Jack Gage explained the procedure.

Any member of the Photography club can use the darkroom to develop and print his own pictures.

A truly virtuous person is like good metal,—the more he is fired, the more he is refined; the more he is opposed, the more he is improved. Richelieu

Of all the mortals that inhabit this strife-torn old earth of ours there's nothing quite like the fisherman. An ordinary individual under normal conditions, he can be a ball of fire or the worst bore at a gathering—it depends on how the fish are biting. He is alternately gentle as a spring lamb, or the most dangerous animal not in captivity—according to whether that "strike" was really a bass or a dagnabbed sunken log.

Wives and children who know him as a peace-loving, lovable cuss around the home, cringe and quiver in fear when returning from an unproductive trip, he roars in the negative when asked the stock question, "How was the fishing today?" They know he's lying, when, between snorts, he vows he's going to break up his gear or give it away. They know it will still be in the closet a day, a week, or a month from now—awaiting his next fishing trip.

Big shot or little shot, he's endowed with the same fever when somebody mentions the fish are biting. The most important business conferences can be changed into "that's the best" or "that's the worst" fishing spot in creation simply by the injection of the word "fishing" into the discussion. Street sweeper and financial genius become one and the same personality—the fisherman—on the curbstone as the previous day's catch or the next day's prospects become the most important topic in the world.

Everybody knows he's a liar. There isn't a class of people in existence—not even a general—who hates to admit defeat like the guy with the fancy reel or swamp-cut cane pole. There's never been an ordinary-sized fish that didn't gain one ounce to five pounds when he described it. Only his understanding wife and kids have the real lowdown on his lousy fishing ability.

With all his faults, he's a pretty good sport. God bless him! We need more like him in these torturous days.—Tom Ford, Alabama Conservation News.

John James Audubon's famous "Birds of America" was one of the first book purchases authorized by the University of Michigan Board of Regents in the early days of the Regents.

By specific authorization of the Regents, one of the original sets of these volumes was purchased in 1838. Less than 200 sets were printed at that time, and little more than 160 sets are known to be still in existence. Miss Ella M. Hymans, curator of rare books in the University Library, has explained.

Audubon was a frontiersman, artist and naturalist. His "Birds of America" contained 435 colored plates of life-size drawings of American birds. The size of all the volumes was determined by the size of the wild turkey cock, largest bird depicted by Audubon. The painting of the turkey cock, incidentally, is the first in the set and since it was omitted in some sets, its presence determines whether or not a series of volumes is complete, Miss Hymans said.

Few purchasers could be found for this tremendous work, which was privately printed in London by Audubon at a cost of $1,000 per set. Each of the plates was printed in black and white from a copper plate and then colored by hand. In 1838, the University of Michigan was hard-pressed for funds, but the Regents were evidently willing to spend this sum in order to supply the library with one of the best works in natural history available.

Competition for the white man's share in the Upper Peninsula Indian fur trade caused establishment of a French fort at Sault Ste. Marie in 1751.

The fort was built by one of two Frenchmen to whom had been granted 214,000 acres of land in that region, including the spot where Sault Ste. Marie is now, according to Dr. F. Clever Bald, assistant director of the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan.

The two men were Louis de Gardeur de Repentigny and Captain Louis De Bonne. The fort was built and maintained under the direction of De Repentigny as De Bonne never visited his holdings. During Repentigny's frequent absences in Lower Canada his tenant, Jean Baptiste Cadotte, was in charge.

The French government had granted the land to the men with the request that they build and maintain the fort. Thus the government obtained, at no charge, another foothold in the vast new world of untold riches which later was to become Canada and the United States.

Strategically located at the carrying-place around the rapids between Lakes Superior and Huron, the 110-foot square fort dominated the principal trade route between the upper and lower country. Its convenience soon drew valuable furs from the British trading posts further away.

Construction of the diminutive stockade which contained four buildings marked the second time the French had occupied that immediate area. Eighty years earlier on June 14 a French officer standing at the Sault before some 2,000 amazed Indians formally had claimed the entire western country for France.

A French mission also begun there in 1698. But it had been abandoned in 1689 because the Chippewa Indians, with whom the priests had been most concerned, had practically deserted the area.

The fort was occupied in 1762 by a group of British troops from Mackinac following the capitulation of the French governor of Canada to the British in 1760.

There is a Canadian legend that Cadotte defied the fort against the British detachment until, fatally wounded, he wrapped the French flag around him and heroically expired.

But Cadotte was a practical businessman, not a romantic Gascon—he offered no resistance. However, the British occupation was brief as on the night of December 10, 1762 a fire broke out under mysterious circumstances and destroyed all except Cadotte's home, according to Dr. Bald. The British were forced to return to Mackinac.

And so Cadotte was left to himself to carry on his fur trading in the fort's one remaining house—which already conveniently belonged to him. But the flames on that December night 176 years ago wrote the final chapter in the history of Sault Ste. Marie's first fort.

A TELEPHONE COMPANY INVESTOR

You may not own a share of American Telephone and Telegraph Company stock or a telephone company bond, and yet you may be an investor in the Bell System and Michigan Bell.

Many banks and insurance companies are holders of Bell System securities. So, if you have a savings account or an insurance policy, indirectly some of your money may be invested in the telephone business.

But who are the other investors in the Bell System? Altogether there are more than 700,000 of them in addition to insurance companies and other financial institutions. They are school teachers, widows, housewives, farmers, mechanics, business men, telephone workers—people in all walks of life who have put their savings directly into Bell securities.

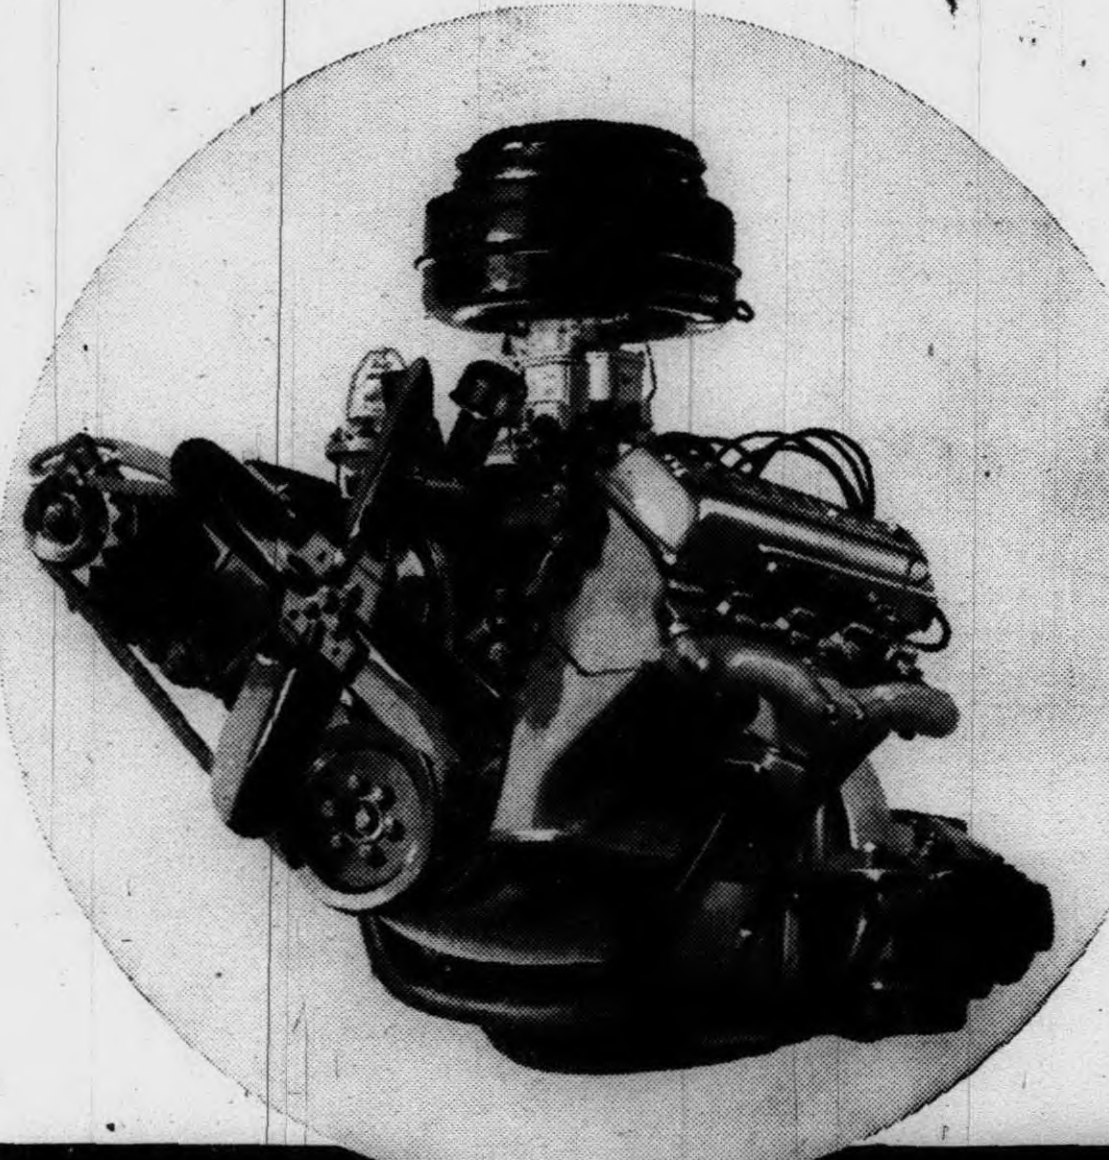

Few businesses in America are so widely owned by the people they serve. No one person or institution owns as much as one third of one per cent of A. T. & T. stock. There are about 75,000 more owners of the business than there are employees of the business.

These dollars from investors are important to good service. They are used to build and expand the telephone system. As a customer, you expect good telephone service. As an investor, you expect security and a fair return on your investment.

PRESENTS ITS CREATIVE MASTERPIECE . . .

The world's newest engine—for the world's finest car!

No Cadillac announcement has ever been more significant than the one which appears on this page. For, this year, Cadillac presents its creative masterpiece—a wholly new V-type eight-cylinder engine—which is, beyond all doubt, the highest development yet attained in automotive power plants. * This great power plant has been twelve years in the building—for basic development work started in 1936. It has many unusual qualities which set it apart from all other creations of its kind. It is far more alert, powerful and responsive to the throttle—yet it affords an increase in gasoline economy of approximately twenty per cent. And the manner of its performance actually challenges the imagination. It is liquid smooth; it is quick and eager beyond all experience; yet the power application is so effortless that the driver is scarcely aware of the engine's existence. The car seems almost to move by automatic propulsion. * Even experienced Cadillac owners must put aside all previous conceptions of performance when they drive the 1949 Cadillac. It is a revelation—from silken start to silken stop. * There are, of course, many other advancements in addition to the history-making engine. There is new beauty in the front ensemble; there is a newly-designed, more attractive instrument panel, with all driving controls at your fingertip; and throughout the chassis and body will be found those characteristic refinements which result from Cadillac's unceasing search for perfection. * But the big Cadillac story, for 1949, is performance. It is not only the world's new standard—it is beyond the world's current conception.

For the second year crops of dried fruits produced in the west coast states are larger than needed for export trade and the normal demand in this country. This means that shoppers will find supplies of them in grocery stores at reasonable prices.

Prunes, figs and raisens are the three most plentiful dried fruits. They are delicious in themselves and have the quality of making foods to which they are added more appetizing.

Dried fruits are natural confections because they contain such a large proportion of sugar due to the small amount of water in them. It's a good idea to keep them around for the youngsters to nibble instead of candy. They are chock full of minerals and vitamins needed for good health.

Modern methods of processing dried fruits makes it necessary to soak them before cooking, in most cases. The method that gives the fruit the best flavor

FIG-NUT SWEETS
One cup dried figs, 1 cup finely chopped nut meats, dash salt, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/4 cup water, shredded coconut.

Cover figs with boiling water and let stand 10 minutes. Drain and chop fine. Add nuts and salt and mix well. Form into roll about 1 1/2 inches in diameter then cut into 1/4 inch slices. Chop coconut fine and toast in oven. Boil sugar and water together until syrup spins thread or reaches a temperature of 228 degrees F. Dip slices in syrup which is kept warm over hot water then roll in coconut. Makes about 3 dozen pieces.

and texture is to cover them generously with boiling water, bring them to the boiling point quickly, then boil until tender. Make sure the fruit is well covered with water at all times.

Occasionally fruit that is dry needs some soaking. Allow it to stand until it's absorbed enough water to make it plump before cooking. Be sure to use the soaking water for the cooking to save all of the flavor.

Suit the amount of sweetening in dried fruits to the kind and to personal taste. Start out with about 2 tablespoonsful for each cup of fruit and add more if necessary. A little salt cuts down on the amount of sugar needed and at the same time brings out the fruit flavor.

For variety use honey instead of sugar as a sweetener. A few slices of lemon or orange or a little stick of cinnamon and a few whole cloves make the fruit more piquant.

Stewed dried fruit for breakfast is an old story. While they are so plentiful try them in other meals during the day. Here are a few recipes to get you started.

RAISIN CARROT SALAD
One half cup seedless raisins, 1 cup finely chopped raw carrots, 1 tart apple, diced, 1/2 cup finely chopped celery, 1/2 cup chopped nuts, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup mayonnaise, lemon juice if liked.

Combine all ingredients, mixing lightly. Add a little lemon juice, if flavor is not pleasantly tart. Chill. Serve on lettuce leaves. Serves 6.

MOLDED PRUNE PUDDING
One cup stewed prunes, 1/2 cup prune juice, 1 package orange flavored gelatin, 1 1/4 cups hot water, dash of salt, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, custard sauce, broken nut meats.

Drain prunes, pit and chop. Add measured juice. Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add prunes, salt and cinnamon and mix. Chill

THE STATES RIGHTS PROBLEM

IF your Hometown Reporter is any judge, the question of civil rights or states rights will continue to plague the 81st congress and the membership of both political parties in the months to come.

As a matter of fact, there is an apparent switch in party feeling on the matter of states rights. The Democratic party always has been the traditional champion of states rights, going back to the days of Thomas Jefferson, the party's founder, who was a states rights man.

On the other hand, the Republican party, starting with Jefferson's bitter political enemy, Alexander Hamilton, to whom the GOP traces its ancestry, has since then favored a strong federal government. In recent years, however, it seems to this reporter that the two parties have been confused in their thinking on what constitutes states rights and what comprises civil rights.

And a look at the records indicates a reversal of the historic positions of the two parties, with the Democrats tending to favor federal action and the Republicans defending states rights.

The civil rights program of President Truman, with which the Republican party generally agrees, is guaranteed under the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. Some of the southern states have assumed, however, that some of these civil rights are their own prerogative and hence, as such, are under the head of states rights. Of course that is a wrongful assumption.

And some of the subjects which have been classed under the heading of states rights such as tidal water lands, health, education, credit control, taxes and national defense which involve the problem of states rights versus federal power, are questionable as a matter of purely state jurisdiction.

In some of these latter the United States supreme court has handed down decisions holding, for instance, that the matter of tidal water lands is purely within the jurisdiction of the federal government.

It is pretty well established that education is purely a state matter.

Eighty-five percent of new Navy recruits are unmarried and not engaged to be married, and about one-third of them give financial aid to a dependent.

question, but when states do not provide education for all citizens then this question arises: Shall the federal government give aid to the states on this question of education for the general welfare, since all children are entitled to an education and an educated citizenry is regarded as a national safeguard?

Health is another question of federal vs. states rights. When the matter of national safety is concerned and 40 per cent of young men are thrown back by examining boards because of health disabilities, the question arises . . . Does the federal government have the power to step in and provide health laws?

WHO CONTROLS WHAT?

The federal reserve board recently wanted to order all national banks upon which it has jurisdiction to tighten credit controls. But state banks are not under its jurisdiction. So what happens then in the fight to curb inflation? Does the federal government have any right to step in to control state chartered banks?

On taxes, the states have for several years maintained that the federal government is usurping many of their fields of tax revenue—on gasoline, on hosts of excise taxes and on other individual commodities. Now the question of the national guard has arisen. The guard has been looked upon as a state militia in time of peace but is sworn into federal service in time of war.

Then on this question of states rights there arises the problem of a clash in dual powers—state vs. federal—in production of public power, reclamation, irrigation and grazing lands.

Mr. Dewey apparently wants less federal control. For instance, he favored a state authority to govern public power on the St. Lawrence river and he wanted less federal control in any future river valley development such as TVA.

On the health question, President Truman wants a strong compulsory federal health insurance program. Sen. Robert Taft's bill is a federal bill but limited to grants to the states.

It cost about 251 million dollars for maintenance of the entire Navy in 1935; in 1945 the Navy's food bill alone was over 670 million.

NWNS Radio-Screen Editor

EDDIE ARNOLD, singing emcee of CBS' "Hometown Reunion," traveled 75,000 miles in 16 states during 1947 on his tours with the show . . . Ever attempt to picture some of the more elusive characters on various programs? Characters, we mean, such as the unheard "Duffy" on NBC's "Duffy's Tavern" or "Joe," Al's undercover pal who knows all the angles—crooked, that is—on CBS' "My Friend Irma" . . . This writer's mind recreates Joe with a striped shirt, diamond stick-pin and derby on a balding head . . . "Mr. Fix-It" himself.

Arthur Lake, Dagwood of NBC's "Blondie" show, is spending all his spare time at Balboa getting his yacht in shape for the championship yacht races to be held at Monterey after the first of the year . . . Jack Carson, an all-conference tackle during his days at Carleton college, never misses attending a pro game in Los Angeles . . . Ironic that everybody believes Jimmy Durante is joking when he sits down at the piano . . . Actually, the Schmo made a living for years as a piano-player before he turned comedian.

PLATTER CHATTER
Capitol has some new seven-inch, unbreakable records for children that should prove a boon to parents looking for suitable material for their youngsters . . . There are animal anecdotes, nursery rhymes and sea chanteys . . . everything growing children would enjoy . . . Also on Capitol, Andy Russell offers his smooth interpretation of "Adio Muchachos," with "If I Steal a Kiss" on the other side . . . For boogie addicts, Freddie Slack's "Be-Boogie Boogie" backed by his own "Mister Freddie's Boogie" is the best of the current five offerings.

Victor has released, in time for the holidays, Spike Jones' "All I Want for Christmas" which George Rock sings in his wistful manner, while on the flip side the whole gang join in a merry novelty ditty, appropriately entitled "Happy New Year" . . . Johnny Vadal composed and plays the hitting "Vad's Polka" with its coupling, a waltz, just to be versatile, "Love Never Dies."

In 1700, according to the then Secretary of the Navy, the Navy's annual food needs were 1,600 bushels of beans and 12,500 pounds of butter.

BABSON

Babson Discusses Washington
Everyone is asking what Mr. Truman and his Democratic Congress will do. This I will discuss in today's column, although my conclusions will probably satisfy you no one.

Truman and Labor
Since the election William Green, the able President of the American Federation of Labor, was my guest here at Babson Park. There is no doubt but that he feels that Mr. Truman owes his victory wholly to the farmers and wageworkers. Without doubt the Taft-Hartley Law will be modified in several ways. Certainly, employers should have the right to state their case to their wageworkers; and moreover should be obliged to take the same anti-communist oath as do the labor leaders.

It must not be forgotten that a coalition, at any time, of the Republicans and Southern Democrats could hold up any legislation that the President might greatly desire. This could apply to unreasonable excess profits taxes, price controls, changes in income brackets, New Deal dreams and, other legislation which would be apt to bring about a decline in general business. Hence, although there is nothing in the Truman victory which could help business, there is much which could harm business except for the influence of the Southern Democrats.

Truman and the Farmers
It is an old political slogan that "no one wants to shoot Santa Claus." Certainly, the Democratic Santa Claus has been very good to the farmers who recently have had the most wonderful year in their history. As Mr. Dewey did not make any substantial promises to the farmers, they felt it wise "to let well enough alone." As Mr. Truman is noted for loyalty to his friends, he will oppose any bills which the farmers oppose. Furthermore, the Republicans can expect no help from Southern Democrats in cutting the profits of the farmers.

Over a term of years the farmers' profits have not been abnormal. The farmers are entitled to some more good years to make up for the many bad years that they had during the thirties and even before. No industry should be judged by the earnings of only a few years. An average of an entire cycle should be considered. Surely, on this basis, the farmers are entitled to every cent they are getting and to help for some time longer. In fact, for keeping business fairly good the country is very dependent on prosperous farmers.

Truman and Russia
Another thing in which the Southern Democrats can be of no help is in connection with Stalin's attitude. He is the greatest factor in the business outlook especially in view of defense spending, foreign loans and the European Recovery Program. Truman can be a modifier of circumstances to some extent. He cannot be the master of destiny whatever his ability. This foreign situation will be further complicated by the political activities of the Veterans of World War I and World War II which activities were largely forgotten in the recent campaign.

President Truman has fighting ability, political judgment and vigorous health. It is also said that he is "honest"; but I do not understand how an honest man who is also intelligent could make the promises he did in his campaign speeches. He, moreover, appears to lack judgment in recruiting men of outstanding ability and tends to "go off half-cocked" and spring surprises which may be very dangerous. I doubt if he also fairly balances loyalty to friends against loyalty to the nation as a whole.

The Real Truth
The real truth is that Mr. Truman doesn't know what he is going to do anymore than you who read this article. The forecasts which columnists and radio commentators make is so much wasted time. Mr. Truman will try to carry out most of his promises, but he does not know which ones he will be able to fulfill. No one else knows. Hence, the only sure thing that readers can depend upon is that we have two years of great uncertainty ahead. Whether for good or evil, I must refer you to Mr. Stalin's inner thoughts, not necessarily to what he says. All of this means that readers should use 1949 for getting out of debt, storing up reserves and being prepared for whatever happens, even though this may mean "no change at all."
