Under the by-laws, they always are entitled to tell local women to "take it or leave it" in terms of their YWCA service . . . or any other service which stems from U.F. funds.

But if the downtown braintrusters choose to conduct themselves along those lines, they will reap the inevitable harvest later.

They will find a suspicious, resisting group of citizens in vital communities; locations where at least once a year the UF now shows up to seek funds and make friends.

To put it right on the line: the only way a snubbed group of suburban ladies can make their voices heard is to refuse to help the United Foundation with time and/or money.

All of which is to introduce this column's protest to a YWCA policy and to repeat a question which has been asked before:

Just exactly what does come back from the dollars sent to downtown UF headquarters by residents of suburban areas such as Redford and Livonia?

A related subject involves the Plymouth community. Plymouth still conducts its own local "red feather after a complete study by condrive." The example is in Livonia. For months, a large group until his firm had made a new of active and prominent ladies have been seeking to study on the project minus the persuade the YWCA that they prefer not to be affiliated with the branch of the YWCA located in Dearborn, Mich., but rather with the branch in Redford at Grand River and Seven Mile.

The Redford branch is closer. The families who belong there more generally tend to be friends and neighbors of the Livonia ladies. Livonia is a stranger in the Dearborn branch.

Despite the size and fervor of the objection, the YWCA leadership has chosen to ignore the Livonia pleas. The Dearborn branch is re-imbursed (by the U.F. in part) on the basis of "serving the Livonia community," and they want to keep it that way. They like the Livonia dollars.

Thwarted at the YWCA level, the Livonia ladies turned to the United Foundation leadership. There they heard vague promises of a "meeting to kick this thing around" but nothing has happened. Now they're convinced nobody intends to make any changes.

Plymouth Clerk Issues Call For Vote Aides

Joseph Near, City of Plymouth Clerk, has issued a call for help.

Near is in dire need of election inspectors and urges all interested to make application at his office in the Plymouth City Hall at once.

Near was quick to point out that the inspectors aren't needed for the Nov. 6 election but for future polls. Monday was the deadline for naming inspectors for the Nov. 6 election and the names had to be certified by the election commission no later than Tuesday.

Plymouth Twp. Street Lights Approved

Residents of Plymouth Township can expect street lights at more than 30 main intersections within 30 days following action by the Township Board in its monthly meeting.

The Board passed a resolution authorizing Supervisor Roy Lindsay to go ahead with the project. Lindsay contacted Detroit Edison officials late late week to complete arrangements.

The project includes installation of 28 lights at street intersections, particularly those leading into subdivisions and is expected to light up corners that have presented traffic problems.

Reva Barber, head of the residential division, said her 25 captains and more than 250 workers would make a house to house canvass on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 17, 18 and 19.

Tom Notebaert, of the business division, reported his eightman team had raised $2,100 and had only started the job.

Elmer Hedlund, of the industrial division, had a report of $4,800 in checks and pledges from area plants with more expected by the Oct. 25 report date.

Helen Caplin, acting in the absence of Mrs. S. Eaton of the advanced gifts division, reported pledges of $2,800.

Sid Strong, of the professional division, indicated more than 70 letters had been sent out and reports would be made by the next session.

Other division leaders introduced included: Dan Olsen of publicity and Frank Palmer of the report luncheons division.

The division leaders will meet Thursday at noon at the Hillside Inn to make preliminary reports and then all workers will meet for the first official report meeting on Oct. 25 in the Mayflower Hotel with the victory dinner slated for Friday, Nov. 2.

Suzanne Whipple Receives Award

Suzanne Whipple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Whipple, 42049 Clenmons, Plymouth, has been awarded a $500 Mead Johnson scholarship for a dietetic internship.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, Miss Whipple will use the scholarship for a graduate work in the study of dietetics.

The plans call for the installation of the lights in the middle of the street. The lights would be placed in al parts of the Township with the exception of Napier Road, according to the plans outlined by Lindsay to the Board.

The Trustees gave unanimous approval to the project and indicated all costs for the remainder of the fiscal year would be handled by the Board without any assessment to the taxpayers.

It was the unanimous opinion that the project was one the Board would assume as a service to its residents.

matter in a Detroit office is typical of the downtown attitude toward many similar suburban problems.

Many key Detroiters do not understand or appreciate the suburbs. Because they fail to grasp the kind of environment here, and the real problems, which trouble our citizens, they regard the suburbs as a sort of curiosity, interesting but not necessarily important.

The deciding TD came on what had to be a stroke of luck. Not only had RU fumbled away the ball in the first place, but Trenton got the ball to the RU ten on a pass which was blocked by an RU defender.

However, a Trenton receiver snared the ball before it hit the ground and from that point Walters went the remaining distance.

Chuck Shelton again recorded a brilliant effort for RU, despite his team's loss.

He clicked on 15 out of 24 passes for 166 yards. His aerials to Charles Fifield and Bud Green helped set up the only RU touchdown which Shelton himself made on a sneak of maybe six inches.

SPORTS OBSERVER

- By George Maskin-

Interscholastic sports are wonderful for high schools. Who's to disagree?

But they provide some drawbacks. No. 1 of which being that they don't offer too great a proportion of the student body a chance to perform in physical, athletic endeavor.

Consider our area high schools. All have upwards of 1,500 students. Turnouts of 100 for football are considered high, yet such a group comprises only a slim part of the total enrollment.

And the figure becomes far more astronomical when you stop to note that fewer than 25 boys make up the varsity and reserve basketball teams at the various schools hereabouts.

The school leaders obviously are aware of this point. So they're attempting to do something to correct the situation.

Over at Bentley, the big brass spent the summer working out an intramural program which would add a sports outlet for both the boys and the girls.

Principal Don Friedrichs supervised the idea along with Athletic Director Les Anders and Coach George Pfelles. They think they have come up with something.

The program already is working. For the first time Bentley has a touch football league clicking. They are eight teams, each with 10 boys.

Students out for varsity or reserve football are barred. Basically, the league is only for juniors and seniors who enjoy no physical education classes during the day. Gym is a must, we're told, for the tenth graders at Bentley.

The boys seem to be going for the touch football play in a big way," says Pfelles. "And the girls are participating in swimming."

What happens when the football season ends?

"We'll have bowling, volleyball and basketball during the winter," declares Pfelles. "This we feel should bring out a few hundred students.

"Then in the spring we'll go in for tennis and softball. Maybe we'll add a golf league, if there's any interest among the student body.'

Principal Friedrichs is happy to see that the intramural program has taken off in high gear.

"We hear so much about the President's Physical Fitness Program," the Bentley principal said. "We think that through our intramural play we are taking the right step to make certain that every student in our school enjoys some physical activity during the course of the school week."

According to Pfeffles, the varsity athletes are lending a big hand to the intramural league. The letter winners are serving as the referees for the intramural tilts.

Speaking of extra-curricular sports activity, we'd like to suggest the place to go is the new "Hall of Balls" billiard parlor located at 24827 Plymouth in Redford Township,

This establishment is a far cry from the parlors this writer knew as a youngster. The "Hall of Balls" is a spot to which a gent can take his date and get no complaints from the girl's parents.

Big doings are slated at the place Wednesday evening. One of the owners is Warren Godfrey, who formerly played defense for the Detroit Red Wings hockey club. Godfrey now is with the Boston Bruins, who'll be in town for a Thursday game with the Wings at Olympia.

On Wednesday at 7 p.m., Godfrey will be on deck at his billiard spot. So will several of his former Red Wing mates.

The new sports center features 20 tables-10 for pocket billiards, nine for snooker and one for straight billiards. All of the equipment was designed by the Brunswick Company.

The new center will be open from 10 a.m. to midnight

Redford Union vs. Bentley!

That's the way the battle shapes up next Tuesday afternoon when the Suburban Six League cross country title is decided at Cass Benton Park.

If there is an edge, it would have to rest with Bentley, which so far is unbeaten in dual-meet action within the league. One of its victories was over RU.

From an individual standpoint, RU's Tom Wabeke looms as the next league champ. Wabeke has smashed course records at four schools this fall. His record runs have come at Southfield, RU, Belleville and Taylor Center.

The marks at Belleville and Taylor were set last week as Redford Union scored a pair of lopsided wins by respective scores of 16-42 and 18-40.

Wabeke was timed in 10:40 against Taylor. Bill Driscoll was second with John Cross, Dennis Tierney, Gary Johnson and Duane Johnson sweeping across to give RU six of the first seven places.

In the Belleville meet, Wabeke's winning time was 10:56. Driscoll was second, Tierney fourth, Rick Clark fifth and Duane Johnson sixth.

Bentley, RU Battle For Harrier Crown

Bentley engaged in three meets during the week.

On Tuesday, the Livonians with 43 points placed second behind Dearborn (19) in a triangular meet. Fordson was third with 73.

Ron Grant, finishing fourth, led the Bentley finishers. Wayne Rhode was sixth, Chuck Timison tenth, Bud Cicciarelli eleventh and Jack Hicks 12th.

Bentley bounced back on Thursday to sweep past Plymouth, 15-48.

Paul Rieker with a 10:29 clocking paced the Bentley contingent. Grant was second, Ciccarrelli third, Rhode fourth and Hicks fifth.

Dennis Knapp of Plymouth came in sixth before Chuck Timison and Dave Temple gave Bentley the next two slots.

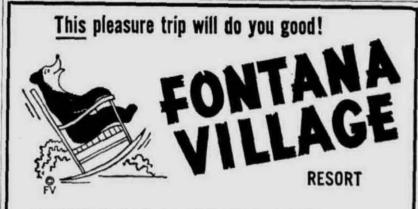

Thereafter came Plymouth runners-Skip Otwell, Jim McKindles, John Bowsman, Bob Steele, Larry Oldfield and Hal Kuisel.

The week ended for Bentley in the Albion College relays which attracted an entry of 210 from 30 Class A schools.

U. of D. High from Detroit won with a score of 139. Then came Thurston with 158. Bentley had 274 to place in ninth. Bill Persh, Ed Nelson, Ralph Stevens, Bill Smillie and Richard Fleming made up the Thurston delegation which finished in second.

For Bentley, Grant ran 37th, Rieker 39th, Rhodes, 58th, Ciciarrelli 61st and Temple 72nd.

For Building The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees gave the green light to Builders Stewart Oldford & Sons, of Plymouth, to start construction of homes in the new Woodlore subdivision located at the southeast corner of Ann Arbor and Beck Roads

The plans call for the construction of 50 luxury homes in the section - all in the $25,000 to $30,000 price rangeeach on a half-acre lot with winding roads through the entire section.

The Trustees took their action after the plat had received approval of the planning commission and Township Engineer Harold Hamill.

Hamill indicated the builders had installed curbing and storm sewers and had agreed to either pave or blacktop all roads in the new subdivision. Stewart Oldford Jr., a memstarting construction of all 50 homes as quickly as possible.
