Plymouth Speeds Plans For New Reservoir

Makes Bids For Funds; Cite OKd

Heeding the warning that speed is a must, the Plymouth City Commissioners approved a site for the new reservoir, passed a resolution to draw up applications for the two steps of the reservoir-water system improvement plans and then gave permission to Mayor Robert Sincock, City Clerk Joseph Near and City Attorney Edward Draugelis to go to Chicago Thursday to present the applications to officials of the Housing and Home Finance Agency for quick action under the provisions of the Public Works Acceleration Act.

The Commissioners gave City Manager Albert Glassford instructions to take an option on three acres of land near the intersection of Beck and Six Mile Roads as the site of the reservoir.

The acreage is owned by the four MacInnes brothers of Detroit and Paul Thoresen of Detroit. The syndicate owns 30 acres but agreed to sell three to the city for the water storage plant.

The MacInnes brothers, who own the MacInnes Brothers Paving Co. and Detroit Concrete Products Corp., include: Daniel, who is president of the two companies, Kennedy, Ronald and Charles.

The agreement gives the City an option of 120 days to buy the land at $2,000 per acre and gives the sellers the option of being permitted to buy water from the City should they subdivide the remaining acreage for homes.

The Commissioners heard a report by Mel Strador, of the consulting engineering firm of Johnson and Anderson, in which stressed the need of speed in presenting applications for the reservoir and also told of the need for improvements in the water transmission system.

Strador estimated the cost of the three-million-gallon reservoir at $230,000 and indicated the improvements which entail replacing water mains with larger and better lines, would run in the neighborhood of $275,000.

Construction of the reservoir is labeled Step I in the plan and the improvement program is Step II even though the City will present both applications at the same time with the thought in mind that both will meet with the approval of federal authorities.

Strador recommended replacement of the water main on Hardinbrook with a 6" main; on Starkweather with an 8" line; on Amelia with a 6" line; Union Street and along Kellogg Park, 6"; a 12" tie-in at Blanche and Ann Arbor Trail and an additional 37 gates near the downtown business section.

He indicated the City should make plans to replace all 4" lines for better fire protection and all existing 4" fire hydrants with 6" fixtures.

Questioned about the plans after the meeting, City Manager Glassford indicated Step I could be taken care of with the government's but that revenue bonds would have to be issued to help finance Step II.

Glassford reported to the Commission that the Main-Frick parking lot project appears eligible for financing under the Area Redevelopment Act and urged the Board to pass a resolution making application for funds.

Prior to the start of the special meeting, the Commission at the request of William Lolas, public relations counselor for the Plymouth License Holders Association, reiterated a stand it took four years ago, limiting the City of Plymouth to no more than three liquor licenses.

CONGRATULATIONS ARE GIVEN to John Herb (right), newly elected president of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, by George Lawton, who retired from the post after serving two consecutive terms. Herb will be formally installed at the annual meeting on Monday, Oct. 29.

FACTS and OPINIONS by Paul Chandler

Whatever his power turns out to be on the ballot, George Romney has been amazing old political hands with his ability to drag people out to public meetings.

Romney traveled in this general area last Saturday—and it came up a wet, cold, unpleasant day. But nonetheless, he attracted 350 people to a Junior High gymnasium in Redford Township at the unseemingly hour of 1 p.m. on Saturday afternoon, they being there for no other reason than to see and hear him talk. In the evening, a rally had been scheduled for Wonderland Center at 7:30 p.m., and at the very last moment the rain exploded from the sky and the plans had to be switched. By 8 p.m. a transfer had been made to Bentley High, and there were perhaps 200 people in the seats.

If the rally had remained at shopper-jammed Wonderland, 2,000 would have heard him.

At 9 p.m., the scene had shifted to Cooley High (in Detroit but still in our 17th Congressional District) and at least 1,200 people were there.

Hardbitten party planners called the turnouts at least "three times as large as might have been expected under these weather conditions."

Not all of these GOP old-timers are real Romney fans, but they recognize political glamor when they see it. They don't knock it.

From letters which appear in today's "The Reader," and from our comments last week about the YWCA and the United Foundation, some subscribers have drawn the impression that Facts and Opinions opposes the Torch Drive principle of "once for all" charity solicitation.

On the contrary, this writer for years and in many ways has supported the UF idea and encouraged it upon others.

But we also believe in democracy, where the several parts of the organization have a representative voice. The suburbs today have little influence over their own fortunes in the UF. This should be changed.

You might say we urge "quarantine" of the UF until they give us a representative vote in determining how our money shall be spent.

And the same opposition goes for all agencies with Detroit offices who ask that the suburbs donate and then let "big brother" take the money and do what's best with it. Wayne County Board of Supervisors is another that comes to mind immediately; there are several others. The unilateral Detroit income tax on suburbanites is an example.

Assessments are just fine; if we have representation along with them.

As these lines are written, frenzied discussions over Cuba are being heard at U. N. Nothing much in the way of a local problem seems worth dwelling upon today. Exterior thoughts seize the mind instead.

If this is to be war again, what can we as American people say we accomplished during the peace?

It was 17 full years ago—almost one generation—when the guns of World War II stopped shooting. Since that time, we've had many years to attempt to show what we could do with peace—what is our aim and ambition as human beings who have a short period to spend a stretch of life on earth.

If we are meant for something other than strife and conflict, was this it . . . the history of the past 17 years?

If Cuba is a false alarm, and somehow we get a reprieve, do we know what we want to do with the "peaceful" years ahead?

Many believe the last 17 years have provided mostly social decay and human despair in the United States, despite "peace" and a "higher standard of living" for a lot of people.

See Plymouth Fund Drive Near 60%

With the largest first week report in history, top officials of the Plymouth Fund drive anticipate the 1962 campaign will be near the 60 per cent mark of the $45,050 goal when the initial general report is made Thursday in a noon luncheon meeting in the Mayflower Hotel. Division leaders reported a total of $16,290 at last week's get-together at Hillside Inn and that represents almost twice the $9,700 accumulated and announced at the same meeting a year ago. President Robert Barbour expressed amazement at the remarkable progress of the fund drive in such a short period and indicated a hope that the Thursday figures would bring the total up to "more than 60 per cent of the goal."

Only the division heads were on hand for last week's sessions but more than 75 volunteer workers, team captains and division leaders will be present for the first official report of progress.

That will be the final meeting until Friday, Nov. 2 when a victory dinner is planned. Barbour and Campaign General Chairman Albert Glassford anticipate the total will take the drive well over the top.

"The tremendous pride that Plymouthis have in sponsoring the only independent Community Fund drive in the area and that fact that practically everyone in the area wants to keep Plymouth independent of the United Foundation has had a great deal to do with our success to date," said Barbour in his remarks to division leaders.

"I don't think that workers anywhere in the entire section devote as much time or put forth so much effort in a fund raising campaign as they do here. This first report, even though sketchy and unofficial, shows that workers have collected $16,290 and this compares to $9,700 at the same period a year ago.

"That alone proves to me that we're going to put this drive over the top with a bit to spare. I wish to congratulate all division leaders upon their success thus far and urge them to continue their splendid efforts."

Barbour picked out Elmer Hedlund, head of the industrial division, and Sid Strong, chief of the professional section, for special mention.

Hedlund's team reported $7,500 in the till and hope to go over the goal of $21,600 from the industrial plants and employees. The drive for pledges from the individual workers started a week ago but Hedlund indicated he wouldn't have anything but a (Continued on Page 5)

PLYMOUTH KIWANIANS TO TREAT

Plan Halloween For Kids

Halloween complete with witches, witches' brew in a boiling cauldron, goblins, ghosts, ghouls and all the other things that go to make the traditional night of trick or treat one of the high spots of the year for youngsters of all ages, will be celebrated by the Plymouth Kiwanis Club next Wednesday night in Kellogg Park from 7 to 9 p.m.

Sponsored by the club's Boys and Girls Committee, under the chairmanship of Jim Winterhalter, the affair promises to be one of the most interesting Halloween celebrations held in Plymouth in several years.

"We plan on making it a night and a program aimed at keeping the youngsters from getting into trouble," said Winterhalter in explaining why the Kiwanis Club waited until two weeks before the date to make plans and ask permission to hold the event.

"We'll have a witch with witches' brew and a pot boiling over in a tent located in the center of the park. We'll have treats for all the youngsters and hope they won't try too many tricks in other parts of the city."

Winterhalter and his committee are making plans for other events in connection with the program but indicated the complete list of events won't be available until after a meeting later this week.

There'll be refreshments for the parents, treats for the youngsters and the Kiwanians promise a good time for all.

It will be the first affair of its kind sponsored by the club but members already are making plans for future Halloweens although these will be determined by the interest shown in next Wednesday's program.

So kids, this is your chance to cash in on a good thing, which can be made even better with your complete co-operation and give your parents and friends a chance to enjoy your "trick or treat" antics.

THAT $16,290 FIGURE brings smiles to the faces of Frank Palmer (left), member of the Community Fund Executive Committee, Gordon Ramsey, manager of the Lake Point Branch of the Detroit Bank and Trust

Co., and Jack Talbot (right), vice president in charge of branch banks for the company. The trio checked the figures for the fund drive at the report meeting for division leaders last week at the Hillside Inn.

Community College Gets OK To Sell $2,435,000 Of Bonds

The Michigan Finance Commission has approved sale of $2,435,000 building and site bonds for the Northwest Wayne County Community College.

The bonds, approved by voters of Livonia, Clarenceville, Garden City and Plymouth on June 11, will enable the college to proceed with plans to acquire a site, develop and build four buildings and furnish the facilities with furniture and equipment.

Business Manager Kenneth Lindner indicated the bonds will be advertised in the New York Bond Buyer early in November and bid opened during the latter part of the month. The syndicate with the lowest rate of interest will be awarded the contract and the bonds will be printed and delivered at a time and place specified by the purchaser.

The proposed expenditures of the bonds are almost identical with the budget proposed by the Board of Trustees earlier. The list includes: land and improvements, including drains, paving, fencing and parking lots, $410,000; building construction, $1,600,000 equipment and library books, $240,000; legal and miscellaneous fees,

The Board has given approval to the preliminary plans for the four buildings which will be completed and ready for use when the college officially opens in September, 1964.

Jonathan Taylor, of the architectural firm of Eberle M. Smith Associates Inc., received the green light on plans for the campus at the Board's meeting a week ago.

The four buildings of the first phase of the campus will include: a Student Service building, which will house administration offices, counseling service and business area.

The Library, the only two-story unit in the plans, will seat 350 and have space for 40,000 volumes. A visual education room, a typing room for student use, student carrels and a faculty study are included in the Library plans.

On the second floor are classrooms and a language laboratory. The preliminary plans call for enlargement of the library when the college demands are such that additional facilities will be needed.

The third building will house academic and technical classrooms. A lecture room, to be known as the Forum, is included in the building, the forum will seat 168 and can be used for many types of visual instruction, lectures and meetings.

The four buildings will include a service area and will house the electrical service panel, receiving facilities and shop area for maintenance and custodial personnel use.

Another wing will provide temporary facilities for student dining, a bookstore, and a student reading room. This wing eventually will become an instructional area when a Student Center is built.

The buildings will be of brick construction with laminated wood support beams. The use of windows and glass is planned in such a way as to facilitate economy of operation. The construction will minimize heat loss in the winter and will insulate against heat in the summer.

The educational plans for the college call for year round use and thus all units will be air conditioned.

NEW SECRETARY of the Board of Trustees of the Northwest Wayne Community College is Paul Mutnick, 19822 Weyher, Livonia. Mutnick, who represents Clarenceville School District on the board, was named to succeed the late Ward McCain, of Livonia. He is principal of the evening and adult education program of the River-view Schools. Mutnick resides at the Livonia address with his wife and three children, a daughter and twin sons.

CHANGE TO CHANDLER

FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE

Four Compelling Reasons To Change!

NO. 1. INCOME TAX — Your present "State Representative" didn't have the courage even to vote when the Legislature was trying to override the Income Tax which Detroit has invoked on Suburbanites. YOUR representative "abstained," even though THOUSANDS OF RESIDENTS IN HIS DISTRICT ARE WOUNDED BY THE UNFAIR INCOME TAX! (He "abstained" on direct orders from the Detroit party leaders who control him.) Nobody will control Paul Chandler's vote and he'll always stand up to be counted.

NO. 2. ABSENTEEISM — Whatever your political leanings, would you keep an EMPLOYE ON YOUR PAYROLL WHO MISSES WORK 26 PERCENT OF THE TIME? The incumbent was absent for 183 ROLL CALLS and was absent from the House for 26 FULL DAYS of the 1962 legislative session!

NO. 3. STRONG VOICE FOR SUBURBS — Not one of the vital metropolitan suburbs has a real voice in Lansing today. All are "represented" by Detroit-controlled party puppets such as the incumbent from this district. So inactive has he been, most local voters DON'T EVEN KNOW THE NAME of their State Representative. Paul Chandler will give the Suburbs a STRONG VOICE in Lansing.

NO. 4. TAX ASSESSMENTS — Despite the incredible mess of the Property Assessment System in our suburbs, the result of ancient state laws, NOT A SINGLE PROPOSAL HAS COME IN FOUR YEARS from our "representative" which would modernize or clean up the assessing process!

'The Reader Speaks Up'

Editor: I thought you would be interested in a letter Jim O'Neill sent to Mrs. Griffiths this week asking her cooperation in scheduling a series of joint meetings throughout the 17th District.

As you know, Jim would like very much to discuss the issues and he feels that it would serve in the best interest of the people of the 17th District if he and Mrs. Griffiths discuss the issues face to face. We are hopeful that Mrs. Griffiths will cooperate with us in setting up these meetings.

We will, of course, keep you posted on her reply.

Paul L. Stewart,
Publicity Chairman,
O'Neill-for-Congress Comm.

The Hon. Martha W. Griffiths
14815 Grand River
Dear Mrs. Griffiths:

With the adjournment of Congress finally accomplished, it would seem this would be a good time for you and me to discuss the issues of the congressional campaign in the 17th District.

Your record is the main issue. The voters of the 17th District have a right to hear us discuss your record, to hear your defense of it and to hear your criticism of it.

Therefore, I respectfully suggest that we schedule a series of meetings in the 17th District so that we can discuss these issues together on the same platform.

May I hear from you on this suggestion by the end of this week?

Respectfully,
James F. O'Neill

I realize from your column last week that you have been misinformed about the United Foundation. Therefore, as this year's Torch Drive enters its final weeks, I would like to clarify, not only for you but for the benefit of our many generous contributors, the advantages to all of us of united giving.

What do our Torch Drive dollars do in Redford and Livonia? First of all they do help support the YWCA and YMCA whose facilities are available to any member in every community regardless of residence. Therefore, Livonia residents are completely free to participate in programs at the Y branch or branches of their choice. Secondly, United Community Services last year provided direct service to 5,760 individuals in Redford and to 6,434 in Livonia. (These figures include only local services such as the Visiting Nurse. It is impossible to pinpoint by community the number of people helped by national organizations such as the Red Cross and USO.) The fact that Redford had only 2,862 cases in 1957 and Livonia 4,193 shows that service has kept pace with or exceeded population growth. These are direct services furnished by the many social agencies financed by the drive. Over and above these are the intangible benefits we all reap from medical research in heart, cancer, arthritis and other diseases too numerous to list here.

Our communities also have a voice in planning the allocation of funds. A number of our residents sit on the United Community Services Board for Western Wayne County, a group which studies the needs of the suburbs and makes recommendations for budget allotments to cover them. Their latest project has been the planning of a child guidance clinic to service our area.

The United Foundation provides funds for 195 social and research organizations. It is probable that because of its diversity, some givers may find some agency which they would prefer not to support. Despite this, it is equally probable that no sensitive member of this community can help but be moved by the opportunity to contribute to so many other organizations which vitally affect his neighbors and himself.

United Fund giving in our metropolitan community has been uniquely successful. We support 195 worthy causes by one trip to the home and plant. We do it at a cost of 5 percent as opposed to an average of 25 percent by similar smaller organizations. We do it with the combined support of labor and management, small businessmen and housewives, with workers and givers who represent every race, creed and color. Our residents can truly be proud of the part they have played in making the Torch Drive the most outstanding example of responsible community service in the United States.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. J. P. Santo
Regional Director of Volunteers
1962 Torch Drive
Detroit 34, Michigan

(Editor's Note: What is the cost in dollars of "direct service to 5,760 individuals in Redford and 6,434 in Livonia?" This newspaper would be pleased to give large space to a really frank analysis of the exact details of what is categorized as "direct service.")

U-M Picks 3 Livonians For Honors Council

Three Livonians have been named to the highly select Honors Council of the University of Michigan. A total of 323 entering freshmen were selected, making up approximately 15 per cent of the class of 1,950 who began classes this fall in the College of Literature, Science and the Arts.

The Livonia trio includes: Thomas Friedrichs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Friedrichs, 16277 Southampton Court; Robert Hippler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hippler, 29612 Transcrest, and Carol Mallan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Mallan, 9296 Texas. Friedrichs and Miss Mallan are graduates of Bentley High School, and Hippler was graduated from Catholic Central High School.

Dr. Otto Graf, director of the Council, said students are admitted to the program only at the invitation of the University and are chosen by scholastic aptitude and achievement scores.

The Honors Council began in 1957. During the first two years students participate in it if they fulfill the same academic requirements as do other freshmen and sophomores but study in special classes.

In the final two years Honors students select majors in departments which provide intensive courses leading to a bachelor's degree. During the entire four years these students receive special counseling and guidance from a permanent Honors Council staff.

Complete Livonia Police, Fire, DPW Radio Change

Another step, intended to make Livonia's Police headquarters one of the finest emergency operations centers in the midwest, was taken when radio communications for the police, fire, department of public works and radio amateur civil emergency services was changed over to the building.

Under the direction of Sgt. Robert Van Dyke and Fireman Alden Sawyer, the changeover was affected in a period of two hours from 3 a.m. to 5 a.m. although the actual work required more than nine months.

Under the new system the radio systems for the police, fire and DPW will use the same tower although each will have separate transmitter and receiving units.

It was the first step in coordinating the communications section of the EOC with the Office of Civil Defense.

Plymouth Church Women Unite

On Friday, Nov. 9 at 1:30 p. m. the annual world Community Day Services sponsored by the United Church women of Plymouth will be held at the First Methodist Church, Plymouth.

The theme for this year is "Deepen the Channels to Peace". Mrs. Robert R. Smith, general chairman for this program, extends a cordial invitation to all of the women of this area to participate in this nation-wide observance of World Community Day.

The Rev. Mr. Robert E. Willoughby, now serving as a minister at the Mt. Olivet

Methodist Church in Dearborn, will be the speaker of the day. He is well qualified to speak to the theme having been chairman of the Michigan Conference Board of Christian Social concerns, a delegate to the World Order Study Conference in Cleveland and having traveled to 10 Northern European countries and Russia under the auspices of the Board of World Peace of the Methodist Church. His dynamic approach to world problems captivated the women who were privileged to attend the summer school of missions this past season. The offering received on World Community Day will be used to help meet the needs of women and children in Southeast Asia. Yard goods, children's shorts and T-shirts, sewing supplies, as well as good used clothing can also be brought the day of the service. The eight churches of the Plymouth Council of United Church women participating are Plymouth Assembly of God, Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Epiphany, First Baptist, First United Presbyterian, First Methodist, Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Salvation Army and St. John's Episcopal. There will be a baby sitter provided.

Robbers Steal Two Tool Chests

Two tool chests, each containing a complete set of carpet laying tools, were taken from a car owned by Duane Clark, 12234 Arcola, Livonia. Clark told Livonia police the station wagon was parked in front of his home overnight. He valued the chests and contents at $200.

Loses Clothes While Drying At Laundrymat

Raoul Forward, 15317 Westmore, Livonia, complained to Livonia Police, that thieves stole clothing valued at more than $50 from a dryer while he was doing some laundry work at the Laundrymat, 33129 Five Mile Road. Forward reported he had washed the clothing and placed the articles in the dryer and then walked outside for a moment, when he returned a few minutes later the dryer had been cleaned out.

San Francisco—Super Shell with Platformate has just delivered a mileage bonus of 4.33 percent. Platformate is Super Shell's mileage ingredient. Shell engineers test Super Shell for mileage in many different types of cars, in many different places. Here's how the test above was run. Exactly 250 cc (about half a pint) of a fuel blended without Platformate was fed into the test car's engine. The car was started, accelerated to 30 miles per hour, then held there until fuel ran out and the car rolled to a stop. Distance: 6186 feet (indicated by dotted line in background). Next, test was repeated, using Super Shell—the same fuel as before but with Platformate added. Precise same volume of fuel. Same car. Same speed. Same driver. Same conditions. Distance: 6454 feet. That's 4.33 percent farther than the car traveled with non-Platformate gasoline.

MILEAGE TEST

New documented tests prove that one of Super Shell's 9 ingredients packs extra mileage into every gallon

THE picture above was snapped a few moments after Super Shell with an extra mileage ingredient called Platformate delivered a mileage bonus of 4.33 percent. That's a typical result from a series of mileage tests Shell engineers recently ran on the outskirts of San Francisco. The tests compared two gasolines. One was a gasoline Shell scientists purposely blended without Platformate. The other was Super Shell—the same gasoline as before but with Platformate added. Shell engineers used a 1962 convertible for the tests. You may be driving a similar car right now.

In test after test, Super Shell with Platformate consistently took the car about 4 percent farther than the gasoline blended without Platformate.

50 West 50 Street, New York 20, N. Y. Platformate gets its name from the platinum re-forming process used to make it. Pressures up to 600 pounds per square inch and temperatures up to 1000 degrees literally tear petroleum apart. A precious platinum catalyst then helps re-form the petroleum into super-energy components. RESULT: Platformate can release more energy per gallon than the finest 100-octane aviation gasoline. Your engine can convert extra energy into extra mileage.

Super Shell has 9 ingredients for top performance

Extra mileage is just one part of the top performance story. Super Shell's other ingredients complete the picture. Here's what they are and what they do.

- Anti-knock mix—to resist all kinds of knock.
- Alkylate—to help control "high-speed knock."
- "Cat-cracked" gasoline—for power.
- Anti-icer—added in cold weather to help check carburetor icing stalls.
- Gum preventive—to help keep carburetors clean inside.

Who Is Tampering with the Soul of America?

EDITOR'S NOTE — Some newspaper readers won't read anything that is long. This article (actually it's an entire speech) is long. But if you are the least bit concerned about the future of our country, you will read all the words that follow. They are the full text of a speech given at the American Society of Newspaper Editors convention April 18 in New Orleans.

A condensation of a similar talk, given six months earlier, appeared in the March issue of Reader's Digest.

The Observer Newspapers gratefully acknowledges the author's permission to help spread his startling message across all America.

THIS, ladies and gentlemen, is to be a jeremiad.

I am about to inflict upon you an unrelieved, copper-bottomed, six-ply, all-wool, 25-minute howl of calamity about the present moral climate of America. And I am going to talk about our responsibilities therefor as the temporary custodians of America's press.

You may dismiss such fogginess with a tolerant laugh. But the pathway of history is littered with the bones of dead states and fallen empires. Most of them rotted out before they were overwhelmed. And they were not, in most cases, promptly replaced by something better.

Nearly 1,000 years elapsed between the fall of Western Rome and the rise of the Renaissance, and in between we had the Dark Ages in which nearly all of man's institutions were inferior to those which had gone before. I don't want my children's children to pass through a couple of centuries of dialectic materialism before the sun comes up again.

IT IS sad to watch the beginnings of decay. It was sad to see an age of Pericles replaced by the drunken riots of Alcibiades. There was, indeed, just cause for gloom when the Roman mobs, flabby with free bread and bemused by free circuses, cheered for the unspeakable Nero and the crazy Caligula.

Alaric's Goths finally poured over the walls of Rome. But it was not that the walls were low. It was that Rome, itself, was low. The sensual life of Pompeii, the orgies on Lake Trasimene, the gradually weakened fibre of a once self-disciplined people—all these brought Rome down. She went down too early. She had much to teach the world.

And so, ladies and gentlemen, I look upon our own country and much that I see disturbs me. But we are a great people. We have a noble tradition. We have much to teach the world, and if America should go down soon it would be too early.

One thing is certain. We shall be given no centuries for a leisurely and comfortable decay. We have an enemy now—remorseless, crude, brutal and cocky. However much the leaders of the Communist conspiracy may lie to their subjects about our motives, about our conditions of prosperity, our policies and aims, one thing they believe themselves implicitly—and that is that we are in an advanced state of moral decline.

It is a dogma of current Communist faith that America is Sodom and Gomorrah, ready for the kill.

DO YOU know what scares me about the Communists?

It's not their political system, which is primitive and savage. It's not their economic system which works so badly that progress in a few directions is purchased at the price of progress in all the rest. It is their puritanism.

It does no good to comfort ourselves with the reflection that these are the products of endless brainwashings, of incessant propaganda, of deprivation by censorship and jamming of counter-information and contrary arguments. The confidence that they are morally superior is there.

You can't get very far into Russia before the naive questions of your Tourist guide reveal that she thinks she is talking to a soft pop who is ripe for the tumbrell and the guillotine. In the schoolyard the children rush up to show you, not their yoyos, but their scholarship medals. And when you offer them new Lincoln pennies as souvenirs they rip off their little Young Pioneer buttons and hand them to you, proud that they are not taking gifts, but are making a fair exchange.

The Russian stage is as austere as the Victorian stage. Russian literature may be corny, but it's clean, and it glorifies the Russian people and exudes optimism and promise. Russian art is stiffly representational, but the paintings and the sculpture strive to depict beauty and heroism—Russian beauty, of course, and Russian heroism.

AND WHAT of us?

Well, let's take them one at a time:

We are now at the end of the third decade of the national insanity known as "progressive education." This is the education where everybody passes, where the report cards are non-committal lest the failure be faced with the fact of his failure, where all move at a snail pace like a trans-Atlantic convoy so that the slowest need not be left behind, and all proceed toward adulthood in the lockstep of "togetherness."

With what results? At an age when European kids are studying the human capillary system and discussing the binomial theorem, our youngsters are raising polywogs on the classroom windowsill and pretending to keep store. This is what is known as "learning by doing." We have produced tens of thousands of high school graduates who move their lips as they read and cannot write a coherent paragraph. While our Russian contemporaries, who were supposed to be dedicated to the mass man, have been busy constructing an elite, we have been engaged in the wholesale production of mediocrity. What a switch!

I WISH you could have read all the letters I have received in the past few months from disgusted teachers who have tried to reintroduce principles of hard work and integrity in their classrooms over the opposition of the school hierarchies. It is high time that these Ph.D.'d pooh-bahs of John Deweyism stepped forward and permitted themselves to be graded. But no.

You recall that last fall, the school board of the little township of Twin Lakes, Wisconsin, dissatisfied with modern primers, announced that it was introducing reprints of 80-year-old McGuffey Readers. Maybe it was making a bad mistake. Maybe the new books and new teaching methods are far superior. Here was a fine chance to find out.

But did the Wisconsin State Board of Education offer a sporting challenge—a one-year test, for example, to see which was the better approach, theirs or McGuffey's? Not a bit of it. The State Board merely moved to deprive Twin Lakes of state aid, to the thunderous applause, I'm sorry to say, of the so-called "liberals."

When was the last time you, as editors, examined the curricula of your local schools? Are your students given the standardized Iowa and Stanford tests, and, if so, how did your schools rank compared to the national average? Do your kids bring home meaningful report cards, or are parents just getting a lot of gobbledegook about adjustments and attitudes? When was the last time you asked to look at any senior English themes? When have you given a fine picture spread to your town's best scholars?

HAVING generally neglected disciplines in education it was quite logical that we Americans should neglect disciplines in art. The great painters and sculptors of the past studied anatomy so diligently that many of them snatched bodies. And today, after many centuries, we stare at the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel or at the walls of the Reichsmuseum and marvel at their works.

But this self-discipline is of little concern to the modern non-objective painter. All he needs is pigment and press agent. He can stick bits of glass, old rags and quids of used chewing tobacco on a board and he is a social critic. He can drive a car back and forth in pools of paint and Life magazine will write him up.

Talent is for squares. What you need is vast effrontery. This is the kind of art that a painter with no ability can paint, and a teacher with no ability can teach. No wonder it's popular at the factory end. But the tiny minority of youngsters who might have the spark of a Titian or a Rembrandt within them stay unencouraged and unrecognized. And our museums are filled with splashes, cubes and blots being stared at by confused citizens who haven't guts to admit they're confused.

BUT fakery in art is a light cross we bear. Much more serious is our collapse of moral standards and the blunting of our capacity for righteous indignation.

Our Puritan ancestors were preoccupied with sin. They were too preoccupied with it. They were hag-ridden and guilt-ridden and theirs was a repressed and neurotic society. But they had horsepower.

They wrestled livings from the rocky land, built our earliest colleges, started our literature, caused our industrial revolution, and found time in between to fight the Indians, French and the British, to bawl for abolition, woman suffrage and prison reform, and to experiment with graham crackers and bloomers. They were a tremendous people.

And for all their exaggerated attention to sin, their philosophy rested on a great granite rock. Man was the master of his soul. You didn't have to be bad. You could and should be better. And if you wanted to escape the eternal fires, you'd damned well better be.

IN RECENT years all this has changed in America. We have decided that sin is largely imaginary. We are bemused with behaviorist psychology which holds that abstract things like insight, will and spirit are figments of the imagination. Man, says the behaviorist, is either a product of a happy combination of genes and chromosomes or an unhappy combination. He moves in an environment that will tend to make him good or that will tend to make him evil. He is just a chip tossed helplessly by forces beyond his control, and therefore not responsible.

Well, the theory that misbehavior can be cured by pulling down tenements and erecting in their places elaborate public housing is not holding water. The crime rates continue to rise along with our outlays for social services.

We are far gone in fancy euphemy. There are no lazy bums any more—only "deprived persons." It is impolite to speak of thugs. They are "underprivileged." Yet the swaggering, duck-tailed young men who boldly flaunt their gang symbols on their motorcycle jackets are far more blessed in creature comforts, opportunities for advancement, and freedom from drudgery than 90 per cent of the children of the world. We have sown the dragon's teeth of pseudo-scientific sentimentality, and out of the ground has sprung the legion bearing switch-blade knives and bicycle chains.

Clearly something is missing. Could it be what the rest of the world's children have been given—the doctrine of individual responsibility?

RELIEF is gradually becoming an honorable career in America. It is a pretty fair life, if you have neither conscience nor pride. An angry old judge in Muskogee County, Oklahoma, upon his retirement last month, asserted that in his last docket 37 bastardy cases were filed for no other purpose than to qualify for the relief funds, and that in most cases both the plaintiff and the defendant continued living together while awaiting the next arrival. Any effort to stop this racket brings an immediate threat that federal aid funds will be withdrawn.

The state will give a mother a bonus for her illegitimate children, and if she neglects them sufficiently she can save enough out of her ADC payments to keep herself and her boy friends in wine and gin. Nothing is your fault. And when the city fathers of Newburgh suggest that abandoned welfare clients might sweep the streets the "liberal" editorialists arise as one man and denounce them for their medieval cruelty.

I don't know how long America can stand this erosion of principle. But if we wish to survive, maybe we had better do something about the elaborate pretense that there is no difference between the genuinely-unfortunate and the mobs of relievers who gather to throw bottles every time the cops try to make a legitimate arrest. The welfare state that taxes away the rewards for responsible behavior so that it can remove the age-old penalties for irresponsible behavior is building on a foundation of jelly.

FINALLY, there is the status of our entertainment and our literature.

Can anyone deny that movies are dirtier than ever? But they don't call it dirt. They call it "realism." Why do we let them fool us? Why do we nod owlishly when they tell us that filth is merely a daring art form, that licentiousness is really social comment? Isn't it plain that the financially-harassed movie industry is putting gobs of sex in the darkened drive-ins in an effort to lure curious teenagers away from their TV sets?

Three weeks ago, Bill Diehl, the righteously-angry entertainment editor of the St. Paul Dispatch, ran a list of present and coming attractions, as follows:

Walk on the Wild Side. Set in a brothel. A View From the Bridge. Incest.

The Mark. A strange young man trifles with little girls.

The Children's Hour. Two school teachers suspected of being Lesbians.

All Fall Down. A psychopathic attacker of females.

Cape Fear. A crazy rapist.

Lolita. A middle-aged man's affair with a 12-year-old.

The Chapman Report. The adventures of a nymphomaniac.

Just think! All this and popcorn, too!

IN A SPEECH a couple of months ago in Hartford, Connecticut, Mr. Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, asked the plaintive question: "Why, despite our unceasing efforts, does the film industry fail at times to have public confidence?"

Then he suggested an answer. The movie people apologize too much, he said. They should take pride in the fact that they have amended their production code.

"What art form," asked Mr. Johnston, "has not had to keep up with the times to reflect contemporary society?"

Well, hooray for Mr. Johnston's contemporary society. Incestuous Americans. Perverted Americans. Degenerate Americans. Murderous Americans.

How many of these contemporary Americans do you know?

BUT PERHAPS the most intriguing part of Mr. Johnston's speech dealt with newspaper movie ads. It is ridiculous, he said, for parents to complain about bad influence by movies upon their children when all parents have to do is look closely at the ads.

"I have yet to run across a movie ad so subtle," said Mr. Johnston, "that a concerned parent would not know whether the film was suitable for his child."

Well, here is a semantical pole-vault that ought to set a world's record. For the suggestive, half-dressed figures locked in passionate embrace that have been decorating the theatre ads in our great moral dailies are now revealed as a public service, generously paid for by the movie moguls so that parents can be warned!

Last year our advertising manager and I got so tired of Hollywood's horizontal art that we decided to throw out the worst and set up some standards. We thought that this belated ukase of ours might cause some interruption in advertising some shows. But no. Within a couple of hours the exhibitors were down with much milder ads. How was this miracle accomplished?

It seems that exhibitors are supplied with several different ads for each movie. If the publishers are dumb enough to accept the most suggestive ones, those are what they get. But if publishers squawk, the cleaner ads are sent down. Isn't it time we all squawked?

I think it's time we gentlemen of the press quit giving Page 1 play to Liz and Eddie. I think it's time we asked our Broadway and Hollywood columnists if they can't find something decent and inspiring going on along their beats.

AND THE stage: Bawdiness has put on a dinner jacket. The old burlesque skits that you used to be able to see at the Old Howard and the Gayety for six bits are now on display in the most lavish Broadway revues at $8.80 a seat.

But perhaps we should be glad to settle for good old heterosexual dirt. The April issue of Show Business, Illustrated, quotes Dr. L. John Adkins, a New York psychotherapist, as saying that in his opinion at least 25 per cent of the persons presently connected with the American theater are confirmed homosexuals.

Even the normally strong-stomached drama critics are beginning to get mad. Howard Taubman, in a lead article in the drama section of The New York Times, recently wrote as follows:

"It is time to speak openly and candidly of the increasing incidence and influence of homosexuality on the New York stage. It is noticeable when a male designer dresses the girls in a musical to make them unappealing and disorients the boys so that more male skin is visible than art or illusion requires. It is apparent in a turgid bit of nasty dialog thrown into a show, or in a redundant touch like two mannish females walking across a stage without a reason or a word of comment."

WHAT do you know about the "cultural exchange" program to which we are all involuntary contributors?

Last summer an American touring company, sponsored by the State Department and paid for by our tax dollars, presented one of Tennessee Williams' riper offerings to an audience in Rio de Janeiro. The audience hooted and walked out. And where did it walk to? Right across the street where a Russian ballet company was putting on a beautiful performance for the glory of Russia! How stupid can we get.

A couple of months ago in Phoenix I attended a tryout of a new play by William Inge. It takes place in the Chicago apartment of a never-married woman whose son by a bellhop has just been released from reform school, and whose current boy friend is being seduced by the nymphomaniac across the hall whose husband is a drunk. I wonder if the State Department is considering putting this show on the road around the world.

We are drowning our youngsters in violence, cynicism and sadism piped into the living room and even the nursery. Every Saturday evening in the Gunsmoke program Miss Kitty presides over her combination saloon and dance hall. Even the five-year-olds are beginning to wonder what's going on upstairs. The grandchildren of the kids who used to weep because The Little Match Girl froze to death now feel cheated if she isn't slugged, raped and thrown into a Bessemer converter.

AND there's our literature. I presume we all have our invitations to become charter subscribers of Eros, the new quarterly magazine of erotica at $10 a copy. I got three invitations, so either the Addressograph was stuck or I'm considered a hot prospect.

Anyway, the publisher, Ralph Ginzburg, says this, and I quote:

"Eros has been born as a result of the recent series of court decisions that have realistically interpreted America's obscenity laws and that have given to this country a new breadth of freedom of expression."

And what are the dimensions of this "breadth of freedom"? Well, we are assured that Eros' first issue will include an article on aphrodisiacs, a schematic drawing for a male chastity belt, a story about an old New York bawdy house where women copulated with beasts, the latest word on Havana's red light district, and the memoirs of a stripper which, it says here, "is astonishing for its matter-of-factness."

Isn't it splendid that Mr. Ginzburg stands with the frozen ghosts of Valley Forge as a fearless defender of his country's freedom? Ten dollars, please!

THE fast buck boys have succeeded in convincing our bumfuzzled judges that there is no difference between a peep show and a moral lecture. The old eyepoppers which tourists used to smuggle back from Paris under their dirty shirts are now clothed in judicial blessing. A Chicago judge has recently issued a blanket injunction against any one who might try to prevent the sale of Tropic of Cancer to children. Lady Chatterley's Lover and Ulysses are on the paperback shelves right next to the comic books. They can close the bookstalls on the Seine. It's all over at your corner drugstore where the kids hang out.

Don Maxwell of The Chicago Tribune last year asked his book department to quit advertising scatological literature by including it in the list of best sellers. The critics and the book publishers have denounced him for tampering with the facts. I would like to raise a larger question:

WHO IS TAMPERING WITH THE SOUL OF AMERICA?

For nations do have souls. They have collective personalities. People who think well of themselves collectively exhibit elan and enthusiasm and morale. Where they low-rate themselves as individuals they will not long remain the citizens of great nations.

Dr. Celia Deschin, specialist in medical sociology at Adelphi College, in a recent article in This Week magazine, says it's time for a new kind of Kinsey Report. She asserts that the late Doctor Kinsey produced a report that was heavily loaded by exhibitionists and that did immense damage to America by peddling the impression that sexual self-discipline neither exists in this country nor is it desirable.

Generally, she says, those parents who are afraid to lay down the law have the most miserable children. Children, she points out, want honest direction and a set of sensible rules to live by. Where these are denied them on the fantastic theory that it's no longer scientific to say No, the kids often develop subconscious anxiety. Much juvenile delinquency springs from a deep hunger for rules. It is a masochistic effort to seek punishment. The child, says Doctor Deschin, abhors a world where everything goes.

Or, as my tough-minded old grandmother put it, "The youngster who doesn't know that there's a Lord in Israel bounces around in a limbo where there is no force of gravity. If you think he's happy you're crazy."

THE time has come to dust off the rule book. The game is unplayable if you're allowed two strikes or six, if you can use a bat or a cannon, and if some days you can have three men on third and other days there isn't any third base at all. We have to stop making up our own rules.

And that goes for all of us. It's time to quit seeking learning without effort and wages without work. It's time we got mad about payola. We should ask the Lord's forgiveness for our inflated expense accounts, and quit pretending that goonery is a human right.

LADIES and gentlemen: do not let me overdraw the picture. This is still a great, powerful, vibrant, able, optimistic nation. Americans — our readers — do believe in themselves and in their country.

But there is rot, and there is blight, and there is cutting out and filling to be done if we, as the leaders of free men, are to survive the hammer blows which quite plainly are in store for us all.

We have reached the stomach-turning point. We have reached the point where we should re-examine the debilitating philosophy of permissiveness. Let this not be confused with the philosophy of liberty. The school system that permits our children to develop a quarter of their natural talents is not a champion of our liberties. The healthy man who chooses to loaf on unemployment compensation is not a defender of human freedom. The playwright who would degrade us, the author who would profit from pandering to the worst that's in us, are no friends of ours.

It's time we hit the sawdust trail. It's time we revived the idea that there is such a thing as sin—just plain old willful sin. It is time we brought self-discipline back into style. And who has a greater responsibility at this hour than we—the gentlemen of the press.

SO I SUGGEST:

Let's look at our educational institutions at the local level, and if Johnny can't read by the time he's ready to get married let's find out why.

Let's look at the distribution of public largesse, and if, far from alleviating human misery, it is producing the sloth and irresponsibility that intensifies it, let's get it fixed.

Let's quit being bulldozed and bedazzled by self-appointed long-hairs. Let's have the guts to say that a book is dirt if that's what we think of it, or that a painting may be a daub if the judges unwittingly hang it upside down. And if some beatnik welds together a collection of rusty cogwheels and old corset stays and claims it's a greater sculpture than Michelangelo's "David" let's have the courage to say that it looks like junk and may well be.

Let's blow the whistle on plays that would bring blushes to an American Legion stag party. Let's not be awed by movie characters with barnyard morals even if some of them have been photographed climbing aboard the Presidential yacht. Let us pay more attention in our news columns to the decent people everywhere who are trying to do something for the good of others.

In short, let's cover up the cesspool and start planting some flowers.

WELL, that's the jeremiad. I never dreamed I'd go around sounding like an advance man for Carrie Nation. On some people I still think bikinis look fine.

But I am fed up to here with the educationists and pseudo-social scientists who have under-rated our potential as a people.

I am fed up to here with the medicine men who try to pass off pretense for art and prudence for literature.

I am tired of seeing America debased in the eyes of foreigners.

And I am genuinely disturbed that to idealistic youth in many countries the fraud of Communism appears synonymous with morality, while we, the chief repository of real freedom, are regarded as being in the last stages of decay.

WE CAN learn a lesson from history. Twice before our British cousins appeared to be heading into a collapse of principle, and twice they drew themselves back. The British court reached an advanced stage of corruption under the Stuarts. But the people rebelled. And in the wild days of George IV and William IV it looked as though Britain were rotting out again. But the people banged through the reform laws, and under Victoria went on to the peak of their power.

In this hour of misbehavior, self-indulgence and self-doubt, let this be the story of America. Unless I misread the signs a great number of our people are ready. Let there be a fresh breeze, a breeze of new pride, new idealism, new integrity.

And here, gentlemen, is where we come in. We have typewriters. We have presses. We have a huge audience. How about raising hell?

Plymouth School Board Cites Need Of Education For All As Basic Goal

Acting on the theory that the educational program of the Plymouth Community School District should provide opportunity and encouragement for all children, youth and adults to develop their maximum educational potential, the Board of Education explained its basic philosophy and goals in an open meeting Monday night in the library of the Junior High East.

The statement of philosophy and goals was developed after a year of study by the members of the school board, the administration staff, members of the Plymouth Education Association which includes practically all of the teachers, and various civic and parent-teacher groups.

The statement points out that the educational program of the school district should help children, youth and adults to acquire the necessary knowledge, attitudes, values and skills which enable them to become active, responsible and productive citizens, capable of living with themselves and other people within the framework of American ideals.

The Board listed 10 sections in its statement:

1. We believe every person is important, has worth and is endowed with human dignity.

2. We believe and accept the fact that everyone is unique. Each person has his own individual needs and abilities and can make his own special contribution.

3. We believe that American citizens are born free and equal. Our ideal is to provide a comprehensive, contemporary educational program for every individual.

4. We believe that the democratic rights, privileges and responsibilities guaranteed by the Constitution must be nurtured and strongly supported and defended by each generation.

5. We believe every person has a right to the opportunity to reach his potential.

6. We believe that close cooperation between home and school is essential. To best serve the child, the home and school must aim at the same goals and should maintain a two-way system of reporting and conferring regarding the growth and development of the child.

7. We believe in the use of all available information, resources and guidance to help in determining what the education of each child should be.

8. We believe in the freedoms essential to the perpetuation of a democratic society. Foremost of these freedoms, we believe, are the freedom to think and the freedom to speak.

9. We believe in education for imaginative, logical and critical thinking. The student must be given the opportunity to solve problems—social, academic, economic, personal—that demand creative and critical thought.

10. We believe that the school, in conjunction with the family, church and community, shares a responsibility for the moral and spiritual concepts so necessary to a democracy and a free people.

Then the Board went on to explain the responsibilities of the school personnel, parents, children and the Board of Education.

We believe the responsibilities of the school personnel should be to:

Provide an atmosphere for maximum learning, maintain high professional standards, understand and contribute to the total educational program, appraise and evaluate the total educational program.

Develop effective relationships within the school and between the school and the community, provide leadership in curriculum development, instill a respect for authority, property, one's self and others, create an environment in which experimentation may take place, administer the board of education policies.

We believe the responsibilities of all community adults should be to:

Understand and contribute to the total educational program, cooperate with the school personnel in their endeavor to teach the children, provide the funds required to support a quality educational program.

We believe the responsibilities of each parent should be to: Instill a respect for authority, property and one's self and others, assure regular school attendance, provide each child with proper food, clothing, shelter and rest, provide a home in which understanding and loving care are existent.

S. Eaton, head of the advanced gifts division, reported gifts of $5,000 with only one-third of his group heard from. The advanced gifts team has a goal of $6,550 but he predicted it would go as high as $8,500.

Druggists Resume Fight On Kroger

The second phase of the fight to keep the Kroger Co. from acquiring a chain pharmacy license, under which it plans to open a SuperX discount drug store in Plymouth, is underway following an order from the Michigan Supreme Court to the State Board of Pharmacy to show cause by Nov. 1 why Kroger shouldn't be granted a license renewal.

Edward Draugelis, Plymouth City Attorney and legal counsel for 900 Independent Druggists in the state, is one of three lawyers preparing briefs in answer to the Supreme Court order.

It was Draugelis, acting on behalf of Plymouth Drugstore owner Robert Beyer, spokesman for the Independent Druggists, who had a big role in a public hearing before the Pharmacy Board in which the license denial was issued.

The Board denied the permit on the basis of charges that the Battle Creek store, owned by Kroger, had violated a 1943 law when it sold sleeping pills without a prescription.

The high court, in its ruling, gave Kroger permission to operate the Battle Creek drugstore until the case is settled.

The store is the key in Kroger's efforts to open the drug chain. It has been in operation since 1913 and thus does not come under a law passed in 1927 requiring that at least 25 percent of the stock in a drugstore must be owned by a registered pharmacist.

With the Battle Creek license, which Kroger bought in May from the Owl Drug Co., the company hopes to spread throughout the state.

Kroger has stocked but not opened stores in Plymouth, Ypsilanti and Mt. Clemens.

Draugelis has accused Kroger of trying to enter the drug business through "subterfuge" and of trying to circumvent the law.

Briefs in answer to the show cause order are being prepared by Draugelis, for the Independent Druggists; Atty. General Frank Kelly, on behalf of the State Pharmacy Board; and by Charles McLean, for the Michigan State Pharmaceutical Association.

To Women It May Concern

By MYRA COX

It all depends on your point of view. U. S. says Russia is becoming too aggressive through Cuba; Cuba says we interfered with their revolution and Russia is their friend; and Russia says they want peace and we better not interfere with it.

One thing is for sure, no one can win, and who needs it?

Continuing on the serious side—about a week ago a young man with a purposeful manner and flashing black eyes came striding in the office to have a few words with the woman's editor—and I mean a few straight from the shoulder, explain-this-to-me and don't peace and we better not interfere with it.

It seem this earnest young man was a conscientious postman. Honestly I really don't know any other kind.

A couple of weeks ago I grouped the entire post office together with three exceptions and said, in effect they give lousy, discourteous, service. There are probably more exceptions, true—but any organization, or service club is only as strong as its weakest link. We have some weak links behind the counter of our U. S. post offices. I said it again and this time I'll duck.

But I was not, am not, nor ever could include the man on the beat—the man in blue that comes in any weather or season as regular as death and taxes. I have always thought of them as the unsung heroes, and certainly many of them are the friend of every neighborhood they travel in.

Unfortunately they are not well represented, for the most part, in the station. In a difference of point of view, my previous comments were misunderstood by your friend and mine, the Postman.

Not so serious, but still a difference of opinion. I thought, because I managed to pass the physical fitness test prepared by the YWCA to keep fit and firm—all was well with the world and I was a gay, mad thing HOWEVER what reactions!

Those closest to me treated the project with kindly indulgence.

The little folk I love thought mother was terrific to manage to do all that—in fact their admiration was so overwhelming I felt like I was Grandma Moses and had just managed to turn handsprings on the lawn.

My elderly relatives said it was nice, but young people should be able to do that sort of thing.

Most of my friends thought I was some kind of nut to waste energy when I could have been playing bridge or going shopping.

But if you are so inclined to prove something just to yourself and care a naught for another point of view try these and score yourself.

1. In dress shoes stand on one foot with other foot touching inside of knee. With eyes closed hold position for 15 seconds.
2. In dress shoes with heels against wall, flatten back close to wall. Test is passed if only fingertips can slip between back and wall. (no hand, finger tips—you failed if it is more).
3. Sitting in straight chair with feet caught around chair legs, twist body 90 degrees without moving hips.
4. Jump a distance equal to your body height.
5. Touch fingers to toes.
6. If 35-plus do 10 push-ups a minute. you don't know what push-ups are ask the youngest in your family. President Kennedy is having all the children do it for further generation strength.
7. Sit up and have hands touch knees 10 times a minute. You sit up—lie back, etc.
8. To test back muscles, alternately raise opposite arm and leg 20 times a minute.
9. Touch one knee to forehead, then the other—once each knee.
10. Walk a mile in 15 minutes (tough).
11. One last challenge—pinch flesh together over lower rib section. If more than one inch of flesh can be pinched between thumb and finger—you are too fat from the YWCA point of view and you better join an exercise class.

Kathryn Mae Kalsen, daughter of Mr. Peter Klassen, 14325 Richfield, Livonia became the bride of Ronald Charles Lee. The double ring, candlelight ceremony was Sept. 29 in Hope Chapel Church, Livonia. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lee, 986 Junction, Plymouth.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white net over peach satin with a jacket of Alencon lace. Alencon lace trimmed front panel and the hem of her bouffant skirt. She wore white elbow length gloves. Her elbow length veil was held in place by a seed pearl tiara. An arrangement of lilies of the valley and white rose buds encircling a white orchid was the bridal bouquet.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Linda, who wore a street length dress of white lace over blue taffeta. Her wrist bouquet contained mixed Fall flowers tinted blue. David Grange Lee served his brother as best man and Ronald Klassen, brother of the bride, and Laurence Mink and Claude Root, brothers-in-law of the bridegroom, seated the guests.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents for 150 guests from the Plymouth and Detroit area.

The young newlyweds are making their home on Herbert Avenue in Wayne, Michigan.

Rotary Anns See Early Livonia

Rotary Anns of Livonia are meeting 15 minutes earlier on Thursday, Oct. 25. The meeting will begin at noon.

Dominic Parish, of Franklin High School and the Historical Society of Livonia will show movies of the history of Livonia.

Those in charge are asking members to make reservations now for the Annual Christmas tea to be held at Pandora's Dec. 11.

The First Lady of the 1962 Christmas Seal Campaign in Michigan is lovely Mrs. America - Lila Masson of Redford, mother of three. "We've always used Christmas Seals and I'm happy to help in any way that I can," she said in accepting the role of honorary campaign chairman.

A lady of story-book beauty and fame today became honorary state chairman of the 1962 Christmas Seal campaign in Michigan.

She is "Mrs. America" for 1962—Mrs. Lila Masson of Redford Township—mother of three who has carried on the Christmas Seal tradition in her home since she was a small child.

In enlisting for the Christmas Seal cause, she joins with the First Lady of the nation, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, national honorary campaign chairman, and she carries on a role last year filled by Mrs. Alice Swanson, wife of the governor.

Mrs. America, along with several other members of the Redford Suburban League, was "drafted" to enter the Mrs. America contest last year by the president of the organization.

Her triumph in Michigan, then in the national finals in Miami, came as complete surprises to her. Since winning the national crown, she has made visits to nearly every section of the country.

"I can remember using Christmas Seals as a small child in Detroit—we used to get them in school," Mrs. America said.

"And now that I have my own family, we have a Christmas-card mailing 'bee' every December and my youngest son, David, 10, still likes to lick and paste the Christmas Seals on the envelopes."

Her other children are Tom, 13, and Diane, 18.

Tuberculosis has never stricken Mrs. America's immediate family although an uncle died of the disease several years ago.

And she is keenly interested in the expanding work of the Christmas Seal organization into the field of other respiratory diseases.

Among these is the growing menace, emphysema, in which the patient's lungs lose elasticity, breathing becomes laborious, and when far advanced almost impossible.

From an almost unnoticed disease ten years ago, incidence of emphysema has zoomed to a point where the National Tuberculosis Association estimates there are ten million sufferers in the United States, most of them men past forty. The illness now is striking more persons than tuberculosis and lung cancer combined.

"I'm pleased and honored to be able to help in the Christmas Seal campaign," Mrs. America said. "There's much, much work to be done."

'Curtain Going Up' . . . BY WALLY ROBERTS

What do you say when you feel as though you are sitting on a cloud?

My feeling of great joy and elation comes from participating in a performance of Bob Wall's "Money—Who Needs It?" I was fortunate to be in the Sunday night performance of this original epic as done by Lyon Civic Players. Naturally, I was there for the Thursday and Saturday night performance since I played the lead role, but Sunday night it caught "fire."

On that night, the final one of the run, all the actors put on a show that brought out genuine response from the audience, actually cheering was heard at the end of the performance. Strangers came up to Bob after that show and indicated that the play should tour. As difficult as it might be for me to be objective I would have to say that the final performance did justice to Bob's script. It was a night long to remember. Let's hope that someone contacts Bob Wall at his Plymouth home and offers the opportunity for another showing or two. In fact, I might even like to do the leading part again. The role of Richard Riddell sort of grows on you, even though it was over 280 lines long.

What's happening on the local drama front? "Guys and Dolls" is moving along nicely. Fenton Calhoun, the L. R. director, is putting his actors through their paces nightly while the music director rehearses the chorus. The Nankin Mills Drama Group will be opening with "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" on November 2 and 3. I have to take off my sailor's cap to these brave thespians for attempting so dramatic a story. You might want to drop in and see this thrilling courtroom drama. They do their shows in the Nankin Mills Elementary school, just off Ann Arbor Trail near Farmington Road.

Downtown Detroit is still buzzing with the tremendous success of "The Three Penny Opera" at the Vanguard. You might try to get seats for the weekday nights since the weekends are pretty well sold out. David Atkinson takes over the Mac the Knife role while Robert Rounesville fulfills some New York commitments. Mr. Rounesville will be back in the leading role for the last week of the run.

At the Fisher Theater it was a night of loud hurrahs for a production that truly looks like it will be a big success on Broadway. "Lord Pango" with Charles Boyer and Agnes Moorehead lived up to its advance publicity and proved to be a hit. The New Yorkers will thoroughly enjoy this sophisticated comedy. You will have three weeks to see this attraction at the Fisher. "I Can Get It for You Wholesale," the Lillian Roth musical comedy that was a hit on Broadway for over a year is the next attraction at the Fisher. Larry Kert, seen in the stage version and on the screen of "West Side Story", will be playing the lead role in the Detroit engagement.

Over in Ann Arbor the APA professional group continues with their drama festival. Audiences were amazed at the versatility of the group last week as they dug deep into their theatrical bag of tricks to come up with a hoary comedy written by George M. Cohan, "The Tavern." Laughs, chuckles, and guffaws were the order of the evening as Ellis Raab clowning his way magnificently through the evening. Incidentally you will have a chance to see "The Tavern" on either Nov. 8 or 10 when the APA group will be performing at the Detroit Institute of Arts Auditorium. They will also do "School for Scandal" on Nov. 9. This week Ibsen's "Ghosts" is on the bill with Rosemary Harris and Eva Le Gallienne sharing top billing. If you have yet to catch the APA group, make up your mind to do so . . . as they conclude their fall festival of plays by Nov. 4.

Wayne State University players can be justly proud of their production of "The Fantasticks". Their announcement last week about the quarter-million renovation of their studio theater into a new classic theater sounds like Wayne State is on their way to compete with University of Michigan and their professional theater program. Glad to see that Professor Leone has been given the go ahead signal on such a worthwhile project.

Final note: The Detroit Community players are presenting "The Glass Menagerie" at the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium on Oct. 26 and 27. Paul Wheeler, 29522 Oakview, of Livonia has the leading male role in this excellent Tennessee Williams play. Tickets can be obtained by calling GA 5-2598. Admission is one dollar.

PRP's Plan Halloween Fun

By BETTY MENDE

Rev. Arnold Dalzell will narrate a film entitled "Your Children's Emotions" and "How To Cope With Them," at the Oct. 24th (tonight) meeting of the Parents Without Partners' organization (PWP's of Livonia) at 8:00 p.m. in the Hope Chapel located on 29475 Six Mile Road, Livonia.

Mr. Dalzell who is assistant pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church of Livonia is head of "The Christian Education" and "The Children's Work Committee." He graduated from Fayette College in Easton, Pa., and McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago and has held two pastorates in Illinois and Ohio before coming to St. Paul's where he has been for about a year.

We held an election of officers at our Sept. 26th meeting and these elected were:

Betty Mende, president; Bill Lauer, vice-president; Shirley Lechner, recording secretary; James Dabbs, treasurer.

On Oct. 26th, our children's Halloween Party is being held at 7:00 p.m. in the Rosedale Gardens United Presbyterian Church located on the corner of Chicago Blvd. and Hubbard Road in Livonia. Parents are asked to bring their children costumed and to provide inexpensive prizes and some donuts. Dance music will be provided for the older children.

Our coffee socials are being held at the home of the following:

Oct. 28th—Astrid Pentecost, 700 N. Evergreen, Plymouth.

Nov. 4th—Dorothy Harner, 36932 Thibark St., Wayne.

Nov. 11th—Donna Jensen, 6940 Beech-Daly Road, Dearborn.

All widowed, divorced or separated parents who are interested in this non-profit, non-sectarian, organization which strives to alleviate your loneliness, and to let your children know there are others in the same situation may call Betty Mende at GL 3-7447 or write at 37630 Plymouth Road, Livonia. He hold a monthly meeting plus social events for adults and children.

Goblin Activity For Merri-Five

Merri-Five Property Owners Association will say "hello neighbor" at their first annual Halloween party to be held Wednesday, Oct. 31 from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. The subdivision, bounded by Sunset, Five Mile road, Merriman and Rayburn, will be closed to outsiders from 6 p.m. through 9 p.m., Oct. 31.

Children of ages zero through the sixth grade will follow Piped Piper Duane Regan to the party site. At 7 p.m., the Piped Piper gathering his following at Five Mile and Sunset, proceed down Sunset to Roycroft, then down Roycroft to the Merri-Five Plaza. Pumpkin-shaped tags, distributed to area children, will act as identification for the door-to-door begging and as admission to the party.

The roped-off party site will be decorated with cornstalks and pumpkins. Judging of costumes and prizes will be given in two groups: ages zero through kindergarten and first through sixth grades. Games will follow; coffee, cider and homemade cookies will be served.

Up to their elbows in planning are Allen McMullen, general chairman, and his assistants, Mrs. Elmer L. Montgomery and Mrs. Norman Mitchell.

Committee members are E. Dave Rusch, James McDonald, Peter Donaldson, Frank M. Regan, Mrs. Tammy Sihon and Dean F. Scott.

Historical Museum Has Unusual Indian Exhibit

The Detroit Historical Museum currently features an exciting exhibit depicting the life of the Woodland Indians of Michigan before their contact with the white man.

A major portion of the display features reproductions of plants the Indians used for food and medicine, native to Michigan. Included are corn, beans, squash, nuts, berries and small fruits. Also included in the exhibit are dugout and birchbark canoes representing the Indians water transportation.

A substructure of a Chipewea Wigwam shows in actual size the type of shelter used by the Indians of Michigan. This dome-shaped structure was normally covered with bark or reed mats or both.

A section of the exhibit is devoted to the process of making Indian pottery and details the steps needed to make an Indian bowl.

Emblems For Handicapped Livonia Firemen Urge 'Rescue Markers' Use

"Rescue Markers," which tell firemen that there is an aged, blind, bedridden or handicapped person in the home in case of a fire and thus assures faster rescues, are still available for all homes in Livonia. The Livonia Fire Department is handling the markers which have been made available through the efforts and through funds provided by the Livonia Fire Officers Association. Lt. George Jackman, association president, points out that these emblems, made of fluorescent velva-glo red and black colors so they can be easily seen at night when a spotlight is turned on them, are especially valuable when fire equipment rolls up to a home. Those interested in obtaining the "rescue markers" should contact the Fire Headquarters at GA 1-0200, Ext. 334. A fire officer will call at the home and place the emblem on the window of the handicapped person's room. Jackman indicated there is no charge for this service and the fire department will take care of all requests within the confines of Livonia. Director of Public Safety Charles Trick and Fire Chief Calvin Roberts urge all Livonia residents who are aged or physically disabled to take advantage of this service to insure quick identification in the event of an emergency.

Bob Peterson Has Solo Role In EMU Choir

Robert Peterson, a sophomore from Livonia, will be one of the soloists when the University choir of Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti presents a concert on Sunday, Nov. 4. The program is scheduled in Pease Auditorium on the campus and will start at 4 p.m. Peterson will be a soloist in the presentation of Mozart's Coronation Mass. The choir also will present an oratorio by Carissimi with John Elwell, assistant professor in the Department of Music, singing the leading role of Jephthah. Appearing as his daughter will be Kathy Wiederkehr, a freshman from Clayton.

LWV Reports:

'The New Constitution'

(This is the first of a series of articles on the New Michigan Constitution.)
By the League of Women Voters of Livonia

(The League of Women Voters is a national, nonpartisan organization whose purpose is to promote informed and active participation of citizens in government.)
A new basic law for Michigan—a new constitution—will be approved or rejected by us, the voters, on Monday, April 1, 1963.

Our state constitution is important. It determines, for example, who can vote, how we are represented in the legislature, what powers the governor has. It is vital that each voter understand the proposed document and decide how to vote.

These articles are presented as a public service by the League of Women Voters of Livonia, the local chapter of the League of Women Voters of Michigan. The League is a national, nonpartisan organization. League members have studied the new constitution and believe it should be adopted. These articles will explain the new constitution in everyday language, and each article will be short and easy to read. We hope you will find them informative and helpful to you in making your decision.

The new constitution was written by 144 delegates to the Michigan Constitutional Convention elected one from each state senatorial district and one from each state representative district. The convention worked mostly during the period from October 3, 1961, to May 11, 1962. Final delegate action was taken in a one-day session held August 1, 1962, and the convention then went out of existence. Even if the proposed constitution is rejected, the convention cannot take further action; its work is finished. Additional changes in the old constitution (or in the new if adopted) can be made only by the amendment process or by some future constitutional convention if one is voted by the people.

The convention began with study and discussion of existing and proposed constitutional provisions. Work was largely in ten committees, each of which had responsibility for a certain section of the constitution. Since the convention consisted initially of 99 Republicans and 45 Democrats, each committee was composed of two-thirds Republicans and one-third Democrats.

Committee work culminated in the drafting of committee proposals. Beginning in January, these proposals were debated at length in the whole convention. Each part of the proposed constitution was considered three times before being finally adopted. Between considerations, the Committee on Style and Drafting worked to make the final document clear, consistent, logical, and well stated.

The convention had available to it the research of an able staff from Michigan's colleges and universities, preliminary work by a governor's commission, and the aid of private Michigan foundations and organizations. Few conventions have had such help.

The convention worked to keep the proven and historic; to strengthen the three branches of government, each in its proper sphere; to maintain and strengthen local government; to consider the best thinking of those experienced in government, of students of government, and of constitution builders in other states. The convention was also guided by a knowledge of how the citizens of Michigan think their government should be organized and what it should do.

Michigan's proposed new constitution is several thousands of words shorter than the old, 19,000 as compared with 22,000. This was made possible, after careful study, by eliminating unnecessary words, legislative detail, and outdated sections.

The organization has also been improved and simplified. In place of the present 17 articles, the new document has 12: I. Declaration of Rights; II. Elections; III. General Government; IV. Legislative Branch; V. Executive Branch; VI. Judicial Branch; VII. Local Government; VIII. Education; IX. Finance and Taxation; X. Property; XI. Public Officers and Employment; XII. Amendment and Revision.

The main reason why it is not practical to submit the new constitution to the electors piece by piece is that the old and new articles do not correspond exactly, either as to number or content. Both new and old constitutions include a brief Preamble and a Schedule. The latter provides an orderly changeover from the old to the new.

Next article: House Apportionment.

Seeking Funds For Franklin's Band Uniforms

"Livonia Congress for Civic Affairs," an organization "designed to sponsor and encourage worthwhile civic, school, and community activities" this week announced its first project. It will launch a city-wide fund-raising drive to purchase uniforms for the new Franklin High School Band and robes for the school choir.

Described in its charter as "a group of public-spirited citizens interested in good government, schools, and the building of a great city in which we all shall live without thought of personal gain," the Livonia Congress asked public support for its Project Franklin.

Ten thousand dollars is the sum needed to purchase band uniforms and choir robes, a spokesman said.

While exact dates have not yet been announced for the events, a coordinated program has already been planned for a Winter and Spring campaign to help raise the money. These include a display at Opera House early in November and later a concert at Franklin High School, one or more school dances, a cannister drive, and the formation of a Band Mothers' Committee.

Business, industry, service clubs, civic associations, and P.T.A.'s will also be asked for their support. Plans are being discussed for a public dance. In connection with the canvassing for funds, the committee will present donors a certificate with each dollar or more contributed. Students at Franklin will help by designing posters, printing tickets, announcements etc.

Livonia citizens wishing to contribute time or money may phone any of the following committee members: Frances Hensley, GA 1-7095; Jack Burgess, GA 1-7820; Al Bond, GA 2-3080.

Contributors who wish to mail donations may make their checks payable to: L.C.C.A., Uniform Fund, Bank of Livonia, 3304 Five Mile Road.

'Lack of Suburban Representation' Called 'Main Issue' By Chandler

One of the "most underrated issues in the whole State election" involves the lack of representation in Lansing for the Detroit suburbs, Paul M. Chandler contended today.

Chandler is the Republican candidate for State Representative from the 21st District, a suburban area in Northwestern Wayne County.

"While the powers of both parties foment about the problems of central Detroit and/or 'outstate Michigan,' absolutely nobody seems to be giving any concern to the problems of the suburbia, the newest and most difficult part of the Michigan complex.

"Because of the explosive growth, the suburbs have more problems requiring state assistance than any other single area," he said in a speech to the Temple Beth Am Men's Club.

"But because of the exorbitating lag in reapportionment, the suburbs have about one-fourth the number of legislators in Lansing they warrant on a population basis."

"And the sparse handful of legislators who have gone to Lansing from suburban Wayne County, without exception have been controlled mannikins taking their political orders and their campaign contributions from bosses located within the interior Detroit city."

Chandler said it was "tragedy" when strong voices failed to appear in Lansing to protest the Detroit income tax. "Where were the Wayne County suburban legislators? They were taking orders from their interior Detroit political sponsors."

A community newspaper publisher in Livonia, Redford Township and Plymouth, Chandler said that his 21st representative District "contained something like 105,000 voters and has a total population of approximately 250,000 people."

"This one suburban district of Michigan, thus contains more voters and more people than the entire Upper Peninsula, for example," Chandler said. "If they get around to re-districting, it will be represented by at least three state representatives, where today there is just one."

"But for the moment, the entire 21st District 'voice' in Lansing consists of that of a single Cope-sponsored Democrat named Harvey Beadle.

When the vote was coming on the Bowman (Detroit income tax bill, for instance, our 'representative' failed to vote altogether. He was too afraid, under party pressure, to make any kind of a stand.

At least 10,000 new voters have registered in the 21st district just since August (1962), Chandler said. "Which exaggerates the horrible underrepresentation for this area."

He said that suburbs need new State legislation to ease their problems of mushrooming school constructions; sorely-needed sewer, water and other underground facilities; community college development; low-interest borrowing for civic improvements; overhaul of grotesque, ancient, land-assessment laws and procedures; and close study of public utility rates and policies as they are introduced in this suburban area.

"The suburbs, out-manned and swarming with problems, should have the strongest possible voices speaking for them in Lansing . . . not lackey reading scripts brought out by the postman from interior Detroit."

RU Must Win Friday To Share League Crown

A share of the Suburban Six League football championship stands within the grasp of Redford Union High School this week.

All that Coach John Roger's charges must do is to win at Allen Park Friday night.

The Parkers with a 4-0 loop record thus far already locked up at least a tie for the flag. Only RU stands a chance to pull even this Friday when the curtain drops on the conference campaign.

It's been 11 years since Redford Union last figured in any league football laurels. All of which explains why Rogers will have no difficulty "firing up" his players for their invasion of Allen Park.

After RU downed Belleville last Friday, while Allen Park whipped Trenton, 19-7, Rogers declared:

"I think our kids can win from Allen Park. If they'll just play over there like we played against Belleville we'll take 'em."

Rogers said that RU "played our best yet" in beating Belleville, which had been locked in a tie for second with the Townshippers before last Friday's struggle.

"Our defense was terrific," added Rogers. "You can't say enough for the way Rick Coleman, our linebacker, performed. We didn't think Coleman, could play. His stomach bothered him and he was at the doctor's in the morning. But the doctor said Rick was okay and he was all over the field stopping Belleville, which sure had a couple of speedsters."

The big play for RU also had to be a defensive effort—when Charles Fiefield hauled down Belleville ace Charles Cabana with only about two minutes left to go.

Cabana appeared headed for a sure touchdown which would have tied the game and with a conversion Belleville could have won it, when Fiefield ran up from behind to haul down Cabana who had streaked some 40 yards on a last-ditch Belleville effort.

Fiefield with his tackle brought down Cabana on the RU 18. In four plays Belleville managed only five yards.

RU took over with just 58 seconds to go and ran out the clock to score one of its biggest wins in recent years. As stated, the triumph put RU in position to tie for the loop flag this Friday night.

Some fine kicking by Gary Griswold helped RU in the early going. One of his boots actually led to RU's first score.

Belleville had to kick out from deep in its own end and RU gained the ball on the Belleville 40. A couple running plays put the ball on the 30 from where Chuck Shelton hit on a 30 yard pass to Fiefield for a touchdown.

With Shelton passing to Bob Johnson, RU gained a 7-0 lead which held up until the final period.

Belleville struck back with a 60 yard march on which Cabana went the final four for the marker. The try for conversion missed and RU clung to a single-point advantage.

Minutes later, Mike Caplia intercepted a Belleville pass on the RU 45 and started the Townshippers in motion for their second-TD march.

With Shelton passing and Johnson, Craig Turnispeed and Jim Buck hitting up the middle and around end, RU reached the six-inch line from where Shelton went over.

Just over three minutes remained. RU kicked to Belleville. Moments later, Cabana slipped into the clear. All RU hearts stood still until Fiefield made his great tackle.

Our kids made the big plays tonight," Coach Rogers said afterward.

Statistically, it was Belleville's game. The invaders outgained RU, 216-148, and had a 9-7 edge in first downs.

Passing was about even. Shelton made five out of 14; Belleville hit for 5 out of 13.

STARTING GUARD on the Oberlin College varsity is Joseph Fink, a two-letterman at Thurston High School where he was graduated in June 1960. Joe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Fink, 26614 Southwestern, Redford Township. It was his brilliant defensive play that helped Oberlin's Yeomen defeat Allegheny College two weeks ago by a 24-20 score. He is a junior and a starter for the second straight year.

Clarenceville Tries To Cheer Up Fathers

Maybe the Clarenceville High School football players can do for their dads next Friday night what they couldn't do for the ol' grads—win their first game of the season.

The Clarenceville gridders fell for the sixth straight time—in as many starts—last Friday when clipped by Holly, 21-12, to mar homecoming festivities at the Middlebelt Road school.

The dads of the players are to be toasted Friday night when Clarenceville takes on Milford in the final home game of the season. The campaign curtain drops the following Friday at Brighton.

Tom Fagan, Larry Bradshear and Clarence Ray registered the touchdowns for Holly which led all the way against Clarenceville.

Fagan went in for the first counter and added the point. Then it was Bradshear's turn with Ray converting.

A 30-yard gallop by the fleet-footed Monroe Ashley put Clarenceville on the scoreboard but Ray got that tally back and made the point to finish the Holly scoring output.

Jim Woodhouse went over from the four in the final quarter for Clarenceville's second tally.

The setback left Clarenceville last in the Wayne-Oakland League standings with an 0-5 conference slate. Clarkston and Milford are tied for sixth place with 1-4 records.

Meantime it's Bloomfield Hills and West Bloomfield rolling along with 5-0 records. They'll square off on Nov. 2

Plymouth Rally Nips Bentley

There's no explaining what makes a team start fast, then slow up; or what makes another team get off to a flat beginning, then finish with an exploitation.

This is what happened last Friday evening when Plymouth high school's football team nipped Bentley, 13-12, on the Plymouth gridiron.

In the battle of the two neighbors, neither of whom had won in Suburban Six League play before Friday—in fact Bentley hadn't won at all previously and still hasn't with only two games remaining—the Livonians jumped off to a flying, 12-0 lead.

Bentley looked like whirlbeaters until the intermission. In contrast, the Plymouth Rocks didn't know how to hang on to the ball and their defense could draw no praise from Coach Mike Hoben.

Something happened to both teams during the halftime break.

While the bands played and the fans enjoyed coffee, cokes, hotdogs and ice creams, the Plymouth team became an enraged, fired up contingent.

At the same time, the 15-minute break obviously cooled off Bentley. The team which represented the Livonian school after the intermission hardly resembled the one which had operated in the first 24 minutes.

"I can't figure it out," said Bentley Coach Larry Joiner. "I thought we were on our way. Then the last-half collapse."

In the final two periods Bentley managed only 14 yards rushing and 26 yards through the air after picking up some 130 yards during the first half.

"We corrected some of our early mistakes and began to play like we can," explained Plymouth Coach Hoben of his team's great finish.

"Most important we hung on to the ball. That made a big difference."

Plymouth bobbled away the pigskin three times in the first half, and two of them led to Bentley touchdowns.

Bentley capitalized on break No. 1 and took a 6-0 lead with Tom Sewruk going the final one-yard line. The extra point was blocked and this was to prove costly as play progressed.

Not too long later, Bentley covered another Plymouth fumble. This time the Livonians went to the air. A bomb from Paul Portney to Larry Southgate covered 40 yards and Bentley led, 12-0.

Once more the try for extra point was blocked. Another rough blow for Bentley and a good one, as matters turned out, for Plymouth.

The score remained firm through the remainder of the first half.

In the third period, Plymouth marched some 80 yards with Hugh Sarah, Gary Grady, Dave Agnew and Jim Walasky carrying the pigskin.

When the Rocks reached the Bentley 20, Sarah's signal again was called. He didn't stop running until he had crossed the goal line. Dick Schreyer made the extra point and this was to decide the game.

Late in the third quarter, the Rocks took over at midfield and started another march. The drive finished just after the final quarter began with Schreyer pegging seven yards into the end zone to Egloff.

Thereafter neither side threatened.

With the victory, Plymouth moved out of the Suburban Six League basement. The Rocks now stand 1-3 in the loop with their final conference tilt this Friday at Trenton. The season ends the following week against Walled Lake.

Bentley is 0-4 in the league with the prospect looming now that the Livonians may end a league race without a victory. Belleville comes to Livonia this Friday evening and shapes up a heavy favorite.

In the overall second department, Bentley has lost six in a row, something no Bentley team has ever done before. Plymouth's mark shows two wins, three losses and a tie.

Statistically last Friday, the Rocks made 10 first downs to Bentley's six and outgained the Livonians 253-163.

Franklin To Take Week Off

A week's rest should help Livonia Franklin High School's young footballers.

The pressure of the wars in their first year of varsity campaigning has been rough on the Franklin players and their coach Jack Hudnut.

Five straight times Franklin has gone to the firing line. And still there is no victory to show. The latter E8Rotci—N

All that remains are games with Willow Run and Wayne on the latter gridirons after the team enjoys a breather from play this weekend.

The story of last Saturday afternoon's 19-6 defeat at the hands of Monroe Jefferson typed most of the setbacks Franklin has suffered this fall.

Perhaps, because of inexperience, Franklin has been unable to get going in the early stages. By the time the Franklin team recovers, it's too late.

Monroe Jefferson, in winning its sixth straight game, jumped into a 13-0 lead before Saturday's tilt was five minutes old and held a 19-0 edge after the close of the first quarter.

Thereafter, Franklin had a wide edge in play.

"We pushed them around pretty good," said Hudnut. "We outgained them, threatened several times and looked like we should have won. But penalties in key situations hurt us very badly."

Jefferson marched from the first kickoff to score within three minutes on a 33-yard run by Al Maus.

On the following kickoff to Franklin, the Livonians fumbled and Jefferson turned the miscue into a second score. This time Maus went over from the 10.

Before the quarter ended, Jefferson blocked a Franklin kick on the latter's four and quickly made it 19-0.

Franklin then began to move, but couldn't score until the third period when a 50-yard march ended in a counter on which John Trola went the final seven yards.

Register Now For Punt, Pass Contest

Livonia boys can still register for the nationwide punt, pass, and kick contest sponsored nationally by the National Football League and the Ford Dealers of America.

Livonia's local contest will be held Saturday, Nov. 3 at Wonderland Shopping Center.

Seven, eight and nine-year-old boys can compete for official NFL footballs, and uniforms by registering with Bill Brown, Inc., local sponsor of the contest.

The contest will be conducted with the cooperation of the Department of Parks and Recreation and Wonderland Merchants Council.

Thieves Get Ready For Bird Season

Thieves forced the window on the driver's side and stole articles valued at more than $225 from a car owned by Gary Lillie, 9101 Burt Road, Detroit, according to Livonia Police reports.

Lillie told police his car was parked in the Fisher Body parking lot, on Plymouth Road, and when he came out after work he discovered the window open.

The thieves took a shotgun and other hunting equipment.

Livonia DPR Eyes Family Hike Club

All Livonians interested in organizing a family hiking club are asked to call the Department of Parks and Recreation office (GA 1-2000, ext. 291) for further information.

Livonia children who would like to join chess classes or bridge lessons should call the recreation office to register for future classes.

SPORTS OBSERVER

By George Maskin

One of the big treats that can come to any person is to sit in on a football discussion involving Fritz Crisler, the very able athletic director at the University of Michigan.

It was our pleasure to enjoy just such an occasion a week ago at a session of the Detroit Sportscasters Association in Detroit.

Crisler, as perhaps you may know, currently is the chairman of the collegiate football rules committee. And, we didn't know this—that more than 8,000 high schools in the United States use the same code as adopted by the colleges.

Michigan, however, follows the prep grid rules set up by the National Scholastic Federation which explains why there are some major variations in the prep and collegiate codes.

At the moment there are two major items—when it comes to football rules—which disturb Crisler.

No. 1—The substitute rule which the collegians use. No. 2—The face mask.

As for the sub rule, Crisler feels the one currently employed by the colleges is bad. If you've been out to Ann Arbor or East Lansing, or watched on television, you'll notice that every player must keep checking in with the officials; also that close tabs are kept on how many times a player goes in and out.

The preps and the pros, in contrast, go for the free substitution business. Anytime the ball is dead, a coach can send in as many players as he wishes.

Crisler feels free subbing is okay for the preps and maybe the pros . . . but not the collegians.

"We'll have to make a change from what we now have," he told the broadcasters. "We're taking up too much time of our officials by making them bookkeepers out there on the field. Also we have a lot of lining up as players flood on to the field and each must be checked in."

What does Crisler propose?

He would like a rule which might permit a coach to make wholesale substitutions about three times in a half. This would make it necessary for all boys to learn offense and defense.

"If you go for wholesale substitutions," he said, "the offensive boys don't meet their defensive teammates until they gather in the locker room on the day of the game."

Another matter which irks Crisler about the way the sub rules (high school, pro and collegian) now are written is that coaches can send in men with a signal for each play.

Turning to the matter of the face mask, Crisler insists something must be done to correct this situation post haste.

"We'll grant that the number of total injuries to teeth and noses are down," said Crisler. "But how can we ignore the serious injuries which have resulted, caused by the whip-lash from a player's head being jolted?"

"Investigation of several recent deaths and near fatal injuries shows that the player's face guard was to blame for what happened."

"In some instances the impact from the mask's striking the ground rocked the head backwards. The opponent had nothing to do with the accident."

"And there have been cases where the player's mask hits his own knee . . . and the stretcher was necessary."

"Blows from rivals naturally have produced many bad injuries. The blows weren't necessary, dirty or illegal. But they happened and the player ended up in a hospital."

"We can't permit the use of a device which can kill or cripple a player. We must find something else. I'm sure that everybody will agree that it's better for a boy to lose a couple teeth or have his nose bashed in, than for him to end up on a slab at the county morgue."

Crisler continued to talk on the face mask.

"Do you know that many coaches in schools are using the mask as a blocking technique? There's nothing to prohibit face blocking."

"As a result, there are teams whose players use the mask to block away an opponent with a poke to the stomach. And some players, while tackling, take advantage of the fact that a referee isn't close at hand, to spear a rival with his mask."

How will the matter be corrected?

Crisler lacks the answer at the moment. But he's certain one will be forthcoming in the very near future.

Many of the best doctors are working with the collegiate and high school rules makers to solve the problem.

Thurston Runners Win In 2 Leagues

Double-Duty Squad

It's tough enough for most teams to win in one league. But Thurston High School's cross country squad has done a bang-up job this fall of "cleaning up" in two different conferences.

The fact is the Thurston runners aren't bothered or apparently weakened even when they have to vie in two different meets at different places at the same time.

Consider, for example, what happened last Thursday.

One group of Thurston runners swamped Oak Park by a 18-37 score. Another contingent from Thurston went against Lutheran West and triumphed by the same score.

How come Thurston is vying in two leagues—and happens to be unbeaten in both? Here's the story: Thurston teams currently are winding up several years of participation in the Mid-Wayne League. Starting with next fall the Redford Township school will enter the new Northwest Suburban loop which includes Livonia Franklin in its five-team membership.

Thurston had a 1962 Mid-Wayne League cross country schedule set before the school decided to change circuits. So Thurston has fulfilled its Mid-Wayne commitments.

At the same time, the schools who'll form the new league agreed to get a jump by matching their cross-country teams this fall and even holding an informal meet, which was held this Tuesday at Birmingham Groves.

"In spots, it's been rough on us," says Coach Phil Burgess of Thurston's harriers. "But we POLISHING UP her table tennis for the two tournaments, at Clarenceville Junior High over the weekend, is Mary Plumley, 13, of 17226 Louise, Livonia. Mary ranks fourth in her age division and is one of the early favorites in the statewide Livonia Invitational and City closed tournaments slated for Saturday and Sunday. The meets are being sponsored by the Michigan Table Tennis Association and the Livonia Department of Parks and Recreation. Livonians may register for play by calling the DPR offices at GA 1-2000, Ext. 291 Friday.

Table Tennis Stars Clash

Livonians can participate in two table tennis tournaments Saturday and Sunday at Clarenceville Jr. High School—the Livonia City Closed, for residents only, and the Livonia Invitational statewide tourney for Michigan Table Tennis Association members.

Both tournaments, sponsored by the Department of Parks and Recreation, are sanctioned by the MTTA.

Schedule of events is listed below and participants may enter at the time of the event.

Boys singles (under 15 years) 1 p.m. Saturday.

Championship singles and doubles — 6 p.m. Sunday.

Mixed doubles — 5 p.m. Sunday.

Women's singles and doubles — 4 p.m. Sunday.

For St. Agatha Gridmen:

Happy Season Ends On Victory

The football season ended on a happy note for St. Agatha high school's football team last Sunday afternoon.

With a 7-6 conquest over Pontiac St. Michael, the Redford Township gridgers closed their campaign in the Catholic League's new Northwestern division with a record of four conquests and two setbacks.

Pending the outcome of next Sunday's action involving other teams—St. Agatha drew the final weekend's bye in the seven-team division—the Townshippers could finish in the standings anywhere from first to third.

"It was a very excellent year for us in many respects," said Coach Dave Brazil of St. Agatha. "We were the smallest, from an enrollment standpoint of the teams in the league. We have just 78 boys in our senior high and 32 of them were on the football squad.

"Nobody figured we could do so well. But we never were out-classed. Our kids fought right down to the end in every game."

In winning last Sunday, St. Agatha scored early and then held up a rallying St. Michael contingent.

A punt to the St. Michael 45 early in the first period set St. Agatha in motion. With Greg Peck and Bob Dorchy handling the ball, St. Agatha moved to the 11 from where Bob Krupanski went the rest of the way.

Peck (no relation to the movie star) added the extra point which proved the game's deciding point.

St. Michael came back to score on a one-yard buck by Larry Sonnenberg. But the missed try for conversion proved costly in the end.

St. Agatha had a scoring march going in the third period, but a penalty set the Townshippers back after they reached the St. Michael six.

In the fourth period, St. Michael reached the St. Agatha 20 with 90 seconds to go. But alert St. Agatha players forced St. Michael into a fumble which St. Agatha recovered and that was the game.

Bob Dorchy and Charles Monahan drew praises from Brazil for their brilliant defensive play during the season. So did Ron Zimmerman, a sophomore, who became a St. Agatha bright light in the final three weeks.

The quarterbacking of Mike Steen also was outstanding in carrying St. Agatha to a winning year in football.

Brazil announced he'll give his athletes a few days off, then start basketball drills early in November.

Area Harriers Race In Tough Regional

What shapes up as perhaps the state's best regional Class A high school cross country meet will take place Saturday morning over the Franklin Hills Golf course.

The entries include Detroit Redford's defending state champs, plus the University of Detroit High's powerhouse, and Thurston's crack squad.

Teams from Bentley, Redford Union and Plymouth also will vie in the regional. The first two teams to finish will qualify for the state meet the following Saturday at Ypsilanti. Top individuals also will make the trip to Ypsilanti.

Gridders' Title Hopes Fade Away

Championship hopes have gone by the boards as far as the Thurston High School football team is concerned in the Mid-Wayne League.

With three loop setbacks in five starts, Thurston has no chance of catching front-runner Riverview which has won five without a setback.

But Coach Gordon Young's team still has an opportunity to finish the season with a respectable record.

By taking Inkster this Saturday at Thurston and then winning from Garden City the following Saturday, the Redford Townshippers at least could close out their league slate above the .500 mark. The season ends against Riverside in a non-leaguer.

Finnish Gymnasts Appear at U-D

A White House Command Performance troupe of Finnish Girl Rhythmic Gymnasts will appear at the University of Detroit Memorial Bldg., at 8 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 28.

This will be the only Michigan appearance of the unusual group now on a two-week tour of the United States and Canada. They will make a White House appearance Nov. 1.

Kick String Snapped At 10 In Row

The place-kicking streak of Redford Union High's Jim Higginson came to a halt at 10 in a row last Thursday.

He made his first conversion after Denny Davis scored from the five to give RU's reserve gridgers an early lead against Trenton.

In the fourth period Eric Vargo went 19 yards to knot the count at 13-13. This time Higginson couldn't click and the game ended in a deadlock.

Higginson's string goes down as one of the finest records by a prep place-kicker in Michigan in several years.

MCSC to Hold Hearings on Rates of Pay

Pay rates for the State's 31,000 classified employees will be the subject of a public hearing on Monday, Oct. 29, the Michigan Civil Service Commission announced.

State Personnel Director Franklin K. DeWald said state employees and agency administrators were being invited to tell the Commission their views on salary schedules.

The Civil Service Commission is currently conducting a wage survey of some 400 Michigan private employers and 61 public jurisdictions in order to reach a decision at its December meeting on wages rates to be effective in July of 1963.

The hearing will be held at 2 p.m. in Parlors A and B of the Lansing Civic Center.

A Pictorial Tour of

Wonderland: Livonia's 52 Store Center

One of the center's most-photographed objects of art is this hammered-aluminum rooster which stands proudly in a bed of rare plants in the main mall. This striking example of modern sculpture was created by Don Buby of Royal Oak.

Practically every service requirements is available at Wonderland, from auto repairs at the Montgomery Ward service station (above) to a new pair of heels at Wonderland Shoe Repair. (right). Other services include watch and jewelry repair, optical, barber and beauty care, appliance repairs, laundry and dry cleaning and travel service.

A huge, vacuum-type sweeper is put to frequent use every day to keep Wonderland's mall area clean. The center's full-time maintenance crew is responsible for neat appearance of the center which is known throughout Michigan for its up-to-the-minute maintenance.

Wonderland has two fine beauty shops. Here, Connie Horner fashions a new hair style for Joyce Galuska. Artiste Hair-stylists and Gay Top Beauty Shops rate as two of the area's most modern beauty salons.

Wonderland's security police are on 24-hour duty. In addition to regular patrol activities the officers spend considerable time matching lost children with their parents. Above, Officer Ray Reed checks in with the center's central security offices.

Familiar landmark at one of Michigan's busiest intersections — Plymouth and Middlebelt roads — the famous Wonderland spire was created by Samuel Cashwan of Detroit. The 60-foot steel and glass tower marks the center entrance to the shopping center.

Shopping Center Celebrates 3rd Anniversary

The biggest birthday party in Livonia's history gets underway tomorrow when Wonderland Center's 52 retail firms and service stores begin celebrating the third anniversary of the multi-million-dollar shoppers' mecca.

The celebration, which will continue through October 27, will be highlighted by a $10,000 prize giveaway—including two color television sets.

Watch for It

A 24-page tabloid section, which appears in today's edition, contains all the details of Wonderland Center's third anniversary celebration.

The sections are numbered and may be worth one of some 2,000 prizes offered during the celebration. Compare the number on your circular with those posted at most Wonderland stores, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Through special arrangements with local dealers, the center has arranged for a 10-day showing of 1963 automobiles. The new cars, including the industry's newest sports cars, will be exhibited in the main mall beginning today.

Other attractions include Michigan Bell Telephone Company's Telstar communications satellite and a display of telephone equipment of the future.

On October 25, "Bozo," the clown, popular Detroit television personality, will act as master of ceremonies at a three-day performance of the Steele Bears—world famous trained animal act.

Two RCA Victor Color television sets and an RCA Victor black-and-white portable top the list of nearly 2,000 prizes which will be awarded during the celebration. Entry blanks for the TV contest, which are available without charge or obligation at most Wonderland stores, must be deposited at the center before 9 p.m., October 27.

Wonderland Center, opened in 1959, is the third largest regional shopping center in Michigan. The center's 52 stores have a combined merchandising area of 600,000 square feet.

Wonderland's mall, called one of the most picturesque in the nation, is adorned by several objects of surrealistic art. These dancing figurines were created especially for the center by internationally-acclaimed sculptor Nathaniel Kaz, of Brooklyn.

Wonderland's Reputation for cleanliness is safeguarded by men and machines which operate round the clock to keep the 57-acre shopping center free from debris. This giant street sweeper is part of some $50,000 worth of equipment used to maintain the center's 5,000-car parking lot Wonderland's 25 flower beds require almost constant care. Each new season brings a new landscaping theme. By the deft use of roses, pansies, petunias, and other colorful favorites, the beds add to the pleasant atmosphere of the spacious malls.
