There are many wonderful things about living in this general area. And there are other things.

The most neglected, ignored, misunderstood and underrated problem we endure is Air Pollution.

It exists in certain areas (generally along Schoolcraft road) to a degree that makes it a genuine hazard to health. It also is a destroyer 'of property values, a purveyor of filth and dirt, and a complete nuisance.

The air is polluted by industries which sit between Plymouth road and Schoolcraft. Their stacks belch smoke of various kinds-oily, lung-choking dusty, heavy fly ash, or poorly-combusted soft coal.

These clouds, many of which are thrown up only at night after the sun goes down, settle upon residential areas. The worst residue is within one-half or threequarters of a mile of the offending source, but under certain wind conditions the fall-down can be traced two Plymouth is buzzing over the arrival of triplet daughters to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kramer, 9049 S. Main. The three gals were born a week ago in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Aware of the fact that multiple births were imminent, the Kramers were surprised and happy when Mama gave birth to three daughters.

The trio weighed slightly more than 18 pounds and are expected home within a few days when they'll be wel comed by their sister.

In its own way, the problem is wrapped up in the general subject of "industrial development" and Facts 14, 15 and 16, has been named and Opinions would urge that the Township and City fathers give it serious thought along with all other phases of bringing new factories into the area.

Then too, there is open land out in the western side of Livonia and eastern Plymouth Township where it is proposed to place a huge new subdivision of homes. The location is right in the heart of the "air pollution belt," close-by the Evans, Burroughs and Chevrolet plants.

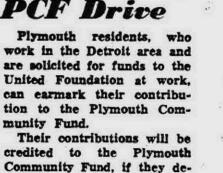

Any new home purchaser should know, and be warned before he plunks any down payment, that smoke, dust and soot can adversely affect every minute he might spend in a new home there.

There must be some thought, in other words, given to at least containing the problem within its present size.

Efforts to enforce any ordinance or regulation, ick Damon; Harry Fountain as either in Livonia or Plymouth, are hamstrung in two general ways:

Mayor Wernette indicated that he had held a meeting with Plymouth Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay and hopes to hold additional discussions with the Plymouth Township Board and the Canton Township Board within a short time.

It was the consensus of the Commissioners that every step should be taken immediately to form an area Human Relations Commission but if not possible then the City of Plymouth would stand on its own in future actions.

In other actions, the Commission:

Passed a resolution requiring the owners of lots and premises on Sutherland and McKinley in the Puritan Holm addition and on Maple Street in the Hough subdivision to build sidewalks in the public streets abutting their properties.

Gave the Lions Club permission to hold a two-day cider sale on Oct. 18 and 19.

I have to take an exception to your comment regarding the proposed Schoolcraft Freeway in your column of "Facts and Opinion." As I understand correctly the building line of the present industry situated on the south side of Schoolcraft is 200 feet, so by logic of landscape all the future buildings would be in line with the present one, making the 50 feet set back uniform all along Schoolcraft. By following this line of reasoning the city will not lose any property on the north side and loss of taxes, the industry will lose nothing of the real building land, only the front green belt (and this change from 200 to 50 feet can be approved by the Council very easily), would be lost with the satisfaction of everyone and giving you and your paper more time to dediwanted to have her take "drivcate to matters more important er's training" so that by Januthan the Schoolcraft Freeway ary she could drive herself and which at present is only a poli-

Livonian Joins In GM Study

General Motors and the science students of the Livonia Public Schools gained twin benefits this summer from the efforts of Franklin science teacher Loren G. Farrell. Farrell participated in General Motors' Summer Program for High School Science and Mathematics Teachers, a program designed to give teachers useful information and experience about the opportunities available to young people in industry.

The General Motors program involved 46 teachers from throughout the United States who were hired to do independent research while learning the type of skills their students will need for future employment in industry.

Farrell was assigned to the Livonia Spring and Bumper Plant, which has the largest plating operation in the world.

to work on various chemical processes and to gain "industrial background." He apparently accomplished both with a great deal of success. He gained first-hand experience he will be able to apply to his teaching situation; he also explored a plating process for bumpers and other chrome parts which is now being used at the Spring Bumper Plant.

Farrell commented on his summer experiences, "I enjoyed doing the research and the satisfaction of really accomplishing something. I understand the process will materially increase the life of bumpers and other parts. I think the GM program will mean even more to my students. I have a much clearer idea of the kind of skills they will need to fit into our industrial system."

Farrell has been teaching in the Livonia Schools for the past 7 years. His previous experience included 10 years as an arson expert for the Detroit Police Department.

Rocks Top R.U. for Lead Redford Rangers

changed at Plymouth High School.

No longer are the Rocks just "a challenger" for the Suburban Six League title.

They have become the team to beat after victories in their first two conference encounters_triumphs which have netted Plymouth undisputed leadership.

The Rocks ran their winning string for the season to four in a row last Friday night by conquering Redford Union. 25-7, in what was billed as one in the area.

First place in the league rode on the outcome and there never was any doubt as to the Rocks' superiority. They scored early, fattened their lead and, except for a bad pass from center, the Plymouth defensive probably would have kept Redford Union from scoring.

Coach Mike Hoben of Plymouth naturally was pleased.

"This was a fine team effort," he said after the vietory. "You couldn't say enough for our defense. But our offensive kids did very well. We offered a balanced sttack. We ran and passed well."

Hoben had praise for Dick Egloff who spearheaded the defense from his linebacking post. Hal Smith, Dave Sackett and Kevin Huntington also drew orchids from the coach for their feats on defense.

Offensively, the big wheel was Dave Agnew. He crushed his way for almost 100 yards personally as the Rocks piled up 143 yards on the ground to Redford Union's 105. In passing it was Plymouth 103. R. U. 61.

HITTING 'EM HIGH AND HITTING 'EM LOW:

It took the football forces one season and two games to get going. Now that they're rolling, one can expect that the South Livonians will more than hold their own on the gridiron fields.

From where we sit, a flock of orchids should be bestowed on Coach Jack Hudnut and his staff. Anytime one takes over a new team he's in for trouble.

Just look at the difficulties Casy Stengel has had with the New York Mets. Notice, too, that the Houston team has been next to last in the National League and that the new American League teams at Washington and Los Angeles haven't done very well.

And we could also mention how the newly formed Chicago team (which this year will operate in Baltimore) floundered for two straight years in the National Basketball Association.

To the credit of Hudnut and his staff and his players they have come bounding back after failing to win in their debut year. We said a year ago that Franklin was biting off too much of a schedule for a new team.

After all, the '62 Franklin eleven didn't have a single senior. Everybody Franklin played boasted twelfth graders.

We even thought that Franklin was asking for headaches with the schedule tossed its way this fall. But with half the seson gone, there now appears every indication Franklin may finish well above the .500 mark.

It could be, too, that Franklin will annex its league title. Who could ask for more?

PREDICTION DEPT.: Our ol' alma mater. Michigan State, to beat Michigan at Ann Arbor next Saturday.

From where we sit the Spartans have too many weapons for the Wolverines. MSU showed the nation and Southern California a few things last Friday night out on the coast.

* * HUNCH DEPT .: The ease with which the Los Angeles Dodgers have handled the Yankees in the world series hardly surprised this dorner. Didn't we say the Dodgers would win? WELCOME DEPT .: To the Red Wings and Pistons who are about ready to swing into their 1963-64 seasons.

The Wings open Thursday night against Chicago, the Pistons next Wednesday against Philadelphia.

From what we hear the Wings have improved over a year ago when they reached the Stanley Cup finals. Gordie Howe is as brilliant as ever. And as Howe goes, so go the Wings.

The Pistons will be a different team this season. Coach Charley Wolf has instilled a new spirit, a pressing defense and a fast-breaking offense.

We'll not talk championships for either team - we'd only be applying our well-known hex. But it looks like a very interesting winter for both clubs and their followers.

RATINGS DEPT .: Those who have a hand at such matters had better start thinking about Plymouth High one of these days soon.

We have deemed it a pleasure to have known Kell for several years. He's a sound baseball man and a fine man on the mike.

The day after the announcement was made that Kell was retiring, we ran into him in front of the downtown hotel where he stays and yours truly works.

Sincerity marked Kell's words.

"One of the biggest reasons behind my leaving the job is that I don't think I should keep staying away from my children so long every year." he told us.

"You know, I've really never gotten to know my boy . . . since I've been playing or broadcasting since he was born." Kell added. "I don't want it to be that way, as fas as my daughter is concerned, any longer.

"If I don't get to enjoy her now . . . she'll be getting married before we know it."

Kellprobable hasn't broadcast his last game. The word is that NBC will hire him for their weekend "games-ofthe week" which are telecast nationally, but not in major league cities. We also may be hearing Kell on world series, all-star games, etc.

IN CASE YOU HAVE a son playing schoolboy football, you might be interested in the following pointers from the American Medical Association, which says that if the five steps, as outlined, are followed, injuries could be reduced sharply by gridiron action.

1-Proper physical conditioning. The body, hardened by training, will resist injury and be less prone to fatigue.

2-Careful coaching. The athlete who knows how to block and tackle in the right way is much less likely to get hurt.

3-Good officiating. The referee who knows his job and knows how to control the game adds much to the fun and safety of the sport.

4-Proper equipment and facilities. If your son is playing this season, satisfy yourself that he has proper padding, a good helmet and proper shoes.

5-Medical care. The physician is best qualified to judge whether an apparently minor injury is more serious than it appears.

As we see the above five items, No. 5 probably is the most important, with No. 1 second. We have encountered many situations over the years where a coach or parents have pushed a boy back into action when he should have remained on the sidelines because of an injury.

Doctors now are present at most schoolboy games. These are trained men to whom we trust our lives in an emergency.

If a "dos" says a boy shouldn't play . . . no coach or parent should argue differently.

The risk isn't worth what might happen.
