A Holiday Message

By Roger C. Gault, Pastor
The Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ
Of Later Day Saints

Some things we do from force of habit, others to conform to precedent set by self or society. Many of us approach Christmas with an attitude of habit, far removed from the precedent found in the purposes of Christ whose birth is to be remembered. But that birth was just the beginning of all the teachings, precepts, and examples. Just the beginning of all that He was to bring to mankind to point the true way of life. For He himself said "I am the way and the life."

There are those who say Christmas is a time for children; and so it is if we adults will not assume the responsibility, the purpose, the challenge that is caught up in the birth of Christ. That challenge is to know Him for more than a babe in a manger. It is to know Him as a man of power; as a man of integrity; as a man of love and concern; as a man that is changeless, with changeless concepts. "The same yesterday, today, and forever."

There are some things however, which we enter into spontaneously because they have within them the elements of wonder and surprise.

The element of wonder shines through the eyes of the younger children as stories are told about St. Nicholas, the wise men, the shepherds; about sugar plums and reindeer. The element of surprise catches them up as they open the packages on Christmas morning.

The same wonder may shine in our eyes as we contemplate the deeper meanings of Christmas.

"For His name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor, the Mighty God, the Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace." To contemplate is to give more than a passing thought. It is to be caught up and feel a rebirth, a redeeming power, a revitalizing strength.

The Christmas season is a time for rich family worship. Usually worship is not a single act or an event but a way of living. In a family with children it may be traditional to measure the height of each one, recording the mark on the wall. Have they grown or are they merely taller? And while we look at our children, this is also a good time to check on adult growth in Christlikeness.

Do we see Christmas as a candle or as the full brightness that leads all mankind to rejoice in its glory?

Roberts Heads GOP Session, McNamara Enters Senate Race

Headlining a meeting of the Plymouth and Plymouth Township Republican Party next Wednesday evening, Jan. 6 at the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union Building will be State Senator Farrell Roberts.

Roberts is the sole Republican candidate to date to file for the Feb. 15 primary election to fill the vacancy in the 14th State Senatorial District left by the sudden death of Senator-elect Paul M. Chandler of Livonia.

Roberts is expected to detail his plans for seeking the vacated seat.

Also slated for the meeting, according to G.O.P. worker Carl Pursell, is a discussion of plans for organization of the party for 1965 in the wake of a November defeat at the national level.

Tentative plans call for development of effective working committees designed to bring about a more responsible party in Plymouth. Pursell said. He noted that the G.O.P. group is open for

In a Nutshell

★ Plymouth Goodfellows issued a statement of thanks this week to those who helped in their annual drive to assure that there was "no kiddie without a Christmas."

★ An annual bottle drive will be held Saturday between 9 a.m. and 12 noon by cub scouts from Starkweather, Bird and other elementary schools. Persons who haven't been contacted by cubs for pickups by 11 a.m. may call Curtis Powell at 453-0392 or Dr. Karl Van Newkirk at 453-5513. The bottle drive is the one cub scout fund raising event during the year. Last year, scouts collected more than 5,000 bottles.

★ Canton Township farmer Donald Korte was named recently to serve on the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee for the following year. The election was held at a county convention Dec. 17.

★ A Canton Township family had their quiet disturbed a week ago Monday evening, Dec. 20 when they were eating dinner in their home and heard a noise which sounded like a shot hitting their window. Wednesday morning, the Raymond Deeds family of 47650 Hanford, found a hole in the front window of the house. Wayne Co. Sheriff's officers said the shot probably came from a powerful pellet gun.

Pursell, and Assistant Superintendent of Schools for Secondary Education William Harding. Messages were also contributed by Plymouth Community Planning Commission Chairman Russell Isbister and Plymouth Township Planning Commission Chairman Irving Rozian.

Twp. Planners Define Community Character

By Irving Rozian, Chairman
Plymouth Township
Planning Commission

The most difficult task before the commission continues to be that of defining the character of the community which we are trying to build and preserve. We have here the larger world of conflicting human interests in miniature.

At one polarity of opinion are those residents who came to Plymouth seeking elbow room. They would like to see the township develop as a predominantly residential area of large lots and small estates, all one-half acre or larger.

At the opposite point of view are those property owners, some residents and some not, to whom land is an investment. In order to maximize income from their land, they seek approval of smaller lot sizes, apartments, commercial or industrial zoning.

Neither extreme is right. The same people who want large lots, also want accessible commercial services and good schools without an excessive tax burden. This can only be done by providing for well located shopping centers and industrial parks.

THE SAME investors who want smaller lots, apartments and businesses, do not want the overall character of the community to decline because it is the attractive terrain, prestige reputation, and stable government of the township which attracts business for them.

Finally, we must consider the future residents and property owners of the township. U.S. population is growing so rapidly that land must be used efficiently. But we should not be so pessimistic as to plan for crowded mediocrity everywhere. Within the metropolitan area there should be planned areas for the better homes we aspire to and work for as part of the "American Dream".

An important test case is before the courts in J.A.R. Corp. versus Plymouth Township. The outcome of this case will have a great deal of effect on the ability of the Commission and the Township Board to carry out what our best judgment tells us is good planning.

Within a few months our planning consultants, Waring and Johnson, will have completed their studies and the drafting of a revised master plan under the "701" program partially finished.

Sees Need for Greater Community Co-operation

By James Jabara
Plymouth City Commissioner

In reviewing the truly outstanding accomplishments that the City of Plymouth has made in the past, I am pleased to make them the basis for my predictions for 1965.

You will remember at the start of this decade, which was appropriately named the "Soaring Sixties," Plymouth broke out of its shell and started forward. This could only be done through the unselfish efforts of people who appreciate this 'basis' on the fringe of a highly complex industrial area.

It is my belief that we are the envy of many of our neighboring cities for the progress of the past and hopes for the future, a future which holds many rewards for those leaders devoted to making The Plymouth Community a better place in which to live.

In looking to the future and particularly 1965, I see progress in three phases of our community development. The first of these is the improvement of existing and the addition of new recreation and park facilities. Plymouth is indeed fortunate to have a centrally located park.

The value of Kellogg Park can be appreciated by reviewing the successes of our Plymouth Community Fall Festivals. There is at the present time a committee to develop ideas in order that the full potential of Kellogg Park may be utilized. I am sure that during 1965, a master plan will

Skyrocketing Township Growth to Go on in '65

By Elizabeth Holmes
Plymouth Township
Treasurer

When The Plymouth Mail invited me to make a few predictions on behalf of the Plymouth Township Water and Sewer department, they may have been clairvoyant as this is one of my favorite areas of interest. During the last 12 months we have added 321 water customers.

While this would not be a large figure for most water departments, it does represent a 33% increase for us and this I find most satisfactory. For the coming year with the subdivisions, apartments, commercial and industrial applications already approved by the Township Board and the Planning Commission, an increase of an additional 500 water customers would probably be a conservative estimate.

We have been on the edge of Livonia's fantastic growth for several years and it is now beginning to spill over into our community. Both the Township Board and the Planning Commission are aware of the necessity of scrutinizing every proposed development in the Township to ascertain that existing quality is maintained.

We have increased our system this year by the Township building some water and sewer mains and by the dedication to the Township for operating those mains built in the new Arbor Village and Lakepointe Subdivisions.

I feel next year can be even better. In March, 1964, (Continued on Page 5)

School Emphasis to be on Curriculum, New Building

By William Harding
Assistant Sup'l. for Secondary Education

Unbelievable as it may seem to parents who have just stored the last of the lawn furniture as they pulled out the Christmas tree lights, our schools are reaching their half-way mark for this year. As is always the case when the New Year approaches, Board of Education members, school administrators, teaching faculties and citizen groups become increasingly aware of how much work lies ahead.

Our community is seeing a population growth greater than in other years. Because of this, all parties concerned with our school system are planning for facilities that are needed.

In the early part of 1965 15 new teaching stations will be opened at the elementary school level. These additions are being constructed at the Farrand and Allen Elementary Schools. The majority of these teaching stations will be filled by pupils immediately and consideration is being given to other elementary projects.

The two junior high schools will be filled to capacity. Both the 6th and 7th grade West School and 8th and 9th grade East School will gain another three homerooms of students.

The High School enrollment for the fall of 1965 will be about the same as Fall, 1964. One important (Continued on Page 2)

No Primary is Seen for Plymouth City Commission

In the primary election slated for Feb. 15 in the City of Plymouth, only the municipal court bench will be contested as insufficient candidates filed for city commissioner and county supervisor posts for the primary, according to City Clerk Richard Shafer.

In the court race, Attorney J. Rusling Cutler of 193 N. Main St. and Clifford Manwaring of 499 Auburn St. will appear on the ballot with City Attorney Edward F. Draugelis of 1377 Carol St.

Draugelis will resign his position as city attorney if elected.

In the race for four city commission vacancies, only seven candidates filed petitions by the Monday 4 p.m. deadline. More than eight would be necessary for a primary runoff, Shafer said.

IN A MOVE that was rumored last week, former Mayor Harold Guenther failed to file his petitions for the commission. The seven candidates for the post include: Incumbent commissioners

Robert O. Beyer of 725 N. Mill St., James C. Houk of 346 Irvin St., and Robert L. Smith, Jr. of 700 Pacific Ave.

Mayor Richard H. Wernette is ineligible to run again at the present time.

Others filing were George Hudson of 706 Burroughs Ave., Eldon W. Martin of 380 Fairground, James B. McKeon of 238 N. Evergreen Ave., and Arthur L. Shepard of 506 Hartsough Ave.

City Commissioner and incumbent Wayne County Supervisor A. E. Vallier, Jr. will be unopposed for the supervisor's seat.

The primary election is slated for Monday, Feb. 15. Voters, at that time, will also cast ballots in a primary for the 14th State Senatorial District vacancy left by the death of State Senator-elect Paul M. Chandler.

They will also vote in a primary for a circuit court vacancy created by the passing of Judge Miles B. Culehan.

The general election will follow on April 5.

Sale of Ellis Restaurant Announced

Announcement was made this week of sale of a Plymouth business which has virtually become a landmark.

Ellis Restaurant, owned by Elton and Francis Ellis of Plymouth for the past 25 years, was sold Wednesday to David and Dorothy Diot of Indian River, Mich.

The Diots will take over operation Saturday, according to the Ellises. They said the Diots plan to maintain the same policies and operation. In business at the same site (Continued on Page 2)

Boom!

The biggest year of expansion in history is drawing to a close in Plymouth Township with an 11-month total of new construction approaching $5.3 million, a figure that's apt to double next year.

Unofficial figures from the offices of Township Clerk John D. McEwen and Building Inspector Matthew McLellan show permits issued for a whopping $5,213,995 worth of building as of the end of November.

Permit fee income has hit $20,895 to date, compared to $5,805 for 1963. As of Monday, 482 building permits had been issued this year.

Over $2 million worth of new construction has been authorized in the final half of 1964. Estimates of building next year range as high as $10 million.

Of the total so far this year, residential construction accounts for more than $4 million of the total. Over 300 single family dwelling permits have been issued for property valued at $3,754,118. Three multiple family authorizations totaling $23,000. Commercial and industrial construction account for the bulk of the remainder.

banquet. Forty businesses joined our Chamber.

Before discussing our Chamber of Commerce plans for 1965, I should like to reflect for a moment on our development this past year and how it will affect our 1965 "Charge of Responsibility."

Two interesting developments occurred early in the year which have greatly improved our Chamber image. A committee went out after membership through the media of person to person, and a Spring banquet. Forty businesses joined our Chamber.

Out of the membership banquet came the Businessmen's Forum, one of our best tools for communication. Here many outstanding speakers have kept us informed and provided the businessmen with an opportunity to meet each other. To mention a few, Mike Hoben on youth problems; Robert Taylor, trucking; Arch Vallier, water; Albert Glassford, a city report. Slated for March 4 of 1965 is our Lt. Governor William G. Milliken. Dr. Van Ornum served as our Committee Chairman and was supported by Dr. R. R. Barber, Dr. Robert Meek, Dr. Gerald Fitch, Dr. Donald Davies and myself.

So with the New Year upon us, the Chamber has set its sights on responsible activities to provide our members and community with results.

Area Planning Group is Of Utmost Importance

I predict that the Plymouth Community Planning Commission will begin to develop further areas of co-operation between the two townships of Plymouth and Canton and the City of Plymouth in achieving its stated purpose of strengthening and improving the industrial and commercial

The commission's plans call for such improvements within the limits of The Plymouth Community School District.

Plans include the employment of a professionally trained and experienced director with a background of knowledge in this field. He will coordinate the work of the commission.

In addition, he will meet with industrial personnel and make known the future potential of industrial and commercial areas within the school district.

HE WILL put together technical information necessary to meet the demands of potential industrial and commercial inquiries. He will seek out public and private (Continued on Page 3)

Bridge Builders and Beauticians Have One Thing in Common

Bridge-builders and beauticians have one thing in common — they owe their jobs to the human desire to improve the map of nature. While the earliest engineer was heaving a leg across a stream to make the world's first bridge, his mate, chic in a three-strand necklace of bone beads, was probably squatting at the river's edge applying the original mud-pack to obtain a silk'n satin complexion.

Humanity's first make-up job was strictly a masculine affair, according to recent data on beauty history. Cave-men were colorful old settlers, dying their bodies to attract their womenfolk and scare off their enemies. (Human error being what it is, this all-purpose paint must have worked in reverse.) At one time, all the best Britons were blue and American Indians were famously gaudy.

The B.C. belle had a formidable arsenal of beauty aids. A 5,000-year-old compact has been found equipped with tiny tweezers, cuticle stick rouge and applicator. Queen Nefertiti, who had almost as many sculptors as Venus or George Washington, used red nail polish over 3,000 years ago. Egyptian comber glances were freighted with green eyeshadow and a mascara-like substance known as kohl. Charcoal eyebrow pencils were in every B.C. boudoir.

FLAPPERS thought they were daring when they affected that flour-faced "vamp" complexion, but the women of Greece and Rome anticipated Theda Bara by some 20 centuries. They achieved that pale, interesting look by coating their faces with a white lead "foundation," then dusting themselves with chalk powder.

Helen of Troy used a different beauty approach — she was thought to keep her classic features lovely with this recipe for a facial mask:

"Take two barley, two pounds bean flour, mix with six eggs. After drying in the sun, grind powder and add one-sixth pound of powdered hart's horn (important). Pass this through a sieve and combine with 12 narcissus bulbs mortar pounded, 12 ounces of gum, and 18 ounces of honey."

The strange formula seems to have worked wonders for Helen. According to one historian, when Paris became smitten with her charms and carried her off to Troy, the MAXIMILIAN SCHELL isn't exactly showing devotion to Melina Mercouri in this scene from "Topkapi". He is impressing the importance of timing in a plan for a jewel robbery they have concocted. The picture, filmed on location in color, was produced and directed by Jules Dassin. It will open Friday at the P & A Theatre through United Artists release.

City DPW Activities

By Superintendent Joseph Bida

Last week, the Department of Public Works salted the streets following the snow of last Saturday. Approximately 40 tons of salt was spread.

A 2" water tap and a 6" sanitary sewer tap was installed at 900 Plymouth Road.

Dead end, flat and not self-cleansing sewers were flushed and some rodded during the week. Also catch basins were cleaned on Hardenburg, York, Liberty, Maple, Fairground, Fair, Wing, Ann Arbor Trail and Harding Streets.

The camels, in the nativity scene at Kellogg Park, were moved towards the manger as the time of the birth of Christ drew nearer.

Fluorescent lights were installed at the Department of Public Works Garage. This will furnish a great deal better lighting system than was being used previously. These lights were salvaged from the old city hall.

Large propane gas tanks were installed at the Six Mile Well Field.

There were two funerals at Riverside Cemetery during the week.

The Department of Public Works would like to take this time to thank the citizens of the city for their patience during trying situations of the last year and to wish each and everyone a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

The Central Parking Lot was swept. This is very unusual for this time of year as the temperature had gotten up to 50 degrees, and there seemed to be a great deal of dirt and debris gathering. However, the sweeper had been winterized and stored for the winter but was gotten out and put on the road to clean up for the rest of the Holiday Season.

Ellis Restaurant

The 55-year-old Ellis said his plans call for nothing definite at the present time.

"I'M NOT figuring on doing anything for a while," he commented. "I'm just going to take it easy and rest." Ellis said he and his wife may take a vacation trip to Florida this winter.

The Ellises have two daughters, Linda, 20, and Corlie, 12. They live at 359 McKinley St.

Mrs. Diot has had past experience in the restaurant business in Indian River. Ellis said. Her husband has been with Michigan Bell Telephone Co. for the past 17 years.

The building housing Ellis Restaurant was not included in the sale. It is owned by Edwin A. Schrader of Schrader Funeral Home, located next door.

School Emphasis

(Continued from page one) new addition since last September will be the opening of the new vocational wing which is scheduled for completion this summer.

THIS NEW facility will enable our school district to fulfill its responsibility to provide a specialized program of vocational education to all youth who need and can profit by it. The program is being designed to develop the skills, abilities, understanding, attitudes, work habits and specialized knowledge and information needed to enter the "world of work."

Expanded course offerings in welding, electricity and business education are being designed. A new course of study being planned will be a three year program in automotive technology.

Applications have been filed at the State Vocational Education Office to seek some reimbursement for equipment and teaching salaries under the Vocational Act of 1963. All state schools have been asked to do likewise and by March, notice of approval will be made known to applying schools.

In addition to the Vocational Education Act all elementary and secondary schools in Plymouth are aware of the expanded version of the National Defense Education Act of 1958. Title III of the N.D.E.A. now provides the opportunity for schools to purchase and later apply for some reimbursement for materials and equipment not only for science, mathematics and foreign languages but now also for history, geography, civics, English and reading programs.

Title V of N.D.E.A. will also for the first time extend the testing and guidance and counseling programs to public elementary schools. Our secondary schools have already made application for Title V in past years.

Overall curriculum development for both elementary and secondary schools has received intensified attention this year. Time has been provided for some holiday teacher release for curriculum study. The next release date is on the afternoon of January 12 for both elementary and secondary levels. This allowed time for professional faculty planning will continue throughout the second semester. In addition, we also have after-school departmental and grade meetings.

Priorities include a course of study for the expanded program on Human Growth and Development. Co-ordinated efforts are being made in the field of elementary and secondary mathematics as to design of courses and selection of teaching materials. Consultant help and teacher visitation to other schools have been and will continue to be a part in our planning for curriculum improvement. All departments and grades are now involved in this study and reports of progress will be made throughout the school year to the Superintendent and members of the Board of Education. SCHOOLCRAFT College plays an important role in the education scheme of the Plymouth Community and joint meetings by the Plymouth Secondary School Council and departmental leaders of Schoolcraft College are planned. The first meeting will take place on Jan. 13 at 3:30 p.m. More information will be exchanged as to what subjects are taught and how we teach them at the respective schools.

A meeting for the purpose of organizing a Parent Council Group at the Senior High School has been called for Tuesday, Jan. 12. When organized, this group will be composed of interested parents, administrators and teachers who will meet to discuss common school concerns. A great deal of the success of this group will depend upon the attendance turnout of interested parties.

The Detroit Institute of Arts is the only such institute in any of the world's large cities owned by the people. It has one of America's richest collections of sculpture. Greenfield Village with its Edison Institute at Dearborn is one of America's leading tourist attractions with more than a million visitors annually. It contains a collection of Americana that is considered the finest in the world. Michigan is rich in Indian lore. Longfellow's "Song of Hiawatha," has immortalized legends of the Chippewas and other Upper Michigan tribes. Its Gitehe Gumee locale is the Lake Superior area of northern Michigan. The Upper Peninsula is known as the Land of Hiawatha. Longfellow drew his information for the poem, published in 1855, from Henry Schoolcraft, Indian historian and scientist, who lived at Sault Ste. Marie. Nationally known writers who were born or lived in Michigan include: Liberty Hyde Bailey, Ray Stannard Baker, James Oliver Curwood, Paul deKruif, Karl Detzer, Lloyd Douglas, Edna Ferber, Robert Frost, Ernest Hemingway, James B. The National Music Camp at Interlochen, Michigan, is a unique center of musical art. Situated in a virgin pine forest 14 miles southwest of Traverse City, it attracts the best junior musical talent from all over the country for 10-week summer sessions. The May music festival at the University of Michigan has been part of the University life since 1880. It features artists of national fame and has been the occasion of distinguished first performances of many musical compositions. Kalamazoo has one of the most active public lending museums in the nation, where over 50,000 loans of exhibits are made annually. Michigan's greatest contribution to the theater was the famous stock company operated in Detroit by Jessie Bonstelle from 1925 until her death in 1932. From it came such famous stars as Katharine Cornell, Ann Harding, Frank Morgan, Melvyn Douglas, William Powell and others. Many of the nation's leading philanthropic educational and cultural organizations were endowed by eminent Michigan people. These include the Children's Fund of Michigan, founded in 1929 by United States Senator James Couzens; the Cranbrook Foundation in Battle Creek, created in 1930 by W. K. Kellogg; Kresge Foundation in Detroit, organized in 1924 by Sabastian S. Kresge; the McGregor Fund in Detroit, established in 1925 by Tracy W. McGregor; the Mott Foundation in Flint, endowed by Charles S. Mott; and the Horace H. and Mary A. Rackham Fund in Detroit, founded in 1933. Married, But They Didn't Really Know Each Other

By Anna Jung

John and Jane did not really know each other when they married. Jane knew nothing of John's deep need to prove his adequacy as a man. Nor of his intense anxiety and fear of failure in his role as head of a household. Nor of his overwhelming concern about financial security; his need to have his wife work and share the financial burden; and his fear that she might become pregnant and unable to work, leaving him fully responsible to support not only himself but a wife and a child.

So conflicted were John's inner needs that he scarcely understood himself, what these needs were. And he most certainly did not understand Jane's needs.

How could John know that Jane expected him to be her father, come back to life? With her mind she knew that this was not possible, but in her emotional life she needed her father and John was delegated that role.

Since Jane also had a kind of an unspoken commitment to her mother to provide an opportunity for mother to re-live her youthful marriage through Jane's marriage, an added burden was placed on John. He was expected to be the "dashing young hero" that Jane, and her mother, idolized and idealized because her father hadn't lived long enough to prove that he was but an average man.

Jane needed a father, a romantic lover, and also she needed an "alter-ego" to carry out her rebellion against her mother. This was a welcome task for John because he had denied his need to rebel against his own mother.

Here was a "second chance" for him to rebel against a mother-figure who had no power to punish him. He wasn't afraid of losing the love of his mother-in-law because he did not need her love.

John and Jane failed each other miserably. Neither was able to be or to do what the other needed and expected.

The qualities that had attracted them to each other were the qualities they found most difficult to tolerate in each other after marriage.

What Jane had considered John's "strength," "self-confidence," and "ambition" before marriage she later criticized as "bull-headedness," "egotism," and "moneygrubbing."

When he carried out her obvious, but unspoken, wish to rebel against her mother, Jane leaped to her mother's defense and berated John.

John was equally disappointed in Jane. He said she was childish, incompetent, lazy, a "mama's baby". He couldn't remember the qualities he found so endearing before marriage.

Now of course I'm not really talking about John and Jane; in fact, they do not actually exist. I'm talking about Bill and Mary, about Bob and Betty, about Phil and Lucy, and about countless other young boys and girls, turned overnight into men and women when the judge or the clergyman said, "I now pronounce you man and wife".

The story of John and Jane is a composite of many, many case histories in the files of family counseling agencies.

Pre-marital counseling is a service offered by professionally trained social workers. Few people avail themselves of this service. But there seems to be a universal need to hold to the truism that "love is blind". And there seems to be a universal conspiracy to keep it that way!

Area Planning

The commission will attempt to work out areas of co-operation with existing organizations including the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, the Industrial Development Corporation and private real estate brokers.

Because of ever-increasing expansion in residential building in The Plymouth Community, it becomes increasingly imperative that we seek corresponding growth in our industrial and commercial tax base.

Only through emphasis on growth in these areas can the tax rate to individual homeowners be maintained at a reasonable level.

Here comes 1965! Thanks to you, the last year was a great one for us! Best wishes to you.

A Holiday Message

For He said, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." Then we see Christmas as the guarantee of new faith, new life, new joy, and new power. Born of a soul piercing contact with Him. Anything less than this is a betrayal of the commission entrusted to us.
Do we endeavor to come into contact with Christ at Christmas, or are we a non-participating spectator? Are we followers or disciples? The people of Laodicia were followers and they were called lukewarm. "So then because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spew thee out of my mouth."
We look forward throughout the year to the coming of Christmas because it gives us an opportunity to contemplate the impact His life makes upon us. Let us be careful that it is not just a lukewarm impact. Let us pause at this anniversary of our Master's birth to give thanks to our Heavenly Father for his deep compassion, universal love, and the concern He has shown by sending his only begotten Son.
God has given us our agency; Jesus Christ has pointed the way. As I take this opportunity to wish you a Very Merry Christmas and the Happiest of New Year's — may I challenge you to let the love and wonder that shines in our lives now, continue throughout the year.
For the purposes of Christmas are for every day, every minute. Even if we grasp only limly the meaning of Christ's birth and life we can never be the same again.
Let this Christmas be creative in your life, create in you an individual - reborn - redeemed - revitalized.
Do not be too concerned this Christmas with the things you can give. Look within, then reach out and up. Let it be a season when you give yourself to your family, to your friends, and to Christ first.

A subcommittee of the Planning Commission is drafting ordinance revisions which will permit developers to set aside communal areas for swimming pools, playgrounds, etc. without penalty in land use, by slight reduction of lot areas.

We also hope to hold a series of joint meetings with the planning commissions of the City of Plymouth and other contiguous communities on problems of mutual interest.
The City of Plymouth has saturated its industrial sites. The Township should take a more active role now in promoting our industrial-park sites. Consideration is being given to emphasis on research-oriented projects which act as seed beds for future industrial growth.

Swimmers Close '64 On Losing Note

In a close meet Plymouth swimmers wound up 1964 activity by losing at Dearborn 45-45. The meet wasn't decided until the final two events, although Plymouth trailed most of the way. For Plymouth, John Skinner, Jim Lent, Tim Wernette and Pat Brady placed second in the medley relay. In the 200 yard freestyle

Doug Jaskierny was second for Plymouth and in the 50 yard freestyle Dick Berry was first and Allen Saxton third. The score then read Dearborn 17, Plymouth 13.

In the next event, the 200 yard individual medley Jeff Hoffman and Jeff Gustafson placed second and third respectively as Dearborn edged ahead 22-17.

John Herter won the diving for Plymouth and David Cook was second to give Plymouth the lead 25-23.

DEARBORN went ahead in the next event, the 100-yard butterfly, although Plymouth's Jeff Haarabuer was second. The Rocks now trailed by only one point 29-28.

Dick Berry managed a second place in the 100 yard freestyle, but Dearborn pushed ahead 35-31. Dearborn swept the first two places in the 100 yard backstroke, although Jeff Hoffman was third for Plymouth. At the end of this event the score was Dearborn 43, Plymouth 32.

The Rocks came splashing back in the 400 yard freestyle as Jeff Haarabuer and Doug Jaskierny were one-two to get Plymouth back in the meet 44-40.

Dearborn salted away the victory, however, in the next event, the 100 yard breaststroke, as the best Plymouth could do was a third-place by Jeff Gustafson.

In the free style relay, the final event of the meet, Plymouth was second. Cook, Herter, Brady and Saxton were swimming for Plymouth.

The first 1965 meet for Plymouth will be Jan. 7 at 7 p.m., when the Rocks entertain Redford Union in the Plymouth pool.

McFALL IN THE POOL — was a common sight during 1964 as Plymouth won the Suburban Six League Championship last spring. It was the only league championship won by Plymouth and the coach traditionally gets a dunking after victory. This picture taken at the Bentley meet this fall shows the jovial swimming coach, John H. McFall, in the lower right hand corner, apparently pointing to the instigator of this particular splashfest.

BALLHAWKING — by Gary Grady (left in dark uniform) has helped Plymouth considerably on defense this year. Here the Rock Captain stays with a Bentley dribbler in a game earlier this season.

3 Goal Burst Wins For Merchants

The Plymouth Hockey Association had a busy week last week. In the Pee Wee League, the V.F.W. tied Nankin township 1-1 on Jim Luig's goal.

University Litho lost to Nankin 2-0 in the Bantam League.

In the Midget League the Merchants came from behind with three goals in the last three minutes to edge Nankin 4-3. Plymouth goals were scored by Jim Elias, John Gilles, Dan Bongiovanni and Tony Eakin. The goalie was Lee Breneman.

In the Juveniles League, Trading Post tied 1-1 on a goal by R. Sharland.

On Wednesday, the Pee Wees play at 6:40 p.m. in Garden City Ice Rink in Livonia, while a midget game begins at 10 p.m. in the same rink.

Plymouth coaches, fans and players can be excused if they look forward eagerly to 1965. 1964 was not a particularly good year for Plymouth. In fact, according to athletic director John Sandmann "you might say this year we have reached the low point of the past 12 years or so."

Sandmann has been athletic director for 15 years in Plymouth and he notes "usually we win about three league championships and a couple of years we had four or five."

That's out of a possible eight sports in which Plymouth competes in Suburban Six competition. During 1964 Plymouth won only one championship and that was in swimming, which is practically owned by the Rock Tankers.

Since they have been competing over the past nine years, Plymouth has lost the swim title only once. The 1964 golfing team, which is coached by Sandmann just missed, losing the title by one stroke.

The Rock swimming team, however, appears to be out of the running for 1965 unless a great improvement takes place. The Rocks can probably compete with anyone in the league except Trenton. Trenton is simply loaded with talent this year.

While at the end of the 1963-64 season the Rocks basketball team had posted a 9-6 record, the Rocks will take a 1-3 record into the 1965 end of this season. They are 0-2 in the Suburban Six. The cage team is aggressive, however, and will probably improve on this record before the season is over.

In the football season just completed Plymouth finished with a 3-5 record, the first losing season in over 12 years.

The cross-country team finished with a 3-3 record this fall and the tennis, baseball and track teams had only average 1964 seasons.

Except for Belleville and Plymouth, all other Suburban Six schools compete in wrestling. Plymouth may get into this sport soon, but it appears just as well that they wait until the New Year for such a move.

1964 was not one of Plymouth's better years athletically.

Welcome New Year!

Plymouth swimmers do come back home during the holidays, and they almost always find their way to the Plymouth pool.

Among those present the day after Christmas were Phil Bender (Western Michigan University), Jim Beglinger (Flint Junior College), Ken Fischer (Western Ohio College), Dick Gretzinger (Michigan State University), Nick Herrick (Western Michigan), Wynn Schrader (University of Michigan), Mark Schultheiss (Iowa State), Dick Michaels (Ohio State) and Bob Knapp (Central Michigan University).

Beglinger was captain of the Rocks last season, while Gretzinger is Captain at Michigan State this season. Herrick is a co-captain of Western Michigan's swimming team.

All of the above are swimming on college teams at the schools they are attending, except Schrader and Schultheiss.

The holiday hiatus seems at times to make the world stop momentarily. Perhaps it's the forced attention to income tax problems or the warm companionship provided by overdue meetings with friends.

Whatever it is, it is a pleasant pause from the humdrum concerns of everyday life. We would suggest that some thought ought to be given to delaying the New Years celebration to about mid-February, when the world greatly needs another day off.

Aside from the rest of the universe's activity, there is just too much that surrounds the winter holidays in the way of sports.

There are the many bowl games and holiday basketball tournaments and, of course, the professional championships and the college games like North-South and Blue-Grey to say nothing of hockey.

One of our favorite lines of 1964, incidentally, concerns the wag watching the Mississippi-Mississippi State game of TV late in the season. He said, "This must be the Bigot Bowl."

Before this gets too far astray, let's get in a prediction about the Rose Bowl game. After the Navy-Michigan game, this column said that it was hard to believe that there might be a college football team better than Michigan.

Despite the spillovers from Purdue (who edged Michigan 21-20 for the lone Wolverine defeat), Michigan seems to be the best football team in the country.

Unless Coach Elliot is charitable or the Wolves have succumbed to the holiday treatment, this corner looks forward to another 49-0 session at Pasadena for the U. of M.

In the East by the way, Washington's birthday is celebrated as a legal holiday. How about a Cherry Tree Bowl?

In wishing you a happy New Year, we'd like to thank you for making '64 a happy one for us!

Who Wants to Die for A Railroad Overpass ?

By Mike Ross

Picture this. A prosperous little community that has most of the appearance of normality. It has shops and stores and all the modern street light fixtures, a beautiful new city hall, and more than its share of new business.

The little city also has a characteristic that can be compared to a medieval town in Europe and can also throw that entire community, it seems, back into that stage of history.

In a sense, it has a wall. If you haven't guessed by this time, the city is Plymouth. But the wall isn't quite so obvious, since it doesn't always exist. It is trains — those hunks of steel joined together that, at any given time of day or night, may paralyze this community. It makes no difference who you are, where you happen to be going, or if you're in a hurry or not.

There are approximately 10 train crossings in this immediate area. There is one main overpass. This isn't to say all the crossings are connected and that a train passing through or by Plymouth must use all 10, but one train can use up to four crossings.

The train traffic in the area is so great that two trains running through the city is not uncommon. Using as many crossings as each could, it would tie up eight streets and three quarters of this town.

There is now a law stating that no rail traffic can hold-up street traffic longer than 15 minutes. This looks rather foolproof, but, as so many laws, it is dodged with ease.

A stinging example is the crossing on Haggerty Road past Burroughs. A train may come along at four in the afternoon, the bars go down, the lights flash and automobiles are backed up a dozen or more on either side.

For the next 10 minutes the passengers in these cars watch, frustrated, as the trains play leapfrog with each other; as they dosey-do back and forth, change partners and circle left.

When the music stops, they part long enough to let a few privileged autos through that happen to be at the head of the waiting line, by this time, better than 20 cars in length.

But the trains can't wait. Back they go to their hippopotamus version of the Soupy Shuffle, while irate motorists smolder. It takes not long for the air to turn blue, and it isn't from smoke.

Finally, after three or four of these displays of agility, the train decides to move on to next crossing and continue the show. The twentieth car's occupant can't file a complaint, he wails, because traffic wasn't stopped for more than 10 to 15 minutes at a time. Possibly less than a dozen cars got through, but some did — so, technically, traffic wasn't at a standstill.

So far this situation has caused little more than late workers, shortened lunch hours, and expanded vocabularies. But what will happen some day when a long white ambulance replaces that maroon Pontiac as twentieth vehicle?

Will the life in that person still be there when the dance of the Diplodocus is over, or will that person's song be over? Is it going to take something as drastic as this to change our train problem?

Personally, I wouldn't want to give my life for a train overpass, and I doubt if very many others would be willing to.

I hope no one is forced to.

Set New Year's Eve Services at Saint Peter's

Holy Communion will be celebrated at the New Year's Eve service at St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Penniman and Evergreen. Looking forward to the new year, the theme of Pastor Norman Berg's sermon will be "1965 — An Acceptable Year of the Lord."

The service begins at 7:30 p.m.

During the New Year's Eve Service installation of new officers of the congregation will be performed by the pastor. Installed will be: Arnold Heidt as Vice President, Dale Houghton and Arnold Ash as Financial Secretaries, and Milton Lehmann and Ernest Manzel to the Board of Elders.

Robert Bartley and Frank Keehl will serve on the Board of Stewardship, John Blome and Donald Hamilton on the Board of Education, and Fred Heidenrich and James Gothard on the Board of Trustees.

Services will also be held on New Year's Day at 10 a.m. The Vicar of the congregation, Mr. Larry Cooper, will deliver the sermon. The Junior Choir will sing the New Year's anthem.

Local Motorists Invited to Traffic Safety School

A voluntary traffic school geared to show already-licensed motorists in the Plymouth Community how to stay accident and ticket free opens at 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 7 at Automobile Club of Michigan's Wayne Division office.

First of its kind in the area, the school is free and open to the public. Residents wishing to attend need only be present at Auto Club's office, 434 South Wayne Road, Nankin.

Objective of the school, co-sponsored by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department and the Automobile Club, is to update drivers on latest traffic laws and driving skills necessary for today's complex traffic and high speed roads.

"It will be of value to any driver who feels a need for a refresher course on fundamentals of everyday driving procedures and techniques," says Reynier Staats, special projects coordinator for Auto Club's safety and traffic division.

Staats, who was instrumental in starting this school, will conduct the first session.

Each Thursday thereafter, Deputy Sheriff James Haile will conduct the one and one-half hour session at the same time and place as the first school. He will coordinate his lecture with 75 slides furnished by Auto Club.

SUBJECT matter of the school covers such topics as driver attitude, car maintenance, speed, how to signal for turns and maneuvering, free-way driving and pedestrian safety. Wayne County Sheriff Peter L. Buback, who will attend the first session, said: "I personally give my approval and support to this school and recommend it to all motorists who want to become better drivers. Attending this school is one way citizens can play an actual role in reducing deaths and accidents in this section of Wayne County."

Buback points out that accidents so far this year in Wayne County have increased almost 20 per cent. Between January 1 and December 23, 1964, there were 3,681 car accidents as compared with 2,967 for the same period in 1963.

Death and accident totals for the above period have also risen in Wayne County. In 1964, there were 11 pedestrians killed, and 77 pedestrians injured. Compared with 1963, these figures are up eight and five for pedestrians and motorists deaths and 17 and 713 for pedestrian and motorists injuries, respectively. "Those involved in accidents don't want to say they are 'bad drivers,' but the record shows that too many self-labeled good drivers are becoming careless behind the wheel," says Buback. "We can all improve ourselves and learn to avoid accidents and tickets by attending just one session of this traffic school."

Among those expected to attend the first night are Ernest P. Davis and Bayard Clark, director and assistant director, respectively, of Auto Club's safety and traffic division; Erwin Gamrath, manager of Auto Club's Wayne office; Inspector Dan Martin, of Wayne's Out-County Road Patrol, plus city and county officials.

Household Tips for the Harried Homemaker

How do you wash shoes sold as washable? What is polypropylene? How do you wash corduroy? Perhaps the following household tips will solve a problem for you.

Many summer shoes are old as washable. Perhaps you have a pair of sneakers or other casual fabric shoes and have hesitated to wash them. If they were sold as washable, you can probably get good results by drying them on shoe trees. Dried by themselves the shoes are likely to become puckered and shrunken around the toes.

Some hot nights you would gladly trade your soft bed for a hard, cool floor. Everything seems hot and sticky even though it was clean and cool when the night began. One very good way to make summer sleeping more comfortable is to have your pillows cleaned during the hot weather. This takes all the soil, dust, and perspiration off your feathers and restores the little curl to the feathers that gives the pillow buoyancy. You will have soft, clean, sweet smelling pillows instead of lumpy, soiled ones.

Polypropylene is a new type of synthetic material that is just coming on the market in increased uses. It is completely resistant to acid and is lint free. So far it has been utilized mostly for industrial purposes and carpeting, but will soon be available in sweaters, sport shirts, women's hosiery, men's half socks, underwear, dresses and suitings. In the home furnishings market, the fiber will be used for outdoor and indoor furniture.

The Polypropylene fiber is quite resistant to abrasion. However, it must be ironed with a very cool iron or it will fuse and become hard researchers warn. A steam iron is too hot; use the lowest temperature setting on a regular iron.

In summertime, mom's life is made harder by the tracking indoors of mud and the removal of mud stains from the family's clothing. By letting the mud dry it is often possible to scrape off quite a bit from the surface of the garment. To remove deep stain rub a bar soap into it and scrub by hand. However, check frequently to see that the color is not being removed from the garment as the mud is being rubbed out.

Along with the task of selecting a college wardrobe goes the job of choosing the necessary linens and bedspreads to dress up the college living quarters. A college dorm bedspread should be sturdy as well as attractive and colorful. A good quality woven bedspread fits this description. A woven fabric takes harder wear and less care than a tufted or chenille spread. Comparatively inexpensive and practical for longer service, woven spreads often have companion matching draperies. They can be found in plaids or stripes as well as solid colors.

Unightly grass stains on any clothing is a problem that faces every homemaker. A good do-it-at-home method is to blot the stain with a clean cloth soaked in alcohol. This will remove the green coloring and you will then be able to launder out the brown stain by working in a heavy duty detergent and washing in hot water.

Dark cottons in prints or plaids are ideal for classroom wear. Dark cotton prints won't show dirt or stains easily. Choose fabrics that will withstand the wear and tear it will receive from an active child. Washfast corduroys will do a good job but make sure they are pre-shrunk. Clothes should definitely be washable for children's use. Dark cottons should be laundered separately from other clothes. To keep them fresh and looking new longer, wash in mild, sudsy water at a low temperature. Hot water will rob dark colored garments of color and life.

Corduroy, which plays a very important role in a child's wardrobe, can be machine washed. Laundering the corduroy garment wrong side out prevents lint pick-up. The fabric will retain its soft appearance longer if a fabric conditioner is used in the final rinse. For pressing corduroy, place the garment on the ironing board pile side up. Cover with a dampened press cloth and move steam or regular iron slowly over garment, barely making contact with the press cloth. Brush pile lightly and hang it up with nothing touching the garment for about a half hour.

Local Restaurant To Serve Lion

A special New Year's Eve treat at Hillside Inn will be roast African Lion Meat, according to Mrs. Robert Stremich.

It tastes like veal and is a very light meat (almost as light as white chicken meat), Mrs. Stremich explained. The roasted meat will be served in a burgundy sauce.

American Legion Auxiliary

Changing conditions in American life are challenging the American Legion Auxiliary to expand its endeavors as a patriotic organization. The organization's program for 1965 calls for special emphasis each month on different activities.

Activities to help strengthen the security of America's peace and freedom will be emphasized during January. Emphasis also will be placed on winning public support for the American Legion's recommendations to the new Congress.

"Don't open up the floodgates of immigration to let in the excess population of other nations!" This will be the plea of the American Legion Auxiliary to the coming session of Congress, according to Mrs. Gertrude Simonitti, Legislative Chairman of Passage-Gayde Unit No. 391. The Auxiliary will support the American Legion stand for the maintenance of the present immigration law - the Walter-McCarran Act, she said.

The American Legion Auxiliary has always believed, along with the Legion, that the limited and orderly flow of immigration into the United States, as provided in the present law, is sufficient and well planned. We have been opposed to opening up immigration to take care of the over-population in other countries. A movement to change immigration laws to permit a larger influx of immigrants is expected in the new congress. The national quotas provisions of the Walter-McCarran Law, which assign large quotas to north European countries while giving much smaller ones to countries in other parts of the world, have been especially under attack.

Vern Miller and Charles Ryder, on behalf of the Passage-Gayde Post No. 391, distributed canteen books and cigarettes to approximately 90 veterans in Maybury for Christmas. Post members carry out this remembrance every year, however the gifts vary.

Just a reminder of our big New Year's Eve party. The party starts at 10 p.m. Music will be supplied by the "Suburbanites". For information call entertainment chairman Bob Richter.

Fresh and new points of view

Each year end, it is traditional for The Plymouth Mail to seek forecast messages for the coming months from the heads of the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, the Plymouth Community School District and the Chamber of Commerce.

However, with 1965 just around the corner, it seemed to us that a change in viewpoint might be appropriate.

While we realize that the men who head these units have contributed much to the welfare of the community and, in the year ahead, will give still more of themselves, we thought it would be refreshing to have others present an outlook on the year ahead.

In the City of Plymouth, we chose Commissioner James Jabara, a young man who has served his government with distinction in the past 12 months. An engineer, he seems well qualified to speak out on future developments.

Because of a rapidly accelerating growth rate in the Township of Plymouth, two spokesmen were picked to give their views of the future.

Head of the water department, Township Treasurer and Trustee Elizabeth Holmes, will give what must certainly be considered a look at the future from a woman's point of view. In addition, Mrs. Holmes speaks with the insight, authority and knowledge gained during 10 years in office.

Township Planning Commission Chairman Irving Rozian is an able, articulate man who, in 1964, guided a path through public hearings and rezoning issues that often were stormy and emotional. Quiet and competent, he always maintained his equanimity and kept a clear eye on the questions at hand. He can provide penetrating insight into Plymouth Township development in 1965.

William C. Harding, assistant superintendent of schools for secondary education, was elevated to his present position earlier this year from a post as Junior High School principal. While Harding's present assignments do not take him into elementary education to a great extent, he is a capable administrator and qualified to comment on the year ahead as it pertains to the Plymouth Community School District.

From the Chamber of Commerce, youthful businessman Carl Pursell has set down his viewpoints on the year ahead. Owner of an office supply business, Pursell led the Chamber's membership committee to all-time heights in 1964. He has been active in planning the Chamber's tentative 1965 program, now on its way to members for criticism and approval.

Characterized by an intense, driving devotion to the community, Pursell's achievements in the past year render him capable of giving a fresh and new view of the year ahead.

Last, but definitely not least, Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister speaks from his vantage point as chairman of the Plymouth Planning Commission, a new position he is filling. Isbister has long been recognized as a man who cares about The Plymouth Community. His concern for the year ahead is reflected in his statement about the vital role he feels the Community Planning Commission will play.

So there you have them. Comments from decidedly different points of view.

Fresh, youthful outlooks from Pursell, Commissioner Jabara, Commission Chairman Rozian and Assistant Superintendent Harding tempered with the years of Isbister's experience and the womanly insight of Elizabeth Holmes.

We are pleased to be able to present their views to Plymouth Mail readers.

What we'd like to see in '65

As the year past comes to its inevitable end, there is one direction in which The Plymouth Mail would like to see The Plymouth Community continue to move.

That movement is toward an increasing degree of co-operation and interaction.

The past 12 months have seen steps taken which have combined to create an increased sense of cohesiveness between the City of Plymouth and the Townships of Plymouth and Canton.

A greater effort to accelerate this trend must be made in the next 12 months. For unless The Plymouth Community digs in its collective heels and prepares to defend itself, we are in imminent danger of being swallowed by the Detroit Metropolitan Area.

So, you say, what if we are? Simply this.

If we permit ourselves to be engulfed by a senseless degree of expansion for expansion's sake, we will lose those characteristics which have drawn many to this area.

We admit that neither The Plymouth Community, nor this newspaper can afford to be guilty of the 19th Century tactic of attempting to create an island, to build a wall about us. But we must make every effort to maintain that spark of individuality which has made Plymouth what it is.

Consider, if you will, how many communities this size can boast a symphony orchestra of the stature and reputation of Plymouth's.

How many areas can point to something as ambitious as the annual Fall Festival?

The Plymouth Community could very well be the cultural and business center of western Wayne County, much as the Birmingham-Bloomfield area is for Oakland County.

But it won't if its residents don't give a collective damn.

In short, though we have an impressive percentage of citizen participation in community activity, we need more. Those who live here and work elsewhere — the "bedroom residents" — would do well to pitch in and help.

Whether they seek their livelihood in Detroit, Ann Arbor or another area, they have a duty to the place they call home.

They can fulfill an obligation by rolling up their sleeves and pitching into the fight to maintain what Plymouth has, and joining the quest for what it can be.

A pledge for the coming year

A glance at issues of The Plymouth Mail for the year past fill us with mingled feelings of pride and disappointment.

Pride because The Mail has been larger, more colorful and, hopefully, better. Disappointment because we would have done even more.

From a news standpoint, we have attempted to accurately chronicle the happenings, both important and mundane, in The Plymouth Community.

Editorially, we have passed out numerous bouquets and brickbats. Some have gained us praise, others have brought criticism — which is as it should be.

We have strived to upgrade our product so that advertisers may have an increasingly fertile bed in which to plant their seeds of value.

Above all, we have made an effort to retain our perspective — to realize that The Plymouth Mail must be worthy of its status as official newspaper for The Plymouth Community and that such worthiness comes only through seeing that Plymouth is first and foremost throughout our pages.

The year ahead, we trust, will bring you a better product. We pledge to produce a newspaper that will look better, read better and — for advertisers — draw better.

Such a program is circular in nature. Improvement in one area requires corresponding betterment in the others.

At any rate, keep reading. We think you'll like what you'll find in 1965's Plymouth Mail.

SYMBOLIC OF the year 1964 in The Plymouth Community was the erasure of a long-time community name as the old was taken away to be replaced by new. The year was marked by the arrival of new industries, expansion of existing ones and mushrooming residential growth in Plymouth Township and, correspondingly, in Plymouth schools. This photograph was taken in April when the old water tower that topped the former Daisy Air Rifle plant was razed. For the year in review, see Section One.

The Grim Pilgrim

By DAVE WILEY

This is the time of year when everyone and everything is reassessed and promises are made to improve in the months ahead.

Newspapers are no exception.

However, when you begin to think about changing a publication you run into an unknown factor — the public. No editor knows for certain what his readers would like to see, or what they dislike.

For people think of newspapers as different things. Which brings to mind a comment I saw some time ago. Referring to the public's conception of newspapers, the commentary said:

"To some (a newspaper) is a knight on a white charger rushing forth to do battle editorially against evil. To others it is a means of pushing pet causes. Some readers look at a paper as a raucous voice of capitalism and big business as represented by advertisers. Others think of a paper as a sports page or as a classified ad sheet."

"A good many readers, though, have the same conception of the newspaper as one reader of a Massachusetts paper turned in, as reported in Editor and Publisher."

The Massachusetts man was asked what he wanted to see in his paper. He replied:

- (1) My name.
- (2) A front page article showing how crooked the city government is most of the time.
- (3) My wife's name.
- (4) A feature article showing 25 ways on how to cheat on income tax forms.
- (5) My kid's names.
- (6) A local news story about the affairs of my neighbor is having.
- (7) A classified ad offering a new home for sale for $4,000.
- (8) News about lawbreakers.
- (9) Less news about lawbreakers (I was picked up last night and would like to keep my name out of the paper).

(10) An editorial about high school teachers being too liberal with failing grades.

(11) A wedding picture of the groom instead of the bride when he is more handsome than she is pretty.

(12) A sports picture of me when I bowled 183.

(13) More ads of items which merchants are giving away.

(14) A front page picture of my neighbor being hauled out of a bar by his wife.

(15) A front page spread about the deadbeat who lives across the street from me who just had his car repossessed.

(16) Forget the last one. I just got word from the finance company that they are coming after my car.

(17) More letters to the editor naming the crooks we have in town.

(18) A full page of local news, a page on national news, several pages of sports and comics, one page on divorcees and three pages on all the domestic troubles in town.

(19) Less stuff on how cute everybody else's kids are. My kids are better looking than those you rave about.

(20) A complete biographical sketch on the most important citizen in town — and be sure you spell my name right.

There you have it. And, if you think it's so darned funny, let me hasten to point out that it isn't that far fetched.

I have had self-appointed critics of The Plymouth Mail offer suggestions very nearly as contradictory as those our friend from Massachusetts came up with.

But I'm not complaining. Criticism is good for a paper.

I enjoy it.

Changing Way of Life Adds to Danger of Accidents in Home

Our rapidly changing way of life is adding to the danger of accidents in the home, where over 4 1/2 million injuries now are suffered each year. This warning from the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for home building and decorating information, has tips on preventing accidents.

Many new dangers arise from:

Explosions — The very useful modern spray can, dispensing everything from cream to shellac, can be as lethal as a hand grenade if mishandled. Leaving a spray can in the hot summer sun, or near a flame heats the compressed gases within, leading to a violent explosion. Even used-up cans thrown into incinerators may explode.

Before throwing a can away, tape down the spray button in wide open position, to make sure it is entirely empty of gases. When it still has contents, keep in a dark, cool place.

Poisonings — There are dangers in do-it-yourself dry cleaning fluids sold under attractive trade names, where the fluid is nothing more than carbon tetrachloride. The fumes of this chemical can lead to convulsions and death and are especially damaging to the kidneys.

Other brand new poisoning dangers arise from the new insecticides which can kill humans as well as insects. Read the label carefully. If it indicates you must avoid getting insecticide on your skin, and should wash it off immediately if some should touch you, then you're dealing with a highly dangerous product. You might do better to have it handled by an exterminator, in which case be absolutely sure that he doesn't spray the insecticide on any surfaces touched by hands, or dishes, or food.

Greatest Cause — Falls — Since falls are the single greatest cause of home accidents, with a greater number of people than ever before entering the over-55 age group, there is danger of a further increase in this type of accident.

Prevent falls in tubs by installing grab-bars over tubs and in shower stalls. Staircases should have firm rails, anti-slip treads, and should be well lighted. Floors of such skid-resistant material as Kentele solid vinyl Travertine, which doesn't need waxing, are advisable.

Fires and Electric Shocks — Housework is easier with new electric appliances such as blenders, grinders, can openers, knife sharpeners and even an electric knife for cutting. Where there aren't enough electric plug outlets, the constant plugging in and out of many appliances in too few sockets causes rapid wear on thin insulation of electric cords. A frayed live wire on kitchen surfaces which are apt to be wet can mean electrocution for the housewife. Repair or replace even slightly frayed wires immediately on all kitchen appliances.

Logs Flame in Various Colors

The blazing log in the fireplace can give off flames of many different colors if properly treated beforehand. Adding chemicals to the wood or pine cones before burning will produce a variety of colors.

A solution may be made of the chemicals dissolved in water and kindling or cones soaked and then allowed to dry. A more efficient and economical procedure is to dip the wood or pine cones into the glue (an aerosol of glue may be used to spray them), then dust them with the chemicals.

You can buy either the crude chemicals or compounds already mixed. Some of the chemicals that can be used and the colors they give off are: lithium chloride, purple; potassium chloride, violet; calcium chloride, orange; strontium chloride, red; copper sulfate, green; borax, light green; and copper chloride, blue.

Use care in handling the chemicals. Many will ruin the finish on wood, furniture and corrode metal.

Women's Editor Sally Rothfus Marries Mike Allen in Ohio

In a double-ring ceremony, Sunday, Dec. 27 in Westminster Presbyterian Church, Akron, Ohio, Sally Thompson Rothfus and Arthur William (Mike) Allen, Jr., spoke their marriage vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rothfus, of Akron, and the bridegroom's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Allen, of Ann Arbor.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length white faille gown. The bodice of the dress featured a deep-scooped neckline and elbow length sleeves.

Topping the A-line skirt, which had a deep pleat from the Empire waist to the hemline, was a band of embroidered seed pearls and crystal. A crown of seed pearls and crystal held her bouffant veil of imported silk illusion and her detachable train was chapel-length. She carried a cascading bouquet of white roses.

Janet Rothfus, the bride's sister, of Akron, served as maid of honor. She was attired in a floor-length dress of cerise faille with Empire waist, A-line skirt, elbow-length sleeves and bateau neckline. The train was headed by a Dior Bow in matching fabric. She wore a white fur pillbox hat and her white fur muff was adorned with red roses.

The bridegroom's sister, Barbara Allen, of Ann Arbor, was a bridesmaid and her gown was styled similarly to the maid of honor's.

Town Cryer

Some Resolutions, Made to be Broken

By Jacquie Town

This year my major resolutions include shopping for next Christmas much, much earlier, being a little better organized throughout the entire year, and mainly, to toss away Lady Nicotine.

Of course, I make that same resolution at least once a month with no result. But — If at first you don't succeed.

There are dozens of reasons to quit smoking — each of them valid and sound. Funny, there are not many one can find to support continuance of the habit, but a lot of people rationalize, myself included.

It all boils down to simple will power. Most of us, unfortunately, lack a good deal of that important ingredient. People who have been successful in kicking the habit are rather smug about the whole thing. "Nothing to it, one day I just threw the d--- things away."

I tried that too and then searched through the entire house in every ashtray, and a few other places looking for a cigarette with just a few more puffs left in it. I've gotten up in the morning and looking squarely in the mirror, I've repeated over and over, "Tobacco is a filthy weed, tobacco is a filthy weed."

I convince myself of the fact but fail to maintain the feeling once I leave the mirror. I've burned holes in coats, dresses, carpeting, coffee tables, and my fingers, but I still can't revolt. A friend of mine decided he was going to run tobacco, and not let tobacco run him. He was going to prove he was stronger than Lady Nicotine. He quit smoking for a few months, but once he was convinced he was master, the wicked woman entered his life once more.

But now he was master; he smoked because he liked to, not because he had to. He thought he could stop whenever he wished.

Unfortunately, he learned otherwise. After the recent medical report was published, the sale of cigarettes declined somewhat. However, it didn't take long before we forgot the dangers outlined in the research and sales climbed once more. Not only is it a proven health hazard and affects your nerves, heart, and entire body, but it is a useless habit as well.

Ask yourself what benefits you derive from that cigarette. People who have quit notice they're less tired, their food tastes better, they are actually less nervous once the habit has been successfully broken; and they don't wake up with that miserable cough and craving for a smoke.

Some of us worry about gaining weight if we kick the habit. If you stick to low calorie snacks instead of sweets, there should be no problem there.

The motto of the postman "neither rain, nor sleet, nor ice or snow can stop us from delivering the mail" applies equally to the smoker; only instead of "from delivering the mail", it should read — "getting a pack of cigarettes." If you have ever run out, you know the feeling.

Add up the cost of smoking for two people for one year and the figures are staggering.

I could certainly do a lot with that almost three hundred dollars that goes up in smoke. In reading the advice offered to help us stop (they have pills, etc.) we all realize that it is rough for the first few days. Some people suffer headaches, tension, irritability, dizziness, and other symptoms.

Those who have successfully conquered the withdrawal assure me that these will pass in a short time.

There, now I've given myself all the excellent reasons I can think of to quit smoking. So why don't I? I ask myself that same question every time I light another cigarette.

As the new year rings its way in, we'd like to thank our customers for being such good friends in the past year!

TREASURES FROM

Plymouth Pantries

A Plymouth native, Mrs. Cleo Curtis, of 14401 Ridge Rd., has suggested a recipe for a butterscotch pie which is one of her favorites.

Mrs. Curtis is a 1931 graduate of Plymouth High School. She said she and her husband have lived in their trailer for eight years and at Oakhaven Trailer Park for two years.

An employee of Terry's Bakery, she works from 5 a.m. until 1 p.m. She said she likes to bowl and also to knit and crochet. Mrs. Curtis also is a member of the Macabees, a fraternal organization.

The pie recipe is one she learned in her high school cooking classes and one that even her college age son likes to make, Mrs. Curtis said.

You can use either a regular pie crust or a graham cracker one, she said, explaining that the graham cracker crust makes a much richer pie.

GRAHAM CRACKER CRUMB CRUST

- 1 1/4 C. graham cracker crumbs
- 1/4 C. soft butter or margarine
- 1/4 C. sugar

Mix graham cracker crumbs with butter and sugar. Pour crumb mixture into nine-inch pie plate and press mixture firmly against bottom and sides of pie plate.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) for eight minutes, then cool.

FILLING

- 1 pint milk
- 1 C. medium brown sugar
- 2 Tbsp. cornstarch
- 2 Tbsp. flour
- 2 egg yolks
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 3 Tbsp. butter
- 1/2 tsp. vanilla

Heat milk in double boiler. Mix sugar, cornstarch and flour and add to hot milk, stirring frequently. Stir and cook until it thickens, then cover and cook about 15 minutes longer.

Beat eggs, add salt and stir quickly into milk mixture and add butter. Stir and cook until egg thickens and add vanilla. Pour into baked crust.

MERINGUE

- 2 egg white
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 2 Tbsp. brown sugar
- 1 tsp. vanilla

Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff. Mix sugar and vanilla and cut and fold into whites. Cover top of pie with meringue and bake in a moderate oven (300 degrees) for 15-20 minutes.

PREPARING a graham cracker crust for her Butterscotch Pie, is Mrs. Cleo Curtis, of 14401 Ridge Rd. The recipe is one that Mrs. Curtis learned in her high school cooking class, she said.

"Home Is Where the Hunt Is," States Mrs. Wally Taber

When far-away places beckon and time comes to document another pair of the adventure, living-color films or which Wally Taber long has been famous, chances are his wife, Mable, has equally itchy feet.

"I long ago learned I couldn't lick him, so I joined him," the pert redhead Texan drawled in Plymouth where her illustrious husband publicly screens and personally narrates his latest Mexico and India films Tuesday, Jan. 12 in PHS gym.

"Fact is," she admitted, "following Wally, I have become as much at home in a tent in the middle of Africa or a forest bungalow in the midst of India, or in a trailer along the Alaskan highway as I am at our home in Dallas, Texas."

Nor is her's a passive co-existence, she advised. "I've shot everything in Africa from dik-dik to elephant, and in India from pig to mighty gaur. I even shot

Taste For Spicy Foods Increases

Today, we take spices and herbs for granted. Yet the fact is that nearly all recorded history, man has been closely allied with his hunger for marvelous spices.

The first known reference to spices occurs in the scriptures of the ancient Assyrians. According to their version of the creation, the gods who made the earth were so impressed by the difficulty of the task that they held a celestial committee meeting before they began their work. And while they discussed the problems of the creation, they drank sesame seed wine.

But long before the Assyrians, men were acquainted with spices. Very likely the first experience with seasoning came when primitive man wrapped meat in leaves before cooking it on hot coals. Their purpose was to protect the meat from dirt and ashes; however, they soon learned that certain leaves imparted a pleasant new flavor to the meat.

Later the primitive tribes inhabiting the forest of Europe found dill, morganam, parsley, thyme and several other herbs growing in their area. Generally speaking however, the most important spices came from the East, specifically from India, Ceylon, Sumatra, Java and other Spice Islands.

As the Greek and Roman colonizers spread their civilizations throughout Europe, they took their knowledge of spices with them. For example, the first mustard seeds were brought to England by Roman soldiers in 50 B.C. Very quickly the fierce tribes of Gaul and the Celtic outlanders learned the value of these "new" spices; and when Alaric the Visigoth subjugated Rome in 410 A.D., he demanded 2,000 pounds of peppercorns as part of his price for sparing the lives of the inhabitants.

After the great civilization of the ancient Western world declined, the Moslems enjoyed a complete monopoly of the spice trade for several hundred years. They brought spices to the great European ports of Venice and Seville, where they were sold for an enormous profit, amidst frightening tales of the dangers surrounding their origin. That a handful of cardamom was worth as much as a poor man's yearly wages only added to the mystery and romance already associated with the spice trade.

By the 17th century, the Dutch had gained complete mastery of the profitable spice trade, and they ruled the market with an iron hand. If the price of cinnamon or cloves fell too low, they burned them. They soaked their nutmeg in the milk of lime thus killing the germ and preventing it from being planted elsewhere.

In the late 17th century, America benefited indirectly from the spice trade as Elihu Yale, originally a clerk for the British East India Company (which held a monopoly on all spice trade with India), eventually became governor of Madras, India and later endowed his fortune to Yale University. In the late 18th century and early 19th century Americans were directly involved in the spice trade as the clipper ships of New England began to dominate world trade. But in 1873 pirates brought the American peeling in color, tastier and even more digestible. And, spice and herb cookery need not be complicated, time consuming or, of course, expensive. Nor do spices mean the preparation of hot, exotic dishes although you might find these tasty from time-to-time. A good rule to follow is to use all seasoning in small quantities, particularly if a new flavor. One may always add more of the spices desired, but it is impossible to correct or remove seasoning if too much has been used initially.

Topkapi (where the jewels are!)

"Most people have a home so they'll have a place to hang their hats," Mable said in parting. "We have a home so we have a place to hang our heads. Our hats are always with us away from home! Heads? I mean our trophy heads!"

Even so, Mable admits to cooking a mean pot of chili and once taught African natives how to bake cornbread on a campfire.

"I'm domestic enough," she advised, "I just practice it in out-of-the-way places like, this time, Mexico and India." Mable concluded alluding to the current pair of films documented in this pair of exotic countries.

The Japanese have opened the world's longest undersea tunnel which is actually a double tunnel, which connects the islands of Honshu and Kyshu, is split into two levels. The upper level is for vehicles, the lower one for pedestrians.

Plymouthite on Record Setting MSU Debaters

A Plymouth student is a member of Michigan State University's debate team which has amassed a record 36 wins against 20 losses for the fall term. And they did it largely with inexperienced debaters.

Nadine M. Criger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin J. Criger of 454 Arthur St., a freshman in elementary education, is a member of the MSU squad.

MSU's forensics director Dr. Jerry Anderson notes that "most of the schools rely on a few experienced varsity debaters. The majority of our more than 30 members are from a wide variety of academic fields and are, relatively inexperienced."

"The average debater," says Dr. Anderson, "does the equivalent of two master's theses' research on debate topics during one school year."

Dr. Anderson adds that debate activity "provides intensive training in the rational analysis of controversial public issues."

The current intercollegiate debate topic is: "Resolved: the federal government should provide a national program of public work for the unemployed."

Winter term contests on the above and other topics will include more than 147 debates and at least 14 intercollegiate debate tournaments across the country.

FREE ENTERPRISE:

Jr. Achievement Firms Are Hard at Work Here

Junior Achievement (J.A.) in Plymouth and throughout the United States attempts to teach teenagers about our free enterprise system.

How does J.A. go about reaching its self-imposed goal? Each fall, Plymouth teens accepted into the J.A. program are divided into companies of approximately 20 persons each and organize their own firm as if it were an actual adult company.

The 12 companies at the Plymouth center include We-Car composed by Chrysler Corp., Plyco by Michigan Bell, Whatzet by Burroughs, Jacona by Whitman and Barnes, Jab-co by Consumers Power Co., Ladi-Kraft by Ford Motor Co. and Uppod by Associated Spring.

Zapco sponsored by Western Electric, Jafeco by National Bank of Detroit, Southern Industries by American Motors, Deja Co. by Detroit Edison and Quest-Co by Chevrolet Bump and Spring complete the list of companies organized this year.

EACH GROUP selects a name for its company, chooses a product and figures the cost of production so they know how much money they need to capitalize.

Companies usually capitalize at $150, according to Bill McMaster, public relations director for J.A.

Plymouth companies' products include waste baskets, lid locks for car trunks, Christmas tree waterers and knife holders.

Each company applies for a charter and is incorporated under a procedure similar to Michigan incorporation laws.

Next, the teens go to Plymouth residents to sell shares of stock in their company at one dollar a share and each stockholder is limited to one share. McMaster said they are encouraged to sell stock to their teachers and principal so they know of the youngster's interest in the activity.

Elected officers in each company include president, vice-president in charge of manufacturing, vice-president in charge of sales, secretary, assistant secretary, treasurer, assistant treasurer, purchasing agent, safety director and personnel director.

Jackie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Golembiewski, of Livonia, is vice-president of sales of Jafeco. Above she points to a poster telling of the conference while Jolene Wendell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lennart Wendell, of Gyde Rd., looks on.

Each year these officers vie first with other teens holding same posts in southeastern Michigan for best president, sales, vice-president etc. The top ones selected then go on to contests on higher levels until they reach national competition.

DURING THE course of a year when they meet once a week for two hours in their center headquarters above Saxton's Garden Center, the teens encounter most of the problems of a normal corporation, according to McMaster.

Strict methods of bookkeeping must be followed by each company and its records are subject to an audit by a J.A. company sponsored by certified public accountants.

McMaster said J.A. advisors are careful to make sure no company receives anything free from sponsors or area businesses. He explained they must pay for everything even if it is only a nominal charge.

Employees and officers of the corporation are paid a salary for their work. The average pay for employees in Plymouth organizations is 25 cents an hour and for officers two dollars a week, McMaster indicated.

In May of each year the business cycle is completed when the companies are liquidated, the books audited and an annual report issued.
