EYEGLASSES BY the hundreds are being turned into the Plymouth Lions Club this month as it stages its second annual appeal. Five-yearold Mark Leader, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Leader, 41079 Ann Arbor Trail, tries on a pair from the mountain of glasses just for the fun of it. While Mark doesn't need glasses, there are millions of people in India who do and that is where these will go. Last year the local Lions collected 806 pairs. Chairman Lester Couts says that boxes for depositing the eyeglasses will be found through next week yet at most food stores, drug stores, banks, barbershops, some churches, Parkview Bowling Alley, City Hall and Credit Union.

IN MICHIGAN, hearing of the gallant fighting of the 1st, 4th, 5th and 7th Michigan regiments against the Confederacy, folks all over the state toasted their troops' bravery with foaming steins of beer.

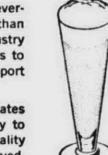

For then as now, beer was the traditional beverage of moderation. But beer means more than enjoyment to our state. The Brewing Industry pays more than 16 million dollars in taxes to Michigan each year, money that helps support our parks, hospitals and schools.

TODAY, in its centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works constantly to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety wherever beer and ale are served.

Wednesday, March 14, 1962 A special meeting of the City Commission was held in the Commis-sion Chamber of the City Hall on Wednesday, March 14, 1962 at 7:30-p.m. to consider the following: 1. Assessment and tax procedures. PRESENT: Comms. Beyer, Hartmann, Houk, Shear, Terry, Wernette and Mayor Sincock

ABSENT: Comms. Beyer, Hartmann, Houk, Shear, Terry, Wernette and Mayor Sincock. ABSENT: None. City Attorney Draugelis advised the Commission that state law does not permit blanket depreciation factors to be applied on buildings, after the Assessor has turned his assessment roll over to the Board of Review, and that the Board of Review is not empowered to apply a blanket de-preciation factor to the roll. It may listen to and judge individual ap-peals, only. The City Commission requested the Assessor to obtain, for the in-

SO CONVENIENT OFFICES

We've always been a great booster for the "friendly" Detroit Free Press, and we've always also appreciated the kind of service their local representative, Anne Donnelly, has given us for so many years. But now we're more than indebted to her for a phone call last Thursday night informing us that we were selling so many Plymouth Mails in one of our store boxes that money was laying all over the floor because the coin container was running over. We appreciated her call, and so does local welder Ossie Hinote, who is presently designing and building bigger and better newspaper racks.

One of the main needs of our downtown business district is more foot traffic. The thought came to us of the possibility that the City, which is desperately in need of room for expansion, might fill some of the vacant buildings with some of their departments, thereby eliminating the immediate need of a large capital outlay for a new City Hall. In Livonia, for instance, the City Hall is on Five Mile Road but the municipal court is over on Seven Mile Road. This is true elsewhere, too, and it is food for thought which might bring immediate aid to all concerned. As an example, when First Federal vacates its present location that building would lend itself perfectly for such usage.

Plymouth remains one of the very few areas in the United States where its Symphony concerts are presented free to the public. We hope they can continue to do so and we hope everyone will contribute generously to this important community asset.

Writing the above item concerning the Symphony brings to thought an incident that happened in our office a couple of weeks ago. First, let me state, the following does not concern the Symphony because they are good customers of our printing department, but another local group did bring this to my mind. The group's representatives came in and asked us if we would please print an item about their efforts on our front page to help them in their fund raising effort, and of course we gladly complied. As they left the office we inquired if we might be considered, at least by giving them a guotation on the tickets and programs they would need for their event, and were told they had already been purchased elsewhere. We thanked them and suggested they might keep us in mind in the future.

As they left, I stood in our office front window and reflected on this horrible thought ... I wondered if they thought their front page story paid the salaries of our employees, or purchased the newsprint upon which their story was printed. I also wondered if they didn't realize that it was the ads in our paper, and the small printing orders in the community that made it possible for us to provide this free service to their organization and all of the others in the area. We cannot be unreasonable, and we can't expect all of the business in the world, but I don't feel we are unreasonable if we ask the opportunity of at least quoting, along with others, on items of this nature. Whether we receive the order or not has no bearing on the printing of their notices. Our inherent obligation to our community is to present the news, if it is news, and this we have and shall do as always ... but, on the other hand, it is also true that to

By Jerome O'Neil

Northville's basketball team, busy at least one time each week for nearly four months, was idle Saturday.

But since only eight high school teams in the whole state of Michigan were playing that day, the significance of Northville's idleness could have been verlooked.

Except for the fact that the eight teams that did play were battling for the four state championships (in classes A, B, C, and D), and Northville almost but not quite — became one of the eight die-hards. · As it was, Northville advanced to a semi-final battle with high-speed River Rouge and only then did the Mustangs bow out of post-season tournament action as the downriver team administered a 72-53 defeat.

Northville ran up a 20-game win streak, one of the longest in Michigan this winter, before oncebeaten River Rouge snipped it and moved on to a Class B state title.

All of this has been told before, but a brief introduction is always in good taste.

Time was when the athletic rivalry between Northville and Plymouth was as overwhelming on the local scene as is the annual gridiron clash between MSU and the University of Michigan on the state level

Not necessarily is it so, any longer, however. The two schools have gone their separate ways, and today an athletic contest between Plymouth and Northville is "just another game" for the most part

But once it was not that way at all.

Once, on a Friday — be it fall or winter — the leather jacket crowd would move out en masse. "Whuddawedo?" one would ask. "Goin t'da Registration

ights, man," the next-door duck-tail would reply. "You mean Olympia?"

"Naw, stoopid, Plymouth is playing Northville." And so it went.

It reached a point where unwritten laws existed (slightly exaggerated here perhaps). Such as:

No unescorted Plymouth student was allowed continue March 31 from 10 on Northville streets after dark and vice versa.

And Northville mothers would keep their youngsters in line with the not-so-veiled threat: "Be good Last Saturday, Junior League president John Maxey or I'll feed you to Plymouth.'

The situation became so serious that all athletic tion at the same site and recompetition between the two schools was halted by ported later that a considermutual agreement of school officials.

The rivalry, which had taken a dangerous twist, withered away and died with no food for its rumbling season opens Saturday, May stomach.

THE JUNIOR HIGH bowling league, comprised of six mixed teams, concluded action last Saturday with the awarding of individual trophies to members of the championship and runner-up teams. The league, sponsored by the Plymouth JayCees, bowled weekly at Parkview Lanes. In all, 36 youngsters participated. Pictured here are some of the students on the teams. The championship team was comprised of Terry Vanderveen, Jim Haarbauer, Sue Eckles, Kathy Rehner and Sally Post, while the runner-up team included Glen Heinrich, Mike McArthur, Lorrie Daly, Kathy Zumbrun and Mary Ronk.
