

'Talk Over Our Heads,' Complains Plymouth Voter

Has School Board Overlooked 'Little Guy?'

Has the Plymouth School Board been negligent in not spelling out its actions and explaining its financial problems in terms that can be understood by the "little guy" who packs just as much impact in the voting booth as college-trained "big wheel"?

Does the average citizen understand all of the ramifications of the various millage proposals and especially the new one slated for a vote on July 30?

Robert J. Mitchell, 7075 Beck Road, who was graduated from Plymouth High School in 1949, answered both questions in a lengthy discussion before the Board a week ago.

Receiving an audience in the open meeting, Mitchell, who stated he was talking as one of the "little guys", answered both questions.

He told members he thought they were negligent in not getting the message home to the average citizen of the community and said that in his estimation the "little guy" doesn't have the slightest idea of what the ramifications are in regard to the various millage proposals.

"Understand," he said, "I'm not appearing before this Board as one opposed to the millage proposals—matter of fact I'll probably vote in favor come July 30—but I feel that too many persons in my particular level don't know what is going on."

Mitchell is one of seven brothers and sisters who have been graduated from Plymouth High School over the past 20 years. The family moved to Plymouth from the Walled Lake area.

"I have five children of school age," he pointed out, "None is attending the Plymouth Community School district schools because I feel they would not get the education there I believe they should have."

His children are attending Our Lady of Good Counsel school.

"I feel that the schools should teach children to become good citizens and prepare them for their lifetime work, whatever it might be. And I don't think that teachers should continually harp on the subject of going to college—there are a good many of us who can't afford to send our children on to higher education. There are a good many who will go out and get jobs as soon as they finish high school," he said.

"This Board has placed millage proposals before the voters twice and each has been rejected. Perhaps it would be wise for the Board members to try and let us 'little guys' in on exactly what the millage is for.

"In this meeting here, I have heard discussions of an estimated budget of a couple of million dollars and what the schools would receive from taxes on the basis of a renewal of the 3.5 millage and how much more would come in from an additional half mill up to and additional two mills, most of it is over my head.

"Why can't the Board break these figures down to a simple explanation that will be understood by all. Then I'm sure everyone will be able to evaluate the situation and make a decision on whether to vote for or against."

Mitchell, who won the attention of every member of the Board with his sincere presentation, hit many of what he termed "unnecessary frills" in the school programs.

"For instance, I have been told that failure to approve the millage proposal will result in a cut in classes now being offered," he said.

"Someone told me that this meant no music teacher for the second and third grades. As far as I'm concerned second and third graders can do without music, that's where stress should be on making good citizens.

"I feel that the 'little guys' and the retirees of which there are a great many in the district, aren't getting the whole story. Once they do I believe the Board will find things will be much smoother. I'm positive that if the need for millage increases is explained in simple language that it will pass and there's no time like now for the Board to start talking in that language. The sooner the better."

Board members questioned him about points in the talk and there was a discussion but the opinion was that perhaps Mitchell had raised an excellent point—one that the Board should heed in its campaign to get voters to approve the new millage proposal.

City Firm Lands Parking Lot Job

IT'S OFFICIAL—Formal announcement of a $20 million Shopping Center for this area with covered, all weather malls, and Sears and Crowley's as major tenants, was made at a press conference Tuesday noon. The Center (as yet unnamed) will sit on the northwest corner of Seven Mile and Middlebelt in Livonia and will cover 50 acres with parking for 4,000 cars. The Sears store will be 250,000 square feet and the Crowley store 125,000 feet. The Center ultimately will contain 50 shops and services. In the picture above developers, builder, architect and Mayor Harvey Moelke look over a scale model of the center. Wins Pact On Bid Of $35,060

Board Discusses Detroit Tax Hassle

Officially the Plymouth City Commission awarded contracts for improvements to the Central Parking Lot and for the painting of cross walks, school crossing and lines for parking spaces but unofficially members discussed the Detroit income tax and its effect on Plymouth residents in a special meeting Monday night.

The contract for the Central Parking Lot was awarded to Thompson-McCulley, of Plymouth, on its bid of $35,060.80, was the lowest of five submitted by area firms.

The firms making bids for the Central Parking lot and their prices: A&A Asphalt, $42,948.10; Ajax Asphalt Paving, $37,700.40; Ann Arbor Construction, $36,278.50; Ypsilanti Asphalt, $35,966.55; and Thompson-McCulley, $35,060.80.

The Commission acted unanimously on the recommendation pointed out that "Thompson-McCulley is pre-qualified with the Michigan State Highway Department for approximately $500,000. The financial statement and equipment list are in order and acceptable."

The letter stated "the bid of $35,060.80 exceeded our estimate of $34,528.50 by only $523.30 and is low by $905.75. Therefore we recommend that the City award the project to Thompson-McCulley Co."

The Commission adjourned the special meeting to go into a committee as the whole discussion of the Detroit situation, especially that section which taxes suburbanites who work in or receive credits from a Detroit company.

No official action was taken but Commission members indicated that they are disturbed by the tax and its effect on Plymouth residents who commute daily to Detroit.

However, after considerable discussion pro and con, it was the general opinion that the Commission should wait and see what happens in the fight by the suburban mayors' Vigilance Committee.

Plymouth Names Chairmen for UF Fund Drive

Plans for the 1962 Plymouth Community Fund campaign were discussed and committee chairmen named at the annual organizational meeting. The drive is slated from Oct. 6 through Nov. 2.

City Manager Alfred Glassford is general chairman of the campaign committee and will be assisted by the following: Reva Barber, residential chairman; Ralph Garber, professional; Tom Notebaert, business; Elmer Hedlund, industry; Sterling Eaton, advanced gifts; Dan Olson and Bob Wall, publicity and special events; James Spensler, advertising; Russell Isbister, advisor; and Ethel North, Frank Palmer and Robert Covington, advisory committee.

The chairmen will hold three pre-campaign planning meetings on Sept. 6 and 20 and on Oct. 1.

Plymouth C Of C Nears Fireworks Fund Goal

With the big fireworks display still a week away, the Chamber of Commerce has high hopes of reaching its goal of $700 in contributions to aid the Plymouth Jaycees in financing that part of the July 4 celebration.

The drive has netted $572 to date and Chamber officials believe the remainder will be in the till by the end of the week. Any business, industrial plant, club or individual desiring to aid the cause should get in touch with the C of C office.

The list of donors includes: Penn Restaurant, Ellis Restaurant,

25 Eye Miss Plymouth Crown

With a field of 25 candidates for the Miss Plymouth contest that is one of the highspots of the annual celebration, the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce is making plans for the greatest July 4 celebration in history.

Everything on the program for July 3 and 4 is bigger and better than a year ago—leading officers predict records all the way down the line.

But it was the unprecedented entry in the beauty queen contest, slated for Tuesday, July 3, as part of the pageant at the Plymouth High athletic field that built up the predictions.

Building Sags Below '61 Level In Plymouth

Thirty-two building permits, with a total valuation of $541,000, were issued by the Plymouth Building Safety Department during the month of May according to the monthly report to the City Commission.

This contrasted to $153,615 in April and a total of $325,294 for May in 1961. Building is behind that of a year ago with a total of $1,466,206 for the fiscal year compared to $1,947,369 for the same period in 1961.

Twenty-five beauties from industrial plants, businesses and sponsored by civic and service clubs in the Plymouth area, will do their strutting before a panel of judges and the queen will rule over the activities for the remainder of the week.

The celebration opens Monday when the carnival moves into the grounds on S. Mill Street but the Junior Chamber of Commerce is placing all of its eggs into two baskets with outstanding programs on Tuesday and Wednesday. The affair continues through Saturday, July 7.

Dear Sirs:

I can not speak highly enough for your classified ad service. It certainly works fast. Your paper hit our front porch at 12:50 p.m. Wednesday, June 20 and while we were looking for our ad the first call came in at 1:00 p.m. No. two call came in at 1:30 p.m. No. three came in at 3:00 p.m. and this lady came right up and looked at the piano we had advertised and the piano was sold to her at 4:00 p.m. The piano was in her home at 8:00 p.m.

So you see the advertised article was sold three hours after your paper hit our doorstep.

Thanks again for such excellent service and you may use this letter as a testimonial in your very fine newspaper.

Respectfully yours

La Verne G. Olds

P. S. Several calls came in after piano was sold.

To create a new public image is not a quick process, it requires skilled direction and imagination, and the effort must be founded on fact.

Nonetheless, we believe the Board of Education has failed heretofore to put its best foot forward; that it has taken public approval for granted, and in so doing has become careless in detail and indifferent to public fears; and that a newly-conceived relations program could reserve a whole trend.

1. Plymouth voters do not know what to expect from the Board of Education in the way of millage requests. From day to day, "absolute immediate need" seems to vary by as much as six mills, and it is only human to wonder, "what do we REALLY need?"

2. Nor does the public know what's coming next. There seems to be no pattern, projected over a period of years, showing pre-planning and a long-range, total picture of EVERYTHING needed. Living in fear of tomorrow's request ("if we approve this, they'll be back with another ballot request in a few months") causes many to vote "No" on whatever is at hand.

3. The Plymouth Board rather generally has kept its light under a bushel. Any businessman or senior citizen would be delighted if he knew that the Plymouth system has one of the smallest debt ratios in the whole metropolitan area. The "sinking fund" approach has saved taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars in interest in recent years, compared to neighbor districts. The savings in debt service dwarf the so-called "extravagances" in a much-blasted "glass" junior high, yet the public is permitted to concentrate its spleen on the latter and seldom is reminded of the former.

4. Budget preparation today is done with too broad a brush; detailed figures are skipped over lightly and the visitor leaves with a sort of impression of being talked-down to, as if a child were intruding into affairs to obtuse for his mind, to be handled instead only by "educators."

5. There is a general public impression that the school members are puppets of the teachers; yet at the same time the teachers are embittered against their board.

6. All the remarks in this column are addressed to the Board generally, but they pertain with greatest impact upon the Superintendent of Schools and his staff. They have the most direct contact with the faculty and public, day in and day out, and their views are the ones most often taken as the "school attitude." We have heard, much too often the Superintendent's attitude described as "straddle the fence;" be all things to all people.

A hard, organized, candid selling job, calling a spade just that, and letting things fly, is much in order right now.

If the facts are harsh, let's face them, and get away from the approach that selling schools is sort of a high-brow confidence game.

Father of Bride Officiates At Frizzell-Gault Wedding

High Priest Noble C. Gault, father of the bride, officiated at the sacrament of marriage of Ann Winifred Gault of Livonia, and Guy Edwin Frizzell, Jr., of Plainwell, Michigan, which took place Saturday, June 2, at 4:30 at the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. He was assisted by the groom's grandfather, Evangelist John R. Grice, of Port Huron, Michigan.

The double-ring ceremony was performed in the chancel decorated with ferns and candelabra wound with white gladioli and Chrysanthemums and huckleberry fern. On the organ console was a brass bowl of red sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

A half hour of organ music preceded the ceremony. Before the ceremony the Amity Music Club of Detroit, of which the bride and her mother are members, sang two wedding hymns. They were the groom's arrangement of "O Perfect Love" and a special hymn written by Dr. Roy A. Cheville of Grace-land College, "Here In This House With Friends We Meet." The soloist was Mrs. Clarence Frisby (Carlotta Franzel) of Detroit, who sang Gounod's "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" and Mallotte's "The Lord's Prayer." The organist was Mrs. Harvey Beird of Detroit.

The bride's gown was of off-white brocade fashioned and made by her mother. It featured the scalloped boat neckline, short sleeves with scalloped edges, and the hem was in deep scallops, instep length in front and curving out in back into a chapel train. Her gauntlets were of the same brocade, fashioned to a point on the back of her hand and extending over the elbows. The little pill-box cap which held her veil was covered with the brocade also. The veil was brought from Hamburg, Germany, when the bride toured Europe with the first Michigan Choral in 1958. Her only jewelry was the pearl earrings which were the gift of the groom. Her flowers were white roses, stephanotis, white cymbelia orchids and ivy, with just a few purple violets, her birth flower.

The maid-of-honor, Miss Jimmie Allen, of Garden City, wore a short bouffant gown of rose bud pink nylon organza. Her headpiece was of pink tulle fashioned in a scalloped circle fastened to a ribbon covered halo. The bridesmaids' gowns were of sky-blue chiffon, with fitted bodices and full skirts. Their headpieces were of blue tulle. A little spray of lillies-of-the-valley and a single tiny white cymbelia orchid adorned the back of each headpiece. Their white lace mitts and pearl earrings were the bride's gift to them. White slippers completed their costumes. They carried sprays of cymbelia orchids, lillies-of-the-valley and ivy.

The bridesmaids were Geor-gia Gault (Mrs. Roger) of Ypsilanti, sister-in-law of the bride; Miss Frances Clements of Farmington; Miss Karen Jenkins of Detroit and Miss Janet Frizzell of Plainwell, sister of the groom.

Errol Frizzell of Plainwell, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Groomsman were the groom's brother, G. John, of Plainwell, and the bride's brother, Roger Gault, of Ypsillanti. Norman Goodling of Niles, Michael Clardy of Hastings, Alan Mumbro of Paw Paw and Gregg Toland of Kalamazoo seated the guests. Mrs. Gault received the guests in a sheath of blue-turquoise shiffl-embroidered georgette. Her hat was an origi-

THE WIKLER SHOE BY BUSTER BROWN
 A REMARKABLE NEW SHOE FROM BUSTER BROWN. DESIGNED TO AVOID A LIFETIME OF FOOT TROUBLES

The Wikler Shoe by Buster Brown has weight bearing areas at the tuberosity of the fifth metatarsal.

Now barefoot freedom (the healthiest state for growing feet) within a shoe! This shoe, designed by Dr. Simon J. Wikler, a podiatrist, leaves the foot free to exercise and grow naturally during the early, vital years.

Children who go barefoot retain good feet. This has been established by findings which appeared consistently in medical literature.

However, going barefoot is not practical. The possibility of disease contact and physical harm makes going barefoot constantly an impractical and sometimes a dangerous habit.

If going barefoot helps a child to develop his feet normally, then why not a shoe which virtually allows a child to go barefoot while wearing it.

The sole of the Wikler Shoe by Buster Brown is made of flexible leather.

In conventional shoes, unnecessary stiff soles are often used which tend to limit the ability of the baby's foot to flex while wearing the shoe. In addition, many conventional infant's shoes feature spring heels which unnaturally raise the heel of the baby's foot. This raising of the foot keeps undue pressures on the forward of the foot, and also reduces flexibility at the heel of the shoe.

The Wikler Shoe by Buster Brown features a one piece vamp and quarter without seams. Its blucher opening is exceptionally wide. These two factors combine to provide the baby's foot with a smooth, easy entrance into the shoe.

The Wikler Shoe by Buster Brown has weight bearing areas at the tuberosity of the fifth metatarsal.

Now barefoot freedom (the healthiest state for growing feet) within a shoe! This shoe, designed by Dr. Simon J. Wikler, a podiatrist, leaves the foot free to exercise and grow naturally during the early, vital years.

Children who go barefoot retain good feet. This has been established by findings which appeared consistently in medical literature.

However, going barefoot is not practical. The possibility of disease contact and physical harm makes going barefoot constantly an impractical and sometimes a dangerous habit.

If going barefoot helps a child to develop his feet normally, then why not a shoe which virtually allows a child to go barefoot while wearing it.

The sole of the Wikler Shoe by Buster Brown is made of flexible leather.

In conventional shoes, unnecessarily stiff soles are often used which tend to limit the ability of the baby's foot to flex while wearing the shoe. In addition, many conventional infant's shoes feature spring heels which unnaturally raise the heel of the baby's foot. This raising of the foot keeps undue pressures on the forward area of the foot, and also reduces the flexibility at the heel of the shoe.

The Wikler Shoe by Buster Brown features a one piece vamp and quarter without seams. Its blucher opening is exceptionally wide. These two factors combine to provide the baby's foot with a smooth, easy entrance into the shoe.

Davis-Herbold Afternoon Rites

Mr. and Mrs. Stafford Davis

A simply-cut, full-skirted gown was chosen by the bride for her wedding, fashioned with four deep tiers around the skirt. Her full illusion veil, complementing her dark hair, fell from a circlet crown. Short white gloves completed the ensemble. Ballerina-length gowns of white embroidered with variegated orchid flowers and matching accessories were worn by bridal attendants.

Two Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority sisters were attendants. Linda Grant from Geneva, Switzerland was maid of honor and Judy Laird from Kentucky, a bridesmaid.

Serving as best man was Kenneth Wiley with Charles Ruby and Ralph Mitchell as ushers.

A reception for friends and relatives was held in the Miles Standish Room of the Mayflower Hotel following the ceremony. Mrs. Herbold greeted guests in a softly draped silk sheath of beige. Her accessories were of a deeper coffee-colored beige. The groom's mother, chose a blue lace for her son's wedding.

Following a motor trip to Canada the newlyweds will be on the Campus of the Northwestern University for a short time. The groom plans to enter the diplomatic service. The new Mrs. Davis graduated from Northwestern University class of '62. She has been employed by the Chandler Publications as Women's Editor for two summers.

FARIES - HOPPER WED

The marriage of Miss Jane Evelyn Faries, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Faries of Livonia, Michigan to Marvin E. Hopper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Hopper of Plymouth, took place Saturday, June 16, at 7:00 p.m. in the Farmington Methodist Church. The double ring ceremony was performed by Reverend John Grenfell, Jr.

The church was decorated with baskets of mixed flowers and cathedral candles.

Mr. Robert B. Jackson, organist and Mrs. Joyce Foster Hinnant, soloist, both of Richmond, Virginia and cousins of the bride, presented a program of nuptial music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of nylon organza and lace. The fitted bodice had long sleeves and was joined to a yoke of lace and sequins with scalloped neckline. The bouffant skirt and tunic, edged with deep scalloped lace, fell over a ruffle of nylon taffeta. Her elbow length veil of nylon tulle was gathered to a soft nylon head-piece. She carried a cascade bouquet of white brides roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Gaye Carville of Lynchburg, Virginia, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Judy Breejen of Livonia and Mrs. Myron Hopper of Plymouth. They wore identically styled dresses of nylon chiffon in pastel shades of green, orchid and yellow.

Myron Hopper was his brother's best man and seating the guests were Melvin Hopper, another brother of the groom and Victor Deichert.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained with a reception after which Mr. and Mrs. Hopper left for a honeymoon to the Pocono Mountains, Penna.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Weaver
Barbara Jean Ptasnik and Thomas Weaver were united in marriage at a Nuptial Mass in St. Damian Church with Father Obee and Father Healy of Providence Hospital, where Barbara Jean was an RN, officiating. The double ring ceremony took place June 16.

Following the ceremony a breakfast was held at the bride's home for the immediate family. Friends and relatives gathered for dinner and reception later in the evening.

The bride was radiant in a peau de soi gown with embroidered bodice of chantilly lace sequined roses which extended to a bell-shaped skirt. She carried a bouquet of roses and mums. Her veil was tiered of silk illusion with a lace and pearl head-piece.

Barbara Monticelli, maid of honor, wore a blue silk organza fashioned with a bell-skirt covered with embossed carnations. Her bouquet was of carnations tipped in blue to match her gown and mums.

Friend of the groom, Thomas Keller was best man. Raymond Edward Raymond, Jr., bride's brother, John Patrick Ptasnik, and Michael Smith seated the guests.

Mrs. Ptasnik chose a navy and white silk suit for her daughter's wedding and the groom's mother, chose a beige silk dress. Orchid corsages graced the shoulder of both mothers.

Two nationally-acclaimed exhibits will be opened this week at Wonderland, Livonia's multi-million dollar shopping center at Plymouth road and Middlebelt.

A floor fashion show, presented by The Armstrong Floor Covering Company, began a 10-day stand at the center Monday. The exhibit, housed in a specially-constructed show trailer, will be open from noon to 9 p.m. daily.

Visitors will be given the opportunity to see the very latest in vinyl floor coverings and also be able to enter a guessing contest. The floor covering company will award a free vinyl floor each week to the person who comes closest to guessing the number of vinyl chips packed in a large glass container.

Chevrolet Division of General Motors and The Detroit News team up to present a colorful display of Detroit's Soap Box Derby Championship cars. The racers, which date back to 1940, will be shown in a unique Quadridome in the central section of the center's main mall.

Both of the attractions are open to the public, free of charge.

News Notes From Nankin

BY MARGARET GIBSON
GA 7-1289

All children in our area are invited to participate in the Nankin Township recreation program. There will be a supervised program that will include nature trips, tee ball, baseball, inside games, trips to Bob Lo, zoo and many more things of interest to children.

We'd like to take this opportunity to remind all motorists to take their time in driving and watch out for children. We are forced to think for children at times because they aren't going to think about an oncoming car when their ball goes into the street or a friend yells hello from across the street.

Parents and teachers are indeed proud to end the school year at Monroe. This has been a year of friction and misunderstanding between almost everyone. It seems everyone needs a short thinking period. The room mothers and teachers joined together to say farewell for a little while at a tea Friday. The tea was held in the multi-purpose room of the school with all teachers, room mothers, principal and secretaries attending.

Enjoying a night out recently were Preston and Skeets Carter of Gladys.

Barbara Bobier of Henry Ruff has been released from the hospital and is recuperating at home.

Evelyn Cronk has been admitted to the hospital and will be there for a few weeks under close observation of the doctors.

CONGRATULATIONS are given to William Booth (left), president of the United Northwestern Realty Association, for having led the group to the highest dollar value of sales in its 42 year history. The Association totaled $6,910,180 in used home sales in May. Booth is shown receiving plaudits from Secretary Marvin Moser (center) and Vice President Richard Funk.

Two years ago there were only forty-seven (47) teams in this league. Last year the number jumped to 97 teams. This year we have 113 teams. This large number of boys can only keep playing through the generosity of the people of Livonia.
