

Plymouth Residents to Observe Christ-child's Birth

Set Deadline for Senate Hopefuls, Roberts to Run

With a January 4 deadline for filing, candidates have little time to prepare for a special election to fill the 14th State Senatorial District vacancy left by the death of State Senator-Elect Paul M. Chandler of Livonia.

The primary election will be held February 15 and the general election has been set for April 5, according to the Wayne County elections office in Detroit.

Almost simultaneously with the release of election dates, it was announced that State Senator Farrell Roberts of West Bloomfield will seek the G.O.P. nomination.

The 42-year-old attorney will finish out a second term as State Senator from the old 18th District with the end of this year. In November, he chose to run as one of 14 candidates for the second Judiciary Court of Appeals and was narrowly defeated.

Prior to his election to the State Senate, Roberts served two terms in the Michigan House of Representatives. He is a partner in the Pontiac law firm, Dieterle and Roberts. Roberts and his wife, Phyllis, have two sons, Mark and Bruce.

THE OAKLAND COUNTY Senator's entry into the race was greeted with praise by Republican leaders in the 14th district, including Second District Operational Chairman Mrs. Betty Jacobus of Plymouth.

G.O.P. officials issued a statement declaring themselves "mutually elated" at Roberts' candidacy. In part, the group said:

"We have discussed the announced candidacy of former State Senator Farrell Roberts and found ourselves mutually elated to have a candidate of his background and qualification in the race."

SHE WAS a precinct delegate from 1952 to 1962, served as vice chairman of the county Democratic committee in 1954 and acted as county chairman from 1955 to 1961.

Chandler, who died suddenly of a heart attack on Dec. 12, was elected to the State Senate last November. His death leaves the district without representation until the April election.

The group went on to say: "It's unfortunate that this must be an immediate concern so closely following Senator Chandler's death, but the election timetable provides for an early candidates' filing deadline of January 4 which severely limits our campaign activity.

Leveling an attack at what they termed "Democrat gerrymander of the state legislature," the Republicans said they planned a hard-hitting, aggressive campaign.

THE FEBRUARY 15 primary and April 5 elections were originally scheduled in Wayne County to fill a circuit court vacancy left by the death of the Hon. Miles N. Culehan.

Last week, former Michigan Governor John B. Swainson filed petitions for the post.

The dates will also mark the City of Plymouth's municipal election. Registration deadlines for the two elections are Jan. 18 for the primary and March 8 for the general election.

Cutler to Run For Judge

Another candidate was added to the roster of Plymouth hopefuls who will seek municipal office in the Feb. 15 primary.

Petitions were being circulated last week on behalf of J. Rusling Cutler for municipal judge.

Cutler, a 54-year-old Plymouth attorney, served as judge under the old city charter for two four-year terms from 1941 to 1949. He was assistant city attorney from 1949 to 1952.

In addition, Cutler held office as a city commissioner from 1955 to 1957 and 1959 to 1961. His candidacy raises the total of office seekers to eight.

City Attorney Edward F. Draugelis is also running for the municipal court bench.

In the race for four city commission vacancies, five men have either taken petitions out or filed. They include incumbents James Houk and Robert Beyer, Edon Martin, former Mayor Harold Gunther and James B. McKeon.

Commissioner A. E. Vallier is running for Wayne County Supervisor from the City of Plymouth. Deadline for filing for the offices is next Monday, Dec. 28 at 4 p.m.

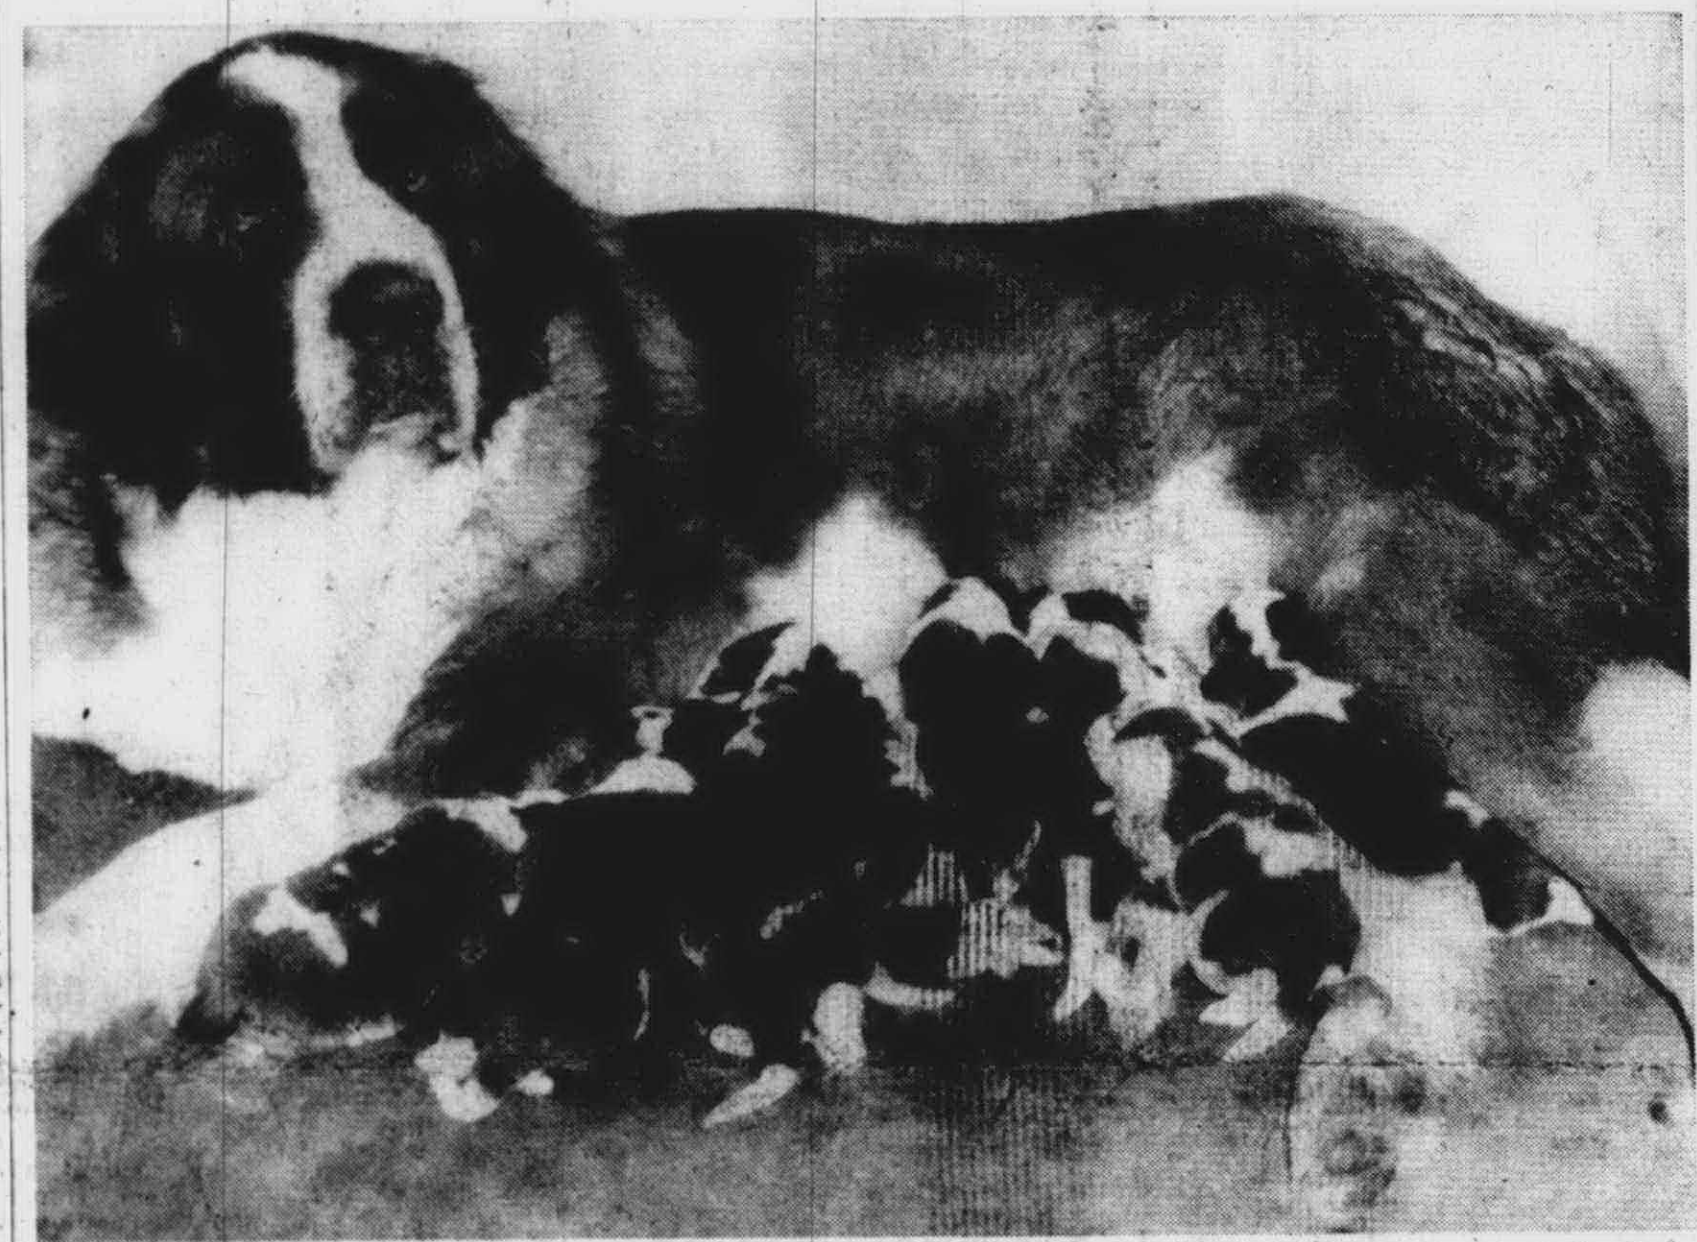

Mayor Richard H. Werntz is ineligible to run for the commission again at this time. Commissioner Robert Smith, whose term also expires, said he would take out a nominating petition this afternoon (Tuesday).

125 NEW JOBS:

Rites Mark Start of Two Plant Buildings

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held on Thursday and Friday of last week, marking the expansion of an existing Plymouth business and launching construction of a new industrial plant in the City's industrial park.

(See Pictures, Page Two)

Mayor Pro-Tem James Houk headed official City of Plymouth delegations to both events which could lead to 125 new jobs.

On Thursday at 10 a.m., groundbreaking rites saw a new 8,000 square-foot "basic" plant started in Plymouth's industrial park for Standards, Inc., a division of Howell-Pennacraft Corporation of Inkster, Mich.

THE PLANT, to be constructed by Contractors-General of Michigan, Southfield, is pre-planned for expected future expansion. Building completion is expected by March.

Standards, Inc. will manufacture standard tooling for the industrial fastener industry, with sales handled by its parent company, Howell-Pennacraft Corporation. Customers of the firm are located in 38 states and 14 foreign countries.

Other divisions of the parent corporation include Pennacraft Tool Co., Inc. of Inkster, Michigan, Header Heat Treat Inc. of Wayne, Michigan and Howell Gear Co., Inc. of Howell, Michigan.

Harry K. Deakins of Southfield, is President of Howell-Pennacraft Corporation and Myron Georgia of Dearborn is President of Standards, Inc.

City Raps Trains, Vacant Building

Condemnation proceedings seem to be the only course of action left to the City of Plymouth after a Monday city commission meeting failed to resolve problems concerning a building located at 705 S. Main St.

The building, located behind the Food Fair Supermarket, became a haven this summer for local youth who used it as a location for glue-sniffing, or inhaling fumes from plastic model cement which produce an intoxication-like or drunken effect.

At a hearing Monday evening in the City Hall, Walter Beglinger, representing Carwal Investment Co., owners of the building, told commissioners he'd just as soon see the structure burned down.

Planners OK Micro-wave unit

After the fourth in a lengthy series of performances by Michigan Bell Telephone Company representative Edward Lees before Plymouth Township officials, the Township Planning Commission Wednesday night recommended approval of Bell's request for permission to erect a 300-foot micro-wave relay tower at the intersection of Napier and Powell Roads.

If township trustees approve, the tower will be built at the northeast corner of the intersection on a 363 by 363-foot square of land.

Lees took nearly two hours to repeat details of the tower's purpose, refute claims that it would depress property values and squelch questions about the possibility that the tower might collapse.

He cited a long list of property values in other areas where towers have been built and disputed the claim of a Detroit developer in the audience that the comparisons were unfair.

Asked by Township Clerk John D. McEwen if the tower had any connection with proposed Channel 50, an all-sports, ultra-high-frequency station, Lees spent about 20 minutes saying that the tower would be used to relay sports events from Ann Arbor.

Last Minute Very Near

A group of more than 20 youngsters took to the streets and roadways yesterday (Monday) to distribute over 6,500 "last minute" Plymouth Mail shopping supplements to every home in Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

The boys, working under the supervision of Plymouth YMCA personnel, passed out the colorful, eight-page, tabloid sized supplement from door-to-door throughout The Plymouth Community.

Featuring a bright red Santa Claus on the front cover, the last minute shopper marked the beginning of the four-day shopping countdown until Christmas.

It carried the message, "time is running out," and urged patronage of local stores.

Retailers participating in the last minute effort included Blunk's Furniture, Beyer Rexall Drug Stores, Western Auto, Agnew's Jewelry, Melody House, Sherwin-Williams Paint Co., Grahm's, Fisher's Shoes, Consumers Discount Center, Kresge's, Hugh Jarvis Gifts, Dunning's and Famous Men's Wear.

Stores to Close On Sat., Jan. 2

To give their employees a rest from the holiday rush, a number of Plymouth Community stores and businesses will close on Saturday, Jan. 2, according to the Chamber of Commerce.

Stores closed the Saturday following New Year's include Snyder Furniture, Beitner Jewelry, Dunning's, Willoughby's, Cassidy's, Minerva's, Schrader Furniture, Fisher Shoes, Sharrard's Bath and Boudoir Shoppe, Hugh Jarvis Gifts, Davis and Lent, and Agnew Jewelry.

Others are Cadillac Drapery, Pease Paint, Western Auto, Furniture Outlet, Hubbs and Gilles, Early American Shop, Smith Music, Western Office Equipment and Blunk's Furniture.

They, and the J. L. Hudson Real Estate Company, went far beyond the call of normal duty to see to it that we were pleased."

In addition to Deakins and Georgia, Roy A. McKnight, vice-president and general manager of Standards, Inc., was present at the groundbreaking ceremony.

On Friday at 10:30 a.m., Gold Seal Photo Service, Inc., broke ground for the construction of a 10,000 sq. ft. film processing plant at 775 Davis St.

Gold Seal serves drugstores and camera shops in Southern Michigan and Northern Ohio.

Local Children Give Views on Christmas

Does Christmas have much religious meaning to Plymouth youngsters?

According to a recent sociology study done by Donald Chumbley's classes at Plymouth High School 65 per cent of answers given by 1153 kindergartners through third graders were non-religious.

"What does Christmas mean to you?" was the question the 18 students asked the children in four Plymouth elementary schools, Farrand, Allen, Starkweather and Bird. The question was stated in this way to not influence answers and to give the children an opportunity to voice their opinions.

ONLY 23 per cent of the children gave religious answers, another 11 per cent did not know what Christmas meant and the remaining one per cent said they didn't celebrate Christmas because of religious convictions. Other findings of the study included:

The number of religious answers greatly increased from kindergarten to first grade and held almost constant through second and third;

The number of non-religious answers was highest in kindergarten, dropped eight per cent in first grade and another four per cent in second before increasing nine per cent in the third.

Those who took no position became more opinionated by third grade.

Cindy Allen and Lynda Burkard were co-chairmen of the study. Poll-takers included Ron McLennan, Ralph Heid, Lou Wright, Frank Dorset, Jill Norton, Sue Hudson, Mary Dube, John Burgen, Alice Widmaier, JoJenne Wendel, Toni Osborn, Mary Perlongo, Pat Pehlig, Jan Larkin, Linda Boon and Sharon Olin.

Sen. Farrell Roberts

Signing the statement were practically all of the official Republican leaders having jurisdiction in the 14th Senate District which includes Livonia, Plymouth and Northville in Wayne County and most of Western Oakland County.

In addition to Robert's candidacy, an announcement was made this afternoon (Tuesday) that Mrs. Elsie Gilmore of Livonia, former Wayne County Democratic chairman, would enter the primary race for the 14th Senatorial nomination.

She became the first Democrat to officially announce. Mrs. Gilmore, 49, has been active in Democratic politics for 10 years, serving six of them as county chairman.

est only after this group planned a program and received signatures from interested parents and youngsters.

"I would certainly want to go on record in favor of such a program."

Smith said the program organized by the Recreation Department has been scheduled for review. Recreation Director Herbert Woolweaver, he said, planned to consider switching the program to three week nights if Saturday morning activity was not at a high enough level.

Smith moved to table the request for endorsement and his motion got unanimous approval after he told commissioners a meeting had been set for today (Tuesday) with Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister to discuss the matter.

THE CHESAPEAKE and Ohio Railway came up for heated criticism at the meeting after Mayor Richard H. Wernette reported on a hearing held in Lansing on discontinuation of two passenger trains which pass through Plymouth.

Wernette said mayors from Northville, Lake Odessa and a city representative from Howell appeared to protest the railroad move.

"I talked to (Michigan Attorney General) Frank Kelley," Wernette said, "and was given to understand that the matter would likely end up in a suit before the State Supreme Court."

Wernette said both the Michigan Public Service Commission and Kelley spoke out against removal of the trains and asked for resolutions of support from interested governmental units.

The railroad would like to discontinue Trains No. 14 and 15, Wernette said. No. 14 is a Detroit to Grand Rapids evening run and No. 15 is a Grand Rapids to Detroit morning train, used by commuters to Detroit.

Wernette commutes each day to his job at Probate Court in Detroit's City-County Building.

The mayor said the two trains proposed for removal returned $188,900 in passenger revenue this year. This, he said, is in contrast to $164,300 received from operation of trains 11 and 12 and $95,000 from trains 19 and 20, both of which travel the same route at different times.

"It is the best," Wernette said, "that if the cars take off 14 and 15, it will be an easy step to take off the other trains."

A man in the audience, also a commuter, said over 125 commuters from Plymouth ride the trains each day in the early '50s. He said the dropoff in patronage could be directly traced to poor service and late trains.

If decent schedules and times were maintained, he claimed, commuter traffic would pick up. In other action at the Monday evening meeting commissioners:

- Authorized by a 4-3 vote, prorating city taxes for a five and a half month period to Thermax Corp. who recently purchased property in the city's industrial park.

- Approved a Bird School Club Scout bottle collection drive on Saturday, Jan. 2.

- Heard reports that the Kellogg Park beautification committee was meeting, that surcharging operations were nearly complete at the city's new reservoir site, and that DPW Superintendent Joseph Bida had been elected vice president of the Southeastern Michigan Sewer and Water Association.

- Approved vacation of alleys and George Street after a public hearing.

- Accepted bids from Leo Calhoun Ford on three truck chassis for DPW use and delayed action on bids for bodies and hoists.

- Ordered a full report from Public Safety Director Kenneth Fisher on the drastic increase in speeding violations, larcenies and lodger complaints.

- Approved extension of the urban renewal contract with Mr. Stamm for 15 months at a cost of $2500.

- Received an offer to purchase urban renewal property from Lawrence Gladstone of the Marshall Oil Bulk Co. and ordered that a firm date be set with the Gay Blade Co. which has a deposit on the site.

- Approved a date of Jan. 6 at 8 p.m. for a joint City-Township-School District meeting on a possible community swimming pool.

- Authorized surveying of a vacant building in the downtown Plymouth business district.

- Passed, after second and third readings, an ordinance regulating blocking of rail crossings by trains.

- Tabled rezoning of an area for multiple dwellings until an engineering report is submitted on topography and drainage. The tabling action came after concern was expressed by residents surrounding the area which borders on Tequiquin Creek.

- Authorized a $8100 change order for Gay Bros., the contractor working on the water improvement program.

Kiwanians Hear About Ypsilanti's Theater Plans

"Blame It On The Brandy" was the subject of Mrs. J. Henry Owens' presentation to the Kiwanis Club members last Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Owens, currently on leave of absence from teaching at Wayne State University, is trying to promote a Greek Theater in Ypsilanti. It all began for Mrs. Owens at a dinner party in the spring of 1963 when she spoke out rather forcefully about her dreams. She said possibly the brandy served at that dinner caused her to speak out when otherwise she might have remained silent. Her ideas, Mrs. Owens said, were directed toward the attempts by many Ypsilanti citizens to establish an identity for their community which they could point to with justifiable pride.

Because Ypsilanti is a Greek name, it seemed appropriate to her, she said, to have a Greek theater in the community. Greek culture, she said in her opinion, is the best in the world and added she believes we have more leisure time, money and excellent transportation to enjoy things of culture.

This Greek Theater project in conjunction with a Community Center would be similar to the Stratford Theater in Ontario, Canada, which is noted the world over for its Shakespearean plays, she explained.

The initial meeting of the new Greek Theater group began with 17 persons interested in the Ypsilanti community. Mrs. Owens told Kiwanians. The next meeting was advertised and about 100 persons attended, she continued. The group soon realized the undertaking would cost an estimated $2,500,000, she said.

City Council was asked for the use of Riverside Park, located in the middle of the city, as a site for the theatre, she said. Mrs. Owens said Ypsilanti's new police station seemed to be the only noticeable improvement in the city during the last 50 years.

The City Council, she added, has initiated Project 73 in preparation for Ypsilanti Centennial in 1973. The project is attempting to promote a community of Greek architecture in buildings throughout the city, she explained. Many existing buildings have Greek architectural lines that need to be renovated and repaired, and Harry Weese, of Chicago, was chosen from 17 architects, Mrs. Owens said.

The Theater group decided that a genuine Greek was needed as their director and Alexis Solomos of Athens, Greece, was contacted, she said. Both men were selected by the Greek Theater Group to work on the Ypsilanti Greek Theater. "We are optimistic about the success of this undertaking," Mrs. Owens said. There seems to be a renewal in our business community, she added explaining the growth has been slow, rough and rugged, but Ypsilanti is definitely on the upgrade. Mrs. Owens said determination keeps them going.

Kiwanis Club sponsors Boy Scout Troop No. 1531, the first troop to be organized in Plymouth, formerly known as P-1, and the first in Plymouth to wear Smokey the Bear hats. When Kiwanis assumed sponsorship two years ago, the troop had 10 scouts and interested fathers. Today the troop has 30 scouts, 10 interested fathers and an assistant scoutmaster. It has a monthly campout the year round. The 1965 goal is 10 to 12 new members and individual attention to the boys.

The Kiwanis Club will install their 1965 officers and board of directors on Jan. 5, Jan. 12 will be President's Night.

Japan Has Own Version of Santa Claus

Thousands of American athletes and tourists recently returned from the Olympic Games in Japan were impressed by the color and charm of a country whose customs continue to mystify the Western mind.

Unfortunately, many who attended the Olympics returned immediately thereafter, thus missing one of Japan's most interesting and peculiarly Japanese celebrations — Christmas. For Christmas in Japan is like nothing found anywhere else in the world.

What is usually thought of as the spirit of Christmas, which emphasizes the religious and family aspects of the holiday, is entirely absent in the land of the Rising Sun where Santa Claus, rechristened Santa Kurosu, has become a symbol of the fervent commercialism now sweeping the country. With typical oriental zeal, the Japanese have adopted Santa as their deity. But in doing so, they have transformed him into a contemporary folk hero devoid of any association with the Christian celebration.

EMPLOYED by nightclubs, coffee shops and stores rather than the Salvation Army, Japanese Santas joyfully proclaim such notices as "Club Whoppee" or "No Minimum." It is not unusual to find old Mrs. Kringle bearing a sign with shop repair prices.

But not every Japanese Santa is engaged in commercial pursuits. A TV company once filmed a newsreel sequence at a neighborhood shrine complete with Santa. The children assembled, flute music sounded, and out marched a Shinto priest in full robes, followed by a slim Santa Kurosu who bowed feebly and then distributed candy to delighted youngsters.

In another respect, Japanese Santas are original. They don't vanish on the morning of Dec. 26. In fact, they often can be found in and around Tokyo right through New Year's. The old carol, "The Twelve Days of Christmas," applies nicely to Japan, where 12 days is often a minimum.

BUT while he stays, he does not neglect Japanese children — many department stores in Tokyo devote at most an entire floor to Santa's wares. Novel toys from the Orient also find their way into many American Santa's pack.

The great Christmas spirit pervades all of modern-day Japan. In fact, a visitor to Japan this month would be forgiven for mistakenly assuming that Christianity had supplanted Buddhism and Shintoism. For the customary signs of Christmas are everywhere — on the streets in shop windows, in newspapers and magazines, in the air with traditional Christmas Carols — but most of all in the spirit of good will and giving, personified by the Japanese Santa Kurosu.

Trying to Deliver All Mail by Dec. 25

"The biggest mail explosion in history is upon us and we need the cooperation of everyone to make sure that the holiday mail is all delivered before Christmas," acting Plymouth Postmaster James Grater said.

He suggested the use of air mail and special delivery to guarantee pre-Christmas delivery for out-of-town mail.

In all instances, the use of ZIP Codes will help, he said explaining the codes mean mail moves in a more direct route and is handled fewer times. Parcels with zipped addresses may be delivered 24 hours or more before others going to the same destination without the code, he added.

All postal operations will be on a holiday schedule Christmas Day and only Christmas delivery mail will be delivered, Grater said.

Two Arrested After Joy Ride

Two Plymouth youths stood mute at their arraignment last week in Plymouth Municipal Court and demanded examination on charges of unlawfully driving away an automobile.

The pair were arrested early Sunday morning, Dec. 13 after two Plymouth Police officers chased them at a high rate of speed, west on Ann Arbor Trail and north on Sheldon Road.

Police said officers saw a gray, 1965 sports-type coupe headed west on Ann Arbor Trail, its tires squealing from acceleration.

They followed it onto Sheldon Road and north across the railroad tracks where the vehicle pulled in a driveway.

OFFICERS said neither the driver, John T. Todd, 18, of 1285 William St., nor his companion, Godfrey G. Burke, 17, of 42012 Clemons, could produce ownership papers for the car.

Police learned later that the vehicle had been left for repairs at Leo Calhoun Ford, 470 S. Main, by Harold K. Wandy of 43271 Ford Road, the owner.

Police said the two youths, who worked nearby, apparently saw the car with keys in it and decided to take it for a ride.

Hi-Y Planning Skiing Weekend

A gala skiing weekend has been planned by 40 Plymouth Hi-Y club members on Dec. 26 and 27 at Pine Knob in Clarkston, Mich., according to Mrs. Eugene Crosby of the YMCA.

The group will be lodged at Camp Copneconic, a YMCA Camp in Fenton, Mich. Other weekend sports will include tobogganing and ice skating at the camp site.

Chaperones include Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Ross of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Metzler of Dearborn. Mr. and Mrs. Crosby will also join the group.

Other Hi-Y holiday activities include a Christmas Caroling party on Wednesday, Dec. 23. After caroling, the singers will attend a Christmas party at "The Chip," the recently opened youth center in the Community Building on Union Street.

ADMISSION charge is 50 cents per person and 75 cents per couple. High School I.D. cards must be shown. College students are also invited to attend, Mrs. Crosby said. Concerning operation of The Chip, she noted:

"There is hope that a student executive board will be in charge of all programs held at the center in the near future."

"Remember, 'The Chip' will only be what the High School students make it."

Salem Square News

By Mary Stevens — 453-0950

Welcome to new Salem square residents, Gerald and Dolores Sule. They recently moved from Detroit into their present home at 11200 Terry St.

Janet Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Powell, 531 Terry St., climaxed the year by celebrating her first birthday on Thanksgiving day. The family festivities were held in the home of Mrs. Powell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis in Detroit, and consisted of a turkey dinner followed by cake and ice cream. Joining in the celebration were Janet's maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Emma Greenwald, and Mrs. Powell's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Scallon and their daughter, Lisa, of Detroit. Mrs. Roger Powell, Janet's paternal grandmother, decorated the birthday cake to look like an old fashioned girl.

Greetings to Plymouth newcomers, Bob and Bonnie Hockenbury. They moved into the subdivision from Ann Arbor during the first week of November and now make their home at 11065 Terry St., along with their two daughters, Karen, eight, and Linda, four.

Mr. Hockenbury is employed by Henderson Ford Sales in Ann Arbor.

On Dec. 12, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Stevens, 40562 Pinetree Rd., attended a pre-Christmas party in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Lockett, Ann Arbor. Dr. Lockett and most of the guests are on the staff at Hawthorn Center, Northville, where Mr. Stevens is employed as a special education teacher in the day school.

On Dec. 17 a group of area boys, between the ages of five and eight, gathered with their fathers in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Powell, Terry St., and their son Ralph. The get-together, which lasted from 7-8 p.m., was for the purpose of organizing a new tribe of Father and Son "Y" Indian Guides. The group is sponsored by the YMCA, but because there is no "Y" building in this vicinity, the meetings will be held in the homes of the members. This activity is similar to Scouting, as the boys run their own meetings, go camping and have cookouts, assisted by their fathers, but it is for a younger age group. Any father wishing to join with his son, or to obtain more information call Marvin Powell, 453-3116.

Employees at Plymouth's Post Office as well as most of the nation's 590,000 postal employees will get a three-day Christmas weekend and at the same time the government will save an estimated three to four million dollars, Postmaster General John A. Gronouski has announced.

Serving Our Country

Gronouski has suspended normal mail deliveries on Saturday, Dec. 26 to give an extra day off to most employees who normally work that day.

Ordinarily, regular employees who work Saturday would be due a compensatory day off the following week. By granting them relief from Work Dec. 26, the necessity to pay substitute employees to replace them during their compensatory leave day is eliminated.

Past experience has shown, according to Gronouski, that by noon Dec. 24, post offices are cleared of holiday and business mail.

Regular holiday schedules will be observed by all post offices Dec. 26, with two-hour window service being provided for firms that normally call for their mail. With this exception, no other post office window service will be provided. Post Office lobbies will also be open on a holiday schedule.

Deliveries of gift parcels, special delivery mail and perishable articles will be provided, Gronouski said, and a sufficient number of employees will be retained to perform the necessary distribution of incoming and outgoing mail. The order does not affect deliveries by rural route carriers.

Mail deposited in lobbies and collection boxes will be picked up on a holiday collection schedule and dispatched as usual.

Regular Friday rubbish and garbage pickups will be made on Thursday for the weeks of Christmas and New Year's Day, the men working on this project will be able to have the holiday too.

This past week the Public Works Department checked and flushed out the sanitary sewers that do not have a self-cleansing effect. Also, in some cases sludge builds up and about every six months D.P.W. has to flush them out or rod them out with sewer rodding equipment.

The department salted the streets after the light snow fall and used 24 tons of salt. Several traffic control signs were made and all city streets were patched with asphalt material.

All fire hydrants were checked to make certain none were frozen and all have been winterized.

Papers were picked up in all city parks. All lights were checked on Christmas decorations. Shelves were installed at DPW to store records and office material.

Mark Norback, five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hutton, 9671 Russell St., gave an early Christmas present to his brother, Mike, nine, and his sisters, Kim, seven, and Kari, three. The gift was the Chickenpox!

Mrs. Gerald R. Stevens, Pinetree Rd., attended the third meeting of the Newcomer's Fortune Hunter's Investment Club on Dec. 15. The group gathered in the home of Mrs. Edward Burkhardt, 1430 Ross, and the club decided to make its first investment. The hostess served coffee and Christmas cookies while the stock reports were being given. The January meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Gordon Chapin, 15214 Lakewood.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Braun hosted the Newcomer's Couples Beginners Bridge Club in their home at 40546 Pinetree Rd. Dec. 12. After the four couples completed their games, Mrs. Braun served refreshments to her guests.

Larry G. Taylor, 26, whose wife, Carolyn, lives at 494 N. Mill St., received a letter of appreciation Nov. 20 while serving with the 67th Military Police Company in France. Specialist Taylor received the award for his outstanding performance of duties as a policeman in the company. He entered the Army in January 1963, completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and was stationed at Fort Gordon, Ga., before arriving overseas the following June.

Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey C. Taylor, 312 N. Holbrook St., graduated in 1956 from Plymouth High School and attended Cleary College in Ypsilanti.

Results of a California study indicate that nearly one-third of asthma and hay-fever victims do not seek medical attention.

Kelsey Hayes Co. had checks from the general offices 38481 Huron River Dr., Romulus and are drawn on the National Bank of Detroit, she said. On these checks bearing the same account number (4464-62) as the Stroh checks the word Romulus is misspelled "Romoulus."

American Legion Auxiliary

The Auxiliary is cooperating in the nation's civil defense program and is endeavoring to awaken all women to the importance of preparations and training for action in time of disaster.

We are trying to do something about the general apathy toward civil defense. We are seeking to arouse greater interest in survival plans of our communities and to get more people to take training that would make them useful in any type disaster.

Civil defense is a part of a national defense, and an American ready to defend itself is apt to be left in peace. An unready American invites attack.

The Auxiliary is encouraging its members to take training for various civil defense activities, such as first aid, home nursing, welfare services, registration, communications, shelter managers and radiological monitors. Everywhere we are cooperating with civil defense officials in preparations for survival in today's dangerous world.

Unit members have you noticed in your Auxiliare that as of Dec. 1 the 17th District ranks number one in the state of Michigan with percentage of paid members.

An Up-to-Date Definition Of the Word Christmas

By Mike Ross

Christmas, n. the yearly celebration, December 25, usually accepted by most Christian religions as the birthdate of Jesus Christ.

This is the charming definition of Christmas that appears half way down on page 260 of "Webster's New World Dictionary of the American Language," 1960.

No offense to Webster and company, but he was trying to fool someone when he printed that definition — either himself or the reader. I have a new one that seems more aptly to fit that season surrounding December 25.

Christmas, a season of the year commencing the day following Thanksgiving, reaching its peak December 25, and gradually tapering off for another ten days. This season is generally signified by jingling cash registers, and jingling cash registers, and more jingling cash registers.

If you look hard, you'll notice not one word of religion or Christ. Pertaining to our present day Christmas, that is as it should be.

Thanksgiving, which used to be earmarked by giving thanks to God as the Pilgrims did, means little more now than four days vacation, a big meal and the advent of the Christmas season.

This first thing the City does on the Friday following Thanksgiving is to put up the Santa and reindeer in the park and the street pole decorations.

Also (correct me if someone finds any) void of any reference to Christ. It is said the ornaments are put up early "for the children." If this is true than I say "our children" are the people that own the shops and stores.

These are the people benefiting the most from a long season and take every advantage of it they will.

Family Service

They Expected to Live Happily Ever After

By Anna Jung

Jane was the only child of her mother's first marriage. Her father was killed in the war after a brief and very romantic courtship and marriage. For several years after his death Jane's mother lived in her memories.

She and her husband had fallen in love at first sight, married a few weeks later, spent a few hours together whenever he could manage to get away from his duties, and were ecstatically happy during their brief marriage.

When her husband was killed, Jane's mother transferred all her love to her unborn child, Jane, who became the symbol of the marital happiness. From her earliest years Jane heard only glowing accounts of her father's appearance, his manner, his sense of responsibility; in fact, he was a god who had achieved immortality in her mother's memories and so also for Jane.

When Jane's mother remarried several years later, after a prosaic courtship with a good but unexciting man, she never achieved the kind of happiness she had experienced with her first husband. The three children born of the second marriage were nice, normal, but they lacked the "something extra" with which Jane had been endowed by her mother even before her birth.

As the oldest child in the family Jane had many advantages, and her situation isn't just $22.53. It can't be measured in dollars and cents. It has to be measured in the hearts of children and how they feel towards Christmas, since they are an integral part of it.

Children are raised, of course, believing in Santa Claus. But Santa Claus simply represents presents and more presents. The word Santa is said to have come from the Spanish for saint and the Claus from the Dutch children shortening Nicholas.

It would be much easier and possibly more truthful to say the word Santa Claus come from the Chamber of Commerce.

Little children, when asked "What does Christmas mean to you," usually react with an answer something like this. "Christmas means a big, pretty tree, with lots of candy and a whole lotta presents under it, all for me." When I asked if they went to church on Christmas a parent would tell me it was none of my business or, 50 per cent of the time, the child would ask me "Why?"

We're letting today's child grow up with a rather warped sense of what December 25 really is. Most adults today can remember what Christmas was to them. Of course there were the presents, a big turkey, and a tree, but they usually started the day with attending a church service. Today, the public's place of worship seems to be a department store.

We've let Christmas become what it is by apathy toward the problem and greed for the long green. There isn't one person, or a group, that's responsible for this.

If the retailers started it, the public should've stopped it. It was the responsibility of both. It's too late to save Christmas, 1964, what about Christmas, 1965?

mother was able to rationalize her favoritism on the basis of Jane's age.

Jane grew up fully expecting to fall in love at first sight, and she was eager to marry John as soon as it happened. Her mother was also eager to re-live her own youthful experience through Jane's life. It was hard for them to accept the reality that John had to finish high school and find full-time employment before he could marry.

During the two long years of waiting Jane built a fantasy life of what their marriage would be like. She and her mother shared these fantasies, but she didn't talk very much with John about what she expected of him in marriage.

Rather, she talked of how she would help him, love him, care for him if he should become ill. She really intended to do all that was within her power so that she would not lose him as she and her mother had lost her father.

Because of Jane's unique role in her mother's life, and the kind of relationship they shared, she never expressed the normal rebelliousness of adolescence, never needed to assert herself to achieve her identity. In fact, Jane's identity was fore-ordained at the moment her mother heard of the death of her young husband.

And so Jane and John were married, and they expected to live happily ever after.

PLYMOUTH HIGH NOTES

By Sharon Olin

The Varsity Cheerleaders, under the leadership of captain, Kathy McIntyre '65, attended a cheerleading clinic at Thurston High School on Saturday, Dec. 12. The clinic offered both learning process and competition. First place was awarded to Thurston High in the competition part of the clinic.

After Christmas, the third and fourth year Spanish Classes, under the direction of Mr. Carmelo Crespo, will publish the first Spanish newspaper in PHS history. Editor-in-Chief is Judi King '66. The paper will be a three page ditto.

On Thursday, December 18, the annual Christmas assembly was held. The choir, Madrigal Singers, string orchestra, and band all participated. Our exchange student, Gilla, from Sweden, presented a "skit-like" drama of Christmas in Sweden, with the aid of Judy Olds '65, and Jill Norton '66. Bob Davidson '65, Jill Norton '65, and Mary Arnold '66 were soloists in the program.

Thursday was a exchange day at Plymouth. Students from Northville High School spent the day with various students from PHS. The students who visited Plymouth from Northville were Jean Downer, secretary of Northville's student council and of the all-league council; Glenn Diebert, treasurer of the student council; Larry Forth, mayor;

Jim Peterson, sophomore representative, and Philip Pressnell, junior representative.

Baked Oranges Complement Turkey

Everyone knows that cranberries and turkey go well together, but for a change, or in addition to cranberries, serve Spicy Baked Oranges. The whole oranges are boiled until tender then cut in half and baked and glazed with a sweet sauce.

Spicy Baked Oranges
3 medium oranges
1/4 cup water
36 whole cloves
1 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Grate off very thin layer of yellow rind from oranges. Bring water to boil in a saucepan. Add oranges, simmer 1/2 hour, or until oranges are tender. Drain. Cut oranges in half, stud round surfaces with cloves. Place, cut-side-down, in shallow baking pan. Stir remaining ingredients in saucepan over low heat to dissolve sugar. Pour over oranges. Cover pan; bake in 350 degrees F. (moderate) oven 45 minutes or until oranges are well glazed, basting occasionally. Serve hot or cold with meats. Makes 6 servings.

Rocks Rally, But Lose To Trenton

Trenton handed the Plymouth basketball team its third loss of the season 62-54 last Friday but not before the Rocks put on an amazing drive that nearly won late in the game.

Trailing by 15 points, 44-29, late in the third quarter, Plymouth came bounding back to within two points 49-47, with three minutes and twenty-five seconds left.

In the drive, Plymouth outscored Trenton 18-5. The Rock comeback was paced by forward Jim Lake, who tossed in 17 points to lead both teams during the evening.

THE EFFORT wasn't enough however, as Trenton, with some expert shooting, pulled away to win.

Trenton had led all the way and jumped off to a 19-11 first quarter lead. At the half Plymouth had trimmed the lead to 30-24.

In the Junior Varsity game, Plymouth was beaten in the last minute of play 44-43 after leading most of the game. It was the second loss of the season against two victories for the junior varsity.

IN AND AROUND PLYMOUTH

Stakias Leads Frosh To Two Wins

Plymouth's freshman basketball team pushed its unbeaten string to two last Thursday by defeating (Wayne) Franklin 58-45 in Wayne.

The Rocks had earlier opened with a 42-38 victory over Northville.

Mike Stakias, a six-foot two inch forward who transferred to Plymouth from Livonia, led the way in both games. The new Plymouth 9th grader poured in 29 points against Northville and hit for 26 at Franklin.

AGAINST Northville he dunked 12 field goals and five free throws and at Franklin he again totaled 12 field goals, but only two free throws.

In the Northville game, according to freshman coach Casey Cavell, Stakias got most of the rebounds. Against Franklin he was also strong on the boards, but received considerable help from teammate Jeff Adams.

Adams also helped in the scoring at Franklin by getting 12 points. Russ Carlson contributed 13 points against Franklin.

"They played a real good game offensively," Coach Cavell said, "and we should be able to improve on defense."

"It could be the best freshman team in quite a while. We have eight to ten players that are all pretty equal and, of course, Stakias who looks like a real good ball player," he added.

Trenton Sinks Swimmers

Plymouth's defending league championship swimming team suffered its first dual meet loss of the season last Friday 73-31 at Trenton. It was also the first league loss of the season.

The win was no fluke, as Trenton swept every first place but diving. Diving was awarded to Plymouth by forfeit when the Trenton board broke during the meet.

"Trenton enjoyed themselves thoroughly," Plymouth swimming coach John McFall said, "and we had to sit there and take it. Sometimes it goes like that," he added.

FOR PLYMOUTH, John Skinner, Don Norman, Tim Wernette and Pat Brady placed second in the 200 yard medley relay. Dan Decker was third in the 200 yard freestyle.

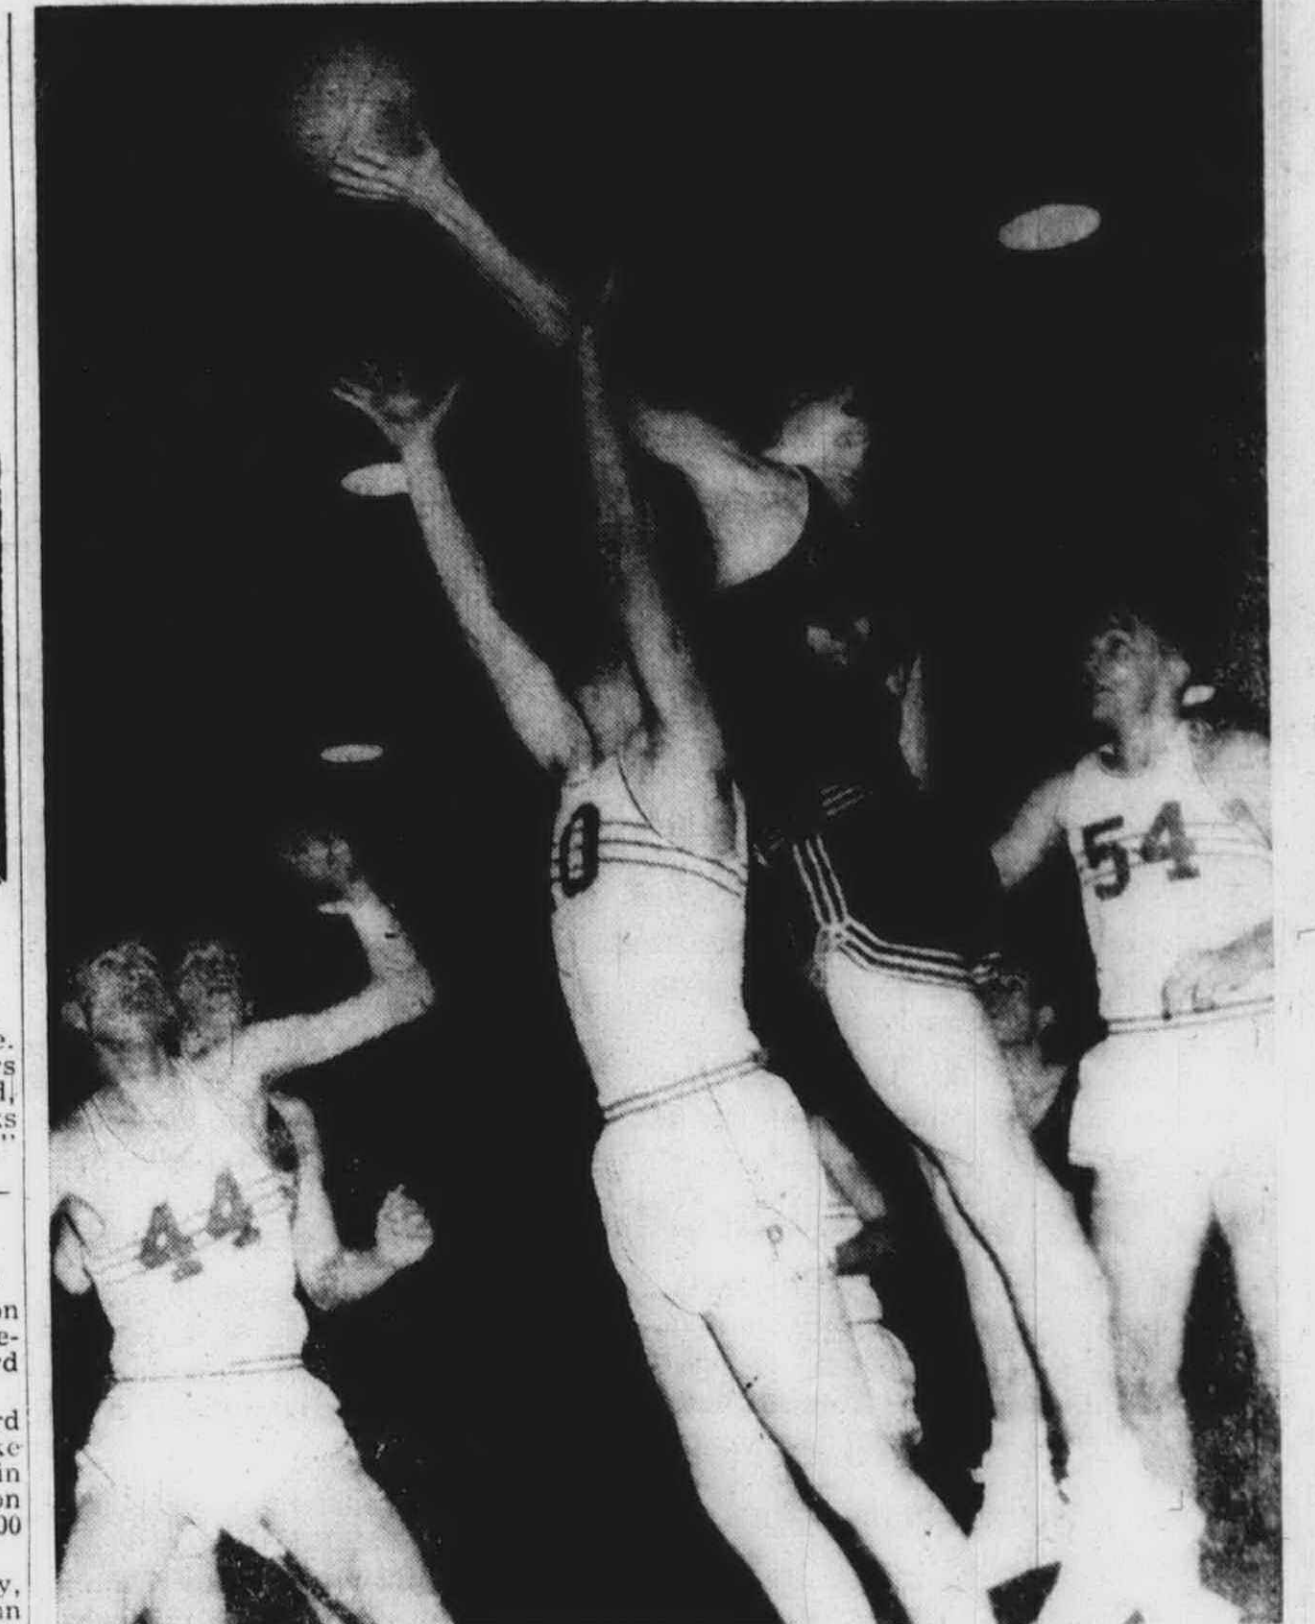

Dick Berry was second in the 50 yard freestyle, while Jeff Hoffman placed second in the 200 yard individual medley. John Herter and David Cook competed in the diving which was awarded to Plymouth, while Dick Lorenz dove in exhibition.

Jim Haarbauer was third in the 100 yard butterfly and Dick Berry and Allen Saxton were second and third respectively in the 100 yard freestyle.

John Skinner placed third in the 100 yard backstroke and Don Decker was third in the 400 yard freestyle. Don Norman was third in the 100 yard breaststroke.

Pat Brady, Russ Crosby, Mike Bentley and John Herter were second in the 200 yard freestyle relay. Plymouth concludes swimming competition for 1964 today with a 4 p.m. meet at Dearborn.

FREEMAN LOOSE — at the Plymouth basket is Trenton's Jim Freeman (31), while Plymouth's Jim Lake attempts to block the shot and Jim Sharman (44) and Dave Hollingsworth (54) maneuver for a position on the rebound.

The Sporting Thing

By Bill Nelson

The death of Paul M. Chandler was a jolt that shook this column out of existence last week. For years he had been a most loved and trusted friend.

He did favor after favor for me over a long stretch of time. Perhaps the biggest one was the opportunity to talk and argue with him.

We often viewed the world differently, but it is the fondest memory that his charm could make many a disagreement a lot of fun.

He was fond of reading William Shakespeare. "When you can write like him, you'll be something," he said once.

After his second heart attack last March, he said, "Every one should have ONE." His third was fatal.

Shakespeare, his old friend, provides some help now. In Twelfth Night, Act III he says, "I can no other answer make but thanks, and thanks, and ever thanks."

A small item in the Minneapolis Star has provoked memories of a Christmas several years ago. The Star noted that a U.S. Army Helicopter, carrying Janis Paige, Les Brown, John Bubbles and Jerry Colonna made a forced landing in a snow storm four miles northeast of Seoul, Korea.

The group is traveling with Bob Hope in his 13th annual visit to American servicemen overseas.

The name of Les Brown tinkles a clear holiday bell. On Christmas Eve 1957 he walked into the Bando Hotel in Seoul after days of a Pacific tour and tried to hurry up to his room.

He was prevailed upon by several people to stop and listen to an exquisitely high pitched Korean Salvation Army homeless children's choir singing Christmas Carols.

At 4 p.m. Christmas Morning he returned from more performances to the Bando Hotel to visit the room of some American civilian friends of an escort officer as a favor.

After three hours of sleep, he and the Hope troupe continued on to the front lines of Korea, where the paths of Hope and Cardinal Spellman crossed.

As the chief Military Chaplain, the Cardinal was making his Christmas tour.

About noon, Hope was waiting at an airstrip to board a helicopter and the Cardinal landed. "Good morning Bob," said the Cardinal, "how are you?"

"I'm doing fine," said Hope, "but I envy you. I don't have your sponsor."

Over 41 boys in the fifth, sixth and seventh grades are currently participating in a Plymouth Recreation basketball program from 9 to 11:30 on Saturday mornings.

The program, now in its third week, is designed to teach the fundamentals of basketball. Later, the youngsters will compete in games between St. Peter's Lutheran school, Our Lady of Good Counsel school and various grade schools. There is no fee for these programs.

In addition, the recreation department on Monday nights has two cage leagues performing: one for 18 year olds and under and another for 15 year olds and under.

This action takes place from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. and is without fee.

ON TUESDAY from 7-8:30 p.m., there is recreation basketball for the 8th grade and up in the Plymouth Junior High East gym. There is no fee for this.

On Wednesday evenings from 7:30-9 p.m. there is a men's basketball league that has some openings for teams. The fee is $65.00 per team and the play is in the Plymouth High School Gym.

On Thursdays from 7 p.m. to 8:30 there is recreation basketball at Junior High School West Gym for the 8th grade and up.

This is part of the recreation program that is under the direction of Herb Woolfever. The basketball programs are run by Tony Monte and Jerry Vettesse.

Wibby Wins Goal Award

Twelve year old Chuck Wibby, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wibby of 15047 Robinwood Drive, has been awarded the Amateur Hockey Association of the United States (AHAUS) shutout award.

The award is given to any goalie who scores a shutout against opposition in organized hockey competition. Wibby, who tends the net for the Plymouth VFW Pee-Wees, earned his award in a 0-0 standoff against Garden City recently. The Pee-Wees compete in the Westland Hockey League.

The AHAUS also gives awards for the hat trick, which is the scoring of three goals in one game. Wibby also received a shutout award last year as an eleven year old.

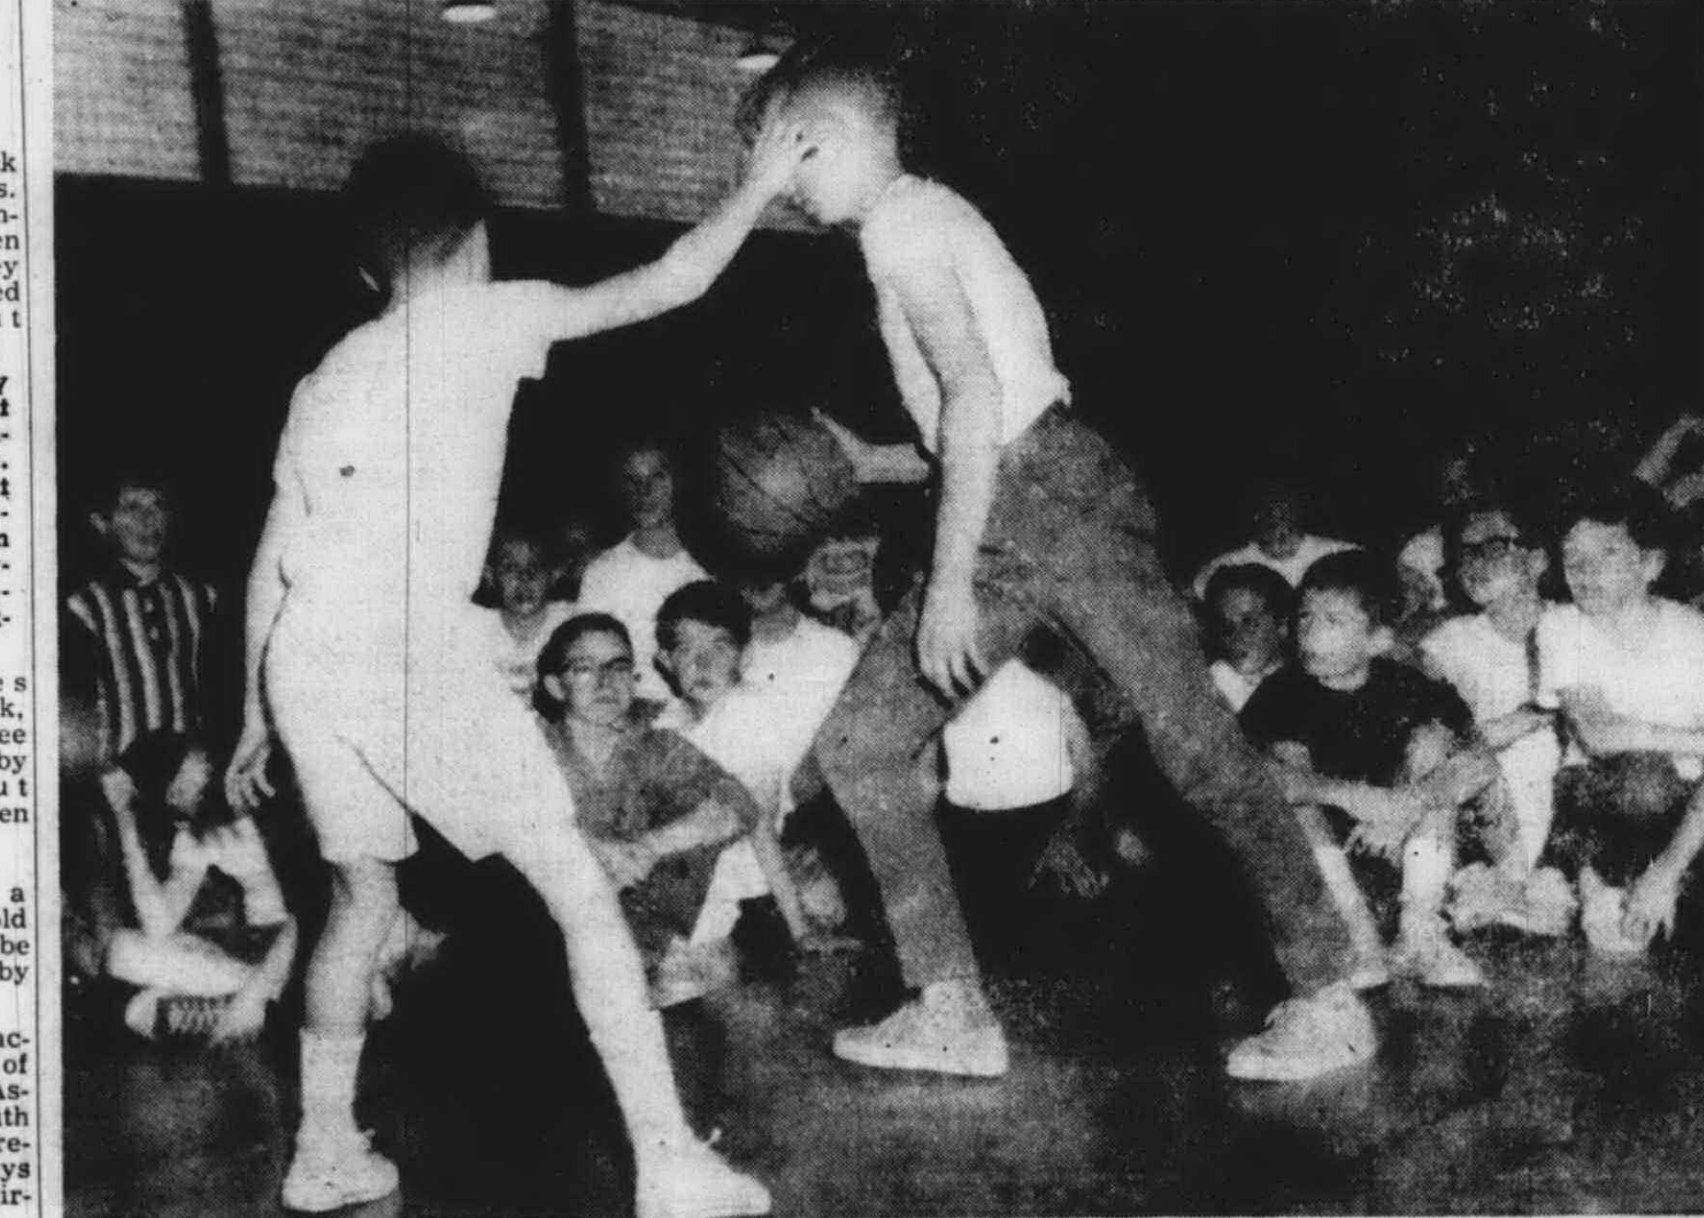

THE AWARD, which is a red, white, blue and gold shield emblem, can only be received once each year by a goalie.

In other hockey news, according to Jim McKindles of the Plymouth Hockey Association, four ex-Plymouth hockey participants have returned home for the holidays from collegiate hockey circles.

Serving Our Country

Robert Mageo

Boilerman Fireman Apprentice Robert J. Mageo, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis J. Mageo, Jr. of 41462 E. Ann Arbor Tr., participated Dec. 9-12 in a large scale fleet training operation in the Western Pacific called "Operation Tall Back" while serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Hancock. The operation was conducted to test and evaluate Seventh Fleet units under the most realistic operating conditions.

BASKETBALL FUNDAMENTALS are taught on Saturday mornings to 5th, 6th and 7th graders in the Plymouth Recreation program. Here the class watches a demonstration by Craig Wassman, a 10-year-old student at Allen School, and Danny Williams, 11, from Junior High West. Williams is dribbling, while Wassman attempts to defend against him.

Why a planning commission?

It was with distinct sighs of relief and hopes for great things that members of the Plymouth Community Planning Commission saw checks from each of the sponsoring governmental units arrive last week.

Checks for $5,000 each came from Plymouth Township and the City of Plymouth and another, for $2,500, was sent by Canton Township. The funds will be used for operating expenses for the coming year.

Now the planning group can get down to the serious business of locating and hiring a full-time director and launching their program for the coming year. The goal is expansion of The Plymouth Community's non-residential tax base.

Why? Why does The Plymouth Mail emphasize industrial and commercial growth in the area? Why do community leaders express concern and place such weight on the concept of non-residential growth?

The answers to these questions were made forcibly apparent in a story, appearing in this newspaper last week, that detailed how critically full our elementary schools are.

Average class sizes in the schools range from 28.2 to 34.6 students, deceiving figures because individual classes — in some cases — are even larger.

The implication of such geometric growth is, quite obviously, that more schools must be built, more classroom space must be provided.

Schools are only constructed with tax dollars and, unless commercial and industrial growth is accelerated here in The Plymouth Community, the money is going to come out of homeowners' pockets.

The thought of higher taxes is not a pleasant one, especially during the Yuletide season. But they become increasingly inevitable as population continues to boom within the confines of The Plymouth Community School District.

Even now, a committee of citizens is investigating the financial situation of our educational system and it is a foregone conclusion that they will recommend a millage election early next year.

Hopefully, residents appreciate the quality of education in our schools, and will approve the needed amount when asked. But future millage requests can only be forestalled by a positive program, designed to attract business and industry to The Plymouth Community.

That is what the planning commission is all about.

If the men from each of the sponsoring governments, together with the director they hire, can turn the trick of expanding non-residential growth, your taxes are not apt to rise drastically.

If they fail, well . . . It's just that simple.

Obviously, The Plymouth Community Planning Commission needs more than simple governmental support from the City of Plymouth and Canton and Plymouth Townships.

Its members need individual support and interest. In a word, they need yours.

One thing seems to be lacking

If we were asked to hand out a dubious distinction award for the past year to the most sophomoric group in The Plymouth Community, it would go without argument to a political unit.

For, by and large, the Wayne II Democratic Organization has proven itself worthy of such a citation.

When City Commissioner and Wayne County Supervisor A. E. Vallier decided to run for the Democratic nomination in the 14th State Senatorial District, local hardheads attacked him at a public meeting because they questioned his undying fidelity to anything and everything they thought the party should stand for.

Obviously, they felt there was no room for independence within the framework of the Wayne II organization.

During the campaign itself, the Democratic group further distinguished itself by launching a grousing campaign against the location of the opposing party's trailer headquarters on the corner of S. Main and Fralick Streets.

In the face of an overwhelming victory on a national level in November and more of a victory than ever before locally, it would be logical to assume that some amount of gracefulness might accrue to Wayne II Democrats.

Not so. Now they are less than happy because persons throughout The Plymouth Community, Republicans and Democrats, have signed petitions urging the appointment of a local man as Plymouth Postmaster.

They are screaming about "mis-statements" they claim have been perpetrated by circulators of the petitions.

We would suggest that they are more worried about the appointment going to a man whose political loyalties they suspect. It matters not that his background includes years of experience with the Post Office Department.

It's too bad that Wayne II Democrats can't, just once, rise above petty partisanship and forget that Post Office appointments have traditionally gone to Republican or Democratic party functionaries, depending on which group is in power. The Wayne II Organization, according to its chairman, has interviewed no candidates for the position.

It seems, having gone all the way with LBJ, that all they lack is a party hack.

Our wish

Christmas, on the whole, is the busiest time of the year for all of us.

Retailers are engulfed in a swirl of business that means more customers, more sales and more work.

Families become involved in searching for presents to be exchanged on the day of Christ's birth.

Offices get caught up in a round of parties that have little, if any, meaning in terms of the truth of Christmas.

Newspapers are snowed under by an avalanche of Holiday news events and advertising. Too often, we lose our sense of perspective.

So, at this time, we wish you the merriest of Christmases, with the hope that some of the spirit of Jesus of Nazareth pervades, not only your holiday, but your entire year.

The Grim Pilgrim

By DAVE WILEY

During this holy season, when our thoughts and acts should appropriately gravitate toward the kindness and compassion of the Christ, we tend — I am afraid — to lose our ability to perceive.

Some, those who are perpetual optimists, further redden their rose colored glasses and see nothing but a peaceful world, full of love and goodness, brimming with perfection.

They are wrong. Others, the critics and iconoclasts — a group into which I often fall, see little but horror and hate, haymow and murder, terror and terrorism.

They, too, are wrong. While I detest rampant middle-of-the-roads and their luke-warm "let's look at both sides" philosophy, I can — at this Christmastide — see both good and evil; and it is an element of the good that I would dwell upon here.

Ever since Adam and Eve achieved senior citizen status, the younger generation has been going amuck in the eyes of its elders. They are smart-alecky, unruly, discourteous and generally without redeeming quality.

Their only pastimes are drag racing, glue sniffing, dancing to atonal rhythms and tubulent sexcapades, according to some. I would suggest another look.

For it is the nation's youth that, at Christmas, 1964, hold a glowing promise for the future.

While oldsters have been decrying delinquency and turmoil, our youth have been quietly working for decency and justice.

They have been subtly carving a niche in history by playing roles that more adequately conform to the views of Jesus Christ than the comfortable rat race which has involved and surrounded their parents.

While Mom and Dad were interpreting the pursuit of happiness to mean the pursuit of goods, Junior has been engaged in model United Nations, or Girls' State, or Boys' State programs that have given him an insight far beyond his years.

Youngsters, some of them frail and uncourageous looking, have been valiantly preparing machinery to wrench an outdated social structure out by its roots and fling it in the face of history and tradition in the South. Many of them have thrown themselves into the civil rights movement knowing, full-well, that their elders disapproved.

While Pop flopped on a breezy front porch in front of a televised baseball game this summer, his pudgy fingers surrounding a frosty beer can, Sis or Brother may very well have been sweating their guts out in a tropical land as part of the Legion — old and young — that make up the Peace Corps.

Plymouth kids have abandoned their progenitors to the clubhouse and have unselfishly devoted themselves to working at area institutions with the physically or mentally enfeebled.

While youngsters this year have given to earth more peace, more good will, more of what the quiet Nazarene exemplified, they have neither looked nor asked for credit.

And, largely, they haven't gotten it. We have noticed, instead, the shrieking tires, the thefts, the fights, the killings, the illegitimacies, the offal spread by a decided minority.

Sure, I know there are plenty of kids who don't fit in either category. They aren't good or bad. They literally don't give a tinker's damn.

But I believe they, like the rowdies, are also in the minority.

On December 25, when the packages are opened, the wishes have been exchanged and you are seated at a table, heaped with holiday foods, say a small prayer of thanks for the world's young people.

They have made 1964 more than another forgettable year in history.

They seem to have developed a working awareness of the Christ who, himself was only 33 at the time of his crucifixion.

They have added meaning to life by extending the Christmas season beyond a feverish month at year's end.

Chief Issues Driving Tips

A follow-up about the special hazards of winter driving was issued today by Police Chief Kenneth Fisher as the Christmas shopping season began building toward its annual climax.

"Informal traffic counts show an impressive increase in motor vehicle and pedestrian traffic in Plymouth," Chief Fisher reported. "This means that in order to prevent accidents and exasperating traffic tie-ups, both pedestrians and drivers are expected to exercise reasonable patience and courtesy, and brush up on their knowledge of special winter traffic hazards."

The chief warned that the following conditions ought to be anticipated: reduced traction on roadways and crosswalks, due to the presence of frost, ice or snow; an reduced visibility, caused by early darkness, falling snow, sleet or freezing rain.

Chief Fisher reported the International Association of Chiefs of Police has endorsed the recommendations of the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards as the best known means of overcoming these hazards, whenever they occur, without unnecessary fuss or fear.

The recommendations include:

(1.) Get the "feel" of the road. This is essential because there is a great variety of winter pavement conditions. Sometimes, especially after dark, a road which appears to be bare may actually be coated with a thin but treacherous layer of frost. Even when roads are plainly ice — or snow-covered, slipperiness can change with temperature and traffic conditions. Road surfaces may be "felt" by carefully trying the brakes, or by accelerating to see if tires grab the roadway, before getting into heavy traffic.

(2.) Follow at a safe distance. The usual rule-of-thumb recommends following distance of one car-length for each ten miles per hour of speed. On icy roads this must be increased appreciably because of the longer braking distances than in effect.

(3.) Pump brakes. Jamming on the brakes can lock the wheels, producing a skid. Expert drivers at the winter skid tests of the Committee on Winter Driving Hazards have proved that a rapid pumping application of brakes maintains steering control and helps prevent skids.

(4.) Have good tires. This means with plenty of tread, properly inflated. The old rule about letting some air out of a tire to improve its traction on snow or ice is not only discarded, it's dangerous — because this creates instability. Snow tires are helpful in certain winter conditions — particularly in loosely packed snow.

(5.) Carry tire chains for severe conditions. At this time of year a shopping trip begun in pleasant winter weather can bog down in heavy snow or severe icing conditions before it's over. This is when reinforced tire chains are at their best. They have been proved, under types of winter test conditions, to be the best known device for providing stop-and-go traction when the going gets rough.

(6.) Be sure you can see and be seen. Check out defrosters and windshield wipers to give yourself a chance to see. Wiper arm pressure is especially important in winter, when there may be heavy wet slush to push aside. A wiper that rides over heavy windshield accumulation is of no help. It must bite in, and sweep clean.

Too Bad Yuletide isn't With Us All Year

By Jacquie Town

On the night before the Eve of Christmas all through the night, carols ring out, trees are gaily lighted, children are extra good, and people have a spirit of kindness toward their fellow men.

Peace on Earth; Good Will toward men. Petty differences are forgotten, quarrels are patched and everyone basks in the joy of the season. Too bad this feeling doesn't pervade the rest of the year.

There is nothing, even the religious season of Christmas that can stop the wars in Viet Nam and the Congo, and the suffering in Mississippi. I wonder if the fighting and the prejudice on both sides of the world will cease long enough for a few prayers?

When I read the papers and magazines and follow the strife and strain of the world, I am appalled. I watch with great interest to see what we are doing about it, and I lose a little faith in humanity.

You read of a woman in Oklahoma giving birth to a child on a busy sidewalk and not a soul stopping to help. Or of a woman in Detroit dying of a heart attack and being assaulted rather than assisted.

You shudder at the news of young people being chased by police dogs and fire hoses because their skin is of a different color than their more fortunate brothers. Murders occur and no one calls the police. Suicides are attempted and people are heard to remark "I wish he'd hurry and jump, I'm missing my favorite TV show."

A special committee on violence has been developed by psychiatrists, sociologists and other experts in the field to study this growing problem. It is now apparent that not only violence but a public sick with apathy are growing problems.

The civil rights issue is so often headlined that many of us live under the impression that the total problem is that of race prejudice.

Unfortunately this is a false assumption. Color is no distinction when it comes to "I couldn't care less about any one but me." The back fence gossips spreading malicious rumors are just as much a part of the picture. Name calling and smear campaigns are another part. Petty bickering among neighbors is also a part of it. The three parts of violence: "I hate; You hate; They hate." But when they act, "it's not my fault."

"Don't get involved," seems to be the password these days, and, "look out for yourself; never mind the other guy." I wonder where we'd be today if some, one a long, long time ago, didn't care about the other guy?

Of course people were uncivilized then. Maybe we all could use another miracle. Have we become so uncivilized that we forget the rights of others? Are we a nation where it only happens to the other guy? Children follow our example.

Imagine the country in the next generation if the only example they have to follow is that of "I wish he'd hurry and jump, I'm missing my favorite TV show." We fight among ourselves, our families and our neighbors. How can we possibly expect to co-exist with other nations of different beliefs, different customs, and different colors?

As I read about all this "So what?" attitude, one thought comes to mind.

I wonder what will happen when the shoe is on the other foot?

Mr. and Mrs. B. Horton Booth, of Sheridan Ave., are the parents of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Keller, of Mundelein, Ill., are the bridegroom's parents.

Her shoulder-length veil was held in place with a crown. She carried an old-fashioned nosegay bouquet of white roses and carnations.

CRANBERRY SALAD is what Mrs. Gerald Adams, of 891 S. Harvey St., is making. The salad which contains celery, oranges and apples in addition to the cranberries is one Mrs. Adams' grandmother used to make, Mrs. Adams said.

Another recipe — this time for a salad — that is particularly nice to serve during the holiday season was suggested by Mrs. Gerald Adams, of 891 S. Harvey St.

The unusual cranberry salad contains celery, oranges, apples, pineapple and gelatin. In pretty party mold it is the perfect complement for your Christmas dinner, for entertaining your bridge club or for your New Year's Eve buffet.

The Adams live at 891 S. Harvey and have two children, Ona Lee, two years old, and Dwayne, three months. Mrs. Adams, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Woolweaver, grew up in Plymouth. She is a Plymouth High School graduate. She is working part-time at Federal department store during the holiday season and her husband is employed at Bathing Manufacturing.

Mrs. Adams said she likes to play the piano and knit when she has time.

The cranberry salad recipe is one her grandmother made when Mrs. Adams was about ten years old, she said. She said it's simple to make and good, too.
