Family Concert Sunday

Plymouth's Symphony Orchestra, accompanied in part by members of the fifth and sixth grade choruses from the Plymouth schools, will present its annual and ever-popular "Family Concert" this Sunday, Jan. 27, at the Senior High gymnasium.

The event, attended by well over 1,000 persons a year ago, will start at 4 p.m. as is customary with all Sunday concerts presented by the Plymouth Symphony. There is no admission charge.

The Family Concert is the third in a five-concert schedule for the Symphony during the 1962-63 year.

Numbering more than 150 voices, the fifth and sixth grade choruses will sing "Creatures and Colors," composed by Dr. Lee Eitzen, who is a member of the Symphony orchestra and a vocal teacher at Detroit's Chadsey High.

The children themselves are students of Miss Germaine Ludwig and Mrs. Keith Burton, both of whom are elementary music teachers in the Plymouth School System.

Dr. Eitzen, who has a Master of music degree from the University of Michigan and a Doctorate from the University of Iowa, was specially commissioned to prepare the children's choral phase of the fourth-coming Family Concert.

He has drawn from six poems to form the lyrics for his composition. The six are: "A Piper," "Children's AMONG MORE than 150 fifth and sixth graders who will sing Sunday at the Symphony "Family Concert" here are these four youngsters, all fifth graders from Allen School. From left: Judy Brown, 10, Kim McLachlan, 10, Wendy Bida, 11, and Beverly Davis, 10. The fifth and sixth grade choruses practiced Saturday afternoon in the same place where the Family Concert will be conducted this coming Sunday, the Senior High auditorium. The concert begins at 4 p.m. and is free to all.

Local Kiwanians to Observe Citizenship Quotient Week

A series of 20 questions, designed to rate local residents on their "Citizenship Quotient," underlines the purpose of the Plymouth Kiwanis club's observance of Citizenship

Quotient Week Jan. 27 through Feb. 2.

The local Kiwanians will observe C.Q. Week in conjunction with Kiwanis International and all affiliated clubs, announced Plymouth member Edward Draugelis.

It will be Draugelis who heads a C.Q. Week kick-off during the Plymouth club's regular weekly meeting Tuesday evening, Jan. 29, at Lofy's.

The 20 questions point up the over-riding purpose of the observance. It is to focus further attention on the need for greater responsible citizenship and for a wider demonstration of the acceptance of citizenship responsibilities everywhere, Draugelis said.

Guest speaker at the meeting will be William J. Patrick, a member of the Detroit Common Council and chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors' "vacant land" committee.

Patrick will speak on Citizenship Participation in Governmental Affairs.

Draugelis explained the 20 questions on the Citizen Quotient rating list.

"They're not meant to be an inclusive, by any means," he said. "They do, however, suggest a method by which each of us can obtain some indication of our citizenship quotient."

With an "ideal" citizen in mind as a resident answers the questions, this person then makes a frank, personal appraisal, he continued. "How you measured up to that 'ideal' indicates your own personal C.Q.," he said.

A very effective citizen would rate between 85 and 95 points, according to a release on citizenship quotient.

A free baby-sitting service will be provided on the premises and watching the children will be other members of the band who are not serving as waiters and waitresses.

Chairman of the fish fry project is Mrs. Willard Bowman who is being assisted by Lon Dickerson and Mrs. Marion Breed.

Approve Plans for Senior High Improvements

The Board of Education Monday night gave final approval to plans for the Senior High rehabilitation program and directed the architectural firm of Wheeler-Becker & Associates to prepare working drawings and detailed specifications for the project in anticipation of a call for bids on the work.

The action came in a special meeting, only a week after similar approval had been issued regarding final plans for Phase II of Junior High West here.

Minor modifications in the Junior High West project were also approved during the special meeting Monday. The Board is expected to authorize a call for bids on these two jobs along with a two-room addition to Farrand Elementary School, as well as at the next regular School Board meeting Feb. 11.

Bids will be received March 11, according to a table established by the Board some months ago. Total cost of the trio of projects will amount to approximately $725,000.

While Phase II of Junior High West is estimated to cost $600,000, the Farrand addition is scheduled to cost approximately $65,000 and the Senior High rehabilitation will amount to about $60,000.

By simultaneously calling for bids on the three individual projects, Board members hope to gain a favorable advantage in total costs so as not to upset a tight money budget. They are prepared to defer one or more aspects of the Senior High work in order to remain within the budget, however.

The Wheeler-Becker firm is also the architect for the Farrand addition. Bennett & Straight Inc. is in charge of the Junior High.

Pharmaceutical Firm Expected To Locate in Plymouth Shortly

A pharmaceutical manufacturing and packaging firm, presently located in Detroit, is expected to move to the City of Plymouth in the near future. The Plymouth Mail learned Wednesday morning.

Chem-Tek Corp. will occupy the former Consumers Power Co. building on Junction St. near Adams, it was revealed.

The company, which will have approximately 15 employees to start in its new location here, will establish a pharmaceutical manufacturing operation and a laboratory for the production and packaging of pills, capsules and liquid medicinal items.

Consumers Power Co. officials were understood to have signed the sale papers Tuesday and the transaction will be completed shortly when Chem-Tek company officers sign within the next few days.

Plymouth's non-profit Industrial Development Corp., with Frank Arlen spearheading the effort, will buy the Consumers Power Co. land and buildings and, in turn, will lease the buildings and half of the property to the Chem-Tek firm.

Purchase price was not disclosed. Consumers will retain a small portion of the property on which a regulator station is situated.

The buildings at one time housed Consumers' construction, engineering and service facilities until the utility company moved early in 1961 to its new location on Farmington Road in Livonia.

William Sempliner, the local attorney who is handling the legal matters on the sale for the Industrial Development Corp., said that a minor discrepancy in the property description delayed the final signing briefly. It would not halt the sale, however, he said.

Local building contractor Loren "Bud" Gould is expected to be retained by the Industrial Development group to remodel the former Consumers buildings.

Immediately following that, the pharmaceutical firm is expected to complete its move to its new location here.

Chem-Tek makes compressed sugar-coated and "intra-coated" pills in addition to capsules and liquid medicaments. The company sells to surgical supply houses in bulk quantities and later customers bottle and label the pharmaceuticals.

Sempliner said that the property involved measures roughly 200-feet by 350-feet. Jim Thomas, a Consumers official here, said that the utility company reduced its original asking price "considerably" in order to assure the sale and encourage another industry to locate in Plymouth.

In a letter to Commissioners Monday night in which he outlined the situation, Near wrote: "This will advise that the owners of the following three parcels of property contained in our Mill Street Urban Renewal Project, Mich. R-30, apparently do not intend to give further consideration to the Federal Government's concurred-in-price for their property."

He then described the parcels of land and named the property owners concerned.

Urban Renewal director Joseph Near has already acquired for the City the other parcels of land involved in the 17-acre tract and DPW crews have been clearing existing buildings and soon will be digging out foundations and basements.

The three property owners, all of whom declined the City's offered price, are Earl Cook, Mrs. L. J. Ackerman and Rachel Reiman.

Cook owns a parcel at 468 South Mill, Mrs. Ackerman is the owner of a parcel located at 492 South Mill and the Reiman property is at 110 and 160 West Ann Arbor Tr.

City Moves to Condemn Urban Renewal Property

Condemnation proceedings against three property owners in the City's Urban Renewal area are expected to begin shortly as a result of action taken by members of the City Commission Monday night.

Commissioners passed a resolution authorizing City Attorney Edward Draugelis to proceed with condemnation legal matters whereby the City will be enabled to complete its purchase of Urban Renewal property along Mill St.

Fish Fry to Aid PHS Musicians

Striving to raise enough money to finance a trip this summer to the National Music Camp at Interlochen, the Plymouth High band will conduct a fish fry this Friday evening at the high school cafeteria.

The event will take place from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. Tickets are on sale now by all senior high band members and may be also obtained by calling the senior high principal's office, said band director Jim Griffith.

Tickets are $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for students in the 12th grade or below.

Purpose of the week-long visit to Interlochen, explained Griffith, is to enable the band members to lend fundamental drilling procedures and other basic requirements. Cost for the trip there will be approximately $3,500.

Already the band has raised a portion of this through a highly-successful candy sale recently, and other fund-raising projects are scheduled for the near future, including another candy sale about Easter-time.

Griffith said that the band hopes to serve 500 people during the Friday evening fish fry. Although tickets will be available at the door, he explained that the band must rely on advance sales in order to determine how many dinners to prepare.

Much of the meal, he said, will be prepared by parents of the band members. The waiters and waitresses will consist of the band members themselves.

The dinner will be served cafeteria-style. Menu for the evening is comprised of fish, french fries, salad, rolls, dessert and either coffee, milk or tea.

A free baby-sitting service will be provided on the premises and watching the children will be other members of the band who are not serving as waiters and waitresses.

Chairman of the fish fry project is Mrs. Willard Bowman who is being assisted by Lon Dickerson and Mrs. Marion Breed.

Danger Stalks Night Bicyclists, Chief Cautions

A warning that potential danger surrounds Plymouth children who ride their bikes during hours of darkness was issued this week by the City's assistant chief of police Loren Johnson.

"We've had several complaints recently from motorists who reported they narrowly missed hitting children on bicycles," Johnson said. "The danger is particularly great in the early morning hours or the evening hours."

He warned that bicycles must be equipped with proper headlights and tail-lights to make the bicycle fully visible to motorists during the hours of darkness.

"We would prefer that children, ride their bikes on residential areas," he added. "They must yield the right-of-way to pedestrians, but this is a lot better than running the risk of being struck by an auto."

A portion of the problem, he said, is that parents aren't fully aware of the fact that bicycles must be equipped with lights just as it is required for automobiles.

"There is a standard red tail-light and a white head-light for bicycles," he said.

Fund Officers Studying Headquarters Purchase

Officers of the Plymouth Community Fund, who soon will establish a family service counselling facility here, are studying the possibility of purchasing an existing building in Plymouth to serve as a central headquarters for the Fund and many of its participating agencies.

"A number of our agencies have a definite need for permanent office space and facilities for regular meetings, and we'll need an office for our family service counselling as well," announced Russell Isbister, who recently was elected president of the Fund for 1963.

The whole matter to include the possibilities of housing these agencies in a permanent Community Fund headquarters is being explored," he said.

Officers of the Fund will hear a preliminary report on the matter at a meeting Feb. 14. The study group exploring the building purchase possibility is comprised of Frank Palmer, chairman, and Don Sutherland and Robert Barbour. Barbour is a former Fund president.

The Fund recently appropriated $8,000 with which to establish a family counselling service here, Isbister explained.

A committee has been set up to study further the proposed family service counselling plan. It is comprised of Rev. David T. Davies, Mrs. Marshall North, Mr. Isbister and Mrs. Ruth Eckstein, who is a member of the University of Michigan faculty and is serving as a consultant to the Fund on the counselling proposal.

Any Water Towers? Hillside has a water tower now and may have two. If Hillside doesn't have two, it's possible the Mayflower Hotel may have one of its own. At any rate water towers are making news right now, and after you read this week's "Chips" from the Rock column you may make up your mind to give yours away, too. In case you do decide to, just give us a call and we'll find someone to take it off your hands.

JayCees to Pick Man of Year A three-man committee has been given the task of naming Plymouth's "Young Man of the Year" at the annual Bosses Night Program of the JayCees Monday, Jan. 28, at the Hotel Mayflower.

The man selected will receive the JayCee's Distinguished Service Award. The selection committee is comprised of Russell Isbister, Harold Guenther and Donald Sutherland.

Program chairman is Douglas Blunk. Guest speaker will be Joe Schmidt, captain and defensive line-backer for the Detroit Lions. The event will begin at 7 p.m., with awards scheduled to be presented at 9 p.m.

A number of possible headquarters buildings are being considered, Isbister said.

most of the 45-minute session.

With no significant recent developments on the subject having arisen in recent days, water never once entered the discussion.

Later, however, Mayor Robert Sincok pointed out that the Commission next week will set in motion the gears that will lead to a meeting with local industries over the proposed use of Detroit water here.

Commissioners have planned a "committee-of-the-whole" session for next Monday evening at which time they will lay the groundwork for the meeting with representatives of industry.

"We'll probably establish a tentative date for the meeting with industry," Sincok said Tuesday, "but one of the major points during our committee session next Monday will center on whether or not we have sufficient facts to present to the industrial representatives."

Industrial consumption of City of Plymouth water far outstrips residential use at present, and under the terms of the Detroit proposal most of the local industries will wind up paying far higher water rates if Detroit becomes the City's source.

Willingness of industry to accept this rate hike will be among the many details discussed at the forthcoming meeting between Commissioners and representatives from the industries, it is understood.

"Before we get into the talks with industry, however," added Sincok, "we've got to determine whether we are fully equipped with the essential facts of the matter."

At its meeting last Monday night, the City Commission coped with 11 letters of communication.

On the request of Pilgrim Drawn Steel Division, the City withdrew its stand-by fire protection effective March 31. The firm will utilize Plymouth Township's fire protection in the future.

Commissioners agreed to levy no charge on Salem Township for an extra 32 refuse permits issued by the neighboring community per-

Commission Seeks Date On Industry-Water Talk

While matters pertaining to the Detroit water proposal and the new 3-million-gallon water reservoir stayed on the sidelines here Monday night, City Commissioners sped through a busy — yet ordinary — agenda during their regular meeting.

A stack of routine communications, dealing with a variety of items ranging from fire protection to signs requested by the local Secretary of State branch office, consumed

THE COUPLES CLUB of Plymouth's First United Presbyterian Church found an evening of outdoor fun last Friday night at "Fletcher's Pond" on Ridge Road. More than 30 people turned out for a skating party hosted by Bunny and Joe Fletcher, of 14230 Ridge Road. Among the most enthusiastic skaters were Mr. and Mrs. James Garber (far left) who did a neat duet on skates for The Mail's photographer. Mean-

While sub-zero temperatures prompted the closing of many public and parochial schools throughout the state Monday, Plymouth's public school system encountered only minor delays in normal operation.

"From a stand-point of temperature, it was the most severe day we've had this year," said School Superintendent Russell Isbister Monday afternoon, "but it didn't hamper our transportation system too badly."

About three buses were delayed, he said. One became stuck in a snow drift in a rural area, but neighbors helped to free the vehicle and the time loss was brief. Isbister said that very few faculty members were delayed in their arrival at classrooms.

The superintendent added that a booster battery was used on some buses to assure a quick start and the few vehicles that wouldn't start readily by that method were towed brief distances to free sluggish engines trapped by frigid oil.

There were no problems with the heating units at any of the public schools here, he said. About 7 a.m. Monday the temperature registered at approximately 1 degree below zero, according to a weather report.

SQUELCH FIRE AT EVANS PRODUCTS

A fork-lift truck caught on fire Friday at Evans Products Co. on Eckles Rd. and firemen from Plymouth Township along with the Evans fire brigade worked jointly to extinguish the flames.

There was minor damage to the fork-lift. The flames started when a short circuit in the electrical wiring of the truck ignited a gasoline line. The incident happened Friday morning.

Plymouthite Named Manager of Seat Belt Making Firm

Named general manager of Auto-Crat Manufacturing Co. in Ypsilanti Township was William A. Leonard, of 287 Arthur St., Plymouth. Leonard has also been appointed a vice-president of the Jim Robbins Co. which recently acquired Auto-Crat Manufacturing.

Auto-Crat becomes a subsidiary of the Robbins company which manufactures various plastic items, primarily automotive parts. Auto-Crat Manufacturing, located at 2850 Tyler Rd., makes auto and aircraft seat belts.

It formerly was owned by B-N Corp. of Los Angeles. Leonard has lived in Plymouth seven years.

Isaac Newton lived 1642-1727.

City Suffers $37,787 In Fire Losses in 1962

City of Plymouth firemen made a total of 191 runs during 1962 and fire losses here during the same span amounted to $37,787, according to figures released this week by Assistant Fire Chief Charles Groth.

Of the 191 runs made by firemen, only 86 were for actual fires and the remainder were described as "special runs." There were 14 dwelling fires in the City during the year.

JayCees Busy With Plans For July 4th Celebration

Already making plans for the 1963 Fourth of July celebration here, Plymouth JayCees met informally Monday night to discuss general aspects of the parade, carnival and beauty show. The meeting was held at the home of member Joe Fletcher on Ridge Rd.

Fletcher, who is in charge of preliminary programming, issued a call for bands and marching units that wish to participate in the event.

He also announced that the JayCees will allocate space on the carnival grounds to any and all community groups who wish to set up booths for the purpose of conducting fund-raising sale projects.

Further information on this aspect, he said, may be obtained by calling Roger Stanley at GL 3-3033 after 6 p.m.

year and 24 auto fires. Grass and brush fires accounted for 18 of the total and other miscellaneous blazes accounted for 26 runs. Four calls were false alarms.

Fire damage during 1962 was far below the record high of $61,755 set in 1961. During that year, two major blazes boosted the damage total to its record peak. One of the fires that caused considerable loss in 1961 was at Evans furniture store on Forest Ave.

Up to last December, fire losses in the City for 1962 had barely exceeded $10,000, but a pair of fires, each of which did heavy damage to apartment buildings on Main Street, sent the total spiraling in the last month of the year.

Hi-Y Will Collect Sheets, Pillowcases This Saturday

About 30 members of the Plymouth Hi-Y Club will conduct a house to house solicitation for white sheets and pillow cases on Saturday, Jan. 26, from 1:30 to 5 p.m. Articles collected will be donated to the Cancer Society.

Pam Perkins, chairman of the service project, asked that anyone who has white sheets or pillowcases to contribute, call her at GL 3-3181.

Begin Face-Lifting On Two Buildings Along Penniman Ave.

Face-lifting on two Penniman Ave buildings, both owned by Perry Richwine, began Monday.

By the middle of March the building at 823 Penniman, occupied by Singer Sewing Machine, and the building at 824 Penniman, former location of Bob's Paint Spot, will display new fronts.

The exterior re-modeling of the two buildings is being handled by local builder Alfred W. Clare.

Although both buildings will reflect a colonial-type architecture, they will differ slightly in appearance.

The one at 823 Penniman, located next to Schrader's Home Furnishing's, will carry out Schrader's design, featuring painted gray brick with white trim.

The vacant building at 824 Penniman, semi-colonial in design, will be basically white brick with gray trim. Stone-work will be used on both buildings to give "added interest," Clare said.

Girl Scouts Meet

Intermediate Girl Scout troop 500 held their annual family pot luck supper Jan. 15, at the Plymouth Girl Scout lodge with 74 people in attendance. The troop consists of 17 girls and 3 leaders.

The evening program was composed of the flag ceremony, court of awards and singing of Girl Scout songs and announcements of future plans of the troop by the leaders Mrs. Arnold Plichta, Mrs. Robert Camp and Mrs. Ed Reed.

CLERK JOSEPH NEAR CONFINED TO HOME

City Clerk Joseph Near, who wears three major hats in the City of Plymouth's maze of administrative departments, is recovering at home this week from a bout with a virus, believed to be influenza.

Although his condition is termed "not serious," Near was unable to attend the City Commission meeting Monday night and had been confined to his home since early in the weekend. He is expected back at work shortly, however.

Township Group Honors Past President Lindsay

Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay was cited last week for outstanding service as he concluded a one-year term of president of the Michigan Township's Association.

A ceremonial banquet honoring out-going and incoming officers of the association was held Thursday evening at the Jack Tar Hotel in Lansing. The banquet marked the conclusion of the 10th annual convention of members of the association.

Replacing Lindsay as president was Casper Uddrick, the supervisor of Bedford Township in Calhoun County (Battle Creek area).

The banquet was attended by more than 1,000 persons all told, including a total of 503 delegates to the convention. The delegates represented 79 of the 83 Michigan counties.

Among the guests was Governor Romney who was introduced to the convention delegates and their wives by Lindsay. Romney pleaded again his case for the proposed new state constitution which the association has come out against.

Lindsay was paid tribute in a special resolution. It reads:

"Be it resolved, that the Michigan Township's Association offers its sincere thanks to past president Roy R. Lindsay for the outstanding leadership and direction given to the association during the past year, and it wishes him every success in his future endeavors."

Among the other Plymouth Township officials who attended were Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes, treasurer; Louis Norman, trustee; C. V. Sparks, trustee, and Mrs. Sparks; Herald Hammil, consulting engineer, and Mrs. Hammil; Earl Demel, legal counsel; and Township Clerk John McEwen.

Total attendance at the event was the largest in the association's history.

Seek $4,500 Locally To Support Achievers

Junior Achievement leaders throughout Southeastern Michigan last week formalized plans for a J.A. fund-raising campaign that has as its ultimate goal the collection of $270,000 to continue the movement's popular teenage-business program.

Individual goal for the immediate Plymouth area has been set at $4,500 and Livonia was fixed at $2,700. The drive is from Jan. 27 to Feb. 21, according to Joseph F. Kerigan, a Chrysler Corp. vice president who has been named chairman of the Southeastern Michigan area campaign.

Plymouth and Livonia are both located within the Southeastern Michigan district. Solicitation will be contained only to business and industrial firms, a spokesman announced.

Plymouthite Edward Sawusch, branch manager of Anchor Coupling Co., Inc. is chairman of the Plymouth division, while Douglas Mullen, personnel director at the Chevrolet Spring & Bumper plant on Eckles Rd., is chairman of the Livonia division.

Arnold Johanson, general manager of Western Electric Co. here, is chairman of the joint Plymouth-Livonia J.A. board of directors.

A kick-off luncheon for leaders of the Plymouth-Livonia aspect of the fund-raising campaign was held last week at the Chevrolet plant on Eckles Rd. It consisted of a luncheon and orientation meeting for various campaign leaders.

More than 70 local participants in the drive attended the event.

There are more than 250 teen-agers participating in the Plymouth J.A. program. They come, not only from Plymouth itself, but from Livonia, Northville and even as far away as Belleville.

Junior Achievement local headquarters are at the Plymouth J.A. center at the corner of Dodge and Main Streets in the building that formerly was the Christian Science Church.

A total of 10 J.A. companies are in operation there currently and are sponsored by Burroughs Corp., Chevrolet Spring & Bumper, Consumers Power Co., Evans Products Co., Ford Motor Co., Michigan Bell Telephone Co., National Bank of Detroit, Western Electric Co., Whitman & Barnes Corp., and Barnes-Gibson-Raymond Division of Associated Spring Corp.

The kick-off luncheon was hosted by Chevrolet Spring & Bumper.

VFW PeeWees Claim Two Handy Victories in Hockey

The Plymouth VFW PeeWees, entered in the Nankin Twp. recreation hockey league, last week posted two easy victories, thus running their win streak to three.

The PeeWees bombed the Nankin Rams, 6-0, behind the three-goal hat-trick by Don Hudson as Dave Palmer scored a pair of goals and Pat Cosgrove got one.

In their other victory of last week the PeeWees dumped Nankin Mills, 8-1, and again at hat-trick paved the way. The three-goal burst this time was by Palmer, while Hudson and Ike Kreig each had a pair of goals, and Cosgrove scored a single tally.

Chuck Wibby was the goalie in each game. Plymouth's T-Birds in the Garden City Bantam division gained a tie and a victory in action last week. The tie was a scoreless deadlock with the Garden City's Red Wings. Tom Elias made 17 saves in the nets for Plymouth.

The T-Birds' win was a 3-1 affair over Wayne as Dennis Shelley (2) and Pete Hickner (1) provided the scoring punch. Elias made 16 saves.

Two victories also were gained last week by the Plymouth Royals in the Garden City midget division. They turned back Ypsilanti, 7-0, as Randy Sharland and Brad Miller each scored twice and Clark Raven, Terry Cosgrove and Gary Wyman each contributed single tallies. Goalie Dave Troutman made five saves.

The Garden City Canadiens bowed later in the week to the Royals by a score of 2-1. Wyman and Jim McKindles accounted for the Plymouth goals as Troutman made 12 saves.

In other action last week in the Garden City hockey leagues, Plymouth's senior team defeated Garden City Bel-Tom Elias made 17 saves in

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Alandt, other local citizens belonging to the Detroit Curling Club are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Danol, of Roosevelt, and Judge and Mrs. James Sexton, of Plymouth.

Former Plymouth Swimming Champion Shown on Television

A Plymouth youth who now is a member of the MSU varsity swimming team was featured Saturday on a filmed television sequence depicting the Spartans dual meet with Iowa.

Dick Gretzinger, a 1960 graduate of Plymouth High, was shown in action as he won the 200-yard individual medley event, one of MSU's few individual victories as the Spartans bowed to a powerful Iowa team.

Gretzinger is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gretzinger, 679 North Harvey St. During his high school days, Dick established several swim marks, many of which still stand. He was picked as an All-American prep swimmer during his senior year on the strength of his performances here.

At Michigan State, Gretzinger is a sophomore and swims regular on the Spartans varsity.

WITH OUR SENIOR CITIZENS

BY ETHEL MILLARD
GL 3-3782

The Senior Citizens Club of Plymouth held their weekly meeting Thursday, Jan. 17 at the Masonic Temple. A large group was in attendance.

As a result of the findings of the planning conference of the newly elected officials which took place at the Bird School the previous Wednesday night, some new ideas and plans for the promotion of the club was suggested and presented to the members by our President Arnold Kehrl for their careful study and consideration so that decisive action may be taken on them at a future business meeting.

The president named the following appointees to serve with him and his fellow officers during 1963: Viz. Walter Becker, Asst. Treas.; Oren Millard, Transportation Manager, Clyde Fisher, Recreation chairman and Ethel Millard, Publicity chairman.

The most of the afternoon was spent playing cards. Light refreshments was served by our hostess and apparently a good time was had by all.

The general opinion is that under the leadership of our capable President and his co-workers the club is headed for another successful year of delightful entertainment and recreational activity. Anyone 60 years or more and resides in Plymouth or Plymouth Township desiring to affiliate themselves with a group of retired people who like to get together once a week to enjoy the fellowship and companionship of each others' company. We invite you to come over, join us and get acquainted. We meet each Thursday at the Masonic Temple at 1 p.m. Come early to make yourself known to Dorothy Wilhelm the receptionist at the door.

SALLY GILLES, senior at Plymouth High School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gilles, of 399 Adams, and her home economics teacher, Mrs. Norman Achinson, re-read the letter Sally received last week informing her that she is PHS's winner in the Betty Crocker "Search for Tomorrow Homemaker Contest." Ten seniors from Plymouth competed in the national competition. Sally's high placing on the objective and essay test entitles her for consideration for the state and national winner, both to be announced at a later date. State winner will receive a $1,000 scholarship to the college of her choice and a trip to New York. National winner will receive a $5,000 scholarship to the college of her choice. Sally plans to enter the home economics school at Michigan State University next fall.

Beyer Drug Stores Here Receive Wide Publicity

Robert Beyer and his three-unit chain of Rexall Drug Stores here are the subject of a feature article in a recent edition of the Drug News Weekly, a publication centering around the drug industry and the drug store business.

It is the third time in three months that Beyer has been headlined in the Drug News Weekly.

The current article stresses the local druggist's independent operation in a suburban community and the methods he credits for his thriving businesses.

The article states: "The fountain business at Beyer's is actually only one of several important factors contributing to the operation's success. Other factors, Mr. Beyer explained, include store size, new item inventory, central warehouse facilities and inventory control, charge accounts, steady advertising and personal services."

Also illustrated in the article is a recent newspaper advertisement that appeared in The Plymouth Mail. Prepared jointly by Beyer and The Mail's advertising director, Donald Golem, the ad is described as "one designed to promote the professional services and sales events at the three Beyer's units."

The article continues: "Implementing his theory that customers like to shop in new and larger drug stores, Mr. Beyer said plans are already going forward to increase the size of his two smaller units — either by moving into larger quarters, or by modernizing."

Beyer is presently having constructed a new store on the north side of Ann Arbor Rd., directly opposite from his other location there.

The newer, larger store is planned for a March 15 opening date. Simultaneously, he will close the other location across the street.

Home, Two Business Firms Burglarized

Police are investigating a rash of recent break-ins in which thieves took a large supply of food-stuffs from a private home and an undetermined amount of money from two business firms.

Some time late last Thursday evening, burglars broke in to the home of Katherine Duncan, 139 East Liberty, and made off with a small plastic bank containing some change. Elsewhere from the house, they took a bag of potatoes, some frozen chicken, five pounds of sugar, an equal amount of apples and some canned foods.

Entry was gained through a back window and then through a rear door, according to the police report.

Over the weekend, Transport Container Inc. on Farmer St. was broken into and an unknown amount of coins were taken from two vending machines. The machines were dismantled in order for the burglars to get at the coin boxes.

Early Jan. 19, burglars broke into Dot's Koffee Kup on Starkweather and took about $38. There, too, vending machines were emptied and some other money, also in change — was stolen.

Dedication Speech of 1941 Sheds More Light on Street Name Issue

Due to the recent interest in names of old roads in Plymouth, The Plymouth Mail is presenting, in full, a talk given by Mrs. Sidney Strong, of 1251 William St., on April 28, 1941, at the dedication of a marker erected at the original site of the old toll gate No. 4 on the old Plank Rd., more easily identified today as the area at the corner of Main St. and Mill St. Information given below by Mrs. Strong, who at the time of the speech had just completed her term as Recent for the Sarah Ann Cochran Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, conflicts, slightly, with information taken from the official 1850 Wayne County Atlas, which appeared recently in the "Chips Off the Rock" column.

Because of this difference of opinion, we thought our readers would enjoy Mrs. Strong's facts, although not completely in agreement with the Atlas, which sheds more light on our community's earlier days.

The D.A.R. marker, dedicated by Mrs. Strong, is the huge stone bearing a tablet on the southwest corner of Main and Mill Sts.

It's a far cry from the days of the Plank Road and the Toll Gate which we have marked roads with wider intersections we have today.

Nobody would want to go back to the days of travel by horse and buggy. However, it would be very interesting to go back and take the ride in imagination from Grand River Ave. to Plymouth over the old Plank Rd. This road, you may remember, followed the present Chicago Boulevard as far as Greenfield to the present Plymouth Road. It is difficult for us to imagine that section of Wayne County without the mushroom growth of small homes which has taken the place of the beautiful well-tiled farms of that day. An old 1850 map shows the farms of the Shattuck family, the Durfees, Riders, Armstrongs, McKinney, Fisher, Kenyon, Otis and even John Strong.

The Plymouth Plank Road was incorporated by the laws of Michigan in 1850. Jonathan Shearer, Henry Fralick, Ebenezer J. Penniman, Henry E. Holbrook, Asa H. Otis, the present Benedict and A. Fisher were commissioners who received subscriptions to capital stock of the Plymouth Plank Road Co. The incorporators were given power to lay out and construct a plank road from Plymouth through Livonia, Redford and Greenfield until it intersected some other plank road leading into Detroit. This was Grand River.

They were given power to issue capital stock of $20,000 in $20 shares with power to increase this to $30,000. This road's charter was to remain in force for a term of sixty years from its passage on March 5, 1850. That would have kept it in force to 1910. Later by the Michigan laws of 1851, the Plymouth Plank Road could lay out and construct a road to Waterford and Northville, then to Novi, and also to lay out a branch of the Plymouth Road from the main route in Plymouth Township to some convenient point in Plymouth Corners—the present corner of Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail. By the Plank Road Act of 1848 there was to be a gate every five miles. The first gate west of Grand River on the Plymouth Plank Road was at Wyoming and Chicago Boulevard—the Asa H. Otis farm was at the southeast corner of this intersection. Mr. Otis acted for the Plymouth Plank Road Company to obtain the Charter and actually built the road. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rowe, who lived for years on Ford Road at Lotz Road, ran the toll gate the first year they were married. Mrs. Rowe is still living and well remembers the funny experiences they had.

The second gate was east of what was called the Coon Tavern just west of the Rouge and about opposite the Hough Park swimming pool. The third gate was at Beech Road near the Fisher farm and the fourth this one here at the intersection of Plymouth Road and Mill Street. The fifth was on farther at Seven Mile and the Plymouth-Northville Rd.

This gate was on property belonging to D.L. Cady. It was a real gate which had to be opened for passage and was not covered. The gate at the sidewalk fastened to the house, and to a post and the wider one was across the road.

It cost one cent to go to the Hardenburg mill which we have known as the Wilcox Mill, the present Wilcox-Ford plant. The cost for the original horse and buggy to Northville was 10 cents, for a team, 20 cents. The regular rate was 1/2 cent a mile for each horse. By stage it cost $3.00 to go to Detroit. There were from six to eight four-horse stages passing through the village daily, many of them going on to Ann Arbor.

It has been extremely difficult to gather connected facts concerning the Plank Road. The files of the Free Press, old manuscripts and clippings in the library, old atlases and maps have helped. The many conversations with old residents have been interesting, but not so helpful. The Plank Road Charter was granted ninety-one years ago. A man or woman as old as that remembers vividly things of importance to them, but not dates. Those younger got their information from hearsay. So we know that the road and gate were opened about 1851. Then we have a few facts, mostly unrelated. At one time, around 1870, James H. Smith, ran Toll Gate No. 4. His son was Frazier Smith, known to many of you until his death a short time ago. At another time a man named Colby ran this gate. The last keeper was evidently J. J. Covert. At Merriman Road, at the old Rattenbury farm was at one time a tavern where horses on the stages were changed.

Mrs. Sidney Strong

The original road was surfaced with planks 16 feet long, 12 inches wide and three inches thick. Compared with modern road surfacing, grandfather's methods are interesting. An excavation 4 inches deep and eight inches wide was made in the roadway. Then 4 inch by four inch pine stringers were laid lengthwise and the three inch oak planks were placed on them. When the pine rotted the space would fill with muddy water which splashed the traveler. Later the planks were placed directly on the ground. The planks soon rotted and warped, in some cases becoming so warped that teams could not pass. The roads were kept up to some extent.

During the existence of the Plank Road the company evidently ran into financial difficulties. Mr. James H. Frazier seems to have managed it for the company in the 60's. He collected the tolls, paid himself $2.00 a day and used the rest to pay off indebtedness. After the Civil War, Mr. Frazier employed war veterans in keeping up the road.

In 1868 when the Detroit Lansing and Northern Railroad came through, the decline in the use of the plank road and the toll gate began. One could come from Detroit by railroad for 50 cents while it cost $3.00 by stage. Finally in January, 1872, gravel began to replace the planks which had rotted in the mud. The estimated cost of gravel per half mile was $175.

By an act of the legislature of 1873, the corporation was granted the right to sell to any township through which the road might run the road rights and franchises, and the Plank Road was to be released from all liability when sold.

You can see that my information has been difficult to fit together. I have given you all I could find. The dates on the marker are as near as we could get to complete accuracy. If I find it not surprising when I remember the opening of the Plymouth Road pavement. I have a very vivid memory of the ceremonies of that day, but no remembrance of a definite date. Many of you will remember the old D.U.R. and its discontinuance, but I doubt if many have any idea of its date.

The plaque to me marks an era. The pioneers had progressed from mud roads to the hard planks, uneven as they were, and these men deserve our admiration for their effort to make travel easier. The tolls were to that road what our gasoline taxes are to the present day concrete roads. Who knows but that some time our descendants may place a marker on this corner indicating that the Plymouth Road was the first concrete highway leading directly from Plymouth to Detroit, the next improvement over the gravel which replaced the planks which we have told about today.

Plymouth Women Will March Next Tuesday

Two hundred women will stage their annual march for Dimes next Tuesday in Plymouth City and Township in the 25th Anniversary March of Dimes Mothers' March.

"All of the volunteers in the March of Dimes Mothers' March know how important the job is, even though it will take only about an hour," Mrs. Joseph Wittwer, general chairman for the Plymouth area Mothers' March said.

"Every woman realizes that her efforts will help people to 'Give for the Life of a Child.'" The March will be held in the daytime in Plymouth Township while mothers in the City will go from house to house from 7 to 8 P.M. The volunteers expect to call at every home whether City porchlights are burning or not. For the convenience and safety of workers, however, it is urged that porchlights be turned on.

The Mothers' Marchers from this area will be joining with two million volunteer women all over America asking support for the March of Dimes fight against the crippling diseases of Birth Defects, Arthritis and Polio, as well as support for the new Salk Institute for Biological Studies.

The traditional Mothers' March is the most productive, important activity climaxing the annual March of Dimes campaign. It is considered the greatest organized effort for fighting crippling disease ever put forth by American women.

The volunteer Marching Mothers' who bring a cold, winter weather will be wearing the Golden Key of Hope—symbolizing the hope that exists for victims of birth defects.

buying them early." Mrs. Root explained. "And then they wind up waiting in long lines during the last few days before the Feb. 28 deadline."

There is no waiting at the present, she added. She reminded, too, that all trailers weighing more than 450 pounds must be re-weighted this year and that trucks must be re-weighted as well.

New registration forms are currently available at numerous service stations here and at National Bank of Detroit, First Federal Savings, Detroit Bank & Trust and at the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union, she said.

To pass or not to pass — that is the question when painted traffic lines are obliterated by slush or snow. One good rule to follow, according to the Institute for Safer Living, is to pass as little as possible when roads are in this condition. If you must pass be sure that you have extra clearance ahead, and do not pass on hills or curves.

NATIONAL JAYCEE WEEK

A Salute to the Young Men of Our Community — The Junior Chamber of Commerce

There are many community minded organizations in progressive Plymouth. Prominent among them is the Junior Chamber of Commerce "Jaycees", young men devoted to leadership training through civic improvement.

THE JAYCEE STORY

Dedicated to civic betterment, the Plymouth Jaycees for many years have bolstered our community through an ever-increasing program of activities and events.

Jaycee projects have included: broom sales for the blind, Wayne County Training School Christmas Shopping Tour, Summer Dances, B B Gun shoot, Get Out To Vote Campaign, Doll Safety Kit (which was handled through the schools), Jaycee sponsored Town Hall Meetings, lighting prizes for Christmas decorations in the Plymouth Community, City Golf Tournament, Teenage Rodeo, Junior Bowling, Junior Golf, Junior Hockey, Junior Tennis, and more recently the Plymouth Community Welcome Signs, and the successful Fourth of July activities.

Simultaneously, the Jaycees provide an important outlet for young men (under the age of 35) to participate in, and lend their talents to, their community's needs in a highly productive manner. It is as much through the Jaycees, from its beginning in room 32 of the Hotel Mayflower, as any service club or fraternal organization that Plymouth gained the vital and intelligent leadership to carry it steadily forward and to enable it to grow and prosper.

Plymouth salutes its Jaycees.

January 21 Thru January 27 is ---

NATIONAL JAYCEE WEEK!

A YOUNG MAN OWES:

A DEBT OF GRATITUDE TO THE CITY WHICH PROVIDES HIM A HOME AND THE PRIVILEGE OF CITIZENSHIP. THROUGH THE JAYCEES YOUNG MEN ARE GIVEN THE OPPORTUNITY TO DO THEIR SHARE IN CIVIL SERVICES.

THE JAYCEE OBJECTIVES:

TO MAKE PLYMOUTH A BETTER PLACE IN WHICH TO LIVE. DEVELOP LEADERSHIP AMONG ITS OWN MEMBERSHIP. GIVE YOUNG MEN A VOICE IN AFFAIRS OF THEIR COMMUNITY, STATE AND NATION.

WHO CAN JOIN THE JAYCEES:

ALL YOUNG MEN IN THE PLYMOUTH AREA BETWEEN THE AGES OF 21 AND 35 ARE INVITED TO JOIN THE JAYCEES . . . THIS IS YOUR COMMUNITY . . . YOUR ORGANIZATION.

WHAT ABOUT JAYCEE DUES?

JAYCEE DUES ARE $12.00 PER YEAR, PAYABLE QUARTERLY, SEMI-ANNUALLY, OR ANNUALLY.

EXPLORING the possibility of locating a U.S. Army reserve center adjacent to the campus of the NW Wayne County Community College, Army representatives last week met with college officials. Here, Lt. Col. Floyd Plowman and Dr. Eric Bradner, college president, discuss the proposal. The Army officials met with Bradner and later viewed the site of the college at Seven Mile and Haggerty Rds. No decision on the ultimate location of the reserve center is expected for several months.

mitting dumping in the City-maintained refuse site there.

They agreed to charge the New Building Service $1,644 for extra inspection fees pertaining to the installation of a sanitary sewer near Burroughs Corp. The additional inspection work was performed by engineer Herald Hammill.

The Michigan Cancer Foundation was given permission to conduct a fact-finding survey within the Plymouth community in April. There will be no fund-raising efforts in conjunction with the educational study.

Commissioners accepted a check for $800 from the Chamber of Commerce Christmas committee. It will go toward defraying the cost of recent Christmas decorations.

The Commission also directed City Manager Albert Glassford to investigate the crisis involved in re-locating three City-owned water lines that are positioned within bridges on Northville Rd.

The bridges will be widened this summer by Wayne County workmen. Glassford will report back to the Commission on the advisability of having the job contracted out or undertaken by the DPW department.

Commissioners also granted permission to the Plymouth branch of the Secretary of State to put up signs at four points giving directions to the license bureau at 181 West Twenty St.

In other action, the Commission:

Entered into a lease-purchase agreement involving a diesel-operated "backhoe" digging machine for use in Urban Renewal clearance work.

Received a report from Glassford pertaining to the City's responsibility in repair of sidewalks here that are damaged by tree roots or other activity related to City efforts and agreed that the City should bear the cost of any repairs when responsibility is definitely on the City.

Passed the second and third readings of an ordinance amendment in which property on Coolidge between Jasper and Maple was rezoned so as to accommodate a proposed apartment building there.

Authorized the City Manager to issue a call for bids on the paving of the industrial drive off Plymouth Rd., the installation of a culvert on Harding St., and the installation of a 30-inch sanitary sewer from Byron to the Crestwood apartments.

Agreed to transfer $1,500 from unappropriated reserves to the City's snow removal account and to transfer the remainder of the City's sign account from the police budget to the public works budget.

Public Hearing Set On Zoning Revision

City Commission has set Feb. 18, at 8 p.m., as the date and time for a public hearing on a proposed zoning ordinance amendment regarding the abolishment of "closed storage" in M-1 zoning districts.

The action followed a recommendation from the City's planning commission recently.

At present, M-1 zoned areas require that all storage be of the closed variety. The amendment proposes that the "closed storage" requirement be dropped and that greenbelts be used to conceal any unsightly storage areas.

It's A Fact

When unusual situations or crises render common currency useless, people tend to fall back on the age-old habit of bartering. History shows that coffee has often been an item of barter. Our early American pioneers frequently used coffee to clinch deals for blankets or beautiful skins brought to the trading posts by the Indians. During the Civil War when coffee was scarce, ten pounds bought 200 bushels of corn.

And in Texas, a cattle-farming family named Pruitt exchanged a pound of precious coffee for a longhorn heifer named Pecos.

Until the 1700's, most English physicians regarded coffee mainly as a medicine, but an earlier British doctor foresaw coffee's future, not in the medical kit but on the dining table. Doctor William Harvey, who discovered the circulation of the blood, left a legacy of coffee when he died in 1657. With the statement, "This little bean is the source of happiness and wit!" he bequeathed fifty-six pounds of coffee to the London College of Physicians, directing that his friends gather once a month to drink coffee in his memory.

IT'S ANOTHER BOY

DISCUSSING plans for the upcoming Rosary Society membership tea, to be held Wednesday, Feb. 6, in Our Lady of Good Counsel Hall, are Mrs. Clarence Alandt, of W. Ann Arbor Tr., president of the Rosary Society; Mrs. Joseph Brisbois, of Irvin St., chairman; and Mrs. Robert DuBach, of Kellogg St., co-chairman.

Rosary Society Plans Membership Drive Tea

Plans are well on their way toward finalization for "Tea and Tempo," annual membership tea sponsored by the Rosary Society.

The tea will be held Wednesday evening, Feb. 6, in Our Lady of Good Counsel Hall.

Assisting Mrs. Joseph Brisbois, of Irvin St., chairman, and Mrs. Robert DuBach, of Kellogg St., co-chairman, for the tea will be Mrs. Sam Newingham, hospital chairman; Mrs. Al Miller, refreshment chairman; Mrs. Ronald Nyman, decorations chairman; Mrs. Vina Galloway, table decorations; Mrs. John Broderick, program chairman; and Mrs. James J. Kearns, publicity chairman.

In addition to making plans for the tea, members of the Rosary Society elected new officers at their January meeting. Elected were Mrs. Clarence Alandt, of W. Ann Arbor Rd., president; Mrs. John Broderick, of Arthur, first vice president; Mrs. Walter Harris, of Phoenix, second vice president; Mrs. Robert Hess, of Arthur, secretary; and Mrs. Richard Doherty, treasurer.

Henry Ford Community College, Dearborn, now has an official mascot insignia, thanks to Nancy Mettetal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mettetal, of 8820 Marlowe, Plymouth.

Miss Mettetal, a 1962 graduate of Plymouth High School, and freshman at HFCC where she is majoring in art, was asked to design the school's first official mascot insignia by Dean Venk, of the school's art department.

At one time a Dearborn merchant made use of a hawk design, but it was never officially adopted by the school. The new design will now adorn book covers, sweat-shirts, mugs, etc. In addition, Miss Mettetal said plans are now being made for a new school emblem.

While at Plymouth High School, Miss Mettetal was

The first of the year Robert was made rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, Brooklyn in the Irish Hills. Sumner was accompanied by his brother Allan E. of Birmingham. Rev. Willoughby is the son of Plymouth shoe store owner Robert Willoughby.

Merritt's Say "Hasta la Vista" To Mexican "Daughter" Liliana

Come this Saturday, Jan. 26, the freshman class at Junior High-East will be minus one member when thirteen-year-old Liliana Abud returns to her home in Cd. Valles, Mexico.

An exchange student under the Youth for Understanding Teenage Exchange Program, Liliana has been living with the Joe Merritt family in their home at 6625 Napier Rd. since the end of November.

Although the last couple of months have been a wonderful experience for every member of the Merritt family—the Merritts have three daughters, Nancy, a ninth grader at Junior High-East; Jodi, a kindergartner at Lapham Country School; and a four-year-old Krista; and a 17-month-old son, Dirk—things have been a little hectic, Mrs. Merritt said.

When Liliana arrived she could speak no English, or at the most very, very little, even though she had had a smattering of English prior to her arrival. Fortunately, Mr. Merritt speaks Spanish fluently and has acted as interpreter. In the interim, Liliana has learned a little English and the Merritt children have learned a little Spanish. Jodi and Krista have picked up quite a few words and sprinkle them frequently in their conversation.

Nancy, too, has benefited from Liliana's visit, as each night after completing homework for her Spanish class, Liliana double checks it for errors.

During her last week in the U.S., Liliana, is squeezing in as much skating, sledding, and skiing as she can. These sports were all new to her when she arrived and she took an immediate liking to them, Mrs. Merritt said.

Like any tourist in a foreign country, Liliana's suitcase will be much heavier when she leaves than it was when she arrived. She has been buying clothes for herself and gifts for her family ever since she arrived, Mrs. Merritt said.

As a matter of fact, from the look of things, it seems as though she has enough gifts for "everyone in Mexico," she added.

Liliana's departure Saturday will not mean the end of an association with a girl from a foreign country for the Merritts. "For the past five years, under the Foster Parents Plan, the Merritts have helped support a girl from the Philippine Islands. They tried to legally adopt the girl and bring her to the United States; a few years ago, but the girl's mother would not give her consent.

2 Plymouthites from WMU Complete Student Teaching

Two Plymouthites, Donald Alsbro, son of Mrs. Alice Alsbro, 999 Penniman and Betsy Edgar, daughter of Mr. William J. Edgar, 12350 Ridge, are nearing completion of their semester-long directed teaching experience as students in the School of Education at Western Michigan University.

Dr. A. L. Sebaly, director of student teachings, says that this experience is essential to students and faculty in determining whether students are qualified to embark upon their teaching careers. At the same time as they are in the classroom, they are also taking university classes which aid them in evaluating their experiences.

Donald is teaching economics, physical education and coaching at Plainwell, Michigan. Betsy is teaching music in the Portage Township schools.

Woman's Club To Review Past Century Fashion

Goodwill Industries' "Fads and Fancies", a light fantasy which takes its audience through the past century of women's fashions, will be presented on Friday, Feb. 1, at the Masonic Temple at 1:30 p.m. by the Plymouth Woman's Club.

Mrs. Marshall North is president of the club, with Mrs. Larry Becker, in charge of arrangements.

The show, which opened its current season with a performance at Michigan State Fair on Old Timers' Day, boasts what is probably the longest run in Detroit's theatrical history, with eight years of packed audiences behind it and bookings into December, 1964.

Each dress, each prop, each trinket has come out of the Goodwill bag and has been rejuvenated by Goodwill's handicapped men and women. The dresses depict styles from Lincoln's day to the present, exhibited through a simple but intriguing format. The grandmother turns the pages of the old family album with her granddaughter. The pictures come to life when the models step through a large picture frame. Appropriate period music sets the mood.

The models, all volunteers, cheerfully give their time to the show which has introduced Goodwill Industries and its service to the handicapped to 50,000 people during the past eight years.

In 1954, Mrs. Helen M. Kopka, promotion director of Goodwill Industries, got the idea that the beautiful old-time costumes that occasionally come in the Goodwill bag could be used to best advantage if they were modeled in a fashion show. She wrote the script, produced the show, and narrates every performance. It has proved to be the most interesting promotional activity in the Goodwill program, and the greatest in demand.

Mrs. William Clarke is acting Tea Chairman and assisting her will be: Mrs. George Burr, Mrs. Samuel Dibble, Mrs. Jo A. Graves, Mrs. Clayton Koch, Mrs. Mark Wehmeyer, and Mrs. Lauren Wells.

Gourmet Club Menu Features Roast Pig

ADMIRING the about-to-be eaten barbecued suckling pig, prepared by them, are left to right, Don Hay, of Morrison; William Fehlig, of Adams; Robert Erdelyi, of Rocker, and Ed Bender, of Portis St.

Last Saturday evening's blizzard, treacherous to most of us, turned out to be the perfect setting for the unique dinner, prepared, and enjoyed, by members of the Plymouth Gourmet Club.

Main feature of the menu was roasted suckling pig, complemented by corn pudding, spoon bread, rainbow jello salad, cinnamon apple sauce and baked potatoes with sour cream dressing.

While the wives of Don Hay, of Morrison; William Fehlig, of Adams; Robert Erdelyi, of Rocker, and Ed Bender, of Portis St., spent the day shopping, the husbands prepared the meal.

The pig was placed on a specially made barbecue spit, designed and built by Don Hay and Ed Bender, at 9:30 in the morning, marking the beginning of the day-long preparations. The entire menu

THE JOE MERRITT family, of 6625 Napier Rd., gather around thirteen-year-old Liliana Abud, exchange student who has been living with them for the past two months, for a final Spanish

Theatre Guild Ready to Start Initial Work on "Mousetrap"

Now that the holidays are over and activities have slowed down to an even pace, the Plymouth Theatre Guild is getting ready and making plans for the next production, "The Mouse Trap," by Agatha Christie—the same writer that did such a marvelous job on "Witness for the Prosecution." This is the first dramatic show that the Guild has done for some time. "The Mouse Trap" was selected over several other well known plays because there is such a wide range of characters to portray that it will give everyone a chance to act that wants to, and also it will be a show most enjoyable to watch.

"The Mouse Trap" has the reputation of having run longer than any other straight dramatic show in the history of London Theatre. If you do not plan to work on this show, be sure to see this show on April 25, 26, and 27.

At the present time, The Plymouth Theatre Guild is trying to select the right person to direct "The Mouse Trap". If there is anyone you know that is desirous to direct, and capable please have them contact or call the President, Merlin Heft, at 422-3006 and make this known to the Guild.

There are also several other openings on the production staff, which require less talent, and others that require no talent at all—just the willingness to work. If you are interested, call the President and he will see that the right people get your name.

Tryouts for "The Mouse Trap" have not been scheduled, but be sure to keep in touch so you don't miss them. The tryouts are open to all that read and no parts have been pre-cast. There are several good parts in this play. Some parts require experience, others require no experience—so everyone is invited to come and tryout.

Receives Degree

Florence E. Panghorn of Plymouth was awarded a Bachelor of Arts degree in Secondary Education and Social Science, January 20, at mid-year commencement exercises at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant. Approximately 275 candidates received their degrees and certificates.

Allen Extension Meets Jan. 28

The January meeting of the Allen Extension Group will be held on Jan. 28 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Walter Sousa, 41254 Greenbrier Lane.

The lesson topic will be "More Time for Living."

TREASURES FROM Plymouth Pantries

MRS. TERRY WEST

From the kitchen of Mrs. Terry West, 9414 Rocker, comes this recipe for Suet Pudding, which Mrs. West says her family "just couldn't go without during the holidays."

The recipe has been in the family for as long as Mrs. West can remember and it originated with her grandmother. "Nobody has ever tried it that hasn't liked it.

It's very good and very easy," she says.

The busy mother of two young sons, Stevie, three months and Victor, 17 months, Mrs. West still finds time for club activities.

She is presently vice-president of the Jayceettes, the women's auxiliary of the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce and is a member of the Young Women's Circle of the First Methodist church.

In her free time she enjoys playing cards, bowling, swimming, knitting and sewing.

SUET PUDDING

Grind together:

- 1 cup of Suet
 - 1 cup of Dates
 - 1 cup of Nuts
- Measure:
- 2 cups of Flour
 - 1 cup of Sugar
 - 1 teaspoon soda
 - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1 teaspoon nutmeg
 - 1/2 teaspoon cloves
 - 1 cup of sour milk

Combine dry ingredients and add ground ingredients with the sour milk. Mix well. Put into a covered pan and steam for two to three hours (first on high and then to low). Pudding will rise and become a rich brown. Serve pudding hot with a tart lemon sauce.

This is a good dessert to serve in the holiday and winter months and can be prepared well ahead of time and stored in the refrigerator. Just steam to reheat.

Familiar Faces

A familiar face in the office of Township Engineer Herald F. Hammill's office is that of Mrs. Erma McLean, who has been Mr. Hammill's secretary and bookkeeper for 20 years now.

Moving from Saginaw 25 years ago, Mrs. McLean settled at 9449 Oakview, Plymouth. An active member in civic affairs, she is a member of the Navy Mothers' Club and is the club's V.A.V.S. representative of this area. On Sunday mornings she goes to the Veteran's Hospital in Ann Arbor to help escort ambulatory cases to the chapel. Other activities include membership in the Memorial Board and in Civil Defense.

"I collect everything," Mrs. McLean said. One of her favorite hobbies is collecting music boxes and bears, of which she has a total of 175, including stuffed, pottery and even lamps. She has 15 or 16 music boxes and one of the first Edison Phonographs.

Mrs. McLean describes herself as a "rock hound" too. Presently she is taking a course in lapidary at the local Hobby-Novelties shop learning to make jewelry. "I try to take a course in some new field every year," she explained.

Another yearly project of Mrs. McLean's is a trip "I've been to every state except the New England states, including Hawaii and Alaska." Last summer she drove to Fairbanks for a two week's visit with her sister.

She enjoys both music and art and has four paintings by Rembrandt, her favorite. At present Mrs. McLean is reading everything she can get her hands on concerning Mexico and Hawaii.

Mrs. McLean's two sons and their families live in the area. Paul lives on Southworth in Plymouth and James lives in Wayne. She has four grandchildren.

MRS. ERMA McLEAN

Art Around Us:

by Mrs. Jessie Hudson

Ann Arbor is full of art, as befits a university town, but it takes a great deal of perseverance to see it.

There is, for instance, the University Art Museum, in the Alumni Memorial Hall right across State Street from the Michigan Union. The building sits back on its somber pillars, squat, uninviting, grey. The front door, a massive relic of wrought iron, guards the entrance as if to some sacred tomb. It takes a mighty muscle to pry open this resistant seal, and a nimble foot to escape its rushing closure. The entrance hall, is indeed, a tomb, commemorating the glorious dead alumni, presumably the donors who created this mausoleum to their immortality.

Past this forbidding narthex the twentieth century begins to take over. Banks of pierced metal partitions form a maze for special exhibits. "Islamic Art" occupies part of this complex as of now, the rest blank, in preparation for the next attraction. A floating, and rather fearsome, metal staircase soars off to the right, forms a floating bridge, then leads to the safety of the second floor, which is divided into several wings.

The current, special, attraction in the south wing presents examples of drawings, prints and crafts of a period known as "Art Nouveau" a spasm in the History of Art more kindly forgotten. A valuable collection of rare medieval and Asiatic relics is permanently ensconced in one end of the largest wing. The other end of this gallery is occupied by a loan exhibit from private galleries in New York City. Here are modern drawings and small water colors by today's artists, names mostly unknown as yet, but apparently on their way. The most interesting of these are some charcoal paintings which display unsuspected versatility in this somewhat limited medium. And always worth the effort is the permanent collection of modern masters, new accessions a welcome surprise, plus the small collection of good sculpture by such favorites as Flannagan, Moore, an reluctant to let intruders in Lipschitz. The large gallery is presided over by a hissing dragon, modern style; a steam-emitting air-conditioner which adds moisture to the air (in Michigan?) for the preservation of the treasures displayed therein.

Descending, again, into the memorial hall, prepared to do battle with the formidable front door, one feels like lighting a votive candle, putting a donation in the poor box and praying that some day the dear dead donors will have their portraits removed to some special sanctuary, the ceiling festooned with proper lighting and maybe even some mobiles, the walls overed with some bright, light-reflecting substance, and some good, bright, up-to-date art... an excellent spot for the permanent floating art collection.

The next ranking citadel of art in Ann Arbor, the Forsythe Gallery is located in the Nickels Arcade, a drafty, dreary, vaulted passageway between State Street and Maynard. Not far from the Maynard end, up a wide, uneven, inhospitable stairway, is the barn-like expanse of the gallery. It takes a display of powerful art to overcome the entrance and the atmosphere, but fortunately the Forsythe Gallery partners have consistently good taste in exhibits. The current show, though not exactly powerful, is bright, warm and friendly. Mr. Calkins' water-colors, oils and acrylics bear up well after this second, look minus the crowds of opening night, and Mr. Pappas' small, intricate bronze-castings are intriguing.

The Ann Arbor Public Library on Fifth Street also harbors art. Winding through the maze of one-way streets in this part of the city one finds a convenient parking area, a rare treasure indeed in this crowded town, behind the library or in the next door municipal parking lot. The exhibits of art by members of the Ann Arbor Art Association are hung in a downstairs meeting room. The current show, "A Report on Subject Matter" features the work of eight women painters, Patricia Altin,

Helen Cohen, Alice Crawford, Barbara Dorr, Arlene Johnson, Mary Tupper, Ellen Wilt all of Ann Arbor and Catherine Hartley of the Hartley-Powers Gallery in Northville. Unlike the Forsythe, or even the Museum of Art itself, the hours here make it very convenient for viewers, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day except Sunday. The Forsythe closes awkwardly at 4 o'clock during the week and at 1 o'clock on Saturdays. The Museum is open from 9 to 5, but is open one evening, Wednesday from 7 to 10 and on Sunday from 2 to 5.

Around the corner from the public library on E. Washington Street towards Fourth Street, is the newest in galleries, a cooperative venture, financed and manned by the artists themselves. Housed in a former sporting-goods store, across from Metzger's

German Restaurant, put together with a minimum of expense and a maximum of ingenuity and vision this attractive shop plans monthly shows of its member artists. The current exhibit is bright, colorful, and the paintings reasonably priced. A new member, Mrs. Richard Wilt, shows to good advantage in this current show. The hours, too, are convenient, every day from 12 to 9, excepting

Sunday, of course. A survey of art in the Ann Arbor area could not neglect The Artisan-shop on South University near The Campus Theatre. Featuring crafts rather than paintings this is an oasis, in a mass-produced world, of beautifully designed hand-crafted wares, by local artists and imported from all over the world.

City Is Pace-Setter In Governing Method

While the City of Plymouth, Mich., may not be as widely known as some would prefer, its method of government is becoming near-universal, it appears.

Not that the City originated the "council-manager" form of local government, but it was among the earlier municipalities to adopt it, City officials have revealed.

City of Plymouth switched to the council-manager method during World War I days when Plymouth was still a village. To be exact, the City converted to the council-manager set-up in 1918, and the same form of governing had been established only 10 years before.

The governing method here, however, could be better defined as "commission-manager," since the City terms its elected governing body a "commission" instead of a "council." It is the identical method, though, City of Plymouth elects a seven-member commission from its qualified residents. This body, then, names one of its members to a two-year term as mayor.

In the meantime, an appointed administrative head — or city manager — is a continuing function, subject only to the approval of the commission members. Albert Glassford is manager.

He handed out a news release last week describing the "rapid growth of the council-manager form of local government during 1962."

The release stated that 93 additional communities in the United States and Canada adopted the council-manager plan during the past year.

The method is now used by 1,891 communities in North America and is the most popular form of local government in cities of 25,000 to 250,000, the news release said.

More than half of the cities in this population group employ the council-manager system according to the 1963 Directory of Council Manager Cities, soon to be published by the International City Managers Association.

While City of Plymouth does not approach the 25,000 population mark, it still has advocated the council-manager method from its earliest days of complex growth and technical problems, dating back to World War I.

When Plymouth was incorporated as a City in 1932, the council-manager method was continued, of course.

Prior to 1918, Plymouth

1st City Manager Here Now "Dean" of Them All

L. P. "Perry" Cookingham, first manager of the City of Plymouth after it was incorporated in 1932, is described as the "Dean of American City Managers" in the current issue of Mayor and Manager magazine, a publication pertaining to municipal management.

Cookingham, still well-remembered by many older Plymouthites, was City Manager here from May, 1932, to January, 1935, and today is manager of Fort Worth, Texas.

He is the subject of an article entitled

"Profile" in the Mayor and Manager January Issue.

At 67, Cookingham can reflect on a lengthy and productive career as a City and municipal manager. He currently is completing the second one-year extension past his otherwise mandatory retirement at 65, under special action by the Fort Worth City Councilmen.

One of the most significant aspects in his lengthy career is his 19-year tour of duty at Kansas City, Mo., where he was the manager. Since leaving there in 1959, nine managers have come and gone in the intervening three-year period.

It is clear testimony to Cookingham's depth of ability that he could remain 19 years in a position that nine other men have attempted to fill in a brief three-year span.

After a stint in the Army during World War I, Cookingham literally flipped a coin to decide on taking a job in the engineering department at Flint.

From there he moved to village manager of Clawson and then came his three-year stay here. In Plymouth, he was both city manager and head of a county relief program to combat the effects of the depression.

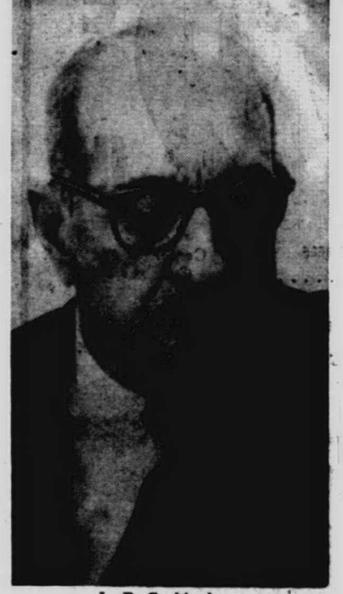

From Plymouth he moved to Saginaw and in 1940 he was offered the city manager's job in Kansas City. In 1959, after resigning at Kansas City, Cookingham was practically hired on the spot by Fort Worth. A quotation in the magazine article attributed to a Fort Worth civic leader says, in part:

"Fort Worth... is a growing Texas city with ambitious building plans. And Cookingham is the man for a big building job."

Already, in the brief time he's been in Fort Worth, Cookingham's accomplishments are long enough to fill several columns of the magazine.

As the article concludes, it says: "The Cookingham school of managers (referring to the method by which he has regularly trained other qualified men for city manager jobs) will be in evidence long after the 'Dean of American City Managers' has retired."

And Plymouth remembers Cookingham well, from a distant, depression-ridden past.

utilized the ordinary village form of government. It was comprised of a board of Trustees, which was headed by a village president.

However, in 1917 residents — by popular vote — confirmed the use of a "village-manager" and the first one was hired the following year. The ultimate governing body, however, for the next 14 Board of Trustees.

In 1932, Plymouth was incorporated as a City and the governing body became a "commission," which in turn elected the City's mayor.

One of Plymouth's earliest city managers was Sidney Strong, well-known still for his active participation in appointed municipal posts. Strong lives at 1251 Williams.

But the first manager was a man by the name of Gilbert Brown, who had been a project superintendent for a large Detroit construction firm. He was originally from Plymouth and had a brother who at one time was postmaster here.

Strong came on the scene in 1920 and held the post seven years. A Detroit, whom Strong could not immediately recall by name, followed briefly and then came Adolph Koegel.

Perry Cookingham held the job during the depression years. Clarence Elliott and Harold Cheek preceded Glassford who arrived here in the late 1940's.

Strong recalled that the election approving Plymouth's adoption of the council-manager system was conducted in 1917.

But he said that the "red tape" involved in administering the charter amendment immediately following the election delayed the hiring of the first manager by one year.

The Council-manager form of government was actually started in 1908 when the council of Staunton, Virginia, appointed a manager.

Four years later, Sumter, South Carolina, became the first city in which the plan was adopted by a vote of the people just as it was done a few years later by the residents of the village of Plymouth.

During 1962, seven Michigan communities adopted the council-manager plan. Pennsylvania, however, led in this department with 11 communities that made the switch. North Carolina had 10 and California and Texas also reported seven new council-manager municipalities along with Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Erwin of Hanford Rd. spent Thursday, Jan. 17 at Farwell, Mich. where they had gone to attend the funeral of Mr. Erwin's uncle, Mr. Geo. Erwin, and while in the area visited their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lyle of Evart, Mich.; and Mr. Erwin's sister, Mrs. Earl Snider of Reed City, Mich.; and another sister, Mrs. Raymond Scott of Lake, Mich. They brought Mrs. Scott back with them for a visit with relatives.

The Kenyon Extension Group met Thursday, Jan. 17th at the home of Mrs. Homer Benoit on Carlton Center Rd. Those attending were Mrs. Magraw, Mrs. Waldecker, Mrs. Neimi, Mrs. Givan, Mrs. Barkley, Mrs. Wendel, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Block, Mrs. Steiner, Mrs. Schroeder, and Mrs. Allen. After a delicious dessert at 12:30 P.M., the lesson, "Take time for Living" was presented by Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Schroeder.

Mr. Ward Dickerson of Palmer Rd. who is Chairman of Canton Township's Mother's March of Dimes reminds her workers that the drive ends Jan. 29, and all money collected should be turned in to her by that time. They have Dime Boards and Coin Collectors in Stores and Bars. This is to raise money to help prevent crippling diseases, birth defects, polio, arthritis, and The Salk Institute. OF INTEREST TO FARMERS-AT-HEART

By MELVIN L. WISL, Mgr. INFORMATION DIVISION MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

This is the story of Armando Sanchez Toledo. It is a story typical of thousands of Mexican Nationals, "Braceros," the farm laborers who work out the seasons in the great fields of California, the Southwest and Midwest.

Armando, or someone like him, is frequently found picking Michigan cucumbers, or hoeing sugar beets. This season, Armando worked in the California tomato fields. Now, his job done for the season, he prepares to go back to Mexico. With him will go many new possessions, among them considerable clothing, a steam iron, a clock-radio and a treadle sewing machine. Included, too, will be about 50 per cent of the wages he has earned here.

Most of all, by his own admission, he is taking home a new respect for himself, for the United States and American farmers.

Since last Spring, Armando has made up to $25. per day, working long hours at "stoop" labor that local American farm workers refuse to do at any price according to an official of the State of California Farm Labor Placement Service.

Under terms of Public Law 78, Armando can't go to work anyway unless the quota of domestic labor has been filled. Yet many influential people in Church groups, in labor organizations and in "social welfare" work are greatly disturbed by his presence, and oppose the Mexican National work program on the theory that somehow Armando's presence makes life tougher for domestic workers.

The Department of Labor has in effect, taken the law into its own hands, arbitrarily setting wages and imposing job limitations in some areas. The result has not been more jobs for local people, rather it has meant the elimination of many jobs by stepped-up use of machinery.

The Mexican National program has exchanged the dignity of work for mutual respect and understanding, at a time when Communist and Castro pressure in Latin America is a serious threat. The program is self-supporting. It has been called a "Rural Peace Corps" and in truth, Armando is the best ambassador we could exchange with Mexico.

But he may not be back. The irony is that the same people who want to tear up his ticket are the type that eventually get around to asking Congress to appropriate a billion dollars or so to bail out his government.

Boy Scouts Plan Winter "Camporee" At Bishop Lake

Boy Scouts of the Plymouth area will join other Scouts of the Sunset District in a Winter Camporee at Bishop Lake on Jan. 25, 26, and 27.

The boys will test their winter camping skill and participate in a winter sports and badge familiarization program.

The event, named "Sunset Freeze," is the second winter camporee conducted by the Sunset District.

The District, largest in the Detroit Area Council, includes 75 Boy Scout Troops in Garden City, Inkster, Livonia, Northville, Plymouth, and Wayne. More than 400 boys are expected to attend.

High point of the outing will be a campfire program on Saturday evening at which the coveted "Scouting Spirit" trophy will be awarded to the Troop exemplifying the best collective spirit and cooperation.

General chairman for the event is Harold E. Kendall, Committee Chairman of Plymouth's Troop No. 1533.

Other local men who are also members of the committee planning the event are Clifford Neynaber, Jr., Assistant Scoutmaster of Troop No. 1533 and H. Richard Rice, Committee Chairman of Troop No. 1531.

KIWANIS NOTES

By Ken Way

At the regular Tuesday night meeting of the Plymouth Kiwanis club last week, President, Walt Gempferline outlined the 1963 program, which has as its theme "Responsibility, the Key to Freedom."

The following is a list of committees and their chairmen:

Boys and Girls Work, James Winterhalter; Key Club, Joseph West; Vocational Guidance, Robert Utter; Agriculture and Conservation, Warren Worth; International Relations, Norbert Batterman; Public and Business Affairs, Edward Draugelis;

Support of Churches in their Spiritual Aims, Carlton Lewis; Safety, Charles Latta; Hearing Aid, Neil Davidson; Attendance and Membership, Sam VanBoven;

Finance, Byron Becker; House and Reception, Dale Carmine; Interclub Relations, James Jabara;

Kiwanis Education and Fellowship, Wendel Miller; New Club Building, George Burr; Programs, Jo Graves; Music, Harper Stephens; Public Relations, Kenneth Way; Laws and Regulations, Donald Ward; Special Projects, Marvin Terry; Sports, Edwin Wingard;

Historical, Roy Fisher; Flowers and Anniversaries, Horton Booth; Girl Scout Lodge, William Sempliner; and Past Presidents, Neil Davidson.

Each Kiwanian will have the opportunity of serving on two committees. Kiwanis is an International Service Club, with members in Canada, Mexico and the United States.

Dale Carmine introduced guest speaker Bill Davis to the 72 members present. Les Daniels reminded the group of the Plymouth Community School District's very fine Adult Education Program and encouraged as many as possible to participate.

On Jan. 29, Ed Draugelis, local attorney, will present a citizenship quotient program.

How I Earned My First Dollar

Jerry Van Tassel

Gerald Van Tassel was 11 years old when he earned his first dollar picking beans on a farm in Livonia where a Slatkin residential development stands now near the intersection of Wayne and Plymouth Roads.

He was paid 25 cents per bushel and earned about $1 a day, he recalls now. "I was sort of slow at it, I guess," he said, "because other boys did better than that."

Today, Jerry Van Tassel owns a thriving shoe repair and hobby shop at 585 South Main, where he repairs on an average of 30 to 35 shoes daily and sometimes, during peak times, fixes upwards of 60 pairs a day.

Jerry is 34 and is a 1947 graduate of Plymouth High. He and his wife, Dora, live at 9301 Merriman in Livonia. The farm where he long ago earned his first dollar picking beans belonged to Lawrence Bohl.

"A dollar a day was big money for a boy 11 years old," he reflected. "His next job was as a carrier for The Detroit News in 1941. I had 24 customers and the route was about eight miles long. I earned about $3 or $4 a week."

Although he generally rode a bike when he delivered papers, Jerry often would walk the eight-mile route, too. "I didn't earn as much as Free Press carriers," he said, "because they were paid a little more since those are morning routes."

Van Tassel's next job brought him in touch with the occupation he would follow into later life. He was 13 when he started helping a shoe repairman in Livonia.

When he entered the ninth grade he had to come to Plymouth to school and shortly after that he went to work repairing shoes for Blake Fisher here.

The shoe repair shop was located next door to the present-day Fisher's Shoe store where more recently an addition to Schrader's Funeral Home was constructed.

Jerry bought the shop from Mike Kilmuschmidt on Dec. 7, 1950, and remained in that same location eight years. In 1958, he moved to his present address at the corner of Wing St. in a building owned by Cliff Tait.

About the time that he first came in contact with the shoe repair business, Jerry set up a bicycle repair business in the family garage on Stark Road. It was during the war years and new bicycles were not being manufactured.

In rapid order, he became a full-fledged businessman and near-tycoon. He was about 15 years old and was making better than $35 a week.

"My mother and I used to search all over Livonia for old worn-out bikes and bicycle parts," he recalls now. "Then I'd take the parts back to the garage and build a complete bike out of them. Some of them were a little strange-looking, maybe, but they all worked like a charm. And there was a tremendous demand for them, too, since you couldn't buy a new bike anywhere in those days."

And as soon as he had assembled a bicycle from the hundreds of parts he collected, Jerry would put an ad in The Plymouth Mail.

"The bikes were generally sold within a day after the ad appeared," he said, "and I even had a list of names of people who wanted to buy future bikes that I made."

At times, he earned more than $50 a week during the two-year period between 1942 and 1944.

But when he entered the ninth grade and went to work helping Blake Fisher, Jerry was too busy to continue with his bike repair shop and he closed the door of the family garage.

He worked at the Fisher shoe repair store after Kilmuschmidt bought it from Fisher in the mid-1940's and then, in turn, purchased the business himself in 1950.

Attends Gas Station Management Class

A Plymouth service station operator was among ten Marathon dealers who this week completed a five-day course in professional service station management held at the petroleum firm's Dealer Development Center in Detroit.

Attending the 40-hour course was Elton B. Rice, operator of Elton's Marathon, 14888 Northville Road at Five Mile, who received up-to-date information on merchandising, service and sales techniques from the center's professional staff.

Rice, who lives at 42518 Schoolcraft, has been in petroleum retailing for nearly two years.

100 years ago 67 per cent of all working Americans were on farms. Today only 8 per cent of the U.S. population is on farms, but each farmer grows enough food for 27 people. In Russia, where each farmer can grow enough food for only 5 people, 40 per cent of the total population tills the land, according to "Life" magazine.

College Trustees Plan Bid Call For March 23

With the payment last week of a check for $231,000 the Board of Trustees took the final step in completing purchase of the College site of 137 acres on Seven Mile and Haggerty Roads. The total price of the land was $250,000.

The Board last week also reviewed with the architects the estimated costs of all necessary site work, including mechanical improvement such as drives, sidewalks, curbing, retaining walls, storm drains, and sanitary sewers.

A series of meetings has been set for discussion for further developmental details.

The schedule is as follows: Materials and Finishes (interior and exterior) Jan. 30; Mechanical and Electrical plans, Feb. 6; Equipment, Feb. 20; Bidding Procedures and alternates, March 6; submitting of plans for final Board approval, March 13; final Board approval, March 20.

Present plans call for bids to be advertised on March 23, with contractors picking up plans on noon of March 26. Bids would then be due on this schedule on April 17.

Plymouth High Notes

Mr. Bill Brown, one of the most popular teachers at Plymouth High, is leaving here Jan. 25 for Comstock High School, located four miles from Kalamazoo.

Mr. Brown will serve as principal of the school with approximately 600 students under him. Mr. Brown was born in Goshen, Indiana, and after graduating from Goshen High attended the University of Florida, Allstate Teachers College, and Eastern Michigan University. He has taught sociology, economics, American history, World history, and geography during his seven years in Plymouth.

He has been the senior class advisor and his leaving will certainly be felt by the entire student body, although wishes of good luck are expressed.

Ford Division cordially invites you to meet your newest Ford Dealer

LEO M. CALHOUN FORD, INC.

470 S. MAIN STREET • PLYMOUTH • PHONE GL 3-1100

HERE'S YOUR CHANCE TO MEET the lively new '63 Ford cars and trucks, and the friendly new Ford folks who will be pleased to serve you. And this month you can take advantage of an extra-generous introductory trade-in allowance offered by your new Ford neighbors. So be sure to come in soon!

LEO CALHOUN, President, with 13 years in the automotive business, considers your driving satisfaction his most important responsibility. He is proud of the modern facilities in the service department—completely equipped and expertly staffed to give you dependable and economical service. He invites you to come in now and get acquainted.

'63 Ford Galaxie... the look, the power—and now the feel of the fabulous Thunderbird! Three lively new series: Galaxie, Galaxie 500 and the Galaxie 500/XL. All models feature inspired new styling, spectacular performance, king-size roominess and the quietest ride you ever tried. You get greater service savings, too, from Galaxie's famous Twice-a-Year (or every 6,000-mile) Maintenance features.

'63 Ford Fairlane... hot new middleweight—with V-8 punch! Nine new, richly styled Fairlanes give you the full-family room, superbly smooth ride and spirited performance of big cars—with a choice of two optional V-8 engines and the standard Fairlane Six. What's more... prices are lower than some compacts. Fairlane Twice-a-Year (or every 6,000-mile) Maintenance features also multiply your service savings!

'63 Ford Falcon... Fun is what's new in the '63 Falcon—the all-time economy champ! And your fun comes in 15 spunky, spanning-new Falcon models. Handsomely styled, each nimble, sure-footed Falcon goes farther on fewer gallons of regular gas. And Twice-a-Year (or every 6,000-mile) Maintenance features on all except Club Wagons and Buses, now make famous Falcon savings greater than ever before!

'63 Ford Pickups... "Built Like the Big Trucks!" In axles, springs, and frame, '63 Ford pickups (like the new F-100 Styleside shown here) give you the same kind of durable design as big trucks. And you'll find new styling inside and out, and a new feel at the wheel... new easier steering, new lighter pedal action, new smoother shifting, new comfort!

A MOUNTAIN OF HATS, all at special prices, was a center of attention at Cassidy's Thursday as January Clearance Sales began in earnest here. Shoppers seeking big bargains flocked to downtown stores Thursday morning and, as usual, there was a considerable crowd lined up in front of Cassidy's before the store opened at 9 a.m. The sales continue throughout the month at most stores.

VFW NEWS

The Post membership chairman, Harvey Jones, reports 148 paid members for '63. If you happen to be one of those who has not paid, try to get your dues in the mail soon. The Auxiliary chairman, Betty England reports the Auxiliary '63 dues are 100 per cent. This is quite an achievement, and congratulations to the membership committee.

In the last issue of the paper you saw the picture taken at the Plymouth State Home, where the 45 pairs of white stretch stockings were given. Those going were Ann Totten, Norma McKindies, Mary Holdsworth, Lucy Johnson, Eileen Krumm and Pres. Neale.

They also took a tour of the home and spent several hours sewing. If anyone has the time to go out to help mend or if you have clothing to donate for these children call Eileen Krumm GL 3-3142. They have an endless amount of clothing to be mended and a group will be going out again soon.

A Post and Auxiliary donation has been sent to the March of Dimes at the previous meetings. Be sure and have your donation ready Jan. 23.

The Michigan Cancer center here is in great need of white goods since the fire. Also our sewing group is needed more now than before. So keep Wednesday, Jan. 30 open and go to Pres. Neale's anytime between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. to sew cancer pads. Coffee will be served.

We're sure by now everyone has seen the wreath in Kellogg Park placed on Pearl Harbor Day. This has been done by the auxiliary a number of years, and again this year we would like to thank Heides for this lovely wreath.

Get well wishes go to Ken Stevens, who underwent surgery in December. We also were sorry to hear of the death of Mary Birtles father.

Also congratulations to Marcia Herter on the birth of No. 9. The Post would like to welcome Ed Brown and Gordon Jolgren, both transferred from other posts. The next rally will be Feb. 10. More information to follow.

Declares Tax Cut In Northville Twp.

Northville Township's residential tax assessments will be reduced for 1963 by an average of approximately five per cent under a directive issued recently by George L. Clark, township supervisor.

He ordered the cut, effective with next December's tax bills, as a result of property depreciation during the past five years.

The reduction was illustrated in a chart that Clark released. In the chart, a home built in 1954 with a 1962 assessed valuation of $8,020, was reduced to a 1963 assessment of $5,430.

The Northville Township board of review will hear tax re-evaluation requests March 5, 6, 11 and 12, Clark announced. Further information may be obtained from the Northville Township administrative offices.

Civic minded Harold Guenther informed this columnist Friday that he, too, has a water tower which would lend itself for any of the purposes Hillside's Bob Stremich has in mind for the old Daisy tower at the D.S.I. plant. His tower is located behind the old King or Markham (as you please) building on Main street next to his E-Z Sew Manufacturing plant.

"As president of Rotary which has both Bob Stremich and the Mayflower's Ralph Lorenz as members I can't conscientiously give it to one or the other because of its great value, but I would appreciate it if you would publicize the fact that either can have it free and the first one who reads your column can call me and claim the prize," he stated.

That's a pretty fair offer I felt, so hence the publicity. It will be interesting to see if Hillside has two space needles or if the Mayflower will erect its own on the parking lot it owns across from the Calhoun Ford Agency. Guenther further pointed out that the Mayflower used to feature Northville Spring water in its dining rooms, and that perhaps Lorenz could run a line from one of the Northville springs to the tower and have an ample supply on hand at all times for his customers to drink, or even tap it into his air-conditioning which would reduce his city water bill greatly.

New residents in a community help widen and broaden its many assets and Plymouth is fortunate in having so many new people of varied interests and talents participating in our cultural affairs. Rotary last Friday entertained Don Shula, new coach of the Baltimore Colts, who provided a most informative half hour of questions and answers concerning professional football.

A new resident, Earl Keim, who resides with his family on Ridge road and is a Dearborn realtor, brought the coach to Plymouth at the request of Frank Henderson to provide club members with a most interesting program.

Another newcomer deeply concerned with Plymouth's orderly growth and preservation of its charm and beauty is William Scott of D.S.I. Presently Mr. Scott is concerned with the future of the Lewis Hough residence on Main street which was badly damaged recently by fire. (Cass Hough - please note spelling, this time, of your grandfather's first name).

The old homestead, not only because it is a community landmark, but because it has charm and a most distinctive outward appearance, he says, should be preserved for future generations to enjoy and he is so enthusiastic about the project that he has several proposals under consideration for its future. No doubt we'll hear more of this in the days ahead.

And still thinking about service clubs. National Bank's Bob Barbour sat at his desk staring at a School district check for $100,000 which had just been received for deposit. Because so few of us common folk ever get a chance to see this much money all in one place, I tried to get a picture of Mr. Barbour and the check so we could show our readers how little difference there is in a check this big compared to the one, five and ten dollar ones, we usually write.

After arguing the value of the picture to my readers and pointing out to him the value also of the publicity to the bank he still refused to let us get a picture. Know why? Because if his picture was in the paper he would be fined a dollar at Kiwanis next Tuesday night, he said. Well, Kiwanians, go on from here, and while you're collecting that fine make it big enough to include some consideration for the bank as well as the club.

Newspapers do make mistakes. Recently, I think, it was the Free Press which had counted the number of words it printed in one edition. There were so many thousand words and so many hundreds of mistakes. Try as we will, they do happen and it took witty, keen-eyed publisher Tom Riordan, of the Tecumseh Herald, to put us in our place last week.

He called to congratulate us in leading the way for the other papers in Michigan in making our out-of-town mailing rates commensurate with their costs. On our front page we gave our local subscription rate as $4.00 per year but our out-of-town rate was printed $500.00 per year. Thanks, Tom, for letting us know about this one, but you can give us credit for trying even though, for your information, we had no takers.

Farmer Willoughby Wisely snow-shoed in from his winter hangout at Whitmore Lake last week to throw more snow on our Territorial road dilemma. The well known Wisley family moved down on Warren road in 1911, he says, and at that time they attended church at Cherry Hill and in those days Geddes road was Territorial road. He said he could remember it just as well as he could remember Canton Center road, south of Joy, being and old creek bed with a wagon path along its banks where in the spring wagon wheels would sink up to their axles. He also can remember driving cattle with his father through the Main street of Plymouth down to the railroad tracks for shipment when they were knee deep in mud and could hardly get through the business section with their animals because of it.

An interesting sidelight to this is an item, this week or next, in our Fifty Years Ago column which tells of the plight of village fathers who have to take some action on improving the muddy conditions on Penniman avenue from Main to Harvey streets which is practically impassable, it says.

Our neighbor, Ralph Garber, called to our attention the fact that he had made an offer, a few years ago, on a piece of property across from ours and joining his on the east on Territorial road which was recorded in the description of the same as being on Sutton road. And... to make it more confusing Coda Savery, out on Brookville road, says he can remember when Brookville road, where he now lives, was Sutton road. Could it be that Sutton road went west to the point where it now deadends then continued on north on the present Brookville road and the south branch of Sutton road turned into Territorial?

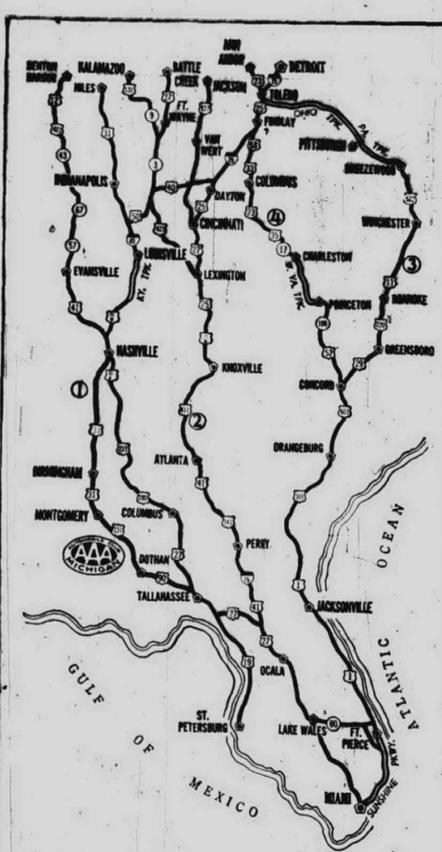

I haven't talked to too many local merchants this last week about their January clearance sale but I can report that Bob Willoughby and Wendell Lent both reported that last Thursday, in the shoe store and clothing store respectively, they recorded the greatest number and dollar volume of sales they had ever had in all of their years in business in Plymouth. That's good news and I hope all of our other stores did as well and I hope all of our local residents are taking advantage of the tremendous values local stores are offering through the rest of this month.

Do you know that 1,320,000 trees were consumed last year to make the 85,000,000 telephone books used in this country and that children who can't attend school for some reason or the other can now attend classes right at home by a new telephone home-to-school arrangement. The kids may not like the idea but it is possible so Junior better have a good excuse to avoid classroom routine or he'll get it at home, too.

How do I know these interesting facts? Well, if you go to the phone company offices they'll give you, absolutely free, a copy of their interesting new almanac for 1963. It's well worth picking up if for no other reason than to know the time when the sun will rise and fall on your birthday this year.

"CHERRY PICKERS" bringing "SPAGHETTI"! This is not a call for dinner - it's a signal that steel pipe has arrived. To the pipeliner worker in the Gas fields of Southwestern United States, this message does not mean a cherry picker is coming down from a cherry tree to put on a spaghetti dinner. It means that a light rig (which is called a "cherry picker") is bringing a load of small diameter pipe (which is called "spaghetti") to the construction crew on a pipeline project. MORE THAN 400,000 Michigan motorists, and many, many from Plymouth, are expected to motor to Florida in the coming year, Automobile Club of Michigan estimates. The bulk of them will utilize the routes marked "one" and "two" in the above map, because they are fast and comparatively free of mountainous terrain. Late spring and summer travelers will use the other two routes through the mountains, for variety, says Auto Club.

James Hocking, machinist's mate third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford M. Hocking of 8555 Narise Dr., Plymouth is scheduled to return to the continental carrier USS Bon Homme Richard after spending six months in the Far East. The Bon Homme Richard spent Christmas in Buckner Bay, Okinawa. The carrier was a part of the Seventh Fleet, a major element of American seapower abroad. The ship is commanded by Captain R. P. Cline, USN.

James M. Hargrove, seaman recruit, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady W. Hargrove of 356 Canton Center Rd., Plymouth is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Ranger, operating in the Western Pacific with the Seventh Fleet. The Ranger is part of American seapower abroad, an instrument of national policy and goodwill. The ship is scheduled to visit ports in Japan, Okinawa, the Philippines, and the British Crown Colony of Hong Kong.

Adelore G. King, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Adelore G. King of 38527 Ford, Plymouth completed two weeks of recruit training, Dec. 29, at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. The active duty training for Naval Reserve personnel consists of seamanship, physical conditioning, first aid, swimming and survival, gunnery, fire-fighting, safety and watch-keeping.

Thomas I. Leaveck, machinist mate third class, United States Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Leaveck, 6965 Hix Rd., Plymouth, has returned to Norfolk, Va., where he is stationed on board the U.S.S. Lincolnd.

Roger J. Beukema, radio-man, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beukema of 1419 Sheridan, Plymouth, returned to Long Beach, Cal., aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Topeka just prior to Christmas. The Topeka had been in the Western Pacific for six months as part of the Seventh Fleet, a major element of American seapower overseas. Improved economic conditions, new highways, and increased motel and resort facilities throughout the state gave Michigan its best tourist year in history during 1962. State Tourist Council Director Robert J. Furlong said these and increased promotional activities helped induce

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor: A meeting of the executive committee from the Detroit Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America, along with a representative from each of the suburbs as listed below, was held Friday evening, Jan. 18.

The community representatives included: Frank Oglesby (Northville); Charles Guideau (Plymouth); G. Siegmund (Taylor Township); Charles Russell (Garden City); Pat McGuire (Wayne); Leo Hill (Lincoln Park); and J. Boewadt (Highland Park).

Many other communities have our same feelings. All correspondence received prior to the meeting had been read and considered but no decision was made for us to retain our own community identification. The executive board members set up a special committee to meet with our representatives to study the subject further as to the pros and cons.

The council committee was asked how they had arrived at the decision of the DAC patch, the answer to which was "We made a poll of neighborhood commissioners and with no objections raised, we figured we had something that the boys wanted and the council directed the DAC patches to be used."

Another question to the council was: "Who were the commissioners or from what areas did they come." The answer: Dearborn and Detroit. Many questions were asked and some answered satisfactorily and some not so satisfactorily.

In the Detroit Area Boy Scout Council, there are 2,020 units of which 1,300 or 65 per cent are suburban and the balance are inside the Detroit City limits. A logical answer that was given for the reason of the change was that the DAC claims that the majority of funds received came from the UF and Community Funds collection through the metropolitan area, except one which was not mentioned by name but which is Plymouth.

Whether this was done on purpose or was an accident we probably shall never know. The name of the city was asked directly by the representative of Plymouth and the chairman of the council committee then named our community.

The discussion carried on for about three hours. The DAC committee said they were giving the boys what they wanted, but the boys in the suburbs were not consulted on the matter.

The entire matter is going before the DAC Boy Scout executive board again and will be reviewed for further consideration over the matter of retaining or abolishing the community identification strip.

Your help can aid us in our efforts to retain the Plymouth Boy Scout community identification patch. Thank you. Charles J. Guideau 43375 Judson, Plymouth.

EDITOR: I have always considered myself and my family a resident of Plymouth, having moved to this area from Detroit in 1938. The home we now own was built on Plymouth soil.

I wish to convey to the Editor of the Plymouth Mail, The Board of Education, and to the citizens of Plymouth, a misconception of a title given in your article in the Wednesday, Jan. 9, paper to the appointment of a local Ballet TEACHER selected by the Recreational Department of Plymouth for Adult Education purposes.

The title of TEACHER being long rightfully to those who have studied for such and have been examined and designated as such by a Board of examiners of the Cecchetti Council of America which is authorized under and by the laws of the State of Michigan.

Until a person has proven their ability to earn this title, regardless of how many examinations they may pass, they are still only officially known as a student.

There is also an age requirement designated by the Executive Board of this organization before a TEACHER'S examination can be taken.

The article printed in the Wednesday, Jan. 9, paper could lead people to believe that any or all Students of classical ballet, trained in the Cecchetti system and having passed numerous student examinations, (and I have trained 30 students who have taken and passed these examinations) would be right in assuming, regardless of age, that they could become qualified teachers of Ballet and could start teaching young children, or adults, whenever they wished to do so.

No school system would hire a teacher of History, Mathematics, etc., without first knowing that the said applicant was a qualified TEACHER with a degree. The same applies to the Art of Classical Ballet teaching. Certificates stating that the owner of same is a teacher are issued to those who have studied and met these qualifications. This being their degree, it should be able to be produced or displayed for the benefit of the Professional status it designates.

Small Communities and large cities all over the United States are in a sense responsible for a growing majority of Dance Studios classifying their dancers permanently when the Board of Education sets up programs in the dance arts. They seem to be completely unconcerned with the fact that a private Dance Teacher who bears the burden of overhead expenses, taxes, advertising, etc., could find by this planning continued successful progress unobtainable by the overpayment that has in many cases caused the Dance Teacher who operates a Studio to eventually close their business establishment.

This open letter is meant only to emphasize the DIFFERENCE between the STUDENT status and TEACHER status as far as the Dance Arts are concerned. Only enlightenment, no offense is intended to any party this may touch upon. It should be known that a state wide basis.

licensed Dance Studio IS A BUSINESS, entitled to the respect and the consideration of the Community in which it is located.

May I further state that as a qualified Professional Dance Teacher with an honorable history of donating Talent and time to various Civic and Community Projects I shall continue to serve the City of Plymouth, and surrounding Communities to the best of my ability for as long as we remain a business establishment.

Sincerely yours, Mrs. Essie Aita Stannitz Plymouth School of Dance Member of the Cecchetti Council of America

Mr. Sterling Eaton The Plymouth Mail Dear Sterling: A few years ago I found the answer to your question (regarding North Territorial in the Q. and A. column of the Detroit News.

Q. How did North Territorial Rd., west of Plymouth, get its name? A. When Michigan was a part of the Northwest Territory, several roads were built by the territorial government and called "territorial roads."

When the state began constructing roads, those running directly from one town to another also often were called "territorial." North Territorial appears to be one of those. The "north" may refer to the fact that it ran north of the Detroit-Chicago road (Michigan Ave.).

Please excuse the uneven writing and the crooked lines. Since eye surgery, it is hard to do a good readable writing. Helen Farrand 252 E. Ann Arbor Tr.

Dear Editor: I am enclosing a poem just written and would be pleased if you would consider it of enough interest to print.

Always at birthday-time my thoughts go back to the happy carefree days of my childhood in dear old Plymouth Town. As I recall the security and peace of those days and compare them with conditions of youth today, one is moved to pity for those who never knew our simple and wholesome pleasures.

There must be some of your age I think who will remember, as I do, the thrill of the City Christmas Tree, especially in one of the halls over a store, where every child received a gift. And I recall the thrill of visiting Mr. Penniman in his lovely home on the edge of town, where each child received a dime for wishing him a Happy New Year.

I recall buying my last do with my last ten cents, which was quite a sum then. And those grand band concerts every Saturday night playing "Marching through Georgia," including an ice cream social with Mrs. Potter's homemade ice cream, with Jack O'Lanterns lighting up the park in the center of our town.

"Fourth of July" was the Children's big day, with all its wonder of the fireworks. I wonder if anyone would recall the happy part children had in Decoration Day... gathering flowers, bringing them to the City Hall, from where they, dressed in white, marched to decorate the graves of our dead heroes.

And Plymouth Fair, who would not remember the thrill of the Ferris Wheel. You will see, dear Editor, why you are thinking of you your city's Birthday-time. Happy New Year to you, and the friends that may still remember the old days and happy times.

Yours Truly, Nettie E. Hart Lewis 3132 6th Ave. N. St. Petersburg, 13, Fla.

Nettie E. Hart Lewis -1963- by Nettie Hart Lewis Four Score Years and Ten at Last. The years, they come very fast, We scarce recall the beginning. Long ago when we were young, To God we give loving praise For the wonders of His plan. 'Tis His Son, They have been sweet, Blessed help for stumbling feet.

We thank Him for His giving For the years well worth living For children, treated to our care, For loving friends when we were fair. Memories come, of those now gone Who came with us, the old gang Of Birthdays on flying wing, What joy with them thus to sing.

We would not stay - floating years - Nor cloud them with falling tears. But with a happy heart proclaim, Prospects bright in Jesus' name. With Paul we sing, "Christ has said 'To die is gain' - Everlasting day. Still at Ninety on we go, Him to serve, to better know. Jan. 22, 1973-1963.

4-H Livestock Club Votes in Officers Election of officers for the new year was held by the Plymouth 4-H Livestock Club at a recent regular meeting, Jan. 3, at the Gallimore School. The following were elected: President, Charles Hasselback of Wayne; Vice-President, Cindy Erdelyi; Corresponding Secretary, Donna Moers; Secretary, David Magraw; Treasurer, Lynn Allen; News Reporter, JoLynn Wende. Completion certificates and year pins were given to the 1962 members.

Michigan's program for screening children for defective vision and for improving visual environment was the first of its kind in the country to be undertaken on a state wide basis.

Edison Marks 60th Year Of Service to Michigan

LARGE BIRTHDAY cake was served at Detroit Edison Company's 60th anniversary party last week at local observances in the Hotel Mayflower here. The event was attended by numerous local company officials and representatives of the press. Here, Plymouth branch manager Harry Wagenschutz (center) prepares to cut the cake while Edison Co. executives George W. Matthews (left) and Arthur A. Simpson (right) look on. Matthews is manager of the western Wayne County sales district and Simpson is supervisor in charge of customer and business relations for the same area.

Detroit Edison Co., founded Jan. 17, 1903, observed its 60th birthday here and elsewhere last week, and a combined company executive and press party marked the celebration in official form. Locally, the observance was staged at the Round Table Club in the Hotel Mayflower here with representatives of five newspapers attending as well as approximately 20 local officials of Detroit Edison. Among the guests were members of The Plymouth Mail.

Sharing the duties of host at the party Thursday noon was Harry Wagenschutz, district manager of the western Wayne County sales area, and Arthur A. Simpson, supervisor of customer-business relations within the same district. Matthews, speaking informally, outlined his company's general outlook with regard to the future of the Plymouth-Northville area. "We foresee a tremendous growth for western Wayne County during the next decade," he said, "and in long range forecasting we see this area surpassing even the Macomb County area which has been among the fastest growing locales in recent years."

Although no immediate plans are formed for changes in the present Detroit Edison Co. facilities in Plymouth, Matthews implied that considerable change may ultimately be expected here in all phases of the company operation locally. The western Wayne County district for Detroit Edison includes the communities of Plymouth, Northville, Wayne, Belleville and Trenton and approximately 10 other municipalities. In all, Wagenschutz said, there are 115,000 Detroit Edison customers (residential, commercial and industrial) in the district.

Wagenschutz, who lives at 341 Beal St., Northville, has been a manager for Detroit Edison here and in neighboring communities since 1942. His parents, who have been married more than 60 years, reside on North Harvey St. here. Among the representatives of the press who attended the birthday observance, in addition to editor Jerome O'Neil and assistant advertising director Randy Eaton of The Plymouth Mail, there were staff members from The Northville Record, The Livonian, the Wayne Dispatch, and from the Associated Down-River papers.

The celebration consisted of a hospitality hour, luncheon and the cutting and serving of a huge birthday cake, marking Edison's 60th anniversary of its founding. Predecessor of the Detroit Edison Co. was the Edison Illuminating Co., whose headquarters were in the building which now houses the company's Washington Blvd. customer services office in Detroit.

JayCees Celebrate Their National Activity Week

By Sterling Eaton

This, I guess, is the first story under my by-line that has ever been published. It isn't that I'm ashamed to have my name appear on items such as this, but I have always frowned upon those writers who feel it necessary to tell the world that a production was or is their own great effort. It has been my theory that stories which deserve added commendation will always, eventually, be credited to the rightful person with or without a by-line.

However, this is by-lined because it is editorial as well as factual and I don't want anyone else given credit for factual errors or my own personal opinions on the subject matter.

This story deals with our Junior Chamber of Commerce, its inception, to the best of memory, its accomplishments and its celebration, now, of National Junior Chamber of Commerce week.

First, I would like to compliment the JayCees on the very attractive new signs they are erecting around our city. I would also like to give them a special pat on the back for their excellent judgement in using the words "Plymouth Community" in referring to this area. It gives me a feeling of security about my own hometown community, city and township, when I know that these young men, our future community leaders, already are giving consideration to the meld that must one day take place between these two municipalities and make them one.

It is probably ironic that James Garber is presently president of the JCC and also chairman of The Plymouth Heights charter commission. Last week he announced, as charter commission chairman, that it would be necessary to hold another charter election sometime in July, the purpose, of course, to keep this "annexation deterrent" alive for the Township.

This will cost me, as a township taxpayer a few dollars. Estimated total cost by Elizabeth Holmes, "about a thousand dollars", and by trustee C. V. Sparks, at fifteen or sixteen hundred. Whichever it is I resent this expenditure. I think it unnecessary and I can't see why we must keep this Heights thing alive, especially when the City has no plans for annexation or land grabs in its future.

Now, this, is strictly my opinion and I am not speaking for the City but I do think that, at this time, City officials would gladly provide a written agreement to the Township stating as much, which could completely eliminate this expenditure and future expenditures for this purpose.

Jim Garber is probably the right man, along with his JCCs, to bring this about. We appreciate their "Plymouth Community" signs which must indicate their thinking in this direction and what better project for a service organization of this kind, if they could accomplish the above mentioned agreement they would only do more to promote the present friendly feeling between the two municipalities.

Annexation is not, and never will be, the answer. A melding of these two areas, by mutual consent, under a program worked out for the benefit of the entire area, will eventually come about and this move would, without doubt, help lay some of the preliminary ground work. So much for their signs. The JCC has been a most energetic group from its inception back in 1937, 38 or 39. Right now no one is quite sure, but it has been determined that J. Rusling Cutler incorporated the group for the first time in 1940. The first meeting was held in his office and formal acceptance of a charter was made at a banquet in room 229 at the Hotel Mayflower.

I attended this meeting as National Counsellor for the Chamber of Commerce along with its secretary, Frank Rambo, at which time we had to present an approval of the Chamber before the JCC's could get their charter. Bruce Palmer, an active Michigan member of JCC, presented the charter and two years later became JCC's national president. I became a charter member at that time along with William Rambo, Charles Wolfe, John McLughlan, Francis Walsh, George Kenyon, Marvin Terry, Clayton Koch, Ralph Taylor, James Hodd, Wendell Lent, George Todd, Edward Sinta, Robert Wesley, J. Rusling Cutler, Tom Manquin, Charles Van Vleck, Ralph Lorenz and Byron Becker. There were probably more and some of these may not be right, but between Mr. Cutler, Mr. Rambo and Mr. Lent we think we have most of them.

Almost from its inception this group, which now numbers some 70 members, has been most active in community affairs. In fact in 1943 during the time of the third War Bond drive, in one day, the Jaycees accounted for more than one quarter of Plymouth's quota of $536,000. Local residents know of their Christmas-time activities, their participation in the Fourth of July celebration, in fact their interest in almost anything for the good of this community.

Therefore, it seems only natural that we, along with the rest of this community, congratulate them on the event of their National Recognition Week and encourage and urge them to continue their varied interests and to lend their support to those things which bring benefit to all of our residents.

During the next few days take a moment out of your busy day and when you meet a Jaycee say "Thanks" for a job well done. These young men take time away from their families, their jobs and their leisure time to work to make our community a better place in which to live. Let's give them our full support this week and throughout the year.

And their creed: We believe: That God gives meaning and purpose to human life; That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations; That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise; That government should be of laws rather than of men; That earth's great treasure lies in human personality; And that service to humanity is the best work of life.

Northville Girl Free of Blame in 2-Car Crash In a story in last week's issue of The Mail, we reported that a car driven by Sharon Soubiere, 18, of Northville, had failed to yield the right of way in a two-car collision at the intersection of Starkweather and Mill Streets.

This was incorrect. Instead, the other car, driven by 18-year-old Carol Ann Meyers of Detroit, was ticketed for failing to yield the right of way.

The Soubiere girl sustained a cut forehead, according to her mother, and bruises on both knees. A passenger in the Soubiere auto, Judy Handley, also 18 and of Northville, suffered knee bruises as well.

The Plymouth Mail regrets any inconvenience that this error caused to any and all parties concerned.

Bentley Cagers March Past Plymouth, 58-43

Plymouth stumbled to its fourth straight varsity basketball loss Friday evening as 6-foot-6 Bill Bollin spearheaded a Bentley attack that resulted in a 58-43 win for the visiting Bulldogs.

It dropped Plymouth into a tie for fifth place in the Suburban Six cage conference and left the Rocks with a 2-7 record for the season.

Bentley meanwhile moved into a tie for second place in the race for league honors. The Bulldogs are scheduled with Belleville for second place, each with 3-1 conference marks to date.

Bentley High is 9-2 overall. Once again, it was Plymouth's inability to cash in from the free throw line that led to the Rocks' defeat. Plymouth managed 11 of 24 free throws compared to Bentley's 20-of-33 pace.

The Rocks were outscored in field goals by the scant margin of 18-16.

Neither team was able to get started during the first period and Bentley managed a 6-3 lead at the conclusion of the first eight minutes. At intermission, the eventual winners had shaped a 21-15 margin and during the third period stretched this advantage to 41-22.

Plymouth made a remarkable effort in the fourth period, scoring 21 points, but Bentley hung on to post its fourth league victory. The 21-point spree was among Plymouth's best scoring surges for a single quarter this winter.

Chris Gaffield led Plymouth with nine points and Dick Egloff added eight. Jim Lake, Dick Schryer and Garry Grady each contributed six-point spurts with Grady's points coming all in the fourth period rally that fell short.

J.V. Squad Suffers 6th Loss, 51-35

Limited to just seven points in the second period and a mere five in the fourth quarter, Plymouth's junior varsity basketball team suffered a 51-35 loss Friday night at the hands of Bentley's JayVees.

It was the sixth loss of the season for Coach Dick Bearup's junior Rocks. They have won three.

The two teams battled to a 12-12 stand-off at the end of the first period, but Bentley picked up steam in the second quarter and moved ahead, 26-19, at the intermission.

Plymouth regained its eye in the third period and stayed even with the Bulldogs during that span, but Bentley pulled away in the final quarter with a 13-point attack compared to the junior Rocks' five-point effort.

The Rocks made only nine of 33 free throws and 13 of 57 field goals. Bill Nelson dumped in 11 points for Plymouth and Dave Tidwell added nine. Perry Four scored 15 for the winners.

The JayVee team takes on Trenton's junior varsity Friday night in Trenton.

Bollin, a towering center in Bentley's offense, led the winners with 19 and two of his 12 m-mates also hit double figures. Roland Kent contributed 15 and Wayne Stevens had 13.

Gaffield, for Plymouth, dumped in seven points in the first half but was held to only a single field goal in the last two quarters.

Trenton and Plymouth will at least temporarily decide the battle for fifth place next Friday night. The contest is at Trenton and the varsity game will get underway about 8 p.m. following the Gray encounter which starts at 6:30 p.m.

Cloverdale, Auto-Crat Win in Recreation Loop

Auto-Crat Mfg. kept pace with Cloverdale in the men's recreation basketball conference last week as both teams posted decisive victories.

Auto-Crat downed Distribution Services, Inc., 59-45, as Dan Stremick, a former Plymouth High center, scored 17 points for the winners. Larry Wells added seven for Auto-Crat.

D.S.I. got a 12-point effort from Dave Gothard in a losing cause and Martin Kennedy had eight more.

Ken Kisabeth paced Cloverdale's 49-39 decision over Tait's Cleaners in the other game. Chuck Thomas aided the winners with a 13-point performance.

Louis Poteau and Bob Miller had 10 and six points respectively for Tait's Cleaners, which suffered its second loss in as many games.

The standings:

Team	W	L
Cloverdale	2	0
Auto-Crat Mfg.	2	0

OPTIMIST-BLACKHAWKS POST 3-2 WIN OVER GARDEN CITY

The Optimist-sponsored Plymouth Blackhawks, a local entry in the juvenile division of the Garden City recreation hockey league, gained a 3-2 win over the Garden City Red Wings last week as Skip Otwell scored two goals and Len Lepuckey scored one.

The victory continued the Blackhawks in first place in the juvenile division of the Garden City hockey conference.

Redford Union Still Pace-Setter In Cage League

While Bentley was engineering its 58-43 victory over Plymouth, Redford Union High — the league pace-setter — was dumping Belleville and Trenton defeated Allen Park in other league action Friday night.

Len LePia scored 31 points in leading Redford Union to its fourth straight conference win, a 64-53 affair over Belleville. The loss dropped Belleville into second, tied with Bentley.

Trenton waged a touch-and-go duel with Allen Park in a battle of the lesser lights. Trenton managed a 67-66 decision in the waning minutes, thus still leaving Allen Park winless in league action.

The only loss either Bentley or Belleville has suffered has come at the hands of front-running Redford Union, which seeks its second league crown in three seasons.

The standings:

EASIER THAN EASY?

Sometimes we make the English language do back flips to make a point. For example.

For years we've said indoor movies are easy to take. Well now — with an electric-eye movie camera and KODACHROME II film, Type A — they're easier than easy to take.

First off the electric-eye in new movie cameras eliminates the job of figuring and re-figuring exposures. You just snap on your movie light bar and the electric-eye sets the lens to give you colorful movies. And it keeps adjusting the exposure to keep it right as you shoot from various distances.

Then that KODACHROME II you loaded in your camera helps make indoor movies easier on your cast. You see, it's a faster film — needs less intense light to get a good picture. So? So you don't have to shine your movie lights right at your subjects. You can aim them at the ceiling above them. The light bouncing down gives you a soft, natural looking light.

If you're planning to step up to movies, come in and let us show you how easy it can be with a low-priced KODAK Automatic Movie Camera, a SORAK Sun Gun Movie Light and KODACHROME II film, Type A.

Swimmers Win No. 6, Entertain Trenton Next

In one of its most crucial dual meets of the winter, Plymouth tomorrow afternoon will entertain Trenton in a varsity swim encounter that may well indicate the eventual outcome of the league championship meet early in March.

The two teams at present are rated near-equals in the Suburban Six Conference. Plymouth will seek revenge from Trenton, which last year took a five-point decision over Plymouth in the 1962 league championship meet, thus forcing the Rocks to settle for second.

Last week, the Rocks swept past Bentley High by a handy margin, 64-41. It was a clash that was earlier described as "a tough one" but which turned out to be surprisingly easy for the high-flying Plymouth swimmers.

The win over Bentley was Plymouth's sixth win in eight dual meets thus far this winter and was the Rocks' 92nd in the 11 years Plymouth has fielded a varsity swim team.

With a perfect record through the remaining eight dual meets on the 1962-63 schedule, Plymouth could reach No. 100 Feb. 28. By coincidence, Plymouth's opponent on that date will also be Trenton.

A year ago, in their two face-to-face battles, the same two teams exchanged victorious. Against Bentley last Thursday, Plymouth never trailed, taking an 8-4 lead in the first event when Dan Olson, Dave Agnew, George Collins and Pete Gustafson combined to win the 200-yard medley relay for the Rocks.

From there, it was only a case of how wide Plymouth's eventual margin of victory would be. "The meet was somewhat closer than the final score, though," said the Rocks' swim coach, John McFall later.

"A number of the individual events were close all the way," McFall explained. "Everything broke right for us, I guess."

After Plymouth's win in the opening relay event, Dave Beglinger and Don Cook captured second and third, respectively, in the 200-yard free, and then Gary Gould won the 50-yard free with Dick Berry finishing second for the Rocks.

Jim Beglinger won the 200-yard individual medley and Jeff Hoffman claimed a third place in the same event. Mark Schultzeiss, who shares the team co-captaincy with Gould, won the diving competition and Bert Quinn was third.

Dave Beglinger and Collins gained second and third, respectively, in the 100-yard butterfly, and Gould followed with his second individual victory of the meet with the win in the 100-yard free. Berry was second behind Gould in that one.

Olson was second in the backstroke, Jim Beglinger and Cook finished two-three in the 400-yard free, and Dave Agnew won the 100-yard breast-stroke. Gustafson, Tom Blunk, Jim Mattison and Schultzeiss won the concluding 200-yard freestyle relay event.

Gould, with two individual victories, was again Plymouth's high scorer. He had 10 points, five for each first place ribbon.

Junior Swimmers Win, 62-39

Plymouth's junior varsity swimmers last week raced to their fourth victory in five outings as they maulled Bentley's junior varsity, 62-39.

While the junior swimmers were scheduled to visit Trenton today (Wednesday), the next home meet for the JayVee swim squad will be Wednesday, Jan. 30, against Redford Union.

Plymouth posted seven first place finishes against Bentley last week and supported these efforts with five second place ribbons and six thirds.

Jim Norman was a double winner, turning in victories in the 50-yard free and the 100-yard free for 10 points. John Bowsman scored a first in the 200-yard individual medley and placed second in the 200-yard back-stroke, giving him eight points. Tim Wernette won the 100-yard butterfly and shared in Plymouth's victory in the 200-yard medley relay.

Doug Breed won the 200-yard freestyle. Plymouth's victory in the 200-yard medley relay was the combined effort of Rich Irvine, Don Norman, Wernette and Val Fulton.

He also complimented Wernette on his win in the backstroke.

Mike Bentley, Chuck Olson, Gary Bohl and Jim Heurbauser shared in Plymouth's win in the 200-yard freestyle relay.

Fulton, Bohl, Dean Johnston, Mike Bassett and Mike Alford were among the Plymouth swimmers singled out by coach Tom Workman for good efforts in the victory over Bentley.

He also complimented Wernette on his win in the backstroke.

BY GEORGE SPELVIN

"George, meet Mike Ellis," calmly stated Bob K on d o r, the impeccably-dressed manager of the Vanguard Theatre.

I shook hands with Mr. Ellis in a most perfunctory manner. My mind was racing a mile a minute trying to recall where I had heard the name. As we went upstairs to Bob's office, I took a hasty glance at Mr. Ellis. He was tall, suave and carried himself with an air of confidence.

Realization burst upon my gray cells like a ten-ton megaton flash bomb. "You're the producer, Michael Ellis!" I half-stuttered.

Mr. Ellis' gray-blue eyes danced with a happy glint. "You remembered the name. I didn't think anyone paid any attention to producer's names."

I assured him that old George had a storehouse of theatrical minutiae ready for dispensing. We chatted about his recent Detroit producing effort, "Come Blow Your Horn", and how it didn't fare too well at the box office. Asked how the show was doing on the road, Mr. Ellis indicated that business had been spotty. We reminisced about some of his earlier shows.

"Could you give me the address of a fellow producer by the name of Danny Hollywood?"

"Certainly". Mr. Ellis rattled off the address and old George took it down for his good friend, Bob Wall. Mike mentioned in passing that Danny's latest play, "Never Too Late" was a veritable gold mine. On the summer circuit (Mr. Ellis runs the Buck's County Playhouse) in under its original title, "Cradle and All". "I wish your friend would have let me look at his play first," was Michael Ellis' parting remark.

Over my shoulder I shouted, "I'll let you know how he makes out with Mr. Hollywood." The smile that flashed my way assured me that Broadway producers are a bit more human than we have been led to believe. Heavens knows they have little reason to show any signs of happiness. Their task in raising the necessary cash for the production of plays is a difficult, if not almost impossible effort.

Most producers remain in the background and silently observe either the success or failure of their shows. Kermit Bloomgartner ("Gay Life" and "Nowhere To Go But Up") watched two musicals flop to the unpleasant tune of over a million dollars. David Merrick has kept Broadway stirred up with his constant criticism-baiting. His verbal quarrel is with Walter Kerr.

Seems that Mr. Kerr didn't care for Merrick's "Oliver" and he said so in several hundred well-chosen words. Mr. Taubmann of the Times also filed a minority report on this British import.

These two adverse reports have put Mr. Merrick into an almost apoplectic state. He sends Mr. Kerr pictures of the long lines outside the box office daily, wires him snide comments, and is keeping him posted weekly on the brisk financial picture of "Oliver."

Ah, yes, a critic's life can be lively with producers of Mr. Merrick's like in the immediate area. All I can say from the hinterlands is — keep up the good fight, Walter. Not everything that ends up on the stage can be good. Every business as even individuals are bound to make mistakes. No one is perfect, not even Mr. Merrick.
