Plan Four Basic Buildings For Initial College Campus

First sketches and a model showing how the basic buildings of the Northwest Wayne County Community College would appear were unveiled this week by the Board of Trustees.

Four initial buildings — a library, an instructional building, a student service building and a cafeteria and bookstore building — are included in the preliminary plans drafted by Eberle M. Smith and Associates, architects for the college. They were assisted with their ideas by the trustees and the college president, Dr. Eric Bradner.

Youth Remains Critical After Accidental Shooting

A 15-year-old Plymouth boy remains in critical condition Wednesday after being accidentally shot last week in the abdomen as a friend was showing his shotgun.

James Snow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Snow, 709 Sheldon Rd., was seriously wounded in the abdominal region and was listed as in "worse than critical" condition following the incident after school last Thursday afternoon.

Jim and two other youths, freshmen in school, were visiting the home of James Westfall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Westfall, 840 Irvin St. The boys had been listening to records and then several guns and knives were brought out in an upstairs bedroom, police were told. One of the youths, Steve Dayton, 611 Ann, left before the shooting, leaving Jim Snow and Phil Zumbum, 679 Provincetown Lane, down on his bed. He then ran to his grandmother's home nearby and asked that she call police and an ambulance.

Weather Helps Swell Easter Attendance

Balmy 82 degree weather Sunday set a new high for April 22, according to the Weather Bureau, and it also helped fill churches with large crowds of worshippers. Many churches reported their services were overflowing with people. The weather turned sour later in the day, however, with showers hitting the area.

58 PHS Students Assist in Unique Experiment

Youths Give Aid to Retarded

By Jim Sponseller

An experiment which may eventually lead to a breakthrough in teaching infants stricken with cerebral palsy to creep and perhaps walk is being undertaken at the Plymouth State Home and Training School with the volunteer help of 58 Plymouth High School students.

The project, which is winning both state and national attention, started March 5 and is scheduled to end June 30. And, according to George Andrews, director of physical therapy at the State Home, results of the effort so far have been "downright drastic."

IN SHORT, the project calls for the forcing of the level of development of a brain-damaged child. By manually giving a child a set of exercises which a normal child can learn himself, the cerebral palsy infant may be able to develop the basic movements. Every day, a group of 10 to 12 Plymouth High School juniors and seniors reports to the State Home's hospital. There are six children in the experiment, ranging from "moderate" to "severe" cases of cerebral palsy. There are 303 children at the State Home with cerebral palsy alone.

The student crews work from 3 to 5 p.m. after school. On Saturdays they report at 10 a.m. and on Sundays at 1 p.m.

PICKING UP the children from their beds in their ward, the students carry them to the playroom at the end of the hall. These children range in age up to six years — but they look only half their age. They cannot talk. Most of them cannot even get up on their knees. At the start of the experiment, some would hardly move. They all must be fed and their diapers changed.

On what is technically called a "neurological organization schedule," the children are each given a series of exercises. The idea first came out of Philadelphia, but no experiments were carried out to completion. "A baby's first movement is to raise himself up on one side and he generally learns to turn all the way over,"

Andrews pointed out. This is called a monolateral pattern. Later, a child naturally learns to raise up both sides and this develops a creeping situation. This is a cross-lateral pattern.

Because of brain damage of the cerebral palsy child, many are not even able to perform the monolateral pattern.

Penniman Ave. Work Started

Work started yesterday morning on a facelifting job on the business block of Penniman Ave. from Main to Harvey Streets.

The $16,966 job, being performed by the Michigan Curb and Construction Co., calls for installing all new sidewalks, and curb in the block. The street, from Main to the Post Office, will be recapped, while the remainder of the block will be torn up and rebuilt because there is little base under this part.

DPW Superintendent Joseph Bida said that both foot and street traffic will be maintained as much as possible. The sidewalk and curb along the south side will be completed first.

DSR Begins Bus Service To Plymouth Monday Morning

DeLuxe To Drop Service

A 52-passenger bus bearing the DSR label will pull out of Plymouth at 6:32 a.m. this Monday to inaugurate a new service between Plymouth and downtown Detroit.

Three runs to Detroit in the morning and three runs back in the afternoon have been scheduled as the DSR takes over a service held for a number of years by the DeLuxe Motor Stages.

DeLuxe has notified the Michigan Public Services Commission that it intends to quit Plymouth and the commission has notified the DSR that it can take over.

A representative for the Detroit Department of Street Railways (DSR) was in Plymouth Monday to complete plans with City officials for the service.

Plymouth will be the most distant run made any place by the DSR.

The Plymouth run will end at Kellogg Park. Public Safety Director Kenneth Fisher and City Manager Albert Glassford said that the bus stop will be on the Ann Arbor Trail side of Kellogg Park, instead of Main St., where the DeLuxe buses now stop.

Here is the schedule.

From Plymouth: 6:32, 7:18 and 10:46 a.m. Monday through Friday, Saturdays at 6:36, 7:31 and 10:46 a.m.

To Plymouth: 3:34, 4:42 and 5:49 p.m. Monday through Friday, Saturdays at 3:10, 5 and 6:02 p.m.

There will be no Sunday runs.

A one-way trip takes one hour and 15 minutes. The cost is 80 cents, but is somewhat cheaper if tickets are purchased in books. The Detroit terminus is on Washington Blvd., near State St.

The bus, while classified as an express, will make stops until it reaches the expressway. The DSR spokesman said that the buses coming here will probably be of the newest type because of the distance they must travel.

While the main bus stop here will be Kellogg Park, drivers will stop on signal at Kellogg Park.

THERE WERE 244 young bike riders participating Saturday in the annual Optimist Club Bicycle Rodeo at the High School. Their bikes were first inspected and few passed all the safety checks. Inspectors, facing the camera, from left, are Sam Stephens, Optimist President Roger Smithling and Patrolman Daniel Carpenter.

The Curious Savage Closes Guild Season

The curtain will rise Thursday night on "The Curious Savage," a comedy that will bring to a close the 1961-62 season of the Plymouth Theatre Guild.

The former Broadway play has gained great popularity throughout the country in community theatres and Plymouth Guild officials promise "a most memorable evening of stage entertainment."

Held in the High School auditorium starting at 8:15 p.m., "The Curious Savage" will be given Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Tickets are still on sale at the Melody House, from Guild members or at the door before each show.

Members of the cast are Helen Fortney, David Fortin, Kathleen Dods, Merlin Heft, Saxie Heft, Bill Mandt, Effie Kuisel, Jacob Rumpf, Ann Tillotson, Dennis Merchant, Madilyn Kendall and Jim Blackman.

The story is that of Mrs. Savage who inherits millions of dollars and decides that now is the time to do all the foolish things she never could do when young. Her friends and relatives try to stop her by putting her in a "home," but there she meets the "guests" who turn out to be much more normal than the scrabbling inmates of the

Finds Garbage In Mailboxes

With postmen finding garbage in the mailboxes, a warning was issued this week by Postmaster George Timpona that such a practice is a very serious offense.

The Postmaster said that school children on their lunch hour have apparently tossed unwanted food into several mailboxes, causing damage to letters that had been mailed. "We even found spaghetti in one," he noted.

Metro-Call Telephoning Given Okay

Plymouth will become one of the first communities in the Detroit area to be given a permanent new telephone service — known as the Metro-Calling Service, the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. said this week.

For a set monthly rate of $10.95, the service will enable residential customers of the company to dial calls throughout the metropolitan area during the specified time periods without additional charges.

The new service has been authorized by the Michigan Public Service Commission to meet the expanding calling needs of residential customers throughout the Detroit metropolitan area.

The service, which applies to dialed calls only, will be available on an optional basis. It will be in effect from 6 p.m. to 9 a.m., Monday through Saturday, and all day on Sundays and three holidays — Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's.

Northville State Hospital Opens Doors for Public Tours Sunday

With the nearby Northville State Hospital observing its 10th year, patients, volunteers and members of the staff are extending an invitation to the public this Sunday to an Open House.

During the 10 years, the hospital has recorded an admission of new patients totaling 6,700. There are now 2,100 patients.

Although the entire week is an observance of National Mental Health Week, tours for the general public are scheduled for Sunday only (April 29). These tours will leave the hospital lobby continuously from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. with the exhibit area of the hospital open until 5 p.m.

The public will be able to visit not only the wards, but many of the departments in action during the general tours. With many changes in care and treatment of the mentally ill during recent years, visitors will find the different hospital areas and exhibits challenging and informative. Programs also are being planned for one of the auditoriums.

Vandals Hit High School, Many Cars

A wave of vandalism that has affected a number of cars and Plymouth High School was reported by police this week.

The High School vandalism took place last Friday when the building was closed for the start of the spring vacation. Two teachers were approaching the building when they noticed three boys going down a fire escape. Inside, they discovered what would generally be termed a "big mess."

An attempt had been made to break open a Coke machine, police found. They found fluorescent tubes broken, soda acid from five extinguishers covering the second and third floors, one locker ransacked, the window of one room broken and another classroom ransacked.

Building and grounds supervisor Thomas Kelly said that actual physical damage was not heavy, but it took hours to clean up the mess and put things back where they belonged.

Earlier last week, 10 separate complaints were filed concerning cars parked around the High School and (Continued on Page 8)

City to Sell Plymouth Rd. Industrial Land

The City is putting 4.8 acres on the auction block to the industry coming in with the best bid.

The acreage is part of the industrial land owned by the City along Plymouth Rd., across from the Burroughs Corp. The bids must not be for less than $35,000.

A resolution calling for the sale was approved at a special meeting of the City Commission Monday night. Also on the agenda was a resolution calling for the mayor to sign the contract with the federal government for the Urban Renewal project.

The commission also adopted a layout plan for the Central Parking Lot. The lot will be completely changed to accommodate more cars and repaired. This work will take place probably this summer.

Following the meeting, the Commission met with the Plymouth Township Board to discuss the transfer of the City-owned water system in Green Meadows to the Township system.

Michigan Week To Honor DSI

"Plans for the 1962 Michigan Week celebration in Plymouth are well underway," Chairman Edward Draugelis said today.

Recently a committee of interested citizens met at the Wayflower Hotel for a luncheon meeting to discuss possibilities for this year's promotion from May 20 to 26.

One of the activities being planned is a tribute to one of Plymouth's newest industries, Distribution Services, Inc. On this committee are George Lawton, chairman; Harold Juenther, Edward Sawusch and Mayor Robert Sincok.

The publicity chairman is William Nelson. Also on this committee is Fran Booth. City Manager Albert Glassford is in charge of Hospitality Day and James Jabara heads the Our Livelihood Day committee. Dr. Ralph Snoke is chairman of Education Day. Thomas Notebaert is head of Youth Day and Wayne Dunlap is chairman of cultural activities. Other days are in the planning stage. Draugelis said, "It is hoped this year's celebration in Plymouth will command a lot of attention."

Guild Sponsors Card Party For Motherhouse

The newly-formed Sisters of Saint Joseph Guild of Our Lady of Good Counsel Parish in Plymouth is sponsoring a card party on Friday evening, April 27, in the church hall. Dr. Donald Davies is president of the organization and other officers are Mrs. Donald Skinner, John Broderick and Glenn Wilson.

The Guild is an organization of parishioners of Our Lady of Good Counsel whose primary purpose is the promotion of local interest and support for the varied efforts of the order of nuns in teaching, nursing and social work.

Proceeds of the card party will help educate young women who are training at the Motherhouse, which is the headquarters of the Order at Nazareth, on the outskirts of Kalamazoo.

Institutions staffed by the Sisters in Michigan are Nazareth Convent, Borgess Hospital, St. John Hospital, St. Joseph Hospital, Lee Memorial Hospital, Mercy Hospital, Tawas Hospital, Nazareth Academy, Nazareth College, and Barbour Hall Junior Military Academy.

Schools under the direction of the Sisters of St. Joseph number 25 in the Detroit area, 6 in Grand Rapids, 25 in Lansing area, and 3 in Saginaw. The order was founded in Le Puy, France in 1650 and made its first foundation in the United States in 1836. In 1839 the sisters came to Kalamazoo.

DOING THEIR BIT to help promote knowledge about cancer are members of Girl Scout Troop 274 who last week distributed posters to stores advertising next week's film showing, "A Breath of Fresh Air." Two of the leaders are Mrs. William Arndt, left, and Mrs. Cecil Bonk, right. Both the Girl Scouts and the Michigan Cancer Foundation are supported by the Plymouth Community Fund.

Women Invited To See Film on Cancer

"Fight Cancer with Knowledge" is the theme of this year's educational crusade sponsored by the Michigan Cancer Foundation and one of the activities planned locally is the showing of a film at the Penn Theatre next Wednesday, May 2.

The free film for women called "A Breath of Fresh Air" will be shown at the Penn starting at 1:30 p.m. on May 2. All women's groups are being urged to have their members attend and all women in the community are invited.

The film on the technique of breast self-examination is the dramatic story of a woman who learns to protect herself against the leading cause of cancer deaths among women today — a type of cancer which annually takes the lives of 24,000 Americans.

Also on the program will be the showing of "Out of the Shadows," a color and sound film based on the curability of cancer. These films are being shown at theatres throughout Western Wayne County this month and local arrangements are being made by the Plymouth Branch of the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

"About the only certainty in the medical mind today is that early detection is the key to cure, and that certain types of cancer are more hopeful of complete cure because they develop in accessible areas of the body," the Foundation points out. "Typical of this is breast cancer, and yet the tragic fact is that breast cancer kills more women in the United States today than any other form of cancer," they added.

"If all women, from the age of maturity, could be convinced of the importance of early detection for the cure of cancer — and the simplicity of detecting cancer of the breast — this one site could be virtually eliminated as a cause of death," the Foundation asserted.

George T. Martin, municipal judge in Dearborn, is crusade chairman for Western Wayne County. He is assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Gust, who has been a volunteer in the educational program of the Foundation for the past four years.

Mrs. Gust is a former resident of Plymouth, is a member of the Plymouth Women's Club and past president of the VFW Auxiliary.

Children are assured of an experienced sitter and look forward to "visiting" when parents are away during the day, and to have "Mommies" and "Daddies" as babysitters at home in the evening.

Interested parents may call Mrs. Ronald Nyhus, GL 3-0992 or Mrs. Phillip Settles, GL 3-1361.

May 2 at 1 p.m. is the date and time of the cancer film showing at the Penn Theatre. "Out of the Shadows" and "A Breath of Fresh Air" are the names of the film to be shown. A doctor will be in attendance to try to answer all questions. There is no admission charge and tickets are not needed. You do not have to belong to the Auxiliary to attend. Everyone is welcome and this is a wonderful opportunity to broaden one's education on cancer.

Virginia Bartel was guest speaker at a film showing in Livonia as a representative of the Michigan Cancer Foundation. There were 675 women in attendance, which is something of a record breaking crowd for this area. Let's see if Plymouth can't do as well.

Our newly elected officers, Bettie Neale, Helen Luttermoser, Betty England and Virginia Bartel attended the officers school of instruction at Wayne with Past Department President Alice Roche presiding.

May 16 and 17 are the dates of the rummage sale. Set-up for the sale will be after the regular meeting May 15. If you want your rummage picked up, call Mary Schwartz.

Maker of Once-Popular Hamilton Rifle Quietly Reaches 90th Year

By Jerome O'Neil

Coello Hamilton's 90th birthday passed softly into history last weekend at a small, private celebration here.

A dozen immediate relatives, ranging from his four daughters to his one-year-old great-grandson, gathered to mark the event amid gifts and cake and ice cream.

Plymouth's 20th Century thoughts paused only briefly and then moved on, and the local significance of Mr. Hamilton's birthday was lost on all but a very few.

Which is exactly as he desired it.

NEVER in his 90 years, 85 of them centered around the same house at 311 Hamilton St., did Coello Hamilton seek out the public eye and place himself boldly in its gaze.

Once, however, he only narrowly avoided it.

Because Coello Hamilton, in the early 1890's worked alongside one of the Dodge brothers as a toolmaker for Henry M. Leland in Detroit.

Coello then worked with the other Dodge brother in Windsor.

His father, Clarence, an ingenious man, brought Coello and the other members of the Hamilton family to Plymouth about 1874.

For a while, they lived in a house next to the City Hall, where the building that once was the Christian Science Church now stands.

PLYMOUTH was a rural community in those days and far less than 1,000 persons comprised the town populace.

One of Coello's childhood tasks was watering the maple trees that surrounded the frame house.

Today, the maples are 80 feet tall.

As Coello was growing up, his father was prospering.

On hot summer days, Coello and his friends would run pell-mell across open fields toward what is now Riverside Park.

Development is fast building another 55 residences across the route the small boys followed 80 years ago.

Coello's father was a founder of the Daisy Air Rifle Co. in the late 1890's.

Clarence died in 1902 and for 43 years Coello headed one of Plymouth's healthiest industries.

HE WAS on a mission for Greenfield Village, then in the building stages.

During World War II, he came across Henry Ford.

He was on a mission for Greenfield Village, then in the building stages.

On Friday, April 16, a nine pound son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Don Packard in Plymouth Hospital.

Hamilton Rifle factory, which was located directly across Hamilton St. from Coello's house, was converted to defense work.

And in 1945, at the end of the war, Coello Hamilton sold his patents for the Hamilton rifle and retired.

For several years after the war, Coello's wife, Theresa, arranged for repairs of the many Hamilton rifles then in use.

His father built 85 years ago.

On Friday evening Dr. and Mrs. A. E. VanOrnum of West Maple will have as their guests at dinner, 25 young girls from the Ward Memorial Presbyterian Church in Detroit.

Patrolman Carl Greenlee is confined to his home this week with a throat infection.

William Baker is recovering from an operation for appendicitis recently performed at Plymouth Hospital.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Amanda Olga Meyer, one daughter, Mrs. Patricia Cederberg of Canton Twp., four sisters, Mrs. Jennie Steffy, Mrs. Mamie Walz, Mrs. Lottie Yonker and Mrs. Cora Anderson.

How I Earned My First Dollar

Bernie Morrison

When Bernie Morrison was nine years old, he and an older cousin became partners in their first business venture. On Saturday nights, they sold the Sunday editions of three Detroit newspapers on a Detroit street corner. "We split $3 between us each week," Mr. Morrison recalled, and that became the first dollar that he ever earned. Now, he is owner of Famous Stores for Men and Boys at Ann Arbor Trail and Forest Ave. Graduating from Western High School, young Bernie Morrison attended Wayne State University and at the same time became a buyer for Sam's, Inc. After several years of this, he started a Famous store in Northville in 1954 and then opened a similar store in Plymouth in 1956. The Northville store has now been closed.

A resident of Oak Park, Mr. Morrison and his wife are the parents of two daughters.

Bloodmobile To Visit Northville

Red Cross volunteers in Northville have invited members of all blood group accounts to visit a Red Cross bloodmobile when it is located at the Methodist Church, 109 Dunlop, on Friday, May 11, from 2 to 5 and 6 to 8 p.m. This is an annual event sponsored by the Red Cross volunteers for the convenience of everyone in the community.

Mrs. C. C. Winter, 230 N. Rogers, is the Red Cross blood program chairman in Northville and is spearheading the drive for donors. She has emphasized that each donor choose the account to which he wishes credit for his donation to go: an organized blood group, a personal or 'self' account, replacement of blood already used by a hospital patient. Mrs. Winter says that persons with no other blood group affiliation are urged to designate the Northville Community Blood Group Account, and then they will be eligible to call on the resources of that account in time of personal emergency.
