

Another Festival Coming Up

Another Fall Festival is being planned for Plymouth by the Rotary Club with sights set on making it even bigger than last year's initial effort when nearly 3,000 people turned out for dinner.

This year's Festival will be Sunday, Sept. 10 and it will again be held in Kellogg Park. On the menu again will be broiled chicken and roast corn.

The Festival, with proceeds being used for the Rotary Foundation, will have many side attractions including a large number of antique automobiles. Invited to participate with exhibits this year have been the Three Cities Art Club, Historical Society, Theatre Guild, Garden Club and 4-H clubs.

Frank Arlen is again general chairman of the Festival. Other committee chairmen are:

Site preparation, Earl West; hospitality, Harold Guenther; publicity, Sam Hudson; serving, Robert Maurer; soft drinks, A. D. Johanson; tickets, Robert Beyer; chefs, Carl Caplin; exhibitors, Loren Gould.

Good News for Taxpayers

Money Spent 'As Planned'

It was a year ago last month that 1,322 people went to the polls and voted for a "Building and Site Sinking Fund" for the Plymouth Community School District. Another 835 electors voted against it.

Backers of the five-year, five-year sinking fund made a number of promises concerning the plan — among them an estimate that it would save taxpayers of the school district $550,000.

With a year now elapsing, it is fair now to give a look at the sinking fund and see if it is doing all that it was supposed to do. Is it saving taxpayers money? Where is the five mills going?

The sinking fund was actually the baby of a Finance and Fact-Finding Committee, a committee of interested citizens who compiled many surveys and data. The problem was not only to build new facilities but to also rehabilitate and modernize the existing High School to conform with a multitude of recommendations of the state fire marshal.

Out of their months of meetings came the plan for establishing a Building and Site Sinking Fund — which, in short, is a pay-as-you-go method of financing.

On June 13, 1960, the fund was approved.

It was estimated by the pay-as-you-go program would save taxpayers $550,000 — or nearly the cost of a new elementary school.

The $550,000 savings is the amount saved if the alternate and usual method of issuing bonds was followed. Interest on bond issues is costly.

During the five-year life of the sinking fund, it is estimated that the millage will yield around $2,500,000.

In order to get work going, the school district on Aug. 1, 1960, borrowed $200,000 and repaid this loan on Jan. 27, 1961, following collection of taxes. Interest on this short-term loan was 2.40 per cent.

On March 1, the district borrowed $400,000 in anticipation of taxes to be collected this coming Dec. 1. Interest on this loan is only 1.85 per cent.

Last week, the Board of Education authorized that application be made to the Municipal Finance Commission to borrow $400,000 more that would be repaid by April, 1963, after the 1962 taxes are collected.

This "borrowing ahead" was part of the original program. While borrowing requires the paying of interest, it is nowhere as much as a 12-year bond issue. This short-term interest was figured

Industries Working On Soot Complaint

Two Plymouth Township industries are at work making changes to reduce the amount of smoke and flyash from their stacks, the Plymouth Township Board was told at its regular monthly meeting last week.

It was several months ago that petitions signed by 186 people were presented to the Board, protesting the smoke and flyash.

The two industries are Evans Products and Burroughs Corp.

The Wayne County Department of Health and City of Detroit Bureau of Air Pollution both made inspections of the plant areas and gave their report to the Township Board.

The report stated that the smoke and flyash at the plants exceeds the limitations as set forth in Township Ordinance 14.

"While the plants are well maintained and efficiently operated with existing equipment," the report stated, "a substantial reduction of the existing condition could be effected by installing additional equipment."

The departments said that Burroughs has started to install some equipment that will alleviate the problem and other equipment is being studied by engineers. Evans also reports plans for some changes but is also exploring use of gas as fuel.

In other business before the Board, Supervisor Roy Lindsay reported that he, Township Attorney Earl Demel and engineer Herald Hammill went to Lansing to meet with the Department of Health about the possibility of the Township obtaining relief from the ban on building permits because of the lack of interceptor sewers.

The three men were told that as soon as the

Call Meeting On Central Parking Lot

A special meeting of the City Commission has been called for 8 p.m. next Monday at which they will take another look at the Central Parking Lot expansion.

Although commissioners have already approved the project, a threatened lawsuit over the proposed assessment has prompted another look to determine the equity of the project. Those interested in the parking lot are being invited by the Commission to attend the meeting.

In business before the Commission last Monday night, the city manager was asked to take bids on a culvert to be laid at Coolidge and Tonquish Creek. Several years ago, a culvert was laid at the eastern end of Hartsough to provide an access to the Junior High. Residents of the Hartsough area were told that other routes would be provided to the Junior High, so that Hartsough would not get all of the traffic.

A motion was approved to purchase the home of Mrs. Adella Criger, 648 Dodge St., for $10,000. The home is behind City Hall and is being purchased for eventual City Hall expansion. A home beside the Criger home is already owned by the City. Mrs. Criger will remain in the home while the City purchases it over a period of years.

Names of 26 on Ballot

Predict Few At Con-Con Primary

Something of a summer drought is anticipated at the polls this Tuesday when Democrats and Republicans across the state are faced with the decision of who should represent their parties in the September Constitutional Convention election.

The special election on July 25 is the primary bout for over 900 candidates who hope to gain their party's nomination for the Con-Con posts. The final round will come Sept. 12.

Polls will open at 7 a.m. and will close at 8 p.m. all across the state.

Locally, there will be 26 candidates competing for nominations. Only four of the 26 will be nominated.

Both parties will nominate one candidate to represent each of the state's senatorial districts and representative district.

In the 18th Senatorial District, there are three Democrats and three Republicans seeking nominations.

Attempting to gain nominations from the 21st Representative District are 13 Democrats and seven Republicans.

Tuesday's primary will reduce this number down to one Republican and one Democrat as candidates for the Senatorial and Representative Districts.

No Contest For Charter Writers

While local candidates tend to add to the interest in elections and often bring out more voters, the appearance of nine Plymouth Township candidates on Tuesday's ballot is not expected to be much of a drawing card.

The nine candidates are seeking charter commission jobs — and there are nine jobs offered.

Township voters will find the list on their voting machines under a non-partisan heading. Each must be voted for separately.

Only those voters living within the boundary of the proposed City of Plymouth Heights can vote on the candidates, however.

It will be the job of the charter commission to again draft a charter that must be submitted to electors within two years.

Actually, the entire Plymouth Heights program is a device to stage off any annexation of Plymouth Township land to the City for another two years. The device was used effectively from February 1959 to January 1961 when the first charter commission was elected, drafted a charter and finally submitted it to voters. It was rejected, 1,589 to 35.

The nine candidates are:

James H. Barber, 14015 Ridgewood.

Charles Childs, 42351 Hammill.

Clark G. Finley, 41211 Wilcox.

James N. Garber, 42269 Hammill.

John E. Hoffman, 45425 W. Ann Arbor Trail.

Melbourne C. Perlberg, 42300 Hammill.

Thomas Range, 41770 Schoolcraft.

Lawrence A. Schendel, 42257 Hammill.

C. Veach Sparks, 44934 Joy Rd.

Disaster Fund Established By Community Fund

A new $1000 fund to be used for disasters in Plymouth and Plymouth Township has been established by the Plymouth Community Fund.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors last week, it was voted to set up the disaster fund and to establish rules under which the money can be used.

The money will be placed in a special bank account and can be withdrawn on short notice by at least two officers without calling a meeting of the entire board.

It was decided that the money will not be administered directly by the Community Fund, but through an agency that can better determine the use of such money. Such agencies might be the Red Cross or Salvation Army.

AN ARTIST'S conception shows how the City's proposed Urban Renewal project may look upon its completion. Located along Mill St. between Ann Arbor Trail and Amelia, the project would eliminate 18 dwelling units and several other buildings. The area would be leveled and redeveloped for industrial sites. Urban Renewal is a federal project under which the government pays two-thirds and the local governments one-third. Now making formal application to the government for the grant, the City hopes to start land acquisition this fall.

(For a biographical sketch of the candidates, check special page inside this issue. One candidate, Joseph Kadans, Democratic candidate for Senatorial District, is not listed on this page. He was not certified until recently, even too late to be printed on the absentee ballots. Stickers with Kadans' name have been provided election clerks for attaching to the absentee ballots.)

None of the clerks in the local Senatorial or Representative Districts is expecting a stampede Tuesday. While selection of the right people to re-write Michigan's Constitution should be extremely important, most voters have expressed little interest in the election.

Not discounted too, is the number of persons who will be vacationing. One candidate, Paul Chandler, publisher of this newspaper, provided electors with absentee ballot applications and clerks in the area communities report a heavy return of the applications.

Application for absentee ballots can be made until 2 p.m. this Saturday. The ballots can be returned up to and including election day.

Clerks were joined by officials of the League of Women Voters, Junior Chambers of Commerce and other groups in urging a large turnout at the polls.

One of the chief issues among candidates seems to be taxation and adequate representation. Under discussion has been a metropolitan authority which might include all communities in a single, highly-populated county to solve mutual problems together.

The 18th Senatorial District includes Redford, Northville and Plymouth Townships, the Cities of Plymouth, Northville and Livonia and Ward 22 in Detroit. Only six of the 26 candidates are in the 18th

Precinct Changes Site, Another Hard to Find

There will be one new voting location for Plymouth City electors when they go to the polls this Tuesday, but Plymouth Township voters will find their polling places the same as before.

City Clerk Joseph Near said that Precinct 2, formerly at Fire Station No. 2, has been moved across the street to Starkweather School.

Precinct 3 will still be at the High School, but not in the usual spot. Because of the construction and renovation in the High School this summer, the voting machines have been moved to Room A-1. This is on the first floor of the annex (former Junior High). Near advises that voters use the bus circle off Adams St. for parking. The new entrance directly behind the Methodist Church is to be used.

Otherwise, City electors will find their precincts the same. Precinct 1 is at City Hall and Precincts 4 and 5 in the Bronson Building.

In Plymouth Township, Precinct 1 is at Fire Station No. 2 on Schoolcraft Rd. and Precincts 2 and 3 at Township Hall.

NEWS BEAT

Six department managers at Ward's Wonderland store have stood mute in Livonia municipal court to charges of conspiracy to embezzle goods. They were implicated by Ward's security officers who said the six made deals with each other to exchange merchandise without payment. They estimate a loss of $20,000 since last September. The men will now face examination and have been freed under $1,000 bond.

FADING: The Northville Community General Hospital, reopened six months ago, is in financial trouble and may soon close its doors. The Board of Directors is seeking an outright gift of $10,000 to save it from closing, and an additional $20,000 to purchase it from its two owners. Lack of Blue Cross endorsement has caused the financial crisis. Many improvements are needed before Blue Cross will pay full amounts to its patients.

HOLDOUT: Supervisor Roy Lindsay, who is on the Sewer and Water Committee of the Board of Supervisors, reported Monday that Romulus is the only hold-out among the 22 Wayne County communities that must sign a sewer contract before the State Department of Health again allowed building permits. One Romulus Township board member is reported holding out because of the proposed interceptor's route. The Road Commission will spend this week trying to straighten out the matter.

LAY-OFFS: In addition to the indefinitely postponing opening of the new Plymouth State Home and Training School building (reported last week), the cut in State Mental Health Commission budget will also mean lay-offs. Of the 128 mental hospital staff members being cut statewide, 48, including 31 nurses, will be at the Plymouth unit.

LOOKING AHEAD: Several City commissioners and the city manager were in Inkster last week looking at

Joanne Pankow-Gerald Goode Wed at High Nuptial Mass

On Saturday, July 15, Joanne Marie Pankow and Gerald Goode repeated their vows before Rev. Father John Wittstock at a 10:30 a.m. nuptial mass at Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church.

Coming down the aisle on the arm of her father, who gave his daughter in marriage, the bride wore a formal gown of imported Italian silk. The scoop neckline had appliques of Venice lace and seed pearls which were continued at the princess style waistline and scattered throughout the bouffant skirt ending in a chapel train. The bride's long sleeves were pointed with Venice lace and seed pearls. Her many-tiered double bubble veil of French illusion was held by a princess crown of Venice lace and pearls matching the gown. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gardenias and stephanotis.

Mrs. James Goode, sister-in-law of the groom, was matron of honor and was gowned in pastel yellow chiffon over silk. The bodice had a scoop neckline and short sleeves. The sheath skirt was flared with floating chiffon panels in the back. A pastel yellow pillbox hat with nosetip veil and matching accessories completed her ensemble.

Bridesmaids, Mrs. Richard Goode, also a sister of the groom, Mrs. David Lake and Miss Carolyn Burkman were dressed identically to the matron of honor. They all carried large cascade bouquets of deep gold chrysanthemums.

Brothers of the groom assisted him. Best man was Glenn

Goode while ushers were James, Donald and Richard Goode.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Pankow chose a hyacinth blue sheath dress of silk and matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Mrs. Goode, mother of the groom, wore a honey beige dress styled identically to that of Mrs. Pankow's. She wore matching beige accessories and a deep rosecorsage.

The church altar was adorned with vases of white gladioli and the church pews were trimmed with white satin bows and greens.

The "Lord's Prayer," "Ave Marie" and "Pater Noster" preceded the high nuptial mass.

A wedding luncheon and tea dance followed the ceremony at the Farm Cupboard for the 150 guests that attended. Visitors came from Plymouth, Northville, Livonia, Ypsilanti, Garden City, Grass Lake, Farmington, Ann Arbor, Detroit, Birmingham, St. Clair Shores, Decatur, Ill., and Toledo.

For her wedding trip the new Mrs. Goode wore a three piece dinner suit of silk linen that she had designed and made. Her shoes and bag green and her hat and accessories were gold.

Upon return from their Northern Michigan honeymoon they will make their home at 22634 Brookdale in Farmington. Mrs. Goode will be teaching in the north Farmington High School. The groom is employed with Standard Accident and Casualty Insurance Co. in Detroit where he will also be attending the Detroit College of Law. They are both 1960 graduates of the University of Michigan.

Rites Solemnized in Lovely Village Martha Mary Chapel

At Greenfield Village's Martha Mary Chapel Ellen Cowgill and David Lewis Childs spoke their vows before Rev. David Davies in a single ring, candlelight ceremony July 15.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in a full length ivory-colored bouquet taffeta with three quarter length sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. The bouffant skirt ended in a chapel train. Her ivory-colored waist-length full veil was held in place with taffeta bow-shaped headpiece. She carried a cascade arrangement of stephanotis and phalaenopsis orchids.

Mrs. Mark deVeider, matron of honor, wore a sheath of toast-colored chiffon over taffeta with matching shoes and a small floral chiffon headband with short circular veil and white gloves. Her cascade bouquet was made of daisies.

Bridesmaids Miss Jean G. Butler of Pontiac, Miss Patricia Allworth of Livonia and Miss Susan W. Crawford of Saginaw were frocked the same as the matron of honor except their daisy cascade bouquets were a lighter shade of coral.

William P. Childs, brother of the groom from Washington, D. C., was best man while William W. Cowgill, McDonald, Greenwich, Conn., and Mark E. deVeider of Grand Rapids, were ushers. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Cowgill wore a gray and white print chiffon dress with matching white shoes and hat. Both mothers wore cymbidium orchid corsages.

The bride's traveling costume was a blue and white striped seersucker suit with navy blue accessories. Following their two week honeymoon trip to Bermuda, the couple will make their home in Rockville, Conn. The new Mrs. Childs attended Michigan State, Mexico City College and gradu-

THE HOTTER THE WEATHER THE MORE HOT WATER YOU'LL NEED — MORE BATHS — MORE LAUNDRY

The average family will use a surprising amount of hot water during these warm months. Nearly everyone bathes more frequently. Children, especially, need more baths, because they are playing outdoors in the dust and dirt. Children dirty a lot more clothes, too, and adults like to change clothes more frequently for comfort and appearance. It all adds up to a need for more hot water.

Canton Electors Vote Again On Chartered Township Issue

Esther Sprengel
GL 3-0194

On Tuesday July 25, there will be an election, as there will be all over the state. At this time you will be asked to choose a representative to Con-Con. Although at the last election the majority of voters in this area chose to turn down Con-Con, it did go through state-wide. To those who voted for it, get out and choose the person to represent you and to you that preferred to see Con-Con lose, it is just as important for you to get out and vote and see that the right persons represent you, so that Con-Con will benefit Michigan and all its residents.

In a way this vote is more important than the first election. Plus the Con-Con issue, Canton Township residents have expressed a desire, through petition by residents, that the Charter Township once again be presented to our residents.

The last time the charter vote was presented it went down by only a very few votes, let's make it a true majority this time, either for or against, don't rely on your neighbors to vote the way you want, do it yourself. If you are going to be away, get an absentee ballot from Township Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Soth of Warren Rd., just returned from a trip to California, at which time they visited with friends and relatives.

Mrs. Perry Hix of Warren Rd. and Mrs. John Albertson of Maben Rd. spent a day with the Walter Wacker Family of Detroit on Friday, June 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hix of Wayne were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Hix. The Hix's have been very busy of late. They just returned from a trip through Northern Michigan into Canada via the new highway around North Superior Lake. Following their trip they were host to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Luck of Florida. The Lucks had lunch with Mr. and Mrs. Hix on Thursday.

Buttons are popping everywhere. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Truesdell announce the birth of a son, Gregory Robert, born July 8, at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor. The young man weighed in at 8 lbs. 5 oz. Bob and Dianne (the new parents) are residing with Gregory's proud grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Truesdell of Cherry Hill. The family was eagerly awaiting a phone call from Gregory's other grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin of Washington State, Dianne's home. One thing for sure, Gregory will not want for attention with all those aunts, uncles and grandparents awaiting his call.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bordine and family of Saltz Rd., were host to out of town visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Barber of Jacksonville, Florida and their two sons, Ted and Stevie.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyde Bordine of Saltz Rd. also have house guests, Mrs. Inez Eckles, Mrs. Bordine's mother and sister, Mrs. Erma Kester of East Lansing. Mrs. Kester will be leaving for an extended European trip.

Just so you won't think the Sprengels keep their whereabouts a secret, the family, along with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hilving's daughter, Karen and son, Kent, of Nankin Township, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. Hilving's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hilving of St. Clair Shores. The Hilvings live on the Lake, and the group enjoyed swimming, boating, water skiing and an outdoor cook-out.

Please, don't forget to vote on July 25 at your Township precincts.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS...

10 Years Ago

Monday saw the first wheat from Plymouth's productive fields start to roll into local elevators. According to Joe Wickens, of the Specialty Feed Products, well-known farmer John Bunyca of Joy Rd., made the first delivery of 150 bushels of new wheat that tested 57 pounds of good quality.

Husband calling contests, a tug of war, a peanut scramble for the kids and all other typical contests will be the order of the day when Wayne County Vegetable Growers gather in Riverside Park this Saturday.

25 Years Ago

Reports of the convention of Rotary International, held June 22 through 27, at the Municipal auditorium in Atlantic City, were given by Herold F. Hamill and George A. Smith at the meeting of the local club Friday, at the Mayflower Hotel. Mr. Hamill went as delegate from Plymouth, with Mr. Smith as alternate.

While the mercury soared late Monday and Tuesday to the highest point Plymouth had ever experienced, bringing suffering and distress to every person and untold damage to vegetable, fruit and berry crops, Plymouth's water supply pressure sank to the alarming lowest ebb any one ever recalls. The pressure was down to a bare 15 pounds. Fortunately, was the fact that no fire emergency arose during those hours.

50 Years Ago

Friday last the L.A.S. met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stevens. Ice cream was served on the lawn by the young ladies of the society and an interesting sketch of her trip to the Pacific coast was read by Mrs. Sheldon Gale. Sixty-five partook of a fine supper. The ladies are planning for their annual fair this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. John Melow of Farmington, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peck of Canton and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peck were visitors at Otto Melow, Jr.'s last Sunday.

Cards Played By Senior Citizens

The Senior Citizens held their meeting in the Masonic Temple July 13, with a large gathering. Cards were the entertainment for the afternoon.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gilbert, Betty Crum and Esther Weigel and Zaida Fisher. Minnie Felsner and Addie Storie are hostesses for the month of July.

The Sofoptimist club of Plymouth sponsors the Senior Citizens.

First New Golf Course In Many Years Opens in Area

Plymouth area golfers will have new fairways to conquer starting this Thursday (July 20) when Dun Rovin Country Club opens on Haggerty Rd., just north of Five Mile Rd.

Said to be the first new semi-public course in the area in a decade, Dun Rovin has been under construction for two years. Motorists traveling in the area have watched progress of the course month after month.

The 140 acres of alternately hilly and level watered fairways are located in Northville Township and will serve golfers from the booming northern and western suburbs.

It will make a third semi-public course for Plymouth golfers. For many years, local golfers played at Plymouth Country Club on N. Territorial Rd., at Hilltop Golf Course and Brae Burn on Five Mile Rd. A few years ago, Plymouth Country Club was converted into the present private Fox Hills Country Club, leaving but two courses in the immediate area.

The par 72 semi-public 18-hole course was planned around a small lake and water course by Bruce Mathews, nationally known golf course architect. Its 6,335 yards are well trapped, with the longest hole, number 16, a par five, 500 yards.

Dun Rovin has been developed by Redford Township and Livonia businessmen, Harold Edwards, 26502 Five Mile Rd.; Richard Kenzie, 29192 Jacquelyn; and also William Buber of Farmington and Stanley Edwards, Montrose.

Their half million dollar investment will be enhanced later this year by a $75,000 contemporary brick and stone clubhouse. A temporary clubhouse with all facilities

NOW'S THE TIME to save more truck dollars on the more-for-your-dollar trucks!

Your truck dollars are worth a whole lot more at your Chevrolet dealer's right now! First off, you get a head start on saving because summer's the saving season. Then, with a harder working, easier riding Chevy truck, you're set to save every mile you haul. And, finally, at trade-in time, you can expect an extra dividend because of Chevy's traditionally higher resale value. What could be better?

Summer's the season to get extra mileage from your dollars on the trucks built to give you extra miles of hauling. With Independent Front Suspension, Chevrolet trucks keep going thousands of miles longer because far less destructive jar and shake are transmitted through the truck. Chevy I.F.S. trucks work harder, too, in areas where other trucks have to be pampered. And, with Chevy's wide choice of thrifty 6 and hardy V8 power, you can tailor your truck exactly to your job. So how can you miss—especially now during the summer saving season?

Softball Races Enter Last Week

Nick's and Carling's, early season favorites for the Class B and Class A recreational softball titles, appear to have run away with their respective races.

Nick's started the week in Class B with a 10-1 record, and its closest competitor is Vico with a 6-5 mark, just over .500. Walton's is third with a 5-5-1 record and the Merchants are fourth with a 6-6 record. Men's Lutheran is fifth with 3-7, while McAllister's trail the league with three wins and nine losses.

In the Class A fast pitch loop, Carling's have poured on eleven victories to offset three defeats. The closest threat is Cloverdale, safely contained back at .500 with a 6-6 seasonal mark. DeHoCo is third with four wins and eight losses, one half game ahead of last place Herby's, which has a 4-9 mark.

Herby's meets Cloverdale at 7:30 p.m. today in Plymouth, while Carling's plays at DeHoCo at 6:30 p.m. Class A teams begin playoff competition next week.

In Class B, Men's Lutheran has a busy week. They are scheduled to play two games tomorrow night, meeting Vico at 7 p.m. and Waltons at 8:15 p.m. at the high school. Tuesday they are slated to go against Nick's at 7:30 p.m.

A Professional-Amateur Championship tournament will be held Friday, July 21 at Fox Hills Country Club with $2,000 in prizes being split among the top 15 winning pairs.

Reds Tie Blues

The Reds beat the Blues in the Little League Minors last week to tie for first with the Blues. The Reds won 7-4 and boosted their record to 6-4 for the season, which is identical to the Blues mark. The Greens are in third place with a 4-5-1 record, one game ahead of the last place Whites, who have a 3-6-1 mark. Rain last week limited league play to one game each.

Marathon Gasolines STOP HOT-WEATHER STALLING

Remember how it happens? The thermometer's touching 96°. There's a copper-glazed sky overhead. You're tooling down the highway, windows open, trying to keep cool. Then you notice a kind of sputter in the motor—a drag-down in power—all of a sudden it stalls. You're stranded. Miles past the last service station. It's anyone's guess how far to the next one.

Marathon gasolines are power-processed for Midwest summers. Marathon SUPER-M® and MILE-maker® gasolines are power-processed to help end hot-weather stalling. Laboratory controls provide gasolines that guard your engine against choking and strangling caused by vapor lock.

These Marathon gasolines are also scientifically filtered to clean out engine-stalling bits of dirt that can clog fuel systems. This summer, make it Marathon, for gasolines that are all go 'til the last drop's gone.

COMING UP: The Plymouth Township Board will soon ask for a meeting with City officials to find out if it is possible for the Township water Department to take over City mains in the Township. City water goes into Plymouth Colony, part of Green Meadows and several other areas. Some residents in these areas have inquired about switching over to Township water, which will come from Detroit. Meanwhile, the City may soon want to get together with the Township to talk about running sewage from the City's south end into the Township sewer and the County's interceptor that will run southeastward. This was the original plan several years ago for a jointly-built system, but later both went their own ways.

A request for a liquor license made by Frank Mangogna (Mango's Restaurant) at 47660 Ann Arbor Rd., was again before the Board. It was noted that the establishment is now in R-1-E zoning (residential), making it a non-conforming use. Mangogna said that the bar would be small and that drinks would be served only to food patrons. He added that the plans to relocate in a year.

The Board agreed that a liquor license would not add to the degree of non-conforming use, but they suggested to Mangogna that he circulate a petition among neighbors to determine if they would favor issuance of the license.

Noisy Party Leads To Arrest of 14

Fourteen persons were arrested early Monday morning by City police as disorderly persons, with most of them paying fines of $35 or more.

It was at 1:16 a.m. that police received a call from a neighbor complaining about a noisy party going on in the Food Fair parking lot along Main St.

Four officers responded and when they arrived, the crowd fled. Two were caught, but the others fled to 757 S. Main St.

Police were unable to enter the home without a search warrant, but later a relative was summoned and gained entrance. Owners of the home were on vacation, police said, but their daughter, Madolyn Johnson, 18, was home.

One of the group was a juvenile and was released to his parents.

All of the young men appeared before Municipal Judge Harry Deyo, Monday while four young women will appear later.

Fines of $30 or 40 days in jail were given Richard Reason, 20, Walled Lake, and Robert Baxter, 22, Northville. Fines of $35 or 40 days in jail were given Dennis Madigan, 19, Northville; Robert Bodice, 17, Walled Lake; Charles Klocke, 19, Northville; Alfred Daidone, 18, Garden City; Robert Qualls, 20, Walled Lake; John Sanders, 20, Northville; Robert Larson, 17, Livonia.

Still to appear are Sharon Baumery, 17, Plymouth; Madolyn Johnson, 18, Plymouth; Audrey Barada, 24, Detroit; and Marion Ohmer, 18, Northville.

Police said that a switch knife was found in the parking lot. They added that the group had been drinking beer.

ing installed on the third floor, a small addition with new classrooms built and numerous other alterations.

The second phase of rehabilitation of the Senior High is scheduled for completion during the summer of 1968. Most of the work being performed at the Senior High is to improve the safety of the building for students as recommended by the state fire marshal.

The third program assigned the Sinking Fund is the new junior high, now going up at Ann Arbor Trail and Sheldon. Steel work is now being erected on the first phase of the building, which will include a two-story classroom unit, administrative area, gym, locker room and boiler room facilities. This phase will be completed and ready for occupancy in September 1962.

The second phase of the new junior high is scheduled for occupancy in September 1964. The building is being purposely built in two phases to delay expenditures until the facilities are needed.

During the summer of 1960, four new classrooms and additional storage facilities were added to Bird Elementary School. Five new classrooms and storage were added at Smith Elementary School and a new multi-purpose room was constructed and major alterations performed at Starkweather Elementary School.

Anyone driving past the Senior High is aware of the huge job going on there this summer. New stairways are being constructed, all windows are being replaced, stairways are being enclosed, new exits installed, new lights and new ceiling are being installed.

State's Hunting, Fishing License Sales Dip Again

Michigan's hunting and fishing license sales took another serious drop last year, falling nearly $100,000 off their 1959 pace, final figures of the Conservation Department show.

Last year's receipts totaled some $7,328,000, lowest figure since 1937 and approximately $450,000 short of the record level reached in 1958.

Among major sales, only small game licenses were up as compared with the year before.

Our Guy in the Sky

Insurance Agents Not Discouraged

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles by The Mail's managing editor who is trying to prove, or disprove, that just about anyone can learn how to fly a plane.)

By Jim Sponseller
"Now that you're flying, you can't get anymore insurance, can you?"

That is typical of the dozens of questions I face each week as I plunge head-long into this fascinating business of learning how to fly.

Although it has been less than two months since I was lifted aloft for my first lesson, it seems that many acquaintances regard me as something of an authority. Actually, when I meet up with a few pilots who hold private licenses, I feel like a kindergartner at Harvard Graduate School.

I figured before I started to fly that I had ample insurance for a while, so didn't worry about paying extra premiums. In fact, I had hoped that when my insurance agent friends called the next time, I could do it gracefully by explaining that I am now flying and wouldn't consider buying any more insurance if I had to pay extra.

I didn't have long to wait. Last week a rather new acquaintance in the insurance game phoned that his firm has an amazing new policy for me.

"Gosh, Dick," I replied, "Since I saw you last, I've taken up flying and I don't feel like I want to pay extra premiums for a policy."

"Oh, that's all right," Dick returned, "I'm sure we can fix you up with something that won't cost you any more than anyone else."

This proved to be somewhat of a disappointment to me. My foolproof rebuttal for insurance men wasn't working at all. I since learned that a number of insurance companies are re-examining the mortality rates for pilots and a few are offering policies at no extra cost.

But insurance is just one of the host of questions. Here's more:

Q. What does your wife think of you flying?

A. I am sure that she would rather have me stick to golf, and I am not at all sure how

I talked her into saying "yes" (to flying, that is). At first, she said she would rather that I not tell her when I take a lesson until afterwards. But now, after seeing that I am coming home with sound body, she doesn't seem to think about it.

(Aircraft dealers confide that they would be selling airplanes like hotcakes today if it weren't for wives.)

Q. Is it true that flying is as easy as driving a car?

A. I imagine that after you learn how to fly with some skill, it is just as easy as driving a car. Pilots claim they are much more at ease in the air than hurdling down a highway at 65 miles an hour with cars hurdling in the opposite direction a few feet away. Flying requires a little finer technique than driving a car. It's a shame that drivers don't handle and care for their cars like pilots do their airplanes. Certainly few drivers bother to check their car's motor, tires and other parts before they climb in.

Q. If the engine fails, can you still safely land in a light plane?

A. A small plane can usually glide to a landing. Of course, if there is no decent place to land, he may be out of luck. A student pilot eventually learns how to glide to a landing by practicing such a maneuver over an airport.

Q. Why are there two steering wheels in airplanes?

A. These are called control wheels and there are two of them because most planes are used at one time or another for training. (A pilot using a different plane that he has never used before must be "checked out" in the plane by an authorized instructor.) Dual controls are also an added safety factor. There are many of these safety factors built into planes — such as the dual ignition system. Each piston has two spark plugs and there are two magnets for providing electrical power for the plugs.

Incidentally, a pilot usually holds the control wheel with one hand, not two, such as is recommended for motorists. One hand is always used for take-offs and landings while the other hand remains constantly on the throttle.

Q. Do you think that private business planes will ever travel more passenger miles than commercial planes?

A. According to the information I have, there are more than 28,000 private planes flown to satisfy business travel needs while there are a little over 2,000 commercial planes in the U.S. The private business planes already fly more than a million aircraft hours a year than all the planes of the domestic carriers. There is a total of 80,000 private planes in the U.S. It is surprising to most people who visit Plymouth's Mettetal Airport to find so many planes being used for business purposes. More and more industries are turning to private planes and often will locate in communities where there is an airport. Luckily for Plymouth, we've got a good one.

Barber Shoppers Cruise to Bob-Lo

The river won't be lazy — as the song goes — when the Detroit Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., lifts anchor at 8:15 p.m., Friday, July 21, for its annual Moonlight Cruise.

President William Rowell predicts there will be quartets on every deck when the boat leaves the Bob-Lo dock at the foot of Woodward. The songsters also will perform during dancing intermissions.

Here Are Tuesday's Con-Con Candidates

18th District

Democratic

RUTH M. COON

Past Michigan delegate to the Democratic Party convention, Ruth M. Coon, 46, is seeking her party's nomination as a delegate to the Constitutional Convention from the 18th Senatorial District.

A housewife, she is the mother of four sons and two daughters and lives at 16232 Inkster Rd. in Redford Township. She has been active in PTA affairs and a member for 20 years of Order of Eastern Star. She attended Northwestern High School in Detroit and Wayne State University.

"This election," she states, "will probably be the most important election you will vote in for many years. Long after this is written you and your children will live under the constitution. The major issue affecting suburbs is inadequate representation."

GEORGE F. MONTGOMERY

A candidate for the Democratic nomination as a Constitutional Convention delegate from the 18th Senatorial District, George F. Montgomery, 28, is a public school teacher and a graduate of Wayne State University, where he is now doing graduate work.

Montgomery lives with his wife, Elizabeth, and daughter, Sarah Anne, at 11391 Littlefield in Detroit. He is vice president of Daniel Webster Parent-Teachers Ass'n and a Democratic Party precinct delegate.

"The most critical Con-Con issue," according to Montgomery, "will be the apportionment of legislative representation. Rapidly expanding suburban communities have been the major sufferers of inadequate representation in Lansing — with the result that suburban needs and problems have been ignored and neglected. Only representation by population can insure fair treatment for the suburbs."

Other Parties

Candidates of several minor parties will enter the race for Constitutional Convention delegate in September. The Secretary of State's office in Lansing reports that the Socialist Workers Party, the Independent American Party, the Socialist Labor Party and the Tax Cut Party will choose their candidates at state conventions, rather than in next Tuesday's primary election when Republican and Democratic nominees are named. All will appear on the September ballot.

Voting Time

Polls will be open in all communities — Livonia, Redford, Dearborn and Fenton — from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. next Tuesday. Election returns will be available Tuesday night by calling the offices of this newspaper after 10:30 p.m.

Republican

PAUL M. CHANDLER

The publisher of The Plymouth Mail, The Livonian and The Redford Observer, Paul M. Chandler, 41, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Constitutional Convention delegate from the 18th Senatorial District.

Chandler, who holds a B.A. degree in Political Science from the University of Michigan, where he graduated from in 1941, has been active in community organizations in Plymouth, Livonia and Redford Township. He resides in Plymouth and he and his wife have a 13-year-old son, Tommy.

The major issue affecting suburbs which might arise at the Constitutional Convention, Chandler states, is "A realistic revision of the property tax system, wherein assessments in all areas will be determined on the same basis, and where there is a legal, well-staffed agency to conduct assessing and to hear appeals by individuals seeking relief."

RAYMOND L. SCHLAGER

Entered in the 18th District Republican primary for Constitutional Convention delegate, Raymond L. Schlager, 43, believes "the major issues which might arise at the Constitutional Convention affecting suburbs are, in my opinion, the 15-mill limit on property taxes and reapportionment."

Schlager, employed in the sales office of Ford Motor Company, lives at 9540 St. Marys Street in Detroit. He holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Notre Dame University and a master's degree from the University of Detroit. He was an original member of Citizens for Michigan. Schlager and his wife, Mary Eileen, have a son, Lawrence, 11, and a daughter, Kathleen, eight.

WELDON O. YEAGER

Weldon O. Yeager, 39, of 16525 Shaftsburg Road in Detroit, is seeking the Republican nomination for Con-Con delegate from the 18th Senatorial District. Self-employed, he operates the Yeager Employment Agency and holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration from Wayne State University.

A member of the Republican State Central Committee from the 17th District, Yeager lives with his wife and two children.

"All issues coming before the convention will be important to suburbs," he writes. "However, Section eight pertaining to rights and limitations of local government is probably the most far-reaching. I favor local autonomy."

Twenty-six candidates will seek the chance to help write Michigan's new Constitution in next Tuesday's primary election. Voters in Livonia, Redford Township, Plymouth and nearby communities will go to the polls to choose nominees for the September general election. One nominee for each party will be chosen from the 18th Senatorial District and one from the 21st Representative District by voters in all three communities.

To help readers of this newspaper decide for whom they will cast their ballots, all 26 candidates were sent a questionnaire on which they were given an opportunity to present their background and opinions. Three did not reply.

Each was asked, "What, in your opinion, is the major issue affecting suburbs which might arise at the Constitutional Convention?" Their replies, plus a summary of their backgrounds and qualifications, follow.

In the race are: 18th District — Democratic Party: Ruth M. Coon, 16232 Inkster, Redford Township, and George Montgomery, 11391 Littlefield, Detroit.

21st District

Democratic

GEORGE BENNETT

George Bennett, 40, is a candidate for the Constitutional Convention delegate's post in the 21st Representative District on the Democratic ticket. A college teacher and veterinarian, he lives with his wife, Florine, two sons, Dan and Chris, and a daughter, Eve, at 46950 Six Mile, Northville. He is a member of the Committee for the Advancement of Art, legislative representative for the Parent-Teachers Ass'n and has attended Michigan State University, Wayne State University and Eastern Michigan University.

"Like any other basic document that is directing and guiding the lives and outcomes of peoples' efforts," he writes, "any consideration at the convention will affect the suburbs as well as everyone else. The possibility that constitutional status may or may not be considered for the formation of Metropolitan Districts and intercity county cooperative districts is a major consideration. This is naturally directly tied to the people electing it."

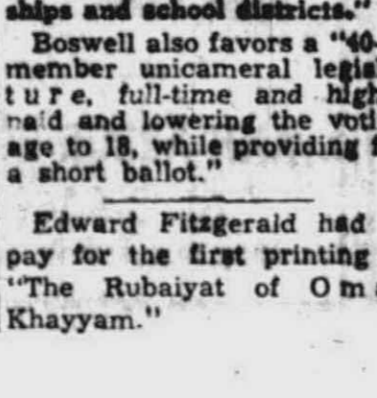

JOHN A. DEMOSS

John A. Demoss, 36, an industrial real estate salesman, is also a candidate for delegate to the Constitutional Convention from the 21st District on the Democratic ticket. With degrees in business administration and law from the University of Detroit, he says he hopes to pass the Michigan bar and practice law in the area. A World War II and Korea veteran, he has been a candidate for Democratic precinct delegate and active in Cub Scouting and the Torch Drive. He lives with his wife, Theresa, and six children — including two foster children — at 26628 Dover in Redford Twp.

"Narrow thinking that pits suburb against city or rural against urban has no place at the Constitutional Convention," Demoss states. "We must secure for all of the people their rightful representation in government, protect their civil and political rights, and establish state government that will guarantee Michigan's future economically, politically and culturally."

If elected, Demoss says he will devote full time to writing the constitution.

PATRICK DUGAN

Another candidate for Constitutional Convention delegate from the 21st district on the Democratic ticket is Patrick Dugan, of 28825 Richland, Livonia. A recent graduate of the Detroit College of Law — where he completed work after four years of night school — he has been spokesman for the group which succeeded in keeping pedestrian gates open behind the Wonderland Shopping Center.

Dugan says he has not sought the backing of any "special interests group" because he feels the representative chosen should not be pre-committed to make changes. He says he feels candidates "should have an open mind and propose only changes that will be beneficial to all of the general public."

"Although it is impossible to foretell what specific major issues might arise affecting suburbs at the Constitutional Convention I will strive to promote provisions in the constitution which will increase their ability to solve local problems because the localities themselves are in the best position to decide local questions and needs," Dugan states.

Republican

DANIEL J. CROWLEY

Daniel Crowley, 31, is another candidate for the Constitutional Convention delegate in the 21st Representative District on the Democratic ticket. He is a tool analyst with the Ford Motor Co. and attended Wayne State University studying engineering. A member of the Pan Handle Civic Ass'n, he lives with his wife, Evelyn, and their daughter, Mary Ann, at 24737 Donald, Redford Twp.

Crowley believes that taxation is the most important issue to be considered by the Convention. "Property taxes in the suburbs, as in most urban areas, are at their limit, and new and more equitable methods of taxation must be found," he believes. Reapportionment and the Uniformity and 15 mill limitation clauses in the taxation section are the major items affecting the suburbs, Crowley states.

JAMES BOSWELL

An independent Democrat, James Boswell, 40, is a candidate for the office of Constitutional Convention delegate from the 21st Representative District. Boswell, who lives with his wife, Virginia, at 9610 Deering, Livonia, is a 1949 graduate of the University of Chicago, where he held a social science major. He has attended Law School and is now enrolled at the Wayne State University School of Business Management. A social worker and writer, Boswell has also held shop and office production positions.

"Home Rule will be the major issue affecting suburbs," he states. He believes that Con-Con delegates should "write a flexible constitution, remove politics from education and judiciary, provide representation by population and area, eliminate any unnecessary counties, townships and school districts."

Boswell also favors a "40-60 member unicameral legislature, full-time and highly paid and lowering the voting age to 18, while providing for a short ballot."

Edward Fitzgerald had to pay for the first printing of "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam."

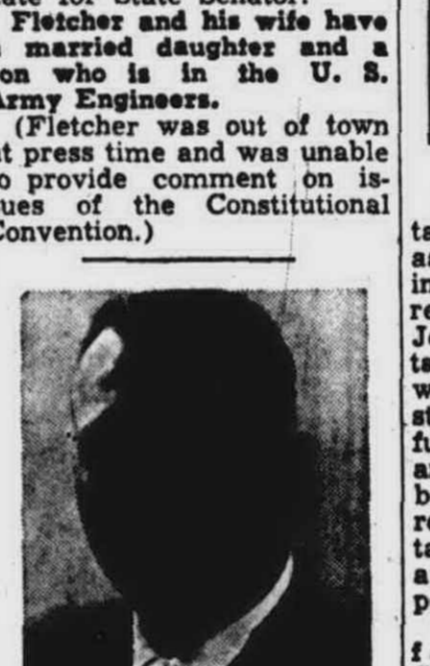

Law — where he completed work after four years of night school — he has been spokesman for the group which succeeded in keeping pedestrian gates open behind the Wonderland Shopping Center.

Dugan says he has not sought the backing of any "special interests group" because he feels the representative chosen should not be pre-committed to make changes. He says he feels candidates "should have an open mind and propose only changes that will be beneficial to all of the general public."

"Although it is impossible to foretell what specific major issues might arise affecting suburbs at the Constitutional Convention I will strive to promote provisions in the constitution which will increase their ability to solve local problems because the localities themselves are in the best position to decide local questions and needs," Dugan states.

Another Democratic candidate for delegate to the Constitutional Convention from the 21st Representative District is Sydney Fletcher, 56, of 29543 Hillbrook, Livonia. Active in an engineering service, he was educated at UCLA, California Institute of Technology, the University of Detroit and at one time operated the Fletcher Neon Institute. He has been active for 20 years with the Boy Scouts and neighborhood associations. He was a 1942 candidate for State Senator.

Fletcher and his wife have a married daughter and a son who is in the U. S. Army Engineers. (Fletcher was out of town at press time and was unable to provide comment on issues of the Constitutional Convention.)

"Justice and equality for taxpayers through uniform assessments on property, both industrial and business and residential," is how David L. Jones views the most important issue affecting suburbs which might arise at the Constitutional Convention. "State functions, county functions and Township functions must be spelled out and made more responsible to the people. No taxation of any kind without a referendum vote of the people."

Jones, who states he would favor open Constitutional Convention meetings, is a candidate for Con-Con delegate on the Democratic ticket in the 21st Representative District. A masonry contractor for Jones and Johnson Construction Co., Jones, 45, attended Farmington High School and a Community College for two years. He is a former Livonia city councilman, having served in that office from 1954 to 1958, and is former president of the Taxpayers' Ass'n. He lives with his wife, Rosemary, a daughter, Judith Ann, and a son, Richard, at 18335 Sunset, Livonia.

Donald Murch (Picture not available) An attorney, Donald H. Murch, 39, of 16570 Savoie, Livonia, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Constitutional Convention delegate from the 21st Representative District.

Murch, who lives with his wife, Phyllis, and children, Kimberley, 5, and Douglas, one, holds a bachelor of arts degree in economics and a bachelor of laws degree. "The major issue affecting suburbs that will arise at the Constitutional Convention," he states, "is proper reapportionment. Suburbs are the main consideration. It is the areas where people, not land or tall buildings, are important that suburbanites be given their proper representation. Once the constitution is revised, new laws will be passed, really. We, the people, want our voices heard louder after the convention is over."

WILLIAM J. HAHN

A political science teacher in Detroit Public Schools, William J. Hahn is a candidate for the Constitutional Convention from the 21st Representative District. A dietitian at the University of Michigan mental health research department at Ypsilanti State Hospital, she makes her home at 18094 Martinville Rd., Belleville. She and her husband have three children.

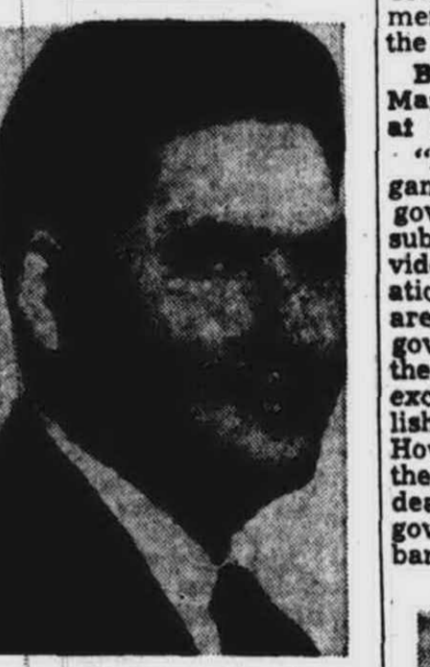

Mrs. Williams is Clerk of Sumpter Township, an office which she has held for three years. She is former secretary of the Planning Commission, has been active in the Democratic Club, Eastern Star and has done Girl and toward a doctorate degree in Boy Scout work. She is a graduate of Dearborn and Fordson High Schools and has attended Wayne State University.

"Local government issues will affect the people in the suburban areas much more deeply than their urban brothers and sisters of the state," she writes.

He lives with his wife, Elvira, and sons, Paul, 8, and Thomas, 1, and daughters Katherine, 7, and Mary, 3, at 10049 Hambleton, Livonia.

"When our minority legislature turned down $20,000,000 of our federal tax dollars," he states, "it practically dictated a county tax increase to fill the gap. Such disregard for suburban taxpayers will only stop with equal representation. I will fight for this, for from it will flow more state aid to our schools, area wide sewer systems, and tax savings from efficient government. I will work for a constitution which is brief, understandable, flexible for the future and which also protects our liberties."

ANNA M. CONKLIN

"As a true representative of all the people of this District," writes Anna M. Conklin, "it would be unfair to consider any one issue of prime importance. Michigan's Constitution must establish the basic laws of local and state government. The increasing population of our suburban areas demands much study to eliminate duplication and inefficiency while insuring that these areas will not be dominated by Detroit politicians."

Mrs. Conklin, 38, seeks the Republican nomination for Con-Con delegate from the 21st Representative District. A former secretary, she lives at home with her husband, Arthur, daughter, Kathy, 16, and sons, Bruce, 14, and Steve, 10, at 15809 Foch, Livonia.

She attended Framingham High School in Framingham, Mass., and is former secretary, Livonia Community Council; former member, School Board Advisory Group; organizer for March of Dimes; publicity writer for Red Cross; past president, Republican Women's Club; former member of the Republican state central committee; and an alternate delegate to the 1956 Republican National Convention.

Randall Kohler (Picture not available) An attorney-at-law for the past 29 years, Randall C. Kohler, 55, is seeking the Republican nomination for Constitutional Convention delegate from the 21st Representative District. He holds an LL.B. degree from Detroit College of Law and served as Justice of the Peace of Redford Township for 15 years and as a member of the Redford Township Board for five years.

Kohler has three children and four grandchildren and lives at 18665 Olympia, Redford Township.

"Ear-marking of state revenues and the diversion of a portion of same to local suburban governmental units," he states is the major issue affecting suburbs which might arise at the Convention.

A registered professional nurse, Mrs. Crawford, 38, lives with her family of three children at 34984 N. Sylvan Drive in Redford Township. She is in charge of research and development for Advance Stamping Co. and has been active in the Republican Party, as a Girl Scout leader, and as a PTA member and officer.

"The urbanization of Townships," she writes, "is the major issue affecting suburbs which might arise at the Convention. I believe in Home Rule. We too long have let the State and Federal governments take over by laws and censorship the rights which should be ours."

Retired, Stabler is a high school graduate and has been a volunteer worker for Citizens for Michigan for a year and a half. He is a member of Strathmoor-Detroit Kiwanis Club and lives with his wife in their Township home.

CHESTER BEADLE

(Picture not available) Chester C. Beadle, 40, of 11336 Dixie, Redford Township, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Constitutional Convention delegate from the 21st Representative District. A missile engineer for Chrysler Corp., he holds a B. S. degree plus special business administration and engineering subject studies. He is vice president of South Redford Township Civic Association, a PTA member, and a member of the Republican League.

Beadle lives with his wife, Margaret, and three children at their Township home.

"Article eight of the Michigan Constitution deals with government affecting suburbs," he states, "and provides for densely populated areas as cities. Local units of government are subject to the pleasure of the legislature, except for limitations established by the constitution. How much authority shall the legislature, possess in dealing with optional forms of government, especially urbanized Townships?"

EUGENE DUSTON

Eugene Duston is seeking the Republican nomination for Constitutional Convention delegate from the 21st Representative District. A high school social studies and English teacher, he holds a B. S. degree in Education from Wayne State University and a Masters degree in Education from the same institution.

Twenty-eight years old, he lives with his wife, Joyce, and a son, Robert, seven months, at 814 Royal Grand in Redford Township. He is former president of the Wayne Young Republican Club, former college service director of the Michigan Federation of Young Republicans and past president of the South Redford Education Ass'n.

"Reapportionment," is the major issue affecting suburbs which might arise at the Con-Con, Duston states. "To provide more representatives in the state legislature for Wayne County residents a provide more sources of come for local school districts."

THOMAS DAoust

"A constitutional provision permitting the establishment of a metropolitan authority would eliminate costly duplication, increase efficiency of public services, and facilitate long-term bond issues required for solving development problems common to all communities in a metropolitan area." This is the view of A. Thomas Daoust, candidate from the 21st Representative District.

"This establishment should be subject to popular vote in affected communities," Daoust concludes.

A technical writer and instructor for Ford Motor Co., Daoust, 47, has a B. A. degree in political science, history and philosophy from Assumption University. He is a member of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine and teaches religion to the public school students at Our Lady of Loreto Church. He lives with his wife, Patricia, and a son, Raymond, at 17711 Fairfield Ave., Livonia.

Junior Golfers In Fourth Week

Cuba has thousands of offshore islands, the largest of which is the Isle of Pines. It also has many short rivers but only one of these, the Cauto of Oriente, is of any size for navigability.

The fourth week of play of the Plymouth Junior Golf Assn. found a number of veteran players dropping their handicaps as a result of turning in low scores for the round last Monday.

Joe Light had a low net in the Boys' Division and tied with Jerry Scott for low gross. Sandy Pentecost again qualified for low net and low gross in the Girls' Division.

Point winners were: Four Points, Light, G. Scott, Borso, Park, Hallock, J o a n R e a s, Dunlap, McKeever, Coxford, Duke, B. Pentecost, Schnegg.

Three points, Hulce, T. Janicki, Sincok.

One point, J. Janicki, J. Niepoth, Criger. It was a perfect day for the Beginners Division to take their first crack at the ball and they demonstrated that they had listened carefully to pro Chris Burkhardt who had been giving them hourly lessons. Next week, there will be four holes of play for the beginners.

IT WAS National Play Tennis Week July 2-8 and that is what they did in Plymouth. These young people were winners of a tennis tournament held after the recreation program at the High School. From left, are Kathy Smith, Carol Otwell, Bob Waters, Clark Raven, James Bruff, James Stevens, the sponsor; Judy Kisa-beth and Donna Cook. Purpose of the week was to stimulate physical fitness and to elevate the nation's prestige in the highly competitive world of amateur tennis. Kathy and Carol defeated Donna and Judy in the girls' d o u b l e s, while David Tidwell (not pictured) and Bob defeated Jim and Clark in the boys' doubles.

More than 40 nations throughout the world receiving United States military assistance have spent for their defense about $5 for every dollar contributed by the United States.

Although pneumatic tires were invented before automobiles, solid rubber was used at first on wheels.

The Mail Attitude

BY PAUL CHANDLER

Your correspondent, Paul Chandler, is a candidate in the primary election to nominate delegates to the State Constitutional Convention.

Voting will be held next Tuesday (July 25). Republicans and Democrats each will nominate two persons, one as their candidate from the State Representative District and one from the State Senatorial District.

Most readers here are familiar acquaintances by now. Sometimes we agree, sometimes not. But I hope you know this — the new suburbs have a major stake in any modernizing of the Constitution; I know and understand suburban problems because I live with them virtually every minute of every day; and I will fight and scrap on behalf of the suburbs to the absolute finish ... if elected. All the candidates opposing me are from Detroit.

Most analysts predict a small turnout of voters next Tuesday. Despite the importance of the event, it hasn't yet turned into any clear-cut contest between parties or individuals.

Yet before it's over, the Convention could become a good dogfight.

The line drawn in the dirt between the battlers involves the formula for electing to the State Legislature.

The CIO-Democrat position is that both the House and Senate should be selected on a basis of "absolute population." They would eliminate a Senate where men are picked evenly by area. Both houses would be selected identically, on population. In fact, Gus Scholle, the UAW punjab, would have the legislature consist of just one house, a system known technically as "unicameral legislature."

"Endorsed" Democrats had to pledge themselves to the "absolute population" theory before they could become endorsed.

Such a formula would leave control of all State affairs in the hands of interior Wayne County, where there are large population units dominated by labor unions. Outstate Michigan — even the exterior suburbs — would become a permanent minority, at least into the foreseeable future.

Most Republicans (me included) believe the Democrat position is undefendable. The system of a two-house legislature, one where population is recognized and the other where area is honored, is rooted in the first theories of American government. It is the principle within the United States Constitution. Its purpose, defined by the founding fathers, is to give all areas some small voice in their own government, though they may be outnumbered by as much as one million to one in people.

Our form of representative government is based on division of powers, with checks and balances among the units. Today pure population (total vote) determines the selection of Governor, the Courts, the House of Representatives, the State cabinet, the Highway Commissioner, the governing Boards of the Universities, and much else.

Only in the Senate at the moment is there another view, a "check" on the whole.

This Senate has been bull-headed and short-sighted from many points of view in recent years, but nonetheless, that is its privilege. The overwhelming abundance of government power is elsewhere.

Because they have encountered Senate opposition, the CIO-Democrats now propose to change the rules and wipe out that island.

A curious point for political theorists is that usually it has been the Democratic party which has shouted loudest about the necessity of providing built-in protection for minority groups and interests. But in the Con-Con case, they are turning their hat around and trying to argue that a benevolent majority is sufficient to take care of minority interests.

In my opinion, it is a monstrous political blunder, the people won't accept it, and the CIO-Democrat cause is going to absorb bruises.

From this fountainhead will spray out the other Convention issues. When the Democrats argue that the State Senate has "stopped good legislation" the reply will be "what legislation, specifically?" And most of the issues then cited will involve measures which would have been of particular benefit to interior Wayne County.

The Republicans will reply that the solution isn't to wipe out the Senate, but rather to provide Constitutional powers for local areas to take care of their own problems, rather than stretching to Lansing and asking for help and pity there.

Particularly, there must be new authority for metropolitan areas (including joined groups of communities and districts) to tax, borrow, and finance their own projects. Interceptor sewers, junior colleges, assessing departments, transportation, police and fire protection are all examples of matters which could be financed and handled on broad local basis under a new form of "home rule."

This whole area, thus, is destined to become another part of the GOP vs. Demo battleground.

Taxes will be a subject, too. Something must be done as soon as possible about having assessments across the entire State levied under the same rules.

Today there is a "State Tax Commission" which annually raises our taxes with a push of a pencil via the system known as "equalization." The increase has been as much as 15 percent. That appointed body has only a handful of staff, a tiny budget, practically no actual assessment data, and no real knowledge of property anywhere in Michigan. Yet it blithely "equalizes," year after year.

If a taxpayer is dissatisfied, there is no place to go to appeal, save to this "commission." Our regular courts won't listen to tax appeals unless there is fraud of some kind. The "commission" is appointed; it never goes before the people at any election, most people don't even know the names of a single member. Its power involves multi-billions of dollars.

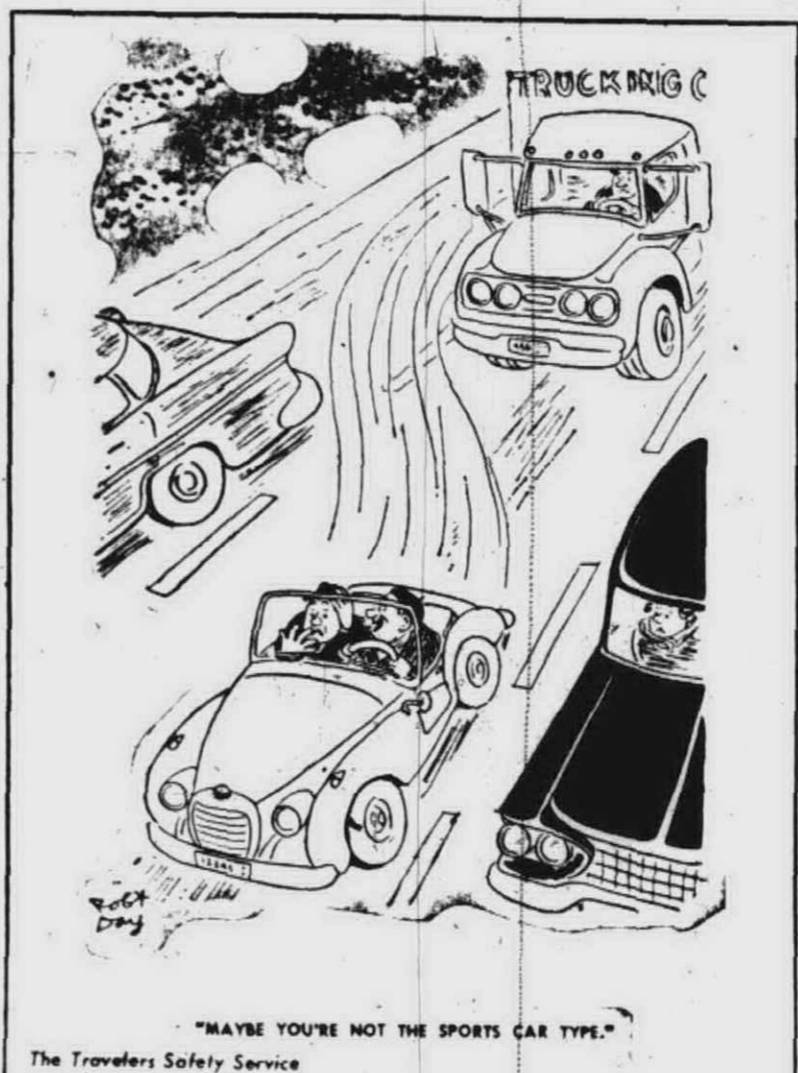

We have a system today where a house could be standing in Redford Township with an assessed value of $8,000, the identical house could sit in, say, Traverse City with a value placed upon it of $2,000, and absolutely nothing could be done to level off the two assessments. In fact, the State normally would add another 15 percent to the higher-valued house as "equalization."

Many other absorbing subjects will arrive at Convention time, such as a longer term of office for governor and legislature (I'm in favor of it); the creation of a new appellate court beyond Circuit Court which could remove some of the load from the Supreme Court; the reduction in the number of State elections and the number of State offices to be filled by election.

Before it's over, it'll be a pretty fair political war. I'm eager to get into it.

Consumer Borrowing Up

By ROGER W. BABSON

Shifts in the trend of consumer durable-goods purchases play an important part in bringing about corresponding cyclical changes in economic activity. Spending policies with regard to durables depend on consumers' needs, prospective trends of prices and personal incomes, and willingness to go into debt to acquire goods.

Because most consumers do not have the ready cash to purchase durable goods outright, the availability of credit and the willingness of consumers to borrow are very important determinants of retail sales. Moreover, consumers possessing ample savings are often reluctant to deplete these, preferring to finance their purchases on time.

Last year, installment consumer credit outstanding continued to increase on balance. By the end of the year, intermediate-type installment debt had reached an all-time high in excess of $43 billion. But this is not

Under 21

By DAN HALLIGAN

Dear Dan: I'm 15 and I think by now I should be able to date. My parents don't want me going around with any boys from my town and I don't like them but I still think I should have some dating rights. My father has told me many times that when I found a gentleman, I could start going out with him but now that I've found a boy, I still can't date. I think my father is trying to ruin my life although I realize I'm under age and have to live with my parents.

My father doesn't think I should have any boy friends but a girl has to date in order to find out what life is like. Just a few weeks ago I had to break up with a boy I was secretly going with because my parents found out about the boy. Now I have to stay in for a week and I don't think it's very fair. I'm missing out on all the fun. — Unhappy.

Dear Unhappy: You may be unhappy but you're quite selfish as far as I'm concerned. Your father knows a lot more than you give him credit for and as long as you're willing to take the shelter, food and clothing he offers without believing he's unfair, take his advice in the same manner. Personally, I think you're old enough to have an occasional date but no steady boy friend though. If your father believes otherwise, that's his opinion and you're opinion about the boys in your town. Sure, they aren't perfect and there may be wise guys but the majority of them are nice boys, no better or no worse than the boys in any other town in the state of Delaware.

Dear Dan: My mother has the idea that if you are seen with a boy and you're not old enough to date, that you're either scheming something terrible or aren't much good. That's what she thinks about my closest friend just because a boy used to walk her home from school about two weeks in a row before summer vacation started. Now, I'm not allowed to talk to this girl even though she lives on the same block and we've known each other all our lives. Is my mother fair or unfair? — Florence T.

Dear Florence: Based on what you wrote, your mother is more than unfair. A girl doesn't fall into the category of a "no good" just because she walks along the street with a boy. We'd have 90 percent "bad girls" if that were the case. Don't feel sorry for your friend but save your sympathy for your mother. She needs it with her thinking.

'Dog Days' Given Us by the Greeks These are the times that try men's souls, and their air-conditioning units — the "dog days." Gone are the perfect days of June and in their place are about 40 days of hot, sticky weather that clings from early July to mid-August. You might have guessed it was the Greeks who gave us the name for this summer misery. World Book Encyclopedia says the ancients derived the name from the dog star, Sirius, which rises with the sun during this period.

PLYMOUTH

By HUGH C. BRONAUGH, Manager

HOW MANY TELEPHONES do you think Michigan Bell serves in our state? The first three people we asked guessed "five hundred thousand," "two million" and "a million." Before you make your guess, here's a clue: in 1935 there were already more than half a million. Well, today there are almost three million! This shows how your telephone company has been building to bring modern, complete telephone service to you—when and where you need it.

EVER HEAR OF A TELEPHONE FARM? It's not like most farms because what's "planted" there by Bell Laboratories' engineers doesn't grow. But the farm does help us analyze and improve various types of underground telephone equipment. Into acres of ground go some 11,000 different items—wires and cable for example—that must be engineered for many years of dependable, trouble-free service. Selected areas are dug up at intervals of from 1 to 32 years to check the equipment's resistance to underground conditions. This helps us in our continuing search for ways to make your telephone service even more dependable.

THE INSIDE STORY. "What do they carry in those little green telephone trucks?" you may have wondered. Well, each truck carries some 400 separate items—from an extension ladder to screws and plastic wood. Every one of Michigan Bell's more than 2,000 installation-repair trucks is stocked in the same way. In an emergency, where trucks must be rushed from one part of the state to another, any installer-repairman would be completely familiar with the layout of whatever truck he was assigned. These little trucks provide him with all the tools and equipment he needs to give you fast, efficient one-stop service when he visits your home.

Front Row Center

By George Spelvin

Sandwiched in between brief visits to Eastern friends and relatives were two quick peeks at a couple of shows currently gracing the New York scene. I had hoped to attend at least three stage productions during my brief, but hectic stay. However, vacation time tempus fugit far faster than one realizes. "Little Mary Sunshine," an off-Broadway favorite, and the current attraction at the Radio City Music Hall, made up the New York thespic double for old George.

"Little Mary Sunshine" has been running at the Player's Theater on McDougall Street in Greenwich Village for almost two years. It's more or less a Northwest Mounted Police version of "The Boy Friend." The songs aren't nearly as melodious as one finds in the Boy Friend, but the tongue-in-cheek quality protrudes as prominently. In fact, looking back at "Mary Sunshine" with a reflective eye, I would have to characterize the entire production as a clever stage exercise that pokes sly fun at the musical comedies of yesteryear. "Sunshine" is played broadly and the spoofing is part of the game. If you take it seriously, you'll never understand the comic touches.

Chief Brown Bear and Fleetfoot, the stalwart Kato-ta Indian guide, sent me into paroxysms of laughter. Guess I'm just a sucker for comic Indians. Their short clipped speeches, half grunts and groans, really wiggled my funny bone. The good wife plus the other seditious members of my family cast belligerent glances my way as I continued to guffaw in a most embarrassing manner. "Mary Sunshine" is that type of show. You'll roll in the aisles at the contrived corn, even though you fully realize that the corn is being cracked especially for your consumption.

Over at the Radio City Music Hall different variety of theatrical corn is being shucked in the form of a beautiful, colored motion picture entitled "Fanny." Josh Logan produced and directed this adaption from the musical comedy version of a few years ago. He took a boatload of actors, technicians and other Hollywood folk over to Marseilles, France. Results of his "on-location" picture are artistically tremendous. Without reservation I recommend this movie as enticing entertainment.

You can see "Fanny" at the Madison Theater in downtown Detroit or wait patiently for its arrival at the Penn Theater. However long the wait—it will be well worth the silent struggle. Leslie Caron, Maurice Chevalier, Charles Boyer, and Horst Bucholz are the featured players and they all, to a man, turn in Academy Award performances.

"Fanny," in case you've forgotten, is the Marcel Pagnol tirlogy about the young lad that yearns to sail the seven seas. Fanny is the gal that he loves. His big opportunity arrives at the same time that he discovers that he's madly, deeply in love with Fanny. Does he go to sea? Will Fanny wait for him? In true Gaelic fashion Mr. Pagnol throws the plot into a spin by having the young lad leave his gal and go to sea. Of course, they have that one last fling.

You can probably guess what happens. But what you can't anticipate is the whimsical, joyous way the tried and true situation is handled. The gay charm and wit of the French folk takes over at this point in the film and makes this movie different and worth putting on your "must see" list.

Maurice Chevalier as Pannise and Charles Boyer as Cesar, snapping and snorting at each other as two older codgers in their late fifties, steal the picture as they dominate scene after scene. Their good-natured bickering and rallery provide each of them with some of the best scenes in the show. And the background photography. Well, I mentioned it earlier, but it so impressed me that I must pay my respects again to the effective atmosphere the "on-location" bistros, fish markets and boats provided. You could almost smell the fish and feel the tang of the salt air as you sat enthralled at the delights of Josh Logan's latest hit "Fanny."

And now from the sublime lets drop down a peg or two to the more earthy part of this week's column. I'm referring to a notice dropped on my desk that Mae West is in town this week out at the Northland Playhouse. She has written another play similar to her earlier SEX-sesses... "Diamond Lil," "She Done Him Wrong", and "Sex". Her latest effort has the infectious title "Sextette". Quite bravely Mae West has announced that she intends to open this show in New York City. Fortunately Miss West does not say what year this might be.
