James "Jim" Jabara, who moved to Plymouth four years ago and has become a tremendous influence in the community in that relatively short time, was named 1963 "Man of the Year" by the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce and awarded the Distinguished Service Award for outstanding service to the community Monday.

The presentation, which came as a complete surprise to the youngest member of Plymouth's City Commission, took place Monday night at the annual Junior Chamber Bosses Dinner in the Hillside Inn.

More than 100 attended the affair which also is one of the highspots of the annual National Junior Chamber of Commerce Week celebration.

Jabara, who at 34 became one of the city's youngest commissioners in history when elected last April, was in attendance at the Council meeting when an emergency call came to go to the Hillside Inn.

When he arrived there, he discovered the emergency was that the Javcees had selected him as their "Man of the Year." He follows in the footsteps of George Lawton, who received the award a year ago, and James Garber, a former president of the Jaycees, who was the first recipient of the coveted DSA plaque in 1961.

The presentation was made by JCC President Wendell Smith.

Jabara was selected by a Jaycee committee headed by Smith and Garber, and including Doug Blunk, Howard Oldford and Ron Coosaia, after a long study of recommendations from city leaders.

Jim, a resident of Mancelona, completed his high school studies there and received a degree in Civil Engineering from Michigan Tech.

He and his brother, Kal, purchased the Plymouth Tank and Fabricating Co. plant four years ago and each has become a leader in the community in the intervening years.

At the moment they are in the process of constructing a new plant in Canton Township which they hope to develop into one of the area's better small plants. He and his wife, Jean, and sons Mike and Marty.

OPINIONS by Paul Chandler

Today's column is the most risky tried in months. The subject is Women.

But rather than shy from a controversial issue, and working on the theory that half of the readership is disstaff, I dare call attention to a growing belief throughout the land.

Many thinking countrymen have concluded that the women in U.S. society too long "have been discriminated against;" that they are forced to "waste themselves" because of outworn and unrealistic social ideas about home life; that they are in rebellion over an undeserved fate.

These thinkers would give all women a greater chance to get out of the home; to improve their education; they want more baby-sitting clinics; insist on women being paid equally for equal work; they would increase the number of females in political office; insist on paid maternity leave for those called from job or school, and ...

Generally guarantee women be treated as full and co-partners of men in the United States.

This theory rests upon the premise that life in America has changed and will continue so to do.

The remainder of the discussions here today revolve around a new report, "American Women," prepared by a special study committee appointed by President Kennedy. Eleanor Roosevelt was the first chairman, being succeeded by Esther Peterson. Members included cabinet mem-bers, labor experts, and career-type women.

"American Women" is a published book and available from the Superintendent of Documents in Washington for $1.25.

This report, more clearly than I've heard it said before, declares a difference in the life purpose of today's suburban wife and that young bride of grandmother's time ... "when the dowry of skills a young woman would bring into marriage anticipated that she knew how to cook and bake, keeping the stove stoked at the correct temperature, and canning fruits and vegetables; sewing her long-sleeved blouses, her children's pinafores, her husband's shirts and night-shirts; nursing the family ailments . . . her home was largely self-sufficient, her outside activities chiefly in her church . . . neighboring families, however, could rely on mutual aid in time of illness, accident, death or crisis . . ." Then, before deploring those (and the needle's sting has to be felt most keenly by so-called "old-fashioned men") who would try to impose the home patterns of those days upon the Women of 1964, the study commission insists: 'Important elements in women's lives are changing rapidly; how long they live, where they reside, when fessional singers including they marry and start home-making, their age when their Blaine Ballard, of Eastern Michchildren are grown, work outside the home in employment and voluntary activities, use of leisure." In light of the change, the President's study committee urges all to realize that women have to find a full and equal place in the alleged "man's world," not only for reasons of economy but also for "self-fulfillment.' With no bread to bake and no night-shirts to sew, and with long years to spend after the children have grown up, women are not going to thrive happily in the parlor day after day waiting for their man to arrive from the exhaustions of the office. Even if the women would try (the plea is) they would wind up mentally distressed. It is not necessary to tell the male of the species that when a wife is distressed, you'll find a distressed husband. As for single or widowed women-well, the conclusions are more obvious. This group must have a world in which they have opportunity to use their minds and energy, and earn salaries commensurate with their contributions. They are entitled to full opportunity to adadvance to executive positions and leadership. Not only that "... each woman is entitled to the opportunity to determine and select her purpose, whether as a center of home and family, a participant in the community, a contributor to the economy, a creative artist or thinker or scientist, a citizen engaged in politics and public service the current unused resources of the American economy include much work that could be done by women and a society cannot claim greatness merely because a majority of its members are well housed. clothed, fed. In a great society talents are evoked and and realized, creative minds probe the frontiers of knowledge, expectations of excellence are widely shared So much for generalities. The experts on the President's Commission would have you consider some specific steps.

Capt. Barney Maas, who was appointed acting officer in charge of the Plymouth Township Fire Department to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Louis Norman, will receive a total of $150 for his additional duties during the next three months.

That was the recommendation of the Township Study Committee, appointed by Supervisor Roy Lindsay to survey the situation in regard to police protection and fire department matters, at last week's Board meeting. The recommendation was approved by the Trustees. The committee also recommended a salary of $4,800 for a Firefighter I classification for the man named to fill the departmnt vacancy. It was okayed.

Committee Secretary Dick Lauterbach told the Trustees the group had met with the Civil Service Commission in a study of ranks for the fire department and a better understanding of the problems. Ford 1963 Payroll For Livonia Passes $53.8 M

Another banner year was recorded at Ford Motor Company's Transmission Plant in 1963. Plant Manager Richard L. McNulty announced in a year-end statement.

Reviewing the last 12 months, McNulty indicated that employment figures stand at an all-time high. The addition of approximately 1,200 employes brought the plant's population to a record 5,735 employes.

Payroll figures also eclipsed last year's mark as employes earned more than $43 million in wages and salaries.

In addition, 1,063 Transmission and Chassis Division General Office and Product Engineering employes housed at Livonia earned $10.8 million, bringing the location's over-all payroll for 1963 to $53.8 million.

Participation in the company's Employe Suggestion Program also established a record for the 1963 calendar year.

More than 1,750 employes shared "idea dividends" of tion of "water hammer or "hydraulic shock." This is caused by stopping the flow in the water pipe. This is of great practical importance as the shock frequently bursts the pipe.

When a liquid fluid is flowing through a pipe there is a certain amount of energy in the liquid and if we stop the flow this energy must be used up some way. If the liquid is incompressible, and we stop the flow suddenly, the energy of the liquid is used up in doing work on the pipe by stretching it or increasing its diameter.

If the liquid is compressible the energy of the liquid is used up in compresing the liquid and stretching the pipe. Nearly all bursting of pipes is due to sudden checking of the velocity of the liquid or to the freezing of the liquid.

The following summary and conclusions are based on exhaustive experiments conducted to determine the effects of water hammer in pipes.

The shock pressure is transmitted through the pipe wth a constant velocity which seems to be independent of the intensity of the shock. This velocity depends upon the elasticity of the material of the pipes and upon the ratio of the thickness of their walls to their diameter.

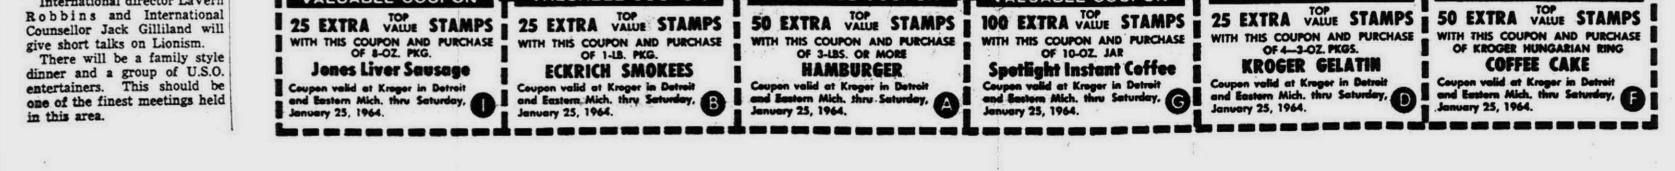

Ordinarily in cast-iron pipes the ratio of the thickness to diameter decreases somewhat with increase of the diameter, hence the velocity of the pressure wave is a little less in pipes of larger diameters than in pipes of smaller diameters. For pipes of diameters from two to six inches this velocity is about 4,200 feet per second, for 24 inch pipe it is about 3,290 feet per second. Continued next week in this column.

I tell you there is something far worse than a habitual smoker giving up smoking and going on a diet simultaneously — and that is living with HIM when HE does. It almost makes me wish I had been a smoker so I would not be guilty of the smug look I'm so often accused of displaying.

With all the grim talk on the air and in print about the end results of continuing these social pleasures I thought I would do a survey on how folks were rallying.

I am happy to report first hand, the American way still exists - people haven't lost their sense of humor. Sometimes a sense of humor is the only salvation.

WERB HIGHLIGHTS LIVONIA NEWS

Livonians have a daily suburban news service! Every 30 minutes, from 7:30 A.M. to 6:00 P.M., WERB News Director, Tom Conrad, and the WERB news staff report the fast-breaking news of Livonia. What's going on in Livonia? Find out while the news is fresh and timely. Know what's going on in Town! Every day, start with, stay with WERB where Livonia news is a matter of fact!

WERB PROVIDES SOUNDING BOARD!

Every morning, from 9:30 till 10:30 WERB opens its phones and microphones . . . lets Livonia listeners "Sound Off" air their complaints and gripes, discuss commun-ity problems, debate contro-versial issues. WERB stimulates citizen participation in civic affairs, provides a dy-namic sounding board for the voice of the people!

WERB GETS OUT LIVONIA THE VOTE! In Livonia's recent school millage vote, WERB vigorously supported the proposed HAS 4.5 millage increase . . . urged all Livonia voters to participate. Results? The tax increase proposal was approved by almost 1,000 plurality . . . the total turnout IT'S was nearly 13,000 . . . twice the number expected!

WERB PLAYS LIVELY MUSIC!

It's a pleasure to listen! WERB music is lively, toetapping, exhilarating. WERB and Vic Caputo, blend the familiar with the new . . . the tried with the true. You can listen to WERB all day. every day, without tiring of the music. The type and tempo of the selections are smartly varied to well repay your listening time.

Since then the group has met every Sunday from 10 a.m. to noon. For their permanent speaker the group selected Theodore S. Brown, attorney and former Con-Con delegate. Recent discussion topics have included "The Origin of Nation State," "My Country Can Lick Your Country," "Love Conquers Nothing," and "The Tyranny of Things."

Group participation of the discussion topic follows the service and coffee hour.

The children's Sunday School program has covered activities and topics that have included astronomy, travelogues, music appreciation, and creative activities in literature, arts and sciences.

Unitarians believe, according to Mr. Brown, that character is music hosts. Paul Cannon the final test of any man's religion, the most important fruit of religious experience and practice, the goal of all religious education. "For a provocative, stimulating Sunday morning," he added, "join us at 10 a.m. at the Northwest YWCA each Sunday."

Facts And Opinions

Mrs. Roosevelt said: "Within a rapidly growing economy all Americans (women included) will have a better chance to develop their individual capacities, to earn a good livelihood, and to strengthen family life.'

There must be a VARIETY of job opportunities ... one of the greatest freedoms of democratic life is the freedom to choose among life's patterns . . . "each woman must arrive at her contemporary expression of purpose, whether as a center of home and family, a participant in the community, a creative artist or thinker or scientist, a citizen engaged in politics and public service.

"It is a bitter fact that social custom and economic stringency all but eliminates choice for many women today . . .

Most jobs that women hold are in low-paid categories. Women's earnings are lower than men when both are employed in the same occupations.

Women are passed over, though equally well-prepared, in management training programs.

"Reluctance to consider women applicants on their merits results in under-utilization of capacities that the economy needs and stunts the development of higher skills.'

"Equal opportunity" should be a government law . . in hiring, training, promotion.

Many able women, including highly trained professionals, are not free for full-time employment but can work part time.

Thus the Civil Service and other agencies shocld plan for "the imaginative and prudent use of this parttime help.'

EDUCATION AND COUNSELING

Nothing is more important to women than the enlargement and improvement of their education.

Adult education must be an integral part of the American system . . . thought of as basic, not something on the fringe of adult life.

The woman who marries and is raising a family has urgent educational needs that have so far been badly neglected.

"During her intensive home-making years, she should be encouraged to prepare for at least three decades of life after 40 . . . when she will be relatively free to use her abilities . . she only needs to continue her education in one form or another to provide the assistance. companionship and stimulation needed by her husband and by her children as they develop.

A realistic vocational program can reduce the tendency of women returning to the labor market to take "the first job that comes along."

Women today are earning only 1 in 3 of the B.A. degrees college and only 1 in 10 of the Ph.D's.

TINY TOTS can enjoy clearance sales just as much as their parents and this picture proves it. Fouryear-old Kathy Haggerson was wide-eyed as she showed her mother the shoes she wanted from Fisher's when Plymouth's annual sales event opened last week. Mama (Mrs. Marjorie Haggerson, Greenbrook Lane, Plymouth) was just as interested as daughter but she didn't buy the shoes Kathy is pointing towards - the other pair was more practical.

To be useful for those who married around 20. and for mature women in general, education must be geographically convenient - e.g., community colleges.

Means of acquiring education must be available to every adult at whatever point she broke off traditional formal schooling.

Imaginative counseling is imperative for women . . . it can lift aspirations beyond stubborn assumptions about "women's roles" and result in choices that have inner satisfaction.

With good counseling (the State should raise its standards for counselors, and provide more of them) "employed women approaching retirement and mature women with grown families can find uses for their new leisure that are rewarding alike to them and to their communities."

HOME AND THE COMMUNITY

Child-care services are needed in all communities . . . present facilities are grossly inadequate.

Three million mothers of children under six work outside the home . . . other mothers, though not at work, may be ill, living in slum conditions with no play opportunities for children, responsible for mentally retarded or emotionally handicapped children.

Child care services could be provided by public or private agencies with fees on an "ability to pay basis." Or groups of parents could provide them cooperatively.

But, whatever, child care services should be available for children of all economic levels.

Tax deductions for child care expenses of working mothers should be in ratio with income.

Family services to help families avoid or overcome breakdown must be provided. ("The services of a trained and able woman to keep a home running for an interim period can be the deciding factor preventing the disintegration of a family.")

WOMEN AS CITIZENS

Of approximately 7,700 seats in State Legislatures in the U.S., only 234 were held by women.

Women should be encouraged to seek elective and appointive posts at local, state and national levels in all three branches of government.

Public office should be held according to ability, experience and effort, without special preferences or discrimination based on sex.

With the foregoing, the patient reader has reached the end of the summary of the Commission on the Status of American Women.

'Ironmen' Win Twice For Clarenceville Team

Although standing 3-4 in the Wayne - Oakland League, the Clarenceville High basketball team' has enjoyed some royal feasts so far this season.

In the first round of action. the North Livonians have had the honor of knocking off both of last year's co-champions. First it was West Bloomfield and then last Friday secondplace Bloomfield Hills found Clarenceville a little too much. The score was 57-55 in Clar-

With less than a half minute to go, Clarenceville led by four points and then stood by and permitted the Hills to notch another basket. Clarenceville Coach Jim Leary didn't want his charges to risk a foul and perhaps lose against Redford Union, the complexion of everything changed.

Redford Union struck back to beat Bentley . . . and last Friday night, it was Allen Park over Bentley by a 64-56 score in the Bentley gym.

This means that Bentley no longer leads the race. Trenton and Allen Park have charged out in front with 3-1 records. Bentley, Plymouth and Redford Union follow at 2-2. Belleville brings up the rear at 0-4.

"We missed Bollin against Allen Park," declared Fefles.

"Bill gives us the strength we need in rebounding. He always manages to get the big ones off the boards."

Putting one little word after another . . .

And, there's some big news about Doug Spicer, a former athletic star at Thurston High School. Doug now is down at the University of Indiana and recently was honored for being the outstanding member of the Hoosiers' football team from an academic standpoint.

Doug's brother, Keith, who also starred at Thurston High, is over at the University of Detroit and is half way through his freshman year. Keith should be heard from next fall when the Titans parade out onto the gridiron. He was a crackerjack of a quarterback, plus a basketball and baseball player during his prep career.

Cheryl Maderas, the Bentley High coed who reigns as Miss Detroit Piston for 1963-64, charmed the throngs attending the Society of Automotive Engineers Convention at Cobo Hall last week. Cheryl's heart, however, is with the Bentley high basketball team.

MORE, AND MORE interest all around the area in high school wrestling. Bentley, Franklin, Redford Union and Thurston all have strong mat squads.

It's the one sport where a boy's physical size doesn't make and difference. Big or small, skinny or fat, a boy can competeagainst a rival of equal weight.

Won't be long and some of Livonia's finest citizens will be off to spring training and the 1964 major league baseball season. Bob Bruce of the Houston Colts and Ray Herbert of the Chicago White Sox are just two pro pitchers who make their regular-season homes in these parts.

JUST FIVE more weeks . . . and it'll be state tournament time for Michigan's high school basketball and swimming teams.

WONDER HOW SOON before Bentley, Franklin, Redford Union, Plymouth, Thurston and Clarenceville go in for sponsoring skiing teams!

With ski facilities now so close to the Detroit area several of the schools hereabouts already have formed ski teamsboth for boys and girls.

It's interesting to note that the ski meets are the only ones sanctioned by the State Association in which the gals are permitted to participate.

Speaking of the fair ladies, we still can't understand why there's no basketball, swimming, tennis or golf on an organized school basis for the coeds.

We hear so much said about physical fitness . . . but yet nobody gives the ladies a break. And they're far more weight conscious than the gents.

WE HEAR that the gents behind Little League baseball in Redford Union plan a bigger program than ever for 1964. We're certain the same will prevail in Plymouth and Livonia.

Should we mention the subject again-where is an artificial skating rink for the community? And a decent place for the kids to play hockey?

WILL THERE BE night baseball in Livonia this summer? They have talked about lighting up the diamond over on Farmington Rd. behind the recreation office.

LANSING-There's a different mood as the Legislature gathers this time, compared to one year ago.

At that time this was a "new" Legislature, just elected and embarking on a two-year term. There was a new Governor in the front office, and a change in party there for the first time in almost a generation.

pation . . . new people eager to try their methods. Governor Romney was cheered and applauded lustily whenever he appeared.

But much dust has accumulated on the feet in 12 not rocking the boat.

course, have been trying ceaselessly to stain the Romney image from the first moment after inauguration. They take the change in legislative mood with considerable glee.
