> Holmes, who moved to Florida for health reasons, reportedly accepted a position as Fire Chief in a small city there.

Township Attorney Earl Demel ofposition could be abolished by failing to fered an opinion that the post could be abolished by an ordinance.

After considerable discussion by Trustees Dick Lauterbach and Ralph Garber and Supervisor Lindsay, the Board voted to take the matter under advisement and wait until the June meeting for a decision.

Here's School

He suggested:

(1) To use the original plan submitted to the Commission on May 13 that involves $365,111 cost to the city including land, $255,000 from the government for a total cost of $620,611.

(2) Original plan less approximately $32,150 deleted by the MBA on May 15 with a city cost of $328,026, federal grant of $253,026 and total $581,052.

(3) Plan 2 stripped of cooler for air conditioning system with city cost of $322,141, federal grant of $247,141 and total of $569.182.

(4) Plan 2 with approximately 20 feet x 2 stories and basement removed from easterly end of building with a city cost of $309,201; federal grant of $234,201; and total of $543,402.

Commissioner George Lawton felt that the amount of savings derived from any plan other than No. 2 was nominal and definitely not worth the risk involved with the federal government.

He also felt the building should be erected with allowances for expansion. He felt in addition that if this Commission were to ask for new plans, indicating new size of the building, new layout and such, they would be going on record as reversing the decision of the former Commission.

On this basis, he inferred

Another car driver victim was claimed at the Eckles road intersection on the Livonia-Plymouth Township boundary line last week. (The story's on Page One today.)

Eight days later, a truck's brakes locked while it was astraddle the tracks on Farmington road. Despite attempts by the driver to flag down the oncoming freight, the train couldn't stop and it split the truck in half-no one was hurt.

About a month ago a car was smashed, with a miraculous escape by the driver. Another man was killed on ter Dorothy at home; three the tracks about two months ago in Livonia. The Middlebrothers. James and Morton of belt crossing has taken a couple of lives in recent years. Northville; John of Livonia; Farmer street in Plymouth is a deadly crossing with Every few days the editor hears some story about "close calls" at one of the crossings, where the outcome fortunately was happy.

Over and above actual threat to life and property, is the gross loss of time to thousands of automobile drivers who stand and wait at the crossings day in and day out, week in and week out - the aggregate loss of manpower would be staggering, if anyone were to compute it. Middlebelt road, Farmington road, Main street in Plymouth, Haggerty road -and several others-have become heavily traveled, major arteries with fantastically high traffic counts.

Yet the trains can and do stop the convoys of cars cold at all hours of day or night.

There is, too, the intangible safety factor-the constant peril that the fire equipment or the ambulance may be on the "other" side of the crossing waiting for a train to pass before it can proceed to handle an emergency. You might recall that a police car was delayed getting to the scene of the $150,000 Bank of Livonia robbery because of having to wait for a train ... and the bandit had fled when it arrived.

Despite the cost, the project of separating the grades should be taken up immediately at the Middlebelt, Farmington and Plymouth Main street crossing.

This is a matter which involves Wayne County, the cities, and the railroad, in terms of finance. These three jobs alone would cost more than a million dollars.

As for the other crossings, the peril warrants immediate study of safety factors and new, stiff law enforcement, if necessary.

Residents in the Eckles road area tell a story like this-

There is a red flasher light at the crossing there, but no safety gates.

Over a period of years, the flasher has lost its meaning for regular drivers. Because yard engines work in the area, the flasher is lighted almost as much as it is dark - sometimes for periods of 30, 45 or 55 minutes. Usually it doesn't indicate a train is coming; instead, that Bang the gong! Crash the symbols! Let the bells toll! All for the Plymouth Theatre Guild. Without getting financial help from letters, residents, or service clubs, they have organized a program of action of teenagers.

To me their idea and the way they accomplished it is refreshing and worthy enough to make some noise about.

They have organized the Apprentice Players of Plymouth Theatre Guild. Kids, like adults, love "to get in on the act" - and being on stage gives plenty of outlet for the tired businessman-the homebound-homemaker and now, in Plymouth, the restless teener.

Under the sponsorship of the Guild the Apprentice Players of Plymouth have been meeting in regular study group sessions since last fall. The mama and papa group gives its time, technical knowledge and financial support. The over-worked term "juvenile delinquency" is being fought the way it should be with a planned activity, a definite action, not words upon words at a PTA meeting where mostly the parents of kids who don't need it appear.

Patrons, membership and proceeds from various plays are, at the present time, supporting the Apprentice Group. They feel strongly on the subject of keeping the youth busy in interesting and educational pursuit of reading and acting in plays-and anyone who has ever even had a walk-on, painted a piece of scenery, or scrounged a prop knows how it is once the bug bites you.

The Apprentice Players have their own officers. Thomas Webber is the first president; Janet Young, vicepresident; and Mary Ann McKenzie secretary-treasurer. So far they have appeared in several plays, and took part in the Fall Festival in Kellogg Park in Plymouth and in school plays in Plymouth, Northville and Livonia. Members read plays and determine what they would like to produce with advice from their sponsor.

May 23, 24 at 8 p.m. in the Plymouth High School Auditorium The Apprentice Players of the Plymouth Theatre Guild will present their first full length three act play "Act Your Age" by William Davidson. A teenage play performed by teenagers for everyone to enjoy.

It has a fun plot about two girls that begin writing to two sailors and make it more interesting by claiming to be young ladies instead of 14-year olds. The sailors decide to visit the girls so they (the girls) proceed to dress themselves up grown-up like-but Aunt Sandra gets word of it and foils their plan by dressing up as a little kid, always under foot, and then the fun begins.

Linda Kisner, Mary Ann McKenzie, Dan Hartford, Leslie Lechner, Janet Young, Karen Burk and Dale Couts of Plymouth, Barbara Elliott of Northville and John Dawson of Livonia are the actors.

Tickets are available at the door or from any member of the Apprentice Players for 75 cents.

'Curtain Going Up'

By Wally Roberts three days.

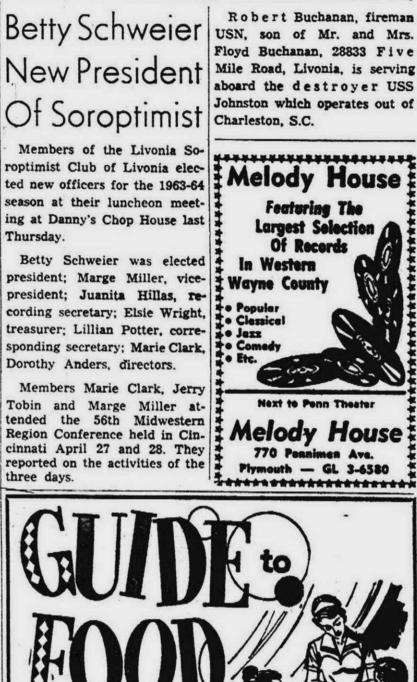

"My Aunt Wears Old Army Boots" clomped into town last Friday amid the misty, wet weather. A capacity audience braved the elements to see this annual affair. A most military usher . . . her gold tie and pert hat sparkled brightly as she showed my seat. I thought for a moment the show had started ahead of schedule. You can always depend on the Redford Suburban League for novel ideas. "Old Army Boots" kicked up its heels and came alive when a wild group of Waac's in drab fatigues stopped the show in Act I with "This Is the Army Mrs. Jones." If Tony Sansone had rested on his laurels with this parody and forgotten the "Object All Sublime" I'm sure all of us would have felt better. Mary Lou Bradley and Louise Martin zipped through "Flings" with reckless abandon making Act I a joy to behold.

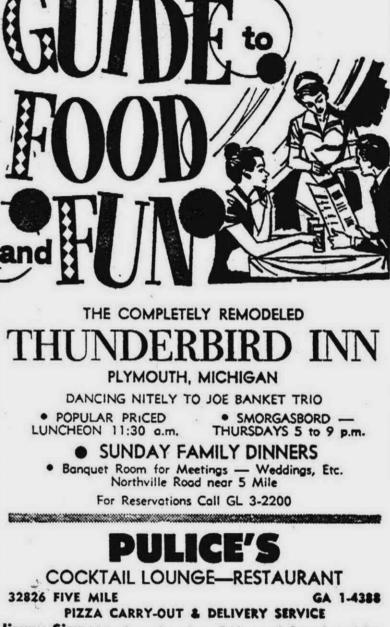

Act II of "Boots" was a perfect 6A fit. Claire Lloyd as Hortense Holstein added a thousand yocks as she did her clever interpretation of "Doing What Comes Naturally" with Smedley (Ray Morrison). Harriet Ferandez's fine "Italian haid" was evident with the Rosie the Riveter number and the fine ballet number "Temptation". More of her carefully choregraped dance numbers would have been appreciated. The Tico Tico Cho-Cha-Cha was a riot and had the audience in a true frenzy. John Curran as Conchita Banana deserves an "Oscar" or his spirited and comic footwork. Jo Milley added the right touch with re vibrato rendering of "Blue In The Night." And then the whipped cream on top of all these delicacies was the hilarious gyrations of Jerry Pember, Doug Sharick, and Roger Lumley in the Wild and wooly Andrews Sister number, "Army Boots" plays this Saturday and Sunday at The Redford Union High School auditorium for two final performances. Don't miss it.

Jock O'Brien's original 3 act comedy had a short run in the DANCING NITELY TO JOE BANKET TRIO Trueblood auditorium in Ann Arbor. Jack has always been one · POPULAR PRICED SMORGASBORD of my favorite actors. Dr. Spock is worried.

If you've been raising a family on Dr. Spock's book, you know that he doesn't get worried easily.

From the university in Ohio where he works, he sends you this message about the resumption of nuclear testing in the atmosphere:

"I am worried. Not so much about the effect of past tests but at the prospect of endless future ones. As the tests multiply, so will the damage to children—here and around the world.

"Who gives us this right?

"Some citizens would leave all the thinking to the government. They forget the catastrophic blunders that governments have made throughout history.

"There are others who think that superior armaments will solve the problem. They scorn those who believe in the strength of a just cause. They have forgotten that a frail idealist in a loin cloth compelled the British to back out of India.

"There are dangers in any course. I would rather we took small risks today if there is hope of lessening the enormous risks which lie ahead.

"And if I am to be destroyed through some miscalculation I would prefer to be destroyed while we are showing leadership in the search for a cooperative world than while sitting in an illusory fortress blaming our opponents for the lack of a solution.

"In a moral issue, I believe that every citizen has not only the right but the responsibility to make his own feelings known and felt."

-Benjamin Spock, M.D.

Dr. Spock has become a sponsor of The National Committee for a SANE Nuclear Policy.

Other sponsors are listed below, with a brief description of what SANE stands for.

If you are worried too about the impending series of nuclear tests in the atmosphere, telegraph or write President Kennedy and your Congressman.

Woodlore Plymouth High To Offer Water Mains Approved Water for the new Woodlore abdivision, planned by Stew-Musical Confection May 28 subdivision, planned by Stewart Oldford and Son, was assured when the Plymouth Township Board approved ex- direction of Mr. Fred Nelson, Road.

thoroughly discussed by the Trustees after they had voted to abrogate a previous agreement. This required the builders have a 12-inch line from the mains to the entrance of the subdivision and from the outer boundary to Beck Road.

More than a year ago, the builders had offered to pay $5,000 of the cost of extending the main. The offer was later withdrawn when the Board demanded the 12-inch lines to the entrance and exit.

Acting on the theory that the 12-inch lines would cause unnecessary expense for the builder, the Board decided to extend the mains 1,500 feet along Ann Arbor Road to Beck Road.

This means the mains would go along the back of the Woodlore subdivision but the Oldfords would be required to pay $3 per lineal foot to get water into the development.

Under this arrangement, the Board can also charge $3 per foot if and when the land is developed on the opposite side of Ann Arbor Road.

In other actions, the Board:

Approved a PR 2 zoning for Gould's professional offices on Sheldon Road, between Ann Arbor Trail and N. Territorial. as recommended by the planning commission.

Gave final approval of Arbor Village Subdivision No. 2.

rolet and vans, long lines of cars dash across the tracks, red light notwithstanding.

Some drivers with nearby residences maintain a fear of danger, and park their car by the tracks and walk home, rather than violate the warning and without the patience to wait for 15 minutes or so until the flasher stops.

The driver who was killed last week waited for a freight to pass. The flasher still was going, we're told, but he thought it was the usual thing, and drove across. This time, it was warning of a passenger train which was passing hard beside the freight. It plowed into the car, killing the driver almost instantly.

Something of this same situation exists at Haggerty road, where there are half-gates, plus the flasher. The warning is on so often and so long that many drivers despair and drive around the half-gates. With our local population and traffic mounting, the situation can only worsen in the future. Common sense calls for action now, whatever the cost.

St. Agatha Loses Duel

A triple and squeeze bunt spelled a heartache for St. Agatha High School's baseball team against Our Lady of Sorrows last Tuesday.

The teams were locked in a bitter struggle when the long blow and the short one in the tenth inning beat St. Agatha who went all the way, giving up 3-2. The loser was Rick Collins only five hits.

In addition, Collins rapped a triple and scored on a fly in the fourth. Then Mike Roemer slapped a homer for St. Agatha's second and last run to knot the score at 2-2. The tie re-

SPORTS OBSERVER

-By George Maskin-

Why not a Livonian Night at Tiger Stadium on July 23 to toast our community's No. 1 sports citizen-Ray Herbert of the Chicago White Sox?

His pitching has been on the fantastic side for the Chisox as he's rifled shutout after shutout, including that beauty (from a Chicago standpoint) against the Tigers a week ago in a game which was televised hereabouts.

If you don't know it, Herbert and his wife, along with their youngsters, reside in Livonia . . . that during the off season Herbert worked hereabouts.

The story of Herbert makes for a thriller . . . good subject matter for a book writer. He was a big high school pitcher at Detroit Catholic Central and was signed by the Detroit Tigers for a substantial bonus. Except for one flurry of success with the Tigers. Herbert didn't do much.

He was shipped on to Kansas City, then to the minors down in Indianapolis. It was while he was "down," Herbert learned to curb his wildness. When he returned to Kansas City, he became a winner. The A's then engineered a trade with the White Sox and the name of Herbert has become bigger and bigger on the baseball scene.

So why not a Livonia night for Herbert when the White Sox come into Detroit late in July?

Within the next 10 days, Thurston High wraps up its athletic association with the Mid-Wayne League.

Comes next fall, Thurston will be competing with Oak Park, Franklin, North Farmington and Birmingham Groves in a newly formed circuit of Northwestern area schools. It's a good bet the loop will add another member of two within a couple of years.

Meanwhile, there's a great deal of talk in the Detroit area in connection with a general reshuffling of high school teams and leagues. The new philosophy is for closeby schools to band together, which explains why Thurston is parting with the Inkster teams and Shafer to unite with schools easier to reach.

We doubt, however, that there'll be a breakup in the Suburban Six League which includes Plymouth, Redford Union and Bentley along with Trenton, Belleville and Allen Park. The six schools have maintained fine relationships over the years.

Track Coach Jerry Kraft won't be at Thurston next year. He's won himself a year's scholarship at Columbia University in New York.

Our heartiest congratulations to Kraft, not only for the honor which has come his way, but also for the tremendous job he has done with the runners and jumpers at Thurston.

Thurston closed an unbeaten campaign in dual and triangular-meet competition and should do well in the league meet this week.

Speaking of track, these are hectic days and nights over at the Bentley High oval.

They had the regionals there last Saturday . . . Tonight will see Bentley hosting Franklin under the lights. The Suburban Six League is set for next week and then on June 1, Bentley will entertain several schools in the Claude Snarey relays held in the memory of one of the swellest fellows who ever coached prep teams in Greater Detroit.

Storms Test Wood Houses

High winds of hurricane strength have been felt in many portions of the nation this past year which normally do not experience such phenomena of nature.

Millions of dollars in damage to homes were caused this year in Hawaii, along the Pacific coast, and down along the Atlantic coast where this type of weather is not so unusual.

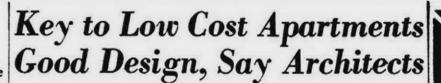

In the big blow which struck the Pacific coast on Columbus Day last year, said an official of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association, the big story was how well wood-framed homes tired couples. stood up under the force of winds which sometimes reached 150 mile velocity.

You could almost feel the wood give, said the expert, and then snap back into shape when story apartment buildings which of these buildings can be mathe pressure was released. Wood has tremendous resilience and an air of elegance and are spagive, and will ben out of shape | cious, yet still can be rented inbefore it will break, said the lumberman.

Cedar shingles, he said, were virtually unharmed, while tile, asphalt and composition roofs were torn off in giant chunks. There is no record of a woodsided home having suffered any major damage in this storm which was caused by a failure of the wood itself.

wood, the lumberman points out, is its capacity to take a terrific impact from a blow or lumber such as Douglas fir or shock without breaking the fibre.

Two large groups of Americans are searching for low cost apartments which are not tenements or public housing. They want to pay their way, but still have enough left over after rent checks to live comfortably on rather limited incomes.

These apartments, using modern design, meet all fire and safety codes, point out Blair and Zaik. They can be built so that they do not have that institutional look which so many high rise apartments seem to acquire. It is possible to produce an individual appearance for each of these apartments, the architects point out. For instance, in this type of design, each apartment can have its own enclosed lanai or patio for our door living during the warm summer months.

Wide Overhangs

The ideal natural insulating Some wide overhang eaves are material is wood, and the ideal designed to shelter a walk home is one which is built of around a house, or to protect wood. An inch of wood has the insulating value of one foot of an entrance walk along which framing and sheathing of the brick and 18 inches of concrete. guests may travel.

badly cracked or if the plaster is falling or sagging, you should take the precaution of first nailing up a framework of wood furrin gstripes and then attaching the tiles to them.

One reason for the increasing popularity of the post-and-beam type of home construction is the illusion the open ceilings give of extra size.

You can take a relatively small living room, points out one prominent home designer, and give it an exposed high ceiling and the room will look about half again as large as it would if it had a conventional flat and lower ceiling.

Of course, points out this designer, there is an attraction for many people to exposed wood. They like the grain of lovely woods like Douglas fir or west coast hemlock. They like the brightness of a room with exposed wood when the wood has been finished with a clear lacquer or varnish to capture and retain the natural beauty and grain.

Then, too, he says, you can
