With more than 60 units | long celebration, listed in the procession, the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce will present the greatest Fourth of July par ade in history Thursday as the highspot of their annual week-three days of registration.

The march starts at 11 a.m. in front of the City Hall. winds down Main Street to Hartsough, across Hartsough to the Junior High East athletic field where winners in tour categories will be announced and prizes awarded. The committee headed by President-elect Wendell Smith and Chairman Ron Coosiai has been working on the plans for months and Department of Public Works.

Hoben was appointed by a "Y" committee headed by George Lawton that includes School Supt. Russell Isbister, City Attorney Edward Draugelis, Don Sutherland and Urey Arnold.

His job is to make a thorough study of a problem that the advisory board believes is a rather acute one from the standpoint of employment for persons in the 16-25 age group.

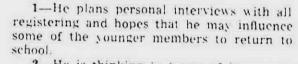

However, first he plans on asking all to register so that he will have a definite idea of the scope of the problem and then will take steps, assisted by the board, in correcting it, if possible.

Hoben indicated that he has had some success in securing permanent jobs for some members of the group registering, but hopes to make some marked advances within a short time as soon as business firms and plants learn of the project.

With that thought in mind, he mailed letters to 380 firms and plants in the area last week, explaining the aims and goals of the project and asking all to co-operate as much as possible.

Hoben feels that high school dropouts make up the majority of the group involved in the employment problem.

He has three thoughts in mind in working with the task at hand:

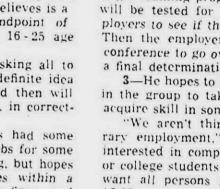

2-He is thinking in terms of inaugurating a training program under which workers will be tested for a period of time by employers to see if they are suited for the jobs. Then the employer and Hoben will hold a conference to go over the situation and make a final determination.

3-He hopes to be able to encourage many in the group to take vocational schooling to acquire skill in some particular type of work.

"We aren't thinking in terms of temporary employment," he stresses, "We aren't interested in compiling a list of high school or college students seeking summer jobs. We want all persons in the community in the 16-25 age group who are unemployed or having a problem to register, come in for an interview and we'll see what can be worked

"We can't guarantee that we'll get jobs or solve the problems of all but we do feel that we can make strides towards solving a situation that appears to be rather acute at this time."

Hoben will be available from Monday through Friday during the hours of 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. for registrations.

The 15-year-old interrupted.

"Okay, what did you do when you were my age?"

But you say you're not interested in camping . . . and with time on your hands, you say 'I'm not interested in camping' and I have time on my hands. and if you adults don't do something about it, what can you expect except trouble?"

The youth took over again. "Tell me, just tell me, where is this soda fountain today where you can go without walking in Mile Rds. for Sam Battle. with a bunch of greases who want nothing but trouble. Where can you go in this town if you don't want to run into trouble?"

"Why don't adults do something about it?" The discussion wound up in an impasse.

Most of which is a preface to an invitation to The Reader to read an article coming up in the next Life Magazine. "Where's the Party, Let's Crash It." is the title. The subtitle: "Restless Teen-Agers and Lax Parents

The author starts his job with the disclosure, which will astound some adults but not those who have tried to hold teen parties of their own in the suburbs, that "crashing" of parties by uninvited youth has become a commonplace thing.

They arrive by caravan, carrying beer or liquor in their cars, and unless the hostess is wary, they barge in, destroy furnishings, steal, threaten the guests and generally disrupt the evening. It sometimes gets worse, and there is advice that a policeman should be hired on many occasions to protect the home and the party.

But this introduction is only to suggest that the underlying problem isn't the party crashing, but that the latter is a symptom of the mood of the times.

From Life: "There's nothing to do in this town"-a teen- again in future meetings with ager's response-may seem curious to those who consider only the quantity, not the quality of recreation facilities.

The typical suburban town has a movie theater. a bowling alley, a country club, a restaurant. Local schools ordinarily provide some form of after-hours activity. Some teenagers do take advantage of these opportunities, but too many others-particularly the restless and the sophisticated-do not.

'How square can you get? asks one of them. 'I like to get out and have a couple of beers, dance with my girl and sit around with the other kids.

Some other Life observations:

"What is it that 'bugs' the suburban teen-ager? . . there has always been some cleavage between teen-agers and their parents which opens up at about age 16 and closes again at 21 or 22 . . . today the cleavage, the lack of communication, seems broader than in the past . . . teen-agers speak of themselves as 'us' and their elders as 'them' . . . many of them feel, rightly or wrongly, as threatened and helpless in the world created and controlled by 'them'."

The author suggests as a key cause of trouble the drive by suburban parents for their children to win college degrees in a "college-oriented suburb." And he says, "parental ambition may be a form of tyranny; the ambition often outruns the teen-agers' ability . . . do the parents wish their youngsters to win a prestige degree to satisfy their own social drives or are they interested in his capabilities and requirements."

The idea is that teen-agers, forced into competition they can not handle and do not understand, rebel against adult rules and principles in general. They just give up and embrace despair.

Then with the regular session completed, the Commission went into a lengthy session with the Township officials in the discussion of the water problems.

Nothing concrete came out of the meeting but some steps were taken towards a meeting of the minds on solution of the various problems facing the entire area.

The group explored the possibility of forming a Water Authority for the entire area including the City of Plymouth. Plymouth Township, Canton Township, Northville Township and the City of Northville. However, it was all discussion and is expected to be taken up an expressed thought that perhaps a meeting of all units should be arranged in the near future.

Members of the Plymouth Commission told of their plans for the proposed reservoir and indicated they would like to have an expression from the Township as to whether it could be worked into their future plans.

The matter of getting water lines into the west end of the township also was talked of at length, with the thought that such action should be taken soon since the area is developing rapidly.

Generally the meeting was for the purpose of the two groups exchanging ideas, taking such thoughts back to their individual meetings for further study and then calling additional sessions in the near future to see if steps can be taken on a joint basis to solve many of the problems.

Only a handful turned out two years ago to deleat the proposal by an overwhelming majority and the story is expected to be much the same this time.

Few, if any, favor passage of the issue which has been brought up for the sole purpose of eliminating any possibility of an adjoining municipality making a land grab by annexation.

As long as the charter commission can keep coming up with a proposal for a change in the government under a new charter none may reach in and make a grab.

But the code also provides that an election on a proposed charter must be held within two years of the filing of petitions-the Township deadline in this instance is July 25.

Even the charter commission, headed by James Garber of Lakepointe Village, isn't pushing for a "Yes" vote and every member would be much surprised if the vote was in favor.

When the proposition was presented to the electors two years ago it failed by a considerable majority and even the fondest backer hopes the same thing happens again.

Strange enough, only four names will be on the ballot as candidates for city posts. All other positions will have to be filled by write-in votes.

The four names are: Mayor John McEwen, Treasurer Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes, and Council, Dick Lauterbach and Louis Norman.

The charter election results will be announced at about the same time that the Plymouth Township Board holds its monthly meeting in the Township Hall

Girardin Resigns Rec Post

Robert Girardin, superintendent of the Livonia Department of Parks and Recreation, has tendered his resignation effective on July 10 and will leave two days later to take the post of Parks and Recreation Administrator in South Gate. Calif., a suburb of Los Angeles.

It has been known for some time that Girardin was considering leaving but members of the Recreation Commission, headed by Thomas Genova. were much shocked when he turned in the resignation with two weeks' notice.

In his new job. Girardin will be in charge of South Gate's parks and recreation facilities which include an Olympic-size swimming pool, stadium and fieldhouse, community auditorium, senior citizens' building and a 90acre park site.

South Gate is a city of 60,000 operating under the City Manager-Commsision form of government and Girardin will be serving under the City Manager.

Girardin commented on the needs and growth of the Livonia DPR shortly after tendering his resignation.

He pointed out that the city's recreation needs have grown during the four years he has been in charge but the facilities have remained the same.

"I see a need in Livonia for the following facilities," he said, in making recommendations for the Commission to consider: "1-Lighter baseball and softball fields, (2) swimming pools, (3) artificial ice rinks, (4) a playground museum, (5) adequate park sites for each neighborhood as well as a major site to accommodate larger facilities. (6) a par three golf course, (7) a golf driving range, (8) a music shell and (9) community center.

"I see these as a must in the overall master plan for Livonia in the next 10 to 15 years. If the city doesn't take advantage of the opportunity to acquire land now, I'm quite sure the voters will be sorry later when the costs soar to much higher amounts."

Then Girardin praised the members of his staff for their fine co-operation in making the program so successful during his four-year stay.

"We are fortunate in Livonia to have a dedicated group of people on the recreation staff." he said. "training and developing a staff that is matured and understands recreational goals to the degrees this one does. takes a great deal of time to develop. I feel Livonia is fortunate to have people on the DPR staff of this caliber."

Girardin resides at 35922 Ladywood Dr., with his wife, Shirley, and three children, David, 10; Kathy, 8, and Debbie, 7. Mrs. Girardin teaches first grade in the Marshall Elementary School.

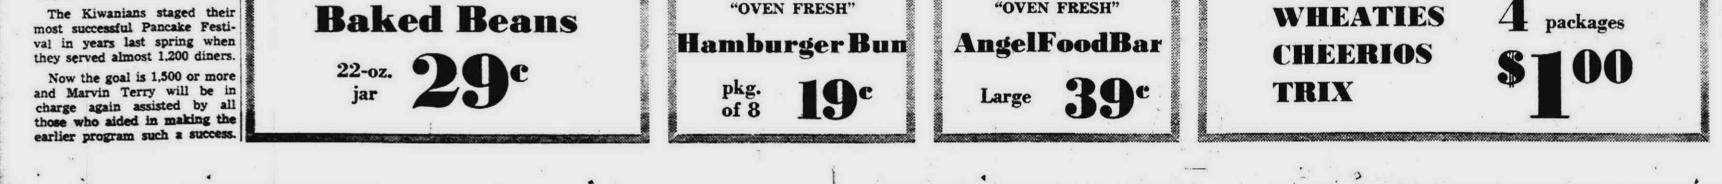

Girardin will report to his new job on July 12 and the family will move there within a short time as soon as a new home is found in California and the one here sold.

Each year, the group sponsors a new venture to earn money for a particular philanthropic interest.

I have a tattered book of quotes from the poet Robert Graves -a favorite of mine was recently printed in "Life".

"The political and social confusion of the last 3,000 years ship funds and the club's op- has been entirely due to man's revolt against woman as a priestess of natural magic and defeat of her wisdom by the use of intellect. Only love or a personal understanding between the male and female mind can lift humanity out of the morass where intellectual arrogance has sunk it."

As long as there is marching going on all over the place-Saturday in Redford-the following week in Livonia and then Plymouth-why not join the freedom march giving women credit for the same mental capacity and physical endurance as men. It isn't even necessary for us to walk down the boulevard-just keep your soap-box handy and protest long and loud when you see and hear injustices around you.

This carillon consists of 25 miniature bronze bell units which are struck by metal hammers, producing exact bell tones almost inaudible to the human ear. Bell vibrations are then amplified over 100,000 times by means of specially designed electronic equipment producing bell tones which are said to be superior to the traditional cast bells of massive proportions.

The instrument which has been installed at St. Paul's provides the tonal equivalent of 79,462 pounds of cast bells tuned to the finest English standards.

Church bells, ringing from the belfries of communities, threatened to become a lost tradition until electronics created a sound of a perfectly tuned bell without using the great mass of metal required to mold a cast bell. Extinction seemed certain because of the great

Mrs. John Sullivan of 14820 Berwick, Livonia, a deanery chairman for the Council, reports that this drive brought in the highest amounts yet for her deanery. Members of 17 Catholic parishes in Taylor, Dearborn, Livonia, Romulus, Plymouth, Detroit, Wayne, Inkster, and Garden City donated to the drive.

"This will help us greatly in stantial contribution to the Michigan agricultural industry," she says. "In the past, Wayne Western Deanery material has gone to Erie, Michigan, where this year we are hosts for a Migrant Family Night on July 25.

AN EKBERG!

By Wally Roberts

Summer theater begins in earnest by the Fourth of July weekend. Many strawhat operations formally open their doors in July, especially up North in Michigan. If you are vacationing in the Traverse Bay area or over by Manistee, let me advise you that there are excellent summer theater in both locations. In fact, no matter where you may roam this summer check first in the papers or ask the management of your motel if there happens to be a summer theater nearby. You might just see that play you wanted to see last winter.

Over in Windsor Mr. Wayne Martens opens a stimulating then sneaking back into prison. season of plays July 6. "Invitation to a March" will be at the Enroute, the witty dialog man-Cleary Auditorium for eight days. If you missed this show when ages to take a number of good it was at the Cass two or three years ago, make the trip to natured jabs at the army, sex Canada. Old Wally found the play quite provocative and enter- and motherhood. taining. Stop in at the Top Hat Club for dinner. Their smorgasbord is particularly filling and a delight to behold,

Out in the Six Mile and Livernois area of Detroit my old friend Frank Mennotti has really done wonders with his restaurant. Only thing left of the old decor is the name Maria's. The interior has been completely renovated with sofe, subdued lighting, alabastar columns, and lively-looking red-striped chairs. The food is still tops. I had a Shrimp Creole special that was luscious. Service is stops and at Maria's you have plenty of free parking. Maria's is located on Puritan just a block off Livernois.

When you go over to the U of D summer festival of plays this summer, remember Maria's. You can have supper for a reasonable price amid cool, pleasant surroundings. U of D will have "Much Ado About Nothing" and "Captain' Brassbound's Conversion" playing alternate nights in the big tent. Premiere performance tokes place on July 19. Make your plans now to take the family over to the U of D summer drama tent.

"What's Up," the third annual variety show sponsored by the Plymouth Theater Guild has its premiere showing on Thursday, July 4. Two shows will be given on the opening night to accommodate the crowds. You can purchase tickets for either the 7 or 8 o'clock show. The Minor Notes, Miss Harriet's dancers, Ed Cassar's operatic arias, and Jo Miley's swinging blues will vations may be made with Miss fill the air at the Carnival grounds. A special platform has been Jane McCall, adult activities di- constructed by Producer Dennis Merchant and plenty of seats rector, at Central Branch YWCA are available for everyone. The Jaycee Carnical will run until Sunday. "What's Up" opens on Thursday for a three night run. For some unusually effective entertainment drift over to Lilley Road and Ann Arbor Road for "What's Up?"

Bouquets were in order for the Stratford Players and the University of Michigan thespians. Old Wally journeyed to the Shakespearean Festival and caught "Cyrano De Bergerac" with John Colicos handling the lead role. "Cyrano" this year is a better balanced production. Plummer last year was excellent as Cyrano. In fact, at times he was too good ..., if this can be possible. John Colicos does the "trip to the Moon" speech far better than Plummer. Colicos has only one problem and that is physical stature. Even though his eyes flash and fairly burn with intensity as he does the role, John still needs physical height, Be that as it may, the over-all production still provides much excitement. The battlefield scene, normally difficult to believe, has a realism missing in last year's production of "Cyrano". The gunfire and movement of the troops brings you right off your seat.

"The Comedy of Errors" adopts the Comedia del Arte style and stage setting for an uproariously funny presentation of what could be a very dull Shakespearean comedy. Jean Gascon has staged this merry mix-up with tongue-in-cheek. His gags come fast and furious. You barely have time to catch many of the lines that Will so quickly penned. "Comedy of Errors" was one of the Bard's earlier plays. Consequently many of the lines are just as well lost in the shuffle. And the actors do shuffle, skip,

There are a few tickets left for some of the middle of the week nights. If you will recall, I've been warning you to get your reservation in. And if you don't obey that urge right now, it may be too late for tickets even during the middle of the week.

The University of Michigan Players opened their summer season with a rousing presentation of "South Pacific." Professor Ralph Herbert, formerly with the Metro, sang the lead role made famous by Enzio Pinza years ago with the same great gusto and professional finesse. A huge competent supporting cast provided the necessary backing for a musical comedy that zipped along beautifully. And the 30 piece orchestra batoned by Morton Achter gave a perfect performance of a difficult score. "Two For The Seesaw" is next on the U of M playbill. Watch for it.

By. SUPT. JOSEPH BIDA Dept. Public Works

Department of Public Works crews were busy the past week mowing grass and trimming shrubs and handling two funerals at Riverside Cemetery.

The business area was swept twice during the week. Main St. between Penniman Ave. and Ann Arbor Trail was sealed by the Pam Products Co., of Detroit.

The hot, humid, dry spell taxed the water department to the limit with a high total of 4.032.000 gallons pumped on a single day. The total for the week was 22,803.000 gallons, one of the biggest seven-day periods in history.

Chloride was applied on Harding. Deer and Goldsmith Sts. The parks and playgrounds were mowed and cleared of debris. All the streets in the north end were cold patched.

Work was completed on widening S. Evergreen between Sheridan Ave. and Penniman and a catch basin was built at the creek.

Rubbish barrels from the parks, streets and the cemetery are being repainted. A manhole frame and cover was replaced on S. Union St.

Fire hydrants were flushed in the southeast section but the flushing will be discontinued until the hot spell ends. The water department is pumping near capacity. without storage, and the water being used so much that flushing is unnecessary.

The sidewalk and curb were repaired at 265 Arthur St. following damage caused by the installation of a sanitary sewer tap. A broken water service was repaired at 571 S. Mill St. and the shutoff box moved to the property line.

Street marking is being completed throughout the city under the supervision of the DPW

The department started mowing vacant lots on Monday, July 1. and the property owners will be billed for the work.

LIVONIA, REDFORD PACE CONNIE MACK PLAY: DRC '9' Plymouth Elks Capture 4 In Row To Lead

The roar set up by the Plymouth Elks baseball team last week was heard more than in the club's home.

It also reverberated in Redford Township, Livonia, Northville, Dearborn Heights and Wayne.

The Elks, who are engaged in two championship drives this season-in the Class D (boys 16-18) and Connie Mack Divisions-had themselves a week they'll never forget.

They won four in a row Three of the triumphs came in the Class D circuit, which boasts 11 teams and is run under the sponsorship of Livonia's Recreation Department. The other conquest came in the Mack circuit in which nine of the 11 "Rec" teams also participate.

The sweep in "Rec" action shot the Elks into undisputed first place with a 4-0 record. Wayne Monarchs are second with three wins and a tie. Then come Champion and DAV from Redford Township at 3-1.

DRC of Livonia has a 2-2 mark, Dearborn Heights 1-2, Livonia Bisons 1-3, Wayne Civic two losses and a tie and Plymouth Optimists and Northville are yet to win in three encounters.

Over in the Mack circuit, the Elks have a 3-1 record to trail front-running DRC and DAV. each with 3-0 standings. The Monarchs follow at 2-1. Then come Champion and Dearborn 2-2. Bisons 1-3. Northville 0-3 and Wayne Civic 0-4.

In their three-game surge in Recreation League play, the Elks started the week by routing Dearborn Heights, 9-5. behind the fine pitching of Jim Edwards.

Then followed "big" victories by 3-2 and 9-3 scores over Champion and Detroit Race Course, respectively.

Edwards was the winning pitcher against Champion as he bested a trio of Champion hurlers-Don Walker, Jerry Rock and Tom Tanner.

Singles by Tom Van Glahn, Jim Lake and Bob Simmons paved the way for the Elks to score three runs | up three hits. The three DRC | an error by the Northville | sided victories during the week in the second inning. The runs were uncarned. winning run came across when Terry Clark tripled and reach home on an error. Champion tallied twice when Tanner singled. Don Svenson walked and Dave Wolach tripled.

A great throw by the Elks' John Daniels cut down Rock at the plate in the final inning with the tieing run. Rock attempted to score from second on a single.

Against DRC, the Elks broke the game open with a six-run uprising in the fifth inning. Cal Luilibrand started matters with a walk. Clark also walked. Van Glahn singled Luilibrand home and Lake singled in two more. Daniels, Jerry Kisabeth and Bob Gotro followed with

PUTTING ONE WORD AFTER ANOTHER

And so you're one of those who think the Tigers should have traded away Rocky Colavito before the curtain dropped on swaps within the American League?

Well, it's likely that Jimmy Campbell, the Tiger general manager, did wave Colavito's name in front of each of his (Campbell's) nine counterparts.

There's one thing, however, we've learned since moving from the sports desk of the old Detroit Times into the front office of the Detroit Pistons basketball forces: When your foes see that you are in tough straits. they won't make matters more comfortable for you.

By that we mean . . . and let's bring up the name of Colavito again . . . the Yanks, White Sox, Indians, etc., all don't have to be told the Tigers have provided the baseball with with its No. 1 disappointment to date this season and that Colavito's bat has not responded with too much regularity in the clutches.

The Yanks, White Sox, and Indians all had scouts on the Tigers from the time spring training started in March until the trading deadline expired on June 15. And, the Tigers had their eyes glued on their rivals . . . not to scout as they do in football, but strictly for purposes of knowing exactly what might be discussed in a possible trade.

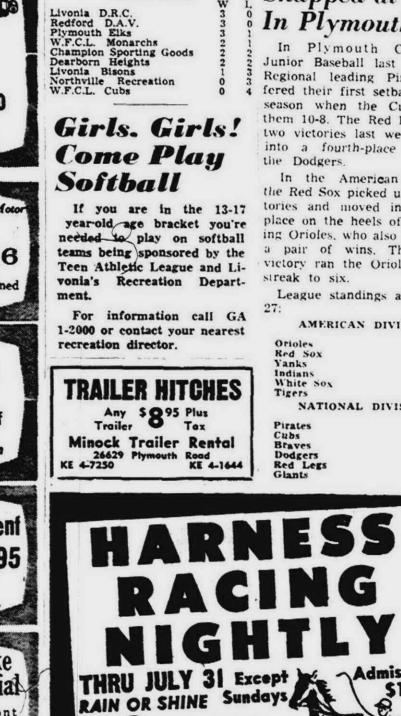

Aware of the Tigers' plight and Colavito's slump, the other A. L. teams didn't feel they should part with one of their stars to lure Colavito. Instead, we suspect they offered a couple of sescond-liners. The Tigers, rating Colavito one of their aces despite his weak bat, thought they were entitled to a player of equal ability. Since one was not offered, no Colavito trade materialized. The best trades, for both teams, usually occur when neither side is experiencing any pressure.

Oh, yes, the heat notwithstanding, football is back in the limelight. The season's first game was on television last Saturday and the Lions will be going to work a couple weeks hence.

One sees by a story in the Detroit papers that one of the big shots in national high school sports urges that the preps should put more emphasis on such minor activities as golf, tennis, wrestling and cross country.

Obviously said gent isn't familiar with the athletic programs being offered in the area served by the Observer newspapers

Schools like Bently, Franklin, Thurston, Redford Union, Plymouth and Clarenceville also are promoting "complete" sports programs on interscholastic basis.

The youngsters hereabouts have every reason to be thankful and also appreciate what their parents and others in the community are doing for them . . . when it comes to education

The author of these words happens to reside in Detroit where the public schools will be cutting back very sharply starting in the fall. For one thing, they're going to put many youngsters on half-day sessions.

Athletics also will suffer. Only varsity football and basketball will survive. Swimming, track, tennis, golf. baseball, cross country all are going by the boards according to the last information made available.

Even before the cutbacks were announced, the athletic program in Detroit high schools short changed many youngsters.

program in Detroit high schools shoremfwycmfwycmfwypp We know that in reporting the doings of teams in Livonia, Plymouth and Redford Union, the names of sophomores on varsity teams frequently drew major attention. Other tenth graders were doing well on reserve teams.

Yet in Detroit, few tenth graders got a chance to try out for a reserve or varsity team. That's because, the tenth graders generally have been assigned late hours. not being dismissed until 3:30 or 4:15 p.m. By that time, it was too iate to turn out for practice or games.

Hence most Detroit public school boys interested in prep sports haven't made their debuts until they reached the eleventh grade playoffs.

And, one other thing: in Detroit they have had no junior high teams!

Bill Black drilled three hits and knocked in the only run in the Faust encounter.

Beal wasted no time jumping into a big lead against Northwest. Before the first inning was over Pitcher Lee Sanders had a five-run margin with which to work.

Roger Frayer opened the assault with a walk. Rick Elliott was safe on an error. The next two Beal batters fanned and it looked like the threat was over.

But then the Beal bats boomed. Dick Schirmer singled, Black singled, Dave Falzet.i doubled and Bernie Carbo tripled.

Sanders, in posting his fifth win of the season, allowed six hits and fanned five.

A three-run rally in the seventh inning enabled Livonia to win from Edison.

Lagging, 2-1, Beal capitalized on Edison miscues. Dennis Wagner was safe on an error and moved ot second when Falzetti walked. Sanders shot a line single to right and when the ball skipped past the outfielder, all three men scored.

Norm Vasquez, making his pitching debut for Beal, worked the first seven innings and allowed two runs. Ted Patrick finished up.

Black's single, an error and two infield outs had netted Beal its first run in the second inning. Black also clubbed a triple during the game.

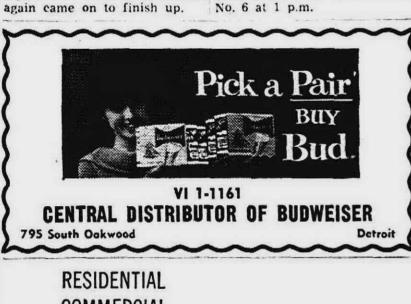

The Beal-Stitt game was a struggle all the way. Each

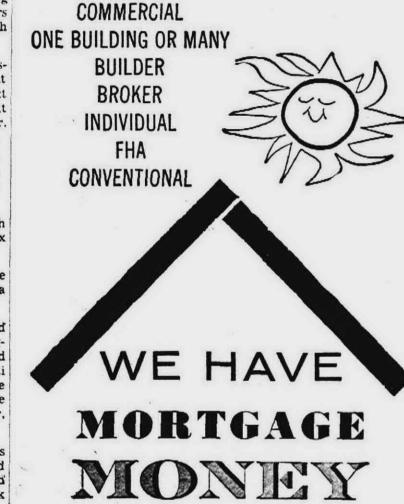

Big Dance Aids Team

Here's a chance for Livonians to show their appreciation to the fine job the Beal Post team is doing in American Legion baseball play this season.

A benefit dance will be held at the Post Hall on Newberry, south of Ann Arbor Trail, next Saturday evening at 9.

Proceeds will be used to defray the costs of sponsoring the team which has won ine of its 14 games to dat

Plan Safer Light in Kitchen Area Preparing meals with modern kitchen equipment has become an easier task for the homemaker. But lack of proper light in the kitchen paves the way for accidents, making it one of the most dangerous rooms in the home, according to the American Home Lighting Institute.

Improving kitchen lighting can be easy on the budget. In many cases, especially with counter lighting, fluorescent fixtures can be installed as a "doit-yourself" project in older homes. Two important things to watch when you plan for kitchen lighting are the color of light you choose and glare protection. Generally, deluxe cool white fluorescent is preferred for the speakers in a corner of the kitchen.
