Hints For Plymouth Homemakers

Add Topping and Savory Stew Becomes Meat Pie

Good, hot and hearty describes the meat pie. And just how does a meat pie vary from the old-fashioned stew? A meat pie is simply a stew with a topping.

For the finest in meat pies or stews follow the same rule as for standing ribs of beef or any other roast, cook at a low temperature. That is, slowly simmer the stew rather than allow it to rapidly boil.

In preparing a meat pie, brown the meat or not as desired. Then completely cover with water. For roasts in your meat pies consider various seasonings. Try bay leaf, celery seed, thyme, peppercorns, chili powder or curry powder for different flavor changes. With your choice of seasonings added, cover the pot closely and cook slowly until tender.

When you make up your stew with the same vegetables time after time. Here's a list to consider—carrots, peas, potatoes, parsnips, onions, celery, cauliflower, rutabaga, lima beans, green beans, green pepper, Brussels sprouts. Add vegetables just long enough before the end of cooking so they will be cooked. For that flavor, some gravy that's associated with a stew, drain the liquid from the stew and thicken with two tablespoons of flour for each cup of liquid.

As for the topping that turns the stew into a meat pie, choose flaky biscuits (plain or surprise sate biscuits). More possibilities are whipped potatoes, pie crust, shortcake crust, whipped sweet potatoes and rice toppings. With topping added, place the meat pie in your oven to bake until done.

Sage Biscuits
2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 table-spoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sage
4 to 6 table-spoons lard
1 3/4 to 2 cup milk

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sage. Cut in lard until mixture has a fine, even crumb. Add enough milk to make a soft dough. Turn onto a lightly floured surface and knead for 1/2 minute. Pat or roll 1/2 inch thick. Cut with a medium-sized biscuit cutter dipped in flour.

Combine meat, oatmeal, eggs and seasoning. Mix thoroughly. Drop by tablespoons into a small amount of hot lard or drippings in a frying-pan. Brown on both sides. Serve hot. 4 to 6 servings.

Stuffed Heart Unusual Dish

In a menu dither? Then turn to the variety meat, heart. There's a long list of menu possibilities with this meat.

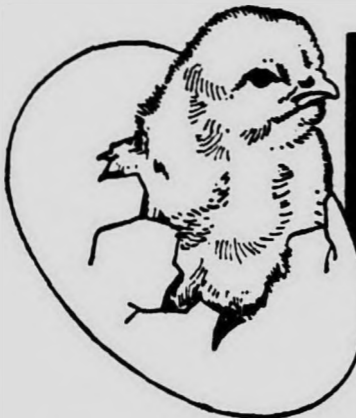

One favorite dish is stuffed beef heart. Fruit fillings such as apple, prune or apricot may be used. Following stuffing, skewer the opening and slowly braise the heart. Brown, then add a small amount of liquid, cover and cook until tender.

All heart—beef, veal, pork and lamb—should be cooked in moist heat. This may be by braising as described or by cooking in liquid. To cook completely covered with liquid, add one teaspoon salt for each quart of water. Simmer until tender—2 1/2 to 3 hours for lamb, pork or veal; 3 1/2 to 4 hours for beef heart.

For another unusual heart dish prepare heart chop suey. Cut the meat into thin strips, then prepare according to your favorite chop suey recipe. Serve over a mound of white rice.

Bacon Is A 3 Meal Meat

Why reserve bacon for breakfast? It's a three-meal meat.

For a lunch or dinner dish choose bacon-noodle scramble. To prepare this dish, add cooked noodles to a beaten egg-milk mixture and cook in bacon drippings. Serve surrounded with light golden brown bacon strips. And remember when cooking bacon, place a single layer in a cool frying pan. Cook over low heat, turning frequently and drain excess fat as it accumulates so that the bottom of the pan is only well greased. Cook slowly until the bacon is brown and evenly crisped.

Bacon also lends flavor and heartiness to a green bean casserole or scalloped potatoes. Or add bacon bits to spinach timbales. Perhaps you've overlooked bacon cups for a special breakfast or lunch. Heat slices of bacon in a frying-pan until they become transparent, then outline muffin pans with the bacon. Break an egg in each bacon cup and cook in a moderate oven for about 10 to 12 minutes.

Grange Cleanings

The meeting of January 3 was a very pleasant one. A splendid supper was enjoyed by a good number of members as usual.

We were happy to have with us our County Agent Mr. Biebesheimer of Wayne who gave us a fine talk on a variety of subjects and we all hope to have him with us again. We also were pleased to have a visit from Mr. and Mrs.

Schroeter of Warren road. He showed us many beautiful colored slides of Western scenery which were much enjoyed.

At our meeting of next Thursday, January 17 the Worthy Master, Mr. Harton is bringing a splendid picture on film which will be shown and we urge everyone to come and bring your neighbors. The program part of the meeting will be open to the public as this film is well worth seeing.

Don't forget the Lily Club on Monday, January 14 at the Grange hall. Mr. and Mrs. Billings and Mr. and Mrs. Dunson are the hosts for the evening. Members bring sandwiches or cake. Also card table and bring a friend or two.

Reminding you that January 15 is very close and the Grange dues should all be in the hands of the treasurer on that date. The dues are small and do not call for any more money now than later and the treasurer's report sounds so much better saying "All dues paid." The dues of those who belong to the Blue Cross must be paid now in order to retain your group membership.

Local Man Wins Jingle Contest

Jack H. Wilcox, 676 Penniman avenue, Plymouth, won a $300 Westinghouse Laundromat and a year's supply of Rain-Soft Rinso in the Arthur Godfrey $125,000 jingle contest. Lever Brothers company announced today.

His entry, judged on originality, sincerity and aptness, was selected as a winner by an independent contest judging organization. He supplied the prize-winning last line to this jingle:

"There once was a girl known as May Whose washes turned out rather gray.

They wouldn't have been so With new Rain-Soft Rinso—" The winner is one of 100 throughout the United States to win the top prize in one of four weekly contests. At the end of the contests his jingle will be judged in a field of 400 for a $10,000 grand prize.

The American Assoc. for the Advancement of Science claims the earth is shrinking. However, there's no rush about packing your extra toothbrush and buying a ticket to the moon... because the process isn't much faster than a Scotsman reaching for a check. From the headlines we've become accustomed to, it seems the world is too small already. If the old globe contracts any more the Comites will be close enough to borrow our lawn mowers. On the other hand, a smaller world might be just what the doctor ordered. If it crowds us in too much we might all have to get along together in spite of ourselves. In Upland, Calif., a husky descendant of Tom, Tom, the Piper's son stole a 200-pound hog and carried it off. There's a fellow who really brings home the bacon. A fact to bring home to you. When you pay what you consider an outrageous price for a few pills that your pharmacist makes for you, you're paying less in the long run. Modern miracle drugs, manufactured after years of research by leading laboratories, enable you to get back to work sooner. You need fewer visits from the doctor too... and so save a lot of money. A dependable pharmacist is your friend and ally. So be sure you count on the best. That's what you always get at PETERSON DRUG, 840 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Phone: 2080.

A jobless-pay review board in New Jersey thought it all over, ordered a bridegroom in Newark to repay the week's unemployment compensation he had collected while on his out-of-town honeymoon, since, after all he wasn't "able, available, and actively seeking work."

Deciding to take no chances, the new Providence Memorial Hospital in El Paso, Texas, had two oxygen outlets installed in the expectant-father's room.

Detectives in Chicago, looking high and low for a stolen artificial leg, finally got a confession from the owner's wife: She'd hidden it in order to keep her husband home nights.

MSC Co-ed Tells of Nursing Course

The Future Nurse's Club of Plymouth High school received the following letter from a former student of Plymouth High, who is now attending Michigan State College.

Dear Future Nurses Club members:

As one of our assignments for our nursing education class we were to write a letter to our parents, telling of our progress in school, the social activities we've been doing. But since most of us went home for Thanksgiving and naturally told our parents all about school then, I asked Miss Kemf, our instructor and head of the nursing department here at Michigan State College, if we could write to our high school Future Nurses Club instead. Since this is only the second year that the four year nurses' course has been offered here, I thought perhaps you would not be too familiar with it and would be interested in knowing a little about it.

Full term will be over in two weeks and I can honestly say that I have enjoyed these past weeks of work very much and am looking forward to the winter term. The courses I took the first quarter are: Biological Science, which is a general study of plants and animals; Written and Spoken English; Effective Living, which is an introduction to psychology and is divided into three sections, the individual, how his personality is formed, marriage, and group relations respectively. In addition to these I took general Chemistry and Introduction to Nursing, which consists of generalized information that will acquaint us with the nursing profession. For Physical Education I took Swedish gymnastics, which is exercising to music. I've enjoyed this class very much and in addition to reducing my waistline, I've discovered muscles I didn't know I had.

Since the nursing program here at MSC covers five year's work in four school years plus four summer sessions, our course of study has been pretty much planned for us. Some of the required courses are History of Civilization, Physics, Psychology, Microbiology, Anatomy, Physiology, Nutrition, Foods and Cookery, and Social Science. However, some time is allowed for electives.

Of course, the thing that all of us want more than anything else is to get into the hospital. This exciting event takes place in the summer of our sophomore year. The college nursing club is affiliated with both Sparrow Hospital in Lansing and Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids. In addition to general hospital work, we will have experience in psychiatric nursing, public health nursing, and possibly rural nursing. All these arrangements have not as yet been worked out since the program is only in its second year.

Last week we saw the various types of uniforms that we can select for the student nurse uniforms of Michigan State College. It's very exciting to be a part of the group which will decide the uniform, cap, pin and cape that the MSC nurses will be wearing for years to come.

College life has its share of fun as well as work. There are so many extra-curricular activities that one could go to college just for social life. The variety of activities is so large that anyone can find an organization he is interested in.

I hope that this little bit of information will give you some idea of the nursing course at Michigan State College.

Good luck in your club work this year.

Sincerely,
Mary Ann Witwer

Doctors Didn't Think Baby Charles Bennett Had a Chance

Mother Fired One Who Said He Wouldn't Live — Only Other Doctor in Plymouth Recommended Three Baths a Day in Whiskey — How Father Got the Whiskey

By Charles H. Bennett
Article No. 1

As the course of my life runs a very close parallel to the life and events of Plymouth over the past 88 years, it appears that I must say something about myself. I was born in the small house that still stands at 248 North Main street, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McPherson. It is the first house north of the residence of Miss Rose Hawthorne, which stands at the northwest corner of Main and Union streets.

My Grandfather Bennett came to Plymouth about the year 1830. He was then just a young man, coming to Michigan from the Finger Lake country of New York state. He was the father of three sons and one daughter. The oldest son was Charles Henry Bennett, the second was John Bennett and the youngest of the boys, was Lewis Hanchett Bennett, my father. The fourth child was the daughter Julia.

When I was ushered into the world Plymouth had two physicians. One of them was Doctor Coleman, at that time about 55 years of age. Doctor Coleman was the owner of the only drug store in the town. The store occupied a small, two-story frame building that stood on the southwest corner of Main street and a road now known as Penniman avenue. The building not only was his residence, but it was also his drug store and his office. Carter's little liver pills and paragoric were the chief remedies of the day, guaranteed to cure most anything.

The other doctor in Plymouth at the time of my birth was Doc Frank Kingsbury. With two doctors in town, our community figured that new babies had a two to 98 chance of survival. Doc Kingsbury had just moved to Plymouth from Ypsilanti a few months previous to my arrival in this world.

Well, Doctor Coleman of the drug store, being the best known physician of the town, he was called to officiate at the birth of my mother's first child. Just what occurred at that time I do not remember, but two days later I was advised when a youngster that the doctor had informed my mother that I might live two or three weeks at the most and that, even if I did, I would never amount to a tinker's damn.

It is reported that my mother gave the Doctor her opinion, that, though it was hot on that June 27th, the temperature in the house went up 20 degrees or more as Doc Coleman went out of the door.

Fortunately for me the new doctor in town, Dr. Kingsbury, was called and after taking me apart and carefully examining all that he could find, advised my mother that there was a chance for my survival if she bathed me three times a day in good strong whiskey.

Doctor Kingsbury's orders were followed to the letter and in my opinion in later years they must have filled my skin so full of whiskey that from that day to this the smell of whiskey nauseates me.

But it was no easy matter for the Doctor's orders to be filled, as whiskey was hard to obtain, according to what my mother told me in later years. In order to get it my father had to travel by horseback through a trail in the woods up to a little hamlet known as Brighton.

In those days it was commonly reported that there were plenty of stills operating in the woods around Brighton. So my father with five-gallon jugs strapped to each side of his saddle, rode off to Brighton to get the whiskey the doctor said I needed for my bath at least three times a day.

It was commonly reported that the natives up around Brighton made good strong whiskey that could be bought without too great an outlay of cash.

My father once told me that it was even said the Brighton whiskey was so strong that they could find no container strong enough to hold it while curing. So the Brighton natives hollowed out some of the stumps of larger trees and poured the raw whiskey into these stumps to cure. Then when they figured that the brew was sufficiently cured one of the distillers would sneak up to the stump at dusk and drop a big horseshoe into the mash and if the horseshoe would float, then the whiskey was ready to drink.

Whether it was whiskey baths or for some other reason, I am still here and feel pretty good most of the time.

When I was born in 1863 during the hard years of the Civil war, our home at 248 North Main street was then the only house on the east side of Main street between Union street and down to Mill street. It was a few years after this when Charles Roe, father of Ernest and Will Roe who still reside in Plymouth, built the house at the corner of Union and Main street. It was about five years later when a German by the name of E. G. Bode built a two-story brick building that still stands on the east side of Main street next to the C & O tracks. This building was then used as a hotel and was known for years as the Bode house.

Mr. Bode had a small bar on the first floor of his hotel. It was at this bar where he dispensed beer only by the schooner. He had several regular customers, due in part to the fact that Mr. Bode had the idea that a schooner should be a real schooner and that when he served a real schooner of beer it should be a schooner filled to overflowing. I do not know, but I assume that a schooner of beer in those days would be equal to about the contents of six glasses of beer that are served at the present time.

At the age of seven years, our family moved from the Main street home to a house that stood a few feet west of where the Masonic Temple is now located. My grandfather was a blacksmith and just to the east of our house on the old trail road that is now known as Penniman avenue, was a blacksmith shop built and operated by an uncle of mine named John Bennett.

Back of this blacksmith shop my father built a long wooden building and started the manufacture of windmills. This windmill factory was one of the first industries started in Plymouth or western Wayne county.

HS Cagers Play Bentley Friday

Tomorrow night the high school cagers will swing back into action when the varsity and reserves journey to the high school in Livonia for an engagement with the Bentley Bulldogs.

This game should be a fairly close contest as these two quintets have developed a natural rivalry during the short time they have competed against each other. Last year they split two encounters by close scores and then Plymouth won the rubber game when they polished off Bentley by one point to win the district tournament championship.

Coach John Sandmann will get the opportunity to see how his two new varsity men, Casey Cavell and Jerry Kelly up from the reserves, will perform in league competition.

Coach Charles Ketterer's undefeated reserve squad will miss the two high-scoring boys, but should still have enough strength left to give a good account of themselves in any game.

Next Tuesday night Farmington will come to Plymouth for a return engagement. Earlier in the season the Falcons defeated the Rocks by a comfortable margin.

Tait's Win Again

Tait's, the undefeated quintet in the senior men's league, squeezed out a win over LaFountaine last Thursday night when they edged them 64 to 46. The LaFountaine lads, undefeated before this game, lost all chances of winning in the third quarter when they were outscored 24 to 8. At the end of the half Tait's led 30 to 23.

For the mighty winners, Paige was the high point man with 9 baskets and 3 free throws for 21 points. Mac Pierce had 12. Ray Gillis led the losers with 19 points and Hall had 16.

Tonight Tait's take on Daisy at the Detroit House of Correction.

Gaffs 67 Daisy 47

In a game played at the Fisher school, near Telegraph and Plymouth roads, last Thursday night, Gaff's Cleaners cleaned Daisy's clock 67 to 47.

Throughout the game the Daisy players had difficulty in sinking their shots as they made good on only a very small percentage of the many attempts made.

Wally Dzurus, the left-handed scoring sensation of the high school last year, was high point man for Daisy as he racked up 22 points for the losers. Gaff's points were distributed among several players.

DeHoCo Wins 2nd

The Men's basketball five from DeHoCo won their second triumph of the season last Thursday night when they bested the Livonia squad by a score of 57 to 44. Their first win was also over Livonia.

The Livonia shooters couldn't locate the basket in the first half and this was the cause of their downfall—the score at that point being 35 to 11 in favor of DeHoCo.

For the winners, Robinson contributed 15 points, Grans 12 and Krider 11. P. Horie led the losers with 15 points followed by Bob Norman with 11.

Sports Glances

by "Professor" Edgar Brown

There is much in evidence that Plymouth has one of the best recreational and adult education programs of any city its size in the state. This program for youngsters, and oldsters, can mean much in providing community recreation and education to all who desire a little exercise or to further their education.

Individuals who have some form of entertainment are much more happy than those who just exist from day to day. A happy person makes a good citizen. I'm sure this is what our wonderful little city wants of all its residents.

Herbert Woolweaver, the recreational director, and his assistant Mrs. Jennie Donnelly, are doing a swell job of giving our community the best possible program. More power to them, and to the city of Plymouth, the public schools, and all others who help in making our city known as one of the most progressive in Michigan.

The high school plays their new rival, Bentley, on the basketball court tomorrow night over at the neighboring school's modern gymnasium. Last year a few unfortunate incidents occurred over there that were regretted by both schools.

It is hoped that this new rivalry, which is replacing the hitherto Northville one, will be one of friendly, clean, wholesome sportsmanship. The athletes of both teams, and the fans attending the games can make this possible by conducting themselves as true sportsman do. In many cases these incidents are caused by alumnae or grown-ups, who fail to realize that such incidents reflect upon the schools concerned.

May this natural rivalry develop into one where the better team wins, and both the winner and loser, win and lose graciously.

Tait's All Alone at Top of League

With the men's basketball league season one-third over, Tait's still continued to dominate the league and remain the only undefeated team in the circuit. LaFountaine and Gaff's Cleaners are breathing on the necks of the leaders, and will give Tait's trouble before the close of the season—each have won three and lost one. Plymouth United Bank is the only team not to have tasted victory.

Bill Lassman Scores a Hit!

Not long ago we received this letter from Mr. Theodore I. Cooper, of the Marsh Engineering Company, Detroit:

"I wish to take the liberty of complimenting the Michigan Bell Telephone Company on the courteous, efficient and co-operative people they have in their employ. I desire to bring particular attention to Bill Lassman, who today was installing telephone service in our building. He has made several suggestions to us regarding our service, arranging of telephones and efficiency, and I know he has gone beyond his expected duties in being most helpful to us. One thing that pleased me greatly was that he carried a little brush and immediately swept up any dirt due to his work when drilling through our cement blocks and wood. He was most cautious about not causing any damage to anything. It gives me great pleasure to write a letter such as this for any man who has the interest in his work above and beyond his ordinary duties."

It's people who make telephone service good!

Blood Donors Need Good Diet

A plea has gone out for American blood donors. Those persons who generously give blood must pay special attention to their diet. This is in light of a newer knowledge of nutrition in which it is now understood that the right kind of food is important for the formation of high quality blood.

Information from a Red Cross blood transfusion center in London, England, revealed a reduction of about 10 per cent in blood quality of their blood donors at the present time. Authorities in England believe the reason for this reduced blood quality is the long period of scarcity of meat in British diets.

Following research, a direct relationship has been discovered between the amount of protein and iron rich foods, such as meat, eaten daily and the quality of blood. It has been found that blood donors require an additional amount of protein and iron foods for rebuilding rich, red blood. These nutritional needs are found in all meat with the variety meats, liver, kidney and heart especially excellent sources.

Ohio Removes All Fish Restrictions

Michigan's neighbor state, Ohio, has gone all the way in removing restrictions on fishing. Effective next March 1, Ohio waters with a few exceptions will be open to year-round fishing with no restrictions on numbers of fish caught or on size.

Michigan is unlikely to follow Ohio's lead because of differences in types of fishing waters and species of fish, especially in the northern part of the state, although the 1951 legislature opened southern lakes to year-around fishing except for those species on which seasons are closed, effective last September 28. Northern lakes were opened to year-around fishing under similar restrictions in 1946.

Ohio has comparatively few lakes, most of them man-made, and crappies are among the principal species found in them.

Recent action of the Michigan legislature was based on findings of the conservation department during a several-year period in which certain southern lakes were opened to year-around fishing on an experimental basis.

It's now estimated that each cell in your body contains, in its nucleus, or central portion, as many as 500,000 genes, the tiny units that transmit hereditary characteristics from you to your children.

Food Prices May Rise in 1952-Motts

Your family food basket will be at least as full and maybe fuller in 1952 than in 1951 says George Motts, Michigan State College marketing specialist. He believes retail food prices in general may rise slightly in the coming year but such increases are more likely to result from higher handling costs, particularly wages, than from shorter supplies.

Here are some forecasts on how the 1952 food situation in the United States may affect your eating habits and food budget.

Expect perhaps 10 percent more beef in 1952 than last year, but about the same amount of pork, lamb and mutton. Continued high demand will hold prices close to present levels, according to Motts.

Chicken and turkey will continue to be good meat "buys" in 1952. You can enjoy even more eggs in 1952 than the record-breaking average of 406 per person reached in 1951. Continued popularity of these foods is expected to keep 1952 retail prices close to last year's levels. Some increase in total supplies of fresh and frozen fish is expected to offset the slightly lower supply of processed seafoods. The MSC economist predicts there will be less canned red salmon, more pink salmon and practically the same supply of canned tuna.

You can look forward to more fresh milk and cream, more ice cream, about the same amounts of cheese, condensed and evaporated milk, but less butter. Continued strong demand is expected to keep retail prices of dairy products at or slightly above present levels.

Fresh apple supplies are close to their volume a year ago, there are more oranges for marketing during this winter than last, but the grapefruit crop is smaller. Total supplies of canned fruits and fruit juices are close to 1951 quantities, but there are somewhat more frozen fruits and fruit juices. Raisins and prunes will be excellent food values on your 1952 shopping lists.

In 1952 there will be adequate amounts of white potatoes, a third less sweet potatoes and larger supplies of canned and frozen vegetables. If the southern states have normal weather during the rest of the winter, there will be more fresh vegetables from the south than we had last winter. Canned peas will be attractively priced for the next eight or nine months.

We can expect larger supplies of lard, margarine, shortening and other vegetable oils, but less butter. We can eat as much cereal foods as we do usually do, but rice will be a particularly good "buy" in the cereal group of foods. We'll also have plenty of Navy beans and sugar.

52,000,000 American women now sew at home, with 9 out of 10 owning their own sewing machines. Since 1945, sales of dress patterns have increased from 90,000,000 to 200,000,000 a year.

Mineral Leases Net State Million

State-owned mineral lands under oil and gas lease were at an all-time high of 955,000 acres at the close of 1951, the conservation department reports. Leases netted the state $1,200,000 in bonuses, rentals and royalties during the year, only $70,000 short of last year's record high. Declining production of older wells is reducing the state's royalties.

At four public lease auctions held during the year, 328,800 acres were bid in for a total of $179,982 in bonuses.

Expansion of the St. Helens oil pool in Roscommon county and the Rose City pool in Ogemaw county, together with the expansion of the Cannon Creek gas field in Missaukee county, highlighted oil and gas leasing activities during the year.

At year's end the state is participating in production from 314 oil and 37 gas wells, a new all-time high in number of producing wells on state lands.

Leo R. Schaefer Dies in Dearborn

Solemn high Mass was read for Leo R. Schaefer, 49, of 45505 North Territorial road, Plymouth in St. Alphonsus church, Dearborn, at 10:30 a.m., December 26. He was buried with military honors in the Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

A heart attack while working on the tractor which he was using to plow the snow was the cause of death. Death occurred December 22 in Jennings hospital.

Elected Justice of the Peace when he was barely 21, Mr. Schaefer served in this capacity until 1941 when he enlisted in the Navy. He served with the Judge Advocate branch and was elevated to the rank of Lieutenant Commander.

In 1932 he ran for Congress on the Progressive Republican ticket.

After the war, Mr. Schaefer moved to Plymouth, but continued his private practice in Dearborn.

Surviving are his wife, Carol; his stepmother, Mrs. Theresa Schaefer; four brothers, Dr. Robert, John F., Joseph J., and Arthur H.; and two sisters Mrs. Clara P. Meyer and Mrs. Lavinia Cruise.

Deep Snow Drive Deer into Yards

Current early winter weather conditions which drive Michigan's deer into swamps and "yards" reverse the experience of recent years with upper peninsula deer generally on the move and those below the Straits in yards in several areas.

With snow depths ranging up to nearly two feet at Cadillac, lower peninsula deer are in yards in the Traverse City and Baldwin districts, according to the conservation department which reports animals are in good shape. Only yarding reported above the Straits is in the east end of the upper peninsula, where snow depth of 18 feet is reported near the Lake Superior shore, ranging downward to a half-foot in the west end of the peninsula.

Temperatures as low as minus-25 degrees already have been reported for winter deer range.

A nap taken before eating is preferred to one directly after the meal, especially for older people, since the stomach works more comfortably when the body is in an upright position.

Continue War On Insects For Entire Year

Winter sounds the cease-fire in the amateur gardener's war on bugdom, but it shouldn't!

Off-season scouting now can result in the severe depopulation of insect saboteurs. The home owner should seek out and destroy as many over-wintering eggs in his trees as he can. So arm yourself with a private eye's magnifying glass and your sleuthing will be lots easier.

It's not difficult to spot the more common insect enemies in their egg stage, according to F. R. Lancaster, entomologist for the Davey tree experts. He recommends that you be on the lookout particularly for the eggs of three types of pests—canker worm, scurfy scale and red spider.

Insects live over the winter in ones of four forms—adult, larva, pupa or egg. The egg stage is common. Eggs of the canker worm, probably the number 1 leaf devourer, are laid like a pearl necklace around a twig or loosely under bits of bark. Canker worms are general feeders, and you may find egg clusters on virtually any kind of tree.

The scurfy scale is also a general feeder, but has a special penchant for elms. Eggs are covered by a protective scale—flat, pear-shaped and dirty gray in color. Turn over the scale carefully with the point of a penknife and you will see purplish eggs piled loosely underneath. Usually the scale is attached to the underside of small twigs. Tiny eggs of the red spider pest range in color from yellow to red and likewise are found on small twigs—either singly or in small groups.

These all are serious pests that menace the health of your trees. So prune off all infested twigs within reach and burn complete. If infestations seem bad on lower branches and twigs, chances are the tops are similarly afflicted. Make a note to initiate a spray program in early Spring. These tree enemies can be controlled by a dormant oil spray applied just prior to bud starting in the Spring.

Roger Babson Says---

Babson Discusses Advertising
New York City, January 10. This is not a defense of advertising. Probably as much money has been wasted on advertising as on drilling for oil or mining for gold; but getting only dry wells and dead veins! But without those willing to take these wild-cat risks, we would have no oil and no gold. Advertising is a risk and should be sold as such.

Advertising is a Good Risk
But advertising is a good risk. Money spent thereon is the best gamble that I know of. According to an Advertising Bureau which made a study of the 717 companies which were spending annually over $25,000 on advertising ten years ago, 91 percent are still in business and doing more advertising than ever, while only 5 percent are now spending less on advertising. Only one company in 12 found advertising unprofitable.

Those companies which have quit advertising were trying to sell a wrong product, or had wrong sales policies, or an antiquated management. The way this 91 percent has stayed in business with continuing success, despite competition from new companies and improved products, proves my point.
Opportunities in Small Cities
Most of the above 717 concerns are located in the larger cities; but I believe that statistics of merchants in small cities would show an equal percentage of success. The most successful companies are now giving much advertising to small dailies and weeklies. This tendency is sure to increase as years go on. The people of small communities read advertisements very carefully.

One of the safest investments is in newspapers, large or small, especially where there is only one newspaper which controls the field. It is true that the costs of producing all newspapers are rising; but it is easy to raise the price of a newspaper. Most newspapers now sell for five cents, while some have recently increased to seven or ten cents. People want news; the more they pay for a newspaper, the more carefully it is read (news and ads) — hence, more valuable is its advertising space.

Helping Your Employees
I believe in Pension Plans; but pensions help workers only after they are 65 years old. Advertising helps all employees all the time. Too few companies take seriously the problem of making factory workers understand the importance of what advertising does to hold up production, with high employment.
Labor newspapers should not accuse businessmen of "throwing money away" by spending it on advertising. It is true that advertising expenditures were about $6 billion in 1951, but nearly all of it is closely watched for very prompt results in greater sales, which, when achieved, lead to larger payrolls.

Thank Advertising for American Prosperity
Advertising is largely responsible for the fact that our wages and standard of living are so much higher than that of any other country. Without advertising, we couldn't have mass selling. Without mass selling, we could not afford mass production. Without mass production, we would not enjoy the world's highest standard of living.
"What is selling — and advertising — doing to help me?", you may ask. It is helping you to secure 52 weeks of employment and is helping to increase your "take-home" pay. It is increasing employment so that your son can also get a good job. As it helps every worker, it makes more trade for every merchant. We should all encourage advertising.

Magazine Advertising Has One Danger
Everything in this world has its advantages and disadvantages — hence, so has magazine advertising. It is becoming so beautiful and "pulling", prepared by high-priced artists and psychologists, that it may get many women to buy more than they should and go needlessly into debt. These ads may also result in unreasonable labor demands. On this point, you might be interested to write the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, Washington 6, D. C., and ask for these free leaflets: "Fables and Facts About Advertising"; "The Man Who Couldn't See Beyond His Own Nose"; and "Where's Elmer!"
